E. CONCLUSION REGARDING TRIBUNALS ONTARIO'S LEGAL STATUS

288. From a rigorous textual and teleological analysis of the ATAGA and its attendant regulations (O. Reg. 126/10, O. Reg. 91/11, O. Reg. 90/11, O. Reg. 88/11), it is unequivocally evident that "Tribunals Ontario" exists solely as an administrative nomenclature for a cluster of adjudicative tribunals. It is not, per se, a distinct legal entity, corporation, agency, board, or commission prescribed as an "adjudicative tribunal" or an "Institution" within the meaning of FIPPA. All statutory obligations regarding accountability, governance, and appointments are ultimately vested in the individual, statutorily designated "adjudicative tribunals" that comprise the cluster. Therefore, while "Tribunals Ontario" functions as an administrative grouping for efficiency, it lacks the legal personality to independently possess or control records subject to FIPPA in its own right. Any such de facto control subverts the clear legislative intent of FIPPA. The LAT is specifically identified as an "adjudicative tribunal" under Ontario Regulation 126/10. The ATAGAA and its attendant regulations impose numerous duties and responsibilities upon the LAT. These include, but are not limited to, the creation and publication of a "mandate and mission statement" (s. 3), a "consultation policy" (s. 4), and a "service standard policy" (s. 5). The LAT is also required to develop "governance accountability documents" such as a "memorandum of understanding" (s. 11), a "business plan" (s. 12), and an "annual report" (s. 13). The LAT's comprehensive failure to respond to the Appellant's request is a direct affront to its duties under the ATAGAA. The LAT's duties and the Head of the LAT, by so being prescribed by regulation, are not 'one and the same'. By failing to be transparent and accountable in its operations, and by not adhering to its service standards and policies, the LAT is acting in a manner inconsistent with the very legislation that governs its existence and defines its purpose from a protection of privacy standpoint. This breach of statutory duty, distinct from but related to its failure under FIPPA, further underscores the urgent need for the OIPC's intervention to compel compliance. The LAT is not merely a passive recipient of requests but an active participant in a system designed for public oversight, and its dereliction of this duty is a matter of serious concern.

VIII. THE TRIBUNALS ADJUDICATIVE RECORDS ACT, 2019 (THE "TARA")

289. The Tribunal Adjudicative Records Act, 2019, S.O. 2019, c. 7, Sch. 60 (TARA), governs the public availability of certain tribunal records. The LAT, being an "adjudicative tribunal" (O. Reg 126/10), is governed by the provisions of TARA. The distinction between "adjudicative records" and other records held by a tribunal is critical. TARA defines "adjudicative records" as those related to a proceeding, such as applications, notices of hearing, written submissions, evidence, decisions, and orders (TARA, s. 1(2)). However, it explicitly excludes "personal notes, draft decisions, draft orders and communications related to draft decisions or draft orders" from this definition (TARA, s. 1(3)). The LAT's duty under TARA is to make these adjudicative records "available to the public" (TARA, s. 2(1)). This is a statutory obligation independent of FIPPA. While there is an overlap in the general principle of public access, the majority of the records sought in this request are not "adjudicative records." The request seeks internal administrative records, communications between the LAT and third parties, and records that fall outside the formal adjudicative process. Therefore, even if the LAT were to claim some of the requested records are "adjudicative records" and subject to the specific rules and confidentiality provisions of TARA, this would not justify its failure to respond to the entirety of the request. The blanket non-response is a failure to meet its duties under both statutes and must be rectified.

X. THE AVOIDANCE OF MULTIPLICITY OF PROCEEDINGS AND THE IMPORTANCE OF DETERMINATIONS FOR MULTIPLE PURPOSES – ALL REQUIRED AS OF SEPTEMBER 29, 2025, UNTIL ALL EVIDENCE HAS BEEN RECEIVED BY THE OIPC (SEE: SECTION 54(1) OF FIPPA)

290. In Canadian law, the principle of the "avoidance of a multiplicity of proceedings" is a core objective of civil and administrative procedure, aiming to prevent the waste of judicial and party resources. It seeks to resolve all related issues and claims among the same parties in a single proceeding wherever possible. The principle holds that it is in the interest of justice for a dispute to be heard in a single forum that is clearly the most appropriate one, rather than allowing separate, often duplicative, lawsuits or hearings to proceed in different venues. This helps to prevent inconsistent verdicts, reduce costs for all parties, and ensure the efficient use of the court or tribunal's time. The legal doctrine of forum non conveniens is a prime example of this principle in civil courts, where a court may decline jurisdiction if another forum is clearly more suitable to hear the matter. Similarly, in administrative law, this principle guides decisions on whether to stay or consolidate related matters. The principle is especially critical for tribunals, as it directly addresses the user's point that "justice is not free." Litigants before tribunals, which often include self-represented individuals, face significant costs in time, legal fees, and emotional stress:

a. Cost-Effectiveness and Efficiency: By consolidating similar cases or handling related issues informally, a tribunal can hear evidence and submissions once, rather than repeatedly. This reduces the burden on parties and the tribunal itself. For example, if ten individuals are affected by the same administrative error, a single, consolidated hearing is far more efficient than ten separate ones;
b. Fairness and Consistency: Consolidating proceedings ensures that all affected parties are heard and that the tribunal can reach a single, consistent decision. This prevents the possibility of contradictory rulings on the same set of facts, which would undermine public confidence in the administrative justice system; and
c. Proportionality: This principle aligns with the broader goal of proportionality in administrative law, which dictates that the process and resources used to resolve a dispute should be commensurate with the nature of the dispute itself. A full-blown, lengthy hearing may not be necessary for every complaint if a consolidated, streamlined process can achieve a just result.

291. The new privacy breach sections of Ontario's Freedom of Information and Protection of Privacy Act (FIPPA), particularly section 40.1, are a practical embodiment of the principle of "avoiding a multiplicity of proceedings." The law creates a single, consolidated pathway for dealing with privacy breaches:

a. Centralized Reporting and Notification: When a privacy breach occurs, the Head of the Institution must report it to the Information and Privacy Commissioner (IPC) and notify affected individuals. This single act of reporting centralizes the information about the breach with the regulatory body responsible for oversight;
b. Centralized Complaint Mechanism: Instead of having to initiate separate legal actions, affected individuals are told they have a right to file a complaint with the IPC. This channels all complaints about a single breach to one administrative body; and
c. Efficiency for the IPC: This structured process allows the IPC to investigate all complaints related to a specific breach at once. The Commissioner can conduct a single review of the Institution's practices, assess the harm to all affected individuals collectively, and issue a single set of orders to achieve compliance. This avoids the inefficiency of investigating the same incident and Institutional practices multiple times.

292. In essence, FIPPA's new provisions establish a clear and efficient procedure that minimizes the need for separate, individual complaints or lawsuits. By consolidating the issues at the outset under the oversight of a single Commissioner, the law promotes a fair, expeditious, and cost-effective resolution, preventing a "multiplicity of proceedings" and embodying the principles of modern administrative justice. Again language is important, "The Head of an Institution shall report to the Commissioner any theft, loss or unauthorized use or disclosure of personal information in the custody or under the control of the Institution". The theft, loss or unauthorized use OR disclosure of PII must have been in the custody or under the control of the Institution. Herein, the LAT is at issue. But what about when the LAT did not have control or custody of the PII before its theft or loss? Is the LAT absolved? Such a potential complaint could only be answered by having a final access decision.

XI. DISTINCTION BETWEEN GENERAL RECORD ACCESS AND PII ACCESS

293. As the erudite Justice Tysoe (as he then was) found in 1998, personal information access is distinct from general information record access:

> "It makes imminent sense to have more restrictions on access to general information than on access to personal information. In dealing with general information, the Act must balance the objective of giving the public access to records of public bodies against other legitimate objectives, such as the privacy of personal information of other persons and confidentiality of governmental or business interests. These latter objectives do not generally apply to personal information about the applicant because there are no privacy or confidentiality concerns in releasing to an applicant personal information of that applicant.
> (Mazhero v. British Columbia (Information and Privacy Commissioner), 1998 CanLII 6010 (BC SC))

XII. THE LAT MAY NEED TO MAKE OR PRODUCE RECORDS

294. The Appellant notes that the definition of "record" under the Act is extremely broad, encompassing

> "any record of information however recorded, whether in printed form, on film, by electronic means or otherwise, and includes: (a) correspondence, a memorandum, a book, a plan, a map, a drawing, a diagram, a pictorial or graphic work, a photograph, a film, a microfilm, a sound recording, a videotape, a machine readable record, any other documentary material, regardless of physical form or characteristics, and any copy thereof, and (b) subject to the regulations, any record that is capable of being produced from a machine readable record under the control of an Institution by means of computer hardware and software or any other information storage equipment and technical expertise normally used by the Institution; (document)."

