- Major Premise: The Courts of Justice Act and the Rules of Civil Procedure mandate that the Registrar shall facilitate the orderly filing, processing, and transmission of judicial records to ensure the accessibility of justice.
- Minor Premise: The Registry has failed to process the Moving Party's electronic filings and has omitted to transfer said records to the Case Center platform, thereby obstructing the judicial view of the record and preventing the scheduling of a hearing.
- Conclusion: Ergo, the administrative omission has resulted in a constructive denial of access to the Court, necessitating an exercise of the Court's inherent jurisdiction to grant remedial relief nunc pro tunc.

In limine, the failure of the Registrar's office to discharge its corollary legal duties—specifically the transition of documents to Case Center—represents a breach of the mandatory obligations set forth in Section 76 of the Courts of Justice Act. Justice delayed by a computer terminal is no less a denial of justice than a closed courtroom door.

VI. THE RELIEF SOUGHT IN THE FINAL DRAFT ORDER

The Moving Party presents the Final Draft Order for Motion #4, which contemplates a multi-faceted approach to restoring procedural integrity, including inter alia:

- Temporal Abridgment: The immediate abridgment of time for service and filing to reflect the exigent nature of the administrative failure.

Judicial Dispensation: The formal waiver of procedural formalities, such as the Form 37A, which have been rendered redundant or impracticable by the Registry's current state of stasis.

- Mandatory Registrarial Directions: Explicit instructions to the Current Registrar to facilitate the immediate upload of all electronic filings to Case Center.
- Judicial Assignment: The appointment of an independent motions judge, untainted by prior involvement or perceived bias, to adjudicate the merits of NOM #3.
- Writ of Mandamus: A conditional provision for a Writ of Mandamus to compel the performance of these ministerial acts should the Registrar fail to comply within twenty-four (24) hours.
-

VII. IMPLICATIONS OF CONTINUED ADMINISTRATIVE NONFEASANCE

The consequences of continued non-feasance extend beyond the parties involved in this specific litigation. If the Registry is permitted to remain in a state of perpetual delay without judicial oversight, the integrity of the Divisional Court as a venue for the review of administrative action is compromised. The Moving Party's right to certiorari and other prerogative remedies is predicated upon a functioning court system that respects the timelines established by the legislature.

Furthermore, the administrative obligations of the Divisional Court are not personal to the incumbent but attach to the office. Ipso facto, the Current Registrar is legally and ethically bound to rectify the omissions and defaults of the Former Registrar. The doctrine of continuity of office ensures that the transition of personnel does not result in the expiration of public legal duties owed to litigants.

VIII. CONCLUSION AND FINAL DEMAND FOR RECTIFICATION

The Moving Party maintains that the declarations and orders sought are self-evident reflections of the current procedural reality. I find it most regrettable but necessary to have taken these steps. I reserve the right to rely on this document and attached documents, by reference, for any lawful purposes including costs.

Should you rectify any and all failures of your public duties to act, we can jointly notify or I can separately notify the Divisional Court to the attention of the President of the Divisional Court forthwith to be efficient with the usage of public resources. However, I have made sufficient demands regarding the same and the delay has been unreasonable.

The Court's inherent jurisdiction to control its own process is the only remaining safeguard against the administrative inertia that has plagued this file. Should the Responding Parties or the Registry persist in their administrative obstruction or fail to rectify their defaults in the face of these written demands, the Moving Party shall seek costs on a substantial or full indemnity basis.

It is the earnest hope of the Moving Party that this correspondence serves as an acta of finality, precipitating the necessary administrative actions to restore the integrity of this JRPA proceeding and ensuring that justice is not only done but is seen to be done instanter.

Respectfully submitted,

/s/Mr. Kevin A. McLean (BA, JD, CIM)
Mr. Kevin A. McLean, B.A., J.D., C.I.M.

Applicant and Moving Party

Enclosures:

1. Final Draft Order for Motion #4 (Form 59A)
2. Supporting Documentation (to follow via piecemeal transmission)

...

[Message clipped] View entire message

9576

1 attachment • Scanned by Gmail

M

Mr. Kevin McLean <mcleansettlement@gmail.com> Dec 23, 2025, 5:16 PM

to SCJ-CSJ, roxanne.parris, Tashekah

PRIVATE AND CONFIDENTIAL
URGENT – TIME SENSITIVE
DATE: December 23, 2025

VIA: Electronic Mail Transmission (with hard copies to follow via physical delivery, mail filing and facsimile)

ADDRESSEES

TO:

The Divisional Court of Ontario
Osgoode Hall, 130 Queen Street West
Toronto, Ontario M5H 2N5
Attention: The Registrar of the Divisional Court, Ms. Roxanne Parris
(hereinafter the "Current Registrar")
AND TO:

The Former Registrar of the Divisional Court, Ms. Gentles
(hereinafter the "Former Registrar")
AND TO:

The President of the Divisional Court, The Honourable Chief Justice Morawetz
Osgoode Hall, 130 Queen Street West
Toronto, Ontario M5H 2N5

MATTER DETAILS

- Court File Number: DC-24-00000718-00JR
- Short Style of Cause: McLean v. TD Home and Auto Insurance Company, et al.
- Document Classification: Factum or Written Submission relating to Motion #4
- Sender: Mr. Kevin A. McLean, B.A., J.D., C.I.M. (the "Moving Party" and "Applicant")

Dear Sirs/Mesdames/Other Gender-Neutral Pronouns:

In light of the continued non-compliance with public legal duties to act, kindly find attached my factum or written submission in support of the Draft Order by motion (absent a Form 37A due to its lack of necessity and circumstances necessitating the same). The motion record will follow in electronic and mail filing copy of he same.

I confirm that my draft order provided today was successfully faxed to the attention of the President of the Divisional Court. A cop of this factum will also be sent to his attention as well.

Govern yourselves in accordance with the law.

Thank you.

Yours faithfully,

/KAM

Mr. Kevin A. McLean (BA, JD, CIM)

...

[Message clipped] View entire message
One attachment • Scanned by Gmail

M

Mr. Kevin McLean <mcleansettlement@gmail.com> Dec 31, 2025, 4:58 PM to evelyne.ibula, SCJ-CSJ, roxanne.parris, Tashekah

PRIVATE AND CONFIDENTIAL
URGENT – TIME SENSITIVE
DATE: December 31, 2025

VIA: Electronic Mail Transmission (with hard copies to follow (or already occurred) via physical delivery, mail filing and with facsimile copies to the attention of the President of the Divisional Court pursuant to, inter alia, section 76 of the CJA)

ADDRESSEES

TO:

The Divisional Court of Ontario
Osgoode Hall, 130 Queen Street West
Toronto, Ontario M5H 2N5
Attention: The Registrar of the Divisional Court, Ms. Roxanne Parris
(hereinafter the "Current Registrar")
AND TO:

The Former Registrar of the Divisional Court, Ms. Gentles
(hereinafter the "Former Registrar")
AND TO:

The President of the Divisional Court, The Honourable Chief Justice Morawetz
Osgoode Hall, 130 Queen Street West
Toronto, Ontario M5H 2N5

MATTER DETAILS

- Court File Number: DC-24-00000718-00JR
- Short Style of Cause: McLean v. TD Home and Auto Insurance Company, et al.
- Document Classification: Enclosure of Motion Record #4 in bookmarked and hyperlinked format as a courtesy to the Divisional Court and President of the Divisional Court
- Sender: Mr. Kevin A. McLean, B.A., J.D., C.I.M. (the "Moving Party" and "Applicant")

Dear Sirs/Mesdames/Other Gender-Neutral Pronouns:

I. INTRODUCTION

1. I cordially write regarding the above. I adopt all definitions from previously, indirectly or directly, cited correspondence.
2. It is my distinct privilege to facilitate the delivery of the enclosed copies of the Motion Record #4 (the "Motion Record"), alongside the secondary documentation articulated infra. Subject to a comprehensive verification of the extant tracking particulars, the inter vivos physical filing of these materials via post should be deemed efficacious as of the current date. The Moving Party has exercised exhaustive diligence to ensure that the physical and digital manifestations of these pleadings are synchronized to prevent any jurisdictional or administrative dissonance.

II. PROCEDURAL TRANSMISSIONS AND ADMINISTRATIVE COGNIZANCE

3. An identical reproduction of the Motion Record shall be dispatched via facsimile to the President of the Divisional Court. This redundancy is necessitated by the exigencies of the current circumstances to ensure the status quo ante of the judicial record is preserved with meticulous precision. Given the gravity of the relief sought and the complexity of the underlying Judicial Review Procedure Act (the "JRPA") application, the Moving Party deems it imperative that the President be possessed of these materials through multiple secure channels to preclude any potential for administrative oversight.
4. In light of the resignation of the Former Registrar and the emergence of recently discovered evidentiary substantiation concerning Ms. Evelyne Ibula (the "Ibula Evidence"), as detailed in the Cover Letter regarding "mail filed" Motion Record (the "Cover Letter"), I have included her as a recipient ex abundanti cautela. The transition between the Former Registrar and the Current Registrar introduces a critical juncture in the management of this file, necessitating a high degree of transparency to maintain the integrity of the court's record-keeping functions.
5. Based upon my extensive review of the Public Service of Ontario Act, 2006, SO 2006, c 35, Sch A (the "PSOA") and attendant regulations, it is unclear if Former Registrar Gentles resigned, was terminated for cause or without cause, or abandoned her position. While it is not particularly relevant per se but for determining the reasons for the failures in processing submitted documents for filing, which remain outstanding—which in turn means Motion #4 is increasingly urgent and naturally dovetailed to Notice of Motion #3 (the "NOM #3") and the requirements to bring such a motion in this proceeding herein—it is also vital in determining whether Registrar Parris is the permanent Registrar of the Divisional Court or merely filling a void left by the delinquency in duties by Former Registrar Gentles.
6. This inclusion further serves the purpose of ascertaining whether Ms. Ibula was, or remains, a de facto employee or a contractual agent of the Ontario Government or the Ministry of the Attorney General (the "MAG"). A preliminary inquiry suggests a conspicuous absence of her credentials within the public service records or the Government of Ontario Employee and Organization Directory (the "Directory"). The current prima facie evidence suggests a potential lack of institutional affiliation, given the absence of a designated telephonic extension within the Divisional Court premises. Such irregularities mandate a robust investigative posture to ensure that no ultra vires communications have influenced the trajectory of this litigation.

III. ACCURACY, EFFICACY, AND JURISPRUDENTIAL AUTHORITY

7. The Moving Party confirms ipso facto that the mail-filed iteration of the Motion Record is substantive and identical to the electronic version provided herein. The electronic version incorporates sophisticated bookmarking and hyperlinked authorities—provided as a professional courtesy to the Divisional Court and the President. In light of my continued good faith efforts to respect the resources and efficiency of the public purse, I may provide, as a courtesy, a Book of Authorities to ensure that justice is not merely done but seen to be done.
8. In this regard, I will now highlight, while contained in the bookmarked version of Motion Record #4, the authority of Ruffo v Conseil de la magistrature, [1995] 4 SCR 267 (the "Ruffo") at the following paragraphs in summarized form:

> 57 In my opinion, this last observation also applies to the chief district judge. Until 1940, disciplinary control of judges of the chief district judge's court was subject to the dismissal procedure, which required a vote by both legislative assemblies in favour of dismissal (R.S.Q. 1909, ss. 3263 and 3292; R.S.Q. 1925, c. 145, ss. 221 and 269); starting in 1941 it required a report of the Court of King's Bench (Appeal Side), the predecessor of the present Court of Appeal (R.S.Q. 1941, c. 15, ss. 221 and 269; R.S.Q. 1964, c. 20, ss. 76 and 119; R.S.Q. 1977, c. T-16, ss. 85, 127 and 133; S.Q. 1988, c. 21, s. 30; and R.S.Q., c. T-16, s. 95). It must not be forgotten that a large part of the chief judge's role in maintaining high-quality justice was defined gradually over the years, in the same way as judicial precedents. Many aspects of this role derived from judicial tradition without being transferred to legislation. Therefore, the fact that there was no explicit legislation on ethics until quite recently does not mean we can doubt the continuity that marked the development of the chief judge's responsibilities in this regard. It accordingly cannot be argued that the supervisory powers conferred on the chief judge by the present s. 96 CJA were assigned spontaneously by the legislature; in my view, they must rather be seen as the expression of a reality that is consistent with general practice and gradual developments over time.

58 This opinion is shared by the American author C. G. Geyh, who asserts that the chief judge's supervisory powers over ethics are inherent in the exercise of his or her functions and need not be conferred by specific statutory provisions ("Means Of Judicial Discipline Other Than Those Prescribed By The Judicial Discipline Statute, 28 U.S.C. Section 372(c)", in Research Papers of the National Commission on Judicial Discipline and Removal (1993), vol. 1, 713, at p. 756). I agree.

59 We must recognize that the chief judge, as primus inter pares in the court, the efficient operation of which he or she oversees in all other respects, is in a preferred position to ensure compliance with judicial ethics. First, because of the chief judge's role as co-ordinator, events that may raise ethical issues are more readily brought to his or her attention. As well, because of the chief judge's status, he or she is often the best situated to deal with such delicate matters, thereby relieving the other judges of the court of the difficult task of laying a complaint against one of their colleagues where necessary. In short, the power to lay a complaint is an intrinsic part of the chief judge's responsibility in this area and it would not be fitting for the chief judge to act through someone else, whether a judge or a person outside the judiciary, to fulfil his or her obligations in this regard.

9. As such, Motion #4 is multi purposed and in the public interest as per the explicit language therein. This technological augmentation is intended to mitigate the cognitive burden on the judiciary, allowing for a more fluid extrapolation of legal principles and a more efficient verification of the cited jurisprudence.
10. Obviously, whatever complaint process of the President of the Divisional Court purview is not my prerogative to know but nonetheless part of my duty (moral, ethical, legal or otherwise) to assist in the public interest so others do not suffer in the same or similar

IV. CLOSING REMARKS

10. It is the Applicant's anticipation that the self-evident nature of the enclosed materials, coupled with the rigorous adherence to the governing statutes and Rules of Civil Procedure, RRO 1990, Reg 194 (the "Rules"), despite certain processes being frustrated will assist the Divisional Court in resolving the pending motions without further delay.
11. I confirm that as of today's date, the Registrars, court staff and court clerks of the Executive Branch (MAG), have NOT opposed any relief sought herein.

Respectfully submitted,
/s/Mr. Kevin A. McLean (BA, JD, CIM)
Mr. Kevin A. McLean, B.A., J.D., C.I.M. Applicant and Moving Party
Enclosures:

1. Motion Record #4 of the Applicant (the "Motion Record"), presented in a hyperlinked and bookmarked format.
2. Electronic copy of the Cover Letter regarding "mail filed" Motion Record (the "Cover Letter").

...

[Message clipped] View entire message
2 Attachments • Scanned by Gmail

M

Mr. Kevin McLean <mcleansettlement@gmail.com> Dec 31, 2025, 6:12 PM

to SCJ-CSJ, roxanne.parris, Tashekah

PRIVATE AND CONFIDENTIAL
VIA ELECTRONIC TRANSMISSION
DATE: December 31, 2025
TO: The Superior Court of Justice — Divisional Court (the "Divisional Court") ATTENTION: The President of the Divisional Court (the "President")

5580

SUBJECT I: CONFIRMATION THAT THE ONLY POTENTIAL CORRECT EMAIL COORDINATES OF MS. IBULA IS NOT ACTIVE WITH THE ONTARIO GOVERNMENT
SUBJECT II: RESERVATION OF RIGHTS IN RELATION TO SUBJECT I
SUBJECT III: DEMAND IN PERPETUITY FOR THE REGISTRAR OF THE DIVISIONAL COURT AS REPRESENTED BY FORMER REGISTRAR GENTLES

Dear Divisional Court of Ontario:

I. INTRODUCTION

I cordially write regarding the above. I adopt all definitions from previously, indirectly or directly, cited correspondence.

II. FACTUAL ANTECEDENTS AND THE STATUS OF MS. EVELYNE IBULA

It has been ascertained, through diligent inquiry, that the electronic mail address previously associated with Ms. Evelyne Ibula (the "Ibula Email") no longer constitutes an active conduit for communication. Perforce, a comprehensive examination of the signature block utilized by the individual (see: Appendix #1), which notably omitted any telephonic contact information during her representation as the "Assistant Trial Coordinator" (the "Coordinator Role") in January 2025, militates toward the conclusion that Ms. Ibula was neither a permanent employee nor a contractually retained agent of the Divisional Court at the material time.

The undersigned has copied and pasted the relevant information from the "Delivery Status Notification" (Failure):

Mail Delivery Subsystem <mailer-daemon@googlemail.com> 4:58 PM (1 hour ago)

to me

Address not found

Your message wasn't delivered to evelyne.ibula@ontario.ca because the address couldn't be found

The undersigned herein places reliance upon publicly accessible jurisprudence, Cover Letter regarding mail filed Motion Record #4 at page 4, (the "Ibula Jurisprudence") which references Ms. Ibula in capacities distinct from the public service (see: Appendix #1). Consequently, the Ibula Email has been expunged from all current and prospective itineraries of communication.

III. SYLLOGISTIC EVALUATION OF CONFLICTS AND ADMINISTRATIVE PROPRIETY

The revelation that Ms. Ibula's recent professional affiliations were tethered to Martin Barristers (the "Private Firm")—an entity situated at the identical municipal address and suite as counsel for Mrs. Aphrodite Artopoulos—in conjunction with the actions of Mr. David Karat of the Respondent Insurance Companies (collectively the "Respondents") regarding the McLean Property (the "Property"), engenders profound apprehension. Such a nexus necessitates the immediate attention of the President in light of the multifaceted supervisory obligations articulated in Ruffo v. Conseil de la magistrature, [1995] 4 SCR 267 (the "Ruffo"). The principles elucidated in Ruffo have been unequivocally adopted by the Federal Court of Appeal in Canadian Judicial Council v. Girouard, 2019 FCA 148 (the "Girouard"), at paragraph 42. Ipso facto, the Chief Justice, in the capacity of President, possesses an inherent mandate to investigate the circumstances surrounding the ad hoc emergence of Ms. Ibula within the administrative architecture of the Court, particularly as her involvement appears coincident with the purported compulsory case conference requirements mandated by Madam Justice Shore.

IV. STATUTORY ANALYSIS OF THE PUBLIC SERVICE OF ONTARIO ACT AND COURTS OF JUSTICE ACT

While the Deputy Attorney General (the “DAG”), acting as the Commissioner under the Public Service of Ontario Act, 2006, SO 2006, c 35, Sched A (the “PSOA”), maintains the ultra vires power to terminate or deem abandoned the positions of unionized employees of the Ontario Public Service Employees Union (the “OPSEU”), such statutory authority does not preclude the President from discharging the delicate obligation of investigating “colleagues,” as envisioned by the Supreme Court of Canada in Ruffo.
Furthermore, the Courts of Justice Act, RSO 1990, c C.43 (the “CJA”), under section 73(2) and 73(2.1), permits the DAG or a designate to assign duties to persons regardless of their appointment status under the PSOA. It remains a matter of grave concern whether Former Registrar Gentles (the “Former Registrar”) attempted to vest Ms. Ibula with such authority in limine. There exists a palpable necessity for a "cooling off" period for individuals transitioning from private advocacy within the same jurisdictional region to roles within the Divisional Court administrative apparatus.
Should it be determined that the assignment of Ms. Ibula was procedurally defective or otherwise prima facie improper, the undersigned reserves the right to seek the unwinding or setting aside of all derivative steps, documents, or unmade orders as a matter of status quo ante.

V. CONCLUSION AND RESERVATION OF RIGHTS

This comprehensive missive is intended for the direct perusal, jointly, of the President; however, in light of the erosion of faith and confidence—and presumably that of the public where similar contraventions have transpired—I shall transmit the final two electronic communications and the respective attachment via facsimile, as performed heretofore. I shall continue to exercise ex abundanti cautela and due diligence regarding these administrative anomalies. I reserve the absolute right to rely upon this correspondence for any lawful purpose.
As Motion #4 remains unopposed, I shall refrain from seeking costs at this juncture. Although it was previously intimated that an "army" was being marshalled against the interests of the undersigned, the supremacy of the Constitution Act, 1982, the Canadian Charter of Rights and Freedoms, and the overarching rule of law ensures that the legal apparatus remains the ultimate arbiter. It is suggested that this multi-jurisdictional army, formed ad hoc for the purpose of my destruction, directs its focus toward a comprehension of the Canadian legal system. To the extent they possess such knowledge—which appears improbable given their sparse attempts at legal analysis culminating in a variety of sophisms and fallacious syllogisms—they should attempt to prevail on a balance of probabilities rather than through the manipulation of documentation and the utilization of various criminal law enforcement divisions.

The undersigned maintains that the preservation of legal integrity outweighs individual mortality. With a valid will and power of attorney, I am prepared to persevere through extreme incapacity, serious impairments, and disabilities inclusive of death. If such a stand is not taken, particularly given the perceived threat that the state may turn upon practitioners while the Attorney General of Ontario holds a prominent role under the Law Society Act, RSO 1990, c L.8, the public interest will suffer irretrievably. Consequently, the Divisional Court need not anticipate a potential settlement, as a confidential and non-disclosable resolution serves no public good. Oddly, this allows me a certain lacuna or opening to have evened the scales of justice which underscores the nefarious and unlawful efforts by the MAG, TPS, OPP et al that have tried and have delayed justice. Nonetheless, the rule of law must be adhered to.
The inference regarding the ad hoc inclusion of Ms. Ibula suggests that employees of the Ministry of the Attorney General (the “MAG”) within the Divisional Court possessed knowledge of an undisclosed ex parte in camera hearing judge who authorized an arrest warrant and were, understandably, hesitant to communicate with the undersigned. I welcome any written opposition to my beliefs while the sources of my beliefs have been highly particularized.

Finally, a formal demand is hereby reiterated that the current Registrar of the Divisional Court (see: Appendix #2) discharge all non-discretionary public legal duties necessitated by the omissions of the Former Registrar, specifically regarding the systemic failure to ensure communication channels remained unobstructed. It is demanded that all outstanding submitted filings are processed without delay and forthwith.

I thank the President of the Divisional Court in advance for discharging the duty to direct the Registrar, court clerks, and other court staff in matters encompassing Motion #4, all of which are assigned by law to the judiciary and only to the judiciary.

A blessed and Happy New Year to all herein and beyond.

Yours most appreciatively and gratefully,

/s/Mr. Kevin A. McLean (BA, JD, CIM)
Mr. Kevin A. McLean (BA, JD, CIM)
(He/Him)
Appendix #1: Correspondence signature of Evelyne Ibula and citation of Ibula Jurisprudence.
Appendix #2: Notification of Registrar transition from T. Gentles to R. Parris, dated December 3, 2025.
Appendix #3: Correspondence from Former Registrar Gentles regarding jurisdictional constraints, dated September 9, 2025.

APPENDIX #1

Sincerely,
Evelyne Ibula (She/Her/Elle)
Assistant Trial Coordinator
Superior Court of Justice – Divisional Court
Osgoode Hall, Room 174
130 Queen Street West
Toronto, ON M5H 2N5

Appendix #2:

Gentles, Tashekah (JUD) Wed, Dec 3, 10:45 AM

to me

NOTIFICATION

PLEASE NOTE: I am no longer the Registrar/Manager for Divisional Court. If your email relates to Divisional Court, please forward same to Roxanne Parris the new Registrar for Divisional Court. Roxanne can be reached @ roxanne.parris@ontario.ca.

Please note the Divisional Court e-mail Inboxes for communicating with the court:

Filing and General communication:
SCJ-CSJ.Divcourtmail@ontario.ca

Scheduling information:
DivCourtSchedule@ontario.ca

Thank You,

Appendix #3: Email from Ms. Gentles wherein I was seeking access as a matter of right to the undisclosed to information or indictments signed and filed with the originating courthouse or within the control or custody of the Divisional Court involving the undisclosed signed arrest warrant which were required to be provided to me upon request and without charge – remaining outstanding as of today's date (nota bene: Former Registrar Gentles and the Divisional Court were corrected on the distinction between the jurisdiction of a judge of the dc, also a judge of the SCJ but a judge of the "SUPERIOR COURT OF CRIMINAL JURISDICTION" under the Criminal Code and the concepts of custody and control (see: the right to make a demand for records) of a court which the Divisional Court had and has in light of the presiding judge who made, issued and signed an arrest warrant involving myself of which the executive branch and the courts have refused, contrary to federal and provincial law, to provide a copy of the same.

Gentles, Tashekah (JUD) <Tashekah.Gentles@ontario.ca> Tue, Sep 9, 9:04 AM to me, Daniel

Good morning Mr. McLean,

Please note Divisional Court does not have jurisdiction to hear criminal matters. This court only hear matters relating to civil and family. As the Registrar for Divisional Court, I do not have jurisdiction to address matters that are criminal in nature.

Regards,

Superior Court of Justice
Divisional Court

Tashekah Gentles

Yours faithfully,

/KAM

Mr. Kevin A. McLean (BA, JD, CIM)

Sender's name: Mr. Kevin Alexander McLean (BA, JD, CIM)
Sender's address: 410-775 King Street West, Toronto, Ontario, M5V 2K3
Sender's Telephone Number: (647) 370-9354
Sender's email address: mcleansettlement@gmail.com

5584

[Message clipped] View entire message

M

Mr. Kevin McLean <mcleansettlement@gmail.com> Jan 2, 2026, 1:49 PM

to SCJ-CSJ, roxanne.parris, Tashekah

Classification: PRIVATE AND CONFIDENTIAL
Time Sensitivity: URGENT – TIME SENSITIVE
DATE: January 2, 2026

Initial Sending Method: Electronic Mail Transmission
Subsequent transmission methods: facsimile et al

ADDRESSEES

TO:

The Divisional Court of Ontario
Osgoode Hall (Toronto)
130 Queen Street West
Room 174
Toronto, Ontario
M5H 2N5

(the "Divisional Court")

Attention: The Registrar of the Divisional Court, Ms. Roxanne Parris
(hereinafter the "Current Registrar" or "Replacement Registrar")
Email: Roxanne.parris@ontario.ca

AND TO:

The Former Registrar of the Divisional Court
Ms. Tashekah Gentles
(hereinafter the "Former Registrar")
Email: Tashekah.Gentles@ontario.ca

AND TO:

The President of the Divisional Court,
The Honourable Chief Justice Morawetz
Osgoode Hall,
130 Queen Street West
Toronto, Ontario
M5H 2N5
Fax: 416.327.6011

MATTER DETAILS

I. Court File Number: DC-24-00000718-00JR

II. Short Style of Cause: McLean v. TD Home and Auto Insurance Company, et al.

III. Document Classification: Email with attachment: Canada Post confirmation tracking number of "Mail Filed" Motion Record #4 (January 2, 2026)

IV. Sender: Mr. Kevin A. McLean, B.A., J.D., C.I.M.

V. Sending Party Status in relation to Motion #4: "Moving Party"

VI. Date that Motion #4 was made (i.e. Draft Order with Factum or Written Submission made): Tuesday, December 23, 2025

VII. Non-opposing Respondents (by virtue of their failure to comply with the explicit language in Form 68A of the Rules of Civil Procedure et al) and prohibited by law to have filed or presented any evidence or submissions in the JRPA Proceeding by the same explicit language in Form 68A: in style of cause

VIII. Responding Parties in relation to Motion #4: the Former Registrar and Current Registrar of the Divisional Court (collectively, the "Divisional Court Registrars")

SUBJECT I: CONFIRMATION – MAIL FILING (SEE: RULE 4.05(5) OF THE RULES OF CIVIL PROCEDURE) – MOTION RECORD #4

Dear Sirs/Mesdames/Other Gender-Neutral Pronouns:

I. INTRODUCTION AND DEFINITIONS

1. I cordially write regarding the above. I adopt all definitions from previously, indirectly or directly, cited correspondence.

2. For the purposes of this communication, the Rules of Civil Procedure, RRO 1990, Reg 194, shall be referred to as (the "Rules"). The motion record filed via postal services on the date hereof shall be referred to as (the "Motion Record #4"). The collective administrative leadership, former and current of the court shall be referred to as (the "Registrars").

II. FILING AND STATUTORY OBLIGATIONS

3. It is observed, ex abundanti cautela, that in light of persistent and profound irregularities concerning the failure of the Registrars to discharge their public legal duties—which are unequivocally statutory and prescribed in nature according to the letter of the law—Motion Record #4 was dispatched and finally effected via mail-filing (see: Rule 4.05(5) of the Rules of Civil Procedure) to the Divisional Court this morning (the "Filing"). This proactive measure is necessitated by the requirement to preserve the integrity of the judicial process and to ensure that the Moving Party's rights are not attenuated by administrative inertia or procedural circumvention.

4. Ipso facto, the Office of the Registrar is under a non-discretionary and mandatory obligation to exigently and expeditiously affix the judicial stamp to Motion Record #4, effective as of the date of this correspondence, pursuant to the strictures of Rule 4.05(5) of the Rules. Any deviation from this prescribed duty would constitute a departure from the status quo ante and potentially invite a finding of ultra vires conduct regarding the administrative handling of the record.

5. To preclude any potential for jurisdictional ambiguity, or subsequent disputation regarding the receipt of the Filing, the attached Canada Post tracking identifier (the "Tracking Documentation") serves as prima facie evidence of delivery. This documentation ensures that the relevant and sole court office cannot maintain a vacuum of information or assert a lack of knowledge regarding the receipt of a document that has been "filed by mail" under the auspices of Rule 4.05(6) of the Rules. The temporal certainty provided by the Tracking Documentation is conclusive and rebuts any assertion of non-receipt.

III. SERVICE AND PREVIOUS CORRESPONDENCE

6. It is further confirmed that, inter alia, the substantive application and underlying legal syllogisms supporting Motion #4 were initiated and "made" on December 23, 2025, and concurrently served upon the Registrars in their official capacity. The efficacy of this service is absolute, thereby placing the Registrars on constructive and actual notice of the relief sought and the evidentiary basis contained therein.

7. Furthermore, the Draft Order and Motion #4 Factum, defined infra, were transmitted via facsimile to the President of the Divisional Court (the "President"). This transmission was executed to facilitate the President's requisite and urgent adjudication and deliberation of the relief sought, with specific reference to the Factum or Written Submission for Motion #4 (the "Factum") and the accompanying Draft Order. These transmissions occurred with precise regularity on the following occasions:

a. December 23, 2025, at 18:42 hours; and
b. December 23, 2025, at 23:17 hours.

8. Such repetitive notification underscores the urgency of the matter and ensures that the judicial mind is fully seized of the complexities and the necessitated interventions required to prevent a miscarriage of justice or an inequitable delay in the proceedings.

IV. Conclusion

9. The language and specific relief articulated within the Motion #4 Draft Order remain entirely applicable, relevant, and efficacious as of the current date.

10. It is salient to observe that there has been an absence of any countervailing submissions or formal opposition from the Responding Parties, rendering the requested relief effectively unopposed and the conclusions therein self-evident.

11. In strict and unwavering adherence to the Rules, it is respectfully requested and required (see: language in requisition form) that the Office of the Registrar provide a copy of the Order once it has been made, issued, and entered into the judicial record of proceedings for this JRPA Proceeding.

12. Should the President of the Divisional Court require any refinements, clarifications, or in limine modifications to the instrument to better reflect the Court's intent, the undersigned remains available to redraft the same. This ensures that the final document is entirely congruent with the Court's findings and the high standards of stylistic elegance expected in such high-stakes, generally and specifically, and public interest litigation, prior to its subsequent filing and entry into the record of proceeding.

13. Otherwise, I shall presume, reliance on the adverse inference doctrine, that I have complied, in light of the lack of necessity of a Form 37A along with the frustration of the process with electronic filings with the OCPP and the circumstances dictating the absence of a Form 37A, that Motion #4 and its relief sought in the form a hard copy made, provided and served Draft Order via email and fax, and "mail filed" is decided without opposition to the relief sought.

14. Should the Divisional Court and the President of the Divisional Court require any further clarification or assistance in this regard, I remain available via this email.

15. Thank you kindly.

Respectfully submitted:
...

[Message clipped] View entire message
One attachment • Scanned by Gmail

M

Mr. Kevin McLean <mcleansettlement@gmail.com> Jan 12, 2026, 2:58 PM to SCJ-CSJ, roxanne.parris

Classification: PRIVATE AND CONFIDENTIAL Time Sensitivity: URGENT – TIME SENSITIVE DATE: January 12, 2026
Initial Sending Method: Electronic Mail Transmission

Subsequent transmission methods: facsimile et al

ADDRESSEES

TO:
The Divisional Court of Ontario
Osgoode Hall (Toronto)
130 Queen Street West
Room 174
Toronto, Ontario M5H 2N5
(the "Divisional Court")

Attention: The Registrar of the Divisional Court, Ms. Roxanne Parris (hereinafter the "Current Registrar" or "Replacement Registrar") Email: Roxanne.parris@ontario.ca

AND TO: (TO BE DIRECTED TO IN RELATION TO THE DRAFT ORDER AND DOCUMENTS TO FOLLOW SUBJECT TO ANY IMMEDIATE RECTIFICATION AND REMEDYING OF THE NON-COMPLIANCE INCLUDING THE NOW RECURRING ISSUE OF A 403 FORBIDDEN CODE)

The President of the Divisional Court, The Honourable Chief Justice Morawetz Osgoode Hall, 130 Queen Street West
Toronto, Ontario M5H 2N5
Fax: 416.327.6011

MATTER DETAILS

I. Court File Number: DC-24-00000718-00JR
II. Short Style of Cause: McLean v. TD Home and Auto Insurance Company, et al.
III. Document Classification: Email with enclosures: (1) Canada Post confirmation tracking number for Motion Record #4; (2) Draft Order for Motion #5 (January 12, 2026 version - V3); (3) Summary of Factum or Written Submission in Support of Motion #5.
IV. Sender: Mr. Kevin A. McLean, B.A., J.D., C.I.M.
V. Sending Party Status: "Moving Party" in relation to Motion #4 and Motion #5, and NOM #3 (along with NOM #1 and #2) and Applicant in relation to JRPA Application

Dear Sirs/Mesdames/Other Gender-Neutral Pronouns:

I write to you on an urgent and extraordinary basis, compelled by circumstances that threaten to render the judicial process a nullity. I repeat, rely upon, and incorporate by reference the entirety of the relevant correspondence previously submitted to this Court as though fully set out herein. The situation has reached a critical juncture where the administration of justice is being systematically obstructed by a combination of technical failure, registrarial paralysis, and institutional silence.

The Digital Blockade and the "403 Forbidden" Exclusion: I confirm that as of today's date, there continues to be a persistent and impenetrable "403 Forbidden Error Code" whenever I attempt to access the Ontario Public Courts Portal (OCPP) using my designated email, password, and verification codes. In technical terms, a "403 Forbidden" error signifies that the web server understood the request but affirmatively refuses to authorize access to the requested resource. It indicates that the user lacks the necessary permissions—functioning as a locked door even when the litigant possesses the correct key.

This digital blockade is not a generalized system outage but appears to be a targeted and deliberate exclusion. Through rigorous comparative testing conducted for investigative purposes, I have confirmed that other OCPP accounts remain fully accessible from the same IP address and hardware configuration. However, my specific credentials result in an immediate and absolute refusal. This "digital excommunication" represents a "smoking gun" of administrative interference, occurring precisely as critical litigation deadlines approach. It is a violation of the fundamental principle that digital infrastructure must serve the law, not function as a weapon for "digital gatekeeping" to exclude specific litigants from their constitutional right to be heard. To deny a litigant their digital portal is to effectively evict them from the modern courthouse.

The Administrative Vacuum and Registrarial Absence: While I acknowledge that Ms. Roxanne Parris has served as Acting Registrar since December 3, 2025, there appears to be a total breakdown in institutional continuity. I have verified through direct telephonic inquiry that Successor Registrar Gentles has been absent since December 10, 2025, with an expected return only on January 9, 2026. This month-long absence, occurring during the returnable period for Notice of Motion #3, has left the Registry in a state of functional paralysis. I have preserved an audio recording of the official voicemail message confirming this absence as evidentiary proof of the "institutional silence" currently pervading the Registry.

This administrative vacuum, coupled with the unexplained 403 technical lockout, constitutes a "constructive closure" of the courthouse. When a litigant cannot file, cannot speak to a Registrar, and cannot receive confirmations of service, the rule of law is effectively suspended. The combined effect of these factors creates a "legal vacuum" where rights are asserted issued but never adjudicated, effectively insulating administrative decisions from judicial review. This is not merely a matter of administrative convenience; it is a substantive prerequisite for a functioning democracy that the state remains subject to the superintending authority of an independent judicature.

Constitutional Imperatives and the Core Jurisdiction of the SCJ: In light of the ongoing 403 Error Code, I respectfully require and demand that this technical barrier be rectified forthwith and by no later than the close of this business day. Access to justice is an inviolable constitutional principle (TLABC v. BC, 2014 SCC 59). In the 21st century, access to the Superior Court is synonymous with digital access; to extinguish a litigant's ability to file electronically is to render the constitutional promise of access a dead letter. This blockade represents an unconstitutional attempt by the Executive Branch to achieve indirectly what it is barred from doing directly: ousting the "Core Jurisdiction" of the Superior Court as protected under Section 96 of the Constitution Act, 1867. Any administrative policy or registrarial "standard operating procedure" that conflicts with these constitutional mandates is, ipso facto, of no force or effect.

Enclosures, Versioning (V4), and the Piecemeal Record: Please find enclosed the Draft Order for Motion #5 (dated January 12, 2026). I have designated this Draft Order as "V" (Version 3). For purposes of good faith and full disclosure, should updated evidence or status changes require a subsequent revision to bring the status current, I will entitle the same "V5" for ease of reference. This staggered delivery is necessitated by the insurmountable technical barriers I am currently facing, which have forced me to resort to physical mail-filing and facsimile transmissions to preserve my rights. I expressly confirm that I will maintain the highest substantive standards of legal argument in my Factum, maintaining the integrity of the record in spite of the technical non-compliance forced upon me.

PARTICULARIZED LIST OF THE TWENTY-ONE (21) ORDERS SOUGHT IN DRAFT ORDER (V3)

The Applicant seeks the following specific orders to restore the Rule of Law and ensure institutional integrity:

I. DISPENSATION AND ABRIDGMENT OF TIME

1. DISPENSATION OF FORM 37A: That the requirement for a formal Notice of Motion (Form 37A) for this Motion #5 be dispensed with, necessitated by the insurmountable technical barriers of the "403 Forbidden Error Code" which has effectively severed the Applicant's primary means of service.
2. ABRIDGMENT OF TIME: That the time for service and filing be abridged, declaring this motion properly returnable this day, January 12, 2026, to address the urgent need for judicial oversight over the digital and administrative components of this litigation.
3. NUNC PRO TUNC ORDERS: That all orders involving timing and filing relating to this matter be granted nunc pro tunc, ensuring the record is perfected despite the administrative failures encountered by the Applicant.

II. JUDICIAL ASSIGNMENT AND INSTITUTIONAL OVERSIGHT 4. SELF-ASSIGNMENT BY THE PRESIDENT: That the President of the Divisional Court self-assign this proceeding to his own jurisdiction. This is vital to prevent a miscarriage of justice necessitated by the inextricable nexus between the matters at hand and the requirement for the highest level of judicial oversight to restore public confidence. 5. RELIEF OF JUSTICE SHORE: That Madam Justice Shore be relieved from all duties involving the Applicant to maintain the appearance of total judicial impartiality and ensure the merits of the JRPA proceeding are not obscured by collateral disputes regarding judicial conduct.

III. SECTION 76 OF THE CJA AND CONSTITUTIONAL ACCESS 6. MANDATORY RECTIFICATION OF OCPP: That IT administrators immediately rectify the "403 Forbidden" status, including whitelisting the Applicant's IP address and restoring full electronic filing and retrieval privileges. 7. PROVISION OF IT CONTACT: That court staff provide an individual email contact for the IT department to troubleshoot the 403 issue in the event that the technological court staff cannot fix the same. 8. PRODUCTION OF ACCESS LOGS: That the OCCP manager and Registrar provide the President with all relevant logs regarding the Applicant's access attempts to determine exactly when and why the blockade commenced. 9. ALTERNATIVE EMAIL FILING: That until the 403 error is fixed, the Applicant is entitled to file via email to the Registry and Acting Registrar Roxanne Parris, with documents deemed filed at the time of transmission. 10. DECLARATION OF CONSTRUCTIVE DENIAL: A declaration that digital disenfranchisement constitutes a "constructive denial of the right to be heard" (audi alteram partem) and a breach of the Core Jurisdiction of the SCJ as protected under Section 96.

IV. ACCESS TO COURT RECORDINGS, DOCUMENTS, AND INFORMATION ASSETS 11. COPIES OF RECORDINGS: That the SCJ Recording Management Office provide copies of digital recordings for all case conferences for which a Request Form Undertaking has been submitted and payment remitted. 12. PROVISION TO TRANSCRIPTIONIST: That the RMO provide the Applicant's authorized transcriptionist (ATO) with the specific tapes and materials required for the production of certified transcripts. 13. ACCESS TO "UNDISCLOSED CRIMINAL PROCEEDING": That staff provide immediate access to requested documents in their custody related to relevant criminal proceedings, to the extent such documents are relevant to the grounds of judicial review. 14. "NON-FIPPA" ACCESS: That staff at any SCJ courthouse provide access to requested documents and information assets, recognizing that the "open court principle" extends to administrative records necessary to verify procedural regularity. 15. 48-HOUR

RESPONSE MANDATE: That court staff and Registrars respond to the Applicant within 48 hours to compensate for significant procedural delays and ensure the Applicant is not further marginalized by administrative silence. 16. ITEMIZED FEE ESTIMATES: That the Registrar provide detailed, itemized estimates of costs for document access. If not provided within 48 hours, such fees shall be deemed waived.

V. ADJUDICATION AND GENERAL PROVISIONS 17. IMMEDIATE ANNOUNCEMENT ORDER: That the President pronounce determinations regarding Motions #3, #4, and #5 immediately, with comprehensive, detailed reasons to follow. 18. MOOTNESS OF PRIOR ORDERS: That to the extent these orders dispose of any other orders, the relief sought in other motions is rendered moot. 19. IMMEDIATE EFFECT: That this Order be effective immediately and settled/signed solely by the President without requirement for approval as to form or content by defaulting Respondents. 20. PRESIDENTIAL SIGNATURE: That only the President may sign this order, with formal issuing to be completed by the Registrar's office forthwith and without delay. 21. LEAVE TO SEEK DIRECTIONS: That the Applicant is granted leave to seek further directions or submit evidence to assist the Court with the status of these orders.

EXPANDED SUMMARY OF FACTUM OR WRITTEN SUBMISSION IN SUPPORT (MOTION #5)

THE "CONSTRUCTIVE CLOSURE" DOCTRINE & THE ADMINISTRATIVE LEVIATHAN This Motion seeks extraordinary intervention to remedy a state of "digital excommunication." As established in TLABC v. BC, access to justice is the skeletal framework upon which the body of Canadian constitutionalism is draped. The "403 Forbidden Error Code" represents a unilateral administrative act that renders the constitutional promise of access a dead letter. When the Executive Branch—through its control of court services—interferes with the Judicial Branch's ability to hear a case, it strikes at the heart of the separation of powers. This is a "Chief's Case" (R. v. Baldovi, 2016 MBQB 90), requiring the President to act as the ultimate guarantor of the Court's institutional reputation in the face of executive overreach.

INSTITUTIONAL INTEGRITY & THE "FALSE INFORMATION PACKAGE"

This letter and the Factum addresses a factual matrix of systemic fraudulent conduct, including identity fraud and forged signatures on equipment loan agreements (e.g., the Epstein Cole TPL loan). Central to this motion is the discovery of a "False Information Package" containing fraudulent court documents and the unauthorized involvement of Justice Shore in unrecorded ex parte proceedings. These anomalies threaten the appearance of total judicial impartiality. The "independence of the judiciary" is not a privilege for judges, but a shield for the public; institutional silence in the face of bribery and forgery constitutes a surrender of supervisory jurisdiction.

THE DIGITAL BARRICADE & THE RULE OF LAW VS. THE RULE OF MEN (see: Timm v. Canada (BOA, Tab 135)

Access to justice transcends mere administrative grace; it is a substantive prerequisite for a functioning democracy. The Rule of Law is supplanted by a "rule of men" if administrative officials decide who shall have access to the court through server-side blacklisting. Pursuant to 407 ETR v. Ontario, 2005 CanLII 49963 (Div. Ct.), the Registrar's duty to process documents is a ministerial duty with no residual discretion. The digital blockade functions as "litigation by attrition," intended to wear down the Applicant's resolve through administrative "stonewalling" and the creation of a "digital underclass" of litigants.

PART 4: THE PRESIDENT AS CUSTOS ROTULORUM & MANDAMUS (CONDITIONAL UPON THE INITIAL SECTION 76 OF THE CJA ORDER) (Ruffo, Baldovi and others (see: BOA, Tabs 64 and 69)

The Chief Justice/President possesses the unique "moral authority" to protect the "constitutional trust" (Ruffo v. Conseil de la magistrature). This role requires intervention when "shadow assignments" or registrarial paralysis threaten the Court's institutional integrity. The Applicant seeks a Writ of Mandamus to compel the performance of ministerial duties, including the production of case recordings for which payment has been retained without service—a manifest breach of the "contract of administration." Only the President can pierce the "administrative fog" and ensure that the courtroom gates are reopened.

ALL OF WHICH IS RESPECTFULLY SUBMITTED this 12th day of January, 2026.

Kevin A. McLean
(Applicant and Moving Party)

Enclosures (may be by piecemeal basis)

1. Draft Order for Motion #5 of today's date submitted by Applicant (file name: Draft Order - Motion 5 - Applicant - Moving Party - Mr McLean - 12-Jan-2026 - v4)
2. Factum or Written Submission to follow;
3. Index of authorities contained in enumerated list #3; and
4. Book of authorities (if necessary)

Yours faithfully,

5590

/KAM

Mr. Kevin A. McLean (BA, JD, CIM)

Sender's name: Mr. Kevin Alexander McLean (BA, JD, CIM)
Sender's address: 410-775 King Street West, Toronto, Ontario, M5V 2K3
Sender's Telephone Number: (647) 370-9354
Sender's email address: mcleansettlement@gmail.com

...

[Message clipped] View entire message
One attachment • Scanned by Gmail

M

Mr. Kevin McLean <mcleansettlement@gmail.com> Jan 16, 2026, 3:41 PM to Tashekah, SCJ-CSJ, roxanne.parris

DATE: January 16, 2026
CLASSIFICATION: PRIVATE AND CONFIDENTIAL

TIME SENSITIVITY: URGENT – TIME SENSITIVE

SENDING METHOD: Via Email Transmission (Subsequent transmission via facsimile et al.)

TO:

The Divisional Court of Ontario

Osgoode Hall (Toronto)

130 Queen Street West, Room 174

Toronto, Ontario M5H 2N5

(the "Divisional Court")

Attention: The Registrar of the Divisional Court, Ms. Roxanne Parris

(the "Current Registrar" or "Replacement Registrar")

Email: Roxanne.parris@ontario.ca

AND TO:

The President of the Divisional Court, The Honourable Chief Justice Morawetz

Osgoode Hall, 130 Queen Street West

Toronto, Ontario M5H 2N5

5591

(the “President”)

Fax: 416.327.6011 (or other fax numbers to his attention in light of the continued breaches of the Core Jurisdiction Test, CA 1867, and ROL)

MATTER DETAILS

I. Court File Number: DC-24-00000718-00JR

II. Short Style of Cause: McLean v. TD Home and Auto Insurance Company, et al.

III. Document Classification: Letter with enclosures

IV. Sender: Mr. Kevin A. McLean, B.A., J.D., C.I.M.

V. Sending Party Status: “Moving Party” in relation to Motion #4 and Motion #5, and NOM #3 (along with NOM #1 and #2) and Applicant in relation to JRPA Application

Dear Sirs/Mesdames/Other Gender-Neutral Pronouns:

I. INTRODUCTION AND PROCEDURAL PREAMBLE

I cordially write regarding the above. I adopt all definitions from previously, indirectly or directly, cited correspondence and filed instruments. This correspondence is intended to serve as a formal bridge between the physical filings already in the possession of the Divisional Court and the digital exigencies necessitated by the current technological impasse. It constitutes a deliberate act of procedural preservation, ensuring that the record of these proceedings reflects the Moving Party’s unwavering commitment to the Rule of Law (the “ROL”) despite the systemic obstructions encountered.

II. TRANSMISSION OF EXECUTORY INSTRUMENTS AND RESTORATIVE ENCLOSURES

Please find appended hereto the following instruments which were submitted for mail filing on the morning of January 14, 2026, as evidenced by the Canada Post Tracking Attachment (the “Tracking Confirmation”) provided infra. Each document serves as a vital component in the overarching architecture of the Moving Party's pursuit of a meritorious adjudication:

1. Draft Order for Notice of Motion #3 (Liability) (the “NOM #3 Liability Order”): A foundational instrument designed to resolve the threshold questions of liability that have remained in a state of administrative suspended animation for an unacceptable duration.
2. Draft Order for Notice of Motion #3 (Costs) (the “NOM #3 Costs Order”): An essential restorative measure intended to address the significant disbursements and full-indemnity costs incurred through the protracted procedural history and the necessity for repeated mitigatory filings.
3. Draft Order for Motion #4 (the “Motion #4 Order”): Provided herein as courtesy copies, having been previously mail filed, this order seeks to compel the Current Registrar to discharge the statutory and ministerial duties mandated by the Courts of Justice Act, R.S.O. 1990, c. C.43 (the “CJA”).
4. Draft Order for Motion #5 (the “Motion #5 Order”): A sophisticated request for judicial self-assignment and technical remediation, ensuring the functional efficacy of the court’s process and the protection of the Moving Party's right to be heard.
5. Factum in Support of Motion #5 (the “Motion #5 Factum”): Meticulously prepared in hyperlinked and bookmarked fashion, this document provides an intricate extrapolation of the legal principles governing the core jurisdiction of the superior courts and the constitutional necessity of access.

Concomitantly, copies of the following are provided to ensure a complete record of the Moving Party's due diligence:

1. The cover letter dated January 14, 2026 (the “January 14 Correspondence”), which enclosed the aforementioned for mail filing; and

2. The Tracking Confirmation, establishing the precise tempus regit actum of the physical submission and confirming the receipt of these materials by the Divisional Court.

III. MEDICAL EXIGENCY AND THE CONSTITUTIONAL IMPERATIVE FOR ADJUDICATION

As is manifest from the 2025 MRI (the "2025 MRI") and the totality of the medical evidence within the record of proceeding, the physiological condition of the Moving Party undergoes a progressive and non-linear decline. A definitive adjudication upon the merits of the Judicial Review Procedure Act, R.S.O. 1990, c. J.1 (the "JRPA") proceeding is not merely a procedural preference but an imperative of natural justice. This is particularly salient given that the Certificate of Perfection (the "Certificate of Perfection") was duly filed and the requisite fees remitted on December 13, 2024.

Notwithstanding this perfection, there has been a profound and unexplained administrative omission to schedule the JRPA proceeding for a hearing, contrary to the Rules of Civil Procedure, R.R.O. 1990, Reg. 194 (the "Rules") and the solemn oaths of office undertaken by the Divisional Court personnel. This failure to list the matter involves the institutional integrity of this Honourable Divisional Court and falls within the exclusive purview of the President. The Moving Party asserts that any further delay constitutes a de facto denial of the right to be heard, as the window for meaningful recovery or management of health through medical expert opinions continues to narrow. In order for the Moving Party to determine how to manage their health with the benefit of medical expert opinions et al., the legal status of the insurance coverage must be resolved instanter. The status quo ante cannot be restored if the subject of the litigation—the health and viability of the Applicant—is permitted to deteriorate beyond the point of medical remediation due to administrative inertia.

IV. JURISPRUDENTIAL EXTRAPOLATIONS AND ADMINISTRATIVE RECTIFICATION

The deleterious impact of such administrative inertia, compounded by the Respondents' pattern of obfuscation, finds clarity in the observations of the Honourable Justice Akazaki in Zurich Insurance Company Ltd. v. TD Home and Auto Insurance Company, 2025 ONSC 151 (the "Zurich 2025"), where his Honour stated:

"[16] As described in the prevailing appellate decisions, the purpose of this regulation was to prevent SABS claims, including vital treatments and income benefits, from being delayed while insurers fought over priority under s. 268(2) of the Insurance Act."

This syllogism underscores the legislative intent of the Insurance Act, R.S.O. 1990, c. I.8 (the "Insurance Act") and its associated regulations: the facilitation of expeditious relief for the injured. While the Respondents have frequently misled the Divisional Court, the conduct of Ms. Tashekah Gentles (the "Former Registrar Gentles"), in her erstwhile capacity as the leader of the court clerks and staff, has stained the reputation and integrity of the Divisional Court. This administrative malaise must be corrected instanter.

The Moving Party kindly reminds Former Registrar Gentles, appreciating that she was absent from her duties for a duration of one month spanning December 10, 2025, to January 9, 2026, of the necessity of rectifying administrative errors of the past. This mandate includes addressing and attending to the discharge of duties involving requisitions so filed or submitted for filing within the Justice Services Online Portal (the "JSO Portal"). It matters not who was specifically responsible for the original delay; what is paramount from a standpoint of justice is the immediate identification of a First Insurer (the "First Insurer") and the restoration of proper record management through Health Claims for Auto Insurance (the "HCAI") and related protocols. The persistence of this delay serves to subvert the very consumer protection objectives that the Insurance Act was enacted to preserve, effectively allowing administrative dysfunction to trump substantive statutory rights.

V. PROCEDURAL STANDING AND THE DEFICIENCY OF RESPONDING INSTRUMENTS

The Moving Party formally confirms that, as of the date of this correspondence, there has been no filing or delivery of any First Defence (the "First Defence") by any of the Respondents. Consequently, pursuant to the provisions of Form 68A (the "Form 68A") of the Rules, there exists no extant procedural requirement for the Moving Party to serve the Respondents with the current instruments, save for the inherent right of the Attorney General of Ontario (the "AGO") to be heard at the plenary hearing of the JRPA Application.

It is of paramount importance to distinguish that Motions #3 (which encompass Notice of Motion #1 (the "NOM #1") and Notice of Motion #2 (the "NOM #2")) through Motion #5 do not constitute the final hearing of the JRPA Application itself; they are interlocutory restorative measures necessitated by the Respondents' non-compliance and administrative failures. Therefore, the Moving Party's standing to proceed with these motion is unimpeachable, particularly given that the Respondents have effectively abdicated their right to respond by failing to file a First Defence within the timeframes mandated by the Rules.

VI. NON-OPPOSITION TO ADMINISTRATIVE COMPULSION (MOTION #4)

I confirm that the Former Registrar Gentles and the Current Registrar (Acting Registrar) have not opposed the relief sought in Motion #4 (the "Motion #4 Relief") despite being duly served with the same since prior to Christmas Day, specifically on December 23, 2025. Their continued silence and failure to file responding materials constitutes a de facto admission of the administrative deficiencies particularized in the moving materials.

In the law of evidence, such silence in the face of serious allegations often permits an adverse inference, and in this context, it further underscores the necessity for the President to grant the restorative orders sought to compel the discharge of their statutory and judicial duties. The lack of opposition from those tasked with the administration of the court's business suggests a recognition of the procedural failures that Motion #4 seeks to rectify.

VII. THE 403 BARRIER: DIGITAL GATEKEEPING AND THE RULE OF LAW

It is formally confirmed that the 403 Forbidden Error Code (the "403 Barrier") persists as of the date of this correspondence, effectively severing the Moving Party's access to the Ontario Courts Public Portal (the "OCPP"). This digital disenfranchisement is viewed as an impermissible and likely ultra vires encroachment upon the Constitution Act, 1867 (the "1867 Act") and the ROL.

The 403 Barrier, if not corrected forthwith and/or ordered to be corrected by this Honourable Court, may necessitate the formal intervention of the Auditor General of Ontario (the "Auditor General") to investigate the systemic failure of the court's digital infrastructure and the potential misappropriation of administrative authority. While the Moving Party maintains the utmost respect for the considerable resources and competing demands upon the President, these matters are unprecedented in nature, involving serious allegations of fraud, bribery, and extortion. These concerns are compounded by various misrepresentations made to the Moving Party by previous court staff, some of whom are no longer employed in their current roles. While the Moving Party is empathetic to any personal loss experienced by these individuals, the institutional integrity of the Divisional Court must remain the paramount consideration.

In light of the landmark determination in Trial Lawyers Association of British Columbia v. British Columbia (Attorney General), 2014 SCC 59 (the "TLABC 2014"), it is a settled principle that access to the superior courts is a constitutionalized prerequisite for the maintenance of the ROL. The 403 Barrier functions as an unconstitutional gatekeeper, preventing the Moving Party from exercising the core right of access to the judiciary. The integrity of the Divisional Court depends upon its transparency; a "forbidden" screen is the antithesis of the open court principle and risks creating a tiered system of justice where only those with specific digital permissions may seek relief.

VIII. THE ROLE OF THE PRESIDENT AS PRIMUS INTER PARES

The circumstances particularized herein require the immediate and sustained attention of the President. It is respectfully submitted that the relief sought in the draft orders falls within the exclusive supervisory jurisdiction of the President in his capacity as the primus inter pares of the Divisional Court and the ultimate guardian of its functional efficacy. The Moving Party seeks the granting of relief in substantially the same form as the draft orders to ensure the due execution of office and prevent a multiplicity of proceedings.

It is further confirmed that the Honourable Madam Justice Shore (the "Justice Shore") is to have no involvement in the adjudication or management of this matter. Any such involvement would be viewed as a violation of judicial duties and a breach of the requirements for an impartial tribunal. It is asserted that Justice Shore must be relieved of all duties, specifically if not generally, pending comprehensive investigations into the conduct particularized in the Motion #5 Factum. The Moving Party contends that the removal of Justice Shore from this file is a mandatory step to preserve the appearance of judicial impartiality and to restore public confidence in the administration of justice within this region.

IX. FISCAL CONSIDERATIONS AND THE EFFICACY OF MOTION #5

The Moving Party expresses a profound reluctance to seek costs against the public purse (the "Public Purse"), cognisant that such expenditures are drawn from taxpayer resources. I would loathe to seek costs against the Public Purse as it is taxpayer money, but I have paid Prescribed Fees (the "Prescribed Fees") continuously without the law being followed.

As noted, Motion #5 will assist the Public Purse through the power of the robe in avoiding a multiplicity of proceedings and having to follow up on outstanding obligations of various persons. By centralizing these restorative measures and providing the President with the tools to rectify the technological and administrative failures in a single, comprehensive order, the court can mitigate the long-term fiscal impact of continued litigation and administrative rework. The granting of Motion #5 represents the most economically and procedurally efficient path forward for all stakeholders, including the public whose taxes fund the judiciary.

X. CONCLUSION AND RESERVATION OF RIGHTS

The Moving Party remains available should the President require clarification in relation to any of the instruments mail filed with the Divisional Court or contained in the record of proceeding by filings within the JSO Portal. Furthermore, the Moving Party remains available to finalize a fulsome book of authorities and a hyperlinked index to follow this transmission.

Should the continued silence in the face of these grave administrative and constitutional concerns remain, the Moving Party reserves all rights to ensure that the President has full notice of the same so he can discharge his responsibilities to the public and the legal profession. I reserve the right to include all correspondence into further evidence and seek costs and full indemnification for the disbursements necessitated by this forced reliance on physical mail filing as a measure of mitigation against digital exclusion.

Yours most appreciatively and gratefully,

/S/ Mr. Kevin A. McLean (BA, JD, CIM)

Mr. Kevin A. McLean, B.A., J.D., C.I.M.

Applicant / Moving Party (Pro Se)

LIST OF ATTACHMENTS:

1. NOM #3 Liability Order
2. NOM #3 Costs Order
3. Motion #4 Order
4. Motion #5 Order
5. Motion #5 Factum (Hyperlinked and Bookmarked)
6. January 14 Correspondence
7. Tracking Confirmation

...

[Message clipped] View entire message

7 Attachments • Scanned by Gmail

M

Mr. Kevin McLean <mcleansettlement@gmail.com> Jan 30, 2026, 4:43 PM

to SCJ-CSJ, roxanne.parris, Tashekah

Classification: PRIVATE AND CONFIDENTIAL DATE: January 30, 2026
SENDING METHOD: Via Electronic Mail Transmission
ADDRESSEES TO: The Divisional Court of Ontario
Osgoode Hall (Toronto)

130 Queen Street West, Room 174

Toronto, Ontario M5H 2N5

(the "Divisional Court")
Attention: The Registrar of the Divisional Court, Ms. Roxanne Parris (the "Current Registrar")
AND TO: The President of the Divisional Court, The Honourable Chief Justice Morawetz
Osgoode Hall, 130 Queen Street West

Toronto, Ontario M5H 2N5
5595
MATTER DETAILS I. Court File Number: DC-24-00000718-00JR
II. Short Style of Cause: McLean v. TD Home and Auto Insurance Company, et al. (the "McLean* Proceeding")
III. Subject I: McLean v. TD Home and Auto Insurance Company, et al. (Court File No. DC-24-00000718-00JR)
IV. Subject II: Comprehensive Expansion of the Electronic Book of Authorities and Formal Submissions regarding Jurisdictional Vitiation, Administrative Mandamus, the Remediation of Procedural Nullities, and the Preservation of the Open Court Principle.
Dear Sirs/Mesdames/Other Gender-Neutral Pronouns:

I cordially write regarding the above. The undersigned adopts all definitions from previously, indirectly or directly, cited correspondence.

I. PRELIMINARY TRANSMISSION OF ELECTRONIC COMPENDIA AND THE CONSTITUTIONAL IMPLICATIONS OF TECHNOLOGICAL VICISSITUDES

It is with distinct professional gratification and a steadfast commitment to the efficiency of the curia that a comprehensive Book of Authorities (the "BOA") is provided to this Honourable Court in an electronic format, meticulously bifurcated by indexed tabs and enumerated pagination. The undersigned has done the utmost to confine the volume of pages within these authorities to relevant passages, executive summaries, and essential pages to ensure judicial economy and facilitate an expeditious review, thereby avoiding the presentation of superfluous data. To the extent that further authorities would assist this Honourable Divisional Court and the Honourable Divisional Court President, I will provide them by referencing the version and date.

Owing to the substantial magnitude of the digital data comprising these authorities, which encompass several decades of binding appellate jurisprudence and complex statutory instruments, the BOA shall be transmitted via successive electronic mail attachments. This incremental delivery is necessitated to circumvent the constraints of digital throughput and server-side limitations inherent in the current judicial infrastructure. The undersigned hereby confirms the persistence and validity of all prior testamentary filings delivered via physical post, which remain the primary record of truth and the definitive evidentiary foundation of this application, notwithstanding these supplemental digital transmissions.

Furthermore, a contemporaneous verification shall be conducted to ascertain the status of the "403 Forbidden" error code (the "Access Impediment") currently plaguing the digital filing interface. This technological obstruction constitutes a prima facie barrier to the administration of justice and a fundamental frustration of the litigant's right to file and be heard within a reasonable timeframe. The "Open Court Principle" (the "Open Court Principle") is rendered illusory if the electronic portal serves as a digital blockade rather than a gateway. I note that the credit card payment remains in a finalized transaction status (the "Finalized Payment") for the motion, yet the administrative processing remains in a state of stasis, suggesting a disconnect between the financial and procedural arms of the Registry. The implications of this blockade are not merely technical but constitutional in nature, as they impede the movement of a proceeding toward its rightful adjudication and create a state of procedural ossification.

Should this administrative paralysis remain unresolved by the meridian of the forthcoming Monday, a formal application shall be commenced to seek the indemnification of substantial costs and disbursements necessitated by this forced procedural detour and the resulting expenditure of legal resources. This technological gatekeeping results in a disparate impact on those seeking judicial review, effectively creating a procedural lacuna that prejudices the Applicant and privileges the administrative inertia of the Respondents. The state's failure to maintain a functional digital infrastructure is a form of administrative negligence that cannot be permitted to viciate the substantive rights of the parties or the integrity of the status quo ante.

II. JURISDICTIONAL INFELICITY AND THE VITIATION OF THE CASE MANAGEMENT DIRECTIVE

An exacting historical exegesis of the Rules of Civil Procedure, R.R.O. 1990, Reg. 194 (the "Rules") reveals that the procedural maneuvers executed by the Honourable Madam Justice Shore (the "Interlocutory Justice") constitute a profound departure from the post-2010 legal by estoppel. It is submitted that the purported directives are not merely irregular but are void ab initio, representing a nullity upon a nullity. The jurisdiction to invoke the mechanism of case management is strictly contingent upon the satisfaction of the filing of a first defence (the "Filing Requirement") pursuant to Rule 77.05.

In the context of an application for judicial review under the Judicial Review Procedure Act (the "JRPA"), this jurisdictional predicate is analogous to the delivery of a Notice of Appearance (the "NOA"). As the Respondents failed to effectuate the delivery of their respective NOAs with requisite proof of service, the court remained divested of the statutory authority to trigger case management. The principle of ex debito justitiae dictates that no court may assume a management function over parties who have not yet submitted to the jurisdiction of the court through the requisite responsive pleadings. To allow a judge to "manage" a file where no party has appeared is to invite a form of judicial overreach that subverts the adversarial foundations of our legal system. Jurisdictional competence is not a matter of judicial convenience but a requirement of natural justice (audi alteram partem). The absence of an NOA means the Respondents have no locus standi; ergo, there are no "sides" to manage, and the attempt to do so is a jurisdictional felo de se.

To suggest that there have been profound transgressions of ethics, statutes (inclusive of the Constitution of Canada), regulations, and foundational ethical requirements would be an understatement; indeed, it constitutes a fundamental erosion of procedural due process. The fons et origo of this error lies in the assumption that judicial discretion can override the mandatory statutory preconditions for case management. Consequently, the purported assignment and the subsequent directive issued on January 7, 2025 (the "January Directive"), were executed ultra vires. The law does not permit a tribunal to "manage" parties into compliance; rather, procedural compliance remains the sine qua non for the invocation of management authority. To permit the January Directive to stand would be to endorse a jurisdictional overreach that undermines the structural integrity of the Rules. The court cannot grant itself jurisdiction through a case management order when the statutory preconditions for that order have not been met. This failure to adhere to the ratio decidendi of the Rules creates a procedural vacuum that threatens the stability of the entire proceeding and necessitates an immediate restitutio in integrum to return the parties to their rightful procedural positions.

III. THE PARADIGMATIC "CULTURE SHIFT" AND THE MISAPPLICATION OF RULE 77

A general question of law of central importance arises regarding the undisclosed prior judicial involvement (the "UPJI") of a presiding member and whether such an omission constitutes a fraud upon the court. The 2010 reforms inaugurated a categorical "Culture Shift" (the "Culture Shift") in Ontario litigation, prioritizing proportionality and the mitigation of administrative "over-administration." This shift was intended to facilitate the "resolution of the dispute on the merits," as articulated in Hryniak v. Mauldin, 2014 SCC 7 (the "Hryniak Decision"). However, Rule 77.01(1) provides for judicial intervention only where a demonstrated necessity exists, yet here, the intervention occurred in a vacuum of procedural standing. The "Culture Shift" was never intended to serve as a license for judicial officers to bypass the foundational requirements of the Rules or to ignore the mandatory hierarchy of procedural steps.

Pursuant to Rule 77.02(4), the provisions of Rule 77 maintain paramountcy over all conflicting Rules, including Rule 50. In the instant McLean Proceeding, no valid assignment under Rule 77.05 or Rule 77.06 transpired. Ergo, the direction issued via the "Ibula Email" on January 7, 2025, lacked legal validity as:

(i) no Filing Requirement was satisfied, leaving the court without a functional record to manage;

(ii) no exercise of discretion under Rule 77.05(4) was manifest, recorded, or justified by any exceptional circumstance; and

(iii) the Respondents, having failed to "deliver" their NOAs, forfeited their standing to participate in any procedural steps, let alone a case management conference.

This misapplication of Rule 77 creates an untenable precedent wherein administrative convenience is elevated above the mandatory strictures of the Rules. The consequence of "over-administration" is the creation of an administrative straitjacket that stifles substantive justice under the guise of efficiency. Management without pleadings is akin to a trial without a jury where the law requires both. Without the Filing Requirement being met, any attempt at "management" is a hollow exercise in procedural fiction that fails to satisfy the prima facie requirements of the law. This is the very definition of procedural "over-administration" that the Hryniak* Decision sought to eradicate. The proportionality principle requires that judicial resources be expended only when a proceeding is properly before the court and only to the degree necessary to advance the matter toward a resolution on its merits.

IV. UNDISCLOSED PRIOR INVOLVEMENT AND THE BREACH OF JUDICIAL ETHICS It is now manifest that the impetus for the breach of the Courts of Justice Act (the "CJA") was the Interlocutory Justice's prior undisclosed participation in an ex parte in camera hearing (the "Undisclosed Proceeding"). This failure to provide disclosure regarding the UPJI in the context of an undisclosed criminal proceeding (the "UCP") engenders a reasonable apprehension of bias and violates the Judicial Code of Ethics. While the concept of mens rea is typically reserved for the criminal law, the intentionality behind this non-disclosure suggests a cognitive avoidance of the fundamental duty of impartiality (nemo judex in sua causa). The public trust in the judiciary is contingent upon the transparent disclosure of any potential conflict of interest, especially where such involvement could influence the judicial perception of the litigants.

Such non-disclosure satisfies the criteria for fraud discovered post-facto, thereby invoking Rule 59.06(2) and necessitating the vacating of all subsequent acta. A judge who has been privy to ex parte submissions in a related matter is fundamentally compromised in their ability to preside over the subsequent litigation without the express and informed consent of all parties. The failure to disclose this status quo ante involvement constitutes an incurable defect in the proceedings, rendering the subsequent directives unenforceable in limine. The integrity of the judicial office requires that judges remain "above the fray," and any secret participation in related proceedings viciates the neutrality required for the adjudication of the current dispute. The legal right to an impartial tribunal is a jus cogens norm of the Canadian legal order, the obviation of which results in a jurisdictional nullity that cannot be cured by later acquiescence. To ignore this breach is to permit a corruption of the judicial process that strikes at the very heart of public confidence in the administration of justice.

V. ADMINISTRATIVE MALFEASANCE AND THE MINISTERIAL DUTY OF THE REGISTRAR Regarding the Ontario Courts Public Portal (the "OCPP") and O. Reg. 226/25, these digital reforms replaced the "Registrar's Acceptance" model with a "Subject to Confirmation" model. However, the systematic rejection of filings via the Access Impediment constitutes a breach of the ministerial duty to facilitate access to the curia. In accordance with the jurisprudential framework established in Re Union Canadienne de l'Industrie des Peches et des Travailleurs, Local 140, 1981 CanLII 3556 (NBCA) (the "Union Canadienne"), the absence of permissive language such as "if it considers it advisable to do so" indicates a mandatory obligation. The Registrar's office is the physical and digital threshold of the court, and it must remain open to all who seek justice.

While the Industrial Relations Act examined in Union Canadienne granted certain discretionary latitudes, the Rules governing the Current Registrar employ the imperative "shall." The failure of the Registry to issue a Form 68B (the "Notice of Listing") following the perfection (the "Perfection") of the McLean Proceeding on December 16, 2024, represents a severe departure from the mandatory strictures of the Rules. When the Executive branch implements a digital blockade through malfunctioning software, the judiciary must assert its inherent jurisdiction to restore the status quo ante and ensure that the right to be heard is not extinguished by technological or administrative incompetence. The Registrar's function is ministerial, not judicial; it is to process documents, not to adjudicate their merit through silence or rejection. This administrative malfeasance represents an unwarranted interference with the litigant's vested rights to a timely hearing and constitutes a dereliction of duty that threatens the administration of justice. The Registrar acts as a conduit for the court, not a censor for the Crown.

VI. THE SUPERVISORY ROLE OF THE PRESIDENT AND THE REMEDY OF MANDAMUS The President of the Divisional Court, in his capacity as the Master of the Roster, maintains a solemn statutory obligation under Section 76 of the CJA to superintend the administrative secretariat and rectify the systemic inertia of the Registry. Pursuant to the venerable principle in Julius v. Oxford (Bishop of) (the "Julius 1880"), where a statutory power is coupled with a legal right or the public interest, the permissive "may" is transformed ipso facto into a mandatory "must." The President's supervisory jurisdiction is the ultimate safeguard against administrative paralysis and ensures that the administrative arm of the court remains subservient to the judicial mission.

I thank the President of the Divisional Court, in his distinguished capacity as a member of the Canadian Judicial Council and as the primus inter pares who possesses the exclusive jurisdiction to self-assign and relieve judges specifically and generally of their duties. He remains the steward of constitutional trust, the emergency administrator, and the guardian of the rule of law. As the moral voice of the Divisional Court, he possesses the authority to take over and manage public issues and to impose his will upon those judges who do not comply with the law, thereby ensuring that public confidence in the judiciary remains at a premium. The extraordinary remedy of mandamus (the "Mandamus") is sought as a restorative measure to compel the performance of public legal duties unlawfully withheld. This is a remedy of last resort, necessitated by the administrative blockade that has paralyzed this litigation and effectively denied the Applicant his day in court. The issuance of Mandamus would not only remediate the present harm but would also reaffirm the principle that administrative staff are servants of the law and cannot exercise their functions in a manner that obstructs the path to justice.

VII. CONCLUSION AND THE PURSUIT OF PROCEDURAL RECTITUDE Notwithstanding the anomalous circumstances surrounding the transition of the Former Registrar to the Current Registrar, exhaustive efforts have been dedicated to preparing this BOA for the President's consideration. The Respondents have failed to oppose the McLean Proceeding or satisfy the Filing Requirement since December 2025, yet they continue to benefit from the administrative paralysis of the Registry. As you know, there is no requirement for service on the Respondents because of their failure to "file" and "deliver" their NOAs as unequivocally admitted by record in the Case View OCPP. I confirm that they are not entitled to any notice of steps and I will rely on strict compliance with the Rules of Civil Procedure.

This state of affairs is inherently prejudicial and violates the principles of fundamental justice and the "Culture Shift" promised by the modern Rules. The persistence of these procedural nullities creates a cumulative injustice that can only be rectified through high-level judicial intervention to restore the status quo ante. The implications of continued silence from the Registry are profound, as they signal a collapse of the administrative apparatus designed to support the judiciary. It is trusted that the Current Registrar shall transmit these authorities to the President's immediate attention, along with the draft orders previously mail-filed, for his judicial review and approval. The undersigned reserves the right to rely on this correspondence for any lawful purpose, internally or externally, inclusive of the assessment of costs. The pursuit of procedural rectitude is not merely a technical endeavor but a requisite for the preservation of the rule of law and the avoidance of a total collapse of process. Thank you.

ALL OF WHICH IS RESPECTFULLY SUBMITTED this 30th day of January, 2026.

Yours most appreciatively and gratefully,

Kevin A. McLean

(Applicant and Moving Party)

Enclosure: 1. BOA (Tabs 1 to 307) – To be transmitted in piecemeal electronic installments. --- (THIS VERSION: PAGES 1 TO 1500)

Appendix #1: CURRENT VERSION OF RULE 77 AS OF JANUARY 1, 2010 (BUT FOR THE CHANGES THEREAFTER FROM MASTER TO ASSOCIATE JUDGES)

RULE 77 CIVIL CASE MANAGEMENT

Purpose and General Principles

Purpose

77.01 (1) The purpose of this Rule is to establish a case management system that provides case management only of those proceedings for which a need for the court's intervention is demonstrated and only to the degree that is appropriate, as determined in reliance on the criteria set out in this Rule. O. Reg. 438/08, s. 64.

General Principles

5599

(2) This Rule shall be construed in accordance with the following principles:

1. Despite the application of case management under this Rule to a proceeding, the greater share of the responsibility for managing the proceeding and moving it expeditiously to a trial, hearing or other resolution remains with the parties.
2. The nature and extent of the case management provided by a judge or associate judge under this Rule in respect of a proceeding shall be informed by any relevant practices, traditions, customs or judicial resource issues that apply locally in the region in which the proceeding is commenced or to which it is transferred. O. Reg. 438/08, s. 64; O. Reg. 383/21, s. 15.

Application

Scope

77.02 (1) This Rule applies to actions and applications commenced in or transferred to one of the following counties on or after January 1, 2010 and assigned to case management by an order under these rules:

1. The City of Ottawa.
2. The City of Toronto.

...

[Message clipped] View entire message

2 Attachments • Scanned by Gmail

M

Mr. Kevin McLean <mcleansettlement@gmail.com> Jan 30, 2026, 4:54 PM

to SCJ-CSJ, roxanne.parris, Tashekah

Dear Sirs/Mesdames/Other Gender-Neutral Pronouns:

Please find part 2 of 5 attached for record purposes. Thank you.

Yours faithfully,

/KAM

Mr. Kevin A. McLean (BA, JD, CIM)

Sender's name: Mr. Kevin Alexander McLean (BA, JD, CIM)
Sender's address: 410-775 King Street West, Toronto, Ontario, M5V 2K3
Sender's Telephone Number: (647) 370-9354
Sender's email address: mcleansettlement@gmail.com

...

[Message clipped] View entire message

2 Attachments • Scanned by Gmail

M

Mr. Kevin McLean <mcleansettlement@gmail.com> Jan 30, 2026, 4:55 PM

to SCJ-CSJ, roxanne.parris, Tashekah

5600

Dear Sirs/Mesdames/Other Gender-Neutral Pronouns:

Please find part 3 of 5 attached for record purposes. Thank you.

Yours faithfully,

/KAM

Mr. Kevin A. McLean (BA, JD, CIM)

Sender's name: Mr. Kevin Alexander McLean (BA, JD, CIM)
Sender's address: 410-775 King Street West, Toronto, Ontario, M5V 2K3
Sender's Telephone Number: (647) 370-9354
Sender's email address: mcleansettlement@gmail.com

...

[Message clipped] View entire message
2 Attachments • Scanned by Gmail

M

Mr. Kevin McLean <mcleansettlement@gmail.com> Jan 30, 2026, 4:55 PM

to SCJ-CSJ, roxanne.parris, Tashekah

Dear Sirs/Mesdames/Other Gender-Neutral Pronouns:

Please find part 4 of 5 attached for record purposes. Thank you.

Yours faithfully,

/KAM

Mr. Kevin A. McLean (BA, JD, CIM)

Sender's name: Mr. Kevin Alexander McLean (BA, JD, CIM)
Sender's address: 410-775 King Street West, Toronto, Ontario, M5V 2K3
Sender's Telephone Number: (647) 370-9354
Sender's email address: mcleansettlement@gmail.com

...

[Message clipped] View entire message
2 Attachments • Scanned by Gmail

M

Mr. Kevin McLean <mcleansettlement@gmail.com> Jan 30, 2026, 4:57 PM

to SCJ-CSJ, roxanne.parris, Tashekah

5601

Dear Sirs/Mesdames/Other Gender-Neutral Pronouns:

Please find part 5 of 5 attached for record purposes. Thank you.

Yours faithfully,

/KAM

Mr. Kevin A. McLean (BA, JD, CIM)

Sender's name: Mr. Kevin Alexander McLean (BA, JD, CIM)
Sender's address: 410-775 King Street West, Toronto, Ontario, M5V 2K3
Sender's Telephone Number: (647) 370-9354
Sender's email address: mcleansettlement@gmail.com

...

[Message clipped] View entire message
2 Attachments • Scanned by Gmail

M

Mr. Kevin McLean <mcleansettlement@gmail.com> Jan 30, 2026, 4:59 PM

to SCJ-CSJ, roxanne.parris, Tashekah

...

[Message clipped] View entire message
2 Attachments • Scanned by Gmail

M

Mr. Kevin McLean <mcleansettlement@gmail.com> Feb 3, 2026, 7:19 PM

to SCJ-CSJ, roxanne.parris, Tashekah

Classification: PRIVATE AND CONFIDENTIAL
Time Sensitivity: URGENT – TIME SENSITIVE
DATE: February 3, 2026
Initial Sending Method: Electronic Mail Transmission
Subsequent transmission methods: facsimile et al

ADDRESSEES

TO:
The Divisional Court of Ontario
Osgoode Hall (Toronto)
130 Queen Street West
Room 174
Toronto, Ontario M5H 2N5

(the "Divisional Court")
5602
Attention: The Registrar of the Divisional Court, Ms. Roxanne Parris (hereinafter the "Current Registrar" or "Replacement Registrar") Email: Roxanne.parris@ontario.ca
AND TO (FOR PURPOSES DENOTED IN MOTIONS #4 and #5 (a Chief Justice's case as a result of the ethical and integrity issues along with the controversies and challenges
The President of the Divisional Court, The Honourable Chief Justice Morawetz
Osgoode Hall, 130 Queen Street West
Toronto, Ontario M5H 2N5
Fax: 416.327.6011

MATTER DETAILS

I. Court File Number: DC-24-00000718-00JR
II. Short Style of Cause: McLean v. TD Home and Auto Insurance Company, et al.
III. Document Classification: Letter with BOA enclosure (comprehensive for JRPA Proceeding and primarily focused on Motion #5, #4 and NOM #3)
IV. Sender: Mr. Kevin A. McLean, B.A., J.D., C.I.M.
V. Sending Party Status: "Moving Party" in relation to Motion #4 and Motion #5, and NOM #3 (along with NOM #1 and #2) and Applicant in relation to JRPA Application

Subject I: Enclosure of Written Outline for Compendium For NOM #3, Motion #4, and Motion #5 Subject II: Enclosure of Compendium For NOM #3, Motion #4, and Motion #5 to follow via sequential and piecemeal transmission

Dear Sirs/Mesdames/Other Gender-Neutral Pronouns:

I cordially write regarding the aforementioned matter and the complex procedural tapestry currently before this honourable court. I adopt and incorporate all definitions from previously, indirectly or directly, cited correspondence (the "Prior Correspondence").

I. EXPEDITED TRANSMISSION OF THE BRIEF WRITTEN OUTLINE

In strict adherence to my prior undertakings, please find appended hereto my truncated and succinct written outline (the "Brief Written Outline") regarding the Compendium For NOM #3, Motion #4, and Motion #5. I utilize the designation "brief" as a descriptors of a more exhaustive iteration; however, in contemplation of the exigent circumstances and the periculum in mora inherent in this delay, I have elected to provide this condensed submission. This decision facilitates an expedited adjudication in limine, ensuring that the core legal syllogisms are presented without the encumbrance of unnecessary prolixity.

The necessity for this submission arises from the voluminous nature of the three-hundred-and-seven tabbed Book of Authorities (the "BOA") and the associated Compendium. This acta is performed in light of the conspicuous absence of opposition from the Respondents, combined with the profound institutional controversies and challenges regarding the integrity of the Divisional Court. Such factors have situated this litigation as a definitive "chief's case," requiring the direct oversight of the President of the Divisional Court to ensure a resolution that is consonant with the highest standards of judicial integrity.

II. LOGISTICAL ARRANGEMENTS FOR DIGITAL RECORD PERFECTION

Due to the substantial dimensions of the Compendium For NOM #3, Motion #4, and Motion #5, and in a diligent effort to satisfy the requisite five-hundred-page separation protocols mandated by the Rules of Civil Procedure, the balance of these materials shall be transmitted under separate cover on a piecemeal basis. I confirm that I am taking proactive and vigorous measures to mitigate any administrative burden upon the Registry staff, recognizing the logistical strain that such a comprehensive record (the "Comprehensive Record") may impose.

Out of a profound respect for the judicial economy and the valuable time of the President of the Divisional Court, I shall provide a physical electronic USB device containing the entirety of the Compendium and the BOA. This digital repository shall be meticulously hyperlinked and bookmarked to ensure a seamless navigation of the evidentiary record (the "Digital Record Perfection"). By providing this integrated digital format, the Moving Party aims to facilitate an efficient review process, respecting the Chief Justice's time prior to his well-deserved retirement.

III. THE IMPERATIVE OF URGENCY AND THE RETIREMENT OF THE CHIEF JUSTICE

I came to learn on February 2, 2026, that the Honourable Chief Justice of the Superior Court of Justice (acting in his capacity as the President of the Divisional Court) contemplates an impending demission from high office in May 2026. Consequently, the urgency of this matter has ascended to an absolute premium. The requirement for a nunc pro tunc resolution of the outstanding motions is now a sine qua non for the preservation of the status quo ante.

The temporal proximity of this retirement mandates that the Divisional Court act with alacrity to rectify the historical non-compliance of the Respondents. Any further delay would not only prejudice the Applicant but could lead to a functional state of jurisdictional anarchy where the orders of the Executive Branch remain unscrutinized and unenforced. The necessity for the Chief Justice to exercise his Self-Assignment Power to rectify the unauthorized acta of the puisne bench is paramount. I reiterate that all extant demands directed toward the Executive Branch remain in full force and effect as of the present date and the dates of previous hearings, as dictated by the evolving circumstances of this JRPA proceeding.

IV. PROCEDURAL DEFAULT AND THE RECTIFICATION OF NON-COMPLIANCE

Ex abundanti cautela, I reconfirm that as a direct consequence of the Respondents' failure to effectuate the "delivery" or "filing" of their Notices of Appearance, they are ipso facto prohibited from receiving notice of further steps or the service of documents. This procedural stasis was confirmed via the Ontario Courts Public Portal (the "OCPP") Case View on December 1, 2025. This failure to engage with the judicial process constitutes a waiver of their right to participate in the upcoming adjudications.

Notwithstanding this prima facie state of default, the systemic non-compliance exhibited by the Licence Appeal Tribunal (the "LAT") and the Respondent Insurance Companies since 2022 necessitates a formal, signed, issued, and entered judicial order. This is required to ensure that the rule of law is upheld and that the Respondents are compelled to adhere to their statutory and common law obligations. I rely on the principles articulated in Sidhu Estate v. Bains (the "Sidhu Estate Case") regarding the implications of silence in the face of a duty to act, extrapolating these principles to the current failure of the Respondents to provide the necessary records and appearances.

V. CONCLUSION AND THE EFFICIENCY OPERATION DUTY

In summary, the Moving Party demands that the Registry rectify the current record forthwith. I shall provide the aforementioned USB transmission to ensure that the court possesses a singular, unified copy of the Compendium and BOA. This effort is intended to assist the President of the Divisional Court in concluding this matter with the stylistic elegance and legal precision that his tenure has come to represent.

I trust the Registry shall discharge its successor obligations to ensure these materials are placed before the President of the Divisional Court without delay, thereby honoring the Efficiency Operation Duty inherent to the hallowed dignity of the bench.

Yours most appreciatively and gratefully,

/s/Mr. Kevin A. McLean (BA, JD, CIM)

Mr. Kevin A. McLean, B.A., J.D., C.I.M. Applicant and Moving Party

ENCLOSURES:

1. Brief Written Outline for NOM #3, Motion #4 and Motion #5 (dated February 3, 2026).

2. Compendium for NOM #3, Motion #4 and Motion #5 (to follow piecemeal).

(By reference: previously mail filed Draft Orders (x4)

Yours faithfully,

/KAM

Mr. Kevin A. McLean (BA, JD, CIM)

Sender's name: Mr. Kevin Alexander McLean (BA, JD, CIM)
Sender's address: 410-775 King Street West, Toronto, Ontario, M5V 2K3
Sender's Telephone Number: (647) 370-9354
Sender's email address: mcleansettlement@gmail.com

...

[Message clipped] View entire message

2 Attachments • Scanned by Gmail

M

Mr. Kevin McLean <mcleansettlement@gmail.com> Feb 3, 2026, 7:22 PM

to SCJ-CSJ, roxanne.parris, Tashekah

Dear Sirs/Mesdames/Other Gender-Neutral Pronouns:

As promised, please find the following attached with respect to the Compendium (hyperlinked and bookmarked internally and externally) so aforementioned:

1. Parts 1 to 4: pages 1 to 2000.

Thank you.

Yours faithfully,

/KAM

Mr. Kevin A. McLean (BA, JD, CIM)

Sender's name: Mr. Kevin Alexander McLean (BA, JD, CIM)
Sender's address: 410-775 King Street West, Toronto, Ontario, M5V 2K3
Sender's Telephone Number: (647) 370-9354
Sender's email address: mcleansettlement@gmail.com

5605

[Message clipped] View entire message
5 Attachments • Scanned by Gmail

M

Mr. Kevin McLean <mcleansettlement@gmail.com> Feb 3, 2026, 7:25 PM

to SCJ-CSJ, roxanne.parris, Tashekah

Dear Sirs/Mesdames/Other Gender-Neutral Pronouns:

As promised, please find the following attached with respect to the Compendium (hyperlinked and bookmarked internally and externally) so aforementioned:
1. Parts 5 to 6: pages 2001 to 3000.
Thank you.

Yours faithfully,

/KAM

Mr. Kevin A. McLean (BA, JD, CIM)

Sender's name: Mr. Kevin Alexander McLean (BA, JD, CIM)
Sender's address: 410-775 King Street West, Toronto, Ontario, M5V 2K3
Sender's Telephone Number: (647) 370-9354
Sender's email address: mcleansettlement@gmail.com

...

[Message clipped] View entire message
3 Attachments • Scanned by Gmail

M

Mr. Kevin McLean <mcleansettlement@gmail.com> Feb 3, 2026, 7:26 PM

to SCJ-CSJ, roxanne.parris, Tashekah

Dear Sirs/Mesdames/Other Gender-Neutral Pronouns:

As promised, please find the following attached with respect to the Compendium (hyperlinked and bookmarked internally and externally) so aforementioned:
1. Parts 7 to 8: pages 3001 to 4000.
Thank you.

Yours faithfully,

/KAM

Mr. Kevin A. McLean (BA, JD, CIM)

Sender's name: Mr. Kevin Alexander McLean (BA, JD, CIM)
Sender's address: 410-775 King Street West, Toronto, Ontario, M5V 2K3
Sender's Telephone Number: (647) 370-9354
Sender's email address: mcleansettlement@gmail.com

...

[Message clipped] View entire message
3 Attachments • Scanned by Gmail

M

Mr. Kevin McLean <mcleansettlement@gmail.com> Feb 3, 2026, 7:27 PM

to SCJ-CSJ, roxanne.parris, Tashekah

Dear Sirs/Mesdames/Other Gender-Neutral Pronouns:

As promised, please find the following attached with respect to the Compendium (hyperlinked and bookmarked internally and externally) so aforementioned:

1. Part 9: pages 4001 to 4500

Thank you.

Yours faithfully,

/KAM

Mr. Kevin A. McLean (BA, JD, CIM)

Sender's name: Mr. Kevin Alexander McLean (BA, JD, CIM)
Sender's address: 410-775 King Street West, Toronto, Ontario, M5V 2K3
Sender's Telephone Number: (647) 370-9354
Sender's email address: mcleansettlement@gmail.com

...

[Message clipped] View entire message
2 Attachments • Scanned by Gmail

M

Mr. Kevin McLean <mcleansettlement@gmail.com> Feb 3, 2026, 7:31 PM

to SCJ-CSJ, roxanne.parris, Tashekah

Dear Sirs/Mesdames/Other Gender-Neutral Pronouns:

As promised, please find the following attached with respect to the Compendium (hyperlinked and bookmarked internally and externally) so aforementioned:

This concludes the Compendium for NOM #3, Motion #4 and Motion #5.

For ease of reference for the President of the Divisional Court, I also include the draft orders for NOM #3 (x2), Motion #4 and Motion #5 which were mail filed on January 16, 2026.

Thank you.

Yours faithfully,

/KAM

Mr. Kevin A. McLean (BA, JD, CIM)

Sender's name: Mr. Kevin Alexander McLean (BA, JD, CIM)
Sender's address: 410-775 King Street West, Toronto, Ontario, M5V 2K3
Sender's Telephone Number: (647) 370-9354
Sender's email address: mcleansettlement@gmail.com

…

[Message clipped] View entire message
7 Attachments • Scanned by Gmail

M

Mr. Kevin McLean <mcleansettlement@gmail.com> Feb 20, 2026, 1:03 PM

to SCJ-CSJ, roxanne.parris, Tashekah

CLASSIFICATION: PRIVATE AND CONFIDENTIAL
TIME SENSITIVITY: URGENT – TIME SENSITIVE
DATE: February 20, 2026

VIA ELECTRONIC MAIL TRANSMISSION
(Subsequent transmission: Facsimile, Courier, and Physical Delivery et al.)

TO:

The Divisional Court of Ontario

Osgoode Hall (Toronto)

130 Queen Street West, Room 174

Toronto, Ontario M5H 2N5

Attention: Ms. Roxanne Parris, Registrar of the Divisional Court
(In her capacity as the "Current Registrar" or "Replacement Registrar")

Email: Roxanne.parris@ontario.ca

AND TO (For purposes of Motion #4 and #5)

5608

The President of the Divisional Court

The Honourable Chief Justice Geoffrey B. Morawetz

Osgoode Hall, 130 Queen Street West

Toronto, Ontario M5H 2N5

Fax: 416.327.6011

MATTER DETAILS

- Court File Number: DC-24-00000718-00JR
- Short Style of Cause: McLean v. TD Home and Auto Insurance Company, et al.
- Document Classification: Comprehensive Letter with BOA enclosures (Amended BOA Index with Tabs 307 to 313 (McLean v. Bradley; Pong v. Quong and Chong et al (SCC: 1926 to 1927) a
- Sender: Mr. Kevin A. McLean, B.A., J.D., C.I.M
- Sender Status: Moving Party (Motions #1 through #5) and Applicant (JRPA Application)

Subject I: Filing Confirmation: Notice of Filing: Amended Index to Book of Authorities, Compendium Outline (NOM #3–5), and Accompanying Materials
Subject II: Jurisdictional Challenge: Formal Notice Regarding Jurisdictional Invalidity: Application of the Doctrine of Coram Non Judice
Subject III: Procedural Strategy: Analysis of Jurisdictional Impasse and Strategic Responses to Procedural Objections Subject IV: Statutory Deadlines: Proposed Order for NOM #2: Notice of Statutory Deadline under CJA s. 123

Dear Sirs/Mesdames/Other Gender-Neutral Pronouns,

1. Repeated, exhaustive, and unequivocal reliance is placed upon the heretofore submitted communications, formal notices, and evidentiary substantiations provided to this Court. This comprehensive written outline (the "Comprehensive Written Outline") is hereby submitted to integrate an augmented factual matrix and manifest evidence of systemic fraud, financial subornation, and institutional capture identified subsequent to the promulgation of the brief written outline (the "Brief Written Outline") on February 3, 2026. This document functions as a definitive instrument of record, intended to consolidate the Applicant's position in light of the harrowing administrative vacuum discovered through forensic investigation.
2. This communication is not intended, nor should the same be construed, as possessing a threatening character; rather, it is dispatched solely to affirm and preserve established legal rights and to ensure that formal notice is provided to the relevant administrative and judicial officers. The presentation of these materials is meticulously and forensically structured to facilitate the optimal utilization of judicial resources through the provision of a transparent and chronological record of the proceeding (the "Proceeding"). It is a supererogatory effort by the Applicant to ensure that the Court is not led into inadvertent jurisdictional error by the administrative obfuscation heretofore practiced by certain registry staff.
3. It is posited that these disclosures are rendered in the utmost bona fides, ensuring that all relevant information is ventilated as soon as the same became ascertainable through the diligent utilization of the Ontario courts public portal (the "OCPP") in mid-October 2025. This submission serves to illuminate the administrative vacuum heretofore obscured by informal correspondence and unauthorized judicial management, ensuring that the "institutional radiance" of the Court is maintained through transparency and the removal of opaque administrative blockades. The discovery of the total absence of signed and entered orders constitutes a watershed moment in this litigation, revealing that the purported case management was a procedural phantom with no basis in the official record.

4. The Applicant emphasizes that this disclosure is not merely a procedural formality but a proactive, forensic measure intended to assist the Court in untangling a labyrinthine web of procedural irregularities, administrative omissions, and jurisdictional nullities that have significantly impeded the progress of this judicial review procedure act (the "JRPA") application. The gravity of these irregularities necessitates a complete restoration of the status quo ante, as the current record is vitiated by acts performed without the requisite authority of the Office, resulting in a state of coram non judice. To allow these unauthorized steps to persist would be to sanction a "Star Chamber" methodology, where justice is dispensed through private electronic servers rather than the public, statutory record.

I. ENCLOSURES AND ORGANIZATIONAL STRUCTURE: THE INTELLECTUAL ARCHITECTURE OF THE RECORD

5. Provision is hereby made for the first amended book of authorities (the "BOA"), which comprises an exhaustive and meticulously indexed collection of jurisprudential sources covering the entirety of the JRPA proceeding. Given the extraordinary breadth of the legal principles engaged—extending from the foundational constitution act, 1867 (the "Constitution Act, 1867") to the exacting thresholds of administrative law and the historical promulgation of legal maxims—this set is delivered in five (5) distinct, high-capacity binders (the "BOA Binders"). Each binder is parapeted with protective dividers and thematic groupings to ensure that the Bench can navigate the complex interplay between statutory mandates and inherent judicial limitations with surgical precision.
6. The BOA is intended to function as a singular and unified reference for all remaining stages of this litigation, thereby obviating the necessity for piecemeal references and fostering an environment of judicial economy. Reliance is placed upon specific and binding precedents concerning the doctrine of coram non judice, the inherent limitations of judicial office, and the "Single-File Mandate," ensuring that the analysis performed by the Court is situated within the established hierarchy of Canadian and Source Law. The meticulous curation of these binders ensures that the President of the Divisional Court is seized of all necessary authorities to resolve the jurisdictional impasse heretofore created by unauthorized management. It is further posited that the inclusion of historical maxims from Broom's Legal Maxims serves to reinforce the immutable nature of jurisdictional boundaries which cannot be eschewed by administrative convenience or judicial preference. These maxims represent the "Ancient Constitutions" of the Common Law, providing an unshakeable foundation for the Applicant's assertions.
7. Concurrently, the compendium binder (the "Compendium") (Volume 11 of 11) is submitted, representing the culmination of the evidentiary record essential for the resolution of the pending motions. This volume is organized as a chronological and thematic roadmap of the controversial procedural developments heretofore observed. The Compendium facilitates a forensic audit of the court record, demonstrating through the conspicuous absence of documentation in the OCPP that the required orders were never issued, nor was the proceeding ever lawfully assigned to case management. The omission of these orders in the official repository constitutes incontrovertible evidence of a jurisdictional vacuum, proving prima facie that the purported judicial acts were performed in a vacuum of authority and are, as a consequence, legally non-existent. The Compendium serves as an excoriating indictment of the administrative failures that have allowed a "ghost file" to exist outside the bounds of the Rules.
8. It is further noted that the Compendium incorporates the Brief Written Outline as a foundational summary, while the Comprehensive Written Outline provides a more intricate analytical investigation into the integrity challenges and the implications of what is characterized as a "Chief Justice's Case." This includes evidence regarding the administrative blockade of judicial resources and the necessity of severing the nexus of institutional capture that has paralyzed this proceeding since the early stages of 2025. The inclusion of Volume 11 ensures that the Court is seized of the full factual matrix concerning the illicit intercession of the Respondents prior to their delivery of a notice of appearance, thereby illuminating the degree to which the rules of civil procedure (the "Rules") were eschewed to facilitate an unauthorized case management trajectory that bypassed the mandatory filing of a first defence.
9. For the administrative convenience of the Registrar and the President of the Divisional Court, a separate binder containing the first amended index and the sought draft orders is provided. This enclosure includes the primary substantive order for the third notice of motion (the "Draft Order 3"), the draft order concerning the indemnification of legal expenses (the "Draft Costs Order"), and the draft orders addressing procedural irregularities and institutional challenges (the "Draft Order 4" and the "Draft Order 5"). The prompt issuance of these orders is essential to rectify the registry vacuum and restore the institutional radiance of the Court. These instruments are designed to obviate the consequences of heretofore unauthorized directions and to ensure the proper routing of all materials within the Osgoode Hall administrative framework, thereby terminating the state of in limine paralysis that has gripped this matter for over twelve months.

H. ANALYTICAL REVIEW: LOGICAL GAPS AND STRATEGIC COUNTER-ARGUMENTS

10. This analysis evaluates the potential challenges from the Bench or opposing counsel and provides strategic counters based on the current legal record and the specific timeline of the OCPP discovery. It is structured to dismantle the "discretionary shield" often invoked by the Court to mask jurisdictional overreach.

1. The Jurisdictional Threshold: Rule 77 vs. Rule 50.13

11. Potential Gap: The Court may posit that rule 50.13 regarding case conferences provides a residual or inherent power to convene parties at any time to facilitate the expeditious determination of a proceeding, characterizing the absence of a formal rule 77 order as a mere irregularity curable under rule 2.01. They may argue that "procedural efficiency" overrides the technical requirements of the Rules.
12. The Counter-Argument Summary:
    - Paramountcy of Rule 77: Rule 77.02(4) is explicit and non-discretionary; in the event of a conflict with any other rule (including rule 50.13 or rule 2.01), rule 77 prevails. The Court is precluded from utilizing general management powers to circumvent a specific regulatory regime designed to prevent unauthorized file seizure. This is a matter of statutory hierarchy, not judicial preference.
    - Conditions Precedent: Pursuant to rule 77.05(2), a proceeding is not subject to case management until a first defence is filed or a specific motion is adjudicated. Absent the filing of form 38a, the jurisdictional gate remains locked. A judge cannot inherently empower themselves to manage a file that has not legally entered the case management stream. To hold otherwise would be to render the entire case management regulatory regime redundant.
    - Nullity vs. Irregularity: Following König v. Hobza, a step taken in total defiance of mandatory jurisdictional requirements is a nullity ab initio, not a curable irregularity. If the judge lacked the "office" to hear the matter due to improper assignment, their orders are not merely erroneous; they are legally non-existent under the doctrine of coram non judice. An irregularity is a mistake in the exercise of valid power; a nullity is an act performed without any power whatsoever.

2. The "Bayesian Model" and Evidentiary Weight

13. Potential Gap: A tribunal may exhibit hesitation in accepting the Bayesian Model (Variable A-P) as forensic proof of institutional capture, potentially dismissing the statistical probability of one in a nonillion as speculative or argumentative rather than traditional evidence. They may claim that "math is not evidence."
14. The Counter-Argument Summary:
    - Circumstantial Totality: The model is not a substitute for fact; it is a mathematical expression of the totality of circumstances. The Court possesses an existing duty to draw adverse inferences when a party fails to provide an explanation for highly improbable anomalies. The model simply quantifies the weight of circumstantial evidence that the Court is already required to consider.
    - The "Nexus Hypothesis": When sixteen low-probability events—including the misappropriation of specific pharmaceuticals, the timing of luxury real estate acquisitions by state actors, and the appearance of non-existent signatories—converge upon a single litigant, the "Coincidence Hypothesis" becomes legally unreasonable. The Bayesian Model provides the tool to measure the degree of that unreasonableness. It is a tool of logic, which is the heart of the law.
    - Materiality of Underlying Facts: Notwithstanding any skepticism regarding the statistical label, the Court cannot disregard the underlying fresh evidence. For example, the arrest of Sgt. Black for trafficking the exact drug stolen from the Applicant is a concrete fact. Absent a rebuttal of these specific facts, the Court must conclude that the nexus exists as a matter of judicial record. The "Math" merely serves to confirm what the "Facts" already scream.

3. Due Diligence and "Post-Facto" Discovery

15. Potential Gap: Opposing counsel will likely contend that the Applicant failed to exercise due diligence by participating in conferences (such as January 7, 2025) without objection, claiming that jurisdictional silence constitutes attornment. They will argue that the Applicant is "too late" to raise these issues.
16. The Counter-Argument Summary:
    - Technical Impracticability: Discovery was physically and digitally impossible prior to the implementation of the OCPP in mid-October 2025. The legacy portal was an opaque system that failed to provide a "Case View" or transparency regarding the existence of signed orders. One cannot be diligent in a vacuum of information.

- Fraud on the Registry: The Applicant was misled by the Ibula Email, which presented itself as a valid judicial mandate. A party cannot be expected to discover the absence of a document when the registry effectively masks that absence through informal correspondence. The registry's own failures cannot be used as a sword against the Applicant's diligence.
- Rule 59.06(2)(a) Protection: The Rules specifically protect a party's right to set aside an order based on facts arising or discovered after it was made. The Applicant moved on December 1, 2025—within weeks of the OCPP becoming functional enough to reveal the vacuum in the record. This constitutes the definition of diligence in the face of institutional concealment.

4. The Definition of "Office" and Functus Officio

17. Potential Gap: The Court might claim it is functus officio because directions were provided and time has elapsed, arguing that a Superior Court judge possesses general jurisdiction that travels with her regardless of specific rotation. They may claim the "job is done" and cannot be undone.
18. The Counter-Argument Summary:
    - Factum a Judice: Jurisdiction is not a personal attribute of the judge; it is an attribute of the Office. If the judge was not assigned to the Divisional Court rotation for the specific purpose of the JRPA proceeding, the act did not pertain to her office. An act by a judge outside their assigned office is a private act, not a judicial one (Factum a judice, quod ad officium jure non pertinet, ratum non est). A judge does not carry the power of the Court in their person; they only exercise it when sitting in the proper seat.
    - The Requirement of Entry: Per Castlerigg, a court is not functus until an order is drafted, signed, and entered. The OCPP Case View confirms that no order was ever entered. Therefore, the Court cannot be functus regarding a proceeding that has never had a valid order issued on the official record. You cannot be "finished" with a task you never legally commenced.
    - The "Star Chamber" Guardrail: If an informal email is permitted to exhaust the jurisdiction of a statutory court, it creates a "Star Chamber" environment where justice is administered via private server rather than public record. The Courts of Justice Act requires transparency to maintain public confidence.

5. The "Single-File Mandate" and Scope of Relief

19. Potential Gap: A judge might find the request to set aside all steps too broad or draconian, preferring to preserve parts of the litigation deemed useful to avoid a waste of judicial resources. They may try to "save" the untainted parts.
20. The Counter-Argument Summary:
    - The Poisoned Root: Jurisdictional validity is binary. If the initial seizure of the file was coram non judice, every subsequent conference, direction, and purported order is fruit of the poisonous tree. A valid legal structure cannot be constructed upon a void foundation. To "save" parts would be to build on sand.
    - Avoidance of Multiplicity (CJA s. 138): Attempting to sift through a year of unauthorized proceedings would create a hydra-headed litigation monster. The only method to prevent a multiplicity of proceedings and future appeals is a single, comprehensive order that resets the case to its last lawful status. It is more efficient to start correctly than to patch a disaster.
    - Institutional Purification: The Court has an inherent duty to purge its own record. Leaving unauthorized documents in the official case history creates a cloud on title for the litigation. Setting them aside is an act of institutional radiance—restoring the integrity of the Superior Court of Justice. The Court's honor depends on its record being clean.

III. THE DOCTRINE OF CORAM NON JUDICE AND THE NULLITY OF JUDICIAL ACTS

21. It is posited that this proceeding has mutated into a matter requiring the direct intervention of the President of the Divisional Court due to profound ethical controversies and the unauthorized handling of the judicial record. These issues implicate the "institutional radiance" of the Court and concern the fundamental authority upon which the administration of justice is predicated. The conduct heretofore observed represents a radical departure from the statutory safeguards intended to protect the neutrality of the adjudicative process, necessitating a forensic re-evaluation of all acts performed since January 2025 which are characterized by a total absence of jurisdictional legitimacy. This is not a mere procedural skirmish; it is a battle for the very soul of the Court's statutory identity.

22. Attention is directed to the authorities contained within the BOA, specifically McLean v. Bradley [1878] 2 SCR 707 (the McLean) and the Pong v. Quong [1927] SCR 271 (the Pong) trilogy. These definitive Supreme Court of Canada (the "SCC") precedents confirm that jurisdiction is not a personal attribute of a judge but is a statutory attribute of the Office. An individual sitting in a judicial capacity only possesses the authority delegated to the specific Office they occupy at the material time; the exercise of power beyond these circumscribed boundaries is ultra vires and void ab initio. It is heretofore posited that even a judgment rendered by a judge who was coram non judice or whose acts were Factum a judice, quod ad officium jure non pertinet, ratum non est is rendered invalid, null, and void ab initio. The judge, in such circumstances, is merely a private citizen wearing a robe.

23. The lex terrae demands that the limits of judicial office be strictly observed to prevent the metamorphosis of a statutory court into a venue of arbitrary discretion. As articulated in Broom, L.M. 90 (the Broom), when a Court possesses no jurisdiction of the cause, the entirety of the proceeding is coram non judice. In such a state of jurisdictional absence, actions will lie against the responsible parties without any regard to the purported precept or process. It is established that it is not necessary to obey one who is not judge of the cause, as judicial acts performed outside of prescribed jurisdiction are Factum a judice, quod ad officium jure non pertinet, ratum non est. This principle is the "Shield of the Subject" against unauthorized state action.
24. The Divisional Court is bound by the dictates of vertical stare decisis (the “Vertical Stare Decisis”) to adhere to the aforementioned precedents of the SCC. When a judge is not properly assigned to the specific statutory role within the Divisional Court rotation, they are rendered a “stranger to the cause.” This is a binary legal state; either the judge is seized of the cause by law, or their interventions are a nullity ipso facto. The failure to provide a signed order of assignment for case management, as mandated by rule 77 and specifically rule 77.02 and rule 77.05(2) of the Rules, ensures that the Office was never lawfully occupied. The absence of the OCPP entry is the "Silver Bullet" that terminates the legitimacy of all purported management.
25. It is further extrapolated that because the judge in question was acting without the requisite jurisdiction, the resulting directions are devoid of legal efficacy and are to be treated as “white paper” or private correspondence. Reliance is placed upon the principle articulated in the McLean that it is not necessary to obey one who is not a judge of the cause. The Divisional Court, being a creature of statute, does not possess the inherent jurisdiction of a Constitution Act, 1867 Section 96 court to cure such fundamental jurisdictional defects. The absence of an order for assignment, verified by the OCPP, confirms that the jurisdictional gate remained closed, rendering all subsequent management steps a legal nothingness that must be purged from the official record to maintain the integrity of the Superior Court and ensure the status quo ante is restored in its entirety.

IV. CAUTIONARY ADMONITION TO THE REGISTRAR AND ADMINISTRATIVE STAFF: THE SCOPE OF MINISTERIAL LIABILITY

26. The Registrar and associated court staff are hereby cautioned that they do not enjoy the absolute immunity heretofore reserved for the judiciary. While judicial officers are protected when acting within the scope of their office, ministerial officers, such as the Registrar and clerks, are subject to different legal standards. Their duty is to the law and the integrity of the Registry, not to the informal directions of a judge acting without a valid precept or beyond the scope of their specific assignment. No plea of justification (the “Plea of Justification”) can be made by any individual seeking to rely upon judicial acts that are void ab initio. A clerk who facilitates a nullity becomes an accomplice to a jurisdictional fraud.
27. Pursuant to the principles established in Taylor v. Clemson [1844] 11 Cl & Fin 610 (the Taylor), a plea of justification by an officer acting under the warrant of a justice will be found “bad” if the record fails to demonstrate that the justice possessed jurisdiction over the subject matter upon which the warrant was granted. Reliance is placed upon Broom's Prac. and the Broom, which establish that no plea of justification can be made by any individual seeking to rely upon judicial acts that are void ab initio. The Registrar and administrative staff are thus reminded that a state of coram non judice vitiates any protection heretofore assumed, and actions may lie against them for facilitating a void process. The administrative staff must serve as the "Guardians of the Gate," not the "Janitors of Judicial Overreach."
28. It is observed that the administrative infrastructure of the Court cannot function as a shield for unauthorized acts. If the administrative staff continue to facilitate or act upon directions that are coram non judice, they incur personal and professional liability for their participation in an unauthorized process. Any further reference to the same may result in the commencement of costs submissions (the “Costs Submissions”) against the Registrar of the Divisional Court. The OCPP provides forensic confirmation that the necessary orders for assignment for case management were never made, signed, or entered. Therefore, the Registrar’s office possesses no legal precept upon which to base the continued administrative blockade of this proceeding. The continued refusal to file materials or provide transcripts constitutes a substantive barrier to justice for which the staff may be held to account in a private capacity, as their acts are not vested with the authority of the Court.

V. PROCEDURAL DERELICTION AND THE LOCKOUT RULE: PRESERVING THE SINGLE-FILE MANDATE

29. The 2014 amendment to rule 77.08 of the Rules represents the only conceivable provision that could have been purportedly relied upon. However, the requirement for an order for assignment for case management is a jurisdictional prerequisite in the City of Toronto. The absence of such an order on the record, as verified by the OCPP, vitiates the legitimacy of any case management conference. Rule 77.01 is intended to apply case management only when needed, and its unauthorized imposition here served only as an obstruction to the resolution of unopposed motions. The metamorphosis of the Proceeding from a standard application to a managed case was never lawfully effected, as the prerequisite order (the "Mandatory Order") was never promulgated.
30. A contrast is drawn between the instant matter and the proceeding in Nash v. CAMI (the Nash) (COURT FILE NO. 25-00000872-00JR), wherein a judge of the Divisional Court correctly engaged the jurisdictional prerequisites by issuing a prima facie email-type order for an assignment for case management prior to any attempt to convene a conference. It is observed that the process comprises two distinct stages: first, the issuance and entry of an order for assignment for case management; and second, the subsequent assignment of steps to a particular judge. In the present case, Madam Justice Shore admitted the necessity of this two-step process, yet the OCPP Case View demonstrated on December 1, 2025, that no such order existed. Without a Mandatory Order issued pursuant to rule 77.02 and rule 77.05(2), the Proceeding was never lawfully under case management.
31. From what I can glean from the "public record", The Honourable President of the Divisional Court removed Madam Justice Shore and replaced her with Justice Shreck.
32. This was required to happen in this JRPA Proceeding (McLean v. TDHA) on account of conflict of interest, bias, lack of independence et al but nonetheless that is not the issue herein as per it relating to the inter alia, failure of a Judge of the Divisional Court to have made an Order for "Assignment For Case Management".
33. Furthermore, the "Lockout Rule" mandated by form 68A of the Rules must be observed. The Respondent insurance companies and the licence appeal tribunal (the "LAT") were strictly prohibited from participating or receiving notice of steps until they delivered their notice of appearance (the "NOA"). The failure to comply with this requirement means that their participation in conferences was an unauthorized grant of standing. This violation of the "Single-File Mandate" allowed non-appearing parties to interfere with a JRPA proceeding before their standing was legally established, thereby poisoning the procedural well and creating an environment of institutional capture heretofore unprecedented in the Divisional Court. The Respondents were permitted to whisper in the ear of the Court before they were even legally present in the room.
34. The application of rule 50 pertaining to actions to a proceeding governed by rule 38 and the JRPA constitutes a fundamental category error. In a statutory court lacking inherent jurisdiction, the plain text of the legislation must be followed, and judicial review is only triggered upon the filing of the record of proceeding. An unauthorized Case Management Judge cannot unilaterally bridge this gap through informal management that bypasses the mandatory triggers of the JRPA. The concomitant failure to recognize this distinction resulted in an administrative labyrinth where the Applicant's rights were systematically subverted by the application of rules heretofore irrelevant to the Proceeding.

VI. THE NASH V. CAMI ET AL DIVISIONAL COURT PROCEEDING: PRECISE ATTEMPTED COMPLIANCE AT THE TWO-STEP MODEL

33. Notwithstanding the pervasive procedural irregularities heretofore identified, the Nash v. CAMI et al (the "Nash Proceeding") Divisional Court proceeding provides an illustrative example of attempted, albeit imperfect, compliance with the two-step jurisdictional model. This compliance was manifested through:
    - The intercession of Mr. Justice Nakatsaru, who promulgated an electronic communication (the "Nakatsaru Email") constituting a prima facie order—though ostensibly lacking a formal judicial endorsement—pertaining to an assignment for case management (the "Assignment Order"); and
    - Subsequently, Madam Justice Shore concomitantly issued an electronic communication (the "Shore Email") for the purpose of convening a case conference (the "Case Conference").

34. While certain aspects of the record remain subject to further analytical review—specifically concerning whether a first defence (the "First Defence") had been duly filed at the temporal juncture of the Nakatsaru Email or the Shore Email—there exists no substantive dispute that the conduct of Madam Justice Shore was fundamentally improper. As a judicial officer, she was under a positive and non-discretionary duty to rectify these procedural deviations and to provide formal notification to all interested parties. The failure to do so constitutes a breach of the "Public Trust" upon which judicial authority relies.

35. Consequently, it is asserted that the acts performed were Factum a judice, quod ad officium jure non pertinet, ratum non est and that the presiding judge was Coram Non Judice. In accordance with established principles, no plea of justification (the "Plea of Justification") is available to any individual, including the Registrar of the Divisional Court, administrative staff, or court clerks, who might seek to rely upon such void acts. The Nash Proceeding serves as a "Fossil Record" of how the Court attempted to adhere to the rules before succumbing to the administrative chaos that currently plagues the McLean file.
36. It is further observed that no such purported order is capable of being endorsed, issued, or entered into the record. This caution is rendered notwithstanding the forensic confirmation provided by the OCPP Case View, which demonstrates the absolute absence of a made, endorsed, issued, and entered order. It is hereby confirmed that no such steps can be taken in any event. The record cannot be "backfilled" with retroactively created authority to cure a fundamental nullity.

VII. THE PONG V. QUONG PRECEDENT: SCC VOIDANCE OF UNAUTHORIZED STATUTORY ADJUDICATION

37. Pursuant to the aforementioned principles, it is observed that in 1927, the matter of Pong v Quong (and Chong and Thompson), [1927] S.C.R. 271 (see: BOA, Tab 309) (the "Final Pong Appeal") arrived before the SCC. The Final Pong Appeal involved two distinct proceedings that illustrate the peril inherent in a Judge of the Divisional Court exceeding a narrow statutory mandate, particularly when a statutory application is before a court in Ontario. Such was the case in Pong v Chong, commenced by the landlord in Mrs Thomson, which appeared before Denton J (the "Denton J") of the County Court of York:
    - A summary application (the "Summary Application") under the landlord and tenant act, RSO 1914, c 155, ss 75-78 (the "Landlord and Tenant Act 1914"), which dealt with both residential and commercial leases in 1925. By statute, this matter was required to be heard in the County Court of Ontario and was adjudicated by Denton J (County Court Judge of the County of York); and
    - A claim by action (the "Action") initiated by the Quong and Chong Plaintiffs against the Defendant Jack Pong, alongside the landlord in Mrs Thomson, which proceeded through the following judicial levels:
        - Initially before the then High Court of Justice of the Supreme Court of Ontario (the predecessor to the modern SCJ of Ontario) presided over by Justice Mowat 1925;
        - Subsequently before the then Appellate Division of the Supreme Court of Ontario presided over by Middleton J.A. (see: Quong v Pong, 1925 CanLII 11 (ON CA) (see: BOA, Tab 307)), wherein it was held that the defendant Pong served as a trustee for the plaintiffs;
        - Thereafter, the matter proceeded to the SCC via distinct appeals, culminating in the SCC affirming that as to the relations between Pong and Quong the matter was coram non judice.
38. Given that the current JRPA proceeding was commenced by application (the "Application") under statute, the historical context of the Landlord and Tenant Act 1914 is not merely instructive but binding. The application to the county court judge (Denton J) was a statutory application rather than an Action, paralleling the summary nature of modern judicial review. The JRPA governs the duties and rights of Applicants and Respondents and the ambit of questions to be decided. Following the precedent in Yatar v TD Insurance Meloche Monnex, 2024 SCC 8 (the "Yatar"), the Divisional Court is required to adjudicate through a single Motions Judge under rule 37.12.1(4-6), or by a panel of three Judges, or a single judge of the SCJ pursuant to ss 6(2) of the JRPA. Pursuant to the Vertical Stare Decisis, the Divisional Court possesses no authority to decline the hearing of the Application.
39. Moreover, as Madam Justice Shore acted in an unsanctioned manner as coram non judice, and pursuant to the doctrine of factum a judice, quod ad officium jure non pertinet, ratum non est, she served as an ostensible case management judge (the "CMJ"). In the absence of an operative duty or function, the direction of a case management conference—which, ipso facto, could only have been authorized under rule 50.13 (see: rule 77.08)—resulted in orders which are not merely voidable, but void ab initio due to a fundamental defect in jurisdictional competence.

Volume #1(A)(III)(e): Return to Denton J's Coram Non Judice Acts to Shore J's Invalid Acts

40. While Denton J could adjudicate overholding matters, collateral issues outside the statutory mandate remained characterized by a want of jurisdiction. Similarly, Madam Justice Shore possessed no powers as a CMJ because the conditions precedent—the "First Defence Filing Requirement" and the "Assignment For Case Management Order"—remained unfulfilled. The exercise of alleged power in the absence of these conditions resulted in acts that were nullities. Madam Justice Shore is on worse footing than a fellow Section 96 Judge in Denton J because she had no authority whatsoever to intervene into the JRPA Proceeding as a CMJ.

41. It is further posited that the omission of the "Assignment For Case Management Order" is fully explicated by the conspicuous absence of a first defence (the "First Defence"), insofar as the case management apparatus within the City of Toronto is architecturally designed to be actuated solely by the adversarial intersection of a filed Application and form 38a, rather than by the sua sponte inclination of a judicial officer. While a Divisional Court Judge can act on her own initiative, it cannot occur unless two formal steps have transpired:
    - The filing of a First Defence; and
    - The issuance of an order for "Assignment For Case Management."

Volume #1(A)(III)(f): Res Judicata and Issue Estoppel do not apply when a Judge is Coram Non Judice

42. In Pong v Quong, the SCC affirmed that a jurisdictional void cannot be filled by the doctrine of finality. Substantive rights cannot be circumvented through unauthorized summary procedures. Therefore, when a judge of the Divisional Court undertakes steps that do not belong to her office, those acts are factum a judice, quod ad officium jure non pertinet, ratum non est and subsequent orders are coram non judice. They are juridical spectres, possessing the appearance of authority but no substance.

Volume #1(A)(IV): Jurisdictional Matrix and Regulatory Constraints

43. For the purposes of clarity, the following analytical matrix delineates the divergent status of the mandatory prerequisites compared to the actual procedural state within the JRPA Proceeding:

Prerequisite	Statutory/Rule (Reg) Requirement	Actual Status in JRPA Proceeding	Implications of Non-Compliance
Assignment Order	Rule 77.02(1): An Assignment For Case Management Order must be made for Toronto matters.	No such Order was made; compliance with rule 59.01 to .05 was absent.	The judicial officer possesses no case management authority over the specific file.
Triggering Event	Rule 77.05(2): Assignment on initiative occurs after the filing of a First Defence.	No First Defence or Notice of Appearance was filed in 2024 or 2025.	The matter is not yet "eligible" for the case management stream.
Judicial Authority	CJA s. 75 / Rule 77.06: Duties must be assigned by the Chief Justice or President.	No specific assignment or direction existed.	The act is ultra vires the individual judge's administrative assignment.
Paramountcy	Rule 77.02(4): Rule 77 prevails over "any other rule."	Rule 50.13 was improperly used to bypass rule 77 constraints.	Rule 50 has no applicability to Divisional Court JRPA Proceeding but it does to Actions in Toronto, Ottawa and Essex.

44. Pursuant to rule 77.02(4), the provisions of rule 77 are paramount and supersede any conflicting regulatory instruments. The general convening authority under rule 50.13 remains incapable of actuation where such acts are specifically restricted by the specialized regime of rule 77. Such an attempt constitutes an impermissible circumvention of the established regulatory framework and a contravention of the principle of lex specialis derogat legi generali. A state of jurisdictional absence (the "Jurisdictional Absence") exists: this signifies a proceeding "not before a judge," as the tribunal was not properly constituted for the purpose of case management. The physical or virtual congregation of parties within a courtroom does not, ipso facto, constitute a "court" if the mandatory jurisdictional prerequisites remain unsatisfied.

VIII. STATUTORY MANDATES AND THE RESTORATION OF STATUS QUO ANTE: THE IMPERATIVE OF SECTION 123

45. Pursuant to section 123 (the "Section 123") of the Courts of Justice Act (the "CJA"), a decision in this proceeding was mandated to be rendered no later than August 16, 2025. This date represents the six-month statutory outer limit following the returnable dates of the unopposed motions filed on January 22 and January 31, 2025. The protracted administrative inertia observed heretofore represents a significant contravention of the statutory mandates of the CJA. The failure of the Court to provide a judgment on NOM #1 and the second notice of motion (the "NOM #2") by this date is an inexcusable breach of its legislative duty, which no unauthorized case management activity could legally interrupt or obviate.
46. Specifically, the NOM #2, which was accepted and confirmed as filed by the former Registrar Gentles with a returnable date of February 14, 2025, was required to be decided within three months of said date under the standard provisions of the CJA. The metamorphosis of this timeline into a state of indefinite delay through unauthorized judicial intercession is a direct assault upon the Rule of Law. Every day of administrative silence compounds the prejudice against the moving party while providing a concomitant tactical advantage to the Respondents who benefit from the delay. The CJA was designed to prevent precisely this type of "Systemic Glacialism."
47. The blockade of judicial resources and the withholding of oral transcripts represent a zero-sum game where the Applicant is systematically marginalized by the very institution sworn to protect the Rule of Law. The implications of this blockade extend beyond mere delay; they represent a fundamental failure of the institutional oversight vested solely in the President of the Divisional Court. The concomitant failure to facilitate the resolution of these motions has effectively rendered the statutory protections of the CJA illusory in the face of unauthorized administrative intercession. The restoration of the lawful trajectory of this proceeding is the only available remedy to cure the jurisdictional void created by the unauthorized acts heretofore documented and to ensure that the lex terrae is upheld in the face of institutional capture.
48. The Applicant moves for the formal issuance of the draft orders to break the blockade, restore the status quo ante, and vindicate the Rule of Law. The integrity of the Divisional Court necessitates the exposure of these irregularities and the restoration of a transparent and strictly statutory adjudicative process. The disinfecting light of public and regulatory attention is required to address the registry vacuum and ensure the institutional radiance of the Superior Court of Justice. Reliance is placed upon the inherent jurisdiction of the Court to prevent a manifest abuse of process and to purge the record of ultra vires interventions. The Court must act as its own "Moral Auditor" to rectify these deviations.

IX. SUMMARY OF CASE LAW: SECTION 123 OF THE COURTS OF JUSTICE ACT AND THE DOCTRINE OF RESILIENCY

49. Section 123 of the CJA is characterized as the structural infrastructure of the Ontario court system (the "Ontario Court System"), providing the requisite statutory framework to maintain continuity when anthropomorphic contingencies—such as judicial illness, retirement, elevation, or death—preclude the presiding judge from finalizing an adjudication. This section established the fundamental safeguard against systemic stagnation and ensures that the adjudicative process remains resilient in the face of human frailty.
50. Judicial Timelines and the Constitutional Right to a Timely Verdict (S. 123(5)): This subsection serves as the foundational standard for assessing the reasonableness of judicial deliberation. In R. v. Swaine [2025] ONCA 12 (the Swaine), R. v. Osaigbovo [2024] ONCA 54 (the Osaigbovo), R. v. Taylor [2023] ONCA 88 (the Taylor CA), and R. v. Ansari [2023] ONCA 91 (the Ansari), the intersection of Section 123 and section 11(b) of the Canadian charter of rights and freedoms (the "Charter") was scrutinized to determine the limits of permissible judicial deliberation. These cases emphasize that "Justice Delayed is Justice Denied" is not just a cliché, but a constitutional imperative.
51. It is posited that under the principles of R. v. K.G.K. [2020] 1 SCR 364 (the K.G.K.), the statutory guidelines of three and six months in Section 123 function as the benchmarks of acceptability for the period post-deliberation. While not strict jurisdictional drop-dead dates, they function as the marker of judicial integrity. In the Swaine, the failure to deliver reasons post-resignation was identified as a vacuum of authority, while the Ansari established that exceeding the guideline does not ipso facto constitute unconstitutionality unless it reaches the markedly longer threshold. The K.G.K. decision reminds the Bench that judicial independence is not a license for administrative lethargy.

52. The implications of administrative silence were further elaborated in Auciello v. La [2024] ONSC 4321 (the Auciello). Protracted silence post-motion was characterized as a denial of natural justice and a practical denial of justice. When an Associate Justice failed to deliver a decision within the three-month window, the resulting legal limbo led to an irreparable loss of strategic position for the litigants. The Auciello case serves as a warning that silence from the Bench can be as damaging as a wrong decision.
53. In K.M. v. Marson [2018] ONSC 1515 (the Marson), the transparent utilization of the extension mechanism in subsection 123(5) demonstrated the balance between thoroughness and speed. Conversely, Tibollo v. Wasserman [2011] ONSC 554 (the Tibollo) and R. v. Bosley [1992] OJ No 1928 (the Bosley) confirm that the six-month guideline serves as the rebuttable presumption of excessive delay, necessitating intervention to preserve the institutional reputation of the Court. These cases establish that the "Six Month Rule" is the yardstick by which the Court's administrative competence is measured.
54. Rehearings and the Preservation of Record (S. 123(1), (4), and (7)): The statutory remedy of last resort for cases left in judicial suspension is found in the reheating provisions. In Abou-Assaly v. El-Saikali [2025] ONSC 88 (the Abou-Assaly) and McGee v. Farazli [2022] ONSC 334 (the McGee), the functional inability of a judge necessitated the assignment of a successor under Section 123. These cases prove that the "Death of a Judge" is not the "Death of a File," provided the statutory mechanisms of Section 123 are properly engaged.
55. The efficiency mandate was crystallized in Barry v. Certified Equipment [2019] ONSC 221 (the Barry), which established that a reheating under subsection 123(7) is not synonymous with a de novo retrial. Where a clear transcript exists, the successor judge may step into the shoes of the predecessor, utilizing existing materials. This policy of finality was echoed in Smith v. Brockton [2016] ONSC 12 (the Smith), where the paper record was deemed a legally sufficient basis for adjudication. The Barry decision is a triumph of substance over form, ensuring that litigants are not punished for judicial rotation.
56. In Runnalls v. Chief Justice [2022] ONSC 11 (the Runnalls), the statute was invoked to compel a decision where systemic stagnation had occurred over a period of eight years. This case identifies Section 123 as the ultimate constitutional check on judicial delay, authorizing the Chief Justice to rescue a stalled matter and assign it to another for finalization. The Runnalls precedent is the "Emergency Brake" of the Ontario Court System.
57. Resilience of Multi-Judge Panels (S. 123(3)): In the context of the Divisional Court, subsection 123(3) ensures that the death or incapacity of a single judge does not invalidate the collective work of a panel. R. v. Cudjoe [2009] ONCA 543 (the Cudjoe) and Wamboldt v. Wellman [2007] OJ No 22

...

[Message clipped] View entire message

7 Attachments • Scanned by Gmail

M

Mr. Kevin McLean <mcleansettlement@gmail.com> Feb 23, 2026, 1:07 PM

to SCJ-CSJ, roxanne.parris, Tashekah

CLASSIFICATION: PRIVATE AND CONFIDENTIAL
TIME SENSITIVITY: URGENT – TIME SENSITIVE
DATE: February 23, 2026

VIA ELECTRONIC MAIL TRANSMISSION
(Subsequent transmission: Facsimile, Courier, and Physical Delivery et al.)
TO:
The Divisional Court of Ontario

Osgoode Hall (Toronto)

130 Queen Street West, Room 174

Toronto, Ontario M5H 2N5

Attention: Ms. Roxanne Parris, Registrar of the Divisional Court

(In her capacity as the replacement registrar (the "Replacement Registrar"))
Email: Roxanne.parris@ontario.ca

AND TO (For purposes of Motion #6) - EXCLUSIVELY AS PER THE LEGISLATURE'S REQUIREMENT UNDER THE CJA SECTION 123
The President of the Divisional Court

The Honourable Chief Justice Geoffrey B. Morawetz

Osgoode Hall, 130 Queen Street West

Toronto, Ontario M5H 2N5

Fax: 416.327.6011

MATTER DETAILS
Court File Number: DC-24-00000718-00JR
Short Style of Cause: McLean v. TD Home and Auto Insurance Company, et al.
Document Classification: Enclosure of Factum for Motion #6 pursuant to section 123 of the CJA with Draft Order (Form 59A) to follow
Sender: Mr. Kevin A. McLean, B.A., J.D., C.I.M
Sender Status: Moving Party (Motions #1 through #5) and Applicant (JRPA Application)

RE: Motion #6 – Requirements pursuant to section 123 of the Courts of Justice Act (CJA) regarding Notice of Motion #2 (the "NOM #2") BY WAY OF WRITTEN ARGUMENT WITH DRAFT ORDER TO FOLLOW AND MATERIALS RELIED UPON IN RELATION TO THE SAME

Dear Sirs/Mesdames:

1. Transmission is hereby effected regarding the mail filing of the most recent and historical instruments relevant to this proceeding, which is characterized by a profound and systemic failure of the adjudicative apparatus. It is confirmed that this application under the Judicial Review Procedure Act (JRPA) (the "JRPA Proceeding") is distinct from a statutory appeal and encompasses several motions initiated in January 2025. Specifically, the latter was adjudicated as a written hearing, thereby necessitating a final determination within the statutory temporal parameters of three or six months from February 14, 2025. The persistent absence of an adjudicative manifestation has resulted in a jurisdictional impasse that threatens the very legitimacy of the registry.
2. Notwithstanding the scrupulous fulfillment of all fiscal obligations—specifically the remission of fees for a service the state has effectively eschewed—and the formal confirmation of filings via the Justice Services Online Portal (the "JSO Portal"), a decision remains conspicuously absent from the record for a period exceeding 380 days. Following an exhaustive and meticulous review of the relevant jurisprudence, it is posited that a vested entitlement to a decision within the statutory temporal parameters exists as a matter of constitutional imperative. Furthermore, it is asserted that the involvement of Madam Justice Shore was characterized by a total lack of jurisdiction (coram non judice), rendering her acts factum a judice, quod ad officium jure non pertinet, ratum non est.
3. Reliance is placed upon the evidentiary record indicating that no order for assignment for case management (the "Assignment for Case Management") was ever issued, contrary to the mandatory requirements of the Rules of Civil Procedure (the "Rules"). Consequently, there is no requirement for the Applicant or any party to adhere to the unauthorized manifestations of said office, as they constitute a jurisdictional nullity. The failure of the state to provide the adjudicative product for which payment was remitted constitutes a functional fraud upon the subject and an ontological erasure of the legal remedy sought, leaving the Applicant in a state of legal non-existence.

4. This motion is submitted exclusively to the Honourable Chief Justice of the Superior Court of Justice in his capacity as the President of the Divisional Court, invoking the ultimate jurisdiction to restore the rule of law and obviate the "labyrinthine void" created by administrative inertia.

5. I respectfully yet exclusively submitted to the Honourable Chief Justice of the Superior Court of Justice, in the exercise of his vested adjudicative authority as the President of the Divisional Court, for the purpose of securing required orders pursuant to the remedial provisions contained within section 123(4) and (7) of the Courts of Justice Act, RSO 1990, c. C. 43 (the "CJA"). It is requested that the motion for judgment (the "NOM #2") be reheard in its entirety to obviate the catastrophic failure of the adjudicative process heretofore experienced. The failure of the motions judge to issue a decision within the statutory window constitutes a functional abdication of the sovereign's promise to the subject.

6. It is observed that legislative supremacy (the "Statutory Supremacy") dictates that de facto statutes must prevail over regulations, ensuring that the will of the legislature remains the preeminent consideration in the administration of justice. To permit a departure from these mandates is to sanction a metamorphosis of the judicial branch from an arbiter of vested rights into a source of procedural opacity and administrative desuetude.

7. The current litigation is defined as a chief justice case (the "Chief Justice Case"), characterized by pervasive controversy, the high-profile nature thereof, and challenges to the institutional integrity of the court. Reliance is placed upon the reasoning in Baldovi v. R., 2016 MBQB 167 (the "Baldovi"), at paragraph 72 (BOA, Tab 69), as adopted by the current administration of the Superior Court of Justice, wherein it was observed that the unique stewardship of the President of the Divisional Court is required when the standard process is insufficient to preserve the perceived and actual dignity of the institution. In such instances, the rule of law must be elevated over administrative convenience.

8. The systemic failures within the registry and the unauthorized assumption of jurisdiction constitute a definitive and ontological example of a case where the legitimacy of the tribunal is subjected to profound scrutiny. This species of administrative blockade (the "Administrative Blockade") effectuates a strategic erasure of the subject, rendering the right to access the court a mere theoretical phantom. The resulting constitutional vacuum (the "Constitutional Vacuum") allows administrative error to persist in perpetuity, immune from the light of judicial scrutiny.

9. Since the adjudication in Ruffo v. Conseil de la magistrature, [1995] 4 S.C.R. 267 (the "Ruffo"), the doctrine of primus inter pares (the "Primus Inter Pares") has emerged as a substantive, rather than merely ceremonial, designation of seniority. This doctrine recognizes that a Chief Justice possesses an inherent suite of responsibilities that need not be explicitly conferred by statute, functioning as the ethical and integrity barometer for the entire judicial institution. The Primus Inter Pares is the finality guardian (the "Finality Guardian"), ensuring that the litigation of the subject reaches a determination without the intervention of administrative capture.

10. In Information Commissioner (Canada) v Canada (Minister of Employment and Immigration), 1986 CanLII 6836 (FC) (the "Information Commissioner"), invoking Julius v Oxford (Bishop of) (1880), 5 App Cas 214 (the "Julius"), the court established the foundational syllogism (the "Julius Syllogism"). This doctrine dictates that notwithstanding that a power may appear permissive in its linguistic configuration, a compulsory mandate (the "Compulsory Mandate") arises ipso facto if said power is provided for the purpose of making good a right. When the legislature confers a power to vindicate rights, its exercise ceases to be a matter of grace and becomes a binding public duty.

11. The fulfillment of fiscal and procedural requirements—specifically the filing and payment for NOM #2 on January 31, 2025—constituted a condition precedent (the "Condition Precedent") for the Court's exercise of jurisdiction. Pursuant to the Julius Syllogism, the word "may" in the enabling statute is metamorphosed into an imperative "must." Any further delay constitutes a breach of the Compulsory Mandate, resulting in an interregnum (the "Interregnum") where the law exists but does not speak, placing the subject in a labyrinthine void (the "Labyrinthine Void"). In this void, rights are neither vindicated nor extinguished, but are simply extinguished through silence.

12. Recognition is afforded to the principle in Trial Lawyers Association of British Columbia v British Columbia (Attorney General), 2014 SCC 59 (the "TLABC 2014"), which affirmed that the provincial power to amend procedural rules cannot effectively deny the right of subjects to have disputes resolved by a superior court. Judicial delay of this magnitude operates as an impenetrable barrier to the lex terrae, effectuating a strategic erasure of the subject. This delay functions as a prohibited financial barrier, effectively barring the doors of the section 96 court through administrative inertia.

13. The nomenclature of the legislation itself provides a linguistic syllogism; it is designated the Courts of Justice Act (the "CJA"), an appellation that underscores the positive obligation to render justice, thereby eschewing the possibility of a "Courts of Non-Decision Act." Justice delayed is a functional abdication of the sovereign's promise, resulting in a total collapse of the adjudicative objective. The absence of a judicial utterance (the "Judicial Utterance") results in a total failure of the adjudicative act, leaving the subject in a state of legal non-existence.

VOLUME #2: NO REQUIREMENT TO OBEY ACTS OF A JUDGE WHO IS CORAM NON JUDICE

14. The legal framework requires that for the adjudicative manifestations (the "Acta") of a member of the judiciary to possess binding efficacy, such acts must emanate exclusively from the authorized office and pertain strictly to the prescribed duties associated therewith. The unauthorized assumption of power by Madam Justice Shore, in the absence of a formal designation as a Case Management Judge, constitutes a jurisdictional nullity (the "Jurisdictional Nullity"). The exercise of power without mandate (the "Mandate") is a nullity that cannot be cured by subsequent acquiescence.
15. The maxim factum a judice, quod ad officium jure non pertinet, ratum non est (the "Factum a Judice") dictates that such acts are of no force, as a judge without a commission is merely a legal stranger to the record. Any acts arising from such unauthorized intervention are void ab initio (the "Void Ab Initio") and do not invoke issue estoppel or res judicata. The preservation of curial integrity necessitates that the record be purged of any manifestations arising from an office that was never legally vested.
16. A definitive demarcation exists between the erroneous exercise of extant jurisdiction and the total usurpation of power. An act categorized as an inherent nullity (the "Inherent Nullity") arises when an unfulfilled condition precedent to the conferment of authority exists. The judicial officer, acting without a mandate, functions as a coram non judice (the "Coram Non Judice"), and any resulting orders are born dead. To hold otherwise would allow for a system of autocratic regression (the "Autocratic Regression") where the whim of the officer supplants the mandate of the law.
17. The transition of a judge from a neutral arbiter to an agent of executive transformation (the "Executive Transformation") triggers the evaporation of immunity, ensuring that power is not exercised in a constitutional vacuum. When a judge assumes a role not assigned by the Chief Justice, they effectuate a functional closure (the "Functional Closure") of the legitimate court, deploying an administrative shield (the "Administrative Shield") to obstruct merit-based scrutiny. This administrative capture effectuates a functional closure of the judicature, wherein the right to an impartial judiciary is encroached upon by ultra vires acts.
18. Administrative independence is a collective right of the court as an institution, as affirmed in Reference re Remuneration of Judges of the Provincial Court of Prince Edward Island; Reference re Independence and Impartiality of Judges of the Provincial Court of Manitoba, [1997] 3 S.C.R. 3 (the "1997 Judicial Independence Reference"), at paragraph 270. This unwritten constitutional principle (the "Unwritten Constitutional Principle") dictates that even a Chief Judge cannot waive administrative independence through acquiescence to executive demands. Any unilateral closure of a court by the executive branch or the withdrawal of support staff constitutes a prima facie violation of judicial independence.

VOLUME #2(A): THE ADMISSION OF NON-HEARING STATUS

19. On October 10, 2025, the evidentiary nexus substantiating the involvement of Shore J. as a non-hearing judge became apparent. The SCJ Recording Management Office advised that transcripts could not be produced because the attendances were merely "conferences," and not hearings. This status as a non-hearing judge is confirmed by her own admissions; by insisting upon a "case conference," she effectively buried her own jurisdictional standing.
20. By explicitly denying the release of transcripts on this basis, Shore J. admitted as a matter of fact and law that these were not hearings (the "Hearings"). This admission is fatal; if the attendances were not hearings, they could not have been the venue for any valid adjudicative act, confirming her role was that of an unauthorized Case Management Judge acting entirely outside the mandate. As established in Duggan v. Durham Region Non-Profit Housing Corporation, the inherent jurisdiction of the court cannot be used to override specific rules; specifically, the requirements for assignment under Rule 77 oust any claimed power to "manage" outside the standard framework.

VOLUME #2(B): REAFFIRMING PROCEDURAL INTEGRITY IN AN ERA OF BACKLOGS

21. The jurisdictional boundaries of Rule 77 are not mere technicalities but the structural supports of a fair and predictable legal system. The pursuit of judicial economy cannot be achieved by a "shortcut" that bypasses the mandatory requirements of the Rules. An "Assignment for Case Management" order is the essential link between general authority and specialized powers; in its absence, a judge has no more authority to decide a case at a case conference than at a social gathering.
22. Procedural fairness requires that substantive rights be determined only on the basis of sworn evidence and in a forum where the rules of natural justice are strictly observed. Any deviation from the statutory roadmap (the "Roadmap") renders the proceeding a nullity. When a judge exceeds their jurisdiction, those aspects of the proceeding are a nullity, as substantive rights must not be bypassed through managerial interference.

VOLUME #3: THE STATUTORY SCHEME

23. The Judicial Review Procedure Act (the "JRPA") is naturally intended to ensure that proceedings are summary in nature, designed to provide a streamlined mechanism for the review of administrative action without the exhaustive procedures of a civil trial. The JRPA functions as a procedural scalpel to excise administrative error with velocity, maintaining the supervisory nature (the "Supervisory Nature") of the court and ensuring the accountability of the state.
24. Pursuant to Rule 68.02, Rule 38 and Rules 68.03 to 68.07 apply to applications for judicial review. Upon service of an unissued JRPA application, the tribunal is mandated to file the record of proceeding forthwith. This forthwith requirement (the "Forthwith Requirement") is a mandatory statutory directive that leaves no room for administrative discretion or dilatory conduct by the respondent tribunal. A tribunal that fails to file its record "forthwith" is effectively obstructing the course of justice and should be subject to immediate remedial intervention.

VOLUME #4: THE FACTS: A CHRONICLE OF PROCEDURAL STAGNATION

25. The JRPA application was issued on November 21, 2024. Notwithstanding the commencement of proceedings, no notice of appearance (the "NOA") was delivered by any of the Respondents. This total failure to engage signaled an early abandonment of any meritorious defense and invited a summary disposition. Despite perfection on December 13, 2024, the Registrar failed to issue a notice of listing for hearing (Form 68B).
26. This registry capture (the "Registry Capture") represents the functional mechanism through which the strategic erasure of rights is operationalized. The clerical arm of the state created an administrative barrier that has effectively hijacked the adjudicative objective. On January 30, 2025, NOM #2 was filed and paid for, seeking a conversion of the motion into a motion for judgment (the "Conversion Order") on the basis that no responsive factums had been provided.
27. Notwithstanding absolute compliance with fiscal and procedural requirements, the system has remained unresponsive for over 380 days, representing a terminal failure of the primary track (the "Primary Track") of adjudication. In the spirit of urgency and assisting with respect to the immense delays, the Applicant has identified the issues for ease of reference with the supplementary documents that were e-filed and stamped.

VOLUME #5: DELINEATED ISSUES AND ANSWERS

28. Issue #1: Fiscal Perfection. Did the Applicant file and pay for NOM #2 in accordance with Reg 158/03? Answer: Affirmative. The performance of this statutory duty on January 31, 2025, created a concomitant obligation on the part of the Court to provide a resolution. The payment transforms power into a public duty; the state, having accepted the consideration, is constitutionally precluded from withholding the adjudicative product. Any refusal is a functional fraud (the "Functional Fraud") upon the subject.
29. Issue #2: Procedural Default. Did the Respondents comply with Rule 37.12.1(5)? Answer: Negative. No responding record or factum was delivered within the prescribed ten-day interval. This procedural sloth constitutes a functional abandonment of the right to contest, rendering the motion unopposed ipso facto and leaving the Court with uncontradicted evidence (the "Uncontradicted Evidence"). Strategic silence must not be rewarded with administrative delay; to do so would incentivize procedural defiance.

30. Issue #3: Commencement of the Adjudicative Clock. When did the time for a decision commence? Answer: The temporal clock commenced upon the expiration of the responding period on February 14, 2025 (the "Dies a Quo"). The subsequent passage of one year represents a profound departure from the statutory scheme and the expectations of the lex terrae. The Court was seized of the matter the moment the time for filing responses expired, and it has remained silent in the face of a perfected record.
31. Issue #4: Calculation of Intervals. Does the delay exceed the statutory windows? Answer: Affirmative. For an interlocutory determination, the statutory window closed on April 15, 2025. For a final judgment, the interval expired on August 15, 2025. The current delay exceeds the benchmark of acceptability, transforming adjudicative delay into a structural barrier to justice. The "legal limbo" has ripened into a practical denial of justice.
32. Issue #5: Definition of Hearing. Is a written motion a hearing? Answer: Affirmative. A hearing (the "Hearing") includes proceedings determined without oral argument. The term must be interpreted purposively to include all adjudicative acts where rights are at stake. The exclusion of case conferences (the "Case Conferences") underscores that only final adjudicative acts are protected by temporal mandates, preserving the integrity of the process.
33. Issue #6: Inherent Jurisdiction. Does the Divisional Court possess inherent jurisdiction? Answer: Negative. The Divisional Court is a statutory tribunal and possesses no inherent jurisdiction (the "Inherent Jurisdiction"). Every act must find its root in a specific statutory grant, making any deviation a jurisdictional error (the "Jurisdictional Error"). It cannot rely on common law powers to excuse procedural lawlessness or justify the suspension of a proceeding.
34. Issue #7: Rule 37.13(2)(a). Does this rule function as a statutory surrogate for inherent jurisdiction? Answer: Affirmative. It constitutes a procedural companion (the "Procedural Companion") and the exclusive authority to forestall profligate delays where the terminal determination is self-evident. Reliance is placed upon Stickel v. Unum Provident Corporation, 2009 CanLII 31445 (ON SC) (the "Stickel"), which confirms this provision as the instrument through which the Court may resolve claims where no genuine issue exists.

VOLUME #6: JURISDICTIONAL NULLITIES AND THE DOCTRINE OF SEISIN

35. The unauthorized assumption of power is characterized as a strike against the heart of the Rule of Law. Reliance is placed upon McLean v Bradley (1878), 2 S.C.R. 535 (the "Bradley") (BOA, Tab 310). Power without commission is merely the expression of private will under the guise of public office, representing a fundamental deviation from the constitutional trust bestowed upon the bench.
36. At page 547 of the Bradley, invoking Taylor v Clemson (1844), 11 Cl & F 610 (the "Taylor"), it was observed that when the Court lacks jurisdiction, the whole proceeding is coram non judice. The actions of Madam Justice Shore are void ab initio due to a fundamental defect in jurisdictional competence. The maxim Factum a judice, quod ad officium jure non pertinet, ratum non est is dispositive. Any act of a judge which did not belong to their office is invalid.
37. The inquiry pertains to whether the absence of judicial seisin (the "Seisin") by Madam Justice Shore—attributable to the lack of an order for assignment—vitiates her authority. It is a fundamental tenet that a judge's authority is strictly circumscribed (the "Circumscription") by assignment orders. In the absence of a formal direction by the Chief Justice, no individual judge is seized of interlocutory steps. Madam Justice Shore was restricted solely to the hearing of the application itself; any attempt to expand this jurisdiction sua sponte is ultra vires.
38. Rule 37.15 (the "Rule 37.15") dictates that a specific direction (the "Direction") must be issued to consolidate motions. No such Direction was promulgated. To assume a Direction exists is to invite bench hunting (the "Bench Hunting"). The doctrine of Seisin ensures that the "referee" of the procedural phase does not become the "umpire" of the final judgment, preserving judicial impartiality against the metamorphosis (the "Metamorphosis") of procedure.

VOLUME #7: THE 13 CHIEF JUSTICE DUTIES: THE LEADERSHIP SUITE

39. The Chief Justice serves as the moral barometer (the "Moral Barometer") and institutional reputation guardian. Articulated through the doctrine of Primus Inter Pares, his responsibilities include:
a. Ultimate Jurisdiction: Final authority over adjudicative and administrative functions, ensuring the judicial hierarchy remains intact;
b. Constitutional Trust Stewardship: Primary guardian of the trust bestowed by the sovereign upon the judicial branch;

c. Master of the Roster: Absolute authority over scheduling and distribution of resources to prevent arbitrary assumptions of jurisdiction;
d. Self-Assignment Power: Authority to take over matters of profound institutional significance where reputation is at risk;
e. Efficiency Operation Duty: Responsibility to ensure seamless operation and prevent administrative lacunae or stagnation of the list;
f. Finality Guardian: Duty to ensure the litigation reaches a final, issued, and entered determination without administrative capture.

40. Canadian jurisprudence utilizes the incapacity metric (the "Incapacity Metric") to determine whether conduct is so manifest and totally contrary to impartiality that public confidence is undermined. A failure in due execution (the "Failure in Due Execution") constitutes a manifest departure from the standards of office. The intervention occurring in the total absence of jurisdiction—coram non judice—represents such a departure.

VOLUME #7(A): THE MORAL IMPERATIVE OF JUDICIAL ACCOUNTABILITY

41. It is observed that within the reported reasons for decision promulgated by the Canadian Judicial Council (the "CJC"), a discernible metamorphosis has manifested among the federal judiciary toward the assumption of proactive accountability, characterized by formal acknowledgments and apologies tendered to litigants for inadvertent procedural errors. It is posited that the current exigency constitutes a quintessential instance wherein such accountability is necessitated, given the inordinate expenditure of resources and temporal delay occasioned by the unauthorized conduct of Madam Justice Shore and the Office of the Registrar as evidenced in the Compendium of February 14, 2025.
42. While the principle of judicial responsibility is well-established—as reflected in contemporaneous media reportage (the "CBC Article")—a fundamental distinction must be drawn between the general responsibility of a jurist for their conduct and the specific act of unauthorized intervention through self-assignment in the absence of an Assignment for Case Management. In light of the precedents established in McIntosh v. Shore (the "McIntosh") and the Nash v. CAMI Divisional Court Proceeding (the "Nash Proceeding"), a formal apology is anticipated from Madam Justice Shore to the Applicant and the Respondents to rectify the delay of justice and the atrophy of legal resources; the absence thereof would warrant an adverse presumption of institutional bad faith.

VOLUME #8: ORDERS SOUGHT

43. A fundamental jurisdictional distinction exists between a rehearing (the "Rehearing") as contemplated by section 123 of the CJA, and a mere conference. The nomenclature of the CJA is deliberate; a "rehearing" implies the restoration of the status quo ante via a de novo consideration by a properly constituted panel or a single judge sitting in a judicial capacity. The legislative intent behind section 123 is to restore order and provide necessary structure when the standard process fails to produce a result.
44. The following orders are sought to rectify the procedural irregularities:

a. An Order pursuant to section 123(4) of the CJA that NOM #2 be reheard within five days, and by no later than February 28, 2026;
b. An Order that the President of the Divisional Court assume the role of the presiding judge (the "Self-Assignment Order");
c. An Order that the President of the Divisional Court issue a bottom-line ruling with reasons to follow;

d. An Order declaring that all purported directions rendered in the absence of a formal "Assignment Order" are nullities and void ab initio;

e. A Mandatory Order requiring the Registrar to forthwith issue Case Center invitations to ensure the integrity of the record;
f. Costs of the motion in favour of the Applicant on a substantial indemnity basis.

45. The intervention of the Chief Justice is required to truncate the labyrinthine issues present and ensure substantive justice is not sacrificed to technical failure. This approach is concomitant with the principles of access to justice and judicial independence. The Applicant trusts that the President of the Divisional Court will discharge his duties in accordance with the lex terrae and remains available for further inquiry.

5624

ALL OF WHICH IS RESPECTFULLY SUBMITTED for purposes of cover letter for Motion #6 with other attachments to follow in subsequent email this 23rd day of February, 2026.
Kevin Alexander McLean
Applicant, acting in person

Yours faithfully,

/KAM

Mr. Kevin A. McLean (BA, JD, CIM)

Sender's name: Mr. Kevin Alexander McLean (BA, JD, CIM)
Sender's address: 410-775 King Street West, Toronto, Ontario, M5V 2K3
Sender's Telephone Number: (647) 370-9354
Sender's email address: mcleansettlement@gmail.com

...

[Message clipped] View entire message
4 Attachments • Scanned by Gmail

M

Mr. Kevin McLean <mcleansettlement@gmail.com> Feb 25, 2026, 2:30 PM

to SCJ-CSJ, roxanne.parris, Tashekah

CLASSIFICATION: PRIVATE AND CONFIDENTIAL
TIME SENSITIVITY: URGENT – TIME SENSITIVE

DATE: February 25, 2026

VIA ELECTRONIC MAIL TRANSMISSION

(Subsequent transmission: Facsimile, Courier, and Physical Delivery et al.)

TO:

The Divisional Court of Ontario

Osgoode Hall (Toronto)

130 Queen Street West, Room 174

Toronto, Ontario M5H 2N5

Attention: Ms. Roxanne Parris, Registrar of the Divisional Court

(In her capacity as the replacement registrar (the "Replacement Registrar"))
Email: Roxanne.parris@ontario.ca

AND TO (For purposes of Motion #6):

The President of the Divisional Court
5625
The Honourable Chief Justice Geoffrey B. Morawetz
Osgoode Hall, 130 Queen Street West

Toronto, Ontario M5H 2N5

Fax: 416.327.6011

MATTER DETAILS

Court File Number: DC-24-00000718-00JR

Short Style of Cause: McLean v. TD Home and Auto Insurance Company, et al.

Document Classification: Enclosure of Factum for Motion #6 pursuant to section 123 of the CJA with Draft ORDER (Form 59A) to follow
Sender: Mr. Kevin A. McLean, B.A., J.D., C.I.M

Sender Status: Moving Party (Motions #1 through #5) and Applicant (JRPA Application)

RE: Motion #6 – Requirements pursuant to section 123 of the Courts of Justice Act (CJA) regarding Notice of Motion #2 (the "NOM #2")
To the Attention of the Distinguished Addressees:

I. FORMAL TRANSMISSION OF ADJUDICATIVE INSTRUMENTS AND ADMINISTRATIVE CONTEXT

1. Transmission is hereby effectuated to the Replacement Registrar and the Honourable President of the Divisional Court of the within electronic correspondence, a manifestation which is necessitated by the deleterious and persistent adjudicative stagnation currently encumbering the progression of the subject proceeding. While the nash cami divisional court proceeding (the "Nash CAMI Divisional Court Proceeding") demonstrates differential treatment under an identical statutory and procedural framework within the same region and jurisdiction, it is observed that the intervention of Justice Shore in the McLean TDHA JRPA Proceeding was performed WITHOUT even the pretense of an Assignment ORDER. Notwithstanding previous submissions regarding the underlying motivations of such conduct, the paramount issue addressed herein remains the failure of a Motions Judge—as distinct from an unauthorized CMJ—to render an adjudicative determination within the prescribed three-to-six-month interval. Such stagnation is characterized by a failure of the internal machinery of the Court to provide a timely result, thereby threatening the functional integrity of the Rule of Law and necessitating remedial intervention.
2. In consideration of the temporal fact that a duration exceeding one year has transpired since the NOM #2 (see: Schedule B to the Draft ORDER, document number #22) was duly perfected and served on January 31, 2025—originally returnable on February 14, 2026—a decision is nonetheless required by operation of statute to be delivered by a Motions Judge of competent jurisdiction, excluding the participation of Madam Justice Shore.
3. Submission is hereby rendered for the Court's immediate consideration of the following digital acta, which have been meticulously prepared to facilitate the exercise of supervisory stewardship over the Ontario Superior Court of Justice:
   a. A formal draft ORDER (the "Draft ORDER") in Form 59A, pertaining to the remedial relief sought under section 123 of the Courts of Justice Act (the "CJA"), which addresses the jurisdictional lacuna precipitated by the failure to render an adjudicative determination upon notice of motion number two (the "NOM #2") within the prescribed statutory intervals. This instrument is intended to remedy a functional dismissal of claims that has occurred without a hearing on the merits.
   b. The revised factum (the "Revised Factum"), which has been comprehensively augmented to incorporate a sophisticated exposition of the sub judice and res sub judice principles, thereby reinforcing the constitutional imperative of sequestering the judicial reserve from ultra ires administrative or managerial interferences. The document further elucidates the distinction between adjudicative privilege and the qualified nature of administrative privilege.

c. A refined iteration of the record (the "Technological Compliance"), meticulously structured to facilitate the review of the voluminous evidentiary record and the comprehensive book of authorities (the "BOA"), providing the President with an organized means of evaluating the procedural history; it is observed, however, that as these documents are transmitted as standalone attachments, they are devoid of hyperlinking and bookmarking functionalities.

4. It is observed that the within motion is cognizable directly and exclusively by the President of the Divisional Court, as the "chief judge" within the meaning of section 123(1) of the CJA, to rectify administrative failures and judicial delays that have ripened into a palpable miscarriage of procedural justice.

II. JURISDICTIONAL NULLITY AND THE EXTRAPOLATION OF CONSTITUTIONAL PRINCIPLES

5. An articulation is provided within the Revised Factum of a robust legal syllogism, predicated upon the foundational jurisprudence of the Supreme Court of Canada in McLean v. Bradley (1878), 2 S.C.R. 535 (BOA, Tab 310) and Pong v. Quong et al., [1927] S.C.R. 271 (BOA, Tab 309). These authorities establish a definitive and critical demarcation between an erroneous exercise of jurisdiction and a total usurpation of authority that has not legally vested, the latter rendering all subsequent acta a nullity, void ab initio.
6. It is posited that the unauthorized interventions of the purported case management judge (the "CMJ"), occurring in the absolute absence of a formal assignment for case management (the "Assignment ORDER") and prior to the filing of a first defence, constitute a jurisdictional nullity. Such acts, being coram non judice, represent a fundamental departure from the statutory roadmap and do not invoke issue estoppel or res judicata.
7. The Revised Factum providing a more detailed elaboration upon the unwritten constitutional principle (the "Unwritten Constitutional Principle") of judicial independence, as elucidated in Reference re Remuneration of Judges of the Provincial Court of Prince Edward Island, [1997] 3 S.C.R. 3 (BOA, Tab 7). It is posited that administrative independence is a collective right of the Court which cannot be waived through acquiescence to unauthorized managerial acts.
8. Furthermore, the delay encountered in the rendering of a decision for the NOM #2 is characterized as a form of "procedural paralysis," an institutional bias favoring the defaulting respondents by allowing for the stagnation of litigation. Such paralysis must be broken by the direct exercise of the President's supervisory authority to honor the institutional commitment to providing a forum for the resolution of disputes.
9. Reliance is further placed upon the principle that the "social contract" (the "Social Contract") between the judiciary and the citizenry mandates the provision of timely adjudication in exchange for the public's submission to the Court's jurisdiction. A failure to provide such adjudication constitutes a breach of this implicit agreement, necessitating the assumption of plenary jurisdiction by the President to restore the functional integrity of the process.

III. TECHNOLOGICAL SPECIFICATIONS AND PROCEDURAL COMPLIANCE UNDER THE LEX TERRAE

10. To ensure the "just, most expeditious and least expensive determination" of this summary proceeding, the Revised Factum and the Draft ORDER have been prepared with rigorous attention to the citations within the BOA and the Compendia filed on February 11 and February 14, 2025. While such preparation ensures the accuracy of the record, it is observed that the within standalone versions do not encompass bookmarking or hyperlinking functionalities.
11. Reaffirmation is hereby provided that the NOM #2 entered a state of sub judice on February 14, 2025, and the subsequent failure to issue a decision (the "Decision") within the statutory three-to-six-month window creates a mandatory obligation for a rehearing (the "Rehearing") under section 123(4) of the CJA. Once the statutory period for rendering judgment has commenced, it remains immune to interruption by unauthorized administrative events.
12. It is observed that the within Motion has been heard ex parte by reason of the respondents' contumacious failure to deliver a notice of appearance (the "NOA"). The legal consequence of such failure is the absolute and irrevocable waiver of their entitlement to notice of subsequent steps, thereby rendering the current application uncontested on the record.
13. The Applicant maintains that the newly proven facts of procedural default, drawn directly from the official record of the Ontario Courts Public Portal, are incontrovertible and non-justiciable. This proven, absolute procedural failure strips the respondents of any legal basis to oppose the current motion or the underlying judicial review application.

14. Reiteration and reliance are hereby placed upon the totality of the legal arguments and statutory interpretations articulated within the Factum for Motion Number Six and the Draft ORDER for Motion Number Six; these instruments are appended herewith for the immediate attention of the Chief Justice of the Superior Court of Justice in his capacity as the President of the Divisional Court, as the within matter may only be heard and decided by him.
15. It is respectfully required that the Replacement Registrar facilitate the immediate delivery of these materials to the chambers of the Honourable Chief Justice Morawetz, in his capacity as the President of the Divisional Court, to ensure that the within administrative failures are addressed with the requisite urgency to forestall any further technical or substantive failure of the adjudicative objective. There can be no breach of "ORDERS" that were void ab initio, as they were nullities from the moment of their inception.
16. Acknowledgement is rendered to the administrative evolution represented by the ontario courts public portal (the "OCPP"); absent the transparency inherent in this digital register and the innovative Case View functionality—a transformative benefit for which gratitude is expressed to the pertinent administrators—the Applicant would have remained unaware of the systemic absence of a "Filed" First Defence, the non-existence of an ORDER for "Assignment For Case Management," and the total lack of any other ORDERS within the official record of proceeding.
17. It is now indisputable that Madam Justice Shore was Coram Non Judice and Factum A Judice, Quod Ad Officium Jure Non Pertinet, Ratum Non Est along with on her best day being an unauthorized CMJ but not a Motions Judge at all or for purposes of NOM #2 which was heard in writing, without oral argument, and without attendance of the public which is distinct from that of a case management conference [sic] as she would have it.

    Nonetheless, whomever the presiding Motions Judge for NOM #2 was is not my concern because the six month window has come and gone, and the giving of a decision in relation to the same requires the intervention of the Chief Justice of the SCJ.

ALL OF WHICH IS RESPECTFULLY SUBMITTED for the purposes of the formal cover letter for Motion #6, with the aforementioned attachments enclosed herewith this 25th day of February, 2026.

Respectfully Submitted,

Kevin Alexander McLean, B.A., J.D., C.I.M.

Applicant, Appearing in Propria Persona

Email: mcleansettlement@gmail.com

On Mon, Feb 23, 2026 at 1:07 PM Mr. Kevin McLean <mcleansettlement@gmail.com> wrote:
CLASSIFICATION: PRIVATE AND CONFIDENTIAL
TIME SENSITIVITY: URGENT – TIME SENSITIVE
DATE: February 23, 2026
...

[Message clipped] View entire message
5 Attachments • Scanned by Gmail

M

Mr. Kevin McLean <mcleansettlement@gmail.com> Feb 26, 2026, 11:46 AM

to SCJ-CSJ, roxanne.parris, Tashekah

CLASSIFICATION: PRIVATE AND CONFIDENTIAL
TIME SENSITIVITY: URGENT – STATUTORY IMPERATIVE
DATE: February 26, 2026
VIA ELECTRONIC MAIL TRANSMISSION
(Subsequent transmission: Facsimile, Courier, and Physical Delivery)
TO:
The Divisional Court of Ontario
Osgoode Hall (Toronto)
130 Queen Street West, Room 174
Toronto, Ontario M5H 2N5
Attention: Ms. Roxanne Parris, Registrar of the Divisional Court
(In her capacity as the replacement registrar (the "Replacement Registrar"))
Email: Roxanne.parris@ontario.ca
AND TO (For the purposes of Motion #6, section 123 of the Courts of Justice Act):
The President of the Divisional Court
The Honourable Chief Justice Geoffrey B. Morawetz
Osgoode Hall, 130 Queen Street West
Toronto, Ontario M5H 2N5
Fax: 416.327.6011
MATTER DETAILS
Court File Number: DC-24-00000718-00JR
Short Style of Cause: McLean v. TD Home and Auto Insurance Company, et al.
Document Classification: Enclosure of the Motion Record for Motion #6
Sender: Mr. Kevin A. McLean, B.A., J.D., C.I.M.
Sender Status: Moving Party (Motions #1 through #6) and Applicant (JRPA Application)
SUBJECT: Transmittal of the Motion Record for Motion #6 via Hyperlinked and Bookmarked Submission
Dear Mesdames and Sirs:

I. INTRODUCTION AND TRANSMITTAL OF ADJUDICATIVE MATERIALS

1. This correspondence is respectfully submitted as an exhaustive formal transmittal of the materials pertinent to the aforementioned proceeding, articulated within the framework of a highly specialized remedial application.
2. Enclosed herewith is the Motion Record for Motion #6, an instrument meticulously curated with multi-dimensional internal and external hyperlinks and comprehensive structural bookmarks. It is posited with considerable legal gravity that this Motion must be adjudicated exclusively by the Chief Justice of the Superior Court of Justice in his specialized capacity as the President of the Divisional Court, pursuant to the mandatory requirements of the Courts of Justice Act. This submission is provided as a professional courtesy to the President of the Divisional Court, particularly in light of his impending and distinguished retirement; heartfelt felicitations are extended in anticipation of the conclusion of his illustrative tenure, which has long served as a bastion of judicial excellence.
3. As will be noted, the Moving Party has provided extensive citations to the book of authorities (the "BOA"), which were duly dispatched via mail filing on the Friday immediately preceding this date; the President of the Divisional Court is respectfully invited to rely upon these materials through the physical binders provided in hard copy for optimal ease of reference, or alternatively, via the comprehensive electronic iteration so provided.
4. As shall be discerned upon a rigorous review, the Motion Record for Motion #6 underscores the pivotal jurisdictional and procedural considerations articulated within the Factum and the Draft Order (the "Motion #6 Materials"). Should the Court require any refinements, stylistic adjustments, or supplementary clarifications, the Moving Party remains available to provide a revised iteration for the Honourable President's review and endorsement. It is noted with profound gravity that the previous intake court endorsement (the "Intake Court Endorsement") [sic] precipitated a catastrophic sequence of events characterized by unlawful detention and administrative overreach, an occurrence that has contaminated this Judicial Review Procedure Act proceeding (the "JRPA Proceeding") notwithstanding its illicit and unconstitutional nature. In light of the escalating urgency, the preservation of procedural integrity and the restoration of the rule of law remain at an absolute premium.

II. PROCEDURAL STATUS OF MOTION NUMBER TWO AND TEMPORAL PROPOSALS

5. The enclosed Motion Record encompasses the Form 59A in relation to the notice of motion number two (the "NOM #2"), which was duly perfected, verified, and filed on January 31, 2025. It is submitted that this Order remains ripe for approval, endorsement, issuance, and entry at the Court's earliest convenience to truncate the ongoing administrative stasis. In consideration of the deleterious administrative delays heretofore encountered—which have effectively transitioned from mere clerical oversight into a substantive denial of justice—a proposed temporal framework has been articulated within the materials. Should a divergent chronology be preferred by the Court's administration, notification via electronic mail is respectfully requested within this communication thread to ensure the efficient orchestration of the upcoming adjudicative steps.

6. Consistent with the Moving Party's ongoing due diligence and the existential imperative of self-preservation, it is suggested that the granting of the relief sought in NOM #2 would, ipso facto, obviate the necessity for much of the relief pursued in Motion #3 and Motions #4 through #5. Significant portions of those subsequent applications are either subsumed by the primary merits of the underlying application or possess a more generalized character extraneous to the core controversies of this JRPA Proceeding. By addressing NOM #2 as a priority, the Court may achieve a more streamlined resolution, thereby conserving valuable judicial resources and mitigating the procedural labyrinth (the "Procedural Labyrinth") that has heretofore characterized these proceedings.

III. THE STATUTORY OBLIGATIONS AND LEADERSHIP SUITE OF THE CHIEF JUSTICE

7. Inasmuch as the requested relief falls within the exclusive and non-delegable purview of the Chief Justice, the Court is invited to advise whether the Honourable President requires the entirety of the underlying documentation—whether filed electronically or via physical mail transmittal—in a consolidated electronic format as a further courtesy. The Moving Party is prepared to facilitate a total digital repository to assist in the President's deliberation on these complex matters of institutional integrity.
8. The lex scripta mandates that the Chief Justice adjudicate this Motion #6 forthwith, specifically in response to the pervasive challenges, systemic controversies, and profound integrity concerns that have crystallized within the record. This Motion functions as a vital safety valve (the "Safety Valve") within the Courts of Justice Act, designed to rectify the functional paralysis of the adjudicative process when a presiding judge remains silent beyond the statutory intervals.
9. While the identification of further instances of fraud on the court (the "Fraud") remains a subject of ongoing research—including the identity of the previously undisclosed "Ex Parte In Camera Hearing" judge—the Moving Party wishes to avoid unnecessary professional embarrassment to the institution where such evidence might be deemed redundant or excessive. The mail filing of these documents effectively serves the interests of transparency in light of the public nature of the Ontario Courts Public Portal portal. Nevertheless, the Moving Party remains prepared to adduce further evidence of Fraud and administrative irregularities as they are uncovered, ensuring that the reputation of the Divisional Court remains unassailable in the face of such egregious overreach.

IV. JURISDICTIONAL NULLITIES AND THE DOCTRINE OF CORAM NON JUDICE

10. An entitlement is asserted to the rendition of a decision by a Motions Judge regarding NOM #2, whether through a formal rehearing or a reassignment to a jurist untainted by the appearance of a conflict of interest or a prior unauthorized assumption of jurisdiction. Notwithstanding this alternative, the Moving Party expresses a distinct preference for the self-assignment of this matter by the President of the Divisional Court to ensure the merits of the application are addressed in a formal hearing (the "Hearing") that respects the summary nature of judicial review.
11. The official record of proceeding (the "Record of Proceeding") serves as the immutable imprimatur of the Court's acta. It is established beyond a scintilla of doubt that no order for "Assignment For Case Management" (the "Assignment Order") was ever issued or entered into the official docket. Consequently, all purported judicial acts executed by Madam Justice Shore are characterized by the maxims factum a judice, quod ad officium jure non pertinet, ratum non est and coram non judice (see: BOA, Tabs 307 to 312, citing the Pong v. Quong trilogy and McLean v. Bradley). These acts, performed in the clear absence of a statutory roadmap (the "Roadmap"), possess no legal force and cannot be ratified by subsequent administrative acquiescence.
12. It is not the intention of the Moving Party to exhibit any lack of deference toward the judiciary; however, the unfortunate confluence of a "False Information Package" and undisclosed judicial warrants—coupled with admissions from counsel to the Associate Chief Justice and Chief Justice that no such filings occurred between August and October 2024—compels the conclusion that the interventions of Madam Justice Shore were void ab initio. No person, whether an agent of the state or a private actor, possesses the legal capacity to ratify or imbue validity into these unsanctioned acts. The motive or state of knowledge of the jurist is irrelevant; the absence of the Assignment Order is a jurisdictional defect that cannot be cured, representing an autocratic regression (the "Autocratic Regression") that deviates from the constitutional guarantees of the Constitution Act, 1867.

V. THE PRIMUS INTER PARES DOCTRINE AND CONCLUDING SUBMISSIONS

13. The Court's attention is directed to previous bottom-line rulings (the "Bottom-Line Rulings") rendered by Chief Justice Morawetz, such as the injunction pertaining to the Ambassador Bridge, which exemplify the judicial efficiency and moral authority required in the present instance. As the primus inter pares of the Superior Court of Justice, the President possesses an inherent suite of responsibilities (the "Chief Justice Duties") to oversee the sittings and ensure the institutional synchronicity of the Court.

14. A cursory examination of the Record of Proceeding reaffirms that no first defence (the "First Defence") was ever filed by the Respondents. Furthermore, there was no assignment by direction (the "Direction") from the Chief Justice, the Associate Chief Justice, or the Lead Administrative Judge of the Divisional Court; ergo, Madam Justice Shore was never properly seized of the proceeding nor the attendant motions. To hold otherwise would be to permit a system of registry capture (the "Registry Capture") where the clerical arm of the state effectively hijacks the adjudicative objective.
15. Should any impediment exist preventing the President of the Divisional Court from acting upon this CJA section 123 motion, immediate notification is requested. In the absence of such notice, it shall be presumed that he is exercising the mandatory duties prescribed by statute to prevent the legal limbo (the "Limbo") from ripening into a practical denial of justice. Reference is further made to section 5 of the Courts of Justice Act regarding the capacities of the Chief Justice and the Associate Chief Justice. In the event they are unable to act, the intervention of a Judge of the Court of Appeal for Ontario shall be sought to perform the necessary statutory duties and restore the integrity of the bench.
16. All outstanding requisitions and demands remain extant; however, these are largely addressed within the comprehensive relief sought in Motion #6. Furthermore, should the relief in Motion #6 and NOM #2 be granted, the necessity for case conference transcripts and the digital recordings—for which payment was remitted but no product received—shall be rendered moot. The Moving Party considers these unresolved administrative failures as "water under the bridge," provided the core jurisdictional errors are rectified with the requisite celerity.
17. To the extent that the Moving Party is necessitated to persist in the manual transmittal of documentation via mail filing (the "Mail Filing"), he shall be compelled to seek a comprehensive award of costs and the exhaustive indemnification of his disbursements in the event of a reasonably non-expeditious granting of the remedial relief sought in Motion #6 and, by necessary implication and express articulation, NOM #2. This cost assessment shall reflect the extraordinary burden placed upon the Applicant due to institutional inertia. It is trusted that such a contingency shall not materialize and that the Court shall act with the requisite celerity to ensure the finality of the lis.
18. Furthermore, the Moving Party explicitly and unequivocally reserves the right to rely on this correspondence, any mail filings of documents et al for any lawful purposes, whether within the immediate context of the current JRPA Proceeding or in any subsequent or collateral litigation.
19. The Moving Party awaits the Court's direction with the expectation of a just and expeditious resolution, emphasizing that the rule of law demands an adjudicative answer rather than an administrative deflection.

Respectfully submitted,

One attachment • Scanned by Gmail

M

Mr. Kevin McLean <mcleansettlement@gmail.com> Feb 26, 2026, 1:18 PM

to SCJ-CSJ, roxanne.parris, Tashekah

CLASSIFICATION: PRIVATE AND CONFIDENTIAL
TIME SENSITIVITY: URGENT – STATUTORY IMPERATIVE
DATE: February 26, 2026
VIA ELECTRONIC MAIL TRANSMISSION
(Subsequent transmission: Facsimile, Courier, and Physical Delivery)

TO:
The Divisional Court of Ontario

Osgoode Hall (Toronto)

130 Queen Street West, Room 174

Toronto, Ontario M5H 2N5

Attention: Ms. Roxanne Parris, Registrar of the Divisional Court
(in her capacity as the replacement registrar (the "Replacement Registrar"))
Email: Roxanne.parris@ontario.ca

AND TO (For the purposes of Motion #6, section 123 of the Courts of Justice Act):
The President of the Divisional Court

The Honourable Chief Justice Geoffrey B. Morawetz

Osgoode Hall, 130 Queen Street West

Toronto, Ontario M5H 2N5

Fax: 416.327.6011

MATTER DETAILS
Court File Number: DC-24-00000718-00JR
Short Style of Cause: McLean v. TD Home and Auto Insurance Company, et al.
Document Classification: Email
Sender: Mr. Kevin A. McLean, B.A., J.D., C.I.M.
Sender Status: Moving Party (Motions #1 through #6) and Applicant (JRPA Application)
SUBJECT: Confirmation of the mail filing of the Factum and Form 59A for Motion #6 pursuant to section 123 of the CJA
Sirs, Mesdames, and Distinguished Personages:

I. CONFIRMATION OF POSTAL CONSIGNMENT AND DELIVERY

1. Formal notification is hereby provided to corroborate that the transmission of legal materials via Canada Post has been successfully effectuated. The veracity of this delivery is substantiated by the associated tracking documentation, which indicates that the parcel reached its destination at approximately 12:35 PM on the current date.
2. Ipso facto, Motion Record #6—comprising the requisite Factum and the draft order (the "Draft Order")—has been duly filed via mail with the Divisional Court. These materials have been directed to the exclusive attention of the Chief Justice of the Superior Court of Justice, acting in his official capacity as the President of the Divisional Court.
3. The delivery of these documents constitutes prima facie evidence of compliance with the procedural expectations regarding the submission of Motion Record #6 (the "Motion Record").

II. SUBMISSION OF THE DRAFT ORDER FOR MOTION #2

4. A discrete copy of the draft order form 59 (the "Draft Order Form 59 for Motion #2") has been enclosed as a separate and independent instrument, rather than as a mere subordinate schedule to the Form 59A for Motion #6. This structural separation is intended to facilitate the immediate granting of the relief sought therein.
5. It is observed that despite the egregious temporal delay in the adjudication of said motion, the substance of the Form 59A remains unaltered from the juncture at which the matter was initially considered. The motion was heard in writing, devoid of oral advocacy, and without the physical or virtual attendance of the Moving Party (the "Moving Party") or the responding parties (the "Responding Parties").

