Open position/nominations

New Business

- Jen mentioned how her daughter came home today asking about purchasing a book. She learned that the teacher did not have enough books to give each student a copy and had pulled popsicle sticks to see who would get one. Jen proposed that we (PTO) should reach out to the teachers and purchase the books needed to ensure each child would have a physical copy
- It was unanimous that we all felt no teacher should be in that position and we want to make sure they know that the PTO will help whenever possible.