CHAPTER #5: NO REOP FOR A THIEF AND THOSE WHO ASSIST, AID AND ABET THE SAME; AND EXCEPTIONS TO PRIVILEGE

CHAPTER #5(A): NO REOP FOR A THIEF OR THOSE WHO AID AND ABET

295. As our ONCA found in R. v. Van Duong, 2018 ONCA 115, there is no reasonable expectation for a thief or thieves, and certainly those that encouraged, facilitated and/or acquiesced to the same:

> "[7] Although the application judge found that the Appellants had a subjective expectation of privacy, even this seems too generous to the Appellants. Allowing the Appellants a subjective expectation of privacy, in this instance, would confuse the relevant sense of expectation with desire. "Expectation" can be ambiguous between two meanings, only one of which is relevant to s. 8 analysis. In the first sense, a person has an expectation of privacy where he desires privacy and believes it is unlikely, as a matter of fact, that he will be disturbed. In the second sense, a person has an expectation of privacy where she believes she will be undisturbed because she is entitled to be left undisturbed. In s. 8 jurisprudence, subjective expectation is used in this latter sense. Here, although the Appellants had the desire for privacy, Mr. Van Duong's evidence that he would flee the property if confronted, suggests that the Appellants did not have even a subjective expectation of privacy, even though they very much desired to be left alone and went to some considerable trouble to achieve that end.

> [8] Even if the Appellants had a subjective expectation of privacy, it could not have been objectively reasonable. The application judge did not err in concluding that there can be no reasonable expectation of privacy in circumstances where the Appellants' connection to the property is so tenuous."

296. Consequently, the entirety of the correspondence and records concerning the TDI Group Karat Theft must be produced in the custody and control of the LAT along with the 13 classes subject to any review of the veracity and validity of any privileged document as the theft and its participants and the aftermath have become a matter of objective record. The conspicuous absence of a response from the LAT distancing itself from the aforementioned malfeasance and its ensuing aftermath, constitutes a profound and inexplicable dereliction of its duties. An adverse inference must be drawn. The requested relief is an ineluctable conclusion, serving as the necessary corollary to the LAT's pervasive, inexcusable, and systematic inaction. This is the precise outcome quod erat demonstrandum.

CHAPTER 6: ORDERS SOUGHT DISPOSING OF ALL ISSUES

297. The Appellant, Kevin A. McLean, respectfully and unequivocally requests that the Information and Privacy Commissioner/Ontario issue a peremptory Order or series of Orders against the Licence Appeal Tribunal that effectuate the complete and definitive disposition of all issues raised in the OIPC Proceeding:

I. Substantive Response & Compliance

- Order 1: Deemed Refusal and Curing the Defect The Head of the Licence Appeal Tribunal (LAT) is compelled to immediately file a legally compliant, substantive access decision regarding the original request within five (5) days of the date of this Order, thereby curing the jurisdictional defect arising from the continued state of deemed refusal.
- Order 2: Final Access Decision Deadline The LAT shall issue its first and final access decision, along with supporting evidence, within seven (7) days of the date of this Order. This Order shall be effective from November 10, 2025.
- Order 3: Summons and examining persons und oath and entry into the site of the LAT: to the extent that the LAT does not comply with the infra or supra, then the Commissioner shall summons the above noted individuals and enter the site of the LAT (wherever that may be at 25 Grosvenor Street, Toronto, Ontario);

II. Record Production & Preservation

- Order 4: Personal Information Disclosure The LAT shall provide copies of all records containing personal information relating to or about the Appellant where the LAT does not contend that any necessary exemptions apply.
- Order 5: Production of Adjudicative Records The Head of the LAT is compelled to immediately produce all adjudicative records requested under the Tribunals Adjudicative Records Act, 2019 (TARA), specifically including the Two Undisclosed Motion Orders, to satisfy its dual statutory obligations.

- Order 6: Public Interest Override & Iniquity Exception The LAT is mandated to produce the contested records pursuant to the Public Interest Override (s. 23) and the iniquity exception, on the finding that the public interest in disclosure of information relating to the alleged promotion of criminal conduct and breaches of fiduciary duties by agents of the LAT decisively outweighs the purpose of any applicable exemption.
- Order 7: Records Preservation The LAT shall immediately take all necessary steps in accordance with section 10.1 and 54(3) of FIPPA, and the Archives and Recordkeeping Act, to preserve all records relevant to this Appeal, including all thirteen classes of records, to prevent their irretrievable loss.
- Order 8: Comprehensive Index of Records The LAT Institution shall disclose the Sought Records in the form of a comprehensive Index of Records covering the 13 Record Classes by May 30, 2025, or the first date thereafter as decided by the OIPC. The Index shall clearly delineate, via Schedules, between records alleged to be subject to privilege and those that are not, that were in its custody and/or under its control.
- Order 9: Affidavit Requirement for Withholding To the extent the LAT does not produce any records required under the Index of Records (Order 8), the Head of the LAT Institution or their authorized delegate shall provide an affidavit supporting its position, outlining the search methodology and justifications for withholding the records.

III. Further Steps & Relief

- Order 10: Leave for Further Submissions (Initial Review) Upon the Applicant's review of the final access decision (Order 2), the Applicant is granted leave to file additional submissions for further relief under the same OIPC Appeal number.
- Order 11: Leave for Further Submissions (Compliance Review) After the LAT has complied with Orders 6, 7, and 8, the Appellant is granted leave to make further submissions regarding the LAT's compliance, with a limitation of ten (10) pages
- Order 12: any relief that is consistent with the above.

All of which is respectfully submitted on November 4, 2025:

Mr. Kevin A. McLean (BA, JD, CIM)

Appellant

[i]Learned of by the Appellant by way of Notice of Appeal: Notice of Appeal means a document prepared by the IPC confirming that an Appeal has been filed against an Institution's decision concerning a Request under the Act, and includes the names of the Parties, the IPC's file number, and the Institution's file number (if any).

The Right Honourable Justin Trudeau
Prime Minister of Canada
Office of the Prime Minister 80 Wellington Street
Ottawa, ON K1A 0A2

Dear Prime Minister Trudeau:

We write to urge that the federal government take immediate action to strengthen Canada's bail system to better protect the public and Canada's heroic first responders.

There have been a growing number of calls for changes to prevent accused persons, who are out on bail, from committing further criminal acts. The justice system fundamentally needs to keep anyone who poses a threat to public safety off the streets. And this starts with meaningful changes to the Criminal Code, an area solely within the federal government's jurisdiction.

As you know, this was the subject of an intense discussion at the October 2022 meeting of Federal-Provincial-Territorial Ministers of Justice and Public Safety in Dartmouth. This meeting led to a clear and unified call to action for the federal government to reform Canada's bail system.

A reverse onus on bail must be created for the offence of possession of a loaded prohibited or restricted firearm in s. 95 of the Code. A person accused of a s. 95 offence should have to demonstrate why their detention is not justified when they were alleged to have committed an offence where there was imminent risk to the public, as is already the case with several offences involving firearms. A review of other firearms-related offences is also warranted to determine whether they should also attract a reverse onus on bail.

Acts of hate are unlawful. Period.

International Delicatessen Foods was targeted for being Jewish. This is unacceptable in Ontario.

This criminal behaviour must stop now.

Our government has been crystal clear that hate and acts of antisemitism are unacceptable and will not be tolerated in Ontario. April 5th will mark Al Quds Day, which is a day known for displays of hate and antisemitic propaganda. This event causes significant emotional and symbolic harm to the Jewish community.

Engagement in demonstrations that glorify terrorist groups, acts of hatred or calls for the destruction of a nation or ethnic group will be examined to the fullest extent of the law. Under the leadership of Premier Ford, and as Solicitor General, keeping the people of Ontario safe is my top priority.