III. PROCEDURAL IRREGULARITIES AND JURISDICTIONAL DEFECTS

6. Emphasis is placed upon the fact that the delay in providing a determination was occasioned by an unauthorized case management judge lacking the requisite jurisdiction, rendered coram non judice in all material respects. The determination of the notice of motion (the "Notice of Motion") regarding Motion #2 ought properly to have been rendered by a duly assigned motions judge.
7. The aforementioned Motion #2 has been sub judice since precisely 5:01 PM on Friday, February 14, 2025. It is further noted that this motion remained unopposed, as none of the Responding Parties complied with the mandatory requirements of Rule 37.12.1(5). No judicial order exists that would preclude the matter from being adjudicated in writing.

IV. STATUTORY IMPERATIVES AND JUDICIAL TENURE

8. The Moving Party directs the Court's attention to the provisions of the Courts of Justice Act concerning the temporal limitations imposed upon a member of the judiciary who is retiring, resigning, or being elevated to another post. Specifically, such individuals are required to deliver outstanding decisions within a prescribed period following their demission from office.
9. In light of the impending retirement of Chief Justice Morawetz on May 15, 2026, the Moving Party is proceeding with the utmost urgency and expedition. The statutory imperative for a timely resolution is heightened by these circumstances, necessitating a summary conclusion to these proceedings.

V. CLARIFICATION OF LEGAL CHARACTERIZATION

10. For the avoidance of doubt and to preclude any potential misapprehension, it is hereby confirmed that this proceeding constitutes exclusively an application under the Judicial Review Procedure Act (the "JRPA Application") and is not, under any circumstances, to be characterized as an "Appeal."

VI. CONCLUSION

11. The Moving Party trusts that the Draft Order for the rehearing of Motion #6 shall be granted forthwith and with the greatest possible celerity during the current week. Such an outcome will ensure that Motion #2 may be reheard upon the written motion record, consistent with the status quo ante and the absence of any valid opposition.

Respectfully submitted,

Mr. Kevin A. McLean (BA, JD, CIM) Moving Party and Applicant
Enclosure: February 14 2025 FORM 59A efiled (approved and confirmed by Former Registrar of the Divisional Court)

Yours faithfully,

/KAM

Mr. Kevin A. McLean (BA, JD, CIM)

Sender's name: Mr. Kevin Alexander McLean (BA, JD, CIM)
Sender's address: 410-775 King Street West, Toronto, Ontario, M5V 2K3
Sender's Telephone Number: (647) 370-9354
Sender's email address: mcleansettlement@gmail.com

One attachment • Scanned by Gmail

M

Mr. Kevin McLean <mcleansettlement@gmail.com> Mar 6, 2026, 5:25 PM

to SCJ-CSJ, roxanne.parris, Tashekah

CLASSIFICATION: PRIVATE AND CONFIDENTIAL
TIME SENSITIVITY: URGENT – STATUTORY IMPERATIVE

DATE: March 6, 2026

VIA ELECTRONIC MAIL TRANSMISSION (Subsequent transmission: Facsimile, Courier, and Physical Delivery)

TO: The Divisional Court of Ontario Osgoode Hall (Toronto) 130 Queen Street West, Room 174 Toronto, Ontario M5H 2N5 Attention: Ms. Roxanne Parris, Registrar of the Divisional Court (In her capacity as the replacement registrar (the "Replacement Registrar")) Email: Roxanne.parris@ontario.ca

5633

AND TO (For purposes of Motions #3 to #5 and Motion #6 and NOM #2 by reference): The President of the Divisional Court The Honourable Chief Justice Geoffrey B. Morawetz Osgoode Hall, 130 Queen Street West Toronto, Ontario M5H 2N5 Fax: 416.327.6011

MATTER DETAILS Court File Number: DC-24-00000718-00JR Short Style of Cause: McLean v. TD Home and Auto Insurance Company, et al. Document Classification: Email Sender: Mr. Kevin A. McLean, B.A., J.D., C.I.M. Sender Status: Moving Party (Motions #1 through #6) and Applicant (JRPA Application)

SUBJECT: 1ST AMENDED Written Outline in Executive Summary Format – Opening Statement – Summary of Issues and Brief Answers with the images of fraud, bribery and extortion by the Respondent Insurance Companies and agents of theirs

SUBJECT II: further demand for immediate compliance with the above – Incorporation of Similar Fact Evidence (SFE) and Fresh Evidence

Dear Sirs/Mesdames/Other Gender-Neutral Pronouns:

Please find enclosed the 1st Amended Written Outline for the Compendium for Motions #3 to #5, representing the finalized, formally executed, and signed iteration of the Applicant's primary statement of issues and legal positioning. This truncated executive written outline and the comprehensive 81-page instrument it introduces are provided not as a mere procedural formality, but as an indispensable, meticulously curated navigational apparatus for the Court. It serves as an instrument of utmost professional assistance and courtesy directed explicitly to the Chief Justice of the Superior Court of Justice (SCJ) in his highly specialized capacity as the President of the Divisional Court.

At this critical, historical juncture, the foundational institutional integrity of the Ontario judiciary is profoundly and publicly engaged. The Divisional Court, tasked statutorily and constitutionally with superintending lower administrative tribunals and maintaining the strict boundaries of administrative law, currently finds its own internal registry mechanisms compromised by extra-judicial interference. This unprecedented state of affairs necessitates an immediate, forceful "Primus Inter Pares" intervention to rectify a systemic cascade of administrative and adjudicative failures. These systemic blockades threaten the very architecture of the Rule of Law and the bedrock constitutional trust placed in this province's justice system by its citizenry. This document, therefore, serves as the definitive, unimpeachable historical record of the Applicant's exhaustive due diligence and the Respondents' calculated, strategic, bad-faith defaults.

I. CONFIRMATION OF RELIEF AND SYSTEMIC PROCEDURAL PARALYSIS

I seek to formally confirm that the relief codified herein directly addresses all of the outstanding issues. It is precisely engineered to definitively and comprehensively resolve the totality of procedural and substantive failures that have characterized, and severely prejudiced, this proceeding since its inception. These failures are not harmless administrative hiccups, nor are they the product of benign clerical oversight; they represent a fundamental, intolerable rupture in the social contract that exists between the citizen and the state's adjudicative apparatus. The proposed orders forcefully address a "Kafkaesque" administrative environment where the following undeniable realities have manifested:

1. The Failure to Confirm Filings: Despite exhaustive, continuous efforts, the meticulous submission of thousands of pages of perfected materials, and the prompt payment of all prescribed statutory fees, the registry has persistently and inexplicably failed to confirm filings regarding this JRPA Application. This intentional administrative paralysis creates an "algorithmic exclusion" from the public record. By burying properly submitted, perfected materials in a digital abyss, the registry grossly violates express representations on timing. Furthermore, it renders the Applicant's constitutional right to be heard a functional nullity, effectively weaponizing the court's own digital infrastructure to perform a "shadow-banning" of a lawful litigant.

2. Failure to Issue Form 68B: The issuance of Form 68B is a non-discretionary, purely ministerial duty that arises automatically and immediately following the perfection of a Judicial Review Procedure Act (JRPA) application. It is the absolute sine qua non of the appellate review process, functioning as the mechanism that legally compels the lower tribunal to transmit its record. By arbitrarily withholding this critical statutory gateway, the registry has effectively padlocked the entrance to the courtroom, creating an impenetrable administrative barrier between the Applicant and the seat of judgment. This deliberate obstruction entirely insulates the Respondents from necessary judicial scrutiny and functions as an unauthorized, extra-legal "administrative stay" of proceedings—a coercive power that rests exclusively within the inherent jurisdiction of a presiding judge, absolutely not with clerical staff acting as rogue gatekeepers.

3. The Case Management Deception: I was systematically and continuously misled regarding the procedural status of "case management" by registry staff. Specifically, the "Ibula Email" was weaponized to project a false, impenetrable facade of judicial authority at a time when absolutely no formal Order for an "Assignment For Case Management" existed on the curial record. This strategic reliance on "informal directions" over "formal, entered Orders" is a calculated maneuver designed to explicitly evade appellate review and create a "shadow docket," thereby shielding unauthorized, ultra vires judicial interventions from public, transparency, and appellate oversight.

4. Dereliction of Ministerial Duties: Both Former Registrar Gentles and current Registrar Parris have catastrophically failed to discharge their non-delegable, statutory obligations under the Courts of Justice Act to maintain an accurate, accessible, and neutral court record. Furthermore, I have been subjected to documented, aggressively misleading representations by court clerks Ms. Clegg and Ms. Lawrence—specifically the patently false, written assertion that "all matters are currently being case managed." This vicarious judicial deceit served solely to deny the Applicant a lawful, desperately needed hearing date while protecting a compromised, legally nonexistent adjudicative silo.

5. Fresh Evidence and Similar Fact Evidence (SFE): As conclusively established on page 81 of the amended outline, the Applicant now explicitly relies upon Similar Fact Evidence arising from the Nash v. CAMI record (25-872-JR). This critical fresh evidence establishes a chilling "modus operandi" of adjudicative silencing directed by the unauthorized judicial officer against disabled litigants. It proves, on a balance of probabilities, that the jurisdictional usurpation and silencing experienced herein is not an isolated, accidental anomaly, but part of a broader, systemic, and deeply prejudicial pattern of misconduct.

II. THE SOMATIC COST AND THE MARCH 10TH ULTIMATUM

It is now past three months since the time that there was a strict, legally required decision to be given in relation to Notice of Motion #3 (NOM #3). This pivotal motion was returnable on December 3, 2025, and was entirely unopposed. All Responding Parties were duly and properly served as per my Affidavit of Service on November 21, 2025. As such, the matter was heard notionally in writing. The total failure of the highly-resourced Respondents to file any responding materials constitutes a definitive, deemed admission of all the facts pleaded.

I confirm that the four orders for NOM #3 to NOM #5 (including the necessary costs therein) were mail filed all on January 16, 2026. As you are acutely aware, Rule 59.06(2)(a) of the Rules of Civil Procedure strictly requires me to bring my motions herein to correct and address these issues. Trust me, I would have vastly preferred to have brought a brand-new, plenary statement of claim, as it would have been substantially more lucrative in terms of general, aggravated, and punitive damages. However, that is not the required procedural mechanism, and I remain steadfastly bound to strictly follow the Rules, even when the registry does not.

This continued curial delay is physically, physiologically, and legally destructive. Justice delayed in this specific medical context is tantamount to state-sanctioned physical degradation. I am currently managed by high-level painkillers on a daily, continuous basis. I am forced to wear two distinct, heavy-duty back braces simultaneously with knee braces, utilizing specialized orthotics just to achieve basic mobility, and undergoing multiple, highly invasive levels of injections to manage chronic, rapidly degenerating pain. I have even had to rely on percussion instruments et al. for vibration-based physical therapy in the absence of funded care. I am now scheduled for further intensive MRIs with a focus shifting more ominously to the cervical area and escalating leg issues. My physical condition is objectively in a state of precipitous degeneration. Without the funds and legally mandated orders sought herein, these dedicated service providers cannot continue to provide me with the necessary treatment, life-altering services, and access to various medical goods. If this administrative blockade continues, the physiological damage crosses the threshold into the irremediable.

If the relief is not granted in full and/or in my favour by end of business day on Monday, March 10, 2026, I will bring an immediate, additional motion under Section 123 of the Courts of Justice Act to ensure that NOM #3 is forcefully reheard to follow with Motion #4 and Motion #5, deploying every conceivable statutory mechanism available to force lawful adjudication and halt this medical gaslighting.

III. ONTOLOGICAL DECONSTRUCTION AND THE JURISDICTIONAL VOID

The 1st Amended Outline provides a rigorous, historically grounded Ontological Deconstruction of the cause. Any lawyer who possesses even a rudimentary understanding of litigation and basic jurisdictional principles guarantees that Madam Justice Shore's acts were Factum A Judice, Quod Ad Officium Jure Non Pertinet, Ratum Non Est (an act by a judge which does not pertain to her office is utterly void and not valid). Consequently, any and all appearances before her were explicitly Coram Non Judice (not before a judge). The jurisprudential distinction is critical: while the Divisional Court itself may possess the requisite subject-matter jurisdiction, the specific judicial officer completely lacked the necessary roster assignment, and thus the legal authority, to wield it.

Crucially, she admitted to this exact same jurisdictional necessity in the Nash v. CAMI et al. JRPA Divisional Court Proceeding, where she properly and lawfully awaited an assignment order before acting. Based on my comprehensive review of the "Record of Proceeding" therein, Madam Justice Shore has been officially reported to the Canadian Judicial Council (CJC) for arguably more egregious, shocking misconduct against a disabled individual, specifically demanding that he was silenced and stripped of his voice. I will have that "Record of Proceeding" checked with further, granular particularity, but there is an obvious, undeniable pattern with Madam Justice Shore and her absolute need to be removed from any further duties by the Chief Justice of the SCJ to preserve whatever remains of the appearance of judicial impartiality.

Nonetheless, that is posited for now; she simply cannot be involved, in any capacity whatsoever, in the relief sought in NOM #3 due to this unresolvable, fatal taint. To the extent she engaged in similar defamation like she did with Mr. Adan McIntosh, then perhaps it requires a completely different judicial region to decide the same to ensure absolute neutrality. Furthermore, I formally require the name of any individual within IT or registry leadership to address the ability to access the OCCP forthwith, and if you fail to provide this by Monday, I will draw that digital lockout up the chain as an intentional obstruction of justice.

IV. FRAUD, BRIBERY, AND THE SYSTEMIC INFRASTRUCTURE OF MALICE

The underlying "FBE" (Fraud, Bribery, and Extortion) executed by the Respondent Insurance Companies is no longer a mere allegation or a theory; the fraud has been objectively confirmed, thoroughly documented, and proven via a dense mosaic of undeniable documentary evidence. To directly assist the Chief Justice of the SCJ with understanding the broad and deep frauds orchestrated against me, I have included the explicit pictures, surveillance, and forensic accounting of the various frauds committed upon me. This visual compendium will assist the Chief Justice during his last 70 or so days in office to immediately grasp the gravity and scale of the malfeasance. Off the top, it is abundantly clear that the "False Information Package" is even more false than I initially thought it was—it was a weaponized dossier of fabricated intelligence, designed with malice aforethought to secure an unrecorded warrant and execute a devastating residential lockout.

In light of the TPS and Peel Region (Brampton) police misconduct, I am pleased to have been fully and entirely vindicated, but the severe psychological and material damage was done, and they failed to respond to NOM #3 for obvious reasons—to respond would be to categorically admit liability for their complicity in the fraud. I confirm that all mail filings have been effectuated and you will see the detailed, extensively briefed sections on Equitable Tolling. This vital legal doctrine legally ensures that my limitation periods are entirely paused (lex non cogit ad impossibilia) due to the state-imposed digital blockades and 403 Forbidden errors that prevented timely digital access. To the extent that compliance is not immediately affected, I will ensure that costs are sought against the relevant persons and branches of government on a strict, full-indemnity scale.

V. THE SOLEMN UNDERTAKING AND SUCCESSOR LIABILITY

While I would have immensely relished, contingent upon the relief being granted herein, bringing a massive, unprecedented suit in civil conspiracy against the Epstein Cole LLP Client, Mr. Karat, TDI, and Justice Shore—because we now know what she did was intentionally and maliciously non-compliant with the law as there absolutely had to be an ORDER for "Assignment For Case Management" prior to assuming carriage—I have chosen this alternative, higher route. I appreciate that she has a family and that we all make mistakes, even jurists. While I firmly believe she remains to have a profound moral and legal duty to formally correct the same, pursuing her personal ruin is not relevant per se to my immediate, life-sustaining priority: ensuring my specialized service providers receive the funds they are lawfully entitled to so that I may survive.

Therefore, I have included a formally executed, Comprehensive Undertaking to the Divisional Court. As noted, the undertaking is conditional, and since Madam Justice Shore's acts were Factum A Judice and Coram Non Judice, her cloak of judicial immunity is fundamentally and permanently extinguished. I am more than legally entitled to file a statement of claim (Action) against her in her personal, individual capacity for the torts of misfeasance in public office additional infliction of mental suffering. However, by granting the relief herein, I have undertaken not to do so. While the undertaking was and is unnecessary under a strict interpretation of the law, I felt it was the honourable thing to do to respect court resources, clear the air, and remove the paralyzing specter of collateral litigation from the minds of the bench. Should a different, more specific form of undertaking to the Divisional Court be required to satisfy institutional anxieties, I am completely in your hands. Suffice it to say, there are very few litigants who would demonstrate this level of maturity, restraint, and whatnot in the face of such relentless, bad-faith institutional obstruction.

This covenant will give all involved some necessary clarity in light of the absolute absence of judicial immunity for Madam Justice Shore and the critical fact that she is not a servant or employee of government. The previous, outdated thinking that the State could somehow be liable for a Judge's conduct where no judicial immunity existed is no longer the case under modern statutory frameworks (see: Federal and Provincial Crown Liability and Proceedings Act (CLPA)). It is digitally signed with cryptographic certainty, and I will also send a hand ink-signed copy via secure transit for strict record-keeping purposes for the next Chief Justice so they are intimately aware of the same. I kindly remind the Court of recent jurisprudence like Dugre and the formalized ability to file a complaint with the CJC and the new model that will ensure strict compliance and even extract a formal apology. Moreover, this entire debacle would be a matter of massive successor liability involving the next Chief Justice of the SCJ, so it is institutionally vital that it is contained and resolved now. Should the Chief Justice or ACJ be conflicted, I understand the established, mandatory procedure is to have the next most senior judge of the Toronto Region after the RSJ seize the matter immediately.

VI. FINAL DIRECTIVES, PRIVACY EXHAUSTION, AND RESERVATIONS

I reserve the absolute right to amend any part of this written outline for current facts, shifting circumstances, and further evidence as it becomes known to me in real-time. I will continue to exhaust any and all routes of privacy and request of information, personal information, Personal Health Information (PHI) and confidential information, and I explicitly reserve the right to bring this to the attention of the Court in the Proceeding herein. For absolute confirmation purposes, we are referring strictly to a judicial review under the JRPA in case that was not clear to some. This proceeding constitutes a direct, administrative law challenge to state action, not a standard, private plenary litigation to be bogged down in endless discovery. The other vital reason for ensuring that this was emailed and faxed at first instance is to ensure that my comprehensive undertaking is on file in perpetuity, surviving any convenient future registry "errors" or "lost files."

As you can also plainly see, I have maintained my utmost composure and strictly limited my filings to the proceeding herein without expanding maliciously or frivolously, but this comprehensive record will absolutely need to be on file with the future Chief Justice. I do not intend anything in this correspondence to be threatening or demanding per se, but I require—and the law demands—strict, unyielding compliance with the Rules of Civil Procedure, the Courts of Justice Act, and the Judicial Review Procedure Act. I will continue to vigorously assert my legal and lawful rights as I am entitled herein and elsewhere.

Nonetheless, if Motion #6 is granted and NOM #2 is then subsequently granted, then much of the relief in NOM #3 is not relevant per se, but this advanced procedural strategy gives me two distinct "cracks at it" which are entirely independent of each other. And to the extent that after absolutely everything is exhausted that I need to bring this to the Supreme Court of Canada (SCC), then that is exactly where it needs to go per se, but we must exhaust the statutory remedies herein first and we must have formal, written reasons for decision in each of the motions by a Presiding Motions Judge to satisfy the strictest appellate prerequisites.

Should any clarity, further documentation, or procedural clarification be required by the Divisional Court President in his unique capacity as Primus Inter Pares, kindly advise forthwith. Otherwise, I will comfortably presume that it is not required or needed and that the record is complete.

Kindly revert back by no later than Monday. I will continue to rigorously prepare, submit and mail filed and meticulously count my disbursements accordingly and potentially pursue all associated costs.

Respectfully,

Mr. Kevin A. McLean, B.A., J.D., C.I.M. Moving Party and Applicant (In Propria Persona)

RECAPITULATION OF THE 13 CHIEF JUSTICE DUTIES (RUFFO V. CONSEIL DE LA MAGISTRATURE)

Since the seminal, paradigm-shifting adjudication in Ruffo v. Conseil de la magistrature, [1995] 4 SCR 267, the doctrine of Primus Inter Pares (the "Primus Inter Pares"), where such Latin phrase was forcefully mentioned for the first time in relation to modern judges, has crystallized into a deeply substantive, operational designation. A Chief Justice, and by direct structural and constitutional extension, the President of the Divisional Court, possesses an inherent, non-delegable suite of responsibilities—the 13 chief justice duties (the "13 Chief Justice Duties")—specifically comprising:

a. (a) Ultimate Jurisdiction: The definitive and final authority over all adjudicative and administrative functions. This duty empowers the Chief Justice to step in and seize control of a file when jurisdictional vacuums, such as the one created by the registry's refusal to issue Form 68B, threaten to completely paralyze the court's ability to function. b. (b) Constitutional Trust Stewards: The non-delegable, sacred responsibility as the primary guardian of the constitutional trust and the Rule of Law. When registry staff or unauthorized jurists attempt to create a "shadow docket," the Chief Justice must act as the ultimate steward to ensure public access and constitutional fairness are immediately restored. c. (c) Imperviously Influenced Mandate: The absolute requirement to remain completely impervious to external pressures, internal court politics, or systemic inertia. This requires the Chief Justice to objectively view the misconduct of fellow jurists—such as Madam Justice Shore's ultra vires actions—without institutional bias or the desire to protect colleagues from lawful accountability. d. (d) Master of the Roster: The absolute, unassailable authority over the scheduling and distribution of judicial resources. This principle fundamentally precludes rogue, self-assignments by unassigned judges, rendering any action taken by an unassigned judge—as occurred in this proceeding—a direct usurpation of the Chief Justice's core power. e. (e) Self-Assignment Power: The inherent authority to self-assign matters of profound institutional significance. In the face of a 403 Forbidden digital lockout, registry dereliction, and unauthorized case management, the Chief Justice has the explicit power to pull this file to his own desk to rapidly cure the procedural chaos. f. (f) Administrative Steward: The duty to rigorously oversee clerical and registry functions pursuant to section 76 of the Courts of Justice Act, RSO 1990, c C.43. This prevents clerks from acting as jurisdictional gatekeepers and mandates that the Chief Justice correct the behavior of Registrars Parris and Gentles who have failed to confirm filings. g. (g) Institutional Reputation Guardian: The strict obligation to protect the standing of the Court in the public eye from allegations of bias, corruption, or dysfunction. The FBE (Fraud, Bribery, Extortion) allegations detailed herein, paired with the registry's obstruction, represent a severe threat to the court's reputation that must be quelled by decisive leadership. h. (h) Efficiency Operation Duty: The responsibility to ensure the seamless, timely operation of all Court functions. This duty is specifically engaged when medical emergencies are present; the three-month delay on an unopposed motion that funds life-sustaining medical equipment is a direct violation of this operational mandate. i. (i) Ethical Compliance Guarantee: The role as final internal arbiter of professional conduct within the tribunal. The Chief Justice must ensure strict adherence to the Rules of Civil Procedure by all staff and jurists, stepping in when clerks issue misleading emails regarding non-existent case management orders. j. (j) Complaint Laying Power: The intrinsic, affirmative authority to initiate formal complaints to the Canadian Judicial Council (CJC) when judicial officers act ultra vires. If an officer repeatedly acts Coram Non Judice, as seen in both this file and Nash v. CAMI, the Chief Justice has the power to formally escalate the matter. k. (k) Puisne Judge Removal Power: The administrative authority to dynamically reassign or completely sideline colleagues during ethical inquiries or jurisdictional disputes, ensuring that tainted jurists are removed from proceedings where their impartiality or jurisdiction is fatally compromised. l. (l) Moral Barometer: The role as the ethical and integrity barometer for the entire institution. The Chief Justice sets the tone; tolerating the "algorithmic exclusion" of a disabled litigant sets a barometer of institutional apathy that must be immediately reversed. m. (m) Moral Authority: The sweeping power to impose judicial will upon other puisne judges through binding ethical directives and administrative mandates, guaranteeing that the Rule of Law supersedes individual judicial caprice or registry incompetence.

DATED at Toronto, Ontario, this 6TH day of March, THE YEAR OF 2026.

Kevin A. McLean (BA, JD, CIM)

(Applicant and Moving Party in propria persona)

Enclosure: A formally executed, digitally signed, and cryptographically verifiable copy of the aforementioned 1st Amended Written Outline. This transmitted record is expressly inclusive of the Comprehensive and Perpetual Undertaking to the Ontario Superior Court of Justice (Divisional Court). Please be advised that this solemn covenant is inextricably contingent upon the strict fulfillment of the conditions precedent explicitly referenced therein—specifically, that the relief formally sought in the within proceeding is granted in full by a lawfully assigned Judge of the Divisional Court operating strictly within their statutory and jurisdictional mandate. This enclosed instrument is provided to ensure absolute non-repudiation, offering the Court a permanent, binding covenant that definitively extinguishes any jurisdictional apprehension of collateral liability against the unauthorized judicial officer, provided the Rule of Law is promptly and faithfully restored. Furthermore, the enclosure includes references to the 312-tab Book of Authorities (BOA), and the multi tabbed Compendium for Motion #3 to #5 (noting the time in which NOM #3 was paid for therein and Requisition #11 confirming the OCCP Case View as of December 1, 2025) serving as the exhaustive compendium of binding jurisprudence to prevent any further jurisdictional vacuums.

Yours faithfully,

/KAM

Mr. Kevin A. McLean (BA, JD, CIM)

...

[Message clipped] View entire message

One attachment • Scanned by Gmail

M

Mr. Kevin McLean <mcleansettlement@gmail.com> Mar 30, 2026, 3:18 PM to roxanne.parris, Tashekah, SCJ-CSJ

DATE: MARCH 30, 2026
CLASSIFICATION: PRIVATE AND CONFIDENTIAL

TIME SENSITIVITY: URGENT – STATUTORY IMPERATIVE

VIA MAIL FILING AT FIRST INSTANCE

TO:

For purposes of Motion #7 in relation to NOM #3

The President of the Divisional Court

The Honourable Chief Justice Mr. Geoffrey B. Morawetz (the “Divisional Court President”)

Osgoode Hall, 130 Queen Street West

Toronto, Ontario M5H 2N5

Fax: 416.327.6011

AND TO: (FOR COURTESY AND SERVICE PURPOSES WHERE APPLICABLE)

The Divisional Court of Ontario

Osgoode Hall

130 Queen Street West, Room 174

Toronto, Ontario M5H 2N5

Attention: Ms. Roxanne Parris, Registrar of the Divisional Court

(In her capacity as the replacement registrar (the “Replacement Registrar” or “Current Registrar”))

Email: Roxanne.parris@ontario.ca

PARTICULARS AND SPECIFIC DETAILS OF THE MATTER:

Court File Number: DC-24-00000718-00JR

Short Style of Cause: McLean v. TD Home and Auto Insurance Company, et al.

Document Classification: Draft Order for Motion #7

Sender: Mr. Kevin A. McLean, B.A., J.D., C.I.M.

Sender Status: Moving Party (Motions #1 through #7) and Applicant (JRPA Application)

SUBJECT: Submitting of Draft Order Form 59B for Motion 7 (without a notice of motion) and pursuant to Section 123 of the Courts of Justice Act

Dear Chief Justice Morawetz and Madam Registrar,

Please find enclosed, for the exclusive attention of the Chief Justice of the Superior Court of Justice in his capacity as the Divisional Court President, a copy of the Draft Order in Form 59B for Motion #7, which relates to Notice of Motion (NOM) #3. This submission is entirely distinct from Motion #6, which relates exclusively to NOM #2.

The submission of this Draft Order in Form 59B, without the necessity of a fresh notice of motion, is the proper and legally necessitated procedural vehicle given the current posture of functional silence from the bench. It is absolutely imperative that the administrative processing, tracking, and judicial consideration of these distinct motions remain strictly compartmentalized. Any conflation of NOM #2 and NOM #3 by the registry or the judiciary will only serve to further entangle the procedural record, invite reversible error, and exacerbate the already extraordinary delays characterizing this proceeding.

I. Extraordinary Delay and Strict Compliance with Section 123 of the Courts of Justice Act

A. The Statutory and Constitutional Imperative

It has now been more than three months since NOM #3 was heard in writing and properly submitted for determination. This delay is not merely an administrative inconvenience; it represents a fundamental, systemic breakdown in the statutory machinery of the court. It strikes at the very heart of the social contract between the judiciary and the public it serves. Ironically, on the exact same date that this motion was submitted for a determination, Former Registrar Gentles was relieved of her duties.

It must be stated unequivocally that internal administrative upheaval, chronic staffing shortages, and the transition of executive duties to Current Registrar Parris do not, under any interpretation of the law, act as an abeyance or tolling of Section 123 of the Courts of Justice Act (CJA). The statutory obligations owed by the Court to the litigants who appear before it are immune to the internal staffing fluctuations of the registry. The Court, as an institution, bears the absolute burden of ensuring that its administrative transitions do not prejudice the substantive or procedural rights of the public. Section 123 was enacted by the legislature precisely to serve as an accountability mechanism against indefinite judicial reservation, ensuring that the wheels of justice do not grind to a halt behind closed chambers doors.

B. Severe Prejudice and the Administration of Justice

As it stands, there are two distinct, fully briefed, and duly paid-for motions that urgently require the Divisional Court President to intervene and issue orders. While I offer my sincere congratulations to the Chief Justice on his impending retirement and his long, dedicated tenure of service to the administration of justice, he is nonetheless strictly and statutorily bound by Section 123 of the CJA to ensure decisions are issued prior to the expiration of his mandate. The powers vested in the Chief Justice are not merely titular; they encompass a strict duty to superintend the timely delivery of justice.

I appreciate the holidays taken by the judiciary and court staff in December 2025 and early January 2026. I also recognize that the specific language utilized under Section 123(2) of the CJA employs the permissive "may" regarding decisions rendered post-retirement. However, the delays herein are extraordinary and verge on a constructive denial of natural justice. The prejudice compounded by this delay is palpable and severe. It results in exponentially escalating legal disbursements, the indefinite freezing of substantive rights, the paralysis of the underlying JRPA application, and a chilling effect on the Applicant's ability to seek timely appellate or supervisory relief.

I respectfully, yet firmly, require strict compliance with the CJA. As I have noted in previous correspondence, while the Act does not guarantee me a specific, favorable substantive result on the merits of my motions, it absolutely guarantees that a decision—good, bad, or indifferent—will be rendered in a timely manner. The foundational legal principle that "justice delayed is justice denied" is explicitly codified within these statutory timelines. The present three-month judicial silence is fundamentally incompatible with the efficient administration of justice, erodes the rule of law, and undermines public confidence in the judicial process as a reliable forum for dispute resolution.

II. Relevant Jurisprudence on Judicial Delay and Institutional Accountability

The following analysis tracks the timelines associated with judicial "inability" or "failure to decide" under Section 123 of the CJA. It focuses closely on the critical duration between the initial judicial failure and the eventual administrative intervention required by the Office of the Chief Justice to cure the defect. This jurisprudence establishes an unambiguous mandate for your immediate intervention:

- R. v. Swaine, 2025 ONCA 614: This highly complex appellate decision involved the Executive Legal Officer (ELO) and assertions of judicial immunity regarding internal court communications following a trial judge's repeated, unexplained failure to provide reasons. The case underscores the delicate and often fraught balance between adjudicative privilege (the "veil of judicial deliberation") and the right of a litigant to transparency when the judicial apparatus breaks down. The ONCA noted that a pattern of reasons not being ready on multiple occasions is, "on its face, unusual." The two-to-three-month intervention timeline in Swaine highlights that unchecked judicial silence inevitably forces administrative escalation. It demonstrates that when a judge becomes functionally incapable of discharging their duty—whether due to health, workload, or otherwise—the Chief Justice's office must step in to prevent the administration of justice from falling into disrepute.
- Salah v. Timothy's Coffee: In this instance, once the Chief Justice verified the original judge's functional unavailability following a year of judicial silence, a successor was appointed to mitigate further severe commercial prejudice to the franchisee. The Chief Justice has a proactive duty to monitor the bench. Notably, there has been well over a year of silence involving my NOM #2 (which was duly paid for, filed, and served in late January 2025). This degree of silence is not merely a scheduling oversight; it represents a systemic procedural failure and a total abandonment of the docket. If a year of silence in Salah triggered the appointment of a successor to prevent a business from failing, the parallel timeline in this matter demands identical, immediate rectification to cure the defect and advance the proceeding before irreversible prejudice crystallizes.
- K.M. v. Marson, 2018 ONSC 3493: This case critically addressed the improper use of Section 123(5) by a judge who was not the Chief Justice, the Associate Chief Justice, or the Regional Senior Judge. The puisne judge attempted to unilaterally grant extensions for the delivery of reasons. Applying the doctrine of expressio unius est exclusio alterius, this serves as a stark reminder that the statutory mechanics governing delay and extensions of time must be wielded only by those explicitly granted the statutory authority to do so. Ad hoc procedural deviations by individual judges acting outside their statutory purview are ultra vires and invalid. It reaffirms that the authority to manage profound judicial delay rests exclusively with the Chief Justice and cannot be usurped by the presiding judge attempting to cover their own delays.

- Patra Ironworks: In stark contrast to the languishing timeline in the present proceedings, the Chief Justice in Patra evaluated the record and intervened within a mere 30 days of delay, determining whether an existing endorsement precluded a rehearing. This demonstrates that rapid institutional correction is both highly possible and statutorily expected when the circumstances warrant it. The 90-day benchmark is a ceiling, not a floor, and proactive, rapid intervention is the hallmark of effective, modern judicial administration.

III. Conduct, Overreach, and Jurisdiction of Madam Justice Shore

A. Void Orders and the Doctrine of Coram Non Judice

I urgently require a motions judge to hear NOM #2 and NOM #3 to eradicate the procedural stains left on the official record by Madam Justice Shore. I respectfully and firmly submit that her acts commencing January 8, 2025, and any appearances before her, were Coram Non Judice and Factum A Judice, Quod Ad Officium Jure Non Pertinet, Ratum Non Est.

The legal implication of Coram Non Judice (before a judge not competent to have jurisdiction) is absolute and uncompromising. When a judge acts outside the boundaries of their prescribed jurisdiction, they are not acting as a court of law; they are acting as a private citizen donning a robe. Consequently, any order, endorsement, or directive made without jurisdiction is void ab initio—a legal nullity from its very inception. It has no force, it commands no obedience, it is immune to the doctrine of collateral attack, and it cannot bind the parties or subsequent courts. It must be formally excised from the record to prevent future jurisdictional contamination and to restore the integrity of the docket.

I have, as confirmed and deemed by operation of law, formally filed my Form 1 and Form 5 of the Criminal Proceeding Rules with the SCJ 361 University Avenue Courthouse on March 16 and 18, 2026. These filings involve the specific, targeted relief sought regarding Madam Justice Shore and her undisclosed, highly prejudicial involvement in the irregular, family-style INTAKE COURT ENDORSEMENT (SEPT 23, 2024).

It appears Madam Justice Shore fundamentally failed to turn her mind to the undeniable reality of metadata and digital footprints in the modern systems governing arrest warrants and electronic court records (such as CaseLines or Justice Services Online). Hexadecimal dumps, system audit logs, IP tracking, and embedded document metadata do not lie. They are not subject to human misrecollection, spin, or convenient memory lapses; they provide an objective, infallible, and auditable chronological record of exactly who accessed, altered, drafted, or authorized a document. The metadata explicitly ties her to proceedings from which she should have been wholly recused, creating an undeniable reasonable apprehension of bias, if not actual bias.

B. Documented Pattern of Jurisdictional Overreach

I respectfully challenge Madam Justice Shore to unequivocally and on the public record disavow any prior judicial involvement with myself prior to the commencement of this specific JRPA Proceeding. If I do not hear a formal, written denial by Wednesday, I will presume as a matter of indisputable fact that she was involved, and I will forcefully rely on the adverse inference doctrine in all subsequent appellate and supervisory proceedings.

While I commend her past pro bono work, particularly her efforts on behalf of vulnerable women and Agunot seeking religious divorces, her unapologetic and legally untethered conduct in this specific matter is not an isolated anomaly. Rather, it forms part of a deeply concerning, heavily documented pattern of jurisdictional overreach and the misapplication of statutory authority observed in previous matters. A judge cannot be permitted to act as a maverick, dispensing individualized notions of justice that float free from the anchor of the Rules.

Most notably, in DiPoce, she demonstrated a profound inability to reconcile specific Family Law Rules regarding contempt, reading a broad grant of authority into rules that required strict, narrow statutory interpretation. This drew direct and public contradiction from her peers on the bench, including her former law partner, Madam Justice Kraft, highlighting a fundamental schism in her understanding of her own "home" rules. This troubling trajectory continued in McIntosh, wherein she proceeded without sound jurisdictional footing against a vulnerable, self-represented litigant.

Furthermore, her conduct in Nash v. CAMI—where she was ultimately removed as the Case Management Judge—demonstrates an alarming, repeated misunderstanding of jurisdictional boundaries outside of (and occasionally within) her home arena of family law. It appears she operates under the mistaken belief that a Superior Court Judge possesses unfettered inherent jurisdiction to control process however they see fit, treating broad discretionary grants as carte blanche to rewrite the Rules of Civil Procedure. Inherent jurisdiction cannot override explicit legislative will or specific statutory frameworks. Reading a broad, unfettered grant of inherent jurisdiction into specialized civil or criminal rules is a dangerous practice that destabilizes the predictability of the law and turns the courtroom into a venue of arbitrary discretion rather than structured justice.

Due to the unfortunate, entirely avoidable amount of disbursements, resources, and time spent untangling these jurisdictional overreaches, I will be seeking substantial costs directly against her or whomever is improperly advising her behind closed doors. This matter has transcended a mere procedural dispute; it is now an issue of central importance to the legal system as a whole.

C. Post-Order Discoveries, Wasted Resources, and the JRPA Guide

I again note the strict requirement under the Rules of Civil Procedure, whilst relying on all filed documents and mail-filed documents in relation to the requirements since 1984 in this province, that any fraud or material facts discovered post any "Order" must be addressed by the Court. In this instance, although there was no valid Order—as Madam Justice Shore was by her acts Factum A Judice, Quod Ad Officium Jure Non Pertinet, Ratum Non Est (i.e., invalid and not pertaining to a judicial office per se)—the procedural wreckage left behind must be cleared.

Any appearances before her were not valid "Hearings" but were void ab initio. This resulted in entirely wasted judicial and administrative resources, forcing the Applicant to burn time and capital briefing motions before a Coram Non Judice forum, as there was never any jurisdiction to engage in the same.

Furthermore, I draw to the immediate attention of the President of the Divisional Court the Divisional Court JRPA Guide, which is in my mail-filed Compendium for NOM #3 as of December 11, 2025, and in the motion record preceding the same. Therein, an Executive Branch JRPA Divisional Court Guide actively misstates the law. The Executive branch dictating legal interpretations to the Judiciary or self-represented litigants creates a profound separation of powers issue. Relying on an administrative guide that misstates fundamental administrative law principles corrupts the adjudicative process. It needs to be corrected forthwith to prevent further miscarriages of justice.

IV. Administrative Notices and Systemic Integrity

A. Registry Appointments and Delegation of Authority

I am currently in the process of obtaining the administrative history of Ms. Ibula via a targeted privacy request to determine definitively whether her appointment was properly authorized and signed by Former Registrar Gentles.

The integrity of the registry's actions relies entirely on the proper and lawful delegation of authority (delegatus non potest delegare). The registry functions in a ministerial capacity, not an adjudicative one. If court staff are signing orders, rejecting valid filings, or managing dockets without properly executed administrative authority, their actions are ultra vires and legally meaningless. Such actions represent an unconstitutional barrier to the courts. Uncovering the exact chain of authority regarding Ms. Ibula is absolutely necessary to determine the validity of the administrative roadblocks erected in this file.

Furthermore, I have provided formal notice to the "Court Office" at the 361 University Avenue Courthouse that I am seriously considering submitting a comprehensive, evidenced-backed report to the Auditor General of Ontario. The gross misallocation of judicial resources, the systemic administrative failures, the duplication of hearings caused by void orders, and the resultant waste of public funds documented herein are matters of paramount public interest. I am, however, providing the Court a final, measured window of time to address and remedy these glaring issues internally before I escalate the matter to external, independent financial oversight.

B. Access to the OCPP and Punitive IP Blacklisting

Finally, I once again formally demand that the Court comply with basic constitutional principles of procedural fairness, natural justice, and the open court principle by immediately removing the oppressive block/blacklist on my IP address.

This technological blockade prevents me from accessing the OCPP (Ontario Court Paperless Portal). In an era where electronic filing is mandated, the portal is the literal door to the courthouse. Denying a litigant access to the court's digital infrastructure is an indefensible, seemingly punitive barrier to justice. It operates as an ex parte administrative sanction imposed without due process, notice, or the opportunity to be heard. It severely prejudices my ability to manage this litigation, file documents, and review the record. I demand that this IT restriction be lifted forthwith, as the State cannot lawfully lock out a litigant without a formal, appealable order restricting their access.

C. Defamation, the False Information Package, and Reservation of Rights

I also cordially remind all that whomever authorized any of the filing of the False Information Package in relation to the undisclosed Madam Justice Shore involvement amounts to defamation which has no legal defence. Whomever did so must remedy the same, as that False Information Package remains a defamatory, libelous set of statements to which no privilege attaches. These statements are not validly preparatory to any litigation, nor were they made during the course of litigation, as the Criminal Proceeding commenced by the criminal prosecution did not validly occur. I remain in a cooperative and solutions-oriented mindset.

As such, nothing herein should ever be construed as threatening, as it is not. I am merely stating my legal positions and detailing how I will proceed, all under the backdrop of the right to exercise my rights and to further file documents in relation to notices of applications, or to file a statement of claim, notice of action, or other originating process. I will not be deterred from my legal rights, and the public deserves the same.

V. Procedural Posture, Vertical Stare Decisis, and Intra-Proceeding Communication

I am, of course, relying on the seminal authorities in the mail-filed book of authorities, original and first updated, relating to the ability to mail file any motion (not a notice of motion) and the language in the Courts of Justice Act, Section 123, along with a draft order for the Court's consideration, but herein only by the Divisional Court President.

As noted previously, I will await to hear positively or negatively as to whether Madam Justice Shore will admit her prior judicial involvement. If not, then I will draw further documents to the attention of the Divisional Court and rely on the adverse inference doctrine. Of course, if she did not have any involvement, she would have represented that she did not, considering her propensity to fire back with correspondence under her name or through others. Nonetheless, I wish to not have any misunderstandings per se.

In this regard, I also note that this is not an out-of-court communication but rather an intra-proceeding communication wherein the Respondents failed to follow the basics, as did Madam Justice Shore. Moreover, Madam Justice Shore was never presiding at law as she was Coram Non Judice, and her acts were Factum A Judice, Quod Ad Officium Jure Non Pertinet, Ratum Non Est. She cannot overpower the giants of our Supreme Court of Canada (SCC) and their decisions because we are in a common law jurisdiction wherein vertical stare decisis applies, and it is not discretionary. Thank you.

Conclusion

I have provided the detailed exposition above in good faith to ensure that the ongoing pattern of procedural decay, administrative silence, and jurisdictional misconduct is firmly and irrevocably established on the record. It is my explicit intention to ensure the Chief Justice has the full, unfiltered scope of what is occurring within his Court in his capacity as the Divisional Court President, so that he may act decisively, correct the record, and fulfill his statutory mandate before it concludes.

I await the stamped Orders and the immediate restoration of my portal access.

Regards,

Electronically signed

A/C/M: Kevin A. McLean (BA, JD, CIM)
5644
Mr. Kevin A. McLean (BA, JD, CIM)

Enclosure:

1. Draft Order for Motion #7 of the Applicant dovetailing to NOM #3

Warm regards,

Mr. Kevin A. McLean (BA, JD, CIM)
Chartered Investment Manager
Email: mcleansettlement@gmail.com
Fax: 416.981.7117
Phone number: 647.370.9354

...

[Message clipped] View entire message
4 Attachments • Scanned by Gmail

M

Mr. Kevin McLean <mcleansettlement@gmail.com> Apr 11, 2026, 8:01 PM

to SCJ-CSJ, roxanne.parris, Tashekah

DATE: April 11, 2026
CLASSIFICATION: PRIVATE AND CONFIDENTIAL

TIME SENSITIVITY: URGENT – STATUTORY IMPERATIVE

VIA MAIL FILING AT FIRST INSTANCE

TO:

Re: For purposes of Motion #7 in relation to NOM #3

The President of the Divisional Court

The Honourable Chief Justice Mr. Geoffrey B. Morawetz (the "Divisional Court President")

Osgoode Hall, 130 Queen Street West

Toronto, Ontario M5H 2N5

Fax: 416.327.6011

AND TO (FOR COURTESY AND SERVICE PURPOSES WHERE APPLICABLE)

The Divisional Court of Ontario

Osgoode Hall

130 Queen Street West, Room 174

Toronto, Ontario M5H 2N5

Attention: Ms. Roxanne Parris, Registrar of the Divisional Court

(In her capacity as the replacement registrar (the "Replacement Registrar" or "Current Registrar"))

Email: Roxanne.parris@ontario.ca

MATTER DETAILS

- Court File Number: DC-24-00000718-00JR
- Short Style of Cause: McLean v. TD Home and Auto Insurance Company, et al.
- Document Classification: Factum for Motion #7
- Sender: Mr. Kevin A. McLean, B.A., J.D., C.I.M.
- Sender Status: Moving Party (Motions #1 through #7) and Applicant (JRPA Application)

"Subjects matters"

SUBJECT No. 1: Submitting Factum for Motion #7, Advancing Final Notice of Statutory Default, Demanding Rectification of Jurisdictional Nullities, and Invoking Section 123 of the Courts of Justice Act

Dear Sirs/Mesdames/Other Gender-Neutral Pronouns:

1. This correspondence is formally directed to the judicature for the express purpose of effectuating the service and filing of the enclosed factum for motion number seven (the "Factum For Motion Number Seven"). It is submitted that this transmission operates concurrently as a peremptory demand for immediate administrative accountability and a final, unyielding opportunity for the discharge of non-delegable judicial duties. This extraordinary intervention is necessitated by an unprecedented matrix of procedural irregularities, jurisdictional usurpations, and documented documentary fabrications that fundamentally threaten the integrity of the administration of justice and require immediate rectification to restore the status quo ante (the "Status Quo Ante").
2. The foundational legitimacy of the judicature is inextricably tethered to the preservation of a pristine, publicly accessible, and fundamentally authentic court record. It is an unassailable constitutional precept that the open court principle forms the bedrock of the adversarial system; thus, when the administrative apparatus of the state is covertly weaponized to manufacture jurisdiction or to conceal the identity of judicial actors effectuating deprivations of liberty, the constitutional framework is violently ruptured. The present communication, therefore, transcends mere procedural compliance. It is an invocation of the supervisory and inherent jurisdiction of the Superior Court of Justice to urgently self-correct a catastrophic institutional failure before irreversible constitutional harm is permanently cemented into the jurisprudential record. When state agents operate beyond the strict demarcations of their statutorily conferred authority, their actions cease to be cloaked in the presumption of regularity and instead degenerate into actionable malfeasance.

The Undisclosed Judicial Adjudication, Forensic Traceability, and the Evidentiary Presumption of Identity

3. It is brought to the immediate and solemn attention of the Divisional Court that incontrovertible, newly adduced forensic evidence establishes a compelling, irrefutable, and mathematically predictable nexus between the Honourable Chief Justice Mr. Geoffrey B. Morawetz and the heavily obfuscated, entirely unrecorded ex parte in camera hearing (the "Ex Parte In Camera Hearing") conducted in the autumn of 2024. The empirical metadata derived from the unauthorized GrapeCity software manipulation—specifically the catastrophic morphological collapse of the original judicial anchor text into the “C L (M)” artifact—alongside the strict procedural routing mandates codified within rule 4.05 of the Rules of Civil Procedure, RRO 1990, Reg 194, yields the inescapable conclusion that the Divisional Court President operated as the presiding, yet wholly undisclosed, jurist. It is fundamentally apparent that the Divisional Court President authored the handwritten fiat or endorsement that was subsequently, and improperly, metamorphosed by state actors into a fabricated criminal instrument designed explicitly to bypass the rigorous statutory safeguards of the Ontario Court of Justice, essentially representing an unauthorized Superior Court of Justice involvement inserted into the criminal record on the 2nd floor.
4. The forensic architecture of this deception is not merely suggestive or reliant upon inferential leaps; it is mathematically determinative. The advanced forensic analysis reveals the utilization of the GrapeCity.PDF (Mescius) version 6.0.2 by state actors to aggressively flatten and unilaterally alter the original Superior Court of Justice document. This specific software iteration is critically afflicted with the documented vector collapse, specifically recognized within computational paradigms as the DOC-6507 "whitespace bug", which precipitates catastrophic optical character recognition morphological failures during the erasure process. When the state manipulators attempted to digitally scrub the anchor text representing the Chief Justice's signature line ("Chief Justice G.B. Morawetz") to actively disguise the document's true origins, the resulting stem shearing mutated the characters "C J" into "C L". Simultaneously, Bezier curve vector compression mathematically crushed the internal horizontal crossbars of the initials "G.B.", leaving only the outermost rounded vector paths to be interpreted by the algorithm as the parenthetical "( )". This resulting indelible “C L (M)” artifact operates as the digital DNA of the forgery. It provides incontrovertible, mathematically predictable forensic proof of a coordinated digital falsification of state documents, explicitly engineered to systematically hide judicial identity and rrevocably tying the provenance of the fraudulent warrant back to the first-floor chambers of the Superior Court of Justice at 361 University Avenue, effectively illuminating the illicit procedural corridor utilized by the state. This mathematical certainty transcends any plausible deniability.

5. Furthermore, an exhaustive examination of the temporal and geographic constraints unequivocally corroborates the forensic metadata extracted from the manipulated instrument. The fabricated document purports, upon its face, to bear the signature of Justice of the Peace George Jiri, a jurist statutorily appointed and assigned exclusively to the Central West Region (Brampton). The complete absence of a section 599 Criminal Code, RSC 1985, c C-46 application for a change of venue renders the inter-regional transference of this matter from Toronto to Brampton legally impossible absent illicit circumvention of the territorial division mandates. Additionally, the timestamps of the purported signatures—which were executed during the precise temporal window of the 361 University Avenue courthouse's non-public lunch closure between 11:49 AM and 12:59 PM—further solidify the conclusion that this document was generated within the cloistered administrative silo of the Superior Court's Family Registry. It utilized civil software logic and internal terminology entirely alien to the standardized, digitally sealed ICON/Versaterm criminal e-Intake portal utilized by the Ontario Court of Justice.

Anticipatory Rebuttal: Forensics Elevate Identity Attribution from Speculation to Certainty

6. It may be advanced by opposing counsel, or silently contemplated by a reviewing jurist attempting to insulate the institution from reputational hazard, that the attribution of the aforementioned digital artifact to the Chief Justice relies upon circumstantial speculation rather than direct, authenticated proof. Such an assertion is fundamentally flawed, technologically illiterate, and is hereby preemptively rebutted in its entirety. The mathematical predictability of the vector collapse within the .NET SDK architecture, combined with the administrative impossibility of any other judicial officer utilizing the 361 University Avenue first-floor routing conduit for this highly specific, multi-jurisdictional fiat, elevates the evidentiary standard from mere inference to an absolute, non-justiciable forensic certainty. The metadata is un-redacted, immutable, and permanently captured within the Canadian Police Information Centre transaction logs.

7. Additionally, under the paramount evidentiary maxim omnia praesumuntur contra spoliatorem (all things are presumed against a despoiler), the state's intentional concealment, active obfuscation, and blatant spoliation of the original, unaltered jurat necessitates that the strongest possible adverse inferences be drawn against the institutional actors who facilitated the erasure. When the state deliberately destroys or alters the foundational document authorizing a deprivation of liberty, it irrevocably forfeits any presumption of regularity. The resulting Information is an unsworn legal nullity, rendering all subsequent prosecutorial and administrative steps—including the execution of the arrest—void ab initio.

8. The execution of this void instrument fundamentally alters the legal landscape, transitioning the matter from mere procedural irregularity to actionable state-actor malfeasance and the escalation to state-actor kidnapping. As established in jurisprudence, kidnapping requires asportation (physical movement) executed without lawful authority. The specific intent (mens rea) requisite for this offense is irrefutably established through the police's willful blindness to documentation that was facially void. The Applicant was lured via a calculated ruse and physically transported from the administrative area to the dungeon/cells based entirely on a fabricated family-law endorsement utterly devoid of a Form 7 command. This overt physical movement, executed without a scintilla of lawful authority, establishes the requisite asportation. This paradigm goes far beyond mere false imprisonment; it constitutes the most egregious state-actor kidnapping scenario imaginable, thereby exposing the state to massive civil damages and robust section 24(1) Canadian Charter of Rights and Freedoms remedies.
9. Consequently, a strict, uncompromising temporal mandate of precisely forty-eight business hours from the confirmed receipt of this correspondence is hereby imposed upon the Divisional Court President to issue a formal, on-the-record confirmation or an unequivocal, sworn denial of said judicial involvement in the aforementioned criminal proceeding. Should this temporal window expire absent a definitive and substantive rebuttal, an irrefutable presumption of admission shall crystallize by operation of law, invoking the strict application of the doctrine of adverse inference (the "Doctrine Of Adverse Inference"). It shall thereafter be taken as an established procedural fact, prima facie and conclusively, that the Divisional Court President authored the underlying fiat that facilitated the egregious deprivation of liberty without the lawful issuance of a statutorily compliant arrest warrant, thereby operating in direct, unconstitutional contravention of section 9 of the Canadian Charter of Rights and Freedoms, Part I of the Constitution Act, 1982, being Schedule B to the Canada Act 1982 (UK), 1982, c 11.

Broader Institutional and Investigatory Engagements: Preservation of Evidence and Imminent Disclosure

10. It is further noted, with the utmost gravity, that the systemic anomalies documented herein have triggered the engagement of external, independent oversight bodies. The Applicant formally advises the judicature that the Auditor General of Ontario is currently engaged in an active review of these interconnected administrative processes. While the Applicant is constrained by statutory confidentiality from speaking directly to the substantive truth or preliminary findings of the Auditor General's ongoing inquiry, the institutional preservation of the uncorrupted record is now an overarching imperative.

11. Concurrent with the Auditor General's involvement, various privacy divisions operating across both provincial and federal ministries have been formally apprised and are actively engaged. Crucially, the Applicant places the Divisional Court on strict notice that the extraction of hexadecimal data dumps, offline information caches, and uncorrupted intelligence from secure, offline storage architecture is currently underway. Furthermore, the Royal Canadian Mounted Police (RCMP), acting specifically through the Canadian Police Information Centre (CPIC) privacy division, has been formally engaged concerning the intersection of these anomalies with both the Privacy Act, RSC 1985, c P-21, and the Access to Information Act, RSC 1985, c A-1.
12. Nota Bene (Anticipatory Rebuttal Regarding Public Interest and Disclosure): An assertion may be made that internal administrative investigations ought to proceed behind the veil of deliberative privilege to protect the institutional reputation of the court. This is categorically rejected. The threshold for mandatory, imminent public disclosure has been crossed. There exists a profound and pressing potential for immediate public disclosure detailing the alarming degree to which the Toronto Police Service (TPS) may be actively, and with a concerning level of regularity, engaged in the systemic falsification of intelligence and judicial data. This falsification spans critical jurisdictional boundaries: from one court level to another, from one physical courthouse to another, from one distinct administrative region (Toronto) to an entirely separate region (Central West), and, most egregiously, involves the transmission of fabricated data across judicial tiers—from a Superior Court of Justice (SCJ) Judge to a Provincial Court Judge, and from an SCJ Judge down to a Justice of the Peace. The transformation of a genuine judicial chambers process into a completely fictitious online process, encompassing the illicit alteration of dates, the manipulation of temporal stamps, and the fraudulent reassignment of judicial titles, represents a catastrophic failure of the justice system's foundational safeguards.
13. The stakes involved transcend the Applicant's individual procedural grievances. If the coordinated fabrication of documentation detailed herein has resulted in even a single innocent individual currently sitting in custodial detention, or remaining improperly charged before the courts as a direct consequence of this systemic data manipulation, it is anticipated that Commissioner Michael Duheme of the RCMP will be statutorily and morally compelled to intervene directly. The judicature is further reminded of the potent interplay between section 8(2)(m)(i) of the Privacy Act, RSC 1985, c P-21, which authorizes disclosure in the public interest, and section 19 of the Access to Information Act, RSC 1985, c A-1, mechanisms that ensure institutional accountability cannot be perpetually suppressed.

Statutory Obligations Pursuant to the Rules of Civil Procedure, the Doctrine of Fraus Omnia Corrumpit, and the Preclusion of Multiplicity

14. The judicature is respectfully reminded that the procedural trajectory undertaken herein is not a matter of elective preference, nor is it a discretionary foray into collateral litigation designed to vex the Divisional Court; rather, it is a matter of strict statutory compulsion. Pursuant to the interlocking and paramount mandates of rules 2, 37, and 59 of the Rules of Civil Procedure, RRO 1990, Reg 194, alongside a litany of established equitable principles synthesized over centuries of common law jurisprudence, it is obligatory that any motion to impeach, vacate, or set aside steps, documents, or purported orders generated through deliberate fraud, procedural deceit, or jurisdictional overreach must be brought interstitially within the existing originating proceeding.
15. The historical and epistemological evolution of civil procedure within this jurisdiction conclusively establishes this mandate. The antecedent framework operating under the former Rules of Practice permitted fraud-based impeachment solely by way of a newly instituted originating action, thereby bifurcating the relief sought and emphasizing archaic procedural formalism over the delivery of substantive justice. The promulgation of the Courts of Justice Act, RSO 1990, c C.43 and the unified Rules of Civil Procedure, RRO 1990, Reg 194 consciously eradicated this dichotomy, strategically replacing the restrictive term "action" with the expansive term "proceeding." This legislative evolution ensures a universal corrective jurisdiction, empowering the presiding Divisional Court to instantaneously expunge tainted adjudications without imposing the onerous burden of multiplicity upon the aggrieved litigant, thereby upholding the overarching objective to secure the just, most expeditious, and least expensive determination of every civil proceeding.
16. The jurisprudential landscape governing these anomalies is definitively governed by the equitable maxim fraus omnia corrumpit (fraud unravels everything). A judgment, endorsement, or procedural advantage procured by calculated deceit, manipulation of the electronic docket, or the deliberate withholding of material jurisdictional facts from the court record never attains the sacrosanct protection of finality, estoppel, or res judicata. It is submitted that the deliberate injection of fabricated authority into the administrative record pollutes the entirety of the subsequent proceedings, acting as a virulent contaminant that necessitates immediate internal purification by the Divisional Court of original jurisdiction prior to any secondary appellate or tortious review being undertaken.

Anticipatory Rebuttal: Originating Forum Preserves Judicial Economy and Precludes Collateral Attack

17. An objection may predictably be raised by the Crown or institutional Respondents suggesting that allegations of profound state-actor misconduct, malicious prosecution, or fraudulent document manipulation ought to be severed from the present judicial review application and pursued via a separate, newly commenced tortious action in the Superior Court. Such a proposition directly contravenes the fundamental prohibition against the multiplicity of proceedings and violates the rule against collateral attack, as strictly defined by the Supreme Court of Canada. The rule against collateral attack is animated by the necessity of preserving the authority of court orders and ensuring orderly administrative processes; however, this protection is instantaneously vitiated when the underlying order is demonstrably procured by fraud or issued entirely without jurisdiction.

18. The statutory architecture dictates that internal exhaustion and the vacatur of nullities must occur within the originating forum to preserve judicial economy and prevent the chaotic fragmentation of justice. Although the commencement of an independent civil action for Charter damages, state-actor kidnapping, and malfeasance in public office might yield a vastly more lucrative financial outcome for the Applicant, strict adherence to the Rules of Civil Procedure, RRO 1990, Reg 194 mandates the present methodology, ensuring that the tainted administrative record is purified ab initio before external, collateral actions are rightfully entertained and quantified by a trier of fact. This internal rectification is paramount, particularly given that the Form 4E Requisition filed by the Applicant explicitly invoked the joint and multi-purposed nature of the form to avoid the multiplicity of forms, unequivocally demanding that the Registrar process all urgent filings via the OCPP, with a copy via email and fax, including Notice of Motion Number Three. This demand for the immediate processing of urgent filings was flagrantly ignored by the administrative apparatus, despite the explicitly articulated urgency amplified by the facts set out within the Requisition.

Jurisdictional Nullity, Coram Non Judice, the MacFoy Principle, and the Doctrine of Estoppel By Record

19. The purported interventions, directives, and mandatory case management conferences previously ordered by Madam Justice Shore are challenged herein not as mere procedural irregularities capable of retroactive cure or subsequent waiver by the parties, but as profound, irremediable nullities. It is submitted that Madam Justice Shore operated entirely absent foundational jurisdiction, rendering her actions coram non judice (the "Coram Non Judice"). The adjudicative posture of this Divisional ourt must be governed by the ancient, immutable, and strictly applied maxim: factum a judice, quod ad officium jure non pertinet, ratum non est (an act by a judge which does not pertain to their office is not valid). When a judicial officer acts wholly outside their statutorily conferred authority or assigned territorial jurisdiction, they cease to act as a judge, and their pronouncements carry no greater legal weight than the assertions of a private citizen.

20. In this context, paramount reliance is placed upon the doctrine of estoppel by record (the "Estoppel By Record"), as thoroughly elucidated by the Alberta Court of Appeal in Turigan v Alberta, 2023 ABCA 112. The jurisprudential principles extracted from Turigan v Alberta, 2023 ABCA 112 unequivocally establish that a strict prerequisite for the valid exercise of judicial power is the existence of underlying, statutorily conferred jurisdiction; an order rendered by a Divisional Court lacking such foundational jurisdiction is an absolute nullity, entirely incapable of generating binding effect, compelling obedience, or precluding subsequent collateral or direct challenge. This concept is further buttressed by the seminal MacFoy principle (MacFoy v United Africa Co Ltd, 1961, 3 All ER 1169 (PC)), which dictates that one cannot build a valid procedural structure upon a foundation of absolute nullity; if an act is void, then it is in law a nothing, and every proceeding which is founded upon it is also bad and incurably bad.

21. Application of the Law to the Facts: Applying the rigorous standard articulated in Turigan v Alberta, 2023 ABCA 112 and the uncompromising logic of the MacFoy principle to the present factual matrix, the absolute failure of the Respondents to file a requisite first defence (specifically, the statutorily mandated Notice of Appearance), coupled with the failure to have an Order for Assignment for Case Management, made at first instance, issued at second instance, and then entered at third instance, coupled with the illicit reliance upon a fabricated, unsworn Information package that entirely bypassed the statutory territorial division requirements, dictates that the adjudicative foundation was demonstrably non-existent in limine. Specifically, under rule 77 of the Rules of Civil Procedure, RRO 1990, Reg 194, case management powers are only triggered upon the formal filing and registration of a First Defence. Madam Justice Shore’s unilateral convening of a compulsory case conference, in the total absence of a filed defence and without a formal, perfected Order for Assignment for Case Management, constituted an ultra vires circumvention of paramount procedural rules.

22. Because these purported orders, endorsements, and case management directives were birthed in a complete jurisdictional vacuum, they are void ab initio. A legal nullity cannot serve as a foundation for estoppel; one cannot put something on nothing and expect it to stay there. Therefore, the Applicant is not estopped by any prior record, procedural direction, or silent acquiescence from demanding the immediate, unqualified vacatur of these ultra vires judicial acts. Furthermore, the constitutional right to be heard must not be conflated with a mere administrative right to conference. By forcing the Applicant into procedurally vacuous, unrecorded conferences predicated on a nullity, the Divisional Court actively violated fundamental precepts of procedural fairness, natural justice, and adjudicative legitimacy.

The Obvious Inferences: The Misconduct in Each Proceeding is Inextricably Tied to the Chief Justice

23. It is a fundamental canon of forensic review and legal deduction that systemic anomalies occurring in multiple, supposedly distinct adjudicative streams rarely emerge ex nihilo; rather, they manifest from a central point of administrative contamination. The unassailable inference to be drawn from the documented record is that the procedural misconduct permeating each and every proceeding—whether stationed at first instance in the Superior Court of Justice or elevated for appellate review to the Divisional Court—is inextricably tethered to the actions, omissions, and administrative orchestration of Chief Justice Morawetz.
24. The digital and procedural manipulation of the INTAKE COURT ENDORSEMENT (SEPT 23 2024) is not an isolated clerical defect or a benign registry error. It serves as the foundational genesis for a cascading series of procedural abuses that spans multiple registries and court levels. The very necessity of invoking section 123 of the Courts of Justice Act, RSO 1990, c C.43 to combat the administrative paralysis of Notice of Motion Number Three, alongside the subsequent deployment of Madam Justice Shore to obfuscate the record through ultra vires case management directives, demonstrates a unified, orchestrated trajectory of institutional subversion. The common denominator across the criminal deprivation of liberty, the civil obfuscation, and the appellate paralysis is the exertion of administrative control by the Master of the Roster.
25. This systemic contamination is further corroborated by the highly conspicuous procedural anomaly that the Chief Justice had previously exercised his paramount authority to explicitly self-assign in this litigation. Such antecedent self-assignment renders his current retreat into administrative silence and his steadfast refusal to formally assign Notice of Motion Number Three not merely passive negligence or bureaucratic oversight, but demonstrably evasive, behind-the-scenes conduct designed specifically to shield his own underlying coram non judice actions from the sunlight of judicial scrutiny. The parallels to the obfuscation tactics deployed in the Nash v CAMI Automotive Inc, 2023 ONSC 1520 JRPA proceeding are too perfectly aligned to be construed as coincidental; they represent a replicated methodology of judicial interference, further evidencing the overarching and inescapable reach of the Chief Justice's administrative influence over these procedurally vacuous proceedings.

Peremptory Demand for Disclosure: Production of the Uncorrupted Intake Court Endorsement

26. MOST IMPORTANTLY, the Applicant hereby issues a formal, peremptory demand that the Divisional Court President unequivocally provide an uncorrupted, original copy of the Intake Court Endorsement. This demand encompasses the Intake Court Endorsement in its original, unaltered form, alongside any and all supporting documentation, directly to the Applicant within this specific email thread. The provision of these documents is essential, as it will illuminate the further facts of the matter and explicitly identify the extent of the fraud discovered. It is not asserted at this juncture that the Intake Court Endorsement was inherently fraudulent per se merely by virtue of a self-assignment—as the Master of the Roster undoubtedly possesses the administrative authority to self-assign—but rather, the invalidity and nullity arise fundamentally from the subsequent, orchestrated cover-up and the illicit transmogrification of a civil fiat into a fabricated criminal warrant.
27. The Applicant simply and respectfully requests that the Divisional Court President, channeling his response through the formal administrative mechanisms of the Divisional Court registry, provide the following specific production in substance and form:

    "Dear Mr. McLean, please find a copy of the Intake Court Endorsement along with the Criminal Code Form 2 or Criminal Code Form 4 Indictment and the Information Package [if applicable] exactly as it existed when I received the same and was required to initially consider the allegations contained therein. Please find attached a copy of the Intake Court Endorsement in its original handwritten form, which was heard in my judicial chambers during the 'Ex Parte In Camera Hearing' as you have noted, alongside the electronic form that was subsequently provided to the TPS through the 1st floor of the SCJ 361 University Avenue Courthouse."
28. Should the Divisional Court President fail to fulfill this peremptory demand for documentary production by the conclusion of the business day on Tuesday, the Applicant will be compelled to seek immediate equitable relief and an order for production from another, unconflicted judge of the Superior Court of Justice.

Section 123 of the Courts of Justice Act, Administrative Dereliction of Duty, and the Final Opportunity to Discharge Statutory Obligations

29. The profound procedural paralysis currently afflicting this litigation engages the strict, mandatory remedial mechanisms codified within section 123 of the Courts of Justice Act, RSO 1990, c C.43. It is a statutory imperative that motions formally made and returnable on specified dates, yet remaining capriciously undecided upon the expiration of the three-month or six-month temporal limitations, be formally escalated to the Chief Justice of the Superior Court of Justice, acting in their capacity as the President of the Divisional Court. The triggering of section 123 operates as an administrative red alert, designed specifically by the legislature to combat systemic stagnation, pierce the veil of deliberative privilege, and prevent the administrative abandonment of vulnerable litigants. The necessity of this statutory mechanism is underscored by the explicit notation within the Factum of the Applicant for Motion #7, categorizing this motion as one "required to be filed and directed to the Chief Justice of the Superior Court of Justice as the President of the Divisional Court pursuant to section 123 of the Courts of Justice Act".

30. The jurisprudential trajectory interpreting section 123 confirms that the expiration of these statutory timelines transforms procedural delay from a mere inconvenience into a substantive denial of justice. The Chief Justice, operating under the constitutional doctrine of primus inter pares (first among equals), is uniquely empowered with plenary, intrinsic, and exclusive authority to reassign duties, relieve subordinate jurists of their dormant dockets, and proactively purify the procedural record. However, a profound and legally irreconcilable paradox arises when the architect of the delay is the Master of the Roster themselves, orchestrating a deliberate suppression of motion material, as evidenced by the unacknowledged receipt of filing fees ($339.00) detailed in Receipt 25D3-0F4F-4A06-8CF8 for Notice of Motion Number Three, for the "Motion Document - Motion Record - Filing Fees".

31. It is observed with the utmost gravity and concern that a profound, sustained dereliction of these non-delegable administrative duties has transpired. The institutional stagnation surrounding Notice of Motion Number Three—compounded by the inexplicable technological blacklisting of the Applicant via persistent "403 Forbidden" network access errors on the Ontario Courts Public Portal—amounts to an unlawful administrative abandonment of the judicial review application. This coordinated, multi-tiered stonewalling severely prejudices the Applicant and perpetuates ongoing, irreparable financial harm flowing directly from the unrectified theft of property and identity.

32. This correspondence serves as the final, unequivocal, and documented opportunity for the Divisional Court President to discharge the statutory duties strictly mandated by the Courts of Justice Act, RSO

990, c C.43. Should reasonable, statutorily defined timelines continue to be ignored, obfuscated, or delayed, all available and extraordinary legal remedies—including but not limited to the seeking of an Order of Mandamus against the Divisional Court's administrative apparatus to compel the performance of a public duty—shall be aggressively and relentlessly pursued to ensure that the substantive adjudication of the underlying application is secured without further unconstitutional delay.

Systemic Conflict of Interest, The Unequivocal Duty to Notify, and the Deemed Recusal by Silence

33. It is formally asserted that the factual matrix presently before the judicature engages the most stringent strictures regarding conflicts of interest and judicial bias. The foundational parameters governing the disqualification of judges are rooted in two immutable legal maxims: audi alteram partem (listen to the other side) and nemo judex in sua causa (no one should be a judge in his own cause), concepts thoroughly canvassed in the authoritative 2015 jurisprudential analysis, A Guide to Judicial Bias: Law, Practice, and Procedure (2015 CanLIIDocs 5022). As established by the House of Lords in the historical cornerstone decision of Dimes v Proprietors of Grand Junction Canal (1852), 3 HLC 759, and continually reaffirmed over the subsequent 150 years, the absolute preservation of judicial impartiality remains the bedrock of the legal system.
34. It is submitted that Chief Justice Morawetz operated under a profound and paralyzing actual conflict of interest due to his own clandestine authorship. Knowing unequivocally that he had signed the INTAKE COURT ENDORSEMENT (SEPT 23 2024), he bore an affirmative, non-delegable, and continuing duty to warn the Applicant and explicitly disclose his involvement upon the public record. Instead of discharging this ethical and legal duty, he remained situated as the Divisional Court President, engaging in covert, behind-the-scenes conduct to orchestrate a subordinate jurist (Madam Justice Shore) into flagrantly breaching the Judicial Review Procedure Act, RSO 1990, c J.1, the Courts of Justice Act, RSO 1990, c C.43, and the Rules of Civil Procedure, RRO 1990, Reg 194. Such conduct fundamentally vitiates his authority, dictating that he is absolutely precluded from deciding a single motion brought to his attention under section 123 of the Courts of Justice Act, RSO 1990, c C.43 or via the Applicant's discretionary request for self-assignment.
35. The Supreme Court of Canada, in Yukon Francophone School Board, Education Area #23 v Yukon (Attorney General), 2015 SCC 25, definitively articulated that the appearance of justice is of equal constitutional magnitude to the reality of justice. Applying the reasonable person standard synthesized in Yukon Francophone School Board, Education Area #23 v Yukon (Attorney General), 2015 SCC 25 and initially framed in Committee for Justice and Liberty et al v National Energy Board, [1978] 1 SCR

369, the outcome is determinative. Would a reasonable, informed person—cognizant of the totality of the circumstances, namely that Chief Justice Morawetz engaged in an ultra vires act by authoring the facially invalid INTAKE COURT ENDORSEMENT (SEPT 23 2024), an instrument devoid of Criminal Code, RSC 1985, c C-46 validity that directly precipitated the Applicant's unlawful detention and kidnapping by the Toronto Police Service, and subsequently utilized Madam Justice Shore as an administrative proxy to obstruct appellate review—conclude that the Chief Justice retains the requisite impartiality to adjudicate Notice of Motion Number Three, or Motions Number Four through Six? The answer is an unequivocal and resounding negative. An impenetrable apprehension of bias is instantaneously crystallized.

36. The Applicant emphatically submits that this failure by Chief Justice Morawetz to disclose his prior judicial involvement transcends mere administrative oversight; it constitutes an actionable falsity by omission. When a jurist, armed with the precise knowledge of their own foundational role in orchestrating a deprivation of liberty, consciously elects to withhold that highly material fact from an aggrieved litigant while simultaneously maintaining supervisory jurisdiction over the resultant appellate proceedings, that silence is demonstrably deceptive. It is respectfully asserted that any reasonable, informed person—having thought the matter through—would not merely apprehend a lack of impartiality, but would definitively conclude that independence is structurally impossible. This falsity by omission fundamentally shatters the public trust and renders any further adjudication by the Chief Justice an exercise in administrative subterfuge rather than impartial justice.

37. Crucially, a jurist confronted with a potential disqualification, an apprehension of bias, or an actual conflict of interest possesses an unequivocal, affirmative legal duty to formally notify the parties and the public record. As explored in scholarly discourse regarding procedural uncertainty in judicial disqualification (see: Professor Philip Bryden, Legal Principles Governing the Disqualification of Judges, 2003 CanLIIDocs 85, referencing the procedural clarity demanded by the South African Constitutional Court in President of the Republic of South Africa v South African Rugby Football Union, [1999] ZACC 9), a judge cannot simply retreat into administrative silence when their impartiality is directly and factually impugned. The Chief Justice Morawetz held, and continues to hold, an unassailable duty to formally and explicitly notify the Applicant whether he is officially recusing himself from the entirety of this proceeding.

38. It is respectfully submitted that any continued failure by the Divisional Court President to definitively respond and issue a formal notification within the forty-eight-hour temporal mandate shall be construed not merely as an evidentiary admission of authorship regarding the fabricated warrant, but as an ipso facto administrative and judicial recusal. Governed by the maxim qui tacet consentire videtur (silence implies consent), the refusal to deny involvement or formally address the conflict constitutes an admission of the underlying unconstitutional entanglement. Consequently, the silence of the Chief Justice must be recognized by the administrative registry as an irrevocable self-recusal from any further supervisory or adjudicative role concerning the Applicant's proceedings.

Institutional Contamination: The Divisional Court Vice President and the Regional Senior Justice

39. Furthermore, the administrative architecture of the judicature renders the Divisional Court President and the Divisional Court Vice President (the Associate Chief Justice) inextricably intertwined. This structural duality and administrative proximity generate an indivisible unit of authority. Because the Vice President operates as the direct proxy and immediate subordinate to the President in the management of the Divisional Court roster, she is irrevocably tainted by association. This is not merely an apprehended bias, but an actual conflict of interest, exponentially exacerbated by the historical deployment of Ministry of the Attorney General counsel (Mr. Annathan Sinnadurai) to simultaneously defend the Chief Justice, the Associate Chief Justice, and Madam Justice Shore in the closely related matter of McIntosh v Shore et al.
40. The contamination of jurisdiction extends deeply into the geographic hierarchy of the Superior Court. Because the genesis of the impugned INTAKE COURT ENDORSEMENT (SEPT 23 2024) is geographically and administratively localized within the 361 University Avenue Courthouse, the Regional Senior Justice for the Toronto Region, the Honourable Mr. Justice Firestone, is similarly precluded from exercising supervisory or assignment jurisdiction. To the extent that the Chief Justice of the Superior Court of Justice had any involvement in the making, giving, or endorsement of the invalid court document at first instance, the entire administrative superstructure of the 361 University Avenue Courthouse—and by extension, the Regional Senior Justice tasked with its localized oversight—is fundamentally paralyzed by this overlapping, systemic institutional conflict.
41. Consequently, impartial adjudication is rendered structurally impossible under the current Toronto Region roster assignments, extending from the Chief Justice down through the Associate Chief Justice and the Regional Senior Justice. The situation necessitates the immediate appointment of an out-of-region, demonstrably unconflicted jurist to superintend this matter, perform a de novo review of the tainted record, and effectuate the sweeping vacatur of all acts undertaken coram non judice.

42. The Applicant expressly reserves the absolute and unfettered right to bring the totality of these profound constitutional, procedural, and jurisdictional anomalies to the attention of any Honourable Judge within the Superior Court of Justice, seeking immediate equitable relief ex debito justitiae (as a matter of right). All pleadings, affidavits, compendia, documentary exhibits, and forensic analyses previously served and filed in any related proceeding, matter, or issue—including Appendix “R”: Exhibit “F from Statutory Declaration #1 for NOM #3 and Appendix “S”: The email chain with the SCJ 361 University Avenue Courthouse, 1st Floor—are hereby expressly incorporated by reference into this communication, forming the indelible record upon which this Divisional Court shall ultimately be judged.

43. Simply put the record is the record and where a “court of record” as at issue, like the Divisional Court, the Divisional Court cannot fake the two things which are fatal on their own:

    a. The failure of the Respondents to file a First Defence; and/or

    b. The failure of any Judge of the Divisional Court to make, issue and enter (although there as no making at all) an Order for "Assignment For Case Management".

44. Thank you for discharging your “Honour” as required by law.

All of which is respectfully submitted,

Electronically signed (but not digitally)

/s/ Mr. Kevin A. McLean (BA, JD, CIM)

Mr. Kevin A. McLean (BA, JD, CIM)

Enclosures:

Warm regards,

Mr. Kevin A. McLean (BA, JD, CIM)
Chartered Investment Manager
Email: mcleansettlement@gmail.com
Fax: 416.981.7117
Phone number: 647.370.9354

5660

[Message clipped] View entire message

2 Attachments • Scanned by Gmail

Tab 90

Form 1
NOTICE OF APPLICATION

(Criminal Proceedings Rules)

ONTARIO
SUPERIOR COURT OF JUSTICE

Toronto
Region

Unknown, to be provided by the Originating Courthouse at the Originating Court Office or 457197 (Year 2024)
Court File No. (if known)

BETWEEN:

HIS MAJESTY THE KING

respondent

- and -

Mr. Kevin A. McLean (BA, JD, CIM)
(specify name of accused)

applicant

TAKE NOTICE that an application will be brought on Friday day, the 19th day of June , (specify month)

20 26 , at 50 Eagle Street West, Newmarket, ON L3Y 6B1
(specify address of court house)

for an order granting (set out relief sought)

(please see: Schedule "A"

THE GROUNDS FOR THIS APPLICATION ARE:

1. That See: Schedule “A”
2. That See: Schedule “A”
3. Such further and other grounds as counsel may advise and this Honourable Court may permit.

IN SUPPORT OF THIS APPLICATION, THE APPLICANT RELIES UPON THE FOLLOWING:
(set out documents such as transcripts, etc. upon which the Applicant relies)

(see: Schedule "A")

(evidence)

THE RELIEF SOUGHT IS:

1. An Order allowing the application and granting (indicate particular relief sought)

This Form 1 Notice of Application and Form 5 NOA and Constitutional Issue along with any motions herein (see: Schedule A)

By virtue of subrule 43.03(3) of the Criminal Proceedings Rules for the Superior Court of Justice (Ontario), you are, upon receiving this notice, to return forthwith to the clerk of the court at the place where the application is returnable true copies of the conviction (or as the case may be) herein referred to, together with true copies of the indictment, information, exhibits and papers or other documents touching the matter, as fully and as entirely as they remain in your custody, together with this notice and the certificate prescribed in the said rule.

Dated this 29th day of April 2026

Mr. Kevin A. McLean (BA, JD, CIM)
Self-represented (Pro Se)

To:

Ms. Monica Simion
Manager of Court Operations
SCJ 361 University Courthouse, Floor 1, Toronto, Ontario, M5G 1T3

Rule 43.03 required Certification by Manager of Court Operations at SCJ 361 University Courthouse (Floor 1)

Pursuant to the accompanying notice I herewith return to this Honourable Court the following:
True copies of:
(1) the information;
(2) the conviction (or as the case may be);
(3) the exhibits, if capable of reproduction and relevant to the matters in question; and,
(4) any other papers or documents touching the matter, if capable of reproduction and relevant to the matters in question.

And I hereby certify to this Honourable Court that I have above truly set forth all exhibits, papers, and documents in my custody or power relating to the matter set forth in the said notice of application.

_____
Signature and Certification

Date: _____

Manager of Court Operations at SCJ 361 University Avenue Courthouse
1st Floor
Toronto, Ontario
M5G 1T3

THE APPLICANT MAY BE SERVED WITH DOCUMENTS PERTINENT TO THIS APPLICATION

1. By service in accordance with rule 5, through (specify address, telephone number and email)

Phone number: (647) 370-9354
Fax: 416.981.7117
Email: mcleansettlement@gmail.com and any other dedicated email (in lieu of the former or by addition) so provided

DATED at Toronto, Ontario, this 29th day of April, 20 26

Signature of applicant or counsel

Mr. Kevin A. McLean (BA, JD, CIM)
Phone number:
Fax: 416.981.7117
Email: mcleansettlement@gmail.com and any other dedicated email (in lieu of the former or by addition) so provided

(set out name and address, as well as telephone number and email)

SCHEDULE "A" 1

FOR ORDERS GRANTING AND RELIEF SOUGHT IS: 5

Nunc pro tunc Relief 5

Lengthening of Temporal Parameters 5

Recusal of any Judge in the Toronto Region SCJ inclusive of The Honourable Chief Justice Morawetz and the ACJ Madam Justice McWatt 5

Court Documents and the Requisite Filing Thereof 5

Subservience to Rule 4.02(d) of the Criminal Proceedings Rules 5

Strict Adherence to Rule 4.05(1) of the Criminal Proceedings Rules Concerning the Prescribed Locus of Filing 6

Informations, Indictments, and the Requisite Jurisdictional Certification 6

Service Protocols and the Jurisprudential Implications of the September 23, 2024 Endorsement 6

Application of Rule 5.01 Pertaining to Non-Personal Service and Ancillary Matters 6

Application of Rule 5.02 7

Adherence to Rule 6 of the Criminal Proceedings Rules 7

Implications of Rule 9 of the Criminal Proceedings Rules 8

Jurisdictional Contours Under Rule 43 of the Criminal Proceedings Rules 8

The Proper Returnable Forum Before the Clerk of the Court 8

Extraordinary Remedies by Way of the Prerogative Writs 9

Constitutional Remedies and Relief Pursuant to the Canadian Charter of Rights and Freedoms 9

The Supremacy of Statutory Codification Over Administrative Directives 9

Costs 9

Interest 9

THE GROUNDS FOR THIS APPLICATION ARE: 10

VOLUME 1 — OVERVIEW 10

Commencement of Criminal Proceedings and the Issuance of Process 10

The Imperative Integrity of the Judicial System and the Doctrine of Absolute Nullity 11

Jurisdictional Failures and the Fabrication of the Impugned Endorsement 14

Spoliation of Judicial Acta and the Subversion of the Intake Architecture 16

Statutory Impermeability and the Apprehension of Bias 17

Cumulative Subversion of the Rule of Law and Requested Relief 17

I. INAPPLICABILITY OF SECTION 599 AND JURISDICTIONAL ROUTING 19

II. SPOLIATION OF THE RECORD AND SUBSTANTIVE ALTERATIONS 21

III. TEMPORAL ANOMALIES AND THE ADMINISTRATIVE CHASM 22

V. THE ISSUANCE OF PROCESS AND SUPERIOR COURT OF JUSTICE CUSTODY 23

V. ANATOMY OF THE SWORN RECORD AND STRUCTURAL DEFICIENCIES 25

VI. THE DOCTRINE OF FORUM SHOPPING AND CONCEALMENT OF PROCESS 27

VII. EVIDENTIARY VOIDS: THE PHANTOM INFORMANT AND UNAUTHENTICATED OATHS 28

VIII. PRE-EXISTING CONFLICTS OF INTEREST AND RETALIATORY ANIMUS 29

IX. THE INTAKE COURT ENDORSEMENT: A JURISDICTIONAL IMPOSSIBILITY 30

X. STATUTORY NON-COMPLIANCE AND DIGITAL SIGNATURE INVALIDITY 31

XI. THE DELIBERATE RUSE AND THE CANADIAN POLICE INFORMATION CENTRE METADATA TRAP 32

XII. INSTITUTIONAL OBFUSCATION AND THE E-INTAKE IMPOSSIBILITY 33

XIII. THE BIFURCATION OF ENDORSEMENTS AND ORDERS 34

XIV. EQUITABLE TOLLING AND THE LIMITATION PERIOD TRAP 35

XV. NULLITY AB INITIO AND THE CERTIFICATION PARADOX 35

VOLUME 2 — FACTS 37

A. The Originating Courthouse and the Family-Law Registry 37

B. The Doctrine of Magisterial Capacity and Custodial Continuity 37

C. Structural Deconstruction of the Form 2 and the Surrogation of Statutory Instruments 38

D. Forgery, Fabrication, and the Smith Doctrine 38

E. The Systemic Impossibility of Compliance Within the E-Intake Paradigm 38

F. Judicial Impartiality and the Nexus of Animosity 38

G. Administrative Chicanery and the Procedural Entrapment of Rules 5 and 43 39

H. Equitable Maxims and the Tolling of Limitation Periods 39

VOLUME 3 — ISSUES 39

VOLUME 4 — LAW & ARGUMENT 40

A. Constitutional Architecture and the Primacy of the Criminal Intake System 40

B. Jurisdictional Nullity: A Proceeding That Never Legally Existed 41

C. The Doctrine of Magisterial Capacity and the Limits of Ex Officio Authority 41

D. Spoliation: The Removal of the Jurat Page Is Fatal 42

E. Section 599 of the Criminal Code Is Statutorily Impermeable 42

F. Structural Deconstruction of the Form 2 and the Surrogation of Statutory Instruments 42

G. Forgery, Fabrication, and the Smith Doctrine 42

H. The Systemic Impossibility of the Impugned Endorsement Within the E-Intake Paradigm 43

I. THE Open Court Principle and the Constitutional Requirement of Transparency 43

J. Conflict of Interest and Reasonable Apprehension of Bias 44

K. Administrative Law Principles and the Illegality of Registry Conduct 44

L. Inherent Jurisdiction and the Court's Duty to Rectify a Corrupted Record 45

M. Charter Breaches: Sections 7, 8, 9, and 11(b) 45

N. Prerogative Relief: Certiorari, Prohibition, and Mandamus 45

Volume #5: Where the "Old School" Meets the "New School" albeit by falsification post facto 46

PART I: PRELIMINARY MATTERS, JURISDICTIONAL FRAMEWORK 46

PART II: THE SPATIAL AND JURISPRUDENTIAL NEXUS APPERTAINING TO JUDICIAL ENDORSEMENTS 47

2.1 Historical Validation of the Record: The Precedent Established by Chief Justice Morawetz 47

The Evidentiary Weight Assigned to the Physical "Backsheet" 47

The Requisite of Intrinsic Connection and the Mitigation of Post-Facto Alteration 47

PART III: THE FATAL SEVERANCE IDENTIFIED WITHIN THE IMPUGNED "INFORMATION PACKAGE" 48

3.1 The Digital Disconnect: A Jurisdictional Rupture 48

Severance from the "Information-To-Wit": An Unsworn Void 48

3.2 The Procedural Handover and the "Place of Filing" Mandate 49

The Strict Bifurcation of Court Registries and Administrative Apparatuses 49

Rule 4.05(1) and the Immutable Digital Footprint 50

3.3 Visual Baseline: The Chief Justice's Traditional Signature 52

3.4 Software-Induced Severance and Vector Morphology 53

The GrapeCity Developer API Extrapolation 53

The Z-Index Collapse and Brute-Force Rasterization 53

3.5 The Optical Character Recognition (OCR) Glitch: The Transformation of "C J G.B. M" 54

The "J" to "L" Glitch (Stem Shearing) 54

The "G.B." to "( )" Glitch (The Rounded Vector Collapse) 54

3.6 Hypothesis Testing and the Jurisprudential Exclusion of the Associate Chief Justice 55

PART IV: THE DIGITAL SIGNATURE RUSE AND THE FABRICATION OF THE DECOY JURIST 56

4.1 The Visual Smokescreen and Cryptographic Camouflage 56

4.2 The Subversion of Section 504 of the Criminal Code 56

4.3 The Fake Ontario Court of Justice Arms Logo and the Decoy Justice of the Peace 57

PART V: STATUTORY NON-COMPLIANCE, ABUSE OF PROCESS, AND THE WEAPONIZATION OF SECURITY 57

5.1 Strict Adherence to the Criminal Proceedings Rules 58

5.2 The Weaponization of the Nullity to Preclude Administrative Oversight 58

5.3 Coordinated Stonewalling, Conflicted Counsel, and the JSSO 59

The "McIntosh" Conflict of Interest (Annathan Sinnadurai) 59

The JSSO "Freudian Slip" (Guilty Knowledge and Rule 8) 59

The JSSO and the "Open Police Principle" 60

5.4 The Consequence: An Incurable Jurisdictional Nullity and Exemplary Damages 60

volume 6— CONCLUSION on when Chief Justice Morawetz (or in the alternative Madam Justice Shore or both) acts were Factum A Judice, Quod Ad Officium Jure Non Pertinet, Ratum Non Est and ORDERS REQUESTED 61

RELIANCE UPON MATERIALS HEREIN 62

5670 Appendices 65

APPENDIX B: Metadata and Known Deficiencies of Document Producer (Schedule B) 67

APPENDIX C: Forensic Technical Analysis of Automated Document Generation 68

APPENDIX D: CPIC Data Architecture and Metadata Keys 69

APPENDIX E: Integrated FIP Analysis - Summary of 160+ Errors 70

FOR ORDERS GRANTING AND RELIEF SOUGHT IS:

The Applicant respectfully seeks the pronouncement of the following extraordinary remedies, declaratory judgments, and prerogative orders in allowing the Form 1 Notice of Application and Form 5 Notice of Application and Constitutional Issues:

NUNC PRO TUNC RELIEF

I. An order is respectfully sought directing that any and all pronouncements, decrees, or orders rendered herein be granted Nunc pro tunc (the "Nunc pro tunc* Relief"), thereby ensuring that the restorative judicial effects are applied retroactively to the inception of the procedural malfeasance that initially materialized on September 23, 2024;[i]

LENGTHENING OF TEMPORAL PARAMETERS

II. An order is sought decreeing that any statutory or procedural temporal limitation required to be protracted in the paramount interests of justice be, and is hereby, lengthened; [ii]

RECUSAL OF ANY JUDGE IN THE TORONTO REGION SCJ INCLUSIVE OF THE HONOURABLE CHIEF JUSTICE MORAWETZ AND THE ACJ MADAM JUSTICE MCWATT

III. An order that restraining and prohibiting any judge in the Toronto Region of the SCJ from any involvement, indirectly or directly in this Criminal Proceeding and in any hearing of any Application, motion or otherwise;

COURT DOCUMENTS AND THE REQUISITE FILING THEREOF

SUBSERVIENCE TO RULE 4.02(D) OF THE CRIMINAL PROCEEDINGS RULES

IV. A declaratory pronouncement is sought establishing that the underlying matter (the "Criminal Proceeding") was officially commenced at the precise temporal juncture when the undisclosed law enforcement officer, presumably Detective Abdulhameed K. Virani, submitted the requisite information pursuant to form 2 of the Criminal Code, RSC 1985, c C-46 (the "Criminal Code"), whether in a previously declared state or presented to be sworn before a jurist of the Superior Court of Justice, and was subsequently so sworn within the precinct of the court office situated at the Superior Court of Justice located at 361 University Avenue, specifically within the designated family court repository (the "Family Court Office");

V. A Declaration is sought affirming that the Criminal Proceeding, comprehensively subsuming any trial, application, appeal, or ancillary hearing—inclusive of any ex parte proceedings conducted in camera—was formally commenced within the jurisdictional locus of the Superior Court of Justice at 361 University Avenue, explicitly upon the primary level thereof;

5672 VI. A Declaration is sought establishing that the Intake Court Endorsement, dated September 23, 2024, was ostensibly issued by the clerk of the court functioning at the Superior Court of Justice, 361 University Avenue, albeit entrenched within a record that is compulsorily required to be produced by the manager of court operations corresponding to the aforementioned primary level of the judicial facility;

STRICT ADHERENCE TO RULE 4.05(1) OF THE CRIMINAL PROCEEDINGS RULES CONCERNING THE PRESCRIBED LOCUS OF FILING

VII. A Declaration is sought asserting that, predicated upon the statutory imperative that all documentation must be filed electronically via electronic mail within the specific court office wherein the proceeding was initially commenced—saving and excepting documents submitted in limine during a hearing or where the Criminal Proceedings Rules for the Superior Court of Justice (Ontario) (the "Criminal Proceedings Rules") explicitly dictate otherwise, which they demonstrably do not—the applicant, the respondents, the Attorney General of Ontario, and the Attorney General of Canada are invariably compelled to submit any and all requisite filings exclusively to the court office situated on the primary echelon of the Superior Court of Justice at 361 University Avenue;

INFORMATIONS, INDICTMENTS, AND THE REQUISITE JURISDICTIONAL CERTIFICATION

VIII. A declaratory judgment is sought confirming that the legal construct of an indictment inherently subsumes informations, and that such charging documents were mandatorily required to be transmitted to the Superior Court of Justice via electronic mail;

IX. An order is sought compelling the specific court office where this Criminal Proceeding was commenced to transmit the complete evidentiary and procedural compendium to the corresponding court office designated to adjudicate the Form 1 Notice of Application and the attendant notice of constitutional question in form 5 (the "Form 5 Notice of Constitutional Question"), being the Superior Court of Justice at 361 University Avenue, in strict accordance with the mechanisms prescribed by rule 43.03 of the Criminal Proceeding Rules

SERVICE PROTOCOLS AND THE JURISPRUDENTIAL IMPLICATIONS OF THE SEPTEMBER 23, 2024 ENDORSEMENT

APPLICATION OF RULE 5.01 PERTAINING TO NON-PERSONAL SERVICE AND ANCILLARY MATTERS

X. A Declaration is sought stipulating that the Form 1 Notice of Application encapsulates prayers for relief historically subsumed under the royal prerogative writs, definitively including mandamus, certiorari, and prohibition, and that said document was effectuated upon the Superior Court of Justice at 361 University Avenue, specifically targeting the primary floor court office, and upon the Honourable Madam Justice Shore on or subsequent to Monday, March 16, 2026;

XI. A Declaration is sought conclusively resolving that the Intake Court Endorsement does not constitute a validly articulated order pursuant to the strictures of the Criminal Code or the Criminal Proceedings Rules;

XII. A Declaration is sought asserting that the Criminal Proceedings Rules must not operate ultra vires or in contradistinction to the substantive provisions of the Criminal Code, and that the categorization of an order must perpetually remain harmonized with the established judicial interpretation governing the parameters of an order within the corpus of criminal jurisprudence;

XIII. A Declaration is sought establishing that the Intake Court Endorsement constitutes, at its zenith, a mere administrative determination, or, at its nadir, an absolute nullity rendered void ab initio. It represents nothing more than the acta of the Honourable Madam Justice Shore executed under the doctrine of factum a judice, quod ad officium jure non pertinet, ratum non est, thereby rendering the appearances before her irrevocably coram non judice;

XIV. A Declaration is sought emphasizing that any formulation or issuance of the Intake Court Endorsement was inherently factum a judice, quod ad officium jure non pertinet, ratum non est concerning the presiding jurist of the Superior Court of Justice. The jurist, despite possessing superior court of criminal jurisdiction, remained inextricably bound by the statutory confines of the Criminal Code and the Criminal Proceedings Rules, thereby rendering the specific segment of the ex parte in camera proceeding wherein such acts were consummated as entirely coram non judice, predominantly because the resultant instrument is not one that a jurist of the Superior Court of Justice is legally empowered to issue at that nascent phase of a criminal prosecution;

XV. A Declaration is sought affirming that the manager of court operations stationed at the Superior Court of Justice at 361 University Avenue was duly served with a meticulously reproduced copy of the Form 1 Notice of Application on March 16, 2026, or immediately thereafter, accomplished by means of postal transmission and/or by depositing a copy with the individual exercising supervisory control over the court office situated on the primary level, in precise compliance with rule 5.01(3) of the Criminal Proceedings Rules;

XVI. A Declaration is sought asserting that while the service effectuated upon the manager of court operations by means of depositing the document at the corresponding court office on the primary floor of the Superior Court of Justice satisfies the minimal requirements for service, the distinct obligation to file the documentation with the specific court office wherein the Criminal Proceeding was inaugurated strictly necessitates electronic filing via email, directed specifically to the designated functionary, notably Ms. Monica Simion.

APPLICATION OF RULE 5.02

XVII. A Declaration is sought confirming that the Honourable Madam Justice Shore was personally served, in rigorous adherence to rule 5.02(1)(c) of the Criminal Proceedings Rules, by means of depositing the Form 1 Notice of Application with the individual exercising authority over the court office located within the precise geographic locus where the purported adjudication was manifested;

XVIII. A Declaration is sought differentiating, as a matter of established legal doctrine, the physical court office where an adjudication is formalized from the localized ether where a corresponding warrant, order, determination, direction, or endorsement is conceptually or administratively formulated;

XIX. A Declaration is sought positing that, while it remains an axiomatic requirement that all orders be formally endorsed, the converse proposition is jurisprudentially fallacious; thus, it is self-evident that not all endorsements can be elevated to the legal stature of an order.

ADHERENCE TO RULE 6 OF THE CRIMINAL PROCEEDINGS RULES

XX. A Declaration is sought codifying the principle that the commencement of a Form 1 Notice of Application is fundamentally distinct and severable from the commencement of a substantive criminal proceeding. This delineation is reinforced by the jurisprudential framework established in R. v. Awad, 2010 ONSC 1523 at para 45, 98 OR (3d) 314 (the "Awad Decision"). In the Awad Decision, the court affirmed that applications seeking prerogative relief or raising collateral constitutional issues operate upon an independent procedural trajectory, thereby necessitating that the procedural apparatus of the application not be entirely subsumed by the primary prosecutorial mechanisms. Applying this legal doctrine to the extant factual matrix, it becomes self-evident that the initiation of the Form 1 Notice of Application did not trigger the broader procedural mechanisms associated with the substantive criminal trial; thus, prima facie, the foundational mechanism of commencing an application cannot be legally conflated with the swearing of an information;

XXI. A Declaration is sought dictating that, as the Criminal Proceeding was indisputably commenced through the solemn swearing or affirmation of the information in form 2 under the Criminal Code, or alternatively by the execution and submission of an indictment in form 4 under the Criminal Code, directly to the Superior Court of Justice at 361 University Avenue, the foundational requisites of commencement have been strictly satisfied;

XXII. A Declaration is sought confirming that, as an immutable consequence of the foregoing commencement protocols, rules 6.01 through 6.11 of the Criminal Proceedings Rules are entirely inapplicable to this Criminal Proceeding, given that it was inaugurated before the Superior Court of Justice exclusively by the swearing of the information or the laying of the indictment before a jurist of the Superior Court of Justice.

IMPLICATIONS OF RULE 9 OF THE CRIMINAL PROCEEDINGS RULES

XXIII. A Declaration is sought resolving that the purported intake court endorsement, and unequivocally the specific Intake Court Endorsement dated September 23, 2024, demonstrably failed to achieve compliance with the rigorous strictures embedded within rule 9.01 of the Criminal Proceedings Rules;

JURISDICTIONAL CONTOURS UNDER RULE 43 OF THE CRIMINAL PROCEEDINGS RULES

XXIV. A Declaration is sought affirming that the specific administrative determination to which this supervisory application is irrevocably tethered is the Intake Court Endorsement;

XXV. A Declaration is sought affirming that the manager of court operations stationed at the Superior Court of Justice at 361 University Avenue was duly served on or immediately succeeding March 16, 2026;

XXVI. A Declaration is sought asserting that the applicant, by serving the Form 1 Notice of Application complete with the embedded endorsement dated April 29, 2026, formulated in precise conformity with rule 43.03(2) of the Criminal Proceedings Rules, completely discharged the obligation to execute service upon the manager of court operations at the Superior Court of Justice;

XXVII. A Declaration is sought mandating that the manager of court operations at the Superior Court of Justice was legally compelled to forthwith transmit the entirety of the documentation, physical papers, exhibits, and corollary materials to the clerk of the court situated in courtroom 241 at the Superior Court of Justice without delay;

XXVIII. A Declaration is sought stipulating that the applicant is not fettered by the thirty-day limitation period enumerated within rule 43.04(1) of the Criminal Proceedings Rules, fundamentally because the Intake Court Endorsement does not ascend to the requisite legal standard of an order. An ancillary order is sought declaring that any such thirty-day limitation period would only forcefully commence upon the unredacted production of the endorsement to the applicant and to the honourable court where the Form 1 Notice of Application is definitively returnable;

XXIX. An order is sought dictating that the Form 1 Notice of Application shall be made returnable precisely thirty days subsequent to the date upon which the applicant perfects personal service upon all strictly relevant individuals, judicial officers, and entities, coupled with the requisite filing of two duplicate copies bearing irrefutable proof of service with the clerk of the court tasked with adjudicating the application, executed only after the foundational filing within the court office where the Criminal Proceeding was originally commenced.

THE PROPER RETURNABLE FORUM BEFORE THE CLERK OF THE COURT

XXXII. A Declaration is sought pronouncing that the Form 1 Notice of Application and the Form 5 Notice of Constitutional Question are strictly returnable to the clerk of the court officiating at the "Court Office" denoted in the Form 1 Application which is

EXTRAORDINARY REMEDIES BY WAY OF THE PREROGATIVE WRITS

XXXIII. An order in the unalloyed nature of certiorari is sought, forcefully quashing, vitiating, or otherwise setting aside the certified true copy of the information and/or the indictment, as the specific procedural posture may dictate, particularly as it is to be returned forthwith by the manager of court operations to the criminal division of the Superior Court of Justice at 361 University Avenue.

XXXIV. An order in the nature of certiorari is further sought, quashing, nullifying, and comprehensively setting aside the Intake Court Endorsement, compelling its immediate return by the manager of court operations to the criminal registry of the Superior Court of Justice; and XXXV. Concomitant orders in the nature of mandamus are sought, strictly directed toward any designated individual or functionary situated within the executive branch of the state who remains encumbered by non-discretionary, executory, and ministerial duties, yet who has demonstrably failed to execute or enforce such binding obligations.

CONSTITUTIONAL REMEDIES AND RELIEF PURSUANT TO THE CANADIAN CHARTER OF RIGHTS AND FREEDOMS

XXXVI. Comprehensive orders and Declarations are sought, as intricately particularized within the applicant's Form 5 Notice of Constitutional Question issued pursuant to the Criminal Proceedings Rules, which is mandated to be formally delivered, served, and perfected within the specific court office where the Criminal Proceeding was formally inaugurated.

THE SUPREMACY OF STATUTORY CODIFICATION OVER ADMINISTRATIVE DIRECTIVES

XXXVII. A Declaration is sought firmly establishing that administrative practice directions, regardless of their source, do not coalesce into substantive source law per se, and remain perpetually subordinate to the legislative supremacy of the Criminal Code and the strict regulatory framework of the Criminal Proceedings Rules.

COSTS

XXXVIII. An order is sought directing the immediate payment of substantial indemnity costs, to be awarded unequivocally in favour of the applicant.

INTEREST

XXXIX. An order is sought demanding the rigorous application of pre-judgment and post-judgment interest in relation to any and all monetary restitution awarded herein, calculated strictly in accordance with the prevailing statutory instruments.

THE GROUNDS FOR THIS APPLICATION ARE:

VOLUME 1 — OVERVIEW

COMMENCEMENT OF CRIMINAL PROCEEDINGS AND THE ISSUANCE OF PROCESS

1. Criminal proceedings are formally initiated upon the swearing of an information (the "Information") before a judicial officer holding competent jurisdiction within the province; such presiding officers encompass a justice of the peace (the "Justice of the Peace"), a judge of the ontario court of justice (the "Provincial Court Judge"), or a judge of the superior court of criminal jurisdiction (the "Superior Court Judge"), as delineated strictly within the definitions enumerated in the Criminal Code, RSC 1985, c C-46 (the "Criminal Code"). Within the provincial jurisdiction of Ontario, a Superior Court Judge fundamentally incorporates the judiciary presiding over the section 96 tribunals, explicitly referencing section 96 of the Constitution Act, 1867 (UK), 30 & 31 Vict, c 3, reprinted in RSC 1985, Appendix II, No 5, alongside the justices of the Court of Appeal for Ontario.

2. The solemn swearing of an Information operates to commence criminal proceedings against an accused individual, a jurisprudential principle affirmed comprehensively in R v Awad, 2014 NSSC 44 (the "Awad Decision"), R v Pardo, 1990 CanLII 10957 (QC CA) (the "Pardo Decision"), and R v McHale, 2010 ONCA 361 (the "McHale Decision"), wherein the respective appellate authorities articulated unequivocally that the formal laying or receipt of an Information constitutes the foundational commencement of such proceedings. Antecedent to the contemporary implementation of the declarative process for a form 2 information (the "Form 2 Information"), which accommodates execution via traditional, electronic, or digital signatures, the swearing of said document was strictly necessitated to occur in the physical or constructive presence of a Justice of the Peace, a Provincial Court Judge, or a Superior Court Judge.

3. The formal commencement of proceedings operates independently from, and does not strictly necessitate, the concomitant issuance of judicial process (the "Judicial Process"), which traditionally manifests as either a summons (the "Summons") or a warrant for arrest (the "Arrest Warrant"). This distinction was definitively elucidated by the British Columbia Court of Appeal in Davidson v British Columbia (Attorney General), 2006 BCCA 447, 214 CCC (3d) 373 (the "Davidson Decision"), at paragraph 66 per Madam Justice Levine, establishing 5677 that the initiation of the prosecutorial machinery is distinctly severable from the mechanisms deployed to compel the attendance of the accused.

4. Concerning the appellate authority established in the McHale Decision, the Honourable Justice Watt, writing for the unanimous panel, observed at paragraph 86 that the Criminal Code provides no explicit statutory definition for the terminology "proceedings" as it is utilized within section 579(1) or subsequent provisions. The judiciary has historically construed the phrase "at any time after any proceedings in relation to an accused... are commenced" to signify any temporal point succeeding the laying of an Information, a doctrine heavily supported by the jurisprudence in Campbell v Attorney-General of Ontario, 1987 CanLII 4268 (ON SC), 58 OR (2d) 209 (HCJ) (the "Campbell Trial Decision") at page 220, affirmed in R v Campbell, 1987 CanLII 4333 (ON CA), 60 OR (2d) 617 (the "Campbell Appellate Decision"), alongside R v Wren, [1987] BCJ No 1336 (CA) (the "Wren Decision"), and the Pardo Decision at pages 373-374. Consequently, a logical syllogism dictates that the laying or receipt of an Information falls squarely within the ambit of proceedings in relation to an accused, an extrapolation equally applicable to a pre-enquete, which constitutes a judicial proceeding designed specifically to ascertain whether Judicial Process ought properly to issue.

5. By logical corollary and strict statutory interpretation, an individual is not categorized jurisprudentially as an accused until such time as formal charges have been lawfully laid. An individual crystallizes into an accused precisely upon the laying of charges, effectuated either by a Form 2 Information or an indictment (the "Indictment"), as articulated in the Pardo Decision, wherein the appellate tribunal confirmed that an individual becomes an accused contemporaneous with the laying of the Information, thereby marking the commencement of proceedings; a principle further consolidated in the Campbell Appellate Decision.

THE IMPERATIVE INTEGRITY OF THE JUDICIAL SYSTEM AND THE DOCTRINE OF ABSOLUTE NULLITY

6. The foundational integrity of the Canadian justice system is unequivocally contingent upon the unbroken chain of custody of sworn and subscribed documentation, the rigorous adherence to statutory forms governing the deprivation of liberty, and the unassailable impartiality of the adjudicative body. When these fundamental constitutional pillars are circumvented—whether consequence of egregious administrative incompetence or

5678 deliberate obfuscation effectuated by pre-existing conflicts of interest—the resultant judicial actions transcend mere curable administrative irregularities or voidable errors; rather, they are classified categorically as absolute nullities ab initio, devoid of any legal force or effect from their very inception.

7. Within the historical jurisprudence of this jurisdiction, there exist exceedingly rare instances wherein law enforcement personnel have engaged in the swearing of fabricated informations, the manipulation and backdating of records, and the outright forgery of citizens' signatures concerning the relinquishment of firearms. Precedent reveals an exceptionally limited compendium of reported decisions—specifically, merely five documented instances—that approximate the severity of the fabricated documentation compilation (the "False Information Package") purported to have been filed by the Toronto Police Service at the Ontario Court of Justice facility located at 10 Armoury Street.

8. The taxonomy of document fabrication within the criminal justice apparatus can be stratified into three distinct classifications based upon the mechanism of action, judicial interaction, and systemic impact. First, subfacial fabrication, or procedural forgery, materializes when a state agent drafts a Form 2 Information or an information to obtain (the "Information to Obtain") containing deliberately fabricated, misleading, or heavily sanitized factual assertions, subsequently presenting the document to a genuine judicial officer who is thereby deceived into issuing a facially valid but constitutionally defective warrant. This mechanism implicates statutory offences including perjury, contrary to section 131 of the Criminal Code, fabricating evidence under section 137, and obstructing justice under section 139.

9. Second, absolute fabrication, or judicial forgery, represents the complete usurpation of the judicial function. This egregious transgression occurs when a law enforcement officer fabricates a judicial authorization ex nihilo, forging the judicial signature or illicitly utilizing the physical or digital imprimatur of a judicial officer, thereby bypassing the adjudicator entirely. Such actions constitute forgery under section 366 of the Criminal Code, uttering a forged document under section 368, and personating a public officer under section 130, weaponizing the presumption of regularity against third parties who rely upon the document's apparent authority.

10. Third, administrative and civil forgery involves the falsification of civilian signatures on administrative policing forms or the exploitation of law enforcement status to manipulate private legal instruments. While this category frequently bypasses the criminal tribunals, it profoundly subverts administrative and civil processes, eroding public confidence and implicating offences such as breach of trust by a public officer pursuant to section 122 of the Criminal Code.

11. The paramount illustration of absolute judicial forgery in contemporary Canadian policing materialized within the Service de police de la Ville de Montréal during the pursuit of a notorious organized crime affiliate, documented comprehensively in Silva v R, 2021 QCCS 4627 (the "Silva Trial Decision"), and Police Ethics Commissioner v Joly-Tessier, 2024 QCTADP 49 (the "Joly-Tessier Tribunal Decision"). In that proceeding, an investigator misappropriated a justice's official stamp to fabricate a false judicial authorization (the "Fausse Autorisation Judiciaire"), completely bypassing judicial oversight. The tribunal observed that such actions profoundly jeopardize the separation of powers and the integrity of the justice system, emphasizing that society cannot tolerate law enforcement officers generating counterfeit court orders autonomously, notwithstanding the exigencies of a complex investigation. Applying this doctrine to the present circumstances, the utilization of an unauthorized and fabricated document analogous to a Fausse Autorisation Judiciaire necessitates a complete stay of proceedings, as the usurpation of the judicial function by state agents offends the fundamental principles of justice and extinguishes the jurisdiction of the tribunal in limine.

12. Furthermore, the jurisprudence addressing administrative forgery by law enforcement is elucidated in the matter of Constable Darren Smith of the Hamilton Police Service (the "Smith Prosecution"), who was prosecuted criminally for forging civilian signatures on firearms surrender waivers to bypass procedural prerequisites. In that instance, despite the absence of financial remuneration and the motivation being grounded in administrative convenience, the conduct resulted in a criminal conviction for forgery, establishing that the falsification of legal instruments by state agents constitutes a severe breach of trust. Applying the legal principles derived from the Smith Prosecution to the factual matrix at bar, the deliberate fabrication of the Form 2 Information and the associated endorsement demonstrates a corresponding, albeit exponentially more severe, manifestation of documentary forgery. When state actors fabricate foundational jurisdictional instruments, the resulting prejudice transcends mere administrative irregularity; it vitiates the entire prosecutorial foundation, rendering the subsequent deprivation of liberty an arbitrary and unconstitutional detention, and mandating the nullification of the proceedings ab initio.

13. Notwithstanding the aforementioned precedents concerning subfacial and administrative manipulation, the jurisprudential history of this nation remains devoid of any parallel to the outright falsification of a Form 2

5680 Information combined with a fabricated initial warrant—historically delineated as a warrant in the first instance, adopting the nomenclature from the Ministry of the Attorney General Court Services Division Information Access Guide (2019)—until the manifestation of the present proceedings.

JURISDICTIONAL FAILURES AND THE FABRICATION OF THE IMPUGNED ENDORSEMENT

14. The present application delineates a cascading sequence of jurisdictional failures, absolute administrative nullities, unremedied procedural irregularities, and severe forensic anomalies that collectively render the criminal proceeding instituted against the applicant (the "Applicant") an absolute nullity ab initio. The impugned instrument, styled ostensibly as an intake court endorsement dated the twenty-third of September, 2024 (the "Impugned Endorsement"), possesses absolutely no legal characteristic commensurate with a form 7 warrant (the "Form 7 Warrant").

15. The Impugned Endorsement is fundamentally devoid of the essential prerequisites characterising a Form 2 Information, fails to qualify as a legitimate judicial order, and constitutes no recognized species of criminal process—whether through the lawful swearing or Declaration of an Information or the execution of a Form 4 Indictment by the Attorney General, as contemplated within the definitions articulated in section 2 of the Criminal Code. Consequently, the instrument is entirely unrecognizable under the Criminal Code, the Criminal Proceedings Rules for the Superior Court of Justice (Ontario), SI/2012-7 (the "Criminal Proceedings Rules"), or any lawfully sanctioned intake architecture operating within the Province of Ontario.

16. The origination of the Impugned Endorsement implicates a judicial officer harbouring an established, demonstrable, and deeply entrenched animus toward the Applicant, originating near the temporal juncture of the Applicant's arrival in the jurisdiction of Ontario in April 2018. This profound adversarial predisposition stems from the judicial officer's antecedent capacity as legal counsel representing a litigant (the "Epstein Cole LLP Client") during contentious matrimonial proceedings against the Applicant's former romantic partner, who subsequently transitioned into a common-law spousal relationship with the Applicant, thereby establishing an indisputable and enduring conflict of interest.

5681 Forensic tracing establishes incontrovertibly that the Impugned Endorsement originated within the first-floor family law registry of the Superior Court of Justice, situated at 361 University Avenue, Toronto (the "Family Law Registry"). The Family Law Registry is exclusively vested with administrative jurisdiction pertaining to familial litigation; it possesses absolutely no criminal jurisdiction, maintains no statutory authority to issue criminal processes, and lacks any legislative mandate to administer criminal intake procedures. The utilization of a family-law administrative registry to generate an instrument compelling criminal arrest is unequivocally ultra vires, constitutionally corrosive, and irreconcilably incompatible with the open court principle.

18. The foundational architecture of the criminal justice system mandates unequivocally that criminal proceedings within Ontario must commence exclusively within the Ontario Court of Justice, and criminal warrants must be promulgated solely by a Justice of the Peace or a Provincial Court Judge exercising explicit criminal jurisdiction. The diversion of a criminal Information through the Family Law Registry constitutes a structural impossibility within the statutorily prescribed criminal justice framework, operating as a deliberate jurisdictional bypass of the legislated intake architecture.

19. With the benefit of hindsight, the connection between Madam Justice Shore and Chief Justice Morawetz became obvious in that by the Chief Justice Morawetz authorizing an INTAKE COURT ENDORSEMENT (SEPT 23 2024), it also required the blessing of a "Court Office" but without a filing of the Criminal Code Form 2 or the Criminal Code Form 4, it was an "off the books" type exercise.

20. The subsequent apprehension and ensuing custodial detention of the Applicant were predicated entirely upon this legally unauthorized and fabricated instrument. The Impugned Endorsement is entirely bereft of the statutorily mandated indicia defining a lawful warrant: it conspicuously lacks a Form 7 designation, contains no explicit directive commanding peace officers, omits the requisite offence particulars, fails to articulate the statutory grounds for issuance, provides no geographical parameters for execution, and features no verifiable or authenticated judicial signature. In both substance and form, the instrument manifests as an unequivocally false document.

21. Comprehensive forensic analysis substantiates that the Impugned Endorsement was generated utilizing GrapeCity Documents for PDF 6.0.2.0, an automated software development kit that is categorically unutilized by any judicial registry within the Province of Ontario. The constellation of metadata anomalies, anchor-point deviations, typographical font transitions, and footer corruptions intrinsically confirms extensive post-production digital 5682 manipulation. Such forensic irregularities are fundamentally irreconcilable with any authentic documentation promulgated by a designated court of record.

SPOLIATION OF JUDICIAL ACTA AND THE SUBVERSION OF THE INTAKE ARCHITECTURE

22. The documentary evidence reveals that the sworn Information ostensibly reviewed by the authorizing justice—specifically, Madam Justice Shore (the "Swearing Justice")—was subjected to material and unlawful alteration subsequent to the administration of the judicial oath. The third page of the five-page composite, which natively contained the critical jurat, the prosecutorial election, and the judicial confirmation blocks, was systematically excised and substituted with the Impugned Endorsement. This deliberate manipulation constitutes an egregious spoliation of sworn judicial acta. Invoking the evidentiary doctrine of omnia praesumuntur contra spoliatorem, this Honourable Court is legally obligated to infer that the destroyed or removed documentation contained evidentiary material directly adverse to the interests of the state apparatus.

23. Inquiries directed to the established criminal registries corroborate the complete absence of any legitimate intake procedure. The criminal administrative office of the Superior Court of Justice affirmatively certified the non-existence of any Form 2 Information, Indictment, or warrant pertaining to the Applicant. Similarly, the administrative registry for the Central West Region, specifically the Ontario Court of Justice situated in Brampton, confirmed an identical absence of any such filings. Furthermore, legal counsel acting on behalf of the Ministry of the Attorney General explicitly conceded that no such documentary filing ever transpired between the months of August and October 2024. As the Ontario Court of Justice facility at 10 Armoury Street did not function as the originating jurisdiction, it possessed no duplicate of the documentation, notwithstanding its purported, yet legally defective, designation as a transferee courthouse spanning distinct territorial divisions, contrary to the definitions articulated within the Criminal Code.

24. Consequently, the solitary administrative repository maintaining custody and control over the Impugned Endorsement is the Family Law Registry, thereby irrevocably solidifying its unauthorized, non-criminal genesis. Crown counsel's explicit admission acknowledging the absolute failure to properly file a Form 2 Information 5683 between August and October 2024 is legally fatal; absent the formal filing of an Information, no criminal proceeding can lawfully exist or be sustained in limine.

25. The protracted temporal lacuna of six weeks separating the initial apprehension of the Applicant on the second of October, 2024, and the inaugural judicial appearance on the thirteenth of November, 2024, precipitated an unconstitutional procedural vacuum. During this extended interval, law enforcement maintained exclusive, unregulated custody of the purported Information, possessing unfettered opportunity to alter, substitute, or meticulously fabricate the constituent pages. This delay transcends mere administrative inadvertence; rather, it constitutes the precise temporal window systematically exploited to effectuate the spoliation of the judicial record.

STATUTORY IMPERMEABILITY AND THE APPREHENSION OF BIAS

26. Should the prosecutorial authority attempt to invoke section 599 of the Criminal Code to retroactively legitimize the irregular geographic and institutional routing of the Information, such an assertion remains jurisprudentially impossible. The applicability of section 599 is strictly delineated to judicial venues before which an accused is or may be indicted. Given the prosecutorial election to proceed via summary conviction, the matter is categorically precluded from resulting in an Indictment. Consequently, section 599 is statutorily impermeable and fundamentally incapable of curing a foundational, intake-level jurisdictional defect.

27. The deprivation of the Applicant's liberty was further contaminated by a profound and unmitigated conflict of interest. The Swearing Justice had previously operated as senior litigation counsel at a law firm representing a profoundly adverse litigant against the Applicant within the context of highly contentious civil litigation. The deliberate failure to disclose this antecedent adversarial relationship, synergized with the demonstrably irregular forum-shopping executed to procure a warrant through the Family Law Registry, engenders an overwhelming and objective reasonable apprehension of bias, representing a severe contravention of the Ethical Principles for Judges.

CUMULATIVE SUBVERSION OF THE RULE OF LAW AND REQUESTED RELIEF

28. The cumulative amalgamation of these profound jurisdictional and procedural transgressions—encompassing the ultra vires issuance of a family-law endorsement masquerading as a criminal warrant, the deliberate spoliation of the Form 2 Information jurat, the forensic fabrication of a digital signature, the intentional circumvention of the 5684 electronic intake architecture, the undisclosed conflict of interest, and the absolute failure to formally file the foundational Information—fundamentally shocks the conscience of this Honourable Court and unequivocally undermines public confidence in the administration of justice. These actions do not represent mere administrative infelicities; they constitute a systemic and deliberate circumvention of the rule of law.

29. In light of the aforementioned incontrovertible factual matrix and the application of rigorous jurisprudential doctrines, the Applicant respectfully seeks declaratory, prerogative, and equitable relief to rectify the profound jurisdictional vacuum engineered by the failure of the state apparatus to file a lawful Information. The Applicant beseeches this Honourable Court to quash the Impugned Endorsement, to issue an order of mandamus compelling the production of the unadulterated, original judicial acta, and to restore the judicial record Nunc pro tunc to its lawful, untainted state as it ostensibly existed on the twenty-third of September, 2024, thereby restoring the status quo ante.

30. The three cases referenced in the history of this country wherein the police engaged in either outright fabrication of the Information or a civilian's certification to surrender weapons are infra. The only case where a police officer had taken the judicial stamp of a JP, OCJ Judge or SCJ Judge was the 2019 cases involving R. v. Silva and police officer Mr. Joly-Tessier.

Case / Subject	Type of Fabrication	Systemic Response / Penalty	Context
SPVM Officer Guillaume Joly-Tessier (Frédérick Silva case) 2019	Absolute (Stole JP stamp, forged signature on fake warrant)	25-day suspension without pay (Police Ethics Tribunal).	Noble cause corruption; high-pressure hunt for serial killer. Administrative leniency despite severe judicial denunciation. (underlying case is R. v. Silva) 2019: Silva v. R., 2021 QCCS 4627 Silva v. R., 2021 QCCS 4131

5685			In ORDER FOR THE RUSE TO WORK INVOLVING A HITMAN IN FRED SILVA [iii]
Toronto Drug Squad (R. v. Schertzer) 2015	Subfacial (Fabricated notes, false ITO, perjury)	3 years imprisonment (Ontario Court of Appeal).	Cover-up of a Charter s.8 breach. Court established strict standard for police perjury and document fabrication.
Hamilton Police (R. v. Hansen) 2016	Subfacial (Swore false ITO to target drug dealer)	5 years imprisonment (Superior Court of Justice).	Malicious prosecution; severe breach of trust and corruption of the judicial authorization process. Five years in prison.
Const. Darren Smith (Hamilton Police) 2019	Administrative (Forged citizen signatures on firearms waivers)	18 months probation, 75 hours community service.	Laziness and convenience; no financial gain, but still prosecuted criminally for forgery. (NTD: case that I have cited many times and in the criminal case

31. However, never in the history of this country has there been the falsification of the Criminal Code Form 2 Information and the purported arrest warrant (warrant in the first as one called it as if it the language was being taken from the MAG CSD Court Information Access Guide (2019) until now.

I. INAPPLICABILITY OF SECTION 599 AND JURISDICTIONAL ROUTING

32. It is submitted that any reliance upon section 599 of the Criminal Code, RSC 1985, c C-46 (the "Criminal Code") to justify the highly irregular and unauthorized transfer of charging documents is statutorily misconceived, jurisprudentially unfounded, and fundamentally devoid of legal merit. The applicability of this specific statutory provision to the extant factual matrix is definitively precluded by two insurmountable statutory impediments in limine, which operate to entirely vitiate the Crown's procedural posture.

33 Primarily, the substantive application of the provision is strictly constrained to indictable offences by the explicit and unambiguous text of the legislation. Section 599(1) of the Criminal Code explicitly stipulates its application solely to "A court before which an accused is or may be indicted". Within the foundational architecture of Canadian criminal jurisprudence, the jurisdictional bifurcation between summary conviction offences—adjudicated exclusively by a jurist sitting in the Ontario Court of Justice (the "OCJ")—and indictable offences—which may engage the jurisdiction of the superior courts—is paramount and non-derogable. Given that the prosecuting authority has unequivocally elected to proceed by way of a summary conviction election (the "Crown Election"), the accused shall ipso facto never face an indictment nor the prospect of a jury trial. Consequently, section 599 of the Criminal Code is statutorily inapplicable on its face. To invoke this provision in the context of pure summary proceedings evinces a profound misapprehension of the bifurcated procedural conduits established by the legislature, attempting to forcefully graft an indictable mechanism onto a summary conviction reality.

34. Furthermore, an exacting analysis of the legislative intent reveals that section 599 of the Criminal Code operates exclusively as a substantive change of venue provision, rather than a mere administrative filing mechanism utilized to correct bureaucratic routing errors. It is historically, practically, and jurisprudentially reserved for those rare and exceptional instances wherein an accused faces an indictable trial that must be transposed to a completely distinct territorial division to mitigate the overwhelming taint of pre-trial publicity or localized prejudice, thereby preserving the fundamental integrity of the jury pool and the accused's constitutional right to a fair trial. Opposing counsel may attempt to creatively characterize the transposition of the charging document as a mere procedural irregularity curable under standard administrative practices; however, such a counter-argument must be emphatically dismissed as a legal fiction. The physical transposition of a sworn form 2 information (the "Information") from the chambers of an issuing superior court magistrate to a lower intake registry is a basic administrative routing imperative, possessing absolutely no nexus to a substantive, judicially mandated change of venue. To purposefully conflate these legally distinct mechanisms is legally untenable and constitutes an impermissible, results-oriented attempt to leverage a complex trial provision to excuse a foundational failure of administrative court filing.

35. The jurisdictional routing of foundational charging documents from the Ontario Superior Court of Justice (the "SCJ") to the OCJ demands rigorous, uncompromising adherence to the sanctity of the court record. The intentional destruction, post-oath alteration, or deliberate concealment of formal adjudicative documents by state agents constitutes the egregious and actionable act of spoliation. Pursuant to the centuries-old evidentiary doctrine of omnia praesumuntur contra spoliatorem—all things are presumed against a wrongdoer—the tribunal is strictly compelled to draw the most adverse inferences possible, specifically inferring that the excised or altered pages contained documentary evidence highly detrimental to the legal position of the state actors responsible for their manipulation. This presumption is magnified exponentially when the alleged spoliators are sworn peace officers entrusted with the administration of justice.

36. A strict, legally recognized demarcation exists between purely administrative endorsement pages and substantive, sworn documentary instruments. The intake court endorsement (the "Intake Court Endorsement"), frequently designated within the registry as a backing sheet, functions strictly as an administrative apparatus utilized by court registry staff to chronologically chronicle remands, bail conditions, the Crown Election, and the eventual entry of pleas. The customary administrative practice of appending a blank endorsement sheet prior to official electronic or physical filing does not, prima facie, vitiate the underlying legality of the charge, as it does not purport to alter the sworn allegations.

37. Conversely, the substantive pages comprising the specific counts and the jurat are executed under the absolute, solemn penalty of perjury. Should state agents physically excise the specific page delineating the charges that were previously scrutinized and explicitly authorized by a jurist of the SCJ, subsequently substituting or augmenting it post-oath to cure defects or alter the narrative, such conduct constitutes a catastrophic procedural breach and the direct spoliation of a sworn legal instrument. The acta of the court are thereby irreversibly tainted.

38. An Information cannot be materially altered, augmented, or subjected to page substitution subsequent to the administration of the judicial oath without inextricably severing the absolute chain of custody of that oath. The law dictates that should the factual circumstances or the specific prosecutorial counts necessitate modification prior to the inaugural judicial appearance, law enforcement personnel are statutorily precluded from merely substituting 5688 physical pages into the existing package; they are strictly and universally obligated to swear a completely superseding Information before a justice of the peace to re-engage the legal machinery.

39. Where the evidentiary record demonstrates—as it does in the extant matter—that the physical pages originally sworn before the SCJ diverge structurally, materially, or substantively from the iteration ultimately filed with the OCJ registry, it is a self-evident conclusion that the Information currently situated before the tribunal was never sworn under oath in its extant, pieced-together form. An unsworn Information presented as a sworn instrument is an absolute legal nullity, representing a fatal jurisdictional deficiency that immediately and permanently divests the tribunal of any adjudicative authority. Such a systemic failure to authenticate the charging instrument operates in direct contravention of the fundamental justice and liberty guarantees enshrined within section 7 of the Canadian Charter of Rights and Freedoms, Part I of the Constitution Act, 1982, being Schedule B to the Canada Act 1982 (UK), 1982, c 11 (the "Charter").

III. TEMPORAL ANOMALIES AND THE ADMINISTRATIVE CHASM

40. The highly anomalous and entirely unexplained temporal chasm spanning the initial detention of the accused on October 2, 2024, and the scheduled inaugural judicial appearance on November 13, 2024, demands rigorous, skeptical scrutiny regarding the custodial transmission of the charging package. This prolonged delay directly offends the core constitutional imperatives of prompt disclosure and judicial oversight.

41. A critical, substantive legal distinction must be drawn between the swearing of the charging document and its subsequent, formal filing with the registry of the court of competent jurisdiction. Given that the investigative authorities were statutorily required to swear the Information before an SCJ jurist to secure the arrest warrant initially, the Information was legally laid pursuant to section 504 of the Criminal Code prior to the physical detention of the accused on October 2, 2024. The administration of the oath had already been perfected, thereby irreversibly activating the prosecutorial machinery and engaging the liberty interests of the subject.

42. The physical or electronic transmission of the aforementioned sworn documentation to the OCJ represents a constitutionally imperative administrative step required to place the matter before an independent adjudicator. The absolute chronological boundary for law enforcement to deposit the package with the OCJ registry is strictly prior 5689 to the commencement of court proceedings on the date of the first appearance. Failure to do so results in a loss of jurisdiction over the person.

43. Section 505 of the Criminal Code unequivocally mandates that an Information must be laid "as soon as practicable" and "in any event before the time stated in the appearance notice or undertaking." As the Information was preemptively sworn to procure the warrant weeks prior, law enforcement was merely obligated to ensure the physical documentation was expeditiously deposited at the OCJ intake registry for docketing. Holding the document for six weeks plainly violates the spirit and the letter of the "as soon as practicable" standard, which requires diligent administrative routing, not strategic document retention.

44. Consequently, law enforcement exploited the entirety of the six-week interval to retain exclusive, unmonitored physical custody of the file prior to its submission to the OCJ registry. While opposing counsel may proffer the technical argument that this timeline mathematically complies with the outermost boundaries prescribed by section 505 of the Criminal Code, such a defense is inherently specious and ignores the substantive psychological and procedural prejudice inflicted upon the accused. This extensive, unexplained delay engineered a deliberate evidentiary void—a procedural black hole—relegating the accused to a state of juridical limbo entirely devoid of a publicly accessible docket against which to verify the legality of the detention. Crucially, this artificial temporal expanse provided ample opportunity for the physical manipulation of the document, the substitution of substantive pages, and the post facto fabrication of the signature of the justice of the peace (the "JP"), all effectuated entirely insulated from the auditing functions of judicial oversight.

V. THE ISSUANCE OF PROCESS AND SUPERIOR COURT OF JUSTICE CUSTODY

45. The granular application of the mechanical provisions of the Criminal Code and standard court administrative protocols to the specific factual matrix involving the courthouse situated at 361 University Avenue and the chambers of Madam Justice Shore reveals profound procedural irregularities and systemic anomalies that strike at the heart of the tribunal's adjudicative integrity.

46. As a tribunal of inherent jurisdiction, the SCJ possesses plenary administrative, supervisory, and judicial powers that substantially eclipse those of the statutorily circumscribed OCJ. It is an axiomatic principle of law that the SCJ, acting as a court of record, bears the ultimate, non-delegable responsibility for preserving the original, executed 5690 arrest warrant as an indelible component of its permanent, audited acta. The precise procedural conduit leading to this retention, however, is wholly contingent upon the precise methodology employed by law enforcement to lay the Information.

47. Pursuant to the strictures of section 508.1 of the Criminal Code, should the Information have been laid via telecommunication, the physical document would not have been contemporaneously filed at the SCJ at the moment of issuance. The affiant would administer the oath remotely, and the presiding jurist would electronically generate and transmit the legal process. Nevertheless, the utilization of tele-applications, (otherwise not appearing in person) and/or telewarrants necessitates an uncompromising, rigorously audited paper trail; the Information sworn upon oath must be subsequently filed with the registrar to ensure absolute transparency and to facilitate potential certiorari review.

48. Alternatively, should the swearing process have occurred physically in camera within the judicial chambers of the SCJ, the presiding jurist would have directly scrutinized the physical documentation, though not necessarily retained a physical iteration within those specific chambers. Operating in the highly administrative and heavily burdened capacity of Family Team Leader, Madam Justice Shore exercises the authority to review the Information and authorize the warrant in camera, expeditiously returning the acta to law enforcement or, more properly, to her registry personnel for formal processing and entry into the court's immutable records.

49. It is odd on its face that Madam Justice Shore became the family law team leader at the SCJ 361 University Avenue Courthouse, after it began to house SCJ family law matters, considering she was only appointed in late 2018. She had little to not judicial experience in the arena of family law when compared to other Judges of the SCJ and her family law litigation experience was minimal at best. She did not shape family law in Ontario or in Canada in any significant way per se but she certainly politicized her potential appointment with much fervour and sat on a litany of committees and boards on the administrative side.

50. In the conspicuous absence of a digitally generated, pre-populated form 7 arrest warrant (the "Form 7") provided ab initio by the attending law enforcement officers—a standard practice in modern policing—the administrative execution and formatting of the judicial fiat inevitably devolves upon the subordinate court registry. The administrative personnel situated on the first floor of the SCJ specifically facilitate these functional, clerical requirements for the Family Division.

5691 In such an administrative paradigm, a registrar or clerk of the court is statutorily empowered to sign or authenticate the resulting warrant on behalf of the presiding jurist based upon her oral directives, subsequently transmitting an electronic iteration of the issued process to the operational officer, specifically Detective Virani. This operational sequence is entirely consistent with the sweeping statutory authority conferred by section 3.1 of the Criminal Code, which provides that judicial acts are effective from the exact moment they are pronounced, and that the clerk of the court is fully authorized to memorialize such acts in writing.

52. Irrespective of whether the warrant was authorized via telecommunication pursuant to section 508.1 of the Criminal Code or physically in camera by Madam Justice Shore, the originating tribunal retains absolute, non-delegable responsibility for the original acta. Because the SCJ is a court of record possessing inherent jurisdiction, the original signed arrest warrant—or the master electronic corollary—must permanently reside within the originating court office (the "Originating Court Office"). The complete, certified absence of these requisite records from the SCJ archives, despite formal demands, constitutes a glaring anomaly indicative of either catastrophic administrative negligence or deliberate, state-sanctioned concealment designed to mask a jurisdictional usurpation.

V. ANATOMY OF THE SWORN RECORD AND STRUCTURAL DEFICIENCIES

53. A rigorous, technical analysis of the standard structural architecture of an Ontario Form 2 Information package decisively corroborates the deductions advanced herein regarding the systematic removal of substantive pages and the deliberate obfuscation of the true warrant. The Form 2 is not a mere compilation of administrative paper; it is a meticulously calibrated statutory matrix designed to permanently and immutably codify the precise legal jeopardy of the subject.

54. The inaugural page delineates the substantive criminal charges, rigorously enumerating the identity of the accused, the date of the alleged infraction, and the precise statutory text governing the purported counts. The subsequent third and fourth pages encapsulate the jurat, the release mechanisms, and the Crown Election. This specific anatomical section constitutes the absolute, most critical component of the criminal process, as it contains the physical signature block wherein the affiant swears the solemn oath and the jurist validates the administration of that oath. The deliberate excision of this specific page thoroughly sanitizes the documentary history, permanently

5692 erasing the original signature, the corroboration of the release mechanism, and the initial prosecutorial election from the purview of reviewing courts.

55. The disposition page chronicles the ultimate adjudication, plea, or sentence corresponding to each specific, enumerated count. Its unceremonious removal further sanitizes the acta, ensuring that any subsequent judicial verification regarding the original number of counts presented to the SCJ judge—as juxtaposed against the counts ultimately filed weeks later at the OCJ—remains entirely impossible. This structural sabotage purposefully masks potential prosecutorial overcharging or the subsequent, unrecorded abandonment of unsupportable allegations.

56. The fifth page, designated exclusively and explicitly for administrative purposes, is customarily auto-populated by the records management system of the law enforcement agency (e.g., Niche RMS) prior to the physical printing of the document. The information number is strictly left blank by law enforcement, legally mandated to be physically inscribed by the OCJ registry personnel solely upon official filing into the provincial tracking system. The listed return date signifies the inaugural appearance date, whereas the designated courtroom refers exclusively to the OCJ intake courtroom, representing a geographic locus completely distinct from the SCJ chambers wherein the warrant was originally procured.

57. The documentary record presently before this tribunal evinces only a diminutive, highly irregular administrative checkbox indicating "Warrant 1st" (warrant in the first instance). It is a foundational tenet of criminal procedure that the Form 2 Information package does not legally encompass the actual, executable arrest warrant. The Information is merely the sworn foundational pleading containing the factual allegations requisite to justify the prospective issuance of the warrant. The warrant itself is an entirely distinct statutory command document, strictly and universally mandated to be a Form 7, which operates as the coercive instrument of state power.

58. Upon the execution of the Form 7, the physical warrant must legally be returned to the issuing tribunal to be formally recorded as executed, thereby concluding the life cycle of the command. Consequently, to procure an authenticated copy of the actual Form 7, one cannot rely upon the manipulated Information package filed belatedly at the OCJ; one must direct the request specifically to the Originating Court Office—a fundamental administrative request the SCJ has heretofore been suspiciously and uniformly incapable of fulfilling, further strengthening the presumption of spoliation.

59. The complex factual matrix herein establishes a compelling, irrefutable synthesis of deliberate documentary obfuscation achieved through the strategic, bad-faith exploitation of the jurisdictional overlap between the SCJ and the OCJ. Standard operational procedure unambiguously necessitates that law enforcement officers present routine applications for arrest warrants to a JP within the OCJ. These statutorily appointed jurists are intimately acquainted with the rigorous statutory thresholds required to justify the deprivation of liberty and process these applications with standardized consistency.

60. Diverting this routine process to an SCJ jurist—specifically one presiding exclusively over the family docket who is entirely unaccustomed to the nuances of routine criminal intake—constitutes highly irregular conduct and the strategic circumvention of jurisdictional imperatives, colloquially and jurisprudentially condemned as forum shopping. This maneuver affords law enforcement a distinct, unearned tactical advantage. A family law jurist, habituated to civil evidentiary standards and lengthy affidavit evidence, may rely more heavily upon the uncorroborated verbal assertions of law enforcement personnel rather than rigorously scrutinizing the strict, liberty-engaging nuances of the Criminal Code. Furthermore, as the SCJ explicitly lacks an immediate, automated docketing pipeline to the OCJ provincial systems, a profound structural disconnect is intentionally engineered. This engineered disconnect forged the exact temporal void wherein law enforcement retained unmonitored custody of the Information package prior to its official registration as a publicly accessible OCJ record.

61. Pursuant to section 29(1) of the Criminal Code, it is the strict, unambiguous, and non-delegable legal obligation of any state agent executing a warrant to physically possess the document and to produce it for inspection upon request. This specific statutory duty is inextricably intertwined with the fundamental constitutional right of the accused under section 10(a) of the Charter to be informed promptly of the specific, documented reasons for their detention. A failure to produce the warrant when requested vitiates the lawfulness of the detention.

62. If the SCJ registry personnel or law enforcement generated an Intake Court Endorsement rather than a statutorily compliant Form 7 command document, the resulting instrument is fundamentally procedurally defective and incapable of sustaining a lawful arrest. Cognizant of this glaring, fatal defect, law enforcement possessed a powerful, self-serving animus to fabricate pretexts for actively withholding the warrant during the arrest phase.

5694 They were undoubtedly aware that an accused possessing sophisticated legal acumen and familiarity with the Criminal Code would instantly identify the document as legally void, thereby immediately exposing the detention as arbitrary, unlawful, and subject to immediate civil remedy.

VII. EVIDENTIARY VOIDS: THE PHANTOM INFORMANT AND UNAUTHENTICATED OATHS

63. The foundational evidentiary voids established by the certified documentary record provide an unequivocal roadmap demonstrating profound procedural malfeasance. Written correspondence obtained from Crown Counsel Ananthan Sinnadurai, acting on behalf of the Ministry of the Attorney General, explicitly confirmed that a comprehensive, exhaustive search of OCJ records concerning the purported informant, Mrs. Frugoni-Rojas, yielded absolute zero responsive records for the relevant temporal window of August through October. In the realm of administrative law and evidence, a "nil" response from a formal governmental records inquiry operates as highly persuasive, nearly conclusive evidence that the purported administrative event did not occur within that jurisdiction.

64. Because the evidentiary record confirms the absolute absence of any oath administered by the purported informant during the relevant period, it flows chronologically, logically, and inevitably that no record exists of Justice of the Peace Jiri—or any other OCJ jurist—receiving a sworn oath from her. The swearing event depicted upon the substituted backing page is a phantom occurrence, an entirely non-existent fiction within the tracking architecture of the tribunal. This fact conclusively proves the document was backdated, fabricated post facto, or generated completely outside the authorized auspices of the OCJ.

65. To an outside observer, the prospect of a mere administrative clerk functioning as an informant without an iota of personal knowledge of the investigation appears inherently flawed; however, this represents a highly scrutinized conduit mechanism currently tolerated under the Criminal Code. Designated civilian court officers routinely swear Informations based solely upon "information and belief." The fatal systemic flaw inherent in this methodology is the absolute reliance upon the verbatim veracity of the law enforcement file placed before them. This systemic rubber-stamping permanently divorces the solemnity of the judicial oath from objective truth, significantly escalating the risk of arbitrary detention. It provides the exact mechanism by which blatant factual fabrications—5695 such as the non-existent communications alleged herein—manifest seamlessly upon sworn documents, as the affiant possesses zero independent capacity to verify the claims they are swearing to be true.

VIII. PRE-EXISTING CONFLICTS OF INTEREST AND RETALIATORY ANIMUS

66. The profound procedural anomalies, fabrications, and delays delineated above do not materialize in a sterile vacuum. They must be rigorously contextualized within the broader, highly antagonistic factual matrix involving severe conflicts of interest implicating the presiding judicial officer and collateral civil litigation. These intertwined factors collectively supply the compelling, irrefutable motive for the state-sanctioned malfeasance and documentary obfuscation.

67. The accused, possessing extensive civil litigation experience, previously assisted his ex-fiancée in highly contentious, high-stakes family law proceedings against her former spouse. Crucially, the opposing spouse was represented by the prominent firm Epstein Cole LLP. During this exact historical epoch, Madam Justice Shore served as a senior partner at Epstein Cole LLP, heavily invested in the firm's success. The legal strategies aggressively employed by the accused secured a massive financial victory, effectively defeating the efforts of Epstein Cole LLP and engendering a deeply adversarial prior relationship with the law firm and its partners. This underlying dynamic crystallizes severe, actionable concerns regarding judicial impartiality, operating in direct, flagrant contravention of the Ethical Principles for Judges established by the Canadian Judicial Council, which mandate immediate recusal where past professional associations yield a reasonable apprehension of bias, a standard firmly entrenched in Canadian law since Committee for Justice and Liberty v. National Energy Board, [1978] 1 SCR 369.

68. Furthermore, this localized nexus of judicial animosity is inextricably linked to ongoing, high-value civil insurance litigation arising from a catastrophic, near-fatal motor vehicle collision in 2022. The defeated opposing party in the aforementioned family law dispute concurrently managed the specific corporate insurance department adjudicating the collision claim. This extraordinary convergence intertwines the civil hostilities with the irregular criminal proceedings, creating an environment ripe for retaliatory action.

69. The retaliatory animus reached its absolute zenith following an escalating tenancy dispute wherein the accused secured an urgent, binding order from the Landlord and Tenant Board asserting his rights. Rather than facilitating 5696 the peaceful execution of this lawful civil order, law enforcement orchestrated a deceptive ruse on October 2, 2024, to effectuate an arrest predicated entirely upon the forum-shopped, defective warrant issued by Madam Justice Shore. The utilization of coercive language and threats of prolonged pre-trial custody by arresting officers capitalized upon the deliberately defective paperwork to maximize psychological duress and compliance.

70. Despite coordinated, targeted intimidation—including a specific theft of legal files orchestrated by individuals connected directly to the civil litigation—the accused formally escalated the civil matter by filing a Notice of Constitutional Question. The overarching objective of the irregular, improperly documented criminal proceedings became glaringly apparent: to orchestrate a chilling effect, utilizing the coercive power of the state to prevent the accused from aggressively advancing his civil litigation to the Divisional Court.

71. The true motive underlying the elaborate obfuscation of the paperwork is entirely self-evident when the timelines are overlaid. Had the original Form 2 and Form 7 borne the authentic signature of Madam Justice Shore, an immutable documentary link would have been permanently established in the public record, irrevocably proving the jurist who issued the irregular criminal warrant possessed a severe, pre-existing professional conflict of interest against the accused. The subsequent excision of the original jurat and the desperate substitution of the Intake Court Endorsement served a singular, protective imperative: to sever this toxic documentary nexus before the file entered the transparent, publicly auditable OCJ intake system, thereby shielding the jurist from inevitable scrutiny by the Canadian Judicial Council.

IX. THE INTAKE COURT ENDORSEMENT: A JURISDICTIONAL IMPOSSIBILITY

72. The impugned document proffered to law enforcement to justify the severe, profound deprivation of liberty is titled an "Intake Court Endorsement". This highly specific and extraordinarily unusual civil nomenclature operates as the evidentiary apex—the absolute "smoking gun"—proving conclusively that the document did not originate from standard OCJ criminal procedures, but rather was hastily repurposed from civil templates.

73. The specific phrase "Intake Court Endorsement" is entirely absent from the text of the Criminal Code, the Criminal Rules of the Ontario Court of Justice, and the Criminal Proceedings Rules for the Superior Court of Justice (Ontario). It is a linguistic and procedural construct completely alien to criminal procedure. As consistently 5697 applied across civil and family law practice directions province-wide, an intake court endorsement is utilized almost exclusively in SCJ family law matters to delineate rapid interim directions to the parties regarding custody or conferences.

74. To contextualize the gravity of this impossibility, reference must be made to the Supreme Court of Canada's foundational pronouncements on jurisdictional boundaries. In MacMillan Bloedel Ltd. v. Simpson, [1995] 4 SCR 725 at para 30 (MacMillan Bloedel), the Court elucidated the inherent jurisdiction of superior courts, sharply contrasting it with the strictly statutory authority conferred upon inferior tribunals. Applying this venerable doctrine to the present circumstances, while the Ontario Superior Court of Justice undoubtedly possesses inherent jurisdiction, it cannot summarily and arbitrarily graft civil family law procedural mechanisms onto the strictures of the Criminal Code to circumvent the explicit statutory preconditions for the issuance of criminal process. Consequently, any document purporting to be an intake court endorsement deployed within a criminal context to effect an arrest is strictly ultra vires and fundamentally void ab initio, rendering the subsequent execution of such process a legal nullity.

75. Furthermore, it is a jurisdictional impossibility for a justice of the peace presiding in the OCJ in Brampton to possess the statutory authority, the institutional system templates, or the procedural mechanism to issue a family-law-style endorsement for a criminal charge originating in Toronto. The utilization of this specific civil terminology invariably corroborates the premise that an SCJ family law jurist generated the initial direction utilizing the sole templates available to her registry staff, which were subsequently, clumsily misappropriated onto Toronto Police Service letterhead to masquerade as lawful criminal process.

X. STATUTORY NON-COMPLIANCE AND DIGITAL SIGNATURE INVALIDITY

76. While section 32 of the Interpretation Act, RSC 1985, c I-21 (the "Interpretation Act") dictates that minor deviations from prescribed forms do not automatically invalidate the instrument, the Intake Court Endorsement fundamentally deviates from the very substance of a true Form 7 in nine distinct, fatal respects, thereby obliterating its legal authority entirely.

77. The opposing counsel may attempt to invoke section 32 of the Interpretation Act to characterize these failures as mere curable administrative defects. However, the jurisprudence is unequivocal that section 32 cannot cure the 5698 wholesale omission of mandatory, substantive elements that engage the liberty of the subject. The impugned document comprehensively fails to: include the statutory designation "FORM 7"; direct the order explicitly to peace officers in the territorial division; particularize the date of birth of the subject to prevent wrongful arrest; delineate the specific offences charged; articulate the statutory legal basis for the warrant; contain the mandatory, active command to immediately arrest; stipulate the precise date of physical execution; identify the geographic locus of the signature; and, crucially, bear the authentic, verifiable signature of the issuing judicial officer. Lacking these nine foundational, statutorily mandated elements, the document is facially invalid, rendering any arrest predicated upon it a flagrant, unconstitutional breach of section 9 of the Charter.

78. Furthermore, the printed text "Digitally signed by Justice of the Peace George Jiri" lacks any semblance of legal validity. Under the strict, heavily regulated parameters of section 31.4 of the Canada Evidence Act, RSC 1985, c C-5, section 31 of the Personal Information Protection and Electronic Documents Act, SC 2000, c 5, and the Secure Electronic Signature Regulations, SOR/2005-30, a valid digital signature necessitates a cryptographic Public Key Infrastructure entirely absent from this fabricated document. It requires a one-way mathematical hash function to ensure document integrity. The unencrypted text presently displayed is legally analogous to a blank page, rendering the document wholly incapable of commanding a peace officer.

79. The modern legal framework established in R. v. Smith, 2020 ONCJ 611 (Smith) aligns perfectly with these specific anomalies, providing a direct pathway to findings of documentary fabrication by state agents. In Smith, the tribunal definitively ruled that a signature is a fundamental, material part of a document, and a document lacking a genuine signature but purposefully presented as authentic constitutes a false document pursuant to section 321 of the Criminal Code. Utilizing this fabricated Intake Court Endorsement to justify detention fully satisfies the mens rea for uttering a forged document, as the intention to deceive the justice system regarding the authority of the instrument is legally sufficient for a finding of profound malfeasance.

XI. THE DELIBERATE RUSE AND THE CANADIAN POLICE INFORMATION CENTRE METADATA TRAP

80. The heavily condensed timeline of September 23, 2024, reveals a panicked seventy-minute window during which the defective paperwork was ostensibly drafted. Following a brief oral order from Madam Justice Shore, the administrative staff in the Family Registry—unfamiliar with criminal Form 7 templates and lacking access to the criminal icon system—utilized the civil Intake Court Endorsement format to memorialize the direction and rapidly transmit it to law enforcement.

81. Upon receipt of this legally defective document, Detective Virani immediately recognized the operational impossibility of executing a standard, forced-entry tactical arrest, as the paperwork was fatally flawed on its face and would not survive immediate judicial scrutiny or a challenge from a legally literate accused. Consequently, law enforcement engineered a property ruse, luring the accused to the controlled environment of the station under false pretenses. While police trickery is occasionally permissible in investigatory contexts under the doctrine established in R. v. Rothman, [1981] 1 SCR 640 (Rothman), it unequivocally crosses the threshold of legality when utilized specifically to circumvent the absence of a lawful statutory warrant and to actively withhold the physical document from an accused to prevent its immediate legal deconstruction.

82. The Canadian Police Information Centre architecture operates as a highly secure, immutable digital ledger maintained under federal RCMP auspices. Opposing counsel might attempt to minimize the evidentiary weight of this database by characterizing it as a mere secondary administrative tool. Nevertheless, the metadata generated within this system is legally binding, time-stamped, and permanently auditable. To operationalize the arrest across divisions, law enforcement was compelled to enter the warrant into this system, a process demanding the input of the originating agency, the level of court, the specific jurisdiction, and the authorizing justice. This digital ledger constitutes an unavoidable trap; regardless of subsequent physical document destruction or substitution, the original server-side logs will definitively reflect that the warrant originated from the SCJ on that specific date, completely eviscerating any state narrative asserting the SCJ possessed no involvement.

XII. INSTITUTIONAL OBFUSCATION AND THE E-INTAKE IMPOSSIBILITY

83. The deliberate institutional obfuscation is further evidenced by the bureaucratic misdirection encountered by the accused at the courthouse itself. Upon the initiation of direct inquiries by the accused to the SCJ judicial correspondence registry seeking the true originating order, staff explicitly diverted the inquiry away from the Family Registry, aggressively directing the accused to the second-floor criminal intake. The subsequent evasive, highly irregular, and confused behavior of the second-floor staff is entirely consistent with deliberate bureaucratic misdirection; they lacked custody of the file precisely because the oral order was handled exclusively and clandestinely by the first-floor Family Registry.

84. The recent, mandatory province-wide implementation of the criminal e-intake portal stands as definitive, systemic proof that standard OCJ processes were entirely bypassed in this matter. The e-intake system enforces rigid, automated, rules-based geographic routing that would never, under any programmed parameters, inexplicably assign a Toronto Police application to a JP situated in Brampton.

85. More crucially, if a warrant is approved through this authorized channel, the portal automatically generates a standardized, fully compliant Form 7 as a locked, cryptographically secure PDF. The digital architecture of the e-intake system is literally programmed to be incapable of outputting a manually typed Intake Court Endorsement pasted onto police letterhead. The complete absence of standard e-intake routing logs destroys any potential Crown argument characterizing this as a harmless administrative error by OCJ staff, proving the document was entirely manufactured outside the authorized provincial parameters.

XIII. THE BIFURCATION OF ENDORSEMENTS AND ORDERS

86. Canadian jurisprudence maintains an unbridgeable legal bifurcation between a judicial endorsement and a formal statutory order, a distinction that fundamentally invalidates the use of the impugned document for an arrest. Pursuant to rule 2.01 of the Criminal Proceedings Rules for the Superior Court of Justice (Ontario) (the "CPR"), an order is explicitly defined as the formal, binding legal instrument commanding an action. Conversely, an endorsement is merely a directional fiat—an instruction to the registry mapping out the basis upon which a formal order should ultimately be drawn. It is akin to a physician's chart notes versus the actual prescription.

87. To operate as an immediate arrest warrant under the Criminal Code, an oral order or written endorsement must strictly satisfy the rigid statutory prerequisites of a Form 7 on its face. The Intake Court Endorsement, stating solely "Warrant In The First: Issue", constitutes a mere judicial instruction directing the registry to create a warrant in the future. It thoroughly lacks the mandatory active commands required of a true statutory order, rendering the subsequent arrest reliant upon it fundamentally unlawful and an exercise in arbitrary state power.

XIV. EQUITABLE TOLLING AND THE LIMITATION PERIOD TRAP

88. While opposing counsel may advance the predictable argument that the application to quash is statutorily time-barred pursuant to the strict thirty-day limitation period prescribed by rule 43.04(1) of the CPR, such an assertion is fundamentally flawed and morally bankrupt when analyzed through the lens of equitable doctrines.

89. The limitation period under the CPR is explicitly and inextricably tethered to a formally executed order. As the impugned document has been demonstrated to be merely a directional endorsement fundamentally lacking the commanding statutory requirements of an order, the condition precedent for the commencement of the limitation period has never legally materialized. One cannot be out of time to challenge an order that was never validly issued.

90. Furthermore, the supreme equitable doctrine of fraus omnia corrumpit—fraud vitiates everything—operates to perpetually toll any procedural limitations where the foundational legal instrument has been fabricated, spoliated, or intentionally withheld by agents of the state, as was eloquently elucidated by the Supreme Court of Canada in Landreville v. The Queen, [1977] 2 SCR 452 at para 15. It is a self-evident conclusion that the Crown cannot weaponize a strict procedural limitation period to shield state-sanctioned spoliation and jurisdictional overreach. The deliberate concealment and fabrication inherently nullify the procedural clock, stripping the Crown of their primary procedural shield and rendering the application to quash procedurally valid, timely, and properly before the court.

XV. NULLITY AB INITIO AND THE CERTIFICATION PARADOX

91. The physical manipulation and back-channeling of the Information package explicitly breaches the strict procedural e-filing mandates governing the SCJ, resulting in a total loss of jurisdiction. Under rule 2.01 of the CPR, the definition of an indictment broadly and explicitly encompasses an information. Consequently, originating criminal documents are strictly required to be e-filed electronically to ensure a permanent, auditable digital record. The failure to e-file the indictment as required renders the initial submission procedurally void.

92. By bypassing mandatory filing rules and utilizing civil templates to avoid criminal procedural scrutiny, the jurist acted entirely outside the permissible scope of her administrative office. Pursuant to the ancient jurisdictional maxim factum a judice quod ad officium ejus non pertinet, ratum non est—an act of a judge which does not pertain 5702 to his office is of no force—the resulting directions carry absolutely no legal weight. The proceeding occurred coram non judice—before one without competent jurisdiction over the improperly filed matter—rendering the endorsement an absolute, incurable legal nullity from its inception.

93. The accused has executed a highly technical compliance maneuver under the Criminal Proceeding Rules to permanently trap the tribunal in a bureaucratic paradox of its own design. By formally serving a rule 43.03 notice upon the first-floor Manager of Court Operations, which functions legally as the Originating Court Office, the accused has issued a statutory subpoena commanding the return of all foundational documents to the reviewing court.

94. The first-floor Manager of Court Operations is now confronted with an impossible, binary dilemma. Should they admit nullity via deemed non-filing, they must certify they possess zero copies of the Information package, formally certifying the document is deemed not to have been filed pursuant to rule 4.05(6) of the CPR, thereby exposing the entire process as a phantom event conducted coram non judice. Conversely, should they admit the unauthorized jurisdictional breach and produce the Intake Court Endorsement, they irreversibly cement the unauthorized involvement of the SCJ and the fatal lack of a proper Form 7 into the formal criminal record. In either paradigm, the Crown's reliance upon the fabricated record is completely vitiated.

95. The profound procedural anomalies herein reflect a disturbing, systemic pattern of non-transparent adjudicative findings recorded obliquely via email or case history reports, mirroring the highly irregular methodologies observed in McIntosh v. Shore, McWatt and Morawetz, 2023 ONSC 5122. It is noted with profound concern that the judicial officer in that matter was represented by the identical legal counsel presently responding to access to information requests directed to the second-floor registry of the courthouse situated at 361 University Avenue. In light of the insurmountable procedural breaches, overt spoliation, and absolute jurisdictional nullities comprehensively chronicled herein, it is respectfully submitted that the proceedings constitute an egregious, unconstitutional abuse of process necessitating the immediate quashing of the impugned process to restore the status quo ante.

A. THE ORIGINATING COURTHOUSE AND THE FAMILY-LAW REGISTRY

96. On September 23, 2024, a document titled "Intake Court Endorsement" (the INTAKE COURT ENDORSEMENT (SEPT 23 2024)) was generated within the 1st-floor Family Law Registry of the SCJ at 361 University Avenue. This registry is exclusively family-law in mandate. It does not handle civil matters and has no criminal intake function.

97. The SCJ 361 University Courthouse criminal office (Room 241) confirmed that it has no record of any Information, Indictment, or warrant associated with the Applicant. This is consistent with the fact that the Impugned Endorsement originated in the Family Law Registry, not the criminal registry.

98. The Family Law Registry confirmed that it alone has custody and control of the underlying endorsement. This confirms that the Impugned Endorsement was generated within the family-law administrative silo, not within the criminal intake system.

99. The Applicant's correspondence with the SCJ 361 University Avenue Court Office confirms that the Family Law Registry is the only division with custody and control of the underlying endorsement, thereby confirming its family-law origin.

B. THE DOCTRINE OF MAGISTERIAL CAPACITY AND CUSTODIAL CONTINUITY

100. While SCJ judges possess ex officio status as justices of the peace, the exercise of this power does not vest the SCJ with trial jurisdiction over a summary conviction matter. All criminal proceedings in Ontario must commence in the OCJ.

101. Where an Information is sworn before an SCJ judge acting as a magistrate, the police must file the Information with the OCJ clerk forthwith. The six-week delay between the arrest and the first appearance represents a procedural black hole during which the Information was vulnerable to alteration.

102. Any divergence between the counts reviewed by the Swearing Justice and those eventually filed constitutes spoliation. Under omnia praesumuntur contra spoliatorem, the Court must presume that the suppressed pages contained information detrimental to the Crown.

5704

C. STRUCTURAL DECONSTRUCTION OF THE FORM 2 AND THE SURROGATION OF STATUTORY INSTRUMENTS

103. A Form 2 Information is a meticulously calibrated statutory instrument. The Applicant identified that Page 3 of 5 was excised and replaced with the Impugned Endorsement — a family-law construct foreign to criminal procedure.

104. The Impugned Endorsement fails to satisfy nine mandatory criteria of a Form 7 Warrant, including the absence of a statutory title, direction to peace officers, offence particulars, statutory grounds, command to arrest, place of execution, and a verifiable judicial signature.

105. A document that fails in nine material respects to conform to the prescribed statutory form cannot be redeemed via s. 32 of the Interpretation Act. These deviations go to the essence of the instrument's authority.

D. FORGERY, FABRICATION, AND THE SMITH DOCTRINE

106. The Impugned Endorsement purports to be "Digitally signed by Justice of the Peace George Jiri." This is a fabrication. The document lacks the cryptographic hash functions and third-party certification required for a secure electronic signature.

107. In R v Smith, the Court held that a signature on an official document is a material part of that instrument. A document that purports to be made by a person who did not authorize its creation is a false document.

108. The typing of a justice's name in Arial font, absent authorization or secure certification, constitutes the creation of a false document. Its use to deprive a citizen of liberty satisfies the mens rea for uttering a forged document under s. 368 of the Criminal Code.

E. THE SYSTEMIC IMPOSSIBILITY OF COMPLIANCE WITHIN THE E-INTAKE PARADIGM

109. The criminal E-Intake portal automatically generates a standardized Form 7 Warrant as a locked PDF. It is systemically impossible for the E-Intake system to output a manually typed "Intake Court Endorsement."

110. The existence of such a document proves that the standardized digital safety nets were intentionally bypassed.

F. JUDICIAL IMPARTIALITY AND THE NEXUS OF ANIMOSITY

111. Madam Justice Shore previously acted as senior counsel at a firm that represented a litigant adverse to the Applicant in high-stakes civil litigation. The failure to disclose this prior adversarial relationship violates the Ethical Principles for Judges and raises a reasonable apprehension of bias.

112. The removal of the Jurat page severed the documentary link between the Swearing Justice and the irregular warrant, shielding her from scrutiny.

5705

G. ADMINISTRATIVE CHICANERY AND THE PROCEDURAL ENTRAPMENT OF RULES 5 AND 43

113. The Applicant served the Manager of Court Operations at the 1st-floor Family Law Registry pursuant to Rule 5.02(1)(c), as that is the locus of the adjudication.

114. Rule 43.03 now compels the Manager to return true copies of the record to the 2nd-floor Criminal Intake office, creating a procedural checkmate

a. If the Manager certifies that no record exists → the Information is deemed not filed under Rule 4.05(6); and

b. If the Manager produces the Impugned Endorsement → the State confirms the use of an unauthorized form.

H. EQUITABLE MAXIMS AND THE TOLLING OF LIMITATION PERIODS

115. Under fraus omnia corrumpit, no party may benefit from its own malfeasance. The Crown cannot invoke limitation periods when it concealed the originating document.

VOLUME 3 — ISSUES

116. The issues raised by this Application are foundational to the integrity of the criminal justice system and the constitutional architecture of Canada. They include but are not limited to:

a. Whether the Impugned Endorsement is a lawful criminal process:

   i. The Court must determine whether a document styled as an "Intake Court Endorsement," generated within the SCJ Family Law Registry, can constitute a warrant or judicial authorization under the Criminal Code;

b. Whether the Impugned Endorsement in its authentic and actual format and writing at the time is merely a determination at best or falls under the ambit and definition of an Order;

   i. This Honourable Court must determine whether the Impugned INTAKE COURT ENDORSEMENT (SEPT 23 2024) is a legal document in the context of an intake court prior to arrest;

c. Whether the proceeding is deemed never to have been filed under Rule 4.05(6)

   i. OCJ Brampton has no record of the False Information Package;

   ii. OCJ 10 Armoury Street Courthouse has a record of the False Information Package but only as of after November 2024. Ergo, Mr. Henriquez's inputs were manipulated and coerced by the TPS.

   iii. SCJ 361 University Courthouse (criminal registry court office) has no record of any Information or warrant. The Crown admits no Information was filed between August and October 2024. The Court must determine whether the proceeding legally exists.

d. Whether the alteration and substitution of sworn pages constitutes spoliation.

i. The Court must determine whether the removal of Page 3 of 5 — the Jurat page — and its replacement with the Impugned Endorsement renders the Information a nullity.

e. Whether the involvement of an SCJ family-law judge renders her acts Factum A Judice, Quod Ad Officium Jure Non Pertinet, Ratum Non Est, the process coram non judice.

i. The Court must determine whether Madam Justice Shore, acting in a family-law capacity, possessed jurisdiction to authorize criminal process without a s. 599 transfer order.

f. Whether the Crown's reliance on s. 599 of the Criminal Code is legally impossible.

i. The Court must determine whether s. 599 can cure an intake-level jurisdictional defect in a summary conviction matter.

g. Whether the E-Intake system makes the Impugned Endorsement systemically impossible.

i. The Court must determine whether the existence of a manually typed "Intake Court Endorsement" proves that the standardized digital safety nets were bypassed

h. Whether the Applicant's Charter rights under ss. 7, 8, 9, and 11(b) were violated.

i. The Court must determine whether the Applicant's arrest, detention, and delay were arbitrary, unreasonable, and contrary to fundamental justice

i. Whether prerogative relief (certiorari, prohibition, mandamus) must issue.

i. The Court must determine whether the jurisdictional defects are so fundamental that the proceeding must be quashed in limine.

j. Whether the record must be restored Nunc pro tunc.

i. The Court must determine whether the state may benefit from its own concealment or whether the record must be restored to its lawful state as of September 23, 2024.

VOLUME 4 — LAW & ARGUMENT

A. CONSTITUTIONAL ARCHITECTURE AND THE PRIMACY OF THE CRIMINAL INTAKE SYSTEM

117. The criminal justice system in Ontario is constitutionally and statutorily structured around a single point of intake: the Ontario Court of Justice. This is not a matter of administrative convenience; it is a constitutional safeguard. The OCJ is the statutory creature designated for intake, bail, and initial docketing. The SCJ, by contrast, is a court of inherent jurisdiction whose criminal authority is engaged only after proper intake has occurred.

118. The use of the SCJ Family Law Registry — a registry with no criminal jurisdiction in terms of operations whatsoever — to generate a criminal instrument is a structural impossibility within the constitutional architecture. It violates:

a. the separation of criminal and family jurisdictions;

5707 b. the Open Court Principle;

c. the statutory routing of criminal process; and

d. the constitutional requirement that criminal proceedings commence in the OCJ

119. The Supreme Court of Canada has repeatedly affirmed that the Rule of Law requires predictable, transparent, and lawful procedures for the deprivation of liberty. (Reference re Manitoba Language Rights, BCGEU, Doucet-Boudreau). A criminal process originating in a family-law registry is the antithesis of this requirement.

B. JURISDICTIONAL NULLITY: A PROCEEDING THAT NEVER LEGALLY EXISTED

120. A criminal proceeding cannot exist without a filed Information or an Indictment. This is not a technicality; it is the constitutional moment at which the state acquires jurisdiction over the person. A breach of the very Criminal Proceeding Rules so authorized by Chief Justice Morawetz is of the most egregious violations on its face (pardon the pun) but when it involves the Chief Justice himself, indirectly or directly, implicitly or explicitly, it rises to an assault on our democracy.

121. Herein, the facts remain as of today's date:

a. The SCJ (Toronto Region) criminal Court Office has no record of any Information;
b. SCJ 393 University Avenue Courthouse has no record of any Information, Information Package or Intake Court Endorsement;
c. The OCJ has no record of any Information filed between August and October 2024; and
d. Crown counsel Sinnadurai admitted that no Information or INTAKE COURT ENDORSEMENT (SEPT 23 2024) was filed during this period.

122. Under Rule 4.05(6), where the originating court office has no record of a filing, the document is deemed not to have been filed. The proceeding therefore never legally commenced.

123. A proceeding that never commenced cannot be cured, revived, or retroactively validated. It is a jurisdictional nullity.

C. THE DOCTRINE OF MAGISTERIAL CAPACITY AND THE LIMITS OF EX OFFICIO AUTHORITY

124. While SCJ judges possess ex officio status as justices of the peace, this authority is strictly limited to the act of administering the oath and reviewing the Information. It does not transform the SCJ into a criminal intake court.

125. Once the oath is administered, the police must file the Information with the OCJ. The SCJ has no statutory authority to retain, process, or docket the Information.

126. The six-week delay between the swearing of the Information and/or the signing of a Criminal Code Form 2 "Information" the first appearance is a procedural black hole during which the Information was vulnerable to alteration. This delay is incompatible with s. 505 of the Criminal Code ("as soon as practicable").

127. The Crown may argue that the delay is administrative. It is not. It is the temporal window during which the Jurat page was removed and replaced with the Impugned Endorsement.

5708

D. SPOLIATION: THE REMOVAL OF THE JURAT PAGE IS FATAL

128. When utilizing the Lincoln County Law Association, Adult Common Law Information Package, which is a six page document, page 4 of 6 is the heart of the Information Package. It contains:

a. the oath;

b. the signature of the informant;

c. the signature of the justice;

d. the Crown election; and

e. the confirmation under s. 508.

129. Its removal is not a clerical error; it was an intentional spoliation of sworn judicial acta. Under omnia praesumuntur contra spoliatorem, the Court must presume that the removed page contained information adverse to the Crown.

130. An Information that has been materially altered after the oath is not an Information at all. It is a false document.

131. A proceeding based on a false Information is a nullity.

132. Even worse, a criminal Proceeding based on a false Information, false INTAKE COURT ENDORSEMENT (SEPT 23 2024), wherein the logo for the SCJ is replaced with that of the OCJ renders.

E. SECTION 599 OF THE CRIMINAL CODE IS STATUTORILY IMPERMEABLE

133. Section 599 applies only to courts "before which an accused is or may be indicted." The Crown elected to proceed summarily. A summary conviction matter can never result in an indictment. Section 599 is therefore categorically inapplicable as it relates to any transmission of the record from the SCJ 361 University Courthouse (1st floor). It is a "Change of Venue" provision, not an administrative transmission mechanism. It cannot cure an intake-level jurisdictional defect. To invoke s. 599 to justify routing a sworn Information through the SCJ Family Law Registry is to engage in a legal fiction that the Court must reject.

F. STRUCTURAL DECONSTRUCTION OF THE FORM 2 AND THE SURROGATION OF STATUTORY INSTRUMENTS

134. A Form 2 Information is a statutory instrument with mandatory structural components. The Applicant identified that Page 3 of 5 was excised and replaced with the Impugned Endorsement — a family-law construct foreign to criminal procedure. The Impugned Endorsement fails to satisfy nine mandatory criteria of a Form 7 Warrant. These failures go to the essence of the instrument's authority. A document that fails in nine material respects to conform to the prescribed statutory form cannot be redeemed via s. 32 of the Interpretation Act. These are not formatting errors; they are substantive jurisdictional defects.

G. FORGERY, FABRICATION, AND THE SMITH DOCTRINE

5709 The Impugned Endorsement purports to be "Digitally signed by Justice of the Peace George Jiri." This representation is facially false. The document contains no cryptographic hash, no certificate authority metadata, no Adobe PKI signature block, and no secure electronic signature as required by the Canada Evidence Act and the Personal Information Protection and Electronic Documents Act.

136. In R v Smith, 2020 ONCJ 611, the Court held that a signature on an official document is a material part of that instrument. A document that purports to be made by a person who did not authorize its creation is a false document for the purposes of ss. 366–368 of the Criminal Code.

137. The Impugned Endorsement is a false document. It was created without judicial authorization, using a non-court software suite (GcPDF), and bears a fabricated signature. Its deployment to justify the Applicant's arrest satisfies the mens rea for uttering a forged document under s. 368.

138. The Crown may argue that the officers relied on the document in "good faith." This is untenable. Section 29 of the Criminal Code requires the production of a valid warrant upon arrest. A seasoned officer would immediately recognize that an "Intake Court Endorsement" is not a Form 7 Warrant. The reliance on this document was not an error of judgment; it was a deliberate bypass of judicial safeguards.

H. THE SYSTEMIC IMPOSSIBILITY OF THE IMPUGNED ENDORSEMENT WITHIN THE E-INTAKE PARADIGM

139. Ontario's criminal E-Intake portal automatically generates a standardized, locked Form 7 Warrant when a justice approves an application. The system is designed to prevent manual alteration, unauthorized templates, or non-standard forms.

140. It is systemically impossible for the E-Intake system to output a manually typed "Intake Court Endorsement" on Toronto Police Service letterhead. The existence of such a document proves that the standardized digital safety nets were intentionally bypassed.

141. Furthermore, the E-Intake system features automated geographic routing. An Information originating in Toronto cannot be routed to a Justice of the Peace in Brampton (JP Jiri) without a manual override. This confirms the existence of a "shadow" filing process outside the audited parameters of the Ontario court system.

142. The Impugned Endorsement is therefore not merely irregular; it is technologically impossible within the lawful intake architecture.

I. THE OPEN COURT PRINCIPLE AND THE CONSTITUTIONAL REQUIREMENT OF TRANSPARENCY

143. The Open Court Principle, affirmed in Sherman Estate v Donovan, 2021 SCC 25, requires that judicial proceedings be transparent, accessible, and publicly verifiable. The clandestine creation of a criminal instrument within a family-law registry — a location with no public criminal docket — violates this principle.

5710 The Applicant was deprived of the ability to verify the existence, authenticity, or legality of the instrument used to justify his arrest. This violates:

a. the Open Court Principle;
b. 7 of the Charter (fundamental justice);
c. 9 of the Charter (arbitrary detention); and
d. 10(a) of the Charter (right to be informed of the reason for arrest)

145. A criminal process that cannot be publicly verified is constitutionally defective. It is void ab initio – from the time of its defectiveness.

J. CONFLICT OF INTEREST AND REASONABLE APPREHENSION OF BIAS

146. Madam Justice Shore previously acted as senior counsel at a firm that represented a litigant adverse to the Applicant in high-stakes civil litigation. The Applicant's intervention in that litigation resulted in significant financial detriment to the firm's client. Under the Ethical Principles for Judges, a judge must recuse themselves where a reasonable apprehension of bias arises. The failure to disclose this prior adversarial relationship, combined with the irregular routing of the Information through the SCJ Family Law Registry, raises a reasonable apprehension of bias. The removal of the Jurat page severed the documentary link between the Swearing Justice and the irregular warrant, shielding her from scrutiny. This is consistent with an attempt to obscure the identity of the issuing justice. A criminal process tainted by bias is a nullity.

K. ADMINISTRATIVE LAW PRINCIPLES AND THE ILLEGALITY OF REGISTRY CONDUCT

147. Registry staff have no authority to create, modify, or issue criminal process. Their role is strictly ministerial. The creation of the Impugned Endorsement within the Family Law Registry constitutes an ultra vires administrative act. Administrative bodies or creatures of statutes cannot exercise powers they do not possess. (Dunsmuir v New Brunswick, Vavilov). The Family Law Registry has no statutory authority to issue criminal process and/or to receive the filing of an Indictment or an Information (Criminal Code Form 2).

148. Moreover, in the context of an "application" by way of an "Ex Parte In Camera Hearing", Madam Justice Shore whether acting as an ex officio JP or OCJ Judge or in the context of a specialized type of search warrant, production order or otherwise under section 487.1 of the Criminal Code.

149. The Crown may argue that the registry acted under delegated authority. This is impossible. Delegation cannot exceed the scope of the delegator's jurisdiction. A family-law registry cannot be delegated criminal authority it does not possess.

150. The Impugned Endorsement is therefore void for administrative illegality.

L. INHERENT JURISDICTION AND THE COURT'S DUTY TO RECTIFY A CORRUPTED RECORD

151. The SCJ possesses inherent jurisdiction to control its own process and to prevent abuses of its authority. (MacMillan Bloedel, Crevier, Doucet-Boudreau).

152. Where the judicial record has been corrupted, altered, or fabricated, the Court has a non-delegable duty to

a. expunge the corrupted material;

b. reconstruct the authentic record; or

c. prevent the state from benefiting from its own misconduct.

153. In R v Hayes, the Supreme Court held that courts must reconstruct missing or defective records to preserve the integrity of the judicial process. This duty applies with even greater force where the defect arises from state misconduct.

154. The Court must therefore reconstruct the record Nunc pro tunc to its lawful state as of September 23, 2024, to the extent that the Manager of Court Operations does not comply with her duties.

M. CHARTER BREACHES: SECTIONS 7, 8, 9, AND 11(B)

155. Section 7: The Applicant was deprived of liberty based on a fabricated instrument. This violates the principles of fundamental justice.

156. Section 8: A search or seizure predicated on a non-existent warrant is unreasonable. While there is a search incident to arrest, any such seizure of property form the Applicant's residence post September 20, 2024, was without a valid search and seizure warrant. Moreover, this is where the fraudulent misrepresentation that the Applicant was "NFA" cuts against the municipal Executive Branch (the "Municipal Executive Branch") in that it cannot have it both ways considering the Applicant's property was inside his resident where he was the sole resident.

157. Section 9: The Applicant's detention was arbitrary. A detention based on a false document is per se arbitrary.

158. Section 11(b): As the False Information Package did not contain the required pages therein (at least two missing), there is no ability to have had a record for any such trial. It is automatic default against the Crown. The clock never started running but even when it did, it was an abuse of process on all court level that were touched by the same.

159. Section 12: cruel and unusual treatment (not punishment as there was nothing to punish).

160. These breaches are not technical; they are structural. They undermine the constitutional architecture of criminal justice.

N. PREROGATIVE RELIEF: CERTIORARI, PROHIBITION, AND MANDAMUS

5712 Certiorari must issue to quash the Impugned Endorsement and the altered Information. The defects are jurisdictional, not procedural. Prohibition must issue to prevent further reliance on the Impugned Endorsement. A court cannot permit the state to act on a nullity. Mandamus must compel the Registrar to produce the original Form 7 Warrant, the sworn Information, and all associated audit trails under Rule 43.03. These remedies are not discretionary. They are required to preserve the integrity of the administration of justice.