We all have an inherent right to live in our communities safely and without fear, and we will accept nothing less.

Michael Kerzner
Entrepreneur, Ontario PC Party Candidate

Michael, can you please introduce yourself to our readers.
I'm an Ontario Progressive Conservative party candidate for York Centre. I am proud that I have been an active member of the Jewish commmunity for over twenty-five years, and I believe that the most important thing in life is to try to be “a mench” – a decent person, that we should take care of each other, sharing sorrows and joys.

Where does your family come from? What role did Judaism plan in their lives?
My father's parents, Sam and Sarah Kerzner, emigrated to Canada in 1930 from Stopnica, Poland. My grandmother, Sara, insisted on leaving Poland. In my grandfather's family, everyone was killed during the Holocaust. My grandfather and grandmother were religious Jews who observed all traditions. They had to work very hard to adapt in Toronto.
My maternal grandfather, Murray Penwick, was born in Toronto. After graduating from the University of Toronto, he received a degree in Pharmacology, and later opened a pharmacy on Vaughan Road. My maternal grandmother, Tilly Penwick, is from England. She emigrated to Canada in her youth, got married, and helped her husband run a pharmacy. They were Orthodox Jews and were members of the Shaarei Shomayim Synagogue.

Who are your parents by profession? Tell us about them.
My parents are Max and Dolly Kerzner, who are, thank G-d, both alive and well. My father was a chartered accountant who worked in accounting for many years before starting his own business. My mother, who graduated from the University of Toronto, was raising her four children and helping her father in his business. They are members of the Beth Tzedek Synagogue. My parents have always supported us, their children, in everything, and sincerely believed that everyone should contribute to the prosperity of the Jewish community.

Where did you study and work?

In the late 1980s, I enrolled in York University and received a bachelor's degree with honors. After university I started helping my father and his brother, Joe Kerzner, in their joint construction business. I learned how to manage the complex process of building commercial buildings. But then I abruptly changed my field of interest. In 2015, together with my friend, I started doing genetic testing at DNALabs Canada. I have always considered myself an entrepreneur, and am interested in innovative and promising ideas.

How did you and your wife meet?

In 1995, I was invited to the company of close friends of my parents (who turned out to be cousins of my future wife). There I met Rochelle. She was (and remains) very independent and always defends her point of view on important issues of principle. Her family took an active part in the life of the Beth David Synagogue community. My wife and I have many similar views, but above all, we both believe that it is necessary to help those in need. My wife and I have been together for almost twenty-six years, and no one has supported my desire to give back to the community like Rochelle.

We enjoy traveling and visiting new places together. We especially wanted to visit Israel, which we did in 2013. Since then, we have tried our best to return there every year and feel at home there. On our last visit, in 202, we rented a car for the first time and drove around Israel like real Israelis. It was wonderful. Israel is our favorite place to travel with our kids.

Have you ever encountered manifestations of anti-Semitism?

Oddly enough, recently we have witnessed manifestations of aggression against Jews. During the election campaign, going from house to house, from apartment to apartment, we knocked on doors, and some asked: “Are you a Jew?” I always answer, “Yes, I am a Jew and proud of it.” Several times in response I heard an insulting: “Jew!” But we - my family and members of my team - take our identity very seriously and are proud to be Jewish. Our home is a Jewish home. I would also say that in the past we have felt aggression from some of the people with whom we have dealt with our Jewishness. And it was a manifestation of disgusting discrimination.

Just a few weeks ago, at the Passover table, we read in the Haggadah: “What is this service you have?” This question, unchanged for centuries, is an attempt by the younger generation to understand the elders and better appreciate what the heritage they have inherited. What are we doing to change our lives? I feel compelled to help our community address urgent Jewish needs – to secure effective funding for Jewish education, including pre-school, and to be vigilant against those who seek to divide us in our fight against anti-Semitism. I advocate finding a way to help those in need. I am a proud Jew who is possibly the first person to wear a kippah at all times in the Legislative Assembly, who went to a Jewish day school for education, who attends synagogue, who serves the community and believes in service above self. This is what our Haggadah teaches us, and I live by it.

He was elected to the Legislative Assembly of Ontario in the 2022 provincial election. He represents the riding of York Centre as a member of the Progressive Conservative Party of Ontario.[1]

Biography

Kerzner is Jewish.[2] His parents are Max and Dolly Kerzner.[2] His father was a chartered accountant.[2] His father's parents, Sam and Sarah Kerzner, emigrated to Canada in 1930 from Stopnica, Poland.[2] Everyone in his grandfather's family was killed during the Holocaust.[2] His maternal grandfather, Murray Penwick, was born in Toronto where he opened a pharmacy.[2] His maternal grandmother, Tilly Penwick, is from England, and emigrated to Canada in her youth.[2]

Kerzner attended York University, graduating with a B.A. (Hons.) in 1986.[2] After university he worked in the construction business, building commercial buildings, and then in 2015 started doing genetic testing at DNALabs Canada.[2] He is a bioscience and technology entrepreneur.[3] He lives in York Centre.[4]

Kerzner succeeded to the seat of independent MPP Roman Baber. Baber had been elected as a Progressive Conservative but was expelled from the PC caucus on January 15, 2021, for his COVID-19 lockdown stances. It was expected that Baber would run against Kerzner in the general election, but Baber instead opted to run in the 2022 Conservative Party of Canada leadership race.[5][6]

Michael Kerzner

Michael Kerzner
Entrepreneur, Ontario PC Party Candidate

Michael, can you please introduce yourself to our readers.
I'm an Ontario Progressive Conservative party candidate for York Centre. I am proud that I have been an active member of the Jewish commmunity for over twenty-five years, and I believe that the most important thing in life is to try to be “a mench” – a decent person, that we should take care of each other, sharing sorrows and joys.

Where does your family come from? What role did Judaism plan in their lives?
My father's parents, Sam and Sarah Kerzner, emigrated to Canada in 1930 from Stopnica, Poland. My grandmother, Sara, insisted on leaving Poland. In my grandfather's family, everyone was killed during the Holocaust. My grandfather and grandmother were religious Jews who observed all traditions. They had to work very hard to adapt in Toronto.
My maternal grandfather, Murray Penwick, was born in Toronto. After graduating from the University of Toronto, he received a degree in Pharmacology, and later opened a pharmacy on Vaughan Road. My maternal grandmother, Tilly Penwick, is from England. She emigrated to Canada in her youth, got married, and helped her husband run a pharmacy. They were Orthodox Jews and were members of the Shaarei Shomayim Synagogue.

Who are your parents by profession? Tell us about them.
My parents are Max and Dolly Kerzner, who are, thank G-d, both alive and well. My father was a chartered accountant who worked in accounting for many years before starting his own business. My mother, who graduated from the University of Toronto, was raising her four children and helping her father in his business. They are members of the Beth Tzedek Synagogue. My parents have always supported us, their children, in everything, and sincerely believed that everyone should contribute to the prosperity of the Jewish community.

Where did you study and work?

In the late 1980s, I enrolled in York University and received a bachelor's degree with honors. After university I started helping my father and his brother, Joe Kerzner, in their joint construction business. I learned how to manage the complex process of building commercial buildings. But then I abruptly changed my field of interest. In 2015, together with my friend, I started doing genetic testing at DNALabs Canada. I have always considered myself an entrepreneur, and am interested in innovative and promising ideas.

How did you and your wife meet?

In 1995, I was invited to the company of close friends of my parents (who turned out to be cousins of my future wife). There I met Rochelle. She was (and remains) very independent and always defends her point of view on important issues of principle. Her family took an active part in the life of the Beth David Synagogue community. My wife and I have many similar views, but above all, we both believe that it is necessary to help those in need. My wife and I have been together for almost twenty-six years, and no one has supported my desire to give back to the community like Rochelle.

We enjoy traveling and visiting new places together. We especially wanted to visit Israel, which we did in 2013. Since then, we have tried our best to return there every year and feel at home there. On our last visit, in 202, we rented a car for the first time and drove around Israel like real Israelis. It was wonderful. Israel is our favorite place to travel with our kids.

Have you ever encountered manifestations of anti-Semitism?