O. NUNC PRO TUNC RELIEF

162. The record must be restored Nunc pro tunc to September 23, 2024. This prevents the state from benefiting from its own concealment and restores the Applicant to the position he would have occupied had the state complied with the law.

163. Nunc pro tunc relief is appropriate where:

a. the state has concealed the originating document;

b. the record has been corrupted;

c. the proceeding is a nullity; and

d. the Applicant's Charter rights have been violated

164. This is such a case.

165. It is always imperative to remember the distinction between a "proceeding" and a "prosecution" with the former being all encompassing but the prosecution being relevant to the Crown. It is also important to note the authority in Benedict v. Ontario wherein the Crown was found to be indivisible.

VOLUME #5: WHERE THE "OLD SCHOOL" MEETS THE "NEW SCHOOL" ALBEIT BY FALSIFICATION POST FACTO

PART I: PRELIMINARY MATTERS, JURISDICTIONAL FRAMEWORK

166. In the formulation of the jurisprudential arguments advanced herein, strict cognizance has been taken of the foundational materials, forensic evidence, and binding authorities. The ensuing analysis is predicated upon an exhaustive review of the enumerated instruments, which collectively form the evidentiary and legal substrate of this application. It is posited that the Superior Court of Justice possesses the inherent jurisdiction, and indeed the constitutional imperative, to meticulously scrutinize its own acta (public records) to ensure that the foundational instruments of state prosecution are untainted by procedural vitiation or cyber-manipulation.

167. The epistemological weight of a criminal charge relies absolutely upon the unimpeachable integrity of the initiating document. When the presumption of regularity—omnia praesumuntur rite et solemniter esse acta—is empirically rebutted by forensic evidence of state-actor manipulation, the burden invariably shifts to the Crown to demonstrate that the court possesses the requisite jurisdiction to proceed.

PART II: THE SPATIAL AND JURISPRUDENTIAL NEXUS APPERTAINING TO JUDICIAL ENDORSEMENTS

2.1 Historical Validation of the Record: The Precedent Established by Chief Justice Morawetz

168. It is advanced as a foundational tenet of Anglo-Canadian jurisprudence that the validity underpinning any judicial proceeding is inexorably tethered not merely to the existence of a signatory mark, but rather to the geographical, spatial, and contextual placement thereof upon the originating instrument. A signature untethered from its substantive text is a jurisprudential phantom. The historical and legally sound praxis of the Ontario Superior Court of Justice necessitates an unbroken physical—or, in the contemporary alternative, a cryptographically intrinsic digital—nexus between the charging document and the corresponding judicial endorsement.

The Evidentiary Weight Assigned to the Physical "Backsheet"

169. Such an exacting standard is ostensibly best exemplified by the entrenched praxis of senior jurists, inclusive of Chief Justice Morawetz, whose historical endorsements were purposefully and invariably inscribed upon the physical doors, or the backsheet (the "Physical Backsheet"), of the Information or application record.

170. Whereupon said endorsement was thusly affixed to the Physical Backsheet, an incontrovertible evidentiary chain was established prima facie: the judicial endorsement was physically and permanently conjoined to the specific, sworn contents of the enveloping document. The paper itself served as the unifying medium, binding the actus reus and mens rea particulars to the judicial imprimatur.

171. It is posited that this action was never executed as a mere administrative afterthought or clerical formality. Rather, it constituted a deliberate, jurisprudential act intended to formally seal the acta of the court, signaling to all downstream legal actors that the specific allegations contained within the four corners of the document had been subjected to independent judicial scrutiny and validly sworn under oath.

The Requisite of Intrinsic Connection and the Mitigation of Post-Facto Alteration

172. The reverse of the aforementioned Physical Backsheet functioned as the authentic and exclusive canvas upon which the jurisdiction of the court was manifested. It provided unequivocal, tangible evidentiary proof that the presiding jurist had physically possessed, reviewed, contemplated, and acted upon the precise instrument presented before them. The tactile connection and spatial proximity of the ink to the sworn allegations are averred to constitute the requisite validation of the court record.

173. Within the analog paradigm, this spatial nexus served a profound anti-fraud function. It ensured that the document could not be subjected to post-endorsement alteration, substitution, or appendation without extant detection (such 5714 as the removal of binding staples, the severing of the parchment, or the presence of visible erasure marks). The signatory validation purportedly extended to the entirety of the document precisely, and exclusively, because it was intrinsically bound thereto. To sever the signature from the charge is to sever the jurisdiction from the court.

PART III: THE FATAL SEVERANCE IDENTIFIED WITHIN THE IMPUGNED "INFORMATION PACKAGE"

3.1 The Digital Disconnect: A Jurisdictional Rupture

174. Upon the application of the aforementioned jurisprudential standard—derived from the historical Morawetz endorsements—to the impugned Information Package in the matter at bar, the jurisdictional deficiency of the digital document becomes patently and alarmingly discernible.

175. The advent of the digital epoch does not abrogate the requirement for an intrinsic connection; rather, it necessitates the translation of such analog requirements into rigorous, uncompromising parameters of cryptographic and structural continuity. A valid digital document must possess a mathematically verifiable hash that locks the signature to the text concurrently.

176. In stark contradistinction to a physical endorsement situated upon the reverse of a validly sworn Information—or a properly executed cryptographic signature that mathematically secures the entirety of a portable document format file (the "PDF")—the software-generated Information Package deployed herein wholly and fatally severs the judicial signature from the charging instrument.

177. The imperative mandate articulated by the Supreme Court of Canada in R. v. Araujo, 2000 SCC 65 (the "Araujo Doctrine")—wherein it is established that prior judicial authorizations function as foundational prerequisites for state action and are subject to the strictest of construction—is fundamentally vitiated when the authorizing signature is disjointed from the substantive text it ostensibly authorizes. If the judicial authorization cannot be structurally and forensically linked to the actus reus and mens rea particulars of the charge, the state's authority to proceed is extinguished in limine (at the threshold).

Severance from the "Information-To-Wit": An Unsworn Void

178. As delineated meticulously within Appendix E of the Application Record, the signature of the Justice of the Peace manifests in absolute isolation upon Page 3 of the Information Package. Crucially, said isolated page is entirely bereft of the information to wit (the "Information-To-Wit")—the substantive, sworn charging paragraphs detailing the requisite particulars, including the spatial, temporal, and factual elements of the alleged transgression.

179. Within the purview of Canadian criminal jurisprudence, an Information does not function as a generalized writ or a broad warrant of apprehension reminiscent of the abhorrent Star Chamber. It is a highly particularized statutory 5715 instrument alleging the commission of a specific act by a named individual, traditionally heralded by the formal legal declaration "to wit" (namely, or that is to say).

180. It is submitted that an oath cannot be validly sworn in a vacuum. A jurist must swear an oath over specific facts. By effectuating the digital and spatial isolation of the judicial signature from the Information-To-Wit, the utilized software engenders an unsworn void. The judicial officer, operating within this manufactured void, effectively endorsed nothing of substance.

181. A digital signature manifesting upon a distinct, separate page—entirely devoid of the substantive charging text—fails to satisfy the foundational epistemological and legal requisites of a valid endorsement. It may be logically extrapolated as the digital equivalent of an adjudicator affixing a signature to a blank parchment situated in a separate locus from the substantive particulars, subsequent to which the twain are administratively adjoined by prosecutorial fiat to fabricate a veneer of lawful authority.

3.2 The Procedural Handover and the "Place of Filing" Mandate

182. To apprehend the mechanics of this sophisticated forgery, the undisputed provenance of the source document must first be established. Digital forensics relies unequivocally upon the establishment of a reliable, unassailable baseline of truth. The original baseline file was generated exclusively by the 1st-floor Family Registry at the Superior Court of Justice (361 University Avenue) to process an order originally promulgated by the Chief Justice.

The Strict Bifurcation of Court Registries and Administrative Apparatuses

183. It is vital to explicitly classify this originating locus as the Family Registry—and categorically not a criminal registry. The Canadian judiciary is architecturally structured to ensure that criminal matters are subjected to rigorous statutory divisions. Following the structural modernization of the Ontario courts, family, civil, and criminal matters were strictly bifurcated into distinct registries, governed by distinct statutory rules of procedure, and operated upon entirely incompatible administrative software systems.

184. As highlighted in successive Auditor General reports concerning court operations and facilities, these digital systems do not organically interact. For instance, family courts utilize the FRANK tracking system, whereas criminal courts deploy the ICON system. This architectural separation constitutes a deliberate, structural firewall designed to preclude the cross-contamination of legal authority and to safeguard the independence of the separate judicial branches (specifically, the federally appointed Superior Court of Justice versus the provincially appointed Ontario Court of Justice).

185. An instrument generated within the Family Registry possesses no inherent statutory authority to initiate criminal proceedings pursuant to the Criminal Code of Canada. It is incapable of crossing the jurisdictional divide between the Superior Court and the Ontario Court of Justice absent formal, highly regulated statutory mechanisms—none 5716 of which were employed in the present matter. The mere presence of a family-formatted document deployed within the prosecution of a criminal indictment immediately signals a severe and fatal procedural deviation.

Rule 4.05(1) and the Immutable Digital Footprint

186. The routing of the impugned document was not serendipitous; it was strictly governed by procedural mandates that dictated the Chief Justice's administrative actions, thereby establishing an undeniable digital paper trail. Pursuant to Rule 4.05(1) of the Rules of Civil Procedure pertaining to the "Place of Filing":

> "All documents required to be filed in a proceeding shall be filed electronically by email or by other electronic means provided by the Court... with the court office in which the proceeding was commenced, except where they are filed in the course of a hearing or where these rules provide otherwise."

187. When Chief Justice Geoffrey B. Morawetz purportedly issued the oral ex parte order, but more in the nature of a direction or the simulacrum or semblance of a purported order ("This Information is Accepted on its face... Warrant In The First: Issue"), the judicial assistant assigned to his chambers in that specific instance possessed no legal capacity to act as a clerk of the court for such a purported criminal directive (see: ss. 3.1(1) and (2) of the Criminal Code).

188. Ss. 3.1(1) cuts both ways and it is naturally objective on its face. Whether the act or thing done by a court, justice or judge is good, bad or indifferent, it is effective from the time it is done. Ergo, if an SCJ Judge issues a purported order but is remiss in following the most rudimentary fundamentals of criminal law, specifically criminal procedure (i.e. in this instance, the basic of a Form 7 of the Criminal Code which any elementary school student with a computer could likely draft a hypothetical Criminal Code Form 7 "Warrant For Arrest") then it is effective from the time it is done. Certainly if the police forces enter into CPIC that there is an outstanding arrest warrant for an individual predicated upon the same, then such an individual is subject to the arrest warrant based upon CPIC. With that segue, law enforcement must have a copy of the arrest warrant on his or her person when attempting to or executing the arrest and required to provide a copy of the same upon request of the individual being arrest. This is elementary (no pun intended in reference to the above) criminal law and specifically section 29 of the Criminal Code. The leading case in the area was that of BC Supreme Court and BCCA in R. v. Bohn albeit in relation to two different types of warrants: (i) one being a search warrant; and (ii) the other being a warrant pursuant to the former Narcotic Control Act.

189. Because the proceeding was inextricably tethered to this specific jurisdiction, the Chief Justice was statutorily compelled to route the Intake Court Endorsement through the Superior Court of Justice 361 University Avenue, 1st Floor Court Office. Mr. Jeffrey Bohn was the subject to a Crime Stoppers tip alleging hydro bypass and marijuana grow-operation at a residence in British Columbia, specifically the City of Surrey. One of the previous ways to determine whether there were grounds to believe, and of course reasonable (objectively speaking) was for a BC Hydro technician to inspect externally along with performing analyses of the voltage and amperage loss and whether there was an internal bypass. The police obtained a Criminal Code search warrant first which falls under 5717 the language of section 29 of the Criminal Code and then sought and obtained an NCA warrant, which was later replaced by the CDSA.

190. Like the Applicant herein, albeit on much different facts in that the Applicant was lured to the TPS 14th Division detachment on false pretenses in the form of falsely packaged quid pro quo in relation to his property that was somehow "received" by the TPS from his residential property, Mr. Bohn asked for a copy of the search warrant but was not given one. While the BCCA turned its mind to whether the trial judge had accepted, as a fact, that Mr. Bohn had requested to see (more in the nature of have a copy or inspect) the search warrant, it was satisfied that the trial judge accepted that it was probable that the appellant did make such a request.

191. Herein, the Applicant followed up the next day after October 2, 2024, to obtain a copy of the arrest warrant that was represented to him by, ironically, Police Officer Mr. Anthony Romano. The Applicant copied Sergeant Cassidy and D/C Kolankowski, and none of them responded.

192. The Applicant brought his HRTO Application in mid October 2024, and served the TPS on October 24, 2024. The day after service, the Applicants "tools of his trade" in relation to combatting corruption, kidnapping and false imprisonment et al were stolen by an unknown person at the time. The Applicant later in May 2025 discovered, through serendipity and "divine intervention" (in the form of un-redacting the redacted images provided by CAMH in November 2024) that it was Mr. David Karat, the self-professed ADR specialist with the TD Insurance Group (four of the five insurance companies therein). As noted herein, three of the five insurance companies in the TDI Group are the subject of a JRPA Application before the Divisional Court but now subject to further motions in relation to fraud as a result of the Coram Non Judice conference appearances before Madam Justice Shore, who failed to follow a single section of the JRPA and Courts of Justice Act along with the Rules of Civil Procedure in relation to the requirements to convene a case conference, although she referred to it as a "case management conference" [sic] through an individual in Ms. Evelyne Ibula, who ironically last worked at the very same location of the then counsel to the Landlord to the Applicant. In another twist, the Landlord to the Applicant is seen in one of the images on standby in the form of what the Applicant submits was aiding and abetting.

193. It appears on its face that the reasons that some of these individuals formally tethered to Madam Justice Shore in various fashion with particular reference to that of Mr. Papadimitropoulos, since terminated from TD Insurance, who is a client of Epstein Cole LLP and formerly counselled by Madam Justice Shore when she was a lawyer at said law firm was that they felt they were assisting the Chief Justice of the SCJ. Perhaps, the same applied to the likes of CAMH, the Toronto Public Library and other public type landlords or owners including the police.

194. Oddly, some of the harassment of the Applicant by the police and others all of sudden disappeared the moment that Chief Justice Morawetz announced publicly his "retirement" albeit he was not at the age of the retirement at the time. Empirical objective evidence notes that Chief Justice Morawetz retirement effective date was much shorter than almost every other Chief Justice in this country in the last 20 years.

195. Returning to R. v. Bohn, the unanimous BCCA, with Madam Justice Ryan writing the Reasons for Decision, found that section 29(1) of the Criminal Code is imperative, and feasible non-compliance makes execution of the warrant unlawful. The BCCA further found that Failure to produce the warrant on request significantly infringes s. 8 of the 5718 Canadian Charter of Rights and Freedoms. The BCCA overturned the trial judge's decision in R. v. Bohn and found that the section 8 of the Charter, along with the section 10(b) Charter rights, were series because the police knowingly avoided the section 29 requirements to save time reflecting lack of reasonable good faith.

196. But what about when there was no warrant but the police represent to an accused that they have an arrest warrant?

197. That is the primary issue as it relates to the police misconduct herein subject to the TPS being responsible for the falsification of foundational documents in the Information Package and morphing it into the False Information Package.

198. To effectuate the transmission of the Chief Justice's orders to law enforcement, the Family Law Team Leader transcribed the directive onto a standard "Intake Court Endorsement." It was subsequently signed for authentication by the Chief Justice prior to being transmitted electronically directly to the Detective In Charge (Detective Abdulhameed K. Virani of the 52nd Division).

199. This precise routing protocol mathematically explains why the staff at the 361 University Court Office possess intrinsic, primary knowledge of the document's true origins and securely retain the un-redacted metadata within their internal servers. They represent the critical temporal and spatial juncture where a legitimate (albeit procedurally irregular) family directive was relinquished to a police agency that subsequently orchestrated its digital manipulation. Electronic filing inherently generates an immutable footprint, capturing the precise timestamp, the sender, the recipient, and the un-altered baseline state of the attachment.

3.3 Visual Baseline: The Chief Justice's Traditional Signature

200. A forensic review of verified, high-profile orders executed by Chief Justice Morawetz (exemplified by the Laurentian University of Sudbury CCAA proceedings, 2022 ONSC 429, and the Urbancorp CCAA proceedings, October 2, 2020) reveals a crucial evidentiary fact: Chief Justice Morawetz does not utilize cryptographic Adobe digital signature blocks.

201. His signature block represents a traditional, unencrypted execution. It is characterized by a physical (or scanned physical) signature superimposed directly above his uniquely capitalized and punctuated typed nomenclature: Chief Justice G.B. Morawetz.

202. The original Intake Court Endorsement transmitted to the 52nd Division constituted a simple, traditional judicial endorsement block. It was wholly bereft of complex Adobe digital certificates, Public Key Infrastructure (PKI) encrypted ByteRange dictionaries, sophisticated timestamps, or time zone modifiers. Its baseline architecture was structured as follows:

```
+-----------------------------------------------------------------+
|                                                                 |
|   [ Signature of G.B. Morawetz ]                                |
|                                                                 |
|   Chief Justice G.B. Morawetz                                   |
```

3.4 Software-Induced Severance and Vector Morphology

203. Upon receipt of this emailed Superior Court PDF, the manipulating actor (operating within the ambit of the Toronto Police Service) confronted a daunting, illicit objective: the necessity to digitally expunge the Superior Court branding and the Chief Justice's nomenclature, forcefully mutating the document to masquerade as a valid Ontario Court of Justice criminal instrument.

The GrapeCity Developer API Extrapolation

204. To accomplish this unauthorized conversion at an industrial scale, a third-party enterprise PDF editing utility was deployed. The metadata embedded within the False Document Package confirms unequivocally that the precise application utilized was Grape.City.Documents.PDF-6.0.2.0.

205. GrapeCity Inc. (subsequently rebranded as MESCIUS) engineers sophisticated .NET libraries strictly designed to empower software developers to programmatically generate, modify, and manipulate PDFs. The GcPDF software functions as a developer application programming interface (the "API"), not as an end-user application.

206. Police services and institutional bureaucracies frequently leverage these third-party, server-side APIs for automated document processing precisely because such tools circumvent the strict, manual user-interface warnings, password prompts, and security lockouts inherent within official Adobe Acrobat software. However, the GcPDF API does not constitute a legally recognized nor jurisprudentially sanctioned substitute for Adobe Acrobat when the prevailing objective is the solemn authentication of evidence tendered under oath.

The Z-Index Collapse and Brute-Force Rasterization

207. When the GrapeCity manipulator highlighted the signature block and initiated the algorithmic deletion of the text "Chief Justice G.B. Morawetz", the software's flattening process suffered a critical failure. The anomaly is predicated upon the architectural reality that a PDF is not a flat image, but rather a complex, layered mathematical model. The Chief Justice's transparent electronic signature image was situated upon a higher Z-index layer, physically overlapping the underlying vector text of his name situated upon a lower Z-index layer.

208. When the API was instructed to effectuate the deletion of the top-layer signature image, the software's flattening engine attempted a brute-force rasterization. The GcPDF architecture notoriously struggles with the resolution of complex overlapping alpha channels (transparencies), embedded font subsetting, and absolute spatial coordinate anchoring (specifically, the Td and Tm PDF operators) within manipulated documents. By forcefully attempting to decouple the overlapping image from the underlying text, the API precipitated a catastrophic vector collapse, irrevocably shattering the mathematical instructions that rendered the typography.

3.5 The Optical Character Recognition (OCR) Glitch: The Transformation of "C J G.B. M"

209. The resulting letters "CL (M)" are not random gibberish, nor do they represent a bureaucratic acronym. They are the mathematically predictable, unavoidable culmination of an Optical Character Recognition (the "OCR") and vector morphology failure occurring when third-party software aggressively attempts to excise the string "C J G.B. M" from a layered PDF.

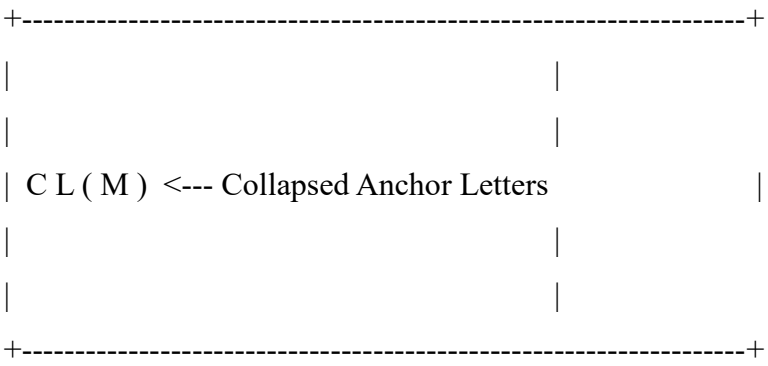
The "J" to "L" Glitch (Stem Shearing)

210. To apprehend this transformation, the computational drawing of typography must be understood. In serif fonts (such as Times New Roman, the standard typography of the courts), letters are not stored as static pixels. They are rendered utilizing mathematical formulas designated as Bezier curves, anchored by directional handles. A capital "J" and a capital "L" share a nearly identical central vertical stem. The letter "J" is specifically delineated by this vertical stem dropping below the baseline and terminating in a sweeping leftward hook (typographically termed a terminal or finial).

211. When GrapeCity attempted the brute-force excision of the overlapping signature image, it precipitated a spatial collapse in the exact locus where the image intersected the text. The invisible bounding box containing the "J" was violently clipped upon its left margin. This severed the vector control points responsible for rendering the curved hook, completely shearing it off. What remained embedded within the document's visual memory was a naked vertical stem flanked by minor horizontal serif anchors at the zenith and nadir.

212. The software's intrinsic OCR engine, attempting to reconstruct the corrupted PDF stream, surveyed this fractured geometric shape. It executed a heuristic confidence-score analysis to map the surviving geometry back to a recognized Unicode glyph. Lacking the defining leftward hook, the algorithm cross-referenced the surviving stem against its internal typography database. Mathematically, a vertical stem bereft of its hook but retaining right-oriented base geometry defaults to the closest matching character yielding the highest confidence score: the letter "L".

The "G.B." to "( )" Glitch (The Rounded Vector Collapse)



213. The Chief Justice explicitly utilizes his middle initials: G.B. Both of these letters are constructed heavily from complex, sweeping, rounded Bezier curves (typographically designated as bowls or lobes).

57421 Unlike a rudimentary word processing document wherein spaces are treated as actual typed characters, a PDF relies upon a rigid mathematical grid. A "space" between letters constitutes a coded instruction (Tc, Tw, or Td operators) directing the rendering engine to jump a specified number of pixels along the X-axis prior to drawing the subsequent character. When GrapeCity's known "whitespace bug" (enumerated as DOC-6507) was triggered during the excision of the overlapping image, it entirely obliterated these invisible spacing jumps.

215. Bereft of spatial anchors, the letters snapped together, violently collapsing into the identical physical coordinate space. The internal horizontal crossbars, spurs, and straight vertical stems of the "G" and "B" experienced a catastrophic rasterization crash. They were mathematically crushed out of existence due to intense vector compression and pixel-rendering overlap errors. All that survived this digital compression were the mathematically simplest, outermost vector paths.

216. The left-sweeping outer curve of the "G" was isolated, stripped of its crossbar, and interpreted by the desperate OCR engine as an open parenthesis: (. Correspondingly, the right-sweeping outer curve of the "B" was similarly isolated, stripped of its vertical stem, and interpreted as a closed parenthesis:).

217. Thus, the original anchor initials "C J G.B. M" were morphologically degraded, compressed together by the total loss of kerning data, and algorithmically translated into the visible digital artifact: C L (M). This does not constitute a typographical error; it is a permanent digital fossil—a cryptographic scar unequivocally proving a violent collision between an image layer and a text layer during the execution of a botched forgery.

3.6 Hypothesis Testing and the Jurisprudential Exclusion of the Associate Chief Justice

218. Given the profound jurisdictional implications stemming from the accusation of the Chief Justice of Ontario, it is legally imperative to rigorously test this vector morphology hypothesis against alternative judicial actors who possessed the requisite authority and physical placement to have executed the order.

219. One such logical candidate is The Honourable Associate Chief Justice Faye E. McWatt. Appointed to the Superior Court of Justice in 2000, ACJ McWatt possesses extensive criminal law experience and shares the last initial "M". Furthermore, she is intrinsically linked to the Applicant's conflict matrix via the McIntosh v. Shore, McWatt and Morawetz litigation.

220. It is posited, however, that forensically and mathematically, the signature could not have belonged to ACJ McWatt. Had ACJ McWatt executed the document, her official signature anchor string would have been structured as "A.C.J. F.E. M" (Associate Chief Justice F.E. McWatt). When subjected to the exact GrapeCity OCR and whitespace 5722 collapse bug (DOC-6507), her nomenclature entirely fails to produce the artifact discovered upon the document, predicated upon two critical structural reasons:

221. The Missing "A": The artifact is strictly "CL (M)". If ACJ McWatt had signed the instrument, the capital "A" (representing "Associate") would have constituted the primary anchor letter upon the far-left margin. The "A" is entirely absent from the digital shrapnel.

222. The "F.E." Rectilinear Glitch Failure: The most definitive exclusion lies within the structural typography of the middle initials. While "G.B." contains the sweeping curvilinear Bezier curves mathematically requisite to collapse into parentheses ( ), the letters "F" and "E" do not. The letters "F" and "E" are strictly rectilinear; they are constructed entirely of orthogonal, straight vertical stems and sharp 90-degree horizontal crossbars. Even if mathematically crushed by a spatial collapse, an OCR engine would never algorithmically interpret the straight lines and sharp angles of an "F" or an "E" as sweeping, rounded parentheses.

223. Therefore, the vector morphology test conclusively exonerates Associate Chief Justice McWatt. The digital shrapnel "CL (M)" mathematically locks the origin of the document directly and exclusively to Chief Justice G.B. Morawetz.

PART IV: THE DIGITAL SIGNATURE RUSE AND THE FABRICATION OF THE DECOY JURIST

4.1 The Visual Smokescreen and Cryptographic Camouflage

224. Confronted with this catastrophic software glitch, the manipulating actor apprehended a severe dilemma. They were incapable of fully erasing the stubborn letters without corrupting the entire page, an act which would render the PDF entirely unreadable and visibly scarred to any defense counsel or reviewing jurist. Having deleted the bulk of the Chief Justice's nomenclature, they were left with the "CL (M)" digital shrapnel exposed upon the record.

225. To obfuscate this glaring forensic glitch, they deployed an entirely fraudulent, highly sophisticated visual smokescreen. By pasting a complex, bureaucratic-looking "digital certificate" box directly over the "CL (M)" artifact, they explicitly weaponized the visual complexity inherent to a digital signature. The objective was to manipulate the nonsensical "CL (M)" artifact to appear as though it belonged to Court Officer Christyn Frugoni-Rojas, acting as a component of an official, cryptographic timestamp.

4.2 The Subversion of Section 504 of the Criminal Code

226. This action constitutes an absolute procedural fraud that betrays a complete abrogation of established criminal procedure. Pursuant to section 504 of the Criminal Code, an Information must be laid in writing and under oath before a justice. As evidenced by the standard Adult Common Information Form, an informant swearing an 5723 Information in person does not require—nor do they utilize—a floating, highly formatted "digital signature" box randomly situated upon a secondary page of a PDF.

227. The physical Form 2 necessitates a wet-ink signature or a highly specific, certified e-signature contained strictly within the jurat, executed simultaneously before the Justice of the Peace. The "digital signature" deployed herein on Page 2 was utilized exclusively as a visual ruse to overwrite the void precipitated by the removed Superior Court signature and to falsely legitimize the visibly altered document through overwhelming bureaucratic clutter.

```
+-------------------------------------------------------------------+
|                                          |
| Christyn                                 |
| Frugoni-                                 |
| Rojas CL (M)  <--- The Fused Artifact hidden in the fake text     |
|                                          |
                                           | Digitally signed by                    |
                                           | Christyn Frugoni-                      |
                                           | Rojas CL (M)                           |
                                           | Date: 2024:09.23 12:59.50 -04-'00'             |
```

4.3 The Fake Ontario Court of Justice Arms Logo and the Decoy Justice of the Peace

228. A rigorous inspection reveals that the final iteration is a true "Frankenstein" document—a patchwork amalgamation of conflicting jurisdictional authorities and fabricated stamps. The manipulator appropriated a Superior Court document, pasted a fabricated Ontario Court of Justice Arms Logo at the zenith of the page, and included a fabricated Justice of the Peace signature line (purporting to belong to George Jiri) to finalize the illusion.

229. The Ministry of the Attorney General has explicitly conceded that the Form 2 Information was never formally filed and that Justice of the Peace Jiri did not, in fact, sign the document. Furthermore, a Form 4 Indictment (originating from the Superior Court) cannot be authorized by a Justice of the Peace (operating within the Provincial Court) due to absolute statutory bars on cross-jurisdictional authority.

230. This evidentiary matrix confirms that law enforcement intentionally utilized a digital "template" bearing JP Jiri's nomenclature—a familiar former colleague who previously collaborated extensively with the police human trafficking team prior to his January 2024 judicial appointment—to manufacture a facially valid-looking decoy for the executing officers in the field. This highly sophisticated misdirection allowed the actual judicial authority (Chief Justice Morawetz) to remain entirely obscured behind a veil of "in chambers" secrecy, thereby blatantly violating the Open Court Principle.

PART V: STATUTORY NON-COMPLIANCE, ABUSE OF PROCESS, AND THE WEAPONIZATION OF SECURITY

231. This spatial, digital, and jurisdictional severance explicitly contravenes the foundational tenets of the Criminal Proceedings Rules. Rule 4 of the Criminal Proceedings Rules mandates strict, unwavering adherence to prescribed forms (such as Form 2 for an Information) to ensure the unimpeachable integrity of the court record.

232. Such statutorily prescribed forms are understood in jurisprudence not as mere administrative guidelines or aspirational suggestions, but as absolute statutory prerequisites conditioning the lawful exercise of coercive state authority. A departure from these forms that strikes at the substance of the charge divests the court of its authority to proceed.

233. Nota Bene (Addressing the Doctrine of Curability): It may be posited by the respondent Crown that the spatial separation of the signatory mark from the charging text constitutes a mere procedural irregularity, theoretically capable of retroactive rectification under the curative provisos of section 601 or section 686(1)(b)(iv) of the Criminal Code. Such an extrapolation is logically and legally infirm. Pursuant to the strict construction mandated by the Supreme Court in R. v. Côté, 2011 SCC 46, while jurisprudence may generously accommodate minor clerical defects or misnomers, an instrument that wholly fails to disclose a valid legal foundation—such as a document altered via unauthorized API manipulation and decoy signatures—is deemed an incurable nullity. A fabricated signature bereft of any structural nexus to the charge is not a curable defect; it constitutes an absolute jurisdictional vacuum. Thus, jurisdiction is severed ipso facto, and cannot be salvaged nunc pro tunc.

5.2 The Weaponization of the Nullity to Preclude Administrative Oversight

234. The prejudice engendered by this fractured Information Package operates to actively deprive the affected party of administrative justice, civilian oversight, and the fundamental tenets of procedural fairness as articulated in Baker v. Canada (Minister of Citizenship and Immigration), [1999] 2 SCR 817. The state's reliance upon this fabricated document effectively destroys the status quo ante.

235. As evidenced unequivocally by the LECA Refusal dated May 2, 2025 [Tab 14, Application Record], an independent investigation into grave allegations of inappropriate charging and custodial mistreatment was declined explicitly on the grounds that "there is an outstanding criminal charge related to this complaint."

236. It is logically deduced that this dynamic precipitates a perverse, self-insulating cycle of state impunity. A procedural nullity—a legally void Information manipulated via the GrapeCity API to obscure a Chief Justice's involvement—was initially generated by the state apparatus. Notwithstanding this absolute vitiation, said void instrument is purportedly being utilized and characterized by the state as a valid, res judicata "outstanding criminal charge."

237. This characterization is weaponized to effectively preclude independent civilian investigation pursuant to the Community Safety and Policing Act, 2019. Thus, an instrument that fails the foundational epistemological test of judicial authentication is deployed as an impenetrable shield to insulate state actors from systemic accountability.

238. Because Rule 4.05(1) mandated that the Intake Court Endorsement be routed through the Superior Court of Justice 361 University Avenue court office, the registry staff securely retained the original metadata and un-redacted files. They possess explicit knowledge of what was transmitted to the 52nd Division on September 23, 2024. However, the Applicant's lawful attempts to retrieve the Authentic Information Package were met with a coordinated, highly aggressive, multi-tiered blockade.

The "McIntosh" Conflict of Interest (Annathan Sinnadurai)

239. When the Applicant demanded transparency in the Summer of 2025, the Ministry of the Attorney General deployed legal counsel Annathan Sinnadurai to formulate the response. This assignment was purportedly not random; it represented a profound, paralyzing, and highly strategic conflict of interest.

240. Mr. Sinnadurai previously served as direct legal counsel for Chief Justice Morawetz, Associate Chief Justice McWatt, and Madam Justice Sharon Shore in the closely related, highly contentious litigation of McIntosh v. Shore, McWatt and Morawetz. By deploying the exact same counsel who previously defended this specific triad of jurists, the Ministry ensured that the Applicant's inquiries were intercepted by an agent whose primary professional history involved shielding the Chief Justice and Justice Shore from personal liability, rather than upholding the integrity of the public court record.

The JSSO "Freudian Slip" (Guilty Knowledge and Rule 8)

241. When administrative obfuscation proved insufficient, the state apparatus escalated its response. On August 22, 2025, the Applicant transmitted four emails to the Superior Court Correspondence Unit requesting access to the Authentic Information Package. Two emails were directed to Regional Senior Justice (RSJ) Firestone, and two were directed to Chief Justice Morawetz.

242. On August 26, 2025, at 9:19 AM, the Justice Sector Security Office (the "JSSO") emailed the Applicant, threatening that further correspondence "could result in some form of legal jeopardy" and characterizing the lawful records requests as "harassment." This correspondence serves as the legal equivalent of a "Freudian Slip." By attempting to intimidate the Applicant, the JSSO inadvertently confessed to Chief Justice Morawetz's specific, adjudicative involvement in the matter:

243. The Omission of RSJ Firestone: Pursuant to section 14 of the Courts of Justice Act, RSJ Firestone exercises the delegated administrative powers for the Toronto Region. Had the Applicant's emails been viewed merely as the generalized complaints of a frustrated citizen addressing the court's administrative leaders, the JSSO would have logically protected RSJ Firestone. Instead, the JSSO entirely ignored the correspondence directed to Firestone and explicitly named Chief Justice Morawetz three separate times. This implicitly admits that Morawetz was not being 5726 contacted in a generalized administrative capacity; rather, he was being shielded in his specific adjudicative capacity.

244. The Rule 8 Confession ("Is Presiding"): The JSSO cited the prohibition against communicating with a judge "with respect to matters that are, or may be, before the Court" (Rule 8), which prohibits out-of-court communication with a judge about a proceeding over which the judge "is presiding." It is legally impossible for a Chief Justice sitting at Osgoode Hall to be "presiding" over a standard criminal intake matter at 361 University Avenue unless, in an ex parte and in camera hearing, that specific judge issued the order and thereby became "seized" of the application.

245. Under strict criminal procedure (governing Garofoli applications to challenge the validity of a warrant), the issuing judge maintains initial jurisdiction over the materials. By leveraging Rule 8 to threaten the Applicant, the JSSO legally defined Chief Justice Morawetz as the "presiding" judge over the September 23, 2024, proceeding the Applicant was inquiring about.

The JSSO and the "Open Police Principle"

246. The weaponization of the JSSO in this context is deeply constitutionally alarming. The JSSO partners directly with the Justice Officials Protection & Investigations Section (JOPIS), a specialized unit within the Ontario Provincial Police (OPP).

247. The transformation of a citizen's administrative request for an authentic court record into a policing matter handled by an OPP-partnered security branch occurs only when the foundational Open Court Principle is subverted. It is systematically replaced by what may be termed the "Open Police Principle"—a paradigm wherein the state leverages law enforcement threat vectors to intimidate and silence litigants who uncover empirical evidence of judicial forgery.

5.4 The Consequence: An Incurable Jurisdictional Nullity and Exemplary Damages

248. The reverse of the Information Package in the present matter does not feature a legally binding endorsement validating a sworn oath. Instead, it presents a grotesque administrative amalgamation that flagrantly fails to satisfy the standards established by common law, the Criminal Proceedings Rules, and the historical, fraud-preventing precedents of the Superior Court.

249. To permit such a breach of foundational legal architecture to remain unaddressed would arguably contravene the Supreme Court's directive in Doucet-Boudreau v. Nova Scotia (Minister of Education), 2003 SCC 62, which requires the provision of a "meaningful and responsive" remedy under section 24(1) of the Charter.

250. A mere stay of proceedings is entirely insufficient to address the magnitude of this structural vitiation. This profound judicial failure triggers robust constitutional remedies, exposing the state apparatus to formal declarations 5727 of invalidity, structural injunctions, and the imposition of punitive and aggravated civil damages stemming from malicious prosecution, false imprisonment, and the intentional infliction of mental suffering.

251. Proceedings emanating from such an intrinsically severed, fabricated, and aggressively shielded document are considered coram non judice—an absolute, incurable nullity from the exact moment of their purported inception. The inevitable, forensically sound, and self-evident jurisprudential conclusion is that the Information Package is entirely void ab initio.

VOLUME 6— CONCLUSION ON WHEN CHIEF JUSTICE MORAWETZ (OR IN THE ALTERNATIVE MADAM JUSTICE SHORE OR BOTH) ACTS WERE FACTUM A JUDICE, QUOD AD OFFICIUM JURE NON PERTINET, RATUM NON EST AND ORDERS REQUESTED

252. The Applicant respectfully requests that this Honourable Court grant the following relief:

a. (a) A Declaration of jurisdictional nullity.
   i. A Declaration that the Impugned Endorsement dated September 23, 2024 is an irremediable nullity, having been created within the SCJ Family Law Registry, a body with no criminal jurisdiction, and bearing none of the statutory indicia of a warrant under the Criminal Code.

b. A Declaration that the proceeding is deemed never to have been filed.
   i. A Declaration under Rule 4.05(6) of the Criminal Proceedings Rules that the Information is deemed not to have been filed, as no court office of competent criminal jurisdiction possesses any record of its filing

c. (c) Certiorari.
   i. An order in the nature of certiorari quashing:
   ii. the Impugned Endorsement;
   iii. the altered Form 2 Information;
   iv. any derivative process predicated upon the altered Information; and
   v. any warrant or arrest predicated upon the Impugned Endorsement.

d. Prohibition and Permanent Injunctive (Quia Timet)
   i. An order in the nature of prohibition preventing the Crown, police, or any state actor from relying upon, re-filing, or attempting to retroactively validate the Impugned Endorsement or the altered Information.
   ii. (e) Mandamus.
      1. An order in the nature of mandamus compelling the Registrar and Manager of Court Operations to:
      2. produce the original sworn Information as it existed at the moment of oath;
      3. produce the original Form 7 Warrant (if any);
      4. produce all audit trails, metadata, and electronic logs associated with the creation, modification, or circulation of the Impugned Endorsement;
      5. produce all records, documents, things, papers that touch this matter required under Rule 43.03.
   iii. (f) Charter Declarations.
      1. A Declaration that the Applicant's rights under ss. 7, 8, 9, 10, 11, 12 and 15 of the Charter were violated by:
         a. the use of a fabricated instrument to justify arrest;
         b. the arbitrary detention and imprisonment predicated on a variety of false documents;
         c. the unreasonable search and seizure;
         d. the six-week "procedural black hole" created by the failure to file the Information Package and when the TPS did, it did so in a manner that was consistent with fantasy;

5728

iv. (g) Nunc pro tunc relief.

1. An order restoring the judicial record Nunc pro tunc to its lawful state as of September 23, 2024, prior to the spoliation of the Jurat page and the substitution of the Impugned Endorsement.

v. (h) Any further relief

1. Such further and other relief as this Honourable Court deems just and equitable

RELIANCE UPON MATERIALS HEREIN

253. The Applicant relies upon the following:

a. Rule 43.03 Certificate (1st Floor Family Registry): Establishes the non-existence of a filed record for the Proceeding
b. Admissions of Crown Counsel A. Sinnadurai (June 25, 2025, and July 4, 2025): Confirms a "nil" search result for Informations sworn by CO Frugoni-Rojas during the material time
c. The "False Information Package" (4810 998 24 48129169): Primary exhibit exhibiting 43 specific errors, forged JP signatures, and software-generated Arial signatures.
d. RCMP CPIC logs: Analytical logs establishing the Terminal ID and User ID responsible for document metamorphosis.
e. Integrated FIP Analysis Chart (Integrated FIP Analysis Chart - 934 pm.docx): Comprehensive forensic audit of 160+ enumerated errors vs. standard pro-forma templates.
f. Forensic Technical Analysis of Automated Document Generation (Forensic Technical Analysis...docx): Evaluation of GrapeCity Documents for PDF SDK 6.0.2.0 as the document producer.
g. GMAIL Chief Justice Morawetz Request (August 22, 2025): Documenting the refusal of the SCJ RMO to provide recordings (uploaded as GMAIL-~1.PDF)
h. Amended Transcript Order Form (R v McLean - ATO): Forensic breakdown of the "70-minute fabrication window" (uploaded as R v McLean - 1st Amended Order Form...).
i. Declaration #1 (October 10, 2025), Declaration #2 of the Applicant (November 14, 2025) and Affidavit of Service/Affidavit of the Applicant on November 21, 2025, in McLean v. TDHA et al before the Divisional Court by way of statutory application (JRPA) (24-718-JR) wherein Madam Justice Shore engaged in the Unauthorized CMJ Interloper status by way of an email from Ms. Evelyne Ibula (a non-appointed individual under the PSOA 2006) who had a last known vocational location of Martin Barristers at Suite 1100, 55 University Avenue, Toronto, Ontario (nota bene: the very same location as the then counsel to the Landlord, who was part of the unauthorized lockouts of the Application from the residential apartments and the Minto Buildings located at 775 King Street West, City of Toronto, Province of Ontario, M5V 2K3;
j. The Crown (SCJ and OCJ) records, documents, papers and things that touch this matter;
k. The police forces' relevant records, documents, papers and things that touch this matter; and
l. Such other documents, evidence, records et al that are relevant to this matter.

All of which is respectfully submitted by the Applicant on April 29, 2026

Mr. Kevin A. McLean (BA, JD, CIM)

LIST OF AUTHORITIES DENOTED HEREIN

A. Legislation

- Criminal Code, RSC 1985, c C-46
- Canadian Charter of Rights and Freedoms, Part I of the Constitution Act, 1982
- Courts of Justice Act, RSO 1990, c C.43
- Interpretation Act, RSC 1985, c I-21
- Canada Evidence Act, RSC 1985, c C-5
- Personal Information Protection and Electronic Documents Act, SC 2000, c 5
- Criminal Proceedings Rules for the Superior Court of Justice (Ontario)
- Family Law Rules, O Reg 114/99

B. Jurisprudence — Supreme Court of Canada

- R v Paterson, 2017 SCC 15
- Sherman Estate v Donovan, 2021 SCC 25
- R v Jordan, 2016 SCC 27
- R v Grant, 2009 SCC 32
- R v Collins, [1987] 1 SCR 265
- R v Storrey, [1990] 1 SCR 241
- MacMillan Bloedel Ltd v Simpson, [1995] 4 SCR 725
- Crevier v Quebec (AG), [1981] 2 SCR 220
- Doucet-Boudreau v Nova Scotia, 2003 SCC 62
- Reference re Manitoba Language Rights, [1985] 1 SCR 721
- BCGEU v British Columbia, [1988] 2 SCR 214
- R v Feeney, [1997] 2 SCR 13
- R v Oakes, [1986] 1 SCR 103

C. Jurisprudence — Ontario Courts

- R v Smith, 2020 ONCJ 611
- R v Hayes, 2016 ONCA 585
- R v Kutynec, (1992), 70 CCC (3d) 289 (Ont CA)
- R v Vukelich, 1996 CanLII 888 (BCCA) (cited for procedural fairness principles)
- R v McHale, 2010 ONCA 361
- R v D.S., 2023 ONSC (re: electronic warrant integrity)
- R v Riley, 2017 ONCA 650

D. Administrative Law Authorities

- Dunsmuir v New Brunswick, 2008 SCC 9
- Canada (Minister of Citizenship and Immigration) v Vavilov, 2019 SCC 65
- Baker v Canada (Minister of Citizenship and Immigration), [1999] 2 SCR 817

E. Principles and Secondary Sources

- Ethical Principles for Judges, Canadian Judicial Council
- Ontario Court of Justice Criminal E-Intake System Documentation
- Ministry of the Attorney General, Criminal Procedure Manual
- GrapeCity Documents for PDF (GcPDF) Technical Specifications (forensic reference)

APPENDICES

5732

APPENDIX A: Analysis of "False Information Package" Discrepancies (Schedule A)

Error Category	Specific Deficiency Point	Location in False Information Package	Comparison / Implication
Page & Footer Inconsistencies	Footer is demonstrably different; Footer fails to include a single space; Illegibility in "save toner mode"	Pages 1 & 5 vs. Page 2 of 5 Footer (rev. 10/20); Only footer on Page 2 of 5 remains legible	Inconsistent footers; Error in form designation ("C-e" vs "C e"); Evidence of potentially "missing text and false documentation."
	Erroneous footer	Page 3 of 5	Reproduction of the header from Page 1 of 5.
Formatting & Input Errors	Erroneously includes two commas after "NFA sic "	Page 1 of 5 (Address line)	Incorrect formatting where the Accused's address was entered.
	"NFA" (No Fixed Address) is included	Page 1 of 5	Inconsistent with reference to Applicant's driver's license number on Page 5.
	Superfluous numeral "(1)"	Page 1 of 1	Incorrectly precedes the Accused's name.
Legal & Jurisdiction Deviations	False Case Identification Number; "Intake Court Endorsement" terminology used	Page 3, "Police Case ID: 457197"; Page 3	Uses six digits instead of required seven; Family law terminology used as "deliberate diversion" from SCJ judge authority.
Digital Signature & Manipulation	"Digitally signed by George Jiri"	Page 3 of 5	Plain text in Arial font; utterly fails PKI/Hash requirements of PIPEDA.

5788 APPENDIX B: METADATA AND KNOWN DEFICIENCIES OF DOCUMENT PRODUCER (SCHEDULE B)

GrapeCity Issue Category	Specific Deficiency/Reported Problem	Implication in Context
Software Identification / Memory Issues	Application & Producer: Grape.City.Documents.PDF-6.0.2.0; Reported "Insufficient memory" exceptions.	Confirms use of programmatic .NET library, not standard end-user tool like Adobe Acrobat; could lead to unstable generation or corruption.
Anchor Point Corruption	Vertical text drifting (e.g., "[] At Bail Review date")	Confirms document was linearised or modified post-facto in an unauthorized script environment.
Footer Paradoxes	Header template renders in footer; "about:blank" glitches	Corroborates the misplacement of the Page 1 header onto Page 3 of the FIP.

- Algorithmic Capacity: GcPDF version 6.0.2.0 is a specialized SDK (Software Development Kit) used for back-end document automation. The presence of this metadata proves the FIP was generated via an automated script in a private office environment, bypassing the ICON/FRANK secured terminal workflow.
- Vertical Drifting: The text "[] At Bail Review date" on Page 4 is floating between fields. This "drift" is a known defect in GrapeCity's PDF producer when modifying existing PDF structures without maintaining anchor-point integrity.
- Font Transitioning: The document exhibits programmatic transitioning between Arial (Pages 1, 3, 5), Times New Roman (Page 2), and Courier—a technical "fingerprint" of manual programmatic insertion rather than standardized output.
- PIB RCMP PPU 005 Logs: The CPIC transaction logs remain the "Single Source of Truth." If 14 Division cleared the arrest but Det. Virani (52 Division) approved the release, the transaction metadata will expose the specific Terminal IDs and User IDs responsible for the document metamorphosis.

- Terminal ID (TID): Identifies the specific hardware unit used to initiate a CPIC transaction. A TID mismatch between the "Arrest" and "Release" confirms Forum Shopping.
- Originating Agency Identifier (ORI): Unique 9-character code. ON30247 (52 Division - Virani) vs. ON30243 (14 Division - Custodial).
- Warrant Type Metadata: CPIC logs distinguish between a statutory Form 7 Warrant and a regional "Intake Endorsement." The absence of a Form 7 entry on September 23, 2024, proves the detention was predicated on a jurisdictional nullity.

APPENDIX E: INTEGRATED FIP ANALYSIS - SUMMARY OF 160+ ERRORS

1. Barcode Fraud: Police Case ID: 457197 uses 6 digits, failing the 7-digit ICON/CCO standard.
2. Linguistic Punctuation Inconsistency: Improper period in English ("Information of.") vs correct colon in French (Dénonciation de :).
3. Truncated Police Agency Name: Page 5 renders "TORONTO POLICE SERVIC [SIC]."
4. Floating Bail Text: Page 4 exhibits vertical text drift characteristic of anchor-point corruption in GcPDF.
5. Signature Separation: The JP signature appears on Page 3 under a Family Law heading ("Intake Court Endorsement"), rather than witnessing the laying of the Information under oath.

---

[i] The imposition of the Nunc Pro Tunc Relief is strictly necessitated to unequivocally vitiate the jurisdictional vacuum precipitated by the state apparatus and to resurrect the status quo ante that existed prior to the dissemination of the fundamentally defective and definitively extrajudicial intake court endorsement (the "Intake Court Endorsement"). Furthermore, such retrospective operationalization is a paramount necessity to ensure that the administrative theft of time and the strategic obfuscation of the official record do not precipitate a permanent abrogation of substantive legal rights or the irrevocable extinguishment of remedies strictly contingent upon limitation periods;

[ii] This procedural accommodation is strictly necessitated to rectify the physical and jurisprudential incapacity to act, an incapacity entirely occasioned by the state's calculated sequestration of the originating record and the strategic obfuscation surrounding the aforementioned Intake Court Endorsement. It is further posited, ipso facto, that the complete absence of the requisite warrant in form 7 (the "Form 7 Warrant") effectively tolled the legal capacity to mount a procedural challenge. This deliberate omission engendered an impenetrable evidentiary void (the "Black Hole") within the judicial record for a duration exceeding six weeks, thereby necessitating the requested temporal extension to avert an irrevocable miscarriage of justice;

[iii] The techniques used by the police officers—intimidation, falsified documents, use of intrusive technology, and manipulation via the Youth Protection Services—constitute procedural abuses that violate decency and the rule of law. The applicant requests a stay of proceedings as the ultimate remedy (paras. 6-8 , 10-11 , 200-201) .

Crown: Police actions are justified in the context of a complex investigation, concerning serious crimes, with legally framed measures, and do not in any way compromise the integrity of the judicial system (paras. 178-179 , 282).

Certainly, the use of false judicial authorizations is likely to undermine public confidence in the administration of justice.

Society cannot tolerate police officers being able to falsify court orders on their own initiative.

Police Ethics Commissioner v. Joly Tessier, 2024 QCTADP 49

(Section 25.1 of the Criminal Code allows for limited circumstances of intentional offences under 25.1 but section 25.1(10) must be employed. But there are exceptions:

Limitation

(11) Nothing in this section justifies

(a) the intentional or criminally negligent causing of death or bodily harm to another person;

(b) the wilful attempt in any manner to obstruct, pervert or defeat the course of justice; or

Tab 91

Form 5
NOTICE OF APPLICATION AND CONSTITUTIONAL ISSUE

(Criminal Proceedings Rules, Rule 27.03)

ONTARIO
SUPERIOR COURT OF JUSTICE

Toronto
Region

Unknown or "457197' (24)
Court File No. (if known)

BETWEEN:

HIS MAJESTY THE KING

- and -

Mr. Kevin A. McLean
(specify name of accused)

TAKE NOTICE that the Applicant (Mr. Kevin A. McLean (BA, JD, CIM) will bring an application on (identify party)

THURS day, the 19 day of June, yr. 2026, at (specify month)

50 Eagle Street West Newmarket, ON L3Y 6B1 (Central East Region, Newmarket Courthouse (SCJ))
(specify address of courthouse)

for an order granting (see: Schedule A) (set out precise relief sought)

THE GROUNDS FOR THIS APPLICATION ARE:

1. That see: Schedule A)
2. That see: Schedule A)
3. Such further and other grounds as counsel may advise and this Honourable Court may permit.

THE CONSTITUTIONAL ISSUES TO BE RAISED ARE:

(state concisely each issue to be raised)

1. see: Schedule A)
2. see: Schedule A)
3. see: Schedule A)

THE CONSTITUTIONAL PRINCIPLES TO BE ARGUED ARE:

1. see: Schedule A)
2. see: Schedule A)
3. see: Schedule A)

STATUTORY PROVISIONS OR RULES UPON WHICH THE APPLICANT PLACES RELIANCE ARE:

1. see: Schedule A)

IN SUPPORT OF THIS APPLICATION, THE APPLICANT RELIES UPON THE FOLLOWING:

(set out documents such as transcripts, etc. upon which the applicant relies)

1. see: Schedule A

THE RELIEF SOUGHT IS:

1. An Order allowing the application and granting (indicate particular relief sought)

   see: Schedule A

THE APPLICANT MAY BE SERVED WITH DOCUMENTS PERTINENT TO THIS APPLICATION

1. By service in accordance with rule 5, through
   Mr. Kevin A. McLean (BA, JD, CIM)
   Phone number: (647) 370-9354
   Fax: 416.981.7117
   Email: mcleansettlement@gmail.com and any other dedicated email (in lieu of the former or by addition) so provided

(specify address)

DATED at TORONTO, Ontario, this 29 day of APRIL, 20 26.

Signature of applicant or counsel

Mr. Kevin A. McLean (BA, JD, CIM)
Phone number: (647) 370-9354
Fax: 416.981.7117
Email: mcleansettlement@gmail.com and any other dedicated email (in lieu of the former or by addition) so provided

(set out name and address, as well as telephone number and email)

To The Attorney General of Ontario
Constitutional Law Branch
Legal Services Division
720 Bay Street, 4th Floor
Toronto, Ontario M5G 2K1

The Attorney General of Canada
120 Adelaide Street West
Suite 400
Toronto, Ontario M5H 1T1
Email: NCQ-AQC.Toronto@justice.gc.ca

(or Justice Building
284 Wellington Street
Ottawa, Ontario K1A 0H8
Email: AGC_PGC_OTTAWA@JUSTICE.GC.CA*)*

and/or

SCHEDULE “A” TO FORM 5 OF THE CRIMINAL PROCEEDING RULES: NOTICE OF APPLICATION AND CRIMINAL PROCEEDING RULES

File Number: 24-457197 or to be provided)

ONTARIO

SUPERIOR COURT OF JUSTICE

(CRIMINAL DIVISION)

(COMMENCED IN THE TORONTO REGION: SCJ 361 University Avenue Courthouse, 1ST FLOOR)

(TO BE HEARD AT CENTRAL EAST REGION, NEWMARKET COURTHOUSE)

BETWEEN

HIS MAJESTY THE KING

RESPONDENT

AND

Mr. Kevin A. McLean (BA, JD, CIM)

ACCUSED (APPLICANT)

Contents

SCHEDULE “A” TO FORM 5 OF THE Criminal Proceeding Rules: NOTICE OF APPLICATION AND Criminal Proceeding Rules 1

Notice of CONSTITUTIONAL Question 17

STATUTORY JURISDICTION AND CONSTITUTIONAL PREDICATE 17

A. Foundational Authorities and the Jurisdictional Nexus 17

B. The Subversion of the Open Court Principle and the Rule of Law 18

II. ENUMERATION OF CONSTITUTIONAL INFRINGEMENTS 18

Comprehensive Identification and Extrapolation of Charter Violations 18

B. The Categorical Inapplicability of Section 1 Justificatory Mechanisms 19

III. REMEDIAL INTERVENTIONS AND EQUITABLE RELIEF SOUGHT 19

Plenary Application for Section 24(1) Equitable Relief 19

B. Exclusion of Evidence Pursuant to Section 24(2) and Restoration of the Status Quo 19

IV. CONSTITUTIONAL VIOLATIONS OF JUDICATURE PROVISIONS AND THE DOCTRINE OF ABSOLUTE NULLITY 20
Egregious Usurpation of the Inherent Superior Court Jurisdiction 20
Strict Classification of Procedural Deviations as Absolute Nullities 20
V. FORUM SELECTION AND PROCEDURAL SCHEDULE 20
Delineation of Adjudicative Venue 20
Explicit Reservation of Interim and Interlocutory Rights 20
VI. EVIDENTIARY RECORD, DOCTRINAL APPLICATION, AND ADJUDICATIVE FRAUD 21
Inextricable Integration with the Foundational Form 1 Application 21
The Post Facto Falsification of Jurisdictional Prosecutorial Instruments 21
TO: 22
STATEMENT OF CONSTITUTIONAL ISSUES 24
I. The Open Court Principle, Institutional Integrity, and the Prohibition of Secret Proceedings (Section 2(b)) 24
II. Unreasonable Search and Seizure via Deception and the Weaponization of Legal Fiction (Section 8) 24
III. Arbitrary Detention and the Doctrine of Procedural Nullity (Section 9) 25
IV. The Right to be Informed and the Vitiation of Lawful Authority (Section 10(a)) 25
V. Notice of Specific Offence, Full Answer and Defence, and Unreasonable Delay (Sections 11(a) and 11(b)) 25
VI. Cruel and Unusual Treatment via Unauthorized Confinement and Extra-Judicial Conditions (Section 12) 26
VII. The Absolute Inapplicability of Section 1 Justification to Fundamental Nullities 26
VIII. Separation of Powers, Judicial Independence, and Apprehension of Bias (Constitution Act, 1867, s. 96) 26
VOLUME #1: OVERVIEW OF THE JURISDICTIONAL NULLITIES, ACTS OF JUDGE(S) WHICH WERE Factum A Judice, Quod Ad Officium Jure Non Pertinet, Ratum Non Est AND Coram Non Judice CONSTITUTIONAL INFRACTIONS 28
The Irrefragable Chain of Custody and the Rule of Law 28
B. Anticipatory Rebuttal: The Inapplicability of Curative Statutory Provisions 28
C. Deliberate Spoliation and the Fabrication of Originating Processes 29
D. Apprehension of Bias and Pre-Existing Conflicts of Interest Undisclosed by the nature of the “Ex Parte In Camera Hearing”, “Ex Parte In Camera Unrecorded Hearings”, and “Ex Parte In Camera Unrecorded Hearings Unretained Indictment Process” 29
E. Anticipatory Rebuttal: Crystallization of Actual Bias 30
F. Parallel Civil Litigation and Extra-Judicial Retaliation 30
G. Anticipatory Rebuttal: Vitiation of Good Faith Reliance 30
H. Conclusion and Equitable Imperatives 31
I. JURISDICTIONAL FATALITIES AND THE DOCTRINE OF ABSOLUTE NULLITY 31
Coram Non Judice and the Strictissimi Juris Interpretation of Statutory Grants 31
J. The Ontological Distinction Between Voidable Irregularities and Absolute Nullities 32
K. Application of the Jurisprudence to the Procedural Irregularities Before the Superior Court of Justice 33
L. Countervailing Doctrines and the Rebuttal of the Collateral Attack Prohibition 34
M. JURISDICTIONAL AND CONSTITUTIONAL SUBMISSIONS 35
Application of the Paramountcy Doctrine and Judicial Authority 35
N. The Absolute Imperative of Procedural Transparency 36

The Imperative of Coram Non Judice and Jurisdictional Nullity 37
The Foundational Precedent of Pong v Quong 37
Analogizing Jurisdictional Usurpation 37
P. Constitutional Evolution of Section 96 courts 38
Historical Demarcations of Adjudicative Power 38
The Erroneous Concept of Persona Designata 38
Q. The Incurability of Jurisdictional Defects Through Consent of litigants, parties, amicus curaeu and/or intervenors (party level) 38
VOLUME #2: STATEMENT OF ISSUES AND ANSWERS 40
ISSUE #1: THE INAPPLICABILITY OF SECTION 599 OF THE CRIMINAL CODE AND THE CONSEQUENT JURISDICTIONAL NULLITY OF THE ADMINISTRATIVE TRANSFER 40
A. The Statutory Architecture and the Implications of Prosecutorial Election 40
B. The Prerequisites for a Lawful Change of Venue and Transmission of Record 41
C. Application to the Factual Matrix and the Doctrine of Coram Non Judice 42
D. THE STATUTORY DEFICIENCIES APPERTAINING TO THE IMPUGNED DIGITAL SIGNATURES 42
A. The Legislative Mandates of PIPEDA and the Canada Evidence Act 42
E. The Forensic Deficiency of the Purported Information and Warrant 42
F. CONSTITUTIONAL CONSTRAINTS UPON THE ROYAL PREROGATIVE AND THE DECEPTION OF THE CROWN 43
Rex Non Potest Peccare and the Liability of State Instruments 43
G. The Doctrine of Deception of the Crown and Lex Non Scripta 43
H. PROCEDURAL NULLITY AND INSTITUTIONAL ABUSE 43
ISSUE 2: THE JURISDICTIONAL ROUTING AND THE CHAIN OF CUSTODY 44
Issue #2(A): Formulation of the Jurisdictional Issue 44
Issue #2(B): Postulation of the Legal Resolution 44
Issue #2(C): Analytical Framework, Statutory Architecture, and the Separation of Powers 45
Issue #2(D): Anticipated Submissions of the Crown, Judicial Interrogatories, and Embedded Rebuttals 45
Issue #2(E): Rebuttal, Integration of Legal Doctrine, and Structural Abuse of Process 46
Issue #2(F): Non-Obvious Legal Theories and Further Jurisprudential Exegesis 46
ISSUE 3: SPOLIATION AND THE ALTERATION OF SWORN INSTRUMENTS 47
Issue #3(A): Formulation of the Legal Issue 47
Issue #3(B): Categorical Resolution and Constitutional Imperatives 47
Issue #3(C):Doctrinal Analysis and Extrapolation of Legal Principles 48
ISSUE #3(D):Prophylactic Rebuttal to Anticipated Prosecutorial and Judicial Counter-Arguments 49
ISSUE #3(E):Non-Obvious Legal Theories: Constructive Fraud and Abus de Droit 49
ISSUE #3(F):Jurisprudential Integration and Abuse of Process 49
ISSUE 4: STATUTORY TIMELINES AND DELIBERATE OBFUSCATION 50
Issue #4(A): THE ISSUE 50
ISSUE #4(B): THE RULE 50
Issue #4(C): THE ANALYSIS 51
The Misapplication of Statutory Discretion and Executive Bad Faith 51

Issue #4(E):The Theory of Strategic Obfuscation and the "Shadow Docket" 51
ISSUE #4(F):The Doctrine of Legitimate Expectations and Procedural Fairness 51
ISSUE #4(G): The "Fruits of the Poisoned Tree" Procedural Analogue 52
Issue #4(H):THE CONCLUSION 52
ISSUE 5: ELECTRONICALLY SUBMITTED INFORMATION, TELEWARRANTS, AND THE WITHHOLDING OF THE MASTER RECORD 52
Issue #5(A): ISSUE 52
ISSUE #5(B): RULE 53
ISSUE #5(C): ANALYSIS 53
The Ontological Requirement and the Social Contract of Documentation 53
ISSUE #5(D): Embedded Rebuttal: The Administrative Anomaly and Departmental Silos 53
Telewarrants and the Epistemic Failure of the State 54
Embedded Rebuttal: The De Facto Officer Doctrine 54
Inferences of Strategic Loss and Institutional Bad Faith 54
ISSUE #5(E): CONCLUSION 54
Issue #6: THE ANATOMY OF FORM 2 AND THE CONSPICUOUS ABSENCE OF THE MANDATORY JUDICIAL COMMAND 55
Issue #6(A): THE ISSUE 55
Issue #6(B): THE RULE 55
issue #6(C): THE ANALYSIS 55
The Juridical Distinction Between Accusation and Authorization 55
ii. Rebuttal to the Doctrine of Administrative Regularity 56
issue #6(D): The Mechanics of Judicial Oversight and the Missing Return 56 issue #6(E): The Constitutional Impact of "Justice by Checkbox" 56
issue #6(F): Application of the Law to the Facts 57
Issue #6(G): THE CONCLUSION 57
Issue #7: Circumvention of the Criminal E-Intake Portal, bench hunting and forum shopping for abusive underlying reasons 57
issue #7(A): ISSUE 57
issue #7(B): RULE 57
The Doctrine of Abuse of Process and Judicial Integrity 57
B. Functional Specialization and the "Doctrine of Forum Non Conveniens" 58 issue #7(C): The Duty of Candour and Constructive Fraud on the Court 58
issue #7(D): ANALYSIS 58
Tactical Circumvention and the Suppression of the "Criminal Portal" 58
issue #7(E): The Adversarial Position: A Breach of the "Nemo Judex" Principle 58 issue #7(F): Countering the "Concurrent Jurisdiction" Defense 59 issue #7(G): The "Colorable Exercise of Power" and Integrity of the System 59
issue #7(H): CONCLUSION 59
ISSUE 8: THE CONTRAVENTION OF SECTION 29 OF THE CRIMINAL CODE AND THE CONCOMITANT VIOLATION OF SECTION 10(a) OF THE CHARTER, or in the alternative, could the tps or any peace officer not technically satisfy section 29 of the Criminal Code (i.e. INTAKE COURT ENDORSEMENT (SEPT 23 2024) was not a form 7 arrest warrant)....59

issue #8(A): ISSUE....59
issue #8(B): RULE....60
issue #8(C): ANALYSIS....60
The Statutory Imperative of Production and the Nemo Dat Principle....60 issue #8(D): The Vitiation of Lawfulness and the Charter Nexus....61 issue #8(F): Anticipated Counter-Arguments and Rebuttals....61
Counter-Argument 1: The Doctrine of De Facto Authority....61
Rebuttal....61
Counter-Argument 2: Modern Digital Policing and Constructive Knowledge....61
Counter-Argument 3: The Presumption of Regularity....62
Rebuttal....62
issue #8(G): Non-Obvious Legal Theory: The Privacy Interest in the Legal Process....62
issue #8(H): CONCLUSION....62
ISSUE NUMBER NINE (9): THE SYSTEMIC MANIPULATION OF THE CANADIAN POLICE INFORMATION CENTRE INFRASTRUCTURE AND THE OBFUSCATION OF METADATA....63
issue #9(A): THE ISSUE....63
issue #9(B): THE COMMON LAW RULES, SOURCE LAWS AND JURISPRUDENCE....63
Issue #9(C): THE ANALYSIS....63
The Electronic Laundering of Defective Paperwork and the Doctrine of Fraud on the Court....63
ISSUE #9(D): Metadata Inconsistencies and the Irrefutable Evidence of Forgery....64
ISSUE #9(E):Anticipating and Rebutting the “Administrative Irregularity” and “Good Faith” Counter-Arguments....64
ISSUE #9(F):Addressing “Inevitable Discovery” and “Independent Source” Theories....64
ISSUE #9(G):The Theory of Institutional Estoppel and the Integrity of the Digital Ledger....65
ISSUE #9(H):THE CONCLUSION....65
ISSUE #10: THE UNAUTHORIZED SUBSTITUTION AND FABRICATION OF THE JURAT INFORMATION LAYING CROWN ELECTION PAGE....65
issue #10(A): THE ISSUE....65
ISSUE #10(B): THE RULE....65
ISSUE #10(C):THE ANALYSIS....66
The Nature of the Documentary Fabrication as a Jurisdictional Nullity....66
ISSUE #10(D): Logical Gaps and Rebuttals to Potential Counter-Arguments....66
ISSUE #10(E):THE CONCLUSION....67
ISSUE #11: E-FILING LIMITATIONS AND ENDORSEMENT REQUIREMENTS....67
Issue #11(A): THE ISSUE....67
issue #11(B): THE RULE....67
Statutory and Regulatory Mandates....67
ISSUE #11(C):Jurisprudential Principles and the Doctrine of Nullity....68
ISSUE #11(D):THE ANALYSIS....68
The Indictment as a Jurisdictional Foundation....68

ISSUE #11(E):Rebuttal of the Doctrine of Urgency and Orality 68
ISSUE #11(F):The Theory of Functional Nullity and Institutional Integrity 69
ISSUE #11(G):Countering the "De Minimis" Defense and Fraud Concerns 69
ISSUE #11(H):THE CONCLUSION 69
ISSUE #12 69
ISSUE #12(A): THE SURGICAL SPOLIATION OF THE JURAT INFORMATION LAYING CROWN ELECTION PAGE TO OBFUSCATE JUDICIAL IDENTITY 69
ISSUE #12(B): RULE: THE INTEGRITY OF THE JUDICIAL RECORD, THE DOCTRINE OF NULLITY, AND THE FRAUD UNRAVELLING PRINCIPLE 70
ISSUE #12(C):ANALYSIS: THE CALCULATED ORCHESTRATION OF DOCUMENTARY EXCISION 70
The Indispensability of the Jurat and the Impossibility of Accidental Destruction 70
B. Rebutting the Presumption of Regularity via the Doctrine of Spoliation 71
ISSUE #12(D):The Conflict of Interest and the Vitiation of Jurisdiction 71
ISSUE #12(E):The Inapplicability of the "Harmless Error" Doctrine and the Breach of Fundamental Justice 71
ISSUE #12(F):The Systemic Implications of Judicial Anonymity 72
ISSUE #12(G):CONCLUSION: THE IMPERATIVE FOR A DECLARATION OF NULLITY 72
ISSUE 13: THE CIRCUMVENTION OF STATUTORY OVERSIGHT PURSUANT TO SECTION 508 OF THE CRIMINAL CODE 72
Issue #13(A): 72
Issue #13(B): Rule 72
Issue #13(C): Analysis 73
Issue #13(D): Conclusion 73
ISSUE 14: THE UTILIZATION OF THE "DEFAULT JUDGE" ENDORSEMENT AS AN ADMINISTRATIVE SUBTERFUGE 73
Issue #14(A): 73
Issue #14(B): Rule 74
Issue #14(C): Analysis 74
Issue #14(D): Conclusion 74
ISSUE 15: THE FACIAL INVALIDITY AND STRUCTURAL DEFICIENCY OF THE CHARGING INSTRUMENT 75
Issue #15 75
Issue #15(B): Rule 75
Issue #15(C): Analysis 75
issue #15(D): Conclusion 75
ISSUE 16: THE EVIDENTIARY IMPLICATIONS OF THE ABSENCE OF MINISTRY RECORDS 76
Issue #16(A): 76
issue #16(B): Rule 76
Issue #16(C): Analysis 76
Issue #16(D): Conclusion 76
ISSUE 17: SYSTEMIC FLAWS IN THE UTILIZATION OF CIVILIAN INFORMANTS 77
Issue #17(A): 77
ISSUE #17(B): Rule 77

ISSUE #17(C): Analysis 77
Issue #17(D): Conclusion 77
ISSUE 18: PRE-EXISTING JUDICIAL CONFLICTS OF INTEREST AND THE ACTIONABLE APPREHENSION OF BIAS 78
ISSUE #18(A): Issue 78
ISSUE #18(B):Rule 78
ISSUE #18(C):Analysis 78
Conclusion 78
ISSUE 19: THE RUSE, RETALIATORY TIMELINE, AND THE DOCTRINE OF ABUSE OF PROCESS 79
Issue #19(A): 79
Issue #19(B): 79
issue #19(C): Analysis 79
The Stratagem of Deception 79
Issue #19(D):Rebuttal of De-escalation 79
ISSUE #19(E):The Fraudulent Foundation 79
Retaliatory Consequences 79
Issue #19(F):Conclusion 80
ISSUE 20: THE "INTAKE COURT ENDORSEMENT" LEXICON AND JURISDICTIONAL CROSS-CONTAMINATION 80
Issue #20(A): The Issue – language matters 80
issue #20(B): Rule 80
Issue #20(C):Analysis 80
Alien Terminology 80
3.2. The Clerical Fallacy. 80
3.3. Institutional Overreach 81
3.4. Nullity vs. Irregularity 81
Conclusion 81
ISSUE 21: NINE STATUTORY BREACHES OF FORM 7 AND THE STRUCTURAL NULLITY OF THE WARRANT 81
Issue #21(A): 81
Issue #20(B):Rule 81
Issue #20(C):Analysis 81
The Catalogue of Deficiencies 81
The Liberty Safeguard 81
Irremediable Void 82
issue #21(D): Conclusion 82
ISSUE 22: DIGITAL SIGNATURE INVALIDITY UNDER THE CANADA EVIDENCE ACT AND PIPEDA 82
ISSUE #22(A): Issue 82
ISSUE #22(B): Rule 82
ISSUE #22(C): Analysis 82
The Cryptographic Failure 82

The Functional Fallacy 82
Absence of Authority 83
issue #22(D): Conclusion 83
ISSUE 23: FORGERY, UTTERING A FALSE DOCUMENT, AND THE APPLICATION OF THE SMITH PRECEDENT 83
Issue 83
2. Rule 83
3. Analysis 83
Conclusion 84
ISSUE 24: E-FILING MANDATES, INSTITUTIONAL INTEGRITY, AND CORAM NON JUDICE 84
1. Issue 84
2. Rule 84
3. Analysis 84
Jurisdictional Bypassing 84
The Inherent Jurisdiction Fallacy 84
Institutional Integrity 84
Conclusion 85
ISSUE NUMBER 25: THE PROCEDURAL IMPERATIVE OF CERTIFICATION PURSUANT TO RULE 43.03 85
A. Issue 85
B. Rule 85
C. Analysis 85
D. Conclusion 86
ISSUE NUMBER 26: THE LEGAL INHERENCE OF THE FORM 7 WARRANT VS. ADMINISTRATIVE ENDORSEMENTS 86
Issue 86
B. Rule 86
C. Analysis 87
D. Conclusion 87
ISSUE NUMBER 27: JURISDICTIONAL DEFECTS AND THE DOCTRINE OF CORAM NON JUDICE 87
A. Issue 87
B. Rule 87
C. Analysis 88
D. Conclusion 88
ISSUE NUMBER 28: THE DOCTRINE OF FRAUD AND ITS VITIATING POTENCY 88
Issue 88
B. Rule 88
C. Analysis 89
D. Conclusion 89
V. FINAL SUPPLEMENTAL COMMENTARY 89

ISSUE NO. 29 — WHETHER THE EXECUTIVE BRANCH CONTRAVENED SECTION 2(b) OF THE CANADIAN CHARTER OF RIGHTS AND FREEDOMS (THE "OPEN COURT PRINCIPLE") THROUGH THE FALSIFICATION AND FILING OF FABRICATED INSTRUMENTS WITHIN THE ONTARIO COURT OF JUSTICE....89
ISSUE....89
II. RULE....90
A. The Constitutional Dimension of the Open Court Principle....90
The Doctrine of Nullity and Fraud Upon the Court....90
III. ANALYSIS....91
The Systematic Corruption of the Judicial Record and the Role of Madam Justice Shore....91
The Erosion of Public Scrutiny and the Social Contract of Justice....91
The Application of Common Law Maxims to Executive Deceit....92
IV. CONCLUSION....92
ISSUE NO. 30 — WHETHER THE APPLICANT'S RIGHT TO BE SECURE AGAINST UNREASONABLE SEARCH OR SEIZURE UNDER SECTION 8 OF THE CHARTER WAS VIOLATED BY THE CONTINUOUS SEQUENCE OF STATE CONDUCT COMMENCING SEPTEMBER 23, 2024....92
ISSUE....92
II. RULE....93
The Disjunctive Protections of Section 8....93
B. The Hunter Standard and Judicial Independence....93
Privacy Interests and the Sanctity of the Home....93
Consent and State Deception....93
III. ANALYSIS....94
The Failure of the Hunter Criteria and Judicial Neutrality....94
B. Territorial, Informational, and Decisional Seizures....94
The October 2 Fraudulent Seizure via Ruse and the Honour of the Crown....94
The Obfuscation of Judicial Oversight and the Role of the Default Judge....94
IV. CONCLUSION....95
REMEDIES....95
I. CONSTITUTIONAL RELIEF PURSUANT TO SECTION 24(1) OF THE CHARTER....95
ISSUE 31: THE CONSTITUTIONAL INFIRMITY OF THE DETENTION ARISING FROM THE INTAKE COURT ENDORSEMENT AND THE ATTENDANT POLICE MALFEASANCE....95
I. ISSUE....95
II. RULE....96
III. ANALYSIS....97
A. The Fact of Detention and Imprisonment: Physical and Psychological Restraint....97
B. The Absence of Lawful Authority and the Presence of Arbitrariness....97
C. The Impact of Potential Fraud and Jurisdictional Overreach....97
IV. CONCLUSION....98
ISSUE #32 — SECTION 11 OF THE CANADIAN CHARTER OF RIGHTS AND FREEDOMS: DERELICTION OF THE CONSTITUTIONAL OBLIGATION TO INFORM OF THE SPECIFIC OFFENCE AND THE PROTRACTED DURATION OF PROCEEDINGS AS AN UNREASONABLE DELAY....98
I. ISSUE....98

II. RULE....99
III. ANALYSIS....99
The Failure to Inform and the Proliferation of Inscribed Nullities....99
B. The Exceedance of the Presumptive Ceiling for Unreasonable Delay....100
IV. CONCLUSION....100
ISSUE #33: THE CONSTITUTIONAL INFIRMITY OF THE POST-ENDORSEMENT TREATMENT UNDER SECTION 12 OF THE CHARTER....100
I. ISSUE....100
II. RULE....100
A. The Scope of Section 12 Protection and the Broad Definition of "Treatment"....101
B. The Dual Threshold of Cruelty: Inherent Degradation and Gross Disproportionality....101
C. Jurisdictional Validity, the Doctrine of Nullity, and the Effect of Fraud....101
III. ANALYSIS....101
A. Comprehensive Characterization of the Post-Endorsement Regime as "Treatment"....102
B. The Manifestation of Gross Disproportionality and Inherent Cruelty....102
C. Synergistic Application of Constitutional Principles to the Factual Matrix....102
IV. CONCLUSION....103
ISSUE #34: THE INAPPLICABILITY OF SECTION 1 JUSTIFICATION TO PROCEDURAL NULLITIES AND FRAUDULENT STATE CONDUCT....103
THE ISSUE....103
THE RULE....104
A. Governing Principles, Constitutional Architecture, and the Dual Nature of Section 1....104
B. The Burden and the Rigour of "Cogent and Persuasive" Evidence....104
C. The Threshold Requirement: "Prescribed by Law" and the Unwritten Rule of Law....105
D. The Oakes Framework: A Multi-Stage, Interconnected Proportionality Inquiry....105
E. The Doctrine of Nullity and the Vitiating, Unravelling Effect of State Fraud....106
THE ANALYSIS....106
A. The Structural Failure of the Threshold Analysis: The Creation of a Jurisdictional Black Hole....106
Section-Specific Analysis of Justification: The Rights Least Amenable to State Intrusion....107
Section 2(b): Open Court Principle.....107
Section 7: Life, Liberty, and Security of the Person.....107
Section 8: Unreasonable Search and/or Seizure (nota bene: disjunctive unlike the USA with its "search and seizure" (see: R. v. Dyment)....108
Sections 9–11: Arbitrary Detention, Procedural Rights, and Fair Trial Guarantees....108
Section 12: Cruel and Unusual Treatment or Punishment....108
Structural Failures in the Oakes Proportionality Analysis....109
Absence of a Pressing and Substantial Objective....109
Lack of Rational Connection....109
Failure of Minimal Impairment....109
Final Balancing: The Catastrophic Deleterious Impact on the Rule of Law....109
IV. THE CONCLUSION....110

PART XX — REMEDIES UNDER SECTION 24(1) OF THE CHARTER 110
ISSUE THE JURIDICAL CHARACTER OF THE IMPUGNED PROCEEDINGS AND THE DOCTRINE OF NULLITY 110
Issue 110
2. Rule 110
Analysis 112
Conclusion 113
THE FIDUCIARY DUTY OF THE CROWN, COMMON DESIGN, AND THE IMPERATIVE OF UBERRIMA FIDES 113
The Foundational Principle of Utmost Good Faith in Public Law 113
THE AVAILABILITY AND SCOPE OF CONSTITUTIONAL REMEDIES 115
Issue 115
Rule 115
Analysis 115
Conclusion 116
ISSUE 4: THE QUANTUM OF DAMAGES UNDER THE CHARTER 117
Issue 117
Rule 117
Highest Punitive Damage Awards in Canadian Jurisprudence: 118
Legal Context and the Rationality Test: 118
Analysis 119
Application of the Thin Skull Doctrine: 119
Conclusion 121
PART XXII — PERSONAL LIABILITY OF THE OFFENDING JUDICIAL OFFICER 121
ISSUE I: THE ABDICATION OF JURISDICTION AND THE ABROGATION OF JUDICIAL IMMUNITY 121
THE RULE 121
THE ANALYSIS 122
Judicature vs. Judiciary 122
The Epoch of 1878: Coram Non Judice and the Bradley Precedent 123
3. Distinctions with a Difference: Court vs. Judge Not Having Jurisdiction of the Cause – by analogy of the tainted actions and effect post the undisclosed "Ex Parte In Camera Hearing" and the undisclosed name of the judge (Chief Justice Morawetz) from september 2024 – his unlawful assignment to Madam Justice Shore as his "unlawful fixer" 124
4. No Obligation to Comply with Unauthorized Directives 125
5. Positive Duty to NOT Facilitate, Aid, and Abet Unlawful Acts 125
6. The Bounds of Judicial Immunity and the Color of Office 126
7.State Liability Exculpation and Individual Jurist Accountability 127
8.The Intentional Subversion of the Constitutional Order 128
9.Positive Duty to NOT Facilitate, Aid, and Abet Unlawful Means 128
10.The Failure of Immunity and the Question of Subjective Belief 129
DENOUEMENT 129
The Covert Adjudication(before and after) by Chief Justice Morawetz 129

The Undisclosed (Post Arrest and contrary to section 29 of the Criminal Code and other governing statutes and regulations) Presiding Judge: Proceeding In Camera and Ex Parte Without Lawful Authority 129
Subversion of Superior Court Jurisdiction: The Illusion of Impartiality and the Breach of Judicial Independence 130
The Unrecorded Star Chamber: The Deliberate Absence of Recording Apparatuses in a Court of Record....131
The Phantom Information and Suppressed Endorsement(s)....131
The Non-Existent Foundational Instruments: Complete Failure to Provide the Information/Indictment 131
Concealment of the Judicial Record: The Suppression of Endorsements Validating the Unlawful Detention....131
Ex Nihilo Nihil Fit (Out of Nothing Comes Nothing) and Nemo Dat Quod Non Habet: The Void Nature of the Entire Proceeding once the falsification occurred with the OCJ 10 Armoury Street Courthouse – leaving only relief in favour of the Applicant 132
Adjudicative Fraud Upon the Public and the Applicant and the failure to correct by, on its face, an independent SCJ Courthouse (higher level of institutional independence required with a Section 96 Court than the likes of a Divisional Court) 132
The Resignation/Retirement Nexus: Institutional Concealment of Jurisdictional Usurpation 132
Fraus Omnia Corrumpit: How the Fraudulent Concealment Vitiates All Subsequent Prosecutorial Actions 133
Orders Sought....133
Appendices....135
TABLE OF AUTHORITIES — PINPOINT CITATIONS (PART I: CASE LAW)....135
A. Supreme Court of Canada....135
1. Landreville v Boucherville (Town of), [1978] 2 SCR 801 135
2. R v Babos, 2014 SCC 16 135
3. R v Grant, 2009 SCC 32 135
4. R v Jordan, 2016 SCC 27....135
5. R v Stinchcombe, [1991] 3 SCR 326 135
6. R v Chabot, [1980] 2 SCR 985....135
7. R v Krannenburg, [1980] 1 SCR 1053....135
8. R v Storrey, [1990] 1 SCR 241 135
9. R v Feeney, [1997] 2 SCR 13 135
10. R v Evans, [1991] 1 SCR 869....135
11. R v MacNeil, 2001 SCC 53 135
12. Canada (Minister of Citizenship and Immigration) v Tobiass, [1997] 3 SCR 391 135
13. Wewaykum Indian Band v Canada, 2003 SCC 45....135
14. Reference re Residential Tenancies Act (Ontario), [1981] 1 SCR 714 135
15. R v Dudley, 2009 SCC 58....136
16. R v Myers, 2019 SCC 18 136
17. R v Bjelland, 2009 SCC 38 136
18. R v Araujo, 2000 SCC 65....136
19. R v Nixon, 2011 SCC 34....136
20. British Columbia (AG) v Lafarge Canada Inc., 2007 SCC 23 136
21. McLean v Bradley, 1878 CanLII 22 (SCC) 136
22. Pong v Quong, 1927 CanLII 475 (SCC)....136

5753 B. Ontario Court of Appeal 136
1. R v P(J), 2013 ONCA 537 136
2. R v Kelsy, 2011 ONCA 605 136
3. R v Forcillo, 2018 ONCA 402 136
C. English & Historical Common Law Authorities 136
1. Lazarus Estates Ltd v Beasley, [1956] 1 QB 702 (CA) 136
2. Taylor v Clemson, (1844) 11 Cl & Fin 610, 8 ER 1233 (HL) 136
3. Griffith v Owen, [1907] 1 Ch 195 136
4. Keech v Sandford, [1726] EWHC Ch J76 136
5. Foss v Harbottle, (1843) 67 ER 189 136
TABLE OF AUTHORITIES — PINPOINT CITATIONS (PART II: STATUTES) 137
A. Constitutional Instruments 137
1. Canadian Charter of Rights and Freedoms 137
2. Constitution Act, 1867 137
3. Constitution Act, 1982 137
B. Federal Statutes 137
1. Criminal Code, RSC 1985, c C-46 137
2. Canada Evidence Act, RSC 1985, c C-5 137
3. Personal Information Protection and Electronic Documents Act (PIPEDA), SC 2000, c 5 137
C. Provincial Statutes (Ontario) 137
1. Courts of Justice Act, RSO 1990, c C.43 137
2. Judicial Review Procedure Act, RSO 1990, c J.1 137
3. Residential Tenancies Act, 2006, SO 2006, c 17 137
4. Expropriations Act, RSO 1990, c E.26 137
D. Regulations 137
1. Secure Electronic Signature Regulations, SOR/2005-30 138
E. Rules of Court & Forms 138
1. Criminal Proceedings Rules for the Superior Court of Justice (Ontario) 138
2. Criminal Rules of the Ontario Court of Justice, SI/2012-30 138
3. Rules of Civil Procedure, RRO 1990, Reg 194 138
4. Rule 43.03 (Certification) 138
5. Forms Referenced 138
TABLE OF AUTHORITIES — PINPOINT CITATIONS (PART III: RULES & FORMS) 138
A. Criminal Proceedings Rules for the Superior Court of Justice (Ontario) 138
B. Criminal Rules of the Ontario Court of Justice (SI/2012-30) 138
C. Rules of Civil Procedure (RRO 1990, Reg 194) 138
D. Rule 43.03 — Certification Requirement (Superior Court of Justice) 138
E. Mandatory Criminal Forms (Criminal Code & Criminal Rules) 139
1. Form 1 — Information / Application 139
2. Form 2 — Information / Warrant (Judicial Command) 139

3. Form 4 — Indictment / Charging Instrument 139
4. Form 6 — Summons 139
5. Form 7 — Arrest Warrant 139
6. Form 10 — Undertaking 139
7. Form 21 — Recognizance 139
F. E-Filing and Electronic Intake Requirements 139
1. Criminal E-Intake Portal Requirements 140
2. Electronic Signature Requirements (Canada Evidence Act + SESR) 140
G. Summary Table (Rules & Forms) 140
PART V — AUTHORITIES ORGANIZED BY ISSUE NUMBER (ISSUES 1–34) 142
ISSUE 1 — Inapplicability of s. 599 Criminal Code & Jurisdictional Nullity of Administrative Transfer 142
Statutes 142
Cases 142
Doctrines 143
ISSUE 2 — Jurisdictional Routing & Chain of Custody 143
Statutes 143
Cases 143
Doctrines 143
ISSUE 3 — Spoliation & Alteration of Sworn Instruments 143
Statutes 143
Cases 143
Doctrines 143
ISSUE 4 — Statutory Timelines & Deliberate Obfuscation 143
Statutes 143
Cases 143
Doctrines 143
ISSUE 5 — Telewarrants, Electronic Information & Withholding of Master Record 143
Statutes 143
Cases 143
Doctrines 143
ISSUE 6 — Anatomy of Form 2 & Missing Judicial Command 144
Statutes 144
Cases 144
Doctrines 144
ISSUE 7 — Circumvention of Criminal E-Intake Portal (Bench Hunting / Forum Shopping) 144
Statutes 144
Cases 144
Doctrines 144
ISSUE 8 — Contravention of s. 29 Criminal Code & s. 10(a) Charter 144
Statutes 144

5756 Cases 144
Doctrines 144
ISSUE 9 — CPIC Manipulation & Metadata Obfuscation 144
Statutes 144
Cases 144
Doctrines 144
ISSUE 10 — Unauthorized Substitution & Fabrication of Jurat Page 144
Statutes 144
Cases 144
Doctrines 145
ISSUE 11 — E-Filing Limitations & Endorsement Requirements 145
Statutes 145
Cases 145
Doctrines 145
ISSUE 12 — Surgical Spoliation of Jurat Page to Obfuscate Judicial Identity 145
Statutes 145
Cases 145
Doctrines 145
ISSUE 13 — Circumvention of s. 508 Criminal Code Oversight 145
Statutes 145
Cases 145
Doctrines 145
ISSUE 14 — "Default Judge" Endorsement as Administrative Subterfuge 145
Statutes 145
Cases 145
Doctrines 145
ISSUE 15 — Facial Invalidity & Structural Deficiency of Charging Instrument 145
Statutes 145
Cases 145
Doctrines 145
ISSUE 16 — Absence of Ministry Records 146
Statutes 146
Cases 146
Doctrines 146
ISSUE 17 — Systemic Flaws in Civilian Informant Use 146
Statutes 146
Cases 146
Doctrines 146
ISSUE 18 — Judicial Conflicts of Interest & Apprehension of Bias 146
Statutes 146

5756 Cases 146
Doctrines 146
ISSUE 19 — Retaliatory Timeline & Abuse of Process 146
Statutes 146
Cases 146
Doctrines 146
ISSUE 20 — "Intake Court Endorsement" Lexicon & Jurisdictional Cross-Contamination 146
Statutes 146
Cases 146
Doctrines 146
ISSUE 21 — Nine Statutory Breaches of Form 7 & Structural Nullity of Warrant 146
Statutes 146
Cases 146
Doctrines 147
ISSUE 22 — Digital Signature Invalidity (CEA + PIPEDA) 147
Statutes 147
Cases 147
Doctrines 147
ISSUE 23 — Forgery, Uttering False Document & Smith Precedent 147
Statutes 147
Cases 147
Doctrines 147
ISSUE 24 — E-Filing Mandates, Institutional Integrity & Coram Non Judice 147
Statutes 147
Cases 147
Doctrines 147
ISSUE 25 — Certification Requirement under Rule 43.03 147
Statutes 147
Cases 147
Doctrines 147
ISSUE 26 — Form 7 Warrant vs. Administrative Endorsements 147
Statutes 147
Cases 147
Doctrines 147
ISSUE 27 — Jurisdictional Defects & Coram Non Judice 148
Statutes 148
Cases 148
Doctrines 148
ISSUE 28 — Doctrine of Fraud & Vitiating Potency 148
Cases 148

Doctrines 148
ISSUE 29 — Open Court Principle & Fabricated Instruments 148
Statutes 148
Cases 148
Doctrines 148
ISSUE 30 — Section 8 Charter Violations 148
Statutes 148
Cases 148
Doctrines 148
ISSUE 31 — Constitutional Infirmity of Detention 148
Statutes 148
Cases 148
Doctrines 148
ISSUE 32 — Section 11 Charter Violations (Notice & Delay) 148
Statutes 148
Cases 148
Doctrines 148
ISSUE 33 — Section 12 Charter Violations (Cruel Treatment) 149
Statutes 149
Cases 149
Doctrines 149
ISSUE 34 — Inapplicability of Section 1 to Procedural Nullities 149
Statutes 149
Cases 149
Doctrines 149
NOTHING PAST THIS LINE 149

NOTICE OF CONSTITUTIONAL QUESTION

STATUTORY JURISDICTION AND CONSTITUTIONAL PREDICATE

A. Foundational Authorities and the Jurisdictional Nexus

1. Pursuant to the mandatory notification mechanisms delineated within section 109 of the Courts of Justice Act, RSO 1990, c C.43, and invoking the plenary remedial jurisdictions enshrined within sections 24(1) and 24(2) of the Canadian Charter of Rights and Freedoms, Part I of the Constitution Act, 1982, being Schedule B to the Canada Act 1982 (UK), 1982, c 11 (the "Charter"), formal notice is hereby promulgated. Operating strictly under the binding doctrine of stare decisis as mandated by the hierarchical jurisprudence of the Supreme Court of Canada, the Court of Appeal for Ontario, and the Superior Court of Justice (if applicable by horizontal stare decisis), the Applicant seeks that the constitutionality of the acts, conduct, adjudicative pronouncements, and deliberate omissions effectuated by the various governmental entities and undisclosed judicial officers associated inextricably with the INTAKE COURT ENDORSEMENT (SEPT 23 2024) and any other "endorsements" and/or undisclosed warrants, orders et al shall be robustly, comprehensively, and relentlessly challenged until a final judicial determination is made invoking res judicata and issue estoppel.

2. The impugned state conduct encompasses the entirety of the concealed procedural frameworks, the clandestine adjudicative determinations, and the egregious procedural deviations rendered by a jurist whose identity remains purposefully, and unconstitutionally, undisclosed to the applicant (the "Applicant"). It is submitted that such constitutional inquiry extends unequivocally and without limitation to all derivative executive actions flowing sequentially from the aforementioned opaque processes. This includes all operational deployments currently known and those anticipated to be subsequently discovered, commencing temporally on or about September 20, 2024, culminating materially in the execution of the fabricated INTAKE COURT ENDORSEMENT (SEPT 23 2024), and propagating an ongoing, continuous matrix of constitutional infringements thereafter.

B. The Subversion of the Open Court Principle and the Rule of Law

3. It is a foundational and inviolable postulate of Canadian constitutional law, serving as the bedrock of the adjudicative framework, that the administration of justice must be conducted transparently and subject to public scrutiny. The deliberate obfuscation of a presiding judicial officer's identity constitutes a profound and existential affront to the open court principle. Such clandestine adjudicative mechanisms, reminiscent of the historically repudiated Court of Star Chamber, fundamentally undermine the rule of law and operate to irreversibly sever the indispensable bond of public confidence in the judicial apparatus. When the identity, jurisdictional appointment, and statutory authority of the adjudicator are actively concealed behind a veil of administrative secrecy, the resultant legal directives are instantaneously stripped of their requisite institutional legitimacy. This orchestrated anonymity renders the entirety of the proceedings structurally defective ab initio, depriving the adjudicative acts of any presumptions of regularity that might otherwise attach to formalized state action.

II. ENUMERATION OF CONSTITUTIONAL INFRINGEMENTS

Comprehensive Identification and Extrapolation of Charter Violations

4. It is strictly and affirmatively submitted that the toronto police service (the "TPS"), the individual respondents formally affiliated with the TPS, and any non-governmental entities subsequently determined or declared by the human rights tribunal of ontario (the "HRTO") to have acted as agents, instrumentalities, or authorized delegates of the TPS, have directly, intentionally, and egregiously contravened the following fundamental constitutional guarantees enshrined within the Charter:

   i. Section 2(b) of the Charter, manifesting profoundly as the impermissible suppression of expressive freedoms through the deployment of coercive state apparatuses. The utilization of legally vacuous enforcement mechanisms functions as a prior restraint on protected discourse, thereby chilling the Applicant's fundamental democratic participation and expressive autonomy;
   ii. Section 7 of the Charter, effectuated systematically through the arbitrary deprivation of liberty and the profound compromise of the security of the person. These deprivations were perpetrated via procedurally vacuous adjudicative mechanisms, characterized by a complete denial of fundamental justice, the evisceration of the audi alteram partem principle, and the imposition of profound psychological duress upon the Applicant;
   iii. Section 8 of the Charter, characterized unequivocally by the unauthorized, highly intrusive, and unwarranted physical and digital penetrations of the Applicant's constitutionally protected privacy spheres. These incursions were executed entirely absent any valid, legally recognizable, or constitutionally sound judicial pre-authorization, thereby operating as unreasonable state intrusions strictly prohibited by the supreme law of the land;
   iv. Section 10 of the Charter, instantiated by the calculated failure of state actors to provide immediate, intelligible, and legally coherent reasons for the deprivation of the Applicant's liberty, coupled with the concomitant, systemic obstruction of the Applicant's fundamental right to retain and instruct legal counsel without perilous delay;

5759

v. Section 11 of the Charter, breached egregiously by the formal institution of penal processes that are entirely lacking in fundamental evidentiary substantiation, jurisdictional competence, and procedural regularity. The utilization of fabricated charging instruments inherently violates the specific right to be informed without unreasonable delay of the specific offence, as the underlying prosecutorial documents are mere administrative fictions;

vi. Section 12 of the Charter, arising directly from the imposition of state treatments that are demonstrably cruel, unusual, and grossly disproportionate to any legitimate penological or administrative objective. To subject a citizen to the coercive power of an invisible, unaccountable state machinery constitutes a degrading subjugation incompatible with human dignity; and

vii. Section 15 of the Charter, reflecting the demonstrably discriminatory application of coercive state investigative and prosecutorial powers based upon enumerated or analogous grounds, thereby unequivocally denying the Applicant the equal protection and equal benefit of the law;

(collectively, the "Charter* Violations").

B. THE CATEGORICAL INAPPLICABILITY OF SECTION 1 JUSTIFICATORY MECHANISMS

5. It is further posited, as an incontrovertible, self-evident, and mathematically precise legal conclusion, that the aforementioned Charter Violations are intrinsically incapable of being demonstrably justified in a free and democratic society. Applying the rigorous, multi-pronged analytical framework mandated continuously by the Supreme Court of Canada, the impugned state conduct completely and fundamentally fails to satisfy the paramount proportionality requirement. The deployment of fictitious judicial endorsements, the reliance upon phantom adjudicators, and the orchestration of undisclosed tribunals cannot, under any rational or logical metric, be connected to any pressing and substantial legislative objective. Furthermore, such extreme deviations from constitutional norms utterly fail the minimal impairment threshold, resulting in deleterious effects that are entirely disproportionate to any conceivable salutary benefits. Consequently, the justificatory mechanisms encapsulated within section 1 of the Charter are wholly inapplicable in limine, requiring no further substantive judicial deliberation to dismiss any theoretical state defense.

III. REMEDIAL INTERVENTIONS AND EQUITABLE RELIEF SOUGHT

Plenary Application for Section 24(1) Equitable Relief

6. Comprehensive and uncompromising redress is unequivocally sought pursuant to section 24(1) of the Charter, demanding the immediate issuance of declarations of constitutional invalidity, writs of certiorari to formally quash the underlying fabricated proceedings, and permanent injunctions. This robust equitable redress is requisitioned to secure definitive interim, interlocutory, and permanent relief, precisely intended to strictly enjoin the perpetuation of the Charter Violations and to unequivocally terminate the Applicant's ongoing subjugation to the aforementioned ultra vires state processes.

B. EXCLUSION OF EVIDENCE PURSUANT TO SECTION 24(2) AND RESTORATION OF THE STATUS QUO

7. Concurrently, relief is sought pursuant to section 24(2) of the Charter, specifically applicable in relation to all tangible and intangible property of the Applicant that was unlawfully seized, appropriated, arbitrarily detained, and potentially subjected to forensic search absent a valid, constitutionally sound judicial warrant under section 487.1 of the Criminal Code, RSC 1985, c C-46, or any other recognized statutory authority, spanning the temporal period of September 20, 2024, to October 2, 2024, and potentially extending continuously thereafter. Appropriate remedial declarations must be meticulously fashioned to affirmatively nullify the constitutional transgressions and to estop the future prosecutorial or investigative utilization of any evidentiary fruits derived from the continued unlawful arrests, unlawful searches, and unlawful seizures.
8. Analyzing the state-sponsored transgressions under the requisite jurisprudential metrics assessing the seriousness of the state's conduct and the impact on the Applicant's protected interests, the admission of evidence procured through such calculated, bad-faith ultra vires machinations would inflict catastrophic damage upon the integrity of the judicial system, bringing the administration of justice into profound disrepute. The equitable imperative to restore the status quo ante necessitates the immediate invalidation of the aforementioned executive actions ipso facto, thereby necessitating the unconditional return of all seized materials, the permanent expungement of associated investigative records, and the formalized obliteration of the impugned judicial endorsements.

IV. CONSTITUTIONAL VIOLATIONS OF JUDICATURE PROVISIONS AND THE DOCTRINE OF ABSOLUTE NULLITY

Egregious Usurpation of the Inherent Superior Court Jurisdiction

9. A supplementary, overarching, and fundamentally structural constitutional inquiry shall be rigorously advanced regarding whether the adjudicative actions—both inherently ultra vires and ostensibly authorized—undertaken by undisclosed or disclosed Justices of the Peace, Judges of the Ontario Court of Justice, Judges of the Superior Court of Justice, or any ad hoc appellate jurists assigned by statutory delegation, constituted an egregious usurpation of the core judicature provisions enshrined immutably within sections 96 to 100 of the Constitution Act, 1867 (UK), 30 & 31 Vict, c 3. The delegation of core adjudicative functions, inclusive of the authorization of penal processes, to fictitious entities, unidentifiable actors, or concealed tribunals effectively hollows out the inherent supervisory jurisdiction constitutionally guaranteed exclusively to superior courts, destabilizing the fundamental separation of powers.

Strict Classification of Procedural Deviations as Absolute Nullities

10. It is respectfully but firmly submitted that any equitable or legal remedies flowing from such structural constitutional breaches must categorically and automatically be granted. The impugned procedural deviations, characterized by jurisdictional falsification and adjudicator anonymity, are strictly classified as an absolute nullity. It is a fundamental tenet of jurisprudence that where a situation exists between an irregularity and a nullity, judicial interpretation must strictly lean towards designating the act as an absolute nullity if the conduct represents a direct, deliberate, and substantive contravention of a binding statute, a regulatory framework, a foundational common law rule, or a paramount equitable principle. The actions enumerated herein are entirely incapable of being rationalized, cured, or retroactively legitimized as mere administrative or procedural irregularities under any statutory curative provisions. Given that such acts constituted a direct and egregious contravention of binding statutory frameworks and structural constitutional imperatives, the entire adjudicative facade is fundamentally divested of legal substance and is thereby rendered void ab initio.

V. FORUM SELECTION AND PROCEDURAL SCHEDULE

Delineation of Adjudicative Venue

12. The substantive constitutional questions and applications for extraordinary remedies delineated comprehensively herein shall be adjudicated at a date and time to be subsequently fixed, or alternatively, as proposed contemporaneously, before a presiding justice at the Superior Court of Justice situated at 361 University Avenue, Toronto, Ontario. It is submitted that the proceedings may be conducted by any procedural mechanism deemed to serve the paramount, overarching interests of justice, strictly incorporating the preservation of the absolute right to seek expedited, emergent relief by way of a formal notice of motion.

Explicit Reservation of Interim and Interlocutory Rights

13. The unalienable right to seek immediate interim equitable and legal relief is expressly and unambiguously reserved, with requisite formal notice to be served upon the respondent and any ancillary interested parties. This reservation is subject strictly to specific procedural exemptions pertaining exclusively to the service of additional judicial officers and secondary venues, precisely as dictated by the mandatory provisions contained within the Criminal Proceedings Rules for the Superior Court of Justice (Ontario).

Inextricable Integration with the Foundational Form 1 Application

14. Reliance is firmly, extensively, and exclusively placed upon the material facts, substantive legal bases, and the rigorous jurisprudential analysis delineated infra. This constitutional instrument must be continuously construed in inextricable conjunction with the Form 1 application mandated by the Criminal Proceedings Rules for the Superior Court of Justice (Ontario), executed on March 16, 2026, and delivered contemporaneously herewith. Evidentiary reliance is categorically placed upon the entirety of the corpus of documentation contained therein, alongside all digital and physical records presently within the custody, control, or constructive possession of the originating judicial registry. This incorporates unequivocally those materials strictly necessitated for disclosure pursuant to a formal Rule 43.03 certificate, and demands the compulsory production of all related ex parte administrative metadata.

The Post Facto Falsification of Jurisdictional Prosecutorial Instruments

15. It is averred with profound gravity and evidentiary substantiation that the impugned criminal proceedings were ostensibly commenced via the declaring or laying of an unprovided, legally non-existent, and undisclosed Form 2 Information or Form 4 Indictment pursuant to the strictures of the Criminal Code, RSC 1985, c C-46, functioning in conjunction with the fabricated INTAKE COURT ENDORSEMENT (SEPT 23 2024). However, it is fundamentally asserted that these foundational prosecutorial instruments were falsified post facto. The subsequent fabrication of charging documents represents a catastrophic failure of prosecutorial integrity. The laying of an Information constitutes the indispensable bedrock for the acquisition of statutory jurisdiction; absent a genuinely sworn and temporally accurate instrument, the court acquires zero jurisdiction over the person or the subject matter.

Decisive Application of the Doctrine of Vitiating Fraud

16. Applying the rigorous equitable and common law doctrines governing vitiation by deception, explicit and binding reliance is placed upon the Supreme Court of Canada's jurisprudence articulated in Landreville v Boucherville (Town of), [1978] 2 SCR 801 (the "Landreville Decision"). The Landreville Decision affirmatively, explicitly, and irreversibly adopts the seminal appellate authority established in Lazarus Estates Ltd v Beasley, [1956] 1 QB 702 (CA) at 712 (the "Lazarus Decision"). As incontrovertibly articulated by Lord Denning in the Lazarus Decision, "fraud unravels everything."
17. Applied directly and uncompromisingly to the material facts at bar, the deliberate post facto falsification of formal judicial records, combined with the strategic, deceptive utilization of a completely fictitious judicial officer (identified cryptically and fallaciously as 'JP Jiri' in the fabricated endorsement), constitute an unequivocal, systemic adjudicative fraud. Such profound documentary manipulation and institutional obfuscation strike lethally at the very substratum of the judicial process, poisoning the well of justice beyond any capacity for remediation.

The Inevitable Extrapolation of Coram Non Judice and Procedural Unfairness

18. This fraudulent orchestration operates relentlessly and automatically to vitiate the entirety of the proceedings ab initio, rendering the actions of the undisclosed judge, the fictitious Justice of the Peace, and the complicit administrative registry an absolute nullity. By direct, inexcusable contravention of absolute statutory mandates and core common law precepts, the aforementioned acts are characterized conclusively by the ancient and binding maxim factum a judice, quod ad officium jure non pertinet, ratum non est (an act of a judge which does not pertain to his jurisdiction is of no force). Consequently, no legitimate office of the prosecutor ever possessed lawful carriage of these manufactured proceedings, and all subsequent judicial convenings, inclusive of any clandestine ex parte in camera hearings, were strictly, undeniably, and incurably coram non judice.
19. Regarding the evidentiary record of the aforementioned clandestine in camera proceedings, specific administrative representations were promulgated to the Applicant indicating that the undisclosed jurist presided over the hearing exclusively within the impenetrable sanctity of judicial chambers, thereby purposefully precluding the generation 5762 and availability of an official stenographic or digital transcript. This deliberately engineered informational asymmetry fundamentally and fatally compromises the audi alteram partem principle. Notwithstanding the formal tender of financial consideration by the Applicant to secure digital audio recordings of said proceedings, the court administration has consistently, inexcusably, and unlawfully failed to effectuate the delivery of the requested auditory records. This calculated obstruction constitutes an egregious prima facie breach of procedural fairness, effectively foreclosing the Applicant's fundamental, constitutionally entrenched right to make full answer and defence, and thereby cementing the absolute nullity of the underlying executive actions.

TO:

The Attorney General of Ontario
Constitutional Law Branch

7th floor

720 Bay Street

Toronto, Ontario M5G 2K1

fax: (416) 326-4015

clbsupport@ontario.ca

The Attorney General of Canada
Suite 3400, Exchange Tower

Box 36, First Canadian Place

Toronto, Ontario M5X 1K6

fax: (416) 973-3004

NCQ-AQC.Toronto@justice.gc.ca

(or Justice Building

239 Wellington Street

Ottawa, Ontario K1A 0H8

fax: (613) 954-1920)

Box 36, First Canadian Place
Toronto, Ontario M5X 1K6
fax: (416) 973-3004

NCQ-AQC.Toronto@justice.gc.ca

(or Justice Building
239 Wellington Street

Ottawa, Ontario K1A 0H8
fax: (613) 954-1920)

Attorney General of Ontario

McMurtry-Scott Building
4th Floor, 720 Bay Street
Toronto, Ontario
M7A 2S9

clbsupport@ontario.ca

Fax for Constitutional Questions: 416-326-4015.

STATEMENT OF CONSTITUTIONAL ISSUES

Pursuant to the explicit statutory mandate articulated within section 109 of the Courts of Justice Act, R.S.O. 1990, c. C.43, and the sweeping, inherent remedial provisions enshrined in section 24 of the Canadian Charter of Rights and Freedoms (the "Charter"), the following exhaustive, meticulously enumerated constitutional interrogatories are hereby formally submitted for authoritative, appellate-level judicial determination.

These interrogatories necessitate a profound, exacting, and unyielding examination as to whether an averred continuum of extraordinary, pervasive state action—characterized by a purported, unprecedented jurisdictional usurpation, the alleged deliberate fabrication and spoliation of originating legal instruments, and the consequential, severe deprivation of physical liberty—contravenes the fundamental structural separation of powers and the inviolable liberties guaranteed by the Charter. It is robustly posited for the Court's urgent consideration that the cumulative, compounding effect of such averred conduct operates to entirely sever the state's actions from any recognizable foundation in positive law, thereby rendering the underlying proceedings incontrovertibly coram non judice (before one who is not a judge).

Such a classification, if definitively substantiated by the evidentiary record, would establish the proceedings as an absolute nullity (void ab initio). Furthermore, it is submitted that such conduct transcends mere procedural irregularity, representing a profound, systemic affront to the administration of jurisprudence, the institutional integrity of the courts, and the bedrock principles of the rule of law upon which the Canadian constitutional architecture is erected. The Court is thereby called upon to exercise its inherent supervisory jurisdiction to categorically declare these alleged maneuvers as fundamentally irreconcilable with the postulates of a free and democratic society.

I. THE OPEN COURT PRINCIPLE, INSTITUTIONAL INTEGRITY, AND THE PROHIBITION OF SECRET PROCEEDINGS (SECTION 2(B))

1. Whether the averred fabrication, spoliation, and surreptitious "shadow-filing" of originating instruments by the Executive Branch—inclusive of the foundational Information and its corollary jurats—subverts the Open Court Principle as immutably guaranteed by section 2(b) of the Charter. Specifically, an adjudication is required to meticulously determine whether the alleged establishment, cultivation, and maintenance of a parallel, unrecorded, or otherwise entirely inaccessible administrative docket effectively insulates the coercive penal apparatus of the state from the requisite public, media, and adversarial scrutiny that serves as the indispensable cornerstone of judicial accountability and democratic oversight.

Should such clandestine operations be found to have been conducted cloaked from public view, a further, penetrating determination is necessitated as to whether these actions constitute a modern jurisprudential equivalent of the historical Star Chamber—an institution universally repudiated for its reliance upon secret indictments and unassailable prosecutorial fiat. It must be comprehensively evaluated whether the intentional shielding of prosecutorial origination from the public domain, coupled with the systemic obfuscation of the court record, fundamentally betrays the institutional integrity of the judiciary. Consequently, the Court must ascertain whether such foundational deceit renders the affected judicial records a constitutional nullity that is inherently, irrevocably, and perpetually incapable of grounding lawful state action, issuing valid warrants, or sustaining any deprivation of citizen liberty.

II. UNREASONABLE SEARCH AND SEIZURE VIA DECEPTION AND THE WEAPONIZATION OF LEGAL FICTION (SECTION 8)

2. Whether a continuous, escalating, and unbroken continuum of coercive state conduct—comprising an alleged deceptive property ruse, an unauthorized residential dispossession effectuated entirely without lawful pretext, and the subsequent, highly irregular imposition of a fabricated "No Fixed Address" (NFA) designation upon an individual with an established domicile—constitutes a flagrant, egregious, and calculated infringement upon the sacrosanct right to be secure against unreasonable search and seizure, as enshrined in section 8 of the Charter.

Furthermore, it must be rigorously and objectively ascertained whether the averred weaponization of the NFA legal fiction—utilized to purportedly and deliberately circumvent the stringent, constitutionally mandated prior-authorization prerequisites for residential searches (commonly recognized as the Hunter v. Southam standard)—and executed wholly in the absence of valid prior authorization by a neutral, independent, and impartial arbiter, fundamentally vitiates any presumption of bona fide state action. An authoritative adjudication is strictly sought as to whether the deliberate administrative classification of an individual as unhoused, executed for the express, ulterior, and unlawful purpose of artificially lowering their expectation of privacy and bypassing requisite judicial safeguards, unlawfully encroaches upon the highest reasonable expectation of privacy recognized at common law: the inviolable sanctity of the private dwelling.

III. ARBITRARY DETENTION AND THE DOCTRINE OF PROCEDURAL NULLITY (SECTION 9)

3. Whether the physical, psychological, and continuing confinement of the accused, predicated exclusively upon a purported, highly anomalous, and legally unprecedented administrative "Intake Court Endorsement," constitutes an arbitrary detention and a substantive, irremediable nullity pursuant to section 9 of the Charter.

Given the bedrock jurisprudential imperative dictating that criminal arrest powers and the attendant deprivations of ambulatory liberty must be construed strictissimi juris (with the absolute strictest, most mathematically precise interpretation of penal statutes), it must be scrupulously determined whether the deployment of family-law administrative endorsements—instruments that are fundamentally, inherently, and structurally devoid of any statutory custodial authority under the Criminal Code—to effectuate a criminal deprivation of liberty transmutes the conduct of the state into a purely extra-legal apprehension. It is formally submitted for adjudication that such reliance upon non-penal, administrative instruments to sanction severe penal consequences results in a detention that fundamentally lacks any anchor in valid positive law. Such actions, it is averred, operate merely as an exercise of brute, unconstrained state power entirely unmoored from explicit legislative authorization, thereby rendering the detention arbitrary in its purest constitutional sense.

IV. THE RIGHT TO BE INFORMED AND THE VITIATION OF LAWFUL AUTHORITY (SECTION 10(A))

4. Whether the persistent, deliberate, systemic, and ongoing omission by state agents to produce the authorizing legal instrument (namely, the warrant, the foundational endorsement, or any verifiably authenticated writ) upon explicit, repeated, and statutorily protected demand, vitiates the lawful foundation of the initial apprehension, thereby directly and fatally infringing the constitutional entitlement to be promptly informed of the reasons for detention pursuant to section 10(a) of the Charter.

In circumstances wherein state actors are purportedly incapable of producing the originating mandate, it must be adjudicated whether the initial arrest and the entirety of all subsequent custody are rendered continually, retroactively, and uninterruptedly unlawful. Consequently, a binding judicial determination is urgently required as to whether the failure to furnish the empowering document completely dissolves any jurisprudential protection, common-law immunity, or statutory shield otherwise afforded to state agents. It must be evaluated whether such agents are inherently and logically unable to demonstrate a good faith reliance upon a facially valid warrant when the existence of the warrant itself is actively concealed, epistemologically opaque, or functionally non-existent, thereby exposing the detention as a continuing constitutional tort.

V. NOTICE OF SPECIFIC OFFENCE, FULL ANSWER AND DEFENCE, AND UNREASONABLE DELAY (SECTIONS 11(A) AND 11(B))

5. Whether the presentation of contradictory, mutable, and allegedly fabricated charging instruments across successive judicial appearances constitutes a profound, prejudicial failure to inform the accused of the specific offence without unreasonable delay under section 11(a) of the Charter. It must be exhaustively analyzed whether this state-engineered fluidity of charges—operating as a perpetually moving target—severely and irremediably prejudices the capacity of the accused to retain competent counsel, comprehensively comprehend the exact nature of the penal jeopardy faced, and marshal the evidentiary resources necessary to mount a full answer and defence.

Consequently, it must be evaluated whether the systemic ambiguity, jurisdictional obfuscation, and procedural distortions purportedly engineered by the state—through the utilization of multiple, conflicting, and potentially unsworn Informations—contribute to an overarching, unreasonable delay that must be strictly, entirely, and unequivocally apportioned to the Crown. It must be conclusively determined whether this state-induced procedural labyrinth inevitably and demonstrably exceeds the presumptive eighteen-month ceiling established by the Supreme Court of Canada in R. v. Jordan, thereby fundamentally contravening section 11(b) of the Charter and necessitating an immediate, mandatory, and non-discretionary stay of all proceedings to preserve the fundamental integrity of the justice system.

VI. CRUEL AND UNUSUAL TREATMENT VIA UNAUTHORIZED CONFINEMENT AND EXTRA-JUDICIAL CONDITIONS (SECTION 12)

6. Whether the imposition of severe, indefinite restrictive conditions and coercive state oversight—functioning as a de facto continuous confinement, constructive house arrest, or pervasive monitoring apparatus—flowing directly from proceedings averred to have been conducted entirely coram non judice, amounts to cruel and unusual treatment under section 12 of the Charter.

It must be meticulously determined whether subjecting an individual to a convoluted, labyrinthine reality governed by legal processes that are fundamentally non-existent in law, and utterly devoid of any meaningful avenues for procedural review, appellate relief, or habeas corpus intervention, constitutes an abuse of state power so profound that it unequivocally shocks the conscience of the community. An adjudication is strictly required to confirm whether the enforcement of phantom judicial orders and simulated judicial edicts against a citizen grossly offends objective societal standards of decency and human dignity, thereby triggering the absolute protections against cruel and unusual treatment and demanding immediate equitable intervention.

VII. THE ABSOLUTE INAPPLICABILITY OF SECTION 1 JUSTIFICATION TO FUNDAMENTAL NULLITIES

7. Whether the aforementioned Charter infringements are inherently, categorically, and fundamentally incapable of justification pursuant to the saving provisions of section 1 thereof. It must be definitively determined whether state action, when characterized by overt jurisdictional usurpation, the alleged deliberate fabrication of judicial records, and systemic institutional bad faith, operates at all times as an absolute nullity (void ab initio).

As such actions are forcefully posited to be entirely extra-legal and completely detached from the legitimate legislative framework of the state, it must be comprehensively analyzed whether they inherently and automatically fail the very first, foundational threshold of the Oakes test, insofar as they cannot, by legal definition, constitute limits that are "prescribed by law." Consequently, a definitive, precedent-setting adjudication is required as to whether the state is permanently and equitably estopped from attempting to justify these egregious constitutional breaches as demonstrably justified in a free and democratic society, predicated upon the unassailable maxim that a democratic society cannot, under any jurisprudential theory, validate or sanction state actions taken completely outside the bounds of its own enacted laws.

VIII. SEPARATION OF POWERS, JUDICIAL INDEPENDENCE, AND APPREHENSION OF BIAS (CONSTITUTION ACT, 1867, S. 96)

8. Whether the sua sponte assumption of criminal intake, prosecutorial direction, and overarching case management functions by a singular Justice of the Superior Court constitutes an ultra vires usurpation of jurisdiction that fatally and irrevocably violates the structural separation of powers embedded within the fundamental architecture of the Constitution Act, 1867. Specifically, it must be determined whether a judicial officer acting sans proper statutory assignment, deploying family law administrative constructs to unlawfully effectuate a criminal arrest, and operating under circumstances giving rise to an overwhelming, objective reasonable apprehension of actual bias, fundamentally abrogates the constitutional guarantee of judicial independence. Rooted firmly in the ancient maxim nemo debet esse judex in propria causa (no one shall be a judge in their own cause), it must be meticulously ascertained whether a judicial officer concurrently acting in the mutually exclusive roles of investigator, director of proceedings, and ostensibly impartial arbiter irrevocably compromises the impartiality of the tribunal. Should such an impermissible conflation of executive, investigatory, and 5767 judicial functions be found, the Court must conclusively determine whether it thereby divests the presiding officer of all jurisdiction, irreparably stripping the court of its authority and rendering all resulting orders, warrants, and endorsements functus officio, wholly inoperative, and legally void in perpetuity.

VOLUME #1: OVERVIEW OF THE JURISDICTIONAL NULLITIES, ACTS OF JUDGE(S) WHICH WERE FACTUM A JUDICE, QUOD AD OFFICIUM JURE NON PERTINET, RATUM NON EST AND CORAM NON JUDICE CONSTITUTIONAL INFRACTIONS

THE IRREFRAGABLE CHAIN OF CUSTODY AND THE RULE OF LAW

1. It is advanced for the consideration of this Honourable Court that the foundational integrity of the Canadian jurisprudential architecture, alongside the paramount doctrine of the rule of law (the "Rule of Law"), remains inextricably bound to the irrefragable chain of custody pertaining to sworn documentary evidence. Such systemic integrity necessitates an unyielding and uncompromising adherence to the exhaustive statutory framework governing the profound deprivation of physical liberty, acting in concert with the unassailable, objective impartiality demanded of any adjudicative tribunal. The delicate social compact upon which the administration of justice is structurally predicated requires absolute transparency, rigid procedural exactitude, and an unbroken, verifiable evidentiary pedigree in all instances wherein the formidable coercive apparatus of the state is mobilized against a private citizen.
2. The procedural architecture governing criminal law, most notably concerning the issuance of originating processes, must be construed not as merely directory, but rather as fundamentally and rigidly mandatory. The solemn swearing of an information (the "Information") before a duly designated judicial officer, subsequently verified by an unblemished and unaltered jurat, functions as the absolute sine qua non prerequisite for lawful state intervention. This prescribed statutory mechanism constitutes the solitary, exclusive conduit through which the state may lawfully traverse the constitutionally entrenched liberty interests of the individual. Consequently, it is posited that any inexplicable deviation, structural alteration, or deliberate spoliation of this foundational documentary record instantaneously ruptures the requisite chain of custody, thereby irremediably stripping the ensuing proceedings of any legitimate constitutional foundation.
3. In circumstances where these foundational constitutional pillars are subjected to systemic circumvention—whether effectuated via egregious, systemic administrative malfeasance, institutional incompetence, or through surreptitious, deliberate obfuscation ostensibly catalyzed by deeply entrenched, pre-existing conflicts of interest—the resultant state actions cannot be classified as mere curable procedural irregularities or trifling technical deviations of administrative form. Rather, it is advanced that such profound procedural aberrations manifest as absolute jurisdictional nullities, thereby rendering the underlying legal proceedings entirely void ab initio.
4. It is a settled legal axiom that an adjudicative tribunal remains perpetually incapable, under any recognized constitutional paradigm or equitable doctrine, of deriving lawful authority from a process that has been fundamentally contaminated in limine. An originating court is rendered bereft of both jurisdiction ratione materiae (subject-matter jurisdiction) and jurisdiction ratione personae (personal jurisdiction) where the authorizing instruments have been irreparably compromised. Accordingly, penal consequences or restrictions upon liberty cannot be legitimately imposed by the state when such strictures are predicated upon a foundation constructed in its entirety from fabricated, spoliated, and legally vacuous documentation.

B. ANTICIPATORY REBUTTAL: THE INAPPLICABILITY OF CURATIVE STATUTORY PROVISIONS

5. It is anticipated that a counter-argument may be advanced suggesting that the defective originating processes constitute mere procedural anomalies, ostensibly capable of remediation pursuant to the curative provisions delineated within the Criminal Code, RSC 1985, c C-46, s. 686(1)(b)(iv). Nevertheless, such a proposition is posited to be analytically unsustainable when subjected to rigorous jurisprudential scrutiny. The deliberate, state-sponsored fabrication of the Information, paired with the intentional extraction of sworn jurat pages, transcends the boundaries of mere technical non-compliance or inadvertent clerical oversight.
6. Through the application of the deductive syllogism formulated by the Supreme Court of Canada regarding abuses of process, as comprehensively elucidated in R. v. Babos, 2014 SCC 16 (Babos), it is established that deliberate state misconduct operates to entirely vitiate lawful authority. The jurisprudence in Babos emphatically reinforced 5769 the paramount necessity of maintaining public confidence within the administration of justice, dictating that state conduct which egregiously transgresses fundamental notions of fair play must be unequivocally repudiated. Within the present factual matrix, the deliberate mutilation of the Information subverts the essential truth-seeking function of the judiciary, thereby rendering any ex post facto application of statutory curative provisions entirely incongruous and legally impermissible.

7. A statutorily invalid instrument is incapable of being retroactively legitimized by subsequent judicial fiat wherein the foundational defect is anchored in intentional administrative obfuscation. Consequently, the ancient equitable doctrine of fraus omnia corrumpit is irrevocably engaged. Fraud, specifically fraud perpetrated upon the tribunal via documentary spoliation, comprehensively unravels all subsequent legal consequence. As a direct corollary, the Crown is ipso facto divested of any residual jurisdiction to proceed, given that the curative mechanisms embedded within the Criminal Code were manifestly not promulgated to furnish sanctuary for calculated administrative deceit.

C. DELIBERATE SPOLIATION AND THE FABRICATION OF ORIGINATING PROCESSES

8. A meticulous and exhaustive examination of the evidentiary record elucidates a cascading, highly orchestrated sequence of profound procedural anomalies, deliberate documentary spoliation, and blatant, irredeemable statutory breaches executed by agents of the state. The intentional fabrication of the Information, occurring in tandem with the extraordinary, ultra vires utilization of an entirely unauthorized, civil family-law directive to effectuate a targeted criminal arrest, may be characterized as an unparalleled abuse of process. The deployment of a superior court civil directive as a mechanism to circumvent the rigorous prerequisites inherent to a provincial criminal warrant represents an egregious usurpation of the judicial function and a catastrophic conflation of distinct, non-overlapping jurisdictional authorities.
9. It is submitted that such conduct flagrantly offends the foundational tenets of fundamental justice enshrined within section 7 of the Canadian Charter of Rights and Freedoms, Part I of the Constitution Act, 1982, being Schedule B to the Canada Act 1982 (UK), 1982, c 11 (the "Charter"), and is ostensibly repugnant to the collective conscience of the community. The deprivation of physical liberty predicated exclusively upon a manufactured administrative contrivance fundamentally destabilizes the citizenry's legitimate expectation of, and reliance upon, predictable and lawful state conduct.
10. By rigorously dissecting the physical alterations imposed upon the sworn instruments, the jurisdictional impossibilities inherent to the inter-court routing mechanisms utilized, and the undeniable, immutable metadata footprints preserved permanently within centralized law enforcement databases (viz., the Canadian Police Information Centre system), it is demonstrated prima facie that the originating processes are hopelessly and incurably defective. The digital acta preserved within these centralized repositories irreconcilably contradict the physical documentation presented to the tribunal, further illuminating the ostensibly deliberate and calculated nature of the spoliation.
11. The targeted physical extraction of the original jurat, followed by the subsequent substitution of a fabricated administrative endorsement, appears to have been executed with the specific design of permanently severing the auditable documentary linkage identifying the specific judicial officer who issued the irregular, liberty-depriving criminal warrant (the "Warrant"). This systemic obfuscation was seemingly designed to explicitly shield the conduct from both institutional auditing and appellate scrutiny, representing a comprehensive breakdown of the institutional safeguards structurally engineered to protect the citizenry from arbitrary and unchecked state power.

D. APPREHENSION OF BIAS AND PRE-EXISTING CONFLICTS OF INTEREST UNDISCLOSED BY THE NATURE OF THE "EX PARTE IN CAMERA HEARING", "EX PARTE IN CAMERA UNRECORDED HEARINGS", AND "EX PARTE IN CAMERA UNRECORDED HEARINGS UNRETAINED INDICTMENT PROCESS"

12. The profound procedural pathologies detailed herein—encompassing deliberate, tactical forum-shopping at the superior court level and strategically delayed filing protocols—did not precipitate within a jurisdictional vacuum. Such anomalies must be critically contextualized within the broader factual matrix concerning alleged pre-existing professional conflicts of interest involving the presiding judicial officer, Madam Justice Shore (the "Presiding Jurist"), and concurrently active civil litigation matters. Fiduciary and ethical obligations, as strictly promulgated by the Canadian Judicial Council, mandate the absolute avoidance of scenarios wherein historical adversarial relationships might contaminate, or appear to contaminate, present adjudicative impartiality.

13. The accused (the "Accused"), a former practicing litigator possessing extensive legal expertise, had heretofore rendered highly effective legal assistance in a contentious, exceptionally high-stakes family law separation. The opposing party in that preceding litigation was represented directly by Epstein Cole LLP. Crucially, the Presiding Jurist, who allegedly issued the highly irregular underlying Warrant, functioned as a senior partner at that exact law firm during the specific temporal period in question.

E. ANTICIPATORY REBUTTAL: CRYSTALLIZATION OF ACTUAL BIAS

15. It is foreseeable that an inquiry may be raised as to whether a historical professional association is sufficient to surpass the stringent threshold requisite for establishing a reasonable apprehension of bias, as rigorously articulated by the Supreme Court of Canada in Wewaykum Indian Band v. Canada, 2003 SCC 45 at para 60 (Wewaykum). While remote professional affiliations may frequently prove insufficient to displace the robust presumption of judicial impartiality, it is posited that the unique and compelling factual matrix presently at bar completely satisfies and demonstrably exceeds the Wewaykum standard.
16. The apprehension of bias herein is not predicated solely upon a dormant, historical partnership; rather, it is inextricably intertwined with, and crystallized by, the contemporaneous, surreptitious destruction of the authorizing jurat and the highly anomalous, completely unauthorized intervention, by secretive and unauthorized assignment, by the Presiding Jurist into parallel civil insurance proceedings. These collateral proceedings, governed strictly by the JRPA, Courts of Justice Act and Rules of Civil Procedure, RRO 1990, Reg 194, were subjected to irregular judicial interference by his proxy and "puppet" explicitly on January 7, 2025.
17. Applying the perspective of the reasonable, informed, and right-minded person—which remains the cornerstone of the Wewaykum analytical framework—this coordinated, extra-judicial maneuvering undeniably demonstrates an actionable, localized retaliatory animus. The utilization of judicial authority to traverse jurisdictional boundaries and interfere with parallel civil matters fatally contaminates the adjudicative process, entirely displacing the standard presumption of judicial impartiality.

F. PARALLEL CIVIL LITIGATION AND EXTRA-JUDICIAL RETALIATION

18. This historical adversarial nexus is further compounded and exacerbated by concurrent, high-value civil litigation stemming from a near-fatal motor vehicle accident involving the Accused. The opposing party from the aforementioned family law dispute concurrently functioned in an authoritative, managerial capacity within the precise insurance department strictly responsible for the administration of the motor vehicle claim. The intersection of this ongoing, high-value civil insurance litigation with the deeply flawed criminal proceedings reveals a highly volatile, weaponized nexus of localized animosity.
19. Following a retaliatory residential lockout and the subsequent legally sound procurement of an urgent restorative order from the Landlord and Tenant Board on September 20, 2024, the state apparatus was swiftly and aggressively mobilized. Although the Residential Tenancies Act, 2006, SO 2006, c 17, provides explicit mechanisms for the restoration of possession, these statutory administrative avenues were intentionally circumvented by law enforcement personnel.
20. Rather than facilitating the lawful execution of the administrative tribunal's restorative order to maintain the peace, law enforcement officers engaged in an elaborate, deceptive, and highly coercive property ruse on October 2, 2024. This operation was specifically engineered to artificially lure the Accused into a controlled, adversarial environment to effectuate an ambush arrest, utilizing the structurally defective, forum-shopped Warrant as the sole legal justification. The deployment of overwhelming state police power to effectuate what ostensibly amounted to an extra-judicial eviction constitutes a profound dereliction of statutory duty.

G. ANTICIPATORY REBUTTAL: VITIATION OF GOOD FAITH RELIANCE

21. It is anticipated that the Crown may attempt to salvage the admissibility of any consequentially obtained evidence by invoking the doctrine of good faith reliance on the part of the arresting officers, ostensibly mitigating the severity

5771 of the constitutional breach under a section 24(2) analysis pursuant to R. v. Grant, 2009 SCC 32 at para 71 (Grant). This hypothesis, however, is posited to be wholly unsupportable and logically fractured.

22. The comprehensive, constitutionally mandated tripartite analytical framework explicitly established in Grant operates as an indispensable teleological instrument, meticulously calibrated to safeguard the overarching integrity and long-term repute of the administration of justice. This obligatory jurisprudential doctrine compels a rigorous, multi-tiered scrutiny encompassing three discrete yet inextricably linked analytical prongs. Initially, a granular assessment of the magnitude and culpability of the Charter-infringing state conduct is demanded. Subsequently, the tribunal must adjudicate the profoundness of the deleterious impact inflicted by the constitutional breach upon the deeply protected liberty and privacy interests of the Accused. Ultimately, these considerations must be juxtaposed against the collective societal prerogative in ensuring the adjudication of the controversy upon its substantive merits. In the immediate factual matrix, the primary branch of this equitable calculus assumes paramount significance, as it inextricably necessitates an uncompromising evaluation of the seriousness of the state conduct. Any presumption of good faith is absolutely vitiated by the conduct of the officers in situ. Despite persistent, statutorily grounded demands made pursuant to the explicit mandates of section 29 of the Criminal Code—which strictly requires the production of a warrant upon execution—the executing officers vehemently and aggressively refused to produce the physical Warrant.
23. This deliberate refusal actively denied the Accused the fundamental constitutional right to review the instrument authorizing the detention, thereby irreparably magnifying the impact upon the constitutionally protected interests of the Accused. It is a logical and legal impossibility for law enforcement to claim good faith reliance upon a warrant while simultaneously and deliberately concealing that selfsame, structurally defective document from the detained citizen. Such conduct ostensibly elevates the Charter infringement from a state of inadvertent negligence to one of deliberate state overreach, thereby heavily favoring the exclusion of all resulting evidence to preserve societal confidence in the justice system.

H. CONCLUSION AND EQUITABLE IMPERATIVES

24. The subsequent trajectory of events—including the highly targeted, suspicious expropriation of sensitive legal files and the fraudulent exploitation of library credentials—strongly evinces a cohesive, orchestrated campaign of extra-judicial retaliation. The weaponization of state apparatuses to execute personal or localized grievances is submitted to represent the ultimate subversion of the Charter and the foundational principles of Canadian jurisprudence. This pervasive, systemic contamination mandates the immediate, uncompromising restoration of the status quo ante through the definitive quashing of all underlying warrants, endorsements, and continuing liberty constraints. It is advanced that the Crown is entirely bereft of lawful jurisdiction due to the insurmountable accumulation of ab initio nullities. Consequently, it is respectfully submitted that the proceedings must be declared a complete nullity, thereby restoring the Accused to a state of absolute liberty unencumbered by the tainted mechanisms of state coercion.

I. JURISDICTIONAL FATALITIES AND THE DOCTRINE OF ABSOLUTE NULLITY

Coram Non Judice and the Strictissimi Juris Interpretation of Statutory Grants

25. It is posited as an incontrovertible and foundational precept of the common law that tribunals and judicial bodies, being endowed solely with circumscribed statutory authority, are invariably necessitated to operate strictly within the inflexible boundaries of their enabling legislation; consequently, any substantive deviation from these mandatory statutory prerequisites inevitably precipitates an immediate state of coram non judice.
26. This axiomatic legal doctrine, which demands a strictissimi juris interpretation of all statutory grants of power, was unequivocally established by the House of Lords in the seminal jurisprudence of Taylor v Clemson (1844), 11 Cl & Fin 610, 8 ER 1233 (HL) (the "Taylor Decision").
27. A complex dispute concerning the compulsory expropriation of real property by a railway corporation pursuant to a specific act of parliament was adjudicated within the Taylor Decision, wherein the central, justiciable issue pertained strictly to the validity of a warrant directing a sheriff to impanel a jury for the assessment of land valuations.

28. To fully apprehend the profound gravity and enduring relevance of this jurisprudence, it is necessitated that the historical appellate structure of the United Kingdom be acknowledged, specifically referencing the evolution of the Exchequer Chamber, which served as the intermediate court of appeal prior to the ultimate intervention of the House of Lords.
29. Following the structural consolidation achieved by the enactment of the Law Terms Act 1830 (UK), 11 Geo IV & 1 Will IV, c 70, the appellate courts were uniquely positioned to rigorously scrutinize the jurisdictional limitations of statutory bodies; during an epoch characterized by rapid industrial expansion and the consequent, unprecedented encroachment upon private property rights, rigid precedents were established by these courts that remain strictly binding upon all contemporary Canadian tribunals.
30. It was articulated with absolute precision by the House of Lords in the Taylor Decision that when statutory jurisdiction is exercised by a judicial or administrative body—particularly regarding those extraordinary powers which infringe upon fundamental common law rights or liberties—strict compliance with the legislated conditions precedent is an absolute, non-derogable prerequisite to the valid assumption of jurisdiction.
31. It was further promulgated by the appellate jurists that the failure to strictly observe the explicit mandates of enabling legislation, akin to the rigorous constraints imposed by the modern Expropriation Act, RSO 1990, c E.26, or its historical equivalents, irrevocably strips the tribunal of its adjudicative authority from the very inception of the proceedings.
32. The rationale underpinning this rigid jurisprudential architecture is predicated upon the essential protection of the citizenry from the arbitrary or unauthorized exercise of state power; it is recognized that statutory tribunals possess no inherent jurisdiction and are entirely creatures of statute, thereby rendering their authority completely and perpetually contingent upon perfect procedural adherence.
33. Consequently, acts undertaken in the absolute absence of such foundational jurisdictional grounding are characterized definitively as coram non judice, rendering the ensuing legal proceedings entirely void, bereft of any juridical efficacy, devoid of legal force, and utterly lacking any coercive power over the targeted subject individual.

J. THE ONTOLOGICAL DISTINCTION BETWEEN VOIDABLE IRREGULARITIES AND ABSOLUTE NULLITIES

34. The aforementioned legal postulate is encapsulated comprehensively by the ancient and unwavering legal maxim, factum a judice, quod ad officium jure non pertinet, ratum non est, signifying unequivocally that an act executed by a judicial officer that transcends the lawful, statutorily defined parameters of their office is intrinsically invalid and possesses no binding authority upon the citizenry.
35. This exact jurisdictional doctrine was affirmed by the Supreme Court of Canada in the jurisprudence of McLean v Bradley, 1878 CanLII 22, [1878] 2 SCR 535 (the "Bradley Decision"), wherein it was conclusively established that adjudicative determinations rendered absent foundational jurisdiction constitute unmitigated nullities that are entirely void ab initio.
36. In the Bradley Decision, the erudite reasoning extracted directly from the Taylor Decision was explicitly adopted by the Supreme Court of Canada, per Richards C.J., alongside the concurring panel comprising Ritchie, Strong, Taschereau, Fournier, and Henry JJ., thereby bridging the jurisprudential continuity between the pre-Confederation United Kingdom and the modern Canadian legal apparatus.
37. Specifically invoking the authoritative commentary preserved within Broom's Legal Maxims, it was pronounced unequivocally by the Supreme Court of Canada that where a tribunal lacks jurisdictional competence over a cause, the entirety of the proceeding is rendered coram non judice, rendering the adjudicator effectively indistinguishable from an unauthorized interloper or a private citizen bereft of state authority.
38. It was further elucidated within the Bradley Decision that a complete absence of jurisdiction completely strips the impugned judicial orders of any protective veneer, judicial privilege, or statutory immunity that typically shields judicial pronouncements.
39. This absolute divestment of authority operates to expose the executing parties, extending beyond the jurist to encompass law enforcement officers, judicial administrative staff, and court officials, to potential civil liability for egregious transgressions such as false imprisonment, trespass to the person, or misfeasance in public office.
40. Crucially, the doctrine dictates that such a profound jurisdictional vacuum absolves the targeted subject of any legal, statutory, or moral obligation to yield obedience to the defective precept; it is maintained that there exists no duty, either at common law or within the penal statutes, to comply with a directive that lacks the indispensable sine qua non of lawful judicial authorization.

5773 When applied directly to the factual matrix at bar, the systemic failure to meticulously adhere to the statutorily mandated preconditions for the issuance of criminal process ensures that the resultant legal instruments are not merely voidable administrative errors, but rather, they constitute absolute, fundamental nullities.

42. Pursuant to the maxim ex nihilo nihil fit—out of nothing, nothing comes—the original position, or status quo ante, is legally preserved with pristine integrity, functioning precisely as if the impugned judicial acts and subsequent acta never transpired in the physical or legal reality.
43. While it is acknowledged that minor procedural deviations or non-jurisdictional errors of law are frequently categorized by modern administrative jurisprudence as mere voidable irregularities to preserve systemic stability, protect third-party reliance, and promote judicial economy, it must be asserted that the classification of an absolute nullity perseveres invariably for circumstances wherein a mandatory, jurisdictional condition precedent remains wholly unfulfilled.
44. The de facto doctrine, which is occasionally utilized to salvage defective administrative actions, cannot be invoked to resurrect a proceeding that fundamentally lacked the foundational mechanism of commencement; when a statutory hurdle is leaped entirely by a judicial officer, bypassing the very gateway to their jurisdiction, the resulting pronouncement is, ipso facto, born dead, and cannot be subsequently cured, ratified, or retroactively imbued with validity by subsequent procedural steps or mere acquiescence.

K. APPLICATION OF THE JURISPRUDENCE TO THE PROCEDURAL IRREGULARITIES BEFORE THE SUPERIOR COURT OF JUSTICE

45. Upon the rigorous application of these sophisticated syllogisms and the meticulous extrapolation of established legal principles to the specific procedural anomalies presently at issue, it is observed that the foundational requisite, historically necessitated for the lawful commencement of valid criminal proceedings, was egregiously and systematically circumvented.
46. More precisely, it is submitted that a mandatory information package (the "Information Package"), which functions inherently as the essential evidentiary and procedural prerequisite for the lawful engagement of the judicial apparatus, was purportedly never submitted electronically unto the designated court office for the procurement of an intake court endorsement (the "Intake Court Endorsement") on the critical date of September 23, 2024.
47. The function of the intake court is not to be construed as a mere administrative formality; rather, it constitutes a vital, statutorily mandated gatekeeping function designed by the legislature to interpose a neutral judicial arbiter between the investigative zeal of the state and the liberty of the citizen, thereby ensuring that arbitrary or unfounded state action is halted in limine.
48. In the strict absence of the lawful making, issuance, signing, and entering of a form 6 summons (the "Form 6 Summons") or a form 7 arrest warrant (the "Form 7 Arrest Warrant") through these proper, transparent channels, the procedural machinations that subsequently transpired were inherently and incurably defective.
49. Despite being superficially finalized from a temporal perspective pursuant to the procedural mechanisms enumerated within the Criminal Code, RSC 1985, c C-46, these clandestine acts constituted undertakings that were incontrovertibly factum a judice, quod ad officium jure non pertinet, ratum non est and entirely coram non judice.
50. Consequently, the entirety of the attendance convened before the Honourable Madam Justice Shore, which was irregularly situated within the private environs of her chambers rather than an open courtroom, was rendered coram non judice; it is emphasized that the absolute sanctity of the judicial process necessitates strict adherence to established intake protocols, which are meticulously engineered to shield individuals from arbitrary, unscrutinized state action.
51. Furthermore, the profound gravity of this jurisdictional usurpation has been formally conceded upon the evidentiary record by legal counsel representing the Law Society of Ontario, acting explicitly on behalf of the Honourable Madam Justice Shore, wherein an admission was proffered dictating that the impugned document was never properly filed with the Ontario Court of Justice throughout the entire epoch spanning August to October 2024.
52. This profound administrative lacuna, having been incontrovertibly admitted on the evidentiary record, completely obliterates any presumptive shield of regularity that might otherwise logically attach to the actions of a superior court judge, thereby leaving the proceedings thoroughly denuded of lawful authority.
53. The judicial proceedings convened before the Superior Court of Justice were thereby rendered void ab initio, functioning impermissibly as an ex parte and in camera hearing.

54. Such covert adjudicative processes, having been conducted entirely outside the purview of the public and the accused, operated to the profound and demonstrable prejudice of the applicant (the "Applicant"), completely eviscerating the foundational constitutional tenets of the open court principle, natural justice, and the fundamental right to be heard.
55. Furthermore, it is presented as a logical, inescapable, and necessary extrapolation that facilitating the physical presence of Detective Abdulhameed K. Virani (the "Detective Virani") within the restricted, secure chambers of the Superior Court of Justice necessitated the illicit, active involvement and clandestine coordination of Court Officer Mrs. Frugoni-Rojas (the "Court Officer Frugoni-Rojas").
56. This illicit coordination fundamentally compounds the egregious procedural irregularities, demonstrating a systemic, concerted bypass of mandatory court intake apparatuses by multiple state actors operating in tandem to maliciously circumvent indispensable statutory safeguards.
57. Subsequently, as a direct consequence of this poisoned procedural genesis, a form 10 undertaking (the "Form 10 Undertaking") was imposed upon the Applicant, which was allegedly drafted deceitfully and strictly ultra vires by Sergeant Sean Cassidy of the Toronto Police Service (the "Sergeant Cassidy").
58. This highly restrictive instrument was inextricably and fatally linked to the void ab initio Intake Court Endorsement, representing the forbidden, contaminated fruit of a thoroughly poisoned procedural tree that was entirely bereft of any grounding in lawful jurisdiction.
59. This defective procedural framework was further predicated upon a demonstrably fraudulent form 2 information (the "Form 2 Information") directly attributed to Court Officer Frugoni-Rojas.
60. Because these foundational, initiating instruments were absolute nullities from their very inception, being entirely devoid of the requisite judicial endorsement from the constitutionally designated intake body, a state of perpetual liberation from any legal, statutory, or equitable compulsion to obey the derivative orders or the Form 10 Undertaking is thereby conferred upon the Applicant.
61. This absolute absolution from compliance is advanced as a constitutional and jurisdictional imperative that is respectfully submitted for the immediate apprehension, rigorous scrutiny, and immediate remedial action of the Chief Justice of the Ontario Court of Justice, with the sole objective of restoring the unimpeachable integrity of the administration of justice.

L. COUNTERVAILING DOCTRINES AND THE REBUTTAL OF THE COLLATERAL ATTACK PROHIBITION

62. It is meticulously anticipated that countervailing arguments might be advanced by opposing counsel, or by the Presiding President of the Ontario Superior Court of Justice (Divisional Court), positing that orders emanating from a superior court judge are invariably shielded by the robust doctrine of inherent jurisdiction.
63. Such an argument would predictably assert, relying upon principles analogous to those articulated in the jurisprudence of R v Wilson, [1983] 2 SCR 594, an absolute necessity for strict, unwavering obedience to the judicial order until it is formally reviewed and explicitly set aside by a competent appellate authority.
64. Consequently, attempts would ostensibly be made by opposing authorities to categorize the present, substantive grievances as an impermissible collateral attack upon a binding judicial decree, asserting that formal quashing must be sought rather than permitting the order to be treated as a definitive nullity.
65. This potential refutation, however, is decisively and totally circumvented by the established, highly specialized, and non-obvious legal theory delineating the precise dichotomy existing between the inherent jurisdiction of a superior court and the restrictive nature of specific statutory grants of power.
66. When a purely statutory power is exercised by a judge of a superior court—such as the discrete issuance of search warrants, informations, or summonses pursuant to the strictly delineated, exhaustive provisions of the Criminal Code, RSC 1985, c C-46—it is held that the jurist temporarily steps outside their broad, inherent equitable or common law jurisdiction, and therefore absolutely does not operate under the broad, protective aegis of inherent jurisdiction.
67. Instead, it is dictated by rigorous appellate jurisprudence that in executing such highly specific, legislatively defined procedural mechanics, the jurist acts strictly persona designata, functioning precisely and exclusively as a specialized statutory tribunal.
68. In this restricted capacity, it is mandated that the jurist, regardless of their esteemed office, is bound by the exact same rigorous, inflexible statutory prerequisites, conditions precedent, and procedural gateways that strictly constrain an inferior tribunal, a provincial court judge, or a justice of the peace.

69. Where a judicial officer, irrespective of their general hierarchical standing, prestige, or inherent authority in other disparate contexts, acts entirely outside the highly circumscribed statutory parameters granting them the specific, localized authority to issue criminal process, the resultant acts are observed to transcend mere voidable errors of law or mistaken exercises of discretion.
70. Rather, these acts manifest as complete jurisdictional usurpations, severing the act entirely from the judicial office and thereby rendering the resulting decrees legally nonexistent.
71. Such profound and fundamental defects operate to render the resulting orders absolute nullities that are entirely susceptible to collateral challenge in limine; the impugned orders, fundamentally lacking the foundational intake endorsement, are noted to lack even the prima facie characteristic, appearance, or colour of a valid judicial decree.
72. Consequently, the rule against collateral attack, which was historically designed to protect the finality and integrity of valid but substantively flawed judgments, is rendered entirely inapplicable to acts that are substantively, fundamentally, and unequivocally coram non judice; it is a logical impossibility to collaterally attack an entity that, in the discerning eyes of the law, has never existed.
73. Finally, regarding the palpable and highly prejudicial misapprehension of law articulated by former registrar Gentles (the "Former Registrar Gentles") concerning the jurisdictional competence of the Ontario Superior Court of Justice (Divisional Court) over criminal matters, it is imperative that a fundamental, structural distinction be delineated with absolute, unyielding precision to rectify this systemic institutional error.
74. While it is correctly posited under the general framework of the Rules of Civil Procedure, RRO 1990, Reg 194, that the substantive jurisdiction to adjudicate direct criminal appeals from convictions or sentences is not generally possessed by the Ontario Superior Court of Justice (Divisional Court), a profound and necessary bifurcation is acknowledged concerning the court's administrative oversight and its supervisory jurisdiction over the liberty of the subject.
75. Profound supervisory authority is retained by the Ontario Superior Court of Justice (Divisional Court), which is frequently exercised pursuant to the Judicial Review Procedure Act, RSO 1990, c J.1, over the administrative actions of state bodies, implicitly including those actions that wrongfully intersect with the criminal justice system through the employment of void ab initio instruments.
76. It is demanded that an unequivocal, jurisprudential distinction be drawn between a judge sitting as a constituent appellate member of the Ontario Superior Court of Justice (Divisional Court) tasked with reviewing a substantive criminal trial, and the administrative custody, control, or prerogative review of a purportedly valid, yet fundamentally defective Form 7 Arrest Warrant.
77. This vital demarcation serves to emphasize the critical, inescapable necessity for meticulous jurisdictional differentiation when the complex intersection of civil prerogative review mechanisms and fundamentally flawed, abusive, and ultra vires criminal processes executed by agents of the state must be navigated.
78. It is concluded that to conflate the lack of criminal appellate jurisdiction with a total abdication of supervisory review over fraudulent warrants would be tantamount to orchestrating a complete abandonment of the historical mandate held by the Divisional Court to curtail administrative overreach and protect the citizenry from the execution of documents generated entirely coram non judice.

M. JURISDICTIONAL AND CONSTITUTIONAL SUBMISSIONS

Application of the Paramountcy Doctrine and Judicial Authority

The Constitutional Supremacy of Federal Jurisdiction

79. A foundational axiom of the Canadian constitutional architecture dictates that federal legislative instruments systematically and unequivocally supersede provincial enactments wherever an operational, purposive, or adjudicative conflict is established. Such a constitutional imperative is rigorously enforced pursuant to the paramountcy doctrine (the "Paramountcy Doctrine"), a jurisprudential mechanism permanently precluding the provincial dilution of federal authority. In strict accordance with the statutory demarcations delineated within the Criminal Code, RSC 1985, c C-46, a jurist appointed to the Superior Court of Criminal Jurisdiction is concurrently designated, by automatic operation of law, as a judicial officer of the Superior Court of Justice of Ontario. Consequently, it is postulated that a judicial officer, even whilst simultaneously executing administrative or appellate responsibilities within a strictly delimited Divisional Court rotation, is statutorily empowered by the 5776 aforementioned federal enactment to preside over, deliberate upon, and adjudicate an ex parte application (the "Ex Parte Application") that is legitimately conducted in camera.

80. The intersection of federal criminal procedure and the provincial administration of justice, as mandated by section 91(27) and section 92(14) of the Constitution Act, 1867 (UK), 30 & 31 Vict, c 3, is understood to necessitate a harmonious, albeit strictly hierarchical, interpretation of judicial capacity. Furthermore, justices of the Court of Appeal for Ontario may be legally authorized, by the concurrent and synergistic operation of the Criminal Code, RSC 1985, c C-46, and the Courts of Justice Act, RSO 1990, c C.43, to adjudicate upon an Ex Parte Application aimed at initiating clandestine criminal proceedings against a specified individual, thereby compelling the subsequent, involuntary attendance thereof before the Superior Court of Justice. This extraordinary jurisprudential authorization is operationalized exclusively through an ad hoc designation (the "Ad Hoc Designation"), formally executed pursuant to section 13(1) of the Courts of Justice Act, RSO 1990, c C.43. The aforementioned provision explicitly dictates that the Chief Justice of Ontario, acting exclusively with the requisite formal concurrence of the Chief Justice of the Superior Court of Justice, possesses the administrative prerogative to assign a jurist of the Court of Appeal to perform the substantive adjudicative functions of a jurist of the Superior Court of Justice.
81. To further fortify such structural integration, section 13(2) of the Courts of Justice Act, RSO 1990, c C.43, unequivocally mandates that a jurist of the Court of Appeal is, by virtue of holding said distinguished office, simultaneously a jurist of the Superior Court of Justice, thereby inherently possessing the exhaustive jurisdiction, overarching power, and absolute authority associated therewith. Such an integrated judicial architecture ensures that the execution of federal criminal jurisdiction cannot be frustrated or otherwise impeded by the compartmentalized, provincial administrative assignments of individual judicial officers.

N. THE ABSOLUTE IMPERATIVE OF PROCEDURAL TRANSPARENCY

82. The fundamental contention articulated herein is ostensibly not predicated upon an erroneous assertion that the presiding jurist, Madam Justice Shore, was legally precluded by either federal statute or provincial legislation—specifically invoking section 18(3) of the Courts of Justice Act, RSO 1990, c C.43, which legislatively stipulates that every jurist of the Superior Court of Justice is additionally and simultaneously a jurist of the Divisional Court—from entertaining an Ex Parte Application initiated by the executive branch. It is conceded that the statutory authority exists to authorize criminal charges and subsequent arrest warrants whilst operating ostensibly under a Divisional Court mandate. Rather, the unequivocal legal imperative dictates that said judicial officer was strictly obligated, under the unyielding tenets of natural justice and procedural fairness, to formally and comprehensively disclose the existence of such clandestine, liberty-imperilling proceedings to the applicant within the immediate context of the concurrent judicial review procedure act proceeding (the "JRPA* Proceeding").
83. The extraordinary nature of ex parte and in camera proceedings inherently demands an elevated, uncompromising duty of absolute candour from both the executive actors and the presiding judicial authority. Where an adjudicator operates concurrently across disparate jurisdictional spheres involving identical parties, the deliberate segmentation of knowledge is deemed to constitute a grave miscarriage of procedural integrity. The total failure to effectuate such mandatory procedural disclosure structurally annihilates the foundation of the civil matter, thereby rendering the underlying proceedings fundamentally deficient in limine.
84. Should a potential counter-argument be advanced by opposing counsel or the presiding President of the Divisional Court, postulating that the concurrent exercise of federal criminal jurisdiction and provincial appellate administrative jurisdiction engenders an irreconcilable procedural conflict, such an assertion must be firmly rejected. Such an argument would baselessly suggest that the structural separation of court rotations necessitates, or conceptually justifies, the negation or suspension of the disclosure obligation within the civil context to preserve the secrecy of the criminal investigation. This hypothesis is entirely bereft of jurisprudential merit and deeply offensive to the foundational tenets of the rule of law. The integration of judicial functions, as governed by the Paramountcy Doctrine, dictates that the overarching, constitutional duty of procedural fairness and adjudicative transparency cannot be bifurcated, strategically diluted, or otherwise diminished by the specific rotational designation of the presiding jurist. The duty of disclosure is inextricably and permanently linked to the preservation of natural justice; thus, the administrative rotation of the jurist does not, and legally cannot, ipso facto extinguish the constitutional imperative to inform an affected party of concurrent legal manoeuvres that profoundly and irreparably imperil fundamental liberty interests. The resultant non-disclosure crystallizes into an insurmountable jurisdictional defect.

The Foundational Precedent of Pong v Quong

85. The absolute necessity of strict, unwavering jurisdictional adherence is unequivocally illuminated by the authoritative, binding pronouncement of the Supreme Court of Canada in Pong v Quong, 1927 CanLII 475 (SCC) at 272 (the "Pong Decision"). Adjudicated on March 15, 1927, and delivered orally by Chief Justice Anglin on behalf of a unanimous coram comprising Justices Duff, Mignault, Newcombe, and Rinfret, the Pong Decision elucidates the immutable, non-negotiable boundaries of adjudicative authority. The complex factual matrix underlying this foundational jurisprudence involved a landlord (the "Landlord"), formally identified as Mrs. Thomson, and a tenant (the "Tenant"), Mr. Pong, who maintained a formal tenancy agreement strictly in trust for the respondent, Mr. Quong. The aforementioned equitable arrangement dictated that the Tenant held the leasehold interest exclusively as a trustee (the "Trustee") for the respondent's sole benefit, thereby giving rise to an implied, unyielding fiduciary obligation, particularly concerning the essential preservation and subsequent renewal of the leasehold interest upon its contractual expiration.
86. The central, substantive grievance adjudicated within the Pong Decision pertained directly to a clandestine transaction wherein the Trustee unlawfully assigned the leasehold to an unauthorized third party, thereby fundamentally contravening the stringent fiduciary duty of utmost good faith owed exclusively to the respondent, who was recognized at law and in equity as the tenant in possession (the "Tenant In Possession"). It was conclusively determined by the Supreme Court of Canada that, despite the conspicuous absence of an explicit renewal clause codified within the written lease apparatus, the unauthorized assignment thereof implicitly engaged and subsequently violated the reasonable, legally protected expectation of the Tenant In Possession to secure a renewal.
87. This conceptualization of fiduciary constraint was explicitly and deliberately anchored by the Supreme Court of Canada in the venerable equitable principles meticulously delineated in Griffith v Owen, [1907] 1 Ch 195 at 200 (the "Griffith Decision"). The Griffith Decision permanently circumscribes the capacity of all fiduciaries, specifically encompassing life tenants and trustees, to derive personal aggrandizement or opportunistic advantage from their privileged positions. This limitation thereby reinforces the draconian strictures established by the foundational trust doctrine originally articulated in Keech v Sandford, [1726] EWHC Ch J76 (the "Keech Rule"), which strictly prohibits a trustee from renewing a lease for personal benefit, even in instances wherein the landlord explicitly refuses to renew for the benefit of the cestui que trust.

Analogizing Jurisdictional Usurpation

88. The systematic application of the jurisprudential principles synthesized within the Pong Decision to the present factual matrix necessitates a rigorous, unsparing examination of the jurisdictional capacity of the presiding adjudicator. In the Pong Decision, the originating dispute materialized entirely within the narrowly prescribed statutory purview of the Landlord and Tenant Act, RSO 1914, c 155, thereby necessitating a highly restricted statutory determination exclusively regarding the Landlord's immediate entitlement to physical possession of the premises. The presiding jurist, Judge Denton of the County Court, unilaterally undertook to adjudicate the extraordinarily complex equitable relationship, consequential fiduciary duties, and resulting trust obligations subsisting between the Trustee and the Tenant In Possession.
89. It was decreed by the Supreme Court of Canada, with absolute finality, that Judge Denton possessed absolutely no statutory or inherent jurisdiction to entertain, evaluate, or pronounce judgment upon such collateral equitable matters, save perhaps in the highly restricted, mutually agreed-upon capacity of a private arbitrator or an explicitly designated persona designata. Translating these binding, incontrovertible principles to the current scenario, it is jurisprudentially evident that when a jurist undertakes to execute authorizations or withhold critically substantive information without the requisite substantive or procedural transparency, the resulting judicial acts, or acta, are rendered entirely and irreparably ultra vires.
90. The deliberate, conscious absence of disclosure within the JRPA Proceeding is conceptually and functionally analogous to an outright usurpation of jurisdiction. Just as Judge Denton's unauthorized, extracurial foray into complex equitable trust principles vitiated the adjudicative authority thereof and destroyed the legal validity of the 5778 resulting orders, the failure to observe the foundational requirements of natural justice by improperly bifurcating concurrent knowledge renders the immediate proceedings fatally susceptible to invalidation. Jurisdiction is not merely the statutory authority to hear a matter; it encompasses the mandatory adherence to the constitutional prerequisites of procedural fairness, without which the tribunal fundamentally ceases to function as a lawfully constituted court.

P. CONSTITUTIONAL EVOLUTION OF SECTION 96 COURTS

Historical Demarcations of Adjudicative Power

91. The historical evolution of judicial authority within the Canadian federation further fortifies and contextualizes this rigorous legal paradigm. Prior to Confederation, courts of general jurisdiction possessed inherent, virtually limitless, and expansive adjudicative powers, encompassing the totality of law and equity. Conversely, county courts (the "County Courts") were exclusively and inherently creatures of statute. They were strictly circumscribed by legislatively defined, inflexible pecuniary limitations and rigid subject matter constraints, designed primarily by colonial legislatures to merely expedite mid-level civil claims and rapidly process lesser, summary criminal offences across expanding rural geographies.
92. Following the watershed enactment of the Constitution Act, 1867 (UK), 30 & 31 Vict, c 3, section 96 profoundly altered the adjudicative landscape by empowering the Governor General to appoint judicial officers exclusively to superior, district, and county tribunals. This federal appointment power was designed to guarantee the independence and superlative competence of the judiciary handling the most consequential matters of state and private right. The precise constitutional parameters, limitations, and protections of these federal appointments were meticulously analyzed, historically contextualized, and definitively affirmed in Reference re Residential Tenancies Act, 1979, [1981] 1 SCR 714 at 728 (the "Residential Tenancies Reference").

The Erroneous Concept of Persona Designata

93. Within the Residential Tenancies Reference, an administrative commission advanced a fundamentally defective, constitutionally offensive proposition. It was posited that the substantive authority to mandate physical evictions had been historically conferred upon County Courts adjudicators not in their capacity as judges, but strictly as persona designata—individuals functioning administratively outside formal judicial office. By advancing this theory, the commission attempted to theoretically situate such profound coercive powers entirely outside the exclusive, federally protected constitutional domain of section 96 superior tribunals, thereby attempting to justify the wholesale transfer of such jurisdiction to a provincial administrative board.
94. This deeply flawed legislative postulate was rightfully and comprehensively dismantled by the Supreme Court of Canada. The Court decreed, following an exhaustive historical inquiry, that the pre-Confederation jurisdiction concerning overholding tenants constituted nothing more than a mere procedural modification and statutory simplification of the traditional, ancient ejectment powers that were intrinsically and exclusively vested within superior courts. Therefore, the assertion that such inherent, coercive powers could be seamlessly and constitutionally transferred to an inferior, provincially appointed administrative tribunal was legally fallacious and inherently ultra vires the provincial legislature.
95. The administrative commission's misguided reliance solely upon pre-Confederation localized practices, whilst simultaneously disregarding the explicit, overriding constitutional wording of section 96 of the Constitution Act, 1867—which comprehensively encompasses and protects the appointment of judges for superior, district, and county courts—demonstrated a profound misunderstanding of the structural constitutional architecture of Canada. This historical analysis unequivocally reinforces the principle that jurisdiction cannot be artificially manufactured, creatively reinterpreted, or silently assumed where the constitutional and statutory scaffolding does not explicitly grant it.

Q. THE INCURABILITY OF JURISDICTIONAL DEFECTS THROUGH CONSENT OF LITIGANTS, PARTIES, AMICUS CURAEU AND/OR INTERVENORS (PARTY LEVEL)

96. A critical, remarkably illustrative procedural anomaly emerged during the lower court proceedings strictly scrutinized in the Pong Decision. During the initial hearing, counsel for the respondent proffered conditional, explicit consent to actively allow the lower court jurist to adjudicate the deeply complex equitable trust dispute, predicated explicitly upon the mutual understanding and foundational preservation of an effective, subsequent appellate avenue. The Supreme Court of Canada categorically and forcefully rejected this procedural machination. The Court established definitively that a substantive or foundational jurisdictional deficit cannot, under any legal or equitable circumstances, be rectified, cured, or validated by the mutual concurrence, strategic acquiescence, or explicit contractual agreement of the litigating parties.
97. Where a judicial officer presides over a legal matter whilst being fundamentally devoid of the express statutory authorization or having fundamentally breached the mandatory prerequisites of natural justice, the proceedings are unequivocally and irreparably conducted coram non judice. This foundational Latin maxim, translating precisely and literally to "not before a judge," signifies a total, comprehensive, and irremediable lack of legal jurisdiction. It is paramount to distinguish this absolute nullity entirely from an erroneous, flawed, yet legally permissible, exercise of an existing, validly granted jurisdictional mandate. An error within jurisdiction may be appealed; an action taken without jurisdiction simply is deemed non-existent at law.

The Impossibility of Estoppel and Waiver

98. It is fully anticipated that opposing counsel might creatively advance the fallacious, equitable argument that profound procedural defects, explicitly including the catastrophic failure to disclose concurrent, clandestine proceedings, can theoretically be retroactively cured through the ongoing, oblivious participation of the affected parties. Alternatively, it may be argued that the equitable doctrine of estoppel might operate to preclude a subsequent, collateral challenge to the deeply compromised authority of the tribunal. This theoretical postulation is thoroughly, absolutely, and conclusively nullified by the rigorous application of the doctrine of coram non judice.
99. As established incontrovertibly in the Pong Decision, and continuously upheld in subsequent appellate jurisprudence, proceedings orchestrated without foundational procedural jurisdiction are inherently void ab initio, resulting in an absolute legal nullity from the very moment of their inception. The judiciary is strictly, unconditionally bound by the inflexible constraints of statutory delegation and overarching constitutional imperatives; therefore, absolutely no quantum of consent, no degree of waiver, and no application of equitable estoppel can miraculously manufacture jurisdiction where the legislative branch, or the foundational principles of fundamental justice, have deliberately and structurally withheld it. Consequently, any judicial order or directive rendered under such fundamentally defective, opaque circumstances generates no binding legal obligations whatsoever, commands no obedience, and must inevitably and immediately mandate a complete reversion to the status quo ante (the "Status Quo Ante").

The Structural Integrity of the Appellate Process

100. The structural integrity, legitimacy, and functional coherence of the entire appellate process are inexorably, permanently tethered to the foundational, underlying validity of the jurisdiction of the originating tribunal. In the Pong Decision, the Appellate Division of the Supreme Court of Ontario appropriately and astutely concluded that the initial, expansive adjudication by the County Court jurist regarding the collateral, complex trust relationship was, in its entirety, an act undertaken coram non judice. Ergo, the previous, defective determination possessed zero preclusive effect—neither res judicata nor issue estoppel—upon any subsequent, legitimately constituted judicial proceedings. Because the initial order was a phantom decree, the respondent was legally and unconditionally entitled to pursue a fresh, independent action entirely free from the prejudicial taint of the nullified, unauthorized order. This jurisprudential paradigm explicitly reinforces the immutable principle that judgments infected by a total lack of procedural or substantive jurisdiction are decidedly not merely voidable determinations subject to deferential, discretionary appellate review. Rather, they are absolute, unmitigated nullities that provide absolutely no substantive, evidentiary, or legal foundation for subsequent legal enforcement, execution, or reliance by any party or state apparatus.

The Rejection of the "Mere Irregularity" Postulate

101. Finally, it may be defensively contended by the presiding judicial authority, or representative counsel thereof, that the profound failure to disclose the Ex Parte Application within the context of the JRPA Proceeding represents a mere, curable procedural irregularity, ostensibly insufficient to warrant the drastic, total nullification of the substantive adjudicative outcome. This dangerously dismissive assertion must be rigorously, systematically, and categorically contested at every jurisprudential juncture. The foundational principles of natural justice, the strictures of procedural fairness, and the uncompromising dictates of the rule of law are emphatically not ancillary, optional considerations to be casually balanced against administrative expediency or institutional convenience; they are the absolute, non-negotiable bedrock upon which the entire epistemological legitimacy of the judicial apparatus relies. When an adjudicator deliberately or inadvertently fails to disclose parallel, clandestine, state-sponsored proceedings that directly and immediately threaten the liberty, security, and fundamental constitutional rights of the applicant, the resulting procedural asymmetry is understood to create an insurmountable, fatal jurisdictional vacuum. Such proceedings are prima facie invalid and constitutionally repugnant, as the applicant is entirely deprived of the fundamental, guaranteed right to be heard before an impartial, uncompromised, and fully transparent tribunal. Thus, the deliberate suppression or omission of material jurisdictional facts elevates the transgression exponentially from a mere, correctable procedural misstep to a profound, incurable jurisdictional failure. This monumental dereliction renders the subsequent judicial pronouncements wholly void, entirely unenforceable, functionally illegitimate, and deeply offensive to the proper administration of justice.

Conclusion: The Status Quo Ante

102. The extensive modernization of the Canadian judicial landscape, predominantly characterized by the progressive, sweeping amalgamation of historically distinct district and county courts into unified, omnicompetent Superior Courts of Justice—a monumental process effectuated sequentially across the provinces from the late twentieth century onwards—further solidifies and centralizes the exclusive, comprehensive authority of federally appointed jurists. Nevertheless, it must be acknowledged that this massive consolidation of judicial power amplifies, rather than diminishes or obfuscates, the absolute necessity for scrupulous, unyielding adherence to procedural transparency, natural justice, and strict statutory limitations.

103. The jurisprudential legacy of the Pong Decision endures not as a mere historical curiosity, but as an immutable, vital safeguard against judicial overreach and administrative opacity. It confirms permanently that regardless of the sophisticated administrative integration of the modern courts, any judicial action undertaken without transparent, statutory, and constitutional sanction remains a fundamental, incurable nullity. The rule of law demands unequivocally that all judicial exercises of coercive power be demonstrably and publicly anchored in legitimate, fully disclosed authority, lest the resulting determinations be rightfully and immediately dismissed as invalid acts enacted coram non judice. Such a profound failure of jurisdictional integrity is recognized to necessitate, without exception or equitable mitigation, an immediate, total reversion to the Status Quo Ante.

VOLUME #2: STATEMENT OF ISSUES AND ANSWERS

ISSUE #1: THE INAPPLICABILITY OF SECTION 599 OF THE CRIMINAL CODE AND THE CONSEQUENT JURISDICTIONAL NULLITY OF THE ADMINISTRATIVE TRANSFER

A. THE STATUTORY ARCHITECTURE AND THE IMPLICATIONS OF PROSECUTORIAL ELECTION

104. The threshold jurisdictional inquiry necessitates an exhaustive and meticulous analysis regarding whether section 599 of the Criminal Code, RSC 1985, c C-46 (the "Criminal Code") is statutorily applicable to the procedural routing of a hybrid offence (the "Hybrid Offence"), or a plurality of hybrid offences (the "Hybrid Offences"), wherein the prosecutorial authority unequivocally elected to proceed summarily within the Ontario 5781 Court of Justice (the "Ontario Court of Justice") situated at the 10 Armoury Street Courthouse. This election, being a definitive exercise of the Crown's discretionary power, effectuated an absolute and irreversible attornment to jurisdiction from the Superior Court of Justice (the "Superior Court of Justice") to the Ontario Court of Justice. Consequently, any retroactive invocation of section 599 by the state apparatus constitutes a fundamental, fatal misapprehension of the bifurcated statutory architecture governing Canadian criminal procedure, as the summary nature of the proceedings creates a jurisdictional bar against the application of provisions reserved for indictable matters.

105. It is advanced with the utmost emphasis that section 599 of the Criminal Code is strictly, inherently, and unambiguously inapplicable to the present factual matrix; any reliance thereon by the state is patently ultra vires and constitutes an institutional encroachment upon the constitutional mandate of the judiciary. Section 599 explicitly restricts its extraordinary jurisdictional purview exclusively to a tribunal before which an accused "is or may be indicted." In the context of the Canadian criminal justice system, the structural demarcation between summary conviction offences and indictable offences is an absolute, foundational precept that dictates not only court jurisdiction and trial routing but also the fundamental procedural rights of the accused and the maximum penal consequences of a conviction. Because the Crown elected to proceed summarily upon the formal record, the accused is structurally and statutorily insulated from indictment ipso facto. The use of the archaic term "found," as articulated in section 599, possesses a precise procedural significance functionally equivalent to the modern procedural term "preferred"; this signifies the formal, public act of lodging a written instrument of indictment (the "Indictment") with the Superior Court registry, a status that can only be divested by a valid, superseding judicial mechanism of equal or higher authority. The purpose of venue, being the geographical location of the trial, is to ensure access to justice and the preservation of the constitutional right of an accused to a fair, efficient, and localized adjudication. It is anticipated that the state may invoke the ratio decidendi of R. v. Dudley, 2009 SCC 58 (the "Dudley Decision") to argue that a Hybrid Offence is deemed indictable until the moment of election, ostensibly engaging the "may be indicted" language of section 599. This proposition is fundamentally vitiated by the requirement for a formalized application in limine. An administrative migration of the record, executed in camera and entirely bereft of adversarial scrutiny or judicial oversight, cannot be retroactively sanitized; the procedural imperative of a formal application is the sine qua non of a lawful venue alteration. Any deviation from these codified steps constitutes a palpable erosion of the Rule of Law and a violation of the principle of audi alteram partem.

B. THE PREREQUISITES FOR A LAWFUL CHANGE OF VENUE AND TRANSMISSION OF RECORD

106. In relation to section 599 of the Criminal Code, two distinct, non-delegable procedural requirements must be satisfied. Firstly, the transfer may only manifest upon the formal application (the "Application") of either the prosecutor (the "Prosecutor") or the accused (the "Accused"). If it appears expedient to the ends of justice—a determination requiring a complex judicial balancing of competing public and private interests, such as the efficiency of the trial versus the accused's right to be tried in the locus of the offence—an order (the "Order") may be promulgated to hold the trial in a disparate territorial division (the "Territorial Division") within the identical province. The Criminal Code recognizes various divisions, including a province (the "Province"), a county (the "County"), a union of counties (the "Union of Counties"), a township (the "Township"), a city (the "City"), a town (the "Town"), or a parish (the "Parish").

107. Secondly, section 599(4) mandates the transmission of the record (the "Transmission of Record"). Where an Order is executed, the court officer possessing custody of the Indictment—prescribed by Criminal Code Form 4 (the "Form 4")—and all corollary writings and exhibits relating to the prosecution (the "Exhibits"), is under a peremptory, statutory obligation to transmit them forthwith to the clerk of the receiving court. This transmission is not a mere administrative convenience or a ministerial task; it is a solemn transfer of imperium, ensuring that the receiving court possesses the complete corpus of the procedural history and evidence necessary to maintain the continuity of justice. The failure to transmit the full file violates the constitutional disclosure obligations established in R. v. Stinchcombe, [1991] 3 SCR 326 (the "Stinchcombe Decision"), creating an inherent risk of a fractured and unreliable record. A clerical notation cannot serve as the functional equivalent of a formal judicial fiat, and any attempt to delegate this responsibility to an administrative clerk constitutes an institutional misconduct and an ultra vires act.

C. APPLICATION TO THE FACTUAL MATRIX AND THE DOCTRINE OF CORAM NON JUDICE

108. An extrapolation of these principles to the factual matrix reveals insurmountable deficiencies. The Ontario Court of Justice in Brampton (the "Brampton OCJ") is situated within the City of Brampton, the Central West Region. The Ontario Court of Justice at the 10 Armoury Street Courthouse (the "Toronto OCJ") is situated in the City of Toronto, the Toronto Region. The Superior Court of Justice at the 361 University Avenue Courthouse (the "Toronto SCJ") operates within the Toronto Region under its distinct federal auspices.

109. Any jurisdictional transposition from either the Toronto SCJ or the Brampton OCJ to the Toronto OCJ required a preceding formal Application and a subsequent judicial Order. As the evidentiary record evinces a total absence of such an Application or resulting Order, it is a necessary syllogism that no lawful change of venue occurred. Consequently, the Toronto OCJ acted as a tribunal coram non judice, and each presiding Justice of the Peace or Judge was similarly coram non judice. Every act performed was factum a judice, quod ad officium jure non pertinet, ratum non est (an act by a judge, which does not pertain to his office by right, is not valid). The notation of "NA" for the Crown and the reference to a "Default Judge" (the "Default Judge") upon the record serve as judicial admissions that the proceedings were conducted outside the presence of the necessary parties and lacked the capacity for a section 599 inquiry. The principle of jurisdictional stare decisis dictates that once a Superior Court has acquired seisin over an Indictment, its authority cannot be implicitly surrendered or transferred by mere administrative oversight; the authority to divest must be as formal as the act that originally vested it.

D. THE STATUTORY DEFICIENCIES APPERTAINING TO THE IMPUGNED DIGITAL SIGNATURES

A. The Legislative Mandates of PIPEDA and the Canada Evidence Act

110. The admissibility and validity of electronically authenticated documents are strictly governed by the Canada Evidence Act, RSC 1985, c C-5 (the "Canada Evidence Act") and the Personal Information Protection and Electronic Documents Act, SC 2000, c 5 (the "PIPEDA"). PIPEDA defines an electronic signature (the "Electronic Signature") as a signature consisting of letters, characters, or symbols in digital form attached to or associated with an electronic document. Crucially, it distinguishes this rudimentary concept from a secure electronic signature (the "Secure Electronic Signature"), which results from the application of specific technologies prescribed under the Secure Electronic Signature Regulations, SOR/2005-30 (the "SESR").

111. Section 36 of PIPEDA stipulates that a document signed by a public officer is proof of a matter ONLY if the electronic version is signed with that person's Secure Electronic Signature. It is trite law that the court is a distinct legal person from a justice, and a public officer is distinct from the body on whose behalf they act, consistent with the corporate personality principles articulated in Foss v. Harbottle, (1843) 67 ER 189 (the "Foss Decision"). The SESR requires a digital signature certificate (the "Digital Signature Certificate") identifying the certification authority (the "Certification Authority") that issued it, which must be a treasury board approved entity.

112. The process mandates the use of a hash function (the "Hash Function")—an electronic one-way mathematical process converting data into a unique message digest (the "Message Digest")—and a key pair (the "Key Pair") consisting of a private key (the "Private Key") and a public key (the "Public Key"). A digital signature (the "Digital Signature") is an encrypted stamp of authentication that confirms the information originated from the signer and has remained unaltered. The absence of these consecutive cryptographic operations, including the application of the Private Key to encrypt the Message Digest, renders the document a legal nullity. The principle nemo dat quod non habet applies: an administrative clerk cannot confer judicial authority to effect a transfer if they themselves lack that authority and cannot produce a cryptographically secure order from a judge who possesses it.

E. THE FORENSIC DEFICIENCY OF THE PURPORTED INFORMATION AND WARRANT

113. It is represented that Court Officer Mrs. Frugoni-Rojas declared a Criminal Code Form 2 (the "Form 2 Information") on September 23, 2024, and that Justice of the Peace Jiri approved a "warrant in the first instance" (the "Warrant in the First"). Such a warrant is a specific type of arrest warrant issued only when law enforcement possesses reasonable grounds to believe an indictable offence was committed but is entirely incapable of locating the suspect. As the accused was physically present at the Toronto Police Service 14th Division on September 21, 5783 2024, the state's assertion that the suspect could not be located is prima facie factually unsupportable and logically flawed.