Oddly enough, recently we have witnessed manifestations of aggression against Jews. During the election campaign, going from house to house, from apartment to apartment, we knocked on doors, and some asked: “Are you a Jew?” I always answer, “Yes, I am a Jew and proud of it.” Several times in response I heard an insulting: “Jew!” But we - my family and members of my team - take our identity very seriously and are proud to be Jewish. Our home is a Jewish home. I would also say that in the past we have felt aggression from some of the people with whom we have dealt with our Jewishness. And it was a manifestation of disgusting discrimination.

Just a few weeks ago, at the Passover table, we read in the Haggadah: “What is this service you have?” This question, unchanged for centuries, is an attempt by the younger generation to understand the elders and better appreciate what the heritage they have inherited. What are we doing to change our lives? I feel compelled to help our community address urgent Jewish needs – to secure effective funding for Jewish education, including pre-school, and to be vigilant against those who seek to divide us in our fight against anti-Semitism. I advocate finding a way to help those in need. I am a proud Jew who is possibly the first person to wear a kippah at all times in the Legislative Assembly, who went to a Jewish day school for education, who attends synagogue, who serves the community and believes in service above self. This is what our Haggadah teaches us, and I live by it.

Biography

Kerzner is Jewish.[2] His parents are Max and Dolly Kerzner.[2] His father was a chartered accountant.[2] His father's parents, Sam and Sarah Kerzner, emigrated to Canada in 1930 from Stopnica, Poland.[2] Everyone in his grandfather's family was killed during the Holocaust.[2] His maternal grandfather, Murray Penwick, was born in Toronto where he opened a pharmacy.[2] His maternal grandmother, Tilly Penwick, is from England, and emigrated to Canada in her youth.[2]

Kerzner attended York University, graduating with a B.A. (Hons.) in 1986.[2] After university he worked in the construction business, building commercial buildings, and then in 2015 started doing genetic testing at DNALabs Canada.[2] He is a bioscience and technology entrepreneur.[3] He lives in York Centre.[4]

Kerzner succeeded to the seat of independent MPP Roman Baber. Baber had been elected as a Progressive Conservative but was expelled from the PC caucus on January 15, 2021, for his COVID-19 lockdown stances. It was expected that Baber would run against Kerzner in the general election, but Baber instead opted to run in the 2022 Conservative Party of Canada leadership race.[5][6]

SUPERIOR COURT OF JUSTICE - ONTARIO

RE: SHELANA HOLDINGS LTD. and 21134813 ONTARIO LIMITED, Applicants

AND:

MAX KERZNER INVESTMENTS INC., JOSEPH KERZNER, ANN ZARETSKY and WOBURN PLAZA INC., Respondents

BEFORE: Justice Cameron

COUNSEL: Geoff R. Hall, for the Applicants/Responding Party

Ronald B. Moldaver, Q.C., for the Respondents/Moving Party

ENDORSEMENT

[1] This is a motion for removal of McCarthy Tétrault from the record because they represented the Respondents Max Kerzner and Joseph Kerzner, as well as Albert Kerzner, in 2006 for a month or so in respect of the sale of the same property between the same five co-tenants. The 2006 matter was ultimately settled.

[2] Michael Kerzner swore, on information and belief, that they gave confidential information relevant to strategy and property operations, including management and investment strategies which they disclosed and discussed with Mr. Harry Underwood of McCarthy Tétrault.

[3] Mr. Underwood said it could not be confidential information as against Albert Kerzner because Albert was at their meeting on June 14, 2006.

[4] However, Mr. Underwood's dockets show telephone conversations with "Mr. Kerzner" on 13 June, 15 June, and 21 June 2006, as opposed to "A. Kerzner" with whom he spoke on 15 June and 21 June, 2006. On 3 July and 10 July, 2006 he spoke with "Mr. Kerzner" as opposed to "A. Kerzner". On 12 July, 2006, he spoke with Max Kerzner.

[5] McCarthy Tétrault did not agree to a cross-examination by Mr. Moldaver but then filed Mr. Underwood's affidavit sworn April 19, 2010 for use on this hearing.

[6] In Martin v. Gray, [1990] 3 S.C.R. 1235 at p. 1260, Sopinka J., speaking for a majority of 4 judges, and the test for a conflict turns on two questions:

1. Did the lawyer receive confidential information attributable to a solicitor and client relationship relevant to the matter at hand?

2. Is there a risk that it will be used to prejudice of the client?

[7] With respect to Question 1, in this case the answer is possibly "Yes". It is then on the solicitor to satisfy the court that no relevant information was imparted. I am not satisfied that "Mr. Kerzner" in the dockets did not refer to Max Kerzner or Joseph Kerzner and that they did not impart confidential information.

[8] As to the second question, if the solicitor has, or could have, relevant information the disqualification is automatic.

[9] Cory J. at p. 1264, speaking for 3 other judges, would impose a stricter standard. If there was a previous relationship sufficiently related to the retainer from which it is sought to remove the solicitor, the court would infer that confidential information was imparted unless the solicitor satisfied the court that no information was imparted which could be relevant.

[10] McCarthy Tétrault says that delay which lulls the Applicants into believing there is no problem and creates hardship is a factor in deciding these matters: Moffat v. Wetstein (1996), 29 O.R. (3d) 371; McLaughlin v. Falconbridge Ltd. (1998), 16 C.P.C. (4th) 183.

[11] The Application was commenced in December, 2009. Mr. Moldaver reminder McCarthy Tétrault of the conflict and the need to retain other counsel. McCarthy Tétrault recommended bringing this motion on January 11, 2010 and putting the case on the Commercial List.

[12] The cross-examinations on the Application have been held.

[13] This motion date was set on March 17, 2010 by Morawetz J. The Motion Record is dated April 8 and the Responding Materials were filed on April 19. No cross-examinations were held.

[14] There has obviously been some delay and the Applicant will be deprived of counsel of his choice but, considering the circumstances, the delay is not enough to overcome the dangers of a conflict of interest continuing to the possible prejudice of a client. In this case the delay was not more than two months.

ORDER

[15] The Applicant shall forthwith change to another counsel.

[16] On consent, the Main Application will proceed on the basis that the following statements are struck from the affidavit of Albert Kerzner dated December 8, 2009:

a) paragraph 24 in its entirety;

b) in paragraph 26, the words “other than the sketchy information Mr. Hall was able to obtain from Mr. Moskorie and the letter agreement”; and

c) in paragraph 30, the words “I am advised by Mr. Hall that he has received no response to this letter”.

COSTS

[17] If the parties cannot agree, the Respondent will file its submissions within 15 days and the Applicant will respond in 10 days.

REASONS FOR DECISION

Overview

[1] Anne Zaretsky (Anne) died on October 15, 2018, at the age of 92. She had three children, Marlene, the oldest; Harley, the middle child; and Rhonda, the youngest.

[2] During most of her lifetime, Anne basically owned three assets: her home at 151 Regina Avenue, Toronto; her 20% interest in Woburn Plaza Inc., which owned and operated a small retail plaza; and a sizeable GIC of approximately $800,000.

[3] On October 13, 2015, Anne moved out of her home into Amica Senior Lifestyles Thornhill, a retirement home facility. On October 26, 2015, her home was sold, with the closing taking place on December 4, 2015. Shortly after closing, the net proceeds of sale were divided equally between her three children along with most of the GIC.

[4] On October 28, 2015, she signed her last will and testament for excluded property. Other than a specific bequest of her diamond ring to a granddaughter, she divided her interest in Woburn Plaza Inc. equally between her three children. She also appointed her three children as her estate trustees. Also on October 28, 2015, she appointed her three children to be her powers of attorney for both the management of property and for her personal care and revoked all previous powers of attorney. Under the new powers of attorney, decisions were by a majority. Under a second will for non-excluded property, also dated October 28, 2015, she left her remaining property to be divided equally between her three children.

[6] Rhonda is challenging the October 2015 will for excluded property. She argues that Anne lacked the knowledge and approval of the 2015 will, that she lacked testamentary capacity, and that there were suspicious circumstances at the time the instructions were given for the 2015 will and at the time of its execution. While Rhonda had also alleged that there was undue influence exerted by the respondents upon Anne in relation to the creation of the 2015 will, during closing argument Rhonda advised that she was no longer relying upon this as an argument. Rhonda also raised the issue of ademption. If successful in setting aside the 2015 will, the proceeds of sale from the sale of the home have already been distributed and the provision in the non-excluded will of 2013 that the home is to go to Rhonda cannot be met. Rhonda argues that ss. 36 to 38 of the Ontario Substitute Decisions Act, 1992, S.O. 1992, c. 30 apply and that Marlene and Harley should be required to repay the proceeds they received from the sale of the home.

[7] Marlene and Harley argue that Anne had the requisite knowledge and approval of the 2015 will, had testamentary capacity and that there were no suspicious circumstances or were insufficient suspicious circumstances, so as to shift the burden upon them to prove that Anne knew and approved of the contents of the 2015 will and had the necessary testamentary capacity. They also argue that the issue of ademption does not arise as the 2015 will is valid but even if not valid, there is no basis to order the return of the sale proceeds paid out in December 2015.

[8] The interest in Woburn Plaza Inc. was sold following Anne's death for approximately $2.4 million, after tax. The proceeds are being held in trust. If successful, Rhonda will receive the totality of the proceeds. If unsuccessful, she will receive a third or approximately $800,000.

Decision

[9] For the following reasons the Application is dismissed.

The Law

[10] In order to have testamentary capacity or a sound disposing mind a testator requires an understanding of 1) the nature and effect of a will, 2) the extent of one's assets, 3) the extent of what one is giving away, 4) who might be expected to benefit from the will and 5) the nature of the claims of those excluded from the will: see Hall v. Bennett (2003), 2003 CanLII 7157 (ON CA), 64 O.R. (3d) 191, at para. 14. Rhonda conceded that Anne understood the nature and effect of a will. As well, no one who might have a claim was excluded from the will. So, the points to consider here are whether Anne had an understanding of points 2, 3 and 4.

[11] While recognizing the importance of testamentary freedom and autonomy, which should not be interfered with lightly, at the same time courts recognize that there could be situations where testators, even where there is no undue influence, lack a sound and disposing mind. The issue then becomes as to who has the burden of proof. Is it for the one attacking the will to prove a lack of a sound and disposing mind or is it for the propounder of the will to prove the presence of a sound and disposing mind?

[12] Upon proof that a will has been duly executed and was read by or read to a testator who appeared to understand it, absent suspicious circumstances, a testator is presumed to have known and approved of the will's contents and to have possessed the necessary testamentary capacity: see Vout v. Hay, 1995 CanLII 105 (SCC), [1995] 2 S.C.R. 876, at para. 26. This does not mean that every word must be read but that the sense of the will, what was being disposed of, and how and to whom, was read or reviewed by the testator.

[13] Where there are suspicious circumstances regarding knowledge and approval then the propounder of the will has the legal burden of proving knowledge and approval. Where there are suspicious circumstances relating to mental capacity then the propounder of the will reassumes the legal burden of establishing testamentary capacity: see Vout, at para. 27.

[14] As a general rule, the testator must have the necessary testamentary capacity on the date the will is signed. This general rule does not apply where the execution of the will takes a two-step process, with the testator giving instructions on one day and the will reflecting those instructions being signed at a later date and time. In this case, the testator need not have full testamentary capacity on the date of execution provided she understands that she is signing a will and that the will gives effect to the previous instructions: see Yeas v. Yeas, 2017 ONSC 7402, at paras. 244, 314.

Analysis

[15] The parties agreed that there is no issue as to Anne's testamentary capacity until August 2015.

[16] On August 24, 2015, Anne was admitted to Mount Sinai Hospital in Toronto suffering from trigeminal neuralgia, or severe facial pain. While in the hospital she was given hydromorphone, a narcotic, as needed for the pain and carbamazepine, an anticonvulsant specifically used to treat trigeminal neuralgia. She was discharged on August 28, 2015.

[17] Rhonda's position is that from that point on Anne was a changed person. Whereas before she was feisty and active, she now was weak, frail, foggy and confused. That she was weak, frail, foggy and confused from her discharge from Mount Sinai in August 2015 became Rhonda's mantra throughout her testimony.

Sinai until she signed the 2015 wills on October 28, 2015. As far as they were concerned, she was completely capable of making decisions.

[19] Of those who knew her and gave evidence, at least up until her initial stay in Mount Sinai in August 2015, Anne is described pretty much the same way. While some of the adjectives are different, they all point in the same direction. According to Rhonda, she was feisty, a people-person, a walker, and always active. According to Marlene, she was warm, social, fun loving and feisty. According to Harley, she was strong willed, talkative and opinionated. According to Dr. Hotz, her long-time, family doctor, she was very lively, forthcoming, entertaining, energetic and sharp. According to Michael Kerzner, one of her nephews, she was lively, feisty, loud and intense. According to Jeffery Schwartz, who witnessed her 2015 wills and was the partner and son of her long-time lawyer Saul Schwartz, she was boisterous, loud and a presence.

[20] While they all acknowledge that she changed following her initial stay at Mount Sinai, only Rhonda testified that she had in effect lost her mental faculties and believed that she was incapable of thinking for herself, no longer able to make decisions, and no longer possessing the mental capacity to determine what she wished to do with her property upon her death.

[21] Following her discharge from Mount Sinai, it became clear that Anne could no longer manage her home and she decided in September 2015 that she should move into a retirement home. On October 1, 2015 she visited Amica and was interviewed by Ms. Sikich, the director of care, who interviewed all of the prospective residents to determine whether Amica could accommodate their needs.

[24] Rhonda, Marlene, and Harley all agree that they were notified on October 22, 2015 of the meeting at Saul's office on October 23, 2015. They agree that they knew it was to be a family meeting. They disagree over what was discussed at the meeting as well as what was agreed to.

[25] While Rhonda testified that they were told by Saul that Anne wanted to make a few changes to her will she stated that the changes were not discussed. Despite this, she says that she insisted that Anne had to have a competency test. She also insisted that Anne said very little and that everyone agreed, presumably Anne included, that Anne would have a competency test to be arranged by Saul.

[26] Marlene testified that they were told that the new will would be a return to an equal distribution and that there was discussion about the executors and powers of attorney with Harley insisting that he not be the sole executor or power of attorney. As to the assessment, while Rhonda was insisting upon one, Marlene and Harley did not think one was necessary, but that Rhonda was free to arrange one if she wanted. Anne, however, was offended by Rhonda's demand and refused to have one. Marlene also testified that Rhonda was in a foul mood throughout the meeting.

[27] Harley testified that it was clearly discussed with Anne present that all of Anne's estate was to be divided equally between the three of them including that the term deposit and house proceeds were to be divided in three ways. He stated that he did not want to be the sole executor and that after Saul discussed this with Anne, it was agreed that there would be three executors with a majority deciding. Saul questioned Anne throughout the meeting as to her wishes and she always responded that that was the way she wanted it. As to the assessment, he said that it was up to Anne and that if she wanted it, it would happen but that if she did not, it would not. He also testified that Anne was upset by Rhonda's insistence upon an assessment and suggested that Rhonda herself needed to be assessed. This was more of a rhetorical response from Anne.

[28] I accept Marlene and Harley's version of the meeting. While their testimony was not identical, they did agree upon the major issues – that the equality of division was discussed, that changes were to be made as to the executors, and that while Marlene and Harley were not opposed to an assessment being done it would be Anne's decision whether to have one or not. There was no agreement that an assessment would be done or that Saul was to arrange it. Their versions also agree, not only with Saul's notes of the meeting, but with what happened next, namely that the wills and powers of attorney were both changed, that there was no assessment, and that when 151 Regina was sold that the proceeds of sale and the term deposit were divided three ways after $180,000 was set aside for Anne's ongoing costs. Their version of the meeting also agrees with Michael Kerzner's recollection of a conversation with Anne where she told him what had transpired at the meeting at Saul's office.

[29] Rhonda's testimony as to what was discussed at the meeting or more importantly what was not discussed, namely the equal division of Anne's estate, is somewhat preposterous. How likely would it be for Saul to gather the entire family together and to tell them that Anne wished to change her will and then not have the changes made known. If the changes were not made known why would Rhonda then insist upon an assessment of Anne's competency? To be so insistent for an assessment would only have occurred if Rhonda knew what the changes were going to be and that her interest in Anne's estate was going from most of the estate to 33%.