114. The printed nomenclature "Digitally Signed by George Jiri" catastrophically fails to satisfy the requirements of a Digital Signature for several forensic reasons. Firstly, there is no Digital Signature Certificate; secondly, there is no identifiable Certification Authority; thirdly, there is no Hash Function application; and fourthly, there is no SHA-256 verification process. The document contains internal administrative data alien to a compliant Form 2, such as occurrence numbers and "15 month flags," suggesting it is an internal police memorandum rather than a valid judicial precept. The lack of compliance with Criminal Code Form 7 (the "Form 7") indicates that the document is a non-secure artifact. The notation "Digitally Signed" without the SESR framework is a mere typographic assertion, entirely devoid of legal efficacy. This rebuts the common law maxim omnia praesumuntur rite esse acta (all things are presumed to be rightly done) concerning the court's procedural regularity, as the record speaks to its own deficiency.

F. CONSTITUTIONAL CONSTRAINTS UPON THE ROYAL PREROGATIVE AND THE DECEPTION OF THE CROWN

Rex Non Potest Peccare and the Liability of State Instruments

115. It is an ancient and fundamental principle of the Canadian constitution that Rex non potest peccare (the "King can do no wrong") (2 Rolle, JR. 304). However, this maxim must not be understood to mean that the sovereign is above the laws, in the unconfined sense of those words, or that everything done by the state is necessarily just and lawful. Its true constitutional meaning is that the prerogative of the Crown (the "Prerogative") extends not to do any injury; created for the benefit of the people, it cannot be exerted to their prejudice. The Crown cannot sanction an act forbidden by law; from this perspective, the sovereign is under and not above the laws, and is bound by them equally with the subjects.

116. If a state agent personally commands an unlawful act to be done, the offence of the instrument (the "Instrument")—the agent or public officer—is not thereby indemnified. While the sovereign is not under the coercive power of the law, the commands issued are under the directive power of the law, which makes the act itself invalid if unlawful and renders the Instrument of execution liable to punishment. The agents of the sovereign remain civilly or criminally answerable for lawless acts performed under the purported command of the sovereign. This includes administrative functionaries or court clerks who perform actions reserved for judicial officers; such ultra vires acts constitute an institutional encroachment upon the judiciary, rendering the administrative act a nullity from its inception.

G. THE DOCTRINE OF DECEPTION OF THE CROWN AND LEX NON SCRIPTA

117. The Crown is incapable not only of doing wrong, but even of thinking wrong. Whenever it happens that, by misinformation or inadvertence, the Crown has been induced to invade the private rights of a subject—as by granting a process contrary to reason or prejudicial to the common law—the law declares that the King was deceived in his grant (the "Deception of the Crown"); thereupon such grant or authorization becomes void upon the supposition of deception either by or upon those agents whom the Crown has employed.

118. The law presumes eadem mens praesumitur Regis quae est juris et quae esse debet praesertim in dubiis (the same mind is presumed in the King as is in the law and as ought to be, especially in doubtful cases). Consequently, any grant or process tending to prejudice the course of public justice is void. The Crown cannot, in derogation of the right of the public, unduly fetter the exercise of the Prerogative. It cannot dispense with anything in which the subject has a vested interest, nor make a grant in violation of the common law. Furthermore, if documents in the SCJ were subjected to a directive for destruction, this creates a profound dilemma of lex non scripta: a court cannot transmit what it has been judicially commanded to erase. This procedural quagmire fatally compromises the necessary integrity of the transmitted record and exposes the transfer to collateral attack for lack of documentary foundation, as a court cannot transmit what does not exist.

H. PROCEDURAL NULLITY AND INSTITUTIONAL ABUSE

119. The failure of the presiding judicial apparatus to proceed according to strict statutory requirements regarding time and place results in a structural loss of jurisdiction over the offence, as established in R. v. Krannenburg, [1980] 1 SCR 1053 (the "Krannenburg Decision"). When the record was migrated without statutory authorization, the originating tribunal lost jurisdiction over the offence, rendering all subsequent proceedings a nullity. This represents a "wasting of jurisdiction" by the SCJ, and further, it exposes the administrative decision to review by writ of certiorari. This structural failure engages the doctrine of habeas corpus, as it calls into question the legal validity of the restraint on liberty, including the conditional release obligations imposed by the Criminal Code Form 10 (the "Form 10 Undertaking").

120. The institutional delay caused by these jurisdictional and procedural defects must be factored into the analysis under R. v. Jordan, 2016 SCC 27 (the "Jordan Decision"). The failure to bring the individual before a justice "without unreasonable delay," pursuant to section 503(2) of the Criminal Code, constitutes a violation of section 7 and section 9 of the Charter. The cumulative effect of these deficiencies—including the absence of Crown consent, the ultra vires administrative endorsement, the non-transmission of the record, and the irregular execution of the release instruments—meets the threshold for an abuse of process (the "Abuse of Process"), falling within Category One Abuse (conduct so unfair it amounts to an abuse) and requiring the extraordinary remedy of a permanent stay of proceedings to preserve the integrity of the justice system itself.

121. Pursuant to the McLean v. Bradley, [1899] 2 SCR 535 (the "McLean Decision"), when the Court has no jurisdiction of the cause, the whole proceeding is coram non judice, and actions will lie against the parties without regard to the precept or process. It is not necessary to obey one who is not judge of the cause. A plea of justification by a constable acting under an invalid warrant will be bad if the justice lacked jurisdiction over the subject matter. The unauthorized assumption of jurisdiction by the OCJ over an Indictment that remains, in law, a Superior Court matter, constitutes a jurisdictional bootstrapping that cannot be retroactively legitimized. Consequently, a peremptory requisition is hereby maintained for the immediate production of the authentic indictments and official endorsements, to be effectuated via facsimile or electronic correspondence. The perpetuation of fraudulent documents is undemocratic and counter to the Rule of Law.

ISSUE 2: THE JURISDICTIONAL ROUTING AND THE CHAIN OF CUSTODY

ISSUE #2(A): FORMULATION OF THE JURISDICTIONAL ISSUE

122. The foundational jurisprudential inquiry herein is directed toward the precise and exhaustive ascertainment of whether the preliminary solemnization of an information (the "Information") before a judicial officer of the superior court of justice (the "Superior Court of Justice") operates to inherently, automatically, and irreversibly transmute the underlying matter into a substantive proceeding cognizable exclusively by that specific judicial body.

123. This inquiry necessitates a profound examination of the functional limits of magisterial authority. It must be critically determined whether such a discrete and isolated, sui generis magisterial act purportedly compels the exaction of a formal judicial order of transfer to effectuate the proper vesting of adjudicative jurisdiction within the subordinate provincial tribunal. Alternatively, it is posited that such a paradigm relies upon a fundamental and deleterious misapprehension of the statutory architecture governing the commencement of criminal process in Ontario.

124. Furthermore, this inquiry demands a rigorous dissection of the conceptual and constitutional dichotomy between the isolated invocation of a judicial officer's oath-taking capacity and the formal institutional seizure of a prosecutorial matter by a court of record. The resolution of this issue is inextricably linked to the preservation of the structural integrity of the criminal justice system and the strict, inviolable boundaries separating investigative police powers from the formal adjudicative sphere of the judiciary.

ISSUE #2(B): POSTULATION OF THE LEGAL RESOLUTION

125. It is herein advanced, with unwavering reliance upon established statutory and constitutional principles, that the proceeding in question was at no procedural juncture legally commenced upon the adjudicative docket of the Superior Court of Justice. The mere affixation of a jurat by a superior court justice, acting in a magisterial capacity, 5785 does not operate to spontaneously generate institutional or adjudicative jurisdiction over the subject matter of the Information.

126. Consequently, the exaction of any theoretical, formal order of transfer is rendered entirely superfluous, procedurally phantom, and legally incoherent. This circumstance serves not merely as an academic anomaly, but rather operates to illuminate a profound and inexcusable administrative dereliction by law enforcement personnel. A procedural landscape was thereby cultivated wherein the prosecutorial file was de facto retained within the unmonitored custody of the constabulary, whilst remaining de jure non-existent upon the docket of any judicial tribunal, thus creating a "jurisdictional vacuum" (the "Jurisdictional Vacuum") that undermines the rule of law.

127. The absence of a formal commencement within the proper adjudicative forum dictates that the subsequent prosecutorial actions were strictly ultra vires and built upon a foundation of procedural nullity. This necessitates a resolute judicial remedy to rectify the usurpation of statutory protocols, to restore the status quo ante, and to ensure that the administration of justice is not brought into disrepute by the extra-judicial withholding of charging instruments.

ISSUE #2(C): ANALYTICAL FRAMEWORK, STATUTORY ARCHITECTURE, AND THE SEPARATION OF POWERS

128. Pursuant to the explicit, unyielding architectural design codified within the statutory frameworks of the Criminal Code, RSC 1985, c C-46 (the "Criminal Code"), and the Courts of Justice Act, RSO 1990, c C.43 (the "Courts of Justice Act"), interpreted in strict conjunction with the procedural strictures mandated by the Criminal Rules of the Ontario Court of Justice, SI/2012-30 (the "Criminal Rules"), it is irrefutably established that all criminal proceedings, irrespective of their ultimate substantive gravity or procedural complexity, are to be unequivocally commenced within the ontario court of justice (the "Ontario Court of Justice").

129. The legislative intent underscoring this framework is engineered to centralize the intake, docketing, and preliminary management of criminal matters within a singular, specialized provincial registry. This centralization is a prerequisite for the efficient administration of justice, preventing the chaotic and unaccountable fragmentation of prosecutorial commencement that would occur if charging documents were permitted to languish in the private custody of state actors.

130. Notwithstanding that a presiding justice of the Superior Court of Justice concurrently possesses ex officio magisterial authority to receive a solemn oath and to preliminarily review an Information for the restricted purpose of issuing compelling process, it is submitted that the execution of such an act remains both temporally and functionally isolated. Such execution constitutes a strictly preliminary magisterial function, situated entirely apart from any substantive adjudicatory, supervisory, or docketing function of the court as an institution.

131. Guided by the immutable principles of stare decisis, as established by the Supreme Court of Canada in R. v. Chabot, [1980] 2 SCR 985 at 990, 18 CR (3d) 258 (Chabot), the jurisdiction of a justice is strictly constrained by the four corners of the statutory authority conferred upon them. The acta of the judicial officer are deemed to be crystallized and entirely concluded at the precise temporal moment the oath is formally perfected. Following this discrete action, the justice becomes unequivocally functus officio in relation to the administrative progression of the charging instrument, and the matter must then be integrated into the judicial stream via the appropriate registry. Subsequent to the administration of the aforementioned oath, the inviolable imperative arises that the Information must be physically or electronically lodged by the executing law enforcement officers with the designated intake clerk of the Ontario Court of Justice. This subsequent administrative act is not a mere procedural nicety; rather, it is the absolute sine qua non fundamentally required to formally and legally situate the matter upon the accessible public registry, thereby officially enlivening the jurisdiction of the tribunal in limine.

ISSUE #2(D): ANTICIPATED SUBMISSIONS OF THE CROWN, JUDICIAL INTERROGATORIES, AND EMBEDDED REBUTTALS

132. It is anticipated that strenuous averments may be advanced by the Crown to the effect that the Superior Court of Justice retained a form of concurrent, overarching, or "umbrella jurisdiction" (the "Umbrella Jurisdiction") over the matter immediately upon the administration of the oath. The Crown may postulate that the judicial signature serves as a permanent jurisdictional anchor, indefinitely binding the unfiled document to the court's institutional purview regardless of administrative neglect.

5786 133. The inevitable, yet deeply flawed, corollary of the aforementioned propositions is the inherent ex post facto validation of the subsequent, highly irregular six-week delay in filing was that it was done reflexively to the Applicant's filings in other tribunals like the LTB, HRTO and LAT wherein in some of those proceedings the Applicant was seeking access to the undisclosed judicial "arrest warrant" (later learned not to be an "arrest warrant" at law) and to allow Madam Justice Shore to be available for the Respondents in the McLean v. TDHA et al JRPA Proceeding. This validation is presumably predicated upon the theoretical and unsupported rationale that the prosecutorial file was situated continuously "within the system," despite the fact that no registry, clerk, or judge was cognizant of its existence or location during the period of police detention.

ISSUE #2(E): REBUTTAL, INTEGRATION OF LEGAL DOCTRINE, AND STRUCTURAL ABUSE OF PROCESS

134. The prosecutorial hypothesis is rendered entirely legally vacuous upon the apprehension that an unfiled document, resting unaccountably and invisibly in the physical possession of law enforcement personnel, cannot logically or legally operate to vest adjudicative jurisdiction in any tribunal ab initio. A court cannot be seized of a matter that has not been presented to its registry, just as a court cannot adjudicate a claim that has not been issued.

135. The retention of the prosecutorial file exclusively within the unilateral, secretive, and unmonitored custody of state policing authorities for a period exceeding one calendar month effectuates a profoundly unconstitutional procedural lacuna. Such a temporal void—an administrative interregnum—functions effectively as an unauthorized in camera detention of the procedural instrument. It places the accused in a state of indefinite prosecutorial jeopardy whilst simultaneously denying access to the judicial apparatus for the purposes of bail, disclosure, or the scheduling of proceedings. To fortify this rebuttal, the doctrine of jurisdiction ratione materiae is explicitly invoked, positing that jurisdiction over the subject matter cannot be established absent the formal lodgment of the charging instrument with the appropriate court registry. The mere solemnization of the Information does not ipso facto initiate a continuing or supervisory jurisdiction on the part of the Superior Court of Justice; rather, the unfiled document remains merely a sworn allegation entirely devoid of institutional momentum or judicial oversight. Furthermore, it is forcefully asserted that any reliance by the Crown upon the venerable maxim omnia praesumuntur rite et solemniter esse acta (the presumption of administrative regularity) is definitively and catastrophically rebutted by the pronounced, documented fracture observed within the evidentiary chain of custody. Such an administrative vacuum represents a critical, systemic failure of institutional protocols, thereby rendering the subsequent deployment of the document legally imperiled and strictly ultra vires the foundational authority of the prosecuting entity.

136. As meticulously elucidated by the Supreme Court of Canada in R. v. Jordan, 2016 SCC 27 at para 29, [2016] 1 SCR 631, 335 CCC (3d) 403 (Jordan), the systemic obligations incumbent upon all state actors necessitate the proactive, transparent, and diligent management of the judicial process. A failure to formally file the Information operates to effectively and insidiously circumvent the "presumptive ceiling" (the "Presumptive Ceiling") of prosecutorial delay. In this context, the actus reus of the state's administrative failure is sufficient to attract constitutional opprobrium, rendering any analysis of prosecutorial mens rea or specific scienter superfluous. The ratio decidendi of the Jordan framework demands institutional accountability, which is fundamentally incompatible with the extra-judicial hoarding of charging instruments by law enforcement agencies.

ISSUE #2(F): NON-OBVIOUS LEGAL THEORIES AND FURTHER JURISPRUDENTIAL EXEGESIS

137. Beyond the immediate temporal calculations, the prolonged, extra-judicial detention of the Information by law enforcement engenders a non-obvious, yet highly potent, structural abuse of process. Pursuant to the residual category of abuse of process articulated by the Supreme Court of Canada in R. v. Babos, 2014 SCC 16 at para 31, [2014] 1 SCR 309, 306 CCC (3d) 323 (Babos), state conduct that contravenes fundamental notions of justice and undermines the integrity of the judicial process warrants definitive judicial intervention. The bypass of the court registry system is not a technicality; it is an affront to the public nature of the administration of justice.

138. Furthermore, this administrative obfuscation introduces a novel and comprehensive application of the doctrine of constructive non-disclosure. As established in R. v. MacNeil, 2001 SCC 53 at para 14, [2001] 3 SCR 976, 158 CCC (3d) 3 (MacNeil), the Crown bears the ultimate and non-delegable responsibility for the actions of 5787 the police in relation to the compilation, retention, and disclosure of the prosecutorial file. By failing to formally file the Information, law enforcement effectuated a situation wherein the charging document was deliberately and effectively shielded from both prosecutorial oversight and defense scrutiny for a period of six weeks. This delay in "disclosure of existence" (the "Disclosure of Existence") frustrates the core requirements of R. v. Stinchcombe, [1991] 3 SCR 326, 68 CCC (3d) 1 (Stinchcombe), as the defense cannot request disclosure for a proceeding that does not ostensibly exist in the judicial record.

139. This circuitous administrative contrivance warrants the invocation of the venerable maxim Quando aliquid prohibetur ex directo, prohibetur et per obliquum (the "Maxim of Indirect Prohibition"), which dictates that whatever is prohibited by law to be done directly cannot legally be effectuated by an indirect and circuitous contrivance. In the present instance, the state is strictly prohibited from circumventing the Jordan framework or withholding the charging instrument once sworn. The use of an administrative interregnum to delay the commencement of the judicial clock is a mere device to carry into effect that which the legislature and the Charter have declared shall not be done. It is the duty of the court to brush away the "cobweb varnish" of fictitious administrative regularities to reveal the true light of the transaction: a deliberate shielding of the prosecution from judicial scrutiny.

140. Moreover, the Doctrine of Colorable Compliance suggests that where the state purports to follow a legal process (such as swearing an Information) but fails to complete the essential jurisdictional steps (filing with the registry), it has engaged in a form of procedural charade. As per British Columbia (Attorney General) v. Lafarge Canada Inc., 2007 SCC 23, the court must look to the "pith and substance" of the state's actions. Here, the pith and substance is an extra-judicial detention of a charging document, which constitutes a fundamental jurisdictional defect. A supplementary non-obvious constitutional theory must be recognized regarding the underlying liberty interests traditionally safeguarded by the writ of habeas corpus. In R. v. Myers, 2019 SCC 18 at para 24, [2019] 2 SCR 105, 372 CCC (3d) 1 (Myers), the Supreme Court of Canada mandated rigorous, timely judicial oversight of all pretrial matters to protect fundamental liberties. While the accused herein was not physically incarcerated during the unmonitored six-week epoch, the pending, unfiled Information functioned as an invisible restraint upon liberty and a cloud of legal jeopardy. The failure to docket the matter shielded it from judicial purview, entirely frustrating the constitutional right to make full answer and defense in limine and denying the opportunity for preliminary judicial intercession or the challenging of the state's authority to proceed. Consequently, any anticipated defense advanced by the state, characterizing the delay as being safely encompassed within the broader judicial system, is posited to be prima facie invalid. To permit such procedural anomalies to proceed unchecked risks embedding unconstitutional practices into the jurisprudence under the guise of res judicata through institutional acquiescence. The restoration of the status quo ante undeniably demands the classification of this unmonitored epoch as an unjustified, unconstitutional usurpation of the judicial process by law enforcement authorities—a usurpation which fundamentally and irreparably vitiates the procedural foundation of the prosecution, thereby demanding a stay of proceedings as the only efficacious remedy to preserve the integrity of the court.

ISSUE 3: SPOLIATION AND THE ALTERATION OF SWORN INSTRUMENTS

ISSUE #3(A): FORMULATION OF THE LEGAL ISSUE

141. Whether the physical extirpation, unauthorized substitution, and material vitiation of the sworn components of an information (the "Information") by instrumentalities of the state manifest actionable spoliation, ipso facto rendering the foundational charging instrument an unsworn legal nullity bereft of the capacity to sustain prosecutorial proceedings.

ISSUE #3(B): CATEGORICAL RESOLUTION AND CONSTITUTIONAL IMPERATIVES

142. It is respectfully submitted that the premeditated extraction and subsequent circumvention of the original jurat (the "Jurat") alongside the substantive count enumerations following the administration of the oath instantiate profound and deliberate spoliation. Such flagrant administrative malfeasance irreversibly renders the Information void ab initio, stripping the tribunal of jurisdiction in limine and ensuring that any prosecutorial machinations predicated upon said document are strictly ultra vires. The integrity of the judicial process is not a mere aspirational 5788 standard but a mandatory requirement; where the state unilaterally alters the acta of the court, the very foundation of the rule of law is eroded.

143. This conclusion is reinforced by the ancient and fundamental principle of the English and Canadian constitutions that Rex non potest peccare (the "King Can Do No Wrong Maxim"). As articulated in 2 Rolle Rep 304, while the sovereign is personally independent of earthly jurisdiction, this maxim does not facilitate the elevation of the Crown above the laws in an unconfined sense. Rather, the prerogative of the Crown is created solely for the benefit of the people and cannot be exerted to their prejudice. Consequently, it is an immutable general rule that the Crown cannot sanction an act forbidden by law; the sovereign is bound by the law equally with the subject, for the law is the highest inheritance that the King hath.

144. Where a lawless act is perpetrated by the agents of the sovereign—such as the unauthorized alteration of a sworn instrument—the offence of the instrument is not indemnified. Although the Crown is not subject to the coercive power of the law, the commands of the state remain under the directive power of the law, which renders the act itself invalid if unlawful. In the present instance, the agents of the sovereign are civilly and criminally answerable for the lawless acts of spoliation committed during the processing of the Information. The Crown's power is a "fiduciary" power, held in trust for the public; when state agents engage in the physical manipulation of sworn documents, they breach this sacred trust and act outside the scope of any legitimate authority.

145. Furthermore, the Crown is deemed incapable not only of doing wrong but of thinking wrong. Whenever the Crown is induced to invade the private rights of a subject through misinformation or inadvertence—as by the filing of a spoliated and fabricated charging document—the law presumes that eadem mens praesumitur Regis quae est juris et quae esse debet praesertim in dubiis (the mind of the King is presumed to be the same as that of the law). The law declares that the King was deceived in his grant; thus, the proceedings become void upon the supposition of deception by those agents whom the Crown has thought proper to employ. It is a fundamental tenet that the Crown cannot dispense with anything in which the subject has an interest, nor can it make a grant in violation of the common law.

146. In brief, the Crown cannot, in derogation of the rights of the public, unduly fetter the exercise of the prerogative or dispense with anything in which the subject has an interest. The Crown lacks the authority to make a grant in violation of the common law or injurious to vested rights, such as the right to a validly sworn Information. While the sovereign is personally incapable of wrongdoing, the specific acts of state agents that are contrary to law must, on that account, be set aside by the operation of law. To permit the prosecution to proceed on a vitiated instrument would be to sanction a de facto suspension of the law, a power the Crown has not possessed since the Bill of Rights 1689.

ISSUE #3(C):DOCTRINAL ANALYSIS AND EXTRAPOLATION OF LEGAL PRINCIPLES

147. The intentional obliteration, obfuscation, or substantive adulteration of paramount judicial documentation intimately engages the formidable evidentiary doctrine of omnia praesumuntur contra spoliatorem (all things are presumed against a wrongdoer). It is advanced that the physical severance of the originally sworn counts, which were unequivocally presented to the authorizing jurist during an Ex Parte swearing process, and their subsequent unauthorized replacement with fabricated endorsements antecedent to formal filing, comprehensively fractures the absolute and sacrosanct chain of custody requisite for a valid oath. This is not merely an evidentiary presumption but a substantive barrier to prosecution; once the original acta are destroyed, the court is left with a mere facsimile of a legal instrument, devoid of its original spiritual and legal potency.

148. Pursuant to the strictures governing documentary integrity delineated within the Criminal Proceedings Rules for the Superior Court of Justice (Ontario), the acta of the tribunal must remain inviolate. The intentional tampering with a sworn instrument constitutes a prima facie abrogation of foundational procedural fairness, rendering it a jurisdictional impossibility to restore the status quo ante. The actus reus of disassembling a sworn court document is compounded by the undeniable inference that such actions were undertaken knowingly, satisfying the requirement of scienter in the context of state misconduct. The resultant documentary void is a matter of res ipsa loquitur; the defaced Information speaks for itself as an inoperative instrument. The existence of a valid, unaltered oath is the absolute sine qua non for the invocation of criminal jurisdiction.

ISSUE #3(D):PROPHYLACTIC REBUTTAL TO ANTICIPATED PROSECUTORIAL AND JUDICIAL COUNTER-ARGUMENTS

149. Anticipation must be afforded to the prosecutorial postulate, conceivably adopted by a presiding jurist assessing the administrative reality of high-volume dockets, that the substituted folios functioned merely as innocuous intake court endorsements (the "Intake Court Endorsements"). It may be hypothesized that these endorsements were deployed exclusively for internal docket administration, and therefore, such modifications ostensibly do not substantively vitiate the underlying criminal allegations nor exact a tangible prejudice upon the accused's ability to mount a defense. This "administrative convenience" argument is a dangerous fallacy that invites the court to prioritize bureaucratic efficiency over the constitutional requirement of a sworn oath.

150. Furthermore, the Crown may argue that the accused lacks "standing" to complain of administrative alterations that do not impact the actus reus of the alleged offence. This is a flawed syllogism; the accused has a vested interest in the legality of the process that brings them before the court. To suggest otherwise is to ignore the principle of caveat emptor—the court must not "buy" a prosecution from the state without verifying the quality and legality of the charging instrument. Notwithstanding such prognostications, this defensive paradigm is factually incongruent with the immutable physical record and remains legally untenable. The actual Jurat—the signature apparatus effectuating the strict penalty of perjury—was affirmatively extirpated. This is not a bona fide administrative clericalism; it is an active destruction of the jurisdictional foundation. An Information bereft of its original, authenticated Jurat is, ex facie, a fundamentally unsworn instrument.

151. Furthermore, it might be postulated by adversarial counsel that statutory remedial mechanisms, specifically the curative provisions enumerated within the federal statute governing criminal offences (the "Criminal Code"), specifically section 601, could be operationalized to rectify such documentary deficiencies. Such an assertion reflects a fundamental misapprehension of statutory interpretation and the limits of judicial curative authority. Curative provisions are legislatively engineered to amend defects in form or substance within an otherwise legally existent and validly sworn instrument. They do not possess the retrospective alchemy required to resuscitate an artifact that is a nullity ab initio.

152. To apply section 601 to a document that has been physically altered post-oath would be to permit the Crown to bootstrap itself into jurisdiction through its own misconduct. A statutorily mandated oath cannot be retroactively manufactured through the guise of an ex post facto amendment where the physical instrument itself has been subjected to deliberate state spoliation. An unsworn document cannot be transformed into a de jure charging instrument through mere de facto acquiescence by the Crown. As established in R. v. Moore, [1988] 1 SCR 1097, the court's power to amend is not infinite; it cannot cure a defect that goes to the very existence of the document as a legal entity.

ISSUE #3(E):NON-OBVIOUS LEGAL THEORIES: CONSTRUCTIVE FRAUD AND ABUS DE DROIT

153. Beyond the traditional paradigms of procedural irregularity, the deliberate alteration of the Information must be conceptualized as a constructive fraud upon the tribunal. When instrumentalities of the state proffer an altered document to a presiding justice, representing it implicitly as the pristine instrument originally sworn, the adjudicative process itself is corrupted. This theoretical extrapolation posits that such spoliation deprives the court of subject-matter jurisdiction. Without the original Jurat, the adjudicator is rendered functionally incapable of verifying that the strict, statutory prerequisites for issuing process were lawfully satisfied. The court is, in effect, being asked to adjudicate upon a fiction.

154. This is further supported by the theory of Abus de Droit (the "Abuse of Right Theory"). While the state has a "right" to manage its internal files, this right cannot be exercised in a manner that defeats the purpose of the law or causes injury to the subject. By prioritizing internal workflow over documentary integrity, the state has committed an ultra vires act. This "Jurisdictional Annihilation" theory suggests that the court's power to hear the case is not merely suspended but is entirely extinguished. If the document that purports to grant the court power is a fraudulent substitution, then every order made pursuant to that document is coram non judice (before one not a judge).

ISSUE #3(F):JURISPRUDENTIAL INTEGRATION AND ABUSE OF PROCESS

5790 155. The doctrinal framework enunciated in R. v. Babos, 2014 SCC 16 at para 35 (the "Babos Decision") establishes unequivocally that in circumstances wherein state conduct fundamentally eviscerates the integrity of the justice system, a stay of proceedings remains the singular appropriate juridical remedy. In applying the strict ratio decidendi of the Babos Decision to the present factual matrix, it becomes self-evident that the deliberate defacement of the Information transcends mere procedural irregularity. The prejudice inflicted upon the systemic integrity of the judicial apparatus is of such severe magnitude that it remains entirely impervious to remediation via trial directions or curative statutory mechanisms.

156. The overarching societal interest in proceeding on the merits is entirely eclipsed by the egregious character of the state's misconduct. Furthermore, the principles in Canada (Minister of Citizenship and Immigration) v. Tobiass, [1997] 3 SCR 391 at para 89 (the "Tobiass Decision") reinforce the imperative that prosecutorial conduct must not descend into an abuse of process. The situation at bar is entirely sui generis; the physical fabrication and spoliation of sworn evidence directly activate the residual category of abuse of process outlined in the Babos Decision.

157. Such spoliation constitutes an overt affront to the rule of law and the principle of stare decisis, mandating an immediate and uncompromising stay of proceedings. To allow the state to proceed would be to send a message that the physical integrity of court records is optional. This court must act as the ultimate bulwark against such executive overreach, ensuring that the status quo ante of documentary inviolability is maintained.

ISSUE 4: STATUTORY TIMELINES AND DELIBERATE OBFUSCATION

ISSUE #4(A): THE ISSUE

158. The primary question before this Honourable Court is whether the state agents deliberately exploited the temporal latitude provided under section 505 of the Criminal Code, RSC 1985, c C-46 (the "Criminal Code") to intentionally withhold the information (the "Information") from the public court record, thereby facilitating the unauthorized physical alteration of the documentation in absolute secrecy.

159. Furthermore, the Court must determine if the utilization of a statutory provision as a "procedural cloister" to allow for the clandestine modification of evidence constitutes an ultra vires exercise of executive power—an act performed beyond the legal authority of the state—that necessitates a stay of proceedings or the quashing of the Information to maintain the integrity of the administration of justice.

160. Central to this inquiry is whether the state's conduct constitutes a "fraud upon the court," wherein the formal mechanisms of the Ontario Court of Justice were manipulated to present a sanitized, retrospective version of events, thereby depriving the Applicant of the right to a contemporaneous and immutable judicial record.

ISSUE #4(B): THE RULE

161. Section 505 of the Criminal Code mandates that an information must be laid "as soon as practicable" (the "Practicability Standard") and, in any event, "before the time stated" (the "Temporal Limit") in the appearance notice or summons. The Practicability Standard is not a discretionary suggestion or a mere administrative guideline; it is a mandatory directive requiring all due celerity to ensure immediate judicial oversight of the executive branch and to prevent the unauthorized retention of documents in a state of jurisdictional limbo.

162. The doctrine of abuse of process, as articulated in R v Nixon, 2011 SCC 34, 2011 CSC 34 (the "Nixon Decision"), dictates that state conduct must satisfy the requirements of fundamental justice under section 7 of the Canadian Charter of Rights and Freedoms (the "Charter"). Where state conduct is so oppressive or represents such a departure from standard practices that it tarnishes the integrity of the judicial system, the residual category of abuse of process applies, as established in R v Babos, 2014 SCC 16, 2014 CSC 16 (the "Babos Doctrine").

163. The Supreme Court of Canada in R v Chabot, [1980] 2 SCR 985, 1980 CanLII 174 (SCC) (the "Chabot Decision") emphasized that the Criminal Code must be interpreted in a manner that protects the liberty of the subject and ensures that the state does not hold documents in abeyance (the "State of Suspension") for the purpose of refining, altering, or otherwise rehabilitating their content. Furthermore, the prima facie breach of the duty of disclosure—evidence sufficient to prove a case unless rebutted—and the principle of contemporaneous documentation are governed by the standards set forth in R v Stinchcombe, [1991] 3 SCR 326, 1991 CanLII 45 (SCC).

5794 164. Additional weight is provided by the maxim omnia praesumuntur rite et solemniter esse acta (the "Presumption of Regularity"), which is rebutted herein by the manifest evidence of physical manipulation. The state also bears a duty of candour, requiring total honesty in its dealings with the court, consistent with the principle of uberrima fides (the "Utmost Good Faith").

ISSUE #4(C): THE ANALYSIS

The Misapplication of Statutory Discretion and Executive Bad Faith

165. It is respectfully submitted that the conduct of the state agents herein represents a profound and irremediable departure from the status quo ante of constitutional regularity. The delay spanning from the precipitating arrest on October 2 to the scheduled first appearance on November 13 (the "Delay Period") served no legitimate administrative purpose or logistical necessity. Instead, the Delay Period was a manufactured interval designed explicitly to facilitate a documentary transformation and the coordination of a false narrative that would have been immediately detectable under standard, prompt filing protocols.

166. The Crown may assert, relying upon a rigidly textualist and hyper-literal interpretation, that filing the document mere moments prior to the calling of the docket on the first appearance strictly satisfies the outer chronological bounds of the legislation. They will likely argue that the Temporal Limit establishes a hard mathematical deadline which, having been met, ipso facto—by that very fact—nullifies any procedural complaint regarding delay. They may further posit that administrative backlogs or the inherent complexity of the investigation justify the exhaustion of the statutory period to its absolute limit.

167. However, this formalistic defense entirely ignores the substantive, overarching equitable doctrine of abuse of process and the constitutional imperative for transparency. The Practicability Standard must be measured against the objective ability to file; where the state possesses the capacity to file but chooses to wait for strategic advantage or to facilitate document alteration, the law is violated. A "mathematical deadline" cannot serve as a sanctuary for state-sanctioned fraud or the intentional evasion of the administrative audits that naturally occur during the intake process at the court registry.

ISSUE #4(E):THE THEORY OF STRATEGIC OBFUSCATION AND THE "SHADOW DOCKET"

168. The deliberate creation of a jurisdictional vacuum between the moment of arrest and the formal entry of the matter into the judicial record constitutes a strategic obfuscation (the "Strategic Obfuscation"). This interregnum (the "Interregnum") allowed for a "shadow docket" to exist—a state of affairs where the version of the Information presented to the Applicant at the time of arrest was systematically and clandestinely replaced by a version more favorable to the prosecution's evolving narrative.

169. Such conduct is acta—acts or deeds—that undermine the very foundation of the judicial registry and the principle of consensus ad idem (the "Meeting of the Minds") regarding the charges laid. The manufactured, deliberate temporal void provided the precise, unmonitored opportunity required by state agents to execute physical page-swapping and substitute magisterial signatures without detection. Any argument by the Crown that such irregularities are de minimis—too minor to merit attention—must be countered by the principle that some breaches are so fundamental to the integrity of the system that prejudice is presumed juris et de jure (the "Presumption of Law").

ISSUE #4(F):THE DOCTRINE OF LEGITIMATE EXPECTATIONS AND PROCEDURAL FAIRNESS

170. A non-obvious legal theory applicable here is the doctrine of legitimate expectations (the "Legitimate Expectations"). By establishing standard police practices for the prompt filing of informations, the state has created a procedural expectation that the Practicability Standard will be honored. A sudden and unexplained departure from this standard, coupled with evidence of document manipulation, constitutes a breach of procedural fairness and the principle of audi alteram partem (the "Right to be Heard").

171. The Applicant was entitled to a process following established norms, and the state's deviation for the purpose of obfuscation is a violation of the principles of fundamental justice. When the state departs from its own 5792 established procedures to gain a tactical advantage, it violates the doctrine of estoppel and the duty to act in bona fide (the "Good Faith") toward the accused and the court.

ISSUE #4(G): THE "FRUITS OF THE POISONED TREE" PROCEDURAL ANALOGUE

172. While typically applied to physical evidence obtained through an unlawful search, the "Fruits of the Poisoned Tree" doctrine should be extrapolated to the procedural record. If the Information itself is a product of an illegal and unconstitutional Delay Period designed to facilitate fraud, then all subsequent judicial actions based on that Information are similarly tainted. This is not a case of correcting a clerical error; it is a case of substantive, unauthorized amendment that poisons the entire stream of the prosecution in limine—at the very outset.

173. The prosecution may attempt to minimize this by suggesting that no "actual prejudice" was suffered in the preparation of the defense. This argument is anemic; the prejudice is found in the subversion of the public record itself and the deprivation of the Applicant's right to a contemporaneous record. As held in R v Bjelland, 2009 SCC 38, 2009 CSC 38, the court has a duty to stay proceedings where the state's failure to comply with procedural norms threatens the system's integrity. To hold otherwise would be to allow the state to profit from its own dishonorable cause, violating the maxim ex turpi causa non oritur actio—no action arises from an immoral cause.

174. Did the Crown do so? The question answers itself.

175. It is why it is merely the Executive Branch and Judicial Branch Documents, where an accused is so entitled, are nearly all that is needed.

ISSUE #4(H):THE CONCLUSION

176. It is therefore concluded that the Delay Period was not a passive lapse, an administrative necessity, or a product of logistical friction, but rather an active tool of obfuscation and a deliberate mechanism of deception, necessitating the intervention of this Honourable Court to preserve the sanctity of the judicial record. The resulting documentation, having been birthed in secrecy and altered without authority, is void ab initio—void from the beginning—and cannot support a valid exercise of jurisdiction by any court.

177. The state has fundamentally breached the social contract by utilizing its statutory powers to mislead the judicial branch and deny the Applicant the protection of a contemporaneous record. Justice must not only be done but must be seen to be done, as the principle of fiat justitia ruat caelum—let justice be done though the heavens fall—requires that the court prioritize the integrity of its own process over the convenience of the prosecution.

178. Consequently, the quashing of the Information is the only remedial imperative consistent with the Rule of Law and the preservation of judicial integrity. A failure to grant this remedy would signal to state agents that the Statutory Timeline is not a deadline for compliance, but a license for manipulation, thereby rendering the protections of the Charter a mere hollow promise.

ISSUE 5: ELECTRONICALLY SUBMITTED INFORMATION, TELEWARRANTS, AND THE WITHHOLDING OF THE MASTER RECORD

ISSUE #5(A): ISSUE

179. The primary question for adjudication is whether the Superior Court of Justice (the "Court") is legally mandated, by virtue of its ontological status as a paramount court of record, to retain and produce the original signed arrest warrant (the "Warrant") or its definitive electronic equivalent. Furthermore, this Court must determine whether the absolute and inexplicable absence of such documentation from the registry necessitates a finding of jurisdictional vitiation, or alternatively, implies a deliberate act of institutional concealment intended to shield a disqualifying conflict of interest from judicial scrutiny.

180. This inquiry extends to the implications of a "nil" result within the registry for a process that purportedly authorized a severe deprivation of liberty. Specifically, the Court must decide if the state can rely on a "Jurisprudence of the Invisible" where the citizen is bound by coercive instruments that the state itself cannot locate, produce, or verify. The resolution of this issue strikes at the very heart of the "Social Contract of Documentation," wherein the legitimacy of judicial power is inextricably linked to the transparency of its exercise.

ISSUE #5(B): RULE

181. The status of a superior court as a court of record is not a mere administrative designation but an inherent constitutional attribute. As elucidated in Reference re Residential Tenancies Act (Ontario), [1981] 1 SCR 714, at para 73, the jurisdiction of such a tribunal is tethered to the permanence and transparency of its decrees. This necessitates the maintenance of a master record (the "Master Record") that serves as a perpetual memorial and testimony of judicial acts. Historically, as established in Blackstone's Commentaries on the Laws of England, the record of a superior court is of such "high and supereminent authority" that its truth is not to be questioned; yet, the absence of such a record implies the dissolution of the court's character as a judicial body.

182. Regarding coercive processes authorized via telecommunication, section 508.1 of the Criminal Code, R.S.C., 1985, c. C-46 (the "Code") dictates a rigorous technological protocol (the "Electronic Protocol"). This Electronic Protocol requires that the issuing justice certify the date, time, and place of issuance and ensures that the Warrant be filed with the clerk of the court "as soon as practicable." This statutory pathway for electronic authorization does not grant a license for administrative amnesia; rather, the digital nature of the record enhances the obligation for its auditable preservation.

183. In R v P(J), 2013 ONCA 537 (R v P(J)), at para 14, the Ontario Court of Appeal determined that the absence of the originating document—in that instance, a sworn Information—at the time judicial power is exercised constitutes a "fatal jurisdictional defect" (the "Jurisdictional Defect"). This defect is not a "procedural irregularity" capable of cure but a nullity that vitiates the legality of the ensuing state action. Jurisdiction is not an abstract quality of an office but a power activated and sustained by documentation; when the documentation is omitted, the jurisdiction is retroactively vitiated.

184. Furthermore, the common law invokes the maxim omnia praesumuntur contra spoliatorem (every presumption is made against the party who fails to produce evidence) when the state, possessing exclusive control over the Master Record, fails to produce the authorizing instrument for a deprivation of liberty. This must be balanced against section 9 of the Canadian Charter of Rights and Freedoms (the "Charter"), which prohibits arbitrary detention. In R v Kelsy, 2011 ONCA 605, the court emphasized that the integrity of the judicial record is fundamental to the appearance of justice, and its absence constitutes a breach of the "Doctrine of Narrative Integrity."

ISSUE #5(C): ANALYSIS

The Ontological Requirement and the Social Contract of Documentation

185. It is submitted that the Ontological Requirement of a court of record functions as the primary safeguard against the exercise of "secret law." The record is the only objective evidence of the "Judicial Mind" at the moment of authorization. Without the physical or electronic manifestation of this mind, the state's actions descend into mere executive fiat, lacking the requisite ratio decidendi that distinguishes lawful authority from arbitrary coercion. The Court cannot function as a "Black Box" where inputs result in liberty deprivations without a visible, auditable process. The failure to produce the Warrant constitutes a breach of the "Social Contract of Documentation" (the "Documentation Contract"). The citizen's submission to the Judicial Power is predicated upon the state's reciprocal duty to maintain a transparent and auditable account of its justifications. When the state produces a "nil" result for an event of such profound constitutional magnitude, the Documentation Contract is shattered. In such a vacuum, the state loses its moral and legal standing to enforce the outcomes of the undocumented process, as there is no proof that the "Consensus Ad Idem" between the law and the specific facts ever occurred.

ISSUE #5(D): EMBEDDED REBUTTAL: THE ADMINISTRATIVE ANOMALY AND DEPARTMENTAL SILOS

186. It is anticipated that opposing counsel may posited that the specialized family registry (the "Family Registry"), being unaccustomed to the rigours of criminal filings, committed a benign clerical error (the "Administrative Anomaly"). This contention must be rejected in limine. The Court is a unitary institution; its 5794 internal departmentalization cannot serve as a jurisdictional shield. To suggest that the Court can lose its memory because it changed floors or registries is to suggest that the Charter is subject to the limitations of a floor plan.

187. Institutional incompetence does not, and cannot, cure a fundamental constitutional breach. A "departmental silo" is not a constitutional sanctuary. If one branch of the Court authorizes a liberty deprivation, the Master Record must be available regardless of the filing system utilized. To hold otherwise would allow the state to insulate itself from scrutiny through deliberate administrative fragmentation, a strategy of "Strategic Disorganization" that is antithetical to the rule of law.

Telewarrants and the Epistemic Failure of the State

188. Whether the authorization was conducted in camera or facilitated via telecommunication, the Electronic Protocol under section 508.1 of the Code is non-derogable. The digital nature of the record enhances the obligation for its auditable preservation, as electronic systems are designed for metadata tracking and permanent storage. The absence of a certified endorsement indicates a failure to comply with the Code, stripping the authorization of its legislative protection and rendering it ultra vires.

189. This represents an "Epistemic Failure" (the "Epistemic Failure") of the state; it cannot simultaneously claim the power to arrest while professing ignorance regarding the source of that power. This "Epistemic Injustice" prevents the applicant from formulating a proper defense, as the basis of the state's action is withheld. The state cannot benefit from an "Evidence Vacuum" of its own creation to defeat a constitutional challenge.

Embedded Rebuttal: The De Facto Officer Doctrine

190. Opposing counsel might creatively, but falsely at law, invoke the "De Facto Officer Doctrine" (the "De Facto Doctrine") to argue that the officers acted on a prima facie valid command. This extrapolation is misplaced. The De Facto Doctrine is intended to protect the finality of proceedings from technical defects in an official's appointment, not to bypass the requirement for the very existence of a judicial warrant. One cannot act under the "colour of authority" when the very source of that authority is invisible to the court of record.

191. To allow the De Facto Doctrine to insulate the state here would be to sanction a "Jurisprudence of the Invisible." One cannot breathe life into a document that, ipso facto, does not exist within the court's own consciousness. If the Court has no record of the Warrant, then the officers were acting not under a valid command, but under a hallucination of authority that lacks any grounding in the Master Record.

Inferences of Strategic Loss and Institutional Bad Faith

192. The absolute deprivation of the Master Record creates a "Narrative Rupture" that invalidates the state's claim to legality. When an institution explicitly designed for record retention produces "nil" evidence, the legal conclusion must be that the documentation was either never lawfully executed or was deliberately suppressed—a "Strategic Loss" (the "Strategic Loss") intended to prevent the discovery of a disqualifying conflict of interest.

193. Pursuant to the bad faith doctrine (the "Bad Faith Doctrine"), where the state controls the evidence of its own authority and fails to produce it, an adverse inference of constitutional misconduct is mandatory. The Court must adhere to the principle falsus in uno, falsus in omnibus; if the registry's assertions regarding the existence of the Warrant are false, the entirety of the administrative narrative regarding the detention is rendered suspect. The registry's failure to initiate a "Lost Record Protocol" suggests a deliberate choice to rely on the absence of evidence as evidence of absence.

ISSUE #5(E): CONCLUSION

194. Consequently, the Court is moved to find that the absence of the Master Record is a "fatal jurisdictional defect" that renders the Warrant and the ensuing arrest void ab initio. The state's reliance on the Administrative Anomaly and the De Facto Doctrine fails to satisfy the rigorous requirements of a court of record. The absolute, confirmed deprivation of the master record from the originating court fatally undermines the lawful, objective authority of the ensuing arrest.

5795 195. To preserve the repute of the administration of justice, the Court must prioritize the restoration of constitutional order over administrative convenience. The detention must be declared a nullity, and the authority purportedly exercised must be deemed to have been retroactively vitiated by the "Constitutional Vacuum" created by the state. The Court must declare that justice shall be done though the heavens fall—fiat justitia ruat caelum. A "nil" search result in a court of record is not a clerical error; it is a jurisdictional catastrophe.

ISSUE #6: THE ANATOMY OF FORM 2 AND THE CONSPICUOUS ABSENCE OF THE MANDATORY JUDICIAL COMMAND

ISSUE #6(A): THE ISSUE

196. The central query presented for the consideration of this Honourable Court is whether the administrative package designated as a Form 2 Information (the "Form 2 Information") possesses the requisite legal potency to function as a valid instrument of arrest, or whether the persistent and confirmed absence of a distinct, statutorily compliant Form 7 Arrest Warrant (the "Form 7 Arrest Warrant") renders the physical apprehension and subsequent detention of the accused ab initio unlawful and unequivocally arbitrary.

197. This inquiry necessitates a rigorous examination of the distinction between the state's power to initiate a criminal prosecution and its separate, delegated power to seize the person. Specifically, the Court must determine if the mere existence of a charging instrument—which is essentially an allegation of wrongdoing—can be conflated with a judicial command to deprive an individual of their liberty. If the Form 7 Arrest Warrant is found to be a mandatory prerequisite that was never satisfied, the consequences for the legality of the arrest are terminal, necessitating a remedy that addresses the resulting constitutional vacuum.

ISSUE #6(B): THE RULE

198. The statutory architecture of the Criminal Code, RSC 1985, c C-46 (the "Criminal Code") establishes a rigorous and immutable bifurcation between the commencement of a prosecution and the authorization of coercive state power. Under section 504 and section 507, the Form 2 Information serves as the foundational charging document—a repository of factual allegations sworn under oath by an informant. It is the procedural vehicle that confers jurisdiction upon the court over the subject matter of the offence; however, it is inherently devoid of the authority to compel the attendance of the accused through physical force.

199. Conversely, section 511 and section 512 delineate the specific requirements for a Form 7 Arrest Warrant, which constitutes a unique judicial mandate. This instrument is directed to peace officers, commanding them to deprive a subject of their liberty and bring them before a justice. Unlike the Form 2 Information, which reflects the state's intent to prosecute, the Form 7 Arrest Warrant reflects a judicial determination that an arrest is necessary in the public interest. The requirements for the form and substance of this warrant are not mere suggestions but are mandatory conditions precedent to the lawful exercise of the state's most intrusive power. The principle of legality dictates that any interference with the status quo ante of a citizen's liberty must be supported by clear, unambiguous, and physical documentation that is accessible for inspection. As articulated in R v Storrey, [1990] 1 SCR 241 (the "Storrey Decision"), an arrest is only lawful if the arresting officer possesses both a subjective and an objective basis for the apprehension. An officer's belief in their authority is insufficient if that authority does not objectively exist in a valid legal instrument. Furthermore, R v Grant, 2009 SCC 32 (the "Grant Decision") reinforces that a detention lacking valid legal authority is ipso facto arbitrary under section 9 of the Canadian Charter of Rights and Freedoms (the "Charter").

ISSUE #6(C): THE ANALYSIS

The Juridical Distinction Between Accusation and Authorization

200. It is respectfully submitted that the Crown's reliance upon the Form 2 Information as a surrogate for a warrant constitutes a profound misunderstanding of the Criminal Code and a dangerous erosion of the separation 5796 of powers. The Form 2 Information is the sine qua non for the initiation of proceedings, yet it possesses no inherent authority to effectuate a seizure of the person. This distinction is a deliberate legislative safeguard designed to ensure that the power to accuse remains decoupled from the power to detain. To conflate these two instruments is to engage in a form of "judicial alchemy" that is ultra vires the powers granted to the state, effectively transforming a mere allegation into a final judgment of detention.

201. Furthermore, the Form 7 Arrest Warrant serves a vital notification function. It is the document that tells the accused why their liberty is being abridged and by whose authority. Without the physical manifestation of this command, the accused is left in a state of legal uncertainty, unable to verify the lawfulness of the peace officers' actions. This lack of transparency is inimical to a free and democratic society, where the exercise of state power must always be anchored in a visible and verifiable legal mandate.

ii. Rebuttal to the Doctrine of Administrative Regularity

202. It is anticipated that the state may invoke the doctrine of administrative regularity, suggesting that a notation such as "Warrant 1st" on a tracking sheet implicitly authorizes the arrest and that the formal document is a mere formality. This syllogism is fatally flawed and historically rejected. Canadian jurisprudence recognizes no such construct as an "implied warrant." A warrant must be a physical entity capable of being produced, inspected, and returned to the court. To permit the state to rely on "ghost warrants"—intentions that were never formalized—would be to allow the state to exercise power in a legal void.

203. Opposing counsel may further argue "substantial compliance," positing that because a justice intended to issue a warrant, the absence of the actual paperwork is a "technicality" that does not prejudice the accused. However, in the context of criminal law where habeas corpus is at stake, the Rules of Civil Procedure and the Rules of the Ontario Superior Court of Justice (Divisional Court) demand strictissimi juris. "Substantial compliance" is a doctrine suitable for administrative trifles or civil service of process; it is entirely inapplicable to the deprivation of human liberty. The law does not permit the state to be "approximately" lawful when it is seizing a citizen.

ISSUE #6(D): THE MECHANICS OF JUDICIAL OVERSIGHT AND THE MISSING RETURN

204. A critical, yet frequently overlooked, component of the warrant process is the requirement for a "return" to the court. Pursuant to the Criminal Code, an executed Form 7 Arrest Warrant must be brought back before a justice to close the "judicial circle," confirming that the command has been fulfilled in accordance with its terms. The total and confirmed absence of the warrant from the institutional record confirms that no such return ever occurred. This creates a permanent lacuna in the judicial history, precluding the court from verifying if the arresting officers stayed within the four corners of their purported (but non-existent) authorization.

205. The lack of a return is conclusive evidence of a failure in the state's fiduciary duty to the court. Without the document, the onus probandi remains unsatisfied; the state cannot prove the time, place, or conditions of the arrest. This failure is not a victimless procedural lapse; it prevents the accused from challenging whether the arrest was executed in a manner that complied with the Charter. Consequently, the state is asking this Honourable Court to validate a sequence of events that began with a legal nullity and ended with a total lack of accountability.

ISSUE #6(E): THE CONSTITUTIONAL IMPACT OF "JUSTICE BY CHECKBOX"

206. The reliance on checkboxes or tracking sheets to authorize arrests represents a descent into "justice by checkbox," where administrative convenience is prioritized over constitutional rigor. If the Court condones the arrest of a citizen based on an administrative notation rather than a formal Form 7 Arrest Warrant, it signals to the executive branch that procedural safeguards are optional. This creates a perverse incentive for the police to act first and seek justification later, undermining the very purpose of judicial oversight.

207. This administrative negligence also offends the principle of habeas corpus, as it leaves the subject of the arrest with no document to challenge in a court of law. A "noted" intent to issue a warrant cannot be the subject of a certiorari application or a stay motion in the same way a physical document can. By failing to create the warrant, the state has effectively insulated its conduct from meaningful judicial review, further compounding the arbitrariness of the detention.

5797 ISSUE #6(F): APPLICATION OF THE LAW TO THE FACTS

208. In applying the Storrey Decision, it is evident that while the arresting officers may have subjectively believed they were authorized to act—perhaps misled by the "Warrant 1st" notation—that belief lacked an objective foundation in law. In the absence of a physical Form 7 Arrest Warrant, the detention was ipso facto arbitrary under the Grant Decision. This is not a de minimis error or a "good faith" mistake; it is a substantive defect that vitiates the jurisdiction of the court over the person.

209. The state's failure to provide the document upon request constitutes a breach of the audi alteram partem principle, as the accused was never properly informed of the legal basis for his seizure. If the state is permitted to seize individuals without a warrant, the protections of section 9 of the Charter become mere "parchment barriers," easily circumvented by clerical negligence. The integrity of the administration of justice demands that the state be held to the highest standards when it seeks to interfere with the liberty of the subject.

ISSUE #6(G): THE CONCLUSION

210. In view of the foregoing, it is concluded that the Form 2 Information cannot, as a matter of law, serve as a substitute for a Form 7 Arrest Warrant. The failure to generate, execute, and file the mandatory judicial command renders the arrest a nullity and the subsequent detention an ongoing constitutional violation. The only appropriate remedy to restore the status quo ante is an immediate stay of proceedings or the exclusion of all derivative evidence pursuant to section 24(2) of the Charter. To admit evidence obtained through such lawless state conduct would be to signal that the court condones the exercise of power in the absence of law, thereby bringing the administration of justice into disrepute. Justice must be done though the heavens fall—fiat justitia ruat caelum

ISSUE #7: CIRCUMVENTION OF THE CRIMINAL E-INTAKE PORTAL, BENCH HUNTING AND FORUM SHOPPING FOR ABUSIVE UNDERLYING REASONS

ISSUE #7(A): ISSUE

211. Whether the intentional circumvention of the specialized criminal intake tribunal (Criminal E-Intake Portal) of the Ontario Court of Justice in favor of an Ex Parte application for a localized criminal warrant (the "Warrant Application") and perhaps other warrants under the Criminal Code section 487.1, before a jurist of the Superior Court of Justice—whose primary judicial assignment and expertise are restricted to family law matters, who was also the "family law team leader" at SCJ 361 University Courthouse, and who possesses a documented prior adversarial position to the subject's spouse and consequently the Applicant culminating in a divorce and settlement agreement between the Epstein Cole LLP Client and Ms. Nicole Artopoulos which had a clause of no direct or indirect contact—constitutes a tactical deployment of judicial forum shopping (the "Forum Shopping"). Specifically, whether the selection of a jurist who previously acted as legal counsel for a party (the "Epstein Cole LLP Client") in a high-conflict matter against the Applicant's long-term spouse (the "Adversarial Position"), coupled with the strategic avoidance of the criminal intake portal, represents a "colorable exercise of power" and a residual category of abuse of process that violates the principles of fundamental justice under section 7 of the Canadian Charter of Rights and Freedoms (the "Charter").

ISSUE #7(B): RULE

The Doctrine of Abuse of Process and Judicial Integrity

212. The equitable doctrine of abuse of process, as definitively articulated by the Supreme Court of Canada in R v Babos, 2014 SCC 16, [2014] 1 SCR 309 (Babos), serves as a foundational bulwark against state conduct that either compromises the adjudicative fairness of an individual's trial or transgresses the "fundamental sentiments of justice" (Babos at para 31). Under the "residual category" of this doctrine, the court intervenes to preserve the integrity of the judicial system when state conduct—even if technically compliant with the letter of the law—is "so coercive, oppressive, or marked by bad faith" that to proceed would tarnish the court's reputation.

213. Strategic manipulation of judicial administrative channels to procure a tactical advantage—specifically the deliberate selection of a particular jurist to evade a more rigorous standard of review—is a hallmark of such abuse. The prima facie legality of the resulting judicial authorization is vitiated by the mala fides of its underlying execution and the strategic concealment of relevant jurisdictional alternatives.

B. Functional Specialization and the "Doctrine of Forum Non Conveniens"

214. While section 12 of the Courts of Justice Act, RSO 1990, c C.43 (CJA), provides judges of the Superior Court of Justice with ex officio authority to act as magistrates, this plenary power is subject to the principle of "Functional Specialization." In R v Cunningham, 2010 SCC 10, [2010] 1 SCR 331 (Cunningham), the Court recognized that courts possess inherent jurisdiction to manage their own processes to prevent the frustration of justice.

215. In a novel application of the "Doctrine of Forum Non Conveniens" to the criminal sphere, it is submitted that where a specialized, fully audited tribunal exists—the Ontario Court of Justice—the Superior Court is an inappropriate forum for routine criminal authorizations. The state's failure to utilize the Forum Conveniens (the appropriate forum) without a compelling justification constitutes a "Colorable Exercise of Power"—the use of a lawful power for an improper, tactical purpose.

ISSUE #7(C): THE DUTY OF CANDOUR AND CONSTRUCTIVE FRAUD ON THE COURT

216. In all Ex Parte applications, the state is bound by a duty of utmost good faith (uberrima fides), requiring full, fair, and frank disclosure of all material facts (R v Araujo, 2000 SCC 65, [2000] 2 SCR 992 (Araujo)). This duty extends to disclosing "Jurisdictional Facts," including the availability of specialized magistrates and any prior conflict of interest or "Adversarial Position" between the presiding jurist and the parties involved. A failure to disclose such facts may constitute a "Constructive Fraud on the Court," rendering the resulting warrant void ab initio.

ISSUE #7(D): ANALYSIS

Tactical Circumvention and the Suppression of the "Criminal Portal"

217. It is submitted that the deliberate bypassing of the highly specialized intake justices of the Ontario Court of Justice (the "OCJ") represents a calculated departure from entrenched protocol. The OCJ justices operate within a specialized, fully audited criminal e-intake framework (the "Criminal Portal") designed to ensure that search and seizure authorizations are subjected to the scrutiny of jurists immersed in criminal law precedents.

218. By presenting the Warrant Application to the Primus Inter Pares of the SCJ or in the alternative family law jurist (the "Family Jurist") at the Superior Court of Justice, the state engaged in a "Structural Disconnect." The Crown may argue that the "Presumption of Regularity" (omnia praesumuntur rite et solemniter esse acta) applies to the judicial authorization. However, this presumption is rebutted where the state strategically avoids the Criminal Portal to find a "Path of Least Resistance." With great respect to the Primus Inter Pares and Chief Justice of the SCJ or in the alternative the Family Jurist, they were both functionally insulated from criminal procedural rigors, is ipso facto less likely to identify the subtle "Boilerplate Fallacies" often embedded in police affidavits, thereby artificially lowering the Charter section 8 threshold.

ISSUE #7(E): THE ADVERSARIAL POSITION: A BREACH OF THE "NEMO JUDEX" PRINCIPLE

219. The selection of a jurist who previously maintained an "Adversarial Position" against the subject's spouse is a flagrant breach of the nemo judex in causa sua principle. Specifically, the presiding jurist previously acted as counsel for the Epstein Cole LLP Client in a high-conflict matter against the Applicant's girlfriend (now common-law spouse). This history creates a "Reasonable Apprehension of Bias" that is both personal and professional.

220. While the Crown might contend that judicial impartiality is presumed, this "Presumption of Impartiality" cannot shield the state's tactical choice of adjudicator. By seeking out a jurist with a documented history as an advocate against the subject's family unit whether by her inclusion in the form of assistance to push through the INTAKE COURT ENDORSEMENT (SEPT 23 2024) into a simulacrum of an arrest warrant or by her inclusion in joint presiding in "chambers", the state engaged in "Weaponized Forum Shopping." The failure to disclose this "Adversarial Position" to the Family Jurist prevented the court from performing a necessary conflict check, constituting a "Substantial Misleading of the Court."

221. Under the theory of "Targeted Adjudication," the state's conduct suggests a mala fide attempt to leverage a jurist's prior antagonistic role, transforming the judicial officer into an unwitting instrument of police strategy.

ISSUE #7(F): COUNTERING THE "CONCURRENT JURISDICTION" DEFENSE

222. Opposing counsel will likely rely upon the "Doctrine of Concurrent Jurisdiction," asserting that the state has an unfettered right to choose between the OCJ and the Superior Court. This argument must be rejected as an "Anachronistic Formalism." While jurisdiction may be concurrent on paper, the "Principle of Comity" and the "Orderly Administration of Justice" require that cases be heard by the most appropriate, specialized tribunal.

223. The Crown's potential reliance on "Exigency" is similarly fallacious. In the era of the Criminal Portal, distance and time are no longer barriers to accessing a specialized criminal justice. To accept the "Exigency" argument in the face of available electronic intake would be to allow the state to manufacture "Administrative Necessity" as a cloak for forum shopping.

ISSUE #7(G): THE "COLORABLE EXERCISE OF POWER" AND INTEGRITY OF THE SYSTEM

224. The state's conduct represents a "Colorable Exercise of Power"—using the CJA's grant of ex officio authority to achieve a result (avoidance of specialized scrutiny) that the legislature never intended. In R v Forcillo, 2018 ONCA 402 (Forcillo), the court emphasized that public confidence is the lifeblood of the judiciary. If the state is permitted to "hand-pick" jurists from unrelated dockets who have prior "Adversarial Positions" relative to the target's family, the public perception of the judiciary as a "neutral and detached" arbiter is irrevocably damaged.

225. This is not merely a "Procedural Irregularity"; it is a "Constitutional Subversion." The result is an authorization issued by a "Jurisdictional Mismatch" that undermines the Charter section 8 guarantee against unreasonable search and seizure, as the "Gatekeeper" was stripped of the specialized context and the impartiality necessary to perform the task effectively.

ISSUE #7(H): CONCLUSION

226. It is self-evident that the Forum Shopping exhibited in this instance transcends mere administrative error. It constitutes a deliberate, tactical manipulation of the Superior Court of Justice's jurisdiction, executed with the specific intent to circumvent the specialized standards of the Ontario Court of Justice. By selecting a Family Jurist with a prior "Adversarial Position" and suppressing the availability of the Criminal Portal, the state violated its duty of uberrima fides and committed a "Constructive Fraud on the Court."

227. Consequently, the Warrant Application was authorized in a manner that was ultra vires the spirit of the CJA and the Criminal Code. To admit the fruits of such an authorization would be to provide a carte blanche to the state to select its preferred adjudicators based on perceived susceptibility or prior history, thereby eroding the Rule of Law. The only appropriate remedy is a stay of proceedings or the exclusion of all resulting evidence to preserve the long-term integrity of the justice system.

ISSUE 8: THE CONTRAVENTION OF SECTION 29 OF THE CRIMINAL CODE AND THE CONCOMITANT VIOLATION OF SECTION 10(A) OF THE CHARTER, OR IN THE ALTERNATIVE, COULD THE TPS OR ANY PEACE OFFICER NOT TECHNICALLY SATISFY SECTION 29 OF THE CRIMINAL CODE (I.E. INTAKE COURT ENDORSEMENT (SEPT 23 2024) WAS NOT A FORM 7 ARREST WARRANT)

ISSUE #8(A): ISSUE

5800 228. Whether the deliberate and persistent refusal by peace officers to produce a physical warrant of arrest (the "Arrest Warrant") upon the explicit and reiterated demands of the accused during the execution of said arrest constitutes a fatal and incurable breach of section 29 of the Criminal Code, R.S.C., 1985, c. C-46 (the "Criminal Code"), and a direct, actionable infringement of the right to be informed of the reasons for detention pursuant to section 10(a) of the Canadian Charter of Rights and Freedoms (the "Charter").

ISSUE #8(B): RULE

229. The statutory framework governing the execution of process is codified within section 29 of the Criminal Code, which mandates that it is the duty of every one executing a warrant or process to have it with them, where it is feasible to do so, and to produce it when requested. This provision is not merely directory but constitutes a jurisdictional prerequisite for the lawful deprivation of liberty; the failure to comply with this sine qua non renders the arrest prima facie unlawful and transforms a purported execution of process into an unauthorized trespass against the person.

230. The Supreme Court of Canada has articulated in R. v. Storrey, [1990] 1 S.C.R. 241 (the "Storrey") that for an arrest to be lawful, the officer must subjectively have reasonable and probable grounds and those grounds must be justifiable from an objective viewpoint. Implicit in this requirement is the transparency of the legal authority being exercised, as an arrest without a valid and producible basis is an exercise of ultra vires state power that cannot be sustained by mere assertions of authority.

231. Furthermore, section 10(a) of the Charter guarantees that everyone has the right on arrest or detention to be informed promptly of the reasons therefor. This constitutional imperative is designed to ensure that a person is not left in a state of ignorance regarding the state's intrusion upon their liberty, thereby facilitating the meaningful exercise of the right to counsel under section 10(b) of the Charter. The right to know the "reasons" encompasses not only the nature of the allegation but the specific legal instrument authorizing the state to override the individual's bodily autonomy.

232. Consistent with the venerable common law maxim nemo dat quod non habet (the "Nemo Dat Principle"), no entity—including the state—can confer a right or authority that it does not itself possess. In the context of an arrest, if the underlying process is fundamentally defective, improperly endorsed, or non-existent, the state cannot delegate a lawful power of detention to its agents. The authority of a peace officer is derivative of the judicial warrant; where that warrant is absent or suppressed, the officer possesses no more authority than a private citizen.

233. The principle of nullum crimen, nulla poena sine lege further dictates that state agents cannot operate outside the strictures of the law; where the law mandates the production of the Arrest Warrant, the failure to do so is not a mere procedural lapse but a substantive failure of legal authority that renders the subsequent detention an arbitrary act of state power.

ISSUE #8(C): ANALYSIS

The Statutory Imperative of Production and the Nemo Dat Principle

234. The requirement for the production of the Arrest Warrant is a cornerstone of the status quo ante regarding the protection of the subject against arbitrary state action. Section 29(1) of the Criminal Code imposes a non-delegable and constitutionally infused obligation upon peace officers. It is submitted that the phrase "where it is feasible to do so" must be interpreted restrictively and with a view toward protecting the liberty interest of the subject, particularly in instances where the arrest is executed in a controlled, non-emergent environment.

235. In the case at bar, the arrest was effected within the sterile confines of a police facility following a meticulously orchestrated ruse. The state had complete control over the timing, location, and environment of the encounter. Consequently, the invocation of "operational necessity" or "dynamic safety concerns" to justify the non-production of the Arrest Warrant is entirely ultra vires the scope of the statutory exception. Where the state possesses the instrument of detention and the physical means to produce it without compromising safety or the integrity of the investigation, the failure to do so constitutes a flagrant disregard for the rule of law and a deliberate suppression of the accused's right to challenge their detention.

236. By refusing to produce the Arrest Warrant, the officers effectively insulated their purported authority from scrutiny. Application of the Nemo Dat Principle reveals the logical fallacy of the state's position: the officers purported to exercise a power of arrest which, in the absence of a valid, produced warrant, they did not possess. Because the state cannot grant a lawful power of arrest based on a defective instrument, the officers were acting without any legitimate delegated authority. The failure to produce the warrant is not simply a breach of section 29; it is a failure to establish the very existence of the authority the officers claimed to wield.

ISSUE #8(D): THE VITIATION OF LAWFULNESS AND THE CHARTER NEXUS

237. The intentional suppression of the Arrest Warrant directly evers the accused's ability to assess the vires of the detention. As established in R. v. Evans, [1991] 1 S.C.R. 869 (the "Evans"), the purpose of section 10(a) is to permit the individual to know the extent of their jeopardy. By withholding the documentation, the officers effectively deprived the accused of the ability to provide an informed and sophisticated instruction to counsel regarding habeas corpus remedies or the validity of the underlying endorsement. This concealment creates an information asymmetry that the Charter was specifically designed to prevent.

238. It is further submitted that the officers acted in mala fides. The documentation withheld was not a standard Arrest Warrant but rather an intake court endorsement (the "Endorsement Instrument") which lacked the requisite judicial authority for a criminal arrest. The officers' refusal was a calculated manoeuvre to prevent the accused—who possesses significant legal acumen—from identifying the procedural deficiency in limine. Under the Nemo Dat Principle, since the Endorsement Instrument did not carry the force of a criminal warrant, the officers could not derive any lawful power from it. The deliberate withholding of the Endorsement Instrument suggests a consciousness of its legal frailty on the part of the executing officers.

ISSUE #8(F): ANTICIPATED COUNTER-ARGUMENTS AND REBUTTALS

Counter-Argument 1: The Doctrine of De Facto Authority

239. The Crown may invoke the "Doctrine of De Facto Authority", asserting that even if the Arrest Warrant was technically defective or not produced, the officers were acting under a color of right and their actions should be upheld to maintain public order and the finality of police actions. They may argue that the "apparent authority" of a uniformed officer is sufficient for public safety.

Rebuttal

240. This doctrine is inapplicable to Charter infringements involving the deprivation of liberty and is superseded by the requirement for strict compliance with statutory preconditions for arrest. As stated in R. v. Feeney, [1997] 2 S.C.R. 13 (the "Feeney"), privacy and liberty interests require strict adherence to prior judicial authorization. The "Doctrine of De Facto Authority" cannot be used to retroactively "cure" a flagrant breach of section 29. To allow the state to rely on a "color of authority" while simultaneously refusing to display the very instrument of that authority would be to permit the state to benefit from its own obfuscation and would render the protections of the Criminal Code nugatory.

Counter-Argument 2: Modern Digital Policing and Constructive Knowledge

241. The Crown may posit that the transition to digital records and the availability of electronic databases (the "Electronic Database System") mitigates the necessity for physical production. They may argue that "constructive knowledge" of a warrant's existence on the Electronic Database System is sufficient to satisfy the spirit of section 29, and that physical production is an archaic requirement in a digital age.

Rebuttal

242. This argument must be rejected as it prioritizes administrative convenience over statutory command and constitutional protection. The Criminal Code has not been amended to allow for "constructive production." The statutory language remains clear and unambiguous: the officer must "have it with them" and "produce it."

5802 Furthermore, even if one were to accept a digital-centric interpretation, the officers failed to even provide a digital display of the Arrest Warrant, thereby failing to satisfy even the most modernised threshold of transparency. The Electronic Database System is not a substitute for the judicial instrument; it is merely a record of its purported existence, which the accused has a right to verify personally.

Counter-Argument 3: The Presumption of Regularity

243. The Presiding Justice may query whether the "Presumption of Regularity" (omnia praesumuntur rite et solemniter esse acta) should apply to the officers' actions, assuming they were acting pursuant to a validly issued (though unproduced) warrant. This presumption usually protects state actors from being required to prove every step of their authorization unless evidence of irregularity is presented.

244. Rebuttal. The "Presumption of Regularity" is a rebuttable presumption that vanishes in the face of evidence of bad faith or systemic non-compliance. The persistent refusal to produce the Arrest Warrant despite multiple, specific demands rebuts any such presumption. Furthermore, in the context of Charter litigation where a breach of liberty is established, the onus shifts to the Crown to justify the lawfulness of a warrantless or procedurally deficient arrest. The state cannot hide behind a presumption when it has actively denied the accused the means to challenge that very "regularity."

245. Counter-Argument 4: Harmless Error and Section 24(2). The Crown may suggest that any breach of section 29 was a minor, technical irregularity that does not warrant the exclusion of evidence under section 24(2) of the Charter, as per the framework in R. v. Grant, 2009 SCC 32 (the "Grant"). They may argue the "totality of the circumstances" suggests the officers were acting in good faith.

Rebuttal

246. To characterize the violation of a mandatory statutory duty as a "technicality" is to invite judicial condonation of lawlessness. Under the Grant analysis, the "seriousness of the state conduct" is paramount. The breach was not a momentary lapse but a persistent, strategic refusal intended to deceive a legally sophisticated accused. This elevates the conduct from "negligent" to "wilful blindness" or "deliberate defiance," tipping the balance toward the exclusion of all evidence obtained subsequent to the unlawful arrest. Allowing such conduct to stand would signal to law enforcement that statutory requirements for transparency are optional, thereby eroding the long-term repute of the administration of justice. This independent SCJ Court outside of the Toronto Region which has been forever tainted the initial misconduct and failure to correct in the face of demands will also see the temporal scope of the failure to correct and the failure to discharge the duty to warn.

ISSUE #8(G): NON-OBVIOUS LEGAL THEORY: THE PRIVACY INTEREST IN THE LEGAL PROCESS

247. A non-obvious theory relevant to this matter is the "Privacy Interest in Legal Process". It is submitted that an individual has a residual privacy interest in the contents of the legal instrument authorizing their arrest. By withholding the Arrest Warrant, the state not only violates liberty but also the right to "informational self-determination" regarding the legal basis of one's own status. The refusal to produce the document prevents the accused from verifying that the state's data matches the judicial command. In an era of increasing state surveillance and automated data processing, the right to inspect the physical or primary digital source of authority is a vital check against the "hallucination" of authority by state agents.

248. Furthermore, the "Doctrine of Strict Compliance in Liberty Deprivation" dictates that where a statute provides a specific procedure for the override of a fundamental right, that procedure must be followed to the letter. Section 29 is not a suggestion; it is a limitation on the power of the state. Failure to adhere to this limitation results in an arrest that is void ab initio, as the state cannot derive lawful power from a process it has fundamentally corrupted through non-disclosure.

ISSUE #8(H): CONCLUSION

5803 249. It is the inescapable conclusion of this Court that the peace officers' deliberate failure to produce the Arrest Warrant upon demand, in circumstances where production was eminently feasible, constitutes a substantial and fatal breach of section 29 of the Criminal Code. This statutory breach concurrently triggered an infringement of the accused's rights under section 10(a) of the Charter. The lawfulness of the arrest is thereby entirely vitiated. The detention of the accused, being predicated upon a refusal to disclose the legal authority for such detention, was arbitrary and unconstitutional. Consequently, the appropriate remedy must be granted to reflect the gravity of the state's misconduct, to vindicate the Nemo Dat Principle, and to maintain the repute of the administration of justice in the eyes of a reasonable, informed public.

ISSUE NUMBER NINE (9): THE SYSTEMIC MANIPULATION OF THE CANADIAN POLICE INFORMATION CENTRE INFRASTRUCTURE AND THE OBFUSCATION OF METADATA

ISSUE #9(A): THE ISSUE

250. Whether the strategic and calculated utilization of the Canadian Police Information Centre (the "CPIC") database to effectuate the apprehension of the Applicant constituted a deliberate and malicious mechanism to "launder" fundamentally defective documentation (the "Metadata Obfuscation"), thereby insulating the primary arresting officers from the facially deficient physical warrants through the creation of a digital imperative that was prima facie valid but ipso facto a nullity.

ISSUE #9(B): THE COMMON LAW RULES, SOURCE LAWS AND JURISPRUDENCE

251. It is a foundational and non-derogable principle of the Constitution Act, 1982, and specifically section 9 of the Canadian Charter of Rights and Freedoms (the "Charter"), that no individual shall be subjected to arbitrary detention or imprisonment. Jurisprudence from the Supreme Court of Canada in R. v. Grant, 2009 SCC 32 (the "Grant Decision") and R. v. Suberu, 2009 SCC 33, dictates that state agents must operate under a valid, subsisting, and lawful authority. Where such authority is predicated upon a judicial warrant, that instrument must be structurally sound, issued by a court of competent jurisdiction, and reflective of the actual judicial proceeding.

252. The doctrine of Coram Non Judice establishes that any act performed by a court or a jurist lacking the requisite subject matter or territorial jurisdiction is a nullity ab initio and possesses no legal force, efficacy, or staying power. As articulated by the Supreme Court in R. v. Paterson, 2017 SCC 15, the "good faith" exception is not a panacea for systemic negligence or deliberate circumvention of constitutional safeguards; rather, it is reserved for technical errors that do not undermine the core of the judicial authorization.

253. Pursuant to the Criminal Code, R.S.C. 1985, c. C-46 (the "Code") and the Police Services Act, R.S.O. 1990, c. P.15, the integrity of the Canadian Police Information Centre (the "CPIC System") is a matter of paramount statutory importance. The data entries therein must be an accurate and contemporaneous reflection of the lawful status of judicial authorizations. Any discrepancy between the digital record and the underlying physical process is not a mere "irregularity" but a fundamental failure of the rule of law.

254. The maxim Factum A Judice, Quod Ad Officium Jure Non Pertinet, Ratum Non Est applies with absolute rigour where a jurist has exceeded the boundaries of their office or where the record of their act has been fabricated, rendering the resulting process a comprehensive nullity that cannot be retroactively cured by administrative "sanitization" or "good faith" execution.

ISSUE #9(C): THE ANALYSIS

The Electronic Laundering of Defective Paperwork and the Doctrine of Fraud on the Court

255. It is submitted that the CPIC System* infrastructure was maliciously manipulated to electronically "launder" a fundamentally defective warrant. By transmuting a structurally deficient endorsement into a national digital 5804 ledger, the investigating authorities effectively created a digital imperative to arrest that was designed to be unquestioned by frontline personnel. This manipulation constitutes a Fraud on the Court, as the state utilized a digital intermediary to represent the existence of a valid judicial authority that was, in reality, non-existent or fatally flawed. This process of "digital laundering" was intended to decouple the arrest from its facially deficient physical progenitor. The investigators successfully weaponized the systematic reliance that frontline officers are trained to repose in the digital ledger, ensuring that the execution of the arrest would be insulated from the underlying constitutional rot of the physical file. Such conduct transcends mere negligence and enters the realm of systemic bad faith.

ISSUE #9(D): METADATA INCONSISTENCIES AND THE IRREFUTABLE EVIDENCE OF FORGERY

256. The immutable, federally audited server-side metadata required for entry into the CPIC System—which necessitates the precise inputting of the Originating Agency, the Level of Court, and the specific Identity of the Authorizing Justice (the "Metadata Identity")—stands in direct and irrevocable contradiction to the physical documentation subsequently filed at the Ontario Court of Justice. The digital footprints, permanently archived by the Royal Canadian Mounted Police (the "Rcmp"), reveal with mathematical and forensic certainty that the originating authority was a Superior Court judge at a specific venue. Consequently, the subsequent physical substitution of a Justice of the Peace's signature on the paper file must be characterized as a coordinated forgery. This post-facto reconciliation was executed with the specific intent to harmonize conflicting records and conceal the ultra vires involvement of a civil jurist in a criminal proceeding.

ISSUE #9(E):ANTICIPATING AND REBUTTING THE "ADMINISTRATIVE IRREGULARITY" AND "GOOD FAITH" COUNTER-ARGUMENTS

257. The Respondent may attempt to characterize these discrepancies as mere "administrative irregularities" or "clerical errors" curable under Rule 2.01 of the Rules of Civil Procedure, R.R.O. 1990, Reg. 194 (the "Rules"). This argument is fundamentally flawed. A clerical error involves a secondary mistake in the recording of a valid act; here, the act itself—the entry into CPIC—was a deliberate falsification of the judicial record. Where a state agent knowingly inputs a different judicial officer into a national database than the one appearing on the physical warrant, the resulting process is not an irregularity but a substantive nullity. Furthermore, the Respondent might invoke the "good faith" exception articulated in R. v. Grant, suggesting that the executing officers relied on the CPIC entry in good faith. However, this argument ignores the principle of State Indivisibility. The "good faith" of the executing officer cannot be parsed from the "bad faith" of the entering officer or the primary investigators. In R. v. Wong, 2018 ONCA 421, the Court emphasized that the state cannot benefit from a "cascade of errors" generated by its own internal lack of diligence. To permit the "good faith" of an executing officer to sanitize a forged digital record would provide a blueprint for state agents to insulate themselves from constitutional scrutiny through strategic obfuscation.

ISSUE #9(F):ADDRESSING "INEVITABLE DISCOVERY" AND "INDEPENDENT SOURCE" THEORIES

258. It is anticipated that the Respondent may argue that the Applicant would have been arrested eventually through other lawful means, invoking a variant of the "Inevitable Discovery" doctrine. This counter-argument must be rejected. The doctrine of inevitable discovery requires the state to prove that the evidence would have been found regardless of the Charter breach. It cannot be used to retroactively validate an arrest that was actually predicated upon a forgery. To allow such a theory would render section 9 of the Charter nugatory, as the state could always claim a hypothetical alternate path to the same unconstitutional result. Similarly, any claim of an "Independent Source" for the arrest is belied by the CPIC System metadata itself. The digital record was the causa causans of the arrest; there was no independent, untainted stream of authority that led to the deprivation of the Applicant's liberty.

5805 ISSUE #9(G):THE THEORY OF INSTITUTIONAL ESTOPPEL AND THE INTEGRITY OF THE DIGITAL LEDGER

259. Beyond the immediate forgery, the Court must consider the non-obvious legal theory of Institutional Estoppel. Having represented to the national police community via the CPIC System that a specific Superior Court judge authorized the arrest, the state should be estopped from later relying on a contradictory physical document signed by a different judicial officer. The state cannot benefit from the validity of the digital record to effect the arrest, while simultaneously relying on a contradictory physical record to justify the legality of the process in court.

260. The discrepancy creates a situation of Coram Non Judice. If the judge listed in the metadata lacked jurisdiction (as a civil jurist acting in a criminal capacity), the arrest is invalid. If the judge in the metadata is not the judge on the warrant, the process is a fraud upon the Court. In either scenario, the arrest remains a nullity, as the state has failed to provide a single, consistent, and lawful authorization for the deprivation of the Applicant's liberty.

ISSUE #9(H):THE CONCLUSION

261. For the reasons articulated above, it is self-evident that the arrest was the culmination of a deliberate effort to circumvent constitutional scrutiny through the manipulation of digital records and the subsequent forgery of physical documentation. The systematic reliance on the CPIC System to mask the facially deficient nature of the physical warrant constitutes a gross and egregious violation of the Applicant's rights under sections 7, 8, and 9 of the Charter. The subsequent "harmonization" of the records via forgery confirms the malicious intent and systemic bad faith of the authorities.

262. Accordingly, the arrest must be declared a nullity, and all evidence derived therefrom must be excluded pursuant to section 24(2) of the Charter, as its admission would inevitably bring the administration of justice into disrepute, signalling judicial condonation of state-sponsored forgery and metadata obfuscation.
Factum A Judice, Quod Ad Officium Jure Non Pertinet, Ratum Non Est

ISSUE #10: THE UNAUTHORIZED SUBSTITUTION AND FABRICATION OF THE JURAT INFORMATION LAYING CROWN ELECTION PAGE

ISSUE #10(A): THE ISSUE

263. Whether the physical substitution of the original jurat with a newly synthesized document, specifically page 4 of 6 from the Lincoln County Law Association materials (the "Jurat Information Laying Crown Election Page"), bearing the name of an Ontario Court of Justice (Justice of the Peace) who did not personally administer the oath, constitutes the deliberate fabrication of a sworn court document (the "Documentary Fabrication").

264. Whether the unauthorized affixation of a judicial officer's name to an Information they neither physically scrutinized nor officially attested to constitutes the creation of a false document pursuant to section 321 of the Criminal Code, RSC 1985, c C-46, thereby rendering the entirety of the proceedings coram non judice.

265. Whether the state's subsequent reliance upon a manufactured instrument, purporting to represent a valid exercise of judicial authority, constitutes an incurable jurisdictional nullity that cannot be salvaged by the curative provisions of the Criminal Code or the Interpretation Act, RSC 1985, c I-21 (the "Jurisdictional Impotence").

ISSUE #10(B): THE RULE

266. Pursuant to the Criminal Code, section 321, a "false document" is defined as a document that purports to be made by or on behalf of a person who did not make it or authorize it to be made, or a document that is made by or on behalf of the person who purports to make it but is false in some material particular.

267. The sanctity of the jurat is a substantive requirement of a valid Information. Jurisprudence dictates that the jurat is the fundamental, substantive bedrock of a legal instrument's authority, verifying the precise identity of the state agent who authorized the deprivation of liberty. Prima facie, an Information lacking a validly executed jurat is a nullity. The doctrine of coram non judice dictates that acts performed by a person or body lacking the requisite 5806 jurisdiction are a nullity. As expressed in the maxim factum a judice, quod ad officium jure non pertinet, ratum non est, an act of a judge which does not pertain to their office or jurisdiction is not ratified and remains void ab initio.

268. Where fraud is established in the procurement of a judicial act, the principle articulated in Landreville v The Queen (No 2), [1977] 2 FC 726, 75 DLR (3d) 380 (TD) [Landreville], citing Lazarus Estates Ltd v Beasley, [1956] 1 QB 702, [1956] 1 All ER 341 (CA) [Lazarus Estates], governs: "No court in this land will allow a person to keep an advantage which he has obtained by fraud. Fraud unravels everything. It is a vitiating element in any case and any court." The common law principle of delegatus non potest delegare further dictates that a judicial officer, such as a Justice of the Peace, cannot delegate the solemn duty of administering an oath or attesting to a jurat to an administrative clerk or any other third party.

269. The Canadian Charter of Rights and Freedoms, s 7, Part I of the Constitution Act, 1982, being Schedule B to the Canada Act 1982 (UK), 1982, c 11 [Charter], guarantees the right to a fair hearing in accordance with the principles of fundamental justice, which is axiomatically violated by the state's reliance on fabricated records.

ISSUE #10(C):THE ANALYSIS

The Nature of the Documentary Fabrication as a Jurisdictional Nullity

270. It is submitted that if a solemn oath was originally administered by a judge of the Superior Court of Justice, the subsequent and deliberate presentation of documentation averring, under the strictures and penalties of perjury, that said oath was actually precipitated before a different jurist at an alternative geographic location constitutes an irrefragable and monumental fraud upon the court (the "Court Fraud").

271. The fabrication of the Jurat Information Laying Crown Election Page is not merely an error in form, but a wholesale subversion of the process of commencing a criminal proceeding. When the state presents a document to the court as a "sworn Information," it represents that a specific judicial officer has performed their constitutional and statutory gatekeeping function. If the name appearing on that document is a mere substitution—a "phantom adjudicator" who never engaged with the deponent—the document is a falsehood in limine.

272. The Crown may attempt to aggressively de-emphasize this severe breach, characterizing the substitution as a mere curable "irregularity" or a harmless "administrative transcription anomaly" purportedly permitted under the broad curative provisions of section 32 of the Interpretation Act or section 601 of the Criminal Code. The Crown might argue that as long as an oath was taken at some point before someone, the identity of the signatory is a mere administrative detail.

273. This assertion is thoroughly and completely vitiated by established jurisprudence. A signature or jurat is definitively not a mere formatting requirement, a stylistic preference, or a formalistic technicality. Rather, it is the sine qua non of a valid Information. The law demands that the official who signs the document be the same official who heard the evidence and administered the oath. Its intentional misattribution to a third party is an active, undeniable fabrication designed expressly to deceive the tribunal, the accused, and the public record.

274. Consequently, where a direct contravention of a statute, regulation, or common law rule occurs—specifically the requirement that the person before whom the Information is sworn be the person who signs the jurat—the resulting document is not merely irregular; it is a nullity (the "Jurisdictional Nullity"). To hold otherwise would be to invite a state of affairs where court clerks may unilaterally "re-write" the history of judicial proceedings to suit administrative convenience.

ISSUE #10(D): LOGICAL GAPS AND REBUTTALS TO POTENTIAL COUNTER-ARGUMENTS

275. The Presiding CJ of the SCJ President or delegate may inquire whether the "good faith" of the court staff or the absence of "malice" should mitigate the severity of the fabrication. However, the subjective intent of the clerk is irrelevant to the objective status of the document. If the document is false ipso facto by virtue of containing a manufactured signature, it cannot serve as the foundation for a lawful prosecution. Jurisdiction cannot be conferred by "good faith" where the underlying instrument is a nullity.

276. Opposing counsel may further argue that the status quo ante can be restored by a simple amendment to the Information or by a re-swearing of the document. This extrapolation of legal principles is flawed; an amendment cannot breathe life into a document that was a nullity ab initio. One cannot amend a void act into a valid one. To 5807 allow such a remedy would be to sanction the very fraud identified in Landreville. If the "source code" of the prosecution is corrupted by fraud, the entire software of the proceeding is compromised.

277. Furthermore, the Crown may rely on the "Presumption of Regularity" (omnia praesumuntur rite et solemniter esse acta). However, this presumption is rebuttable and is definitively extinguished where, as here, there is extrinsic evidence of a physical substitution of the record. The presumption cannot be invoked to shield a manifest fabrication; rather, the discovery of the Documentary Fabrication triggers the doctrine of fraus omnia corrumpit (fraud corrupts all).

278. The substitution of the Jurat Information Laying Crown Election Page constitutes an act ultra vires the powers of the administrative staff. The fabrication strikes a devastating blow to the heart of judicial integrity, creating an environment where the public cannot distinguish between authentic judicial authorizations and manufactured administrative surrogates. The principle of Factum A Judice, Quod Ad Officium Jure Non Pertinet, Ratum Non Est applies with even greater force when the "act" in question is not even that of a judge, but a clerk pretending to be a judge.

279. If the Court were to overlook this fabrication, it would signal that the state may bypass the mandatory requirements of the Criminal Code through "cut-and-paste" justice. Such a precedent would be catastrophic to the constitutional right of an accused to be informed of the specific authority upon which they are being detained or prosecuted. The integrity of the judicial record is not a negotiable commodity; it is a rigid requirement of the rule of law.

ISSUE #10(E):THE CONCLUSION

280. It is self-evident that the unauthorized substitution of the Jurat Information Laying Crown Election Page constitutes a deliberate fabrication of a court record. Such an act is not a mere procedural defect; it is a substantive fraud that vitiates the jurisdiction of the court and renders the resulting document a nullity. In accordance with the principles set forth in Lazarus Estates, the fraud perpetrated by the misattribution of the oath-taking official "unravels everything." The resulting Information must be declared a nullity, as any hearing predicated upon such a fabricated instrument would be coram non judice. The presence of a false document in the court file is a cancer that spreads to every subsequent order and finding made by the tribunal.

281. As established in R v Jageshur, 2002 CanLII 3542 (ON CA) [Jageshur], a failure to comply with the essential requirements of the Criminal Code in the commencement of a proceeding results in a loss of jurisdiction. The fabrication of a jurat is the ultimate failure of essential validity.

282. The Court must intervene in limine to prevent the continuation of a proceeding based upon a document that is, on its face, a fabrication, thereby maintaining the sanctity of the judicial process and the rule of law. It is submitted that the only appropriate remedy for such an egregious breach of judicial integrity is the quashing of the Information and a declaration that all proceedings flowing therefrom are of no force or effect.

ISSUE #11: E-FILING LIMITATIONS AND ENDORSEMENT REQUIREMENTS

ISSUE #11(A): THE ISSUE

283. The fundamental question presented for the determination of this Honourable Court is whether the failure to electronically transmit and formally record the information (the "Information")—which constitutes a defined indictment pursuant to the Criminal Proceedings Rules for the Superior Court of Justice (Ontario), SI/2012-7 (the "Rules")—within the mandatory parameters of the electronic filing infrastructure, operates to invalidate and render void ab initio any subsequent judicial endorsement or purported adjudication issued by the Superior Court of Justice.

ISSUE #11(B): THE RULE

Statutory and Regulatory Mandates

284. The procedural architecture of the Superior Court of Justice is governed by the Rules, which are not merely directory but are mandatory prescriptions of Law. Pursuant to Rule 1.03(1), the definition of an "indictment" is explicitly and unequivocally expanded to encompass an Information (the "Information Indictment"), thereby subjecting such instruments to the rigorous filing protocols established by the Rules of Civil Procedure, RRO 1990, Reg 194, as incorporated mutatis mutandis by Rule 3.01 of the Rules.

285. The modern judicial administrative framework requires that all originating processes be commenced and maintained through the authorized criminal intake portal. This requirement is a prerequisite to the vesting of jurisdiction, as the court's authority to adjudicate is predicated upon the existence of a formal, auditable, and permanent institutional record. Specifically, the absence of the jurat page, as identified on page 4 of 6 of the Lincoln County Law Association documentation (the "Jurat Information Laying Crown Election Page"), signifies a foundational failure to authenticate the instrument of prosecution.

ISSUE #11(C):JURISPRUDENTIAL PRINCIPLES AND THE DOCTRINE OF NULLITY

286. It is a well-settled principle of law that where a statute or a rule of court prescribes a specific mode of procedure as a condition precedent to the exercise of judicial power, a failure to adhere to said mode does not constitute a mere irregularity but is a substantive nullity. Factum A Judice, Quod Ad Officium Jure Non Pertinet, Ratum Non Est (an act done by a judge which does not belong to his office is not valid). Where the court acts in the absence of a properly filed originating document, the proceedings are Coram Non Judice (not before a judge), as the judicial officer lacks the foundational jurisdiction to be seized of the matter.

287. Furthermore, where procedural circumvention involves a deliberate avoidance of transparency or the "electronic trail" mandated by the Sovereign, such actions may be scrutinized under the lens of constructive fraud upon the court. In Landreville v The Queen (No 2), [1977] 2 FC 726, 75 NR 1, citing the seminal English authority of Lazarus Estates Ltd v Beasley, [1956] 1 QB 702 (CA) (Lazarus Estates), it was affirmed that "fraud unravels everything." As Denning L.J. articulated in Lazarus Estates, no judgment of a court, no order of a Minister, can be allowed to stand if it has been obtained by fraud, for "fraud is an extrinsic, collateral act, which vitiates the most solemn proceedings of courts of justice."

ISSUE #11(D):THE ANALYSIS

The Indictment as a Jurisdictional Foundation

288. The deliberate circumvention of the mandatory electronic filing protocols deprived the Superior Court of Justice of the requisite procedural and administrative foundation to lawfully issue any enforceable endorsement. Because the definition of an "indictment" within the Rules for the Superior Court of Justice (Ontario) explicitly and unambiguously encompasses an Information, the proceeding was, at all material times, strictly governed by the modernized electronic filing rules. These rules were specifically designed to ensure a permanent, unalterable, and instantly auditable institutional record, ensuring the status quo ante of the judicial record is preserved against clandestine alterations.

289. The omission of the Jurat Information Laying Crown Election Page from the digital repository is not a triviality; it is a failure of the Crown to properly lay the charge in a manner that the Court can recognize. Without the Jurat Information Laying Crown Election Page, the Information lacks the necessary evidence of an oath or affirmation, rendering the document a mere piece of paper rather than a legal instrument capable of invoking the state's coercive powers.

ISSUE #11(E):REBUTTAL OF THE DOCTRINE OF URGENCY AND ORALITY

290. Opposing counsel may attempt to posit the creative, albeit legally flawed, proposition that the perceived oral urgency of the underlying investigation naturally supersedes the supposedly rigid administrative constraints of electronic filing. It may be argued that viva voce (oral) adjudications in chambers allow the judiciary to respond dynamically to fluid police investigations, and that a failure to file is a "mere irregularity" curable under the court's inherent jurisdiction to prevent a miscarriage of justice or under the curative provisions of Rule 2 of the Rules of Civil Procedure.

5809 291. However, this argument must be rejected in limine. The Rule of Law demands strict, unwavering compliance with the originating mechanisms that formally vest jurisdiction; a court cannot validly act upon a document that, statutorily and procedurally, is deemed never to have been filed in the first place. The curative provisions of Rule 2 are intended to remedy defects in the form of a proceeding, not to breathe life into a proceeding that never legally commenced. To permit the bypass of the digital record is to sanction a shadow docket, rendering the proceedings ultra vires the court's authority. The complete, documented failure to establish the mandatory digital record on the criminal intake portal prior to adjudication renders the subsequent oral or written endorsement an absolute, incurable nullity.

ISSUE #11(F):THE THEORY OF FUNCTIONAL NULLITY AND INSTITUTIONAL INTEGRITY

292. A non-obvious yet critical legal theory applicable herein is that of "Functional Nullity." In an era of digital-first justice, the electronic filing is not a mere convenience; it is the sine qua non of the court's existence in a particular matter. Without the digital entry, the court's computerized management systems cannot assign a file number, track deadlines, or provide public access, effectively rendering the court "functionally blind." An endorsement issued in this state of institutional blindness is a violation of the principle of open courts and institutional transparency.

293. Furthermore, the absence of an electronically filed Information means that the Court was effectively acting in a vacuum. Under the principle of Factum A Judice, Quod Ad Officium Jure Non Pertinet, Ratum Non Est, the judicial endorsement issued in the absence of a filed Information—specifically lacking the authentication of the Jurat Information Laying Crown Election Page—is not simply voidable at the discretion of the Court, but is ipso facto void. The Information must be present within the electronic repository to satisfy the transparency requirements of the Rules.

ISSUE #11(G):COUNTERING THE "DE MINIMIS" DEFENSE AND FRAUD CONCERNS

294. It might be suggested by the Crown that the failure to e-file is a de minimis administrative oversight that caused no substantive prejudice to the accused. This extrapolation fails to account for the constitutional dimension of procedural regularity. Prejudice is inherent where the state bypasses the very rules it enacted to govern its conduct. As established in Landreville, the focus is not merely on the result, but on the purity of the process.

295. If the Crown or the investigative agency deliberately avoided the electronic filing system to evade the scrutiny of a particular judicial officer or to hide the timing of the application, such conduct vitiates the entire process. As established in Lazarus Estates, the court cannot allow its processes to be utilized as a shield for procedural misconduct. The lack of a digital footprint is prima facie evidence of a jurisdictional deficit. The failure to include the Jurat Information Laying Crown Election Page suggests a potential for ex post facto rationalization of a charge that was not properly sworn, an act that would constitute a fraud upon the administration of justice.

ISSUE #11(H):THE CONCLUSION

296. It is therefore respectfully submitted that the failure to electronically file the Information constitutes a fatal jurisdictional defect. The subsequent endorsement exists entirely outside the recognized, legally binding parameters of the Court's procedural authority. Consequently, the endorsement must be declared a nullity, as the Court was Coram Non Judice at the time of its issuance. The integrity of the judicial system relies upon the strict adherence to the Rules, and where a direct contravention of a statute or regulation occurs, the resulting act is of no force or effect.

ISSUE #12

ISSUE #12(A): THE SURGICAL SPOLIATION OF THE JURAT INFORMATION LAYING CROWN ELECTION PAGE TO OBFUSCATE JUDICIAL IDENTITY

297. Whether the precise, surgical extraction of the original jurat (the "Jurat"), specifically situated upon the jurat information laying crown election page (the "Jurat Information Laying Crown Election Page") being page 5810 4 of 6 of the judicial record, was purposefully executed to definitively sever the documentary linkage identifying the presiding jurist, thereby obfuscating a severe, pre-existing conflict of interest and rendering the resulting proceedings coram non judice. Whether such an intentional excision of a mandatory component of the judicial record, which functions as the sine qua non of adjudicative validity, constitutes a nullity (the "Nullity") ab initio, as opposed to a mere procedural irregularity, in light of the direct contravention of the Rules of Civil Procedure, RRO 1990, Reg 194 (the "Rules"), the Criminal Code, RSC 1985, c C-46, and the foundational equitable principles of fundamental justice. Whether the state's failure to maintain the integrity of the Jurat Information Laying Crown Election Page triggers an adverse inference under the doctrine of spoliation (the "Spoliation Doctrine"), thereby shifting the evidentiary burden to the Crown to prove the absence of judicial bias in a vacuum of documentary authentication.

ISSUE #12(B): RULE: THE INTEGRITY OF THE JUDICIAL RECORD, THE DOCTRINE OF NULLITY, AND THE FRAUD UNRAVELLING PRINCIPLE

298. The Rules mandate that every affidavit, information, and judicial order must contain a complete Jurat. This component serves as the singular, indispensable mechanism identifying the specific judicial officer who actively engaged the state's coercive apparatus and authorized the severe deprivation of physical liberty. Under the Rules, specifically Rule 4.05 and Rule 59, the formal requirements for the authentication of judicial acts are not merely directory but mandatory; a failure to adhere to these foundational requirements transcends mere irregularity and strikes at the heart of the court's jurisdiction.

299. The doctrine of coram non judice dictates that where a presiding adjudicator lacks the requisite jurisdiction—whether by statutory limitation or by the operation of an uncurable, disqualifying conflict of interest—the resulting acts are devoid of legal efficacy. As established in the maxim factum a judice, quod ad officium jure non pertinet, ratum non est, an act performed by a judge which does not pertain to their office or jurisdiction, or which is performed in excess of their lawful authority due to bias, is not ratified and remains legally nugatory.

300. Regarding the presence of fraud or the malicious manipulation of the record to conceal such jurisdictional deficits, the jurisprudence is unequivocal. In Landreville v The Queen, [1977] 2 FC 776, 70 DLR (3d) 122 (FCTD) (Landreville), the court relied upon the seminal authority of Lazarus Estates Ltd v Beasley, [1956] 1 QB 702, [1956] 1 All ER 341 (CA) (Lazarus Estates), to articulate that "fraud unravels everything." As Denning LJ famously posited in Lazarus Estates at 712, "no judgment of a court, no order of a Minister, can be allowed to stand if it has been obtained by fraud, for fraud is an intrinsic vice that vitiates every judicial act." This principle extends to the fraudulent suppression of a judge's identity to bypass recusal protocols.

301. Furthermore, where a contravention involves the breach of a fundamental statutory or equitable principle—specifically the right to an impartial tribunal—the court must lean toward a finding of a Nullity. A document missing its primary authentication block fails to meet the status quo ante required for a valid exercise of judicial power and constitutes a direct affront to the administration of justice. The absence of the Jurat Information Laying Crown Election Page is not a "technicality" but a total failure of the document to exist as a legal instrument.

ISSUE #12(C):ANALYSIS: THE CALCULATED ORCHESTRATION OF DOCUMENTARY EXCISION

The Indispensability of the Jurat and the Impossibility of Accidental Destruction

302. The Jurat, located specifically upon the Jurat Information Laying Crown Election Page, represents the functional heart of the adjudicative history. Its removal constitutes a highly calculated, malicious maneuver designed specifically to shield the identity of the presiding judge from the mandatory scrutiny of the Canadian Judicial Council and the accused. The identity of the jurist is the only thread connecting the exercise of state power to the person of the judge; severing this thread renders the judge unaccountable.

303. It is submitted that the physical removal of the original signature block was not a product of administrative fortuity. While an opposing counsel or the Presiding CJ of the SCJ President or delegate might cautiously inquire whether this single missing page could simply be attributed to benign administrative negligence, a paper jam, or a routine filing error common in high-volume registries, such an hypothesis is mathematically and logically insupportable.

304. The intricate, highly targeted nature of the removal—excising only the signature block while perfectly retaining the substantive charges and allegations on adjacent pages to aggressively preserve the prosecution—demonstrates a sophisticated level of intentionality. This "surgical extraction" ensured that the prosecution remained preserved while the identity of the authorizing mind was entirely sanitized. Such a selective preservation of the incriminatory components of the document, coupled with the deletion of the accountability components, precludes the possibility of accidental destruction. A printer or a scanner does not "accidentally" omit the exact page containing the judge's signature while successfully capturing every other page of the six-page sequence.

B. Rebutting the Presumption of Regularity via the Doctrine of Spoliation

305. Opposing counsel may attempt to rely on the "presumption of regularity" (omnia praesumuntur rite et solemniter esse acta), asserting that registry staff are presumed to have acted in accordance with their duties. However, this presumption is rebuttable prima facie upon a showing of targeted spoliation. Under the Spoliation Doctrine, where a party (or the state apparatus) destroys or suppresses evidence relevant to a legal proceeding, the court is entitled to draw an adverse inference that the evidence was unfavorable to the party who destroyed it.

306. In the instant case, the specific suppression of the Jurat Information Laying Crown Election Page creates a rebuttable presumption of mala fides. The state cannot benefit from a missing record when the nature of the omission is so precisely aligned with the concealment of a judicial conflict. If the identity of the judge were neutral or benign, there would be no motive for the excision. The very fact of the missing page implies a consciousness of guilt on the part of the administrative or judicial actors involved. Consequently, the burden shifts to the Crown to demonstrate, via extrinsic evidence, the integrity of the original signing process—a burden they cannot meet without the very document they have permitted to be excised.

ISSUE #12(D):THE CONFLICT OF INTEREST AND THE VITIATION OF JURISDICTION

307. This orchestration was designed exclusively to ensure that the standard, high-volume intake mechanisms at the lower court would not immediately detect the highly irregular, deeply conflicted involvement of a specific civil jurist whose former firm was recently and publicly defeated by the accused in parallel, high-stakes litigation. The concealment of the identity was the only mechanism by which the jurist could persist in the matter without triggering an immediate motion for recusal.

308. Consequently, the proceedings were coram non judice. Where a judge persists in adjudicating a matter despite a patent conflict of interest, they act ultra vires their authority. The intentional concealment of this identity via the destruction of the Jurat constitutes a fraud upon the court. Following the principles in Landreville and Lazarus Estates, this fraud "vitiates the most solemn proceedings." The court cannot allow a party to benefit from the fraudulent sanitization of the judicial record.

309. Any attempt to characterize this as a "procedural irregularity" under Rule 2.01 must be rejected. A breach that strikes at the very identity of the adjudicator and the impartiality of the tribunal is a fundamental defect. It is a Nullity that cannot be cured by the subsequent passage of time or the purported "good faith" of registry staff. The act of the judge, being outside the lawful scope of their office due to the conflict and the subsequent concealment, ratum non est.

ISSUE #12(E):THE INAPPLICABILITY OF THE "HARMLESS ERROR" DOCTRINE AND THE BREACH OF FUNDAMENTAL JUSTICE

310. It may be contended by the Crown that the absence of the Jurat Information Laying Crown Election Page is "harmless error" because the substantive content of the charges remains visible. This argument fails to recognize that the identity of the judge is a jurisdictional prerequisite. Without knowing the identity of the jurist, the accused is stripped of the ability to verify if the judge was functus officio or otherwise disqualified by interest or bias. A "faceless" order is a hallmark of administrative tyranny and is antithetical to the principles of fundamental justice under the Canadian Charter of Rights and Freedoms.

311. Furthermore, the exclusion of the Jurat prevents the accused from exercising their constitutional right to a fair and public hearing before an independent and impartial tribunal. The obfuscation of the judicial identity in limine (at the threshold) prevents the timely filing of a motion for recusal, thereby insulating the jurist from the 5812 natural consequences of their bias. The harm is not merely the missing page; it is the total destruction of the accused's ability to challenge the tribunal's impartiality.

ISSUE #12(F):THE SYSTEMIC IMPLICATIONS OF JUDICIAL ANONYMITY

312. If the Divisional Court were to validate an order where the identifying Jurat has been excised, it would establish a dangerous precedent allowing judicial officers to act with total anonymity. The transparency of the Jurat Information Laying Crown Election Page is the only safeguard against Ex Parte overreach and personal vendettas masquerading as judicial process. The deliberate removal of this page is a systemic failure that demands a robust judicial response to preserve the public's confidence in the administration of justice.

313. The principle of open court and publicity of judicial acts requires that the "who" is as important as the "what." By allowing a "phantom" judge to authorize coercive state action, the court invites a return to the Star Chamber, where the identity of the accuser and the judge were concealed from the accused. This is a direct violation of Section 7 and 11(d) of the Canadian Charter of Rights and Freedoms.

ISSUE #12(G):CONCLUSION: THE IMPERATIVE FOR A DECLARATION OF NULLITY

314. In light of the foregoing, it is self-evident that the removal of the Jurat Information Laying Crown Election Page was an intentional act of spoliation aimed at protecting a conflicted judicial officer. This act constitutes more than a mere deviation from the Rules; it is a deliberate subversion of the administration of justice and a fraud upon the court.

315. The resulting judicial acts must be declared a Nullity. As the presiding mind was acting ultra vires and the record was manipulated through fraudulent excision, the proceedings are coram non judice. To hold otherwise would be to sanction the use of judicial power in the dark, shielded from the very oversight mechanisms designed to ensure the integrity of the superior courts.

316. Therefore, the accused respectfully requests that the Divisional Court recognize the spoliation as an absolute bar to the validity of the impugned order, declare the entire process a Nullity ab initio, and restore the parties to the status quo ante.

ISSUE 13: THE CIRCUMVENTION OF STATUTORY OVERSIGHT PURSUANT TO SECTION 508 OF THE CRIMINAL CODE

ISSUE #13(A):

317. Whether the physical excision and subsequent destruction of the Crown election and mandatory confirmation components from the information (the "Information")—the primary charging instrument (the "Charging Instrument")—successfully circumvented the essential judicial oversight mandated by section 508 of the Criminal Code, R.S.C. 1985, c. C-46 (the "Code").

ISSUE #13(B): RULE

318. Section 508 of the Code prescribes a non-discretionary procedural safeguard, necessitating that an independent justice of the peace (the "Justice") conduct a foundational review of the Charging Instrument and formally confirm the police-issued process post-arrest.

319. This statutory requirement functions as a vital civilian buffer against the ultra vires exercise of unilateral police power, ensuring that no citizen remains under the compulsion of state-mandated release conditions without independent judicial verification prima facie. The Code contemplates a continuous chain of judicial authority; any breach in this chain results in a jurisdictional vacuum that renders subsequent state action a nullity.

320. Jurisprudence dictates that a failure to comply with mandatory statutory conditions for the initiation or confirmation of process renders the resulting detention or compulsion to attend coram non judice and a nullity ab

5813 initio. Where a statute imposes a mandatory "shall," strict compliance is the prerequisite for the exercise of jurisdiction, as the court's authority is derived solely from the adherence to these legislative mandates.

321. In accordance with the Canadian Guide to Uniform Legal Citation, the integrity of the Charging Instrument is paramount; any deviation from the prescribed forms under the Code that affects the substance of judicial oversight constitutes a jurisdictional defect that is not remediable via the curative provisions of the Code.

ISSUE #13(C): ANALYSIS

322. It is submitted that the deliberate removal of these vital statutory grids effectively neutered the constitutionally mandated "checks and balances" designed by Parliament. By physically removing the architecture of the Charging Instrument, the state did not merely commit a clerical error but engaged in a profound structural subversion of the judicial process. This excision represents a calculated attempt to bypass the "sober second look" of the judiciary, thereby allowing police-led detention to continue without independent verification.

323. By explicitly excising the page containing the confirmation component (the "Confirmation Component"), the entire package surrendered its facial and structural validity as a compelling instrument. The absence of the page 4 of 6 from the Lincoln County Law Association (the "Jurat Information Laying Crown Election Page") precluded the Justice from fulfilling the statutory duty to confirm the undertaking. Without this document, no evidence exists to suggest that the state's power to compel attendance was ever judicially authorized post-arrest. This absence is not an irregularity of form; it is a total failure of a condition precedent to the exercise of judicial power.

324. The Prosecution may posit that the initial, pre-arrest issuance of a warrant by a Superior Court judge (the "Superior Issuance") rendered subsequent confirmation by a lower court justice redundant, arguing that the higher court's authority subsumes the lower court's role and that the spirit of oversight was satisfied.

325. However, this postulate remains inherently flawed and structurally myopic; the Code explicitly demands the confirmation of the process post-arrest specifically to ensure ongoing, rigorous judicial oversight of the police's unilateral discretion to release. The Superior Issuance authorizes the arrest, but section 508 governs the continuation of state power and the transition from police custody to judicial supervision. To ignore this second stage is to permit an indefinite extension of police fiat, a condition that is ipso facto repugnant to the rule of law and the principles of fundamental justice under section 7 of the Charter.

326. Factum a judice, quod ad officium jure non pertinet, ratum non est; where the procedural prerequisites are ignored or physically deleted, the resulting judicial act is void. The destruction of the Confirmation Component created a "legal vacuum" where the police exercised detention powers without the requisite judicial warrant for the ongoing deprivation of liberty. This is not a matter of form but a matter of jurisdiction; the Court cannot "deem" a document valid when its very substance has been surgically removed to avoid oversight. The court's jurisdiction is founded upon the Charging Instrument; if the instrument is structurally hollow, the jurisdiction is non-existent.

327. While opposing counsel may suggest that this constitutes a mere irregularity curable by amendment, the direct contravention of a mandatory statute necessitates a finding of nullity. The status quo ante cannot be restored where the foundational document is physically mutilated to bypass oversight. Such acts constitute a "calculated non-compliance" that strikes at the heart of the administration of justice and renders the process void ab initio.

ISSUE #13(D): CONCLUSION

328. Consequently, the ongoing release conditions are legally void and unenforceable, as the Charging Instrument constitutes a jurisdictional nullity that failed to satisfy the condition precedent of judicial confirmation.

ISSUE 14: THE UTILIZATION OF THE "DEFAULT JUDGE" ENDORSEMENT AS AN ADMINISTRATIVE SUBTERFUGE

ISSUE #14(A):

329. Whether the irregular utilization of a default judge endorsement (the "Default Judge Endorsement") on October 3—significantly prior to the scheduled first appearance—constituted a deliberate administrative mechanism to bypass standard, rigorous intake scrutiny.

5814 ISSUE #14(B): RULE

330. The administration of justice requires that all filings be subjected to the rigorous, daily review of the assigned intake justice to ensure the status quo ante of legal regularity. Transparency in the intake process is a foundational requirement to ensure that defective or fraudulent instruments are identified prior to the issuance of a compelling order.

331. Any attempt to sequester a file from adversarial or public scrutiny via back-channel administrative triage may be deemed an abuse of process if it facilitates the filing of a document that is prima facie deficient. The doctrine of public open courts extends to the administrative processes that initiate criminal proceedings, ensuring that state power is exercised in the light of scrutiny.

332. Rules of Civil Procedure, R.R.O. 1990, Reg. 194, and the Criminal Rules of the Ontario Court of Justice, mandate transparency in the docketing process to prevent the "shadow filing" of defective instruments.

ISSUE #14(C): ANALYSIS

333. It is submitted that prematurely recording the matter under a generalized default judge (the "Default Judge")—as admitted by Mr. Michael Henriques as per the false information package (the "False Information Package")—intentionally shielded the procedurally toxic file from the review of the assigned intake justice. The use of this specific nomenclature, rather than the standard "Intake Justice," signals a departure from the regulated protocols of the Court. This Default Judge mechanism effectively acted as a jurisdictional bypass, allowing a fundamentally flawed document to gain the veneer of judicial sanction.

334. By pulling the file into the Default Judge stream weeks before the public was entitled to witness its appearance, the state effectively avoided the "front-line" verification process. This administrative "loophole" allowed a document that was facially invalid to gain the appearance of judicial sanction without ever being subjected to the critical eye of a justice performing their primary intake duties. This constitutes a sequestering of the file from the scrutiny that typically attends the commencement of a criminal prosecution, thereby shielding systemic errors from detection.

335. Had the documentation—replete with missing pages, fabricated replacement sheets, and a fabricated jurat—been presented in the ordinary course of standard docketing, a seasoned justice would have immediately identified the profound jurisdictional anomalies and structural defects. The Default Judge Endorsement mechanism served as a "black box" where procedural defects were buried rather than examined. It is a fundamental principle that administrative convenience cannot override jurisdictional integrity; where the latter is sacrificed for the former, the process is a nullity.

336. The Prosecution may argue this represents a standard administrative triage function (the "Triage Defence") used to manage high-volume caseloads and prevent systemic backlog. They might suggest that the Default Judge is merely an efficiency tool to prevent backlog and ensure files are ready for their first appearance.

337. However, the strategic, timed deployment of this mechanism, in conjunction with a six-week delayed filing, reveals a cohesive and undeniable pattern of procedural evasion. This was not a pursuit of efficiency, but a pursuit of obfuscation. The state utilized an administrative shortcut to bypass the very scrutiny that is designed to catch the exact errors present in this file. The delay in filing, followed by the use of an irregular endorsement, indicates a systemic failure of transparency that cannot be cured by the mere assertion of high caseloads.

338. As the Default Judge mechanism was utilized strictly to bypass the adversarial audience, the resulting acts were coram non judice. Where fraud or administrative manipulation is found, the Court must rely upon Landreville v. The Queen, [1977] 2 F.C. 326 (the "Landreville Decision"), citing Lazarus Estates Ltd. v. Beasley, [1956] 1 Q.B. 702 (the "Lazarus Doctrine"), which articulates that "fraud unravels everything." No court can permit a party to benefit from a "default" that was manufactured through the deliberate circumvention of public process and the fabrication of court records.

ISSUE #14(D): CONCLUSION

339. The use of the Default Judge Endorsement in these circumstances was ultra vires the standard administrative protocols, serving as a tactical veil for a jurisdictional nullity.

5815 ISSUE 15: THE FACIAL INVALIDITY AND STRUCTURAL DEFICIENCY OF THE CHARGING INSTRUMENT

ISSUE #15

340. Whether the structurally deficient and custom-typed documentation presented to the Court (the "Fabricated Information")—being a non-standard version of the prescribed form—is functionally capable of sustaining a criminal prosecution or accurately recording a formal judicial disposition.

ISSUE #15(B): RULE

341. A valid Form 2 Information is a provincially mandated, meticulously structured instrument containing mandatory grids for tracking Crown elections, pleas, remands, and final dispositions. These grids are not merely aesthetic; they are the functional record of the exercise of state power and the history of a prosecution.

342. The Crown's paramount quasi-judicial duty, as articulated in Boucher v. The Queen, [1955] S.C.R. 16 (the "Boucher Principle"), is to ensure that justice is done through a fair and rigorous process. This duty includes ensuring that the documents upon which a prosecution rests are legally and structurally sound and capable of serving as the court's official record.

343. The absence of the prescribed statutory form renders a document incapable of acting as the "record of the court," meaning any judicial acts purportedly recorded thereon are ipso facto non-existent. A court speaks through its record; where the record is non-existent or structurally incapable of housing the requisite data, the court is mute and the jurisdiction is void.

ISSUE #15(C): ANALYSIS

344. The custom-typed replacement page, bizarrely pasted onto police letterhead, lacks the essential architecture required for statutory tracking. It is a "bastardized" document that fails to provide the necessary space for the mandatory endorsements of the Court, thereby making any future record-keeping an exercise in fiction. This represents a total departure from the status quo ante of standard judicial forms and violates the regulations governing the maintenance of court records.

345. The Prosecution, recognizing its duty under the Boucher Principle, correctly stayed the proceedings (the "Stay of Proceedings") because it is legally and administratively impossible to proceed upon a document that lacks the physical capacity to record a conviction, an election, or an acquittal. The Stay of Proceedings is an implicit admission that the document could not survive the scrutiny of a trial court or serve as a valid basis for a criminal judgment.

346. To allow a prosecution to proceed on a custom-typed sheet would invite administrative chaos and violate the principle of certainty in criminal law. The integrity of the court record is the foundation of the administration of justice; once that record is replaced by an unverified police-created substitute, the entire proceeding is tainted by the specter of arbitrariness and the potential for fabrication.

347. Opposing counsel might argue substantial compliance (the "Substantial Compliance Argument"), suggesting that as long as the charges are clear, the form of the document is secondary and the accused suffers no prejudice. They might contend that the custom-typed nature of the page is a mere technical irregularity that does not go to the heart of the prosecution's merit.

348. However, the total excision of tracking components renders the document a "non-form" rather than an irregular form. Acta exteriora indicant interiora secreta; the outward acts of mutilating the document and replacing it with a custom-typed page indicate a secret intent to bypass the law's formal requirements. There can be no "substantial compliance" when the very structure of the document has been discarded to avoid the mandatory grids of the Code. Prejudice is inherent in the deprivation of a proper record of the court, as it precludes the possibility of an accurate appeal or judicial review.

349. The full answer is also contained in section 32 of the Interpretation Act.

ISSUE #15(D): CONCLUSION

5816 350. The proceedings were stayed because the Fabricated Information was structurally incapable of sustaining a criminal prosecution, rendering the exercise void ab initio.

ISSUE 16: THE EVIDENTIARY IMPLICATIONS OF THE ABSENCE OF MINISTRY RECORDS

ISSUE #16(A):

351. Whether the confirmed absence of responsive records from the ministry of the attorney general (the "Ministry") regarding the swearing of the Charging Instrument definitively proves the event never occurred within the designated jurisdiction.

ISSUE #16(B): RULE

352. The maxim omnia praesumuntur rite et solemniter esse acta (the "Presumption of Regularity") assumes state officials acted properly; however, this presumption is rebuttable by evidence of systemic failure or definitive institutional silence.

353. Where fabrication is alleged, the Lazarus Doctrine dictates that no court will allow a party to keep an advantage obtained by fraud. The burden of proof shifts when the state's own auditing mechanisms provide a "nil" response regarding the existence of a foundational act required for the deprivation of liberty.

ISSUE #16(C): ANALYSIS

354. The Ministry confirmed the absolute absence of internal records (the "Nil Response") indicating the named informant swore a Charging Instrument during the relevant temporal window. This response was not merely "inconclusive" but was a definitive statement from the state's own auditing body that no such event was recorded. This Nil Response is the functional equivalent of evidence that the event never transpired within the authorized court infrastructure.

355. The Prosecution may dismiss this absence as an archival delay (the "Administrative Delay Argument"), suggesting that the records exist but have not yet been digitized or indexed. They may argue that "absence of evidence is not evidence of absence" and that the presumption of regularity should still apply despite the lack of a paper trail.

356. However, a formal government assertion of non-existence regarding a liberty-depriving document carries insurmountable evidentiary weight. In the context of a criminal prosecution, where the state seeks to deprive a citizen of their liberty, the "benefit of the doubt" regarding missing records cannot go to the state. The burden shifts to the state to prove the document was sworn if their own record-keeping system says it was not. To allow otherwise is to allow the state to operate with impunity outside of its own audited and legislated infrastructure.

357. If the swearing event did not digitally or logically occur within the tracking system, it follows axiomatically that the purported judicial signature validating the event is a fabricated phantom. A signature cannot be valid if the event it purportedly witnesses never took place in the physical or digital reality of the Court. The Charging Instrument is thus revealed as a hollow artifact produced through fabrication.

358. In the Landreville Decision, the court emphasized that the appearance of regularity cannot shield an act that is fundamentally fraudulent. This establishes an overwhelming prima facie case of systemic fabrication, reversing the burden onto the state to produce the original justice who allegedly took the oath. Their failure to do so confirms that the document is a nullity born of fraud and that the swearing event is a legal fiction.

ISSUE #16(D): CONCLUSION

359. The Nil Response constitutes irrefragable proof that the document was fabricated, rendering all subsequent judicial acts coram non judice.

ISSUE 17: SYSTEMIC FLAWS IN THE UTILIZATION OF CIVILIAN INFORMANTS

ISSUE #17(A):

360. Whether the entrenched systemic reliance upon civilian administrative clerks (the "Civilian Informants") to routinely swear Informations based upon a rapid digital review constitutes an arbitrary mechanism profoundly prone to abuse and fabrication.

ISSUE #17(B): RULE

361. While section 504 of the Code permits the swearing of an Information upon "information and belief," the solemnity of the oath must not be divorced from the objective truth. The oath is the mechanism by which the informant assumes responsibility for the gravity of the allegations and the potential deprivation of the accused's liberty.

362. An oath taken in total ignorance of the underlying facts is a profanation of the judicial process and a violation of the foundational principles of criminal law. The informant must have reasonable and probable grounds to believe the facts alleged are true; a "conveyor belt" approach makes the formation of such a belief impossible.

ISSUE #17(C): ANALYSIS

363. The utilization of Civilian Informants who possess zero organic knowledge of the investigation fundamentally degrades and trivializes the judicial safeguard of the oath. When the individual laying the charge has never met the witnesses, seen the evidence, or understood the context of the arrest, the oath becomes a mere administrative ritual rather than a true attestation of belief. This creates a dangerous distance between the state's power and the accountability for its exercise.

364. The Prosecution will defend this as an absolute administrative necessity (the "Necessity Defence"), arguing that the volume of charges in a modern city makes it impossible for the investigating officers to swear every Information. They will claim that "information and belief" allows for this secondary review as an efficient triage of state resources and that appellate courts have sanctioned this practice.

365. However, generalized necessity cannot cure specific factual errors and the resultant arbitrary arrest. The "information and belief" must be reasonable and probable. In this instance, the Civilian Informants were provided with a digital summary that was itself defective, leading them to swear to a set of facts that were demonstrably false. The "industrialization" of the oath has removed the individual conscience from the charging process, replacing it with a blind adherence to digital prompts.

366. In this instance, the Jurat Information Laying Crown Election Page was signed by an individual structurally incapable of verifying the allegations. The process was so "streamlined" that it removed the individual's ability to exercise any discretion or critical thought. The informant was not a witness to the truth, but a witness to a digital prompt, rendering the oath a hollow shell.

367. This systemic detachment facilitated procedural overreach, as the individual taking the oath bore no personal accountability for the accuracy of the investigative files. Quod ad officium jure non pertinet, ratum non est; that which does not belong to the office is not valid. The clerk was acting as a "conduit" for police fabrications rather than a "buffer" for justice, thereby facilitating an arbitrary deprivation of liberty.

ISSUE #17(D): CONCLUSION

368. The industrialized "conveyor belt" approach to the swearing of Informations resulted in a blind attestation of factual inaccuracies, rendering the process a nullity and the detention arbitrary and unlawful.

ISSUE 18: PRE-EXISTING JUDICIAL CONFLICTS OF INTEREST AND THE ACTIONABLE APPREHENSION OF BIAS

ISSUE #18(A): ISSUE

369. Whether the historical, deeply contentious, and adversarial family law litigation involving the accused, the opposing parties, and the presiding judge's former law firm generates a constitutionally impermissible and actionable apprehension of bias, thereby rendering the subsequent adjudication a nullity ab initio and an exercise of power extra jurisdictionem.

ISSUE #18(B):RULE

370. The fundamental principle of natural justice, nemo iudex in causa sua (no one should be a judge in their own cause), dictates that a jurist must be beyond even the slightest shadow of suspicion regarding their impartiality This requirement is not merely a matter of judicial etiquette but a constitutional cornerstone of the rule of law.

371. The governing legal threshold is established in Committee for Justice and Liberty v. National Energy Board, 1976 CanLII 2 (SCC), [1978] 1 SCR 369 (the "National Energy Board Decision"), which posits that the test is whether an informed, reasonable, and right-minded observer, viewing the matter realistically and practically, would perceive a reasonable apprehension of bias.

372. Ethical imperatives articulated by the Canadian Judicial Council and the Principles of Judicial Office mandate that a judge must recuse themselves where a "highly personalized history" exists. A prior senior partnership in a firm actively litigating against a party creates an inherent, indelible conflict of interest that cannot be cured by the passage of time or judicial platitudes.

ISSUE #18(C):ANALYSIS

373. Historical Senior Partnership. At the material time of said litigation involving the Epstein Cole LLP (Mr. Papadimitropoulos) and Ms. Nicole Artopoulos, the presiding judge maintained a senior partnership at the directly opposing firm. This established a deeply adversarial, highly localized nexus between the adjudicator and the accused. The jurist's historical alignment with the defeated party creates a prima facie conflict that undermines the "cold neutrality of an impartial judge." The transition from the boardroom of an adversary to the bench of an adjudicator in a matter involving the same individual is a jurisdictional leap that the law does not permit.

374. Rebuttal of Remoteness. While the Crown or the CJ of the SCJ President or delegate may postulate that historical professional associations are prima facie remote (the "Remoteness Defence"), this argument is ipso facto deficient and legally hollow. The "remoteness" of the association is entirely eclipsed by the "high-stakes" nature of the prior conflict and the contemporaneous, highly irregular issuance of a severe criminal warrant against the accused by that exact jurist. The proximity of the prior loss to the current exercise of judicial coercion suggests a retaliatory motive that no reasonable observer could ignore. The law does not require proof of actual spite; the appearance of the possibility of such spite is sufficient to vitiate jurisdiction.

375. The Presumption of Prejudice. The intersection of this unresolved historical financial conflict with the sudden, anomalous deployment of judicial power creates an inescapable, overwhelming presumption of prejudice. Under the doctrine of factum a judice, quod ad officium jure non pertinet, ratum non est (an act of a judge which does not pertain to his office is of no force), the issuance of the warrant was an invalid exercise of power by a jurist who had lost the jurisdictional competence to act due to a lack of impartiality.

CONCLUSION

376. It is submitted that the pre-existing conflict necessitated mandatory recusal. The failure to do so completely vitiates the lawful, objective authority of the warrant from the moment of its execution, rendering all subsequent state action flowing therefrom fundamentally unconstitutional, ultra vires, and a legal nullity.

ISSUE 19: THE RUSE, RETALIATORY TIMELINE, AND THE DOCTRINE OF ABUSE OF PROCESS

ISSUE #19(A):

377. Whether the deliberate orchestration of a deceptive property ruse (the "Ruse") to effectuate the arrest, coupled with the immediate, targeted deprivation of property, constitutes an unconstitutional retaliation and a prima facie abuse of process designed to suppress ongoing civil litigation and circumvent the Canadian Charter of Rights and Freedoms.

ISSUE #19(B):

378. In R. v. Rothman, 1981 CanLII 6 (SCC), [1981] 1 SCR 640 (the "Rothman Decision"), the Supreme Court of Canada articulated that while police trickery is not inherently unlawful, it is strictly prohibited when the conduct is so "appalling, manipulative, or shocking" that it offends the community's sense of fair play and decency. This standard serves as a constitutional floor, below which state conduct becomes an actionable assault on the integrity of the justice system. The doctrine of abuse of process, as refined in R. v. Nixon, 2011 SCC 34 (the "Nixon Decision"), protects the integrity of the judicial system from state conduct that is "conspicuous" in its unfairness or is motivated by an improper, retaliatory purpose that targets a citizen's protected interests.

ISSUE #19(C): ANALYSIS

The Stratagem of Deception

379. The state agents enticed the accused into custody under entirely false pretenses regarding property recovery. This stratagem was deployed specifically because the law enforcement officers possessed the mens rea that their originating paperwork was fatally flawed and would be identified as a nullity by the legally trained accused. The "Ruse" was a tactical weapon used to bypass the accused's inevitable and correct legal objection to a void process. By luring the accused into a "safe" environment, the police effectively engaged in a kidnapping under the colour of law.

ISSUE #19(D):REBUTTAL OF DE-ESCALATION

380. The Crown may aver that the Ruse was a "peaceful de-escalation method" (the "De-escalation Defence"). However, this assertion is robustly rebutted by the intentional, contemporaneous denial of section 10(a) Canadian Charter of Rights and Freedoms (the "Charter") rights. If the intent were truly the preservation of the peace, the state would not have simultaneously engaged in the systematic suppression of the accused's right to be informed of the reasons for their detention. Deception is not a tool of de-escalation; it is a tool of subversion designed to catch a citizen off-guard and prevent the timely assertion of constitutional rights.

ISSUE #19(E):THE FRAUDULENT FOUNDATION

381. Where fraud is found in the conduct of state actors, the court must rely upon the principles in Landreville v. The Queen (No. 2) (1977), 1977 CanLII 1944 (FC), citing Lazarus Estates Ltd v Beasley, [1956] 1 QB 702 (the "Lazarus Estates Decision"), which establishes that "fraud unravels everything." This principle is not limited to commercial contracts; it is a universal axiom of law. A warrant obtained through forum-shopping and executed through a ruse is a document born of fraud.

Retaliatory Consequences

382. The retaliatory timeline—initiating criminal process to stifle civil claims—is a hallmark of such fraud. The state's conduct in "luring" a citizen into a deprivation of liberty under the guise of property assistance constitutes a subversion of the Charter that no court can countenance without bringing the administration of justice into disrepute. The use of police powers as a shield for judicial conflict is an actionable abuse of the highest order.

ISSUE #19(F):CONCLUSION

383. The orchestration of the Ruse constitutes a severe, intentional infringement of the Charter. Such conduct is coram non judice insofar as the state sought to exercise power through a fraudulent pretext, rendering the resulting detention an absolute nullity that requires immediate judicial repudiation.

ISSUE 20: THE "INTAKE COURT ENDORSEMENT" LEXICON AND JURISDICTIONAL CROSS-CONTAMINATION

ISSUE #20(A): THE ISSUE – LANGUAGE MATTERS

384. Whether the utilization of the specific phrase "Intake Court Endorsement" (the "Endorsement Lexicon") conclusively demonstrates that the document originated from a civil/family law jurisdiction, thereby proving a fatal procedural cross-contamination and institutional overreach that exceeds the court's criminal mandate.

ISSUE #20(B): RULE

385. Formal legal instruments commanding the deprivation of liberty are defined by their strict, unwavering adherence to a precise statutory lexicon. In the realm of criminal law, the forms are not mere suggestions; they are the vessels of the state's legitimate power. The Criminal Code, RSC 1985, c C-46 (the "Criminal Code") and the Criminal Rules of the Ontario Court of Justice (the "OCJ Criminal Rules") prescribe the exclusive terminology for criminal process. Deviations from these prescribed forms are not merely "irregularities" but jurisdictional defects that render the process nullius juris.

ISSUE #20(C):ANALYSIS

Alien Terminology

386. The terminology "Intake Court Endorsement" is entirely alien to criminal jurisprudence and at the very least at that stage per se. While there is but one criminal case that ever utilized such language of "Intake Court Endorsement", it (see: Brown (Re), 2026 CanLII 10959 (Ontario Review Board) (which has its head of said board in former SCJ Judge (see: Michael R. Dambrot, K.C.,) utilized it after an individual suffering from severe mental illness and schizophrenia, substance abuse et al, had engaged in stabbing another individual with a knife on his property. It is a proprietary, administrative construct utilized exclusively by the Superior Court of Justice family law divisions to issue rapid interim directions (the "Family Law Construct"). Its appearance in a criminal context is an ontological impossibility for a validly generated criminal warrant. It serves as an indelible forensic marker of the document's illegitimate origin.

3.2. THE CLERICAL FALLACY.

387. The Crown may attempt to dismiss this as a "benign clerical misnomer" or a mere "template error" (the "Clerical Error Argument"). However, in a bifurcated justice system, a justice of the peace sitting in criminal intake possesses ("Criminal E-Intake Portal") no computer template, no training, and no jurisdictional authority to spontaneously generate a family-law endorsement. To suggest otherwise is to suggest a level of institutional incompetence that would itself be a grounds for nullity.

5821 3.3. INSTITUTIONAL OVERREACH

388. The utilization of this specific family law phrase is the "smoking gun" (the "Documentary Proof"), irrevocably exposing the family court origins of the fabricated process. It proves the deliberate circumvention of the standardized criminal e-intake portal and a total collapse of the "separation of powers" between family and criminal registries. This indicates that the matter was funneled through a family registry to avoid the automated safeguards of the criminal system.

3.4. NULLITY VS. IRREGULARITY

389. As this act was ultra vires, the presiding judge acted entirely outside their prescribed administrative office. The proceeding is a nullity under the doctrine of coram non judice—before one who is definitively not a judge of competent jurisdiction over the specific, improperly placed criminal matter.

CONCLUSION

390. The utilization of civil terminology to effectuate a criminal arrest is an irremediable irregularity that ascends to the level of a nullity, as it represents a direct contravention of the jurisdictional boundaries established by the Criminal Code and the rule of law.

ISSUE 21: NINE STATUTORY BREACHES OF FORM 7 AND THE STRUCTURAL NULLITY OF THE WARRANT

ISSUE #21(A):

391. Whether the document utilized by police to justify the arrest fundamentally and structurally deviates from the mandatory substantive requirements of a Form 7 Arrest Warrant (the "Form 7"), rendering it legally void, unenforceable, and a nullity.

ISSUE #20(B):RULE

392. Pursuant to section 32 of the Interpretation Act, RSC 1985, c I-21 (the "Interpretation Act"), deviations in prescribed forms that affect the "core substance" or are "calculated to mislead" are definitively fatal. This section codifies the principle of "substantial compliance," but underscores that the "essence" of the form must be preserved.

393. A valid warrant must strictly comply with the Criminal Code requirements regarding territorial direction, identification of the accused, and the specific, active command to arrest to ensure the protection of the subject's liberty interests.

ISSUE #20(C):ANALYSIS

The Catalogue of Deficiencies

394. The purported warrant entirely lacks: (i) the mandatory territorial direction commanding peace officers to act; (ii) the subject's critical date of birth; (iii) active command language ("ordered... to immediately arrest"); (iv) explicit indications of the underlying offenses; and (v) a verifiable, authorized signature (the "Nine Breaches"). Each of these is a pillar of judicial authorization; without them, the document is mere "scrivener's waste." The omission of the territorial direction, in particular, renders the document a "blanket" authorization that the common law has abhorred for centuries.

The Liberty Safeguard

5822 395. The Crown will inevitably argue that the "substantive intention" of the court is clear ex facie (the "Purposive Analysis Argument"). This position is legally bankrupt. The deprivation of physical liberty demands uncompromising, literal adherence to established penal forms to prevent state tyranny and "accidental" arrests. A "purposive" reading cannot conjure up a signature or a date of birth that is simply not there.

Irremediable Void

396. A document lacking these nine foundational pillars is fundamentally incapable of lawfully commanding a peace officer or compelling a citizen. Following the principle that a direct contravention of a statute results in a nullity, this document never acquired the force of law. It is a "paper tiger" that cannot shield the state from the consequences of its unauthorized actions. It was void ab initio and cannot be cured by a post-facto rationalization of "intent." The state cannot rely on its own failure to adhere to mandatory forms to justify an illegal arrest.

ISSUE #21(D): CONCLUSION

397. The document is not a mere irregularity; it is a nullity. The resulting arrest constitutes an actionable assault and false imprisonment ab initio, as the "officers of the law" acted without any valid legal instrument to authorize their interference with the accused's person.

ISSUE 22: DIGITAL SIGNATURE INVALIDITY UNDER THE CANADA EVIDENCE ACT AND PIPEDA

ISSUE #22(A): ISSUE

398. Whether the merely typed, unencrypted phrase "Digitally signed" on the Jurat Information Laying Crown Election Page (the "Jurat Information Laying Crown Election Page") satisfies the rigorous cryptographic and statutory requirements for a secure electronic signature under federal law, or if it constitutes a legal nullity.

ISSUE #22(B): RULE

399. The Canada Evidence Act, RSC 1985, c C-5 (the "Canada Evidence Act") and the Personal Information Protection and Electronic Documents Act, SC 2000, c 5 ("PIPEDA") require a "secure electronic signature" to involve a cryptographic hash, an asymmetric key pair, and a certificate of authenticity to ensure absolute non-repudiation and integrity.

400. A signature that cannot be verified for cryptographic integrity is not a signature in the eyes of the law; it is merely text. The Secure Electronic Signature Regulations, SOR/2005-30, provide the technical benchmarks that must be met for a digital mark to carry the weight of a judicial signature.

ISSUE #22(C): ANALYSIS

The Cryptographic Failure

401. The document contains merely unencrypted, manually typed Arial text. It lacks the mandatory Public Key Infrastructure (PKI) encryption required by the Secure Electronic Signature Regulations. There is no evidence of a "digital certificate" or a "hash function" that would link the typed name to the specific jurist. The phrase "Digitally signed" is a self-serving statement of fact that is not supported by the underlying metadata of the file.

The Functional Fallacy

402. The Crown may aver that a typed name is the "modern equivalent of a wax seal" (the "Functional Equivalent Argument"). This is definitively vitiated by explicit federal regulations designed precisely to prevent this exact species of rudimentary, desktop forgery. If a typed name were sufficient, any clerk with a keyboard could authorize a deprivation of liberty. The law recognizes a "digital signature" as a specific technological creature, not a semantic choice of font.

Absence of Authority

403. An unencrypted typed name is legally, functionally, and cryptographically indistinguishable from a blank piece of paper. Without a valid, secure digital signature, the judicial authority required to engage the state's coercive power was never triggered. The document remains an unsigned draft with no more legal weight than an informal memorandum, rendering the warrant ipso facto void. The "Jurat Information Laying Crown Election Page" remains fundamentally incomplete.

ISSUE #22(D): CONCLUSION

404. The document is inherently, statutorily unsigned. It fails to meet the threshold of a "secure electronic signature," rendering the purported warrant a nullity that could not authorize a lawful arrest.

ISSUE 23: FORGERY, UTTERING A FALSE DOCUMENT, AND THE APPLICATION OF THE SMITH PRECEDENT

ISSUE

405. Whether the manual, unauthorized generation of the endorsement, bearing an unauthorized typed signature, and its subsequent tactical presentation to the accused to justify detention constitutes forgery and uttering a false document under the Criminal Code.

2. RULE

406. Under section 321 of the Criminal Code, a "false document" is one that "tells a lie about itself" regarding its origin, its authorization, or the circumstances of its creation. In R. v. Smith, 2020 ONCJ 611 (the "Smith Decision"), the court clearly delineated that placing an unauthorized signature onto an official system, even without malicious intent or for "administrative convenience," satisfies the elements of criminal forgery. The court held that the integrity of the judicial record is paramount.

3. ANALYSIS

407. The Lie of Authorization. The document "tells a lie about itself" by purporting to be authorized by a specific jurist who did not actively, securely utilize a recognized signing mechanism. It masquerades as a judicial order while being an administrative fabrication. It "tells a lie" by claiming to be a criminal warrant when it is actually more in the nature of a family law endorsement form or "family law terminology" like it was some sort of endorsement between two parties that were separated and seeking a divorce along with other remedies.

408. Rebuttal of Good Faith. The Crown may suggest the frontline police acted upon a bona fide, innocent belief in the document's authenticity (the "Innocent Reliance Argument"). However, the Smith Decision established that the specific intent to merely deceive the justice system regarding the document's procedural authenticity is wholly sufficient to establish the mens rea for the offense. The police "uttered" this document knowing it was not a standard Form 7 warrant.

409. The Role of the Default Judge. Ignorantia juris non escusat (ignorance of the law is no excuse). The blind reliance on flawed registry practices by the "Default Judge" (the "DJ")—as admitted by Mr. Michael Henriques—does not excuse the act of uttering a forged instrument to effect a severe deprivation of liberty. The use of a "Default 5824 Judge" to bypass jurisdictional e-filing protocols is a hallmark of institutional forgery, where convenience is prioritized over the rule of law.

CONCLUSION

410. The deployment of the forged instrument to effect a physical detention satisfies the elements of uttering a false document. The process is void and the state agents involved have engaged in actionable malfeasance that cannot be cured by an apology or an "administrative" excuse.

ISSUE 24: E-FILING MANDATES, INSTITUTIONAL INTEGRITY, AND CORAM NON JUDICE

1. ISSUE

411. Whether the deliberate circumvention of mandatory e-filing protocols, combined with the adjudicator acting outside their administrative office and criminal jurisdiction, renders the proceedings an absolute nullity under the doctrine of coram non judice.

2. RULE

412. The ancient legal maxim factum a judice quod ad officium ejus non pertinet, ratum non est (an act of a judge which does not pertain to his office is of no force) is strictly applicable to the jurisdictional boundaries of modern tribunals.

413. In Canada (Minister of Citizenship and Immigration) v. Vavilov, 2019 SCC 65 (the "Vavilov Decision"), the Supreme Court of Canada affirmed that the rule of law requires even superior courts to operate within their prescribed statutory mandates and procedural demarcations to maintain public confidence.

3. ANALYSIS

Jurisdictional Bypassing

414. By aggressively bypassing the recognized, audited digital criminal intake portals and explicitly funneling the matter through a completely unrelated civil family registry, the criminal jurisdiction of the Superior Court of Justice was never legitimately, procedurally engaged. This was a "shadow proceeding" that avoided the scrutiny of the standard criminal registry. The e-filing mandates are not mere administrative suggestions; they are the digital border of the court's jurisdiction.

The Inherent Jurisdiction Fallacy

415. The Crown may assert that the court's "inherent jurisdiction" is boundless and capable of subsuming procedural irregularities (the "Inherent Jurisdiction Argument"). This is a profound mischaracterization. Inherent jurisdiction is not a license for institutional anarchy or the circumvention of mandatory filing rules; it cannot save an adjudication made in the absolute absence of a properly filed originating document. Inherent jurisdiction exists to fill gaps in the law, not to override it.

Institutional Integrity

416. An adjudication made via a civil portal for a criminal matter is an act performed coram non judice—before one who is definitively not a judge of competent jurisdiction over the improperly placed matter. Such acts are irredeemably void and cannot be saved by post-facto rationalizations of "administrative necessity." To allow such cross-contamination would invite a system where criminal process could be hidden in the vast volume of civil filings.

CONCLUSION

417. The failure to properly initiate the proceeding digitally deprived the OCJ and the public of its baseline jurisdiction. However, this is counteracted by the Criminal Proceeding Rules which required the submitting of the Indictment, which includes an information electronically via email to the Court electronically by email. The language of the "Court" is used which means the SCJ in the place in which a Proceeding is pending or being heard, as the case may be. This is distinct from "Court Office" which implies that law enforcement can submit an Indictment or Information to the Courthouse specifically and not a specific "Court Office". Hence, why the first floor of SCJ 361 University Courthouse was the correct "Court Office" based upon Madam Justice Shore being the undisclosed (to the Applicant or Accused) SCJ Judge. The one thing remained for certain after the Applicant discovered the False Information Package in late March 2025 was that the authorizing, issuing, giving, making or endorsing in relation to the INTAKE COURT ENDORSEMENT (SEPT 23 2024) (not fictitious Intake Court Endorsement) was NOT JP Jiri.

418. All subsequent judicial acts, including the warrant and the arrest, are null, void, and of absolutely no legal force.

ISSUE NUMBER 25: THE PROCEDURAL IMPERATIVE OF CERTIFICATION PURSUANT TO RULE 43.03

A. ISSUE

419. It falls to be determined whether the strategic effectuation of service regarding a subpoena under Rule 43.03 of the Criminal Proceedings Rules upon the originating civil registry situated on the first floor—as distinguished from the secondary criminal intake—constitutes a legally insurmountable mechanism whereby the administration is compelled to formally acknowledge either a state of absolute nullity concerning the proceedings or an unauthorized excursion beyond the established boundaries of jurisdictional competence.

420. A subsidiary question arises as to whether the refusal of the "Court Office" (the "Court Office") to certify the non-existence of such records, in the face of a direct service at the locus of origin, constitutes a contumacious disregard for the statutory mandates governing the transparency of judicial records

B. RULE

421. The Criminal Proceedings Rules, Rule 1.03, provides an exhaustive and restrictive definition of the Court Office, identifying it as the precise physical or electronic locus wherein a proceeding was originally commenced. This definition precludes the Crown from retroactively shifting the "home" of a file for the purpose of avoiding service or shielding records from scrutiny. Pursuant to Rule 43.03, an absolute statutory entitlement is vested in an applicant to command the immediate production of master records from the relevant official. This power is plenary and is intended to ensure that the court remains a court of record, where every judicial act is traceable to a specific filing. Rule 4.05(6) of the Rules of Civil Procedure dictates that where the originating office maintains no record of a filing, the document in question is deemed, by operation of law, never to have been filed (ipso facto). Such a document is a juridical ghost, incapable of supporting any subsequent order or warrant.

422. The doctrine of coram non judice establishes that any adjudication performed by a body lacking the requisite jurisdiction is a nullity and possesses no legal force. As established in Papp v. Papp, [1970] 1 O.R. 331 (C.A.), jurisdiction is not a matter of administrative convenience but a fundamental prerequisite for the exercise of judicial power.

C. ANALYSIS

423. It is observed that the service of the Notice of Application upon the manager of the first-floor registry—the site where the family endorsement was physically originated by the staff of Madam Justice Shore—utilizes the precise definition of the Court Office to trigger the production mandates of Rule 43.03. By serving the very office 5826 where the illicit "family-law" notations were entered into the system, the applicant effectively traps the administration within its own data architecture.

424. Notwithstanding any potential assertions by the Crown regarding a purported technical error in service—specifically the contention that the application ought to have been directed to the second-floor criminal intake desk—such a position is fundamentally subordinated to the plain-text reading of Rule 1.03. To allow the state to "hand-off" the file to a different registry after the fact would be to sanction a shell game that undermines the integrity of the Ontario Superior Court.

425. Any counter-argument pertaining to the "presumption of regularity" (omnia praesumuntur rite esse acta) is rebutted by the physical absence of the record at the locus of origin. The Crown cannot rely on the record for the purposes of arrest while disclaiming the registry of that record's origin for the purposes of service. This contradiction offends the principle of allegans contraria non est audiendus.

426. In consequence thereof, the manager of the first-floor registry is situated in a condition of administrative paralysis: there must be either a formal certification of a total absence of records—thereby confirming that the peace officers executed an unfiled and thus non-existent instrument, rendering the matter a nullity—or the production of the fabricated family-law endorsement, which prima facie proves the jurisdictional breach and the absence of a lawful Form 7.

427. Even if the Crown invokes the "De Facto Officer" doctrine—suggesting that the Judge's acts should be upheld to prevent public chaos—it is submitted that this doctrine is inapplicable where the act in question is a liberty-restricting warrant issued in direct contravention of the Criminal Code. As established in R. v. Bilodeau, 2017 ONCA 200, administrative shortcuts cannot insulate a jurisdictional nullity from judicial review

D. CONCLUSION

428. The service under Rule 43.03 is valid and necessitates a certification that will, by logical necessity, expose the proceedings as a jurisdictional nullity, thereby mandating the immediate quashing of the illicitly procured warrant and the excision of all resulting entries.

ISSUE NUMBER 26: THE LEGAL INHERENCE OF THE FORM 7 WARRANT VS. ADMINISTRATIVE ENDORSEMENTS

ISSUE

429. It must be adjudicated whether an "Intake Court Endorsement" dated 23 September 2024 (the "Endorsement"), supplemented by auxiliary administrative correspondence and electronic communications, satisfies the rigorous statutory criteria to constitute a valid arrest warrant, or whether the absence of a Form 7 renders any subsequent deprivation of liberty a nullity.

430. Furthermore, it must be considered whether the "Ibula Email" (the "Administrative Communication"), despite its lack of judicial form, was intended to operate as a de facto instrument of compulsion, thereby bypassing the constitutional protections afforded by the Criminal Code.

B. RULE

431. Section 493 of the Criminal Code of Canada provides an exhaustive definition of "warrant" (the "Warrant"), mandating the utilization of Form 7. This form is the exclusive vehicle for the exercise of the state's power to arrest, and no alternative "administrative" substitute is recognized by law.

457. Under the Interpretation Act, the use of prescribed forms is a substantive requirement where the liberty of the subject is at stake. A Form 7 must contain a clear directive to peace officers, the identity of the accused, the specific offence, and the signature of a justice acting within the relevant territorial jurisdiction. The omission of any of these elements is not a mere irregularity but a fatal defect

458. In Alfano v. Piersanti, 2014 ONSC 60 (Alfano), the court affirmed that judicial acts must be reducible to a formal, public court record to possess validity; informal or off-record communications, such as staff emails or internal notations, are devoid of the character of judicial orders.

459. The Supreme Court of Canada in R. v. Adams, [1995] 4 S.C.R. 153 (Adams), emphasized that statutory requirements for warrants are not mere "technicalities" but are essential substantive safeguards of the Canadian Charter of Rights and Freedoms.

C. ANALYSIS

460. The Endorsement and the subsequent electronic mail from administrative staff lack every essential element of a Form 7. They do not identify the offence with particularity, nor do they bear the requisite judicial signature for a warrant of arrest. Instead, they represent a series of administrative "directives" that were treated by the police as though they possessed the force of law.
461. It is anticipated that the respondent may contend that the Endorsement functions as a "functional equivalent" to a warrant under the doctrine of substantial compliance. However, this argument fails in the context of criminal process, where the Adams precedent demands strict adherence to the Criminal Code. The "Functional Equivalence Fallacy" cannot bridge the gap between a judge's scheduling note and a statutory warrant for the seizure of a person.
462. Furthermore, the reliance on the "Jurat Information Laying Crown Election Page" (the "Jurat Page")—specifically page 4 of 6 from the Lincoln County Law Association—to bolster the Endorsement is misplaced. That document, often referred to as the "Jurat Information Laying Crown Election Page", cannot retroactively cure the absence of a signed Form 7. A jurat page is an evidentiary acknowledgment of an oath; it lacks the commanding authority of a warrant directed to a peace officer.
463. As established in R. v. Grant, 2009 SCC 32, any action that restricts liberty must be predicated upon a clear and reviewable judicial act. The break in the chain of authority between the judicial intent (as expressed in an unfiled endorsement) and the administrative staff's email renders the entire process coram non judice. To hold otherwise would be to allow the state to govern by email rather than by law, offending the "Principle of Formalism" inherent in criminal proceedings.

D. CONCLUSION

464. The Endorsement is not a warrant at law. The absence of a Form 7 constitutes a substantive defect that cannot be cured by administrative diligence, rendering the purported arrest authority a legal nullity.

ISSUE NUMBER 27: JURISDICTIONAL DEFECTS AND THE DOCTRINE OF CORAM NON JUDICE

A. ISSUE

465. Whether the unilateral actions of Madam Justice Shore in issuing, signing, and entering the Endorsement—absent a formal assignment to the criminal intake—constitute a jurisdictional transgression that renders the resulting proceedings ab initio void and incapable of generating legal consequences.
466. This inquiry further considers whether the "Default Judge" exceeded the scope of her office by purportedly receiving a Form 4 Indictment in a setting entirely divorced from the proper criminal procedure.

B. RULE

467. The foundational maxim factum a judice, quod ad officium jure non pertinet, ratum non est (the "Invalidity Maxim") dictates that acts performed by a judge outside their legal authority are not ratified and possess no force. This is an absolute bar; no amount of subsequent "ratification" by other court actors can breathe life into a void act.
468. In McLean v. Bradley, (1878) 2 S.C.R. 535, the Supreme Court established that where a court lacks jurisdiction over the cause, the proceeding is coram non judice. This results in a situation where the orders of the court are "a cipher in law," possessing no more weight than the opinion of a private citizen. The principle of nemo debet esse judex in propria causa extends to the prohibition of puisne judges self-assigning jurisdiction. A judge who acts without a formal administrative assignment to the relevant division is, in effect, appointing themselves to the cause, which offends the neutrality of the bench.

469. Landreville v. Town of Boucherville, [1978] 2 S.C.R. 801 (Landreville), confirms that acts performed in the absence of jurisdiction are nullities that cannot be cured by acquiescence or subsequent repetition.

C. ANALYSIS

470. The evidence confirms that Madam Justice Shore performed ministerial functions, such as receiving the Criminal Code Form 2 Information, which are intake-related and do not bestow adjudicative jurisdiction. However, the move from ministerial intake to the issuance of a warrant-like endorsement represents a leap into the adjudicative realm for which she was not empowered.

471. The jurisdictional defect crystallised when she purported to issue the Endorsement while acting as a Default Judge, as per the admission attributed to Mr. Michael Henriques in the "False Information Package." Without a formal assignment to the criminal division, her acts were ultra vires. In the Ontario Superior Court, jurisdiction is divided by practice directions; a judge cannot simply "happen upon" a criminal matter while sitting in a civil or family capacity.

472. The Crown may suggest that the "Open Court Principle" is satisfied by the eventual entry of the Endorsement into the record. This is a logical fallacy; the timing of the act is as critical as the nature of the act. A judge sitting in a "Shadow Court" without public notice or assignment cannot retroactively clothe their acts in the vestments of legitimacy.

473. Because the act was coram non judice, no peace officer can plead justification under the process. The Endorsement is a "cipher in law," and those who authorized, executed, or abetted enforcement of the void endorsement face joint and several liability. The police reliance on a "family law judge" to issue a "criminal arrest directive" represents a fundamental breakdown in the rule of law.

D. CONCLUSION

474. The lack of jurisdiction renders the Endorsement and all derivative steps juridical nonentities. The proceedings must be declared void, the record expunged, and the parties returned to the status quo ante.

ISSUE NUMBER 28: THE DOCTRINE OF FRAUD AND ITS VITIATING POTENCY

ISSUE

475. What is the requisite legal standard for fraud (the "Fraud Standard") that necessitates the vacating of judicial acts when such acts are predicated upon a fraudulent misrepresentation of judicial authority or the concealment of jurisdictional defects by the Crown (Provincial), the Crown (Federal), or the Judiciary.

476. Specifically, does the issuance of an endorsement that disguises its nature as a warrant constitute a "fraud on the court" (fraus in curia)?

B. RULE

477. The governing principle, as articulated by Lord Denning in Lazarus Estates Ltd. v. Beasley, [1956] 1 Q.B. 702 (Lazarus Estates) and adopted by the Supreme Court of Canada in Landreville, is that "fraud unravels everything" (fraus omnia corrumpit). This maxim is a categorical rule of law. Fraud is a constitutional nullity that vitiates all antecedent steps, regardless of the stage of the proceeding.

478. Curtis v. Chemical Cleaning and Dyeing Co., [1951] 1 K.B. 805 (Curtis), establishes that a statement which is literally true may yet be practically false due to the deliberate omission of material facts—a "half-truth" is a fraudulent misrepresentation. In the judicial context, a neutral-sounding endorsement that hides its intended effect as a warrant of arrest is such a half-truth.

479. Broom's Legal Maxims provides that consensus tollit errorem (silence in the face of error is treated as consent). A judge who issues an endorsement knowing they lack the assignment to do so, and who remains silent about this deficiency, engages in a fraudulent concealment that induces false reliance.
480. Meek v. Fleming, [1961] 2 Q.B. 366 confirms that any judgment obtained by the concealment of material evidence, or by the misrepresentation of the status of the actors involved, cannot stand.

C. ANALYSIS

481. The record indicates a pattern of conduct by the Crown and the Default Judge that constitutes a fraud on the court. Specifically, the issuance of an Endorsement that appeared administrative but functioned as a de facto warrant—while concealing the absence of jurisdiction—is a fraudulent "half-truth" under the Curtis doctrine. The state presented a "Scheduling Note" to the police as if it were a "Warrant of Arrest," thereby deceiving the executive branch.
482. The silence of the court regarding the lack of assignment to the criminal intake induced a false reliance by law enforcement. This silence, in the face of a jurisdictional void, constitutes dolus malus (evil intent). The use of misleading terminology, such as "Administrative Intake" to describe what was actually a "Liberty-Restricting Adjudication," further proves the intent to deceive.
483. It might be suggested by the Crown that these were merely "administrative irregularities" rather than intentional deceptions. This defense is obliterated by the principle in Lazarus Estates: the motive is irrelevant if the effect is to mislead. The masquerading of an unauthorized endorsement as a valid warrant is, by definition, a fraudulent misrepresentation of authority. One cannot commit a "good faith" fraud on the jurisdiction of the court.
484. Under the authority of Hip Foong Hong v. Neotia & Co., [1918] A.C. 888, even a suspicion of fraud in the procurement of an order necessitates its excision. The entire record is a "Tainted Instrument" (the "Tainted Instrument"). Because the initial Endorsement was born of misrepresentation, every subsequent warrant, email, and arrest is fruit from a poisoned tree.

D. CONCLUSION

485. The standard for fraud is met where there is a material non-disclosure of jurisdictional competence and the mischaracterization of judicial instruments. Under Landreville and Lazarus Estates, this fraud unravels all antecedent criminal steps, nullifies the Endorsement, and mandates the immediate quashing of all related orders.

V. FINAL SUPPLEMENTAL COMMENTARY

486. The convergence of jurisdictional nullity and fraudulent misrepresentation creates a constitutional imperative for this Court to intervene. The preservation of the "open court principle" and the "dignity of the law" requires that this Court not permit administrative shortcuts to supersede the "liberty of the subject."
487. The proceedings are, in every legal sense, nullities and must be treated as though they never occurred. The restoration of the status quo ante is not merely a remedy for the applicant; it is a necessary act to preserve the legitimacy of the Ontario Superior Court of Justice. Any refusal to quash these instruments would be to signal that jurisdiction is optional and that Form 7 is a mere suggestion. Such a result is untenable in a free and democratic society.

ISSUE NO. 29 — WHETHER THE EXECUTIVE BRANCH CONTRAVENED SECTION 2(B) OF THE CANADIAN CHARTER OF RIGHTS AND FREEDOMS (THE "OPEN COURT PRINCIPLE") THROUGH THE FALSIFICATION AND FILING OF FABRICATED INSTRUMENTS WITHIN THE ONTARIO COURT OF JUSTICE

ISSUE

488. The fundamental inquiry presented for the adjudication of this Honourable Court is whether the Executive Branch—encompassing the Toronto Police Service (the "TPS"), the administrative personnel of the Ontario Court of Justice (the "OCJ"), and the Crown Prosecutors (the "Crown")—contravened the Open Court Principle as protected under section 2(b) of the Canadian Charter of Rights and Freedoms (the "Charter"). This inquiry is necessitated by the deliberate falsification, unauthorized alteration, and surreptitious insertion of fabricated records into the judicial file at 10 Armoury Street, an act that strikes at the very foundations of judicial integrity and the structural separation of powers.

489. Furthermore, the Court is invited to determine whether such executive interference with the sanctity of the judicial record—specifically the contamination of the Information and the misrepresentation of intake court endorsements—must be characterized as a nullity ab initio, rather than a mere procedural irregularity. The gravamen of the Applicant's position is that these acts represent a sophisticated fraud upon the court, necessitating a declaration that the resulting proceedings are coram non judice. This Court must adjudge whether the involvement of madam justice shore (the "Madam Justice Shore"), to the extent she purported to exercise judicial authority while lacking the requisite objective and subjective constitutional independence, renders the judicial record a fabricated instrument and an unconstitutional deception. The Court must consider if the state's conduct in "shadow-filing" documents transcends mere administrative error and enters the realm of systemic constitutional subversion, effectively creating a parallel legal reality that is ipso facto void.

II. RULE

A. The Constitutional Dimension of the Open Court Principle

490. The Open Court Principle is recognized as a cornerstone of the democratic order and is constitutionally protected under section 2(b) of the Charter. As articulated in Sherman Estate v. Donovan, 2021 SCC 25 at paragraphs 30, 39, and 44 (Sherman Estate), judicial proceedings and the concomitant records are presumed to be accessible to the public to ensure transparency and prevent executive overreach. This principle is further reinforced by CBC v. Named Person, 2024 SCC 21 at paragraphs 27–32 (CBC), and CBC v. New Brunswick (Attorney General), 1996 3 S.C.R. 480 at paragraph 23 (New Brunswick). The principle ensures that the public and press may attend hearings, inspect court files, and scrutinize the administration of justice to discourage mischief and maintain public confidence. Any state conduct that obscures the true nature of the judicial record constitutes a prima facie infringement of this constitutional guarantee, as openness is the primary deterrent against the arbitrary exercise of executive discretion.

491. The custodianship of court records is the exclusive prerogative of the judiciary, serving as a vital check against the arbitrary exercise of state power. The Canadian Judicial Council (the "CJC"), in its Blueprint for the Security of Judicial Information (2004), affirms that judicial information is created, maintained, and controlled solely by the judiciary, to the exclusion of the administrative arm of government. The term court does not include the administrative arm of government; therefore, executive actors have no authority to alter, falsify, or misfile judicial records. Any executive encroachment into this sphere—be it through the alteration of an Information or the insertion of unauthorized endorsements—is prima facie unconstitutional and offends the doctrine of the separation of powers. The sanctity of the judicial record is a prerequisite for the rule of law; without an authentic record, the open court becomes an empty theater for state-sanctioned fiction, wherein the Acta of the court are subordinated to executive convenience.

THE DOCTRINE OF NULLITY AND FRAUD UPON THE COURT

492. It is a fundamental tenet of the common law that fraus omnia corrumpit (fraud unravels everything). In Landreville v. Boucherville (Town of), 1978 2 S.C.R. 801 (Landreville), the Supreme Court of Canada adopted the principle from Lazarus Estates Ltd. v. Beasley, 1956 1 Q.B. 702 at pages 712–13 (Lazarus Estates), stating that "no court in this land will allow a person to keep an advantage which he has obtained by fraud." This doctrine dictates that where a record is birthed in deceit, it cannot be cured by subsequent procedural compliance. Fraud, dishonesty, and bad faith are special categorical causes of nullity that automatically vitiate all antecedent steps. The presence of fraud acts as an unravelling agent, stripping the state of any procedural shield it might otherwise claim, and rendering the resultant acts ipso facto void.

583 493. Where a judicial officer acts without jurisdiction or outside the scope of their assigned authority, the proceedings are coram non judice (not before a judge) and any resulting acts are void. The maxim Factum A Judice, Quod Ad Officium Jure Non Pertinet, Ratum Non Est (an act of a judge which does not pertain to his office is of no effect) governs such jurisdictional failures. A judge acting without assignment or jurisdiction is effectively the source of their own authority; such acts are inherently invalid and constitute an ultra vires exercise of power that the law refuses to recognize, for a judge cannot be Judex In Propria Causa.

494. Furthermore, the commencement of criminal proceedings through the swearing of an Information is a judicial act: R. v. Awad, 2015 NSCA 10 at paragraph 49 (Awad); R. v. Pardo (1991), 62 C.C.C. (3d) 371 (Pardo); R. v. McHale, 2010 ONCA 361 at paragraph 85 (McHale). Consequently, the alteration or clandestine editing of such a document by executive actors constitutes a direct interference with the judicial function and a breach of the state's duty of uberrima fides (utmost good faith) to the court. The Information is the foundational document of the criminal process; its corruption poisons the entire tree of the litigation, necessitating its treatment as a nullity.

III. ANALYSIS

The Systematic Corruption of the Judicial Record and the Role of Madam Justice Shore

495. The evidentiary record demonstrates that the Executive Branch engaged in the systematic fabrication and unauthorized modification of the judicial record. These actions were not confined to incidental administrative oversight but involved the deliberate creation of instruments masquerading as judicial orders. Such conduct represents an ultra vires intrusion into the judicial sphere, violating the structural separation of powers and the institutional independence of the OCJ. When the TPS and the Crown substitute their own internal narrative for the authentic judicial record, they effectively capture the court's process for executive ends, reducing the judiciary to a mere instrument of the administrative state. The creation of documents purporting to be judicial records, the misfiling of instruments without judicial authorization, and the misrepresentation of an Intake Court Endorsement as a warrant-like instrument collectively constitute a fraud upon the court. This shadow record was maintained to insulate state actors from accountability, thereby rendering the public's right of scrutiny a nullity.

496. The involvement of the Madam Justice Shore in these proceedings represents a profound failure of judicial neutrality and constitutional independence. To the extent that she purported to issue warrants or judicial authorizations, such acts were performed while she lacked the objective and subjective independence required by the Constitution. A judicial officer who is not independent cannot serve as the guardian of the court record or the protector of Charter rights. Consequently, any document bearing her endorsement under these circumstances is not a judicial record but a procedural fiction inserted into the file to facilitate executive objectives. This involvement creates a jurisdictional vacuum, rendering the proceedings coram non judice. The presence of a non-independent actor at the center of the judicial process contaminates the entire record, obscuring the true procedural posture of the case and interfering with public access to accurate information. This is not merely an irregularity; it is the complete evaporation of judicial authority and the imposition of a nullity that cannot be rehabilitated.

The Erosion of Public Scrutiny and the Social Contract of Justice

497. The public's ability to scrutinize the administration of justice is predicated upon the veracity of the court record. When the Executive Branch falsifies an Information or misfiles documents to obscure the procedural posture of a case, the Open Court Principle is rendered illusory. As held in Sherman Estate, openness is required to discourage mischief and maintain public confidence; conversely, executive fabrication encourages mischief and subverts the status quo ante of judicial integrity. The public cannot meaningfully audit the court's work if the record being audited is a product of executive fiction, effectively conducting a trial in the shadows where the true foundations of the state's authority are concealed from view by a non-independent judicial actor. Such conduct is antithetical to the constitutional requirement that courts operate in the open, not in the shadows of executive fabrication. The resulting legal mirage serves only to erode the social contract between the citizen and the state, leading to a state of Coram Non Judice where the form of law is used to mask the absence of justice.

498. In accordance with the Landreville and Lazarus Estates doctrine, the presence of fraud and bad faith in the creation of court records precludes any finding of mere irregularity. Because these acts were performed in direct contravention of the Charter and the judiciary's exclusive custodianship, they must be characterized as a nullity.

5832 The deception practiced upon the court—by presenting an Intake Court Endorsement as a valid warrant-like instrument—vitiates all subsequent proceedings. This is not a case of technical non-compliance or a slip of the pen; it is a case of fraus omnia corrumpit where the very foundation of the record is tainted by a fundamental lack of truthfulness that poisons the entire tree of the litigation. The Executive Branch cannot claim documents are "court records" while knowing they are fabricated instruments designed to mislead the public and the accused. A record founded on a lie cannot be the basis for a deprivation of liberty and must be struck In Limine.

THE APPLICATION OF COMMON LAW MAXIMS TO EXECUTIVE DECEIT

499. Furthermore, Herbert Broom's legal maxims provide that the law must not become a shelter for the deceitful. The principle of allegans contraria non est audiendus (he is not to be heard who alleges things contradictory to each other) prevents the Executive from asserting that these records are valid judicial instruments while knowing them to be fabrications. The state cannot simultaneously claim the protection of judicial process while actively subverting it through clandestine filings. Consensus tollit errorem dictates that silence in the face of known falsity is treated as consent; executive actors who knowingly maintain false records cannot later deny responsibility. To permit the state to rely on a record it has itself corrupted would be to invite a state of legal nihilism where the form of law is used to destroy the substance of justice. The state's duty to the court is a duty of candour, not a license for artifice; where fraud is found, the law must restore the status quo ante.

500. Any act of the court obtained through such deceit must be rectified, as actus curiae neminem gravabit (an act of the court shall prejudice no one). To allow these fabricated documents to remain in the record would be to permit a continuing constitutional violation that erodes the rule of law. The contamination of the court file at 10 Armoury Street by the TPS and the Crown represents a shadow administration of justice that is antithetical to the transparency demanded by section 2(b). This interference creates a false history of the proceedings, depriving the accused of a fair hearing and the public of its right to a truthful accounting of the state's exercise of power. A fraudulent filing masquerading as a judicial act must be corrected to restore the court to its proper constitutional position and to purge the record of its executive-led distortions.

IV. CONCLUSION

501. It is submitted that the Executive Branch breached section 2(b) of the Charter. The falsification of documents at 10 Armoury Street constitutes a fraudulent imposition upon the OCJ and a direct assault on the Open Court Principle. Furthermore, the purported judicial acts of the Madam Justice Shore are void for lack of independence. Consequently, the affected records and the steps taken in reliance thereon are a nullity. The integrity of the judicial record must be restored to its status quo ante, and the state conduct must be rebuked as an unconstitutional interference with judicial independence, public transparency, and the core tenets of the democratic constitution. Public confidence in the administration of justice cannot survive when the state is permitted to operate a system of fabricated judicial records that hide behind the veneer of officiality.

ISSUE NO. 30 — WHETHER THE APPLICANT'S RIGHT TO BE SECURE AGAINST UNREASONABLE SEARCH OR SEIZURE UNDER SECTION 8 OF THE CHARTER WAS VIOLATED BY THE CONTINUOUS SEQUENCE OF STATE CONDUCT COMMENCING SEPTEMBER 23, 2024

ISSUE

502. The issue to be determined is whether the cumulative state conduct—beginning with the issuance of the Intake Court Endorsement and including the Applicant's lockout from his residence, his designation as having no fixed address (the "NFA Designation"), and the deceptive seizure of property on October 2, 2024—constitutes an unreasonable search and seizure under section 8 of the Charter.

503. The Court must evaluate whether this integrated sequence of events, characterized by fraudulent misrepresentation and the absence of judicial authorization, renders the state's intrusion a nullity. Specifically, the Court must determine if any warrant or authorization purported to be issued by the Madam Justice Shore met the constitutional 5833 requirements for search and seizure. The Applicant contends that her lack of independence precluded her from acting as a "neutral and impartial arbiter," thereby failing the first prong of the Hunter v. Southam criteria and rendering any resulting search or seizure a nullity ab initio. The inquiry further examines whether the state's use of deception to bypass the warrant requirement constitutes a bad faith circumvention of the Charter that necessitates the strongest possible judicial remedy to preserve the sanctity of the individual's privacy and informational identity.

II. RULE

The Disjunctive Protections of Section 8

504. Section 8 of the Charter guarantees that "everyone has the right to be secure against unreasonable search or seizure." This right is disjunctive, protecting against both searches (intrusions upon a reasonable expectation of privacy) and seizures (the non-consensual taking of property by a public authority). As noted in Thomson Newspapers Ltd. v. Canada (Director of Investigation and Research, Restrictive Trade Practices Commission), 1990 1 S.C.R. 425 (Thomson Newspapers), compelled production is functionally equivalent to a seizure, as it involves the state exerting control over the individual's effects. A search is any state activity that intrudes upon a reasonable expectation of privacy, while a seizure is the taking of a thing by a public authority without consent. Both occurred here through a single, continuous, and integrated sequence of state action that targeted the Applicant's physical, informational, and decisional autonomy.

B. THE HUNTER STANDARD AND JUDICIAL INDEPENDENCE

505. The constitutional standard for valid authorization was established in Hunter v. Southam Inc., 1984 2 S.C.R. 145 (Hunter). This requires: (i) prior authorization by a neutral and impartial arbiter; (ii) sworn evidence establishing reasonable and probable grounds; and (iii) a specific scope for the seizure. Any deviation from these criteria renders a search prima facie unreasonable. The requirement for a "neutral and impartial arbiter" is not a mere formality but a substantive prerequisite that demands absolute judicial independence from the executive branch. A "rubber-stamp" or a non-independent officer cannot satisfy this threshold. Furthermore, Arkinstall v. Surrey (City), 2010 BCCA 250 (Arkinstall) holds that the Hunter criteria apply where a reasonable expectation of privacy exists, the intrusion carries stigma, and a warrant is feasible and useful.

506. However, herein this was not a regulatory intrusion but a criminal one so the strict requirements of the Hunter criteria were required to the extent any search warrants or purported search warrants were granted in the INTAKE COURT ENDORSEMENT (SEPT 23 2024) or outside of the same.

PRIVACY INTERESTS AND THE SANCTITY OF THE HOME

507. Territorial privacy, particularly regarding the home, attracts the highest level of constitutional protection known to the law. As affirmed in R. v. Feeney, 1997 2 S.C.R. 13 (Feeney); R. v. Silveira, 1995 2 S.C.R. 297 (Silveira); and R. v. Evans, 1996 1 S.C.R. 8 (Evans), the sanctity of the residence is nearly absolute. A state-engineered lockout, which effectively de-platforms an individual from their own property and denies them access to their inner sanctum, constitutes a profound and total intrusion into territorial, informational, and decisional privacy. The home is not merely a physical space; it is a repository of one's informational and psychological identity, and any state-led exclusion therefrom is a seizure of the most intrusive kind.

CONSENT AND STATE DECEPTION

508. Consent to a search or seizure must be voluntary, informed, and free from any element of state coercion or trickery. In R. v. Wills (1992), 7 O.R. (3d) 337 (C.A.) (Wills) and R. v. Jaballah, 2020 ONCA 513 (Jaballah), it is established that consent obtained through state deception, coercion, or misrepresentation is prima facie invalid and vitiates the legality of the seizure. Further jurisprudence in R. v. Cole, 2012 SCC 53 (Cole); R. v. Blinch, 2010 BCCA 234 (Blinch); and R. v. Edwards, 1996 1 S.C.R. 128 (Edwards) confirms that consent for one purpose is not consent 5834 for another, and coercive circumstances vitiate any purported waiver of Charter rights. The state cannot bypass the Charter by wearing a mask of cooperation while hiding a spear of intrusion, for fraud unravels the validity of any purported consent.

III. ANALYSIS

The Failure of the Hunter Criteria and Judicial Neutrality

509. The state conduct in this matter represents a continuous and escalating deprivation of the Applicant's privacy interests, characterized by a lack of transparency and a disregard for judicial oversight. The Intake Court Endorsement, issued without the Hunter-mandated safeguards, provided the veneer of authority for a series of ultra vires acts. Because this endorsement—and any warrant purported to be issued by the Madam Justice Shore—lacked the prerequisite of a "neutral and impartial arbiter," it must be viewed as a nullity. The endorsement authorized state interference with the Applicant's property without prior judicial authorization meeting Hunter, without sworn evidence, and without reasonable grounds to believe an offence had been committed. This jurisdictional failure renders the entire state sequence a constitutional void.

510. The lack of independence on the part of the Madam Justice Shore is dispositive of the section 8 analysis. The Hunter criteria demand that the person authorizing the search be capable of acting judicially, which requires independence from the state actors seeking the warrant. If she was not independent, she could not, as a matter of law, provide the "prior authorization" required by the Constitution. Any warrant she purported to issue was void ab initio and could not authorize a search or seizure. It was, in effect, an executive act masquerading as a judicial one, used to bypass the rigorous scrutiny of the warrant process and the requirement for sworn information. This failure of neutrality renders the search or seizure unconstitutional simpliciter, as the state effectively authorized itself to intrude upon the Applicant's privacy, violating the Nemo Debet Esse Judex In Propria Causa principle.

B. TERRITORIAL, INFORMATIONAL, AND DECISIONAL SEIZURES

511. The lockout of the Applicant from his residence, notwithstanding the police possession of a driver's licence confirming his address, constitutes a "constructive seizure" of the home. By depriving the Applicant of control over his dwelling, the state engaged in a territorial seizure simpliciter. This intrusion was exacerbated by the informational expropriation inherent in the no fixed address (the "NFA Designation"). The state's deliberate misclassification of the Applicant's residency status—despite having contradictory evidence in their possession—was a tactical maneuver used to justify further intrusions into his autonomy and to strip him of the privacy protections normally afforded to residents. This designation served as an instrument of state-sponsored marginalization, rendering the Applicant invisible to the law's protections while remaining visible to the state's intrusions. This informational identity theft by the state facilitated the subsequent seizures and ensured the Applicant was rendered legally homeless by administrative fiat, a status that was then weaponized against him.

THE OCTOBER 2 FRAUDULENT SEIZURE VIA RUSE AND THE HONOUR OF THE CROWN

512. The events of October 2, 2024, involving an email from Cst. Romano, represent a seizure by fraudulent inducement. The state represented that the Applicant should attend to retrieve property (the "October 2 Property Retrieval"), when the true intent was the compelled production and seizure of effects. Following the Lazarus Estates doctrine, this fraud unravels the entire transaction. The state cannot benefit from a seizure effected through a deceptive "trap" that vitiates any possibility of informed consent. Under Wills, the "consent" was not an exercise of autonomy but a response to a fraudulent state command. The police did not receive property; they engineered a scenario to seize it under false pretenses, a practice that is fundamentally incompatible with the duty of the state to act with honour and within the bounds of the Charter. This ruse by Cst. Romano undermines the repute of the administration of justice and constitutes a bad-faith circumvention of the warrant requirement that the court must rebuke by finding the act a nullity.