[30] It was made clear at the meeting what Anne's wishes were. Anne refused an assessment and was offended by Rhonda's insistence that one take place. In accordance with Anne's instructions Saul drafted new wills and powers of attorney for Anne. He clearly must have had no concern with her ability to give instructions. He was an experienced estates lawyer and was Anne's long-time lawyer and knew her and her family intimately. There was nothing in his notes from the meeting indicating that he had a concern about Anne's competency to give instructions. His bigger concern seemed to be whether Anne's assets, including her term deposit, should be divided now or at a later date.

[31] Anne did distribute a large portion of her estate prior to her death with the concurrence of her three children including Rhonda. 151 Regina had been listed on October 19, 2015 and was sold on October 26, 2015 for $861,000 with a closing of December 4, 2015. Rhonda signed the agreement of purchase and sale as the sole power of attorney for Anne.

[32] Later, on December 1, 2015 for the purposes of the closing, Rhonda signed a declaration of possession on behalf of Anne along with Marlene and Harley, as the other powers of attorney. The declaration stated that Anne was the absolute owner of 151 Regina and that there was no one else with an interest in 151 Regina.

[33] Also, for the purposes of the closing, she signed an acknowledgment re power of attorney on the same day. It named all three children as the powers of attorney. It should have been clear to Rhonda that while she had been the sole power of attorney from July 2011 that by December 1, 2015, that was no longer the case and that all three were now powers of attorney as had been discussed at the meeting of October 23, 2015.

[34] Moreover, the acknowledgment, which Rhonda confirmed, stated that to the best of her knowledge, information and belief, the power of attorney was lawfully given. The only power of attorney this could refer to was the one signed by Anne on October 28, 2015 when she also signed her new wills. Rhonda clearly was prepared to acknowledge the validity of the power of attorney in order to close the real estate sale.

[35] When asked in her re-examination about the acknowledgement, she testified that she was asked to sign the acknowledgement, so she did, and that she did not know what she was signing.

Pointedly, she was not asked, and she did not testify that she did not know what she was signing with respect to the declaration of possession.

[36] Following the closing of the sale of 151 Regina, Rhonda and Marlene decided how the sale proceeds and the term deposit should be distributed. In an email to Marlene, Rhonda specifically referred to the instructions that Anne had given as to how the proceeds were to be divided. There was no evidence of the actual amount of closing proceeds or what was the actual amount of the term deposit. The amount of the term deposit was variously described as being $800,000 and $740,000. In any event, the parties all testified that they each received $470,000 from the equal division of the term deposit together with the sale proceeds after first setting aside $180,000 from the total amount for Anne's ongoing expenses.

[37] While not ultimately asserting that she was the owner of 151 Regina, Rhonda gave evidence that the home was supposed to be transferred to her as a joint tenant with Anne in May 2015. She claimed that in May 2015 everything that needed to be signed for the transfer had been done. However, the transfer did not occur. There was no evidence as to why it did not take place.

[38] Rhonda submits in response to her anti-ademption argument that if the 2015 wills are invalid then Marlene and Harley should be ordered to return their portion of the share of the house proceeds, as she should have been the joint owner of 151 Regina at the time of the sale and the payment to Marlene and Harley of the net sale proceeds were paid by mistake. She alleges in argument that Schwartz & Schwartz were negligent in not having the home transferred into joint tenancy.

[39] I am unable to accept Rhonda's argument that there was a mistake in the payment to Marlene and Harley and that she did not know that she did not own 151 Regina as a joint tenant with Anne. The agreement of purchase and sale clearly states, and the words were added in, that Rhonda was the seller as the power of attorney for Anne. It does not say that she and Anne were the joint owners. The declaration of possession, which Rhonda swore to, clearly states that only Anne was the owner of 151 Regina and that no one else had a claim or interest in it. Rhonda never raised a concern with Saul or Jeffery Schwartz, or anyone else at the firm, that the transfer that had at one time been contemplated in May 2015 to make her a joint owner had not taken place. The transfer in fact had never happened. Again, there was no evidence as to why it did not.

[40] I am unable to accept that Rhonda has any claim with respect to any interest in the term deposit or proceeds from the sale of 151 Regina paid to Marlene or Harley even if I were to find that the 2015 wills were not valid. Rhonda was a direct participant in the sale and the ultimate distribution. She made no objection at the time. She did more than acquiesce to the making of the payments, in fact she facilitated them.

[41] With the distribution of the sale proceeds and term deposit, Anne's remaining asset was her interest in Woburn Plaza. Under her will for excluded property this interest was divided equally among her three children.

[42] Anne was no stranger to the preparation and execution of wills. Twelve sets of wills were put into evidence before me covering a period of time from November 1975 to the contested wills of October 28, 2015. In addition, over the years, Anne executed numerous powers of attorney for personal care and property and various codicils to her wills.

[43] In the first will put before me, she left everything to her husband, except for anything which she might get from her father, Sam Kerzner's estate, or her mother, Sarah Kerzner's estate, which was to be divided equally among her three children. In her next will in 1981 everything was divided equally between her children. In 1983 Harley was given a life interest in her home at 151 Regina, with everything else divided equally between the three. In 1986 it reverted to the equal division. In 1991 Marlene was to receive a condominium, Harley and Rhonda were to receive 151 Regina, with appraisals being done, with the other assets being divided equally. In a 1994 will, the specific bequests were removed, and everything was to be divided equally, with the request that her interest in Woburn Plaza be held for 5 years before being sold. In 2000 everything was to be divided equally. In 2008 the condominium and 151 Regina were to go to Marlene and Rhonda and the balance being divided equally among the three. In 2011 Woburn Plaza was to go to Rhonda, the condominium and 151 Regina to Marlene and Rhonda and the balance divided equally among the three. In 2011, Anne began signing multiple wills including a will for excluded property, namely Woburn Plaza. In a 2012 will, Woburn Plaza was to go to Marlene and Rhonda, 151 Regina to Rhonda, and the balance divided equally among the three. As previously indicated, in the 2013 will Woburn Plaza and 151 Regina were to go to Rhonda and the balance divided equally among the three and in the 2015 will everything was divided equally.

[44] All of Anne's wills were prepared by Saul Schwartz. Many, including the 2013 and 2015 wills, were witnessed by Saul's son and law partner Jeffery who practiced 33 years with his father. Saul died on November 8, 2015, at the age of 91. It was unfortunate that Saul was not available to give evidence at trial as he had a long relationship with Anne and his evidence as the drafting solicitor would have been very helpful.

[45] There was a great deal of evidence from Rhonda, Marlene and Harley about their respective relationships with Anne and each other, going back years, and much of it was conflicting. For example, Rhonda testified that she was the most involved in Anne's life and saw her daily, whereas Marlene saw Anne twice a month and Harley only occasionally. Both Marlene and Harley disagreed with this and said that they talked to and saw Anne more frequently than what Rhonda had testified, especially following Anne's hospitalization at Mount Sinai.

[46] There was much evidence about their respective financial situations and what Anne had done for each of them over the years. There was much evidence about their own relationships with each other. There was evidence presented in order, it would seem, to justify why Anne made the provisions that she did in her various wills from time-to-time. Most of this evidence was irrelevant to the ultimate issue before me – whether Anne had the necessary testamentary capacity when she made the 2015 wills.

[47] Where all of this evidence does assist is in determining whether there were suspicious circumstances relating to the 2015 wills.

[48] In my view, there were no suspicious circumstances so as to place the legal burden on Marlene and Harley regarding knowledge and approval of the 2015 wills by Anne. The sharing of her estate equally among her three children was not such a departure from past bequests so as to raise any suspicion. This was not a bequest that had never been considered before.

[50] I accept that a testator does not require a reason for who her beneficiaries are to be and the amount each are to receive. However, if there is a rationale for a testator's decision that will minimize any suggestion of suspicious circumstances and support the finding of testamentary capacity. Here, Anne had reverted to what had been a common disposition by her for many years.

[51] No one can truly know Anne's motivation other than an obvious desire to treat her children equally as expressed in the will itself. Perhaps she remembered how she felt when she was excluded from her own mother's will in the early 1990's. Perhaps it was the more recent exclusion from her brother Joe's will following his death in January 2015.

[52] According to Marlene she was devastated when she was left out of her own mother's will. In cross-examination Rhonda agreed that Anne was upset by this.

[53] According to her nephew, Michael Kerzner, Anne viewed her exclusion from her brother Joe's will as inequitable. Michael testified that Anne told him that while she understood that her children were in different financial positions, she did not want to go to her grave with her children fighting and believed that changing her will back to what it had been before, namely an equal distribution would make what had been a wrong, right.

[54] I accept Michael's evidence. It was consistent with the evidence of Jeffery Schwartz, and Marlene and Harley as to what Anne wanted. Michael was close to his aunt Anne. He saw and talked to her regularly. There was no reason for him to say what he said other than telling the truth. He was an admitted friend of Harley but was also close to Marlene and Rhonda and had been close with Anne.

[55] The onus was on Rhonda to prove that Anne lacked the knowledge and approval of the 2015 wills and she has failed to meet this onus. I accept the evidence of Jeffrey Schwartz that the wills were reviewed with Anne before they were signed. Moreover, the wills accorded with Anne's instructions given to Saul during the family meeting just a few days before the wills' execution.

[56] The wills, like all previous wills were exceedingly straightforward. Anne had basically three assets. They were to be divided equally among her children. It is clear from the testimony of Marlene and Harley about the meeting of October 23, 2015 what Anne wanted to do. This was supported by the notes of Saul. I am unable to accept Rhonda's testimony that Anne did not disclose her wishes at the meeting. Not only is it contrary to all of the other evidence and what actually happened after the meeting it is simply illogical to have all of the children meet with Anne's lawyer and not discuss what was on everyone's mind.

[57] This was not a situation where a new lawyer, unfamiliar with the testator and her family and her prior wills, was retained to prepare a will that was a departure from previous wills. This was not a situation where the testator found a new and perhaps recent beneficiary for her estate. Nor was this a situation where the testator prepared her will in secret with no notice to any of the beneficiaries. Nor was this a will done in a hurry as the testator lay dying in a hospital. To the contrary, this was a situation where the testator arranged for and attended a specific meeting with the beneficiaries and made her wishes known. While Harley transported Anne to Saul's office on the day the wills were executed, he did not stay. This is a far cry from saying that he, as a beneficiary, was instrumental in the preparation of the wills.

[58] This leaves the issue of Anne's mental capacity. Based upon the totality of the evidence I find that there is no compelling evidence of suspicious circumstances relating to Anne's mental capacity and that Rhonda has failed to prove that Anne lacked the mental capacity to instruct Saul with respect to the wills on October 23, 2015 or to execute the wills on October 28, 2015.

[59] As already indicated, everyone agrees that there was no issue with Anne's mental capacity prior to her admission to Mount Sinai in August 2015. Rhonda disagrees with everyone about Anne's mental capacity following her discharge.

[60] Upon her discharge from Mount Sinai and up to the execution of the wills on October 28, 2015, Rhonda testified that Anne was weak, frail, foggy and confused and that she never recovered. Rhonda went even further and testified that, in her view, Anne lost her short-term memory at the same time that she moved into Amica and that she never recovered it.

[61] This was contradicted by anyone else who knew Anne. To Marlene, while she had slowed down and needed a walker, which did not make her happy, she was the same person, feisty and delegating chores to her three children as required. To Harley she still "directed traffic" for others and made her own decisions. To Michael Kerzner, she was incredibly sharp and fiery. He described her as Margaret Thatcheresque. He thought that she had a clear mind at the end of October 2015. Jeffery Schwartz was not asked about whether she had changed although he was asked specifically about his meeting with her on October 28, 2015, at the will signing.

[62] Jeffrey testified that Anne did not appear dazed, confused, sedated or in an altered state. While she talked more slowly than in the past, she did not say or do anything which suggested that she had any cognitive issues. While he had on occasion refused to prepare wills for clients where he was concerned about their testamentary capacity, he had no concerns when Anne executed her wills that day. They talked about her assets that she was bequeathing, namely the ring and her interest in Woburn Plaza, and what it was like living in Amica. Anne discussed her family and specifically her father and her brother Joe who had recently died. She confirmed that she wanted to divide her estate equally among her children.

[63] Rhonda's position was also disagreed with by Anne's long-time family doctor, Dr. Hotz. While Dr. Hotz' evidence was not perfect, and contradictions in some of it was pointed out, he never resiled from his ultimate position that Anne had mental capacity and did not have dementia during the critical period of October 2015.

[64] In his encounter notes from September 4, 2015 and September 10, 2015 Dr. Hotz described Anne as foggy, weak (sic), with nausea, frail and confused. He testified that he believed this was a result of the carbamazepine and he reduced her dosage before eliminating it on September 10th. In his testimony, when asked about the notes, he said that, from his examination of Anne, she was more drowsy and not confused with a memory problem or dementia. In his encounter note of September 16, 2015 he was concerned about a possible stroke and he ordered tests which turned out to be negative. While Anne was less alert and engaged, he did not view this as progressive and believed it would pass.

[65] On September 26, 2015 he completed a form on behalf of Anne to provide to Amica. In it he indicated that Anne presently had mild delirium, but as he testified, that was based upon his last encounter on September 16, 2015 and he did not know if she had recovered. On the area of the form dealing with Anne's cognitive function he put question marks beside Dementia and Confusion. As he testified, he believed that any issues Anne had at that time were reversible and were a result of the carbamazepine and that if he had a true concern with dementia he would have checked the appropriate boxes and ordered more tests. When he saw Anne next on November 18, 2015 he had no concerns with her cognitive function. He continued to treat Anne through the balance of her life and never diagnosed her with dementia.

[66] In cross-examination he agreed that dementia is progressive. However, he maintained that in his view Anne never had dementia as it had to be sustained to be dementia and that her issues were specific arising from other causes such as her medication or anemia.

[68] The intake forms for Amica certainly do not lead to a conclusion that Anne had dementia or lacked mental capacity. Based on Amica policy, Anne would not have been allowed to reside in Amica if she had dementia or any cognitive disorder. The fact that she was living there dispels any suggestion that she had either. The fact that she was in assisted living was explained by Ms. Sikich. Anne needed some assistance with her care and was not completely comfortable with her memory. That is a far cry from having dementia or suffering from delirium. As Ms. Sikich testified, when she interviewed Anne there was no indication of either.

[69] I give no weight to the notes from Amica that on October 28, 2015, the day of the will signing, she was "groggy". No one testified as to what was meant by that. It could have been Anne's explanation for why she fell as much as anything and provides no evidence as to her mental state. I also give no weight to the patient assessment form from the pharmacy as to Anne's cognitive impairment. Again no one testified on behalf of the pharmacy. The form appears to have been prepared to assist in the dispensing of medication and was not a true assessment of Anne.

[70] I also place no weight upon the cancellation of the Baycrest referral from Dr. Hotz to Baycrest by Marlene on October 5, 2015. It is not a suspicious circumstance. This was well before the October 23, 2015 meeting where Anne made her wishes known to her children and where she re-confirmed her instructions to Saul to prepare new wills for her execution. Marlene was under the impression that the referral from Dr. Hotz was for a physio assessment as Anne was having balance issues and was terrified of falling, and that had been the issue she had raised with Dr. Hotz. She did not raise any issue with him over Anne's cognition. She cancelled it, at Anne's request, as Anne was no longer having balance issues, she had had the Amica interview and was moving into Amica. Dr. Hotz was not concerned when he found out about the cancellation.

[72] There is only one witness, other than perhaps Rhonda, who says that Anne had dementia at the time she executed her wills: Dr. Richard Shulman.

[74] A retrospective analysis is done by reviewing some of the court material, some of the discovery transcripts and various medical records and then forming an opinion based on this. A retrospective opinion is made without the person providing the opinion ever meeting, examining or assessing the individual in question. One has to rely on what is provided, and as pointed out elsewhere by others faced with this sort of evidence the expert has to form their opinion based upon material that is less than complete, perhaps inaccurate and where coming from one of the parties themselves, biased.

[75] Here Dr. Richard Shulman, while provided with the examinations for discovery of Harley and Marlene, was not provided with the examination for discovery of Rhonda. Nor was he provided with the transcript of the cross-examination of Jeffrey Schwartz. He did say that he tried to emphasize the medical data rather than the evidence of lay witnesses, however, he did not review the will-say statement of Anne's personal physician Dr. Hotz and he did not review the medical data after October 28, 2015 in great detail.