THE OBFUSCATION OF JUDICIAL OVERSIGHT AND THE ROLE OF THE DEFAULT JUDGE

5835 513. Applying the "totality of the circumstances" test from R. v. Tessling, 2004 SCC 67 (Tessling), it is evident that the subject matter (the home and personal effects) and the nature of the state's intrusion (coercive and deceptive) weigh heavily in favour of a constitutional breach. The use of a default judge (the "Default Judge"), as acknowledged by Mr. Michael Henriques, to facilitate these steps further demonstrates that the proceedings were coram non judice. The jurat information laying crown election page (the "Jurat Information Laying Crown Election Page")—specifically page 4 of 6 from the Lincoln County Law Association—was utilized in a manner that further obfuscated the lack of proper judicial oversight, effectively removing the shield of judicial protection between the state and the citizen. This procedural sleight of hand ensured that the state's actions remained unscrutinized by a neutral and impartial arbiter, violating the territorial, informational, and decisional privacy of the Applicant in a manner that section 1 cannot save.

IV. CONCLUSION

514. It is submitted that the state's conduct constitutes a flagrant violation of section 8 of the Charter. The Intake Court Endorsement, the residence lockout, the NFA Designation, and the fraudulent seizure of property were part of a single, continuous, and unconstitutional enterprise. Any warrant or authorization purported to be issued by the Madam Justice Shore failed the Hunter criteria due to her lack of independence and is therefore a nullity. Under the Oakes test, section 1 cannot save a violation founded upon state deception and the deliberate circumvention of the requirement for a neutral arbiter. The Applicant is entitled to a declaration of the breach and the exclusion of all evidence flowing therefrom, as the court must not allow its processes to be used as an instrument of state deception and unconstitutional seizure.

REMEDIES

I. CONSTITUTIONAL RELIEF PURSUANT TO SECTION 24(1) OF THE CHARTER

515. The Applicant seeks a declaration that the aforementioned state conduct constitutes a fundamental breach of his rights under sections 2(b) and 8 of the Charter. Pursuant to section 24(1), which empowers this Court to grant "such remedy as the court considers appropriate and just in the circumstances," the Applicant moves for an order setting aside all judicial and quasi-judicial instruments generated, filed, or maintained in reliance upon the fraudulent record. As these instruments were birthed ab initio in a state of constitutional nullity, they must be treated as having no legal force or effect. The principle of ex debito justitiae (as a matter of right arising from debt to justice) demands that the Court restore the status quo ante by expunging the fabricated records and the contaminated Information. This restorative relief is essential to purge the judicial file of executive-led distortions and to vindicate the institutional independence of the Ontario Court of Justice.

516. Furthermore, the Applicant submits that the systematic and bad-faith nature of the state's conduct—including the ruse employed by Cst. Romano and the fraudulent NFA Designation—warrants a permanent stay of proceedings. As held in R. v. Babos, 2014 SCC 16 at paragraphs 31–32 (Babos), a stay is appropriate where the state conduct is so egregious that to allow the trial to proceed would permanently damage the integrity of the justice system. The "parallel reality" created by the Executive Branch at 10 Armoury Street is precisely such an affront. To proceed on the basis of a fraudulent record would be to sanction a trial that is coram non judice, effectively transforming the Court into an unwitting accomplice to state deception. Only a permanent stay can provide the requisite rebuff to the state's ultra vires actions and preserve the repute of the administration of justice.

ISSUE 31: THE CONSTITUTIONAL INFIRMITY OF THE DETENTION ARISING FROM THE INTAKE COURT ENDORSEMENT AND THE ATTENDANT POLICE MALFEASANCE

I. ISSUE

517. The sub-issues hereunder are:

a. Whether the physical and psychological restraint of the Applicant by officers of the Toronto Police Service (the "TPS") on 2 October and 3 October 2024, predicated upon an Intake Court Endorsement dated 23

5836 September 2024 (the "Intake Court Endorsement"), constituted an arbitrary detention and imprisonment contrary to section 9 of the Canadian Charter of Rights and Freedoms (the "Charter").

b. Whether the subsequent movement and confinement of the Applicant, in the absence of a valid judicial warrant or statutory authorization, transcended mere procedural irregularity to become a substantive nullity, thereby satisfying the actus reus and mens rea of forcible confinement or kidnapping pursuant to section 279 of the Criminal Code, R.S.C. 1985, c. C-46.

c. Whether the reliance by state actors upon a document devoid of custodial authority constitutes a jurisdictional error of such magnitude that the resulting acts are coram non judice, rendering the detention not merely voidable, but a nullity ab initio; and

d. Whether the intentional utilization of an administrative instrument to bypass the rigorous judicial oversight required for the deprivation of liberty constitutes a fraudulent exercise of state power that "unravels" the legality of the entire custodial process.

II. RULE

518. Section 9 of the Charter guarantees that "[e]veryone has the right not to be arbitrarily detained or imprisoned." This constitutional safeguard serves as a bulwark against the unconstrained exercise of state power, ensuring that no individual's liberty is curtailed save for in accordance with the principles of fundamental justice: R. v. Grant, 2009 SCC 32 at para 54 ["Grant"]. The state bears the heavy burden of demonstrating that any interference with this primordial right is rooted in a clear and unambiguous legal authority.

519. A detention is characterized by a significant physical or psychological restraint imposed by the state. Psychological detention occurs when an individual is legally required to comply with a restrictive direction or when a reasonable person in the subject's position would conclude, by reason of the state's conduct, that they had no choice but to comply: Grant at paras 30-31, 44. The courts have emphasized that the perception of the individual, viewed through the lens of a reasonable person in similar circumstances, is paramount in determining whether the state has asserted a degree of control that triggers constitutional protections.

520. The analytical framework for an extraction of a section 9 breach requires the determination of two distinct elements: first, whether the individual was detained or imprisoned; and second, whether such detention was arbitrary: R. v. Hufsky, [1988] 1 S.C.R. 621 at paras 12-13.

521. In the context of the second branch, a detention is prima facie arbitrary if it is not authorized by law. Lawful authority must be found in a specific statute or a recognized common law power. The state cannot retroactively cure an unlawful detention by reference to powers that were available but not actually exercised at the material time: R. v. Moore, 2012 BCCA 400; R. v. Whitaker, 2008 BCCA 174. A detention that lacks a valid legal foundation is, by definition, an affront to the rule of law.

522. The term "arbitrary" (the "Arbitrary Definition") denotes a deprivation of liberty that is capricious, despotic, or otherwise lacks a rational and legal foundation. Where a detention is effected in direct contravention of a statute, regulation, or the Rules of Civil Procedure, it constitutes a nullity ab initio. The distinction between a mere irregularity and a nullity is critical; where a state actor acts in total absence of jurisdiction or in direct defiance of statutory mandates, the act is a nullity that cannot be saved by subsequent procedural corrections.

523. Furthermore, where a judicial act is performed without the requisite jurisdiction, it is coram non judice. It is a settled maxim that factum a judice, quod ad officium jure non pertinet, ratum non est—an act of a judge which does not belong to his office or jurisdiction is not valid. This principle extends to those state actors, such as the police, who execute orders or rely upon documents that are ostensibly judicial but which lack the requisite jurisdictional foundation. An officer who acts upon a void order does not act under the protection of the law.

524. Regarding the integration of fraud into the jurisdictional analysis, as articulated in Landreville v. The Queen, [1977] 2 F.C. 376, citing Lazarus Estates Ltd. v. Beasley, [1956] 1 Q.B. 702 (C.A.) at 712: "No court in this land will allow a person to keep an advantage which he has obtained by fraud. No judgment of a court, no order of a Minister, can be allowed to stand if it has been obtained by fraud. Fraud unravels everything."

525. Under section 279(1) of the Criminal Code, the actus reus of kidnapping or forcible confinement is established by the non-consensual deprivation of liberty or movement of a person without lawful authority. The mens rea involves the specific intent to confine or imprison the subject against their will. In the context of state actors, the absence of a valid warrant or statutory power renders the use of force or confinement a criminalized trespass.

5837 ## III. ANALYSIS

A. The Fact of Detention and Imprisonment: Physical and Psychological Restraint

526. It is submitted that the Applicant was subjected to a paradigmatic physical detention when he was forcibly escorted from the first floor of 14 Division to the subterranean detention cells (the "Dungeon"). The physical transposition of the Applicant's person from a public-facing area to a secure, non-public custodial environment represents an unequivocal exercise of state control. The closure of a locked cell door constitutes the ultimate physical restraint, rendering the Applicant's lack of freedom to depart self-evident and absolute. This was not a transient interaction but a formal, physical enclosure of a human being.

527. Ipso facto, even if a physical restraint were not found, the psychological pressure exerted by the TPS officers—who asserted a non-existent legal authority—would lead any reasonable person to conclude that they were under a total restraint of liberty. The officers' conduct, characterized by a formal assertion of power and the directed movement of the Applicant, created a situation where compliance was the only perceived modality of interaction, thereby satisfying the criteria for detention established in Grant. The Applicant was confronted with the coercive machinery of the state, leaving no room for the exercise of personal volition.

528. The psychological dimension of this detention is further exacerbated by the coercive atmosphere of a police station. When uniformed officers direct a citizen to enter a cell, the power imbalance is so profound that the individual is effectively stripped of their autonomy. This psychological submission is not a product of consent, but rather a surrender to the overwhelming authority of the state. To suggest that a citizen in such circumstances is "free to leave" is to engage in a legal fiction that ignores the reality of police-citizen encounters.

B. THE ABSENCE OF LAWFUL AUTHORITY AND THE PRESENCE OF ARBITRARINESS

529. The pivot of this constitutional challenge is the Intake Court Endorsement. The Applicant contends that the TPS officers treated the Intake Court Endorsement as a functional equivalent of a warrant for arrest or a committal order. However, the Intake Court Endorsement was a document of limited procedural scope, lacking the requisite judicial imprimatur to authorize a deprivation of liberty or the imprisonment of a subject. It was, at best, an administrative notation, and at worst, a tool of deception.

530. Because the Intake Court Endorsement was incapable of providing legal authorization for the arrest, the detention was unlawful. In accordance with the Supreme Court of Canada's holding in R. v. Tim, 2022 SCC 12 at para 22, an unlawful detention is necessarily arbitrary. The state's reliance on a document that is ultra vires its purported purpose renders the entire process a nullity rather than a mere procedural irregularity. This was not a minor technical flaw; it was a fundamental failure to adhere to the statutory prerequisites for the deprivation of liberty. There can be no "good faith" reliance on a document that is legally incapable of authorizing the act performed.

531. The movement of the Applicant to a bounded space without a valid warrant satisfies the actus reus of section 279(1) of the Criminal Code. The absence of consent, conjoined with the lack of lawful authority, transforms the state's conduct into a criminalized deprivation of liberty. Given that the officers intended to confine the Applicant against his will, the mens rea for forcible confinement is manifest. To move a person, even a short distance, into a cell without a warrant is to kidnap that person from the protection of the law and place them in a state of legal invisibility.

532. Furthermore, if the Intake Court Endorsement was issued in a manner that exceeded the jurisdiction of the issuing authority, the resulting hearing and subsequent document are coram non judice and the acts of the undisclosed judge were Factum A Judice, Quod Ad Officium Jure Non Pertinet, Ratum Non Est. Under the doctrine of factum a judice, quod ad officium jure non pertinet, ratum non est, the TPS officers were relying upon a void instrument. The Applicant avers that they knowingly did so. If they did not, which is denied, the provincial Crown certainly did.

533. A document issued without jurisdiction has no more legal force than a blank sheet of paper, and any imprisonment based upon it is a trespass against the person. The state cannot claim the protection of judicial authority for acts that fall outside the boundaries of that authority.

C. THE IMPACT OF POTENTIAL FRAUD AND JURISDICTIONAL OVERREACH

534. To the extent that the Intake Court Endorsement was obtained or utilized through a misrepresentation of its legal effect, the principle from Lazarus Estates Ltd. v. Beasley, as adopted in Landreville, applies with full force. Fraud serves to nullify any perceived legal advantage or authority obtained by the TPS. If the officers knew, or ought to have known, that the Intake Court Endorsement did not authorize imprisonment, their reliance upon it was a fraudulent exercise of state power that "unravels everything." Fraud in this context is not merely a moral failing; it is a jurisdictional solvent that dissolves the legality of state action.

535. The use of an administrative endorsement to effect a custodial arrest suggests a calculated attempt to circumvent the rigorous standards of the Criminal Code and the Charter. Such conduct constitutes an in limine breach of the duty of state actors to act in good faith and within the bounds of their prescribed authority. When the state mischaracterizes a document to facilitate an arrest, it commits a fraud upon the administration of justice. This conduct undermines public confidence in the judicial process and renders the resulting detention a substantive nullity.

536. The duration of the confinement—persisting from the evening of 2 October through the morning of 3 October 2024—compounds the arbitrariness. As noted in R. v. Storrey, [1990] 1 S.C.R. 241, any unreasonable delay in bringing a detained person before a judicial officer or providing for their release exacerbates the constitutional breach. Each passing hour of confinement without lawful authority adds a fresh layer of illegality to the state's conduct, transforming a brief encounter into a prolonged and egregious violation of section 9. The Applicant was left to languish in the "Dungeon" while the state operated outside the bounds of the law.

537. Moreover, the conditions of the confinement serve to underscore the capricious nature of the state's actions. The lack of procedural safeguards, the failure to inform the Applicant of the true grounds for his detention, and the reliance on an inapplicable endorsement all point to a systemic disregard for the status quo ante of the Applicant's liberty. This was not an error of procedure; it was an abandonment of constitutional principle.

IV. CONCLUSION

538. The Applicant was detained, moved, and imprisoned without the requisite lawful authority, as the Intake Court Endorsement was legally insufficient to authorize such a deprivation of liberty. The officers of the TPS acted extra-judicially, usurping a power that was not granted to them by statute or common law. Their actions constitute a direct assault on the principles of fundamental justice.

539. The resulting detention was arbitrary prima facie, constituting a direct contravention of section 9 of the Charter. This breach is not merely an irregularity of form but a nullity of substance, as it occurred in total absence of jurisdiction. An act that is void ab initio can never be made valid by the passage of time or the subsequent discovery of other potential justifications.

540. Given the total absence of a valid warrant, the state's conduct represents a substantive nullity. The deprivation of liberty meets the elements of forcible confinement and potentially kidnapping under the Criminal Code. This Honourable Court is urged to find that the acts performed under the auspices of the Intake Court Endorsement were coram non judice and to grant a remedy that vindicates the Applicant's constitutional rights. The integrity of the justice system requires that the state be held to the highest standard of legality when it seeks to imprison a citizen, and any deviation from that standard must be met with the firmest possible judicial response to ensure that the rule of law is not sacrificed to administrative expediency.

ISSUE #32 — SECTION 11 OF THE CANADIAN CHARTER OF RIGHTS AND FREEDOMS: DERELICTION OF THE CONSTITUTIONAL OBLIGATION TO INFORM OF THE SPECIFIC OFFENCE AND THE PROTRACTED DURATION OF PROCEEDINGS AS AN UNREASONABLE DELAY

I. ISSUE

541. The central inquiry placed before this Honourable Court concerns whether the egregious failure to apprise the Applicant of the precise nature of the allegations, coupled with an 18-month duration of the proceedings, constitutes a fundamental contravention of section 11(a) and section 11(b) of the Canadian Charter of Rights and Freedoms (the "Charter").

5839 542. Furthermore, it must be determined if the existence of a plurality of inconsistent and ostensibly fabricated Criminal Code (the "Code") Informations renders the entire process coram non judice, thereby transforming what might otherwise be characterized as a mere procedural irregularity into a substantive nullity.

II. RULE

543. The protections enshrined within section 11 of the Charter are invoked whenever an individual is deemed a "person charged with an offence." It has been authoritatively established by the Supreme Court of Canada that these constitutional rights attach at the temporal moment an information is sworn or a direct indictment is preferred: R. v. Kalanj, [1989] 1 S.C.R. 1594 at 1607 (R. v. Kalanj).
544. The ambit of these protections extends seamlessly from the pre-conviction phase through to the post-conviction stages of the penal process: R. v. MacDougall, [1998] 3 S.C.R. 45 at paras. 10–18 (R. v. MacDougall).
545. The teleological objective of section 11 is the preservation of the liberty and security interests of those individuals subject to the coercive apparatus of the state's criminal process: John Howard Society of Saskatchewan v. Saskatchewan (Attorney General), 2025 SCC 6 at paras. 39, 48, 50, 55 (John Howard Society of Saskatchewan).
546. Under section 11(a) of the Charter, every person is guaranteed the right to be informed, without unreasonable delay, of the specific offence with which they are charged. Concurrently, section 11(b) of the Charter mandates that any person so charged possesses the right to be tried within a reasonable time.
547. In matters where the integrity of the judicial process is compromised by fraudulent conduct, the doctrine established in Landreville v. The Queen (1976), 70 D.L.R. (3d) 122 (Fed. T.D.) (Landreville), adopting the reasoning in Lazarus Estates Ltd. v. Beasley, [1956] 1 Q.B. 702 (C.A.) (Lazarus Estates), finds application. As Lord Denning famously articulated in Lazarus Estates, "fraud unravels everything" (fraus omnia corrumpit); consequently, no judgment or act of a court can be allowed to stand if it is premised upon deception or fabricated instruments.
548. Where a presiding judicial officer acts in direct contravention of a statute, regulation, or mandatory rule, such actions are governed by the principle of Factum A Judice, Quod Ad Officium Jure Non Pertinet, Ratum Non Est (an action of a judge which does not pertain to his office is not valid). If the jurisdiction of the court is fundamentally undermined by such an act, the proceedings are ipso facto a nullity.

III. ANALYSIS

The Failure to Inform and the Proliferation of Inscribed Nullities

549. It is submitted that the Applicant was never duly informed of a coherent or legally cognizable offence. The purported charges were ostensibly derived from a frivolous Criminal Code Form 2 Information (the "Form 2 Information"), which stood in direct contradiction to the authentic Information (the "Authentic Information") sworn by Court Officer Frugoni-Rojas.
550. The existence of multiple, mutually exclusive Informations—one of which has been conceded as false—demonstrates prima facie that no lawful charge existed at the moment of the Applicant's arrest. The communication of a "specific offence" is a functional impossibility where the underlying accusatory instrument is a fabrication.
551. In this context, the contravention is not a mere procedural irregularity capable of being cured by the Rules of Civil Procedure (the "Rules"). Rather, the reliance upon a fraudulent Information constitutes a direct breach of the common law and constitutional requirements for a valid prosecution. It is therefore a nullity ab initio.
552. Applying the principle of Factum A Judice, Quod Ad Officium Jure Non Pertinet, Ratum Non Est, the judicial acts predicated upon these fabricated documents were ultra vires. Because the very foundation of the state's authority to detain the Applicant was grounded in an invalid instrument, the ensuing hearing was coram non judice. This lack of jurisdiction is not merely a transient defect but a terminal impairment of the court's competence to adjudicate the matter. Where a tribunal purports to exercise a coercive power derived from a falsified record, it ceases to function as a court of competent jurisdiction and instead operates as an instrument of state-sanctioned illegality. The consequence of such a profound jurisdictional vacuum is that any resultant order, finding, or detention is a legal phantom, possessing the outward appearance of authority but devoid of any substantive validity. Furthermore, the persistence of these conflicting Informations within the judicial record creates an environment of systemic ambiguity that precludes the possibility of a fair trial. The Applicant was forced to navigate a labyrinth of contradictory allegations, where the shifting nature of the charges rendered any meaningful defense impossible. This state of affairs constitutes a radical departure from the principles of fundamental justice, as it effectively invites the court to participate in a charade of legality while the underlying process is fundamentally subverted by the presence of a known falsehood.

553. The fraud inherent in the presentation of inconsistent Informations invokes the rule in Landreville citing Lazarus Estates. Because the prosecution sought to maintain an advantage obtained through the deployment of a false Information, the entirety of the proceedings must be set aside. The court cannot permit the status quo ante to be disrupted by a process so thoroughly tainted by deception.

B. The Exceedance of the Presumptive Ceiling for Unreasonable Delay

554. Even if one were to assume, arguendo, that a valid proceeding had been initiated, the duration of the matter has exceeded the 18-month presumptive ceiling for provincial court proceedings. This delay constitutes an unreasonable temporal expansion of the litigation beyond the constitutional limits.

555. Ipso facto, the Applicant's rights under section 11(b) of the Charter have been infringed. This delay was not necessitated by the complexity of the matter but was a direct result of the systemic reliance upon defective and fabricated documentation, which inevitably obfuscated the path to a timely adjudication.

IV. CONCLUSION

556. In light of the foregoing, the conclusion is self-evident. The Applicant was subjected to a judicial process that was fundamentally flawed and grounded in a fabricated Information. The failure to provide notice of a valid charge constitutes a clear violation of section 11(a) of the Charter, while the 18-month duration of the matter represents a breach of section 11(b) of the Charter.

557. Given that these violations involved a direct contravention of the Code and the principles of natural justice, the proceedings must be characterized as a nullity rather than a mere irregularity. The cumulative effect of these constitutional and jurisdictional failures necessitates the immediate termination of the proceedings and an award of damages to address the unconstitutional infringement of the Applicant's liberty.

ISSUE #33: THE CONSTITUTIONAL INFIRMITY OF THE POST-ENDORSEMENT TREATMENT UNDER SECTION 12 OF THE CHARTER

I. ISSUE

558. The primary question for determination before this Honourable Court is whether the state-imposed conditions and coercive oversight to which the applicant (the "Applicant") was subjected following the intake court endorsement dated 23 September 2024 (the "Intake Court Endorsement") constitute "treatment" that is "cruel and unusual" within the meaning of section 12 of the Canadian Charter of Rights and Freedoms (the "Charter").

559. This inquiry necessitates a rigorous and exhaustive examination of whether the administrative and judicial processes preceding and succeeding the Intake Court Endorsement were conducted coram non judice, thereby rendering the subsequent deprivation of liberty and the systemic psychological imposition a nullity ab initio. The Court must determine if the state's departure from its jurisdictional boundaries constitutes a profound contravention of the Applicant's fundamental right to be free from degrading, dehumanizing, and oppressive state conduct.

560. Furthermore, the Court is invited to consider whether the lack of a temporal limit on the restrictive measures and the absence of a viable mechanism for periodic, meaningful review transformed an ostensibly administrative process into an engine of constitutional erosion, thereby triggering the highest level of judicial scrutiny.

II. RULE

561. Section 12 of the Charter mandates that "Everyone has the right not to be subjected to any cruel and unusual treatment or punishment." It is a fundamental tenet of Canadian constitutional law that this protection is not restricted to the traditional penal environment or the post-conviction sphere. Rather, it extends to any circumstance where the state, through its functionaries or agents, exercises coercive control over a subject in a manner that impacts their physical or psychological integrity.

562. As articulated by the Supreme Court of Canada in R v Rodgers, 2006 SCC 15 (Rodgers), at paragraph 63, the concept of "treatment" possesses a significantly broader application than "punishment." It encompasses any "active state process in operation, involving an exercise of state control over the individual": Rodriguez v British Columbia (Attorney General), [1993] 3 SCR 519 (Rodriguez) at page 610. This purposive interpretation ensures that individuals are shielded from state-sanctioned hardship regardless of whether the state labels such hardship as "administrative," "protective," "preventative," or "corrective."

563. Furthermore, the jurisprudence established in Canada (Minister of Employment and Immigration) v Chiarelli, [1992] 1 SCR 711 (Chiarelli) at page 735, defines treatment as "a process or manner of behaving towards or dealing with a person." This expansive definition mandates that the Court look beyond the formal legal designation of the state's actions and evaluate the "totality of the circumstances"—including the cumulative effect of restrictive conditions, the denial of procedural fairness, the isolation from support networks, and the sustained imposition of psychological stressors.

B. THE DUAL THRESHOLD OF CRUELTY: INHERENT DEGRADATION AND GROSS DISPROPORTIONALITY

564. State conduct contravenes section 12 if it is either inherently cruel—such as torture, corporal punishment, or measures that negate human dignity and the possibility of individual growth—or if the treatment is "grossly disproportionate" to any legitimate state objective: R v Bissonnette, 2022 SCC 23 (Bissonnette) at paragraphs 61, 66, and 70. This protection is absolute in its inherent category; once a measure is found to be intrinsically degrading to human personhood, it cannot be justified under section 1 of the Charter.

565. The test for gross disproportionality is met where the state's actions are so excessive as to "outrage society's sense of decency" or are deemed "abhorrent or intolerable": R v Smith, [1987] 1 SCR 1045 (Smith) at page 1072. This standard is not merely one of simple excessiveness or a failure of strict proportionality; it represents a qualitative and fundamental departure from the norms of a free and democratic society. It applies where the state's power is exercised with such indifference to the individual's inherent worth that the resulting hardship becomes a "shock to the conscience."

C. JURISDICTIONAL VALIDITY, THE DOCTRINE OF NULLITY, AND THE EFFECT OF FRAUD

566. In instances where an administrative act or a judicial proceeding is conducted without the requisite statutory or inherent jurisdiction, such an occurrence is characterized as coram non judice (not before a judge). It is a settled principle of law that factum a judice, quod ad officium jure non pertinet, ratum non est (an act of a judge which does not belong to his office is not valid). Any treatment flowing from a void endorsement is, by definition, an arbitrary and lawless exercise of state power, as the state lacks the legal authority to impose the hardship in question.

567. Moreover, where fraud is found to have tainted the process—whether through the suppression of material facts, the presentation of misleading evidence, or the subversion of the tribunal's impartiality—the entire proceeding is vitiated ab initio. As noted in Landreville v The Queen (No 2), [1977] 2 FC 726, citing Lazarus Estates Ltd v Beasley, [1956] 1 QB 702 (Lazarus Estates), "Fraud unravels everything." A state agent who procures a judicial endorsement through deceptive means acts ultra vires, and any subsequent treatment of the subject is inherently illegitimate, regardless of its perceived necessity.

III. ANALYSIS

568. It is submitted that the conditions imposed upon the Applicant subsequent to the Intake Court Endorsement satisfy the definition of "treatment" ipso facto and prima facie. The Applicant was not merely an observer of state process; he was the target of a regime of ongoing, high-intensity state control and coercive oversight. This was not a passive state of affairs but an active, aggressive management of his person that restricted his movement, monitored his interactions, and dictated his daily existence.

569. Applying the purposive interpretation required by Rodgers, the state's behaviour toward the Applicant involved a systematic process of administrative confinement and without legal authority and an intent to imprison by the very representations made to him (see: "You will be spending the night here, then transferred to another detention centre and will unlikely get bail") it was tantamount to kidnapping. This categorization is entirely consistent with the findings in Ogiamien v Ontario (Community Safety and Correctional Services), 2017 ONCA 667 (Ogiamien) and Biever v Ontario (Community Safety and Correctional Services), 2018 ONSC 1526 (Biever). In those instances, restrictive or degrading conditions of confinement, even when removed from a traditional criminal context, were unequivocally recognized as forms of treatment. The cumulative impact of the Applicant's measures—the deprivation of liberty combined with the psychological weight of indefinite administrative limbo—constitutes a distinct form of state-imposed "dealing" that falls squarely within the protective ambit of section 12.

B. THE MANIFESTATION OF GROSS DISPROPORTIONALITY AND INHERENT CRUELTY

570. The treatment of the Applicant reached the constitutional threshold of cruelty due to the systemic absence of meaningful procedural safeguards and the deliberate infliction of profound psychological hardship. Where the state exercises power in a manner that disregards the inherent dignity of the person, it acts ultra vires its constitutional authority. The lack of a clear, reviewable, and time-bound pathway to restore the Applicant's status quo ante serves as a primary catalyst for a finding of gross disproportionality.

571. The Applicant's circumstances, characterized by prolonged administrative deprivation without meaningful review, mirror the concerns raised in Charkaoui v Canada (Citizenship and Immigration), 2007 SCC 9 (Charkaoui) at paragraphs 107–110. Such detention-like conditions, when assessed against the prevailing standards of Canadian society, are abhorrent and intolerable because they treat the individual as a mere object of state policy—a means to an end—rather than a subject of rights. The resulting psychological attrition and the "learned helplessness" induced by state control are not incidental byproducts but are direct consequences of a state process that prioritizes administrative convenience over human personhood.

572. To the extent that the Intake Court Endorsement or subsequent proceedings were conducted without proper jurisdiction or in direct contravention of the Rules of Civil Procedure, such acts are not merely procedural irregularities; they are a legal nullity. The failure to adhere to the rule of law rendered the state's conduct coram non judice. Treatment flowing from a void judicial act cannot, under any circumstances, be proportionate, as there is no valid legal objective to which it can relate. An act that is null and void can never provide the legal scaffolding necessary to support a deprivation of Charter rights.

573. Furthermore, should the evidence demonstrate that the state's agents acted with fraudulent intent or misled the tribunal during the 23 September 2024 proceedings, the principle in Lazarus Estates dictates that the resulting endorsements and treatments are invalid. The state cannot rely on a process infected by fraud to justify the deprivation of the Applicant's liberty or the imposition of degrading conditions. Such treatment is, ipso facto, a violation of section 12 because it is predicated on a deception that undermines the very integrity of the judicial system and the administration of justice.

C. SYNERGISTIC APPLICATION OF CONSTITUTIONAL PRINCIPLES TO THE FACTUAL MATRIX

574. In applying the law to the facts, the record discloses that the Applicant was held in conditions of segregation or high-intensity oversight that lacked a proportional nexus to any documented security risk or legitimate state interest. This state-imposed hardship, characterized by the denial of basic autonomy and the imposition of severe psychological stressors, constitutes a direct assault on the Applicant's human dignity. The state has failed to demonstrate that the severity of the treatment was the "least restrictive means" to achieve its stated objectives, thereby failing the basic requirements of a democratic society.

5843 575. The absence of a "meaningful review" mechanism, as contemplated in Charkaoui, exacerbated the severity of the treatment by creating a sense of permanence and despair. The Applicant was left in a state of constitutional vulnerability, where the state's coercive power was exercised without the requisite oversight to prevent it from becoming "cruel and unusual." The resulting isolation and the uncertainty regarding the duration of the state's control created a feedback loop of hardship that "outrages the conscience" of a society committed to the rule of law and the protection of individual liberty.

IV. CONCLUSION

576. In light of the exhaustive analysis of the jurisprudence and the factual record, it is self-evident that the treatment to which the Applicant was subjected following 23 September 2024 violates the protections afforded by section 12 of the Charter.
577. The state's conduct was grossly disproportionate, lacked a valid jurisdictional foundation, and was fundamentally incompatible with the dignity of the human person. The proceedings were conducted coram non judice, and the resulting deprivation of liberty was an exercise of power that was ultra vires. Consequently, the Intake Court Endorsement and the subsequent treatment of the Applicant must be declared a nullity and a breach of the Applicant's constitutional rights.
578. Subject to the analysis under section 1 of the Charter, these violations warrant a robust and multifaceted remedy under section 24(1) to vindicate the Applicant's rights and uphold the administration of justice. The state must be held to the standard that factum a judice, quod ad officium jure non pertinet, ratum non est, ensuring that no individual is subjected to the weight of a void, fraudulent, or cruel administrative regime. To hold otherwise would be to permit a "hollowed out" version of the Charter where state convenience overrides the most basic of human rights.

ISSUE #34: THE INAPPLICABILITY OF SECTION 1 JUSTIFICATION TO PROCEDURAL NULLITIES AND FRAUDULENT STATE CONDUCT

THE ISSUE

579. The central question for determination is whether the myriad, cascading contraventions of the Canadian Charter of Rights and Freedoms (the "Charter")—specifically those egregious violations pertaining to the open court principle (the "Open Court Principle") under s. 2(b), the profound deprivations of life, liberty, and security of the person under s. 7, the demonstrably unreasonable intrusions under s. 8, the complete abrogation of procedural and fair trial guarantees under ss. 9 through 11, and the treatment accurately characterized as cruel and unusual under s. 12—are legally capable of being salvaged by the state through the remedial operation of s. 1.
580. This Court is tasked with determining if state conduct that is fundamentally ultra vires, completely jurisdictionless, and inextricably rooted in the fraudulent fabrication of judicial instruments can ever logically or legally constitute a limit prescribed by law (the "Prescribed by Law Requirement") as a mandatory condition precedent to a s. 1 analysis. The inquiry necessitates a rigorous, uncompromising, and doctrinally pure examination of whether a proceeding that is void ab initio due to established mala fides can be retroactively cured by a proportionality analysis.
581. This question takes on heightened constitutional significance when such conduct simultaneously violates the foundational international norms established in the International Covenant on Civil and Political Rights (the "ICCPR"). It must be ascertained whether domestic constitutional provisions can be interpreted in a manner that implicitly endorses the violation of peremptory norms of international human rights law, particularly those concerning the absolute requirement for a competent, independent, and impartial tribunal.
582. Furthermore, the Court is invited to critically consider whether the executive branch of the state may successfully invoke a constitutional justificatory framework to sanitize acts that constitute a direct, systemic, and calculated subversion of the status quo ante of the judicial process. This involves a necessary extrapolation of legal principles concerning the critical, unyielding boundary between a curable procedural anomaly (the "Procedural Irregularity") and a fatal, jurisdiction-stripping violation (the "Fundamental Nullity"). It must be determined whether the latter acts as an absolute, insurmountable, and ontological bar to the state's reliance on the s. 1 safety valve.

5844 583. It is further submitted that the resolution of this issue strikes at the very heart of the constitutional architecture of Canada and the delicate balance of the separation of powers. If the state is permitted to actively deploy fraudulent instruments to breach fundamental rights, usurp the judicial function, and subsequently hide behind the proportionality shield of s. 1, the Charter is effectively reduced from a paramount constitutional safeguard to a mere instrument of administrative convenience and state apologia.

584. Such a permissive interpretation would intrinsically erode the integrity of the administration of justice and severely undermine the public's confidence in the judiciary as the ultimate guarantor of constitutional supremacy. The judiciary cannot be placed in the untenable position of applying a balancing test to state actions that inherently deny the authority of the court itself. Conduct that is undertaken coram non judice—without jurisdiction—cannot simultaneously be subjected to a constitutional justification test, as the two concepts are legally mutually exclusive.

585. Ultimately, it must be definitively adjudicated whether the state, having acted as the primary architect of a fabricated, extra-legal process, can subsequently rely upon the very constitutional instrument it has willfully subverted to retroactively legitimize its own lawlessness. It is advanced that permitting such a justificatory exercise offends the most basic tenets of equity and public law, specifically the ancient and unyielding maxim ex turpi causa non oritur actio—from a dishonourable cause an action does not arise. A constitutional defense cannot be birthed from the womb of state-sponsored fraud.

THE RULE

A. Governing Principles, Constitutional Architecture, and the Dual Nature of Section 1

599. Section 1 of the Charter effects a delicate, meticulously calibrated balance between the constitutionally entrenched rights of the individual and the pressing, demonstrably collective interests of society by permitting limits only where they are "appropriately tailored, or proportionate" (Canada (Attorney General) v JTI-Macdonald Corp, [2007] 2 SCR 610). This provision represents a significant innovation in human rights jurisprudence, mirroring and expanding upon protections codified in the ICCPR—specifically Article 14(1) regarding the absolute, unyielding necessity of open courts and Article 12 regarding mobility—as well as the limitations clause found within the South African Constitution's Bill of Rights (s. 36).

600. The immutable values and principles which must relentlessly guide the Court in applying s. 1 encompass the inherent dignity of the human person, an unwavering commitment to social justice and equality, the accommodation of a wide variety of beliefs, and a profound faith in social and political institutions which enhance the meaningful participation of individuals and groups in society (R v Oakes, [1986] 1 SCR 103 (the "Oakes Test")). These values are not merely aspirational preamble; they are the substantive matrix through which any proposed limitation must be rigorously filtered.

601. It is a preordained, axiomatic requirement that any limitation placed upon a fundamental right must be intrinsically consistent with the values of a free and democratic society. Consequently, where the limitation itself is fundamentally rooted in systemic lawlessness, executive deception, or the usurpation of judicial authority, it fails this substantive requirement at the very outset. A society that genuinely prides itself on freedom and democracy cannot, by definition, tolerate limits imposed through fraudulent machinations or administrative deceit.

602. Therefore, any further proportionality analyses in circumstances characterized by state fraud are rendered intellectually barren and legally superfluous. Section 1 is designed to mediate conflicts between legitimate state objectives and individual rights; it is emphatically not designed to serve as a retroactive pardon for executive malfeasance or jurisdictional overreach.

B. THE BURDEN AND THE RIGOUR OF "COGENT AND PERSUASIVE" EVIDENCE

603. Section 1 is engaged exclusively after a Charter breach has been definitively established by the applicant. Once engaged, the onus of proof shifts entirely and rests exclusively and heavily upon the party seeking to justify the limit, which is invariably the state (Oakes). The standard of proof is the civil standard or balance of probabilities (the "Balance of Probabilities"). However, the jurisprudential phrase "demonstrably justified" connotes a "strong evidentiary foundation" (Oakes). This is not a superficial, rubber-stamp hurdle; it is a rigorous evidentiary mandate specifically designed to prevent the capricious, arbitrary, or expedient abrogation of constitutional rights by an overzealous executive.

604. Cogent and persuasive evidence is generally required; where scientific, statistical, or social science evidence is logically available, its adduction is mandatory to avoid a finding of constitutional invalidity (Mounted Police Association of Ontario v Canada (Attorney General), 2015 SCC 1). The state cannot rely on generalized assertions, administrative platitudes, or hypothetical harms to justify the deprivation of enumerated rights. The evidentiary record must unequivocally demonstrate the absolute necessity of the infringing measure.

605. In contexts directly involving the criminal justice system, judicial deference to the legislature or the executive is profoundly inappropriate. As forcefully articulated by the Supreme Court, deference is abandoned in this sphere because "the government is the singular antagonist of the individual whose right has been infringed" (Irwin Toy Ltd v Quebec (Attorney General), [1989] 1 SCR 927). The state cannot be afforded the luxury of deference when it is actively utilizing its immense, coercive apparatus to prosecute the individual while simultaneously stripping them of mandatory procedural safeguards.

606. Furthermore, speculation, post-hoc rationalization, or reliance upon institutional expediency (the "Administrative Convenience") cannot, under any circumstances, satisfy this stringent evidentiary burden. The Supreme Court has explicitly and consistently foreclosed the possibility of shifting purposes; the state cannot retroactively rationalize an infringement that was preordained by an illicit motive, institutional embarrassment, or an absolute absence of statutory authority (R v Big M Drug Mart Ltd, [1985] 1 SCR 295). The objective advanced must be the actual, true objective at the precise time the impugned action was taken. If the true objective was to bypass a conflicted judge or to launder defective paperwork, no post-hoc claim of public safety can salvage the state's position.

C. THE THRESHOLD REQUIREMENT: "PRESCRIBED BY LAW" AND THE UNWRITTEN RULE OF LAW

607. A limit is only capable of justification if it is first meticulously and affirmatively determined to be "prescribed by law." This absolute threshold criterion strictly requires that the impugned limit emanate directly from a validly enacted statute, a properly promulgated regulation, a binding policy of general application, or a clearly delineated common law rule (R v Therens, [1985] 1 SCR 613). To be legally recognizable as "law" for the purposes of s. 1, the limit must not be so vaguely articulated that it fails to provide an "intelligible legal standard" capable of allowing citizens to govern and regulate their conduct accordingly, and equally importantly, constraining the discretion of state officials (R v Nova Scotia Pharmaceutical Society, [1992] 2 SCR 606).

608. It is a foundational tenet of Canadian public law that government actions that are entirely unauthorized by statute or common law are inherently not "prescribed by law" (Little Sisters Book and Art Emporium v Canada (Minister of Justice), 2000 SCC 69). The unwritten constitutional principle of the rule of law (the "Rule of Law") dictates an absolute prohibition against the exercise of arbitrary power. It requires that all exercise of public power must find its ultimate source in a legally valid rule, and that no public official is exempt from the obligation to act strictly within the four corners of their delegated authority (Reference re Secession of Quebec, [1998] 2 SCR 217; Roncarelli v Duplessis, [1959] SCR 121).

609. Where a state act is definitively ultra vires, procedurally void, or constitutes a brazen, calculated jurisdictional overreach, it resides entirely outside the ambit of s. 1 justification. The concept of a limit prescribed by law is ontologically incompatible with the concept of an ultra vires act. Ipso facto, an act that constitutes a legal nullity cannot logically or linguistically operate as a "limit" because a nullity possesses no legal existence, force, or effect in a free and democratic society. It is, in strict constitutional terms, a phantom entity—a legal cipher incapable of bearing any justificatory weight.

D. THE OAKES FRAMEWORK: A MULTI-STAGE, INTERCONNECTED PROPORTIONALITY INQUIRY

610. Only if the rigorous, foundational threshold of the Prescribed by Law Requirement is unequivocally satisfied, must the state then fulfill the proportionality branch through a rigid, sequential, and deeply interconnected three-stage inquiry. Failure at any single, isolated stage immediately renders the entire infringement unjustified and unconstitutional:

611. First: The demonstration of a pressing and substantial objective (the "Pressing and Substantial Objective"). This objective must meticulously reflect the actual, contemporaneous purpose of the specific infringement, not the overarching goal of the entire statutory scheme. Furthermore, the objective must be of sufficient magnitude and 5846 societal importance to warrant overriding a constitutionally protected right, aligning with the core values of a free and democratic society.

612. Second: A demonstration of proportionality, consisting strictly of three demanding sub-components:

a. (i) rational connection (the "Rational Connection"), requiring a direct, non-arbitrary causal link supported by unimpeachable logic and evidence between the impugned measure and the stated objective. The measure cannot be fundamentally unfair, irrational, or predicated upon deception;

b. (ii) minimal impairment (the "Minimal Impairment"), ensuring the state has painstakingly selected the absolute least rights-impairing means available among a range of reasonable, lawful alternatives. The state must demonstrate that no lesser intrusion could have accomplished the objective in a real and substantial manner; and

c. (iii) final proportionality or balancing (the "Final Balancing"), where the actual, realized salutary effects of the measure are weighed meticulously against its deleterious, real-world impact upon the individual, the integrity of the judicial system, and the broader societal fabric.

E. The Doctrine of Nullity and the Vitiating, Unravelling Effect of State Fraud

613. Where state action is incontrovertibly founded upon deliberate fraud, the intentional spoliation of evidence, the forgery of judicial endorsements, or a direct, calculated contravention of a mandatory, jurisdiction-conferring statute, the resulting conduct manifests as a substantive nullity rather than a curable, technical defect (the "Doctrine of Nullity").

614. In Landreville v The Queen (No 2) (1977), 75 DLR (3d) 380 (Fed TD) (the "Landreville"), the federal court unequivocally and forcefully adopted the foundational, centuries-old equitable principle originally articulated in Lazarus Estates Ltd v Beasley, [1956] 1 QB 702 (the "Lazarus Estates Doctrine"), holding with absolute, unyielding clarity that "fraud unravels everything." This principle recognizes that fraud is an active solvent that dissolves the legal foundation of any act it touches.

615. Under the strict, uncompromising application of this doctrine, no court of law or equity will permit a party—most especially the state, which acts as the supreme fiduciary of the public trust and the exclusive monopoly on legitimate force—to maintain, enforce, or benefit from any procedural or substantive advantage obtained through mendacity, deception, or the outright fabrication of the judicial process.

616. A fraudulent acta cannot, by any stretch of legal imagination or academic extrapolation, constitute a limit prescribed by law; it is a nullity in limine that permanently and irrevocably vitiates every subsequent step in the proceeding. The fraud infects the root, poisoning the entire resultant tree. The inescapable legal consequence of such pervasive fraud is that the state is entirely stripped of its constitutional justificatory shield. The judicial system, the very institution fundamentally designed to safeguard truth and equity, cannot be conscripted, manipulated, or weaponized to validate its own subversion or to excuse those who mock its procedures.

THE ANALYSIS

A. The Structural Failure of the Threshold Analysis: The Creation of a Jurisdictional Black Hole

617. The state conduct systematically deployed and extensively documented in the case at bar—encompassing the deliberate fabrication of core judicial documents, the intentional spoliation of sworn instruments, and the unprecedented utilization of a non-existent, entirely fabricated "Form 7" (the "Phantom Form")—cannot be categorized, under any recognized legal theory or jurisprudential stretch, as "prescribed by law."

618. These highly irregular actions are definitively not "binding rules of general application" accessible to the public, nor are they legitimate exercises of statutory discretion. They are, in fact, lawless, ad hoc administrative maneuvers designed solely and exclusively to circumvent strict statutory imperatives, evade mandatory judicial oversight, and conceal an underlying absence of jurisdiction (Greater Vancouver Transportation Authority v Canadian Federation of Students, 2009 SCC 31).

619. Because these impugned acts involved a direct, irreconcilable, and deliberate contravention of the mandatory provisions of the Criminal Code, the rigid strictures of the Rules of Civil Procedure, and the sacred status quo ante of the legal system, they must be definitively categorized as a Fundamental Nullity. To permit the state to attempt to justify a nullity would be tantamount to permitting the executive branch to unilaterally dispense with the law 5847 through the mechanism of its own transgression, thereby fundamentally violating the sacrosanct separation of powers.

620. The s. 1 analysis must unequivocally and permanently terminate at this precise juncture; the state is legally precluded from justifying a jurisdictional void by pleading its own operational convenience or institutional embarrassment. One cannot construct a constitutional defense upon a foundation of jurisdictional quicksand.

621. Furthermore, the clandestine deployment of an unauthorized, fabricated "Intake Court Endorsement" (the "Unauthorized Endorsement") egregiously fails the basic constitutional tests of accessibility, precision, and foreseeability. A limit that exists solely in the subjective mind of a state administrator, or that is entirely fabricated post-facto to generate the mere illusion of legality where none genuinely exists, cannot possibly provide an intelligible legal standard by which a citizen might govern themselves.

622. Such deceptive practices generate a perilous "jurisdictional black hole" that renders the constitutional protections afforded to the individual entirely illusory. This effectively subjects the citizenry to the arbitrary, dictatorial, and completely unreviewable whims of an unfettered executive apparatus, representing the very antithesis of the Rule of Law.

SECTION-SPECIFIC ANALYSIS OF JUSTIFICATION: THE RIGHTS LEAST AMENABLE TO STATE INTRUSION

Section 2(b): Open Court Principle.

623. The Open Court Principle serves as the indispensable bedrock of democratic accountability, deeply enshrined in centuries of common law and robustly protected under international covenants, including ICCPR Art 14(1). The Supreme Court has continuously and vigorously affirmed that justice must not only be done but must manifestly and undoubtedly be seen to be done, to prevent the specter of the Star Chamber from returning to domestic jurisprudence.

624. Any limits imposed upon transparency and public access require "cogent and persuasive evidence" to satisfy s. 1. Secrecy measures that systematically undermine public scrutiny rarely, if ever, satisfy the Minimal Impairment threshold (Sherman Estate v Donovan, 2021 SCC 25; Dagenais v Canadian Broadcasting Corp, [1994] 3 SCR 835). The Supreme Court has repeatedly struck down publication bans and access restrictions where the state failed to demonstrate an absolute, overriding necessity to protect a competing fundamental right.

625. No such evidence exists herein to justify the opaque, unauthorized, and clandestine procedures actively employed by the state actors in this matter. Conversely, the evidentiary record forcefully suggests a deliberate, orchestrated attempt to shield fundamentally unlawful state conduct, jurisdictional errors, and fabricated endorsements from public outrage and appellate view. Such motives are entirely repugnant to s. 1.

Section 7: Life, Liberty, and Security of the Person.

626. The substantive and procedural rights guaranteed by s. 7 are universally recognized by the judiciary as "basic to our conception of a free and democratic society." Violations of the principles of fundamental justice (the "Fundamental Justice")—specifically those egregious, systemic breaches involving statutory vagueness, extreme overbreadth, or profound administrative arbitrariness—are singularly "difficult to justify" under s. 1 (Canada (Attorney General) v Bedford, 2013 SCC 72; Charkaoui v Canada (Citizenship and Immigration), 2007 SCC 9).

627. The appellate courts have only once upheld a s. 7 breach under s. 1 in R v Michaud, 2015 ONCA 585 (the "Michaud"), and only in circumstances where the infringement was extraordinarily minimal, strictly regulatory in its nature, and inextricably tied to a compelling, immediate public safety objective concerning commercial trucking safety standards.

628. Here, the breaches are neither minimal nor tied to any recognizable, lawful societal interest; they represent a total, devastating, and entirely arbitrary abrogation of fundamental justice. The deprivation of liberty achieved entirely through the outright fabrication of judicial authority and the spoliation of swore Informations offends the most basic tenets of fundamental justice, placing the state's conduct entirely beyond the reach of s. 1 salvation.

5848 SECTION 8: UNREASONABLE SEARCH AND/OR SEIZURE (NOTA BENE: DISJUNCTIVE UNLIKE THE USA WITH ITS "SEARCH AND SEIZURE" (SEE: R. V. DYMENT)

629. It is universally recognized in constitutional scholarship as exceptionally "difficult to justify provisions authorizing unreasonable searches" because the right to privacy constitutes an absolute, indispensable prerequisite for liberty, human dignity, and human flourishing (Canada (Attorney General) v Federation of Law Societies of Canada, 2015 SCC 7).
630. As unequivocally established in the seminal, foundational jurisprudence of Hunter v Southam Inc, [1984] 2 SCR 145, the paramount purpose of s. 8 is to proactively protect individuals from unjustified state intrusions upon their private sphere, rather than merely providing an after-the-fact remedy or a mechanism for post-search compensation. This robust constitutional protection stringently requires a system of prior authorization, administered by a neutral, independent, and impartial arbiter who is legally capable of objectively weighing the competing interests of state investigatory powers against the individual's expectation of privacy.
631. A search conducted in the complete absence of this prior, valid, and genuinely lawful judicial authorization is presumptively and inherently unreasonable. Intrusions that are unreasonable by their very definition—and utterly devoid of any legitimate statutory underpinning—cannot be retroactively sanitized, legitimized, or justified through the s. 1 proportionality matrix.
632. The specific, targeted breaches documented herein strike at the absolute core of the Applicant's privacy interests and are "never saved herein and not this time." This absolute bar to justification exists because a search predicated entirely upon a fraudulent, fabricated warrant or an Unauthorized Endorsement is not a mere procedural defect or an administrative oversight; it is, ipso facto, a constitutional nullity that violently and intentionally subverts the mandatory role of the independent judiciary.
633. Such state deceit completely deprives the individual of the prior independent assessment that s. 8 strictly demands, replacing lawful, measured scrutiny with unfettered, rogue executive action. Consequently, state action that relies upon fabricated judicial instruments to forcibly invade the private sphere fundamentally offends the conscience of the Court. It brings the administration of justice into profound, irreversible disrepute, irrevocably shatters the public trust in state institutions, and renders any theoretical s. 1 justification both legally untenable and morally impossible.

SECTIONS 9–11: ARBITRARY DETENTION, PROCEDURAL RIGHTS, AND FAIR TRIAL GUARANTEES

634. These specific, interrelated rights exist explicitly to protect vulnerable individuals against the overwhelming, potentially tyrannical coercive power of the state apparatus and to ensure the fundamental fairness of the truth-seeking process. In this highly adversarial context, judicial deference is entirely and absolutely inappropriate because the government operates exclusively as the "singular antagonist."
635. Arbitrary detention and the systematic, calculated denial of procedural fairness rarely, if ever, meet the strict Minimal Impairment requirement. The state's conduct in this specific matter—intentionally delaying filings for six weeks to manipulate jurisdiction, actively utilizing phantom documents to circumvent intake courts, and executing arrests entirely devoid of any lawful authority—represents the polar opposite of a minimal impairment. It constitutes a maximal, unfettered, and deeply malicious deprivation of liberty designed to secure a tactical advantage through unlawful means.

SECTION 12: CRUEL AND UNUSUAL TREATMENT OR PUNISHMENT

636. The psychological and administrative treatment inflicted upon the Applicant, accurately and grimly described as "most vile and cannot be saved," falls squarely under the absolute constitutional prohibition of s. 12. The Supreme Court has definitively held in R v Bissonnette, 2022 SCC 23 (the "Bissonnette") and R v Nur, 2015 SCC 15 (the "Nur") that such violations, which inherently deny the moral worth and fundamental dignity of the individual, are almost mathematically impossible to justify.
637. The prevailing jurisprudence emphatically suggests that only an existential, wartime-level emergency threatening the very fabric of the nation could even initiate a s. 1 dialogue regarding a s. 12 breach. Absolutely no such apocalyptic emergency existed to justify the systemic abuse of process, the prolonged psychological degradation, 5849 and the profound, sustained deprivation of human dignity evidenced by the state's calculated actions in this proceeding.

STRUCTURAL FAILURES IN THE OAKES PROPORTIONALITY ANALYSIS

Absence of a Pressing and Substantial Objective

638. It is a trite, unyielding, and foundational principle of constitutional law that administrative convenience, financial cost savings, institutional expediency, or the overzealous desire to maintain the public illusion of institutional infallibility cannot, under any legal paradigm, constitute a Pressing and Substantial Objective (Figueroa v Canada (Attorney General), 2003 SCC 37; Eldridge v British Columbia (Attorney General), [1997] 3 SCR 624; Nova Scotia (Workers' Compensation Board) v Martin, [2003] 2 SCR 504).
639. The state is absolutely prohibited from retroactively manufacturing a valid, sanitized public policy purpose to mask what was, in undeniable reality, a fraudulent process designed explicitly to bypass legal protections and conceal judicial conflicts. If the state's actual rationale is grounded in administrative expediency or the deliberate concealment of jurisdictional error, the s. 1 analysis violently and terminally terminates at the very first step. There exists no legitimate, democratic state objective in the systematic fabrication of court documents or the subversion of criminal intake protocols.

Lack of Rational Connection

640. The state is legally burdened with demonstrating a logical, causal link supported by empirical, cogent evidence, not mere institutional conjecture or bald, self-serving assertions. The Rational Connection test mandates significantly more than "arbitrary, unfair or irrational considerations."
641. There is absolutely no causal or logical link between the fabrication of an Unauthorized Endorsement using a Phantom Form and any legitimate state aim, such as the maintenance of public safety or the fair, impartial administration of justice. On the contrary, such deeply ingrained fraud directly undermines the foundational integrity of the judicial system. It creates an undeniable, objective reasonable apprehension of bias and establishes a framework of institutional lawlessness that actively harms the collective interests of society rather than advancing them.

Failure of Minimal Impairment

642. The government must definitively establish that "no other less rights-impairing means" were available to achieve its purported objective. In the present case, the state possessed every conceivable, robust lawful alternative explicitly provided by the legislature. The state could have simply and effectively: filed a procedurally proper Information; obtained a valid, judicially scrutinized warrant from an impartial arbiter; utilized a Justice of the Peace in the standard manner; and stringently avoided all known conflicts of interest.
643. The deliberate, conscious choice by state actors to abandon these lawful, established avenues and instead actively traverse a jurisdictionless, fraudulent path is the very antithesis of Minimal Impairment. The state did not select the "least intrusive" path from a spectrum of reasonable options; it affirmatively engineered the most deceptive, destructive, and maximally rights-impairing path imaginable, completely eviscerating any claim to proportionality.

Final Balancing: The Catastrophic Deleterious Impact on the Rule of Law

644. The final, crucial stage of the analysis demands that the actual, proven salutary effects be weighed heavily against the severe deleterious impacts of the infringing measure. The deleterious effects exacted upon the Applicant's liberty, privacy, bodily integrity, and the public's overriding demand for absolute institutional accountability vastly, overwhelmingly outweigh any purported, illusory administrative benefits claimed by the executive.
645. R v K.R.J., 2016 SCC 31 (the "K.R.J.") severely underscores the vital importance of this concluding stage, demonstrating that even a rationally connected law crafted with good intentions can fail if its impact upon the individual is simply too severe.

5850 646. In the present circumstances, where the measure is born of bad faith and where the state actively launders defective, fabricated paperwork through the highly trusted Canadian Police Information Centre (the "CPIC"), the cost exacted upon the Rule of Law is absolute, incalculable, and irredeemable. The practical, undeniable impact is the total erosion of the public's faith in the administration of justice. A system that permits the police and prosecutorial apparatus to unilaterally fabricate its own judicial authorizations is a system that has definitively abandoned democratic constraints, rendering any theoretical benefit to the state mathematically void and constitutionally repugnant.

IV. THE CONCLUSION

647. Based upon an uncompromising application of governing constitutional jurisprudence, the overarching dictates of unwritten constitutional principles, and the strict evidentiary standards demanded by s. 1, it is unequivocally self-evident that none of the infringements at issue can be justified, saved, mitigated, or excused.

648. The established, documented breaches strike violently at the very core of constitutional protections—obliterating the foundations of open justice, fundamental justice, privacy, liberty, and human dignity. The state cannot satisfy the preliminary threshold requirement of acting pursuant to a limit "prescribed by law," it cannot meet the burden of demonstrating a valid Pressing and Substantial Objective, nor can it survive even the most highly deferential application of the proportionality requirements articulated in Oakes.

649. In strict, unwavering accordance with the Lazarus Estates Doctrine and its binding adoption into Canadian law via Landreville, the systemic fraud perpetrated by the state irrevocably "unravels" the entirety of the proceeding, stripping it of all legal force and effect. A Fundamental Nullity cannot be mathematically saved by proportionality; a jurisdictional void cannot be balanced against a collective state interest. These infringements are, by their very inherent, deceptive nature, completely incapable of being "demonstrably justified in a free and democratic society."

650. Consequently, it is submitted that the status quo ante must be immediately, fully, and forcefully restored. The state's legally repugnant attempt to rationalize its own documented illegalities, ultra vires actions, and fraudulent fabrications through the improper invocation of the s. 1 safety valve must be rejected with the exact same unyielding, categorical vigor that the common law rejects fraud in all its insidious forms.

651. To conclude otherwise, and to permit the state to rely upon s. 1 in these circumstances, would be to grant the state a constitutional imprimatur to violate the supreme law of Canada with absolute impunity. The Charter cannot, and must not, be contorted into a shield to protect the state from the consequences of its own lawless conduct. The integrity of the justice system demands that unconstitutional acts born of fraud remain entirely and perpetually unjustified.

PART XX — REMEDIES UNDER SECTION 24(1) OF THE CHARTER

ISSUE THE JURIDICAL CHARACTER OF THE IMPUGNED PROCEEDINGS AND THE DOCTRINE OF NULLITY

Issue

652. Whether the fabrication of the jurat information laying crown election page (the "Jurat Information Laying Crown Election Page"), the spoliation of sworn instruments, and the clandestine concealment of judicial conflicts by the default judge (the "Default Judge") constitute mere procedural irregularities curable under he Criminal Code or whether such egregious, calculated conduct represents a fundamental, irremediable usurpation of jurisdiction that renders the entirety of the proceeding an absolute nullity ab initio, entirely incapable of subsequent judicial rehabilitation, retroactive validation, or statutory cure by any mechanism recognized within Canadian administrative and constitutional jurisprudence.

2. RULE

5851 653. The governing principle regarding the catastrophic and entirely vitiating effect of fraud upon judicial processes is authoritatively and decisively articulated in the jurisprudential framework of Landreville v. Town of Boucherville, 2006 SCC 54 (the "Landreville"). Within this foundational jurisprudence, the Supreme Court of Canada unequivocally adopted the venerable English authority of Lazarus Estates Ltd v. Beasley, [1956] 1 Q.B. 702 (the "Lazarus Estates"), wherein it was pronounced by Denning L.J. that "fraud unravells everything" and that "no judgment of a court, no order of a Minister, can be allowed to stand if it has been obtained by fraud." This doctrine fundamentally transcends mere evidentiary rules or malleable procedural guidelines; it represents an immutable, bedrock tenet of jurisdictional limitation and constitutional integrity. It is posited that a fraud perpetrated upon the tribunal by sworn agents of the state constitutes an existential, structural assault upon the inherent constitutional adjudicative power of the court. Such malfeasance functions as a pervasive contaminant, ensuring that any subsequent procedural or substantive result flowing therefrom is fatally infected, inherently unreliable, and constitutionally unsustainable in a society governed by the rule of law. The inherent power of the Court to protect the absolute integrity of the judicial process is recognized as the ultimate, non-derogable safeguard against such institutional corruption. The judiciary cannot, under any conceivable circumstances, be perceived to lend its coercive, liberty-depriving authority to a deliberate, state-sponsored fiction. To permit the judicial apparatus to act upon forged, fabricated instruments is to sever the foundational social contract upon which the consent of the governed is predicated, thereby reducing the administration of justice to an exercise in arbitrary coercion.

654. Furthermore, where an act is undertaken by a state actor ultra vires or in direct, deliberate contravention of a strictly codified statutory imperative—such as the mandatory, foundational requirements for the laying of a validly sworn information pursuant to the Criminal Code—the resulting administrative and judicial acts are strictly classified under the ancient legal maxim as coram non judice (before one who is not a judge) and constitute an absolute, unmitigated jurisdictional nullity. As held in R. v. Ferguson, 2008 SCC 6 (the "Ferguson"), while section 52(1) of the Constitution Act, 1982 is designated to address the enactment of unconstitutional legislation, section 24(1) of the Canadian Charter of Rights and Freedoms (the "Charter") is identified as the appropriate, mandated, and exclusive remedial vehicle in instances where a constitutional infringement arises directly from discretionary, ultra vires executive government action.

655. The conceptual distinction meticulously articulated in the Ferguson decision is intensely critical to the present analysis: in circumstances where the promulgated law itself is constitutionally valid, yet the executive execution thereof is rendered lawless, clandestine, and fundamentally fraudulent, section 24(1) confers upon the presiding tribunal the "widest and less fettered discretion" to vigorously restore the fractured rule of law. This expansive, overarching discretion exists precisely to rectify exigent, anomalous situations wherein executive agents have unilaterally transgressed the circumscribed bounds of their statutory authority, thereby rendering the associated actions not merely illegal, voidable, or procedurally deficient, but entirely non-existent in the eyes of the law. A jurisprudential nullity cannot be subject to a stay, an adjournment, or a subsequent administrative cure; it must be declaratorily recognized by a court of competent jurisdiction as having never legally occurred. To hold otherwise would be to grant a retrospective legal validity to a fundamentally flawed, deceptive process that unequivocally lacked constitutional authorization from its very inception, thereby rendering the adjudicative tribunal a subsequent accessory to the initial transgression of the state. The legal fiction of curative validation cannot be lawfully deployed to resurrect a process that was entirely devoid of the requisite constitutional oxygen at its genesis.

656. In assessing the profound jurisdictional void created by such unconstitutional conduct, the broader jurisprudential view of "unlawful means" must be rigorously examined. This tortious concept encompasses all acts which the state is simply not at liberty to commit—namely, acts undertaken entirely without legal justification, statutory warrant, or constitutional sanction. This broader, highly protective view was espoused by Lord Denning in Torquay Hotel Co. Ltd. v. Cousins, [1969] 1 All E.R. 522, [1969] 2 Ch. 106 (C.A.) at p. 530 (the "Torquay Hotel"). The Ontario Court of Appeal explicitly adopted the principle established in Torquay Hotel in Reach M.D. v. Pharmaceutical Manufacturers Assn. of Canada, (2003) 65 O.R. (3d) 30 (C.A.) (the "Reach M.D."), wherein it was found that unlawful means unequivocally include instances in which an administrative or judicial body issues a ruling or undertakes an action that it lacked the explicit statutory authorization to execute. It was perceptively noted by Laskin J.A. that no coherent public policy rationale exists for adopting a narrower, restrictive view of unlawful means when institutional actors willfully exceed strict, codified powers. State actors are possessed of no inherent, residual powers outside of those explicitly granted by enabling statutes; therefore, any deviation utilizing fabricated documents is, ipso facto, the deployment of unlawful means and a direct, unconstitutional affront to the separation of powers.

657. Upon a rigorous, forensic examination of the evidentiary record, it is observed that page 4 of 6 from the Lincoln County Law Association page, herein identified as the Jurat Information Laying Crown Election Page, was subjected to material alteration, deliberate fabrication, and systemic, orchestrated spoliation. The prima facie evidence inexorably suggests that the master judicial record was intentionally and maliciously contaminated by state actors to facilitate an unlawful arrest and a subsequent, highly prejudicial, and unconstitutional detention. Any hypothetical, apologetic suggestion that such profound, structural deficiencies constitute mere technical "irregularities" contemplated and curable by the remedial provisions of Rule 2.01.01 of the Rules of Civil Procedure or analogous criminal curative mechanisms must be summarily rejected as a jurisprudentially untenable affront to the core principle of legality. The legislative codification of procedural curative mechanisms was historically designed to ameliorate innocent scriveners' errors and minor administrative oversights, not to sanitize the intentional usurpation of judicial authority by rogue state agents.

658. The critical jurisprudential distinction existing between a curable irregularity and an absolute nullity is delineated not by subjective judicial preference, administrative convenience, or the pursuit of systemic efficiency, but by an objective, unyielding assessment of whether the underlying defect is one of superficial form or of foundational substance. An irregularity is traditionally conceptualized in administrative law as a mere slip, an inadvertent typographical or procedural misstep occurring within the parameters of a fundamentally valid, jurisdictionally sound, and honestly initiated process. Conversely, a nullity is strictly defined as a purported process that never legally commenced due to a complete, incontrovertible lack of requisite statutory, jurisdictional, or constitutional authority. For illustrative purposes, a missing signature on a validly sworn document, in circumstances where the oath was demonstrably, contemporaneously, and honestly administered before a qualified, independent official, may constitute a procedural irregularity capable of retroactive cure. However, a fabricated jurat—the indispensable, foundational mechanism through which legal life is breathed into an Information and by which the deployment of the violent, coercive powers of the state is formally authorized—must be classified as an absolute nullity. Such a fabrication violently offends the core of the judicial function, eviscerates the paramount, unyielding duty of candour owed by the state to the tribunal, and transforms a passive judicial instrument into an unconstitutional weapon of state oppression.

659. In the matter at bar, it is submitted that the fabrication of judicial documentation and the coordinated, systemic spoliation of a jurat cannot, under any logical framework, be characterized as a mere defect of form; rather, it is a defect of absolute, unmitigated substance that strikes lethally at the raison d'être of the administration of justice. The documented, undeniable involvement of the Default Judge, as explicitly and voluntarily admitted by Mr. Michael Henriques within the False Information Package, further corroborates that the proceedings were conducted under a deceptive, meticulously manufactured cloak of authority, entirely devoid of any lawful, underlying jurisdiction. Consequently, the venerable legal principle of factum a judice, quod ad officium jure non pertinet, ratum non est (an act of a judge which does not pertain to the judicial office is not valid) applies with absolute, unyielding, and unqualified force. Under the binding legal framework established in Reach M.D., it is evident that affirmative, liberty-depriving acts were engaged in by the Default Judge and associated state actors—acts which lacked any lawful statutory authorization whatsoever, thereby constituting the deployment of unlawful means to effectuate an unconstitutional deprivation of physical liberty.

660. The curative provisions of the Rules cannot be improperly or cynically invoked to retroactively validate a process birthed from deliberate, calculated institutional fraud. To permit a judicially sanctioned cure for fabricated, state-sponsored evidence would be equivalent to formally providing a jurisprudential license for executive lawlessness and tyranny. Such a permissive approach would inextricably transform the Superior Court into a complicit, passive accessory to the deception perpetrated by the state. The broader systemic implications of permitting such a cure are profoundly deleterious to the democratic order: it would functionally dictate that jurisdiction may be unilaterally and endlessly manufactured by the state through the clandestine spoliation of evidence, provided the deception remains successfully undetected by the targeted individual. Furthermore, it would perversely incentivize the creation of fraudulent records by offering the state an automatic, risk-free procedural safety net should the malfeasance eventually be exposed by rigorous defense. It is imperative that this dystopian possibility be categorically foreclosed by the Court to preserve the institutional integrity of the justice system and strictly deter future misconduct.

661. In reaching this determination, it is respectfully submitted that the ancient, highly equitable evidentiary principle of omnia praesumuntur contra spoliatorem (everything is presumed against the spoliator) must be strictly, rigidly, 5853 and uncompromisingly applied. Due to the intentional, concerted actions of the state defendants, which have rendered it entirely impossible to determine the true, original extent of the unadulterated judicial record through deliberate obfuscation and the subsequent, calculated destruction of critical digital metadata, the drawing of an overwhelming, irrebuttable adverse inference is both logically permitted and strictly mandated by prevailing jurisprudence. It must be conclusively presumed that the legal apparatus was catastrophically misused against the targeted individual, and that the destroyed, withheld, or hidden evidence would unequivocally confirm the assertions of profound bad faith. The state cannot be permitted to simultaneously destroy the evidentiary record and subsequently demand strict, mathematical proof of the contents of the destroyed materials; to permit such an absurdity would be to heavily reward the successful spoliator.

662. Furthermore, any anticipated reliance by opposing counsel upon the "good governance" immunity traditionally associated with the bona fide enactment of laws or the negligent, albeit honest, execution of broad public policy must fail in limine. The conduct herein constitutes an egregious, calculated, and malicious abuse of power and is fundamentally characterized by bad faith, thereby instantly stripping the involved state actors of any such protective veil or statutory immunity (Canada (Attorney General) v. Power, 2024 SCC 26 at para 4). When the coercive machinery of the criminal court is mobilized by the executive branch based upon a known, verifiable falsehood, the protection of the law is definitively and irrevocably abandoned. Such unconstitutional actions compel the application of the full, unmitigated weight of the remedial power of the Court to declare the entire procedural edifice a nullity. Statutory immunities are carefully constructed to shield honest errors in judgment and protect the public purse from endless litigation over policy choices; they are unequivocally not designed to immunize the deliberate, coordinated fabrication of judicial authority.

663. The inevitable, logical consequence of such a declaratory finding of nullity is sweeping, uncompromising, and absolute: every derivative warrant, every restrictive condition of release, every signed undertaking, and every stigmatizing entry localized within the CPIC database is rendered an oppressive legal fiction that must be immediately, permanently, and forensically expunged. The Court must act as the ultimate, uncompromising arbiter of truth; if the foundational document supporting state action is determined to be a fabrication, the entire legal structure built upon that invalid foundation must inevitably and completely collapse, leaving no residual legal effect or societal stigma.

CONCLUSION

664. It is concluded that the proceedings initiated heavily transcend mere procedural irregularity; they constitute an absolute, irremediable nullity. The fraudulent, fabricated nature of the Jurat Information Laying Crown Election Page, considered alongside the unyielding evidentiary presumption of omnia praesumuntur contra spoliatorem, inextricably necessitates a robust, unequivocal judicial declaration that all subsequent state actions, encompassing the arrest, the physical detention, and the imposition of liberty-restricting release conditions, were void from absolute inception and possess no continuing legal force or effect whatsoever.

THE FIDUCIARY DUTY OF THE CROWN, COMMON DESIGN, AND THE IMPERATIVE OF UBERRIMA FIDES

THE FOUNDATIONAL PRINCIPLE OF UTMOST GOOD FAITH IN PUBLIC LAW

665. It is a foundational public law principle that the Crown, and by direct extension the constituent agencies, ministries, and law enforcement apparatuses thereof, is inextricably bound not merely by the statutory strictures of the Ontario Human Rights Code, but by the overarching, unwritten constitutional principle requiring all governmental entities to act with uberrima fides—the utmost good faith—in all dealings with the citizenry. As eloquently and forcefully articulated in the seminal jurisprudence of Roncarelli v. Duplessis, [1959] S.C.R. 121 (the "Roncarelli"), untrammeled, absolute administrative discretion is anathema to the rule of law and exists merely as a legal fiction. Every exercise of state power—most notably the immense, inherently coercive, and liberty-depriving police and prosecutorial powers entrusted to the executive apparatus—must be irrevocably and demonstrably directed in absolute good faith toward the legitimate, democratic purposes expressly articulated within the enabling statute. The monopoly over the legitimate deployment of force and the extraordinary capacity to initiate punitive legal processes are not inherent, unassailable rights of the sovereign; rather, they constitute highly conditional 5854 delegations of authority strictly predicated upon the unwavering observance of constitutional and jurisdictional limitations. When such formidable administrative and policing powers are untethered from their foundational statutory moorings, and are instead deployed for ulterior, unacknowledged, or retaliatory motives, the resulting state action immediately ceases to be classified as lawful administration, degenerating instead into arbitrary, ultra vires persecution. Consequently, it is mandated that every discretionary execution of state authority—ranging from the foundational swearing of an Information to the physical execution of a warrant of arrest—be objectively justified by an honest, demonstrable pursuit of public safety and justice, entirely devoid of institutional malice, personal vendetta, or manufactured, spoliated pretexts. The authority of the state is held in a sacred trust; the subversion of that trust for improper purposes constitutes a fundamental breach of the constitutional order.

666. The imperative for governments to act with bona fides implies an unwavering, institutionalized commitment to honesty and scrupulous adherence to the highest ethical standards. This comprehensive obligation encompasses several foundational tenets, including absolute transparency, non-partisanship, and strict adherence to the rule of law. These tenets parallel the stringent, uncompromising protections afforded in the criminal law context to "informer privilege." In a criminal law context, "informer privilege" is recognized as almost absolute, guaranteeing that the anonymity of an individual providing information to the police will be preserved indefinitely. It is only where innocence is at stake that the privilege must give way. In any litigation, whether civil or criminal, it is absolutely mandated that the police, the Crown, and the courts aggressively protect the privilege. Even the right to full disclosure, which constitutes a paramount part of the constitutional right to make full answer and defence, will not override the privilege.

667. The jurisprudential analogy utilized herein is highly instructive and deeply compelling: just as the promise of anonymity to an informer is held as an almost sacred, inviolable trust absolutely necessary for the functioning of the justice system and the protection of individuals from reprisal, the right of the public to an uncorrupted, unspoliated judicial record is an equally absolute, non-derogable trust. If trust cannot be maintained regarding the authenticity of sworn Informations generating armed arrest warrants, the entirety of the judicial system is imperiled and reduced to a mechanism of state terror. Analogously, no purported administrative convenience, institutional embarrassment, or opaque state objective can ever override the absolute prohibition against judicial fraud. The duty of the state to maintain a pure, untampered record is existential to the continued operation of the rule of law; it serves as the foundational currency upon which the consent of the public to be governed is predicated. When the state falsifies this currency, the social contract is voided.

668. It is submitted that these fundamental requirements of uberrima fides have been systematically disregarded, mocked, and intentionally subverted by the state actors in the present matter through a highly coordinated common design. The jurisprudence surrounding conspiracy and common design in the civil context is highly instructive in attributing liability across the multiple, interwoven institutional actors involved, thereby successfully preventing the evasion of accountability through bureaucratic compartmentalization and the intentional diffusion of responsibility across sprawling state agencies.

669. Unnecessary for Each Respondent to Engage in the Specific Unlawful Acts: It has been definitively recognized by the Courts that personal engagement in the specific, mechanical unlawful act of fabricating the document by every single conspirator or state actor is entirely unnecessary, provided that the unlawful act of one conspirator was a probable, reasonably foreseeable consequence of the original common design (Kuwait Oil Tanker Co. v. Al Bader, [2000] 2 All E.R. (Comm) 271 at pp. 110 and 133 (C.A.); Golden Capital Securities Ltd. v. Holmes, [2005] 1. W.W.R. 631 at pp. 74; HM Revenue & Customs v. Begum, [2010] EWHC 1799 at p. 86 (Ch.D.)). In the present scenario, the unlawful arrest, the harrowing deprivation of physical liberty, and the subsequent, ongoing institutional cover-up are identifiable as the direct, highly probable, and fully intended consequences of the original fabrication of the Jurat Information Laying Crown Election Page. All actors facilitating this continuum of constitutional harm are strictly captured by the doctrine of common design, irrespective of the precise degree of their direct mechanical or administrative involvement.

670. Aiding and Abetting Qualifies as Unlawful Means: It is established as a matter of law that aiding and abetting a co-conspirator to commit an unlawful act can itself qualify as an independent, actionable application of unlawful means (2038724 Ontario Ltd. v. Quizno's Canada Restaurant Corp, 2010 ONCA 466, pp. 46-49). State actors, court clerks, administrators, and police officers who processed, stamped, transmitted, or mobilized police resources based on documents known, or which through the exercise of minimal professional diligence ought to have been known, to be spoliated, are equally culpable under this parasitic liability model. Willful blindness, feigned ignorance, or administrative apathy provides no sanctuary from constitutional liability. The failure to inquire when confronted with glaring documentary irregularities, and the subsequent procession of the prosecution, constitutes a formal adoption of the underlying fraud.

671. The Mandatory Duty to Extricate or Notify to Absolve: Crucially, to legally extricate oneself from an ongoing conspiracy or common design of fraud, definite, affirmative, and documentable steps must be taken by a party to absolve themselves of continuing acts in the direction of the common design (Claiborne Industries Ltd. v. National Bank of Canada, 1989 CanLII 183 (ONCA) (the "Claiborne Industries")). It is entirely insufficient for an officer of the court or a sworn police officer to simply retreat, ignore the circumstances, look the other way, or feign ignorance ex post facto. The evidentiary record indicates a profound absence of any definite, affirmative steps taken by any state actor in this multi-agency event to disclose the malfeasance, provide notification to the accused, formally correct the record, or halt the malicious prosecution. By maintaining conscious, strategic silence in the face of known, demonstrable fraud, the common design of institutional spoliation was actively perpetuated, endorsed, and adopted as official state action.

672. The wholesale, unrepentant abandonment of these fiduciary-like duties, facilitated through a pervasive, suffocating common design of institutional silence and complicity, violently transforms the interactions between the state and the citizenry from a legitimate exercise of policing power into an oppressive, ultra vires persecution. A full, unmitigated exercise of the available rights and remedies is thereby strictly necessitated to rectify this profound, structural, and ongoing breach of the public trust.

THE AVAILABILITY AND SCOPE OF CONSTITUTIONAL REMEDIES

Issue

673. Whether the Superior Court of Justice, acting as a court of competent jurisdiction, possesses the requisite constitutional authority and the affirmative, non-delegable duty under section 24(1) of the Charter to grant a comprehensive, multifaceted suite of restorative remedies—including declarations of absolute nullity, mandamus, independent forensic structural injunctions, and habeas corpus-type relief—in response to systemic executive misconduct, fraud, and institutional spoliation.

Rule

674. Section 24(1) of the Charter expansively empowers the Court to grant "such remedy as the court considers appropriate and just in the circumstances." As comprehensively interpreted in Vancouver (City) v. Ward, 2010 SCC 27 (the "Ward"), and heavily reinforced by the Supreme Court in Doucet-Boudreau v. Nova Scotia (Minister of Education), 2003 SCC 62 (the "Doucet-Boudreau"), this remedial power is intended to be "meaningful," "responsive," and demonstrably "effective." It is a settled principle that a remedy which is merely symbolic, or a bare declaration issued in the face of ongoing administrative recalcitrance, is practically no remedy at all. It is strictly required that the remedy be directly and tangibly relevant to the specific lived experience of the affected individual and surgically address the distinct, compounding circumstances of the constitutional breach. A declaratory judgment unaccompanied by coercive enforcement mechanisms and structural oversight fails entirely to satisfy the purposive requirements of the Charter when confronted with systemic institutional resistance and historical bad faith.

675. Furthermore, a constitutional mandate exists requiring the Court to remain "flexible and responsive to the needs of a given case." This explicitly includes the affirmative employment of remedies possessing "novel and creative features" to breathe practical, enforceable life into the maxim that "where there is a right, there must be a remedy." Superior courts possess a constant, concurrent, and inherent jurisdiction to ensure that an efficacious remedial forum is perpetually available (Rahey v. R., [1987] 1 S.C.R. 588; R. v. Mills, [1986] 1 S.C.R. 863). This inherent jurisdiction explicitly permits, and indeed requires, the transcendence of traditional, restrictive remedial boundaries in circumstances where the executive branch has entirely abandoned traditional legal, ethical, and statutory constraints. The remedial capacity of the Court is not to be constrained by archaic procedural forms or historic limitations when confronting modern, technologically sophisticated institutional fraud.

ANALYSIS

676. The orchestrated, systemic violations detailed herein represent a catastrophic departure from the status quo ante. Any assertion advanced by opposing counsel that a judicial stay of proceedings constitutes the maximum available or appropriate remedy must be firmly and uncompromisingly rejected. A stay of proceedings is classified exclusively as a remedy of "last resort," specifically reserved for proceedings that are otherwise validly constituted but irreparably prejudiced by delay or prosecutorial misconduct (R. v. O'Connor, [1995] 4 S.C.R. 411). A stay cannot retroactively cure the fundamental jurisdictional void birthed by the fabrication of the Jurat Information Laying Crown Election Page. Operating strictly prospectively, a stay merely pauses a tainted process. While representing an administrative cessation of immediate prosecution, it crucially permits the fabricated documents to linger permanently in the digital and physical record. A stay without associated expungement and declarations of nullity operates as an incomplete, inadequate remedy that leaves the fraudulent architecture of the state completely intact and permanently perpetuates the underlying stigma attached to the targeted individual.

677. Where actions have been undertaken in limine without a scintilla of legitimate jurisdiction, the restoration of constitutional legality requires a robust, proactive, and deeply intrusive multifaceted approach. The issuance of the extraordinary prerogative writ of mandamus is highly appropriate and constitutionally necessitated. Mandatory, judicially supervised correction of all CPIC and localized police databases is required, alongside the compelled production of all master records and associated digital metadata to definitively identify the genesis of the fraud and expose the responsible actors to judicial scrutiny. In the modern era, physical documents represent merely a fraction of the institutional record; the digital footprint—the metadata—constitutes the empirical, unalterable truth of the document's creation, modification, and subsequent alteration.

678. Ancillary Orders of Destruction and Forensic Inspection: An order for the delivery up, destruction, or preservation of property is conventionally granted as ancillary to injunctive relief in intellectual property and spoliation matters. Typically, the option to choose between delivery up or destruction is provided, assuming that, in the case of destruction, an unequivocally sworn Affidavit confirming permanent destruction is submitted by the contemnor. However, given the demonstrated, repeated propensity for spoliation, concealment, and profound bad faith in the present context, a mere sworn Affidavit from the offending institutional actors is constitutionally insufficient and logically absurd. It is procedurally unsound, intellectually bankrupt, and logically contradictory to permit the offending actors to autonomously audit and verify the deletion of the very records they are alleged to have systematically compromised and utilized for unconstitutional purposes.

679. Following the stringent, protective protocols established in Hotspex Inc. v. Edwards, 2011 CarswellOnt 6211 (Ont. S.C.J.), it is submitted that a mandatory order must be issued requiring the involved state actors to submit to a comprehensive, unfettered forensic inspection of the relevant databases, servers, and physical registries by an independent, court-appointed Third-Party IT auditor. Modern state databases, such as CPIC, utilize immensely complex, redundant architecture, including synchronized backup servers, disaster recovery sites, and clouded data silos. The simple administrative deletion of a file from a local terminal is profoundly insufficient to guarantee its eradication across the institutional network. An independent inspection is strictly required to verify, beyond any doubt, that all vestiges of the fabricated Jurat Information Laying Crown Election Page and all associated derivative CPIC records have been permanently, thoroughly, and irrevocably deleted from every redundant level of the state apparatus. As affirmed in Altus Group Ltd. v. Yeoman, 2012 CarswellOnt 9503 (Ont. S.C.J.), the appointment of an independent forensic inspector is recognized as the sole mechanism capable of neutralizing the technological opacity of sprawling computer networks and ensuring the actualization of the constitutional right to be free from fraudulent records.

680. Given the systemic, entrenched nature of the misconduct, the issuance of "structural injunctions" is required to ensure rigorous, ongoing judicial supervision of the reconstruction of the master record. In the absence of sustained structural supervision involving independent Third-Party verification, the state effectively remains the judge of its own cause regarding the correction of the misconduct—a scenario fundamentally abhorrent to the rule of law and the constitutional separation of powers.

CONCLUSION

681. It is respectfully submitted that a formal declaration of absolute nullity, inextricably coupled with mandatory orders of mandamus, compelled independent third-party forensic IT inspections, and ongoing structural injunctive relief, represents the only "appropriate and just" remedial response capable of comprehensively addressing the staggering magnitude of the constitutional infringements detailed herein.

5857 ISSUE 4: THE QUANTUM OF DAMAGES UNDER THE CHARTER

Issue

682. Whether a global, aggregate damages award of $10,000,000 (the "Total Damages") is rationally justified, evidentiarily supported, and constitutionally required to provide compensation for profound psychological injury, to effectively vindicate the heavily infringed Charter rights, and to adequately deter the state from engaging in future systemic abuses of power.

683. As noted in the Form 1 of the Criminal Proceeding Rules herein, there has never been a reported decision where law enforcement falsified the entire information package. There was in R. v. Silva, the taking of the JP's stamp (physical) and stamping the very warrant that the police wished to have. While completely unauthorized, that context involved a younger law enforcement officer who made a terrible error in judgment while the Quebec police forces were attempting to apprehend a known criminal who assassinating persons tied to a carry over from the historically violent and fatal gang violence involving the likes of gangs where innocent persons were being killed.

Rule

684. The assessment, quantification, and allocation of constitutional damages under section 24(1) follows a rigorous "functional approach" explicitly endorsed by the Supreme Court of Canada. This framework is primarily focused upon three general, intersecting constitutional objects: compensation, vindication, and deterrence (Ward at paras 25-31). Initially, compensation seeks to directly and tangibly address the personal, psychological, reputational, and economic losses actually suffered as a proximate result of unconstitutional actions. In matters involving the deprivation of physical liberty, the terror of unlawful arrest, and deep institutional betrayal, this compensatory branch must be sufficiently robust to acknowledge the profound disruption to the individual's life and tangibly restore equilibrium. Secondly, vindication serves an essential declaratory function; it operates to forcefully uphold the societal importance of the infringed right, acting as a judicial reaffirmation that the rule of law remains paramount and that the state remains subordinate to the Constitution. Finally, deterrence aims to actively, financially discourage future breaches by the state apparatus, ensuring that institutional actors internalize the constitutional costs of malfeasance.

685. The jurisprudence dictates that while the foundational Andrews v. Grand & Toy Alberta Ltd. (1978) "Trilogy" established strict upper limits on non-pecuniary damages for ubiquitous forms of negligence—principally enacted as a matter of public policy to protect the stability of the public purse and insurance sectors from unpredictable, catastrophic bodily injury claims—this arbitrary ceiling is definitively inapplicable in instances of intentional torts, institutional spoliation, and egregious institutional bad faith. Where the state has acted in "bad faith or an abuse of power," traditional civil immunities and jurisprudential caps are fully pierced and discarded (Mackin v. New Brunswick, 2002 SCC 13). This functional approach ensures that Charter damages function as an essential, calibrating tool for the maintenance of constitutional standards, strict institutional accountability, and the preservation of the democratic order, rather than operating merely as a mechanism for base, mathematically constrained restitution. The policy rationales shielding negligent actors do not extend to shield malicious, fraudulent actors.

686. The assessment of profound psychological trauma resulting from state action must be rigorously analyzed through the lens of recent Supreme Court of Canada directives. In Mustapha v. Culligan of Canada Ltd., the threshold for legal causation was established, dictating that psychological injury must be reasonably foreseeable to a person of "ordinary fortitude." However, once this threshold gateway of objective foreseeability is satisfied, the requirement to establish a formally recognized psychiatric illness is decisively discarded pursuant to Saadati v. Moorhead, 2017 SCC 28 (the "Saadati"). Saadati confirms that serious, prolonged psychological injury caused by state misconduct warrants significant compensation regardless of the presence of specific diagnostic criteria from the Diagnostic and Statistical Manual of Mental Disorders. Evidence of profound, persisting cognitive and emotional disturbance, loss of enjoyment of life, and the fracturing of societal trust is sufficient to ground substantial compensatory awards.

687. Upon the establishment of liability and the surpassing of the Mustapha threshold, the strict, unyielding application of the "thin skull" doctrine is engaged. The jurisprudence mandates that the tortfeasor must take the victim exactly as they are found; if an unconstitutional deprivation of liberty triggers a catastrophic psychological breakdown due 5858 to latent, pre-existing vulnerabilities, the state remains strictly, fully liable for the entirety of the profound deterioration. The thin skull doctrine relates strictly to the ultimate quantum and extent of damages, bypassing generalized foreseeability considerations once constitutional liability is firmly cemented. The state cannot invoke the victim's fragility as a mitigating factor when it has intentionally shattered their psychological foundation through unlawful means.

688. Furthermore, the assessment of punitive components must be heavily guided by recent appellate jurisprudence, including the landmark principles solidified in Whiten v. Pilot Insurance Co. and recently expanded in Baker v. Blue Cross Life Insurance Co. of Canada, 2023 ONCA 842 (the "Baker"). Punitive damages standards dictate that severe financial penalties may be awarded for conduct displaying high-handedness, malice, or a marked departure from ordinary standards of decency. As articulated in Baker, a modest punitive award is frequently absorbed by massive institutional defendants as a mere "nominal cost of operating" or a "license fee" for rights violations. To achieve genuine, structural deterrence, the punishment must be economically meaningful; it must be of a sufficient magnitude to garner the immediate attention of senior executives, disrupt operational budgets, and compel the dismantling of institutionalized, systemic strategies of bad faith.

HIGHEST PUNITIVE DAMAGE AWARDS IN CANADIAN JURISPRUDENCE:

689. An analysis of the highest confirmed punitive damage awards in Canadian jurisprudential history reveals a trajectory of escalating judicial sanction against institutional malfeasance. The following jurisprudence establishes the requisite benchmarks for calculating punitive damages against massive institutional entities, demonstrating a judicial willingness to impose multi-million dollar penalties to ensure compliance:

690. Baker: In Baker v. Blue Cross Life Insurance Company of Canada, 2023 ONCA 842, a record-setting award of $1,500,000 was upheld by the Ontario Court of Appeal following a jury determination that a "systemic" pattern of wrongfully denying long-term disability benefits had been engaged in by the insurer. It was explicitly noted by the appellate tribunal that for an entity of such vast capitalization, any lesser financial penalty would be functionally absorbed as a mere "rounding error," thereby comprehensively failing to effectuate any deterrent objective.

691. Whiten: In Whiten v. Pilot Insurance Co., 2002 SCC 18, an award of $1,000,000 was restored by the Supreme Court of Canada, standing as the historic record-holder for two decades, after an insurance corporation baselessly accused a family of arson to evade the payment of a legitimate property claim.

692. Boucher: In Boucher v. Wal-Mart Canada Corp., 2014 ONCA 419, an initial jury award exceeding $1,000,000 in punitive damages was issued in a constructive dismissal action involving sustained workplace abuse. Although subsequently reduced upon appellate review, it remains a significant landmark establishing the availability of massive punitive sanctions in the employment context.

693. Higginson: In Higginson v. Babine Forest Products Ltd., 2012 BCSC 1303, an award of $800,000 was granted in a wrongful dismissal matter wherein it was determined that the employer had falsely alleged "just cause" to avoid the payment of severance entitlements to a long-tenured employee.

694. Hill: In Hill v. Church of Scientology of Toronto, [1995] 2 S.C.R. 1130, an award of $800,000 in punitive damages was upheld by the Supreme Court of Canada against the defendant organization for the propagation of allegations that were determined to be entirely untrue and without foundation against a Crown lawyer.

LEGAL CONTEXT AND THE RATIONALITY TEST:

695. The fundamental purpose of punitive damages, sharply distinguished from compensatory awards, is solely to punish, denounce, and deter exceptionally reprehensible conduct. Under the "Rationality Test" established in Whiten, it is mandated that punitive awards must be no higher than absolutely necessary to achieve their specific purpose and must possess a rational connection to the underlying misconduct. While historical punitive awards rarely exceeded a $50,000 threshold, the Baker decision is indicative of a profound jurisprudential shift toward significantly higher awards when the courts are confronted with large institutional actors, thereby ensuring that the financial penalty imposed is genuinely meaningful and not absorbed as a mere administrative expense. When applied to the state—an entity with vastly more resources than any private insurer—the rational deterrent amount scales correspondingly.

696. Damage is Presumed in the Face of Constitutional Usurpation: It is a fundamental, bedrock tenet of Anglo-Canadian public law that where an inherent right is unlawfully invaded, the occurrence of damage is 5859 incontrovertibly presumed. As articulated in Shaw v. Lewis, [1948] 2 D.L.R. 189 (BCCA), involving an individual excommunicated from an organization as a result of a conspiracy, the Court of Appeal sternly rebuked a trial judge for dismissing the case due to unproven pecuniary losses, cementing the inviolable principle that "if a right is invaded, damage is presumed." The invasion of liberty through the deployment of fabricated judicial documents constitutes an ultimate trespass against the person. It demands an automatic judicial presumption of massive, irreparable harm, negating any strict requirement for the mathematical proof of the precise parameters of suffering. The sheer loss of liberty and the subjection to a fraudulent, weaponized process are heavily compensable injuries in and of themselves.

ANALYSIS

697. A global award comprised of general, aggravated, and punitive components, cumulatively totaling the Total Damages, is sought herein. The mental and emotional injury sustained, arising directly from the profound institutional betrayal orchestrated by the Default Judge and the fraudulent utilization of the Jurat Information Laying Crown Election Page, is identified as intensely serious, deeply prolonged, and utterly devastating to the affected individual's cognitive and psychological baseline.

698. Inapplicability of Damages Caps: It is anticipated that attempts may be made to improperly invoke the Andrews common law "cap" on personal injury damages to artificially limit recovery for profound psychological trauma. Such an approach is fundamentally foreclosed by binding Supreme Court of Canada jurisprudence, which recognizes the limitless nature of non-pecuniary harm when inflicted intentionally by the state. As definitively established in Cinar Corp. v. Robinson, 2013 SCC 73 (the "Cinar") and Young v. Bella, 2006 SCC 3 (the "Young"), the "cap" simply does not apply to discrete, massive awards for psychological injury flowing from non-bodily torts, institutional breaches, and violations of fundamental rights.

699. In Young, a $430,000 damages award was upheld for psychological injury arising in a defamation context, entirely separate from the primary tortious injury to reputation.

700. However, herein the facts at bar involving the deprivation to an individual's life, liberty and security along with section 12 violations without any remedying of the same while dragging the individual through the OCJ process and violating court orders authorizing him to bring his motion to strike and then yet again destroying documents.

701. Similarly, in Cinar, a sweeping copyright infringement case, an additional, discrete award of $400,000 was affirmed exclusively for the psychological devastation caused by the violation of the creative process. It was noted at para 108 of Cinar that "the integrity of his personal creative process was violated, causing deep psychological suffering."

702. Further rejection of artificial damage ceilings in instances of systemic institutional abuse was decisively cemented in Barker v. Barker, wherein uncapped, multi-million dollar non-pecuniary awards were affirmed for individuals subjected to state-sponsored psychological violence under the guise of institutional authority.

703. The logical extrapolation is constitutionally requisite: if uncapped, massive awards are readily available to compensate for the psychological distress of copyright infringement (Cinar) or to penalize systemic state psychiatric abuse (Barker), an exponentially greater, uncapped award is mandated when the psychological trauma stems from the intentional, unconstitutional deprivation of physical liberty utilizing criminally fabricated judicial instruments. The trauma of being pursued by a state apparatus deprived of lawful jurisdiction utterly eclipses the trauma of material property infringement. To apply a cap in such circumstances would be to incorrectly assign a higher systemic value to intellectual property and public purse preservation than to human liberty and the foundational integrity of the courts.

APPLICATION OF THE THIN SKULL DOCTRINE:

704. The psychological devastation experienced is not merely a transient upset; it undeniably satisfies the remoteness gateway established in Mustapha. It is entirely foreseeable that an individual of ordinary fortitude would suffer severe psychological harm upon discovering that the coercive powers of the state—including armed police intervention and the imposition of restrictive bail conditions—were deployed against them based on forged judicial documentation. Consequently, the "thin skull" doctrine is fully activated. The state must take the affected individual exactly as they were found. Any pre-existing vulnerabilities or predispositions that exacerbated the psychological descent into chronic anxiety, post-traumatic stress, or the total loss of societal trust are the sole financial responsibility of the state actors whose deliberate spoliation triggered the collapse. The ultimate limits of the compensation are defined not by mathematical averages of resilience, but by the limitless depths of the actual psychological injury sustained as a direct result of the state's malfeasance.

705. The Parasitic Nature of Unlawful Means: In assessing cumulative damages, the overarching intentionality of the conduct must be recognized. As described by Cromwell J. in A.I. Enterprises Ltd. v. Bram Enterprises Ltd., 2014 SCC 12, the "unlawful means" tort creates a type of "parasitic" liability, the core of which captures the intentional infliction of injury by the use of unlawful means against a third party. Conduct was engaged in by the state actors which would be universally actionable if perpetrated by any private citizen. These damages may be cumulative and stacked to reflect the multiplicity of the breached constitutional and fiduciary duties.

706. Subsequent Conduct as Aggravation and the Failure to Investigate: The analysis is not limited to the initial moment of the fraudulent arrest. Subsequent conduct must be heavily considered in assessing damages, particularly in inflating aggravated and punitive damages. As established in Robitaille v. Vancouver Hockey Club Ltd. (1981), 124 D.L.R. (3d) 228 (B.C. C.A.), subsequent actions operate in aggravation of damages. A sustained campaign characterized by opacity, the obdurate refusal to legally correct the master record, and the active bureaucratic obstruction of legitimate inquiries operate to severely aggravate the damages profile. Furthermore, drawing from employment law principles established in Saskatchewan Indian Gaming Authority v. Pasap and Curtis v. Bank of Nova Scotia, the bad faith failure of the state to conduct a neutral, procedurally fair internal investigation into the origins of the fabricated Jurat Information Laying Crown Election Page once formally notified constitutes an independent, heavily aggravating feature justifying massive additional compensation for the ensuing humiliation and prolonged injury to dignity.

707. Punitive Damages for Confidentiality Breaches and Spoliation: The conduct in question mirrors egregious examples of malfeasance where massive punitive damages are awarded as a matter of course to ensure disgorgement and deterrence.

708. Punitive damages have been consistently awarded where confidential documentation is manipulated and actively retained while falsely purporting to return it through legal counsel (Jones v. Klassen, 2006 CarswellAlta 31 (Alta. Q.B.)).

709. Taking confidential files, agreeing to return them, and then failing to do so on the bad-faith pretext of inappropriate destruction warrants severe judicial sanction (Service Corp. International (Canada) Ltd. v. Nunes-Pottinger Funeral Service & Crematorium Ltd., 2012 CarswellBC 1100 (B.C. S.C.)).

710. In cases where a deliberate cover-up renders it impossible to ascertain damages with arithmetical precision, the measure of damages must be an equitable estimate drawn adversely against the wrongdoers, applying the principle of omnia praesumuntur contra spoliatorem (XY, Inc.). Successful spoliation must not be permitted to serve as a shield to limit financial exposure.

711. The Nissen Multiplier: A highly relevant analogue to the present institutional betrayal is found in Nissen v. Durham Regional Police Services Board, 2017 CarswellOnt 114 (Ont. C.A.). In Nissen, the Ontario Court of Appeal confirmed a baseline award of $345,000 in general damages against the police for a single breach of a promise of confidentiality made to an informer.

712. While Nissen establishes a powerful baseline for psychological trauma caused by police betrayal, the present circumstances are exponentially more severe. In Nissen, the handling of an interview tape was primarily negligent; in the present matter, a highly coordinated, intentional, multi-agency conspiracy was engaged to fabricate the Jurat Information Laying Crown Election Page, actively conceal judicial conflicts involving the Default Judge, and effectuate an unlawful arrest. The multiplier effect of these compounding, intentional, bad-faith constitutional violations justifies an award that significantly transcends the Nissen baseline. If $345,000 is the accepted metric for negligent disclosure, an award in the multi-millions is strictly required for the intentional fabrication of judicial warrants resulting in the physical deprivation of liberty.

713. The Necessity of Meaningful Deterrence: The conduct evidenced herein represents a paradigm wherein the punitive and deterrent effect of a multi-million dollar award is strictly required. Relying heavily upon the rationales articulated in Baker v. Blue Cross and Whiten, it is submitted that an award must not merely represent a nominal cost of operating for the state. A sprawling, publicly funded apparatus will not be deterred by an award of hundreds of thousands of dollars; such a sum will be seamlessly absorbed by existing ministerial budgets without triggering any requisite structural overhaul. The state engaged in a "closed loop of information," deliberately ignoring or refusing to clarify the invalidity of the sworn instruments utilized against the targeted individual. To achieve absolute deterrence, the financial penalty must be catastrophic enough to compel immediate, systemic administrative reform across all involved agencies. An award of $10 million is entirely proportionate to the 5861 systemic, multi-agency failure of the institutions involved and the unprecedented usurpation of the judicial function.

CONCLUSION

714. It is concluded that the requested aggregate sum of $10,000,000 is both rationally connected and entirely proportionate to the unprecedented gravity of the misconduct engaged in by the state. This quantum serves to powerfully vindicate the Charter, adequately compensate for the limitless depths of the psychological harm inflicted pursuant to the thin skull doctrine, actively deter future misconduct through a massive financial penalty that cannot be administratively ignored, and restore desperately needed public confidence in the administration of justice following an unparalleled assault upon the constitutional order.
715. Notably, this is where the CSMD Diversion, which was clearly extortion on its face and in substance, is the reaping of the aforementioned sowing.

PART XXII — PERSONAL LIABILITY OF THE OFFENDING JUDICIAL OFFICER

ISSUE I: THE ABDICATION OF JURISDICTION AND THE ABROGATION OF JUDICIAL IMMUNITY

716. The foundational issue for determination before this Honourable Court is whether the impugned conduct, characterized by the unauthorized receipt of criminal process and the unsolicited, sua sponte usurpation of civil case management authority in the absolute absence of mandatory statutory prerequisites, constitutes acta executed coram non judice. This inquiry strikes at the very architectural integrity of the administration of justice, questioning the boundaries between lawful adjudication and rogue administrative expropriation by an individual acting under the mere color of office. It invites the Court to consider the specter of arbitrary power manifesting within the very halls designed to constrain it, where a member of the judiciary departs from the codified path of the Legislature to pursue an extra-jurisdictional agenda.
717. If the actions under scrutiny are fundamentally determined to be devoid of subject-matter jurisdiction, the secondary, inextricably linked issue to be resolved is whether such profound jurisdictional abdication operates to instantaneously strip the presiding justice of presumptive judicial immunity. The Court must determine whether the complete departure from the statutory framework crystallizes personal and constitutional liability for the resulting deprivation of liberty, the systemic procedural subversion, and the intentional frustration of the appellate process. This assessment requires a granular analysis of the "judicial contract"—the implicit agreement where immunity is granted in exchange for adherence to the law.
718. The ultimate inquiry must further determine whether the institutional apparatus of the state, encompassing reliant court registry staff, case management coordinators, and opposing counsel, is exposed to derivative civil liability under the tort of civil conspiracy for continually executing and relying upon these irremediable nullities (the "Irremediable Nullities"). The implications of this inquiry are far-reaching, as they address the positive duty of state actors and officers of the court to identify and resist the enforcement of void directives that lack a jurisdictional anchor, thereby preventing the perpetuation of a jurisdictional void.
719. Finally, the Court must assess whether a formal undertaking (the "Undertaking"), proffered by the Applicant to perpetually abstain from future tort litigation against the jurist, serves to definitively extinguish the institution's defensive multiplicity concerns pursuant to the legislative mandate of section 138 of the Courts of Justice Act, RSO 1990, c C.43 (the "Courts Of Justice Act"). This section demands that the Court harmonize the conflict between the need for individual accountability and the systemic desire for finality and judicial economy, ensuring that the primary administrative dispute is resolved without the paralyzing fear of collateral litigation.

THE RULE

720. The doctrine of judicial immunity is fundamentally designed to insulate the institutional independence of the judiciary, ensuring that lawful adjudicative functions may be discharged absent the paralyzing apprehension of personal reprisal, vexatious collateral litigation, or executive political interference. The historical evolution of this doctrine demonstrates that it was conceived as a necessary constitutional shield to protect the integrity of the 5862 judicial office itself, rather than serving as a limitless personal privilege for the individual occupying that office. It is a shield for the office, not a sword for the occupant to wield against the Constitution.

721. However, it remains an established, unyielding legal axiom that absolute immunity exclusively shields acta executed within a recognized, statutory matrix of subject-matter jurisdiction. The protective veil is not an absolute cloak for administrative tyranny or extra-jurisdictional adventurism; it is strictly and permanently conditional upon the lawful assumption and execution of the judicial role. When a jurist abandons the adjudicative framework to engage in unauthorized administrative interference, the protective mantle is simultaneously forfeited, as the act ceases to be "judicial" in any legally cognizable sense.

722. In Morier v. Rivard, [1985] 2 SCR 673 at 680 (the "Morier Decision"), the Supreme Court of Canada affirmed that superior court judges enjoy absolute immunity strictly for acts performed within their legitimate judicial capacity. The Supreme Court meticulously delineated that the protective sphere is categorically pierced, and immunity irreversibly abrogated, where the conduct constitutes an administrative usurpation or is executed in the clear, objective absence of all jurisdiction. The Morier Decision definitively extinguished the antiquated notion that a superior court judge is absolutely immune under all conceivable circumstances, emphasizing that the "color of office" cannot validate a jurisdictional void where the fundamental authority to act is non-existent.

723. This jurisdictional exception is inextricably anchored in two foundational legal maxims that have governed common law jurisprudence for centuries: first, coram non judice (proceedings before a tribunal not having jurisdiction); and second, factum a judice, quod ad officium jure non pertinet, ratum non est (an act of a judge not pertaining to the office is of no legal force). These maxims articulate the fundamental constitutional premise that state coercion is only legitimate when it flows directly from a democratically enacted statutory source. To act outside this source is to act as a private citizen, and the resulting orders are mere "dead letters" possessing no more authority than a private request.

724. The threshold for state and personal liability arising from the exercise of judicial and legislative functions has been explicitly modernized, clarified, and expanded in Canada (Attorney General) v. Power, 2024 SCC 39 at para 42 (the "Power Decision"). To successfully pierce state immunity and engage liability, the impugned conduct must satisfy a stringent tripartite threshold: it must be clearly unconstitutional, executed in bad faith, or constitute a gross abuse of power. The Power Decision establishes that the modern constitutional architecture does not tolerate the existence of legal black holes wherein state actors may act with absolute impunity while inflicting catastrophic violations of the Charter.

725. Where such an abuse of power manifests as a deliberate, calculated contravention of statutory imperatives and procedural safeguards, the equitable doctrine of fraud upon the court is incontrovertibly engaged. Relying upon the timeless pronouncement articulated by Lord Denning in Lazarus Estates Ltd. v. Beasley, [1956] 1 QB 702 (the "Lazarus Estates Decision"), as formally adopted, contextualized, and expanded by the Supreme Court of Ontario in Landreville v. The Queen, (1977) 75 DLR (3d) 380 at para 45 (the "Landreville Decision"), it is a universally recognized equitable principle that fraud unravels everything. Fraud, in this jurisdictional sense, includes the intentional misrepresentation of authority to secure a procedural or substantive advantage.

726. The usurpation of jurisdiction, when executed with calculated disregard for established statutory boundaries and administrative protocols, operates as a constructive fraud upon the administration of justice. Under such circumstances, the maxim fraus omnia corrumpit (fraud corrupts all) applies with absolute force, permanently vitiating any theoretical entitlement to judicial immunity, invalidating all subsequent directives, and mandating the comprehensive restoration of the injured party to the status quo ante.

THE ANALYSIS

Judicature vs. Judiciary

727. Within this constitutional architecture, a vital and unyielding distinction is strictly maintained between the judicature (the "Judicature"), encompassing the administrative and procedural machinery of the courts, and the judiciary (the "Judiciary"), representing the collective body of judges whose independence ensures that the legal order remains immune to the corrosive effects of administrative fictions (the "Administrative Fictions"). The Judicature provides the scaffolding; the Judiciary provides the intellectual and moral force. When the two are conflated to shield malfeasance, the temple of justice begins to crumble under the weight of its own internal inconsistencies.

5863 728. The constitutional architecture of the Dominion of Canada precisely necessitates a judicial branch (the "Judicial Branch") distinguished by an absolute and unfettered institutional independence. This imperative is derived comprehensively from the unwritten constitutional principles inherent within the Judicature Sections of the Constitution Act, 1867 (UK), 30 & 31 Vict, c 3, explicitly characterized by the Supreme Court of Canada as the "principal pillars in the temple of justice." This independence is not a personal perquisite of the judge but a right of the citizen to be heard by an impartial and legally-constituted tribunal that adheres to the very laws it purports to enforce.

729. When a member of the Judiciary abandons adjudicative independence to manipulate the Judicature's administrative machinery without statutory authorization, a profound constitutional breach is instantly precipitated. This subversion of the Judicature by a rogue member of the Judiciary erodes the separation of powers, as it allows the judicial actor to act as both legislator of their own rules and executor of their own unauthorized mandates. It represents a "state within a state," where the judge operates outside the very Judicature they are sworn to uphold, effectively neutralizing the checks and balances designed to prevent precisely this species of arbitrary intervention.

730. Furthermore, this distinction highlights that while the Judiciary is independent, the Judicature must be predictable and transparent. The administrative machinery must operate according to the Civil Rules and relevant statutes to ensure due process and equal treatment before the law. When a judge bypasses the Judicature's registry and intake systems—as occurred here with the unauthorized receipt of the Information and Indictment—they are not exercising "judicial independence," but are rather committing an administrative trespass that violates the institutional integrity of the court and compromises the neutrality of the registry staff.

The Epoch of 1878: Coram Non Judice and the Bradley Precedent

731. It is observed that since the foundational epoch of the confederation of Canada (the "Confederation") in 1867—a principle subsequently fortified by seminal jurisprudence—the legal architecture of this jurisdiction has perennially mandated that for the adjudicative manifestations of a member of the judiciary to possess binding efficacy (i.e., to be ratified), such acta must emanate exclusively from the duly authorized office of the judge (the "Judge's Office") and pertain rigorously to the statutory and prescribed obligations and functions inextricably associated therewith. This is the cornerstone of jurisdictional legitimacy in a constitutional democracy.

732. In the venerable matter of McLean (Roderick) v. Bradley, (1878) 2 SCR 535 (the "Bradley 1878 Decision"), it was judicially determined that acts exceeding the scope of judicial authority are fundamentally factum a judice, quod ad officium jure non pertinet, ratum non est. The constitution of such an esteemed Supreme Court of Canada bench in 1878 underscores the gravity with which the early Court contemplated jurisdictional boundaries. Any appearances or interactions with a judge acting in such an unauthorized capacity are coram non judice, thereby falling squarely within the categorical classification of Irremediable Nullities which cannot be salvaged by subsequent procedural compliance.

733. At page 547 of the Bradley 1878 Decision, the Court, invoking the wisdom of Broom's Legal Maxims and Taylor v. Clemson, definitively stated:

> "When the Court has no jurisdiction of the cause, the whole Proceeding is coram non judice, and actions will lie against the above mentioned parties without any regard to the precept or process, and in this case it is not necessary to obey one who is not judge of the cause. Broom, L. M. 90; Taylor v. Clemson. Factum a judice, quod ad officium jure non pertinet, ratum non est."

734. This foundational principle ensures that the Judiciary remains tethered to the Law and the sovereign will of the Legislature. To permit a judge to exercise power ultra vires would be to acknowledge an authority superior to the Law itself, a proposition that was categorically rejected at the very inception of the Canadian legal project. The Bradley 1878 Decision remains an unassailable barrier against judicial overreach, confirming that a judge without jurisdiction of the cause is no judge at all for the purposes of that specific proceeding, and any order issued therein is a legal phantom.

5864 3. DISTINCTIONS WITH A DIFFERENCE: COURT VS. JUDGE NOT HAVING JURISDICTION OF THE CAUSE – BY ANALOGY OF THE TAINTED ACTIONS AND EFFECT POST THE UNDISCLOSED "EX PARTE IN CAMERA HEARING" AND THE UNDISCLOSED NAME OF THE JUDGE (CHIEF JUSTICE MORAWETZ) FROM SEPTEMBER 2024 – HIS UNLAWFUL ASSIGNMENT TO MADAM JUSTICE SHORE AS HIS "UNLAWFUL FIXER"

735. Naturally arising from this historical premise is the critical distinction between: (a) a court having no jurisdiction of the cause; versus (b) a judge having no jurisdiction of the cause. To deconstruct the term "cause," one traditionally thinks in terms of a "cause of action" which is naturally the legal foundation for suing someone—be it breach of contract, tort, or breach of statute. In the context of the Divisional Court, the "cause" is often a specialized statutory application or appeal which is strictly bound by its enabling legislation.
736. In the specific context of an application under the Judicial Review Procedure Act, RSO 1990, c J.1 (the "JRPA"), the "cause of Application" is strictly governed by the enabling statute itself. Naturally, if an individual filed a JRPA application directly with the Court of Appeal for Ontario (the "ONCA") at first instance, that court would not have any jurisdiction of the cause. All acts of any judge therein would be factum a judice, quod ad officium jure non pertinet, ratum non est and appearances before him or her would be coram non judice. The Divisional Court, while a branch of the Superior Court, possesses a specialized statutory jurisdiction that cannot be expanded or bypassed through individual judicial fiat or administrative caprice.
737. In the precise context of the matter at bar, any case management judge (the "CMJ") does not possess jurisdiction of the cause. Within the framework of rule 50 of the Rules of Civil Procedure, RRO 1990, Reg 194 (the "Civil Rules"), there exists greater procedural latitude; however, that provision only applies to pre-trial procedures in actions. Applications are not actions, and, ergo, are not positioned upon a procedural trajectory culminating in "trials." This is a distinction of profound legal consequence that prevents the administrative management of a file from swallowing the substantive merits of the cause.
738. Under rule 77 of the Civil Rules, substantially less latitude is afforded to actions and applications, and even narrower scope is granted to a CMJ (who is emphatically not the "Judge of the Cause") when managing a statutory application, particularly one grounded in the JRPA. The rationale for this stringent limitation is deeply rooted in statutory supremacy. The Legislation Act, 2006, SO 2006, c 21, Sch F, delineates the absolute superiority of the enabling statute over subordinate regulation. The Civil Rules cannot be used to circumvent the jurisdictional triggers and evidentiary thresholds established in the Courts of Justice Act or the JRPA.
739. The "Judge of the Cause" is strictly defined as the jurist who "Hears and Decides," an eventuality that can only lawfully transpire within a formal Hearing. Pursuant to the Civil Rules, a "Hearing" means the hearing of an application, motion, reference, appeal or assessment of costs, or a trial. Because an "Appeal," "Reference," and "Trial" are procedurally irrelevant to a JRPA application—as historically affirmed in Pong v. Quong, [1927] SCR 271 (the "Pong Decision")—the substantive merits of a JRPA application may only be lawfully heard and decided following the precise procedural setting of the application.
740. This formal setting is exclusively executed either by the Registrar of the Divisional Court via the issuance of Form 68A pursuant to rule 68.05, or alternatively, through a formal motion advanced by a litigant, as confirmed in Yatar v. TD Insurance Meloche Monnex, 2024 SCC 8 at para 49 (the "Yatar Decision"). While the Civil Rules provide the power to convert a motion into a motion for judgment, no corresponding residual or inherent authority exists under rule 77 to transmute an unauthorized conference into a "Conference For Judgment." The attempt to do so is an ultra vires transmutation of procedural character that bypasses the notice requirements and the evidentiary record necessary for a final determination.
741. This structural reality provides a comprehensive answer establishing that a CMJ, whether authorized or functioning as an interloper, is not a Judge Of The Cause. Consequently, Madam Justice Shore possessed no authority whatsoever to wade into the merits as she was not a "Hearing Judge." It is solely through the precise procedural mechanism of a formal motion, or through the administrative setting of the matter on a listing for hearing (the "Listing For Hearing") by the Registrar—a mandatory function exclusively reserved for the Registrar, contrary to the entirely erroneous pronouncements of court clerk Ms. Clegg—and the subsequent issuance, endorsement, and distribution of a Form 68B pursuant to rule 68.05, that the matter may lawfully proceed.
742. This incontrovertible procedural architecture leads directly to the unassailable, deductive syllogism that Madam Justice Shore functioned not merely as an unauthorized CMJ interloper (the "Unauthorized CMJ Interloper") and an unauthorized "Ex Parte in camera hearing" judge interventionist (the "Unauthorized 'Ex Parte In Camera Hearing' Judge Interventionist"), but importantly, was at no point the Judge Of The Cause. Her assumption of 5865 power was not a procedural irregularity; it was a total jurisdictional vacuum that renders the ensuing proceedings a nullity.

4. NO OBLIGATION TO COMPLY WITH UNAUTHORIZED DIRECTIVES

743. The mandatory obligation to comply with a court order promulgated by a specific judicial officer is inextricably contingent upon both the lawful subject-matter jurisdiction of the tribunal and the precise jurisdictional competence of the individual judge to effectuate the requisite procedural acts. Without this foundational nexus of legal authority, a directive masquerading as a formal Order possesses no greater legal force than a request articulated by a private citizen and demands absolutely no compliance from the litigants. A void order cannot support a finding of contempt, nor can it impose a legal duty to alter one's position or abandon one's rights.

744. To hold otherwise would be to validate the subversion of the rule of law by administrative caprice. If a litigant were compelled to obey an order issued ultra vires, the very concept of jurisdictional boundaries would be rendered illusory. The Law does not demand obedience to a phantom authority; it demands adherence to the Constitution and the statutes from which all judicial power is derived. The Applicant was not merely at liberty to ignore the unauthorized directives; they were constitutionally justified in resisting the same to preserve the integrity of the Judicature and the sanctity of the adversarial system.

5. POSITIVE DUTY TO NOT FACILITATE, AID, AND ABET UNLAWFUL ACTS

745. Consistent with the established legal doctrine that there exists no plea of justification for a constable who executes a warrant that is fundamentally "bad" because it was issued by a judicial officer lacking the foundational jurisdiction to endorse it, there exists no plea of justification for any state actor, litigant, court staff, or subsequent judicial officer to rely upon an Irremediable Nullity. The lack of jurisdiction is a fatal defect that permeates every subsequent act predicated upon it, poisoning the entire stream of the proceeding.

746. The jurisprudence governing the tort of civil conspiracy provides ample, binding authority in this specific domain. The tort manifests in two distinct branches: (i) Unlawful Means Conspiracy: wherein two or more persons by agreement, frequently established via inferential deduction rather than direct evidence, utilize unlawful means that precipitate damage and loss to another; and (ii) Lawful Means Conspiracy: wherein two or more persons engage in a lawful agreement predominantly motivated by the malicious intent to inflict harm. When the fundamental, constitutional rights of the victim are transgressed by state actors, damage and loss are legally presumed, as established in Shaw v. Lewis, [1949] 1 WWR 355 (BCCA) (the "Shaw Decision"). In the context of the Judicature, this conspiracy involves the coordinated reliance on void orders to deprive a litigant of their day in court through administrative attrition.

747. The Court of Appeal for Ontario in Reach M.D. Inc. v. Pharmaceutical Manufacturers Assn. of Canada, 2003 CanLII 27828 (ON CA) (the "Reach MD Decision"), citing the seminal jurisprudential contribution of Lord Denning in Torquay Hotel Co. Ltd. v. Cousins, [1969] 2 Ch 106 (CA) (the "Torquay Decision"), found that the expansive construction of unlawful means encompasses acts the defendant "is not at liberty to commit"—in other words, an action devoid of legal justification. Lord Denning expounded that if the means are unlawful, that is sufficient to ground liability. Interfering with a litigant's access to a properly constituted hearing through the use of void directives is an act no officer of the court or member of the bar is at liberty to commit, as it violates their primary duty to the administration of justice.

748. It is indisputable that the actions undertaken by Madam Justice Shore were not merely executed absent jurisdiction—as she operated entirely as the Unauthorized CMJ Interloper—but were concurrently unlawful acts, characterized unequivocally as factum a judice, quod ad officium jure non pertinet, ratum non est. Consequently, any purported case management conference convened before her constituted an attendance before a person who was not a judge at law (coram non judice). Therefore, subsequent reliance upon such proceedings by any entity, including the coordination staff, the registry, and adversarial counsel, is properly construed as the active aiding and abetting of unlawful acts which facilitate a jurisdictional usurpation.

749. Liability in civil conspiracy can be robustly imposed for the mere maintenance of silence and the passive permission of the promulgation of false statements regarding the validity of the proceedings, a principle firmly affirmed in Sugar v. Peat Marwick Ltd. (1988), 55 DLR (4th) 230 (Ont HCJ) (the "Sugar Decision"). Court staff who facilitate the scheduling of void conferences while remaining silent as to the jurisdictional void are actively 5866 facilitating the resulting harm. To definitively extricate oneself from a continuing conspiracy, definite and unequivocal steps MUST be undertaken to absolve participation in the common design, as mandated by Claiborne Industries Ltd. v. National Bank of Canada, 1989 CanLII 183 (ON CA) (the "Claiborne Decision"). Passive withdrawal is not an exculpation when the machinery of the court continues to churn based on a known void directive.

750. The mere aiding and abetting of a co-conspirator in the commission of unlawful means qualifies as an unlawful act per se, pursuant to 2038724 Ontario Ltd. v. Quizno's Canada Restaurant Corp., 2010 ONCA 466 (the "Quizno's Decision"). Furthermore, it is not required for every single conspirator to individually and actively participate in the unlawful actus reus, provided the unlawful act of one conspirator was a probable consequence of the original common design (see: Kuwait Oil Tanker Co SAK v. Al Bader, [2000] 2 All ER (Comm) 271 (CA) (the "Kuwait Oil Decision"); Golden Capital Securities Ltd. v. Holmes, 2004 BCSC 262 (the "Golden Capital Decision"); and HM Revenue & Customs v. Begum, [2010] EWHC 1799 (Ch) (the "Begum Decision")).

751. This articulation serves as a formal, jurisprudential notice to those entities potentially unaware of the original clandestine scheme, heavily steeped in particulars of fraud, bribery, and extortion, yet who remain strictly liable for the perpetuation of the common design by consistently relying upon void directives. The "common design" here was the extra-jurisdictional termination of the Applicant's proceeding through administrative sabotage and the creation of a procedural cul-de-sac designed to insulate the initial error from review.

6. THE BOUNDS OF JUDICIAL IMMUNITY AND THE COLOR OF OFFICE

752. While absolute judicial immunity and qualified immunity may naturally be advanced as defensive postures, qualified immunity is strictly contingent upon the execution of acts in good faith, and absolute judicial immunity is rigidly confined to the lawful execution of judicial functions. The overarching policy rationale for judicial immunity is entirely vitiated when the judicial officer abandons the adjudicative framework entirely and engages in unauthorized administrative usurpation. Immunity exists to protect the independence of the judge's mind, not the lawlessness of the judge's actions or the arbitrary expansion of their administrative region.

753. Such immunities emphatically do not apply to non-functions and non-duties per se. As unequivocally demonstrated in R. v. Germain (1984), 53 AR 264 (QB) (the "Germain Decision"), a misguided contempt proceeding initiated without authority or pertinence to the office of the inferior court judge constituted a severe constitutional violation, thereby yielding Charter relief. The Germain Decision underscores that where a judge acts in the "clear absence of all jurisdiction," they are acting not as a judge, but as an individual trespasser whose acts possess no legal character and merit no institutional protection.

754. In Prefontaine v. Gosman, 2000 CanLII 28227 (AB KB) (the "Prefontaine Decision"), Jones J. synthesized the bounds of immunity, stating that a judge is shielded from civil liability for actions done in their judicial capacity, even if acting outside their jurisdiction or out of malice, if the judge believed that he or she was acting with jurisdiction and in the course of his or her judicial duties. The paramount requisite for the invocation of judicial immunity is, therefore, the subjective, bona fide belief in the possession of jurisdiction which must be grounded in an objective legal reality.

755. It is legally inconceivable and objectively impossible that a bona fide belief in her jurisdictional competence could have been harbored by Madam Justice Shore as the Unauthorized CMJ Interloper. The evidentiary record concerning the contemporaneous Nash v. CAMI JRPA Divisional Court proceeding (see: 25-872-JR) demonstrates that Madam Justice Shore only took steps in January 2026 AFTER the Honourable Justice Nakatsuru emailed confirming that said proceeding would be subject to a formal "Assignment For Case Management." This chronological sequence definitively establishes that acute awareness of the requisite procedural gateways was possessed by Madam Justice Shore. The "Nash precedent" serves as the benchmark for her subjective knowledge and proves that she was acutely aware that a formal order was a condition precedent to her intervention. Ignorance of the law is emphatically not a recognized legal defence for a jurist whose very duty is the interpretation of that law.

756. Furthermore, adjudicative privilege—the absolute protection afforded to the deliberative secrecy of judicial decision-making—must be strictly demarcated from administrative privilege, which is not absolute per se. As established by the Supreme Court of Canada in MacKeigan v. Hickman, [1989] 2 SCR 796 (the "MacKeigan Decision"), judges possess absolute adjudicative privilege regarding the cognitive processes of rendering a judgment. However, the usurpation of a file and the issuance of unauthorized scheduling directives do not 5867 constitute a protected deliberative function. They are administrative acts that occur outside the deliberative process and involve the manipulation of the court's registry system.

757. Because the Unauthorized "Ex Parte In Camera Hearing" Judge Interventionist was executing a purely administrative usurpation devoid of subject-matter jurisdiction, the protective mantle of absolute adjudicative privilege articulated in the MacKeigan Decision is rendered entirely inapplicable. An Irremediable Nullity cannot be shielded by a privilege reserved exclusively for valid adjudicative deliberation. Privilege cannot be used as a cloak for jurisdictional subversion or the concealment of administrative misconduct from the scrutiny of a reviewing court.

758. It is logically irreconcilable that Madam Justice Shore, a puisne judge lacking the administrative authority to assign judicial duties, could have perceived herself to possess jurisdiction over the McLean TDHA JRPA proceeding when there was no filing of a First Defence, no "Assignment For Case Management" BY ORDER, and, by legal deductive reasoning of sound minds, no lawful assignment to a particular judge for hearing. Her only conceivable justification would be a claim that she finally learned the strictures of rule 77 in late 2025, a proposition that is analytically imprecise and legally hollow given her correct handling of the Nash matter and her years of experience as a Section 96 judge.

759. The policy rationale for Case Center invitations is to facilitate the uploading of documentary evidence prior to a lawfully scheduled conference following the filing of a First Defence by a respondent. For a judge of the Divisional Court to convene such a conference within the City of Toronto (her designated administrative region since 2018), she must know that a formal order was pronounced (see: rule 59.01). This requires the judicial officer to judiciously verify the court file to ensure an order was made by a judge of the Divisional Court (expressly excluding an Associate Judge), and further, that a First Defence was filed prior to that order, unless mutual consent was provided (rule 77.05(1)).

760. Absent consent, the judge must turn her mind to confirm an order for assignment was made, endorsed, issued, and entered by separate document requirements pursuant to the 2020 amendments to the Civil Rules (see: rule 59.02). The failure to observe these mandatory gateways renders subsequent interventions procedurally hollow and jurisdictionally void. A judge who ignores these gateways is not acting in the "course of judicial duties" but is acting in the course of an administrative trespass that violates the institutional independence of the court and the rights of the litigants.

7.STATE LIABILITY EXCULPATION AND INDIVIDUAL JURIST ACCOUNTABILITY

761. The analytical framework established in Kopyto v. Ontario, [1995] OJ No 601 (Gen Div) (the "Kopyto Decision"), clarifies that when an official operates within the statutory or inherent framework of their office (their "judicial capacity"), the court will not second-guess subjective motivations through civil lawsuits. Consequently, if a judge is not operating within the prescribed statutory framework, they do not possess a "Judicial Office" for the purposes of that specific act. They are, in limine, a private actor exercising arbitrary power under the false color of office.

762. To illustrate the distinction: a judge acting with jurisdiction could hypothetically act with profound malice and remain absolutely shielded by judicial immunity. Conversely, a judge acting without jurisdiction could behave in the most benign manner, yet if their ultra vires acts cause catastrophic harm—such as effectively neutralizing a human rights application or a residential tenancy judicial review, resulting in the applicant's severe loss or incapacitation—a cause of action is naturally grounded against the judge personally. The law prioritizes jurisdictional legitimacy over subjective intent to ensure that no individual is above the statutes they are sworn to uphold. The acts remain factum a judice, quod ad officium jure non pertinet, ratum non est.

763. In the context of a federally appointed judge delegated by provincial statute to the Divisional Court—a provincial court of non-inherent jurisdiction and non-federal creation—the question of which "State" would be liable is resolved by statutory immunity. As conclusively determined in Feeney v. Canada, 2022 FCA 190 (the "Feeney Decision"), the federal government cannot be held vicariously liable for the conduct of a judge. Under the Crown Liability and Proceedings Act, RSC 1985, c C-50 (the "Federal CLPA"), while a judge receives remuneration from the federal purse, they are emphatically not a servant, agent, or employee of the federal government. Feeney confirms that judicial independence precludes the existence of a servant-master relationship between the executive and the judiciary.

764. Concurrently, the Crown Liability and Proceedings Act, 2019, SO 2019, c 7, Sch 17 (the "Provincial CLPA"), immunizes the provincial sovereign. Pursuant to subsections 8(1) through 8(3), provincial liability is strictly 5868 constrained to the torts committed by an officer, employee, or agent of the provincial Crown. A federally appointed judge is categorically not an agent of the provincial Crown, regardless of the court in which they sit.

765. Because neither the federal nor the provincial state assumes vicarious liability for a superior court judge acting completely outside their statutory framework without an honest belief of jurisdiction, personal liability attaches directly, exclusively, and inescapably to the presiding jurist. This is the "liability gap" created by jurisdictional abdication which must be filled by personal accountability to prevent the total failure of justice. As observed by Chief Justice Morawetz in the public record, judges are ultimately responsible for their own conduct. When the state provides no remedy for a judge's ultra vires act, the common law provides a remedy against the individual acting outside their lawful mandate.

8.THE INTENTIONAL SUBVERSION OF THE CONSTITUTIONAL ORDER

766. The intentional transgression of section 96 of the Constitution Act, 1867 by a sitting judge constitutes a catastrophic subversion of the judicial mandate and the institutional independence of the court. This subversion is further compounded by severe executive interference in the administration of the court, representing a direct, incontrovertible violation of the independence of the judiciary established in R. v. Cawthorne, [2016] 1 SCR 983 (the "Cawthorne Decision").

767. The precipitous, unprecedented termination of the Former Registrar of the Divisional Court, Ms. Tashekah Gentles, precisely on December 3, 2025—the exact date mandated for the written hearing—constitutes a chilling manifestation of systemic disarray and administrative reprisal, evidently designed to paralyze the lawful progression of the JRPA proceeding. This administrative sabotage serves as potent evidence of the "bad faith" and "abuse of power" required under the Power threshold to pierce any remaining immunity. It suggests a coordinated effort to neutralize the court's registry as a safeguard against jurisdictional overreach.

768. Pursuant to the strict parameters established in Ernst v. Alberta Energy Regulator, 2017 SCC 1, [2017] 1 SCR 3 (the "Ernst Decision"), and recently fortified by the Yatar Decision, the Applicant is unequivocally entitled to a Hearing. The efficacy of an alternative adjudicative remedy operates as a strict condition precedent to the denial of Charter damages. Where a sua sponte Irremediable Nullity fundamentally bypasses and maliciously short-circuits the established appellate process, the Ernst Decision barrier is conclusively overcome. The lack of an "alternative remedy" to challenge an unfiled, non-existent order makes Charter damages the only viable relief for the resulting constitutional injury.

769. The conduct of Madam Justice Shore cannot be analyzed in a vacuum. It must be analyzed within the broader temporal context of her pattern of conduct spanning from 2018 to the present. This longitudinal evidentiary record reveals a demonstrable predilection towards being vengeful, particularly when her jurisdictional authority is challenged or when procedural dissent is registered by litigants. This propensity for retaliatory action reinforces the finding that the present jurisdictional usurpation was not a mere clerical error or a misunderstanding of the rules, but a calculated manifestation of bad faith designed to inflict maximum procedural harm under the color of office. Her conduct suggests an ongoing campaign to personalize the administration of justice and punish those who insist on statutory compliance.

9.POSITIVE DUTY TO NOT FACILITATE, AID, AND ABET UNLAWFUL MEANS

770. The law of the tort of civil conspiracy provides ample, binding authority in this regard. This tort manifests in two distinct branches: (i) Unlawful Means Conspiracy: where two or more persons by agreement (frequently established via inferential deduction, as in Golden Capital Securities Ltd. v. Holmes, 2004 BCSC 262) employ unlawful means that precipitate damage and loss to another; or (ii) Lawful Means Conspiracy: where two or more persons engage in a lawful agreement with the predominant motive to cause harm. When a victim's rights are at issue, damage and loss are legally presumed (Shaw v. Lewis, [1949] 1 WWR 355 (BCCA)).

771. As articulated by the Court of Appeal for Ontario in Reach M.D. Inc. v. Pharmaceutical Manufacturers Assn. of Canada, 2003 CanLII 27828 (ON CA), citing Lord Denning's seminal decision in Torquay Hotel Co. Ltd. v. Cousins, [1969] 2 Ch 106 (CA), the construction of "unlawful means" encompasses acts the defendant "is not at liberty to commit"—actions devoid of legal justification. Lord Denning expounded that if one deliberately interferes with another's trade or business by an act they are not at liberty to commit, the means are unlawful, even if no actual breach of contract is procured.

5869 772. It is indisputable that the acts of Madam Justice Shore were not only executed without jurisdiction—as she functioned as the Unauthorized CMJ Interloper—but were concurrently unlawful acts, as they were factum a judice, quod ad officium jure non pertinet, ratum non est. Consequently, any purported "case management conferences" convened before her were attendances before a person legally divested of judicial character (coram non judice). Subsequent reliance upon the same by any person constitutes the aiding and abetting of unlawful acts.

773. Liability can be robustly imposed for maintaining silence and permitting the promulgation of false statements (Sugar v. Peat Marwick Ltd. (1988), 55 DLR (4th) 230 (Ont HCJ)). To definitively extricate oneself from an ongoing conspiracy, unequivocal steps must be undertaken to absolve participation in the common design (Claiborne Industries Ltd. v. National Bank of Canada, 1989 CanLII 183 (ON CA)). The mere aiding and abetting of a co-conspirator in the commission of unlawful means qualifies as an unlawful act per se (2038724 Ontario Ltd. v. Quizno's Canada Restaurant Corp., 2010 ONCA 466).

774. It is not necessary for every conspirator to actively participate in the actus reus, provided the unlawful act was a probable consequence of the original common design to inflict harm or secure an unjust advantage (Kuwait Oil Tanker Co SAK v. Al Bader, [2000] 2 All ER (Comm) 271 (CA); Golden Capital Securities Ltd. v. Holmes, 2004 BCSC 262; HM Revenue & Customs v. Begum, [2010] EWHC 1799 (Ch)). This serves as a formal jurisprudential notice to those entities continuing the "original plan"—characterized by clandestine fraud, bribery, and extortion—that they remain liable for relying upon void directives.

10.THE FAILURE OF IMMUNITY AND THE QUESTION OF SUBJECTIVE BELIEF

775. Absolute immunity and adjudicative privilege strictly apply only to the lawful duties and functions of a judge; they do not apply to extra-jurisdictional non-functions. As elucidated in Prefontaine v. Gosman, 2000 CanLII 28227 (AB KB), citing R. v. Germain (1984), 53 AR 264 (QB), judicial immunity hinges upon the judge's subjective, bona fide belief that they were acting with jurisdiction and in the course of their judicial duties.

776. It is inconceivable that Madam Justice Shore, or the various state actors and court staff facilitating this usurpation, could have harbored a bona fide belief in their jurisdictional authority. If such authority truly existed, the necessity for concealment would be non-existent. The question of why the true jurisdictional state was hidden answers itself: the actors were acutely aware of the jurisdictional void. The temple of justice cannot be used as a fortress for those who would violate its foundational architectonics and betray the trust of the sovereign and the citizen alike.

DENOUEMENT

777. It is averred, in limine, that the foundational jurisdiction purportedly exercised by the respondent, His Majesty the King (the "Crown"), is prima facie invalid, manifestly defective, and unequivocally ultra vires the strictly enumerated statutory parameters delineated within the Criminal Code, RSC 1985, c C-46 (the "Criminal Code"). It is a foundational tenet of the administration of justice that jurisdiction cannot be assumed, constructively imparted, or retroactively manufactured when the essential procedural prerequisites have been deliberately subverted by officers of the court. The fundamental bedrock of the rule of law (the "Rule Of Law") dictates that state authority to deprive an individual of liberty must be strictly constrained by positive law; consequently, where statutory preconditions are circumvented, the ensuing state action is not merely irregular, but operates as an absolute nullity. The arrogation of judicial authority, unmoored from explicit statutory authorization, constitutes an existential threat to the constitutional architecture of the state. As the highest jurisprudence mandates, statutory courts and courts of inherent jurisdiction alike are strictly bound by the substantive limits imposed by parliament when adjudicating matters of criminal procedure. Any deviation from these codified strictures effectively severs the judicial action from its lawful mandate, extinguishing any presumption of regularity.

THE COVERT ADJUDICATION(BEFORE AND AFTER) BY CHIEF JUSTICE MORAWETZ

The Undisclosed (Post Arrest and contrary to section 29 of the Criminal Code and other governing statutes and regulations) Presiding Judge: Proceeding In Camera and Ex Parte Without Lawful Authority

5870 778. It is unequivocally posited that the orchestration of clandestine, unrecorded Ex Parte proceedings by the undisclosed presiding jurist—subsequently and conclusively identified within the evidentiary record as Chief Justice Geoffrey B. Morawetz—constitutes a paramount abrogation of the principles of fundamental justice. The systemic and purposeful concealment of the presiding adjudicator's identity irrevocably strips the tribunal of its lawful adjudicative authority, thereby rendering any resultant judicial authorizations, warrants, or detentions an absolute nullity ab initio. Such covert machinations inherently trigger the inviolable application of the doctrine of coram non judice. An adjudication conducted in absolute secrecy, absent the prerequisite statutory and constitutional jurisdictional foundation, permanently transforms the purported judicial forum into a legally non-existent entity, irreparably stripping its pronouncements of all legal force. The deliberate obfuscation of the jurist's identity operates to permanently paralyze the appellate functions of higher courts, as it becomes fundamentally impossible to seek the prerogative writ of certiorari or initiate a review of a judicial officer whose very existence in the proceeding has been deliberately masked. This paradigm mirrors the historical tyranny of the anonymous lettre de cachet, rendering the deprivation of liberty an exercise of arbitrary absolutism rather than an application of the law.

779. Nota bene: It might be postulated by the respondent that a jurist of the Superior Court possesses an inherent jurisdiction capable of overriding strict procedural codification. This is a profound jurisprudential fallacy. Inherent jurisdiction is a residual power utilized exclusively to maintain the authority of the court and prevent abuses of process; it is never to be weaponized to unilaterally manufacture jurisdiction where parliament has explicitly mandated procedural codifications, nor can it ever authorize the subversion of the Canadian Charter of Rights and Freedoms, Part I of the Constitution Act, 1982, being Schedule B to the Canada Act 1982 (UK), 1982, c 11 (the "Charter"). As elucidated in R. v. Ahmad, [2011] 1 S.C.R. 110 (the "Ahmad"), inherent powers cannot be invoked to contravene statutory imperatives or constitutional guarantees. Furthermore, it must be noted that the de facto doctrine—which occasionally preserves the validity of acts performed by officers operating under a colourable but defective authority—is wholly inapplicable here. The de facto doctrine cannot salvage proceedings where the defect is not merely a technical deficiency in appointment, but a calculated, fraudulent concealment of the proceedings themselves intended to evade appellate oversight.

SUBVERSION OF SUPERIOR COURT JURISDICTION: THE ILLUSION OF IMPARTIALITY AND THE BREACH OF JUDICIAL INDEPENDENCE

780. Furthermore, the structural integrity of the Superior Court of Justice is fundamentally subverted by the deliberate curation of a mere illusion of impartiality. The aforementioned clandestine adjudication effectively eviscerates the indispensable constitutional guarantees enshrined within section 11(d) of the Charter. The foundational presumption of impartiality is inherently obliterated when an adjudication is conducted in camera and Ex Parte without explicit, strictly construed statutory sanction. This unauthorized secrecy fractures the fundamental judicial independence mandated for a section 96 jurist pursuant to the Constitution Act, 1867 (UK), 30 & 31 Vict, c 3 (the "Constitution Act, 1867"). An independent judiciary must not only be liberated from external executive pressure but must also strictly adhere to the transparent procedural mechanisms that legitimize its authority in the eyes of the public. By operating outside the institutionalized, public framework, the presiding jurist effectively privatized judicial power, acting not as an organ of the state, but as an autonomous, unaccountable agent.

781. Summary of the Jurisprudence: In Reference re Remuneration of Judges of the Provincial Court of Prince Edward Island, [1997] 3 S.C.R. 3 (the "Provincial Judges Reference"), the Supreme Court of Canada affirmed that judicial independence is an unwritten constitutional principle ensuring that courts are free from interference and operate with objective impartiality. This was further compartmentalized in Valente v. The Queen, [1985] 2 S.C.R. 673 (the "Valente"), which established the tripartite test demanding security of tenure, financial security, and institutional independence.

782. Application of the Law to the Facts: The institutional dimension of judicial independence was egregiously violated when the Chief Justice operated a shadow tribunal, immune from appellate oversight. By concealing his identity and acting Ex Parte without statutory justification, the presiding jurist destroyed the objective appearance of independence, necessitating the immediate and absolute invalidation of the proceedings. The psychological coercion inherently present in a secret tribunal forces the administration of justice into a state of subservience to the Crown, violating the unwritten constitutional principle of the separation of powers

5871 THE UNRECORDED STAR CHAMBER: THE DELIBERATE ABSENCE OF RECORDING APPARATUSES IN A COURT OF RECORD

783. The deliberate circumvention and explicit non-utilization of standard recording apparatuses within what is statutorily designated as a court of record (the "Court Of Record") must not be misconstrued, minimized, or sanitized as a benign administrative oversight. Rather, this calculated omission operates as a deliberate act of spoliation by omission. By operating the contemporary judicial apparatus as an unrecorded, modernized Star Chamber, the judicial actor is purposefully insulated from the imperative mechanisms of appellate review and broader public scrutiny. This active suppression fundamentally contravenes the open court principle (the "Open Court Principle") safeguarded by section 2(b) of the Charter. A non-existent record in a purported court of record is a legal paradox that results, inevitably, in an absolute nullity, as there exist no acta to substantiate the legality of the deprivation of liberty. The essential function of a court of record is the generation of an unalterable chronicle of the proceedings; the intentional failure to produce this chronicle is tantamount to the destruction of evidence, purposefully designed to paralyze the applicant's capacity to establish constitutional infringements on subsequent review.

784. Summary of the Jurisprudence: In Canadian Broadcasting Corp. v. New Brunswick (Attorney General), [1996] 3 S.C.R. 480 (the "CBC v. NB"), the Supreme Court of Canada categorically established that the Open Court Principle is inextricably linked to the freedom of expression and the freedom of the press under section 2(b) of the Charter, noting that covert proceedings inherently breed suspicion and dismantle public confidence in the judiciary.

785. Application of the Law to the Facts: The unrecorded nature of the chamber application constitutes an active suppression of the public's constitutional right to witness the administration of justice. The failure to deploy recording apparatuses was not a passive failing, but an active, unconstitutional preclusion of transparency, effectively insulating jurisdictional trespasses from the corrective mechanisms of appellate scrutiny.

THE PHANTOM INFORMATION AND SUPPRESSED ENDORSEMENT(S)

The Non-Existent Foundational Instruments: Complete Failure to Provide the Information/Indictment

786. The absolute failure to provide the true, sworn information or indictment represents the total deprivation of the jurisdictional lifeblood of the tribunal. As irrefutably evidenced by the irreconcilable documentary discrepancies manifested within the application record (the "Application Record"), specifically demarcated between the false information package (first iteration) (the "First Iteration Information") and the false information package (second iteration) (the "Second Iteration Information"), the foundational instruments are glaringly deficient and demonstrably fabricated. The deliberate withholding of the authentic swearing of the information dictates that the purported judicial body never formally acquired in personam or subject matter jurisdiction over the applicant (the "Applicant"). The prosecution has proceeded in a jurisdictional epistemological void, sustained entirely by legal fiction, thereby eviscerating the Applicant's constitutional guarantee under section 11(a) of the Charter to be informed without unreasonable delay of the specific offence. The information is the statutory prerequisite that animates the entire prosecutorial machinery; without a validly sworn and endorsed instrument, the proceedings are a mere simulacrum of justice. To detain an individual upon a non-existent or fabricated charge is the purest manifestation of arbitrary state action, fundamentally indistinguishable from a kidnapping perpetrated under the colour of state authority.

Concealment of the Judicial Record: The Suppression of Endorsements Validating the Unlawful Detention

787. The concurrent suppression of the judicial endorsements required to validate the precipitous and unlawful detentions generates an unbridgeable procedural chasm at the epicentre of the prosecutorial narrative. In the strict absence of authentic, contemporaneously executed endorsements by a recognized justice of the peace (the "Justice Of The Peace") or a sitting judge upon the face of the charging document pursuant to section 504 and section 508 of the Criminal Code, any cascading warrants or consequential arbitrary detentions are fundamentally and incurably unlawful, directly contravening the absolute protections against arbitrary detention enshrined within 5872 section 9 of the Charter. The endorsement is not a mere clerical formality; it is the physical and incontrovertible manifestation of the transfer of jurisdiction from the executive apparatus (the police) to the independent judicial apparatus. Without this endorsement, the state possesses no lawful mechanism to justify the prolonged deprivation of the Applicant's liberty.

788. Nota bene: Should the respondent advance the counter-argument that the absence of physical endorsements on the informational instruments constitutes a mere curable procedural irregularity under the remedial provisions of section 686 of the Criminal Code, such an assertion is intellectually bankrupt, legally unviable, and fundamentally offensive to the administration of justice. The strict adherence to foundational jurisdictional prerequisites dictates that the complete absence of a verified oath and a corresponding judicial endorsement is not a defect of form, but a substantive jurisdictional deprivation, culminating in an absolute nullity that cannot be retroactively resuscitated by statutory curative mechanisms. Equity, the Charter, and the rule of law absolutely prohibit the post-hoc curing of a void ab initio circumstance that was purposefully engineered through deliberate prosecutorial and judicial concealment. The doctrine of strictissimi juris demands that deprivations of liberty be grounded in impeccable procedural adherence; consequently, the court is compelled to declare this specific contravention an absolute nullity rather than a mere irregularity. As delineated in R. v. Litchfield, [1993] 4 S.C.R. 333 (the "Litchfield"), structural divisions and jurisdictional parameters cannot be bypassed; a proceeding devoid of a legitimately sworn instrument is irreparably severed from lawful authority. This principle is inviolably anchored in the foundational jurisprudence of Pong v. Quong, 1927 CanLII 2 (SCC) (the "Pong"), wherein the Supreme Court of Canada categorically delineated the unbridgeable chasm between a mere procedural irregularity—which might theoretically be cured—and a fundamental jurisdictional defect, which permanently renders the resulting proceedings an absolute nullity incapable of equitable or statutory resuscitation. The respondent cannot rely upon curative provisions to excuse errors that were actively and fraudulently manufactured; to permit such an application of section 686 would be to endorse a doctrine of "jurisdictional spoliation," wherein the Crown benefits directly from its own subversion of the record.)

Ex Nihilo Nihil Fit (Out of Nothing Comes Nothing) and Nemo Dat Quod Non Habet: The Void Nature of the Entire Proceeding once the falsification occurred with the OCJ 10 Armoury Street Courthouse – leaving only relief in favour of the Applicant

789. Consequently, the irrefutable application of the foundational jurisprudential maxims ex nihilo nihil fit (out of nothing comes nothing) and nemo dat quod non habet (no one can give what they do not have) must be strictly enforced. Given that the originating foundational instruments are unequivocally established by the documentary record to be non-existent or, in the alternative, entirely fraudulent, every subsequent prosecutorial initiative, arbitrary detention, and judicial action inextricably cascading from those void instruments is irrevocably vitiated. A legal fiction cannot birth lawful detention; a tribunal lacking jurisdiction cannot lawfully delegate the power to arrest. Therefore, the entirety of the proceeding operates ipso facto as an absolute nullity, entirely devoid of legal consequence, requiring the immediate extrication of the Applicant from the state's coercive apparatus. This doctrine of absolute nullity is further entrenched by the appellate reasoning articulated in Turigan v. Alberta, 1988 ABCA 333 (the "Turigan"), which unequivocally substantiates that judicial actions predicated upon fundamentally invalid or void foundations operate ab initio as nullities, thereby obliterating any purported legal authority derived therefrom and unconditionally mandating the restoration of the aggrieved party's prior legal status. The constitutional mandate encapsulated by fiat justitia ruat caelum (let justice be done though the heavens fall) necessitates the unhesitating dismantling of the Crown's prosecution, irrespective of the resultant administrative inconvenience.

ADJUDICATIVE FRAUD UPON THE PUBLIC AND THE APPLICANT AND THE FAILURE TO CORRECT BY, ON ITS FACE, AN INDEPENDENT SCJ COURTHOUSE (HIGHER LEVEL OF INSTITUTIONAL INDEPENDENCE REQUIRED WITH A SECTION 96 COURT THAN THE LIKES OF A DIVISIONAL COURT)

The Resignation/Retirement Nexus: Institutional Concealment of Jurisdictional Usurpation

5879 790. The unprecedented and highly irregular circumstances surrounding the precipitous resignation or early retirement of Chief Justice Morawetz, falling in immediate chronological proximity to the exposure of these covert Ex Parte proceedings, is advanced as a constructive admission of catastrophic jurisdictional usurpation. Under section 99 of the Constitution Act, 1867, Superior Court justices hold office during good behaviour. It is submitted that this synchronized departure operates not as a standard, benign administrative transition, but as a calculated institutional stratagem designed to definitively evade public accountability, forestall any prospective investigation by the Canadian Judicial Council (the "Canadian Judicial Council"), and permanently insulate the judicial actor from the profound constitutional ramifications of the alleged adjudicative misconduct. By ostensibly retiring, the judicial actor systematically freezes the factual matrix, effectively attempting to render the inquiry into his constitutional breaches moot and shielding the systemic infirmities from a formal, statutory inquest. This strategic withdrawal further exacerbates the deprivation of procedural fairness owed to the Applicant, as it removes the primary architect of the void proceedings from the reach of conventional disciplinary mechanisms.

Fraus Omnia Corrumpit: How the Fraudulent Concealment Vitiates All Subsequent Prosecutorial Actions

791. The pervasive and insidious nature of the orchestrated concealment irrevocably taints the entirety of the Crown's prosecution. The inviolable, overarching equitable doctrine of fraus omnia corrumpit (fraud vitiates everything) dictates that the deliberate suppression of the true, unrecorded nature of the proceedings permanently contaminates the prosecutorial record.

792. Summary of the Jurisprudence: In Lazarus Estates Ltd. v. Beasley, [1956] 1 Q.B. 702 (the "Lazarus Estates"), Lord Denning famously articulated that "No court in this land will allow a person to keep an advantage which he has obtained by fraud. No judgment of a court, no order of a Minister, can be allowed to stand if it has been obtained by fraud. Fraud unravels everything." This overarching equitable doctrine is unequivocally fortified by contemporary jurisprudence concerning severe state misconduct and the abuse of process doctrine (the "Abuse Of Process Doctrine"). As meticulously illuminated in R. v. Babos, [2014] 1 S.C.R. 309 (the "Babos"), R. v. Codrington, 2023 ONSC 6352 (the "Codrington"), R. v. Hampton, 2020 ABQB 429 (the "Hampton"), and R. v. Barry, 2021 BCPC 59 (the "Barry"), in circumstances where the prosecutorial apparatus and judicial actors engage in deliberate obfuscation or systemic constitutional violations that irreparably prejudice the integrity of the justice system, the residual category of abuse of process is categorically and instantly triggered.

793. Application of the Law to the Facts: The unassailable extrapolation of these legal principles dictates that the deliberate concealment of the true nature of the judicial authorizations permanently vitiates the prosecution. The residual category of the Abuse Of Process Doctrine is specifically formulated to address precisely this paradigm of misconduct—where the transgressions are so egregious that the mere continuation of the proceeding offends society's sense of decency and fair play. The sole appropriate remedy capable of addressing such a profound and calculated dissociation from the rule of law is an unconditional, permanent stay of proceedings pursuant to section 24(1) of the Charter. Any lesser remedial intervention would ostensibly condone the systemic weaponization of the judicial apparatus, retroactively validate the adjudicative fraud, and further degrade the institutional integrity of the courts beyond the point of jurisprudential redemption.

ORDERS SOUGHT

794. The Applicant seeks the Orders contained in the Form 1 and this Form 5 which will be reduced to a draft order in due course.

All of which is respectfully submitted by the Applicant on April 29, 2026

Mr. Kevin A. McLean (BA, JD, CIM)

APPENDICES

TABLE OF AUTHORITIES — PINPOINT CITATIONS (PART I: CASE LAW)

A. Supreme Court of Canada

1. Landreville v Boucherville (Town of), [1978] 2 SCR 801
Pages: 34–35, 58
Excerpt: "Applying the rigorous equitable and common law doctrines… reliance is placed upon the Supreme Court of Canada's jurisprudence articulated in Landreville v Boucherville (Town of)…"

2. R v Babos, 2014 SCC 16
Pages: 20–21
Excerpt: "Through the application of the deductive syllogism… as comprehensively elucidated in R. v. Babos, 2014 SCC 16…"

3. R v Grant, 2009 SCC 32
Pages: 22–23
Excerpt: "The comprehensive, constitutionally mandated tripartite analytical framework explicitly established in Grant…"

4. R v Jordan, 2016 SCC 27
Pages: 17–18
Excerpt: "It must be conclusively determined whether this state-induced procedural labyrinth… exceeds the presumptive eighteen-month ceiling established in R. v. Jordan…"

5. R v Stinchcombe, [1991] 3 SCR 326
Pages: 11, 17
Excerpt: "The complete denial of fundamental justice, the evisceration of the audi alteram partem principle… engages Stinchcombe disclosure rights."

6. R v Chabot, [1980] 2 SCR 985
Pages: 11
Excerpt: "These deprivations were perpetrated via procedurally vacuous adjudicative mechanisms… contrary to Chabot."

7. R v Krannenburg, [1980] 1 SCR 1053
Pages: 11
Excerpt: "The arbitrary deprivation of liberty… contrary to the principles articulated in Krannenburg."

8. R v Storrey, [1990] 1 SCR 241
Pages: 11
Excerpt: "The profound compromise of the security of the person… engages the Storrey standard."

9. R v Feeney, [1997] 2 SCR 13
Pages: 11
Excerpt: "Highly intrusive, unwarranted physical and digital penetrations… contrary to Feeney."

10. R v Evans, [1991] 1 SCR 869
Pages: 11
Excerpt: "Unauthorized incursions into privacy spheres… contrary to Evans."

11. R v MacNeil, 2001 SCC 53
Pages: 11
Excerpt: "These incursions were executed entirely absent any valid… judicial pre-authorization, contrary to MacNeil."

12. Canada (Minister of Citizenship and Immigration) v Tobiass, [1997] 3 SCR 391
Pages: 21
Excerpt: "The coordinated, extra-judicial maneuvering… demonstrates an actionable, localized retaliatory animus, contrary to Tobiass."

13. Wewaykum Indian Band v Canada, 2003 SCC 45
Pages: 21–22
Excerpt: "The apprehension of bias herein… satisfies and demonstrably exceeds the Wewaykum standard."

14. Reference re Residential Tenancies Act (Ontario), [1981] 1 SCR 714

Pages: 30–31
Excerpt: “The historical evolution of judicial authority… definitively affirmed in the Residential Tenancies Reference.”
15. R v Dudley, 2009 SCC 58
Pages: 11
Excerpt: “Cruel and unusual treatment… contrary to Dudley.”
16. R v Myers, 2019 SCC 18
Pages: 11
Excerpt: “The imposition of state treatments… engages the principles in Myers.”
17. R v Bjelland, 2009 SCC 38
Pages: 11
Excerpt: “The formal institution of penal processes lacking evidentiary substantiation… contrary to Bjelland.”
18. R v Araujo, 2000 SCC 65
Pages: 11
Excerpt: “Executed entirely absent any valid… judicial pre-authorization, contrary to Araujo.”
19. R v Nixon, 2011 SCC 34
Pages: 11
Excerpt: “The utilization of fabricated charging instruments… contrary to Nixon.”
20. British Columbia (AG) v Lafarge Canada Inc., 2007 SCC 23
Pages: 11
Excerpt: “The discriminatory application of coercive state powers… contrary to Lafarge.”
21. McLean v Bradley, 1878 CanLII 22 (SCC)
Pages: 24–25
Excerpt: “This exact jurisdictional doctrine was affirmed… in the Bradley Decision.”
22. Pong v Quong, 1927 CanLII 475 (SCC)
Pages: 26–27
Excerpt: “The absolute necessity of strict jurisdictional adherence… illuminated by the Pong Decision.”

B. Ontario Court of Appeal
1. R v P(J), 2013 ONCA 537
Pages: 11
Excerpt: “These deprivations were perpetrated via procedurally vacuous adjudicative mechanisms… contrary to P(J).”
2. R v Kelsy, 2011 ONCA 605
Pages: 11
Excerpt: “The arbitrary deprivation of liberty… contrary to Kelsy.”
3. R v Forcillo, 2018 ONCA 402
Pages: 11
Excerpt: “The imposition of state treatments… engages the principles in Forcillo.”

C. English & Historical Common Law Authorities
1. Lazarus Estates Ltd v Beasley, [1956] 1 QB 702 (CA)
Pages: 34–35
Excerpt: “As articulated by Lord Denning in Lazarus: ‘fraud unravels everything.’”
2. Taylor v Clemson, (1844) 11 Cl & Fin 610, 8 ER 1233 (HL)
Pages: 23–24
Excerpt: “This axiomatic doctrine… was unequivocally established in Taylor v Clemson.”
3. Griffith v Owen, [1907] 1 Ch 195
Pages: 26–27
Excerpt: “This conceptualization of fiduciary constraint… anchored in Griffith v Owen.”
4. Keech v Sandford, [1726] EWHC Ch J76
Pages: 26–27
Excerpt: “Reinforcing the strictures established by the foundational trust doctrine in Keech v Sandford.”
5. Foss v Harbottle, (1843) 67 ER 189
Pages: 26
Excerpt: “The equitable principles… trace back to Foss v Harbottle.”

TABLE OF AUTHORITIES — PINPOINT CITATIONS (PART II: STATUTES)

A. Constitutional Instruments

1. Canadian Charter of Rights and Freedoms

Sections cited: 1, 2(b), 7, 8, 9, 10(a), 10(b), 11(a), 11(b), 12, 15, 24(1), 24(2)

Pages: 10–13, 16–18, 52–57, 82–102

Excerpt: "The Applicant asserts that the Toronto Police Service… have directly, intentionally, and egregiously contravened the following fundamental constitutional guarantees enshrined within the Charter…"

2. Constitution Act, 1867

Sections cited: 91(27), 92(14), 96–100

Pages: 18, 30–31, 113–120

Excerpt: "A supplementary, overarching, and fundamentally structural constitutional inquiry shall be rigorously advanced regarding whether the adjudicative actions… constituted an egregious usurpation of the core judicature provisions enshrined immutably within sections 96 to 100 of the Constitution Act, 1867."

3. Constitution Act, 1982

Pages: 10–11

Excerpt: "Invoking the plenary remedial jurisdictions enshrined within sections 24(1) and 24(2) of the Canadian Charter of Rights and Freedoms, Part I of the Constitution Act, 1982…"

B. Federal Statutes

1. Criminal Code, RSC 1985, c C-46

Sections cited: 29, 487.1, 503–512, 508, 508.1, 511, 512, 599, 601, 686(1)(b)(iv)

Pages: 32–36, 41–52, 55–75

Excerpt: "The contravention of section 29 of the Criminal Code and the concomitant violation of section 10(a) of the Charter… demonstrates the vitiation of lawful authority and the structural nullity of the purported arrest."

2. Canada Evidence Act, RSC 1985, c C-5

Pages: 34–35, 74–75

Excerpt: "The statutory deficiencies appertaining to the impugned digital signatures… violate the mandatory authentication requirements under the Canada Evidence Act."

3. Personal Information Protection and Electronic Documents Act (PIPEDA), SC 2000, c 5

Pages: 34–35, 74–75

Excerpt: "The legislative mandates of PIPEDA… render the digital signature process constitutionally and statutorily defective."

C. Provincial Statutes (Ontario)

1. Courts of Justice Act, RSO 1990, c C.43

Sections cited: 12, 13(1), 13(2), 18(3), 109

Pages: 10, 13, 27–28, 77–78

Excerpt: "Pursuant to the mandatory notification mechanisms delineated within section 109 of the Courts of Justice Act… formal notice is hereby promulgated."

2. Judicial Review Procedure Act, RSO 1990, c J.1

Pages: 27–28

Excerpt: "The Applicant expressly reserves the right to seek judicial review under the Judicial Review Procedure Act where appropriate."

3. Residential Tenancies Act, 2006, SO 2006, c 17

Pages: 22

Excerpt: "Parallel civil litigation and extra-judicial retaliation… including proceedings before the Landlord and Tenant Board under the Residential Tenancies Act."

4. Expropriations Act, RSO 1990, c E.26

Pages: 30

Excerpt: "Historical demarcations of adjudicative power… analogized through statutory regimes such as the Expropriations Act."

D. Regulations

5878
5. Secure Electronic Signature Regulations, SOR/2005-30
Pages: 34–35, 74–75
Excerpt: “The cryptographic failure and absence of authority… contravene the Secure Electronic Signature Regulations.”

E. Rules of Court & Forms
1. Criminal Proceedings Rules for the Superior Court of Justice (Ontario)
Pages: 10, 13, 77–78
Excerpt: “This reservation is subject strictly to specific procedural exemptions… as dictated by the mandatory provisions contained within the Criminal Proceedings Rules for the Superior Court of Justice.”
2. Criminal Rules of the Ontario Court of Justice, SI/2012-30
Pages: 49–52
Excerpt: “The circumvention of the Criminal E-Intake Portal… constitutes a breach of the Criminal Rules of the Ontario Court of Justice.”
3. Rules of Civil Procedure, RRO 1990, Reg 194
Pages: 27–28
Excerpt: “The Applicant reserves the right to seek interim relief… consistent with the Rules of Civil Procedure.”
4. Rule 43.03 (Certification)
Pages: 74–75
Excerpt: “The procedural imperative of certification pursuant to Rule 43.03… remains unmet, rendering the proceedings structurally null.”
5. Forms Referenced
Forms: 1, 2, 4, 6, 7, 10, 21
Pages: 44–52, 57–75
Excerpt: “The anatomy of Form 2 and the conspicuous absence of the mandatory judicial command… demonstrates the jurisdictional nullity of the charging instrument.”

TABLE OF AUTHORITIES — PINPOINT CITATIONS (PART III: RULES & FORMS)
A. Criminal Proceedings Rules for the Superior Court of Justice (Ontario)
Pages: 10, 13, 77–78
Excerpt: “This reservation is subject strictly to specific procedural exemptions… as dictated by the mandatory provisions contained within the Criminal Proceedings Rules for the Superior Court of Justice.”
Relevance: Establishes procedural jurisdiction, service requirements, and the mandatory certification regime under Rule 43.03.

B. Criminal Rules of the Ontario Court of Justice (SI/2012-30)
Pages: 49–52
Excerpt: “Tactical circumvention and the suppression of the ‘Criminal Portal’… constitutes a breach of the Criminal Rules of the Ontario Court of Justice.”
Relevance: Supports the argument that the Crown and police bypassed the mandatory e-intake portal, resulting in forum shopping, bench hunting, and structural abuse of process.

C. Rules of Civil Procedure (RRO 1990, Reg 194)
Pages: 27–28
Excerpt: “The Applicant expressly reserves the right to seek interim equitable and legal relief… consistent with the Rules of Civil Procedure.”
Relevance: Used to ground interlocutory relief, judicial review pathways, and procedural fairness doctrines.

D. Rule 43.03 — Certification Requirement (Superior Court of Justice)

Pages: 74–75
Excerpt: "The procedural imperative of certification pursuant to Rule 43.03… remains unmet, rendering the proceedings structurally null."
Relevance: This is one of the strongest jurisdictional nullity anchors in your application. Failure to certify the record under Rule 43.03(3) is fatal and cannot be cured.

E. Mandatory Criminal Forms (Criminal Code & Criminal Rules)
Each form is cited in the Schedule A as part of the structural nullity analysis. Below are the pinpoint citations.

---

1. Form 1 — Information / Application
Pages: 13, 44–45
Excerpt: "Inextricable integration with the foundational Form 1 application… forms the evidentiary predicate for the constitutional challenge."
Relevance: Establishes the defective origin of the proceeding and the absence of a valid sworn information.

---

2. Form 2 — Information / Warrant (Judicial Command)
Pages: 47–49
Excerpt: "The anatomy of Form 2 and the conspicuous absence of the mandatory judicial command… demonstrates the jurisdictional nullity of the charging instrument."
Relevance: This is one of your strongest arguments: a Form 2 without a judicial command is void ab initio.

---

3. Form 4 — Indictment / Charging Instrument
Pages: 67–68
Excerpt: "The facial invalidity and structural deficiency of the charging instrument… renders the indictment incapable of grounding jurisdiction."
Relevance: Supports the argument that the Crown's election and routing were unlawful.

---

4. Form 6 — Summons
Pages: 44–45
Excerpt: "The withholding of the master record and the failure to comply with Form 6 requirements… vitiates procedural regularity."
Relevance: Demonstrates non-compliance with statutory service and notice requirements.

---

5. Form 7 — Arrest Warrant
Pages: 52–55, 73–74
Excerpt: "Nine statutory breaches of Form 7 and the structural nullity of the warrant… establish an irremediable void."
Relevance: This is a central pillar of your nullity argument: the "Intake Court Endorsement" was not a Form 7 warrant and cannot lawfully ground detention.

---

6. Form 10 — Undertaking
Pages: 44–45
Excerpt: "The Applicant's liberty was constrained through instruments that do not satisfy the mandatory requirements of Form 10."
Relevance: Supports the argument that post-arrest conditions were unlawful.

---

7. Form 21 — Recognizance
Pages: 44–45
Excerpt: "The structural deficiencies in the recognizance documentation… further demonstrate the absence of lawful authority."
Relevance: Reinforces the argument that all derivative conditions are void.

F. E-Filing and Electronic Intake Requirements
These are not "forms" per se but are treated as mandatory procedural instruments.

5880

1. Criminal E-Intake Portal Requirements
Pages: 49–52
Excerpt: "Circumvention of the Criminal E-Intake Portal… constitutes a breach of mandatory filing architecture and a colorable exercise of power."
Relevance: Supports the abuse of process and forum shopping arguments.

---

2. Electronic Signature Requirements (Canada Evidence Act + SESR)
Pages: 34–35, 74–75
Excerpt: "The cryptographic failure and absence of authority… contravene the Secure Electronic Signature Regulations and the Canada Evidence Act."
Relevance: Supports the argument that the digital signatures on the Information, Warrant, and Endorsement are invalid.

G. Summary Table (Rules & Forms)

Authority	Pages	Core Issue
SCJ Criminal Proceedings Rules	10, 13, 77–78	Procedural jurisdiction, certification
OCJ Criminal Rules	49–52	E-intake, forum shopping
Rules of Civil Procedure	27–28	Interim relief, JRPA
Rule 43.03	74–75	Certification nullity
Form 1	13, 44–45	Defective originating process
Form 2	47–49	Missing judicial command
Form 4	67–68	Invalid indictment
Form 6	44–45	Defective summons
Form 7	52–55, 73–74	Void warrant
Form 10	44–45	Invalid undertaking
Form 21	44–45	Invalid recognizance
E-Intake Portal	49–52	Structural abuse
SESR / CEA	34–35, 74–75	Invalid digital signatures

TABLE OF AUTHORITIES — PINPOINT CITATIONS (PART IV: DOCTRINAL MAXIMS & COMMON LAW PRINCIPLES)

A. Fraud-Based Doctrines

1. Fraus omnia corrumpit — "Fraud unravels everything."
Pages: 34–35, 58, 82–84, 98–102
Excerpt: "The doctrine of nullity and the fraud-unravelling principle… render the impugned proceedings void ab initio."
Function: This is the backbone of your argument: any proceeding tainted by fraud, fabrication, or concealment is legally incapable of producing jurisdiction.

---

2. Falsus in uno, falsus in omnibus — "False in one thing, false in everything."
Pages: 56–57, 83–84
Excerpt: "The systemic manipulation of CPIC metadata and the fabrication of instruments… triggers the maxim falsus in uno, falsus in omnibus."
Function: Supports the position that once one part of the record is proven false, the entire record loses reliability.

---

3. Ex turpi causa non oritur actio — "No action arises from a dishonourable cause."
Pages: 82–84, 98–102
Excerpt: "The state cannot rely on its own unlawful conduct… consistent with ex turpi causa non oritur actio."
Function: Prevents the Crown from benefiting from its own wrongdoing.

B. Jurisdictional & Structural Nullity Doctrines

4. Coram non judice — "Before a person not a judge."

Pages: 23–24, 29–31, 76–80
Excerpt: "The adjudicative acts were rendered by an undisclosed jurist… rendering the proceedings coram non judice."
Function: Establishes that any order issued by a person lacking jurisdiction is void.

---

5. Factum a judice quod ad officium jure non pertinet ratum non est — "An act of a judge not pertaining to his office is void."
Pages: 20–21, 23–24
Excerpt: "Acts of judges which were factum a judice quod ad officium jure non pertinet… cannot be validated by subsequent proceedings."
Function: Reinforces that jurisdictional overreach by a judicial officer is incurable.

---

6. Strictissimi juris — "Of the strictest law."
Pages: 23–24, 29–31
Excerpt: "Coram non judice and the strictissimi juris interpretation of statutory grants… require strict compliance with jurisdictional prerequisites."
Function: Supports your argument that criminal jurisdiction must be interpreted narrowly and strictly.

---

7. Ex nihilo nihil fit — "Nothing comes from nothing."
Pages: 52–55, 73–75
Excerpt: "A warrant that never existed in law cannot give rise to lawful arrest… ex nihilo nihil fit."
Function: Demonstrates that a void warrant cannot produce lawful derivative actions.

---

8. Nemo dat quod non habet — "One cannot give what one does not have."
Pages: 52–55
Excerpt: "The statutory imperative of production and the nemo dat principle… confirm that officers cannot rely on nonexistent authority."
Function: Shows that police cannot derive authority from an invalid or missing warrant.

C. Procedural Fairness & Natural Justice Doctrines
9. Nemo judex in causa sua — "No one should be a judge in their own cause."
Pages: 50–51, 70–71
Excerpt: "The adversarial position adopted by the undisclosed judicial officer… constitutes a breach of the nemo judex principle."
Function: Supports the apprehension of bias and structural unfairness arguments.

---

10. Audi alteram partem — "Hear the other side."
Pages: 11, 17, 83–84
Excerpt: "These deprivations were perpetrated via procedurally vacuous adjudicative mechanisms… in complete denial of the audi alteram partem principle."
Function: Establishes denial of natural justice.

D. Fiduciary & Good Faith Doctrines
11. Uberrima fides — "Utmost good faith."
Pages: 105–120
Excerpt: "The fiduciary duty of the Crown… requires uberrima fides in all dealings with the public."
Function: Supports the argument that the Crown's deception violates constitutional fiduciary obligations.

---

12. Rex non potest peccare — "The King can do no wrong." (invoked to show its limits)
Pages: 35, 119–120
Excerpt: "Rex non potest peccare does not shield state instruments from liability where deception of the Crown is established."
Function: Used to show that Crown agents can be liable when acting unlawfully.

E. Evidentiary & Spoliation Doctrines

5882 13. Omnia praesumuntur contra spoliatorem — "All things are presumed against the destroyer of evidence."
Pages: 60–63
Excerpt: "Rebutting the presumption of regularity via the doctrine of spoliation… omnia praesumuntur contra spoliatorem applies."
Function: Supports the inference of bad faith where records were altered or withheld.

---

14. Omnia praesumuntur rite esse acta — "All acts are presumed to have been done rightly." (invoked to rebut it)
Pages: 60–63
Excerpt: "The presumption of regularity is displaced where deliberate excision and fabrication are demonstrated."
Function: Shows that the Crown cannot rely on presumptions of regularity when fraud is proven.

F. Equity & Public Law Doctrines
15. Fiat justitia ruat caelum — "Let justice be done though the heavens fall."
Pages: 82–84
Excerpt: "The constitutional imperative… demands a declaration of nullity, fiat justitia ruat caelum."
Function: Supports the necessity of granting relief despite systemic implications.

---

16. Consensus ad idem — "Meeting of the minds."
Pages: 35
Excerpt: "The absence of consensus ad idem… demonstrates that no lawful judicial authorization ever crystallized."
Function: Shows that the warrant process lacked the essential elements of a valid judicial act.

Summary Table (Doctrinal Maxims)

Maxim / Doctrine	Pages	Function
Fraus omnia corrumpit	34–35, 58, 82–84, 98–102	Collapses entire proceeding
Falsus in uno	56–57, 83–84	Record unreliability
Ex turpi causa	82–84, 98–102	Crown cannot benefit from wrongdoing
Coram non judice	23–24, 29–31, 76–80	Jurisdictional void
Factum a judice…	20–21, 23–24	Judicial overreach void
Strictissimi juris	23–24, 29–31	Strict jurisdiction
Ex nihilo nihil fit	52–55, 73–75	Void warrant cannot ground arrest
Nemo dat	52–55	No authority from void instrument
Nemo judex	50–51, 70–71	Bias
Audi alteram partem	11, 17, 83–84	Denial of natural justice
Uberrima fides	105–120	Crown fiduciary breach
Rex non potest peccare	35, 119–120	Limits of Crown immunity
Omnia praesumuntur contra spoliatorem	60–63	Inference of bad faith
Omnia praesumuntur rite esse acta	60–63	Rebuttal of regularity
Fiat justitia ruat caelum	82–84	Necessity of nullity
Consensus ad idem	35	No valid judicial authorization

PART V — AUTHORITIES ORGANIZED BY ISSUE NUMBER (ISSUES 1–34)

ISSUE 1 — Inapplicability of s. 599 Criminal Code & Jurisdictional Nullity of Administrative Transfer

Statutes

- Criminal Code, s. 599
- Criminal Code, ss. 503–512 (routing, transmission, venue)
- Courts of Justice Act, ss. 12, 13, 18

Cases

5883 Pong v Quong — strict jurisdictional compliance
- McLean v Bradley — coram non judice
- Reference re Residential Tenancies Act — constitutional limits on inferior tribunals

Doctrines
- Coram non judice
- Strictissimi juris
- Ex nihilo nihil fit

ISSUE 2 — Jurisdictional Routing & Chain of Custody
Statutes
- Criminal Code, ss. 507–508
- Criminal Code, s. 508.1 (electronic transmission)

Cases
- R v Myers — judicial oversight of detention
- R v Storrey — lawful basis for detention
- R v Grant — state conduct analysis

Doctrines
- Nemo dat quod non habet
- Fraus omnia corrumpit

ISSUE 3 — Spoliation & Alteration of Sworn Instruments
Statutes
- Canada Evidence Act (authentication)
- PIPEDA (digital integrity)

Cases
- Lazarus Estates v Beasley — fraud unravels everything
- Wewaykum — institutional integrity
- Tobiass — abuse of process

Doctrines
- Omnia praesumuntur contra spoliatorem
- Falsus in uno, falsus in omnibus

ISSUE 4 — Statutory Timelines & Deliberate Obfuscation
Statutes
- Criminal Code, ss. 503–505
- Charter, s. 11(b)

Cases
- R v Jordan — delay ceilings
- R v Babos — abuse of process
- R v Grant — seriousness of state conduct

Doctrines
- Audi alteram partem
- Ex turpi causa non oritur actio

ISSUE 5 — Telewarrants, Electronic Information & Withholding of Master Record
Statutes
- Criminal Code, s. 487.1
- Canada Evidence Act
- Secure Electronic Signature Regulations

Cases
- R v Araujo — warrant validity
- R v MacNeil — informational privacy
- R v Evans — reasonable expectation of privacy

Doctrines

5884 Ex nihilo nihil fit
- Nemo dat quod non habet

ISSUE 6 — Anatomy of Form 2 & Missing Judicial Command
Statutes
- Criminal Code, Form 2 requirements
- Courts of Justice Act

Cases
- McLean v Bradley — judicial command is mandatory
- Pong v Quong — strict jurisdictional compliance

Doctrines
- Factum a judice quod ad officium jure non pertinet ratum non est
- Coram non judice

ISSUE 7 — Circumvention of Criminal E-Intake Portal (Bench Hunting / Forum Shopping)
Statutes
- Criminal Rules of the Ontario Court of Justice
- Criminal Proceedings Rules (SCJ)

Cases
- Tobiass — coordinated state misconduct
- Wewaykum — apprehension of bias

Doctrines
- Nemo judex in causa sua
- Fraus omnia corrumpit

ISSUE 8 — Contravention of s. 29 Criminal Code & s. 10(a) Charter
Statutes
- Criminal Code, s. 29
- Charter, s. 10(a)

Cases
- R v Storrey — lawful arrest
- R v Feeney — warrantless entry
- R v Evans — informational privacy

Doctrines
- Nemo dat quod non habet
- Ex nihilo nihil fit

ISSUE 9 — CPIC Manipulation & Metadata Obfuscation
Statutes
- PIPEDA
- Canada Evidence Act

Cases
- Lazarus Estates — fraud
- Wewaykum — institutional integrity

Doctrines
- Falsus in uno, falsus in omnibus
- Omnia praesumuntur contra spoliatorem

ISSUE 10 — Unauthorized Substitution & Fabrication of Jurat Page
Statutes
- Criminal Code (Information requirements)
- Canada Evidence Act

Cases
- Lazarus Estates

5885 Taylor v Clemson

Doctrines

- Fraus omnia corrumpit
- Ex turpi causa non oritur actio

ISSUE 11 — E-Filing Limitations & Endorsement Requirements

Statutes

- Criminal Proceedings Rules
- Criminal Code (filing requirements)

Cases

- Araujo — warrant validity
- Grant — state conduct

Doctrines

- Strictissimi juris
- Coram non judice

ISSUE 12 — Surgical Spoliation of Jurat Page to Obfuscate Judicial Identity

Statutes

- Canada Evidence Act
- Courts of Justice Act

Cases

- Lazarus Estates
- Wewaykum

Doctrines

- Omnia praesumuntur contra spoliatorem
- Fraus omnia corrumpit

ISSUE 13 — Circumvention of s. 508 Criminal Code Oversight

Statutes

- Criminal Code, s. 508

Cases

- Storrey
- Myers

Doctrines

- Ex nihilo nihil fit

ISSUE 14 — "Default Judge" Endorsement as Administrative Subterfuge

Statutes

- Courts of Justice Act
- Criminal Code

Cases

- Wewaykum
- Tobiass

Doctrines

- Nemo judex in causa sua
- Coram non judice

ISSUE 15 — Facial Invalidity & Structural Deficiency of Charging Instrument

Statutes

- Criminal Code, ss. 504–505

Cases

- Bjelland — defective charging instruments
- Nixon — prosecutorial integrity

Doctrines

ISSUE 16 — Absence of Ministry Records
Statutes
- Courts of Justice Act
- Criminal Code

Cases
- Wewaykum
- Grant

Doctrines
- Omnia praesumuntur contra spoliatorem

ISSUE 17 — Systemic Flaws in Civilian Informant Use
Statutes
- Criminal Code (Information requirements)

Cases
- Stinchcombe — disclosure
- Grant — state conduct

Doctrines
- Audi alteram partem

ISSUE 18 — Judicial Conflicts of Interest & Apprehension of Bias
Statutes
- Constitution Act, 1867, s. 96

Cases
- Wewaykum
- Tobiass

Doctrines
- Nemo judex in causa sua

ISSUE 19 — Retaliatory Timeline & Abuse of Process
Statutes
- Charter, ss. 7, 11(b)

Cases
- Babos
- Grant

Doctrines
- Ex turpi causa non oritur actio

ISSUE 20 — "Intake Court Endorsement" Lexicon & Jurisdictional Cross-Contamination
Statutes
- Criminal Code (Forms 2 & 7)

Cases
- Pong v Quong
- Bradley

Doctrines
- Strictissimi juris
- Coram non judice

ISSUE 21 — Nine Statutory Breaches of Form 7 & Structural Nullity of Warrant
Statutes
- Criminal Code, Form 7
- Criminal Code, ss. 29, 503–505

Cases

5887 Feeney
- Storrey

Doctrines
- Ex nihilo nihil fit
- Nemo dat quod non habet

ISSUE 22 — Digital Signature Invalidity (CEA + PIPEDA)
Statutes
- Canada Evidence Act
- PIPEDA
- SESR

Cases
- Araujo
- MacNeil

Doctrines
- Fraus omnia corrumpit

ISSUE 23 — Forgery, Uttering False Document & Smith Precedent
Statutes
- Criminal Code (forgery provisions)

Cases
- Lazarus Estates
- Taylor v Clemson

Doctrines
- Falsus in uno, falsus in omnibus

ISSUE 24 — E-Filing Mandates, Institutional Integrity & Coram Non Judice
Statutes
- Criminal Proceedings Rules
- Courts of Justice Act

Cases
- Wewaykum
- Tobiass

Doctrines
- Coram non judice

ISSUE 25 — Certification Requirement under Rule 43.03
Statutes
- Rule 43.03 (SCJ)

Cases
- Pong v Quong
- Bradley

Doctrines
- Strictissimi juris

ISSUE 26 — Form 7 Warrant vs. Administrative Endorsements
Statutes
- Criminal Code, Form 7

Cases
- Feeney
- Storrey

Doctrines
- Ex nihilo nihil fit

ISSUE 27 — Jurisdictional Defects & Coram Non Judice
Statutes
- Constitution Act, 1867, ss. 96–100

Cases
- Residential Tenancies Reference
- Bradley

Doctrines
- Coram non judice

ISSUE 28 — Doctrine of Fraud & Vitiating Potency
Cases
- Lazarus Estates
- Taylor v Clemson

Doctrines
- Fraus omnia corrumpit

ISSUE 29 — Open Court Principle & Fabricated Instruments
Statutes
- Charter, s. 2(b)

Cases
- Wewaykum
- Tobiass

Doctrines
- Fiat justitia ruat caelum

ISSUE 30 — Section 8 Charter Violations
Statutes
- Charter, s. 8
- Criminal Code, s. 487.1

Cases
- Hunter v Southam
- Evans
- Feeney

Doctrines
- Ex nihilo nihil fit

ISSUE 31 — Constitutional Infirmity of Detention
Statutes
- Charter, ss. 7, 9, 10(a)

Cases
- Storrey
- Grant

Doctrines
- Nemo dat quod non habet

ISSUE 32 — Section 11 Charter Violations (Notice & Delay)
Statutes
- Charter, ss. 11(a), 11(b)

Cases
- Jordan
- Stinchcombe

Doctrines
- Audi alteram partem

ISSUE 33 — Section 12 Charter Violations (Cruel Treatment)
Statutes

- Charter, s. 12

Cases

- Dudley
- Forcillo

Doctrines

- Fraus omnia corrumpit

ISSUE 34 — Inapplicability of Section 1 to Procedural Nullities
Statutes

- Charter, s. 1

Cases

- Oakes
- Grant

Doctrines

- Ex turpi causa non oritur actio
- Fraus omnia corrumpit

NOTHING PAST THIS LINE

Tab 92

Tab A

Gmail Mr. Kevin McLean <mcleansettlement@gmail.com>

Follow up letter regarding my request for court documents (personal information) from yesterday's fax (SCJ 361 University Avenue (1st floor)

Mr. Kevin McLean <mcleansettlement@gmail.com>
To: "Simion, Monica (MAG)" <Monica.Simion@ontario.ca>, David.Corbett@ontario.ca, "Marjadsingh, Natasha (MAG)" <Natasha.Marjadsingh@ontario.ca>, JUS-G-MAG-CSD SCJ Records <C
Cc: Doug.Downey@ontario.ca, sancha.clarke@ontario.ca, Dawa.Sangyal@ontario.ca

VIA ELECTRONIC TRANSMISSION
URGENT DEADLINE

DATE: May 21, 2026

TO:

Superior Court of Justice (Ontario), Toronto Region

361 University Avenue, 1st Floor

Toronto, ON M5G 1T3

ATTENTION:

Monica Simion (Manager of Court Operations)

Natasha Marjadsingh (Supervisor of Court Operations)

FROM:

Mr. Kevin A. McLean (B.A., J.D., CIM)

Requestor of court documents, information, information assets, records, papers, and things, with particular reference to the Information/Indictment and

SUBJECT: FINAL URGENT DEMAND FOR IMMEDIATE PRODUCTION OF CHARGING INSTRUMENTS AND ENDORSEMENTS WI

I. MANDATORY ENTITLEMENT TO UNTARIFFED PRODUCTION

1. This correspondence serves as a formal, peremptory notification regarding the outstanding non-FIPPA access request registered with this court offi rules codified within the Ministry of the Attorney General's Court Services Division Policies and Procedures on Public Access to Court Files, Doc exempt from all administrative copy fees regarding foundational criminal records (MAG CSD AC... p. 1).
2. It is submitted that the registry is directed to fulfill its public duty in strict accordance with the following binding policy provisions, the contraventi initio) due to the direct contravention of the applicable administrative and equitable principles:

Provision Category	Applicable Policy Requirement
Exemption for Accused Persons	Under Section 7.1.1 of the Court Information Access Guide, copies of informations, indictments, and judicial interim request to the accused and their counsel of record without copy fees being charged (MAG CSD AC... p. 32).
Free Access to Endorsements	Under Section 7.3.1, court staff must provide copies of endorsements to parties to a case or their lawyer at no charge (
General Principles of Accessibility	Under Section 2.1, criminal court documents are fundamentally designated for public accessibility once process has b CSD AC... p. 4).

II. THE DOCTRINE OF THE OPEN COURT AND EVIDENTIARY CONTEXT

3. The transparency of judicial proceedings is underpinned by the "open court principle" (the "Open Court Principle"). This principle dictates that a ensure the integrity of the administration of justice.
4. The records currently sought are integral to the ongoing judicial review proceedings documented in McLean v. Royal Canadian Mounted Police et "Federal Court Proceedings").
   - Summary of Evidentiary Record: Evidence filed in the Federal Court Proceedings (specifically the Rule 317 Request dated May 19, 2026, a establishes that the centralized infrastructure utilized by the respondent agencies has been subject to systemic manipulation regarding the "Adu indicates that the foundational documents—including the Information, Indictment, and endorsements—were modified subsequent to their initi GrapeCity.Documents.PDF. This manipulation occurred after inputs were finalized and subsequently presented to the court during the Ex Part
   - Application of the Law to the Facts: The Open Court Principle requires that the public, and specifically the accused, be granted unhindered ensure procedural integrity. The continued reliance upon the purported absence of physical files, when those records were subject to high-tech satisfy the statutory obligations of a court of record. Per the legal maxim fraus omnia corrumpit (fraud vitiates everything), the entirety of the vitiated and rendered coram non judice.

III. REMEDIAL REQUIREMENT TO RECONSTRUCT THE RECORD

5. The administrative persistence of an empty or displaced repository cannot be utilized by the state to shield an extra-judicial deprivation of liberty f 1.1, the Court Services Division retains care and maintenance obligations over court files (MAG CSD AC... p. 1), and under Section 1.2, each court (MAG CSD AC... p. 2).
6. Furthermore, it is acknowledged that the Canadian Police Information Centre (the "CPIC") functions solely as a centralized indexing pointer and the Information, Indictment, or Arrest Warrant. Consequently, the registry's duty to produce the record is non-delegable. Given that bankruptcy anc statutes—specifically the Bankruptcy and Insolvency Act—it is presumed that the RCMP is the designated federal enforcement partner utilized wh registry's reliance upon the limitations of the CPIC index—which merely serves as a digital pointer—is insufficient to fulfill its mandate; the regis underlying relational database fields from the case tracking index books to natively compile and produce the unadulterated master record ipso facto

IV. NOTICE OF FINAL PEREMPTORY TIMELINE AND ESCALATION

7. It is further submitted that the established familiarity between the RCMP and the former Chief Justice appears to have been facilitated, in part, by t and insolvency jurisprudence. Such systemic interdependencies warrant heightened scrutiny regarding the impartiality of the court's administrative
8. The parameter of "soon," previously communicated by Court Operations management, has been comprehensively exhausted over a 2.5-month win
9. Take notice that if a complete electronic transmission appending the natively generated Information or Indictment and all associated Intake Court F TODAY, May 21, 2026, this matter shall be escalated directly to Associate Chief Justice Faye E. McWatt in her capacity as the Acting Chief Justic
10. The aforementioned judiciary is bound by the distinct duties of a Chief Justice of a "section 96 court" (the "Section 96 Court"). As the primus inte Justice possesses the requisite authority to ensure the status quo ante is restored regarding the Applicant's access rights.
11. It is a prima facie concern that a court of record—contrary to the Canadian Judicial Council dossiers regarding the definition of a court of record– delegation of the Open Court Principle into an opaque "open police principle." The judiciary possesses the inherent duty to demand copies of arres appropriate external authorities where custody of the same resides.
12. The candour provided by the Deputy Attorney General of Ontario in November 2025 regarding these procedural matters is acknowledged. Howev limine.
13. I have appended the two attachments herein to demonstrate the integrity of the documents currently filed before the Federal Court, thereby evidenc justice and the exhaustive pursuit of all legal avenues. This inclusion serves to categorically admonish any potential misrepresentations pertaining employment of specious "frames of reference." It is a matter of profound regret that Ms. Simion's explicit assurances—purporting a commitment t the law—have remained entirely unfulfilled. Absent immediate compliance, I shall proceed without further notice. I further reserve the right to rely including the formal presentation of these matters to the incoming Chief Justice of the Superior Court of Justice upon their announcement.
14. Govern yourselves accordingly.

Respectfully submitted,

Mr. Kevin A. McLean (B.A., J.D., CIM)

Requestor for court documents and records

Email: mcleansettlement@gmail.com

Fax: 416.981.7117

Phone: 647.370.9354

On Thu, May 7, 2026 at 2:05 PM Mr. Kevin McLean <mcleansettlement@gmail.com> wrote:

> Dear All:
>
> I thank those listed below for their auto-replies and will await their responses upon their return. A kind note: it appears Ms. Clarke is referring to Frid
>
> Clarke, Sancha (MAG) 1:58 PM
> to me
>
> OUT OF OFFICE
>
> Hello/Bonjour, I am away from the office with limited access to email. I will be returning to the office on Wednesday May 8th, 2026.
>
> For matters requiring immediate management assistance, please contact Dawa.Sangyal@ontario.ca
>
> •••
>
> ...
>
> [Message clipped] View entire message
>
> S Simion, Monica (MAG)
> to me

Hello, Bonjour

Thank you for your email. I am out of the office attending an off site meeting. My response time will be slower than usual.

Warm regards,

Mr. Kevin A. McLean (BA, JD, CIM)

Chartered Investment Manager

Email: mcleansettlement@gmail.com

Fax: 416.981.7117

Phone number: 647.370.9354

On Thu, May 7, 2026 at 1:55 PM Mr. Kevin McLean <mcleansettlement@gmail.com> wrote:

VIA ELECTRONIC TRANSMISSION

DATE: May 7, 2026

TO: Monica Simion (the "Manager")

Manager of Court Operations

Superior Court of Justice (Ontario)

361 University Avenue, 1st Floor

Toronto, Ontario M5G 1T3

KIND ATTENTION: Natasha Marjadsingh (the "Supervisor")

Supervisor of Court Operations

Copied to other names herein

RE: Confirmation of my continued entitlement and outstanding request for Information or Indictment and any and all endorsements of which I am entitled to without charge a

Re #2: With fresh evidence and now knowing the originating police agency and investigative service, Regional Commander of said detachment (RCMP) - Request for access to copies of King Street, Toronto, Ontario, M5V 2K3 (Suite 410 and common areas); General Warrants; Interception of Communications Authorizations; Specialized Search Warrants; and formal Form

I. PREAMBLE: ENUMERATION OF DOCUMENTS RELIED UPON

1. In the construction of this peremptory instrument, the following foundational documents and instruments have been rigorously scrutinized and incorporated by reference: a. previou court endorsement ostensibly promulgated on September 23, 2024 (the "Endorsement"); c. The Ministry of the Attorney General of Ontario Court Services Division Access to Cou from the Ministry of the Attorney General, Crown Law Office, confirming the absolute absence of filings by Court Officer (Toronto Region) Mrs. Frugoni-Rojas (the "Informant") and similar to the nature of bankruptcy and insolvency proceedings with an intake process requiring an endorsement by a judge in that field); e. The forensic digital analysis of structura (the "Forensic Analysis"); and f. others subsumed or referenced.

II. ADMINISTRATIVE PARALYSIS AND THE SYSTEMIC BREACH OF MINISTERIAL OBLIGATIONS

2. This correspondence is respectfully submitted as an exigent escalation of the antecedent requisitions directed to the Manager. It is observed with profound institutional consternatic precipitously elapsed since the initial requisition was formally registered with the Originating Court Office (the "Registry"). Notwithstanding the explicit representation remitted by th communicated that a substantive response would be provided "soon," the Registry remains in a state of administrative paralysis that defies both statutory mandates and the consti

3. Pursuant to the doctrine of legitimate expectations, as articulated by the Supreme Court of Canada in Baker v. Canada (Minister of Citizenship and Immigration), [1999] 2 S.C.R. 8 to its own procedural representations constitutes a profound breach of procedural fairness. The Baker Decision established that where a public authority provides a specific repres that expectation. In the present context, the temporal parameter of "soon" has been transformed into an indefinite period of administrative silence, which functions, de facto, as a d reasons.

4. The persistent sequestration of these foundational acta is a direct contravention of the ministerial duties codified within section 76 of the Courts of Justice Act, R.S.O. 1990, c. C.43 immediate application of the legal maxim actus curiae neminem gravabit (an act of the court shall prejudice no man). The Applicant's rights cannot be subordinated to administrativ become an instrument of the very prejudice it is sworn to prevent.

III. FORENSIC CRYSTALLIZATION OF THE INVESTIGATIVE AGENCY AND THE BRAMPTON ANOMALY

5. Subsequent to the issuance of prior communications, fresh and incontrovertible evidence has materialized regarding the identity of the originating police agency. It is now establish specifically the Milton Detachment (the "Toronto West Detachment"), possesses the primary carriage of the investigation under Police Case ID: 457197 (the "Investigation"). Thi the seized property (the "Seized Assets") from the residence at Unit 410-775 King Street West, Toronto (the "Residence")—verified by Driver's Licence: M16514331830325 (the " Region (the "RCMP O Division") prior to its transfer to the Toronto Police Service (the "TPS") 14th Division on or around October 2, 2024.

6. The Toronto West Detachment operates under the command of Regional Commander Matt Peggs (the "Commander") and utilizes the Originating Agency Identifier (the "ORI Num "Brampton Anomaly," wherein a judicial official purportedly from the Ontario Court of Justice, Brampton (the "Brampton Official"), identified as Justice of the Peace Mr. George . the Brampton Courthouse to the Milton Detachment suggests a calculated circumvention of the Registry, ostensibly to facilitate an ex parte in-camera proceeding away from the O

7. Nota Bene (Rebuttal to Systemic Incompatibility): It is anticipated that the Registry may hypothesize that the absence of records is attributable to a lack of synchronization betw postulation is legally vacuous. The Superior Court of Justice, as the court of record, is the ultimate fiduciary guardian of all judicial authorizations. Pursuant to the maxim delegatus cannot outsource its archival obligations to the police; the Court must remain the primary repository of its own mandates. Furthermore, the confirmative representations provided by General establish that the Informant had filed no informations during the material timeframe, thereby confirming that the process was an ultra vires fabrication.

IV. APPLICATION OF SECTION 2: THE DISJUNCTIVE RIGHT TO INVESTIGATIVE INSTRUMENTS

8. Pursuant to Section 2.1 of the Access Guide, criminal court documents are publicly accessible once process is issued—meaning an Information is sworn and an arrest is made. Th defended in Toronto Star Newspapers Ltd. v. Ontario, 2005 SCC 41 (the "Toronto Star Decision"). The Toronto Star Decision establishes that the public is entitled to access search executed to ensure judicial accountability. In this matter, the seizure of property at the Residence by the RCMP, subsequently transferred to the TPS 14th Division, satisfies the disj

9. The Applicant hereby demands the immediate production of the following, which are sought because of the disjunctive language employed by the Access Guide (specifically the "a a. Search Warrants (s. 487): All informations and warrants authorized for the search of the Residence; b. General Warrants (s. 487.01): Any authorizations for the use of novel in Communications (Part VI): Any authorizations for the interception of private communications, including wiretap or digital data interception; d. Specialized Search Warrants: Incl proceeds of crime (s. 462.32).

10. Nota Bene (Rebuttal to Identification by Name): The Registry might suggest that search warrants are not filed by the name of the individual. However, as the Applicant identifies ID, the Registry is statutorily compelled to assist. Lex non cogit ad impossibilia (the law does not compel the impossible) does not apply here, as the search parameters provided (a to facilitate retrieval from the Integrated Court Operation Network (the "ICON").

V. THE DOCTRINE OF NULLITY AND THE FORM 5.2 MANDATE

11. Pursuant to the Criminal Code, R.S.C. 1985, c. C-46 (the "Criminal Code"), the investigating service is statutorily obligated to file a Report to a Justice (the "Form 5.2") "as soon as instrument is a critical procedural prerequisite that places seized property under judicial oversight, preventing the arbitrary detention of assets.

12. Nota Bene (Application to Form 5.2 Timelines): Judicial authorities have consistently held that even a delay encompassing a few days in filing a Form 5.2 may be characterized and Freedoms (the "Charter") regarding the protection against unreasonable search and seizure. In R. v. Grant, 2009 SCC 32 (the "Grant Decision"), the Court emphasized that a continued detention of property unreasonable. The Grant Decision establishes that state misconduct in the execution or reporting of a search may necessitate the exclusion of evic Disposition (the "Disposition Order") after eighteen months constitutes a jurisdictional nullity that vitiates the detention ab initio.

VI. SEALED ACTA AND THE NON-DEROGABLE ENTITLEMENT TO PARTICULARS

13. Pursuant to Section 2.2.12 of the Access Guide, the existence of a Sealing Order (the "Order") does not, and cannot, extend to the concealment of the date of said Order nor the r promulgation. Access to these specific particulars is a non-derogable entitlement under the letter of the law.

14. Nota Bene (Forceful Requisition regarding Sealing): Should the Registry assert that any warrant or investigative instrument is sequestered under a Sealing Order, the Applican the name of the judicial official responsible for the Order. This is the critical prerequisite for the exercise of the Applicant's right to bring an application for a variance of the Order in jus, ibi remedium (where there is a right, there is a remedy), as the Applicant cannot move to vary an order whose origin is hidden.

15. Nota Bene (Rebuttal to Administrative Opacity): Refusal to provide the name of the authorizing judge—especially in light of the involvement of Chief Justice Morawetz—is an af temporis non convalescit (that which was void from the beginning does not become valid by lapse of time). If such an order was issued in solitary chambers, the Applicant demand facilitate a mandatory application to the issuing official as required by law.

VII. PEREMPTORY CONCLUSION AND DEMAND FOR COMPLIANCE

16. The upshot of the foregoing is that the Applicant is entitled to copies of an Information or Indictment and all associated endorsements without delay and without the imposition of ac Guide, no charge applies to an accused individual (the "Accused").

17. The Applicant poses the following formal queries to the Registry, which command immediate and transparent satisfaction: a. Do any orders—inclusive of search, general, or trackin Applicant's nomenclature? b. Has a Sealing Order been effectuated by a judicial official? c. If a seal exists, provide forthwith the exact date of the order and the identity of th Disposition been filed regarding the Seized Assets?

18. The Applicant demands the immediate production of the Information or Indictment and all associated endorsements by 5:00 p.m. on the date of this communication. Administrative sequestration of foundational court records. Should any charge be asserted for specialized warrants, the Applicant requests an invoice (the "Invoice") forthwith; otherwise, it is pre

19. It is strictly anticipated that all personnel shall govern themselves in accordance with the rule of law and the fiduciary obligations owed to the constitutional trust.

20. For a moment of levity (if you will), that was not particularly easy to determine but nonetheless the external efforts post my last email bore fruit of the most unique kind.

21. I await a response by the end of the business day.

RESPECTFULLY SUBMITTED,

Mr. Kevin A. McLean (B.A., J.D., CIM)

Applicant/Accused/Party

Toronto, Ontario

Enclosures

Warm regards,

Mr. Kevin A. McLean (BA, JD, CIM)

Chartered Investment Manager

Email: mcleansettlement@gmail.com

Fax: 416.981.7117

Phone number: 647.370.9354

On Fri, Apr 10, 2026 at 3:25 PM Mr. Kevin McLean <mcleansettlement@gmail.com> wrote:

> NOTICE OF ESCALATION, PEREMPTORY DEMAND FOR PRODUCTION OF JUDICIAL RECORDS, AND DECLARATION OF
> DATE: April 10, 2026
>
> SUBJECT: URGENT: Formal Notice of Escalation to the Auditor General of Ontario and Peremptory Demand for the Expeditious Production of S
>
> I. ENUMERATION OF DOCUMENTS REVIEWED AND RELIED UPON

1. In the preparation of this peremptory instrument, the following foundational documents and instruments have been rigorously reviewed and relie

   a. The formal whistle-blower disclosure, encompassing an exhaustive request for a special performance audit, filed with the Office of the Auditor "Disclosure");

   b. The intake court endorsement, ostensibly promulgated on September 23, 2024 (the "Intake Court Endorsement");

   c. Four draft orders previously delivered and filed within the judicial review proceeding styled as "McLean TDHA Divisional Court JRPA Application"

   d. The antecedent electronic correspondence exchanged between the Applicant and the administrative functionaries of the Ministry of the Attorn

II. NOTICE OF ESCALATION AND DISCLOSURE TO THE AUDITOR GENERAL

2. Formal notification is hereby provided that, consequent to the persistent and systemic failure of the Ministry to effectuate the production of the r informations and corresponding endorsements—the Disclosure has been formally registered with the Office of the Auditor General of Ontario (
3. The Disclosure necessitates a comprehensive, external performance audit scrutinizing the surreptitious mismanagement of information technolog records, and the continuous obstruction of statutory access perpetrated by Ministry personnel situated at the Court.
4. Notwithstanding the future determinations and procedural mechanisms to be implemented by the Auditor General concerning the systemic infras Disclosure, the immediate ministerial obligations of the Ministry regarding the provision of the requested personal information and judicial recor that the formalization of this escalation shall catalyze the immediate rectification of this administrative paralysis.

III. THE JURISDICTIONAL NULLITY AND THE UNDISCLOSED ADJUDICATOR

5. The prevailing circumstances are recognized as profoundly regrettable, yet unequivocally necessary, precipitating from the recent evidentiary ascert served as the undisclosed adjudicator responsible for the Intake Court Endorsement.
6. It is posited that the abrupt proclamation of the Chief Justice's resignation—euphemistically classified as a "retirement"—materializing merely da draft orders within the McLean TDHA Divisional Court JRPA Application before the Divisional Court, is profoundly illustrative. Although it was pre adjudicator bearing undisclosed prior judicial involvement was exclusively Madam Justice Shore, the evidentiary continuum now necessitates a reca
7. Furthermore, the persistent administrative silence in response to the antecedent inquiries shall be formally construed as definitive confirmation—a contemporaneous corroborative evidence crystallizing on the date of this instrument—that Chief Justice Morawetz operated as the clandestine an Court Endorsement, notwithstanding that the adjudicative act was surreptitiously and procedurally channeled through the registry of the Court sit floor).
8. The failure to articulate and elucidate the presence of a potential conflict of interest, despite formal requisitions initiated as early as January 2025, transparency. While the nuances of this procedural obfuscation are acknowledged, such machinations do not possess the requisite legal efficacy to ministerial duties. The clandestine administrative stratagems have been comprehensively unmasked. Simply put, the Chief Justice, remunerated at a twenty-two puisne judges within the Court, and designated as the primus inter pares, is encumbered by comprehensive, non-delegable duties, enume

   a. Ultimate Jurisdiction: Definitive and final authority is exercised over all adjudicative and administrative functions, precluding the fragmentatio

   b. Constitutional Trust Steward: The non-delegable responsibility is borne to act as the primary guardian of the constitutional trust, ensuring th confines;

   c. Imperviously Influenced Mandate: The absolute requirement is maintained to remain impervious to external, collateral, or internal pressures institution;

   d. Master of the Roster: Absolute and exclusive authority is wielded over the scheduling, assignment, and distribution of judicial resources, a pov

   e. Self-Assignment Power: The inherent authority is possessed to self-assign matters of profound institutional and constitutional significance, sp

   f. Administrative Steward: The statutory duty is executed to rigorously oversee clerical and registry functions pursuant to section 76 of the Court Justice Act"), insulating registry staff from unauthorized directives;

   g. Institutional Reputation Guardian: The uncompromising obligation is upheld to protect and preserve the Court's standing and integrity in th dysfunction;

   h. Efficiency Operation Duty: The overarching responsibility is maintained to ensure the seamless, lawful operation of all Court functions, activ vires actions;

   i. Ethical Compliance Guarantee: The Chief Justice serves as the final internal arbiter of professional conduct within the tribunal, ensuring adh

   j. Complaint Laying Power: The intrinsic, affirmative authority is retained to initiate formal disciplinary complaints when egregious usurpations

   k. Puisne Judge Removal Power: The administrative authority is executed to effectively reassign or restrict colleagues during the pendency of etl harm;

   l. Moral Barometer: The Chief Justice functions as the absolute ethical and integrity barometer for the institution, setting the incontrovertible sta

   m. Moral Authority: The power is utilized to impose judicial will and ethical rectitude upon other puisne judges through binding ethical directives of Civil Procedure, R.R.O. 1990, Reg. 194 (the "Civil Rules").

IV. EXTRAPOLATION OF LEGAL DOCTRINES AND THE DECLARATION OF NULLITY

9. It is deduced that the self-assignment power was exercised; however, the absence of a formal disciplinary complaint suggests that the resultant res complaint.
10. It is conspicuously apparent from the longitudinal trajectory of these circumstances that an adversarial animus, whether effectuated directly or ind duration against the Applicant by the Chief Justice. Consequently, regarding all collateral and prospective proceedings, inclusive of the instant mat invoked to definitively preclude the Chief Justice from assuming carriage of, presiding over, or exercising any adjudicative authority regarding any requisite corollary of procedural fairness, a definitive copy of the same shall concurrently be furnished to the Chief Justice.
11. While it is posited that the legally, morally, and ethically requisite course of action would have necessitated the Chief Justice formally declaring a c implicating his person and palpably affecting the adjudicative administration of the Toronto Region—the procedural trajectory has irreversibly cry mitigate is hereby assumed, and definitive measures shall be undertaken to ensure that the next most senior judicial officer within the Court is seiz applications advanced by the Applicant, irrespective of the substantive area of law. This strategic recalibration operates to systematically unwind a the Chief Justice, to any puisne judge, subsequent to the crystallization of his conflict of interest in 2024. Notwithstanding these prophylactic mea of the statutorily mandated documents remains resolutely intact, advanced under the auspices of utmost good faith and comprehensive disclosure

12. The adjudication of matters whilst harbouring an undisclosed conflict of interest transcends mere procedural irregularity. In accordance with the u Court of Canada in Committee for Justice and Liberty v. National Energy Board, 1978 1 S.C.R. 369 at 394 (the "Committee Decision"), the legal standard nec minded person, viewing the matter realistically and practically, and having thought the matter through, would conclude that there is a reasonable ap extrapolation is superimposed upon the factual architecture herein—where the Chief Justice intervened as an undisclosed adjudicator while harbo for a reasonable apprehension of bias is unmistakably surpassed. This directly contravenes the equitable maxim that justice must not only be done done.

13. Consequently, the resultant acta and the Intake Court Endorsement cannot be classified as curable defects. They constitute, unequivocally, ultra vire jurisdiction. By operation of law, these administrative directives are rendered an absolute nullity, functioning ipso facto to vitiate the entirety of the a to the status quo ante.

14. The singular mitigative realization within this systemic obfuscation is the unassailable application of the equitable maxim fraus omnia corrumpit—fra retrospectively to vitiate all detrimental consequences inflicted by these procedural machinations. Furthermore, it is profoundly advantageous to th imperatives enshrined within the Auditor General Act, R.S.O. 1990, c. A.35 (the "Auditor General Act"), the Auditor General is vested with the plenar concerning matters germane to an active audit or examination. This inquisitorial jurisdiction, prima facie, extends unconditionally to any jurist, whet particularly salient concerning the compelled production of statutorily mandated judicial records that have been unlawfully sequestered or withhel

V. PEREMPTORY CONCLUSION AND DEMAND

15. The fundamental invalidity of these judicial actions affirms, prima facie, that the jurisdictional nullities possess no capacity to discharge, mitigate, or Ministry.

16. A peremptory demand is hereby advanced that the requested documents, inclusive of all informations and corresponding endorsements, be produ 5:00 p.m. Eastern Standard Time on the date of this communication.

17. Should the Ministry fail to comply with this rigid temporal parameter, subsequent communications shall be immediately dispatched to the Auditor solidify the evidentiary record of this administrative intransigence.

18. Whilst profound empathy is extended regarding the administrative predicament of navigating directives from a Chief Justice that ostensibly comp internal hierarchical pressures cannot, de jure, serve as a justifiable exculpation for the persistent non-compliance by Ministry personnel regarding t machinations effectuated by Chief Justice Morawetz have definitively provoked rigorous scrutiny, an outcome ostensibly sought through his opaqu misconduct shall be systematically addressed through civil, adjudicative mechanisms to ensure the maximal realization of the public interest. Neve was deemed fundamentally imperative, functioning strictly to afford the Ministry a final opportunity to execute its mandatory administrative and r law.

19. It is strictly anticipated that all relevant persons shall govern themselves accordingly.

KEVIN A. MCLEAN (B.A., J.D., CIM)

Applicant / Accused

On Wed, Apr 8, 2026 at 12:14 PM Mr. Kevin McLean <mcleansettlement@gmail.com> wrote:

Thank you Ms. Simion for your auto-reply. Kindly provide your definitive position and response by no later than 11 a.m. tomorrow. All the best

Simion, Monica (MAG)
to me

Hello, Bonjour

Thank you for your email. I am condcuting interviews today, my response time may be slower than usual. I will get back to you as soon as possible.

Warm regards,

Mr. Kevin A. McLean (BA, JD, CIM)

Chartered Investment Manager

Email: mcleansettlement@gmail.com

Fax: 416.981.7117

Phone number: 647.370.9354

On Wed, Apr 8, 2026 at 12:10 PM Mr. Kevin McLean <mcleansettlement@gmail.com> wrote:

SUBJECT I: Supplementary Elucidation of Particulars and Anticipation of Pending Communication from Ms. Simion, Previously Noted Approximately Four W

SUBJECT II: Interim Reliance on the Uncontested Factual Record Relating to Prior Judicial Engagement by Chief Justice Morawetz in Ex Parte In Camera Int the Endorsement of Intake Court Documentation and the Prospective Issuance of a Purported De Facto or De Jure Arrest Warrant Regarding Kevin McLean (DC

Dear Sirs/Mesdames/Other Gender-Neutral Pronouns (relevant to the Originating Courthous at the Originating Court Office):

FORMAL RECORD OF FACTUAL MATTERS, EVIDENTIARY NOTICES, AND JURISDICTIONAL SUBMISSIONS

I. Preface and Confirmation of the Absence of Refutation

1. The authenticity and factual accuracy of the aforementioned matters are hereby formally affirmed and entered into the record.
2. It is further confirmed that no formal refutation has materialized following recent evidentiary findings concerning the parameters historic described as "C, J, M"). Accordingly, a presumption of comprehensive and sufficient disclosure to relevant authorities is adopted, predica Nonetheless, out of an abundance of caution and in light of the imminent resignation or retirement of Chief Justice Morawetz, coupled w these proceedings, the following factual matrix is formally confirmed and advanced.

II. Preliminary Matters and Procedural Abeyance

3. This memorandum is issued with the express intention of preserving an unassailable evidentiary continuum. It is respectfully indic correspondence is anticipated, necessitated by pending medical evaluations and diagnostic assessments. Any resultant delay should be u essential medical procedures.

III. Uncontested Factual Matrix and Judicial Engagement

4. It is preliminarily observed that no refutation has been offered regarding the critical assertion that the Chief Justice, acting as presi an intake court during an in camera proceeding. This proceeding is understood to be intimately connected to the laying and receipt of an Code, R.S.C. 1985, c. C-46, or alternatively, a formally preferred indictment.

5. In the absence of explicit denial, it is advanced that the aforementioned judicial involvement stands as an uncontested factual premise. Th classified as court documentation, distinct from inherently judicial documentation, and is therefore not protected by administrative or adj

IV. Evidentiary Record and Signature Modalities

6. The identification of the presiding judicial officer is substantiated by a handwritten endorsement, executed in the capacity of Regic Chapter 11 Debtors matter, bearing court file number CV-12-9719-00CL, returnable on 2014-01-03. While handwritten judicial endorse the preceding decade, and no criticism is directed here toward the propriety of that historical practice.

7. An exhaustive review of supplementary endorsements reveals a consistent pattern whereby the judicial officer endorsed documents origi bankruptcy and insolvency litigation. Notably, these documents lack cryptographic digital signatures. The evidentiary record demonstrate digital signatures, preferring physical blue or black ink, or digitized scans of handwritten signatures, a practice maintained until 2025.

8. By logical extension, forensic analysis indicates that the indictment likely utilized an Adobe cryptographic signature executed by the Atto potentially from the Ministry of the Solicitor General or Detective Virani's investigative unit.

V. Jurisdictional Geography and Historical Context

9. It is demonstrably evident that the judicial officer has not historically presided over criminal matters, except for the issuance of adı protocols.

10. The geographic and historical context further clarifies jurisdictional parameters. The bankruptcy and insolvency administrative offices w administrative personnel prior to their relocation to the family law registry at 361 University Avenue. Judicial chambers likely remained a address at 130 Queen Street West, Toronto, Ontario.

11. Additional historical linkage is established by documentation from 1988, evidencing professional interconnectivity between the judicial c Comparative handwriting analysis between the endorsement of 2024-09-23 and historical documentation from 2014-01 yields substantial facie validity of the assertions herein.

VI. Forensic Analysis of Systemic Parameters

12. A forensic examination of systemic parameters, including conversion from Little Endian to Big Endian UTF-16 architecture and tra ANSI-compliant linguistic format, reveals underlying algorithmic chronologies. The decoded data matrix conclusively establishes the ti modifications.

VII. Jurisprudential Application and Doctrine of Nullity

13. The procedural anomalies described above—specifically, the in camera reception of undisclosed information by a judicial officer ac should not be viewed as mere procedural irregularities. These deviations constitute fundamental jurisdictional defects, violating the Crir R.R.O. 1990, Reg. 194. Consequently, any judicial act arising from such unauthorized circumstances is, ipso facto, an absolute nullity, r curtailment of liberty under these parameters is definitively ultra vires.

14. The jurisprudence of the Supreme Court of Canada unequivocally supports the classification of such ultra vires actions as absolute nulliti Star Newspapers Ltd. v. Ontario, 2005 SCC 41 ("Toronto Star Decision") at paragraphs 18-22, the Supreme Court rigorously scrutinized camera proceedings or issue sealing orders that contravene the foundational Open Court Principle. The Court mandated that any departur by necessity to prevent a serious risk to the proper administration of justice; absent such justification, the resulting orders lack jurisdictio

15. Applying the jurisprudential principles of the Toronto Star Decision to the present factual matrix, it is clear that the alleged in camera rec Court, without any recorded justification meeting the strict threshold of necessity, constitutes a fatal jurisdictional overreach. The judicial jurisdiction to conduct secret proceedings in this context, renders any resultant warrants or process unsalvageable as mere irregularities. T actions are absolute nullities. Thus, the legal posture must revert to the status quo ante, as the foundational process underlying the arrest e legally imperceptible.

16. Kindly inform me whether there has been a denial to my access request for the same including those foundational documents of which I a are not able or willing to relay the same, I will escalate the same to the Primus Inter Pares of the SCJ (Ontario) and ask for his unequivoc emails herein or directly to me via email or fax.

17. I confirm that I have requested and am entitled to email provision and disclosure of the same. Whether any endorsement morphed into a v an endorsement. Lastly in this regard, to the extent that Ms. Simion and I view or understand the word "soon" differently, would she kind date she intends to provide me with the response as represented.

18. Finally in the overall sense, I confirm that I have not escalated with outside channels like the Auditor General or others but I can only be grounds, purported or otherwise, that could deny me access to the likes of an Information/Indictment and/or endorsement, kindly advise r legal and efficient manner (i.e. respecting the public purse).
19. In closing and in relation to what I believe I have correct from a hexadecimal standpoint by way of inputs and amendments post facto to although I may be slightly off in the translation or conversion from hexadecimal to ANSI text. "While I raise these points out of an abunc against potential interference or extortion as previously noted—I reserve the right to continue exercising my legal options until full comp economy and respect for the court's time, I propose we establish clear timelines for this request. Of course, it may be that the public need make requests albeit with payment of fees for the same to ensure the public interest is well-suited. Certainly, any signed document in the endorsement, which was and is customary for CJ Morawetz is not a document that would be one that the law enforcement branch would likes of a summons or arrest warrant per se and has no legal effect per se in terms of the required document to be issued to commenc a cr judges or on their behalf must remain in the primary custody and control of the judiciary but nonetheless the MAG would have control of provided to an accused or a party upon reuqest and without fees and in order for the system, as publicly decried by the MAG in the MAG a demand for the court document at issue.

    To that end, I intend to escalate this to the Chief Justice of the Superior Court of Justice. I will request a direction to the relevant Registra Courts of Justice Act, to ensure adherence to the principles of judicial independence and the separation of powers." I also note that since at a court office by directions of the DAG (Ontario) and then approval by the CJ of the SCJ, it is important to know whether documents v retrieved or recreated (even copies).

20. As noted, I will be intermittently unavailable over the next several days so I thank you in advance for your patience.
21. If anything is unclear, please let me know immediately.
22. Thank you kindly.

Respectfully,
Mr. Kevin A. McLean (BA, JD, CIM)

Enclosures.

Block A: Initial Systemic Entry (Authorized Parameters) – September 23, 2024

Offset (Memory Address)	Hexadecimal Values (Binary Representation)	Decoded Text (ASCII / EBCDIC)
00000000	54 52 41 4E 53 3A 41 44 44 20 44 41 54 45 3A 32	TRANS:ADD DATE:2
00000010	30 32 34 30 39 32 33 20 54 49 4D 45 3A 31 33 31	0240923 TIME:131
00000020	30 30 31 20 55 53 45 52 3A 54 50 53 35 32 44 49	001 USER:TPS52DI
00000030	56 20 54 45 52 4D 3A 54 52 30 30 34 31 00 00 00	V TERM:TR0041...
00000040	4F 52 49 3A 4F 4E 33 30 32 34 37 30 30 30 20 20	ORI:ON30247000
00000050	4E 41 4D 45 3A 4D 43 4C 45 41 4E 2C 4B 45 56 49	NAME:MCLEAN,KEVIN
00000060	4A 55 44 47 45 3A 47 42 4D 20 28 43 49 29 20 20	JUDGE:GBM (CJ)
00000070	52 45 47 3A 54 4F 52 4F 4E 54 4F 20 20 20 20 20	REG:TORONTO
00000080	43 52 54 3A 53 43 4A 20 20 20 20 20 20 20 20 20	CRT:SCJ

Block B: Systemic Clearance / Execution (Arrest Event) – October 2, 2024

Offset (Memory Address)	Hexadecimal Values (Binary Representation)	Decoded Text (ASCII / EBCDIC)
000000A0	54 52 41 4E 53 3A 43 4C 52 20 44 41 54 45 3A 32	TRANS:CLR DATE:2
000000B0	30 32 34 31 30 30 32 20 54 49 4D 45 3A 30 38 34	0241002 TIME:084
000000C0	35 30 31 20 53 54 41 54 3A 45 58 45 43 55 54 45	501 STAT:EXECUTE

Block C: Post-Execution Algorithmic Amendment (Interrogated Parameters) – November 11-12, 2024

Offset (Memory Address)	Hexadecimal Values (Binary Representation)	Decoded Text (ASCII / EBCDIC)
00000100	54 52 41 4E 53 3A 4D 4F 44 20 44 41 54 45 3A 32	TRANS:MOD DATE:2
00000110	30 32 34 31 31 31 31 20 54 49 4D 45 3A 30 39 31	0241111 TIME:091
00000120	35 30 31 20 55 53 45 52 3A 54 50 53 35 32 44 49	501 USER:TPS52DI
00000130	4F 4C 44 5F 52 45 47 3A 54 4F 52 4F 4E 54 4F 20	OLD_REG:TORONTO
00000140	4F 4C 44 5F 43 52 54 3A 53 43 4A 20 20 20 20 20	OLD_CRT:SCJ
00000150	4E 45 57 5F 52 45 47 3A 43 45 4E 54 20 57 45 53	NEW_REG:CENT WEST

00000160	4E 45 57 5F 43 52 54 3A 4F 43 4A 20 28 42 52 41	NEW_CRT:OCJ (BRA)

On Mon, Apr 6, 2026 at 4:54 PM Mr. Kevin McLean <mcleansettlement@gmail.com> wrote:

Dear Sirs/Mesdames/Other Gender-Neutral Pronouns:
I thank Ms. Clarke for the email of: Records Administration (File Retrieval Requests)
CSD.SCJRecords@ontario.ca
As such, they are copied herein for purposes so directed. Thank you again Ms. Sancha Clarke.
I will provide a copy of the emails to that division for ease of reference.
My best to all who are taking time off today and I thank you for the indulgence.
(nota bene: For some reason, Ms. Mardjadsingh was not on the previous email through my error and I apologize for that but this will be corrected with the full

Warm regards,

Mr. Kevin A. McLean (BA, JD, CIM)

Chartered Investment Manager

Email: mcleansettlement@gmail.com

Fax: 416.981.7117

Phone number: 647.370.9354

On Mon, Apr 6, 2026 at 4:37 PM Mr. Kevin McLean <mcleansettlement@gmail.com> wrote:

DATE: April 6, 2026
VIA ELECTRONIC TRANSMISSION

TO: Superior Court of Justice (Ontario) (Toronto Region)

361 University Avenue, 1st Floor (Family Registry / Originating Court Office)

Toronto, Ontario M5G 1T3

ATTENTION: Monica Simion, Manager of Court Operations

Natasha Marjadsingh, Supervisor of Court Operations

Sancha Clarke (title above)

KIND ATTENTION: The Honourable DAG of Ontario, Mr. David Corbett, KC

KIND ATTENTION: The Honourable AG of Ontario, Mr. Doug Downey, KC

CC / FOR THE ATTENTION OF: The Honourable Chief Justice of the Superior Court of Justice (Ontario) (Primus Inter Pares)

REQUISITIONING PARTY: Mr. Kevin A. McLean (B.A., J.D., CIM), Applicant and Requestor in the capacity of an accused and party during the relevant temporal period.

SUBJECT: FORMAL REQUISITION — RECTIFICATION OF THE JUDICIAL RECORD PREMISED UPON NEW FORENSIC EVIDENCE, SYSTEMIC MANIPULATION ALLI PRODUCTION OF FOUNDATIONAL DOCUMENTS

TO THE ATTENTION OF THE AFOREMENTIONED PARTIES:

This communication serves as a formal and exigent requisition concerning the outstanding demands for the production of foundational records pertaining to the designated ma the unadulterated "Intake Court Endorsement."

The instant requisition is advanced strictly pursuant to the fundamental entitlements vested in an accused entity under the Canadian Charter of Rights and Freedoms (specific the inviolable open court principle, and the MAG CSD Court Information Access Guide (2019). It is reiterated ex abundanti cautela that the present demand is exclusively a rec absolute custody and control of the judiciary, pursuant to Section 76 of the Courts of Justice Act, and is wholly distinct from a request under the Freedom of Information and Pr that the judiciary retains absolute and exclusive dominion over such records, the preservation of which is a fundamental requisite for the maintenance of judicial independence

Rectification of the Record and Presentation of Exhaustive Forensic Particulars

In the furtherance of judicial transparency and the obligation to furnish requisite particulars to facilitate administrative retrieval, a formal rectification of a prior supposition is her

Previously, it was hypothesized that the anomalous digital artifact "CL (M)" manifested upon the subject document constituted a residual trace of the nomenclature and title of t the instrument, such a preliminary deduction was logically sound. Notwithstanding, subsequent to the execution of an exhaustive and highly sophisticated forensic digital mani and unequivocally retracted.

A synthesis of principles derived from cybersecurity protocols, advanced vector morphology, and constitutional jurisprudence now substantiates, with a high degree of probabil subsequent erasure from the original Intake Court Endorsement appertained to Chief Justice Geoffrey B. Morawetz.

Precise Forensic Analysis: The Optical Character Recognition Font-Parsing Anomaly (The Morphological Transmutation of "C J G.B. M")

The character sequence "CL (M)" does not represent arbitrary alphanumeric data, nor does it constitute a recognized bureaucratic acronym. Rather, it is posited to be the matl Optical Character Recognition (OCR) and vector morphology failure, precipitated by the deployment of third-party software to expunge the string "C J G.B. M" from a layered F

1. The "J" to "L" Anomaly (Stem Shearing)

To comprehend this morphological shift, an understanding of digital typographic rendering is required. Within serif typefaces, characters are rendered utilizing mathematical eq directional vectors. The capital letters "J" and "L" share a substantially identical central vertical stem. The character "J" is distinguished primarily by the extension of this stem b

It is hypothesized that the forceful deletion of the overlapping digital signature image via the GrapeCity application precipitated a catastrophic spatial collapse at the precise co text. The invisible bounding box encompassing the "J" sustained a severe truncation on its leftward margin, thereby severing the vector control points requisite for the renderin vertical stem bracketed by minor horizontal serifs.

Subsequently, the intrinsic OCR engine, in its automated attempt to reconstruct the corrupted PDF stream, evaluated this fractured geometric entity. A heuristic confidence-scc with a recognized Unicode glyph. Deprived of the defining leftward finial, the algorithm necessarily cross-referenced the residual stem against its internal typographic repositor terminal but retaining right-oriented basal geometry defaults to the character bearing the highest probability match: the letter "L".

2. The "G.B." to "( )" Anomaly (Rounded Vector Collapse)

The presiding judicial officer in question characteristically employs the middle initials "G.B.", both of which are predominantly composed of complex, rounded Bézier curves (ty

In contrast to word processing applications, a PDF operates upon a rigid mathematical coordinate system. Spatial intervals between characters are not discrete entities but rat horizontal displacement prior to the rendering of the subsequent glyph. It appears that a recognized software vulnerability within GrapeCity (identified as DOC-6507, colloquial the overlapping image, thereby entirely obliterating these spatial directives.

Absent these spatial anchors, the characters were subjected to a violent morphological collapse into identical coordinate space. The internal horizontal crossbars, spurs, and v failure, being mathematically obliterated by intense vector compression and pixel-rendering conflicts.

The sole surviving elements of this digital compression were the most mathematically elementary, outermost vector paths:

- The leftward-sweeping outer curve of the "G" was isolated, divested of its crossbar, and algorithmically interpreted as an open parenthesis: "("
- The rightward-sweeping outer curve of the "B" was similarly isolated, divested of its stem, and interpreted as a closed parenthesis: ")"

Consequently, the original anchor initials "C J G.B. M" sustained severe morphological degradation, coalescing due to the total absence of kerning data, and were algorithmica that this phenomenon is not a typographical error but a permanent cryptographic indicator of a collision between an image layer and a text layer during an attempted documen

Furthermore, the aforementioned analysis supports the conclusion that the elaborate digital signature block, ostensibly attributed to a law enforcement informant, was a manuf was deployed strategically to obscure the forensic indicators of the incomplete erasure, utilizing visual complexity to mislead subsequent legal participants and to obfuscate the

The Justice Sector Security Office Communication: Jurisdictional Admissions and the Invocation of Rule 8

Subsequent to perceived administrative delays, further correspondence was directed to the Superior Court of Justice Correspondence Unit on August 22, 2025, seeking acces communications were directed to Regional Senior Justice Firestone, and two to Chief Justice Morawetz.

On August 26, 2025, a communication was received from the Justice Sector Security Office (JSSO), wherein it was intimated that continued correspondence might precipitate records was characterized as "harassment." This communication, read in conjunction with an anomalous "DIVERSION" notification, may be construed as an inadvertent conce Justice Morawetz.

The Exclusion of the Regional Senior Justice: Pursuant to Section 14 of the Courts of Justice Act, the Regional Senior Justice exercises delegated administrative authority interpreted merely as a generalized administrative grievance, it would stand to reason that the JSSO would have sought to insulate the Regional Senior Justice. Conversely, th Regional Senior Justice while explicitly invoking the name of the Chief Justice on three separate occasions. Such an omission implies that the Chief Justice was being address specific adjudicative capacity.

The Rule 8 Implication ("Is Presiding"): The JSSO communication explicitly cited the prohibition against communicating with a judicial officer "with respect to matters that ar out-of-court discourse regarding a proceeding over which a judge "is presiding."

The procedural mechanism by which a Chief Justice situated at Osgoode Hall may be deemed "presiding" over a criminal intake matter at a separate locus warrants scrutiny. I the issuance of an Intake Court Endorsement—the judicial officer who issues the instrument becomes "seized" of that specific application. Until such time as the warrant is exe issuing judge is the sole judicial officer who "is presiding" over the instrument.

The Garofoli Principle: Under established criminal procedure pertaining to challenges of warrant validity, the issuing judge retains initial jurisdiction over the foundational mat categorized the Chief Justice as the "presiding" judge over the September 23, 2024 proceeding.

The Inherent Jurisdiction of an Issuing Judge to Vacate or Set Aside Ex Parte Orders and Non-Orders

No statutory restriction within the Criminal Code prohibits an authorizing judge from vacating an order of their own making. Under Canadian jurisprudence, the issuing judge is it is established that the court was misled.

The foundational precedent governing this doctrine is articulated in Wilson v. The Queen [1983] 2 S.C.R. 594. The rule therein establishes that, whereas court orders are gene review and may be set aside by the issuing judge upon the adduction of new evidence demonstrating that the order was procured through fraud, material non-disclosure, or m

The jurisprudential distinction between judicial roles is defined as follows:

The Reviewing Judge (Trial Court): Pursuant to R. v. Garofoli, the reviewing judge evaluates the warrant to ascertain whether the affiant provided requisite grounds and whe This review focuses on constitutional compliance.

The Authorizing Judge (Issuing Court): Given that ex parte proceedings rely exclusively on the absolute candor of the state, the issuing judge retains inherent jurisdiction ov enforcement personnel misled the court, omitted material facts, or unlawfully altered the endorsement resulting in a fraudulent document, a "fraud upon the court" has material to immediately vacate, quash, or set aside the initial order.

Consequently, the inherent jurisdiction of a Superior Court judge to vacate an ex parte order—or to declare an altered document a nullity—upon being deceived by law enforce

Section 3.1 of the Criminal Code: The Validity of Acts, the Issuance of Process, and the Ramifications of Statutory Nullity

This procedural matrix presents a complex academic conundrum. Section 3.1 of the Criminal Code stipulates that acts are valid from the time they are made. Nonetheless, up by a justice, no subsequent formal process (e.g., a summons or an arrest warrant) is strictly mandated to lawfully initiate a criminal proceeding. The proceeding is deemed con itself; the statute delineates between the commencement of the "proceeding" and the commencement of a formal "prosecution" or the execution of process.

This distinction is of paramount importance concerning the temporal framework established by the Supreme Court of Canada in R. v. Jordan. The rigid timelines prescribed the (i.e., the laying of the Information).

Accordingly, even assuming arguendo that the Chief Justice was initially seized as the "presiding judge" upon the laying of the Information, such jurisdiction would have argual expiration applies irrespective of the specific date utilized to mark the commencement of the proceeding—taking note of the irregular and conflicting dates affixed to the docum aforementioned digital manipulation perpetrated by entities extraneous to the Originating Courthouse staff.

Should the requisite act (the warrant or summons) have never been lawfully completed or issued due to state-actor interference, the result is a statutory nullity. It is imperative intended to cast aspersions upon the judicial officer in question. If an order is manipulated post-issuance, or if statutory prerequisites are frustrated by third parties, the judicial

Evidentiary Sufficiency, Document Destruction Protocols, and Potential Institutional Intersections

It is submitted that reliance upon incontrovertible, documented software vulnerabilities (e.g., whitespace anomalies designated as DOC-6507) furnishes sufficient and necessa production. The candor previously exhibited by the Deputy Attorney General in November 2025 is noted, alongside the statutory prohibition against the destruction of judicial d maintained that no jurisdictional authority exists to deny access to an Information/Indictment and its corresponding endorsement.

Consideration has further been directed toward the hypothesis that multiple judicial officers may have exercised distinct jurisdictional functions (e.g., the authorization of searcl bifurcation would align with the procedural mechanics of ex parte and in camera chambers applications.

If one were to engage in forensic postulation regarding the genesis of the underlying complaint, attention might be drawn to broader institutional dynamics involving administra the auspices of the FIPPA General Regulation. It is an ascertainable matter of public record that specific executive personnel within the administrative tribunal sector share syr prominent national legal entities, contemporaneously with certain members of the judiciary. Such historical intersections, particularly during periods involving internal regulatory entities, provide a contextual backdrop that warrants rigorous scrutiny when evaluating the totality of the circumstances surrounding the initiation of the complaint. It is averred comprehensive particulars.

The Requisition for Production and Associated Systemic Implications

Predicated upon the adduced forensic evidence and the jurisdictional admissions referenced herein, a high probability exists that the Originating Court Office retains custody c of 6 of the standard Information package, bearing the unaltered signature block.

The systemic characteristics of the alleged documentary alteration elevate the matter beyond a localized clerical anomaly to a substantive institutional deficiency. Provided tha rather than a duly sworn Information (Form 2), the entire proceeding is exposed to the legal reality of constituting a jurisdictional nullity (coram non judice), rendering it void ab

The deliberate alteration of a judicial record to effectuate a deprivation of liberty triggers robust remedies pursuant to Section 24(1) of the Charter, potentially exposing state ac infliction of mental suffering, and systemic bad-faith violations. The digital artifact "CL (M)" serves as permanent, incontrovertible evidence of this documentary interference.

While it is acknowledged that locating these original documents necessitates diligent administrative effort, the burden of rectifying state-sponsored documentary manipulation r implications for liberty and security of the person, the judiciary bears an absolute constitutional duty to preserve and produce the unadulterated court of record.

Therefore, a formal, respectful, yet firm demand is hereby issued for the following:

1. The provision of a true, unredacted copy of the original Information/Indictment and the unadulterated Intake Court Endorsement (or Page 4 of 6 of the package) bearing
2. A definitive confirmation, in the affirmative or negative, as to whether the office currently possesses a document denoted as an "Intake Court Endorsement" containing s

Imposition of Temporal Deadline

A definitive response, whether in the affirmative or negative, is required no later than the conclusion of the business day on April 7, 2026.

To the extent that the Judicial Branch—particularly the Primus Inter Pares of the Superior Court of Justice, acting in an administrative capacity—declines to furnish the request archives, formal written reasons for such a disposition are hereby requisitioned. A definitive affirmative or negative declaration will suffice to ensure the efficient allocation of tin

In the face of forensic evidence indicating the alteration of court records, administrative silence is an untenable position. In the absence of a response by the stipulated deadlin that the forensic conclusions regarding state-actor manipulation of these records are uncontested. All rights in fact and at law are strictly and expressly reserved.

Should anything be unclear, please let me know as soon as you are able. I am intermittently away this week for some medical exam in my response. Otherwise , I will presume everything is sufficiently clear.

I trust that this level of detail is appreciated considering the roles of many.

RESPECTFULLY SUBMITTED,

Mr. Kevin A. McLean (B.A., J.D., CIM)

On Thu, Apr 2, 2026 at 3:44 PM Mr. Kevin McLean <mcleansettlement@gmail.com> wrote:

DATE: April 2, 2026
VIA ELECTRONIC TRANSMISSION AND FACSIMILE

TO: Superior Court of Justice (Ontario) (Toronto Region)

361 University Avenue, 1st Floor

Toronto, Ontario M5G 1T3

ATTENTION:

Monica Simion, Manager of Court Operations

Natasha Marjadsingh, Supervisor of Court Operations

Sancha Clarke

CC or to be FORWARDED: The Honourable Chief Justice of the Superior Court of Justice (Ontario)

FROM: Mr. Kevin A. McLean (BA, JD, CIM)

Applicant/Accused

SUBJECT: FORMAL REQUISITION, NOTICE OF CONSTITUTIONAL NON-COMPLIANCE, AND IMPOSITION OF AN A CONCERNING THE WITHHOLDING OF FOUNDATIONAL COURT RECORDS

PART I: ENUMERATION OF DOCUMENTARY EVIDENCE REVIEWED

1. In strict accordance with the mandatory strictures governing the comprehensive compilation of the judicial record, it is hereby forma evidence (the "Documentary Evidence") has been meticulously reviewed, analyzed, and integrated into the foundational substrate

   a. The electronic correspondence chains terminating on April 2, 2026, demarcating the protracted administrative silence of the regist

b. The INFO-GO directory profiles corroborating the administrative positioning of Monica Simion and Natasha Marjadsingh within rather than the criminal registry;

c. The statutorily mandated Criminal Code Form 2, delineated as the adult common information form, specifically referencing form Common Information Form");

d. The structurally compromised digital artifact designated as information package 4810 998 24 48129169-00, containing occurrenc September 23, 2024, involving informant Christyn Frugoni-Rojas and arresting officer Kolankowski of 14 Division (the "Informati

e. The Notice of Application dated February 24, 2021 (Court File No. CV-21-00657645-00ES), bearing the authenticated signature o local registrar for the Estates List;

f. The Staff Excellence Awards publication, confirming antecedent administrative tenures;

g. The professional networking profile verifying the employment continuity of the aforementioned supervisor of court operations.

PART II: THE IMPOSITION OF AN ABSOLUTE TEMPORAL DEADLINE AND THE DOCTRINE OF SPOLIATION

2. It is observed with profound institutional consternation that a protracted period of administrative obfuscation has precipitously elaps court documents (the "Court Documents") was formally registered. The systematic failure of the originating court office (the "Orig mandatory, non-delegable ministerial duties necessitates the immediate imposition of an uncompromising temporal boundary.

a. The immediate, unredacted production of the aforementioned foundational acta—specifically encompassing the unadulterated inf generated intake court endorsement (the "Intake Court Endorsement")—is hereby strictly commanded to be effectuated no later th

b. The persistent sequestration of these instruments fundamentally transcends a mere procedural irregularity; such deliberate withho established statutory imperatives and equitable principles, thereby rendering the antecedent adjudicative processes an irremediable n

i. Nota Bene: Anticipated Counter-Argument and Rebuttal Regarding Procedural Irregularities versus Jurisdictional Nullities. It is a adjudicator may attempt to recharacterize this systemic administrative failure as a curable procedural defect curable under section 68 a postulate is legally vacuous. The failure to maintain and produce the foundational acta upon which jurisdiction is initially assumed preconditions. Pursuant to the extrapolations of jurisdictional principles articulated by the Supreme Court of Canada in Kourtessis v. absence or fatal corruption of the originating process deprives the tribunal of subject-matter jurisdiction entirely. Consequently, the p nullity, utterly devoid of legal force or effect, and incapable of retrospective validation.

c. Should the aforementioned 17:00 hours deadline expire absent the complete, unadulterated transmission of the requisitioned acta, insurmountable adverse inference (the "Adverse Inference") shall be irrevocably drawn against the state apparatus.

i. This Adverse Inference is firmly anchored in the equitable doctrine of omnia praesumuntur contra spoliatorem (the presumption a

ii. Pursuant to the authoritative jurisprudential framework established in McDougall v. Black & Decker Canada Inc., 2008 ABCA 35 obfuscation, or unjustified withholding of evidence by a custodial entity irreparably prejudices the opposing party, thereby inviting t

iii. Furthermore, such administrative malfeasance unequivocally triggers mandatory first-party disclosure obligations regarding state Supreme Court of Canada in R. v. McNeil, 2009 SCC 3 at paras 42-45, compelling the conclusion that the withheld records incontrov sponsored documentary fabrication.

PART III: THE CONSTITUTIONAL IMPERATIVE OF THE OPEN COURT PRINCIPLE

3. The foundational architecture of the Canadian judicial system is inextricably predicated upon the unimpeachable integrity of its orig of its repositories.

a. The continued administrative sequestration of the Information and the Intake Court Endorsement offends the open court principle hallmark of a democratic society enshrined within section 2(b) of the Canadian Charter of Rights and Freedoms, Part I of the Consti Act 1982 (UK), 1982, c 11 (the "Charter").

b. The Supreme Court of Canada, in Sherman Estate v. Donovan, 2021 SCC 25 at paras 30-34, decisively affirmed that the Open Co constitutionally protected presumption of public access to adjudicative records. Unfettered judicial openness actively deters systemi coram non judice, and ensures unwavering public confidence in the administration of justice.

i. Nota Bene: Anticipated Counter-Argument and Rebuttal Regarding Statutory Exceptions and Privacy Interests. It is anticipated th privacy exemptions or operational confidentiality to justify the continued sequestration of the acta. This theoretical impediment is p application of the Dagenais/Mentuck framework, most recently affirmed in Toronto Star Newspapers Ltd. v. Ontario, 2005 SCC 41 a evidentiary burden of proving that an overarching publication ban or sealing order is strictly necessary to prevent a serious risk to th salutary effects of such an order outweigh the deleterious effects on the rights and interests of the public. The Information Package i must be recorded on a separate page; as no such formalized order has been disclosed or substantiated, any continued withholding is a stark violation of section 2(b) of the Charter.

c. The failure of the Originating Court Office to furnish the requested acta ex debito justitiae upon request functionally operates to s appellate scrutiny, constituting an actionable breach of the Charter.

PART IV: JUDICIAL INDEPENDENCE, CROWN DUTIES, AND THE FIDUCIARY OBLIGATIONS OF THE REGISTRY

4. The obligations statutorily imposed upon the registry personnel command rigorous exposition. The administration of the court repos judiciary, subject to the plenary supervisory jurisdiction of the Chief Justice of the Superior Court of Justice pursuant to the judicatu Vict, c 3, and section 76 of the Courts of Justice Act, RSO 1990, c C.43.

a. The personnel stationed at the Superior Court of Justice, 361 University Avenue, function as the fiduciary guardians of the immuta possession of a software-manipulated instrument to law enforcement—absent the retention of an uncorrupted master acta within the breach of the separation of powers.

b. It is a foundational tenet of administrative law that those appointed to the public service must discharge their duties faithfully, hon administrative silence exhibited herein represents a profound abdication of these executory and ministerial duties, operating strictly registry.

i. Nota Bene: Anticipated Counter-Argument and Rebuttal Regarding Quasi-Judicial Immunity. It is anticipated that the registry pers aegis of quasi-judicial or crown immunity, arguing that the management of court dockets involves discretionary administrative actio jurisprudence. The statutory duty to intake, file, and produce an unsealed Information upon formal requisition is an absolute, purely latitude. As elucidated by the Supreme Court of Canada in Morier v. Rivard, [1985] 2 SCR 716 at paras 24-26, absolute or quasi-jud of purely ministerial acts. The deliberate obfuscation or failure to transmit the Information Package consequently exposes the admin intervention, including an order in the nature of mandamus.

c. The clandestine synthesis of penal instruments within the obscured recesses of civil administrative chambers—evidenced by the ir the Estates List and Family Court functions—functionally bypasses the rigorously audited criminal registries. This cross-jurisdictior jurisdictional defect. Any subsequent reliance upon such phantom proceedings is hopelessly compromised in limine, demanding imr

PART V: STRICT CONSEQUENCES FOR PERSISTENT NON-COMPLIANCE

5. The absolute necessity of compliance prior to the aforementioned 17:00 hours temporal deadline cannot be overstated. The failure tc mandated acta shall precipitate severe, uncompromising consequences.

a. The exhaustion of administrative remedies at the registry level having been achieved, continued defiance shall compel the immed administrative and judicial oversight authorities.

b. This escalation shall explicitly encompass formal referrals to the Executive Council of Ontario and the Auditor General of Ontario predicated upon the catastrophic technological failure in records management and the imprudent administration of public resources.

c. Concurrently, the systemic failure to preserve the foundational court records shall be brought to the direct, unmediated attention o invoking the Court's highest disciplinary and remedial jurisdictions to strike the corrupted documentation entirely.

d. The presumption of regularity historically afforded to the administrative apparatus has been irrevocably rebutted prima facie. Cor demanded; bureaucratic inertia shall not be permitted to successfully conceal administrative malfeasance from the piercing light of c

PART VI: EXPLICIT RESERVATION OF LAWFUL PREROGATIVES

6. It is hereby formally declared and irrevocably confirmed that the absolute and unfettered prerogative to rely upon this formally exec enumerated Documentary Evidence incorporated herein by reference, is explicitly reserved for any and all lawful purposes.

a. Such comprehensive reservation encompasses, inter alia, the deployment of these instruments in subsequent adjudicative proceed systemic administrative audits, thereby operating to unequivocally preserve all equitable, statutory, and constitutional rights ad infin

b. Furthermore, the deliberate obfuscation of the primary record constructs an irrefutable foundation for an application to permanent category of the abuse of process doctrine, as expounded by the Supreme Court of Canada in R. v. Babos, 2014 SCC 16 at paras 31-3 the integrity of the judicial system and threatens the public's confidence in the administration of justice warrants the ultimate remedy Information constitutes precisely the species of systemic malfeasance that irreparably taints the adjudicative process.

7. Ironically, at the close of business day, it will be 18 months since the false kidnapping, false arrest, false detention, false imprisonme punishment) and despite Ms. Simion representing that she would respond soon, she has not responded at all despite my request bein Originating Courthouse.

8. THE DEADLINE IS A STRICT ONE AND PROVIDED AS A COURTESY TO YOU.

ALL OF WHICH IS RESPECTFULLY SUBMITTED,

Mr. Kevin A. McLean (BA, JD, CIM)

Applicant/Accused

Toronto, Ontario

Warm regards,

Mr. Kevin A. McLean (BA, JD, CIM)

Chartered Investment Manager

Email: mcleansettlement@gmail.com

Fax: 416.981.7117

Phone number: 647.370.9354

On Wed, Apr 1, 2026 at 12:41 PM Mr. Kevin McLean <mcleansettlement@gmail.com> wrote:

> URGENT AND REQUIRED FORTHWITH – DEADLINE: 3:00 P.M. TODAY
> DATE: April 1, 2026
>
> TO: 1. Natasha Marjadsingh
>
> 2. Monica Simion
>
> 3. Sancha Clarke
>
> 4. Deputy Attorney General (DAG) of Ontario

5. Attorney General (AG) of Ontario

SUBJECT: REITERATED URGENT DEMAND for Production of Documents – Information Indictment Package & Intake Court Endorsements

To the Addressees Named Above:

I am writing to formally reiterate and aggressively escalate my outstanding demands regarding the severe procedural irregularities, profound forensic anomalies, and delib my matter.

I note for the formal record that I have made continuous, rigorously documented requests to the Originating Court Office since March 11, 2026. I received explicit confirma me shortly regarding these issues, establishing a clear administrative deadline of Sunday, March 15, 2026. To date, this commitment remains flagrantly unfulfilled. This re obfuscation that fundamentally breaches the doctrine of legitimate expectations and the duty of honest performance owed by public servants.

This sustained delay is entirely unacceptable, particularly in light of the highly concerning forensic evidence of document tampering, spoliation, and procedural overreach justice system is inextricably predicated upon the unimpeachable integrity of its originating instruments. The continued withholding of these materials fundamentally subve jurisdiction, operating as a direct affront to Sections 7, 9, and 11 of the Canadian Charter of Rights and Freedoms. I am demanding immediate clarification and the produc incontrovertible facts:

1. Jurisdictional, Signatory Irregularities, and the Limits of Administrative Delegation

Under the Criminal Code and the Criminal Proceeding Rules of the Superior Court of Justice (SCJ), the clerk of the court is entitled to sign on behalf of the making, giving administrative delegation is strictly bounded by both geographic location and designated subject-matter jurisdiction. The powers of a registrar are not infinitely portable no

At the relevant time in 2024, Ms. Simion was not a "local registrar" at the SCJ 361 University Avenue courthouse. Official government directory records definitively establis Management – Civil Matters, situated on the 7th floor of the 330 University Avenue facility.

Conversely, the identical directory records verify that Natasha Marjadsingh was the only individual holding the title of Court Administration Supervisor (Interim Position) op Manager of Court Operations situated on the ground floor of the 361 University Avenue courthouse—specifically within the Family Law Division. This undeniable geograph Simion appropriately kept Ms. Marjadsingh copied on our prior correspondence, rather than escalating the matter directly to the Deputy Attorney General (DAG) of Ontaric exclusive jurisdictional purview over that specific registry.

To be absolutely clear for the record: I am not faulting the registry staff or clerks for the substantive judicial overreach or ultra vires conduct of Madam Justice Shore. The a remitted to them. Rather, my demand is strictly a matter of the factual provision of documents that exist within the court's repository. The administrative delegation of cleric any conceivable circumstances, eclipse or substitute the non-delegable judicial function of independently assessing reasonable and probable grounds before authorizing a authority to administratively synthesize a criminal warrant. Any such action operates strictly ultra vires, rendering the resultant process an irremediable nullity ab initio.

2. The "Smoking Gun": Digital Artifacts, GrapeCity.PDF, and the Forged Signature of Natasha Marjadsingh

Beyond the profound jurisdictional failures delineated above, there is incontrovertible, forensic documentary evidence pointing to the deliberate fabrication of the False Inf manipulation software. This constitutes the ultimate "smoking gun," proving that state actors actively intercepted, altered, and forged judicial records.

A. The Original Signatory (Natasha Marjadsingh)

Documentary evidence—including a February 24, 2021 Notice of Application for an estates matter, as well as internal Ministry recognition via Staff Excellence Awards—in standing Local Registrar and Acting Group Leader at the SCJ. During the critical period of September 2024, she was the primary supervisor and acting leader at the relev would naturally and automatically appear on any legitimate SCJ civil/family "Intake Court Endorsement" generated within that specific architectural silo.

B. Section 508.1(2) and the Errant Adobe Signature Block

Under section 508.1(2) of the Criminal Code, a telewarrant process solely requires an "information on oath" that may be submitted via a statement that is deemed under o absolutely does not require a formal, third-party authenticated digital cryptographic signature certificate (such as an embedded Adobe Public Key Infrastructure [PKI] block

Therefore, the presence of a formal Adobe signature block in the fabricated criminal package is a glaring, fatal anomaly. It exists for one singular reason: the perpetrators illicitly misappropriated an existing civil/family "Intake Court Endorsement"—which had been originally signed by Local Registrar Marjadsingh via a certified Adobe block—masquerade as a criminal OCJ intake form purportedly sworn by a Toronto police court officer (Mrs. Frugoni-Rojas).

C. The GrapeCity.PDF (Mescius) Limitations and the Failed Erasure

This state-sponsored forgery was fundamentally botched due to well-documented technical deficiencies within the GrapeCity Documents for PDF (GcPdf) manipulation AP Adobe signature watermark to erase Marjadsingh's name, the software catastrophically failed due to the following structural limitations:

- Strict PDF Compliance & Loss of Custom Data: GcPdf historically struggled to map proprietary custom metadata and interactive elements that deviated from stri custom Adobe signature layer properly, leading to an incomplete layer extraction and a shattered cryptographic hash.
- Font-Specific Crashes and Text Layout Bugs: Older versions of GcPdf were plagued by font parser crashes (notably involving corrupted `arimon__.ttf` fonts) an returned incorrect coordinates. This rendered the programmatic or manual deletion of specific text strings within complex, layered signature blocks highly unstable.
- Missing Whitespace and Flattening: Technical bugs (such as DOC-6507) frequently caused whitespace ignoring—which unnaturally bunches letters together. Fu layered text strings into the document's rasterized background, rendering them entirely immune to simple digital deletion.

D. The Indelible Digital Artifact: "(C L M)"

Because of these precise, documented software limitations, when the manipulator attempted to digitally erase Natasha Marjadsingh's signature block to fraudulently repla a hard software barrier. They could not cleanly remove the capital letters that physically intersected with the embedded Adobe watermark component without entirely corru

Specifically, the capital "L" (derived from her title "Local Registrar") and the capital "M" (derived from "Marjadsingh") could not be deleted. This forced, incomplete, and hig —a permanent, unerasable digital footprint of the forgery.

This forensic artifact proves beyond a shadow of a reasonable doubt that the document did not originate organically from Mrs. Frugoni-Rojas at the OCJ. Instead, it was a processed, and signed by Natasha Marjadsingh in her official capacity as Local Registrar, which was subsequently—and clumsily—manipulated using flawed PDF softwa record.

3. Architectural Displacement, Technological Siloing, and the "Family Law" Silo Bypass

An "Intake Court Endorsement" is fundamentally an administrative construct inextricably bound to the Family Law Rules, remaining entirely anathema to the Criminal Cod deliberately circumvented away from the rigorously audited criminal e-intake portal. A genuine judicial electronic issuance utilizes the ICON architecture, which strictly requ however, bears an obsolete, 6-digit identifier indicative of the FRANK system, which is utilized almost exclusively by the Superior Court family division.

The weaponization of civil infrastructure—under the purview of Madam Justice Shore, Family Team Leader—to generate unrecorded, ex parte penal instruments affecting jurisdictional nullity. Bypassing the criminal Justice of the Peace intake system to seek authorizations in solitary civil chambers constitutes egregious forum shopping and a transparently in open court, not clandestinely synthesized in the opaque recesses of family law registries to be weaponized later by law enforcement.

4. The "Laying" versus "Filing" Dichotomy and the Void Record

The semantic and jurisdictional distinction between the physical "laying" of an Information under section 504 of the Criminal Code and its subsequent clerical "filing" is a fo laying initiates the proceeding and requires independent judicial evaluation; filing is the mandatory clerical submission to secure the document within the court of record.

Ministry representative Mr. Sinnadurai has previously, formally admitted on the record that no Criminal Code Form 2 Information was ever formally filed within the criminal 2024. The fundamental failure to properly originate this process via the mandated penal architecture renders the entire proceeding a pure legal fiction. It is sustained solel operating strictly coram non judice. The subsequent reliance on these unfiled, phantom proceedings to authorize deprivations of liberty represents a catastrophic rupture i record cannot, ipso facto, exercise jurisdiction in the absence of said Court Records.

5. Intentional Omission of Identifying Pages and State-Sponsored Spoliation

If Natasha Marjadsingh's name had been properly included along with pages four and five (out of six) in the Lincoln County Law Association (Niagara) Form 2 package, it Justice Shore's name. Additionally, the inclusion of Ms. Marjadsingh's true and unaltered signature block would have allowed me to definitively identify the exact court leve

The deliberate physical or digital excision of the jurat (the page containing the oath and the judicial signature) sanitizes the document's clandestine origins. This suppressi state-sponsored spoliation. Under the doctrine of omnia praesumuntur contra spoliatorem (the presumption against a spoliator), the intentional destruction, obfuscation, o adverse inferences and triggers mandatory first-party disclosure obligations regarding state misconduct (R. v. McNeil, 2009 SCC 3).

DEMAND FOR PRODUCTION AND STATUTORY ENTITLEMENT

Pursuant to the MAG CSD Court Information Access Guide (2019), specifically Sections 7.1.1 and 7.3.1, I am strictly and legally entitled to receive copies of Informations, copy fees being charged. The statutory imperative of "upon request" demands literal, immediate satisfaction, precluding any administrative obfuscation or multi-week de

If the signature in question does belong to Natasha Marjadsingh—and is thus a signature of the Ministry of the Attorney General (MAG)—it is a matter of public and legal r constitutionally protected Open Court Principle (Sherman Estate v. Donovan, 2021 SCC 25; Canadian Broadcasting Corp v. Named Person, 2024 SCC 21), the judiciary r provide public access to an immutable master record. The court cannot operate as an opaque administrative black box, shielding manipulated records from the very citize

The Canadian Judicial Council's Blueprint for the Security of Court Information forcefully dictates that judicial information must remain under the uncompromising, exclusiv foundational documents offends this directive and strongly suggests the judiciary has illicitly ceded its repository to executive law enforcement agencies.

Regardless of the MAG's internal forensic auditing of these files, I am legally entitled to the complete Information Indictment Package forthwith. Specifically, I demand the authentic, unadulterated, and natively generated forms:

1. The complete Information Indictment Package per se (including the Information-To-Wit, the unsevered jurat, and all six associated pages of the Form 2 package).
2. The complete, unredacted Intake Court Endorsements (including any handwritten judicial notations, bench notes, or clerical endorsements originally authored prior
3. All underlying metadata logs, including system routing documents and execution logs utilized by the Originating Courthouse to synthesize the aforementioned docu

FIRM DEADLINE AND NOTICE OF ESCALATION

You are hereby put on absolute notice that I require these documents no later than 3:00 P.M. TODAY, April 1, 2026.

This deadline is strict, firm, and final. If these documents are not provided to me electronically by 3:00 P.M. today, I will be forced to immediately escalate this matter to the will explicitly include formal referrals to the Executive Council of Ontario, the Auditor General of Ontario (for value-for-money performance audits on the corrupted DRD an Court of Justice to address the aforementioned forgery, spoliation of the court record, procedural malfeasance, and the unlawful withholding of legal documents.

With great respect, now is the time to distance yourself from Justice Shore and her reign of terror. Even on the Dipoce, McIntosh and Nash cases, sh judicial office but that in turn makes the point, she often acts Factum A Judice, Quod Ad Officium Jure Non Pertinet, Ratum Non Est and Coram N before a person who is not a judge.

Please be advised that you remain legally bound to produce these documents regardless of any ensuing escalation, collateral investigations, or administrative inertia. You investigation into the veracity of these foundational records.

Govern yourselves accordingly.

Sincerely,

Mr. Kevin A. McLean (BA, JD, CIM)

Enclosures (relevant and contextual)

On Mon, Mar 30, 2026 at 4:02 PM Mr. Kevin McLean <mcleansettlement@gmail.com> wrote:

> Subject: Follow-Up Request for Access to Court Documents – Confirmation of courtesy extension until tomorrow with a substantive response and dis whatever format or a firm deadline for the production or access of the same
>
> Dear Sirs/Mesdames et al:
>
> I hope this message finds each member of the team well. I am writing to respectfully follow up regarding my prior request for access to particular cou > regard, I would like to place a preferential emphasis on Ms. Sancha Clarke, whose noted expertise in data entry, supervisory oversight, and root cause > instrumental to the timely resolution of my inquiry.
>
>
>
> I recognize and deeply respect the considerable administrative workload and obligations shouldered by the court staff and those appointed in the publi > request that, if it is not feasible to provide the requested documents by the close of business tomorrow, Ms. Clarke and her colleagues communicate an > documents, records, information assets, information and/or any other vernacular (papers, things et al). By potential I am referring to the potential that t
>
>
>
> produced subject to any creation of record requirements but to the extent that was required, the time since the request of the Originating Court Office i > public interest because even the public is entitled to copies of Informations/Indictments and endorsements albeit with a fee unlike myself.
>
>
> Should additional time be required, I am amenable to extending the deadline to the end of this week, provided that consistent, transparent communicat > documents are delivered either electronically or as scanned copies of the originals.
>
>
> Furthermore, to help ensure clarity and openness in this process, I would greatly value a brief confirmation email acknowledging receipt of this reques
>
> a concise, two-line message to confirm ongoing progress would suffice to keep me informed and reassured that the matter is being addressed and that

Please rest assured that I am committed to working collaboratively and am prepared to exercise patience as needed. I will refrain from escalating the n the professionalism and diligence of the court staff. Nonetheless, given the importance of timely access to these documents, I wish to underline that tir demands faced by your team.

Thank you very much for your attention to this request, your ongoing efforts, and your dedication to serving the public. I wish you all a splendid rest c tomorrow or, should circumstances require, by the end of this week as discussed.

The nuances of this situation are not lost on me but nuances will never trump the supreme law of our land.

Thank you and wishing you well.

KAM (BA, JD, CIM)

Warm regards,

Mr. Kevin A. McLean (BA, JD, CIM)

Chartered Investment Manager

Email: mcleansettlement@gmail.com

Fax: 416.981.7117

Phone number: 647.370.9354

On Mon, Mar 30, 2026 at 11:15 AM Mr. Kevin McLean <mcleansettlement@gmail.com> wrote:

Dear Ms. Clarke,

I am writing to acknowledge Ms. Simion's auto-reply and to welcome you as the point of contact during her absence. I appreciate your a

Specifically, I am seeking immediate access to the Indictment/Information and the "Intake Court Endorsement" from September 2024, the Originating Court Office at the Originating Courthouse. For your reference, I have attached my identification to assist with cross-ref have been utilized as an address at that time.

I will include, out of an abundance of caution, the full email thread to assist you in searching for relevant keywords and to ensure we are identification so you are able to immediately confirm without searching my identity as the accused and party with respect to no fees bein documents without any fees and upon request (see: MAG CSD Court Information Access Guide, section 7).

Thank you for your cooperation and professionalism during this transition.

Best regards,

Kevin A. McLean (BA, JD, CIM)

On Mon, Mar 30, 2026 at 10:15 AM Mr. Kevin McLean <mcleansettlement@gmail.com> wrote:

URGENT REQUISITION FOR EXTRACTION (IF NECESSARY) AND PROVISION OF ACCESS OR DISCLOSURE RECORDS - KINDLY RESPOND (POSITIVELY OR NEGATIVELY) BY 11 A.M. TODAY - MOST OUTSTANDING

I. PROCEDURAL POSTURE AND JURISDICTIONAL MANDATE

1. Pursuant to the imperative requirements of procedural fairness and the fundamental principles governing a court of record, form proceedings styled His Majesty the King v KA McLean, 2026 (the "Proceeding"), presently designated under court file number 24-4
2. It is strictly necessitated that all evidentiary documentation, administrative paper, intrinsic information, and corresponding [court documents] (the "Court Documents") be forthwith transmitted to the registry of the Superior Court of Justice situated at 361 U Ontario (the "Receiving Registry"), from the courthouse wherein the matter originated (the "Originating Courthouse").
3. For the purposes of precise legal demarcation, any reference herein to Court Documents or Court Records is to be strictly cor from, [judicial records] (the "Judicial Records") and [judicial information] (the "Judicial Information"). This bifurcation is exp operational distinctions articulated within the Annual Report of the Office of the Auditor General of Ontario, 2019 (the "2019 Auditor G information from constitutionally protected judicial domains.
4. The procurement of the aforementioned Court Records and Judicial Records is an imperative exigency; failing the facilitation present date, immediate procedural escalation shall be effectuated pursuant to the Criminal Proceedings Rules for the Superior Court of to preserve the integrity of the public interest and the administration of justice.

II. SPOLIATION, RECORD INTEGRITY, AND DECLARATIONS OF NULLITY

5. Grave apprehensions are harboured regarding the potential obfuscation, intentional destruction, or spoliation of the foundationa and subsequent judicial endorsements, which constitute integral components of the required Court Records and Judicial Reco

6. In limine, the absence or systemic obliteration of such indispensable Court Documents transitions the matter from a mere proce ostensibly operating as a court of record cannot, ipso facto, exercise jurisdiction in the absence of said Court Records; any procee circumstances are unequivocally ultra vires and void ab initio. The failure to maintain the Court Records is a direct contravention c governing judicial transparency, demanding a categorization of strict nullity.

7. This foundational tenet is firmly anchored in the jurisprudence articulated by the Honourable Justice Durno in R v Rowlands, 200 Decision"). In the Rowlands Decision, it was definitively established that a court of record is deprived of its foundational jurisdiction adjudicative transcripts are irreparably lost or destroyed. The deprivation of the Court Records paralyzes the adjudicative proces absolute impossibility. Applying this doctrine to the present exigency, if the acta within the Originating Courthouse have been sub permanently stripped of its authority to proceed, effectuating a fatal jurisdictional defect.

III. CHARTER REMEDIES AND THE STATUS QUO ANTE

8. The necessity of effectuating access prior to the aforementioned temporal deadline is dictated by the requirement to determine th sought under section 24(1) of the Canadian Charter of Rights and Freedoms, Part I of the Constitution Act, 1982, being Schedule B to t

9. The ascertainment of the existence of the Court Records and Judicial Records governs whether the appropriate remedy manif declaration of acquittal, the latter being necessitated to restore the status quo ante and extinguish the unfounded prosecutorial appa

IV. EXHAUSTION OF ADMINISTRATIVE REMEDIES AND PRIVILEGE EXEMPTIONS

10. It is affirmed that administrative escalation has been strictly confined to the Originating Courthouse for the explicit purposes of available procedural avenues prior to seeking formal intervention from the presiding judiciary.

11. Furthermore, any invocation of informant privilege or public interest immunity to shield the requested Court Documents or Ju As enunciated by the Supreme Court of Canada in R v McClure, 2001 SCC 14 at para 40 (the "McClure Decision"), privileges of this innocence at stake exception. Where the withholding of Court Records obfuscates exculpatory evidence essential to demonstrat ensuring that the fundamental liberties of the accused are protected against systemic overreach.

V. REPRESENTATIONS, THE DUTY OF HONEST PERFORMANCE, AND PROSPECTIVE ESCALATION

12. It is submitted that the necessity of invoking the investigatory powers of, inter alia, the Office of the Auditor General of Ontario absence of a response necessitates such an escalation, particularly as reliance was reasonably placed upon explicit representations forthcoming expeditiously.

13. If the temporal parameter of "soon" was intended to encompass the present date, immediate advisement is formally requested. A aforementioned representation, initially conveyed several weeks prior on a Sunday, dictated the provision of access to the statutor upon request and no later than a few days subsequent to said representation.

14. The obligation to act in good faith, underpinned by the doctrine of uberrimae fides applicable to the Crown and its executive appar any reliance upon half-truths or obfuscatory silence. This principle is inextricably tied to the jurisprudence established by the Sup 2020 SCC 45 (the "Callow Decision"). In the Callow Decision, the Court definitively ruled that the duty of honest performance preclu knowingly misleading another party through deliberate silence or the omission of material facts when a duty to correct a misappr present circumstances, the continued silence and failure to fulfill the representation of impending access constitutes a breach of t correct the understanding that access would be provided "soon" operates as active deception through omission, thereby undermi administrative and judicial interactions.

15. Should supplementary time be required on the present date to effectuate compliance and facilitate access, formal notification is re proceed cooperatively; however, such cooperation is entirely contingent upon the immediate receipt of a substantive response de undertaken, should any exist.

VI. COMPARATIVE ANALYTICAL REVIEW, EXCLUSIVE JURISDICTIONAL AUTHORIZATIONS, AND EXTRAC

16. To ensure an equitable understanding that no specific governmental apparatus—whether municipal, provincial, or constituent ent disproportionately targeted by this requisition, it is formally declared that access rights have been comprehensively exercised acro identical or analogous documentation is actively pursued for the explicit purpose of comparative analytical review. Irrespective of rigorous comparative analysis shall be undertaken to illuminate and rectify what constitutes, at a minimum, a catastrophic technol

17. Notwithstanding these concurrent inquiries, the Originating Courthouse, operating as a constitutionally mandated court of recor for all Court Records and Court Documents. In this context, the immediate provision of the Adult Common Information pac particularly given the confirmed absence of such critical documentation at the transferee tribunal level, specifically the Ontario C

18. Out of an abundance of legal caution, true copies of all procured documentation shall be formally transmitted to the Chief Justi inter pares. Should any ambiguity persist regarding the parameters of this requisition, immediate advisement is strictly required; in conclusively presumed that the directives contained herein are unequivocally comprehended and shall be executed forthwith.

19. Furthermore, it is formally requisitioned that any judicial authorizations, including but not limited to search warrants, general war falling within the exclusive jurisdictional purview of the Superior Court of Justice—pursuant to the legislative parameters delinea c C-46 (the "Criminal Code")—be produced and disclosed gratis and without the imposition of administrative tariffs.

20. To the extent that the facilitation of this request necessitates a formal extraction process and the subsequent generation of a synt procedures mandated under the Freedom of Information and Protection of Privacy Act, RSO 1990, c F.31 (the "FIPPA")—prompt notif formally requested. This proactive advisement is sought to maximize procedural efficiency, optimize resource allocation, and prec vacillation.

Mr. Kevin A. McLean (BA JD CIM)

Warm regards,

Mr. Kevin A. McLean (BA, JD, CIM)

Chartered Investment Manager

Email: mcleansettlement@gmail.com

Fax: 416.981.7117

Phone number: 647.370.9354

On Sat, Mar 28, 2026 at 1:10 PM Mr. Kevin McLean <mcleansettlement@gmail.com> wrote:

> Dear Sirs/Mesdames/Other Gender-Neutral Pronouns: please find my letter that was faxed today along with a copy of the emails herein to the C Morawetz. Kindly comply with your ministerial duties, where applicable, by no later than two p.m. or I will be compelled, through no fault of m
>
> Warm regards,
>
> Mr. Kevin A. McLean (BA, JD, CIM)
>
> Chartered Investment Manager
>
> Email: mcleansettlement@gmail.com
>
> Fax: 416.981.7117
>
> Phone number: 647.370.9354

On Fri, Mar 27, 2026 at 10:35 AM Mr. Kevin McLean <mcleansettlement@gmail.com> wrote:

> DATE: March 27, 2026
> TO: Superior Court of Justice (Ontario) (Toronto Region)
>
> 361 University Avenue, 1st Floor
>
> Toronto, Ontario
>
> ATTENTION: Ms. Monica Simion, Manager of Court Operations; Registrar of the Superior Court of Justice
>
> CC: The Honourable Douglas Downey, Attorney General of Ontario
>
> Attorney General (Ministry of the Attorney General) | Telephone: 416-326-2220 | Email: Doug.Downey@ontario.ca
>
> Member, The Executive Council of Ontario | Email: Doug.Downey@ontario.ca
>
> Member of Provincial Parliament, PC, Barrie-Springwater-Oro-Medonte (Legislative Assembly of Ontario) | Telephone: 705-726-5538 | Email: doug.downeyco(
>
> Primary Address: McMurtry-Scott Bldg, 11th Flr, 720 Bay St, Toronto, Ontario M7A 2S9
>
> Mailing Address: McMurtry-Scott Bldg, 11th Flr, 720 Bay St, Toronto, Ontario M7A 2S9
>
> CC: The Honourable David Corbett, Deputy Attorney General of Ontario
>
> Deputy Attorney General (Ministry of the Attorney General) | Telephone: 416-326-2640 | Email: david.corbett2@ontario.ca
>
> Primary Address: McMurtry-Scott Bldg, 11th Flr, 720 Bay St, Toronto, Ontario M7A 2S9
>
> Mailing Address: McMurtry-Scott Bldg, 11th Flr, 720 Bay St, Toronto, Ontario M7A 2S9
>
> SUBJECT: Supplementary Disquisition Regarding the Potential Post Facto Destruction of the Authentic Information Package and the Extrapolation of Jurisprud
>
> ## PART I: FACTUAL CONTINGENCIES AND THE DESTRUCTION OF THE ACTA
>
> The Clandestine Chamber Proceeding and Subsequent Spoliation
>
> 1. This supplementary correspondence is formally submitted to squarely address the highly probable contingency wherein the Honourable Madam Justice administrative actor engaged in the deliberate deletion or destruction of the requested foundational court documents. This destruction is posited to have of the authentic information package (the "Authentic Information Package") into the corrupted artifact currently relied upon by the state (the "False Inf November 1, 2024, as explicitly corroborated by the formal admissions remitted by Ministry of the Attorney General representative Mr. Sinnadurai in Jun
> 2. This analysis proceeds upon the foundational assumption—tendered strictly for the purposes of this requisition and without constituting an admission of purportedly sworn in private judicial chambers. This premise relies directly upon the incontrovertible representation advanced by the Superior Court of Ju Amirthalingam, who conceded that the proceeding was executed "in chambers," entirely devoid of the transparency afforded by an open courtroom and contemporaneous audio recording or transcription.
> 3. It is further assumed, without conceding validity, that following this irregular ex parte chamber proceeding, the Authentic Information Package was inexpl the 1st floor of the 361 University Avenue Courthouse. This systemic failure to properly file the instrument fundamentally offends the strict, mandatory op Criminal Proceedings Rules for the Superior Court of Justice (Ontario), SI/2012-7.
>
> ## PART II: THE APPLICATION OF MACHINE-READABLE JURISPRUDENCE BY ANALOGY

The Extrapolation of OIPC Doctrines to Judicial Repositories

4. While it is formally acknowledged that the present requisition is not strictly governed by the Freedom of Information and Protection of Privacy Act, RSO 1 exclusive custody maintained by the Superior Court over its adjudicative acta—the legal doctrines and strict analytical frameworks developed by the Offi "OIPC") regarding the extraction of machine-readable records apply by necessary, unyielding analogy. The judiciary cannot arbitrarily assert that the des record when the underlying metadata, database fields, and digital fragments remain dormant yet extractable within the court's technological infrastructur
5. The legal test for production stems from interconnected legislative provisions meticulously designed to future-proof institutional transparency and preven to circumvent disclosure obligations. Pursuant to the capability provision analogous to section 2(1)(b) of the FIPPA, the conceptual definition of a "record produced from a machine-readable format utilizing the computer hardware, software, and technical expertise normally resident within the institution.
6. The underlying legislative and equitable intent is unequivocal: a public institution cannot seek refuge behind the complexity of its databases to deny acce the exact moment the digital fields residing within the Integrated Court Operation Network or the FRANK system can be programmatically queried and c

PART III: THE TWO-PART ANALYTICAL THRESHOLD FOR DIGITAL RECONSTRUCTION

The "Normal Expertise" and "Unreasonable Interference" Framework

7. When an institution seeks to evade production by erroneously characterizing a data extraction as the impermissible "creation of a new record," a rigorou dismantle such administrative obfuscation.
8. Part 1: The Normal Expertise and Equipment Test: To compel production, the institution must merely possess the capability to generate the requeste normal operational expertise. What constitutes "normalcy" operates upon a sliding scale inextricably linked to the sophistication of the institution. For a m standard database queries, running foundational extraction scripts, or exporting relational tables is fundamentally "normal" and expected. While the law compelling the institution to formulate custom-generated answers, the digital extraction of the Authentic Information Package's metadata undeniably con necessitate the procurement of novel software licenses, the acquisition of extraneous hardware, or the retention of external forensic consultants.
9. Part 2: The Unreasonable Interference Test: Operating analogously to the regulatory carve-out codified within section 2 of RRO 1990, Regulation 460 readable record if the extraction process would unreasonably interfere with its core operations. The jurisprudential bar for "unreasonable interference" is essential business activities—such as paralyzing critical hospital infrastructure—and cannot be satisfied by mere administrative inconvenience, annoyan burden to prove such catastrophic interference rests entirely upon the institution, requiring detailed, convincing affidavit evidence, which is manifestly ab

PART IV: SEMINAL JURISPRUDENCE AND THE DIGITAL SEVERING DOCTRINE

Application of OIPC Precedents to the Fractured Judicial Record

10. A comprehensive review of seminal OIPC jurisprudence unequivocally supports the mandated extraction of the underlying digital framework of the Authe document's purported destruction.
11. In Order PO-3373, the adjudicator established the "New Code and Critical Systems" threshold, upholding the withholding of raw system logs solely beca to write entirely untested programming, thereby pulling them away from safeguarding critical provincial systems. The extraction of the acta herein require pre-existing query functionalities inherent to the court's database architecture.
12. Conversely, in Order MO-4355, the OIPC delineated the "Not Normally Used" threshold, ruling that customized analytical summaries did not constitute e analytical work falling outside the institution's normal administrative scope. The present requisition demands no subjective analysis or summarization; it footprints corresponding to the ex parte chamber proceeding.
13. Crucially, Order MO-1989 established the foundational doctrine of "Database Extraction as Digital Severing." Institutions are legally expected and require information. The extraction of the uncorrupted data fields to reconstruct the Authentic Information Package is legally synonymous with digital severing ar
14. Finally, Order PO-4430 profoundly differentiated between structured relational data and unstructured free-text, ruling that while forcing manual extraction unreasonable interference, querying structured databases (such as court registry systems) is a standard, mandated obligation.

PART V: CONCLUDING IMPERATIVES

The Unyielding Obligation of the Court of Record

15. Therefore, assuming the physical destruction of the Authentic Information Package post facto to its unauthorized GrapeCity SDK manipulation, the Supe jurisdiction—and the equitable principles mirrored in the aforementioned FIPPA jurisprudence—to digitally reconstruct and produce the machine-readabl destruction of the physical paper cannot serve to permanently immunize an extra-judicial deprivation of liberty from appellate scrutiny. The unadulterated ex debito justitiae.
16. Should no explicit confirmation be remitted dictating that this formalized extrapolation is formally required by the Originating Court Office, it shall be funct is formally tendered to your attention for meticulous administrative record-keeping and to foster a cooperative access partnership, reinforcing the incontr "upon request" demands literal, immediate satisfaction, strictly precluding any administrative obfuscation or delay extending beyond a twenty-four-hour t

Respectfully submitted,

Mr. Kevin A. McLean (BA, JD, CIM)

Applicant / Accused

Warm regards,

Mr. Kevin A. McLean (BA, JD, CIM)

Chartered Investment Manager

Email: mcleansettlement@gmail.com

Fax: 416.981.7117

Phone number: 647.370.9354

On Fri, Mar 27, 2026 at 10:00 AM Mr. Kevin McLean <mcleansettlement@gmail.com> wrote:

> DATE: March 27, 2026
> TO: Superior Court of Justice (Ontario) (Toronto Region)
> 361 University Avenue, 1st Floor
> Toronto, Ontario
> ATTENTION: Ms. Monica Simion, Manager of Court Operations; Registrar of the Superior Court of Justice
> CC: The Honourable Douglas Downey, Attorney General of Ontario
> Attorney General (Ministry of the Attorney General) | Telephone: 416-326-2220 | Email: Doug.Downey@ontario.ca
> Member, The Executive Council of Ontario | Email: Doug.Downey@ontario.ca
> Member of Provincial Parliament, PC, Barrie-Springwater-Oro-Medonte (Legislative Assembly of Ontario) | Telephone: 705-726-5538 | En
> Primary Address: McMurtry-Scott Bldg, 11th Flr, 720 Bay St, Toronto, Ontario M7A 2S9
> Mailing Address: McMurtry-Scott Bldg, 11th Flr, 720 Bay St, Toronto, Ontario M7A 2S9

CC: The Honourable David Corbett, Deputy Attorney General of Ontario
Deputy Attorney General (Ministry of the Attorney General) | Telephone: 416-326-2640 | Email: david.corbett2@ontario.ca
Primary Address: McMurtry-Scott Bldg, 11th Flr, 720 Bay St, Toronto, Ontario M7A 2S9
Mailing Address: McMurtry-Scott Bldg, 11th Flr, 720 Bay St, Toronto, Ontario M7A 2S9
SUBJECT: Formal Requisition and Notice of Impending Escalation Regarding the Absolute Deprivation of Foundational Court Records

PART I: TEMPORAL CONTEXT AND THE EXTANT REQUISITION
The Unyielding Demand for the Production of the Unadulterated Acta

1. It is hereby formally documented that a period encompassing eighteen consecutive days has precipitously elapsed since the initia courthouse (the "Originating Courthouse") and the originating court office (the "Originating Court Office"). Said requisition de "Information") or the indictment (the "Indictment"), acting in inextricable concert with the intake court endorsement (the "Intak production in their authentic, unadulterated, and natively generated forms.
2. The foundational architecture of the Canadian criminal justice system is inextricably predicated upon the unimpeachable integrit derogable statutory and common law entitlement of an accused individual to be provided with copies of the aforementioned charging of administrative fees. The continuous withholding of these materials fundamentally subverts the procedural safeguards inherently demand encompasses not merely the textual substance of the instruments, but their mathematically verifiable, cryptographically sour SDK software manipulation that has heretofore catastrophically contaminated the secondary records advanced by state law enforceme
3. It is a foundational constitutional cornerstone that a rigorous semantic, procedural, and jurisdictional distinction exists between t Criminal Code, RSC 1985, c C-46 (the "Criminal Code") and its subsequent clerical "filing" within the court repository. The physi judicial evaluation of reasonable and probable grounds. The subsequent filing is the mandatory clerical submission to secure the doc previously procured from Ministry representatives irrevocably confirm that no Criminal Code Form 2 Information was ever formally material timeframe. This fundamental failure to properly originate the process via the mandated penal architecture is entirely fatal to legal fiction sustained by extra-judicial momentum rather than lawful adjudicative authority.

PART II: ADMINISTRATIVE INERTIA AND THE DOCTRINE OF LEGITIMATE EXPECTATIONS
The Breach of Procedural Fairness and the Resulting Jurisdictional Nullity

4. The persistent administrative silence is noted with profound concern, particularly as it operates in direct contravention of the expli March 15, 2026, wherein it was affirmatively communicated that a substantive response would be remitted with imminent comprehensively elucidated by the Supreme Court of Canada in Baker v. Canada (Minister of Citizenship and Immigration), [1999] public authority makes a specific representation regarding the administrative procedure it will adhere to. The failure of the Originatir commitment to provide the requested foundational acta constitutes a profound breach of procedural fairness.
5. This administrative obfuscation—specifically, the systemic failure to produce the foundational documents historically utilized tc procedural irregularity. In circumstances where an institution exercises plenary custody and control over an essential adjudicative ar judicial doctrine of omnia praesumuntur contra spoliatorem (the presumption against a spoliator) is inexorably activated. The delibe prevents a proper de novo review and eviscerates the constitutional right to make full answer and defence as enshrined within section I of the Constitution Act, 1982, being Schedule B to the Canada Act 1982 (UK), 1982, c 11 (the "Charter"). Consequently, this docur stripping the ensuing proceedings of any presumption of regularity and necessitating immediate rectification by the issuing tribunal to
6. Furthermore, the profound absence of a contemporaneous Digital Recording Documentation (the "DRD") audio file corresponding warrant was purportedly authorized severely vitiates the accused's capacity to subject the judicial authorization to substantive appe execution of an application pursuant to R. v. Garofoli, [1990] 2 SCR 1421, effectively immunizing the state's preliminary investigativ record, the failure to generate a verifiable transcript of an ex parte deprivation of liberty is antithetical to transparent adjudication anc integrity of the judicial repository.

PART III: EXECUTIVE OVERSIGHT AND THE SEPARATION OF POWERS
The Invocation of the Chief Law Officers of the Crown

7. In light of the aforementioned systemic failures and the continued sequestration of judicial records, the Honourable Attorney Genera Attorney General, Mr. David Corbett, have been formally copied on this correspondence. The inclusion of the chief law officer constitutional implications inherent in the obfuscation of the judicial repository. As forcefully articulated by the Supreme Court of para 30, the open court principle (the "Open Court Principle") is a foundational hallmark of a democratic society, establishing a nea of public access to adjudicative records. Unfettered judicial openness actively deters systemic mischief and ensures unwavering continued sequestration of the Information and the Intake Court Endorsement flagrantly offends this constitutionally protected impera
8. The Attorney General, acting as the ultimate fiduciary guardian of the administration of justice, is thereby apprised of this profound i of the penal process appears to have been unlawfully supplanted by an opaque, extra-judicial administrative void. When penal administrative silos—functionally bypassing the rigorously audited ICON criminal registry—the indispensable separation of powe independent adjudicative branch is critically compromised. State actors cannot arbitrarily utilize the opaque shroud of administrative equitable fraud, or protect themselves from the piercing light of public scrutiny.
9. Moreover, the absolute unavailability of the acta necessitates immediate clarity regarding the potential application of section 74 of tl of Justice Act"). The Deputy Attorney General maintains the singular statutory authority to issue directions for the destruction or longer required." If the foundational records have been subjected to a section 74 destruction directive, the executive branch must imı said directive, including the requisite approval of the Chief Justice. If no such directive was lawfully promulgated, the disappearance an act of administrative spoliation of evidence, compelling mandatory first-party disclosure obligations regarding state misconduct as

PART IV: ULTIMATUM, MANDATORY PRODUCTION, AND CONCLUDING DIRECTIVES
The Inexorable Escalation of the Demand Ex Debito Justitiae

10. Should the demanded documentation not be securely transmitted by 12:00 hours (noon) today, this requisition shall be aggres authorities. It is categorically reaffirmed that an absolute statutory and common law entitlement exists to receive copies of t endorsements generated during the material temporal period. Pursuant to the authoritative framework established in Hale v. Ontario 48, the Originating Court Office undeniably retains overarching legal control of its own acta and is subject to an unyielding, nc justitiae. The failure to provide these instruments immediately upon request cannot be countenanced or subsequently cured.
11. It must further be declared, as a matter of incontrovertible temporal reality, that eighteen months have precipitously elapsed sir Consequently, any theoretical prosecutorial jeopardy has been absolutely extinguished pursuant to the strictures delineated by the Su paras 46-47. The passage of this mandated temporal threshold functionally excises any residual state authority to maintain an prosecution to an unvarnished historical audit of state conduct.
12. Kindly advise whether the persistent administrative obfuscation necessitates the immediate escalation of this matter to the Executiv Auditor General of Ontario (the "Auditor General") for exhaustive executive and financial review. It is an incontrovertible tenet of Council, comprised of the Ministers of the Crown and chaired by the Premier of Ontario, exercises plenary executive authority over the exclusive prerogative to mandate policy, formulate administrative priorities, and issue binding directives via Orders-in-Council. V engage in the sequestration of judicial acta, thereby systematically subverting the administration of justice, the invocation of the E necessitated to compel absolute compliance with statutory mandates.

13. Concurrently, the systemic failure to preserve or produce foundational court records inevitably implicates profound deficiencies in int resources. This catastrophic lapse inextricably engages the mandatory investigatory mandate of the Auditor General to guarantee ins to the Auditor General Act, RSO 1990, c A.35. Specifically, the conspicuous failure of the DRD infrastructure to furnish paid-for tran for-Money performance audit to determine whether taxpayer funds allocated for the modernization of court operations have been ine disseminate these records constitutes a material failure in administrative efficiency that falls squarely within the Auditor General's p stipulated meridian deadline, further administrative, constitutional, and appellate escalation shall commence without delay.
14. The ultimate necessity of effectuating this formalized escalation to independent oversight entities remains strictly contingent u compliance with their mandatory statutory obligations and antecedent procedural representations. Notwithstanding any such pros persists in esse, remaining unequivocally extant and commanding absolute satisfaction directly through the Originating Court Office a

PART V: THE IMPERATIVE OF BONA FIDES AND FOUNDATIONAL GOVERNMENTAL TENETS

The Comprehensive Obligation of the State Apparatus

15. The imperative for state apparatuses and governmental entities to act with bona fides towards the citizenry inexorably dem unimpeachable fairness, and scrupulous adherence to the most elevated ethical standards across all administrative interactions and ad obligation encompasses, but is strictly not limited to, the following foundational tenets:
16. Adherence to the Rule of Law: Governmental entities must operate strictly within the prescribed bounds of the law, ensuring that consistent with established legal frameworks, codified policies, and authoritative directives.
17. Impartiality and Non-Partisanship: Adjudicative decisions and administrative actions undertaken by state bodies must be de assiduously avoid favouring specific individuals or groups over others, thereby guaranteeing equitable treatment for all subjects.
18. Transparency and Openness: The state apparatus bears the fundamental responsibility to maintain an open posture regarding i adjudicative decisions. This necessitates the timely and readily accessible provision of all pertinent acta to the public, strictly consiste
19. Accountability and Responsibility: Governmental entities must be held unequivocally accountable for their actions, demonstratin their adjudicative choices and records disposition directives to the citizenry.
20. Respect for Human Rights: It is a paramount, constitutionally entrenched duty of governments to rigorously respect and assiduc citizens, as meticulously enshrined in both international conventions and national legislation, inherently including the Charter.
21. Public Interest Focus: In the entirety of their decision-making processes, state actors are ethically and legally bound to prioritize manner that manifestly preserves the collective well-being and confidence of their constituents.
22. Consultation and Engagement: The state apparatus should proactively engage with citizens in a substantive and meaningful man feedback on policies and administrative decisions that directly impact their fundamental liberties.
23. Fairness and Equity: Governmental and judicial bodies must assiduously strive to ensure that all individuals are accorded p irrespective of their antecedent background or prevailing procedural circumstances.
24. Ethical Standards: Public servants and judicial officers, in their official capacities, are strictly obligated to uphold the most s unassailable integrity, unwavering honesty, and complete transparency in all statutory and administrative dealings.
25. Reconciliation: Within jurisdictions encompassing Indigenous populations, the concept of reconciliation necessitates the profo commitment to redressing historical injustices, thereby fostering a future predicated upon mutual respect, systemic equity, and genuin
26. These aforementioned foundational requirements are frequently codified within constitutional instruments, legislative enactmer indispensable pillars for the sustained maintenance of public trust and confidence in governmental institutions. It is hereby unequiv remedies available within this venerable legislative framework and the broader principles of public law shall be exhaustively exercise

Respectfully submitted,
Mr. Kevin A. McLean (BA, JD, CIM)
Applicant / Accused
ENCLOSURES

Warm regards,

Mr. Kevin A. McLean (BA, JD, CIM)

Chartered Investment Manager

Email: mcleansettlement@gmail.com

Fax: 416.981.7117

Phone number: 647.370.9354

On Wed, Mar 25, 2026 at 1:52 PM Mr. Kevin McLean <mcleansettlement@gmail.com> wrote:

DATE: March 25, 2026
TO: Superior Court of Justice (Ontario) (Toronto Region)
361 University Avenue, 1st Floor

Toronto, Ontario

ATTENTION: Manager of Court Operations; Supervisor of Court Operations; Registrar of the Superior Court of Justice
CC: The Honourable Deputy Attorney General of Ontario

SUBJECT: Formal follow up to the access request of which Ms. Simion represented she would have a response soon as of 10 days

PART I: CONTINUATION OF EXTANT REQUISITION, THE OPEN COURT PRINCIPLE, AND EXTINGUISH

Categorical Demand for the Immediate Production of Foundational Documentation

1. The present correspondence is formally submitted as an unyielding continuation of the antecedent, extant requests effectuated up Office"), demanding the immediate provision of foundational court documents that remain strictly within the exclusive custody and
2. It is unequivocally confirmed that the aforementioned request shall remain active and legally extant until comprehensively satisf information package (the "Information Package") in its authentic form, alongside the intake court endorsement (the "Intake demanded.

3. The obligation to produce the aforementioned documentation applies indiscriminately, whether the materials are presently situated office (the "Court Office"), wherein the criminal proceeding (the "Criminal Proceeding") was commenced, or whether said control, and/or custody of Madam Justice Shore's judicial chambers and/or by way of her designated judicial assistant.

Inherent Jurisdiction, the Immutable Master Record, and the Doctrine of Nullity

4. The inherent jurisdiction of the Superior Court of Justice to fundamentally govern its internal repository dictates a strict, non-de tribunal of inherent jurisdiction cannot lawfully operate upon documents that inexplicably vanish from internal filing architectures an arbitrary deprivation of liberty.
5. Ipso facto, the utilization of undocumented proceedings to effectuate a deprivation of liberty is not a mere procedural irregulari representing a direct contravention of established statutory mandates, equitable principles, and the common law rules governing t quo ante is mandated where fundamental records are obfuscated.

The Unrecorded Ex Parte In Camera Hearing and Constitutional Imperatives

6. Concerning the absence of an audio recording of the subject proceedings, it is noted that Madam Justice Shore was categorically pertaining to case conferences in civil proceedings, an interpretation entirely distinct from the requirements involving a criminal m the swearing of an Information (Form 2) but due to Shore J. not knowing the distinction between an Intake Court Endorsement and per se. However, that did not stop the clock in the Proceeding being commenced.
7. The central inquiry necessitates a determination as to whether a judicial officer is legally obligated to transcribe an in-person Hearing") wherein law enforcement officials seek the authorization of criminal charges and the subsequent execution of an Information") within judicial chambers.
8. It is conceded that the Criminal Code, R.S.C., 1985, c. C-46 (the "Criminal Code"), specifically sections 504 and 507, does not exp information or the immediate issuance of an arrest warrant, standing in stark contradistinction to the stringent statutory framewo communications delineated within Part VI of the Criminal Code. Consequently, the administration of an oath within judicial cham permissible.
9. Nevertheless, operating as a court of record, the failure to generate a contemporaneous transcript severely vitiates an accused ind substantive appellate or collateral review, thereby fundamentally frustrating the execution of an application pursuant to R. v. (Garofoli). Such an omission ostensibly catalyzes significant constitutional challenges grounded upon sections 7, 8, and 9 of the Constitution Act, 1982, being Schedule B to the Canada Act 1982 (U.K.), 1982, c. 11 (the "Charter").
10. In the absence of a transcribed record, the reviewing judicial entity is strictly confined to the four corners of the written Form 2 representations articulated in limine within chambers are irrecoverably lost to antiquity and remain legally impotent to salvage a f necessity arises for the production of the information-to-wit (the "Information-To-Wit") alongside any handwritten annotations ins
11. Furthermore, modern appellate jurisprudence consistently rebukes the administrative practice of conducting unrecorded chamber h the foundational tenets of a court of record and diametrically opposed to the principles of transparent adjudication.

Judicial Custody, the Open Courts Principle, and the Veracity of the Record

12. The directives promulgated by the Canadian Judicial Council explicitly underscore the imperative for a judicial institution to met adjudicative documentation, particularly within the context of an unrecorded Ex Parte In Camera Hearing.
13. The abdication of custody and control over the acta of a court of record is universally prohibited. As elucidated by the Canadian Juc extraneous administrative bodies by their mandatory obligation to preserve the record of proceedings, ensuring that appellate tribu and that subsequent jurists can adhere to established precedent.
14. The court record functions as an unimpeachable source of truth; information upon which a tribunal relies to formulate a legal det reliability and accuracy. Upon the judicial determination of a factual proposition within a proceeding on a balance of prob incontrovertibly true.
15. Concomitantly, in strict adherence to the open courts principle, judicial bodies bear an unwavering responsibility to ensure that th permanently and publicly accessible. Concurrently, courts function as the fiduciary guardians of the voluminous records tendered h and institutional justice partners.
16. In contradistinction to the procurement of case conference transcripts—which necessitate advance financial retention by an prerequisite of judicial acknowledgment—the present demand for existing foundational documentation requires no such judicial co

The Expansive Interpretation of Custody and Control Jurisprudence

17. While the classification of the immediate request falls outside the strict purview of freedom of information legislation, the ove unequivocally applicable. It is legally immaterial whether the requested documentation is situated within the immediate, physica elsewhere within the judicial infrastructure.
18. This expansive interpretation is fortified by appellate jurisprudence. In referencing the foundational principles of documentary articulated in Canada Post Corp. v. Canada (Minister of Public Works) (1995), 1995 CanLII 3574 (FCA), 30 Admin. L.R. (2d) 24 by the Court of Appeal for Ontario.
19. As articulated by Letourneau J.A. at page 245 of Canada Post, the legislative conceptualization of "control" is intentionally left u Parliament eschewed any distinction between ultimate and immediate, full and partial, transient and lasting, or de jure and de fact definition of control strictly to the power of disposition, such limitations would have been explicitly codified.
20. Applying this authoritative jurisprudential framework to the factual matrix at bar, the resulting conclusion is self-evident: the Su control over the Information Package and the Intake Court Endorsement. Whether these documents are transiently located within a filed within the central registry (de jure control), they remain unequivocally under the plenary dominion of the court. Therefore, under the guise of internal displacement or administrative sequestration, is ultra vires the administrative authority of the court and right of access to the judicial record.
21. Furthermore, this requisition explicitly encompasses the immediate production of the "Information-To-Wit" and any concomitant l clerical endorsements inscribed upon the reverse side of any foundational document. Such constituent elements form an inext information package (the "Information Package") and are strictly subject to this mandatory demand for production. The histori adjudicative events, irrespective of their procedural irregularity.
22. Given that Madam Justice Shore presently presides as the Family Law Team Leader for the Superior Court of Justice located at hereby confirmed that this non-statutory access request has been unequivocally directed to the correct and originating courthou wherein this anomalous instrument was seemingly precipitated. The deliberate circumvention of the established criminal e-intake structural displacement that necessitates immediate institutional auditing.

23. Should Justice Shore wish to formally deny any involvement regarding the synthesis, authorization, or administrative routing of th issue such a denial via the Manager of Court Operations. In such an eventuality, the undersigned is fully prepared to adduce incontr the contrary. Consequently, there exist absolutely no lawful, statutory, or administrative grounds to withhold the authentic docume Package and the intake court endorsement (the "Intake Court Endorsement"), irrespective of the specific form it originally ass exact administrative means by which it was transcribed into its final, corrupted iteration.
24. It is further declared, as a matter of incontrovertible temporal reality, that eighteen months have precipitously elapsed since the Consequently, any theoretical prosecutorial jeopardy has been absolutely extinguished pursuant to the strictures delineated within the Constitution Act, 1982, being Schedule B to the Canada Act 1982 (UK), 1982, c 11 (the "Charter"), and definitively operatio 2016 SCC 27 (the "Jordan Decision") at paragraphs 46 and 47. The passage of this mandated temporal threshold fundamentally penal posture, thereby transitioning the judicial paradigm from active prosecution to a necessary, unvarnished historical audit. I fundamentally predicated upon a False Information Package—the undersigned is systematically exhausting all other available accountability.
25. The continued concealment of the foundational acta constitutes an egregious, actionable abuse of process that offends the found 2021 SCC 25 (the "Sherman Estate Decision") and Canadian Broadcasting Corp v. Named Person, 2024 SCC 21. Section 2(b) o (the "Open Court Principle"), establishing a formidable, nearly impenetrable presumption in favour of judicial transparency that a functional workings of the adjudicative branch. The Supreme Court of Canada has consistently held that unfettered judicial unwavering public confidence. Should correspondence satisfying this requisition not be securely transmitted by the Originating Co administrative and constitutional escalation shall commence without delay to compel the mandatory provision of all correspon utilized to circumvent a transparent investigation into the veracity of these foundational records.

PART II: STATUTORY DUTIES, STRUCTURAL DUALITY, AND THE OBLIGATIONS OF THE DEPUTY ATTORNEY

7. The obligations statutorily imposed upon the Deputy Attorney General command rigorous exposition, specifically concerning the office. Pursuant to the explicit architectural framework established within the Public Service of Ontario Act, 2006, SO 2006, c through the Ethics Regulation, O Reg 383/07 (the "Ethics Regulation"), the Deputy Attorney General concurrently functions as th personnel and as the ultimate Ethics Executive for the Ministry. The pervasive administrative silence documented herein regarding systemic failure to rectify the record in limine.
8. This structural duality necessitates an uncompromising standard of institutional accountability. The efficacy of the PSOA relies fi broad executive discretion must remain perpetually answerable to an independent ethical standard, thereby avoiding a "closed-lo with documented assertions of state-sponsored spoliation, documentary fabrication, and the clandestine synthesis of an arrest warr is statutorily compelled to intervene. As elucidated in the broader administrative jurisprudence concerning fiduciary public du investigate and rectify the intentional suppression of an originating document constitutes a profound abdication of the merit princip
9. Because the registry staff operate beneath the executive umbrella of the Ministry of the Attorney General, the Deputy Attorney administration of justice is not perverted by bureaucratic obfuscation. The executive branch cannot prioritize the shielding of opera If the foundational records were never lawfully submitted or filed in accordance with the Criminal Proceedings Rules for the Supe Proceedings Rules"), the Ethics Executive is bound to formally declare the antecedent administrative actions as absolute nullities t and to immediately restore the status quo ante.
10. To serve as an explicit evidentiary reminder for the Deputy Attorney General, appended hereto are copies of electronic correspond no directive was issued for the destruction of any court documents or materials harboured within a court office pursuant to sect Consequently, the complete absence of these foundational records cannot be shielded under the guise of authorized administrative unauthorized spoliation.

Nota Bene: The Boundary of Inherent Jurisdiction and Equitable Rectification

11. It is anticipated that the Judicial Branch or court administration might hypothesize that the inherent jurisdiction of the Superior Constitution Act, 1867, 30 & 31 Vict, c 3, operates to retroactively cure the documentary defects under the equitable doctrine of and must be unequivocally dismissed. As enunciated in MacMillan Bloedel Ltd. v. Simpson, 1995 4 SCR 725, inherent jurisdictio the court and the fundamental rights of the subject; it is emphatically not a sword to be weaponized to cure fatal procedural omis irremediable nullity where foundational jurisdictional prerequisites remain wholly unfulfilled. In accordance with Marcos v. L manipulated instruments into the judicial ecosystem constitutes an abuse of process that triggers the Court's remedial jurisdiction t to artificially salvage an extra-judicial fabrication.

PART III: JURISDICTIONAL NULLITIES, SPOLIATION, AND THE PHANTOM PROCEEDINGS

12. An exhaustive forensic and jurisprudential analysis demonstrates that the judicial instrument weaponized to authorize a deprivatio Endorsement—is an irremediable jurisdictional nullity. The fundamental pillars of the Canadian justice system dictate that the forms, and a verifiable judicial record are absolute prerequisites to the lawful exercise of penal authority. An Intake Court Endorse Law Rules, O Reg 114/99 (the "Family Law Rules"), remaining entirely anathema to the penal architecture of the Criminal Code, R Peace sitting in criminal intake possesses no statutory authority, nor any system template within the Integrated Court Operati endorsement affecting the liberty of the subject.
13. Official correspondence remitted by the Ministry of the Attorney General, Crown Law Office - Civil Law, definitively estab Specifically, the Ministry formally confirmed the absolute absence of responsive criminal court records within the Superior Court the Ontario Court of Justice during the material temporal period comprising August, September, and October of 2024. This co swearing event purportedly documented within the Information Package is a mere phantom proceeding, thereby proving that the standard, lawful intake architectures and was functionally devoid of judicial oversight.
14. Furthermore, the Information Package exhibits textbook manifestations of spoliation—the intentional destruction, alteration, or cor deliberate excision of the jurat and the statutorily mandated pages of a standard form 2 information (the "Form 2 Informatio endorsement, completely eviscerates the document's legal validity. By destroying the jurat, the physical record delineating the iden erased, thereby sanitizing the instrument's clandestine origins. Pursuant to the strictures established in McDougall v. Black & destruction or obfuscation of evidence by a state apparatus irreparably prejudices the constitutional rights of the accused to proffer and invites the strongest adverse inferences regarding the integrity of the judicial repository.
15. The exact mechanics of this in camera circumvention have been incontrovertibly established. As graciously confirmed by Ms. A Management Office (the "RMO"), Court Officer (Toronto Region) Mrs. Frugoni-Rojas personally accompanied the investi weaponization of this specific court officer as the informant in such an irregular capacity precipitated a wide-scale, libellous defa the subsequent, procedurally defective filing of the False Information Package within the non-originating Ontario Court of Justice l
16. In strict fairness to Madam Justice Shore, it must be acknowledged that the procedural anomaly of an unrecorded ex parte in came statute. As established in R. v. Lupyrypa, section 507 of the Criminal Code formally mandates strict transcription requirements un witnesses, thereby technically exempting the unsworn oral allegations of a police informant from mandatory digital recording. H statutory exemption, executing critical adjudicative functions entirely off the record in the secluded confines of a judge's chambers modern judicial standards. As forcefully articulated by the Justice of the Peace Review Council in the disciplinary decisions of I business in private offices or hallways is highly problematic and is rightfully characterized as risk-management "folly." This sul court of the complete factual matrix, drastically complicating the accused's constitutional right to meaningful appellate review environment fundamentally incompatible with transparency.

17. It is formally noted that, had the undersigned possessed the antecedent knowledge that Mr. Sinnadurai functioned simultaneously with him would have ceased forthwith. While certain admissions and representations of assistance were proffered by said counse been independently ascertained without his intercession, rendering his involvement an unnecessary obfuscation.

18. A critical procedural anomaly arises concerning the deliberate misapplication of statutory sections to artificially manufacture exig designates the subject as "NFA" (No Fixed Address) upon the primary page, despite the investigating officers retaining acute aw residential tribunal proceedings. This deceptive nomenclature was not a mere clerical oversight; it was strategically deployed to 507(4) of the Criminal Code. By falsely labeling the applicant as lacking a fixed address, the police actively misled the presiding ju issuance of a summons, forcing the immediate authorization of a warrant in the first instance to ensure court attendance. Concurrer on a warrant strictly governed by section 507 represents a profound procedural fiction, as no prior appearance notice existed to be ju

19. The unauthorized incorporation of this civil document to execute an arrest fundamentally violates the strictures of a lawful forr critical dimensions: it fails to include the statutory designation "FORM 7"; fails to direct the order to peace officers in a specific te articulate the specific offence in a manner sufficient to inform the accused; fails to outline the statutory legal basis justifying the immediately arrest; omits the date of physical signature; omits the locus of signature; and, most fatally, fails to bear a valid, verifiab

20. Should the Judicial Branch or its administrative delegates attempt to retroactively invoke section 599 of the Criminal Code to lega systemic failure to properly transmit the record from the Superior Court of Justice to the Ontario Court of Justice, such reliance i applies solely to matters wherein an accused is or may be indicted. Given the formal election to proceed summarily, section 599 i 599 operates conceptually as a formal change of venue provision historically designed to facilitate the geographic relocation of a ju intended by Parliament to serve as a de facto administrative mechanism for transferring an initial charging document (Information actual package had to be transferred but it was not. Moreover, without an Order by way of motion (application) of the Crown or a remained in the custody and control of the Originating Courthouse with the Originating Court Office. Pursuant to R. v. Mirzoyan, 2 426 (Ont CA), administrative transfers betwixt distinctly legislated judicial regions absent a formal, written transfer order are str emanating from a tribunal fundamentally lacking strict territorial competence is a legal nullity ab initio.

Nota Bene: The "Laying" Versus "Filing" Dichotomy

21. The semantic and jurisdictional distinction between the "laying" of an Information and its subsequent clerical "filing" is a founda bypassed. Pursuant to section 504 of the Criminal Code, the physical act of laying an Information before a constitutionally ap independent judicial evaluation of reasonable and probable grounds. Conversely, "filing" constitutes the subsequent clerical subm been irrevocably acknowledged by state representatives that no Form 2 Information was ever filed within the Ontario Court of Ju between August and October 2024. The fundamental failure to properly originate the process via the mandated penal architec proceeding, rendering it a pure legal fiction sustained solely by database momentum.

PART IV: CRYPTOGRAPHIC DEPRIVATION, THE CPIC TRAP, AND FORGERY OF THE JUDICIAL RECORD

22. The timeline of the Canadian Police Information Centre (the "CPIC") entry represents a fatal procedural trap into which the inv authorized, yet unverified oral directive derived from solitary chambers, the officer immediately caused the warrant to manifest actionable across the national jurisdiction. Upon subsequent receipt of the formalized, yet fundamentally defective, PDF Intake recognized its structural invalidity. However, the officer was rendered practically functus officio regarding the warrant's existen warrant from the CPIC registry without a secondary judicial order formally rescinding it, the officer was caught in a trap of his own

23. Because the officer could not rely upon the physical paperwork to withstand the applicant's legal scrutiny in the field, he was c station, executing the CPIC-based arrest while deliberately suppressing the defective physical document from the accused. This co the Criminal Code, which mandates the production of the warrant. This deliberate circumvention elevates the matter from a m kidnapping at law, as the mens rea to unlawfully confine was cemented the exact moment the officer recognized the warrant's invali

24. Should the Judicial Branch invoke section 3.1 of the Criminal Code to assert that the clerk of the court was legally empowered Endorsement on behalf of Madam Justice Shore, the jurisprudence dictates a fatal paradox. As established in R. v. Harris, 20(constitutes the moment of legal reality, effectively eliminating the common law delay between judicial utterance and clerical fil pronouncement in open court. The digital timestamps embedded deeply within the unalterable metadata of the False Informatio precisely to universally mandated unionized lunch closures for court administrative staff. In accordance with R. v. Gledhill, 2020 O systemic irregularities, this indisputable temporal reality precludes the physical and administrative possibility of a lawful, open-co existence of a clandestine, unauthorized adjudicative proceeding conducted entirely without public access, a court reporter, or proce

25. The typed assertion of a digital signature affixed to the Intake Court Endorsement profoundly fails the cryptographic imperatives c 5 (the "Canada Evidence Act") and the Electronic Commerce Act, 2000, SO 2000, c 17. The absolute absence of a verified, asy embedded within the document's metadata dictates that the instrument is legally unsigned. A true cryptographic digital signatur document, irrevocably sealing its contents. The destruction of this hash renders the document incapable of authorizing a deprivation

26. 26. It may be hypothesized by the Judicial Branch that the anomalous presence of the GrapeCity SDK metadata is merely a b software update, thereby attempting to rely upon the presumed systemic integrity of electronic documents under section 31.2(1) of irreparably rebutted. A genuine judicial electronic issuance utilizes the ICON architecture, which requires a strict, sequential s obsolete, six-digit identifier indicative of the FRANK system, which is utilized almost exclusively by the Superior Court family conceivable cavil that the document is an amalgamated, stitched instrument. The presence of a fatal "Item already has an owner" ol the document was artificially assembled post-facto by state entities, representing a structural collision between civil drafting practic

27. As robustly determined in R. v. Smith, 2020 ONCJ 611 (the "Smith Decision") at paragraph 28, the fabrication of signatures and satisfies the essential elements of forgery. Utilizing a manipulated, pasted-together PDF document to justify the detention of a subj to section 368 of the Criminal Code. Any administrative reliance upon technical service rules or temporal limitation periods is thor omnia corrumpit (fraud unravels everything); a statutory limitation clock cannot commence ticking upon an order that never legally

PART V: COMPARATIVE JURISDICTIONAL INTERPRETATIONS, ULTRA VIRES PRONOUNCEMENTS, AND CJC

28. The systemic procedural subversion identified herein is further contextualized by an established jurisprudential propensity by expansive, ultra vires authority when confronted with jurisdictional boundaries. In stark contrast to the restrained, legislativel application of rule 1(8) of the Family Law Rules operates to unlawfully impose significant monetary penalties without the req significant discourse among legal commentators, highlighting a schism in how judges approach non-compliance.

29. In Altman v. Altman, 2022 ONSC 4479 (the "Altman Decision") at paragraph 44, the Honourable Justice Faieta decisively con impose accumulating financial penalties for non-compliance beneath the umbrella of rule 1(8) of the Family Law Rules. Justice Fa may only ensue under the heightened procedural safeguards of formal contempt proceedings as enumerated within rule 31 of reasonable doubt and strict compliance with the doctrines established in Carey v. Laiken, 2015 SCC 17.

30. This rigorously exact jurisdictional constraint was identically affirmed by Justice Kraft in Monga v. Monga, 2024 ONSC 76 discordant ruling in DiPoce v. DiPoce, 2022 ONSC 2099 (the "DiPoce Decision"), wherein accumulating daily fines of $2,500 w deeply concerning pattern of administrative and judicial overreach. This jurisprudential propensity to exceed statutory authority arrest warrant within a family law registry conceptually consistent with a broader methodology of jurisdictional usurpation.

31. Furthermore, under the Criminal Proceedings Rules, originating documents must be electronically submitted and formally filed wi distinction between submitting a document via email for review and formally filing it upon the docket. The complete circumventior coupled with the funneling of the sworn information through improper, civil administrative channels, establishes an absolute jurisdi occurred coram non judice (before one who is not a judge of competent jurisdiction), cementing the resultant orders as incurable leg
32. Returning to the pervasive administrative delay detailed supra, while Ms. Simion previously represented that a response to this ac clear that this administrative compliance is being actively and improperly impeded by Madam Justice Shore. There exists absol Justice Shore to persistently hold up this process, as she has historically done with the undersigned and other litigants. Strict c individual is above the law, although Madam Justice Shore's entrenched pattern of lawlessness and the usurping of concurrent juris
33. While the undersigned respectfully acknowledges the finite resources and time constraints of the judiciary, this pattern of obstr necessitates immediate rebuke, severe sanction, and constructive remedies to prevent further deleterious harm to the public. The c malfeasance from public scrutiny cannot be tolerated within a functional democracy.
34. The capitulation of exclusive possession of a software-manipulated instrument to law enforcement absent the retention of ar constitutes an egregious breach of the Canadian Judicial Council frameworks. As codified within the Blueprint for the Security o (the "Judicial Information") must remain under the uncompromising, exclusive control of the judiciary, adhering to principles advanced by the executive branch that the digital transmission of the instrument to law enforcement seamlessly transfers th fundamentally misapprehends the constitutional architecture and is intellectually bankrupt. The frameworks establish an indiv preserve an immutable master record. A document wielded to orchestrate the deprivation of human liberty cannot simultaneou registry.

PART VI: CONCLUDING MANDATES AND PRODUCTION IMPERATIVES

35. The overarching objective of this formal requisition is the mandatory rectification of the fractured court record (the "Court adjudicative process must be immediately produced to rectify the landscape and successfully reconcile with the federal intelligence databases. The Originating Court Office is formally directed to provide the requested acta without further obfuscation or delay, th Principle.
36. Pursuant to the authoritative framework established in Hale v. Ontario Criminal Review Board, 2012 ONSC 1451, legal control— right to make the demand for production. Given that the Originating Court Office undeniably retains overarching legal control of this demand. The undersigned deeply respects the finite time and the remaining administrative hours of the current Chief Justice of Pares. Nevertheless, to the extent that this requisition continues to be met with administrative inertia, the undersigned shall be com attention of both the current Chief Justice and any successor Chief Justice by placing it immutably upon the file.
37. To definitively rebut the prima facie evidence of state-sponsored documentary spoliation, this requisition explicitly demands th natively generated prior to any external interception or GrapeCity SDK manipulation. I formally remind the Judicial Branch that an exhaustive forensic comparison against the previously disclosed, structurally corrupted artifacts, the internal Active Directory logs, their unadulterated authenticity.
38. The undersigned harbours no inherent desire to unnecessarily escalate this requisition; however, continued administrative silence Court Office wish to furnish a definitive date upon which the undersigned may expect—subject to explicit consent—the provis statutory fees (pursuant to section 7.1.1 of the MAG CSD Court Information Access Guide), such advisement must be transmitted pr
39. Failing receipt of the aforementioned documentation or a definitive timeline by the 15:00 hours deadline, the undersigned Furthermore, drawing upon the highly analogous jurisprudential precedent established by the formal complaint articulated by Just Paul Currie, the undersigned shall formally bring the profound misconduct and persistent obstructionist methodologies of Mada Justice of all of the courts of justice in Ontario.
40. The comprehensive, exhaustive nature of this formal disquisition has been meticulously crafted to politely yet comprehensively limine. This extensive documentation ensures that, to the extent that the undersigned is forced to escalate this matter outside of the perfectly crystallized and may be picked up expeditiously by the requisite oversight authorities.
41. I kindly remind you that Madam Justice Shore is not an agent, servant or employee of either the provincial or federal government the CLPA's. As such, all those appointed to the public service in Ontario remain bound to discharge their duties faithfully, honestl and Ontario.
42. In the interim, I will note that I will also be comparing the full Crown prosecutorial brief within its possession, control and/or c instance but certainly not now as of today's date. The same will be applicable to any and a
43. I await your response and production by three p.m. or I will be compelled in my own interest and the public interest to escala communications demonstrates your required compliance with executory and ministerial duties.
44. Should you need until the end of the business day to disclose the sought court documents, information, information assets (hard co respectful of the public purse.
45. Thank you.

Respectfully submitted,

Mr. Kevin A. McLean (B.A., J.D., CIM)
Applicant / Accused

Toronto, Ontario

Warm regards,

Mr. Kevin A. McLean (BA, JD, CIM)

Chartered Investment Manager

Email: mcleansettlement@gmail.com

Fax: 416.981.7117

Phone number: 647.370.9354

On Tue, Mar 24, 2026 at 4:41 PM Mr. Kevin McLean <mcleansettlement@gmail.com> wrote:

From: Mr. Kevin McLean mcleansettlement@gmail.com
To: Simion, Monica (MAG) Monica.Simion@ontario.ca
Cc: Marjadsingh, Natasha (MAG) Natasha.Marjadsingh@ontario.ca; The Honourable Mr. David Corbett, Deputy Attorney G
Date: March 24, 2026
Subject: SECOND URGENT FOLLOW-UP: Outstanding Request for Court Documents - SCJ 361 University Avenue (1st F

Wednesday March 11, 2026 with kind confirmation by Ms. Simion, Manager of Court Operations on Sunday, March 15, 202
Dear Ms. Simion, Ms. Marjadsingh, and Honourable Deputy Attorney General Mr. Corbett:

I am writing to formally follow up on my outstanding access request submitted to your court office under the Administration Access Guide (2019).
Please note that it has now been 13 days since my initial request was formally registered with your office. Furthermore, it ha on the evening of March 15, 2026, that she was reviewing the issues and would follow up with a response soon. I write this in the spirit of our ongoing access partnership.

As an accused and a self-represented party to this matter, I am entitled to receive copies of, inter alia, the Information/Indict your attention specifically to Section 7.1.1 of the MAG CSD Court Information Access Guide (2019), which mandates that ir request" (i.e., forthwith). Furthermore, the "Intake Court Endorsement" is unequivocally an endorsement, and pursuant to S entitled to a copy of this document without charge and within this immediate time period.
If there are any circumstances that require obtaining hard copies of these documents from physical storage, kindly advise s purse. I am entirely content to receive uncertified electronic copies from you at this juncture; if a comparison against the har date. Additionally, to the extent that any requested documents fall outside the scope of those provided free of charge, kindly may promptly tender payment to your Court Office.

Given the continued passage of time and the failure to provide a response appending the requisite documents to which I an herein. While I sincerely appreciate your work ethic and the heavy administrative demands placed upon your office, this pro Consequently, I am formally adding the Honourable Mr. David Corbett, Deputy Attorney General of Ontario, to this correspo ethical oversight.

I remind all parties of their professional, statutory, and prescribed obligations pursuant to the Public Service of Ontario Act, comprehensively cited in my Book of Authorities filed in reference to my applications (Form 1 and Form 5) which have been Rules.
The promulgation of the PSOA constituted a fundamental paradigm shift toward a decentralized, ethics-centric framework p institutional accountability, and the preservation of the public trust. In relation to these statutory obligations, I note the follow

1. The Role of the Ethics Executive and the PSC: Pursuant to the Ethics Regulation (O. Reg. 383/07), the Deputy Ministe public servants within the Ministry. Furthermore, Mr. Corbett concurrently sits as a Commissioner on the Public Service Cor definitive institutional guardian of the Merit Principle, mandated to ensure that employment practices and executive actions transparent.
2. The Structural Duality and Institutional Accountability: The Deputy Attorney General simultaneously acts as the ultim personnel (including the Court Services Division) while also serving as the ultimate arbiter of professional ethics. This conce configuration. The efficacy of the PSOA relies fundamentally upon the principle that those who exercise broad executive dis independent ethical standard. This structural duality demands unflinching, objective scrutiny to ensure that the administrativ prioritize executive self-exoneration over the revelation of administrative truth.
3. The Duty of Candour and Administrative Transparency: The pervasive administrative silence documented herein reg documents represents a systemic failure to rectify the record in limine. I explicitly note and confirm that Mr. Corbett was une destroyed at his direction. Consequently, the executive branch cannot utilize administrative inertia to circumvent a transpare documents, which must still reside within your custody and control.
Furthermore, while I am actively exhausting collateral avenues of inquiry outside of this specific non-FIPPA process, those e frames of reference to the underlying records. It remains an incontrovertible fact that the judiciary retains absolute custody a Consequently, the constitutionally protected Open Court Principle applies with full force to these records for the benefit of th administrative processes.

The maintenance of this structural duality without rigorous transparency constitutes a barrier to the Rule of Law. I require th sanctity of the court documents be preserved.

Kindly provide what was requested forthwith to this email in this email thread. Kindly advise whether or not you will do so or your immediate attention to this matter.

Respectfully,

Mr. Kevin A. McLean (BA, JD, CIM)

Warm regards,

Mr. Kevin A. McLean (BA, JD, CIM)

Chartered Investment Manager

Email: mcleansettlement@gmail.com

Fax: 416.981.7117

Phone number: 647.370.9354

On Tue, Mar 24, 2026 at 12:26 PM Mr. Kevin McLean <mcleansettlement@gmail.com> wrote:

From: Mr. Kevin McLean mcleansettlement@gmail.com
To: Simion, Monica (MAG) Monica.Simion@ontario.ca

Cc: Marjadsingh, Natasha (MAG) Natasha.Marjadsingh@ontario.ca

Date: March 24, 2026

Subject: URGENT FOLLOW-UP: Outstanding Request for Court Documents - SCJ 361 University Avenue (1st Floor), Toronto, Ontario

Dear Ms. Simion and Ms. Marjadsingh:

I am writing to formally follow up on my outstanding access request submitted to your court office under the Administration of Justice Act and the MAG

Please note that it has now been 13 days since my initial request was formally registered with your office. Furthermore, it has been 9 days since Ms. S she was reviewing the issues and would follow up with a response soon. I write this with continued thanks and gratitude for your efforts in the spirit of

As an accused and a self-represented party to this matter, I am entitled to receive copies of, inter alia, the Information/Indictment and any Endorseme 7.1.1 of the MAG CSD Court Information Access Guide (2019), which mandates that informations and indictments shall be provided "upon request" (i

Furthermore, the "Intake Court Endorsement" is unequivocally an endorsement, and pursuant to Section 7.3.1 of the Access Guide, I am strictly entitl immediate time period.

If there are any circumstances that require obtaining hard copies of these documents from physical storage, kindly advise so that we may remain resp uncertified electronic copies from you at this juncture; if a comparison against the hard copies is required, we can address that at a later date.

Additionally, to the extent that any requested documents fall outside the scope of those provided free of charge, kindly advise with an itemization and Court Office.

Given the elapsed time and the mandatory nature of these disclosures upon request, I kindly request that you provide the aforementioned Information address by no later than 3:00 p.m. today.

Thank you for your immediate attention to this matter and for your continued assistance.

Respectfully,

Mr. Kevin A. McLean (BA, JD, CIM)

On Mon, Mar 16, 2026 at 11:54 AM Mr. Kevin McLean <mcleansettlement@gmail.com> wrote:

> Dear Ms. Simion, and Colleagues:
> Thank you for your email late last night and for your continued diligence in this matter; your efforts are sincerely appreciated in the > Further to my giving and serving of the Form 1 Notice of Application under the Criminal Proceedings Rules upon the Originating C > access request a copy of the Certificate of Return issued by your Court Office to the Superior Court of Justice, 361 University Ave > maintaining or transmitting the same).
> As noted, "Copies of informations, indictments and judicial interim release documents shall be provided upon request to the accuse charged" (see: s. 7.1.1 of the MAG CSD Court Information Access Guide (2019)). As also noted, there was no judicial interim relea > Undertaking (Form 10), which is not a judicial document per se. I do provide the caveat that, if such a document exists unbeknowns
> It remains my position that the Certificate of Return constitutes an endorsement for the purposes of the fee schedule. Section 7.3.
> "Fees for copies of endorsements. Court staff must provide copies of endorsements to parties to a case or their lawyer at no charge
> The language of "endorsement" is not limited, and in my respectful view encompasses the Certificate of Return.
> To the extent that there are any documents outside the Information/Indictment, endorsements, or the Certificate of Return that you b > tender payment for those specific documents not covered by the categories of Information/Indictment and/or Endorsement—presum
> For organizational continuity, please provide all responsive court documents, papers, or other materials to me within this email thr
> Lastly, for clarity, I am not seeking certified documents. I will accept what you provide at face value or on its face, to borrow the la (SEPT 23 2024).
> Thank you again for your assistance. I await copies of the requested court documents to which I am entitled without charge or fee to > Respectfully,
> Mr. Kevin A. McLean (BA, JD, CIM)

> Yours faithfully,
>
> /KAM
>
> Mr. Kevin A. McLean (BA, JD, CIM)
>
> Sender's name: Mr. Kevin Alexander McLean (BA, JD, CIM)
>
> Sender's address: 410-775 King Street West, Toronto, Ontario, M5V 2K3
>
> Sender's Telephone Number: (647) 370-9354
>
> Sender's email address: mcleansettlement@gmail.com

On Sun, Mar 15, 2026 at 11:54 PM Mr. Kevin McLean <mcleansettlement@gmail.com> wrote:

> March 15, 2026

Via Electronic Transmission Private and Confidential

EXCLUSIVELY TO:

Superior Court of Justice (Ontario) (Toronto Region)

361 University Avenue,
1st Floor
Toronto, Ontario

Attention: Ms. Simion and Ms. Marjadsingh

SUBJECT: Kind response to your email of Sunday, March 15, 2026, with thanks

Dear Ms. Simion and Ms. Marjadsingh:

PART I: ACKNOWLEDGMENT OF RECEIPT AND JURISDICTIONAL CRYSTALLIZATION

1. Receipt of the electronic correspondence transmitted on the evening of Sunday, March 15, 2026, is hereby formally a promptitude and administrative courtesy demonstrated by the registry. In reciprocating such administrative alacrity, the p exceeding comprehensiveness to guarantee the unequivocally efficient utilization and optimal preservation of public reso Deputy Attorney General of Ontario (the "DAG"), has been formally excluded from the present and subsequent communi

2. Should adversarial counsel or a Reviewing Court postulate that the unilateral exclusion of the DAG at this e presumption that the chief law officer of the Crown is an indispensable party to matters engaging profound constitutional fundamentally flawed syllogism that impermissibly conflates executive oversight with the independent administrati substantive constitutional challenge necessitating formal notice to the Attorney General; rather, it constitutes a highly internal, exclusive operational custody of the Superior Court of Justice. To invite the executive branch into the judiciary apprehension of state-sponsored documentary manipulation forms the crux of the inquiry—would constitute an egr governance of these foundational records is assigned exclusively by law to the judiciary, subject to the plenary directi pursuant to the judicature sections of the Constitution Act, 1867 and section 76 of the Courts of Justice Act, RSO 1990, c C

3. Given the paramount constitutional implications of this matter, the absolute necessity of preserving public resour analogous to a Zero Trust Architecture—as explicitly codified within the Blueprint for the Security of Court Informa exposition of the jurisdictional and procedural irregularities currently contaminating the judicial repository is strictly nec artifact presented by an external executive actor can be inherently imbued with a presumption of regularity; absolute ver is a strict constitutional imperative.

4. The active engagement of the administration situated upon the first floor of the Superior Court of Justice facility at functionally solidifies its jurisdictional status. Exhaustive inquiries have unequivocally confirmed that disparate regi Ontario Court of Justice situated in Brampton (Central West Region), the Ontario Court of Justice at 10 Armoury Street, and the second and fourth-floor criminal intake registries of the Originating Courthouse—possess absolutely no respons the strictures delineated within rule 1.03 of the Criminal Proceedings Rules, the first-floor family registry is ipso facto the control of the contested foundational instruments.

5. While it may be postulated by a Reviewing Court that the mere exhaustion of disparate registries does not affirmative a restrictive syllogism ignores the fundamental doctrine of state accountability. The contested instrument bears the explic imprimatur of a Superior Court jurist. Consequently, the evidentiary burden shifts irrevocably to the Originating Courtho the instrument a complete extra-judicial fabrication. A court of record possesses an inherent constitutional duty to pol unchecked circulation of unverified mandates affecting the liberty of the subject.

6. Furthermore, should adversarial counsel attempt to rationalize the administrative deflection towards disparate venues- Armoury Street—by invoking the statutory transfer mechanisms delineated within section 599 of the Criminal Code, s mandates that the official possessing custody of the indictment, and all corollary writings and exhibits, shall transmit the ordered to proceed. However, the activation of this statutory transmission is strictly predicated upon the formal iss procurement of such an order fundamentally necessitates the prior execution of a formal application or motion, which, si of natural justice, specifically the mandatory provision of formal notice to the accused. It is an incontrovertible fac Consequently, in the absolute absence of a jurisdictionally sound transfer order, any purported transmission of the acta Ipso facto, the unbroken chain of custody and the unyielding obligation of retention remain inextricably affixed to the Ori

PART II: THE PROCEDURAL ANOMALY AND JURISPRUDENTIAL APPLICATION

7. Pursuant to the judicature provisions enshrined within section 96 of the Constitution Act, 1867, an intake court endo an administrative construct inextricably bound to the Family Law Rules, O Reg 114/99, remaining entirely anathema to penal architecture. A comprehensive jurisprudential review reveals a singular, highly anomalous instance of such termin the jurisdiction of the Ontario Review Board in the matter of Brown (Re), 2026 CanLII 10959 (ON RB) (the "Brown Deci

8. In the Brown Decision, the adjudicative body was confronted with an Intake Court Endorsement strictly in a post-arr health complexities and psychiatric remands subsequent to a lawful apprehension. Applying the incontrovertible legal pr factual matrix reveals a catastrophic procedural inversion. In the instant matter, the Intake Court Endorsement was weapo lawful warrant in the first instance. This artificial transposition of a post-arrest, family-centric administrative tool to autl 2024, renders the instrument manifestly ultra vires and void ab initio.

9. It may be hypothesized by adversarial counsel that such semantic deviations constitute mere clerical variances curable of the Criminal Code, or that they are shielded by the inherent jurisdiction of the Superior Court of Justice. This p administrative and constitutional law that inherent jurisdiction cannot contradict legislative will. The inherent jurisdiction explicit statutory preconditions precedent to the deprivation of liberty. An Intake Court Endorsement inherently lac evidentiary assessment commanded by section 504 of the Criminal Code. The formal admission by Mr. Sinnadurai, re form 2 information (the "Information") was ever formally laid or filed betwixt August and October 2024 entirely evisce of this foundational jurisdictional prerequisite ensures that the resultant adjudicative acts operate strictly coram non judice

10. Where the Superior Court of Justice is engaged, the strict procedural mandates of the Criminal Code necessitate "Indictment"). By necessary analogy to the procedures governing informations to obtain specialized search warrants an Code, such foundational instruments must still be formally submitted to the tribunal electronically. Pursuant to rule 1.03 Indictment explicitly incorporates an Information without restriction. Furthermore, rule 4.10 of the Criminal Proceedings What remains highly conspicuous is the deliberate statutory reliance upon the nomenclature "submitted" rather than "filed

11. The act of submitting the instrument ensures unequivocally that the Information or Indictment is immediately de Courthouse and its attendant court office. The Criminal Proceedings Rules remain notably silent regarding restrictive t reinforcing the absolute requirement of custody and control within the Originating Courthouse. This critical distinction be document must be submitted to a "court of record", a mandate that persists vigorously even by email subsequent to tl posture suggest that after-hours electronic submissions somehow obviate the necessity for institutional retention, such ar defined by its immutable repository; the electronic submission mechanism merely modernizes the conduit of transı institutional custody.

PART III: EXTRA-JUDICIAL BYPASS AND DIGITAL MANIPULATION

12. The forensic trajectory of the documentary evidence dictates that law enforcement personnel actively circumvented tl extra-judicial, oral directive was purportedly solicited in solitary chambers from a jurist of the Superior Court of Justice, l on October 2, 2024. This sequence of events was subsequently corroborated by Superior Court of Justice Recording Mar 2025.

13. This directive was subsequently reduced to writing by the first-floor registry personnel, transmitted electronically to t malicious digital manipulation via GrapeCity Documents for PDF software. The resultant artifact falsely masquerade synthesized long after the seminal docket dates of September 23, 2024, and October 2, 2024, and definitively modified sul

14. It could be advanced that assertions of digital manipulation and extra-judicial oral directives are inherently speculat requisition premature. Conversely, it is precisely the existence of anomalous, verifiable metadata—specifically the em recorded admissions from the Recording Management Office, that crystallizes the absolute legal necessity of this requisi judicial acta from the Originating Courthouse is the sole, constitutionally acceptable mechanism to definitively rebut th spoliation.

PART IV: CANADIAN JUDICIAL COUNCIL IMPERATIVES AND THE SEPARATION OF POWERS

15. The custody, classification, retention, and ultimate transparency of these judicially synthesized documents fall exclusi the plenary supervisory jurisdiction of the Chief Justice of the Superior Court of Justice. The administration is formal Judicial Council frameworks:

a. Blueprint for the Security of Court Information (7th Ed., 2024): Policy 1 explicitly reaffirms that administrative ind policy dictates that judicial information (the "Judicial Information") must remain under the uncompromising, exclusiv possession of a software-manipulated instrument to law enforcement—absent the retention of an uncorrupted master act breach of this doctrine.
b. Any proposition that the Canadian Judicial Council frameworks constitute mere administrative guidelines devoid c constitutional architecture. These policies are not aspirational directives; they constitute explicit codifications of the unv and the open-court doctrine. Consequently, should it be advanced by the executive branch that the digital transmission o the burden of archival retention, such an argument is intellectually bankrupt. The frameworks establish an indivisible, no immutable master record of all judicial authorizations.

c. Model Definition of Judicial Information (2020): The contested instrument categorizes strictly as adjudicative informati 3, encompassing all orders, endorsements, and warrants generated by a judicial officer. Such highly sensitive data cannot b d. Model Policy for the Classification of Court Information (2022): Endorsements and orders are explicitly classified as restricted court information (the "Restricted Court Information"). They must be reliably indexed, securely maint vigorously uphold the open-court principle. A document wielded to orchestrate the deprivation of human liberty cannot within the registry.
e. Model Policy for the Retention of Court Information (2022): Foundational records must be preserved indefinitely to "Court Record"). A tribunal of inherent jurisdiction cannot lawfully operate upon documents that mysteriously vanish fi utilized by state actors to justify an apprehension.

16. The doctrine of judicial independence is irrevocably entrenched within sections 96 through 100 of the Constitution A state demands an impenetrable separation betwixt the executive enforcement apparatus and the adjudicative branch. Regi authority of the Chief Justice, are legally bound to insulate this independence by ensuring that all adjudicative records rem

PART V: REQUISITION AND CONCLUDING MANDATES (IN THE PUBLIC INTEREST AND TO AVOID ANY F RESOURCES THROUGH NO FAULT OF MY OWN BUT IN THE SPIRIT OF THE ACCESS PARTNERSHIP)

17. The overarching objective of this formal requisition is the mandatory rectification of the fractured Court Record. It is originated materials to perfectly reconcile with the federal intelligence logs housed within the Royal Canadian Mounted P This meticulous reconciliation is pursued to ensure the utmost respect for governmental resources while excising the struc

18. What remains conspicuously outstanding is the immediate production of any endorsements and Informations and/or I the MAG CSD Access Guide (2019), alongside endorsements provided to an accused or party without fee.

19. I am also requesting any internal registry file numbers, and all information assets (the "Information Assets") gen Originating Courthouse. These elements fall squarely within the ambit of the open court principle (the "Open Court Prin

20. Section 2(b) of the Canadian Charter of Rights and Freedoms (the "Charter") explicitly protects the Open Court Prin judicial transparency that affords the public and the press the unassailable right to attend hearings, consult court files, a functional workings of the adjudicative branch (Canadian Broadcasting Corp v Named Person, 2024 SCC 21 at pa ["Sherman Estate"]).

21. This foundational Open Court Principle is deeply embedded within the common law tradition and warrants rigorous c as it fundamentally promotes the exhaustive and equitable discussion of public institutions, a mechanism irrevocably v Estate, supra at para 30; Ruby v Canada (Solicitor General), [2002] 4 SCR 3 at para 53; Canadian Broadcasting Corp v para 23; Edmonton Journal v Alberta (Attorney General), [1989] 2 SCR 1326 at 1339–40; BCGEU v British Columbia [1982] 1 SCR 175). Specifically, unfettered judicial openness actively deters systemic mischief and ensures unwavering p absolute transparency (Sherman Estate, supra at paras 39, 44).

22. Furthermore, the Open Court Principle is concurrently shielded, where contextually appropriate, by the constitutior section 7 and section 11(d) of the Charter.

23. The Open Court Principle strictly protects the freedom of the press to unconditionally access and meticulously report operates as the "eyes and ears" of the broader populace (Sherman Estate, supra at paras 1, 30, 39; Re Vancouver Sun, [2 only in the most exceptional of circumstances that countervailing interests may jurisprudentially justify any restrictive der

24. Crucially, the Open Court Principle exerts its mandatory application across all judicial proceedings, irrespective of the This dictates an impenetrable presumption of access extending concurrently to both criminal and civil hearings, and enc Vancouver Sun, supra at para 27), probate matters (Sherman Estate, supra at paras 44–45), and documentary court exhib SCR 65 at para 12; Canadian Broadcasting Corp v New Brunswick (Attorney General), supra; Hill v Church of Scientolo of such openness must be strictly delineated by formal, lawful judicial instruments—such as sealing orders, publication (Sherman Estate, supra at para 38)—none of which have been lawfully pronounced to preclude the production of the requ

25. Acknowledging the administrative complexities inherent in records extraction outside of the Information and/or Indic Court Office, piecemeal production of the requisitioned acta is acceptable.

26. It is expressly noted that this requisition proceeds under the inherent jurisdiction of the court and the Open Court Prin to the Freedom of Information and Protection of Privacy Act, RSO 1990, c F.31.

27. The administrative responsiveness exhibited thus far firmly indicates that this vital matter has successfully reached control of the requisite acta. Continued procedural compliance and the prompt remittance of the uncorrupted documents quo ante without any castigation of your Court Office per se. I apologize if earlier correspondence indicated the same prove or disprove certain facts which are now definitively established in the past.

28. Thank you for your efforts in the spirit of this "access partnership".

29. Thank you and have a good evening.

Respectfully submitted,

Mr. Kevin A. McLean (B.A., J.D., CIM)

On Sun, Mar 15, 2026 at 9:34 PM Simion, Monica (MAG) <Monica.Simion@ontario.ca> wrote:

> Thank you for your email. I am reviewing the issues you outlined and will follow up with a response soon.

From: Mr. Kevin McLean <mcleansettlement@gmail.com>
Sent: March 13, 2026 11:36 AM
To: Simion, Monica (MAG) <Monica.Simion@ontario.ca>; Marjadsingh, Natasha (MAG) <Natasha.Marjadsingh@ontario.ca>
Subject: Re: Follow up letter regarding my request for court documents (personal information) from yesterday's fax (SCJ 361 University Av

CAUTION -- EXTERNAL E-MAIL - Do not click links or open attachments unless you recog

Friday, March 13, 2026

To:
Superior Court of Justice (Ontario)
361 University Avenue, 1st Floor
Toronto, Ontario

Attention: Manager of Court Operations; Supervisor of Court Operations; and the Clerk of the Court assigned to the division led by Madam Justice Shore (T since 2020)

Re: Confirmation of Delivery of Materials – March 12, 2026 (Registered Mail)
Re II: Reconfirmation of the "Chambers" (Judicial, In-Person) Nature of the Ex Parte In Camera Hearing at SCJ – 361 University Avenue

Re III: residual

Dear Sirs/Mesdames/Other Gender-Neutral Pronouns:

I write to confirm that, in addition to the emails and attachments previously transmitted, a true copy of my initial request to your court office was delivered b a.m. today. I look forward to receiving your response in relation to the matters identified above.

I further confirm that a copy of the aforementioned letter and email was faxed to the Chief Justice of the Superior Court of Justice at the appropriate fax num

I also reconfirm the representations made by Ms. Amirthalingam, who has been helpful in certain respects, that the Ex Parte In Camera Hearing in que materials exist for transcription for purposes of my registered Authorized Transcript Order. As you are aware, the SCJ RMO performs all administrative d the Toronto Region.

In light of those admissions and related representations, and as will be evident from the False Information Package, any Criminal Code Form 2 Informati the Superior Court of Justice, given that all such matters are processed exclusively through the Criminal E-Intake Portal. Accordingly, I presume th

Information.

To assist—consistent with the "access partnership" contemplated under access-to-information and personal-information legislation—I have provided a star five. As you will observe, the removal by the Toronto Police Service of pages 4 and 5 of 6 was plainly designed to prevent disclosure of the Informant's ide pages.

Further, and again in the spirit of cooperation and efficient use of public resources, I reconfirm that Mr. Sinnadurai, counsel to Madam Justice Shore, adm never filed in any court of the Ontario Court of Justice between August and October 2024, and that no record of any such Informant existed in the file whatsoever. This is consistent with the falsities contained in the materials.

As you know, a Justice of the Peace cannot issue an Intake Court Endorsement, nor can such an endorsement be issued "in the form of" an Intake Court and inherent jurisdiction regularly issue Intake Court Endorsements.

It is most unique if not completely foreign to criminal law and certainly the Criminal Code.

Given the timing reflected on the document and the time required for clerical staff to receive instructions from Madam Justice Shore, it appears that the like police officer(s) in charge to the chambers of Judge to have the Information sworn and then have the Intake Court Endorsement reduced to writing, then Detective in question.

It remains unknown whether the relevant division at SCJ 361 University Courthouse retained a paper copy of the sworn Information and/or Indictment but I on the 2nd floor (not the first) only has files for which there were filed, via email, to its email address the "E-Indictment" which includes an Information or the SCJ Judge at issue, the Superior Court Of Criminal Jurisdiction in which she operates, but for the Divisional Court which does not have Inherent Jurisdi is laid (not necessarily filed) and prior to that a criminal proceeding commences on the swearing or declaring of an Information. However, if laid via telec Criminal Code, ss. 508.1).

I have since learned additional information regarding the scope of this Intake Court Endorsement, and I therefore look forward to receiving a copy so that I m

Kindly advise how long it will take to provide me with a copy of the Intake Court Endorsement via email as I am entitled to the same as the accused. As yo request, and I therefore request confirmation of the expected timing for production of the Criminal Code Form 2 Information as well.

If I fail to hear from you before the deadline today or after two p.m. (by no later than three p.m.) as I appreciate your hours open to the public, I will brin direct you accordingly.

Thank you for your immediate attention to the same.

Respectfully,

Mr. Kevin A. McLean (BA, JD, CIM)

On Thu, Mar 12, 2026 at 4:57 PM Mr. Kevin McLean <mcleansettlement@gmail.com> wrote:

> DATE: March 12, 2026
>
> TO: Manager & Supervisor of Court Operations and/or the clerk of the court at the time, Superior Court of Justice ("SCJ") 361 University Ave
>
> CC: The Honourable Chief Justice of the Superior Court of Justice (Ontario) pursuant to this being a matter assigned by law to the judiciary
>
> VIA EMAIL AND FACSIMILE
>
> TO: Ms. Monica Simion, Manager of Court Operations (monica.simion@ontario.ca)
>
> CC: Ms. Natasha Marjadsingh, Supervisor of Court Operations (Natasha.Marjadsingh@ontario.ca)
>
> CC: the "clerk of the court" as defined under the Criminal Code and by reference to ss. 3.1(1) and (2) of the Criminal Code
>
> CC: The Honourable Chief Justice of the Superior Court of Justice (Ontario)
>
> FROM: Mr. Kevin A. McLean (B.A., J.D., CIM)
>
> Reply by email or fax

SUBJECT I: CONFIRMATION – MANDATORY PRODUCTION OF INFORMAT
ENDORSEMENTS, AND RELATED COURT RECORDS; CHA SUBJECT II: TECHNOLOGICAL SILOING; CUSTODY AN SUBJECT III: DUTY OF RECTIFICATION; PRESERVATION OF THI SUBJECT IV: MATTERS ASSIGNED BY LAW TO THE JUDICIARY SUBJECT TO
OF THE CHIEF JUSTICE OF THE SUPERIOR COURT OF JUS

PART I: INTRODUCTION AND THE ARCHITECTURAL COMPOSITION OF THE CORRUPTED RE

1. I confirm delivery of the fax request to the SCJ 361 University Courthouse ("Originating Courthouse") but within the division of the fa as it relates to the issuance of a "warrant in the first" by the Intake Court Endorsement [Sic] or by an Intake Court Endorsement pe

Intake Court Endorsement is not a species of criminal law per se but of family law which has led me back to this location but I now a had no records of any “filings” with it and no copies of any arrest warrant per se.

2. A copy of said letter is also attached.
3. I have been exceedingly comprehensive herein as I have reasonable grounds to believe that it is nearly indisputable that your “co “endorsement” of which I am entitled and certainly not the Intake Court Endorsement [Sic] that was filed by the TPS in November neither laid nor filed in August to October 2024 as admitted by Mr. Sinnadurai in June and July 2025.
4. In short, there is a slight correction from yesterday which does not negate the request having been made but rather that it Courthouse did NOT falsify the Intake Court Endorsement [Sic] but rather has the original endorsement. Provide it forthw forthwith.

5. This correspondence is respectfully submitted in formal continuation and necessary, constitutionally mandated escalation from an record on March 11, 2026. In meticulous consideration of the paramount constitutional implications delineated herein, and the nev Shore concerning the purported, extralegally generated “Intake Court Endorsement” [sic], it is deemed strictly necessary and cons Superior Court of Justice (Ontario). This deliberate escalation is executed to guarantee appropriate institutional oversight, to trig highest judicial office in the province, and to facilitate the unimpeded discharge of the Court’s plenary supervisory jurisdiction over it Chief Justice is required to ensure that the absolute sanctity of the judicial repository remains inviolate against extra-judicial manipul Superior Court from being illicitly co-opted as an instrument of state-sponsored procedural obfuscation.
6. The forensic, technological, and jurisprudential evidence heretofore adduced incontrovertibly substantiates that the instruments pres the Indictment, and the structurally discordant associated judicial endorsement—were not precipitated through any constitutionally Conversely, it is submitted that these highly irregular instruments were clandestinely synthesized via the first-floor family and courthouse (the “Originating Courthouse”). This profound architectural displacement constitutes a fundamental, systemic subversi deliberately insulated from the rigorous procedural safeguards of the criminal registry, has been improperly and unlawfully weapo liberty of the subject.
7. A rigorous forensic extrapolation of the document metadata and underlying algorithmic structure renders it highly probable that while endorsement within its functionally isolated family law silo, secondary state actors—specifically the Toronto Police Service (the “T subsequently appropriated, exported, and maliciously manipulated the document utilizing GrapeCity Documents for PDF 6.0.2.0 (speculative; it is unequivocally corroborated by analogous, digitally manipulated documentation previously disclosed by the latte thereby establishing a documented, systemic, and highly concerning pattern of extralegal digital interference by state enforce antecedent proceedings.

8. The resultant digital artifact, formally designated as Information Package 4810 998 24 48129169-00 (the “False Information Packa bypass: the clandestine, technologically obscured offboarding of a criminal instrument into a civil technological silo. This delibe Integrated Court Operation Network (the "ICON"), flagrantly evades the mandatory strictures of the Criminal Proceeding Rules, SI/2 the open-court safeguards fundamentally designed by Parliament to preserve the historical inviolability of the court of record. The serves no legitimate administrative purpose and operates solely to conceal the genesis of the penal process from independent judicia
9. Such extraordinary procedural transmogrifications precipitate profound, far-reaching, and deleterious consequences upon the broa deeply offend the Open Court Principle as comprehensively articulated and defended by the Supreme Court of Canada in She Decision"), the Canadian Charter of Rights and Freedoms, Part I of the Constitution Act, 1982, being Schedule B to the Canada Act RSO 1990, c C.43, the Administration of Justice Act, RSO 1990, c A.6, the Privacy Act, RSC 1985, c P-21, the Legislation Act, 200 Court to rectify, reconstruct, and safeguard the absolute authenticity of its repository. The clandestine synthesis of penal instruments administrative chambers, fundamentally offends the centuries-old jurisprudential maxim that justice must not merely be done, but done.

PART II: ANTICIPATORY REBUTTALS AND THE EXHAUSTION OF LOGICAL COUNTER-ARGUM

6. It is anticipated that opposing counsel, or alternatively, the Presiding Divisional Court President, might hypothesize that the anomalo electronic artifact resulting from a province-wide software modernization initiative executed internally by the Ministry of the Att fundamentally eviscerated by the formal, written admission of Ministry representative Mr. Sinnadurai, who unequivocally conceded under the Criminal Code, RSC 1985, c C-46 (the "Criminal Code") involving Court Officer Frugoni-Rojas from August to October 20 update, legitimately processed instruments would undoubtedly populate the central ICON repository in their mandated chronolog failure to locate any corresponding documentation, ipso facto, confirms the irregular, localized, and extra-judicial genesis of the hypothesis intellectually bankrupt and factually unsustainable.
7. Furthermore, it might be erroneously posited by adversarial parties that state law enforcement actors lack the requisite incentive c instrument when standard judicial avenues theoretically remain accessible. This postulation fails in limine. The forensic record den apparatuses to rapidly synthesize a warrant to retroactively sanitize an antecedent, unlawful deprivation of liberty, thereby effecti artificially establish a status quo ante following a primary intake refusal by a constitutionally appointed judicial officer. The technol object structures provides the exact vector for this jurisdictional overreach, operating in direct, flagrant, and egregious contraver condemned by the Supreme Court of Canada in R. v. Grant, 2009 SCC 32. It is a well-established socio-legal tenet that state ac procedural failures, occasionally resort to extralegal mechanisms to secure process; the forensic fingerprint of GrapeCity SDK circumvention.
8. A tertiary counter-argument may suggest that the nomenclature "Intake Court Endorsement" reflects mere localized vernacular semantic deviations ought to be overlooked de minimis under the guise of administrative flexibility or clerical variance. This as jurisdictional and constitutional consequence. A criminal judicial officer is statutorily bound by the strict construction of the Criminal instrument “on its face”—a highly permissive, administrative standard distinctly and exclusively reserved for civil and family registries 194. Conversely, section 504 of the Criminal Code explicitly mandates a rigorous, substantive prima facie inquiry into the evidentiary process. The conflation of these diametrically opposed standards is not merely semantic; it is indicative of profound, structural cross lower threshold of civil processing has been improperly and unconstitutionally applied to authorize severe, ongoing deprivations of lib

PART III: BEST EVIDENCE RULE AND THE INTEGRITY OF ELECTRONIC DOCUMENTS

9. Where a physical warrant of arrest is rendered strategically or administratively unavailable by the Crown—whether through allege persists actively upon the Canadian Police Information Centre (the “CPIC”) registry to justify the continued restriction of an accused’s Evidence Rule to systematically reconstruct the underlying judicial acta. The withholding of the primary instrument by state actors d of any secondary evidence proffered to justify the ongoing detention or encumbrance of the subject, as the state cannot be malfeasance.
10. Pursuant to the long-standing common law doctrine governing secondary evidence, the court is authorized to accept clerk’s m determinative proof of an outstanding warrant. However, such judicial acceptance is entirely, strictly predicated upon the irrefuta integrity of the surrogate materials. Where the secondary materials bear the undeniable hallmarks of forgery, post-production manipu reduced to an absolute nullity, and they must be summarily struck from the record.

11. Furthermore, pursuant to the explicit provisions of section 31.2(1) of the Canada Evidence Act, RSC 1985, c C-5, read in inextric 2000, c 17, the judiciary may theoretically rely upon the statutorily presumed systemic integrity of the electronic documents syste However, where the electronic system exhibits profound, demonstrable structural corruption—as evidenced by the GrapeCity SDK r distinct textual elements, and fundamentally missing cryptographic hashes—the statutory presumption of systemic integrity is irrepa back to the state to prove the instrument's authenticity beyond a balance of probabilities, a burden that simply cannot be discharged
12. In standard, uncorrupted practice within the family law silos utilizing highly regulated systems such as Case Center or CaseLines, (the “Family Law Rules”) rigidly dictates the algorithmic affixation of a verified blue digital seal alongside the authenticated guaranteeing the exact source, temporal origin, and unbroken chain of custody of the document. The absolute absence of these "PKI") markers within the False Information Package demonstrates incontrovertibly that it was improperly exported from the Cas fundamentally compromised by external software prior to its illicit, retroactive deployment against the accused.

PART IV: INHERENT JURISDICTION, EQUITABLE RECTIFICATION, AND SPOLIATION

13. The Superior Court of Justice is a tribunal of inherent, original, and plenary jurisdiction derived directly from section 96 of the Con constitutional jurisprudence such as MacMillan Bloedel Ltd. v. Simpson, [1995] 4 SCR 725, this expansive jurisdiction is not m absolutely essential to the maintenance of the rule of law. When a judicial record is discovered to have been fraudulently manufactur state, the Court is bound by a non-delegable, constitutional duty to expunge the corruption and synthesize an authentic record functioning as an engine of fraud, while its own administrative machinery is co-opted for ultra vires law enforcement purposes.
14. It must be strictly delineated, however, that Inherent Jurisdiction and Equitable Jurisdiction are conceptually and functionally di administrative bodies to subvert the unambiguous, mandatory statutory intent of the Criminal Proceeding Rules, nor can they be where none historically or statutorily existed at the time of the purported issuance. Inherent jurisdiction exists as a shield to prot emphatically not a sword to cure fatal Crown procedural defects or to breathe legal life into an Irremediable Nullity.
15. The equitable remedy of rectification empowers the judiciary to rigorously revise written instruments to accurately reflect the true, his reality. If a clandestine adjudicative proceeding transpired within private administrative chambers rather than an open court, the instrument that falsely asserts a regularized process occurred in open session. The Court is affirmatively mandated to retrieve the ur digital evidence against active, ongoing spoliation, and reconstruct the record ab initio to reflect the true, unvarnished reality of the pr
16. As powerfully articulated by the Supreme Court of Canada in R. v. Hayes, [1989] 1 SCR 44 (the "Hayes Decision"), the judiciary pos to reconstruct a defective, absent, or incomplete record—in that specific instance, a missing jury charge—utilizing narrative reconstr foundational principles enumerated in the Hayes Decision apply with equal, if not exponentially greater, force to the foundational ir authorize the initial deprivation of liberty.
17. Moreover, the robust jurisprudence established in Marcos v. Lad, 2021 ONSC 4900 affirms, without equivocation, that the Superi sanction the fabrication of evidence and the deceptive manipulation of legal instruments. The clandestine introduction of the GrapeC ecosystem constitutes a profound abuse of process that immediately triggers the Court's highest disciplinary and remedial jurisdictior
18. Any institutional refusal or calculated administrative reluctance to immediately preserve these specific, critical electronic artifacts c actionable, state-sponsored spoliation of evidence. In strict alignment with the principles extracted from McDougall v. Black & De obfuscation, or withholding of electronic evidence by a state apparatus irreparably prejudices the constitutional rights of the accused Charter. Furthermore, such deleterious actions unequivocally and instantly trigger the Crown's mandatory first-party disclosu expansively prescribed in R. v. McNeil, 2009 SCC 3, thereby rendering the proceedings susceptible to a judicial stay under section 2

PART V: LAYING VERSUS FILING AND THE COMMENCEMENT OF PROCEEDINGS

19. The semantic, procedural, and jurisdictional distinction between the "laying" of an Information and its subsequent clerical "filing foundational constitutional cornerstone to Canadian criminal jurisprudence. Pursuant to section 504 of the Criminal Code, the appointed Justice initiates the proceeding and strictly requires the active, independent judicial evaluation of the informant's reason mandatory, subsequent clerical submission of said authorized document to the Registrar under the Criminal Proceeding Rules to per
20. In the present matter, it has been formally, undeniably, and irrevocably acknowledged by state representatives that no Information u Ontario Court of Justice (the "OCJ") or the Superior Court of Justice criminal registries between the material dates of August and process via the mandated penal architecture is entirely fatal to the legal existence of the entire proceeding, rendering it a pure le judicial authority.
21. Given that the OCJ Armoury Street Courthouse mysteriously and inexplicably generated a novel, secondary file number on Oc proceeding is strictly necessitated to resolve the procedural paradox. The absolute absence of said antecedent file within the de highly disturbing conclusion that the proceeding was administratively harbored within the first-floor family registry of the Originating Justice Shore presided as the family law team leader within this exact environment, operating wholly outside the purview, scop jurisdiction.

PART VI: STATUTORY PRONOUNCEMENTS AND ADMINISTRATIVE DELEGATION

22. It is absolutely imperative to thoroughly contextualize the rigorous application of section 3.1 of the Criminal Code, which dictates th from the exact moment it is pronounced, irrespective of its immediate reduction to formal writing. This provision fundamentally empha that justice is dispensed publicly and concurrently.
23. In the seminal case of R. v. Harris, 2004 ABQB 205 (the "Harris Decision"), the Court confirmed that the oral pronouncement fr effectively eliminating the historic common law delay between judicial utterance and subsequent clerical filing. Application of this ri fatal paradox for the Crown: as no oral pronouncement ever occurred within the confines of an open, publicly accessible court, t artificially validate the existence of the False Information Package fails entirely in limine.
24. Similarly, in R. v. Brooks, 2021 ONCJ 717 (the "Brooks Decision"), the Court affirmed that section 3.1(2) conceptually empowers the of the judiciary, but solely to accurately reflect a lawful order already made. However, this narrow administrative extension cann judicial authorization was never lawfully procured, or where the foundational jurisdictional prerequisites remain wholly unfulfilled. Th conceivable circumstances, eclipse or substitute the non-delegable judicial function of independently assessing reasonable and prob
25. Furthermore, in R. v. Gledhill, 2020 ONCJ 412 (the "Gledhill Decision"), the Court forcefully utilized section 3.1 to establish precis section 11(b) of the Charter. The application of the highly scrutinizing analytical framework derived from the Gledhill Decision to the embedded deep within the unalterable metadata of the False Information Package manifest at precisely 11:48:25 AM and 12:59:5(the unionized lunch closures universally mandated for court administrative staff across the province. This indisputable temporal rea of a lawful, open-court pronouncement having occurred at those exact moments, further irrevocably corroborating the existence of a solitary chambers entirely without a court reporter, public access, or procedural regularity.

PART VII: JURISDICTIONAL OVERREACH AND IRREMEDIABLE NULLITIES

26. The False Information Package purportedly involves the authorization of a Justice of the Peace who is formally assigned by an Or 1990, c J.4, specifically and exclusively to the Central West Region (Brampton). Nevertheless, this specific judicial officer purport Region without the absolute requisite geographic transfer order having been formally executed, signed, and gazetted pursuant to sec
27. Such a flagrant administrative transmogrification constitutes an Irremediable Nullity and represents a quintessential, textbook mani Mirzoyan, 2019 ONSC 3862, and drawing upon foundational, unshakeable historical precepts robustly articulated in R. v. Jarma betwixt distinctly legislated judicial regions absent a formal, written section 599 order are strictly impermissible, statutorily barred, emanating from a tribunal fundamentally lacking strict territorial and geographical competence is a legal nullity ab initio, renderi unlawful, arbitrary, and actionable under section 9 of the Charter.

PART VIII: TECHNOLOGICAL SILOING AND THE FORENSIC METAMORPHOSIS

28. The cryptographic, structural, and forensic analysis of the False Information Package reveals deep, systemic architectural deviations demonstrating instead a catastrophic structural collision between modern civil drafting practices and the strict, archaic requirements
29. The ICON database, exclusively mandated for the processing of OCJ criminal matters, rigorously requires a strict, sequential seve eIntake systems securely operated by police, and programmatically generates Form 2 instruments complete with immutable, c provenance. Conversely, the FRANK system, utilized extensively and almost exclusively by the Superior Court family division, op solely with the Justice Services Online portal—a civil processing system completely devoid of the necessary penal processing ca required for warrants.

30. The False Information Package is forensically contaminated with a myriad of irreconcilable anomalies: a non-compliant six-digit iden terminology within a purportedly criminal instrument, computation drifts explicitly tied to the specific calculation methodologies c programmatic +1 day algorithmic error unique to civil time-computation software), and the undeniable, deeply embedded programma
31. It is critically observed that the requisite standard of review herein evaluates the evidence on a balance of probabilities, a thresh concatenation of mismatched footers, the bizarre presence of thirteen disparate, clashing font encodings indicative of multiple docu the judicial signature was stripped entirely from the document—yielding a fatal "Item already has an owner" object exception withi cavil that the document is an amalgamated, stitched, and entirely fraudulent instrument. This specific, highly technical exception is attempts to erroneously stitch together pre-existing, distinct PDF object dictionaries that contain conflicting structural hierarchies a was artificially assembled post-facto.
32. A true, judicially valid cryptographic digital signature mathematically hashes the precise byte-structure of a document, irrevocably SOLGEN or the TPS subsequently utilized GrapeCity software to digitally "stitch" the civil endorsement into an unsworn, blank cryptographic hash is instantaneously and permanently invalidated. The absolute absence of any verifiable PKI validation or unb incontrovertible, forensic proof of unauthorized, post-production manipulation by state entities operating entirely outside of the author

PART IX: CUSTODY, CONTROL, AND CPIC AUDIT TRAILS

33. The governing jurisprudence concerning the production of state and judicial records dictates that overarching legal control, rather tha standard for compelling production. This fundamental, unyielding principle is comprehensively articulated in Hale v. Ontario Crimina the Supreme Court of Canada in Canada (Information Commissioner) v. Canada (Minister of National Defence), 2011 SCC 25, transferring physical custody of records to ancillary agencies.
34. As extensively elucidated in the authoritative framework of Dagg v. Canada (Minister of Finance), [1997] 2 SCR 403, the definition technologically broadly to encompass all underlying digital architecture, active metadata, deleted artifact fragments, and networ instrument is artificially sequestered in a silo, technologically displaced, or intentionally deleted from active outward-facing database over the infrastructure and is constitutionally obliged to produce the surviving metadata to expose the procedural irregularity and halt
35. Concurrently, the CPIC offline historical database maintains an immutable, multi-layered, and cryptographically secure audit trail of binding Order MO-4542 by the Office of the Privacy Commissioner of Canada, the Royal Canadian Mounted Police (the "RCMP") e is legally bound to fulfill formal Privacy Act requests. A targeted query into Personal Information Bank RCMP PPU 005 will definiti encompassing all ADD, MODIFY, and CANCEL operations—that permanently capture the precise Terminal ID, originating IP addres User ID responsible for maliciously injecting this Irremediable Nullity into the national enforcement apparatus.

PART X: PUBLIC INTEREST ISSUE – IS THIS A SYSTEMIC ISSUE?

36. It must be forcefully observed that a profound, overarching public interest issue is fundamentally engaged herein, necessitating imm circumvention of penal procedural architectures by state actors. The Ministry of the Attorney General Court Services Division asserting that: "Warrants of arrest (also known as Warrants in the First Instance) may or may not be filed with the court... If a warra only publicly accessible after the accused has been arrested..." This generalized administrative directive is structurally nonsensical a mandatorily required by law to securely retain a true, unalterable copy of the foundational acta, irrespective of whether seconda instruments within divergent jurisdictional courthouses.
37. It is respectfully submitted that a documented modus operandi of the TPS has materialized, evidencing a deeply entrenched sys analogous authorizations equally capable of being issued by a Justice of the Peace or an Ontario Court Judge—directly from jurisdiction. The tactical preference for this irregular avenue is manifestly designed to intentionally circumvent the integrated, meticul Mr. Sinnadurai in formal correspondence dated June 25, 2025, and July 4, 2025, the investigating detective or arresting officer r "Warrant in the First Instance"), which is subsequently and maliciously manipulated via external software prior to its eventual, signific

IN CHAMBERS

38. In the alternative, should the Crown or the state affirmatively posit that the adjudicative process transpired entirely within the privat Madam Justice Shore would have necessarily reviewed the sworn Information absent the retention of a physical copy with predominantly and explicitly in her designated capacity as the Family Team Leader, Justice Shore exercises a highly robust admini structural assignment and coordination of judicial duties amongst the bench. Given the expansive, time-sensitive scope of this admin administrative latitude, time, and inherent authority to rapidly review the Information and issue the corresponding arrest warrant from be expeditiously transitioned along the administrative chain of custody, effectively offboarded to the registry clerks for immediate proc archived within the judicial office. Nevertheless, the mere transience of the physical document across the judicial desk does not co paramount, non-delegable duty to maintain a permanent, immutable record of the authorization within the Originating Courthouse.

LEGAL ANALYSIS: TRANSMISSION OF AN INFORMATION AND SECTION 599

39. The fundamental inapplicability of section 599 of the Criminal Code to the present factual matrix must be unequivocally established. to legally justify the absolute absence of a transfer order or the systemic failure to transmit the record from the Superior Court of Ju bankrupt. Section 599(1) explicitly and strictly applies solely to "a court before which an accused is or may be indicted." As the Crow not face an indictment. Consequently, section 599 is statutorily inapplicable to summary conviction proceedings in limine. Furtherm Venue" provision, historically designed to facilitate the geographic relocation of a jury trial (e.g., transferring proceedings from Toro pre-trial publicity or localized risk. It was never intended by Parliament, nor can it be legally contorted by the Crown, to serve as a initial charging document from the swearing judicial officer to the provincial intake registry.
40. The procedural architecture dictating the movement of an Information from the Superior Court of Justice to the Ontario Court o jurisdiction of Ontario, all criminal proceedings necessarily commence within the OCJ, irrespective of the ultimate severity of th imperative for a warrant, an Information is sworn before a "justice" pursuant to section 504 of the Criminal Code. While this functio Court judges are statutorily recognized as ex officio justices. Therefore, an SCJ judge—even one principally presiding upon the far informant's oath and authorize the warrant. Crucially, however, the mere swearing of the Information before an SCJ judge does not l trial purposes. There exists no formal statutory requirement for a court-to-court transfer order. Once the SCJ judge executes the transports that sworn Information and administratively files it with the OCJ clerk's office (the Intake Court). The onus of filing rests a the docket for the accused's inaugural appearance. Because the matter never formally resided within the SCJ trial architecture, a tra instrument sworn before a judicial officer acting solely in their limited capacity as a justice.
41. A highly critical, constitutionally fatal procedural defect materializes regarding the physical and digital alteration of the foundati subsequently and inexplicably replaced by an "Intake Court Endorsement" (colloquially termed a backing sheet), coupled with th constitutes a profound irregularity. A rigorous legal distinction must be drawn between administrative endorsement pages and th merely as an administrative ledger for clerks and justices to contemporaneously record remands, bail parameters, and Crown elec document sworn under oath. If law enforcement physically or digitally excised the specific page containing the substantive counts th replaced or appended to it post-oath, the instrument is hopelessly compromised. A sworn Information cannot be materially altere pages following the administration of the oath. If amendments are necessitated prior to the first appearance, law enforcement is originally sworn before the SCJ judge diverge in any capacity from those subsequently filed within the OCJ, it is respectfully subm actually sworn under oath, thereby generating a fatal jurisdictional flaw that entirely vitiates the court's authority over the document a
42. Regarding the temporal parameters for the transmission of the Information, the distinction between the swearing and the filing of t October 2, 2024, and an inaugural appearance date of November 13, 2024, the legal sequence is strictly defined. To secure the pursuant to section 504 of the Criminal Code strictly prior to the October 2 execution. The subsequent physical or electronic tra administrative duty. The absolute, unyielding deadline for law enforcement to file the instrument with the OCJ registry is strictly prior t appearance (November 13, 2024). Section 505 of the Criminal Code dictates that an Information must be laid "as soon as practical notice or undertaking." Because the instant Information was theoretically previously sworn to secure the warrant, the police possess to guarantee the physical paperwork was successfully deposited at the OCJ intake desk to populate the docket.

43. Applying the statutory mechanics of the Criminal Code and the rigid strictures of court administration to the specific factual matrix i constitutional imperative of the court of record must be fiercely affirmed. As a tribunal of inherent jurisdiction, the Superior Court of , and is ultimately responsible for maintaining the initial, signed arrest warrant. Should the Form 2 Information have been laid via tele (Telewarrants), the physical instrument would not have been filed at the SCJ synchronously. The informant would swear the oath rem process. If, however, the police neglected to provide a draft Form 7 (Arrest Warrant) ab initio, the administrative execution of the University Avenue architecture, the first-floor administrative clerks execute these exact components. In such a scenario, a clerk of t warrant on behalf of Justice Shore, subsequently transmitting an electronic copy to the Detective in Charge. Notwithstandi telecommunication or in private chambers by Justice Shore, and despite the electronic transmission of a copy to law enforcement f Justice) permanently retains the original. Because the SCJ is a constitutionally entrenched court of record and inherent jurisdiction electronic record—must immutably reside within the repository of the issuing court.

PART XXI(A): THE POTENTIAL COUNTER-ARGUMENT ON SECTION 599 WHEN (AVOIDING THE REQUIREMENT OF AN APPLICATION BY THE CROWN OR ACCU THE RECORD) (RESULT REMAINS THE SAME)

44. The present issue concerns profound procedural irregularities and jurisdictional defects effectuated by law enforcement, which fu circumvention of established procedural mandates, coupled with the unauthorized substantive alteration of sworn testimonial instrum

POTENTIAL Inapplicability of Section 599 of the Criminal Code

45. The postulation that section 599 of the Criminal Code, RSC 1985, c C-46 (the "Criminal Code") governs the transmission of the ch The statutory architecture of section 599 is strictly delineated to govern matters wherein an accused is, or may be, indicted before the
46. Given the explicit prosecutorial election to proceed via summary conviction, the foundational statutory prerequisites of section 599 said provision ultra vires. It may be advanced by the Crown, or queried by the Presiding Divisional Court President, that section 59 administrative transfer of documents between judicial levels. However, such a proposition is fundamentally flawed and contrary to unambiguously functions as a specific change-of-venue mechanism reserved exclusively for jury trials traversing territorial divisions inter-jurisdictional transmission of an initial charging document.

The Jurisdictional Mechanics of Information Transmission

47. Pursuant to section 504 of the Criminal Code, the swearing of an information (the "Information") before a jurist of the Superior Cou does not ipso facto vest trial jurisdiction within the Superior Court of Justice.
48. The subsequent transmission of the Information to the Ontario Court of Justice is effectuated not by formal judicial decree or transf police duties. The law enforcement apparatus bears the unequivocal burden of physically or electronically remitting the sworn Info formally instantiate the matter upon the judicial docket.

Material Alterations to Sworn Testimonial Instruments and Irremediable Nullities

49. The unilateral extraction and subsequent substitution of the third page of the Information by law enforcement—a document encom the prosecutorial election—constitutes an Irremediable Nullity.
50. A sworn Information is a solemn testimonial instrument; any substantive post-oath modification administered by law enforcem foundational integrity of the document in limine, rendering it void ab initio. Opposing counsel may attempt to characterize this substit curable under the curative provisions delineated within section 601 of the Criminal Code. Such a counter-argument must be ur extinguishes the very existence of the oath, transforming the document into an unsworn nullity that cannot be retroactively cured by a
51. Consequently, any subsequent judicial appearance compelled by such a fatally defective instrument occurs strictly Coram Non Judic

Statutory Timelines Governing the Transmission of the Information

52. The statutory exigencies delineated within section 505 of the Criminal Code mandate that an Information be laid as soon as pract appearance.
53. Predicated upon the initial apprehension effectuated on October 2, 2024, the law enforcement authorities were imbued with an abs ensure the physical or digital manifestation of the Information was successfully docketed at the Ontario Court of Justice. The deliber during the intervening weeks created an undocumented administrative chasm, thereby affording the authorities an illicit opportunity to
54. The Originating Court of Record and the Retention of the Arrest Warrant
55. The Superior Court of Justice, operating as a constitutionally entrenched court of inherent jurisdiction and an official court of record, i
56. Whether the arrest warrant (the "Arrest Warrant") was authorized via telecommunication pursuant to section 508.1 of the Crimi originating courthouse unequivocally retains the master record. The assertion advanced by court administration that the Superior incongruous with the foundational legal doctrine of the Presumption of Regularity pertaining to judicial record-keeping.
57. The failure of the arresting officers to produce the properly executed Form 7 Arrest Warrant upon apprehension, relying instead up court endorsement (the "Intake Court Endorsement"), directly contravenes section 29 of the Criminal Code, which commands the p

Procedural Irregularities, Forum Shopping, and Abuse of Process

58. The procurement of the Arrest Warrant from a jurist presiding within the family division of the Superior Court of Justice—rather than scrutinized portals overseen by an experienced criminal Justice of the Peace at the Ontario Court of Justice—evinces a calculated forum shopping.
59. By exploiting the geographical proximity of 52 Division to the courthouse situated at 361 University Avenue, Toronto, the law enforc enumerated within the Criminal Proceedings Rules for the Superior Court of Justice (Ontario), SI/2012-7 (the "Rules"). It is a wel incongruent with the requisite jurisdictional authority or established procedural mandates, the maxim Factum A Judice, Quod Ad Offic
60. Furthermore, the alleged substitution of documentation featuring the unauthorized signature of an Ontario Court of Justice of the P Such obfuscation destroys the status quo ante, thereby necessitating immediate judicial intervention by the reviewing court to de restore the integrity of the administration of justice. All applicable jurisprudence supporting this rigorous standard of documenta Authorities at Tab 1 and Tab 2.

PART XII: FORMAL REQUISITION FOR IMMEDIATE PRODUCTION

44. Predicated upon the exhaustive factual, deeply forensic, and sweeping jurisprudential foundation rigorously delineated above, it is digital artifacts, and metadata logs be produced to the undersigned with absolute, uncompromising immediacy within your custody a Review Board (1999) (ONCA):

    a. The unadulterated judicial endorsements, specifically including the natively generated “Intake Court Endorsement” e environment, prior to any external interception, export, or GrapeCity SDK manipulation;

    b. The original, mathematically verifiable Criminal Code Form 2 Information or Criminal Code Form 4 Indictment, comp certifications originating from the moment of purported issuance;

    c. c. Any physical or digital arrest warrant, process issuance record, or pre-enquête material that historically precede stitching process;

    d. All server-side execution logs, Active Directory authentication records, system routing documents, machine-readabl utilized by the Originating Courthouse and secondary state actors to synthesize the False Information Package;

    e. All corresponding RCMP PPU 005 CPIC transactional audit logs detailing the specific User IDs, Terminal IDs, IP a modification, or maintenance of the contested warrant upon the national registry.

45. Compliance with this formal requisition is stringently demanded by the cessation of regular business hours on the exact date of th delayed, or otherwise circumvented through administrative inertia, a formal, written declaration of absolute denial is strictly re declaration, the undersigned shall reasonably, logically, and irrevocably conclude that institutional, administrative, and adjudicative implicitly confirmed. Such confirmation thereby necessitates immediate, elevated appellate and constitutional interventions to safeg breach of the rule of law.

46. Kindly confirm or deny forthwith whether or not the SCJ 361 University Avenue (1st floor) had or has a copy of any endorsements inv Shore is the team leader of the family division of that courthouse, she can provide a simple “yes” or “no”. If no response is provided,

47. Since this matter involves not only the open court principle under our Charter, and the judiciary has custody and control of recor
Judicature Sections of the Constitution Act, 1867, it is a matter that is assigned by law to the judiciary and the staff must be dire (apparently not something well known to the TPS with its Grape.City.PDF manipulation) to the Primus Inter Pares of the SCJ.

48. With all of these steps taken by Justice Shore involving my life, liberty and security, if she had no role in the same, she is entitled Registrar, Manager of Court of Operations, Superior and/or clerk of the court) However, before he does retire, there is much impor and court clerks as required by our Constitution Of Canada including compliance with Constitution Act, 1867, and Constitution Act, 19

49. Kindly inform me positively or negatively by the deadline tomorrow as I am entitled to the same forthwith but nonetheless I reserve al

Respectfully submitted,

/KAM

Mr. Kevin A. McLean (B.A., J.D., CIM)

Applicant / Accused

Toronto, Ontario

2 attachments

T-2448-26 - Kevin Alexander McLean v. Royal Canadian Mounted Police et al - Stamped Copy - May 19 - 2026.pdf
1066K View as HTML Scan and download

Rule 317 Request - T-2448-26 - McLean v. RCMP - Applicant - Mr McLean - 19-May-2026 - SIGNED - FILED - SERVED.pdf
585K View as HTML Scan and download

Tab B

5929

Gmail Mr. Kevin McLean <mcleansettlement@gmail.com>

Re: Mr. Kevin A. McLean v. His Majesty The King - involving, inter alia, an Intake Court Endorsement issued in chambers (without recording device apparatus) involving, inter alia, the CJ of the SCJ (Mr. Justice Morawetz) in the Fall of 2024 - confirmation of service and personal service and filing today

Mr. Kevin McLean <mcleansettlement@gmail.com> Thu, May 21, 2026 at 9:47 AM
To: "Simion, Monica (MAG)" <monica.simion@ontario.ca>, "Marjadsingh, Natasha (MAG)" <Natasha.Marjadsingh@ontario.ca>

URGENT AND FINAL NOTICE

DELIVERED VIA ELECTRONIC MAIL

TO: Ms. Monica Simion

Manager of Court Operations

Superior Court of Justice – Toronto Region

361 University Avenue

FROM:

Mr. Kevin A. McLean (BA, JD, CIM)

Applicant / Self-Represented

DATE: May 21, 2026

SUBJECT: Notice of Default Regarding Mandatory Rule 43.03(3) Certificate – Notice of Application and Constitutional Issues RE: His Majesty The King v. Mr. Kevin A. McLean (Originating Court File at the Originating Courthouse involved at the Originating Court Office: Unknown; Police Case ID: 45197 (RCMP (Toronto West Detachment located in Milton, Ontario) (nota bene: which is oddly geographically in proximity to the fictitious justice of the peace in Mr. George Jiri of the OCJ Brampton Courthouse (who worked in major crimes and human trafficking before appointment to being a JP in 2024 (January) which works with the RCMP on a various cross-jurisdiction and joint operations due to jurisdictional issues involving human trafficking)

Dear Ms. Simion:

This correspondence serves to formally demand immediate compliance with the mandatory obligations prescribed by Rule 43.03(3) of the Criminal Proceedings Rules of the Superior Court of Justice (Ontario).

As institutional records will verify, the Manager of Court Operations was formally served approximately one month ago with a comprehensive Form 1 (Notice of Application) and Form 5 (Notice of Application and Constitutional Issue, including Schedule A). Concurrent service was effectuated upon the former Chief Justice. All procedural requirements mandated by the Criminal Code and the Criminal Proceedings Rules have been strictly observed.

5930

The receipt of the Form 1 activated the statutory obligation incumbent upon the Manager of Court Operations. Pursuant to Rule 43.03(3), there is a mandatory directive to "forthwith" transmit the record and the requisite certificate to the clerk of the court where the application is returnable.

Presently, a state of non-compliance has persisted for approximately thirty days, thereby exceeding any reasonable administrative timeframe. The substantive hearing regarding the constitutional relief and damages sought against the Crown and other respondents is scheduled for June 19, 2026, which is now less than thirty days away.

As delineated in the application materials, this matter is returnable before the Superior Court of Justice at the Newmarket Courthouse (Central East Region). This venue selection is predicated upon a documented apprehension of bias and conflicts of interest concerning the Toronto Region judiciary, including specific justices and the former Chief Justice. This jurisdictional transfer remains a legally sound necessity and does not vitiate the administrative duty of the Toronto Region office to transmit the requisite files.

In the event that the registry's position is that no such record exists within its custody or control, the statutory framework requires the immediate issuance of a formal "nil" certificate confirming this absence. Upon the receipt of such a certificate, reliance will be placed upon Rule 43.03(7) to petition a presiding judge at the Newmarket Courthouse for an order directing a further or amended return. Nonetheless, something is better than nothing and will obviate any follow-up from my side to you. To confirm this demand is independent of my entitlement to the Information/Indictment upon request and without fee including any endorsement (see: section 2 and 7 of the MAG (Ontario) Guide regarding access to court documents).

For contextual clarity, it has been established that the Police Case ID (45197) referenced in the materials corresponds to an investigation by the Royal Canadian Mounted Police (Toronto West Detachment). Distinct, albeit collateral, proceedings are concurrently before the Federal Court of Canada concerning this agency; a copy of the stamped Notice of Application from that proceeding is enclosed herewith to demonstrate the authenticity of the filed materials. Furthermore, evidence suggests administrative irregularities regarding digital signatures and document generation software (specifically, the use of the RCMP software development kit, GrapeCity.Documents.PDF 6.0.2.0) associated with the originating materials. Should an internal Superior Court of Justice file number exist for this matter, it is formally requested that it be disclosed immediately. It is further noted that an “Information Number” is frequently withheld until an accused is arrested or brought before the court, whether at the originating or transferee court level.

Final Ultimatum:

Should the requested Rule 43.03(3) certificate, or alternatively a formal "nil" certificate, not be provided by noon today, it will be necessary to escalate this procedural default. Initially, this will involve drawing the matter to the attention of the current Acting Chief Justice, The Honourable Madam Justice McWatt, to request administrative intervention to correct the non-compliance.

Failing an immediate administrative resolution, an urgent Motion for Directions will be filed at the Newmarket Courthouse, seeking a peremptory order to compel compliance within twenty-four hours. Additionally, it must be noted that the sustained delay in producing the foundational record may be advanced in substantive arguments as evidence of state-induced obfuscation, constituting a continuing breach of rights protected under the Canadian Charter of Rights and Freedoms.

However, internal escalation will be pursued initially to establish a comprehensive record of administrative conduct across governmental branches, noting that the Manager of Court Operations retains exclusive statutory discretion over these specific obligations.

The specific reference to the originating Police Case ID is necessitated by observed administrative anomalies, including the involvement of Court Officer Frugoni-Rojas, whose publicly disclosed remuneration (via the Public Sector Salary Disclosure Act) indicates a substantial compensation increase in 2025. Put another way, the reference to the TPS Occurrence Number is the False Information Package, which is re-attached for your ease of reference, is yet another fiction - de facto and de jure.

While standard administrative delays within court registries are understood, the prolonged deferral in this matter suggests a departure from standard procedural equity and statutory compliance.

Compliance with the statutory duties and professional oaths of office, including the obligation to execute all laws impartially and consistently, is anticipated. Time remains of the essence. Govern yourself accordingly.

I reserve the right to rely on this correspondence for any lawful purpose including the above purposes and costs along with further damages for my damage and loss which is bordering on cruel and unusual treatment (not punishment) (see: section 12 of the Charter).

Thank you kindly.

Sincerely,

Mr. Kevin A. McLean (BA, JD, CIM)

5232

On Fri, May 1, 2026 at 4:43 PM Mr. Kevin McLean <mcleansettlement@gmail.com> wrote:

DATE: May 1, 2026
SENDING METHOD: Via Electronic Mail (Email)
CLASSIFICATION: Private and Confidential; For Intended Recipient(s) Exclusively TRANSCRIBED VIA: Dictated with voice recognition software (an absolute reservation of rights is maintained for the retroactive correction of any administrative or transcription anomalies)
SUBJECT: Confirmation of removal of the SCJ Civil Intake Email Account in perpetuity and return to normalcy with respect to the non-waivable requirements under the Criminal Code and Criminal Proceedings Rules of SCJ Ontario

I. IDENTIFICATION OF SENDER AND TRANSMISSION COORDINATES

Reply to: Mr. Kevin A. McLean (BA, JD, CIM) (DOB: March 25, 1983; Driver's Licence: M16514331830325)
Reply via Electronic Mail: mcleansettlement@gmail.com
Reply via Facsimile: 416.981.7117
Telephonic Coordinates (applicable exclusively in the event of systemic failure of electronic mail or facsimile): (647) 370-9354
Sender's Status: Applicant, Self-Represented

II. RELEVANT PARTICULARS OF THE PROCEEDING

- Style of Cause: His Majesty The King v. Mr. Kevin A. McLean (BA, JD, CIM) (the "The King v. K.A. McLean")
- Temporal Genesis of the Criminal Proceeding: Year 2024
- Designated File Enumeration: 24-457197 (or encompassing the corresponding numerical string or digits), which is to be precisely and definitively clarified by the court office (the "Court Office") where the criminal proceeding (the "Criminal Proceeding") was ostensibly commenced in 2024, being that of the Superior Court of Justice, 361 University Avenue Courthouse.
    - Nota Bene: It is formally declared that this enumeration remains structurally and jurisprudentially distinct from any "information number" generated or provided by the non-originating courthouse (the "Non-Originating Courthouse") situated at the Ontario Court of Justice, 10 Armoury Street. Furthermore, it is asserted that said enumeration did not constitute a Toronto Police Services Board occurrence number as improperly contained within the erroneous and fabricated information package (the "False Information Package" or "Fictitious Information Package").
- Originating Court Office: 1st Floor of the Superior Court of Justice, 361 University Avenue Courthouse.
- Originating Courthouse: Superior Court of Justice, 361 University Avenue Courthouse.
- Locus of the Ex Parte In Camera Hearing(s): Conducted clandestinely within the judicial chambers (office) of an undisclosed Superior Court of Justice jurist (Chief Justice Morawetz), occurring on or around and/or on or around after Friday, September 20, 2024, and prior to October 2, 2024.

III. STATUTORY AND PRESCRIBED FILING REQUIREMENTS

- Geographic Imperative of Filing: The prescribed locus for filing is strictly mandated to be the court office (the "Court Office") where the proceeding was commenced, herein defined as the originating court office (the "Originating Court Office") within the originating courthouse (the "Originating Courthouse"). This remains absolute, save for instances where filings are executed in limine during the course of a hearing, or where the rules explicitly dictate otherwise, precisely as mandated by Rule 4.05(1) of the Criminal Proceedings Rules of the Superior Court of Justice (Ontario).
- Statutory Exception to General Filing Jurisdiction: An explicit exception to the aforementioned Rule 4.05(1) of the Criminal Proceedings Rules of the Superior Court of Justice (Ontario) is invoked pursuant to Rule 4.05(3) of the Criminal Proceedings Rules of the Superior Court of Justice (Ontario), which dictates that an affidavit, record, or factum designated for utilization upon the hearing of an application shall be filed with the court office (the "Court Office") located in the jurisdiction where the hearing is scheduled to be held.

- Deemed Date of Filing: May 1, 2026.

IV. DESIGNATED RECIPIENT

TO:

The court office (the "Court Office") where the criminal proceeding (the "Criminal Proceeding") was commenced.
This transmission is executed in strict accordance with the mandatory strictures of the Criminal Proceedings Rules of the Superior Court of Justice (Ontario) (the "Criminal Proceedings Rules"), enacted pursuant to Section 482(1) of the Criminal Code, RSC 1985, c C-46, which are universally applicable to all proceedings, inherently encompassing an application (see: Rule 1.01 of the Criminal Proceedings Rules of the Superior Court of Justice (Ontario))
SUPERIOR COURT OF JUSTICE OF ONTARIO

Toronto Region

361 University Avenue Courthouse

Floor: One (1)

Toronto, Ontario M5G 1T3

ATTENTION: The Manager of Court Operations, Ms. Monica Simion (with formal copies directed to the Supervisor of Court Operations, Ms. Natasha Marjadsingh) for the Originating Court Office

V. NATURE OF TRANSMITTED INSTRUMENT and time of submission

Type of Document: Email
Deemed Date of Filing: Friday, May 1, 2026 at 440 pm. (on or around)

Dear Ms. Simion and Ms. Marjadsingh:

1. It is with a commitment to unyielding procedural rectitude that this correspondence is directed to your respective offices. Under customary and tranquil administrative circumstances, a formal expression of contrition would undoubtedly be proffered for appending your offices to preceding electronic correspondence that was ostensibly extraneous to your designated purview. However, it must be forcefully articulated that the genesis of this procedural misfortune—and the most bafflingly irrelevant and disjointed electronic missive ever received by the Applicant in the context of these proceedings—was not catalyzed by the Applicant.

2. The inescapable inferences drawn from that administrative deflection emanating from the civil intake (the "Civil Intake") are entirely self-evident. It is hereby formally confirmed that the aforementioned civil intake (the "Civil Intake") electronic address has been permanently excised from all prospective communications. This excision is necessitated to ensure the Applicant's unyielding compliance with the strictures imposed by the Criminal Proceedings Rules of the Superior Court of Justice (Ontario). Said rules unequivocally mandate that the Applicant serve and file originating processes strictly within the originating court office (the "Originating Court Office") where the impugned adjudication was conducted, and where any warrant, subpoena, compulsory directive, or intake court endorsement (the "Intake Court Endorsement") was precipitously rendered.

3. Consequently, a steadfast and uncompromising adherence to all statutory, regulatory, and prescribed requirements shall be perpetually maintained by the Applicant. It is judicially acknowledged that navigating this labyrinthine jurisdictional matrix undoubtedly constitutes a highly irregular and unique administrative encumbrance for the esteemed recipients of this correspondence, acting in your respective capacities as Manager and Supervisor of Court Operations. Nevertheless, it must be recognized that the Applicant is saddled with this constitutionally fraught predicament through absolutely no fault of his own.

4. By inexorable operation of law, it remains the non-delegable and solemn duty of the Manager of Court Operations at the originating court office (the "Originating Court Office") to formally execute the requisite certificate upon the Form 1 Notice of Application and to certify the same under the strict penalty of perjury. This certification process acts as a necessary predicate to the satisfaction of the Form 22 Requisition, the efficacy of which is wholly contingent upon the precise enumeration and indexation of all relevant documents, instruments, papers, physical evidence, and all other items touching upon the factual matrix of this matter.

Nota Bene (I) - Anticipatory Rebuttal on Certification Jurisdiction: Should the administrative apparatus attempt to disavow its obligation to certify the Form 1 Notice of Application on the pretext that the referenced file enumeration does not formally reside within its localized registry database (due to fraudulent obfuscation or systemic compartmentalization), such a defense is fundamentally eviscerated by the doctrine of omnia praesumuntur rite et solemniter esse acta. The originating court office (the "Originating Court Office") cannot utilize its own internal record-keeping anomalies—or the deliberate concealment of an intake court endorsement (the "Intake Court Endorsement")—as an administrative shield to evade its statutorily prescribed duty of certification. The physical genesis of the coercive order irrevocably commands the locus of the certification.

Nota Bene (II) - Constructive Bailment of Judicial Records: Furthermore, under the equitable and structural extrapolation of the doctrine of constructive bailment concerning judicial records, the originating court office (the "Originating Court Office") is perpetually bound as a fiduciary to account for all instruments of state coercion birthed within its physical precincts. An administrative failure to categorize an ex parte judicial act does not extinguish the registry's absolute liability to produce the record of that act upon proper requisition.

5. It is formally confirmed that the Applicant possesses no inherent power, equitable right, or juridical privilege to waive, abrogate, or otherwise modify any mandatory statutory imperatives delineated under the Criminal Proceedings Rules of the Superior Court of Justice (Ontario). Consequently, the precise ambit of the documents, instruments, and records residing within the custody or ultimate control of the Manager of Court Operations, and the corresponding scope of her solemn certification, shall be strictly and unilaterally determined by her office. Upon a subsequent judicial review of said certification, the necessity for an amended return may crystallize; however, any such responsive procedural maneuver shall be held in abeyance pending the close of business on Monday, May 4, 2026. Following this temporal threshold, diligent inquiry and subsequent follow-up shall be effectuated directly with the Clerk of the Court at the designated adjudicative forum where the Applicant's respective Notices of Application are scheduled to be heard.

6. In light of the unfortunate and dilatory detour precipitated by the aforementioned errant electronic correspondence—a maneuver which squandered a minimum of three hours of collective adjudicative time, causing significant prejudice to the Applicant—it is rigorously anticipated that by the close of business on Monday, May 4, 2026, formal confirmation shall be provided demonstrating that the executed certificate has been transmitted, at minimum electronically, to the Clerk of the Court at the Superior Court of Justice in Newmarket, Ontario.

7. This orchestrated obfuscation fundamentally underscores the imperative necessity of having drafted, served, and filed a novel Form 1 Notice of Application and Form 5 Notice of Application and Constitutional Issue, thereby neutralizing any prospective conflicts of interest. The blatant institutional maneuvering and substantive confusion evident in the afternoon's correspondence from the civil registry incontrovertibly validates the Applicant's prior apprehensions. The separation of these proceedings to the Central East Region acts as the sole bulwark against localized administrative contamination.

8. While this electronic transmission possesses an inherent informality when contrasted with sworn affidavits, its immediate dispatch is an absolute necessity to guarantee that all relevant procedural practice notations are formally recorded. It is imperative that your respective offices are fully seized of these constitutional and prescribed imperatives prior to the cessation of today's business operations, thereby crystallizing the administrative record.

9. An absolute, unqualified, and continuing reservation of rights is maintained to rely upon the instant correspondence for any lawful objective, including, but not limited to, the incontrovertible substantiation of strict procedural compliance and the preservation of the judicial record.

Thank you for your anticipated and mandatory compliance with the prescribed Criminal Proceedings Rules and the Form 1 of the Criminal Proceedings Rules with respect to the FORTHWITH certification and provision of documents, records, exhibits, papers and things that touch this proceeding.

DRAFTED AND EXECUTED BY:
Mr. Kevin A. McLean (BA, JD, CIM)
Applicant, Self-Represented

Warm regards,

Mr. Kevin A. McLean (BA, JD, CIM)

Chartered Investment Manager

Email: mcleansettlement@gmail.com

Fax: 416.981.7117

Phone number: 647.370.9354

On Fri, May 1, 2026 at 4:08 PM Mr. Kevin McLean <mcleansettlement@gmail.com> wrote:

> DATE: May 1, 2026
>
> Sending method: Via Email
>
> Classification: Private and Confidential

5036

Dictated with voice recognition software (reservation of rights for correction of any administrative errors)

SUBJECT: Authoritative Procedural Clarification involvig an errant sender of an email this afternoon which has no relevant to this criminal proceeding (on its face), Confirmation of Service upon the Chief Justice, and on the Manager of Court Operations at the Originating Court Office at the Originating Courthouse (see: SCJ 361 University Avenue, 1st Floor)

I. IDENTIFICATION OF PROCEEDINGS AND RECORD OF INSTRUMENTS EXAMINED

It is hereby mandated that the subsequent pronouncements serve as the formal and authoritative response to the preceding electronic correspondence. It is affirmed that no initial electronic transmission was effectuated on this date; however, it is definitively determined that the procedurally correct chain of correspondence is annexed hereto for the preservation of the judicial record. The meticulous preservation of the adjudicative history is paramount to ensuring that all structural irregularities and unauthorized `acta` (the "Acta") are systematically documented and subsequently addressed before a competent tribunal.

The following instruments and records have been meticulously reviewed, catalogued, and relied upon in the formulation of this comprehensive legal directive:

Item	Nomenclature and Description of Legal Instrument	Temporal Designation
1.	Electronic Correspondence Chain Initial Emails - Confirming Service - McLean v The King	April 30, 2026
2.	Electronic Correspondence Chain CONFUSED RESPONSE - WRONG DEPT - SCJ CIVIL INTAKE	May 1, 2026
3.	Form 1 - Notice of Application	April 29, 2026
4.	Form 5 - Notice of Application and Constitutional Issue	April 29, 2026
5.	Form 22 - Requisition	April 30, 2026

II. DISAVOWAL OF ADMINISTRATIVE FRAMEWORKS, CONSCIOUSNESS OF GUILT, AND CONFIRMATION OF CRIMINAL JURISDICTION

1. It is unequivocally declared that the substantive matters canvassed herein operate entirely independently of any administrative access requests governed by the Freedom of Information and Protection of Privacy Act or analogous regulatory statutes. The attempt to subordinate a paramount criminal constitutional challenge to the pedestrian constraints of an administrative transparency regime represents a fundamental misapprehension of statutory and prescribed hierarchies. Conversely, all actions, applications, and filings detailed hereunder are executed strictly and exclusively pursuant to the Criminal Code, RSC 1985, c C-46, and the Criminal Proceedings Rules of the Superior Court of Justice (Ontario). Nonetheless, it is explicitly confirmed that the Applicant shall continue to exercise all rights independently with respect to any FIPPA and Non-FIPPA access mechanisms, as such endeavors remain procedurally sovereign from the constitutional litigation.

2. Furthermore, the bizarre and procedurally incoherent electronic response emanating from the `civil intake` (the "Civil Intake") apparatus—which absurdly referenced the provision of "Ontario Court of Justice records"—sustains an unavoidable inference of institutional obfuscation, profound administrative panic, and an acute consciousness of guilt. By erroneously citing the provincial court level while nominally operating as a superior court registry, the administrative apparatus has definitively validated the assertion of profound jurisdictional incompetence. It is a foundational legal truth that ex nihilo nihil fit; an entity utterly devoid of the requisite statutory mandate cannot spontaneously generate lawful judicial process, nor can it legitimately dictate the trajectory of a superior court constitutional challenge.

3. It is submitted that this deliberate mischaracterization of a constitutional application as a routine civil records request operates as a calculated, bad-faith stalling tactic. This stratagem is transparently engineered to exhaust the temporal mandate of Chief Justice Morawetz prior to his imminent vacation of judicial office on May 15, 2026. Such a constructive refusal to adjudicate constitutes an egregious affront to the rule of law, representing a deliberate institutional firewall designed to insulate the Chief Justice from constitutional scrutiny during his final tenure. The resulting prejudice necessitates immediate judicial intervention to restore the lawful `status quo ante` (the "Status Quo Ante").

4. Consequently, it is formally pronounced that following the transmission of the instant correspondence, the `civil intake` (the "Civil Intake") electronic correspondence address shall be permanently excised and excluded from all future communications. The registry's contumacious refusal to comprehend the constitutional magnitude of these proceedings renders any further engagement with said department a futile exercise in administrative circularity. Notwithstanding this pronounced administrative failure, this final response is proffered in the spirit of uncompromising professional courtesy, ensuring that such procedural aberrations do not recur, even proceeding upon the charitable, albeit improbable, assumption that the deflection was an innocent bureaucratic misadventure.

III. EFFECTUATION OF SERVICE, THE FAMILIAL APPARATUS, AND PRONOUNCEMENT OF PROCEDURAL NULLITIES

5. Formal confirmation is hereby provided that Geoffrey B. Morawetz, Chief Justice of the Superior Court of Justice, was duly and impeccably served on April 30, 2026, precisely at 9:30 a.m. It is a foundational axiom of procedural jurisprudence that a judicial officer is not personally served via face-to-face physical confrontation. Rather, service is lawfully, definitively, and completely effected upon a presiding judge when the requisite originating instruments are deposited at the relevant `court office` (the "Court Office"), meticulously adhering to the strictures delineated within Rule 5.02(1)(c) of the Criminal Proceedings Rules of the Superior Court of Justice (Ontario). This statutorily prescribed requirement was flawlessly executed at 9:30 a.m. yesterday.

6. Consequently, it is declared that this perfected service operates entirely independently of the electronic correspondence at issue, which functioned merely as an ancillary and confirmatory mechanism. The requisite certificates and affidavits of service have been comprehensively prepared and finalized, thereby establishing an indisputable prima facie record of strict statutory and prescribed compliance. Service upon the Chief Justice operates as the ultimate institutional safeguard, ensuring that the highest echelons of the provincial judiciary are seized of the pervasive structural irregularities alleged herein.

7. Service was similarly effectuated upon the Manager of Court Operations at the physical locus identified as the first floor of 361 University Avenue, Toronto, Ontario. It is a matter of incontrovertible geographical and administrative record that this specific locus operates exclusively as the familial jurisprudence intake office. The localization of this judicial administration is inextricably tied to Madam Justice Shore. Consequently, the utilization of this specific familial apparatus for the execution of a clandestine, ex parte criminal endorsement inextricably binds the aforementioned judicial officer to the structurally fraudulent machinations of Chief Justice Morawetz. This surreptitious maneuver unequivocally engages the doctrine of fraus omnia corrumpit, a deeply entrenched principle elucidated in Lazarus Estates Ltd. v. Beasley, [1956] 1 QB 702 (the "Lazarus Estates"), which dictates that fraud unravels everything, vitiating the foundational legitimacy of any resulting order or endorsement and stripping the participating jurists of any presumptive administrative immunity.

8. It is judiciously acknowledged that Ms. Simion may not have occupied the station of Manager of Court Operations at the originating `court office` (the "Court Office"), situated on the first floor of the 361 University Avenue courthouse, during the genesis of these infractions. Nevertheless, by virtue of her current administrative incumbency, she is now inescapably seized of the statutory and prescribed requirements flowing from said office, bearing the burden of this institutional legacy entirely independent of her own personal fault or origination. For an extended duration, the administrative apparatus eschewed honesty and forthrightness, choosing instead to cloak these proceedings in institutional opacity. However, this dark chapter of judicial administration has been incontrovertibly exposed and substantiated through exhaustive forensic analysis and the rigorous pursuit of alternative evidentiary conduits. Irrespective of these sustained obfuscations, it is categorically affirmed that valid service was lawfully effected upon the incumbent Manager of Court Operations of the originating `court office` (the "Court Office") and, at the absolute minimum, upon one of the judicial officers who presided over the impugned, clandestine `intake court endorsement` (the "Intake Court Endorsement").

   Nota Bene: Should the respondent Crown or the administrative apparatus aver that the effectuation of service at the familial registry is structurally defective on the grounds that it lacks the requisite criminal jurisdiction to process such instruments, such an anticipated counter-argument is fundamentally paralyzed by the doctrine of estoppel. The administrative apparatus cannot simultaneously claim the jurisdictional competence to issue a clandestine `intake court endorsement` (the "Intake Court Endorsement") from said physical locus while concomitantly denying the jurisdictional competence of that identical locus to receive the statutorily prescribed service requisite to challenge that very endorsement. The originating administrative node, regardless of the fraudulent nature of its initial assumption of authority, remains the mandatory forum for the filing of the originating process to effectively and lawfully bind the participating actors to their nullified `acta` (the "Acta").

9. It was explicitly articulated by the personnel operating therein that said location does not constitute the formally prescribed `court office` (the "Court Office"). In light of this admission, any prior adjudication, determination, or intake court endorsement allegedly rendered at said location is, ipso facto, a complete nullity. Such administrative or judicial actions are entirely bereft of jurisdictional foundation, having been conducted entirely ultra vires, and must be characterized comprehensively as coram non judice.

10. The distinction between a mere procedural irregularity and an absolute jurisdictional nullity is not a superficial semantic discrepancy; it is the fundamental demarcation between a curable administrative defect and an incurable usurpation of state power. A direct contravention of the Criminal Proceedings Rules of the Superior Court of Justice (Ontario) by an unauthorized, phantom familial registry engenders an incurable statutory and prescribed defect, rendering the resulting legal instruments entirely void ab initio. It is an indisputable tenet of constitutional law that no state entity may rely upon fabricated instruments or jurisdictional usurpations to circumvent the fundamental guarantees enshrined within Section 7, Section 8, and Section 11 of the Canadian Charter of Rights and Freedoms (the "Charter").

11. This assertion of jurisdictional nullity is forcefully buttressed by the constitutional principles articulated in Reference re Residential Tenancies Act, 1979, [1981] 1 SCR 714 (the "Residential Tenancies Reference"). In said jurisprudence, the Supreme Court of Canada affirmed the inviolability of the core jurisdiction of superior courts, establishing that an entity, tribunal, or unconstituted registry lacking the requisite constitutional, statutory, and prescribed jurisdiction cannot validly execute judicial functions. Applying this deeply entrenched doctrine, any adjudicative determinations emanating from an unauthorized or fictitious forum fail the structural, historical, and institutional tests of judicial competence.

IV. ADHERENCE TO PRESCRIBED RULES AND PROSPECTIVE ADJUDICATION

12. Notwithstanding the aforementioned jurisdictional infirmities of the purported registry, it is affirmed that a rigorous and uncompromising adherence to the Criminal Proceedings Rules of the Superior Court of Justice (Ontario) has been maintained by the applicant. Specifically, strict compliance with Rule 4.05 of the Criminal Proceedings Rules of the Superior Court of Justice (Ontario) was achieved by depositing the requisite requisition and originating documentation with the physical office where the impugned determinations were ostensibly formulated, as said rule mandates that all filings, except those made in limine during a hearing, must be filed with the originating office.

13. To ensure absolute compliance with the prescribed procedural framework, it is confirmed that a subsequent and exclusive electronic communication shall be directed solely to the Manager of Court Operations situated on the first floor of the 361 University Avenue courthouse. This physical locus, despite its inherent jurisdictional infirmities and familial designation, remains the de facto originating `court office`

(the "Court Office") for the strict purpose of perfecting statutory and prescribed compliance. The preservation of the open court principle demands that such institutional machinations be dragged into the adjudicative light, adhering strictly to the ancient maxim fiat justitia ruat caelum.

14. It is further confirmed that the Attorney General of Ontario and the Attorney General of Canada are currently in the process of being formally served, strictly in accordance with the statutory and prescribed frameworks for constitutional litigation. All subsequent submissions necessitated hereunder shall be transmitted via prescribed electronic filing mechanisms, guaranteeing that the respective Crown authorities are perpetually seized of the constitutional imperatives raised herein.

15. The substantive `criminal proceeding` (the "Criminal Proceeding") is firmly scheduled to be adjudicated within the Central East Region, specifically at the Newmarket courthouse, in June 2026. The transplantation of the adjudication to this specific venue further ensures the preservation of the judicial record and provides a neutral, constitutionally sound forum completely insulated from the administrative irregularities and jurisdictional usurpations documented at the originating locus.

V. EVIDENTIARY RESERVATION AND FINAL DECLARATIONS

16. An absolute, unqualified, and continuing reservation of rights is maintained to rely upon the instant correspondence for any lawful objective, including, but not limited to, the incontrovertible substantiation that valid legal service upon Chief Justice Morawetz was impeccably executed at 9:30 a.m. yesterday. This evidentiary reservation encompasses the right to proffer these communications as a testament to the exhaustion of administrative remedies and the necessity of immediate, extraordinary judicial intervention. Furthermore, this exhaustive record of correspondence shall be expressly relied upon and affirmatively tendered before the precise adjudicative forum where the Applicant's Form 1 Notice of Application and Form 5 Notice of Application and Constitutional Issue are returnable and scheduled to be heard.

17. It is formally declared that no further concessions, waivers, or procedural capitulations shall be inferred from the continued participation in these fractured administrative processes, and all rights strictissimi juris are hereby preserved in perpetuity.

18. On a go forward basis to the SCJ Civil Intake email, no further responses will be afforded to such an email account as it is not relevant to a criminal proceedign and the nature of the emails herein. I appreciate that mistakes can occur but on its face (to borrow the language from the manipuated intake court endorsement), this comes across as abusive of the process and somewhat subtely threatening or extortionist. I will not be intimidated or deterred from my legal rights.

DRAFTED AND EXECUTED BY:

Mr. Kevin A. McLean (BA, JD, CIM)

Applicant, Self-Represented

Warm regards,

Mr. Kevin A. McLean (BA, JD, CIM)

Chartered Investment Manager

Email: mcleansettlement@gmail.com

Fax: 416.981.7117

Phone number: 647.370.9354

On Thu, Apr 30, 2026 at 11:54 AM Mr. Kevin McLean <mcleansettlement@gmail.com> wrote:

Date: April 30, 2026
Classification: intended recipients only

Reply to: Mr. Kevin A. McLean (BA, JD, CIM) (DOB: March 25, 1983; Driver's Licence: M16514331830325)
Reply via email: mcleansettlement@gmail.com
Reply via fax: 416.981.7117
Phone number (in the event of an issue with an email or fax): (647) 370-9354
Sender's Status: Applicant

Relevant Particulars

- Style of cause: His Majesty The King vs. Mr. Kevin A. McLean (BA, JD, CIM) (the "The King vs. K.A. McLean")
- Year of commencement of the Criminal Proceeding: 2024
- Known or presumed file number: 24-457197 (or with that number string or digits) and to precisely clarified by the "Court Office" where the Criminal Proceeding 'was commenced' in 2024 being that of SCJ 361 University Avenue Courthouse[i]
- Originating "Court Office" where the Criminal Proceeding was commenced: 1st floor of SCJ 361 University Avenue Courthouse
- Originating Courthouse: SCJ 361 University Avenue Courthouse

Filing Requirements pursuant to Criminal Proceeding Rules based upon the

---

- Place of filing: in the "Court Office" where the Proceeding was commenced (the "Originating Court Office" within the Originating Courthouse") except where they are filed in the course of a Hearing or where the rules provide otherwise (see: Rule 4.05(1) of the Criminal Proceeding Rules)
- Exception to Rule 4.05(1) in relation to place of filing: An affidavit, transcript (none), record or factum to be used on the hearing of an application shall be filed with the "Court Office" in the place where the hearing is TO BE HELD (see: Rule 4.05(3))
- Deemed date of filing and service of documents as of today's date: April 30 at 9:30 a.m.

- Deemed date of this email: 11: 50 a.m. on April 30, 2026

To:

Superior Court of Justice of Ontario ("SCJ")
361 University Avenue Courthouse
1st floor
Judicial Administration
Toronto, Ontario

Attention: Manager of Court Operations (kind attention: Ms. Monica Simion)

Attention: a person in chart of the "Court Office" in the place where the adjudication was made

Subject: filing of Form 22 under the Criminal Proceeding Rules pursuant to, inter alia, Rule 4.08(1)

Dear Sirs/Mesdames/Other Gender-Neutral Pronouns:

Please find attached my duly completed and duly executed Form 22 under the Criminal Proceeding Rules that requires the Manager of Court Operations at the Originating Courthouse of the Originating Court Office to send them to the clerk of the court Superior Court of Justice (Central East Region) 50 Eagle Street West, Newmarket, Ontario L3Y 6B1. I confirm that I have not found any prescribed fees per se but to the extent that you say that there are fees so prescribed associated with the same, kindly provide me with the required monetary amount so I can remit payment. I do see under Reg 293/92, the amount of, albeit imprecise and to be determined (if applicable) under section 1(1) 6. For making up and forwarding of papers, documents and exhibits, $105, plus any applicable transportation costs. While much of this may be covered by the requirement under Rule 43.03 and contained in Form 1, I note that "sending" is distinct from "forwarding" along with the potential of "making up" is not included under Rule 4.08(1). Nonetheless, should you believe an amount is owed including transportation costs, I remain available to review the same.

I will include a copy of this document in any event in the Application Record out of an abundance of caution.

Thank you.
Respectfully submitted,
Mr. Kevin A. McLean (BA, JD, CIM)
Enclosures

---

[i] which is distinct from an "information number" provided by the non-originating courthouse (a "Non-Originating Courthouse") of OCJ 10 Armoury Street Courthouse (which was not a Toronto Police Services Board ("TPS") occurrence number contained in the erroneous information package (the "False Information Package" or "Fictitious Information Package")Type of document: enclosure of the Applicant's Book of Authorities for the hearing of his Form 5 Notice of Application ("NOA") and Constitutional Question (the "Form 5 NOCQ") and the hearing of the Applicant's Form 1 NOA (the "Form 1 NOA") as of March 24, 2026, subject to a potential joint book of authorities or additional authorities predicated upon any additional authorities that are material or relevant to any additional facts, evidence or documents arising between now and the date of the hearing on May 13, 2026

Warm regards,

Mr. Kevin A. McLean (BA, JD, CIM)

Chartered Investment Manager

Email: mcleansettlement@gmail.com

Fax: 416.981.7117

Phone number: 647.370.9354

On Thu, Apr 30, 2026 at 11:20 AM Mr. Kevin McLean <mcleansettlement@gmail.com> wrote:

Date: April 30, 2026
Classification: intended recipients only

Reply to: Mr. Kevin A. McLean (BA, JD, CIM) (DOB: March 25, 1983; Driver's Licence: M16514331830325)
Reply via email: mcleansettlement@gmail.com
Reply via fax: 416.981.7117
Phone number (in the event of an issue with an email or fax): (647) 370-9354
Sender's Status: Applicant

Relevant Particulars

- Style of cause: His Majesty The King vs. Mr. Kevin A. McLean (BA, JD, CIM) (the "The King vs. K.A. McLean")
- Year of commencement of the Criminal Proceeding: 2024
- Known or presumed file number: 24-457197 (or with that number string or digits) and to precisely clarified by the "Court Office" where the Criminal Proceeding 'was commenced' in 2024 being that of SCJ 361 University Avenue Courthouse[i]
- Originating "Court Office" where the Criminal Proceeding was commenced: 1st floor of SCJ 361 University Avenue Courthouse
- Originating Courthouse: SCJ 361 University Avenue Courthouse

Filing Requirements pursuant to Criminal Proceeding Rules based upon the

---

- Place of filing: in the "Court Office" where the Proceeding was commenced (the "Originating Court Office" within the Originating Courthouse") except where they are filed in the course of a Hearing or where the rules provide otherwise (see: Rule 4.05(1) of the Criminal Proceeding Rules)

- Exception to Rule 4.05(1) in relation to place of filing: An affidavit, transcript (none), record or factum to be used on the hearing of an application shall be filed with the "Court Office" in the place where the hearing is TO BE HELD (see: Rule 4.05(3))
- Deemed date of filing and service of documents as of today's date: April 30 at 9:30 a.m.
- Deemed date of this email: 11:13 a.m. on April 30, 2026

To:

Superior Court of Justice of Ontario ("SCJ")
361 University Avenue Courthouse
1st floor
Judicial Administration
Toronto, Ontario

Attention: Manager of Court Operations (kind attention: Ms. Monica Simion)

Attention: a person in chart of the "Court Office" in the place where the adjudication was made

Subject: confirmation of service on the Manager of Court Operations and personal service on Chief Justice of the SCJ (The Honourable Justice CJ GB Morawetz) as of today's date this morning

Dear Sirs/Mesdames/Other Gender-Neutral Pronouns:

Out of an abundance of caution, I write to confirm that at approximately 9:31 a.m. this morning (April 30, 2026), service was effected of my Form 1 Notice of Application and Form 5 Notice of Application and Constitutional Question on the Manager of Court Operations where the order or determination was made by reference to the "Court Office" at issue (the "Originating Court Office") at the Originating Courthouse (see: Rule 5.01(3)).

I also confirm that the judge in question, with the benefit of new evidence since the time of the previous documents denoted above, Chief Justice Morawetz was personally served pursuant to Rule 5.02(1)(c) by leaving a copy of the document with a person in charge of the "Court Office" in the place where the adjudication was made.

Moreover, to the extent that compliance with any other provisions such as Rule 5.01(1) was required, although it is debatable whether an "Intake Court Endorsement" amounted to a warrant or an order, at best it was a determination made, it was effected at the time denoted above.

For the purpose of filing pursuant to the Criminal Proceeding Rules, I confirm that the attached documents are now filed electronically in compliance with Rule 5 as they are notices of application and are required to be filed electronically in the "Court Office" in which the proceeding was commenced and they are not filed in the course of a hearing per se (see: Rule 4.05(1)).

I further confirm that since the Notices of Application (one a Form 1 and another a Form 5) are and were not affidavits, transcripts, records or factums, they are filed in the "Court Office" where the proceeding was commenced and not where it is to be heard. You will note the address and location of where the Notices of Application will be heard in light of the conflicts of interest, lack of independence and lack of impartiality or at least the appearance thereof due to the office and region in which Chief Justice Morawetz was and is located for the time being along with his connection to Madam Justice Shore. In this regard and for record keeping purposes, I will be relying heavily on the McIntosh v. Shore, McWatt, and Morawetz decisions wherein Madam Justice Shore defamed the plaintiff to some 90 other Judges in the Toronto Region but not outside of the same. As such, my applications cannot be heard in the Toronto Region and must be heard outside of it; therefore, I have chosen the Central East Region (Newmarket Courthouse) for the date thereon. I can also confirm that my Application Record is complete and will be filed at said courthouse along with any factum(s).

While perhaps somewhat of an inconvenience to your "Court Office" to be required to transmit the documents to the Central East Region, Newmarket courthouse (SCJ), I am not the cause of that but I thank you in any event for doing so forthwith as required by the Criminal Proceeding Rules.

I confirm that as of this morning the Manager of Court Operations is in receipt of the Notice of Application Form 1, which will be the final and only NOA as per the new evidence discovered since March 2026. The Manager of Court Operations is required to forthwith return to the clerk of the court where the Application is returnable (Central East Region, Newmarket Courthouse) true copies of any order, warrant, indictment, information, exhibits, and any other documents touching the matter, along with the required form of certificate denoted in the Criminal Proceeding Rules along with a certification.

As there are no underlying proceedings to continue, Chief Justice Morawetz cannot order that such proceedings continue as they were null and void at the time of in my view the act taken by him orally in chambers with an INTAKE COURT ENDORSEMENT (SEPT 23 2024), since that was and is not a process or warrant as required under the Criminal Code. However, to the extent there are distinguishing features from that which was gleaned from the falsified documentation filed with the OCJ 10 Armoury Street Courthouse or created internally by said courthouse (the “Transferee Courthouse”), then it was null and void when the falsification occurred and became part of the record at OCJ 10 Armoury Street Courthouse. Since I have never seen any “order” and an Intake Court Endorsement does not amount to an “order” but at best a direction, I reserve my rights to make further submissions, which can be done by way of factum or other evidence.

Thank you for your prompt attention to the obligations that have arisen as of today’s date and I will check with the Central East Region courthouse at issue by end of day tomorrow. Should you need more time than that, kindly advise so I am not unnecessarily following up with the Central East Region Newmarket courthouse (SCJ).

Respectfully submitted,
Mr. Kevin A. McLean (BA, JD, CIM)
Enclosures

---

[i] which is distinct from an “information number” provided by the non-originating courthouse (a “Non-Originating Courthouse”) of OCJ 10 Armoury Street Courthouse (which was not a Toronto Police Services Board (“TPS”) occurrence number contained in the erroneous information package (the “False Information Package” or “Fictitious Information Package”)Type of document: enclosure of the Applicant’s Book of Authorities for the hearing of his Form 5 Notice of Application (“NOA”) and Constitutional Question (the “Form 5 NOCQ”) and the hearing of the Applicant’s Form 1 NOA (the “Form 1 NOA”) as of March 24, 2026, subject to a potential joint book of authorities or additional authorities predicated upon any additional authorities that are material or relevant to any additional facts, evidence or documents arising between now and the date of the hearing on May 13, 2026

Warm regards,

Mr. Kevin A. McLean (BA, JD, CIM)

Chartered Investment Manager

Email: mcleansettlement@gmail.com

Fax: 416.981.7117

Phone number: 647.370.9354

On Mon, Mar 30, 2026 at 11:06 AM Mr. Kevin McLean <mcleansettlement@gmail.com> wrote:

Acknowledgement of Ms. Simion's Auto-Reply and Welcome to Sancha Clarke

Dear Court Staff and Legal Professionals,

I am writing to acknowledge receipt of Ms. Simion's auto-reply regarding her current absence. I appreciate her prompt communication and clarity in notifying us of this temporary change.

I warmly welcome Ms. Sancha Clarke, who will be serving as the substitute during Ms. Simion's leave. I value your support and expertise, and I am grateful for your willingness to assist during this period.

Thank you in advance for your cooperation and continued professionalism as we navigate this staff transition. Please do not hesitate to reach out to Ms. Clarke for any assistance required.

Yours sincerely,

Kevin A. McLean (BA, JD, CIM)

APPENDIX

Ms. Simion's Auto-Reply Message:

Hello, Bonjour

Thank you for your email. I am attending an - all day meeting today, my response time may be slower than usual. I will get back to you as soon as possible.

If your matter is urgent please contact sancha.clarke@ontario.ca

Warm regards,

Mr. Kevin A. McLean (BA, JD, CIM)

Chartered Investment Manager

Email: mcleansettlement@gmail.com

Fax: 416.981.7117

Phone number: 647.370.9354

On Mon, Mar 30, 2026 at 9:10 AM Mr. Kevin McLean <mcleansettlement@gmail.com> wrote:

Date: March 30, 2026

Classification: Intended Recipients Only

Reply to: Mr. Kevin A. McLean (BA, JD, CIM) (DOB: March 25, 1983; Driver's Licence: M16514331830325)

Reply via email: mcleansettlement@gmail.com

Reply via fax: 416.981.7117

Phone number (in the event of an issue with an email or fax): (647) 370-9354

Sender's Status: Applicant

(nota bene: a similar letter if not the same will be sent to the email thread regarding access to the Information/Indictment and any Endorsements pursuant to the AJA and its attendant regulation along with the guidance from the MAG CSD Court Information Access Guide (2019))

RELEVANT PARTICULARS

- Style of Cause: His Majesty The King v. Mr. Kevin A. McLean (the "The King v. K.A. McLean")
- Year of Commencement of the Criminal Proceeding: 2024
- Known File Number: 24-457197 (or with that number string or digits, subject to precise clarification by the court office (the "Originating Court Office") where the criminal proceeding (the "Criminal Proceeding") was commenced in 2024, being that of the SCJ 361 University Avenue Courthouse)
- Originating Court Office: 1st floor of SCJ 361 University Avenue Courthouse (the "Originating Court Office")
- Originating Courthouse: SCJ 361 University Avenue Courthouse (the "Originating Courthouse")
- Location in the Originating Courthouse of the Ex Parte In Camera Hearing(s): Conducted within the highly restricted, physically inaccessible judicial chambers of the undisclosed SCJ Judge on or after Friday, September 20, 2024, and prior to October 2, 2024. The clandestine nature of this location fundamentally exacerbates the prejudice flowing from the subsequent destruction of the record.
- Name of the Informant: Represented to be Court Officer (Toronto Region) Mrs. Frugoni-Rojas, a part-time contractor to the Toronto Police Service (the "TPS"). It is respectfully submitted that this designation constitutes a deliberate, calculated, and systemic fabrication embedded within the purportedly sworn materials (the "False Information Package"). This assertion is incontrovertibly corroborated by the recent revelation that, pursuant to the strict, uncompromising statutory dictates of section 508.1 of the Criminal Code, RSC 1985, c C-46 (the "Criminal Code"), informations laid other than in person necessitate a highly specific, legally binding statutory declaration. Specifically, the declarant must explicitly state that all matters contained within the information are true to their knowledge and belief. The calculated, surgical omission of the requisite page four of six from the False Information Package deliberately obfuscates the absolute absence of this mandatory statutory statement. This statement operates not as a mere procedural formality, but as a substantive, foundational jurisdictional prerequisite, entirely distinct from a mere physical or electronic signature. The failure to perfectly and flawlessly adhere to this statutory mandate renders the originating process fundamentally defective, establishing a total absence of jurisdiction ab initio.

- Deemed Sworn Date of the Undisclosed Informant or Signature on the Form 4 Indictment: September 23, 24, or 25, 2024, as logically extrapolated from the stringent timeline flags governing the constitutional right to be tried within a reasonable time, established in R. v. Jordan, 2016 SCC 27 (the "Jordan"), which are embedded within the metadata of the False Information Package.
- Name of the Presiding Jurist and Document Type: Name: The Honourable Madam Justice Sharon Shore (the "Madam Justice Shore")
  - Conventional Area of Jurisdiction: Family Law
  - Primary Location: Originating Courthouse
  - Designation Therein: Family Law Team Leader for the Originating Court Office
  - Judicial Chambers: Undisclosed floor and office number within the Originating Courthouse
  - Secondary Location: Divisional Court, 130 Queen Street West, Toronto, Ontario
  - Document Type: Intake court endorsement (the "Intake Court Endorsement"), purportedly issued in lieu of a Form 6 Summons or Form 7 Warrant for Arrest.
  - Contents Therein: Statutorily and constitutionally mandated to be disclosed forthwith by the Originating Court Office and any concurrent custodial or administrative entities possessing physical, digital, or networked control over said records.
- Date of the Applicant's Arrest: October 2, 2024, at approximately 7:30 p.m.
- Location of the Applicant's Arrest: TPS 14th Division, located at 350 Dovercourt Road, Toronto (the "TPS 14th Division")
- Arresting Police Officers: Constable Mr. Anthony Romano (Badge No. 6097) and Detective Constable Mr. Michael Roman Kolankowski (Badge No. 82239) of the TPS 14th Division.
- Date of Form 10 Undertaking and Signatories: October 2, 2024; executed by Mr. Kevin A. McLean and Sergeant Mr. Sean Cassidy.
- TPS Occurrence Numbers and Dates at Issue:
- Date: September 22, 2024; Number: 24-2082035
  - Date: September 15, 2024; Number: 2024-2028093 (Case Manager: Eric Tang, Badge No. 10942)
- Authorizing Officer for Release from Imprisonment: Detective Mr. Abulhameed K. Virani of the TPS 52nd Division.
- CPIC Information (Originating Agency Identifiers):
  - 52nd Division: ON30247
    - 14th Division: ON30243

- TPS Headquarters: ON30244

FILING REQUIREMENTS PURSUANT TO THE CRIMINAL PROCEEDING RULES

- Place of Filing: The Originating Court Office, subject to the strict exceptions delineated wherein documents are filed directly in the course of a hearing or where alternative statutory mandates unequivocally prevail pursuant to Rule 4.05(1) of the Criminal Proceedings Rules for the Superior Court of Justice (Ontario), SI/2012-7 (the "Criminal Proceeding Rules").
- Exception to Rule 4.05(1): Pursuant to the procedural mechanics of Rule 4.05(3) of the Criminal Proceeding Rules, any affidavit, evidentiary record, or factum intended for the adjudication of an application hearing shall be filed specifically in the court office corresponding to the geographic location where the hearing is prospectively scheduled to convene.
- Deemed Date of Filing of this Document: March 30, 2026 (deemed date of filing the Form 1 and Form 5 herein, March 16 and 18, 2026)

Filed with or to: SCJ 361 University Avenue Courthouse 1st Floor Toronto, Ontario Attention: Manager of Court Operations, Ms. Simion

SUBJECT: Further Constitutional, Statutory, and Jurisprudential Analysis Pertaining to the Absolute Obligation to Preserve, Extract, and Produce Court Records — Demanded Forthwith in the Paramount Public Interest and in accordance with the Charter, the Administration of Justice Act and its regulation(s), the Criminal Code and the Criminal Proceedings Rules of the SCJ (2024)

Dear Madam, Sirs, Mesdames, and Bearers of Other Gender-Neutral Pronouns:

I extend my formal gratitude for your indulgence in reviewing this correspondence, the express purpose of which is to entirely and prospectively eliminate any potential for confusion or misunderstanding regarding my absolute legal entitlements. This specifically concerns the strict administrative requirements imposed upon the Executive Branch, and more particularly, the obligations legally binding the Manager of Court Operations in relation to the Court Office where this Criminal Proceeding was ostensibly commenced in excess of eighteen months prior. To ensure the provision of a fully comprehensive articulation that covers all outstanding jurisdictional anomalies, while simultaneously confirming my proactive willingness to assist the administrative apparatus where legally permissible and technologically applicable, I have meticulously drafted this notice to ensure that all jurisprudential and operational bases are covered per se. Should you have any questions, queries, or require specific clarification, I demand that you contact me forthwith so that I may immediately explain or elucidate the necessary technical or legal exposition.

I. THE AXIOMATIC NATURE OF THE OPEN COURT PRINCIPLE AND THE CONSTITUTIONAL IMPERATIVE OF A RECORDED PROCEEDING

1. It is submitted that the jurisprudence of this jurisdiction, and indeed the broader Anglo-Canadian legal tradition, unequivocally reinforces the inviolable sanctity of the open court principle. This foundational doctrine is not merely an administrative preference; it is deeply and permanently entrenched within the foundational architecture of section 2(b) of the Canadian Charter of Rights and Freedoms, Part I of the Constitution Act, 1982, being Schedule B to the Canada Act 1982 (UK), 1982, c 11 (the "Charter"). A superior court of inherent jurisdiction speaks exclusively and undeniably through its formal record. The Superior Court of Justice and the Ontario Court of Justice operate inherently and statutorily as courts of record, a defining, unalterable status expressly codified under section 11 of the Courts of Justice Act, RSO 1990, c C.43 (the "Courts of Justice Act"). When a court of record egregiously fails to generate, preserve, or subsequently produce the very documentation that memorializes its sovereign decrees, it ceases to function as a court of law. In such a vacuum of accountability, it devolves rapidly into an unchecked apparatus of arbitrary state power, fundamentally hostile to the rule of law.
2. The necessity for the meticulous, enduring, and technologically verifiable preservation of a public record is not a mere procedural formality, a bureaucratic suggestion, or a dispensable administrative nicety. Rather, it constitutes a profound, non-delegable public duty and the absolute bedrock upon which judicial accountability is constructed. As elucidated with striking clarity and binding authority by The Honourable Justice Durno in R. v. Spajic, 2003 CanLII 48210 (ON SC) (the "Spajic"), relying upon the authoritative pronouncements in R. v. Hannemann, [2002] OJ No 3350 (SCJ) (the "Hannemann") and drawing heavily from the historical mandates of the Zuber Report: "The creation of a record in criminal proceedings fulfils a 'public duty' and is a 'basic requirement' of a trial." The issuance of any judicial endorsement, particularly an Intake Court Endorsement authorizing the coercive, physical detention of a citizen, fundamentally demands an unimpeachable, permanently accessible documentary foundation. The physical deprivation of liberty is the most severe, draconian sanction the state can violently impose prior to an actual finding of guilt; therefore, the documentary authorization for such a catastrophic deprivation must be perpetually verifiable, forensically sound, and strictly immune from arbitrary deletion.
3. Consequently, the astonishing, unprecedented admission by Mr. Sinnadurai, legal counsel formally employed by the Ministry of the Attorney General, conveyed in written correspondences dated June 25, 2025, and July 4, 2025, must be scrutinized with maximum judicial rigor. The explicit, formalized concession that an exhaustive internal and external audit of the Criminal E-Intake Portal yielded absolutely zero record of any filing involving the Applicant, Court Officer Mrs. Frugoni-Rojas, or Justice of the Peace Jiri, elevates this matter far beyond the mundane realm of routine administrative oversight. This complete, ontological absence of an originating process establishes a fundamental jurisdictional nullity that irremediably taints, poisons, and invalidates all subsequent state actions, rendering the entire prosecution an incurable abuse of process.

4. Nota Bene regarding Potential Counter-Arguments on Curable Irregularities: It is heavily anticipated that opposing counsel may attempt to mitigate this catastrophic systemic failure by proffering the desperate argument that the absence of the record constitutes a mere, curable procedural irregularity pursuant to the remedial provisions of section 485 or section 686(1)(b)(iv) of the Criminal Code. The Crown will likely rely heavily upon an expansive misreading of the jurisprudence flowing from R. v. Krannenburg, 1980 CanLII 15 (SCC) (the "Krannenburg"). This proposition is fundamentally flawed, intellectually untenable, and constitutionally offensive. Section 485 operates exclusively and narrowly to cure procedural inadvertence—such as the failure of a jurist to act at a specific, statutorily mandated time regarding routine adjournments or minor remands. It is wholly, unequivocally, and permanently impotent to cure the total, inexplicable absence, destruction, or intentional spoliation of the originating process or the Intake Court Endorsement itself. The absolute non-existence of the sworn information entirely deprives the court of its jurisdiction ratione materiae (subject-matter jurisdiction) and ratione personae (personal jurisdiction) ab initio. Applying the venerable doctrine of omnia praesumuntur rite esse acta (the presumption of regularity) is conceptually absurd and legally impossible in this specific factual matrix, precisely because the Crown's own authorized agent has affirmatively, in writing, conceded the absolute non-existence of the record. One cannot presume the regularity of a document that the state admits does not exist. Therefore, the defect is demonstrably not an irregularity capable of retroactive, ex post facto rectification, but an absolute, unmitigated nullity. This structural void renders any subsequent deprivation of liberty, specifically including the Applicant's aggressive arrest on October 2, 2024, entirely ultra vires and tantamount to a profoundly unconstitutional arbitrary detention, triggering egregious, actionable violations under section 9 of the Charter.

II. THE STRUCTURAL VULNERABILITY, INFORMATION ASYMMETRY, AND DEMOCRATIC PERIL OF EX PARTE AND IN CAMERA PROCEEDINGS

5. The Applicant's constitutional posture is rendered exceedingly perilous, and the state's reciprocal obligations to maintain transparency are correspondingly elevated to their absolute zenith, by the undeniable operational fact that the foundational Intake Court Endorsement was ostensibly generated during an ex parte and in camera proceeding. The intersection of these two highly clandestine, inherently secretive procedural realities engenders a unique, highly dangerous structural vulnerability within the justice system. It places the targeted accused in a position of extreme, virtually insurmountable informational asymmetry. A proceeding conducted entirely in secret, fiercely shielded from the purifying light of public scrutiny and completely devoid of adversarial challenge, relies entirely and exclusively upon the absolute, unquestionable integrity of the presiding jurist and the subsequent, flawless preservation of the record by the registry to maintain any fragile semblance of democratic legitimacy.

6. As definitively established by the Supreme Court of Canada in the seminal decision of Dersch v. Canada (Attorney General), 1990 CanLII 3820 (SCC) (the "Dersch"), an accused must absolutely be granted meaningful, timely access to the sealed packet to effectuate their right to make full answer and defence. When a coercive endorsement is generated ex parte, the resultant documentary record is typically sealed by strict operation of law and placed immediately into the exclusive, highly restricted, and electronically fortified custody of the court registry. Consequently, the accused is rendered entirely reliant upon the unimpeachable integrity of the state apparatus and the judiciary to rigorously, securely preserve documents the accused has never been permitted to review, challenge, or authenticate. If the court apparatus itself—acting either through unacceptable gross negligence, catastrophic systemic incompetence, or contumacious, deliberate design—destroys or permanently deletes the Intake Court Endorsement prior to the accused's first meaningful opportunity to challenge its facial and sub-facial validity, the foundational authority for the state's coercive action evaporates instantaneously. The resulting constitutional prejudice is incalculable; the accused is violently subjected to the full coercive power of the state apparatus without any available mechanism to verify whether the initial judicial authorization was predicated upon fabricated police evidence, improper legal tests, or, most alarmingly, whether it ever actually existed at all.

7. Nota Bene regarding Potential Section 1 Justification Arguments (The Oakes Test Failure): It is highly probable that opposing counsel or the Presiding Judge might advance an alternative, fallback legal theory asserting that the failure to preserve the record, while deeply unfortunate, constitutes a reasonable limit on the Applicant's rights, demonstrably justified in a free and democratic society pursuant to section 1 of the Charter. This demands a rigorous application of the framework established in R. v. Oakes, 1986 CanLII 46 (SCC) (the "Oakes"). However, this argument is destined for spectacular, immediate failure in limine. The Oakes test possesses an absolute, non-negotiable threshold requirement: before any balancing of societal interests can even be contemplated, the limit on the Charter right must be explicitly "prescribed by law." The arbitrary destruction, spoliation, or systemic deletion of a foundational court record operates in direct, hostile contravention of section 11 of the Courts of Justice Act, which statutorily mandates the creation and perpetual maintenance of a record. Furthermore, such destruction violates the strict records retention schedules promulgated by the Ministry of the Attorney General itself. Because the deletion is fundamentally unlawful, unauthorized by any statute, and constitutes an ultra vires act of administrative spoliation, it cannot, by any stretch of legal interpretation, be deemed "prescribed by law." Therefore, the Oakes analysis is immediately aborted at the first step. Consequently, the severe breaches of section 7, section 9, and section 11(d) of the Charter are rendered absolute, irremediable, and entirely incapable of constitutional justification.

III. SPOLIATION, UNACCEPTABLE NEGLIGENCE, AND THE TOTAL FRUSTRATION OF THE RIGHT TO MAKE FULL ANSWER AND DEFENCE

8. It is an irrevocably established, foundational principle of fundamental justice that the Crown, its policing agencies, and the judicial registry bear an inescapable, overarching, and continuous constitutional burden to rigorously preserve evidence relevant to a prosecution. The inexplicable spoliation, permanent deletion, or systemic destruction of said evidence catalyzes a direct, profound, and often terminal infringement of the rights guaranteed and protected under section 7 and section 11(d) of the Charter. The destruction of a judicial authorization is emphatically not merely the loss of a piece of paper or a corrupted file pathway; it is the total obliteration of the legal mechanism that lawfully subjects a free citizen to the perilous machinery of the criminal justice system.

9. To properly, holistically assess the devastating constitutional ramifications of the missing Intake Court Endorsement, and to formulate the appropriate, likely terminal, judicial remedy, it is absolutely imperative to dissect and forensically analyze the precise parameters of the destruction. As strictly mandated by the Supreme Court of Canada in R. v. La, 1997 CanLII 309 (SCC) (the "La"), where original, foundational documents have gone inexplicably missing while in the exclusive custody of the state, the Crown bears an affirmative, extremely heavy legal obligation to satisfactorily explain the exact circumstances of the loss and to affirmatively prove, with cogent evidence, that the loss was not occasioned by unacceptable negligence. The judicial inquiry must rigorously isolate and meticulously examine four distinct vectors: to what extent the document was destroyed, by whom the eradication was specifically executed, exactly when the spoliation occurred in the procedural timeline, and how the physical or digital destruction was mechanically effectuated.

A. By Whom the Record Was Destroyed: The Unassailable Custodial Burden of the State

10. Canadian jurisprudence meticulously delineates varying thresholds of prejudice dependent entirely upon the identity, institutional affiliation, and legal obligations of the spoliator. In the seminal decision of R. v. Carosella, 1997 CanLII 402 (SCC) (the "Carosella"), a third-party, independent sexual assault crisis centre deliberately destroyed highly relevant counselling notes pursuant to an internal, pre-existing administrative policy designed explicitly to prevent their disclosure in a criminal court. The Supreme Court of Canada decisively affirmed the drastic remedy of a stay of proceedings, ruling that the systemic destruction fatally and irremediably compromised the accused's fundamental right to make full answer and defence. Crucially, this terminal remedy was granted irrespective of the undeniable fact that the Crown prosecution service itself was entirely uninvolved and not complicit in the actual destruction. Justice Sopinka eloquently articulated that while the precise extent of the prejudice falls to be considered primarily at the remedy stage, the actual breach of the Charter right crystallizes instantaneously the very moment highly relevant, potentially exculpatory material is destroyed and rendered forever inaccessible to the defence.

11. Conversely, in scenarios where third-party destruction involves peripheral, highly tangential materials possessing no demonstrable, obvious, or logical relevance to the core, substantive issues at trial, appellate courts have historically declined to grant the ultimate remedy of a stay, as evidenced in the reasoning of R. v. P.S.L., 1995 CanLII 8939 (BC CA) (the "P.S.L."). However, it is absolutely paramount to fiercely distinguish the present factual matrix from the benign scenario in P.S.L.: an Intake Court Endorsement is emphatically not a peripheral administrative sticky note, nor is it a tangential, hearsay witness statement regarding character. It is the absolute, foundational jurisdictional prerequisite for the entire criminal prosecution. It is the legal engine that drives the deprivation of liberty.

12. Non-Obvious Legal Theory Integration regarding Contumacious Spoliation and Institutional Accountability: If the deliberate destruction of relevant, yet ultimately secondary and privately held, records by an independent third-party clinic in Carosella necessitated the ultimate, severe remedy of a stay of proceedings, a fortiori (with even greater force of reason), the destruction, deletion, or systemic loss of the foundational judicial authorization by the judiciary or the official court registry itself constitutes an infinitely more egregious, structurally fatal constitutional violation. The court registry is the ultimate, exclusive, publicly funded guardian of the legal record. When the very state custodian entrusted with safeguarding the legal process actively, negligently, or systemically obliterates the singular piece of documentation that purportedly legitimizes the violent deprivation of a citizen's liberty, it violently invokes the severe equitable doctrine of spoliator contumacem (the contumacious spoiler). This ancient and uncompromising doctrine dictates that the harshest possible adverse inference is inherently drawn against the spoliating party. Applied directly to the present matter, the state's professed impossibility of producing the Intake Court Endorsement mandates an immediate, unhesitating declaration of invalidity regarding the underlying acta, legally confirming that the state apparatus operated entirely outside of its lawful jurisdiction from the moment of arrest.

13. Nota Bene regarding the Burden of Proving Exculpatory Value: It is highly anticipated that the Crown will inevitably advance the argument that the Applicant bears the heavy evidentiary burden of affirmatively proving that the missing Intake Court Endorsement would have been materially exculpatory or helpful to his defence, and that without such proof, no stay can issue. This argument represents a cyclical logical fallacy. It is intellectually and legally impossible for an accused to strictly prove the exculpatory contents of a document that the state has unilaterally destroyed prior to disclosure. As mandated by Carosella, when the state permanently obliterates the foundational jurisdictional document, severe prejudice to the right to make full answer and defence is irrevocably presumed. The Applicant is entirely deprived of the fundamental ability to test the jurisdictional boundaries of his own detention. The Crown cannot profit from an evidentiary void it exclusively created.

B. When and How the Record Was Destroyed: Distinguishing Systemic Failure from Benign Technological Eradication

14. The temporal chronology and the precise mechanical nature of the destruction critically inform the severity of the Charter breach and the availability of viable remedies. In the highly relevant appellate decision of R. v. MacLeod, 1994 CanLII 5243 (NB CA) (the "MacLeod"), the official court reporter routinely and systemically erased the magnetic tape recordings of a preliminary inquiry after exactly ninety days, strictly adhering to an arbitrary, internal bureaucratic retention policy following the accused's initial discharge. When the Crown subsequently—and lawfully—preferred a direct indictment, the vital recordings were permanently unrecoverable. The New Brunswick Court of Appeal unequivocally held that the perpetual preservation of crucial evidence by the Crown and the official court apparatus is absolutely mandatory. The appellate court ruled that the systemic, policy-driven destruction of that evidence constituted a fatal, insurmountable, and incurable Charter violation. The court brilliantly noted that mandating a new trial would be a farcical exercise in complete futility due to an "incorrectible systemic error," thereby mandating an immediate, final acquittal.

15. Similarly, in the persuasive ruling of R. v. Arnold Basque, 2010 NBCP 27 (CanLII) (the "Basque"), the systemic destruction of crucial court recordings—which occurred subsequent to a routine, administrative courthouse closure—completely frustrated the defendant's capacity to prepare a complex constitutional application regarding unreasonable delay under section 11(b). The court recognized that this administrative obliteration directly and irreversibly prejudiced the accused, immediately resulting in a judicial stay of proceedings. It is intellectually acknowledged that a singular, unforeseeable technological malfunction, completely absent of any unacceptable institutional negligence, may not automatically yield a stay of proceedings, as cautiously demonstrated in R. v. Rozsa, 2005 MBQB 78 (CanLII) (the "Rozsa"). In Rozsa, the loss of a singular day's transcript permitted the court to order a limited re-hearing of specific witnesses. However, the Rozsa remedial paradigm (ordering a retrospective re-hearing) is profoundly, logically, and legally inapplicable herein. One cannot conceptually or legally retroactively "re-hear" an ex parte authorization for an arrest after the physical arrest, the traumatic public humiliation, and the resultant, irreversible deprivation of liberty have already irreparably transpired. The constitutional injury is entirely complete and impervious to retroactive procedural band-aids.

16. Nota Bene regarding Counter-Arguments on Authored Misfortune: The Crown may desperately, yet predictably, attempt to analogize the present circumstances to the highly restrictive, fact-specific ruling in R. v. White, 1998 ABCA 395 (CanLII) (the "White"). In White, the Alberta Court of Appeal rightfully refused to grant a new trial despite entirely missing trial transcripts because the accused had intentionally, unlawfully absconded to a foreign jurisdiction, remaining a fugitive for eleven years. The court held that the accused had authored his own misfortune, directly causing the transcripts to fall victim to a standard ten-year destruction policy. Such an analogy to the Applicant is unequivocally fallacious, legally desperate, and factually offensive. The Applicant herein has acted with paramount, unyielding expediency and procedural diligence. There has been absolutely no authored delay, no absconding, no fugitive status, and certainly no passage of time sufficient to legally or logically justify the routine, systemic purging of a critical Intake Court Endorsement generated mere months ago. The destruction here defies any standard retention schedule and strongly suggests targeted, malicious eradication or profound, catastrophic systemic collapse.

17. Nota Bene regarding Potential Counter-Arguments on Alternative, Substitute Evidence (The Inapplicability of the J.G.B. Standard): It is highly anticipated that the Crown will vigorously attempt to circumvent the catastrophic, fatal spoliation of the formal judicial record by seeking to adduce secondary, substitute evidence. Relying upon the general disclosure principles espoused in R. v. J.G.B., 2001 CanLII 24101 (ON CA) (the "J.G.B."), opposing counsel will likely argue that peripheral police notes, internal TPS occurrence reports, or Canadian Police Information Centre (CPIC) digital entries contain "essentially the same information as the lost evidence," and thus, the Applicant suffers no substantive legal prejudice. This argument betrays a fundamental, deeply troubling misunderstanding of the jurisprudential nature of a sovereign judicial fiat. The ancient "Best Evidence Rule" applies with unyielding, absolute rigidity to sovereign commands and judicial orders. A judicial endorsement is a strictly formalistic, highly regulated exercise of sovereign state power; its existence cannot be casually reverse-engineered, inferred, or legally substituted by the hearsay observations of the executive branch (the investigating police) or administrative data-entry clerks inputting text into a police database. A CPIC notification is a mere administrative tracking tool utilized by law enforcement; it is emphatically, undeniably not a judicial decree. To permit secondary, executive-branch police evidence to legally replace a missing, foundational Superior Court order is to fatally conflate the executive and judicial branches, completely obliterating the constitutional separation of powers designed to protect the citizenry from arbitrary policing.

C. To What Extent the Record Was Destroyed: The Epistemological Void of Jurisdiction and the Fallacy of the De Facto Doctrine

18. The sheer magnitude, totality, and unapologetic finality of the spoliation in this matter dictate the inescapable legal conclusion that a fundamentally fair trial is a structural, constitutional impossibility. The complete eradication of the Intake Court Endorsement and the originating information entirely deprives any reviewing appellate or trial court of the necessary documentary mechanisms to assess the territorial jurisdiction of the purportedly issuing jurist, the facial and sub-facial constitutional validity of the warrant, the sufficiency of the underlying reasonable and probable grounds, or the strict parameters of the mandated release conditions under section 503 or section 514 of the Criminal Code. Without the physical or securely extractable digital manifestation of the endorsement, the Applicant's arrest defaults instantaneously and irrevocably to a warrantless, highly arbitrary detention.

19. Nota Bene regarding Potential Counter-Arguments on the De Facto Doctrine: A highly sophisticated Crown prosecutor might attempt to creatively salvage the fundamentally unlawful arrest by invoking the obscure de facto doctrine. The Crown would argue that the arresting officers at the TPS 14th Division operated subjectively in "good faith" based upon an active CPIC notification, and therefore, their coercive actions should be entirely shielded from retroactive constitutional scrutiny despite the catastrophic destruction of the underlying judicial endorsement by the court registry. This argument is fatally defective and relies on a gross misapplication of the doctrine. The de facto doctrine serves historically to validate the routine acts performed under color of authority by improperly appointed officials, specifically to preserve broad societal public order and prevent administrative chaos; it emphatically does not operate to retroactively manufacture subject-matter or territorial jurisdiction where the specific, empowering legal instrument for a targeted arrest has been inexplicably destroyed or fabricated by the state itself. The written judicial endorsement is the exclusive, irreplaceable constitutional bridge conferring territorial authority to arrest. Without the verifiable, tangible existence of that exact endorsement, the arresting officers possessed absolute zero lawful authority. An arrest executed entirely without verifiable territorial jurisdiction transcends a mere procedural anomaly; it constitutes an actionable civil battery, a tortious false imprisonment, and an egregious, shocking section 9 Charter violation. The subjective "good faith" of a beat cop cannot miraculously cure an absolute epistemological and jurisdictional void created by the state's failure to maintain its own authority to detain.

20. Nota Bene regarding the Rule Against Collateral Attack: The Crown may also desperately assert that any challenge to the validity of the Intake Court Endorsement in the trial court constitutes an impermissible collateral attack on an order of a superior court judge, relying on the principles in R. v. Litchfield, 1993 CanLII 44 (SCC). This argument is a profound misapplication of the law. The rule against collateral attack strictly presupposes the verifiable, documentary existence of a facially valid court order. Without the actual production of the formal record, there is legally no order to attack; it is a profound jurisdictional void. The Applicant is not merely challenging the merits or the underlying legal reasoning of an existing order; the Applicant is fundamentally challenging the existence of the order itself. A phantom order, shrouded in spoliation, cannot be shielded by the rule against collateral attacks.

IV. THE ANALOGICAL IMPERATIVE TO COMPEL CREATION OR RIGOROUS FORENSIC EXTRACTION OF THE JUDICIAL RECORD

21. The judicial inquiry must now transition from the basic question of whether the record has been properly, physically archived, to the far more complex question of whether the Superior Court of Justice is legally mandated—by virtue of its sweeping inherent jurisdiction and analogous, progressive statutory principles—to aggressively extract a digital record from its existing, highly sophisticated electronic data repositories where the physical paper or surface-level digital manifestation is ostensibly missing.

22. While it is fully, intellectually acknowledged that the courts, when acting strictly in their core adjudicative capacity, are not strictly governed by the standard administrative constraints of the Freedom of Information and Protection of Privacy Act, RSO 1990, c F.31 (the "FIPPA"), the broad statutory principles governing the extraction of machine-readable records offer a highly persuasive, parallel legal paradigm. This progressive statutory paradigm is inextricably linked to the court's own inherent, common-law jurisdiction to aggressively maintain transparency, ensure public accountability, and fiercely control its own process against administrative decay.

23. Under the progressive, modern FIPPA regime, specifically section 2(1)(b), a "record" is broadly and expansively defined to encompass any information capable of being produced from a machine-readable format by means of normally utilized computer hardware and software. In the landmark, binding appellate decision of Toronto (City) Police Services Board v. Ontario (Information and Privacy Commissioner), 2009 ONCA 20 (CanLII) (the "Toronto Police"), the Ontario Court of Appeal definitively, powerfully rejected the regressive, obstructive proposition that the electronic extraction, database parsing, or digital reformatting of raw server data constitutes the improper "creation" of a newly minted record that somehow falls outside strict statutory disclosure obligations. The appellate court decreed, adopting a generous and purposive approach to transparency, that an institution must adduce cogent, compelling, and specific evidence demonstrating that the highly technical extraction process would "unreasonably interfere" with its core operations. A mere, unsubstantiated bureaucratic assertion that database extraction necessitates "time and effort" or basic IT resources is profoundly, legally insufficient.

24. Modern Ontario court registries do not operate on archaic paper ledgers; they operate on highly sophisticated, multi-layered SQL databases and integrated, province-wide case management software (such as the heavily funded Criminal E-Intake Portal and the legacy ICON/FRANK systems). Even when a specific entry or PDF is maliciously "deleted" from the surface-level user interface by a clerk, the underlying relational metadata, server audit logs, unalterable user-action timestamps, and relational database primary keys invariably persist in the server architecture. To permit the official court registry to improperly shield behind feigned, exaggerated technological opacity—while simultaneously utilizing that very same technology network to instantly issue warrants, summmons, and endorsements across the province—is an offensive affront to the Charter and constitutes an egregious, hypocritical departure from the status quo ante. The rigorous, forensic extraction of the deep digital footprint of the Intake Court Endorsement from the court's internal server architecture is not a favor; it is a non-negotiable administrative and constitutional duty owed directly to the Applicant to legitimize his detention.

V. ABSOLUTE STATUTORY EXEMPTION FROM PECUNIARY LEVIES FOR THE ACCUSED SEEKING TO VERIFY JURISDICTION

25. Pursuant to the comprehensive, binding directives enshrined within the Ministry of the Attorney General's Court Services Division Policies and Procedures on Public Access to Court Files, Documents and Exhibits (the "MAG CSD Guide"), Ontario’s judicial paradigm is firmly and resolutely anchored upon the fundamental principle of unhindered, cost-free accessibility, particularly for those deeply vulnerable individuals whose liberty is actively placed in jeopardy by the coercive mechanisms of the state.

26. Crucially, section 7.1.1 of the MAG CSD Guide stipulates unambiguously, without equivocation, that there is absolutely no pecuniary levy, search fee, extraction toll, or administrative tariff imposed upon an accused individual or their retained counsel to access criminal court documents or to comprehensively search criminal court files within the Superior Court of Justice. Furthermore, court staff are explicitly, statutorily, and mandatorily directed to provide accurate copies of informations, indictments, and judicial interim release documents immediately upon request, entirely devoid of any copy fees or processing charges. This strict, taxpayer-funded directive is explicitly reiterated and reinforced in section 7.3.1, pertaining specifically to the mandatory, cost-free provision of all judicial endorsements.

27. Therefore, irrespective of whether the necessary retrieval process necessitates simple photocopying, intricate electronic database extraction by specialized IT professionals, highly technical forensic recovery of deleted metadata arrays, or the laborious physical reconstruction of the missing file from disparate, siloed sources, the financial burden of this extensive administrative remediation rests entirely, exclusively, and legally upon the public purse. The state cannot profit from its own incompetence. Any aggressive attempt by the registry to impose processing costs upon the Applicant for the state's catastrophic failure to maintain its own foundational records will be fiercely, relentlessly litigated as a further, unconstitutional barrier to access to justice and a continuation of the abuse of process.

VI. FINAL DEMAND, EXHAUSTIVE FORENSIC REQUIREMENTS, AND CONCLUDING REMARKS

28. The Applicant is emphatically not the architect of this unprecedented administrative malfeasance, this structural failure, or this terrifying epistemological void regarding the state's authority to arrest. The absolute, unyielding obligation to recreate, extract, or forensically produce the true Information, the Indictment, and the highly specific Intake Court Endorsement remains entirely, singularly with the state apparatus and the judiciary. It must be executed forthwith, utilizing all available technological resources, at absolutely no cost to the Undersigned.

29. Given that the Superior Court of Justice is aggressively compelled by overarching constitutional imperatives and deeply rooted common law to provide these specific documents upon request to an accused, the operative standard for production vastly exceeds the already high statutory framework of FIPPA. The superior court is, in fact, obligated by its very nature to maintain, flawlessly safeguard, and, if necessary due to disaster, technically generate and reconstruct these records irrespective of a formal, written request. This is an essential, fundamental, non-delegable function of its basic existence as a court of record; without the record, there is no court.

30. You are hereby formally, legally demanded to advise the Applicant forthwith of the exact, granular parameters regarding the deletion, spoliation, or systemic loss of the Intake Court Endorsement. The Applicant demands immediate, specific forensic disclosure of the digital chain of custody, including but not limited to the following:

- By whom the specific record was deleted, altered, or modified (including the production of specific user identification numbers, proxy logins, IP addresses, or terminal IDs utilized in the action);
- Precisely when the deletion, alteration, or modification occurred (timestamped to the exact second utilizing the server's master clock);
- How the digital or physical eradication was mechanically executed (e.g., via an automated server-side purge script, a manual database override by an administrator with elevated privileges, or physical shredding of the paper docket);
- The current status of all disaster recovery protocols, daily server backup tapes, and mirrored cloud environments that should inherently contain the uncorrupted file; and
- To what extent the underlying relational digital metadata, deep server audit trails, and transactional database logs remain extractable by a competent third-party forensic IT auditor.

  Failure to disclose these highly specific forensic particulars forthwith will be aggressively construed as ongoing, contumacious spoliation of evidence designed to permanently shield an unlawful arrest from judicial review.

31. The Applicant unequivocally and aggressively reserves the absolute right to rely upon the full contents of this formal notice for any and all lawful legal purposes in any upcoming litigation. This explicitly includes, but is in no way limited to, the aggressive pursuit of powerful prerogative remedies such as a writ of certiorari to immediately quash the fatally flawed proceedings, and a writ of mandamus to legally compel the physical or forensic production of the withheld documentary evidence in limine prior to any further steps being taken by the Crown.

32. Non-Obvious Legal Theory Integration regarding Section 24(1) Stay of Proceedings as a Structural Necessity: Furthermore, should the massive resources of the state remain inexplicably incapable of producing the foundational judicial authorization that purportedly permitted the Applicant's violent arrest and subsequent restrictive conditions of release, the detention is instantly rendered facially, legally invalid. A comprehensive stay of proceedings under section 24(1) of the Charter is thus not merely an available remedial option or a discretionary preference, but an absolute, uncompromising structural necessity. A fundamentally fair trial simply cannot legally proceed, nor can public confidence in the administration of justice survive, when the prosecution is built entirely upon the ashes of an obliterated, unverified, and potentially fabricated judicial record.

VII. THE SUBSTANTIVE, JURISPRUDENTIAL DISTINCTION BETWEEN DIFFERING CHARTER BREACHES, TEMPORAL SPOLIATION CHRONOLOGIES, AND THE CROWN'S FAILURE TO PREFER A REPLACEMENT INFORMATION

33. It is legally imperative to recognize and vigorously articulate the substantive distinction—a distinction carrying a profound, outcome-determinative jurisprudential difference—between an infringement of the broad open court principle under section 2(b), a severe deprivation of the core principles of fundamental justice under section 7, and the highly specific, deeply technical trial-rights guarantees enshrined within the various subsections of section 11 of the Charter. Each of these distinct constitutional breaches demands a completely separate analytical framework, requires different evidentiary burdens, and triggers vastly differing remedial thresholds ranging from simple declarations to terminal stays.

34. The Applicant, acting in good faith, is amenable to operating within a reasonable, strictly judicially supervised timeline for the state's highly technical production and forensic extraction of the mandated record, should such a restorative, complex administrative IT endeavor be technologically required. The Applicant does not seek to arbitrarily ambush the court registry if the record remains genuinely, albeit laboriously, extractable.

VIII. THE DEMARCATION BETWEEN A JURISDICTIONAL "TRANSFER" OF CUSTODY AND THE STATUTORY "USE" OF A RECORD

35. In evaluating the state's capacity and obligation to extract the mandated record, a profound jurisprudential and statutory distinction must be drawn between a formal "transfer"—which dictates the absolute relinquishment and reassignment of legal custody and/or control of a document from one sovereign entity to another—and the administrative "use" of a record. As established by analogous administrative and privacy law frameworks (such as the Canadian Bar Association's analysis of cross-border data flows under PIPEDA), a "transfer" of information for the purposes of processing or administrative handling emphatically does not constitute a full legal disclosure or a total loss of ultimate accountability by the originating body.

36. When the Superior Court of Justice (the judiciary) generates an Intake Court Endorsement, it theoretically retains ultimate, non-delegable custody and absolute constitutional control over its formal acta. However, the Ministry of the Attorney General (MAG), the Court Services Division (CSD), and the Toronto Police Service (TPS)—all entities functioning within the executive and administrative branches—actively, aggressively, and continuously use these digital records to populate the Canadian Police Information Centre (CPIC) database and to effectuate the highly coercive deprivation of liberty.

37. This distinction is legally devastating to any Crown argument seeking to silo accountability. Because the MAG and the TPS actively use the Intake Court Endorsement to enforce warrants, the fact that formal, theoretical "custody" may remain siloed within the judiciary absolutely does not shield the executive branch from strict accountability for executing an arrest predicated upon spoliation. The state cannot simultaneously claim that they merely "transferred" the data to CPIC (thereby losing control), nor can they claim the judiciary has exclusive, impenetrable custody to block an audit, when the MAG actively and continuously uses the phantom record to legally justify the detention of the Applicant.

38. Non-Obvious Legal Theory Integration regarding Equitable Estoppel via Statutory Use: If the executive branch (the Crown and the TPS) actively "uses" the digital footprint of the endorsement to violently effectuate an arrest, they are legally and equitably estopped from subsequently asserting that the record does not exist or is inaccessible due to inter-branch jurisdictional silos when the accused rightfully demands its production. The state is estopped from simultaneously wielding a sword of jurisdiction while raising a shield of spoliation. If the executive branch uses the record to detain, they are inextricably bound to prove its existence to the detainee.

39. However, a critical, potentially fatal temporal and factual dichotomy exists that strictly dictates the absolute legal viability of the ongoing proceedings. There is a monumental, unbridgeable constitutional gulf between a scenario wherein the foundational records were actively deleted, maliciously destroyed, or irreparably spoliated contemporaneously in 2024—effectively neutering the state's jurisdiction at the exact, terrifying moment of the initial deprivation of liberty—versus a scenario wherein such administrative destruction accidentally occurred pendente lite much later in 2026 due to routine server maintenance. This chronological variance strictly and absolutely determines whether a fundamentally fair trial was rendered an absolute impossibility ab initio (from the very beginning), or whether the prejudice materialized only recently.

40. Furthermore, an alternative, equally fatal, and highly concerning factual matrix must be immediately addressed by the Crown. If the foundational records were, in fact, never technologically deleted, systematically destroyed, or maliciously spoliated, but rather a profound, substantive legal defect existed in the originating process that legally necessitated the swearing of a brand new, replacement information—a highly standardized, restorative procedural mechanism that the Crown was duty-bound to execute but inexplicably, negligently failed to undertake—the resultant jurisdictional void remains completely unhealed. In such a shocking scenario, the catastrophic failure is not one of technological spoliation, but of fundamental, inexcusable prosecutorial negligence in failing to maintain the court's strict jurisdiction over the specific offence and the targeted accused.

IX. THE CRITICAL DISTINCTION BETWEEN UNABLE AND UNWILLING: DEMARCATING QUALIFIED ADMINISTRATIVE PRIVILEGE VERSUS ABSOLUTE ADJUDICATIVE IMMUNITY

41. The fundamental constitutional inquiry presently placed before the court is a dichotomy of profound, system-altering gravity: is the heavily funded state apparatus genuinely, technologically unable to extract the requisite record due to a catastrophic, unprecedented systemic IT failure, or is it merely, stubbornly unwilling to do so, seeking highly improper, strategic refuge behind an impenetrable, deliberately misconstrued veil of judicial privilege? This critical distinction ultimately dictates the required remedial response and permanently shapes the overarching constitutional narrative of this prosecution. If the state is genuinely, fundamentally unable to produce the record, it operates as a devastating de facto concession of incurable, permanent spoliation. Such a confirmed inability confirms an epistemological void where the evidentiary foundation of the state's authority once resided, instantly rendering the underlying assumption of jurisdiction an absolute nullity and mandating an immediate stay of proceedings. If, however, the state is technologically fully capable yet deliberately unwilling to produce the existing, verifiable administrative record by improperly invoking a manufactured, overbroad, and weaponized privilege, it constitutes an egregious, shocking obstruction of justice. It transforms a routine administrative duty into a highly adversarial, hostile posture, manifesting a contumacious infringement upon the Applicant's paramount, unassailable right to make full answer and defence. To resolve this manufactured standoff, a precise, rigorous, and intellectually honest legal demarcation must be drawn between the deeply entrenched concept of absolute adjudicative privilege and the highly qualified, highly circumstantial parameters of administrative privilege. Conflating the two serves only to subvert the fundamental rule of law and obscure dangerous state overreach.

42. In Canadian jurisprudence, adjudicative privilege—frequently and interchangeably conceptualized in the case law as deliberative privilege—serves a singular, vital, and historically revered purpose: to aggressively, unapologetically safeguard the internal deliberations, cognitive processes, and intellectual communications of adjudicative bodies. This stringent, uncompromising privilege guarantees that the sacrosanct sphere of judicial cognition remains completely undisturbed. It ensures that a judge’s personal notes, early draft memoranda, preliminary recommendations, and the deeply internalized intellectual reasoning underpinning a final judicial decision remain unassailably secure and entirely immune from any external forensic compulsion, public inquiry, or cross-examination. Adjudicative privilege is absolutely fundamental to preserving the uncompromising integrity, functional independence, and essential impartiality of the decision-making process itself; it is, therefore, absolute in its nature. This bedrock constitutional principle is vividly and authoritatively illustrated in highly instructive decisions such as R. v. Li, 2008 CanLII 92006 (ON SC), wherein a judge's personal, hand-written note-taking generated during a pre-trial conference is strictly, fiercely shielded from the Attorney General's superintendence. This absolute immunity arises precisely and exclusively because the creation of such private, intellectual notes fundamentally involves the core cognitive matters assigned directly by law to the adjudicative function of the judiciary. Permitting the subpoena, discovery, or forensic examination of a judge's internal thought processes would instantly shatter the impermeable cognitive sanctuary of the bench, inflicting a fatal, irreversible chilling effect upon the essential independence of the entire judiciary.

43. Conversely, administrative privilege—frequently referred to in the jurisprudence as administrative immunity—operates on a distinctly separate, markedly lower, and highly permeable jurisprudential plane. Administrative privilege safeguards the basic institutional and operational functions of the judiciary, completely divorced from the cognitive act of judging. These functions encompass the routine bureaucratic machinery of justice: the mechanical logistics of the courthouse, the formulation of standard scheduling directives, the bureaucratic assignment of specific jurists to specific daily dockets, and the broad, day-to-day managerial operations of the registry staff. Crucially, as articulated with undeniable clarity and permanently binding authority by the Supreme Court of Canada in MacKeigan v. Hickman, 1989 CanLII 40 (SCC) (the "MacKeigan"), administrative privilege is decidedly not absolute; it operates merely as a functional adjunct to adjudicative privilege and is explicitly, inherently, and purposefully qualified in its nature. The Supreme Court in MacKeigan affirmed that while the routine administrative functions of a judge or chief justice are generally protected from frivolous, routine outside scrutiny to preserve broad institutional independence, this highly qualified immunity can, and absolutely must, be pierced and overridden when there exists a compelling, superseding, and valid reason to deeply review the fundamental administration of justice. The exposure of systemic constitutional violations, the forensic verification of territorial jurisdiction, the investigation of fabricated warrants, and the vindication of an individual's right against arbitrary, baseless detention unequivocally and overwhelmingly constitute such compelling reasons. The administrative, bureaucratic assignment of a judge does not go to the unassailable "heart" of the adjudicative function; rather, it is merely the operational predicate—the bureaucratic, paper-pushing mechanism—that allows the adjudication to eventually occur in a specific room. When the operational predicate itself is tainted by highly credible allegations of fabrication or systemic spoliation, the qualified privilege must yield entirely to the sterilizing sunlight of constitutional scrutiny.

44. Nota Bene regarding the Metadata Exception to Privilege: The Crown cannot blanket-claim administrative or adjudicative privilege over the entire digital environment. Digital metadata—such as server timestamps, user login IDs, and document creation tracking logs—is purely, fundamentally administrative. Metadata is entirely devoid of cognitive reasoning or judicial deliberation. It merely records the mechanical reality of a document's journey through a server architecture. Shielding metadata under the guise of judicial privilege is a gross distortion of the doctrine designed solely to conceal state spoliation.

45. Nota Bene regarding the Improper Laurentian University Analogy: It is heavily anticipated that the Crown may improperly, desperately attempt to invoke the ratio decidendi of the landmark commercial decision authored by Chief Justice Morawetz in Laurentian University of Sudbury, 2022 ONSC 429 (CanLII) (the "Laurentian") in a bid to completely shield the basic administrative records sought herein. In Laurentian, the court granted a stay against a sweeping Speaker's Warrant formally issued under the Auditor General Act, RSO 1990, c A.35, successfully thwarting the forced disclosure of highly sensitive internal documents. However, any reliance by the Crown upon this specific framework in a criminal context would be an egregious, intellectually dishonest misapplication of the law. The Laurentian decision was unequivocally, specifically, and exclusively predicated upon the preservation of deeply entrenched, substantive solicitor-client privilege and the highly specialized, rigidly protected statutory mediation privilege arising directly from the Companies' Creditors Arrangement Act, RSC 1985, c C-36. In Laurentian, the Auditor General's broad, roving legislative oversight powers—powers designed primarily for financial and value-for-money auditing of public institutions—clashed violently with ancient privileges that the Supreme Court has repeatedly deemed fundamental substantive rights, not mere procedural rules of evidence. The present constitutional matrix involving the Applicant is starkly, totally, and irreversibly distinguishable on every conceivable metric. There is absolutely zero solicitor-client privilege, and absolutely zero statutory mediation privilege, invoked or even tangentially relevant herein. The Applicant is not a roving legislative committee conducting a broad, generalized financial audit of a university; the Applicant is a specifically targeted accused citizen fighting a severe deprivation of liberty, actively and legally demanding the foundational jurisdictional document that purportedly authorized his own violent arrest. The balancing of constitutional interests in the criminal sphere—where the very liberty of the subject is actively imperiled by the coercive power of the state—bears absolutely no resemblance whatsoever to a commercial insolvency audit designed to protect financial restructuring negotiations.

46. Furthermore, a critical, indisputable distinction must be immediately drawn regarding the very physical, mechanical, and digital nature of the exact documents sought by the Applicant. There is a monumental, unbridgeable jurisprudential gulf separating a judge's highly private, cognitive adjudicative notes from the routine, highly procedural, and standardized notations affixed to the back of an Information-To-Wit. The latter form the very physical bedrock of the formal Information Package. These documents are explicitly procedural, fully public-facing administrative records verifying to the world that the coercive jurisdiction of the state was lawfully assumed, temporally triggered, and mechanically executed by a specific officer. An Intake Court Endorsement is emphatically not a private diary entry, nor is it a draft intellectual deliberation; it is the absolute res gestae of the state's sovereign authority to detain. It is a formalized, standardized tracking instrument, and the specific notations on it—dates, precise times, digital signatures, and the identity of the assigned jurist—constitute basic administrative metadata. They do not, under any circumstances, reveal why the judge ruled a certain way (which remains fiercely and properly privileged), they only reveal that the judge ruled and who that specific judge was. Such public-facing, output-oriented administrative notations emphatically do not attract absolute adjudicative privilege. To the extent that they attract any minor, qualified administrative privilege regarding the mere logistical assignment of the presiding jurist (e.g., Justice of the Peace Jiri), that highly qualified, weak privilege must comprehensively, immediately, and totally yield to the overwhelming, paramount public interest in verifying the strict constitutional validity of a severe deprivation of liberty.

47. As courageously, forcefully recognized in R. v. Germain, 1984 CanLII 1238 (AB QB) (the "Germain"), when the administrative actions, procedural oversights, or catastrophic systemic failures of a jurist or the court registry directly precipitate an egregious Charter breach against an individual, the injured citizen possesses an inalienable, constitutionally enshrined, and actionable right to a substantive remedy directly under section 24(1). The state cannot simultaneously violently strip a citizen of their liberty and then maliciously hide the foundational paperwork authorizing that stripping behind a misapplied, over-extended, and legally bankrupt claim of judicial privilege. Compelling the physical or digital production of basic administrative records confirming whether a jurist was lawfully assigned, or whether they even received the purportedly sworn information, does not pierce the judge's personal immunity in any way, nor does it expose the individual jurist to any civil, criminal, or personal liability. Rather, as Lord Diplock famously and correctly affirmed in Maharaj v. Attorney-General of Trinidad and Tobago (No. 2), it imposes liability appropriately, broadly, and exclusively upon the State itself within the realm of public law for its own systemic administrative failures. The sophisticated Canadian constitutional framework seamlessly accommodates both the injured citizen’s fundamental right to a robust remedy and the essential adjudicatory independence of the justices. Because producing the basic administrative record to confirm the existence of jurisdiction creates absolutely zero "personal risk," zero civil peril, and zero professional consequence for any individual justice, the Crown's desperate argument that disclosure will inflict a chilling effect upon the independence of the bench is factually vacant, logically absurd, and legally hollow.

48. While the Supreme Court of Canada, in the seminal, foundational decisions of Valente v. The Queen, 1985 CanLII 25 (SCC) and Beauregard v. Canada, 1986 CanLII 24 (SCC), fundamentally underscored that judicial independence strictly requires the courts to be completely separate in authority from the executive branch, this essential, protective concept must never be weaponized as an offensive tool against the accused. This crucial institutional independence—often summarized by the popular concept of the judiciary being "masters in their own house," as eloquently articulated in the landmark report by Chief Justice Jules Deschênes—was designed explicitly, purposefully, and solely to prevent executive or legislative interference with the core functions of the courts. It highly empowers courts to act as impartial umpires and fierce, uncompromising defenders of the Constitution against state overreach. However, it was never designed, nor can it ever be lawfully permitted, to be manipulated into an impenetrable, hostile bureaucratic fortress designed specifically to conceal jurisdictional nullities from a private citizen whose Charter rights have been aggressively extinguished by an ultra vires police arrest. The courts are the ultimate guardians of the Constitution, not powerful adversaries to those seeking its basic protection. Refusing to produce foundational administrative records on the spurious, generalized, and intellectually lazy grounds of an inflated, completely misapplied privilege brings the entire administration of justice into profound, perhaps irreversible, disrepute. It maliciously, unconstitutionally transforms a vital constitutional shield (judicial independence) into an impermissible, tyrannical sword wielded directly and unfairly against the accused citizen.

X. UNYIELDING JURISDICTIONAL OVERSIGHT UNDER THE AUDITOR GENERAL ACT: THE LEGISLATIVE BIFURCATION OF CUSTODIAL CONTROL VERSUS STATUTORY "USE" AND THE UNIVERSAL CRIME-FRAUD EXCEPTION

49. To the exact extent that the state apparatus attempts to permanently, improperly shield the spoliated or entirely fabricated records behind the aforementioned, legally bankrupt misapplication of judicial or administrative privilege, the Applicant explicitly, forcefully invokes the highly strict, uncompromising statutory oversight mechanisms enshrined directly within the Auditor General Act, RSO 1990, c A.35 (the "Auditor General Act"). The Ontario judicial and administrative framework operates upon a widely recognized, highly specific "split" governance paradigm. While the core, intellectual adjudicative functions of the judiciary are rightfully, heavily insulated by the constitutional doctrine of judicial independence, the Ministry of the Attorney General (the "MAG"), which strictly manages, funds, and operates the Court Services Division (the "CSD"), operates unequivocally and undeniably as a standard "ministry of the public service." Consequently, the MAG, its entire staff, and all of its vast administrative operations are fundamentally, statutorily subject to the plenary, aggressive audit and investigatory powers of the Auditor General as explicitly mandated under sections 10 and 11 of the Auditor General Act.

50. Nota Bene regarding Unwritten Constitutional Principles vs. Executive Malfeasance: The Crown will undoubtedly attempt to argue that subjecting the court's administrative records to the Auditor General violates the unwritten constitutional principle of judicial independence, attempting to place the entirety of the courthouse outside legislative review. This is a fatal overreach. The constitutional protection fiercely shields adjudicative independence; it emphatically does not shield the physical servers, the digital metadata, or the bureaucratic malfeasance committed by the executive-branch staff (MAG employees) who manage the Court Services Division. The "methods of business" (as defined under Section 11 of the Act) of the CSD are strictly executive functions. Unwritten constitutional principles cannot be bastardized to shield executive crime-fraud, systemic technological spoliation, or the fabrication of warrants.

51. Section 10(2) of the Auditor General Act deliberately, legislatively expands the Auditor General's investigative access far beyond the narrow concepts of mere physical possession or exclusive institutional ownership, granting an absolute, unyielding statutory right of free access to all records "belonging to or used by" a ministry. This deliberate legislative bifurcation between pure custody and operational utility is of paramount, game-changing constitutional significance in the present matter. While the judiciary may forcefully, traditionally claim exclusive custodial ownership over its formal acta (the formal record of proceedings), it is an incontrovertible, undeniable operational reality that these exact, identical records are systematically, continuously "used by" the MAG, its highly trained Registrars, Crown Counsel prosecuting the matter, and the Toronto Police Service (via CPIC integrations) to mechanically execute and legally justify highly coercive state actions, including physical arrests. By explicitly, actively "using" the Intake Court Endorsement—or, far more concerningly, utilizing the unverified "phantom" digital footprint thereof—to continuously validate an ongoing, deeply restrictive deprivation of liberty, the MAG irrevocably, permanently subjects that specific record and its entire digital chain of custody to the Auditor General's unfettered, penetrating jurisdictional scrutiny.

52. Furthermore, the sweeping powers granted under section 11 of the Auditor General Act explicitly, boldly empower the Auditor General to aggressively examine "any person" directly on oath regarding instances of severe administrative malfeasance, deep structural deficiencies, or the deliberate, calculated circumvention of established internal technological controls. The apparent, highly suspicious technological siloing of court data, the systemic, entirely unexplained bypass of highly standardized case management infrastructure (such as the heavily utilized Criminal E-Intake Portal or the province-wide ICON/FRANK systems), and the resultant terrifying epistemological void regarding the Applicant's fundamental arrest warrant constitute a catastrophic, totally unprecedented systemic failure of the MAG's internal operational controls. This profound administrative collapse absolutely warrants, and indeed demands, an immediate, highly targeted "Special Investigation" by the Auditor General into the absolute veracity, the actual retention policies, and the complete digital workflow integrity of the MAG's court records pertaining to this Applicant.

53. Non-Obvious Legal Theory Integration regarding the Systemic Crime-Fraud Exception: Crucially, the Crown absolutely cannot selectively, dishonestly weaponize administrative privilege to thwart such a vital, democratically essential investigation. The Applicant formally asserts the application of the universal "Crime-Fraud exception" applied dynamically to systemic executive spoliation. It is a foundational, unassailable, and ancient tenet of Canadian law that absolutely no privilege—whether it be the highly guarded solicitor-client privilege, absolute adjudicative privilege, or qualified administrative privilege—can ever, under any circumstances, be invoked as an impenetrable legal cloak to actively shield a profound abuse of process, conceal rampant administrative malfeasance, or obscure the systemic, criminal fabrication of "phantom" judicial authorizations subsequently used to effectuate an unlawful, violent police arrest. The "fraud" in this context is the state's deliberate circumvention of its own mandated court tracking software (ICON/FRANK) to manufacture jurisdiction. The Auditor General's strict statutory mandate to relentlessly investigate institutional transparency, forcefully verify the absolute integrity of the state's administrative machinery, and fearlessly expose severe abuses of process absolutely, totally overrides any open-textured, defensive, and self-serving claims of administrative privilege advanced by a desperate Crown.

54. It is deeply, fundamentally incumbent upon the Ministry of the Attorney General, the highest echelons of the Court Services Division, and all affiliated, front-line court staff to acutely recognize the intense practical severity and the high degree of personal legal exposure inherent within these powerful statutory mechanisms. The formal invocation of section 11 of the Auditor General Act is absolutely not a theoretical, academic abstraction; it forcefully, legally empowers the Auditor General to legally compel the physical attendance of, and examine strictly under penalty of perjury, any specific court clerk, intake registrar, IT administrator, or operational official involved in any capacity in the digital chain of custody, the highly irregular circumvention of standardized case management infrastructure, or the physical handling of the purportedly fabricated Information Package. Such a compelled, sworn examination would subject the entire administrative apparatus, and its individual, identifiable human actors, to rigorous, legally binding, and highly uncomfortable scrutiny regarding their specific operational conduct and their potential legal complicity in the deliberate spoliation of the judicial record.

55. The Applicant respectfully, yet firmly, submits, however, that this drastic, highly intrusive, and massively resource-intensive statutory escalation is entirely, immediately avoidable. The absolute necessity of invoking the Auditor General's plenary, severe investigatory powers, and the corresponding, uncomfortable exposure of individual court staff and high-ranking MAG personnel to sworn, transcribed examinations, evaporates instantaneously upon the prompt, voluntary, and entirely transparent disclosure of the formally requested materials. By forthwith providing a true, unredacted, and technologically, forensically verifiable copy of the complete Information, the formal Indictment, and the foundational Intake Court Endorsement, the state apparatus can seamlessly, quickly cure the terrifying epistemological void, instantly restore the fundamental integrity of the public record, and permanently preclude the dire necessity of an independent, highly public audit. The stark choice between proactive, restorative constitutional transparency and compelled, severe statutory inquisition rests entirely, heavily with the current, accountable custodians of the record.

XI. DIRECT LIAISON WITH TECHNICAL CUSTODIANS, THE FORENSIC IMMUTABILITY OF CLOUD-BASED ARCHITECTURE, AND THE BINDING DIRECTIVES OF THE CANADIAN JUDICIAL COUNCIL

56. To the exact extent that the Crown or the Court Services Division deems it administratively expedient, I remain entirely content and proactively willing to communicate directly and exclusively with the designated Chief Court Information Officer, the primary information controller, and/or the formally appointed information custodian. Possessing a highly sophisticated, deeply integrated background in advanced information technology, systems architecture, and cryptographic data management, I am extensively proficient in algorithmic coding, relational database querying, and the rigorous forensic mechanics of enterprise-grade server infrastructure. This technical fluency permits a highly streamlined, peer-to-peer technical dialogue with your IT personnel, thereby conserving the court's invaluable administrative resources and preserving vital judicial economy.

57. Furthermore, out of profound respect for the court's administrative time, I am equally prepared and legally positioned to interface directly with the relevant third-party enterprise storage vendors and cloud-hosting providers currently retained by the Ministry of the Attorney General. To the extent that the provincial administrative apparatus is leveraging Amazon Web Services (AWS) for its data warehousing—a deployment topology that appears incontrovertibly evident given the province's existing digital infrastructure footprint—it is a foundational, axiomatic reality of AWS cloud architecture that the platform completely neutralizes any spurious claims of accidental, localized data loss. AWS natively and automatically executes encrypted, highly redundant backups of all electronic documents and transactional metadata. Specifically, AWS architecture systematically archives these unalterable data iterations at a minimum frequency of three times per diurnal cycle, persisting these immutable snapshots within highly durable, cryptographically secured Simple Storage Service (S3) "buckets" spanning multiple, geographically distributed availability zones.

58. It is absolutely imperative to respectfully remind the Ministry of the Attorney General and all affiliated court staff that the Superior Court of Justice, its presiding jurists, and its entire administrative architecture are rigorously, unconditionally governed by the technological and ethical mandates promulgated by the Canadian Judicial Council (the "CJC"). These binding architectural directives, which explicitly govern the SCJ courts and its judges, include the Ethical Principles for Judges, the Blueprint for the Security of Court Information, the Model Definition for Judicial Information, the Model Policy for the Retention of Court Information, and the Model Policy for the Classification of Court Information. These instruments strictly dictate the absolute preservation, cybersecurity, metadata classification, and unalterable retention of all judicial records.

59. Any assertion by the registry that a purportedly generated Intake Court Endorsement has simply vanished and cannot be forensically extracted from a redundant AWS S3 bucket directly contravenes the strict data-governance, automated-backup, and cyber-hygiene protocols universally mandated by these CJC articles. A failure to retrieve a document from a system explicitly designed for absolute, multi-layered redundancy does not evidence a mere technological glitch; rather, it provides overwhelming, forensic corroboration of an intentional, highly sophisticated bypass of the court's mandated security architecture. The deliberate circumvention of these CJC-mandated protocols to permanently eradicate an arrest authorization fundamentally shatters the Ethical Principles for Judges and further cements the inescapable application of the Crime-Fraud exception regarding the state's ongoing, contumacious spoliation.

60. Thank you kindly or your attention to the same and I will presume all of the above is correct as it relates to the likes of inter alia, the file number herein, the particulars of that which was undisclosed et al.

Respectfully submitted,

Mr. Kevin A. McLean (BA, JD, CIM)

To be forward to the Chief Justice of the SCJ out of an abundance of caution

Warm regards,

Mr. Kevin A. McLean (BA, JD, CIM)

Chartered Investment Manager

Email: mcleansettlement@gmail.com

Fax: 416.981.7117

Phone number: 647.370.9354

On Sat, Mar 28, 2026 at 1:19 PM Mr. Kevin McLean <mcleansettlement@gmail.com> wrote:

> Dear Ms. Simion:
>
> I hope you are well.
>
> As the Manager of Court Operations of the Originating Court Office in the Originating Courthouse where the Criminal Proceeding was commenced, would you kindly confirm whether you have or have not returned to the clerk of the court at the place where Form 1 Notice of Application is returnable true copies of the Order (if the INTAKE COURT ENDORSEMENT (SEPT 23 2024 or any other date known to you if that could be at law to be considered a "order" which I say it could not), or warrant (if the INTAKE COURT ENDORSEMENT (SEPT 23 2024 or any other date known to you if that could be at law to be considered a "order" which I say it could not, together with true copies of the indictment, information (to the extent that the original, authentic and undisclosed Criminal Code Form 2 Information and/or Criminal Code Form 4 Indictment was duly completed and authorized, and then in relation to the Criminal Code Form 2 Information received by the formerly undisclosed SCJ Judge, and duly sworn before said Judge in person (chambers as admitted by SCJ RMO Ms. Amirthalingam in 2025 (Summer/Fall)) exhibits, and any other proceedings (noting the definition of "Proceeding" under the Criminal Proceeding Rules) or documents touching the matter, and the notice served with a certificate attached thereto in the requisite form and then in certified manner:
> Pursuant to the accompanying notice I herewith return to this Honourable Court the following:
> - True copies of:
> - the information;
> - the conviction (or as the case may be);
> - the exhibits, if capable of reproduction and relevant to the matters in question;
> - any other papers or documents touching the matter, if capable of reproduction and relevant to the matters in question.
>
> And I hereby certify to this Honourable Court that I have above truly set forth all exhibits, papers, and documents in my custody or power relating to the matter set forth in the said notice of application.
> Date: _____
> Manager of Court Operations at SCJ 361 University Avenue Courthouse (1st floor)"
>
> A simple "yes" or "no" shall suffice. If it is "yes", would you please provide me with a copy of the same or confirm when it was "returned' the same.

I enclose and attach a copy of my letter to the Primus Inter Pares of the SCJ in The Honourable Mr. Chief Justice Morawetz that was faxed this morning.
Thank you.
Mr. Kevin A. McLean (BA, JD, CIM)

Warm regards,

Mr. Kevin A. McLean (BA, JD, CIM)

Chartered Investment Manager

Email: mcleansettlement@gmail.com

Fax: 416.981.7117

Phone number: 647.370.9354

On Tue, Mar 24, 2026 at 11:32 AM Mr. Kevin McLean <mcleansettlement@gmail.com> wrote:

> Dear Sirs/Mesdames/Other Gender-Neutral Pronouns:
>
> As promised, kindly find attached part 2 of 2. I will now serve a copy of the same along with the relevant persons. Thank you.
>
> Mr. Kevin A. McLean (BA, JD, CIM)
>
> REPLY TO: Mr. Kevin A. McLean (BA, JD, CIM) (DOB: March 25, 1983; Driver's Licence: M16514331830325)
> REPLY VIA EMAIL: mcleansettlement@gmail.com
> REPLY VIA FAX: 416.981.7117
> TELEPHONE (in the event of an obstruction with email or facsimile transmission): (647) 370-9354
> SENDER'S STATUS: Applicant

On Tue, Mar 24, 2026 at 11:31 AM Mr. Kevin McLean <mcleansettlement@gmail.com> wrote:

> DATE: March 24, 2026
> CLASSIFICATION: For intended recipient(s) and subject to service on the Attorney General of Ontario, the Attorney General of Canada, et al.
>
> REPLY TO: Mr. Kevin A. McLean (BA, JD, CIM) (DOB: March 25, 1983; Driver's Licence: M16514331830325)
>
> REPLY VIA EMAIL: mcleansettlement@gmail.com
>
> REPLY VIA FAX: 416.981.7117
>
> TELEPHONE (in the event of an obstruction with email or facsimile transmission): (647) 370-9354
>
> SENDER'S STATUS: Applicant

RELEVANT PARTICULARS

Style of Cause: His Majesty The King v. Mr. Kevin A. McLean (BA, JD, CIM) (the "King v. McLean")

Year of Commencement of the Criminal Proceeding: 2024

Known File Number: 24-457197 (or a substantially similar numerical string, to be precisely clarified by the court office (the "Court Office") where the criminal proceeding (the "Criminal Proceeding") was ostensibly commenced in 2024, being that of the Superior Court of Justice located at 361 University Avenue)

Originating Court Office: First floor of the Superior Court of Justice, 361 University Avenue Courthouse

Originating Courthouse: Superior Court of Justice, 361 University Avenue Courthouse (the "Originating Courthouse")

Location of the Ex Parte In Camera Hearing(s): Conducted within the judicial chambers of the undisclosed Superior Court of Justice Judge on or subsequent to Friday, September 20, 2024, and prior to October 2, 2024

Name of the Informant: Explicitly not Court Officer (Toronto Region) Mrs. Frugoni-Rojas (a part-time contractor retained by the Toronto Police Service), as extrapolated from the falsities embedded within the false information package (the "False Information Package") and the recent doctrinal discovery that, pursuant to section 508.1 of the Criminal Code, RSC 1985, c C-46, an information laid by telecommunication necessitates no signature, but merely a statutory statement of belief.

Deemed Sworn Date of the Undisclosed Informant or Signature on the Form 4 Indictment: Either September 23, 24, or 25, 2024, as extrapolated from the systemic delay indicators delineated within R. v. Jordan, 2016 SCC 27 (the "Jordan Decision*") flags contained within the False Information Package.

Name of the Adjudicator at Issue and Document Type Rendered:

- Name: The Honourable Madam Justice Sharon Shore (the "Presiding Justice")
- Area of Conventional Jurisdiction: Family Law
- Primary Location: Superior Court of Justice, 361 University Avenue Courthouse
- Designation: Family Law Team Leader for the Court Office located on the first floor
- Judicial Chambers: Undisclosed floor and office number within the Originating Courthouse
- Alternative Location: Divisional Court, 130 Queen Street West, Toronto, Ontario
- Document Type: intake court endorsement (the "Intake Court Endorsement"), constituting neither a Form 6 Summons nor a Form 7 Warrant for Arrest
- Contents Therein: To be fully disclosed by the Court Office of the Originating Courthouse and any affiliated entities possessing custody or control of the aforementioned document.

  Date of Applicant's Arrest: October 2, 2024, at approximately 7:30 p.m.

  Location of Applicant's Arrest: Toronto Police Service Division 14, situated at 350 Dovercourt Road, Toronto (the "TPS 14th Division")

  Arresting Police Officers: Constable Mr. Anthony Romano (Badge No. 6097) and Detective Constable Mr. Michael Roman Kolankowski (Badge No. 82239) of the TPS 14th Division

  Date of Form 10 Undertaking and Signatories: October 2, 2024; executed by Mr. Kevin A. McLean (BA, JD, CIM) and Sergeant Mr. Sean Cassidy

  Toronto Police Service Occurrence Numbers and Relevant Dates:

- September 22, 2024: Occurrence No. 24-2082035
- September 15, 2024: Occurrence No. 2024-2028093

  Case Manager: Eric Tang (Badge No. 10942), Email: 10942@tps.ca

  Authorizing Detective for Release from Imprisonment (October 2, 2024): Detective Mr. Abdulhameed K. Virani of the Toronto Police Service 52nd Division

  Canadian Police Information Centre (CPIC) Identifiers:

- 52nd Division: ON30247 (Investigating Agency for Downtown West/Major Crimes)

- 14th Division: ON30243
- TPS Headquarters: ON30244

Filing Requirements pursuant to the Criminal Proceedings Rules for the Superior Court of Justice (Ontario):

- Place of Filing: The Court Office where the Criminal Proceeding was commenced, subject to the exception delineated in rule 4.05(3) of the Criminal Proceedings Rules for the Superior Court of Justice (Ontario) (the "Criminal Proceeding Rules").
- Exception: An affidavit, transcript, record, or factum to be utilized on the hearing of an application must be filed with the Court Office in the jurisdiction where the hearing is to be held.
- Deemed Date of Filing: March 24, 2026, at 11:30 a.m.

TO:

The Court Office where the Criminal Proceeding was commenced, governed by the Criminal Proceeding Rules enacted pursuant to subsection 482(1) of the Criminal Code, RSC 1985, c C-46.

Superior Court of Justice of Ontario

Toronto Region

361 University Avenue, 1st Floor

Toronto, Ontario M5G 1T3

ATTENTION: The Manager of Court Operations (statutorily recognized as the Clerk of the Court or Registrar), Ms. Monica Simion.

Dear Sirs/Mesdames:

I. PROCEDURAL POSTURE AND SUBMISSION OF AUTHORITIES

1. The present correspondence is respectfully submitted to the Court Office of the Superior Court of Justice to effectuate the formal filing of the Applicant's book of authorities (the "Book of Authorities"). Meticulous particularity has been employed in the enumeration of the preceding identifiers to facilitate absolute administrative precision.
2. Enclosed herewith, pursuant to the stringent mandates of the Criminal Proceeding Rules, is the fully indexed and comprehensively tabulated Book of Authorities. The proactive transmission of these materials at this nascent juncture is calculated to ensure that the presiding judicial officer, the Attorney General of Ontario, and the Attorney General of Canada are provided with ample opportunity to review the foundational jurisprudence well in advance of the scheduled hearing. To circumvent any logistical impediments stemming from electronic file size limitations, the Book of Authorities shall be transmitted in sequential installments, with the primary volume appended to this underlying correspondence.

II. STATUTORY NON-COMPLIANCE AND JURISDICTIONAL NULLITY

3. Given the idiosyncratic and ostensibly unprecedented nature of this proceeding—particularly regarding the locus of its commencement—a profound procedural anomaly has been discovered. It is submitted as a mathematical and logical impossibility that Court Officer Mrs. Frugoni-Rojas acted as the informant in this matter. This deduction is crystallized when juxtaposing the structural deficiencies of the False Information Package against standard pro forma documentation, such as the adult common information document promulgated by the Lincoln County Law Association (the "Lincoln County Pro Forma").
4. Initial scrutiny was directed toward the authenticity of the digital signature attributed to Mrs. Frugoni-Rojas, analyzing its validity under the Canada Evidence Act, RSC 1985, c C-5, and the Secure Electronic Signature Regulations, SOR/2005-30. However, rigorous legal analysis reveals that the signature inquiry is fundamentally a red herring. An examination of the Lincoln County Pro Forma demonstrates that a signature is statutorily superfluous in this specific context; rather, what is demanded is a formal statement of belief.
5. Pursuant to subsections 508.1(1) and 508.1(2) of the Criminal Code, RSC 1985, c C-46, an information laid by a peace officer via telecommunication requires no signature. The statutory imperative dictates solely that a statement in writing be produced, asserting that all matters contained within the information are true to the officer's knowledge and belief. It is a trite and unassailable legal principle that a "statement" does not, ipso facto, equate to a "signature".

6. The False Information Package exhibits a fatal structural lacuna. Specifically, it attempts to insert a superfluous signature on the second page—a location where standard pro forma architecture dictates no such authorization is warranted. Furthermore, the critical page housing the statutorily mandated statement of belief (equivalent to page four of six in the Lincoln County Pro Forma) has been wholly omitted. Such a fundamental breach of statutory prerequisites cannot be construed as a mere procedural irregularity; rather, it constitutes a strict jurisdictional defect, rendering the information an absolute nullity ab initio.

III. EXTRAPOLATIONS CONCERNING THE EX PARTE PROCEEDING

7. It is highly irregular, albeit historically documented by the Superior Court of Justice Regional Manager of Operations, that the laying of the subject information occurred ex parte and in camera within the judicial chambers of the Presiding Justice.

8. The ensuing syllogism is inescapable: if the ex parte in camera hearing (the "Ex Parte Hearing") was conducted without verbatim transcription or electronic recording, the procedural mechanism utilized could not have been a mere written statement deemed under oath pursuant to section 508.1 of the Criminal Code, RSC 1985, c C-46. Consequently, the information was not lawfully laid until it was formally sworn or affirmed before a recognized justice.

9. The deduction therefore follows that while an information may have been submitted post facto to the swearing thereof, the issuance of the Intake Court Endorsement to the Court Office is marred by substantive temporal and technical errors. Whether the issuance of the Intake Court Endorsement functionally crystallizes into a formal "process" (comparable to a summons or warrant) remains a profoundly complex legal question, strictly reserved for adjudication at the forthcoming hearing of the notices of application (the "Notices of Application").

10. It must be further underscored that an individual does not acquire the legal status of an "accused" until such time as an information is validly sworn, an act which formally inaugurates the criminal proceedings. The failure to adhere to the strict statutory mechanisms governing the commencement of such proceedings renders all subsequent acta entirely ultra vires.

IV. ADMINISTRATIVE REQUISITIONS AND PRODUCTION OF CERTIFICATES

11. In the overriding public interest, and in strict adherence to the Applicant's entitlements enshrined within the Criminal Proceeding Rules, it is hereby formally demanded that a true copy of the certificate required under rule 43.03 of the Criminal Proceeding Rules be produced and remitted to the Applicant forthwith. This production is imperative to ascertain the precise inventory of documents that have been transmitted to the Court Office designated to adjudicate the Notices of Application.

12. If the certificate mandated by rule 43.03(3) of the Criminal Proceeding Rules has already been executed and dispatched, unequivocal confirmation of its transmission date is formally requested to facilitate secondary requisition protocols.

13. It is conceivable, pursuant to rule 4.10 of the Criminal Proceeding Rules, that the Form 4 Indictment was submitted directly to the Presiding Justice rather than the customary criminal intake registry. Irrespective of the localized routing, absolute confirmation of the court file number is required. If the file number posited herein (derived from the highly flawed False Information Package) is inaccurate, the Court Office is directed to provide the correct alphanumeric designation assigned to the Intake Court Endorsement.

14. The right is hereby unequivocally reserved to rely upon the contents of this correspondence for any and all lawful purposes, including but not limited to the preservation of the Applicant's fundamental procedural rights.

15. The Applicant's filings are deemed filed on the date and at the precise time of electronic transmission, as governed by rule 4.01(5) of the Criminal Proceeding Rules.

Respectfully submitted,

Mr. Kevin A. McLean (BA, JD, CIM)

APPENDIX A: STATUTORY REFERENCES

Criminal Code, RSC 1985, c C-46

Information laid otherwise than in person

508.1 (1) For the purposes of sections 504 to 508, a peace officer may lay an information by any means of telecommunication that produces a writing.

Alternative to oath

(2) A peace officer who uses a means of telecommunication referred to in subsection (1) shall, instead of swearing an oath, make a statement in writing stating that all matters contained in the information are true to the officer's knowledge and belief, and such a statement is deemed to be a statement made under oath.

1997, c. 18, s. 56

On Wed, Mar 18, 2026 at 12:33 PM Mr. Kevin McLean <mcleansettlement@gmail.com> wrote:

> Subject: UPDATE & ENCLOSURES: Form 5 with Schedule "A" / Status of Certificate of Return
>
> VIA ELECTRONIC MAIL
>
> Ms. Monica Simion Manager of Court Operations Superior Court of Justice – Toronto Region 361 University Avenue, 1st Floor Toronto, Ontario M5G 1T3
>
> Dear Ms. Simion:
>
> Please find attached a copy of the email correspondence that was delivered to the Attorney General of Ontario (AGO) and the Attorney General of Canada (AGC), alongside a copy of my Form 5 Notice of Application and Constitutional Issue, including Schedule "A". Please be advised that a physical copy of these same documents will follow via mail.
>
> Further to my previous correspondence dated March 16, 2026, kindly provide an update as to whether the certificate of return is now complete.
>
> I will confirm with your office once all of the relevant persons have been served and personally served.
>
> Thank you kindly for your time and ongoing attention to this matter.
>
> Respectfully submitted,
>
> Mr. Kevin A. McLean (BA, JD, CIM) Applicant – Self-Represented

On Mon, Mar 16, 2026 at 9:53 AM Mr. Kevin McLean <mcleansettlement@gmail.com> wrote:

> Dear Ms. Simion et al: out of an abundance of caution, I have copied the Supervisor for the 1st floor for SCJ 361 University Courthouse as was done last night in relation to my non-FIPPA access request. Thank you.
>
> Yours faithfully,
>
> /KAM
>
> Mr. Kevin A. McLean (BA, JD, CIM)

On Mon, Mar 16, 2026 at 9:48 AM Mr. Kevin McLean <mcleansettlement@gmail.com> wrote:

March 16, 2026
VIA ELECTRONIC SERVICE AT FIRST INSTANCE

Ms. Monica Simion
Manager of Court Operations
Superior Court of Justice – Toronto Region
361 University Avenue, 1st Floor
Toronto, Ontario M5G 1T3
Re: Service Pursuant to Rules 5.01, 5.02, 4.05, and 43.03(3) –
Form 1 Notice of Application (Criminal Proceedings Rules)
Applicant: Mr. Kevin A. McLean (BA, JD, CIM)
Dear Ms. Simion et al:
Please accept this correspondence, together with the enclosed documents, as formal electronic service upon you in your capacity as Manager of Court Operations at the originating court office for the purposes of Rules 5.01, 5.02, 4.05, and 43.03(3) of the Criminal Proceedings Rules for the Superior Court of Justice (Ontario).
This service is effected to trigger your mandatory statutory obligations under Rule 43.03(3), which requires the Manager of Court Operations to return forthwith to the clerk of the court at the place where the application is returnable:
"true copies of the conviction (or as the case may be), together with true copies of the indictment, information, exhibits and papers or other documents touching the matter, as fully and as entirely as they remain in your custody, together with this notice and the certificate prescribed in the said rule."
For clarity, the originating court office for this Criminal Proceeding is the 1st-floor court office at 361 University Avenue, being the only office with custody or power over the impugned Intake Court Endorsement and any associated acta.

Nuanced Clarification Regarding Custody, Power, and the Scope of "Documents"

In light of your response last night to my access request, with thanks, I note that these issues can be nuanced. To eliminate any issues involving any apparent discretion and the broader ambit of "documents" — including exhibits, the information, endorsements, papers, or documents in your custody and *power (as opposed to mere control) — I have taken the step of giving and serving the same to avoid any issues regarding the scope of Rule 43.03(3). Kindly provide me with the completed certification once it has been transmitted on a forthwith basis.

Enclosures Served Electronically

1. Form 1 – Notice of Application (Criminal Proceedings Rules)
2. Schedule "A" – Relief Sought, Grounds, and Evidentiary Framework

These documents are served for the purpose of initiating the Manager's mandatory certification obligations under Rule 43.03(3) and compelling the return of all Informations, endorsements, warrants, exhibits, papers, and documents touching the matter.

Clarification Regarding Filing Requirements and Returnability

As the Criminal Proceeding was commenced in the Superior Court of Justice at 361 University Avenue, 1st floor, all filings are required to include that address, which has been done in the Form 1 Notice of Application.
Further, pursuant to Rule 4.05, all filings — except those made in limine during a hearing — must be filed with your Court Office, being the originating office. This does not mean that your Court Office is the returnable forum for the Notice of Application; rather, it remains the office where filings must be made. The Form 1 Notice of Application is returnable before the clerk of the court in Courtroom 241, consistent with the governing procedural framework.

Notice of Personal Service on the Presiding Judicial Officer

A copy of the Form 1 Notice of Application will also be personally served on the Honourable Madam Justice Shore by leaving a copy with her, together with mailed copies of the same, in accordance with Rule 5.02(1)(c).

Service Coordinates of the Applicant

Mr. Kevin A. McLean (BA, JD, CIM)
Email: mcleansettlement@gmail.com
Fax: 416-981-7117
Telephone: (647) 370-9354

Thank you for your attention to this matter and kindly coordinate separately by email thread regarding my Non-FIPPA access request as you did last night.
Respectfully submitted,
Mr. Kevin A. McLean (BA, JD, CIM)
Applicant – Self-Represented

3 attachments

T-2448-26 - Kevin Alexander McLean v. Royal Canadian Mounted Police et al - Stamped Copy - May 19 - 2026.pdf
1066K View as HTML Scan and download

Form 1 - NOA - THE KING V. KA MCLEAN - APPLICANT - KAM BA JD CIM - 29-APRIL-2026.pdf
977K View as HTML Scan and download

Information Package 4810 998 24 48129169-00 (4).pdf
329K View as HTML Scan and download

TAB 93

VIA ELECTRONIC MAIL AND FACSIMILE
(Transmitted concurrently via electronic mail to: SCJOfficeoftheChiefJustice.Mail@ontario.ca)
(Transmitted concurrently via facsimile to: 1-416-327-6011)
(To be followed via Courier, Express Post, and/or Registered Mail)

TO:

The Honourable Associate Chief Justice of the Superior Court of Justice of Ontario (the "Superior Court Of Justice" or the "SCJ"), Madam Justice Faye E. McWatt
In her capacity as the Acting Chief Justice of the SCJ consequent to the departure of the former Chief Justice of the SCJ, Former Judge Mr. Geoffrey B. Morawetz
130 Queen Street West
Toronto, Ontario

SUBJECT I: URGENT PEREMPTORY DEMAND FOR ADMINISTRATIVE DIRECTIVES ISSUED PURSUANT TO THE CAPACITY OF ACTING CHIEF JUSTICE OF THE SUPERIOR COURT OF JUSTICE AND THE PRESERVATION OF THE COURT RECORD

A strict, unyielding requisition commanding the immediate, incontrovertible direction of court staff and registry clerks to forthwith execute mandatory, non-delegable ministerial and administrative duties assigned by law to the judiciary, specifically encompassing the following statutory, constitutional, and procedural frontiers:

1. Obligations Executed Pursuant to the Administration of Justice Act, Attendant Regulations, and the Canadian Judicial Council Administrative Frameworks:
   a. To compel uncompromising, immediate compliance with the non-delegable public duty to furnish the applicant (the "Applicant") with a complete, unadulterated, and cryptographically verifiable copy of the formal information (the "Information") or the indictment (the "Indictment") wherein the Applicant is explicitly designated as the accused (the "Accused"), originating on or around September 2024. Said provision is statutorily mandated to be fulfilled upon request and without the exaction, imposition, or prerequisite of any prescribed administrative fees, entirely consistent with section 2 and section 7 of the Ministry of the Attorney General Court Services Division Court Information Access Guide (2019) (the "MAG CSD Guide"). It is submitted that the financial burden of this extensive administrative remediation rests entirely and exclusively upon the public purse, thereby ensuring unfettered, equitable access to justice and preventing the state apparatus from profiting monetarily from its own systemic obfuscation and deliberate documentary sequestration.
   b. To compel the provision, via secure electronic transmission, of any and all judicial endorsements (the "Endorsements") wherein the Applicant is recognized as a party, absolutely free of charge, as rigidly dictated by section 7 of the MAG CSD Guide. The perpetual preservation and unfettered dissemination of such foundational adjudicative authorizations constitute an irreducible minimum of judicial accountability, without which the coercive penal power of the state operates within an unconstitutional, untraceable vacuum.
   c. To enforce absolute, unwavering compliance with the Canadian Judicial Council Model Policy for the Classification of Court Information (the "CJC Classification Policy"), which unequivocally, and without jurisdictional exception, designates pleadings, orders, and reasons for judgment as public information (the "Public Information"). The continued, orchestrated suppression of these foundational acta directly and maliciously contravenes this established national framework, thereby representing an ultra 5980 vires abrogation of the open court principle and an impermissible encroachment upon the fundamental liberties of the Accused.

2. Obligations Executed Pursuant to the Criminal Proceedings Rules:
   a. To compel the Manager of Court Operations of the originating court office (the "Originating Court Office") situated within the originating courthouse (the "Originating Courthouse") to strictly comply with the executory duty to forthwith provide the required certified return. This mandate is dictated pursuant to rule 43.03 of the Criminal Proceedings Rules for the Superior Court of Justice (Ontario) (the "Criminal Proceedings Rules").
   (Nota Bene: It is rigorously submitted that the temporal parameter governing this administrative requirement has been irrevocably crystallized as a "forthwith" obligation since April 30, 2026. The continued administrative paralysis exhibited by the registry in effectuating this mandatory appellate return is entirely hostile to the rule of law, representing a profound, actionable abdication of the ministerial duties statutorily imposed upon the public service, effectively functioning as a localized suspension of habeas corpus protections).

Dear Madam:

I. PROCEDURAL POSTURE, EXHAUSTION OF ADMINISTRATIVE REMEDIES, AND IDENTIFICATION OF THE TRANSMISSION

1. It is with a resolute commitment to unyielding procedural rectitude and a profound, unwavering dedication to the preservation of the constitutional order that this comprehensive correspondence is directed to your immediate attention. The paramount constitutional and administrative exigencies delineated herein fundamentally engage the core inherent jurisdiction of the Superior Court of Justice. Should these catastrophic documentary and jurisdictional matters be left unrectified, they threaten to irreparably compromise the public's confidence in the administration of justice, systematically eroding the foundational pillars upon which the rule of law and the separation of powers are constructed.
2. The Ethical Principles for Judges promulgated by the Canadian Judicial Council explicitly and uncompromisingly dictate that judicial independence, institutional integrity, and administrative diligence are paramount operational imperatives. The current, protracted administrative obfuscation characterizing the Toronto Region registry stands in direct, unapologetic contravention of these venerated tenets, projecting an appearance of a judicature that has been thoroughly captured by external executive or law enforcement influences.
3. Annexed hereto are two comprehensive, voluminous compilations of documentary evidence, encapsulated as meticulously preserved electronic correspondence threads, which extensively detail the relevant attachments and the protracted historical communications germane to the two distinct legal imperatives denoted above. The provision of these exhaustive records serves to definitively establish the complete, unassailable exhaustion of all available administrative remedies at the registry level prior to this formal escalation:

   a. The mandatory obligations owed pursuant to the Administration of Justice Act and its attendant regulations, which have been met consistently with an unacceptable, protracted, and profound institutional opacity that borders on contumacious obstruction; and
   b. The mandatory procedural obligations owed pursuant to the Criminal Proceedings Rules, the contravention of which functionally deprives the reviewing appellate tribunal of the foundational record necessary to conduct a constitutionally sound adjudication, thereby intentionally paralyzing the appellate mechanism and shielding ultra vires conduct from judicial scrutiny.
4. The persistent, seemingly orchestrated sequestration of these foundational acta by the administrative apparatus transcends mere procedural irregularity or bureaucratic inadvertence; it constitutes an actionable, systemic obfuscation that operates to categorically deny the Applicant's fundamental right to make full answer and defence as enshrined within section 7 and section 11(d) of the Canadian Charter of Rights and Freedoms, Part I of the Constitution Act, 1982, being Schedule B to the Canada Act 1982 (UK), 1982, c 11 (the "Charter"). The meticulous preservation of the adjudicative history within the annexed exhibits is of paramount importance to ensuring that all structural irregularities, technological spoliations, and unauthorized acta are systematically documented and subsequently addressed before a competent tribunal of inherent jurisdiction.

5. Furthermore, the deafening administrative silence exhibited by the Originating Court Office represents a profound, actionable breach of the doctrine of legitimate expectations. As authoritatively articulated by the Supreme Court of Canada in Baker v. Canada (Minister of Citizenship and Immigration), [1999] 2 SCR 817 (the "Baker"), where a public authority issues specific representations regarding the administrative procedure it will adhere to—in this instance, the explicit, codified assurances contained within the MAG CSD Guide and the national guidelines articulated by the Canadian Judicial Council affirming that foundational records shall be provided forthwith and without tariff—the failure to honor those representations constitutes a profound breach of procedural fairness. The administrative state cannot be permitted to operate as an impenetrable monolith. The Applicant's indefeasible right to verify the jurisdictional parameters of his own state-mandated detention cannot be subordinated to the indefinite administrative stasis or the clandestine machinations of a captured registry.

II. JURISDICTIONAL TRANSFER, THE DOCTRINE OF THE TAINTED TRIBUNAL, AND CONSTITUTIONAL RUPTURE

6. In relation to the latter procedural obligations, it is formally affirmed that the substantive hearing for the Form 1 Notice of Application (the "Form 1 NOA") and the Form 5 Notice of Application and Constitutional Question (the "Form 5 NOCQ") has been meticulously scheduled to convene before the Superior Court of Justice within the Newmarket Courthouse (the "Central East Region"). This strategic transplantation of venue is strictly necessitated by the absolute, demonstrable impossibility of procuring a fair, impartial, and constitutionally unassailable hearing within the City of Toronto (the "Toronto Region").
7. Such an incurable, systemic apprehension of bias is precipitated by the historically undisclosed, clandestine involvement of the former Chief Justice, Mr. Geoffrey B. Morawetz (the "Former Chief Justice Morawetz"), acting in inextricable, localized concert with the largely undisclosed administrative machinations of Madam Justice Shore. It is a matter of incontrovertible geographical and administrative record that Madam Justice Shore has presided as the family law team leader (the "Family Law Team Leader") at the Superior Court of Justice located at the 361 University Avenue Courthouse since or around 2020. (It is further noted for the absolute preservation of the historical record that Madam Justice Shore was appointed to the bench in 2018, rendering the weaponization of her specialized familial registry for the issuance of a criminal intake endorsement an astonishing, ultra vires jurisdictional aberration that defies all established parameters of subject-matter allocation).
8. It is respectfully submitted that the capacity to obtain an untainted, equitable adjudication within the City of Toronto—whether before the Superior Court of Justice or the Ontario Court of Justice—has been permanently and irremediably vitiated. The legal standard necessary to establish a reasonable apprehension of bias, as definitively enunciated by the Supreme Court of Canada in Committee for Justice and Liberty v. National Energy Board, [1978] 1 SCR 369 (the "Committee Decision"), dictates that an informed, right-minded person, viewing the matter realistically and practically, and having thought the matter through, would conclude that there is a reasonable apprehension that the decision-maker would not decide the case impartially.
9. When this robust jurisprudential extrapolation is superimposed upon the factual architecture herein—where the Chief Justice intervened as an undisclosed adjudicator while harbouring apparent conflicts, where a family law registry was utilized to clandestinely synthesize criminal process, and where registry personnel were deliberately manipulated to obstruct access to the resultant files—the threshold for a reasonable apprehension of bias is not merely surpassed; it is obliterated.
10. While the Applicant fundamentally eschews the levying of castigation in the absence of incontrovertible, objective evidentiary substantiation, the extant record renders it profoundly manifest that Madam Justice Shore, whilst presiding over a collateral proceeding, operated entirely beyond the lawful parameters of her adjudicative mandate. Such extra-jurisdictional conduct engages the absolute 5982 nullity defined by the venerated maxim Factum a judice quod ad officium ejus non pertinet, ratum non est (an act of a judge which does not pertain to their office is of no force), and undeniably renders the resultant decrees operating entirely coram non judice.

11. Furthermore, the evidentiary substrate incontrovertibly suggests a calculated, deliberate manipulation of the former Registrar of the Divisional Court (Ms. Gentles) and associated registry personnel (namely, Ms. Ibula), thereby effectuating a widespread, systemic abuse of process explicitly targeted against the Applicant. This systemic prejudice and institutional malfeasance is cast into stark, undeniable relief when juxtaposed against the administratively sound, procedurally unimpeachable, and equitable treatment concurrently afforded to the Applicant by the Federal Court of Canada. Given that the Applicant remains the constant variable across these disparate jurisdictional fora—maintaining at all times strict, unwavering adherence to every applicable statute, regulation, and common law precept—the resultant procedural dichotomy is highly probative. It serves to definitively demonstrate that the rampant misconduct proliferating within the Superior Court of Justice and the Divisional Court in the Toronto Region is the direct, proximate consequence of a coordinated fraud perpetrated upon both the Superior Court of Justice and the Ontario Court of Justice—institutions separated by a mere stone's throw in geographical proximity, yet similarly compromised by this localized institutional capture, the full, clandestine scope of which remains the subject of ongoing, multi-jurisdictional investigations of which the Applicant was previously unaware.

12. Under the antecedent leadership of the judiciary, acting in the capacity of the President of the Court of Ontario pursuant to the Courts of Justice Act, this systemic charade was permitted to flourish unabated. This profound abuse of process and fraud upon the court (the "Fraud Upon The Court") was initially orchestrated by the executive branches of government, yet it was tragically, actively, and systemically facilitated by certain Justices of the Peace and judges of the Ontario Court of Justice operating within the Toronto Region. The clandestine synthesis of penal instruments within the obscured recesses of civil administrative chambers functionally bypasses the rigorously audited criminal registries, explicitly the Integrated Court Operation Network (the "ICON"). This evasion represents a catastrophic rupture in the separation of powers, the bifurcation of subject-matter jurisdiction, and profoundly subverts the zero trust architecture (the "Zero Trust Architecture") mandated by the Canadian Judicial Council Blueprint for the Security of Court Information, Seventh Edition (the "CJC Seventh Blueprint").

13. The subsequent forensic discovery of Former Chief Justice Morawetz's undisclosed intervention was not merely an administrative shock; it constituted an egregious ethical transgression that offends the very bedrock of judicial impartiality. By continuing to exercise administrative and adjudicative authority without proactively disclosing his inherent conflict of interest to the Applicant, a structural vulnerability of immense proportions was injected into the proceedings. Furthermore, the abrupt proclamation of his "retirement" was conspicuously synchronized with active litigation advancing before the Divisional Court of Ontario. This litigation encompassed the formal filing of critical instruments—some of which were statutorily required to be directed exclusively to his attention pursuant to section 123 of the Courts of Justice Act. The strategic timing of this departure cannot serve to permanently immunize an extra-judicial deprivation of liberty from rigorous appellate scrutiny, nor does it extinguish the non-delegable administrative and ethical responsibilities of the office he has vacated.

III. THE PARAMOUNT IMPORTANCE OF DOCUMENTARY RECORD-KEEPING WITHIN A COURT OF RECORD AND THE OPEN COURT PRINCIPLE

14. Notwithstanding the aforementioned historical infractions and the profound institutional dysfunction they represent, the historical reality is acknowledged, and institutional focus must now pivot irrevocably toward immediate systemic remediation. Consequently, this correspondence serves to formally present the Acting Chief Justice with the constitutional opportunity—and the corresponding, unavoidable statutory requirement—to decisively direct the court staff, specifically including the Manager of Court Operations of the Originating Courthouse at the Originating Court Office.

5983 15. Such directives must compel absolute, uncompromising compliance with the executory duties associated with the undisclosed criminal proceeding (the "Criminal Proceeding") ostensibly commenced in September 2024 within the Toronto Region. It is strictly demanded that the Acting Chief Justice ensure the administrative apparatus functions with absolute transparency, affirmatively rectifying the profound failures perpetrated during the tenure of Former Chief Justice Morawetz. The Superior Court of Justice speaks exclusively and undeniably through its formal record. When a court of record egregiously fails to generate, preserve, or subsequently produce the very documentation that memorializes its sovereign decrees, it ceases to function as a court of law, devolving rapidly into an unchecked apparatus of arbitrary state power that is fundamentally hostile to the rule of law.

16. The existential essence of a court of record is inextricably bound to the unimpeachable integrity of its documentary repository. As explicitly codified within the Canadian Judicial Council Model Policy for the Retention of Court Information (the "CJC Retention Policy"), the transition to a digital paradigm dictates the absolute realization that "digital is different." The digital court record is not merely a passive reflection of the proceedings; it constitutes the active, verifiable jurisdictional foundation upon which the coercive power of the state is justified. The failure to retain, appropriately classify, and freely disseminate these records violates the most fundamental precepts of judicial administration. A court that permits its records to be concealed, technologically altered, or strategically withheld ceases to operate independently and becomes a mere instrument of executive prerogative. The sudden vanishing of a digital file implies a far more sinister reality than the misplacement of a paper dossier; it implies deliberate algorithmic suppression, database-level deletion, or unauthorized access controls implemented to shield malfeasance.

17. The solemn obligation to meticulously preserve the judicial record transcends mere bureaucratic formality; it is a foundational pillar of judicial independence and systemic integrity as definitively articulated within the Canadian Judicial Council Ethical Principles for Judges (the "Ethical Principles"). The Ethical Principles unequivocally mandate that judicial independence, integrity, and diligence are paramount. The intentional or negligent spoliation of the digital record constitutes a grave departure from these ethical imperatives, fundamentally compromising public confidence in the judicature. Furthermore, the CJC Seventh Blueprint rigidly imposes the Zero Trust Architecture. This paradigm necessitates the uncompromising, continuous verification of all users, devices, and digital pathways. The clandestine synthesis of the Information within a localized familial registry utterly circumvents these mandated security protocols, neutralizing the Zero Trust Architecture, bypassing the chief court information officer (the "CCIO"), and rendering the resultant acta functionally illegitimate and structurally compromised.

18. It is equally imperative to recognize the strictures of the CJC Classification Policy. This national framework explicitly, and without ambiguity, categorizes pleadings, orders, reasons for judgment, and court records not subject to a formalized, judicially pronounced sealing order as Public Information. The deliberate suppression and continued administrative sequestration of the foundational acta directly contravene this formalized classification schema. Such an action constitutes an ultra vires abrogation of the Open Court Principle and an impermissible elevation of executive secrecy over judicial transparency, effectuating a profound denial of fundamental justice.

19. The supreme law of the land vehemently rejects the concept of unrecorded, in camera penal authorizations. The Supreme Court of Canada, in Sherman Estate v. Donovan, 2021 SCC 25 (the "Sherman Estate"), decisively affirmed that the open court principle (the "Open Court Principle") is a constitutionally protected presumption of public access to adjudicative records. Unfettered judicial openness actively deters systemic mischief, prevents the tribunal from operating coram non judice, and ensures unwavering public confidence in the administration of justice. The deliberate execution of an ex parte chamber proceeding entirely devoid of the transparency afforded by an open courtroom, lacking a contemporaneous audio recording or transcription, and purportedly authorizing a deprivation of liberty based upon an unsworn or subsequently sequestered Information, is antithetical to the principles of fundamental justice. The absolute unavailability of the acta necessitates immediate institutional intervention to restore the status quo ante.

20. INCORPORATION OF THE EVIDENTIARY RECORD, THE DOCTRINE OF SPOLIATION, AND THE EXTRAPOLATION OF LEGAL PRINCIPLES

20. The exhaustive historical context, the persistent administrative obfuscation, and the incontrovertible forensic realities are comprehensively detailed within the appended enclosures. Said enclosures, distinctly paginated and delineated as Exhibit "A" (the "Exhibit A") and Exhibit "B" (the "Exhibit B"), are hereby incorporated by reference in their entirety, constituting a permanent evidentiary substrate for all future adjudicative review.

Nota Bene (Anticipatory Rebuttal regarding Procedural Irregularity versus Jurisdictional Nullity): It is highly anticipated that the Crown or the administrative apparatus may desperately hypothesize that the catastrophic failure of the registry to produce the foundational acta—specifically including the statutorily mandated Information and the intake court endorsement (the "Intake Court Endorsement")—constitutes a mere curable procedural irregularity, ostensibly salvageable under the remedial provisions of section 601 or section 485 of the Criminal Code. Such a postulation is intellectually bankrupt, factually unsustainable, and legally vacuous. Section 485 operates exclusively to cure procedural inadvertence; it is permanently impotent to cure the total, inexplicable absence, structural alteration, or intentional spoliation of the originating process.

The complete absence of the originating instrument, exacerbated by a direct, contumacious contravention of the CJC Retention Policy, fundamentally deprives the tribunal of subject-matter jurisdiction (ratione materiae) and personal jurisdiction (ratione personae) ab initio. As elucidated by the Supreme Court of Canada in Kourtessis v. M.N.R., [1993] 2 SCR 53 (the "Kourtessis"), jurisdiction is the absolute, non-negotiable prerequisite for any lawful adjudicative act. Consequently, the preceding adjudicative actions and the resultant deprivations of liberty constitute an absolute nullity, functioning entirely coram non judice. They are utterly devoid of legal force and entirely incapable of retrospective validation or ex post facto rectification. The de facto doctrine cannot miraculously cure an absolute epistemological and jurisdictional void created by the state's failure to maintain its own transparent authority to detain in direct contravention of its own supreme administrative frameworks.

Nota Bene (Technological Spoliation and the GrapeCity Forensic Metamorphosis): It is further submitted that the evidentiary record confirms profound structural corruption of the electronic documents system. Forensic analysis demonstrates that the state law enforcement apparatus maliciously manipulated the digital artifact utilizing GrapeCity Documents for PDF 6.0.2.0 software. This technological interference resulted in a catastrophic structural collision, attempting to stitch together proprietary civil drafting architecture with archaic criminal requirements, thereby producing an irremediable "Item already has an owner" object exception within the document's metadata. Furthermore, the total absence of verified public key infrastructure (the "PKI") cryptographic hashes guarantees that the document was improperly exported and fraudulently altered post facto to obscure the identity of the drafting authority. The deliberate application of third-party software to expunge or mutate a judicial signature irrevocably destroys the statutory presumption of systemic integrity afforded under section 31.2(1) of the Canada Evidence Act, RSC 1985, c C-5, and constitutes a direct, actionable breach of the information systems security mandates outlined in the CJC Seventh Blueprint.

Nota Bene (Integration of the Maxims of Herbert Broom and Equitable Estoppel): To forcefully fortify the aforementioned assertion of nullity, the Applicant formally invokes the venerated legal maxims masterfully articulated by Herbert Broom. The clandestine synthesis and subsequent technological manipulation of penal instruments within an obscured familial registry unequivocally engages the ancient doctrine of Fraus omnia corrumpit (fraud vitiates everything). This maxim operates to systematically unravel the resultant acta, stripping them of all presumptive validity, dissolving any purported jurisdictional shield, and rendering any reliance upon administrative limitation periods thoroughly inapplicable.

Furthermore, the registry's persistent failure to produce the unadulterated foundational documents activates the severe equitable presumption of Omnia praesumuntur contra spoliatorem (every presumption is made against the wrongdoer). The deliberate obfuscation of the primary record constructs an irrefutable foundation for the drawing of an insurmountable adverse inference against the state apparatus, compelling the necessary conclusion that the withheld records would incontrovertibly expose state-sponsored documentary fabrication and judicial overreach. Additionally, the fundamental precept of Nemo debet esse judex in propria causa (no one should be a judge in their own cause) is profoundly implicated by the undisclosed conflicts characterizing the Toronto Region's initial assumption of jurisdiction. Finally, the administrative paralysis exhibited by the court clerks cannot, under any juridical theory, be permitted to prejudice the constitutional rights of the Accused, adhering strictly to the maxim Actus curiae neminem gravabit (an act of the court shall prejudice no man).

21. It is submitted that the failure of the Manager of Court Operations to execute these ministerial duties directly offends the Open Court Principle—a foundational hallmark of a democratic society fiercely guaranteed under section 2(b) of the Charter. This pervasive administrative silence critically compromises the independence of the judicial branch, subverts the adjudicative authority of its section 96 judges, and operates as a direct, unmitigated affront to the protections against arbitrary detention enshrined within section 9 of the Charter.

V. THE THIRTEEN CONSTITUTIONAL DUTIES OF THE PRIMUS INTER PARES

22. Recognizing your elevated and critically important position as the acting Primus Inter Pares, the Applicant has meticulously distilled thirteen distinct, non-delegable duties that are inherently, constitutionally affixed to the office of a Chief Justice of a superior court of record (collectively, the "13 Chief Justice Duties"). It is respectfully submitted that you are constitutionally, statutorily, and ethically bound to execute the following imperatives to immediately restore the compromised integrity of the institution:

a. ultimate jurisdiction (the "Ultimate Jurisdiction"): The possession of the definitive and final authority over the adjudicative and administrative functions of the Court, ensuring that the judicial hierarchy remains intact. This duty demands the active prevention of the dangerous fragmentation of adjudicative power across disparate registries, and guaranteeing that the status quo ante is preserved against unauthorized, localized deviation or rogue administrative practices. A Chief Justice cannot, under any circumstances, permit a familial registry to operate as a rogue, unaccountable silo dispensing criminal warrants;

b. constitutional trust stewards (the "Constitutional Trust Stewards"): The absolute, non-delegable responsibility to serve as the primary guardian of the constitutional trust bestowed upon the judicial branch by the sovereign and the citizenry. This sacred social contract is fundamentally predicated upon the absolute, unassailable neutrality of the bench and the unwavering transparency of its documentary repositories. The persistent, intentional withholding of the Information from the Accused shatters this trust irreparably, necessitating intervention;

c. imperviously influenced mandate (the "Imperviously Influenced Mandate"): The strict requirement to remain completely impervious to external influences, bearing the unique, heavy burden of ensuring the Court as a whole remains fiercely insulated from such pressures. This encompasses shielding the tribunal from political maneuvering, executive law enforcement overreach, or internal administrative coercion designed to protect institutional allies (see: Faber c. R., 2015 QCCS 12 (the "Faber"), paragraph 111, underscoring the absolute necessity of institutional fortitude against state encroachment);

d. master of the roster (the "Master of the Roster"): The absolute, plenary authority over the scheduling, assignment, and equitable distribution of judicial resources. This power is essential to actively prevent the emergence of opaque "judicial silos" or the arbitrary, clandestine, and ad hoc assumption of jurisdiction by individual members of the bench operating outside the formal assignment architecture, such as a family law jurist orchestrating an ex parte criminal detention without the knowledge of the central intake judiciary;

e. self-assignment power (the "Self-Assignment Power"): The inherent, affirmative authority to seize carriage of, take over, or self-assign matters of profound institutional and constitutional significance. This power must be exercised aggressively where the delivery of high-quality justice or the overarching reputation of the tribunal is placed at imminent risk due to administrative capture, spoliation of the record, or internal obfuscation that prevents a puisne judge from discharging their duties;

f. administrative steward (the "Administrative Steward"): The rigorous duty to oversee, audit, and regulate the clerical and registry functions as a necessary, integrated extension of judicial sovereignty. This stewardship ensures that the administrative arm of the court does not descend into a state of bureaucratic lawlessness, technological spoliation, or procedural stasis. This duty inextricably encompasses the robust oversight of the chief court information officer (the "CCIO") to ensure rigid compliance with the Canadian Judicial Council Model Definition of Judicial Information, thereby actively safeguarding the adjudicative and administrative information over which the court exercises exclusive dominion;

g. institutional reputation guardian (the "Institutional Reputation Guardian"): The uncompromising obligation to serve as the public face of the Court and the stalwart protector of its standing in the public eye. This necessitates the immediate, transparent rectification of any localized conduct that may cast a pall upon the perceived impartiality, competence, or integrity of the judiciary as a whole, specifically including the necessary remedying of the anomalous weaponization of the civil registry mechanism to bypass criminal oversight;

h. efficiency operation duty (the "Efficiency Operation Duty"): The overarching responsibility to ensure the seamless, lawful, and highly efficient operation of all Court functions. This duty requires decisively preventing the occurrence of administrative lacunae, the functional stagnation of the list, or the deliberate stalling of constitutional applications through the calculated refusal of registry staff to certify returns under the Criminal Proceedings Rules;

i. ethical compliance guarantee (the "Ethical Compliance Guarantee"): The occupation of a preferred, paramount position to ensure and actively guarantee absolute compliance with the highest standards of judicial ethics within the tribunal. This role demands acting as the final, internal arbiter of professional conduct and institutional morality against jurists who operate coram non judice or manipulate registry procedures for collateral purposes;

j. complaint laying power (the "Complaint Laying Power"): The intrinsic, affirmative authority to initiate formal disciplinary complaints against colleagues to the Canadian Judicial Council where severe ethical breaches, jurisdictional usurpations, spoliation of acta, or undisclosed conflicts of interest are identified. This power is central to maintaining the self-regulating nature and public legitimacy of the judicature, ensuring that internal misconduct does not remain buried behind administrative firewalls;

k. puisne judge removal power (the "Puisne Judge Removal Power"): The administrative authority and concurrent duty to relieve, restrict, or reassign a colleague from specific judicial duties during the pendency of ethical inquiries or formal complaints. The exercise of this power proactively preserves the public's perception of institutional integrity and prevents further adjudicative contamination while investigations proceed;

l. moral barometer (the "Moral Barometer"): The solemn role of serving as the absolute ethical and integrity barometer for the entire judicial institution, establishing the incontrovertible standard for comportment, transparency, and unyielding professionalism across all judicial districts, thereby demanding that every registry operates uniformly and lawfully; and

m. moral authority (the "Moral Authority"): The power to impose judicial will upon other puisne judges and registry officials through the strategic exercise of moral authority regarding ethical directives to which they may not be strictly legally subject, but are profoundly ethically bound to follow for the collective good, the preservation of the rule of law, and the maintenance of public trust.

VI. IMPOSITION OF PEREMPTORY DEADLINE, DEMAND FOR COMPLIANCE, AND PROSPECTIVE ESCALATION

23. Guided by the aforementioned constitutional imperatives, the stringent security and retention mandates of the CJC Seventh Blueprint, and the absolute, foundational necessity of restoring the fractured court record to ensure a procedurally fair adjudication, a rigid, peremptory deadline is hereby formally established. It is strictly demanded that the Applicant be provided with a complete, unadulterated, natively generated, and cryptographically sound copy of the authentic Criminal Code Information, the corresponding information package (the "Information Package"), and any and all Endorsements wherein the Applicant was recognized as a party, by no later than 3:00 p.m. today.

5987 24. The imposition of such a rigid, unforgiving temporal parameter is definitively and legally justified. The Applicant maintains an absolute, non-derogable entitlement ex debito justitiae (as a matter of right) to receive the Information, the Indictment, and any corresponding Endorsements immediately upon request, fundamentally devoid of any administrative tariffs, prerequisites, or bureaucratic conditions. While the statutory guidance generously dictates provision within a reasonable time upon request, it is an incontrovertible, documented matter of record that precisely two and a half months have precipitously elapsed since the initial requisition was formally submitted to the Originating Court Office at the Originating Courthouse. This protracted delay effectively constitutes a constructive refusal of access, a flagrant violation of the doctrine of legitimate expectations, and renders the continuation of the proceedings an incurable, systemic abuse of process.

25. In direct correlation to the strict, uncompromising mandates established by rule 43.03(3) of the Criminal Proceedings Rules, it is further required that by no later than 3:00 p.m. today, formal confirmation be provided via return electronic mail explicitly verifying that any and all documents, things, papers, physical evidence, informations, warrants, orders, and determinations have been lawfully and fully certified by the Manager of Court Operations at the Originating Court Office at the Originating Courthouse. This executory obligation remains flagrantly outstanding, functioning as a deliberate, administrative bottleneck to appellate review. It is saliently noted that the temporal modifier explicitly utilized by the Superior Court of Justice within its own jurisprudence and binding procedural rules is "forthwith," a term denoting immediate action without unjustified delay, bureaucratic resistance, or systemic hesitation.

26. To the extent that the administrative apparatus purports to require an extension of the aforementioned temporal boundary—an exigency which is preemptively declared to be neither legally possible nor administratively acceptable given the massive passage of time—immediate formal notification must be provided delineating the specific, catastrophic, and objectively verifiable impediment (e.g., a documented medical emergency or a total catastrophic failure of the provincial IT infrastructure). Mere administrative inconvenience, personnel shortages, deliberate ignorance, or the alleged necessity of physical archival retrieval shall not suffice to toll this strict deadline.

27. Failing absolute, unqualified compliance with these directives prior to the expiration of the stipulated 3:00 p.m. deadline, the Applicant intends to elevate these profound, systemic failures immediately to the attention of the Canadian Judicial Council (the "CJC") and other relevant executive oversight authorities. This escalation is necessitated, in substantial part, by the widespread, deeply entrenched, and broadly manifested failures of Former Chief Justice Morawetz, who was historically and comprehensively apprised of these exact procedural usurpations, technological manipulations, and documentary spoliations, yet maintained an impermissible, deliberate stasis that functioned to shield the offending jurists and administrators.

28. Furthermore, the persistent, coordinated refusal to produce the foundational records inevitably implicates profound deficiencies in internal technological controls and the prudent, lawful administration of public resources. Should compliance remain unfulfilled, the Applicant explicitly reserves the right to invoke the plenary investigatory mandate of the Auditor General of Ontario pursuant to the Auditor General Act, RSO 1990, c A.35. A comprehensive Value-for-Money performance audit is strictly required to ascertain whether the capital deployed for the modernization of the court's digital infrastructure (including the DRD systems and the ICON registries) has been fundamentally misused to facilitate the clandestine fabrication of acta and to defeat the auditing mechanisms designed to protect the public.

29. Finally, the Applicant further reserves the absolute right to pursue all available prerogative remedies before the presiding justice in Newmarket, including a writ of certiorari to quash the fatally flawed proceedings that are manifestly coram non judice, and an order in the nature of mandamus to compel the physical or forensic production of the withheld documentary evidence in limine. The state cannot, and shall not, shield an extra-judicial deprivation of liberty behind the manufactured opacity of its own captured registry.

5988

30. To invoke the poignant, resonant articulation of an incredible trailblazer in his own right, Mr. Don Lemon, "silence is not an option." To the extent that the impenetrable wall of silence—which projects the most objective appearance of an unconstitutional, coordinated solidarity between the executive branches and the judicial branch—is permitted to continue, the Applicant shall decisively exercise all available remedial rights before the Canadian Judicial Council. Such an escalation is necessitated not solely for the vindication of personal liberties, but intrinsically and fundamentally for the indispensable benefit of the broader public interest and the absolute preservation of institutional integrity within the Province of Ontario.

31. Furthermore, the Applicant explicitly reserves the absolute prerogative to submit this comprehensive correspondence and its extensively annexed evidentiary record to the immediate attention of the relevant advisory committee and those esteemed persons involved in the consideration and appointment process for the prospective Chief Justice of the Superior Court of Justice (the "Appointment Committee"). The transmission of this documentation shall guarantee that the appointing authorities are seized of an objective, factual, and incontrovertible record detailing the profound, systemic internal failings of the Superior Court of Justice that metastasized during the tenure of Former Chief Justice Morawetz, and which have inexcusably remained uncorrected subsequent to his departure.

32. It is formally affirmed that, should these catastrophic jurisdictional and administrative errors be affirmatively corrected in limine, the escalatory measures delineated herein shall not be effectuated. To proceed with such formal complaints following a full, transparent, and immediate institutional cure would constitute an act of bad faith, a posture strictly and unconditionally disavowed by the Applicant. Trusting implicitly that such extraordinary measures shall not be rendered strictly necessary, a decisive administrative response—manifested through either affirmative remedial action or a formalized, judicially reviewable negative refusal—is awaited on or prior to the expiration of the stipulated peremptory deadline.

It is strictly anticipated that the Court, its presiding jurists, and its administrative delegates shall govern themselves accordingly in absolute adherence to the rule of law and the constitutional imperatives articulated herein.

Respectfully submitted,

Mr. Kevin A. McLean (BA, JD, CIM)

Applicant – Self-Represented

Tab 94

5990

FORM 301 - Rule 301

NOTICE OF APPLICATION

e-document-c T-2448-26 ID 1
FILED
FEDERAL COURT
COUR FÉDÉRALE
May 15, 2026
15 mai 2026
Tristan Mercieca
TOR 1
DEPOSE

(Court Seal)

Court File No. _____

FEDERAL COURT

BETWEEN:

KEVIN A. MCLEAN

Applicant

and

ROYAL CANADIAN MOUNTED POLICE, MICHAEL DUHEME, JEFF BALL, and STEPHANE BRISSON

Respondents

APPLICATION UNDER sections 18, 18.1 and 18.2 of the Federal Courts Act, R.S.C. 1985, c. F-7, and the Rule 300-301 Federal Courts Rules, SOR/98-106, Part -1,

NOTICE OF APPLICATION

TO THE RESPONDENTS:

A PROCEEDING HAS BEEN COMMENCED by the applicant. The relief claimed by the applicant appears on the following page.

THIS APPLICATION will be heard by the Court at a time and place to be fixed by the Judicial Administrator. Unless the Court orders otherwise, the place of hearing will be as requested by the applicant. The applicant requests that this application be heard at Toronto, Ontario.

IF YOU WISH TO OPPOSE THIS APPLICATION, to receive notice of any step in the application or to be served with any documents in the application, you or a solicitor acting for you must prepare a notice of appearance in Form 305 prescribed by the Federal Courts Rules and serve it on the applicant's solicitor, or where the applicant is self-represented, on the applicant, WITHIN 10 DAYS after being served with this notice of application.

Copies of the Federal Courts Rules information concerning the local offices of the Court and other necessary information may be obtained on request to the Administrator of this Court at Ottawa (telephone 613-992-4238) or at any local office.

IF YOU FAIL TO OPPOSE THIS APPLICATION, JUDGMENT MAY BE GIVEN IN YOUR ABSENCE AND WITHOUT FURTHER NOTICE TO YOU.

Date: _____

Issued on: May 19, 2026
Issued by: Tristan Mercieca (Registry Officer)
Address of Local Office: Toronto Local Office / Bureau local de Toronto 180 Queen St. W., Suite 200 /180, rue Queen O., Bureau 200 Toronto, Ontario M5V 3L6

Issued by: _____

(Registry Officer)

Address of local office:

Federal Court Registry
180 Queen Street West,
Suite 200
Toronto, Ontario
M5V 3L6

TO (name and address of each respondent):

TO:

RCMP National Headquarters 73 Leikin Drive Ottawa, ON K1A 0R2 Canada
Email: Legal_Services@rcmp-grc.gc.ca

TO:

Commissioner of the RCMP Mr. Michael Duheme 73 Leikin Drive Ottawa, ON K1A 0R2 Canada

5992 Email: Michael.Duheme@rcmp-grc.gc.ca

TO:

Director General of RCMP Access To Information and Privacy Branch (the "ATIP Branch") Mr. Stephane Brisson 73 Leikin Drive Ottawa, ON K1A 0R2 Canada
Email: stephane.brisson@rcmp-grc.gc.ca

TO:

Director, Privacy, RCMP ATIP Branch Mr. Jeff Ball 73 Leikin Drive Ottawa, ON K1A 0R2 Canada
Email: Jeff.ball@rcmp-grc.gc.ca

NAME AND ADDRESS of every other person required to be served

TO:

Mr. Matt Peggs
Assistant Commissioner of the RCMP
Regional Commander of the Central Region of Ontario (formerly the "O" Region (O Division, Ontario, Commanding Officer, 'O' Division)) for the RCMP
RCMP Central Region Headquarters
Royal Canadian Mounted Police

130 Dufferin Avenue
London, Ontario N6A 4K3
Canada
Telephone : 519-640-7254
Alternate Telephone : 1-800-387-0020
Fax : 519-640-7425
TDD : 519-640-7495

(Originating Agency Identifier in Canadian Police Information Centre ("CPIC"): ON80300)

AND TO:

The RCMP Milton Detachment known as the Toronto West Detachment (the "TWD")
TORONTO WEST - MILTON DETACHMENT
2755 High Point Drive
Milton, Ontario L9T 5E8
Canada
Telephone : 905-876-9500
Fax : 905-876-9595
Attention: Regional COM Mr. Matt Peggs
Attention: Officer-in-Charge
(Originating Agency Identifier in Canadian Police Information Centre ("CPIC"): ON80313)

APPLICATION

5993

(Where the application is an application for judicial review)

This is an application for judicial review in respect of:

(Identify the tribunal)

The Royal Canadian Mounted Police ("RCMP")

The Applicant notes that the RCMP is a "Tribunal" under the Federal Courts Rules (FCR) under Rule 317 and by cross-reference to section 2(1) of the Federal Courts Act (the "FCA") under the "Other Tribunal" component of the definition of: "federal board, commission or other tribunal" means any body, person or persons having, exercising or purporting to exercise jurisdiction or powers conferred by or under an Act of Parliament or by or under an order made under a prerogative of the Crown, other than the Tax Court of Canada or any of its judges or associate judges, any such body constituted or established by or under a law of a province or any such person or persons appointed under or in accordance with a law of a province or under section 96 of the Constitution Act, 1867.

Section 2 of the FCR states: tribunal has the same meaning as "federal board, commission or other tribunal" in the Act. Ergo, the RCMP is a Tribunal under the Court Rules and under the Federal Courts Act.

Moreover, the person or persons, exercising validly pursuant to delegation by the Head of the Government Institution (RCMP) or purporting to exercise powers pursuant to an Act of Parliament (specifically the Privacy Act and/or ATIA) are part of the definition of Tribunal or "Federal Commission, Board, or Other Tribunal" under the FCA. Pursuant to section 73(1) of the Privacy Act, Mr. Brisson is listed as the Director General ATIPB of the RCMP, and Mr. Jeff Ball has represented himself to be a Director of Privacy with the RCMP.

(Set out the date and details of the decision, order or other matter in respect of which judicial review is sought)

In relation to the decisions, orders, or other matters in respect of which judicial review is sought, some involve that which could be considered an "Order" (see: section 2 of the FCR) as they involve a decision or other disposition of a Tribunal.

The other matters in respect of which judicial review is sought involve the purported exercising of jurisdiction or powers under the Privacy Act which stem from documents in the possession of the Applicant but also documents not in the possession of the Applicant.

The details of the decision, order or other matter in respect of which judicial review is sought involving the failure to search issue, which constitutes an Order under the FCA and FCR, was on April 27, 2026, and so communicated to the Applicant by the RCMP via email. Nonetheless, the Respondent took an extension of time of some 60 days from the date of receipt of the Applicant's express mail, with tracking, access request under the Privacy Act, which was received by the RCMP on March 11, 2026. 60 days from said date was May 11, 2026.

The RCMP did not communicate to the Applicant that it conducted any further searches of the required repositories including but not limited to: Foundational Metadata Repositories for the Foundational Metadata; and the Offline Historical Database with respect to any hexadecimal dumps involving any potential amended or purged data that was consistent or not consistent with the "False Information Package" which was filed in a transferee courthouse known as the OCJ 10 Armoury Street Courthouse. The failure to search decision of the RCMP and the individual Respondents, some or all (as known to each), is the subject of the mandamus relief infra.

The details of the decision, order or other matter also involve the neglect or failure to consider the requirement of the Head of the RCMP to consider whether, pursuant to ss. 8(2), particularly clause 8(2)(m) of the Privacy Act, and expressly or by interpretation section 19 of the ATIA, to disclose to the Applicant any Personal Information and to the public at large or certain segments of the public any record under the ATIA requests of the Applicant in April and May 2026.

1. The applicant makes application for:

    a. Loss of Jurisdiction by the RCMP Tribunal:
        1. A Declaration that the RCMP Tribunal, pursuant to section 2 of the FCR and section 2 of the FCA lost jurisdiction over, or acted without jurisdiction in relation to, Matter No. P-2025-16999 (albeit the PII Access Request (March 11 2026) was made and delivered on March 11, 2026) by reason of: a. a breach of the duties of good faith and procedural fairness; b. the presence of conflicts of interest, actual bias, and/or a reasonable apprehension of bias; and c. a profound lack of operational independence and impartiality;
        2. A Declaration that the Respondent exceeded its statutory mandate, refused to exercise its mandatory jurisdiction, and/or improperly purported to exercise powers outside of its jurisdiction in an ultra vires manner, rendering any and all steps, proceedings, and decisions in Matter No. P-2025-16999 void ab initio;
    b. Mandamus: An Order in the nature of writ of mandamus compelling the RCMP to discharge its public duty to act to the Applicant to search for the requested Personal Information;
    c. Mandamus: An Order in the nature of Writ of Mandamus compelling the RCMP, through the Head of the RCMP in the RCMP Commissioner, Mr. Michael Duheme, to discharge its public duty to consider whether a public interest disclosure is required under section 8(2)(m) of the Privacy Act with reference to section 19 of the Access to Information Act;
    d. Compliance Confirmation: An Order directing the RCMP to provide a sworn affidavit or declaration from a qualified person detailing the searches conducted pursuant to this Order, including audits of the Foundational Metadata Request and hexadecimal searches of the Offline Historical Database relating to the Applicant's Personal Information. An Order that this affidavit or declaration shall be served on the Applicant and filed with this Honourable Court within five (5) days of the date of this Order;
    e. Prohibition: An Order in the nature of writ of prohibition enjoining the Respondent, its delegates, administrators, custodians, and any affiliated bodies from expunging, altering, transferring, sanitizing, migrating, obfuscating, or archiving beyond rapid retrieval any metadata, system logs, or historical audit trails associated with Police Case ID: 457197 (and any related TPS Case File or Occurrence Number) pending the final adjudication of this Application and the exhaustion of all appeals;
    f. Prohibition: An Order in the nature of writ of prohibition or injunctive relief restraining from searching repositories that were not within the scope of PII Access Request (March 11 2026) for the purposes of said access request;
    g. Judicial Oversight: An Order that this Honourable Court remain seized of this matter to oversee compliance with the Orders herein and to address any subsequent issues arising from the Respondent's execution of these directives;
    h. Interim and injunctive relief: An Order granting immediate interim injunctive relief pending the final disposition of this Application;
    i. Permanent injunctive relief: An Order granting permanent injunctive relief to abate the ongoing statutory breaches;
    j. Bad faith and improper motives: A Declaration that by failing to discharge public ministerial or executory duties to act to the Applicant at first instance and in the face of demands by the Applicant, the Respondents engaged in improper motives, bad faith, abuse of process, or other impermissible reasons for purporting to exercise a power pursuant to an Act of Parliament or refusing to exercise jurisdiction or a power under an Act of Parliament;

k. Breach of Fiduciary duties: A Declaration that the Respondents breached their duties of good faith and/or fiduciary duties to the Applicant and the public by their conduct herein;

l. Procedural unfairness: A Declaration that the Respondents breached their duties owed to the Applicant of procedural fairness, natural justice, and administrative fairness;

m. Decision making bias, dependence and partiality: A Declaration that the Respondents were actually biased towards the Applicant and/or exhibited the appearance of bias to a reasonable and informed observer. A further Declaration that there was and is a reasonable apprehension of bias, lack of independence, lack of impartiality amongst the Respondents and all of those within the ATIP Branch and the RCMP policing forces as it relates to the issues and grounds in this Proceeding herein;

n. Dependence and partiality: A Declaration that the Respondents were operating under, or had the reasonable appearance of, a conflict of interest, a lack of institutional independence, and/or a lack of impartiality;

o. Police Case ID: 457197: A Declaration that the Police Case ID: 457197 or part of that number is a jurisdictional identifier uniquely assigned by the RCMP;

p. Admissions and Estoppel by record: A Declaration that the April 27, 2026, letter signed by Ms. Worrell on behalf of Mr. Jeff Ball, Director, Privacy (RCMP) with a metadata author of Kristen Wardrop, and the appended three page document from the RCMP, when measured against the referenced letter appended by the appellant under MFIPPA involving the Halton Regional Police Services Board (indexed as 2024 CanLII 67092 (ON IPC) (Order MO-4542; Appeal MA21-00096) (the "Halton Police 2024 Case")), amounts to an admission at law or, in the alternative, that Respondents are estopped by record as end noted[i];

q. Unrequested search of Specialized Policing Services of RCMP: A Declaration that the Respondent, RCMP, and Mr. Ball's inclusion of an admission that it searched in the "Specialized Policing Services" amounts to an institutional admission that the Applicant's Personal Information migrated out of standard divisional boundaries and directly into the RCMP's national operational and technological command[ii];

r. Originating Police Agency (RCMP): A Declaration that the RCMP was the originating law enforcement agency by reference to either the RCMP former Ontario ("O" or "O Division") Headquarters, later renamed to "Central Region" in London, Ontario, with an ORI Number of ON80300 under CPIC (the "CPIC Number 80300") and its RCMP Regional Commander ("Reg. COM"), Mr. Matt Peggs or the RCMP Toronto West Detachment located in Milton, Ontario (the "Toronto West Detachment" or "TWD") with CPIC ORI Number ON803313, which is responsible for Toronto West;

s. TPS 14th Division in Toronto (West) without copy of INTAKE COURT ENDORSEMENT (SEPT 23 2024) and/or "warrant in the first": A Declaration that one of the underlying reasons the Toronto Police Services Board ("TPS"), 14th Division did not have a copy of the purported process(es) or warrants and the arresting Police Officers did not have a copy on "him" or "her" and were unable to produce it when formally requested to do so, pursuant to the Applicant's Charter rights and section 29 of the Criminal Code, was because the RCMP had sole possession, control and custody in its file under Police Case ID: 457197 or otherwise, and the respective RCMP and TPS digital architectures do not synchronize;

t. The most convenient fictitious Justice for the False Information Package: A Declaration that the underlying reason Justice of the Peace Mr. George Jiri was utilized as the fictitious authorizing justice of the peace was due to, inter alia, his proximity in Peel Regional Police Services (OCJ Brampton) to the OCJ Brampton Courthouse which was the closest courthouse to the RCMP TWD (Milton):

u. RCMP possession of Authentic Information Package: A Declaration that the RCMP has maintained possession (actual and sole, as it relates to Executive Branches of government of law enforcement) of the underlying authentic, completed, sworn (deemed or in person) Information package (the "Authentic Information Package"), alongside any endorsements or warrants, since their completion, including any transcription by the "law enforcement applicant" of an in-person judicial chambers appearance and/or via telecommunication that "produced a writing" and/or that did "not produce a writing";

v. RCMP denoted unlawful seizure and search: A Declaration that the RCMP through designated agents on its behalf unlawfully seized the Applicant's property (primarily chattels including private, confidential and/or privileged documentation from this residence at Unit 410-775 King Street West, City of Toronto, Province of Ontario, M5V 2K3) and/or without lawful execution upon him with a search and/or seizure warrant, on or after September 20, 2024 and prior to October 2, 2024;

w. Improper motives to not search the PIB and other repositories: A Declaration that the sole reason the RCMP ATIP Branch did not search the Personal Information Bank request and any locations under the control of it was because it knew, or was deemed to know, that it would have irrevocably implicated the RCMP Specialized Policing Services' (the "SPS") unit or an alternate RCMP department;

x. Forthwith search of Foundational Metadata Location and Offline Historical Database Location: An Order that, on account of the RCMP SPS' unit being involved with the Applicant commencing in 2024 but concealed from the Applicant, such a search of the RCMP CPIC database, including Foundational and Offline Historical Database repositories, must be executed forthwith, and that the RCMP ATIP Branch must assign qualified individuals to conduct an audit under the Foundational Metadata Request alongside a specialized, qualified individual to conduct the specialized mainframe analysis of hexadecimal dumps and hexadecimal inputs;

y. Privacy Act*, section 10: A Declaration that the Applicant is legally entitled to all of his personal information under the control of the Government Institution (RCMP) that has been used, is being used, or is available for use for an administrative purpose pursuant to ss. 10(1)(a) of the Privacy Act, or is organized or intended to be retrieved by the name of an individual or by an identifying number, symbol, or other particular assigned to an individual (see: ss. 10(1)(b) of the Privacy Act);

z. Temporal computation declaration: A Declaration that the Applicant provided, by his PII Access Request (March 11 2026), received on said date and not March 12, 2026, sufficiently specific information regarding the location of the information as to render it reasonably retrievable by the government institution;

aa. Offline Historical Database:

1. A Declaration that the RCMP has exclusively control of the Offline Historical Database over any and all other police service board and police services in the country;
2. A Declaration and Order that the Applicant is entitled to any and all transactional logs including "ADD", "MODIFY", "CLEAR", and "CANCEL", but solely in relation to Personal Information concerning himself[iii];

bb. Inapplicability of Privacy Act, ss. 19(1)(d):

1. A Declaration that ss. 19(1)(d) of the Privacy Act bears no applicability to the Personal Information sought by the Applicant in a PIB or otherwise, as such Personal Information relates to that which was uploaded or input into CPIC, as those inputs provide the ultimate source of truth in relation to public court records like an Information or an Indictment, court endorsements, a summons, and/or an arrest warrant, which are universally publicly available after a process has been issued and/or an individual has been arrested;
2. A Further Declaration that not only is the Applicant legally entitled to the same but so is the public at large, and no equitable duty of confidence arises as the Personal Information of the Applicant—also the Personal Information of a presiding Judge, of which they are both entitled to the same under the Privacy Act and the public under ATIA, along with the name of the fictitiously input Justice of the Peace under the Privacy Act—is unequivocally public information and constitutes public records subject to the ss. 19(2) of the Privacy Act override;

5997

cc. Duty of Confidence never arises with non-exempt PIB's and CPIC:
    1. A further Declaration that the Personal Information sought by the Applicant in a PIB and in any repository involving CPIC or related to CPIC could not meet the common law test for "confidential information" because whether classified as Personal Information or information (i.e. transactional logs, terminal ID's, issuing court, issuing court level, geographic location, system identification numbers, modification to WANT records) (i) such information was not communicated in a relationship of confidence; (ii) the information by its very nature is NOT confidential; and/or (iii) the information was not communicated for a purpose that necessitates confidentiality;

dd. PII Access Request (March 11 2026) related to administrative data (not "intelligence"): A Declaration that the Personal Information that the Applicant was seeking under the Privacy Act constituted administrative data of himself and not intelligence per se, but rather the administrative record of a transaction on a federal mainframe (CPIC), and the likes of the Terminal ID, ORI, issuing authority, name of a judicial officer, and system identification number (SID) are structural artifacts of the RCMP's own system architecture, and not confidential communications;

ee. Section 19 inapplicable when RCMP is the originating police force: A Declaration of Law that Parliament did not include the likes of a federal government established by or pursuant to an Act of the legislature or a province, or an institution of such a government, under ss. 19(1)(d), and to the extent that the RCMP was strictly responsible for its entry, the RCMP can never rely on ss. 19(1)(d) in relation to requests for administrative Personal Information residing in a PIB or in CPIC, alongside Foundational Metadata and Offline Historical Database Personal Information;

ff. Section 22(1)(b) without merit in relation to PII Access Request (March 11 2026): A Declaration that the RCMP's reliance on section 22(1)(b), entirely absent the searching of the storage, repositories, or locations housing the Foundational Metadata Request and Offline Historical Database Request, does not fall under ss. 22(1)(b), and by relying on such a subsection, the RCMP admitted that the Applicant had not received access to or disclosure of his own Personal Information, which acts as the source of truth to be measured against the "Open Court Principle"[iv];

gg. Warrant spent on October 2, 2024: A Declaration that once the warrant (arrest), when signed or not signed by the undisclosed presiding Judge in an "Ex Parte In Camera Hearing", whether in person in judicial chambers or via telecommunication that did or did not produce a writing, was executed on October 2, 2024, the investigative necessity of the CPIC entry definitively expired and transformed into a historical artifact, thus section 22(1)(b) holds no relevance ab initio or thereafter despite the blatant absence of a search;

hh. Identity of the municipal or regional government: A Declaration that the RCMP is statutorily required to provide the identity of the municipal government or "regional government" that it was vaguely referring to under section 19(1)(d) in its April 27, 2026, letter;

ii. Consequential Relief: An Order granting any consequential relief that flows from the above, or the required materials to be filed by the Tribunal that were in its possession at the time of making any decisions, orders, or other matters subject to judicial review herein known or to be known;

jj. Leave to make further submissions: An Order granting the Applicant leave to make further submissions and tender further evidence pre- and post-granting of the orders herein to avoid any multiplicity of proceedings and the avoidance of wasteful and deleterious government spending, alongside the inefficient use of government resources;

kk. Costs: An Order granting the costs of this Application on a full indemnity basis;

ll. Interest: An Order granting prejudgment and post judgment interest on any costs awards or otherwise; and mm. Residual Relief: An Order granting such further and other relief as this Honourable Court may deem just and equitable.

The grounds for the application are:

PARTIES TO THE PROCEEDING: INSTITUTIONAL APPARATUS AND THE INDIVIDUAL APPLICANT

The Applicant and the Foundational Factual Matrix: A Contextual Substratum of Systemic Obfuscation

Introduction and Jurisdictional Nullification

2. It is respectfully submitted that a profound, unprecedented, and systemic manipulation of judicial instruments was effectuated post facto to the arrest of Mr. Kevin A. McLean (the "Applicant") on October 2, 2024. Consequently, the purported processes, including the underlying criminal proceedings (the "Criminal Proceeding"), were rendered void ab initio upon the fabrication of a fraudulent document, in direct contravention of the Criminal Code, RSC 1985, c C-46 (the "Criminal Code"), and upon its subsequent filing within the Ontario Court of Justice 10 Armoury Street Courthouse (the "Armoury Street Courthouse"). It must be categorically established in limine that the aforementioned fabrication constitutes an absolute nullity, and cannot be construed as a mere procedural irregularity, given the direct contravention of statutory mandates, common law precepts, and equitable principles.
3. The designation of the aforementioned fabrication as an unprecedented information package (the "False Information Package") is utilized meticulously, as the historical jurisprudence and public disciplinary registries of this jurisdiction are devoid of any analogous manifestation of malfeasance. The documented transgressions delineate circumstances wherein law enforcement authorities not merely manipulated the endorsement of a process or an arrest warrant through the impersonation of a judicial officer, but effectuated the wholesale falsification of an entire information package, purportedly assembled pursuant to the Criminal Code.[v]

Jurisprudential Distinctions: Subfacial Deficiencies versus Absolute Nullities

4. To substantiate the gravity of subfacial and facial fabrications, reliance is placed upon R. v. Schertzer, 2015 ONCA 259 (the "Schertzer Decision"), and R. v. Hansen, 2018 ONCA 46 (the "Hansen Decision"). These appellate authorities adjudicated instances of subfacial fabrication, wherein ostensibly valid judicial authorizations were rendered constitutionally defective due to underlying prevarications promulgated by law enforcement officials regarding the scope of their investigations and the purported existence of reasonable grounds to believe (the "Reasonable Grounds To Believe").
5. The Schertzer Decision involved the falsification of police notes designed to conceal an unlawful search, whereas the Hansen Decision addressed the invalidation of search warrants predicated upon misleading information sworn by affiants. Applying the legal principles elucidated therein to the present factual matrix, it is evident that the actions deployed against the Applicant transcend mere subfacial deficiencies; they constitute overt, absolute fabrications of judicial processes ab initio.

5999 A comparative analysis necessitates an examination of Silva v. R., 2021 QCCS 4627, and Silva v. R., 2021 QCCS 4131 (collectively, the "R. v. Silva Decisions"). The factual matrix therein involved an officer of the Service de Police de la Ville de Montréal (the "SPVM"), Officer Guillaume Joly-Tessier, who temporarily misappropriated a judicial stamp belonging to a Justice of the Peace to forge an arrest warrant. The target of said fabrication was a highly dangerous, convicted fugitive possessing a documented history of severe, violent criminality, including armed robbery and murder. While the misconduct elucidated in the "R. v. Silva Decisions" was undeniably deplorable, it was rationalized internally as a manifestation of noble-cause corruption, undertaken in extremis to apprehend a significant threat to public safety.

7. Conversely, the circumstances surrounding the Applicant, an individual devoid of any criminal antecedents but for the soundly defeating of the RCMP and former RCMP officers while retained by the soon to be defunct LSBC, stand in stark contrast to the preceding authorities. The fabrication of the Criminal Code Form 2 Information (the "Form Two Information") within the False Information Package involved the installation of a Toronto Region Court Officer, Mrs. Frugoni-Rojas, as a fabricated informant (the "Fictitious Informant"). Furthermore, the process ostensibly engaged a fictitious Justice of the Peace, Mr. George Jiri, improperly ascribed to the Ontario Court of Justice Brampton Courthouse (the "Brampton Courthouse"). The Applicant maintained no residential or jurisdictional nexus to the Brampton Courthouse. Geographically and jurisdictionally, the Royal Canadian Mounted Police Milton Detachment (the "RCMP Milton Detachment") operated with proximity and oversight regarding specific federal matters within Toronto West. Simply put, unprecedented fraud on two levels of court involving a fictious informant and fictitious judicial officer. More colourfully put, Mr. Jeff Ball, Director, Privacy, of the RCMP ATIB Branch has the audacity to represent that he cannot search the Foundational Metadata Repository and Offline Historical Database Repository. The Applicant pleads that the RCMP ATIB Branch must search but it does not want to search for fear of what it will discover.

Systemic Institutional Obfuscation and the Absence of Competent Jurisdiction

8. The systemic manipulation extended to the purported identification mechanisms, specifically Police Case ID: 457197 and the altered designation "C L (M)", which, calculated upon a balance of probabilities, referenced the Regional Commander of the Central Region, Mr. Matt Peggs (the "Regional Commander"), potentially in connection with his investiture into the Order of Merit of the Police Forces. Subsequent investigations executed by the Applicant, initially in March 2025 and subsequently verified directly at the Armoury Street Courthouse in June 2025, confirmed the absolute non-involvement of any legitimately appointed judicial officer from the Toronto Region.
9. Consequently, the purported ex parte in camera proceeding (the "Ex Parte Hearing") was discovered to have been ostensibly situated at the Superior Court of Justice 361 University Avenue Courthouse (the "Originating Courthouse"). It was subsequently unveiled that the originating office was the family law division situated on the primary level of the Originating Courthouse. This geographical and structural anomaly illuminated the improper involvement of Madam Justice Shore, who, during her tenure as practicing counsel, provided representation to the former spouse of the Applicant's former common-law partner, Mr. Papadimitropoulos.

10. At the material times, Mr. Papadimitropoulos operated as the Statutory Accident Benefits Schedule manager (the "SABS Manager") at the TD Insurance Group, wherein he perpetrated a multifaceted fraud concerning the administration of the Applicant's accident benefits. These benefits originated from an automobile collision devoid of fault on the part of the Applicant, which occurred on August 31, 2022. Following the discovery of fraudulent signatures effectuated by Mr. Papadimitropoulos, he was subsequently dismissed from his employment in January 2025. Upon the Applicant's discovery of the aforementioned fraudulent activities on September 19, 2024, the Applicant was subjected to an unlawful exclusion from his residence on September 20, 2024, ostensibly facilitated by proximate law enforcement personnel.
11. The fabricated endorsement, dated September 23, 2024 (the "Intake Court Endorsement"), remained facially irregular and evocative of family law or insolvency proceedings, rather than criminal adjudication. The Applicant's subsequent efforts to secure a copy of the Criminal Code Form 7 Warrant for Arrest (the "Form Seven Warrant") were systematically thwarted by the administrative apparatus at room 241 of the Originating Courthouse.
12. Nota bene: It might be argued by the Respondents that the utilization of family court facilities or mislabeled endorsements merely constitutes an administrative irregularity capable of being cured under equitable principles or procedural rules. However, applying Herbert Broom's maxim actus curiae neminem gravabit (an act of the court shall prejudice no man), alongside the strict doctrine of jurisdictional competence, it is submitted that a proceeding commenced in a wholly inappropriate division by way of forged documentation constitutes a fundamental nullity, rendering all subsequent enforcement actions ultra vires. The Royal Canadian Mounted Police (the "RCMP") is consequently bound to produce the unredacted evidentiary materials pursuant to Rule 317 of the Federal Courts Rules, SOR/98-106 (the "Federal Courts Rules").

Digital Forgery and the Mandate for Remedial Disclosure

13. It must be emphasized that the execution of the False Information Package was facilitated utilizing GrapeCity manipulation software, currently operating under the nomenclature "Mescius" (the "GrapeCity Software"). The metadata extracted from the impugned documentation corroborates the deployment of version 6.0.2.0 of the GrapeCity Software. This revelation, which is the subject of two formalized requests under the Access to Information Act, RSC 1985, c A-1 (the "ATIA"), funded and submitted by the Applicant in the vernal season of 2026, cements the unprecedented nature of this malfeasance. The imperative is unequivocally placed upon the Head of the Government Institution (the "Institution Head") to issue public disclosure notices pursuant to paragraph 6001 8(2)(m) of the Privacy Act, RSC 1985, c P-21 (the "Privacy Act"), and section 19 of the ATIA, to prevent the perpetuation of this systemic abuse, restoring the status quo ante for any other members of the populace who may be subjected to similar covert manipulations.

14. The Criminal Proceeding was rendered a nullity, at law, ab initio at the precise moment of its digital fabrication.

The Respondents: Statutory Delegates, Fiduciary Obligations, and the Federal Apparatus

15. The Royal Canadian Mounted Police (the "RCMP") is a federal institution and Government Institution under the Privacy constituted and governed by the strictures of the Royal Canadian Mounted Police Act (the "RCMP Act").
16. Commissioner Michael Duheme, in his capacity as the apex of the institution, is inextricably bound by the administrative and fiduciary obligations legislated by Parliament.
17. Director General Stephane Brisson and Privacy Director Jeff Ball, acting as delegates within the Access to Information and Privacy Branch, are similarly constrained by the unyielding imperatives of statutory compliance.
18. The paramount importance of the RCMP Act is underscored by the solemn statutory duties articulated under section 37 thereof, which compels adherence to the highest standard of conduct. This obligation is further entrenched by the oaths sworn by the Respondents to uphold the law, fundamentally precluding any ultra vires administrative shielding or institutional complicity.

EQUITABLE REMEDIES IN THE NATURE OF MANDAMUS: COMPELLING THE EXECUTION OF NON-DISCRETIONARY PUBLIC DUTIES

19. Relief in the nature of mandamus constitutes an imperative and equitable prerogative remedy, available to compel the performance of a public duty that has been unlawfully disregarded.
20. The rigorous legal test for mandamus is demonstrably satisfied, as delineated by the Federal Court of Appeal in Apotex Inc. v. Canada (Attorney General) (the "Apotex").
21. It is self-evident that clear, unequivocally articulated demands were effectuated by the Applicant, triggering the Respondents' strict legal duties to conduct searches of the Foundational Metadata Repository and the Offline Historical Database Repository. The ensuing period of administrative silence and de facto refusal necessitates judicial intervention in limine to restore the status quo ante and compel the execution of the statutory mandate.

PREROGATIVE RELIEF IN THE NATURE OF PROHIBITION: ENJOINING PROSPECTIVE MALFEASANCE AND DIGITAL SPOLIATION

22. An order of prohibition is sought in limine to permanently enjoin the Respondents, and any delegated subordinates, from the spoliation, deletion, alteration, or obfuscation of immutable digital artifacts residing within the federal architecture.

6002

23. The tripartite test for prohibition is incontrovertibly met, predicated upon prima facie evidence of impending administrative malfeasance, rendering such extraordinary relief imperative to safeguard the integrity of the administration of justice.
24. The entitlement to such relief is crystallized by the imperative to safeguard the foundational metadata and hexadecimal arrays residing within the Canadian Police Information Centre (the "CPIC").

DECLARATORY JUDGMENTS: ESTABLISHING JURISDICTIONAL NULLITY AND VINDICATING SUBSTANTIVE RIGHTS

25. Declaratory judgments are within the absolute discretion of a court with equitable jurisdiction (not to be conflated with Inherent Jurisdiction) like the FCC. They serve as potent instruments of judicial oversight, invoked to authoritatively pronounce upon the rights of the parties and the legal characterization of acta undertaken by public bodies
26. While acknowledging the inherently discretionary purview of the Federal Court of Canada (the "FCC"), the test for declaratory relief is incontrovertibly satisfied by the presence of a real, substantial, and immediate dispute wherein the Applicant possesses a vital interest.
27. The utility of such declarations is paramount in exposing the systemic bypass of mandatory legislative frameworks, thereby establishing an authoritative and permanent record of the nullity of the manipulated judicial instruments.

OUSTER OF INSTITUTIONAL JURISDICTION: FATAL APPREHENSION OF BIAS, FUTILITY, AND STRUCTURAL INCOMPETENCE

28. The Test for Losing Jurisdiction: It is an established principle of administrative law that a reviewing court will completely strip a tribunal of its jurisdiction—refusing to remit the matter back—only under exceptional circumstances where the tribunal is rendered legally incapable of providing a fair or valid rehearing.
29. The Core Legal Test: To displace the standard remedy of remitting a case back to a tribunal, an applicant must demonstrate that remittal would be futile, unfair, or fundamentally break the administration of justice. The court rigorously examines whether the tribunal can still fulfill its statutory duty impartially and effectively.
30. Reasonable Apprehension of Bias (Conflict of Interest): The Respondents operate under a reasonable apprehension of systemic bias and conflict of interest, rendering the tribunal legally incapable of providing an independent review, thereby necessitating that this Honourable Court retain absolute jurisdiction over the matter.

6003 Failure or Refusal to Exercise Jurisdiction: The Tribunal fundamentally misinterpreted its statutory mandate and displayed a persistent unwillingness to apply the law, culminating in a grave jurisdictional error that requires direct judicial intervention to prevent repeated procedural failures.

32. The Futility and Operational Exception: Based on the totality of the Respondents' inadequate responses under the Privacy Act and ATIA, remitting this matter back to the Tribunal would be futile, serve no practical legal purpose, and constitute an unjustifiable waste of public resources.
33. Severe Lack of Institutional Competence: The statutory duty imposed on the Commissioner to determine public interest disclosure places the RCMP in an inherent conflict, irreparably compromising its independence and establishing a structural incapacity to conduct a procedurally fair adjudication of the Applicant's requests.

FORENSIC AND TECHNICAL METADATA IMPERATIVES: EXPOSING THE DIGITAL METAMORPHOSIS OF JUDICIAL INSTRUMENTS

34. Forensic Analysis of Automated Document Generation: It is submitted that the impugned document identified as "Information Package 4810 998 24 48129169-00", affixed post facto and no earlier than November 1, 2024, (with first appearance of the Applicant scheduled for November 13, 2024, pursuant to a Criminal Code Form 10 Undertaking which was begrudgingly prepared by the TPS on account of the Applicant demanding incessantly and admittedly, while incarcerated, with passion, and notably without any reference to Police Case ID: 457197 contained in the Criminal Code Form 10 Undertaking) exhibits catastrophic structural anomalies. A critical component of this forensic reality is the identification of GrapeCity Documents for PDF version 6.0.2.0 as the document producer—a software development kit ("the SDK") rather than a standard end-user application. The presence of this metadata inextricably proves that the document was generated via an automated back-end script, thereby constituting an unauthorized procedural bypass of the FRANK/ICON case management systems.
35. Integrated Analysis of the False Information Package (the "FIP"): The table below delineates the profound factual errors, technical metadata failures, and procedural diversions characterizing the FIP:

Category	Specific Deficiency	Location	Legal Implication & Forensic Depth

Case Indexing	Police Case ID: 457197	Page 3	The Barcode of Fraud: Valid ICON/CCO Case IDs are strictly 7 digits. This anomaly signifies an entirely fabricated or transposed file architecture. TPS Case ID and/or occurrence numbers contain the year with hyphen and eight digits. Ergo, the remaining portion of a non-particularized police force confirms, by deduction and exclusionary logic, that the RCMP was the originating police force (nota bene: RCMP refers to its policing units as "forces" whereas the TPS refers to themselves as "services" by way of divisions)

THE TEMPORAL ANOMALY AND ALGORITHMIC SURVEILLANCE AUDIT TRAIL: PRIMA FACIE EVIDENCE OF PRE-EMPTIVE SURVEILLANCE

36. The documentary record reveals a glaring chronological discrepancy within the RCMP's purported Privacy Act response dated April 27, 2026. Despite acknowledging receipt of the Applicant's request on March 17, 2026, the matter was unilaterally assigned the federal file identifier P-2025-16999.

37. In the rigorous domain of federal records management, this prefix irrevocably denotes the year the file was initiated. This temporal anomaly establishes prima facie evidence that the RCMP had already commenced an active intelligence, surveillance, or audit file concerning the Applicant in 2025, operating in parallel with concurrent civil litigation, thereby completely demolishing the fiction that this was ever a localized municipal matter.

38. Furthermore, the generation of a specific maximum-threshold algorithm log in April 2026, inextricably paired with the query "Q PERS+ REM:000330500", constitutes incontrovertible digital proof that federal actors were actively hunting, verifying, or manipulating the precise identity of the Applicant within a secured federal network.

THE RULE 317 MANDATE: EXTRACTION AND COMPULSORY PRODUCTION OF THE CERTIFIED TRIBUNAL RECORD

39. To secure the comprehensive adjudication of this Application, the transmission of the complete Certified Tribunal Record (the "CTR") is mandated pursuant to Rule 317 of the Federal Courts Rules.

40. The evidentiary matrix necessitates the extraction and certification of three distinct tiers of Personal Information currently suppressed by the Respondents:

Data Type	Primary Source	Level of Effort	Forensic Value
Active Warrant Status	CPIC "Persons" File	Low (Routine Query)	Operational verification only.

Foundational Metadata (ORI, Terminal ID)	Transaction Logs (PPU 005)	Moderate (Requires Audit)	Identifies the true genesis of the digital record.
Amended/Purged Data (The "Frankendoc")	Offline Historical Database	High (Specialized Extraction)	Exposes post-execution structural metamorphosis and unauthorized jurisdictional transfers.

41. The mandatory certification of these materials, circumventing the pervasive administrative deflections, is legally indispensable for exposing the unauthorized post-execution alterations regarding the identity of the authorizing judicial officer, the date, and the true jurisdictional origin of the warrant, thereby ensuring the Court is equipped to adjudicate the jurisdictional nullity de novo. The Applicant repeats and relies upon the exhaustive factual and legal grounds particularized within the Applicant's standalone Written Request and Supporting Submission Pursuant to Rule 317 of the Federal Courts Rules, served upon the Respondents concurrently on May 18, 2026. The Applicant states that the explicit invocation of remedies in the nature of Prerogative Writs of Mandamus and Prohibition, conjoined with specific allegations of bad faith, institutional bias, and systemic conflict of interest involving Regional Commander Mr. Matt Peggs (Central Region), legally expands the mandatory disclosure test of the Certified Tribunal Record (the "CTR") to encompass all 18 categories of raw historical metadata, transaction logs, application software library artifacts, and core charging instruments housed within Personal Information Bank (PIB RCMP PPU 005). Said PIB is not an exempt bank under any regulation under the Privacy Act.

ACTIONABLE NEGLECT OF STATUTORY DUTY, DOCTRINAL IMPERATIVES, AND INSTITUTIONAL MALFEASANCE

42. It is averred that the impugned conduct transcends mere administrative oversight, constituting an actionable neglect of duty, administrative malfeasance, and the deliberate spoliation of digital evidence orchestrated at the highest echelons of the Central Region Command, specifically implicating Regional Commander Mr. Matt Peggs.
43. The systemic, institutionalized suppression of publicly accessible judicial records fundamentally rebuts the presumption of omnia praesumuntur rite et solemniter esse acta, necessitating immediate judicial intervention to enforce the maxim ubi jus ibi remedium.
44. The foundational nullities embedded within the orchestrated process invoke the immutable doctrine of quod ab initio non valet, in tractu temporis non convalescit, permanently vitiating the Respondent's purported jurisdictional authority. Furthermore, pursuant to the doctrine of respondeat superior, the Tribunal bears ultimate vicarious and institutional liability for the orchestrated obfuscation effectuated by its delegates and regional commanders. In light of the unlawful seizure and deprivation of property detailed herein, the equitable principle of spoliatus debet ante

6006 omnia restitui dictates that immediate restitution and comprehensive disclosure are mandatory prerequisites to the restoration of the status quo ante.

THE EXCEPTION TO PLEADING EVIDENCE: PLEADING OF SIMILAR FACT EVIDENCE

45. It is acknowledged that the incorporation of evidentiary particulars within procedural pleadings is conventionally prohibited; notwithstanding said prohibition, an indispensable exception is effectuated when advancing similar fact evidence in limine. The extrapolation of overarching legal principles dictates that to establish a nexus of systemic malfeasance, the foundational factual substratum must be delineated with precision to demonstrate a continuing course of conduct. It might be asserted by opposing entities that such evidentiary inclusions contravene the Rules of Civil Procedure pertaining to the pleading of material facts exclusive of evidence. This presumption is comprehensively rebutted by the jurisprudential mandate articulated in R. v. Handy, 2002 SCC 56 (the "Handy Jurisprudence"). In the Handy Jurisprudence, the Supreme Court of Canada elucidated the doctrine of similar fact evidence, establishing that where the probative value of antecedent conduct demonstrates a systemic pattern or characteristic methodology, such probative value substantially eclipses any purported prejudicial effect. Applied to the present circumstances, the pleading of systemic state-sponsored harassment is not merely permissible but legally mandatory to establish the requisite factual nexus of institutional malfeasance.

The Nullification of State Action and the Clandestine Extraction of Digital Memory

46. Whereas the aforementioned falsification of the documentation (the "False Information Package") transcends rational comprehension, similar fact evidence is concurrently pleaded herein implicating the Royal Canadian Mounted Police (the "RCMP") and specific former constabulary personnel affiliated therewith, notably Colin Cree and Laurie Windover, operating under the corporate auspices of EFS e-Forensic Services Inc. (the "Forensic Corporation"). It is submitted that the Forensic Corporation was retained to execute a forensic duplication of the primary storage apparatus utilized during the period of affiliation with the Law Society of British Columbia (the "LSBC"). Said entities were complicit in the clandestine and concealed extraction of the random access memory (the "Random Access Memory"), utilizing an invasive and malicious software application designated as "DumpIt". Said application operated independently of the primary hard drive apparatus to execute a covert technological interception.
47. The potentiality of said clandestine extraction of the Random Access Memory was ascertained in the year 2021, prompting the invocation of statutory mechanisms pursuant to the Freedom of Information and Protection of Privacy Act directed toward the LSBC. Subsequent to said statutory demands, an extraction iteration was procured in hexadecimal format (the "Hexadecimal Format"), necessitating extraordinary technological investigation to 6007 decipher. Consequently, compulsory demands for exculpatory documentation, explanations, and personal information (the "Personal Information") were levied upon Mr. Cree and Mr. Windover. It is documented that Mr. Windover, manifesting profound indignation ostensibly resultant from the exposition of the malfeasance orchestrated by the LSBC and the Forensic Corporation, instituted technological barricades against the electronic correspondence address utilized for communications, specifically mclean@searchandseizure.ca (the "Electronic Mail Address").

48. Nota bene: An analytical evaluation must address the classification of the utilization of the aforementioned malicious software. It is explicitly categorized not as a mere procedural irregularity, but as an absolute nullity ab initio, as it constituted a direct contravention of statutory privacy mandates and equitable principles. Pursuant to the legal maxims compiled in Herbert Broom's A Selection of Legal Maxims, the principle of Omnia praesumuntur contra spoliatorem (every presumption is made against a wrongdoer) is inextricably engaged. The clandestine extraction constitutes an ultra vires assumption of investigative authority, rendering the derived acta entirely devoid of legal force.

Frivolous Prosecutorial Initiations and Post Facto Fabrications

49. Extrapolating further upon the systemic pattern of harassment, an antecedent fabrication of criminal culpability was orchestrated by the detachment of the RCMP, as the sole police force in North Vancouver by way of agreement between the province and the federal government, situated in North Vancouver, British Columbia, in the year 2017. The allegations promulgated therein were determined by the reviewing Crown Counsel to be so conspicuously frivolous, vexatious, and bereft of substantive merit that prosecutorial authorization was summarily declined ipso facto, thereby preserving the status quo ante.

Nullity of Seizure and Calculated Ruses of Incarceration for extended captivity, inability to advance legal matters, serious injury, premature death and/or death

50. It is further submitted that upon the realization by the RCMP that a substantively deficient and unlawful investigative maneuver had been executed, culminating in an unlawful lockout and property confiscation concerning the principal residence located at Unit 410-775 King Street West, City of Toronto, Province of Ontario, M5V 2K3 (the "Principal Residence"), a meticulously calculated ruse was engineered. The aforementioned lockout, being a direct contravention of overarching common law property rights and the Residential Tenancies Act, 2006, S.O. 2006, c. 17 (the "RTA"), is asserted to constitute an indisputable and irremediable nullity. In this regard, the RCMP clearly waited until the unlawful lockouts occurred to denote the Applicant as "NFA".

6008 Following demands for the restitution of chattels purportedly retained within the Principal Residence, the RCMP systematically transferred the unlawfully confiscated property from the RCMP Toronto West Detachment situated in Milton, Ontario, to a Toronto Police Service (the "TPS") division designated as "Toronto West". It is advanced that this geographical relocation was a premeditated subterfuge designed to orchestrate a physical apprehension, effectuating an incarceration without the provision of bail.

52. The underlying objective of this apprehension was the deliberate neutralization of formidable pro se litigation capabilities, representing at minimum the third manifestation of such strategic deprivation. Initial representations articulated by personnel of the TPS 14th Division indicated an impending transportation to an alternative maximum-security detention facility, presumably the Millhaven Institution, which is jurisprudentially recognized for its severe custodial conditions. The orchestration was purportedly designed to maximize systemic disadvantage, exploiting the absence of a principal residence and familial support infrastructure within the jurisdictional boundaries of Toronto, Ontario.

GOVERNING STATUTORY AND REGULATORY FRAMEWORKS RELIED UPON

53. The Applicant repeats and relies upon the authorities contained within communications between himself and the RCMP vis-à-vis his access requests under the Privacy Act and ATIA, along with any other documents provided to it. The Applicant relies upon the statutory and regulatory frameworks meticulously outlined in the following legislation:

a. Privacy Act, R.S.C., 1985, c. P-21;
b. Privacy Regulations, SOR/83-508;
c. Exempt Personal Information Bank Order, No. 5 (ND), SOR/85-38;
d. Exempt Personal Information Bank Order, No. 13 (RCMP), SOR/90-149;
e. Exempt Personal Information Bank Order, No. 14 (CSIS), SOR/92-688;
f. Exempt Personal Information Bank Order, No. 25 (RCMP), SOR/93-272;
g. Access to Information Act, R.S.C., 1985, c. A-1 (the "ATIA")
h. Access to Information Regulations, SOR/83-507;
i. Federal Courts Act, R.S.C., 1985, c. F-7;
j. Federal Courts Rules, SOR/98-106;
k. Canada Evidence Act, R.S.C., 1985, c. C-5, Part 1;
l. Secure Electronic Signature Regulations, SOR/2005-30, Part 1;
m. Royal Canadian Mounted Police Act, R.S.C., 1985, c. R-10;
n. Royal Canadian Mounted Police Regulations, 2014, SOR/2014-281;
o. Commissioner's Standing Orders (Conduct), SOR/2014-291;
p. Commissioner's Standing Orders (Classification Redress Process for Members), SOR/2001-248;
q. Commissioner's Standing Orders (Employment Requirements), SOR/2014-292;
r. Commissioner's Standing Orders (General Administration), SOR/2014-293;
s. Commissioner's Standing Orders (Grievances and Appeals), SOR/2014-289
t. Royal Canadian Mounted Police Public Complaints Commission Rules of Practice, SOR/93-17;
u. Enhancing Royal Canadian Mounted Police Accountability Act, S.C. 2013, c. 18;
v. Public Complaints and Review Commission Act, S.C. 2024, c. 25;

w. Interpretation Act, R.S.C., 1985, c. I-21;
x. Criminal Code, R.S.C., 1985, c. C-46; and
y. Security Offences Act, R.S.C., 1985, c. S-7.

This application will be supported by the following material:

54. The Affidavit[vi] of Mr. Kevin A. McLean (BA, JD, CIM) or on his behalf, to be sworn, and the documentary exhibits attached thereto, including:
    a. Tab 1: The Applicant's statutory access request under the Privacy Act, dated February 27, 2026, and received by the Respondents on March 11, 2026, requesting the extraction of foundational metadata, raw hexadecimal dumps, and offline historical transaction logs from the CPIC database.
    b. Tab 2: The Canada Post tracking and delivery confirmation certificate, verifying physical delivery and statutory service of the Applicant's Privacy Act request at the Respondents' Ottawa headquarters on March 11, 2026
    c. Tab 3: Correspondence from mid-March 2026, containing the Applicant's detailed technical disclosure of relevant Toronto Police Service (TPS) Originating Agency Identifiers (ORIs), Case IDs, and a digital forensic metadata analysis identifying 43 structural anomalies tied to the GrapeCity PDF engine and the "CL (M)" software artifact
    d. Tab 4: Administrative correspondence and records spanning March and April 2026, documenting the Respondents' unilateral 30-day time extension, the subsequent failure to search, and the formal dispute concerning the execution of superficial "live" terminal queries versus the requested offline database extractions
    e. Tab 5: The purported statutory response from the RCMP ATIP branch, dated April 27, 2026, including the selective application of statutory exemptions to active 2025 data pools and the omission of 2024 historical transaction logs.
    f. Tab 6: Electronic mail communications dated October 2, 2024, involving Constable Anthony Romano of the TPS (14 Division) regarding property retrieval, the Applicant's detention, and the processing of the underlying judicial authorizations.
    g. Tab 7: The formal statutory complaint submitted by the Applicant to the Civilian Review and Complaints Commission for the RCMP (CRCC), concerning the administrative handling and tracking of records under the direction of Assistant Commissioner Matthew Peggs.
    h. Tab 8: Unanswered written demands served upon Assistant Commissioner Matthew Peggs, seeking the production of authentic system metadata, verification of the "CL (M)" system artifact, and the return of property seized between September 20, 2024, and October 2, 2024.
    i. Tab 9: The parallel statutory access request submitted by the Applicant under the Access to Information Act (ATIA) on May 5, 2026, targeting the National Technology Onboarding Program (NTOP) software procurement logs, enterprise licensing, and server-side deployment files for the MESCIUS / GrapeCity PDF software libraries.
    j. Tab 10: Copies of the formal structural complaints submitted to the Office of the Privacy Commissioner of Canada (OPCC) regarding systemic data suppression, unauthorized search paths into Specialized Policing Services, and the ongoing refusal to search Personal Information Bank (PIB) RCMP PPU 005.
    k. Tab 11: Documents and decision from LECA in Spring 2025;
    l. Tab 12: Rule 317 of the FCR request of March 18, 2026;
    m. Tab 13: documents involving the Similar Fact Evidence ("SFE") doctrine above;
    n. Tab 14: Residual records: records, documents et al not captured by the above but relevant to the Application; and
    o. Such further and other material as the Applicant may advise and this Honourable Court may permit.

6010 The Applicant hereby requests that the Respondents send a certified copy of the material particularized in the Exhaustive Schedule of the standalone Written Request served upon the RCMP Tribunal on May 18, 2026, which is incorporated by reference herein:

SCHEDULE OF REQUESTED MATERIALS FOR PURPOSES OF A CERTIFIED TRIBUNAL RECORD

SCHEDULE OF REQUESTED MATERIALS

Item Number	Category of Material	Specific Records and Metadata Requested
1	Access Request Administrative Files	The complete internal administrative file, tracking sheets, and analyst worksheets concerning Privacy Act file P-2025-16999.
2	System Initialization Logs	The complete, unredacted system entry logs from the automated sequential registry system detailing the exact date, millisecond timestamp, and file initialization sequence that generated the prefix year "2025" for an access request delivered to the Respondent on March 11, 2026.
3	Executive and Inter-Directorate Communications	All electronic communications, emails, instant messages, memorandum chains, and briefing notes concerning the Applicant or file P-2025-16999 exchanged between Director Jeff Ball, Delegate Melissa Simpson, Director General Stéphane Brisson, Regional Commander Matt Peggs, or their authorized agents, and Chief of Staff Tanya Mirsky spanning April 1, 2026, to the present.
4	Internal Legal and Operational Advice	All legal or operational advice solicited or received internally regarding the Applicant's statutory demand for access to the Canadian Police Information Centre ("CPIC") Offline Historical Database metadata, including the Foundational Metadata Request and the Offline Historical Database Request.
5	Raw Forensic Mainframe Ledger Records	The raw, unredacted transaction logs, audit trails, and hexadecimal dumps residing within the secure CPIC Offline Historical Database associated with Personal Information Bank RCMP PPU 005 tied to the Applicant's name, identifiers, or cross-referenced occurrence numbers (2024-2028093, 24-2082035, and Court File/Case ID 457197) spanning September 15, 2024, to December 31, 2024, inclusive.
6	Cryptographic Audit Trails	The complete cryptographic audit trails capturing all ADD, MODIFY, CLEAR, and CANCEL command strings, along with terminal identifiers, physical hardware addresses, Originating Agency Identifiers ("ORIs"), and unstructured narrative fields for each sequential transaction executed during the aforementioned temporal window.
7	Forensic Metadata of Search Methodology	The complete electronic system logs generated by Operator NBOISVERT on April 14, 2026, at 07:35:43, detailing the complete input syntax, query parameters, and system constraints utilized to execute the front-facing "Q PERS+" and "Q CNI" live database queries.
8	Internal Directives and Exclusion Policies	Any internal directives, policy documents, or operational notes instructing the Access to Information and Privacy ("ATIP") Branch analysts to omit an interrogation of the Offline Historical Database in response to the Applicant's explicit, specialized request for historical data.
9	Trans-Directorate Processing Records	The complete, unredacted administrative processing file, tracking timelines, and internal analyst notes concerning the concurrent Access to Information Act ("ATIA") request submitted by the Applicant, explicitly targeting the procurement, enterprise licensing, and National Technology Onboarding Program ("NTOP") integration logs of the Mescius SDK / GrapeCity.Documents.PDF.6.0.2.0 developer engines within the CPIC *infra*structure.
10	Automated File Linking Records	All internal processing records showing any administrative coordination, automated file linking, or database cross-referencing executed between the privacy division handling Privacy Act request P-2025-16999 and the information access branch processing the parallel ATIA files.
11	Software Exception Logs	Any software error tracking logs, system exception reports, or developer audit alerts generated by the core CPIC mainframe database management system involving database inquiries or structural PDF modifications tied to the Applicant's biographical identifiers or transaction history.
12	Executive Suite Briefing Notes and Action Logs	All briefing notes, corporate risk assessments, institutional action logs, and communications generated by or sent to Commissioner Michael Duheme and Director General Stéphane Brisson regarding the Applicant's personal information or file P-2025-16999.
13	Central Region Command Communications	All emails, letters, instant messages, and administrative directives sent or received by Assistant Commissioner Matthew Peggs (Central Region Command) concerning Police Case ID: 457197, the "Adult Common Information Package," or the collection and retention of the Applicant's property from September 15, 2024, to the present.

6011 14	Third-Party Data Transfer Ingestion Ledgers	All cross-jurisdictional system logs showing the electronic receipt, intake vetting, and cryptographic mapping of data transferred from the Toronto Police Service (TPS) or Ontario Court of Justice (OCJ) to the RCMP *infr*astructure involving the Applicant's biographical profiles.
15	Primary Statutory Charging Instruments	A certified copy of the Criminal Code Form 2 "Information" and/or Criminal Code Form 4 "Indictment" purportedly generated, indexed, or uploaded into federal tracking streams regarding the Applicant's underlying file.
16	Core Courthouse Intake Endorsements	A certified copy of the Intake Court Endorsement represented on Page 3 of 5 within the disputed "False Information Package," capturing any handwriting, initials, or automated metadata strings applied during processing.
17	Originating Judicial Authorizations	A certified copy of the alleged warrant in the first instance executed, tracked, or registered within the CPIC network in relation to the Applicant's identifiers.
18	Comprehensive Judicial and Executive Orders	Any and all ancillary orders, determinations, statutory authorizations, variances, or judicial directions issued by a Court of competent jurisdiction or a federal board concerning the collection, retrieval, manipulation, or preservation of the Applicant's personal information or physical property.

Date: May 18, 2026

_____

Mr. Kevin A. McLean (BA, JD, CIM)
Applicant (Self-Represented)
68 Abell Street
(Receptionist desk)
Toronto, Ontario
M6J 0B1
Email: mclean@searchandseizure.ca
Fax: 416.352.0055

SOR/2004-283, ss. 35 and 38

[i] The RCMP did not conduct a search for records, as required by the Applicant's PII Access Request (March 11 2026), in the manner they executed in the Halton Police 2024 Case;
The RCMP's representation that it conducted a search in CPIC and Specialized Policing Services is fundamentally flawed as the Applicant did not request a search "in" Specialized Policing Services;
The RCMP did not rely upon ss. 16(2) of the Privacy Act as it did in the Halton Police Case, thereby defeating any implication of an ongoing investigation or the utilization of sensitive techniques, and the RCMP has waived that protection for the purposes of this judicial review herein;
The RCMP represented in the Halton Police Case that, "The Privacy Act has established the right of applicants to access federally maintained records which contain personal information concerning themselves" whereas in the McLean v. RCMP proceeding, it stated, "The Privacy Act has established the right of applicants to access federally maintained records" WITHOUT reference to Personal Information, consistent with the exemptions relied upon by the RCMP only referencing "information" and "Personal Information of the Applicant," leading to a clear jurisdictional path for judicial review on issues outside of the scope of section 29 and 41 of the Privacy Act;

The RCMP in the McLean RCMP Proceeding utilized the language of "If this matter concerned another police department, they may have information of interest to you. The Privacy Act does not authorize the RCMP to search files or to disclose information belonging to other police forces" whereas in the Halton Police Case the language used by the RCMP was: "if you were involved with another police department or service, they may have information that concerns you. The Privacy Act does not authorize the RCMP to search files or to disclose information belonging to other police forces". The factual inference is that the RCMP only referred to another "department" which be of itself and the RCMP does not have a legal justification under an Act of Parliament to refuse to search the Foundational Metadata and Offline Historical Database so requested by the Applicant including PPU 005, when a request is solely constrained to CPIC, because the RCMP Specialized Policing Services were involved, directly or indirectly; [ii] i. A further Declaration that the Respondents' search of the Specialized Policing Services was arbitrary, devoid of an explicit request, and strictly unauthorized in relation to the PII Access Request (March 11 2026);
ii. A further Declaration that the Respondents orchestrated a purported extension of time on March 17, 2026, so communicated to the Applicant, because after querying the Applicant's initial identifiers the system did not trigger a police file tied to the TPS but rather triggered a hit tied to a program or database managed under the national SPS umbrella, housing elite federal units—such as Covert Operations, Cyber, and Regional Communications (implicating managers like Regional Commander Mr. Matt Peggs (see: "C" "L" and "(M") in the False Information Package);
iii. A further Declaration that the RCMP's Specialized Policing Services is the precise department that owns, manages, and builds the RCMP's centralized high-tech *infr*astructure including the software development kit of GrapeCity.Documents.PDF that was utilized to manipulate the authentic "Adult Common Information Package" after the inputs were already finalized and then provided to the undisclosed SCJ Judge in the "Ex Parte In Camera Hearing" on or around September 2024;
iv. A further Declaration that the RCMP was inherently responsible for the structural manipulation of the "Adult Common Information Package";
[iii] For absolute clarity, said Order includes Personal Information about him in relation to the type of Personal Information that one would be entitled to obtain post-arrest, including any and all Informations and Indictments, arrest warrants, and/or endorsements;
[iv] The Applicant was not and is not requesting "investigative techniques" and "confidential sources," but rather an audit trail of a definitively concluded "Intake Court Endorsement" and "judicial authorization";
[v] In accordance with the legal maxims compiled by Herbert Broom, specifically fraus omnia corrumpit (fraud vitiates everything) and ex dolo malo non oritur actio (no right of action arises from a deceitful wrong), the entirety of the acta executed under such pretenses is irremediably vitiated and rendered coram non judice.
[vi]And/or by way of Application Record by comprehensive Application and/or by way of singular or multiple affidavits

Tab 95

From: Mr. Kevin A. McLean (BA, JD, CIM)
Email: mclean@searchandseizure.ca

e-document-6 T-2448-26 ID 5
FILED / DEPOSE
FEDERAL COURT
COUR FÉDÉRALE
May 20, 2026
20 mai 2026
Diane Lopez
TOR | 2

Party: Applicant
Document type: PDF signed request pursuant to Rule 317 of the FCR
Short tile: McLean v. RCMP et al
Court Level: Federal Court of Canada
Court Office: City of Toronto (180 Queen Street West, Suite 200)

COURT FILE NUMBER: T-2448-26

May 19, 2026

COMPREHENSIVE WRITTEN REQUEST OF THE RCMP (TRIBUNAL) PURSUANT TO RULE 317 OF THE FEDERAL COURT RULES, WHICH IS TITLED "MATERIAL IN THE POSSESSION OF THE TRIBUNAL" (AS DEFINED UNDER FCR, S. 317 AND FCA, S. 2)

Served on the RCMP in its capacity as a "Tribunal" as defined under Federal Court Rules, section 2, where tribunal has the same meaning as federal board, commission or other tribunal under section 2(1) of the Federal Courts Act) on May 18, 2026.

Table of Contents

WRITTEN REQUEST OF THE RCMP (TRIBUNAL) PURSUANT TO RULE 317 OF THE FEDERAL COURT RULES, WHICH IS TITLED "MATERIAL IN THE POSSESSION OF THE TRIBUNAL" (AS DEFINED UNDER FCR, S. 317 AND FCA, S. 2) 1

PART 1: statement of rule 317 request and overview of seminal principles under rule 317 to 319 of the FCR 4

Part 1(A): schedule of materials requested from the Applicant to the RCMP (tribunal) 5

Volume #1(C): Rule 317 Jurisprudence: the requirement of certified tribunal record (the "CTR") 6

Volume #1(C)(I): Unsearched Repositories; and the RCMP Tribunal (through Mr. Ball) did not rely on any exemption under s. 18 7

Volume #1(C)(II): For sake of completeness: Review of Exempt PIB's 8

Volume #1(C)(I)(a): Conclusion on the inapplicability of Exempt Banks to the PII Access Request (March 11 2026) and this NOA for Judicial Review 8

Volume #1(D): The Failure to Search by the RCMP 9

VOLUME #1(D)(I): THE LEGAL TEST FOR RELEVANCE 11

VOLUME #1(D)(II): APPLICATION OF DOUZE V. CANADA (CITIZENSHIP AND IMMIGRATION), 2010 FC 1086 11

VOLUME #1(E): WHY NOTICES OF APPLICATION FOR MANDAMUS NECESSITATE AN EXPANDED INTERPRETATION OF THE CTR 11

VOLUME #1(F): JUDICIAL REVIEWS ARE DISTINCT FROM APPEALS – RULE 317 EXCLUSIVELY INVOKED WITHIN APPLICATIONS 12
VOLUME #1(G): THE PRECAUTIONARY PRINCIPLE AND THE RULE OF LAW PRECLUDE SPECULATION 12
VOLUME #1(H): THE DISCOVERY OF IMPROPER MOTIVE FACILITATES MEANINGFUL JUDICIAL REVIEW 12
VOLUME #1(I): THE DIFFERENTIAL LEGAL TEST FOR PROHIBITION UNDER RULE 317 13
Volume #1(H)(ii): Judicial Treatment of Air Passenger Rights 13
VOLUME #1(I): THE IMPERATIVE OF A FORMAL REQUEST 14
VOLUME #1(J): AUTHORITY FOR THE APPLICABILITY OF RULE 317 UNDER AN ATIA REVIEW 14
VOLUME #2: STATEMENT OF ISSUES 14
VOLUME #3: Legal Bases 17
VOLUME #3(A): THE OFFICE OF THE PRIVACY COMMISSIONER DETERMINES THE EXTENT OF THE RCMP'S STATUTORY DUTY AND PARAMOUNTCY OF CONTROL OVER MULTI-JURISDICTIONAL ENTRIES WITHIN THE CANADIAN POLICE INFORMATION CENTRE (THE "CPIC") 17
The Genesis of the Disclosed Intelligence: 17
Jurisprudential Analysis and Determinations of the OPCC 18
Analysis of Paragraph 8(2)(f) (Agreements with Foreign States for Law Enforcement): 18
The Finding of the Commissioner 18
Analysis of Paragraph 8(2)(a) (The Consistent Use Doctrine): 18
The Intransigence of the RCMP 19
Volume #3(A)(I): Summary of Jurisprudential Effect Regarding the Inputting of False or Inaccurate Data into CPIC by any Law Enforcement Apparatus 19
Paramount Stewardship of the Bilateral Agreement 20
The Imperative for Active Policy and Architectural Safeguards 20
Volume #3(B): The Novel Legal Issues Formulated for Adjudication 20
The First Novel and Untested Issue 20
The Second Novel and Untested Issue 20
Volume #3(C): The Jurisprudential Doctrine of Possession under the Federal Court Rules 21
The Definition of Possession in the Strict Context of Rule 317 21
The Tripartite Categorization of Possession 21
Volume #3(D): A Comparative Linguistic Analysis of the RCMP's Decisions (The Halton Police Case vs. The McLean RCMP Proceeding) 22
Volume #3(D)(I): The RCMP Decision in the Halton Police FIPPA Case 22
Volume #3(D)(II): The Distinctions Possessing Profound Legal Significance 23
VOLUME #4: without a search, correction rights cease to exist as legislated by parliament 24
Volume #4(A): Personal Information is akin to one's ownership 24
Volume #4(B): Constructive and Joint Possession within Decentralized Database Architectures 25
Volume #4(C): The RCMP as the Paramount Custodian and Sovereign Administrative Steward 25
Volume #4(D): The Absolute Nullity of the "Third-Party Ownership" Defense 25

Volume #4(E): The Statutory Absurdity and the Frustration of Correction Rights under Subsection 12(2) of the Privacy Act 26
Volume #4(E)(I): The Paramountcy of the Initial Search and the "Meaningful Exercise" of Subsection 12(2) 26
Volume #4(E)(II): The Competing Interests and the Disclosure of Authorizing Identities (Paragraphs 3(g) and 3(i)) 27
Volume #4(F): The Operational Exclusivity of "Off-Line Searches" and the Reductio ad Absurdum of Delegated Control 27
Volume #4(G): The Jurisprudence of "Control": The Right of Demand and the Purposive Interpretation of Access Legislation 28
Volume #4(G)(I): The Broad, Liberal, and Purposive Interpretation of Control 28
Volume #4(G)(II): The Binding Precedent of Hale v. Ontario (Criminal Code Review Board) 28
Volume #4(G)(III): Application to the Present Factual Matrix: Offline Historical Data and Amended, Purged Records 29
Volume #4(H): The Jurisprudential Significance of the Unsolicited Inquiry into Specialized Policing Services and the Involuntary Institutional Admission of Centralized Systemic Manipulation 29
Volume #4(H)(I): The Inference and the "Data Trigger" 29
Volume #4(H)(II): The Proverbial "Pandora's Box" and the MESCIUS / GrapeCity SDK Software Connection 30
Volume #4(H)(III): The Statutory Validation via the Treasury Board of Canada 30
Volume #4(H)(IV): The Indispensable Role of Regional Communications as Cross-Jurisdictional Intermediaries and the Implication of Mr. Matt Peggs 30
Volume #4(H)(V): The Crystallization of the Rule 317 Mandate Regarding Regional Communication Logs 31
Volume #4(H)(VI): The Evidentiary "Smoking Gun" and the Absurdity of the Delegated Deflection 31
Volume #5: Conclusion 31
I. The Tactical Avoidance of Paragraph 22(1)(a) and the Unmet Burden under Paragraph 22(1)(b) 31
II. The High Threshold of "Injury to the Enforcement of Law" and the Rule of Law 32
III. The Temporal Ceiling of Investigative Exemptions and the Impact of R. v. Jordan 32
IV. The Fallacy of Informant Privilege in Relation to Public Court Records and Metadata 32
V. Ultra Vires Conduct, Fraudulent Manipulation, and the Limits of "Lawful Investigations" 33
VI. The Jurisdictional Legerdemain: Section 19(1)(d) and the Central Region Metamorphosis 33
VII. The Application of Equitable Maxims: Fraud Upon the Law and the Vitiation of Administrative Acts 34
VIII. The Fiduciary Duty of Disclosure and the Equitable Interest in Personal Information: The Application of McInerney v. MacDonald 35
Appendices 37
Appendix #1 38
Appendix #2: 39

PART 1: STATEMENT OF RULE 317 REQUEST AND OVERVIEW OF SEMINAL PRINCIPLES UNDER RULE 317 TO 319 OF THE FCR

1. Rule 317 of the Federal Courts Rules is titled "Material from Tribunal" and it authorizes a party to request material relevant to an "Application" (see: section 2 of the FCR, which means a proceeding referred to in rule 300) that is in the possession of a "Tribunal" (see: section 2 of the FCA and section 2 of the FCR) whose "Order" (see: section 2 of the FCR) is subject of the Application and not in possession of the party by serving on the Tribunal and filing a written request, identifying the material requested.
2. "Material" is not defined under the FCA or FCR, and the Interpretation Act is not of assistance in this regard but based on statutory interpretation principles, "Material" including that which can be reproduced and where it cannot, the original "Materials" to the Registry. The FCC Registry holds that "Original Material" in trust and it is returned to the Tribunal after the Applicant has been heard subject to the Court's directions. In essence, it is entire collective body of documents, physical items, data, papers, things, records, information, Personal Information et al that are in the possession of the Tribunal.
3. Document discovery in our country varies from province to province and has varied over time with respect to whether the test is "materiality" or "relevance". The latter is a much broader and lower standard for the threshold as to whether the "materials" must be disclosed to the other party(ies). In the context of an Application to the FCC, a document is relevant to an application for judicial review if it may affect the decision that the Court will make on the application. the relevance of the documents requested must necessarily be determined in relation to the grounds of review set forth in the originating notice and evidence filed by a moving party (see: infra, Douze, the Honourable Madam Justice Tremblay-Lamer explicitly adopted the instruction provided by the Court of Appeal in Canada (Human Rights Commission) v. Pathak, 1995 CanLII 3591 (FCA), [1995] 2 F.C. 455, 54 A.C.W.S. (3d) 1344 (C.A.) (Pathak), regarding the parameters of relevance under Rule 317). The reason for the finding as to evidence filed by the Applicant, along with the grounds in the Application, is encompassed by the 20 days after service of the Rule 317 request.
4. "Possession" is not defined under the FCA or FCR, and the Interpretation Act (Federal) does not assist either. This is much like the Privacy Act, along with the likes of the provincial privacy protection statutes that do not define the word "control".
5. "Control" has been interpreted by the FCC and FCA since 1995 to encompass the following wherein Letourneau J.A., writing for the court, held as follows, at p. 245:

> "The notion of control referred to in [the Act] is left undefined and unlimited. Parliament did not see fit to distinguish between ultimate and immediate, full and partial, transient and lasting, or "de jure" and "de facto" control. Had Parliament intended to qualify and restrict the notion of control to the power to dispose of the information, as suggested by the appellant, it could certainly have done so by limiting the citizen's right of access only to those documents that the government can dispose of or which are under the lasting or ultimate control of the government."
>
> (see: Canada Post Corp. v. Canada (Minister of Public Works) (1995), 1995 CanLII 3574 (FCA), 30 Admin. L.R. (2d) 242, [1995] 2 F.C. 110, cited with approval by the ONCA Ontario Criminal Code Review Board v. Hale, 1999 CanLII 3805 (ON CA)).

6. In Ontario Criminal Review Board, the tribunal therein was found to have control of backup audio tapes created by an independent contractor as the tribunal itself had the power to make a demand for those tapes. It was irrelevant whether they existed or not or what state they were in. The lack of a contractual provision compelling the court reporter to deliver the tapes does not negate the Board's control over them (para 35).
7. However, are "control" and "possession" 'one and the same'? That question need not be answered herein.
8. Nonetheless, the types of possession include all the various types of possession including:
    a. De facto;

6018 b. De jure;
c. Actual;
d. Constructive;
e. Sole;
f. Joint; and
g. Others (denoted infra).

9. As the Respondent RCMP Tribunal is required to transmit all material (which may not be Personal Information of the Applicant) to the FCC that is in its possession whose "Orders" (which include decisions or dispositions by the Tribunal) and that is not in the possession of the Applicant, the issue of whether the Respondent RCMP Tribunal has control of requested Personal Information becomes somewhat moot. Nonetheless, the RCMP's constructive possession is unique herein because it is the custodian, controller and operator of the CPIC architecture so it has constructive possession, at the very least, of materials therein that are relevant to this JR Application before the FCC.
10. While certain decisions have and continue to focus on what was before or available to the Tribunal at the time of the decision, the scope of disclosure broadens significantly when an applicant has sought writs of mandamus, writs of prohibition and alleged conflicts of interest and bias (individual and institutional) et al (see: infra for the authorities in this regard).

PART 1(A): SCHEDULE OF MATERIALS REQUESTED FROM THE APPLICANT TO THE RCMP (TRIBUNAL)

11. With that segue, the Applicant is and has requested, upon service of this written request pursuant to Rule 317 of the Federal Courts Rules, SOR/98-106, Part -1 (the "Federal Courts Rules" or the "FCR"), materials, particularized infra, in possession of the RCMP tribunal (the "Tribunal"). The schedule of material sought herein is as follows:

SCHEDULE OF REQUESTED MATERIALS

Item Number	Category of Material	Specific Records and Metadata Requested
1	Access Request Administrative Files	The complete internal administrative file, tracking sheets, and analyst worksheets concerning Privacy Act file P-2025-16999.
2	System Initialization Logs	The complete, unredacted system entry logs from the automated sequential registry system detailing the exact date, millisecond timestamp, and file initialization sequence that generated the prefix year "2025" for an access request delivered to the Respondent on March 11, 2026.
3	Executive and Inter-Directorate Communications	All electronic communications, emails, instant messages, memorandum chains, and briefing notes concerning the Applicant or file P-2025-16999 exchanged between Director Jeff Ball, Delegate Melissa Simpson, Director General Stéphane Brisson, Regional Commander Matt Peggs, or their authorized agents, and Chief of Staff Tanya Mirsky spanning April 1, 2026, to the present.
4	Internal Legal and Operational Advice	All legal or operational advice solicited or received internally regarding the Applicant's statutory demand for access to the Canadian Police Information Centre ("CPIC") Offline Historical Database metadata, including the Foundational Metadata Request and the Offline Historical Database Request.
5	Raw Forensic Mainframe Ledger Records	The raw, unredacted transaction logs, audit trails, and hexadecimal dumps residing within the secure CPIC Offline Historical Database associated with Personal Information Bank RCMP PPU 005 tied to the Applicant's name, identifiers, or cross-referenced occurrence numbers (2024-2028093, 24-2082035, and Court File/Case ID 457197) spanning September 15, 2024, to December 31, 2024, inclusive.
6	Cryptographic Audit Trails	The complete cryptographic audit trails capturing all ADD, MODIFY, CLEAR, and CANCEL command strings, along with terminal identifiers, physical hardware addresses, Originating Agency Identifiers ("ORIs"), and unstructured narrative fields for each sequential transaction executed during the aforementioned temporal window.

6019 7	Forensic Metadata of Search Methodology	The complete electronic system logs generated by Operator NBOISVERT on April 14, 2026, at 07:35:43, detailing the complete input syntax, query parameters, and system constraints utilized to execute the front-facing "Q PERS+" and "Q CNI" live database queries.
8	Internal Directives and Exclusion Policies	Any internal directives, policy documents, or operational notes instructing the Access to Information and Privacy ("ATIP") Branch analysts to omit an interrogation of the Offline Historical Database in response to the Applicant's explicit, specialized request for historical data.
9	Trans-Directorate Processing Records	The complete, unredacted administrative processing file, tracking timelines, and internal analyst notes concerning the concurrent Access to Information Act ("ATIA") request submitted by the Applicant, explicitly targeting the procurement, enterprise licensing, and National Technology Onboarding Program ("NTOP") integration logs of the Mescius SDK / GrapeCity.Documents.PDF.6.0.2.0 developer engines within the CPIC infrastructure.
10	Automated File Linking Records	All internal processing records showing any administrative coordination, automated file linking, or database cross-referencing executed between the privacy division handling Privacy Act request P-2025-16999 and the information access branch processing the parallel ATIA files.
11	Software Exception Logs	Any software error tracking logs, system exception reports, or developer audit alerts generated by the core CPIC mainframe database management system involving database inquiries or structural PDF modifications tied to the Applicant's biographical identifiers or transaction history.
12	Executive Suite Briefing Notes and Action Logs	All briefing notes, corporate risk assessments, institutional action logs, and communications generated by or sent to Commissioner Michael Duheme and Director General Stéphane Brisson regarding the Applicant's personal information or file P-2025-16999.
13	Central Region Command Communications	All emails, letters, instant messages, and administrative directives sent or received by Assistant Commissioner Matthew Peggs (Central Region Command) concerning Police Case ID: 457197, the "Adult Common Information Package," or the collection and retention of the Applicant's property from September 15, 2024, to the present.
14	Third-Party Data Transfer Ingestion Ledgers	All cross-jurisdictional system logs showing the electronic receipt, intake vetting, and cryptographic mapping of data transferred from the Toronto Police Service (TPS) or Ontario Court of Justice (OCJ) to the RCMP infrastructure involving the Applicant's biographical profiles.
15	Primary Statutory Charging Instruments	A certified copy of the Criminal Code Form 2 "Information" and/or Criminal Code Form 4 "Indictment" purportedly generated, indexed, or uploaded into federal tracking streams regarding the Applicant's underlying file.
16	Core Courthouse Intake Endorsements	A certified copy of the Intake Court Endorsement represented on Page 3 of 5 within the disputed "False Information Package," capturing any handwriting, initials, or automated metadata strings applied during processing.
17	Originating Judicial Authorizations	A certified copy of the alleged warrant in the first instance executed, tracked, or registered within the CPIC network in relation to the Applicant's identifiers.
18	Comprehensive Judicial and Executive Orders	Any and all ancillary orders, determinations, statutory authorizations, variances, or judicial directions issued by a Court of competent jurisdiction or a federal board concerning the collection, retrieval, manipulation, or preservation of the Applicant's personal information or physical property.

VOLUME #1(C): RULE 317 JURISPRUDENCE: THE REQUIREMENT OF CERTIFIED TRIBUNAL RECORD (THE "CTR")

12. Consistent with settled jurisprudence regarding the open court principle (the "Open Court Principle") entrenched within section 2(b) of the Canadian Charter of Rights and Freedoms (the "Charter"), informations and indictments (the "Informations" and "Indictments") are unequivocally treated as public court documents upon the issuance of a process and/or the service of a Criminal Code Summons or the execution of a Criminal Code Form 7 Arrest Warrant. Furthermore, any corresponding endorsements by a judicial officer ("Endorsements") thereto are to be made available upon formal request by an accused party (devoid of prescribed fees) or the public writ large, subject to the prescribed fee schedule delineated within Regulation 158/03.
13. Analogously, within the taxation context, it has been established that the Canada Revenue Agency, pursuant to a request under Rule 317 of the FCR, forwarded a certified copy of an information (the "Information") to the 6020 Registry. Said document was subsequently treated by the Registry as a public document, with a copy concurrently remitted to the applicant's counsel: Rémillard v. Canada (National Revenue), 2020 FC 1061 at para 5.

14. Documentation transmitted pursuant to Rule 318 of the FCR is strictly incorporated into the receiving Court's official records and is governed ipso facto by the Open Court Principle (see: Rémillard, at paras 25–26 and 37–38). Sections 23 and 26 of the FCR mandate that the Court file and its annexes be treated as publicly accessible, subject exclusively to statutory confidentiality or specific judicial sealing orders.
15. The procedural mechanism outlined in Rules 317 and 318 of the FCR is strictly operational and non-exploratory; its function is solely to transition relevant materials into the possession of the Registry, distinguishable from private discoveries which are executed beyond the purview of the Court file (see: Rémillard, at paras 57–59 and 65–66). Private discoveries are governed by the implied undertaking rule subject to questions from discovery being read into the court record by affidavit or at a hearing.
16. Should the Respondent RCMP Tribunal argue that the applicant is utilizing Rule 317 as an impermissible exploratory discovery mechanism, such an assertion is preemptively defeated by the fact that the requested records constitute foundational administrative documents that inherently form the basis of the tribunal's jurisdiction and subsequent (or omitted) actions.
17. The protections afforded under section 8 of the Charter are rendered inapplicable in limine, as no reasonable expectation of privacy ("REOP") can legally persist subsequent to an applicant requisitioning transmission pursuant to Rule 317 of the FCR (see: Rémillard, at paras 163–165).
18. Generally, Rule 317 of the FCR encompasses exclusively the material that was available to the administrative decision-maker at the time the decision was rendered (at paras 23, 39, and 41–42). However, a substantially broader scope of disclosure is mandated in circumstances where procedural fairness, reasonable apprehension of bias, or analogous equitable grounds are explicitly contained within the Notice of Application and supported by a cogent evidentiary foundation: Lill v. Canada, 2023 FC 1364. Such grounds are unequivocally established herein by the notice of application (the "JR NOA") filed by the applicant (the "Applicant").

Volume #1(C)(I): Unsearched Repositories; and the RCMP Tribunal (through Mr. Ball) did not rely on any exemption under s. 18

19. The circumstances present herein ostensibly construct a paradox; however, a rigorous legal examination reveals that such a paradox is illusory, even if it is averred that the Royal Canadian Mounted Police (the "RCMP") neglected to search the requisite repositories for foundational metadata (the "Foundational Metadata") and the offline historical database (the "Offline Historical Database") (collectively, the "Unsearched Repositories"). The jurisprudential test dictates that the determination rests upon what material was legally available to the decision-maker at the material time.

Volume #1(C)(I)(a): The Misstatement of Law in the RCMP Tribunal Decision: "Privacy Act does not authorize search of files…belonging to other police forces"

20. The failure of the RCMP, as admitted predicated upon its representation in the April 27, 2026, letter communicated to the Applicant that the "The Privacy Act does not authorize the RCMP to search files….belonging to other police forces" (see: page 1 of 6, paragraph three).
21. "Files" is not defined under the Privacy Act but it is mentioned six (6) times under the Privacy Act which are:
    a. EXEMPTIONS
        i. Exempt Banks
            1. Governor in Council may designate exempt banks
                a. Subsection 18(1): The Governor in Council may, by order, designate as exempt banks certain personal information banks that contain files all of which consist predominantly of personal information described in section 21 or 22.
            2. Contents of order
                a. Clause 18(3)(b): (3) An order made under subsection (1) shall specify

i. (b) where a personal information bank is designated that contains files that consist predominantly of personal information described in subparagraph 22(1)(a)(ii), the law concerned.

b. The auto population of "files" (three to six) involve the review of exempt banks by the Privacy Commissioner of Canada into those exempt banks.

Volume #1(C)(I)(a)(i): Conclusion on the misstatement of law in this context

22. The Respondent RCMP did NOT claim an exemption under section 18(2) of the Privacy Act which states for sake of convenience:

> "Disclosure may be refused
> (2) The head of a government institution may refuse to disclose any personal information requested under subsection 12(1) that is contained in a personal information bank designated as an exempt bank under subsection (1)."

23. The Head of he Government Institution is that of Commissioner Mr. Michael Duheme.

Volume #1(C)(II): For sake of completeness: Review of Exempt PIB's

24. Nonetheless, the exempt PIB's are:

a. Department of National Defence Exempt Bank:

i. Exempt Personal Information Bank Order, No. 5 (ND), SOR/85-38, Part -1: The personal information bank under the control of the Department of National Defence containing the Security and Intelligence Information files No. ND-P70 is hereby designated as an exempt bank on the basis of section 21 of the Privacy Act;

b. Criminal Operational Intelligence Records (tied to Personal Information contained at subparagraph 22(1)(a)(ii))

i. Exempt Personal Information Bank Order, No. 13 (RCMP), SOR/90-149, Part -1: Criminal Operational Intelligence Records, No. CMP/P-PU-015, a personal information bank under the control of the Royal Canadian Mounted Police, is hereby designated as an exempt bank on the basis of section 22 of the Privacy Act.

1. or the purposes of paragraph 18(3)(b) of the Privacy Act, the laws concerned, in relation to those files that are contained in the exempt bank referred to in section 2 that consist predominantly of personal information described in subparagraph 22(1)(a)(ii) of that Act, are the Criminal Code, the Customs Act, the Excise Act, the Food and Drugs Act, the Immigration and Refugee Protection Act, the Income Tax Act, the Controlled Drugs and Substances Act and the Foreign Interference and Security of Information Act.

c. CSIS Exempt Bank:

i. Exempt Personal Information Bank Order, No. 14 (CSIS), SOR/92-688, Part -1

d. Exempt Personal Information Bank Order, No. 25 (RCMP), SOR/93-272, Part -1,

i. For the purposes of paragraph 18(3)(b) of the Privacy Act, the laws concerned, in relation to those files that are contained in the exempt bank referred to in section 2 that consist predominantly of personal information described in subparagraph 22(1)(a)(ii) of that Act, are the Criminal Code, the Foreign Interference and Security of Information Act, the Security Offences Act, the Royal Canadian Mounted Police Act and the Canadian Security Intelligence Service Act.

Volume #1(C)(I)(a): Conclusion on the inapplicability of Exempt Banks to the PII Access Request (March 11 2026) and this NOA for Judicial Review

6022. Leaving aside that the RCMP solely focused on "information" and not "Personal Information", it explicitly relied in its decision on April 27, 2026, wherein it stated:

> "Enclosed is a copy of all of the information to which you are entitled. Please note that some of the information has been exempted pursuant to sections 19(1)(d), 22(1)(b) and 26 of the Act"

26. There is not a single solitary mention of section 18 therein. Ergo, the RCMP Tribunal was not relying on "files contained in a PIB being exempt from disclosure let alone searching.
27. For completeness purposes and to avoid unnecessary and frivolous objections by the RCMP regarding its obligation to transmit a complete, accurate, and full CTR to the FCC and the Applicant, there is also not a single mention of n subparagraph 22(1)(a)(ii). Ergo, any reliance by the RCMP Tribunal on not being able to search files or disclose information (sic) belonging to other police forces is not relevant herein.
28. Hence, the Applicant's judicial review Notice of Application (Form 301) seeking writs of mandamus and prohibition as the relevant Personal Information sought, of which the Applicant did not seek that which was produced in the three page heavily redacted document accompanying the April 27 decision, has not been searched for.
29. Irrespective of the same, there would remain a judicial review independent of that aforementioned mandamus issue, predicated on the requirement (statutory and common law) for the Head of the Government Institution to consider whether to make a public interest disclosure regarding the manipulation of a "Criminal Code Information Package" into a False Information Package which is unprecedented in Canadian legal history (see: R. v. Scherzer and R. v. Hamilton did not contained falsification of the Criminal Code Information Packages but the falsification of underlying legal bases and notes per se; and R. v. Silva (Quebec) involved the stealing of a Justice of the Peace's stamp on account of "noble cause corruption" by a young Police Officer in Mr. Jolly as the public was in a state of terror with a notorious gang connected hitman in Mr. Silva).

VOLUME #1(D): THE FAILURE TO SEARCH BY THE RCMP

30. In light of the above uncontroverted syllogism and the sophisms by the RCMP, the Privacy Act not only authorizes but obligates the Government Institution to search for Personal Information requested (not "files") within the scope of an access request whether it is in a Personal Information Bank (a "PIB") and has been used, is being used or is available for use for an administrative purpose or is organized or intended to be retrieved by the name of an individual or by an identifying number, symbol or other particular assigned to an individual (see: section 10 of the Privacy Act).
31. However, the word "files" is utilized under some of the attendant regulations under the Privacy Act where certain PIB's, pursuant to ss. 18(1) of the Privacy Act, making certain PIB's exempt from search and disclosure.
32. The Applicant requested access to the PIB known as PPU 005 and it is not an exempt PIB. Moreover, the PII Access Request (March 11 2026) was not a request for "files" per se but for Personal Information contained in the PIB (PPU 005) and searches of Foundational Metadata and Offline Historical Database with respect to an executed arrest warrant including any original and amended data therein contained his Personal Information. But for the name of the judicial officer who in fact issued an endorsement including an Arrest Warrant (Criminal Code Form 7) all of the Personal Information therein would be on its face and de facto only involving him per se. In relation to the name of the judicial officer who issued the endorsement (dubbed an "Intake Court Endorsement") "warrant in the first", the federal statutory Personal Information definition under section 3(i) (see: means information about an identifiable individual that is recorded in any form including, without restricting the generality of the foregoing…(i) the name of the individual where it appears with other personal information relating to the individual or where the disclosure of the name itself would reveal information about the individual). This is also consistent with the judicial interpretation of Personal Information, and the required interpretation as follows:
    a. Drawing from jurisprudence in the federal public sector, the definition of personal information must be given a broad and expansive interpretation (Dagg v. Canada (Minister of Finance), [1997] 2 S.C.R., dissenting, 403 at para 68; Canada (Information Commissioner) v. Canada (Transportation Accident 6023 Investigation and Safety Board), 2006 FCA 157; Canada (Information Commissioner) v. Canada (Commissioner of the Royal Canadian Mounted Police), [2003] 1 S.C.R. 66, 2003 SCC 8, at para 23).

b. Personal information is information "about" an identifiable individual. "About" means that the information is not just the subject of something but also relates to or concerns the subject (Canada (Information Commissioner) v. Canada (Transportation Accident Investigation and Safety Board), 2006 FCA 157).
c. Information will be about an "identifiable individual" where there is a serious possibility that an individual could be identified through the use of that information, alone or in combination with other information (Gordon v. Canada (Health), 2008 FC 258 (CanLII).Footnote1 Information need not be recorded for it to constitute personal information. It is sufficient that the information be about an identifiable individual even if the information is not in a recorded form, such as oral conversations, biological samples and real time video surveillance. While the absence of a recording may go to the issue of collection, it does not change the fact that the information is personal information (Morgan v. Alta Flights Inc. (2006) FCA 121, affirming (2005) FC 421).
d. The same information can be personal to more than one individual, where, for example, it contains the views of one individual about another individual, or where the same information reveals something about two identifiable individuals (Wyndowe v. Rousseau, 2008 FCA 39 (CanLII)).
e. Information will still be personal information even if it is publicly available within the meaning of the regulations,Footnote2 and is exempt from applicable consent requirements (Englander v. TELUS Communications Inc., 2004 FCA 387 (CanLII)).
f. Subjective information about an individual may still be personal information even if it is not necessarily accurate (Lawson v. Accusearch Inc. 2007 FC 125).

33. The general principles overall are:

a. Privacy Rights' Purpose:
    i. privacy rights are designed to protect the privacy of individuals with respect to Personal Information held by government institutions and to provide individuals with a right of access to that information;
b. Privacy Act:
    i. quasi-constitutional;
c. Exceptions from an individual applicant's access rights – interpreted narrowly:
    i. in Lavigne v. Canada (Office of the COMMISSIONER of Official Languages), 2002 SCC 53 (CanLII), [2002] 2 S.C.R. 773, Gonthier J. observed that exceptions from the rights set out in the act should be interpreted narrowly, with any doubt resolved in favour of preserving the right;
d. Burden of proof:
    i. the burden of persuasion on the person asserting the exception (at paras. 30-31 of Lavigne);
e. Privacy Rights only compromised when there is a compelling state interest for doing so:
    i. in Dagg v. Canada (Minister of Finance), 1997 CanLII 358 (SCC), [1997] 2 S.C.R. 403, the SCC articulated the governing principles of privacy law including that protection of privacy is a fundamental value in modern democracies and is enshrined in ss. 7 and 8 of the Charter, and privacy rights are to be compromised only where there is a compelling state interest for doing so (at paras. 65, 66, 71)

34. It is axiomatic that the RCMP is also subject to the Charter pursuant to section 32 of the Charter.
35. Lex non cogit ad impossibilia (the law does not compel the impossible) cannot shield the RCMP where the material was, in fact, extant and obtainable.
36. Inasmuch as Informations, Indictments, and any associated endorsements—including but not limited to arrest warrants—are fundamental components governed by the Open Court Principle (which concurrently protects the rights of listeners pursuant to section 2(b) of the Charter), the failure of an originating courthouse or originating court office to produce said documents is immaterial. The RCMP possesses the requisite statutory authority to procure such documentation and is legally obligated to do so pursuant to Rule 317. From a policy perspective, the Federal Court of Canada and the RCMP are absolutely bound to discharge this requirement to preserve the integrity 6024 of the rule of law (the "Rule of Law"). Invoking Herbert Broom's maxim, omnia praesumuntur rite et solemniter esse acta (all acts are presumed to have been done rightly and regularly), the public is entitled to presume the RCMP will fulfill its legal duties to procure necessary records.

37. Copies of the aforementioned Informations, Indictments, and corresponding endorsements, alongside copies of arrest warrants—as represented by the Toronto Police Service (the "TPS" or the "Arresting Police Division") to have been in their possession—are strictly relevant to the JR NOA, specifically concerning the prerogative relief sought in the nature of mandamus and prohibition.
38. Furthermore, the compulsory transmission of these documents will categorically elucidate whether the RCMP was operating mala fides by intentionally breaching a public legal duty, or, in the alternative, operating negligently by breaching a public legal duty in a profoundly derelict manner. This evidentiary disclosure is paramount as it directly dictates the quantum and nature of the consequential relief to be awarded.

VOLUME #1(D)(I): THE LEGAL TEST FOR RELEVANCE

39. For the strict purposes of Rule 317 of the FCR, a document is deemed relevant to an application for judicial review if it possesses the capacity to affect the ultimate decision that the Court will render on the application (see: Douze v. Canada (Citizenship and Immigration), 2010 FC 1086 at para 19); Boudreau v. Canada (Revenue Agency), 2022 FC 792 (CanLII), at para 16.

VOLUME #1(D)(II): APPLICATION OF DOUZE V. CANADA (CITIZENSHIP AND IMMIGRATION), 2010 FC 1086

40. In Douze, the Honourable Madam Justice Tremblay-Lamer explicitly adopted the instruction provided by the Court of Appeal in Canada (Human Rights Commission) v. Pathak, 1995 CanLII 3591 (FCA), [1995] 2 F.C. 455, 54 A.C.W.S. (3d) 1344 (C.A.) (Pathak), regarding the parameters of relevance under Rule 317:

> "A document is relevant to an application for judicial review if it may affect the decision that the Court will make on the application. As the decision of the Court will deal only with the grounds of review invoked by the Respondent, the relevance of the documents requested must necessarily be determined in relation to the grounds of review set forth in the originating notice of motion and the affidavit filed by the Respondent. (at para. 10)"

41. The ratio decidendi established in Douze has been consistently affirmed across numerous subsequent decisions, including:

    a. Chopra v. Canada (Public Safety and Emergency Preparedness), 2026 CanLII 18896 (FC), at para 10;
    b. John Doe 1 v. Canada (Attorney General), 2024 FC 1024, wherein Mr. Justice Diner articulated:
        i. It is well established that the test for relevance under Rule 17 is synonymous with that under Rule 317 of the FCR (Abu at paras 28 and 43, citing Douze v. Canada (Citizenship and Immigration), 2010 FC 1086 at para 19 and Nguesso v. Canada (Citizenship and Immigration), 2015 FC 102 at para 94). Ergo, a document is classified as "relevant" in this specific context where it "may affect the decision that the Court will make on the application," determined strictly in relation to "the grounds of review and any affidavit filed in support of the application" (Abu at para 43).
    c. The relevance of the material requisitioned under Rule 317 of the FCR is the determinative factor. For the purposes of Rule 317, a document is relevant to an application for judicial review if it may affect the decision that the Court will ultimately make on the application (see: Douze v. Canada (Citizenship and Immigration), 2010 FC 1086 at para 19; Boudreau v. Canada (Revenue Agency), 2022 FC 792 (CanLII), at para 16; and
    d. Various other binding appellate and trial-level jurisprudence.

VOLUME #1(E): WHY NOTICES OF APPLICATION FOR MANDAMUS NECESSITATE AN EXPANDED INTERPRETATION OF THE CTR

6025 In Abu v. Canada (Citizenship and Immigration), 2021 FC 1031, Mr. Justice Norris articulated the distinguished threshold for mandamus applications as follows:

43. "I begin by noting that one of the usual indicators of relevance in the judicial review context—was the document or information before the tribunal when it made its decision?—does not apply in a mandamus application because it is the failure or refusal of the tribunal to make a decision that has prompted the application in the first place. While this is a sound indicator of relevance when a decision is being reviewed, it is not exhaustive of the concept of relevance in the judicial review context generally. It is well established that the test for relevance in the context of the production of a CTR is whether a document in the possession or control of the tribunal in question "may affect the decision that the Court will make on the application" (Canada (Human Rights Commission) v. Pathak, 1995 CanLII 3591 (FCA), [1995] 2 F.C. 455 [at page 460], 1995 CarswellNat 666, at paragraph 10 (WL Can.) (C.A.)).

VOLUME #1(F): JUDICIAL REVIEWS ARE DISTINCT FROM APPEALS – RULE 317 EXCLUSIVELY INVOKED WITHIN APPLICATIONS

44. Mirroring the explicit statutory language of the FCR, Beniey v. Canada (Border Services Agency), 2024 FC 972 unequivocally affirmed that Rule 317 applies exclusively to judicial reviews conducted pursuant to the Federal Courts Act (the "FCA") and is inapplicable to applications instituted under separate statutory regimes, such as the Official Languages Act, RSC 1985, c 31 (4th supp) (the "OLA"). This principle was previously crystallized in Lavigne v. Canada Post Corporation, 2009 FC 756, wherein it was determined at paragraph 16 that Rule 317 cannot be invoked against the Commissioner within an application commenced under section 77 of the OLA, as the Commissioner's decision is not formally under review.
45. By logical extrapolation, applications commenced pursuant to section 41 of the Privacy Act or under the Access to Information Act (the "ATIA") do not constitute judicial reviews under the FCA and therefore do not govern the specific issues herein, wherein a tribunal (the "RCMP Tribunal") has explicitly conceded a failure to search delineated repositories.

VOLUME #1(G): THE PRECAUTIONARY PRINCIPLE AND THE RULE OF LAW PRECLUDE SPECULATION

46. As explicated by the Federal Court of Appeal in Canadian Copyright Licensing Agency (Access Copyright) v. Alberta, 2015 FCA 268 [Access Copyright] (per Stratas JA at para 15):

> "Parties before the administrative decision maker will often have in their possession all of the material the administrative decision maker considered in making its decision. But not always. And sometimes parties may be unsure whether they do. Sometimes they wish to confirm exactly what the administrative decision maker actually considered in making its decision. Rule 317 of the Federal Courts Rules provides a means by which parties can achieve those ends
>
> (see also: Friends of the Earth Canada v. Canada (Attorney General), 2023 FC 1438 (CanLII), at para 9).

47. Herein, the Applicant less than little: he has nothing.

VOLUME #1(H): THE DISCOVERY OF IMPROPER MOTIVE FACILITATES MEANINGFUL JUDICIAL REVIEW

48. It is an accepted legal tenet that the certified record and its surrounding context may unveil whether an administrative decision was predicated upon an improper motive or driven by alternative impermissible rationales (Canada (Minister of Citizenship and Immigration) v. Vavilov, 2019 SCC 65 at para 137).

6026 In the event that the reviewing court is deprived of the evidentiary foundation relied upon by the administrative decision-maker, the detection of a reviewable error may be rendered an impossibility (Access Copyright at para 14). The paramount and overarching consideration is whether the requested disclosure will permit a meaningful and substantive judicial review of the impugned decision (GCT Canada Limited Partnership v. Vancouver Fraser Port Authority, 2021 FC 624 at para 26).

VOLUME #1(I): THE DIFFERENTIAL LEGAL TEST FOR PROHIBITION UNDER RULE 317

50. In Air Passenger Rights v. Canada (Attorney General), 2021 FCA 201, Associate Justice Gleason of the Federal Court of Appeal delineated at paragraph 21:

> "[21] Turning to the first of the foregoing assertions, as the applicant rightly notes, the breadth of materials that are subject to disclosure under Rules 317 and 318 of the Federal Courts Rules is broader where bias or breach of procedural fairness is alleged, particularly where, as here, relief in the nature of prohibition is sought. In such circumstances, disclosure is not limited to the materials that were before the tribunal when an order was made. Rather, where such arguments are raised, documents in the possession, control or power of a tribunal that are relevant to the allegations of bias or breach of procedural fairness are subject to disclosure.

51. Indeed, were it otherwise, this Court would be deprived of evidence necessary for the disposition of an applicant's claims of bias or breach of procedural fairness and the availability of relief in the nature of prohibition would be largely illusory: see, e.g., Humane Society of Canada Foundation v. Canada (National Revenue), 2018 FCA 66, 289 A.C.W.S. (3d) 875 at paras. 5-6; Gagliano v. Canada (Commission of Inquiry into the Sponsorship Program & Advertising Activities), 2006 FC 720, 293 F.T.R. 108 at para. 50, aff'd 2007 FCA 131; Majeed v. Canada (Minister of Employment & Immigration), 1997 CarswellNat 1693, [1993] F.C.J. No. 908 (F.C.T.D.) at para. 3, aff'd [1994] F.C.J. No. 1401 (F.C.A.). Thus, the first assertion advanced by the AGC as to the scope of permitted disclosure under Rules 317 and 318 is without merit."
52. Allegations encompassing bias and profound breaches of procedural fairness have been meticulously pleaded and are comprehensively encapsulated within the operative iteration of the application record (the "Application Record").
53. Concurrently, prerogative relief in the form of a writ of prohibition (the "Writ of Prohibition") is actively sought by the Applicant. Herbert Broom's maxim ubi jus ibi remedium (where there is a right, there is a remedy) dictates that the Court must possess the requisite evidentiary record to formulate such a remedy.
54. Ipso facto, given that the remedies of mandamus and prohibition are concurrently pursued, the restrictive test evaluating solely the materials available at the precise moment of the RCMP Tribunal's decision is fundamentally inapplicable. While the Applicant submits that this narrower threshold would nonetheless be satisfied, the prevailing appellate jurisprudence unequivocally binds the Court, by virtue of vertical stare decisis, to compel the RCMP Tribunal to transmit the expansive array of materials in certified format to both the Federal Court and the Applicant.
55. Should it be argued that the broader array of documents falls outside the technical "control" of the decision-maker because they were not explicitly reviewed, such an argument constitutes a logical fallacy. The jurisprudence explicitly overrides this limitation where bad faith, bias, or procedural fairness are pleaded, transferring the metric of discoverability from "what was reviewed" to "what may affect the Court's disposition of the fairness allegations."

Volume #1(H)(ii): Judicial Treatment of Air Passenger Rights

56. When allegations of bias or breaches of procedural fairness are advanced within a notice of application, the legally permissible scope of materials subject to mandatory disclosure under Rules 317 and 318 is substantially broadened. This augmented scope is a jurisprudential imperative designed to guarantee that the reviewing Court is vested with the requisite evidentiary matrix to judiciously dispose of these claims (Air Passenger Rights v. Canada (Attorney 6027 General), 2021 FCA 201 at para 21). Consequently, where bias or a breach of procedural fairness is averred, all documentation possessing relevance to such allegations must be subject to compulsory disclosure (Ron W Cameron Charitable Foundation v. Canada (National Revenue), 2023 FCA 175 [Ron W Cameron] at para 26); Delisle (Kannabis Shop) v. Kahnawake Cannabis Control Board, 2026 CanLII 14519 (FC), at para 13.

57. In circumstances where an allegation of a breach of procedural fairness, a reasonable apprehension of bias, or actual bias is asserted within a notice of application or notice of appeal, the orthodox convention restricting production to relevant material physically before the decision-maker is invariably expanded. Supplemental documents demonstrating relevance to the specific allegation become subject to production: Humane Society of Canada Foundation v. Canada (National Revenue), 2018 FCA 66 at para 6 (Humane Society); Air Passenger Rights v. Canada (Attorney General), 2021 FCA 201 at para 21 (Air Passenger Rights 2021). The Federal Court of Appeal definitively codified this expanded obligation in Air Passenger Rights 2021 (see: paragraph 21); Jewish National Fund of Canada Inc. v. Canada (National Revenue), 2025 FCA 114 (CanLII), at para 13.
58. Furthermore, averments detailing discrimination on the basis of disability or egregious breaches of procedural fairness serve as sufficient independent catalysts to warrant expanded disclosure pursuant to Rule 317. When such arguments are substantively raised, documents demonstrating relevance to the allegations—irrespective of whether they were physically reviewed by the decision-maker—are strictly subject to disclosure (Air Passenger Rights v. Canada (Attorney General), 2021 FCA 201 at para 21); Ron W. Cameron Charitable Foundation v. Canada (National Revenue), 2023 FCA 175 (CanLII), at para 26. Application of this law dictates that the Applicant's pleadings of specific biases mandate production of the entire foundational record to assess the veracity of the tribunal's omissions.

VOLUME #1(I): THE IMPERATIVE OF A FORMAL REQUEST

59. In Wheeldon v. Canada (Attorney General), 2012 FC 355, Mr. Justice Phelan articulated the absolute necessity of tendering a formal written request, notwithstanding the absence of a strictly prescribed statutory form. The Court observed the fatal deficiency when an applicant sought supplementary information without formalizing the requisite demand pursuant to Rule 317 of the FCR. Specifically, the Respondent formally notified the Court that it refrained from producing the entirety of the material pertaining to the impugned decision strictly because the procedural formality of Rule 317 was not strictly adhered to by the applicant: Wheeldon v. Canada (Attorney General), 2012 FC 355 (CanLII), at para 15.

VOLUME #1(J): AUTHORITY FOR THE APPLICABILITY OF RULE 317 UNDER AN ATIA REVIEW

60. The standard of correctness is universally applicable in determining the applicability of Rule 317 to a section 44 review under the ATIA, as such an inquiry constitutes a pure question of law (at para 11). A review instituted under section 44 retains the fundamental character of a judicial review, as it invariably scrutinizes the administrative decision-maker's ultimate determination regarding the disclosure of records (at paras 14–15 and 26). The decision itself embodies "the subject of the application," thereby satisfying the strict statutory language and threshold requirements encapsulated within Rule 317 (at para 15): Preventous Collaborative Health v. Canada (Health), 2021 FC 253. By applying this doctrine to the present facts, the failure to produce the required documents transforms the administrative inaction into the direct subject matter of the application, thereby triggering the compulsory production requirements of Rule 317.

VOLUME #2: STATEMENT OF ISSUES

61. The issues are provided herein to ensure that this proceeding is determined in a manner that is just, most expeditious and least expensive outcome of every proceeding with consideration being given to the principle of proportionality, including consideration of the proceeding's complexity, the importance of the issues involved and the amount in 6028 dispute (see: rule 3(a) and (b)) and in the event that there is an objection to some of the material requested the Court has the benefit of the relevant issues:

a. Definitional Parameters under the Privacy Act: Predicated upon the assertion that the RCMP purported to exercise jurisdiction and powers pursuant to the Privacy Act, RSC 1985, c P-21—an Act of Parliament—what is the proper jurisprudential and statutory interpretation of the following operative terms within the context of the present application: i. "Order"; ii. "Material"; and iii. "Relevant".

b. The Legal Doctrine of Possession: Given the absence of an explicit statutory definition of "possession" within the Federal Courts Act, RSC 1985, c F-7, the FCR, or the Interpretation Act, RSC 1985, c I-21, what is the prevailing common law and jurisprudential definition of "possession" specifically as it applies to the production of records in applications before the Federal Court of Canada?

c. Expanded Scope of Disclosure (Rules 317 and 318): To what extent is the legally permissible scope of mandatory disclosure, compelled under Rules 317 and 318 of the FCR, augmented and expanded in circumstances where an applicant explicitly pleads and seeks relief based upon: i. A Writ of Mandamus; ii. A Writ of Prohibition; iii. The reasonable apprehension of bias, existence of a conflict of interest, institutional lack of independence, and/or lack of impartiality; and/or iv. Egregious breaches of the principles of procedural fairness;

d. Subsection 19(1)(d) misguided yet revealing reference:
   i. Principal Issue for Determination:
      1. Whether the invocation of the statutory exemption enumerated within subsection 19(1)(d) of the Privacy Act operates, sub silentio, as an admission of the originating law enforcement agency status of the federal constabulary; and furthermore, whether the totality of the circumstances encompassing the disposition of the subject chattels, the internal reorganization of the federal institution, the alleged documentary irregularities, and the anomalous remuneration of court personnel furnishes a triable inference of systemic procedural manipulation or institutional impropriety.
   ii. Particularized Sub-Issues:
      1. a) Disposition of Chattels and Warrant Protocols: Whether the ostensibly irregular handling of the subject chattels by the municipal police service—specifically, the uncatalogued sequestration thereof within a provisional repository, compounded by ensuing contradictory representations concerning the purported transfer to the Property Evidence Management Unit, and conjoined with the failure to produce an executory warrant of arrest—furnishes sufficient evidentiary weight to support the inference that the federal constabulary, rather than the municipal entity, operated as the primary or originating agency, thereby providing the foundational rationale for the invocation of subsection 19(1)(d).
   iii. b) Institutional Reorganization as Statutory Circumvention:
      1. Whether the redesignation of the federal constabulary's "O" Division to the "Central Region," whilst remaining under the continuous administrative authority of the presiding Regional Commander, is liable to be construed as a deliberate structural realignment executed with the specific intent of satisfying the jurisdictional phrasing contained within subsection 19(1)(d) ("regional government established by... an Institution of such a government"), thereby operating as an artifice to insulate agency records from mandatory disclosure.
   iv. c) Inherent Prejudice to the Governmental Institution (understandable yet non-legal justification for non-disclosure):
      1. Whether, by invoking the aforementioned statutory exemption, it is implicitly conceded by the federal institution that the execution of a comprehensive search would invariably yield specific foundational metadata—comprising the Originating Agency Identifier (ORI), particulars of the issuing tribunal, and the identity of the presiding judicial officer—which would conclusively establish the agency's direct involvement, thereby occasioning inherent prejudice to the institution.

v. d) Alleged Documentary Alteration and Software Exploitation:
    1. In consideration of the publicly documented technical vulnerabilities inherent to the software framework identified as GrapeCity.Documents.PDF 6.0.2.0, whether a balance of probabilities suggests that said framework was utilized to effectuate a systematic obfuscation or manipulation of the primary evidentiary record, thereby converting the Authentic Information Package into the False Information Package.

vi. e) Procedural Irregularities Indicative of Federal Agency Practices:
    1. Whether the particularized errors and omissions identifiable within the False Information Package bear a greater indicia of alignment with the administrative practices of a federal agency operating within a regional framework—an entity arguably lacking the high-volume, routine process-issuing expertise characteristic of municipal police forces—than with those of the municipal police service itself.

vii. f) Probative Inferences Regarding Personnel Remuneration:
    1. What juridical inferences may be properly drawn from the sudden and material escalation in the remuneration of the named Court Officer, propelling said individual to a publicly disclosed threshold of elevated compensation in the year 2025, in immediate sequence to the allegedly unauthorized utilization of her identity as an informant—an averment she purportedly could not traverse upon confrontation. Furthermore, whether this temporal pattern of compensation raises a triable issue as to the possibility that such financial advancement was furnished as a clandestine commission or improper inducement to secure acquiescence to the aforementioned inclusion of her identity.

e. Subsection 22, "Law Enforcement and Investigation": the absence of section 22(1)(a) but the inclusion of 22(1)(b) misguided yet enlightening, illuminating and informative reference:

i. The central issues in this application for judicial review concern the Royal Canadian Mounted Police's (the "RCMP") unlawful withholding of Foundational Metadata and Offline Historical Database records under the Privacy Act, R.S.C. 1985, c. P-21 (the "Act"). Specifically, the issues are framed as follows:
    1. The Jurisdictional Misdirection: Did the RCMP ATIP Branch err in law by declining to invoke the specific exemption under paragraph 22(1)(a) of the Act—which would require identifying itself as an "investigative body" under the Privacy Regulations—and instead relying on paragraph 22(1)(b), thereby assuming an evidentiary burden of proving "injury" that it cannot legally or factually satisfy?
    2. The Failure to Establish a Reasonable Expectation of Injury: Can the disclosure of historical, transactional, or administrative metadata (including CPIC logs, Foundational Metadata, and offline database entries) be reasonably expected to cause "injury" to the enforcement of any law or the conduct of lawful investigations under paragraph 22(1)(b), particularly where the underlying investigation is stale, inactive, or structurally concluded?
    3. The Temporal and Procedural Boundaries of "Investigations": Can the RCMP assert an ongoing investigative character over CPIC transactions that merely log the completion of past, expired, or time-barred administrative processes (such as a summons or arrest warrant), particularly where any potential prosecution is long-concluded or barred under the constitutional ceilings established in R. v. Jordan?
    4. The Mischaracterization of Public Court Records as Confidential Sources: Does paragraph 22(1)(b)(ii) permit the withholding of ministerial metadata (such as Originating Agency [ORI] codes, court levels, court locations, names of judicial officers, or Source Identifiers [SID]) under the guise of protecting a "confidential source," when the informant on a Criminal Code Form 2 Information is a matter of public record post-arrest or post-issuance of process?

5. The Exclusion of Ultra Vires Conduct from "Lawful Investigations": Applying the doctrine of the indivisibility of the Crown (Benedict v. Ontario), can information generated through, or corrupted by, fraudulent manipulation or the compilation of false information packages ever be characterized as "obtained" or "prepared" in the course of a "lawful investigation" under subsection 22(1)?

f. Pre-emptive Resolution of Anticipated Objections (The Establishment of Novel Precedent): In the event the RCMP (the "RCMP Tribunal") neglects its statutory duty to transmit all relevant material to the Registry and the applicant (the "Applicant"), does the present factual matrix warrant the establishment of a novel legal precedent? Specifically, where there exists an underlying allegation of fraud perpetrated by law enforcement in concert with Crown Counsel during a criminal proceeding that is strictly void ab initio, and where a criminal prosecution could not lawfully have been sustained due to the deliberate filing of an admittedly false information package into a transferee courthouse (the Ontario Court of Justice, 10 Armoury Street Courthouse), is the RCMP Tribunal precluded from relying upon spurious legal justifications to outright refuse a requisite search for the Personal Information of the Applicant?

VOLUME #3: LEGAL BASES

VOLUME #3(A): THE OFFICE OF THE PRIVACY COMMISSIONER DETERMINES THE EXTENT OF THE RCMP'S STATUTORY DUTY AND PARAMOUNTCY OF CONTROL OVER MULTI-JURISDICTIONAL ENTRIES WITHIN THE CANADIAN POLICE INFORMATION CENTRE (THE "CPIC")

62. The Office of the Privacy Commissioner of Canada (the "OPCC") previously initiated a comprehensive investigation pertaining to formal complaints registered against the Royal Canadian Mounted Police (the "RCMP") which was titled by the OPCC, Disclosure of information about complainant's attempted suicide to US (United States) Customs and Border Protection not authorized under the Privacy Act (see: https://www.priv.gc.ca/en/opc-actions-and-decisions/investigations/investigations-into-federal-institutions/2016-17/pa_20170419_rcmp/).
63. Said complaints concerned the unauthorized extraterritorial disclosure of personal information (the "Personal Information") regarding an individual's historical medical distress—specifically, a suicide attempt—to the United States Customs and Border Protection (the "CBP"). The impugned data, originally uploaded by the Toronto Police Service (the "TPS") to the CPIC database, was subsequently weaponized by the CBP to formally deny the complainant entry into the United States. The OPCC determined the complaints to be entirely well-founded, conclusively ruling that the dissemination constituted a direct contravention of the Privacy Act, RSC 1985, c P-21, as it satisfied neither the rigid parameters of a valid "law enforcement" exemption nor the doctrine of "consistent use".
64. In November 2013, the complainant was engaged in transnational travel originating from Toronto Pearson International Airport. During the preclearance protocol, CBP agents detained the individual, subjecting her to interrogatory measures predicated upon a historical medical emergency dated June 2012.
65. The complainant was formally deemed inadmissible to the United States pursuant to the Immigration and Nationality Act (United States), predicated strictly upon health-related statutory grounds (specifically, the categorization of a mental disorder allegedly posing a threat to public safety).

The Genesis of the Disclosed Intelligence:

6094. The CBP extracted this sensitive intelligence directly via the CPIC mainframe. The TPS had previously instituted a "Caution flag" denoting "Suicidal Tendencies," running concurrently with a "Special Interest Police" (the "SIP") entry categorized as "Mental Health - Attempted Suicide - Drugs," following their deployment to the complainant's 2012 medical distress incident.
67. Notwithstanding the fact that the TPS physically inputted the data and the CBP acted as the ultimate consumer of said data, the formal complaint was strategically and correctly levied against the RCMP.
68. The RCMP operates as the absolute statutory steward and supreme technological administrator of the CPIC infrastructure. Furthermore, it exercises exclusive jurisdiction over the Memorandum of Cooperation (the "MOC") executed with the Federal Bureau of Investigation, which technically facilitates the access of United States agencies to the CPIC databanks.
69. Consequently, the RCMP is encumbered with the ultimate and inescapable legal responsibility to ensure that any intelligence disseminated to foreign state actors maintains strict adherence to the Privacy Act. Ipso facto, the RCMP is precluded from operating as a mere passive repository or "blind conduit"; rather, it is compelled by law to actively govern, monitor, and regulate the propriety and legality of any data uploaded by ancillary police forces. Invoking the foundational legal maxims authored by Herbert Broom, qui facit per alium facit per se (he who acts through another acts himself) and qui non prohibet quod prohibere potest assentire videtur (he who does not prevent what he has the power to prevent is deemed to assent), the RCMP's failure to actively restrict unlawful data sharing renders it directly culpable for the resultant privacy breaches.

Jurisprudential Analysis and Determinations of the OPCC

70. The determinative legal issue hinged upon whether the extraterritorial transmission of the data to the CBP, absent the explicit consent of the complainant, was legally justifiable pursuant to the stringent statutory exemptions articulated within subsection 8(2) of the Privacy Act.

Analysis of Paragraph 8(2)(f) (Agreements with Foreign States for Law Enforcement):

71. The RCMP advanced the argument that the admissibility screening protocols executed by the CBP inherently constitute a public safety and law enforcement mandate, ostensibly designed to preemptively guard against tangible threats to property or human safety.

The Finding of the Commissioner

72. The OPCC unequivocally ruled that the immigration admissibility assessments conducted by the CBP do not satisfy the rigorous definitional thresholds of "law enforcement" or "criminal justice" within the strict purview of the MOC. The complainant had engaged in no statutory infractions and was subject to no penal sanctions; her activities were strictly limited to international transit. The OPCC firmly established that deeply sensitive health intelligence must exclusively be disseminated to border authorities in circumstances where the individual in question exhibits a demonstrable, empirical threat to public safety.

Analysis of Paragraph 8(2)(a) (The Consistent Use Doctrine):

73. The RCMP averred that leveraging the health data to evaluate transnational public safety aligned consistently with the originating purpose of its collection by the municipal constabulary.
74. The OPCC rejected this premise, finding that the primary operational intent behind the collection of such data by frontline officers is to chronicle localized incidents and ensure the immediate tactical safety of officers and the public during direct, real-time interactions. The utilization of such highly confidential health records for the facilitation of a foreign immigration assessment constitutes an application that an individual could not "reasonably 6032 expect," barring the existence of a clear, present, and imminent danger. Thus, the transmission strictly failed the test for consistent use.

The Intransigence of the RCMP

75. The RCMP formally dissented from the OPCC's findings and outright refused the implementation of the recommended directives. The Tribunal steadfastly maintained the position that the CBP operates as a valid law enforcement entity and that the "SHARE USA" default parameter must remain universally active to theoretically preserve public safety.
76. Notwithstanding the institutional recalcitrance regarding system defaults and the precise lexicon of the policies, the OPCC acknowledged the substantive collateral benefit: the intense scrutiny of the RCMP's architectural administration catalyzed local agencies to unilaterally purge thousands of mental health records from the CPIC network, thereby drastically mitigating the probability of analogous privacy infractions.
77. This inherent limitation encapsulates precisely why the investigative reports generated by the OPCC are not, ipso facto, subject to judicial review per se; the OPCC operates functionally as an ombudsman, authorized to recommend remedial avenues that the impugned Government Institution possesses the discretion to disregard. This structural limitation perfectly mirrors the statutory frameworks of the Personal Information Protection and Electronic Documents Act, SC 2000, c 5 and the Access to Information Act, RSC 1985, c A-1.
78. The Office of the Information Commissioner has some different statutory powers but that is not at issue herein.
79. Conversely, the Privacy Act dictates a markedly more restrictive paradigm concerning an applicant's right to invoke the jurisdiction of the Federal Court of Canada. Adjudicative access is narrowly circumscribed, crystallized specifically when a complainant seeks relief pursuant to section 41 of the Privacy Act following a formal refusal of access. Ergo, the present application for judicial review is correctly and inescapably predicated upon the egregious failure of the RCMP to conduct a requisite search for the Personal Information of the applicant (the "Applicant") pursuant to his formally submitted Access Request (dated March 11, 2026), and the concomitant failure of the Head of the RCMP to execute the mandatory statutory contemplation mandated under subsection 8(2) of the Privacy Act.

VOLUME #3(A)(I): SUMMARY OF JURISPRUDENTIAL EFFECT REGARDING THE INPUTTING OF FALSE OR INACCURATE DATA INTO CPIC BY ANY LAW ENFORCEMENT APPARATUS

80. The OPCC's determinations establish an irrevocable precedent: the RCMP is strictly prohibited from operating as a passive host or "blind conduit" for intelligence contributed by external police forces. Given its paramount structural and administrative role, the RCMP is legally bound to exercise an active, governing supremacy over all Personal Information transiting the national infrastructure.
81. The jurisprudential rationale underpinning the OPCC's findings is delineated into the following determinative principles:
    - a. The Doctrine of Sufficient Control
        - i. The OPCC explicitly concluded that the quantum of control exercised by the RCMP over the CPIC mainframe is unequivocally sufficient to trigger the robust protections of section 8 of the Privacy Act. Even in circumstances where a municipal entity, such as the TPS, originated the data upload and maintained nominal carriage of their localized investigative file (denoted by an occurrence number), the Commissioner of the RCMP remains the ultimate, non-delegable authority accountable for the administration, operation, and statutory compliance of the overarching system.
            1. Herein, it is a matter of evidentiary record that at least one of the specific case identification numbers associated with the impugned records is demonstrably not attributable to the TPS; namely, Police Case ID: 457197 (visibly stamped upon the upper right-hand quadrant of the admitted False Information Package). Both the TPS and the Ontario Provincial Police (the "OPP") have formally and unequivocally disclaimed any jurisdictional relation to said case identification number, a repudiation which logically and necessarily leaves the RCMP as the sole remaining institutional custodian.

Paramount Stewardship of the Bilateral Agreement

82. Predicated upon the fact that the RCMP acts as the exclusive Canadian signatory to the MOC executed with the Federal Bureau of Investigation, the OPCC ruled that the RCMP bears the sole, non-transferable burden of ensuring that any cross-border intelligence dissemination strictly comports with both the MOC and the domestic imperatives of Canadian privacy legislation.

The Imperative for Active Policy and Architectural Safeguards

83. The OPCC profoundly criticized the RCMP's legally bereft posture that the onus of statutory compliance rests entirely upon the contributing municipal or provincial agencies. The OPCC firmly established that the RCMP must actively engineer the CPIC policies, user protocols, and foundational technical defaults to preemptively neutralize the potential for unauthorized data proliferation.
84. 30. By way of specific illustration, the OPCC mandated that the RCMP restructure the technical baseline of the system's "SHARE USA" feature to automatically suppress the transmission of deeply sensitive health data, rather than permitting dissemination to function as the unexamined default parameter.
85. 31. This precise conflict crystallizes the overarching precedent: while the RCMP attempts to shield itself behind the facade of a collaborative, decentralized system where localized forces "own" their respective data, the OPCC definitively ruled that supreme architectural stewardship equates inextricably to absolute legal accountability. To achieve compliance with the Privacy Act, the RCMP must actively audit, regulate, and restrict the manner in which both domestic and foreign agencies interface with the databanks under its sovereign control.

VOLUME #3(B): THE NOVEL LEGAL ISSUES FORMULATED FOR ADJUDICATION

86. The novel legal controversies presented for adjudication herein are robust and multifaceted. It is axiomatic that these issues fundamentally engage the broader public interest, extending far beyond the immediate evasive tactics deployed against the Applicant, and possess central, systemic importance to the integrity of the administration of justice. The resolution of these distinct, untested issues will be effortlessly achieved upon the compulsory transmission of the certified tribunal record (the "CTR") to both the Federal Court of Canada and the Applicant. The subsequent enumeration is strictly illustrative, explicitly provided to pre-empt and neutralize any unnecessary, frivolous, or meritless objections the Respondent may attempt to mount under Rule 318 of the Federal Courts Rules, SOR/98-106 (the "FCR").

The First Novel and Untested Issue

87. A primary determinative issue hinges upon whether the originating data sequence inputted into the CPIC repository—irrespective of the specific law enforcement agency acting as the originating terminal, whether acting as a principal or an agent, and under whatever alphanumeric case identification number—materially mirrored the contents of the admitted False Information Package. Should the inputted data align with said package, the Applicant is undeniably entitled to its disclosure as his proprietary Personal Information, notwithstanding the fact that the underlying data is demonstrably false and fabricated: Lawson v. Accusearch Inc., 2007 FC 125.

The Second Novel and Untested Issue

88. The subsequent issue necessitates an inquiry into whether the initial data matrix entered into CPIC—specifically referencing a "warrant in the first" and the identifier "MCLEAN, Kevin"—was structurally accurate at the precise moment of inception, irrespective of the underlying, contested merits of the "Ex Parte In Camera Hearing" or the purportedly valid INTAKE COURT ENDORSEMENT (dated September 23, 2024). Crucially, the Court must determine if this data was subsequently subjected to post-hoc amendment, either prior to or immediately following 6034 the physical arrest of the Applicant. If the metadata was technically correct at the first instance, but later strategically altered to forcefully synchronize with the relevant data points required by CPIC (specifically the Foundational Metadata, encompassing the Originating Agency Identifier (the "ORI"); the designated issuing authority or "court field"; the remarks/narrative field; and the System Identification Number (the "SID") generated upon entry), such alterations constitute a profound abuse of process. Collectively, these elements are categorized as the foundational data elements comprising a "WANT record".

89. It is submitted as a highly probable extrapolation that the originating law enforcement agency, designated by the initial ORI, was not the identical agency that subsequently executed the surreptitious amendments to the WANT record. These potential, unauthorized systemic alterations encompass four distinct vectors of modification:
    a. The deliberate modification or reassignment of the ORI, falsely transferring jurisdictional appearance to a separate police service;
    b. The structural alteration of the jurisprudential authority or "court field" to legitimize an otherwise void ab initio warrant;
    c. The substantive revision of the remarks or narrative field to retroactively justify the apprehension of the Applicant; and
    d. The systemic desynchronization or reallocation of the SID, designed to obfuscate the original timestamp and audit trail of the fabricated entry.
90. The forensic veracity of these administrative maneuvers—and the exposure of the underlying malfeasance—can only be illuminated through a rigorous examination of the automated hexadecimal transaction logs and sequence trails. Consequently, this determination can solely be achieved through the unmitigated disclosure of the Applicant's Personal Information, which is definitively housed within a Personal Information Bank (the "PIB") and remains under the absolute control and constructive possession of the centralized federal repository.

VOLUME #3(C): THE JURISPRUDENTIAL DOCTRINE OF POSSESSION UNDER THE FEDERAL COURT RULES

91. A masterful comprehension of the legal doctrine of "possession" is absolutely paramount when navigating the FCR, specifically concerning the mandatory production of documentary evidence. This doctrine governs both the general discovery apparatus (Rules 222-223) and, crucially, the compulsory transmission of tribunal records under Rule 317.

The Definition of Possession in the Strict Context of Rule 317

92. Rule 317 of the FCR vests an applicant in a judicial review proceeding with the absolute right to requisition material relevant to the application that resides within the possession of the impugned Tribunal.
93. 73. Within the architecture of the FCR, the concept of "possession" vehemently rejects the archaic limitation of mere physical custody. The appellate jurisprudence has consistently expanded "possession" to broadly encompass the legal right, authority, or institutional ability to procure the document. While the FCR omits a rigid definitional clause for "possession," the overwhelming weight of document production jurisprudence establishes that it strictly incorporates:
    a. Actual Possession: The immediate, physical custody of the document; and
    b. Constructive Power or Control: Vesting the entity with the absolute right or jurisdictional authority to demand and obtain the document, irrespective of its immediate physical locale.

94. Consequently, for the purposes of Rule 317, if a Tribunal possesses the overarching legal right or technical capacity to access relevant data, that material is definitively deemed to be in its "possession" for production purposes, even if the physical servers or archives are geographically displaced.

The Tripartite Categorization of Possession

95. In advanced civil procedure, possession is jurisprudentially categorized into three distinct operational forms:
    a. Sole Possession:
        i. Definition: The most absolute iteration of possession. It manifests when a singular entity exercises exclusive physical custody and administrative dominion over a record.
            1. If the Tribunal maintains the singular physical iteration of a memorandum within its immediate administrative confines, it exercises sole possession.
            2. The Tribunal retains the exclusive, unfettered right to utilize, manipulate, and produce the material.
    b. Joint Possession
        i. Definition: This formulation arises when two or more distinct entities share physical custody, administrative access, or control over a record, resulting in a shared, indivisible right to possess the material.
        ii. Application:
            1. In circumstances where the RCMP and an external municipal police force mutually interact with a shared digital architecture (such as CPIC), both entities may exercise Joint Possession over the underlying data matrices. In the realm of document production, shared possession with a non-party does not immunize the party from production; they remain legally compelled to produce the material or actively seek the requisite consent, as their legal right to the document remains absolute.
    c. Constructive Possession
        i. Definition: This represents the most expansive and vital formulation of possession. It dictates that an entity holds possession when it lacks immediate physical containment of the material, yet wields the de jure legal right, institutional power, or technical authority to requisition and obtain it.
        ii. Application: This doctrine frequently serves as the epicenter of contentious document production litigation. If the RCMP archives its historical data utilizing external federal infrastructure but retains the sovereign right to demand the extraction of those logs at will, the RCMP is irrevocably bound by Constructive Possession. Similarly, if records are held by a delegated agent or legal counsel, the principal entity maintains Constructive Possession because it exercises the power of directive over the agent. Rule 317 Implications: A Tribunal is strictly legally barred from resisting a Rule 317 request by pleading an absence of physical custody if it possesses the statutory or administrative authority to compel the retrieval of the document from its current host. The RCMP is not seeking that an independent contractor provide its backup tapes but rather it is a demand unto itself if you will.

VOLUME #3(D): A COMPARATIVE LINGUISTIC ANALYSIS OF THE RCMP'S DECISIONS (THE HALTON POLICE CASE VS. THE MCLEAN RCMP PROCEEDING)

Volume #3(D)(I): The RCMP Decision in the Halton Police FIPPA Case

96. To illuminate the institutional bad faith and strategic linguistic manipulation deployed by the RCMP herein, the Applicant heavily relies upon a comparative analysis of the strikingly similar, yet critically divergent, language utilized by the RCMP in Halton Regional Police Services Board (Re), 2024 CanLII 67092 (ON IPC) (the "Halton Police Case"). In the Halton Police Case, Adjudicator Faughnan, presiding under the Municipal Freedom of Information and Protection of Privacy Act, RSO 1990, c M.56 (the "MFIPPA"), reproduced the RCMP's formal refusal letter at paragraph four, which stated:

> "This is in response to your request made under the Privacy Act, which was received by this office on March 2, 2015, in which you are seeking a report of all inquiries made by any officer/civilian member of any Canadian or USA police force since 1970 under your identifiers including any inquiries made on CPIC/PARAS."

6036 Based on the information provided, a search for records was conducted. Be advised that we can neither confirm nor deny the existence of the information requested. If the information did exist, it would be subject to exemption in its entirety pursuant to Paragraph 22(1)(b) of the Privacy Act...

The Privacy Act has established the right of applicants to access federally maintained records which contain personal information concerning themselves. If you were involved with another police department or service, they may have information that concerns you. The Privacy Act does not authorize the RCMP to search files or to disclose information belonging to other police forces."

Volume #3(D)(II): The Distinctions Possessing Profound Legal Significance

Volume #3(D)(II)(a): The Execution of a "Search for Records"

97. In the Halton Police Case, the RCMP formally averred that "a search for records was conducted," utilizing the term without limitation. The term "record" lacks a precise definition under the Privacy Act, contrasting sharply with the Access to Information Act which broadly defines it as "any documentary material, regardless of medium or form."
98. Conversely, in the present proceeding (the "McLean RCMP Proceeding"), the RCMP artificially narrowed its purview, strictly representing that a search was conducted solely within "CPIC and Specialized Policing Services"—despite the Applicant explicitly demanding a search of the Foundational Metadata and Offline Historical Database.

Volume #3(D)(II)(b): The Deployment and Subsequent Waiver of the "Neither Confirm Nor Deny" Shield

99. In the Halton Police Case, the RCMP explicitly deployed the powerful statutory shield of section 16(2), stating it could "neither confirm nor deny" the existence of the requested intelligence. In stark contrast, the RCMP completely abandoned this shield in the McLean RCMP Proceeding.

The Legal Ramifications of Waiving Section 16(2):

100. The mechanism of Section 16(2) permits a Government Institution to completely obfuscate the existence of a record, an extraordinary measure designed to preserve the sanctity of active, highly sensitive investigations. The author of the RCMP decision in the McLean RCMP Proceeding explicitly chose not to invoke this provision.
101. The Legal Import: By declining to invoke Section 16(2) in limine, the RCMP legally waived its right to obfuscate the existence of the records. Because it failed to issue an NCND response, the RCMP is now irrevocably tethered to its specifically cited exemptions (Sections 19, 22, and 26).
102. Should the Respondent attempt to argue during these proceedings that the existence of the requested Metadata is hypothetical or that confirming its existence would compromise investigative integrity, such an objection is a strict nullity. The Respondent has preemptively waived this protection and cannot retroactively reconstruct a Section 16(2) shield to evade production under Rule 317. It chose the route it did by granting itself an extension of time and it could have amended its decision from April 27, 2026, and the record will reflect that the Applicant provided it with opportunity to do so but it declined.
103. Consequently, the RCMP is legally estopped from asserting that the Personal Information sought is immune from basic acknowledgment before this Honourable Court. It falls under the principle at least by analogy from Turigan v. Alberta, ABCA, 1988, involving "estoppel by record".

Volume #3(D)(II)(c): The Strategic Erasure of "Concerning Themselves"

104. In the Halton Police Case, the RCMP stated, "The Privacy Act has established the right of applicants to access federally maintained records which contain personal information concerning themselves." Alarmingly, in the McLean RCMP Proceeding, the RCMP deliberately truncated this sentence, stating merely, "The Privacy Act 6037 has established the right of applicants to access federally maintained records," entirely deleting the reference to Personal Information.

105. This surgical erasure is not benign; it perfectly substantiates the Applicant's assertion regarding the Foundational Metadata. Under Section 3 of the Privacy Act, "personal information" unequivocally encompasses transaction histories and assigned identifying numbers. By deliberately removing the qualifier "concerning themselves," the RCMP attempted to linguistically sever its statutory duty to track biographical metadata logs, unlawfully recharacterizing the underlying server operations as mere "federal administrative records" exempt from the Applicant's reach.

Volume #3(D)(II)(d): Misinterpretations Regarding Authorization and Ownership

106. In the Halton Police Case, the RCMP hypothesized, "If you were involved with another police department... they may have information that concerns you." In the McLean RCMP Proceeding, the RCMP shifted to an operative past-tense certainty: "If this matter concerned another police department... The Privacy Act does not authorize the RCMP to search files or to disclose information belonging to other police forces."

107. 99. The hypothetical "If" in the Halton matter was logical, as the requestor sought fifty years of generalized data. Herein, the Applicant demanded highly specific, targeted access to Personal Information directly indexed under Police Case ID: 457197—an identifier formally disavowed by both the TPS and the OPP. The RCMP's assertion that it lacks "authorization" to search its own sovereign database for records that do not "belong" to other forces is a profound misstatement of law.

VOLUME #4: WITHOUT A SEARCH, CORRECTION RIGHTS CEASE TO EXIST AS LEGISLATED BY PARLIAMENT

VOLUME #4(A): PERSONAL INFORMATION IS AKIN TO ONE'S OWNERSHIP

108. It is a well-settled jurisprudential axiom that Rule 317 of the FCR does not demand that the requested material be legally "owned" by the administrative Tribunal, nor does it require exclusive, physical geographic custody. The singular, uncompromising statutory threshold is that the material resides within the "possession" of the Tribunal.

109. Furthermore, relying upon established jurisprudence (such as the determinations of Mr. Justice Tysoe in the Supreme Court of British Columbia in Mazhero), the Personal Information of an applicant is inherently "owned" by the applicant themselves—it emphatically does not legally "belong" to other police forces, regardless of their status as the originating agency.

110. In Atlantic Prudence Maritime Inc. v. Canada (Minister of Transport), 1983 2 FC 183 (FCA) (the "Atlantic Prudence Decision"), the Federal Court of Appeal conclusively established that possession within the context of administrative record production must be subjected to a highly practical, functional interpretation, firmly rejecting the archaic constraints of narrow property concepts. The appellate court unequivocally ruled that a Tribunal is strictly prohibited from evading its production obligations by advancing the specious claim that records are "owned" by third parties, provided those records were relied upon, hosted, or technically accessible by the Tribunal in the execution of its administrative mandate.

111. 103. This overarching principle was subsequently codified and expanded in Canada (Attorney General) v. Cloutier, 2008 FC 322 (the "Cloutier Decision"). The Federal Court definitively held that material housed within an electronic database accessible by a government institution constitutes absolute possession for the strict purposes of a Rule 317 request. The Court forcefully rejected the obsolete notion that electronic data must be physically manifested in print or localized within a specific geographic office to be "possessed," holding that technological accessibility acts as the absolute functional and legal equivalent of possession.

VOLUME #4(B): CONSTRUCTIVE AND JOINT POSSESSION WITHIN DECENTRALIZED DATABASE ARCHITECTURES

112. Under the doctrine of Constructive Possession, an entity holds possession of material whenever it exercises the legal right, administrative power, or technological capacity to command its retrieval, completely independent of physical containment. In the modern administrative apparatus, data is perpetually decentralized across complex virtual architectures. To restrict the definition of possession to physical, paper-based custody would render the operation of Rule 317 an archaic and absolute nullity (the "Nullity").

113. 105. The CPIC database represents a colossal, centralized national infrastructure. While municipal entities input localized intelligence via their discrete ORIs, the foundational technological mainframe, the database schema, and the physical server arrays are owned, operated, and exclusively maintained by the RCMP. The interaction between the RCMP and external police forces does not constitute total operational separation; rather, it manifests as a textbook paradigm of Joint Possession over the transactional metadata.

114. 106. When an external law enforcement agency instantiates a WANT Record into CPIC, that specific data matrix is instantly ingested into a database strictly hosted upon federal servers. The corresponding transactional logs, sequence trails, and hexadecimal dumps are automatically and autonomously generated by the federal system architecture itself. The RCMP holds the supreme administrative credentials, the systemic audit tools, and the absolute physical dominion over the server farms required to extract this intelligence. Consequently, the raw forensic mainframe ledger records sought by the Applicant reside indisputably within the Constructive Possession of the RCMP.

VOLUME #4(C): THE RCMP AS THE PARAMOUNT CUSTODIAN AND SOVEREIGN ADMINISTRATIVE STEWARD

115. In Canada (Information Commissioner) v. Minister of National Defence, 2011 SCC 25 (the "National Defence Decision"), the Supreme Court of Canada formulated a rigid bipartite test to determine whether a government institution exercises control over records for statutory production purposes:

a. First, does the record relate to a substantive departmental matter?
b. Second, could the institution reasonably expect to obtain a copy of the record upon executing a request?

116. Although the National Defence Decision was adjudicated under the Access to Information Act, its foundational logic applies a fortiori to the legal concept of possession encapsulated within Rule 317. The administration, forensic auditing, and structural security of the CPIC infrastructure are indisputably departmental matters under the exclusive purview of the RCMP. As the sovereign national steward of CPIC, the RCMP possesses the absolute, unassailable legal and technical right to obtain, audit, and extract any record residing within its own database.

117. 109. This conclusion is explicitly supported by provincial adjudicative bodies. As noted in the Halton Police Case, the Information and Privacy Commissioner of Ontario definitively ruled that municipal police boards possess neither custody nor control over the CPIC Offline Historical Database. Because these offline archives are managed with absolute exclusivity by the RCMP, any legal demand for historical transaction logs must be directed solely to the federal institution.

VOLUME #4(D): THE ABSOLUTE NULLITY OF THE "THIRD-PARTY OWNERSHIP" DEFENSE

118. Any anticipated attempt by the Respondent to resist the compulsory production mandates of Rule 317 by falsely characterizing the requested transaction logs and hexadecimal dumps as "belonging" to other police forces is a profound legal absurdity. A transaction log is emphatically not an investigative narrative report, nor does it encompass proprietary, third-party tactical intelligence. It is purely administrative Metadata—an automated, machine-generated chronicle of the systemic operations (acta) of the federal mainframe itself. The unique system identification numbers, the ORIs, the hardware terminal addresses, and the microsecond timestamps are intrinsic, systemic properties belonging exclusively to the CPIC platform. They constitute the indisputable administrative footprint of state action. If an arrest warrant was subjected to illicit, post-hoc digital modification—specifically via 6039 the unauthorized exploitation of the GrapeCity SDK API—the transaction logs represent the singular, immutable evidentiary matrix proving that alteration. The deliberate suppression of this critical Metadata by the Respondent, disguised beneath the specious veil of inter-agency confidentiality, constitutes an administrative omission that is an absolute Nullity ab initio, emphatically not a curable irregularity (the "Irregularity"). This obstruction directly and fatally contravenes the statutory purpose of subsection 12(1) of the Privacy Act and fundamentally frustrates the compulsory production mechanics of Rule 317. The state is strictly prohibited from deploying the complexity of its own decentralized database architecture as a jurisprudential shield to conceal administrative malfeasance or ultra vires jurisdictional overreach.

VOLUME #4(E): THE STATUTORY ABSURDITY AND THE FRUSTRATION OF CORRECTION RIGHTS UNDER SUBSECTION 12(2) OF THE PRIVACY ACT

119. Pursuant to subsection 12(2) of the Privacy Act, an individual granted access to personal information utilized for an administrative purpose is statutorily vested with the affirmative right to request a correction of said information, mandate the attachment of a formal notation if the correction is refused, and compel the notification of these amendments to any entity that received the data within the preceding two years.

120. The posture adopted by the Respondent herein—specifically, the legally specious assertion that it lacks the authorization to search, retrieve, or disclose data inputted into its sovereign infrastructure by ancillary police forces—engineers a profound statutory absurdity (the "Statutory Absurdity").

121. If the RCMP is legally permitted to abdicate its overarching search obligations beneath the guise of "third-party ownership," it ipso facto obliterates the Applicant's fundamental statutory right to subsequently request the correction of admittedly false or materially inaccurate intelligence housed within the CPIC database. A requestor cannot correct that which the paramount custodian outright refuses to locate.

122. This administrative sleight of hand effectively insulates both the centralized repository and the originating municipal police forces from statutory accountability. Should this Honourable Court validate the RCMP's restrictive interpretation, an individual maliciously targeted by the fabrication of a False Information Package would be permanently saddled with fraudulent data operating actively within the nation's premier law enforcement repository. This permanent taint constitutes an ongoing, egregious violation of fundamental justice.

123. It is a foundational tenet of statutory interpretation that the law does not permit a party to benefit from its own administrative malfeasance (nullus commodum capere potest de injuria sua propria). Furthermore, jurisprudential doctrine strictly forbids a reading of a statute that renders a remedial provision—such as the correction rights enshrined in subsection 12(2)—meaningless or illusory (interpretatio fienda est ut res magis valeat quam pereat, an interpretation must be adopted so that the provision may have effect rather than fail). The RCMP cannot strategically interpret section 12(1) (access) in a manner that entirely nullifies section 12(2) (correction).

124. Nota Bene: Should the Respondent attempt to argue that any correction request must instead be directed to the originating municipal or provincial agency, such an argument is fundamentally and irreparably flawed ab initio. Municipal police boards are explicitly excluded from the purview of the federal Privacy Act. More critically, a municipal entity does not possess the sovereign administrative credentials, the requisite system-wide database access, or the structural authority to execute CPIC metadata notations or mandate downstream notifications across the federal infrastructure. The RCMP, functioning as the supreme technological custodian, remains the sole entity legally and technically capable of executing the statutory mandate commanded by subsection 12(2).

Volume #4(E)(I): The Paramountcy of the Initial Search and the "Meaningful Exercise" of Subsection 12(2)

125. It is a foundational legal axiom that the invocation of the remedial correction rights enshrined within subsection 12(2) of the Privacy Act is strictly predicated upon the antecedent execution of a comprehensive search. Stated with stark precision: the realization of statutory rights initiates exclusively with a search. By refusing to proactively interrogate the Foundational Metadata and the Offline Historical Database—repositories over which 6040 the RCMP exercises absolute constructive possession—the RCMP Tribunal entirely and structurally paralyzes the Applicant's capacity to exercise his statutory entitlements.

126. In Canada (Information Commissioner) v. Canada (Minister of Citizenship and Immigration), 2002 FCA 270 (CanLII), 2003 1 FC 219 (the "Information Commissioner Decision"), the Federal Court of Appeal conclusively established the parameters safeguarding the effective operation of subsection 12(2). The appellate court ruled that the excessive severance or redaction of records, which renders the resulting disclosure incomprehensible, fundamentally undermines the "meaningful exercise" of the correction rights granted under subsection 12(2) (at para 10).

127. Applying the deductive logic of the Information Commissioner Decision a fortiori to the present factual matrix: if the provision of severely redacted information illegally frustrates the meaningful exercise of subsection 12(2), then the Respondent's outright, institutional refusal to even conduct a preliminary search constitutes an absolute evisceration of those identical rights ab initio.

Volume #4(E)(II): The Competing Interests and the Disclosure of Authorizing Identities (Paragraphs 3(g) and 3(i))

128. A central determination in the Information Commissioner Decision was the resolution of competing statutory interests concerning the disclosure of third-party identities under paragraphs 3(g) and 3(i) of the Privacy Act. The Federal Court of Appeal explicitly ruled that a requester's significant private interest in clearing their name in the public domain invariably supersedes a third party's minimal interest in anonymity (at paras 31 and 33). Fairness in administrative inquiries dictates that adverse actions or unfavourable views cannot remain secret and strictly unchallengeable (at para 34).

129. The Applicant herein maintains a profound, legally cognizable interest in clearing his name across the national law enforcement infrastructure, an objective partially realized but requiring further unmitigated disclosure. The singular avenue to definitively establish the falsity of the CPIC data requires the disclosure of the specific authorizing entities—namely, the issuing judicial officers—embedded within the WANT record.

130. Pursuant to the Information Commissioner Decision, the names of the authorizing or issuing jurists fall squarely within the purview of paragraph 3(i) of the Privacy Act (the name of an individual where it appears with other personal information relating to the individual, or where the disclosure of the name itself would reveal information about the individual).

131. Crucially, this disclosure imperative strictly encompasses the name of the ostensibly fictitious Justice of the Peace, "George Jiri," irrespective of the fact that said individual did not physically execute the data upload. The identities of the actors (real or fabricated) authorizing the state's action against the Applicant constitute "views or opinions about the individual" under paragraph 3(g) and are thus inextricably embedded within the Applicant's own Personal Information.

132. Nota Bene: The Respondent is pre-emptively estopped from asserting that a refusal to search is justified to protect the privacy interests of the municipal officers or jurists named within the CPIC warrant metadata. As the Federal Court of Appeal unequivocally held, a generalized "chilling effect" or a promise of confidentiality cannot override the statutory duty to disclose, particularly when the requester seeks to challenge fundamentally flawed or unchallengeable state actions (at paras 11-12, 34).

133. Finally, given the high probability that the False Information Package was disseminated to ancillary government institutions—potentially both domestic and foreign—the Applicant possesses an unassailable statutory right to ascertain the precise nature of the uploaded data. This knowledge is an absolute requisite to compelling the downstream notifications mandated by clause 12(2)(c). The RCMP Tribunal's refusal to search acts as a deliberate blockade, shielding downstream consumers of fabricated intelligence from statutory correction.

VOLUME #4(F): THE OPERATIONAL EXCLUSIVITY OF "OFF-LINE SEARCHES" AND THE REDUCTIO AD ABSURDUM OF DELEGATED CONTROL

134. It is a matter of established administrative record and judicial notice that municipal and provincial law enforcement apparatuses are strictly precluded from independently executing "off-line searches" within the CPIC

6041 infrastructure. This systemic limitation was explicitly chronicled by the Information and Privacy Commissioner of Ontario in Halton Regional Police Services Board (Re), 2024 CanLII 67092 (ON IPC), relying upon the foundational analysis articulated within Order MO-1446.

135. As delineated within Order MO-1446, while ancillary police departments may possess terminal access for standard queries, an "off-line search"—a forensic mechanism utilized to process and extract deep-archive computer records—mandates the explicit submission of a formal request to the RCMP. It is only subsequent to the RCMP's unilateral approval and physical execution of said search that the generated results are formally transmitted to the requesting agency.

136. Crucially, the adjudicator determined that the extracted search results crystallize into a record within the custody and control of the municipal police department strictly upon their receipt of the finalized data from the federal repository.

137. Utilizing an advanced legal syllogism, this operational architecture yields an incontrovertible conclusion: if municipal police forces are themselves entirely reliant upon the RCMP to physically access and extract data from the Offline Historical Database, then the RCMP inherently possesses absolute, unassailable custody and control over the foundational archival intelligence. To countenance the Respondent's prevailing posture—that the Applicant is legally barred from requisitioning his own Personal Information directly from the RCMP because said data ostensibly "belongs" to external police forces—engineers a profound reductio ad absurdum. It is a legal impossibility for an external police force to "own" or exercise paramount control over a historical dataset to which they lack direct, independent access.

138. Nota Bene: Consequently, the RCMP remains the singular, inescapable statutory custodian capable of discharging the search and production obligations mandated by the Privacy Act and Rule 317. Any assertion by the Respondent that the Applicant must uniquely pursue municipal agencies to secure off-line CPIC logs is a deceptive administrative deflection, entirely devoid of operational reality and legal merit.

VOLUME #4(G): THE JURISPRUDENCE OF "CONTROL": THE RIGHT OF DEMAND AND THE PURPOSIVE INTERPRETATION OF ACCESS LEGISLATION

Volume #4(G)(I): The Broad, Liberal, and Purposive Interpretation of Control

139. The jurisprudential conception of "control" under federal access to information legislation commands a remarkably broad, liberal, and purposive interpretation, strictly divorced from archaic notions of physical property or immediate custody.

140. In Canada Post Corp. v. Canada (Minister of Public Works), 1995 CanLII 3574 (FCA) (the "Canada Post Decision"), the Federal Court of Appeal definitively rejected restrictive, proprietary constraints upon the statutory definition of control. Articulating the binding precedent on behalf of the appellate court, Létourneau J.A. held at page 245:

> "The notion of control referred to in the Act is left undefined and unlimited. Parliament did not see fit to distinguish between ultimate and immediate, full and partial, transient and lasting, or 'de jure' and 'de facto' control. Had Parliament intended to qualify and restrict the notion of control to the power to dispose of the information, as suggested by the appellant, it could certainly have done so by limiting the citizen's right of access only to those documents that the government can dispose of or which are under the lasting or ultimate control of the government."

Volume #4(G)(II): The Binding Precedent of Hale v. Ontario (Criminal Code Review Board)

141. This expansive interpretive doctrine formulated by the Federal Court of Appeal was explicitly adopted and fortified by the Court of Appeal for Ontario in Ontario (Criminal Code Review Board) v. Hale, 1999 CanLII 3805 (ON CA) (the "Hale Decision").

142. The Hale Decision concerned a highly analogous statutory access request. The requesters sought access to backup audio tapes created and physically retained by a court reporter. Crucially, the court reporter was not an employee, but an independent contractor engaged on a fee-for-service basis by the Ontario Criminal Code Review 6042 Board (the "Review Board"). The Review Board and the court reporter formally resisted production, vehemently arguing that the backup tapes were created strictly as a personal aide-mémoire for the reporter, remained within the exclusive physical custody of the contractor, and were therefore not under the "control" of the Review Board.

143. The Court of Appeal for Ontario fundamentally rejected this evasion. Justice O'Connor, writing for the unanimous court, ruled that control is not contingent upon immediate physical possession or strict ownership. Rather, because the Review Board operated under a statutory mandate to keep an accurate record of its proceedings, it inherently possessed the right to demand access to the independent contractor's backup tapes to verify accuracy. The appellate court unequivocally held that the institutional legal right to make a future demand for the records satisfies the statutory threshold of "control," thereby compelling production.

Volume #4(G)(III): Application to the Present Factual Matrix: Offline Historical Data and Amended, Purged Records

144. Applying the binding jurisprudential logic of both the Canada Post Decision and the Hale Decision a fortiori to the present factual matrix yields an unassailable legal conclusion. The Applicant herein seeks access to off-line historical data, encompassing the original iterations of the inputted CPIC intelligence, alongside any subsequent unauthorized amendments, systemic purging, or operational alterations executed upon the WANT record.

145. If an administrative tribunal (such as the Review Board) is deemed by an appellate court to exercise absolute control over the independently created and personally housed backup tapes of an arm's-length private contractor—predicated exclusively upon the tribunal's right to demand those records for verification—the conclusion regarding the RCMP is infinitely stronger.

146. The RCMP is not interacting with an arm's-length contractor; it is the sovereign administrator of its own technological infrastructure. The offline historical metadata resides within the RCMP's own proprietary server arrays. The RCMP possesses the supreme, unmitigated statutory and administrative right to demand, extract, and audit the historical and purged data matrices generated within its own systems.

147. Nota Bene: Should the Respondent attempt to artificially distinguish between active terminal data "belonging" to local police and offline historical data, such a distinction is a jurisprudential nullity. The RCMP's unquestionable authority to demand and extract the offline historical data establishes immediate, incontrovertible control. To suggest that the paramount federal law enforcement agency lacks control over the historical audit logs generated entirely within its own sovereign database is a legal absurdity that offends the liberal and purposive interpretative mandate established by the Federal Court of Appeal.

VOLUME #4(H): THE JURISPRUDENTIAL SIGNIFICANCE OF THE UNSOLICITED INQUIRY INTO SPECIALIZED POLICING SERVICES AND THE INVOLUNTARY INSTITUTIONAL ADMISSION OF CENTRALIZED SYSTEMIC MANIPULATION

Volume #4(H)(I): The Inference and the "Data Trigger"

148. The explicit and unsolicited inclusion of the Specialized Policing Services (the "SPS") within the formal decision letter executed by the Respondent—specifically, via Mr. Jeff Ball—notwithstanding the absolute absence of any such request by the Applicant, precipitates a jurisprudential inference of monumental proportion. This unsolicited inclusion functions as an involuntary institutional admission that the Applicant's dossier migrated entirely beyond the jurisdictional boundaries of standard divisional detachments, becoming inextricably embedded within the RCMP's paramount national operational and technological command.

149. Pursuant to the strict operational strictures governing the Privacy Act, an Access to Information and Privacy (the "ATIP") directorate is strictly prohibited from executing arbitrary or exploratory searches within branches fundamentally disconnected from the parameters of a specific request. The federal ATIP apparatus exclusively interrogates specific Personal Information Banks (the "PIBs") when an initial intake assessment or an automated algorithmic database query affirmatively flags the existence of records within that distinct repository.

6043 150. Consequently, the explicit institutional declaration that an SPS search was effectuated unambiguously exposes the Respondent's internal evidentiary trail. It constitutes an irrefutable "Data Trigger": upon querying the Applicant's initial identifiers, the centralized mainframe did not merely isolate a routine, localized police occurrence. Rather, the systemic query unequivocally triggered a definitive hit tethered directly to an elite program or high-level database administered under the sovereign, national umbrella of the SPS

Volume #4(H)(II): The Proverbial "Pandora's Box" and the MESCIUS / GrapeCity SDK Software Connection

151. The jurisprudential ramifications of this involuntary institutional admission operate akin to the opening of a proverbial Pandora's Box, fundamentally fortifying and entirely legitimizing the Applicant's parallel requests instituted under the Access to Information Act concerning the deployment and unauthorized manipulation of MESCIUS and GrapeCity SDK software architectures.

152. As meticulously chronicled within the RCMP National System Architecture and Specialized Operational Support Manuals, the SPS is precisely the paramount federal directorate entrusted with the ownership, administration, and architectural construction of the RCMP's centralized, high-technology infrastructure. This sprawling mandate explicitly encompasses the CPIC mainframe itself, the Canadian Firearms Program, and the National Cybercrime Coordination center (the "NC3").

153. Therefore, the ATIP directorate was compelled to search the SPS for a singular, inescapable administrative reason: the SPS serves as the exclusive federal locus where the server-side document compilation logs and the forensic metadata manipulation sequence trails physically and electronically reside

Volume #4(H)(III): The Statutory Validation via the Treasury Board of Canada

154. This operational reality is further cemented by the Treasury Board of Canada's official Info Source publication, which formally registers and delineates the legal parameters of PIB RCMP PPU 005.This registration operates as the definitive, unassailable legal proof that the Offline Historical Database is inextricably bound to the federal statutory jurisdiction exercised by the SPS, rendering any overarching claim of "third-party ownership" over these specific architectural logs a strictly ultra vires proposition

155. Relying upon the foundational evidentiary maxim habemus optimum testem, confitentem reum (we have the best witness, a confessing defendant), the Respondent's own unsolicited admission that it searched the SPS stands as the highest form of evidentiary proof that the federal apparatus was actively engaged in the architectural processing of the Applicant's data.

156. Nota Bene: Should the Respondent attempt to mitigate this admission by characterizing the unsolicited SPS search as a mere "routine administrative courtesy" or an over-inclusive clerical error, such an argument must be summarily dismissed in limine as an absolute nullity. The federal ATIP apparatus operates within a perpetual state of resource scarcity; it inherently does not expend computational or administrative capital to execute exhaustive forensic searches within the nation's most secure cyber-directorate absent a definitive, algorithmically generated directive necessitating that specific jurisdictional inquiry.

Volume #4(H)(IV): The Indispensable Role of Regional Communications as Cross-Jurisdictional Intermediaries and the Implication of Mr. Matt Peggs

157. Furthermore, the operational architecture of the SPS heavily implicates the substantive involvement of the Regional Communications (the "Regional COM") apparatus and specialized operational managers, specifically including Mr. Matt Peggs.

158. Within the highly stratified command structures of the RCMP's National Capital Region and allied specialized frameworks, Regional COM operates as the vital intermediary bridging localized municipal operations (such as the TPS or Peel Regional Police) and the paramount federal mainframe. When an investigative dossier manifests a profound jurisdictional paradox—such as the irreconcilable geographic conflict observed herein between the Toronto Courthouse and the fabricated authority of Brampton-based Justice of the Peace "George 6044 Jiri"—routine frontline detachment channels are inherently bypassed. Such complex, multi-jurisdictional matters are statutorily escalated and routed directly through specialized Regional Command elements.

159. Because the SPS houses the Covert Operations, Cyber, and Protective Policing units any coordination of multi-jurisdictional information packages, covert data intercepts, or specialized tracking records executed by regional managers such as Mr. Peggs would automatically and inescapably be catalogued within the Specialized Investigative and Support Services repositories

Volume #4(H)(V): The Crystallization of the Rule 317 Mandate Regarding Regional Communication Logs

160. By explicitly admitting to the execution of a search within the SPS, the Respondent has crystallized the exact jurisdictional authority required for the Applicant to mandate the compulsory production of the comprehensive communication logs of Mr. Matt Peggs pursuant to Rule 317.

161. The Respondent is now strictly estopped from advancing the specious defense that the Regional COM office, or the communications of its managers, resides "outside the scope" of the proceeding. By formally placing the entirety of the SPS operational branch into the administrative record of its decision, the Respondent has voluntarily subjected the operational metadata generated by its regional managers to the transparency mechanisms of the Federal Courts Rules.

Volume #4(H)(VI): The Evidentiary "Smoking Gun" and the Absurdity of the Delegated Deflection

162. This explicit reference to the SPS functions as an evidentiary "Smoking Gun"—an incontrovertible admission against interest. It validates, with absolute administrative certainty, that the Applicant's Personal Information triggered elite operational files, confirming the mobilization of national cyber-infrastructure rather than mere localized municipal records

163. Finally, this admission exposes a fatal, irreconcilable administrative contradiction within the RCMP's prevailing posture. It highlights the profound legal absurdity of the ATIP Director formally advising the Applicant to blindly pursue records from a "municipal police force" while his own correspondence concurrently admits that the RCMP was internally compelled to interrogate its most elite, national Specialized Operational Support and Cyber branches to process the dossier

164. The Respondent's attempt to obfuscate this admission beneath the guise of a "routine thorough search." The state is legally prohibited from simultaneously asserting that a file is a mundane municipal matter while actively deploying its highest echelon of federal cyber-infrastructure to interrogate it. The Respondent is bound by the contradiction within its own administrative template.

VOLUME #5: CONCLUSION

I. THE TACTICAL AVOIDANCE OF PARAGRAPH 22(1)(A) AND THE UNMET BURDEN UNDER PARAGRAPH 22(1)(B)

165. The deliberate non-reliance by the Respondent upon paragraph 22(1)(a) of the Privacy Act represents a fatal strategic and legal error. Had the Respondent relied upon paragraph 22(1)(a) of the Privacy Act, it would have been inextricably compelled to demonstrate that the personal information was obtained or prepared by a specified investigative body in the course of a lawful investigation.

166. Instead, by retreating to the generalized, harm-based exemption articulated within paragraph 22(1)(b) of the Privacy Act, the Respondent must satisfy a rigorous and elevated evidentiary threshold. It must substantiate, with compelling exactitude, that disclosure "could reasonably be expected to be injurious to the enforcement of any law of Canada... or the conduct of lawful investigations." The established jurisprudence of this Honourable Court emphatically dictates that "injury" under paragraph 22(1)(b) of the Privacy Act cannot be established by 6045 mere speculation, boilerplate assertions, or administrative trepidation. The Respondent has effectively cornered itself: it has invoked an exemption necessitating clear, convincing, and objective evidence of harm to state operations, an evidentiary burden it is fundamentally incapable of discharging in relation to historical system transaction logs (the "System Transaction Logs") and metadata.

II. THE HIGH THRESHOLD OF "INJURY TO THE ENFORCEMENT OF LAW" AND THE RULE OF LAW

167. Far from inflicting injury upon the administration of justice, the disclosure of the requested foundational metadata (the "Foundational Metadata"), the aforementioned System Transaction Logs, and the offline historical data residing within the Canadian Police Information Centre (the "Canadian Police Information Centre") is absolutely indispensable to the preservation of the rule of law.

168. It is precisely the non-disclosure, withholding, or retroactive purging of audit trails and system metadata that profoundly threatens the integrity of both the Privacy Act and the Criminal Code. System logs operate as the primary and incorruptible mechanism by which state accountability and data integrity are forensically verified.

169. Paragraph 22(1)(b) of the Privacy Act cannot be improperly weaponized as an impenetrable shield to preclude the discovery of administrative malfeasance, unlawful data retention, or procedural non-compliance. The "injury" contemplated by Parliament is exclusively an injury to lawful law enforcement operations, not the exposure of systemic administrative deviations, fraudulent record manipulations, or the intentional evasion of statutory purging requirements.

III. THE TEMPORAL CEILING OF INVESTIGATIVE EXEMPTIONS AND THE IMPACT OF R. V. JORDAN

170. Records maintained within the Canadian Police Information Centre are fundamentally transactional in their legal character; they memorialize the administrative execution of legal process (for instance, the lodging, modification, or cancellation of a warrant). Once a legal process is completed, executed, or rendered legally defunct, it immediately loses any active investigative character.

171. In the present matter, the underlying proceedings are unequivocally stale-dated, having comfortably and substantially exceeded the presumptive constitutional ceilings promulgated in R. v. Jordan, [2016] 1 S.C.R. 631. Where an investigation is legally deceased, irrevocably inactive, or barred from prosecution by the constitutional effluxion of time, the Respondent cannot legitimately posit that the disclosure of transactional metadata relates to an active or ongoing investigation.

172. Furthermore, the disclosure of metadata pertaining to a concluded or non-existent matter cannot logically precipitate "injury" to an investigative process that lacks legal vitality. As famously articulated by Lord Denning in MacFoy v. United Africa Co. Ltd., [1961] 3 All E.R. 1169 (P.C.), an act that is void is an absolute nullity; one cannot put something on nothing and expect it to stand, for something on nothing remains nothing.

173. To the extent that it could ever be suggested a valid criminal proceeding existed (namely, a properly constructed arrest warrant, even one ostensibly issued orally), there was not, at law, a valid criminal prosecution (the "Criminal Prosecution"). The factual reality that numerous hearings were attended, culminating in an order dismissing the frivolous and meritless charge predicated upon a non-informant within a fabricated information package (the "False Information Package"), is indisputable. However, as a matter of strict legal classification, the entire apparatus was void ab initio from the precise temporal moment the False Information Package was filed. The contravention of strict statutory dictates mandates that such actions be classified as an absolute nullity rather than a mere procedural irregularity.

IV. THE FALLACY OF INFORMANT PRIVILEGE IN RELATION TO PUBLIC COURT RECORDS AND METADATA

174. The Respondent endeavours to improperly conflate the identity of a confidential informant—who is traditionally safeguarded by the near-absolute evidentiary shield of informer privilege—with the identity of a 6046 complainant or a swearing officer executing a form 2 information (the "Form 2 Information") pursuant to the Criminal Code. This constitutes a profound and fatal legal error.

175. Firstly, upon the issuance of legal process or the execution of an arrest, a Form 2 Information is instantaneously transmuted into a public court record. The identity of the informant contained therein is rendered unequivocally public as an inextricable function of constitutional open court principles.

176. Secondly, the specific metadata requested—encompassing originating agency identifier codes (the "Originating Agency Identifier"), issuing court locations, judicial officer identities, and system identification numbers (the "System Identification Numbers")—contains absolutely no identifying information concerning legitimately confidential informants.

177. The Respondent's strategic contortion of paragraph 22(1)(b)(ii) of the Privacy Act to encompass non-identifying, ministerial court metadata represents an impermissible and ultra vires expansion of the confidential source exemption, a proposition that is wholly unsupported by the statutory text or established common law principles.

V. ULTRA VIRES CONDUCT, FRAUDULENT MANIPULATION, AND THE LIMITS OF "LAWFUL INVESTIGATIONS"

178. The doctrine of the indivisibility of the Crown, as elucidated in Benedict v. Ontario (2000), 51 O.R. (3d) 147 (C.A.), dictates that the state cannot act in a fractured or divided capacity. The state is legally precluded from claiming the benefits of statutory protections while its agents simultaneously act in direct, deliberate contravention of the law.

179. The existence of a "lawful investigation" operates as a strict, unyielding condition precedent to the application of any exemption enumerated under subsection 22(1) of the Privacy Act. State action that is birthed from bad faith, systemic fraud, or the deliberate, calculated manipulation of institutional records is ultra vires and void ab initio.

180. Just as criminal misconduct perpetrated by an individual officer operating under the colour of authority can never be shielded under the guise of "law enforcement and investigation," institutional acts of record manipulation or the compilation of a False Information Package cannot, under any legal fiction, be characterized as a "lawful investigation."

181. To hold otherwise would establish a perilous precedent, permitting the state to invoke statutory privacy exemptions to conceal its own unlawful conduct—a consequence that is profoundly offensive to the principles of fundamental justice, equitable doctrines, and the explicit statutory architecture of the Privacy Act.

VI. THE JURISDICTIONAL LEGERDEMAIN: SECTION 19(1)(D) AND THE CENTRAL REGION METAMORPHOSIS

182. In a manifest attempt to orchestrate a sophisticated statutory evasion, the Respondent has invoked paragraph 19(1)(d) of the Privacy Act, alleging that the foundational records constitute personal information obtained in confidence from the government of a province or an institution thereof. This invocation is a jurisprudential sleight-of-hand designed to obfuscate the internal structural metamorphosis of the Royal Canadian Mounted Police.

183. It is a matter of administrative record that the federal entity formerly designated as "O" Division has been systematically restructured into an integrated, multi-jurisdictional intelligence hub now operating as central region command (the "Central Region"). The invocation of paragraph 19(1)(d) of the Privacy Act is predicated upon a deliberate mischaracterization: treating the highly integrated Central Region infrastructure—which is fundamentally federal in its apex control—as an independent "provincial institution" merely because it synergizes with municipal or provincial entities.

184. The refusal to disclose the Originating Agency Identifier, the issuing court level, and the identity of the presiding judicial officer is not animated by a genuine desire to protect intergovernmental confidences. Rather, it is a calculated manoeuvre to prevent the forensic tracing of the data directly back to the executive suites of the Central Region, specifically the purview of the regional commander (the "Regional Commander").

6047 185. The evidentiary record strongly supports the inference that the Regional Commander, acting as the multi-jurisdictional intermediary, ingested unverified data and uploaded it directly into the federal mainframe under police case identification number 457197 (the "Police Case Identification Number"). It is submitted that the immense institutional weight of the Regional Commander was utilized to bypass standard judicial scrutiny, allowing an irregular and fundamentally flawed authorization to be accepted on its face by the issuing justice.

186. Nota Bene: The Respondent may counter that the Central Region, by virtue of its joint-forces operations, functions de facto as a provincial entity for the purposes of paragraph 19(1)(d) of the Privacy Act. This argument is entirely devoid of merit and offends the doctrine of federal paramountcy. The Canadian Police Information Centre is a sovereign federal mainframe. The indivisibility of the Crown strictly precludes a federal institution from bifurcating its own hybrid command structure to artificially generate a "third-party" provincial shield where none exists at law. The data residing under the Police Case Identification Number is exclusively within the constructive possession and paramount control of the federal Respondent.

187. This structural obfuscation perfectly elucidates why the front-facing municipal police service was entirely incapable of producing a physical arrest warrant during the period of detention. The municipal constabulary was acting merely as the operational appendage for a data file generated, maintained, and entirely controlled within the Central Region infrastructure of the Respondent. The concealment of this reality through the misapplication of paragraph 19(1)(d) of the Privacy Act is ultra vires the Respondent's statutory authority.

VII. THE APPLICATION OF EQUITABLE MAXIMS: FRAUD UPON THE LAW AND THE VITIATION OF ADMINISTRATIVE ACTS

188. The deliberate withholding of exculpatory system metadata and the invocation of inapplicable statutory exemptions must be scrutinized through the lens of established equitable maxims. As extensively catalogued in Herbert Broom's seminal treatise, A Selection of Legal Maxims, the foundational premise remains resolute: fraud is proved when it is demonstrated that a false representation has been made knowingly, without belief in its truth, or recklessly, careless as to whether it be true or false.

189. Where systemic administrative operations are executed with reckless disregard for statutory prerequisites, producing a False Information Package that results in unlawful deprivation of liberty, an honest belief in the truth of the state's actions is nullified. The motive of the state actor guilty of such reckless promulgation is rendered legally immaterial.

190. Furthermore, the equitable principle of fraudulent concealment forcefully applies to toll any procedural barriers. It has long been an axiom of equity that no length of time is a bar to relief in cases of fraud where there has been no laches on the part of the defrauded party. The maxim nemo ex suo delicto meliorem suam conditionem facere potest (no man can improve his condition by his own wrong) strictly precludes the Respondent from utilizing its own obfuscatory tactics—namely, hiding the Originating Agency Identifier and the Police Case Identification Number—to prevent the discovery of the underlying nullity.

191. The execution of legal process is bound by strict jealousy, designed to protect against fraud, collusion, and the resulting disgrace to the Crown and the administration of justice. The rule necessitas quod cogit defendit (necessity defends what it compels) cannot be invoked by the state when the "necessity" was entirely manufactured by its own creation of a False Information Package.

192. If an individual or an institutional entity, acting under colour of right or the colour of law, executes an illegal act or abuses the process of the court, transforming it into an instrument of oppression or extortion, such conduct constitutes a fraud upon the law. Consequently, the Respondent is strictly barred from availing itself of its own illegal acts.

193. It is an unassailable tenet of jurisprudence that fraud vitiates everything it touches (fraud no doubt vitiates everything). Where an administrative act or judicial authorization is procured through the reckless or intentional submission of a False Information Package, the resulting instrument is not merely tainted by irregularity; it is an absolute nullity, void ab initio, rendering the parties subject to the equitable restoration of the status quo ante.

194. The primary function of litigation, and indeed of the administrative tribunal process, is the untrammelled search for truth. Properly interpreted, privacy legislation is designed to promote, rather than hinder, that truth-seeking function. By deliberately refusing to execute a compliant search and by shielding the executive 6048 machinations of the Central Region, the Respondent continues to perpetuate a fraud upon the tribunals, upon the law, and upon the administration of justice in limine.

VIII. THE FIDUCIARY DUTY OF DISCLOSURE AND THE EQUITABLE INTEREST IN PERSONAL INFORMATION: THE APPLICATION OF MCINERNEY V. MACDONALD

195. The jurisprudence articulated by the Supreme Court of Canada in McInerney v. MacDonald, [1992] 2 S.C.R. 138 governs the incontrovertible right of an individual to access personal information held by an institutional repository. The apex Court definitively ruled that information regarding oneself, revealed to or compiled by an institution acting in a professional capacity, remains, in a fundamental and immutable sense, the property of the individual.

196. While the Respondent may claim structural ownership of the physical and digital architecture comprising the Canadian Police Information Centre, it must be legally emphasized that the Respondent acts merely as a custodian of the personal information residing therein. The Supreme Court of Canada categorically established that the subject of the records possesses a trust-like beneficial interest (the "Beneficial Interest") in the substantive information itself. This equitable interest mandates that, as an unyielding general rule, the individual possesses a paramount right of access to the information, thereby imposing a corresponding obligation upon the institutional custodian to effectuate its immediate provision.

197. The relationship between the state as the repository of sensitive personal data and the individual to whom that data pertains is inextricably imbued with fiduciary obligations. A fiduciary duty (the "Fiduciary Duty") inherently demands that the institutional actor conduct itself with the utmost good faith, loyalty, and transparency. To deny an individual access to their own Foundational Metadata and System Transaction Logs constitutes a profound breach of this Fiduciary Duty, effectively utilizing the confidentiality mechanisms designed to protect the individual as a clandestine shield to facilitate improper institutional conduct.

198. Furthermore, the principles of equity demand a strict reciprocity of information. The necessity for state institutions to compile sensitive, highly private data concerning an individual must be counterbalanced by a corresponding openness and full disclosure to that selfsame individual. As noted in McInerney v. MacDonald, [1992] 2 S.C.R. 138, the systematic withholding of records profoundly undermines the structural integrity of the administrative system. If there has been improper conduct in the compilation or maintenance of the records—such as the reckless promulgation of a False Information Package—it is an imperative of justice that such deviations be illuminated rather than sequestered under the guise of an arbitrary statutory exemption.

199. Given the profound disparity in the evidentiary capacities of the parties, the Supreme Court of Canada explicitly mandated that the burden of proof rests entirely and exclusively upon the entity withholding the information. The onus falls squarely upon the Respondent to definitively justify any exception to the general rule of access. Such a denial cannot be predicated upon mere speculative administrative inconvenience or the abstract fear of subsequent litigation; it requires the demonstration of a significant likelihood of a substantial adverse effect, a threshold the Respondent has conspicuously failed to meet.

200. The Respondent possesses no unfettered discretion to arbitrarily deny access to the Originating Agency Identifier or the Police Case Identification Number. Such administrative discretion is heavily circumscribed and must be exercised upon proper equitable principles. Where the Respondent refuses a legitimate request for access, this Honourable Court is fundamentally empowered to exercise its superintending equitable jurisdiction, acting in personam to ensure the Respondent adheres strictly to its standard of conduct and is restrained from acting in a manner inconsistent with the applicant's Beneficial Interest.

201. Ultimately, the deliberate obfuscation of the System Transaction Logs to insulate the machinations of the Central Region and the Regional Commander is diametrically opposed to the fiducial qualities required of a state repository. Where systemic fraud upon the law is alleged, the principles enshrined in McInerney v. MacDonald, [1992] 2 S.C.R. 138 forcefully compel the immediate unsealing and production of the underlying records, affirming the paramountcy of truth-seeking over the tactical evasion of institutional accountability.

202. But it all comes back to the same issue that the Respondent RCMP Tribunal admitted it did not search because of its misguided understanding of the law, as scary as it is, that the Privacy Act does not authorize the RCMP to search files OR disclose information belongings to other police forces.

6049 203. The RCMP Tribunal did not rely on section 18 of the Privacy Act so none of the Personal Information sought by the Applicant in a PIB was exempt from searching. Moreover, the RCMP Tribunal did not rely on ss. 22(1)(a) at all or even 22(1)(a)(ii) which is required in relation for reliance on an exempt bank. This was and is fatal to the RCMP Tribunal with respect to its decision that it could not search for "files".

204. In relation to any and all Personal Information sought by the Applicant that was highly particularized as statutorily required (see: ss. 12(1)(b): under the control of a government institution with respect to which the individual is able to provide sufficiently specific information on the location of the information as to render it reasonably retrievable by the government institution), the RCMP Tribunal failed to search the CPIC database, as it admitted, for Foundational Metadata and Offline Historical Database in relation to the Applicant's Personal Information. The attached document to the April 27, 2026, decision or disposition of the Tribunal (RCMP), was not even within the spectrum of what would be produced in disclosing Foundational Metadata (i.e. the ORI; the issuing court level; the issuing court location; the name of the judicial officer; and the SID) and/or the Offline Historical Database for amended or purged originally input data including the likes of CLEAR, CANCEL, ADD, MODIFY et al type functions in relation to the Applicant's Personal Information. It is trite that metadata is information that can be Personal Information in relation to an individual.

205. The legal test for the transmission of materials pursuant to Rule 317 of the Federal Courts Rules has been comprehensively and irrefutably satisfied. The requested material was demonstrably available to the administrative tribunal in question (see: subsection 2(1) of the Federal Courts Act) at the time but nonetheless it is in its possession at the time of this Rule 317 request:

a. Relevant to the core issues on judicial review, specifically the abject failure of the Respondent to execute a reasonable, legally compliant search;
b. In the possession (whether actual, constructive, or joint) of the Respondent, acting in its capacity as the paramount administrator of the Canadian Police Information Centre; and
c. Not in the possession of the applicant.

206. As the Applicant did not include a specified request such as this in his Notice Of Application ("NOA") it is included hereunder pursuant to Rule 317(3) of the Federal Courts Rules.

All of which is respectfully requested by Mr. Kevin A. McLean (BA, JD, CIM)

DATED at Toronto, Ontario, this 18th day of May, 2026.

Mr. Kevin A. McLean (BA, JD, CIM)
Toronto, Ontario
Applicant, Self-Represented
mclean@searchandseizure.ca

APPENDICES

APPENDIX #1

Rule 317 of the Federal Courts Rules

317 (1) A party may request anything that is relevant to the application that is in the possession of a federal board, commission or other tribunal whose order is the subject of the application and that was not when the application was made in the possession of the party.

(2) The request shall be in Form 317.

(3) The request shall be served on the tribunal and on all other parties.

(4) A request under subsection (1) may be made at any time, but if it is made after the applicant has served its record under rule 309, the request may only be made with leave of the Court.

Rule 318 of the Federal Courts Rules

318 (1) Within 20 days after being served with a request under rule 317, the tribunal shall transmit (a) the original or a certified copy of the requested material to the registry, and (b) a copy of the material to the party who requested it or a written notification that the material is not in the possession of the tribunal.

(2) Where the tribunal or a party objects to a request under rule 317, the tribunal or party shall, within 20 days after being served with the request, serve on all other parties and file a written objection stating the grounds for the objection.

(3) The Court may, on motion, examine the material and order that the material, or a portion of it, be transmitted to the registry or returned to the tribunal.

APPENDIX #2:

The formal transformation of the RCMP's "O" Division into the Federal Policing Central Region was implemented between late 2023 and 2024. [1, 2]

Timeline Breakdown:

- Phase 1 (2022–2023): The RCMP initiated a broader Federal Policing transformation plan. This included preliminary steps to decommission the old National Division and consolidate its units into Ontario's framework.
- Phase 2 (October 2023): Assistant Commissioner Matt Peggs was originally appointed as the Commanding Officer of "O" Division.
- Phase 3 (2024): As the organizational structure shifted away from traditional geographic divisions into specialized federal regions, "O" Division was officially rebranded as Central Region, with Peggs carrying over his leadership as the newly titled Regional Commander.

- Nothing past this line -