[76] Dr. Richard Shulman stated that there was insufficient clinical information in the Mount Sinai records from August 25, 2015 to confirm whether Anne had suffered a delirium, which is an acute decline in attention and cognition. However, he suspected that she had suffered a delirium while in Mount Sinai based upon Dr. Hotz's progress notes, presumably the ones from September 4 – 10, as he did not specifically identify which ones.

[77] It should be remembered that Dr. Hotz in his testimony downplayed these notes, felt the issues were temporary based upon the carbamazepine and that Anne was not confused, and did not have a memory problem or dementia.

[78] In his report, Dr. Richard Shulman, stated that delirium is potentially reversible but may also unmask dementia associated with Alzheimer's disease, or accelerate cognitive or functional decline in a person with pre-existing Alzheimer's disease or in hospitalized seniors. There was no evidence presented that Anne at any point had pre-existing Alzheimer's disease or Alzheimer's disease. She was only hospitalized for five days at Mount Sinai, months before the October 2015 wills and upon discharge there was no mention of delirium or dementia. He also agreed that the carbamazepine can potentially provoke delirium.

[79] Dr. Richard Shuman concluded that Anne was suffering from dementia in October 2015 because of two concerns. Firstly, in his view she could no longer live independently and secondly, she was no longer managing her property because the sale of 151 Regina was being done by others.

[80] He came to this conclusion while acknowledging that the medical evidence did not warrant a finding that Anne had dementia in October 2015. Dr. Hotz concluded that she did not. There was nothing in the discharge statements from Mount Sinai in October 2015 suggesting that Anne had any cognitive issues. There was nothing in the consult notes of Dr. Patel from Mount Sinai of November 21, 2015 suggesting any cognitive issues. To the contrary, Dr. Patel specifically wrote that she did not appear to be confused or delirious.

[81] In my view, very little weight should be given to Dr. Richard Shulman's opinion when it is based not upon any medical evidence but more so on his two above mentioned concerns and what was really a legal analysis of whether the evidence supports a finding of a lack of testamentary capacity. That is the court's function. If there was medical evidence that needed to be interpreted for the court, that is one thing, but for him to undertake the very analysis that the court is tasked to do, is quite another. Moreover, there were plausible explanations given for both of his concerns – Ms. Sikich explained why Anne was in the assisted living section, and Anne was not part of the house sale because she had vision issues and actively delegated the mechanics of the sale to others.

[82] It would appear that I am not the only one who has raised concerns with retrospective assessments such as this. Gans, J. in Kates Estate, 2020 ONSC 7046 raised concerns over the weight to be given to a retrospective analysis of testamentary capacity. Dr. Richard Shulman provided a report in that matter as did Dr. Kenneth Shulman, who also gave evidence before me. It is unclear from a reading of the Kates decision what position the respective Drs. Shulman took as to the testamentary capacity of the deceased, but Gans, J. appeared to give little weight to the retrospective reports before him.

[83] Dr. Kenneth Shuman is also a geriatric psychiatrist. He was retained by Marlene and Harley to also perform a retrospective analysis of Anne's testamentary capacity.

[84] His conclusion was that while Anne had some cognitive impairment, he was satisfied that she did not have dementia and was not so impaired that she could not execute her wills in October 2015. He focused on the medical records and was comforted by the will-say statement of Dr. Hotz which clarified his encounter notes from September 2015 wherein he concluded that Anne at no time was suffering from dementia.

[85] He testified that he was very hesitant to find dementia in a retrospective report and in commenting on Dr. Richard Shulman's report testified that just because Anne could not function independently anymore should not lead to the conclusion that she had cognitive impairment. There could be other reasons for the loss of independent living, such as a loss of mobility or trigeminal neuralgia, and whereas cognitive impairment could lead to a loss of independence, a loss of independence was not necessarily proof of cognitive impairment. Loss of independence could be a symptom of cognitive impairment but was not proof of it.

[86] In cross-examination, while he acknowledged that it would have been better if a formal assessment had been done, there was none. He was also unable to comment on the diagnoses of dementia from the October 2018 medical records other than pointing out there was no such diagnosis in the November 2015 medical records from Mount Sinai.

[87] He also pointed out in cross-examination that some of the comments in the Amica notes when Anne first moved there are the normal phenomena associated with an 89-year-old changing their living arrangements and entering a retirement home. He placed little weight on them. This was also the evidence of Ms. Sikich who stated that it was not unusual for a new resident in a new environment, like a retirement home, to be confused and that after some time they become more comfortable. Also, the Amica notes from October 28, 2015 stating that Anne fell and felt "groggy" do not necessarily lead to the conclusion that she was not capable of signing a will that day.

[88] While I have the same concern overall with Dr. Kenneth Shulman's retrospective report because he never met, examined or assessed Anne, his opinion appeared to be based more on the medical records than on speculation upon the surrounding circumstances leading up to the October 2015 wills. I prefer his evidence over that of Dr. Richard Shulman's.

[89] Having said that, I prefer the evidence of Dr. Hotz and Jeffrey Schwartz, the two professionals who actually dealt with Anne. The two based their impressions on their knowledge of Anne and their direct personal experiences with her. Dr. Kenneth Shulman's opinion buttresses their evidence as does the evidence from Ms. Sikich and Michael Kerzner who were independent and uninterested witnesses. As to the parties, I found Marlene and Harley's evidence to be tempered and in line with the documentary evidence whereas Rhonda's was exaggerated, directed towards the result she desired and was contrary to the documentation. Her position was also inconsistent. Rhonda was prepared to follow the October 2015 power of attorney in order to facilitate the sale of 151 Regina and specifically acknowledged its validity. As a result, she received $470,000 following the sale and the division of the net proceeds and the term deposit. Yet, when it came to the will, executed the same day, she took the position that Anne lacked the necessary testamentary capacity.

[90] There are insufficient suspicious circumstances to place the onus of proving testamentary capacity on Marlene and Harley. However, even if I had found that there were sufficient suspicious circumstances so as to place the burden upon Marlene and Harley, they, on the evidence, have also met that burden on a balance of probabilities. I am satisfied that on October 23, 2015 when Anne gave the instructions, and on October 28, 2015 when she signed the wills prepared pursuant to those instructions, Anne had the necessary testamentary capacity.

[91] Because I find the wills to be valid, the issue of anti-ademption does not arise. However, as I indicated earlier in my decision, even if the wills were found to be invalid, the provisions of s. 36 of the Substitute Decisions Act cannot apply where the alleged insufficiency of the residue in the estate was created on consent under the direction of the party now seeking the relief of the section.

[92] I have received the Bill of Costs of both the applicant and the respondents. The amounts set out in each Bill, while not the same, are close. I would hope that the parties would be able to reach an agreement on costs, but if unable to do so, the respondents are to upload and serve their cost submissions of no more than 10 typed, double-spaced pages, with any necessary offers and caselaw attached within three weeks of today's date. I am giving extra time in order to discuss the resolution of costs. If the parties do reach an agreement, I am to be informed of the fact of the agreement by email to my assistant maria.kolliopoulos@ontario.ca . The applicant is to provide her cost submissions subject to the same directions within two weeks of the service of the respondents' submissions. The respondents may provide reply submissions of no more than 5 typed double-spaced pages within one week thereafter.

Subject I: Formal Notification of Requisition for Investigation pursuant to the Personal Information Protection and Electronic Documents Act, S.C. 2000, c. 5 ("PIPEDA")

Subject II: Postulation of Ineluctable Federal Jurisdictional Ascendancy over the Organization designated as "Tribunals Ontario" (Collectively, the "Correspondence": "Subjects", "Foci", or "Themes").

I. PROLEGOMENON AND JURISDICTIONAL POSTULATION

I cordially write regarding the above Subjects of this Correspondence. I proffer my gratitude ab initio for your time and judicious consideration of this Correspondence and its pertinent attachments (by reference or inclusion). I am demonstrably cognizant of your finite yet valuable resources, which is precisely why I have devoted immense and exhaustive time to the meticulous research and application of the legal principles herein to the factual antecedents herein. The preparation of this voluminous instrument, demanding an exacting concordance between factual particulars and statutory requirements, is intended to facilitate a perspicacious review, thereby conserving both the public and private fisc through the application of intellectual diligence ab initio.

I confirm the unambiguous adoption of all definitions established in previously, indirectly or directly, cited correspondence, mutatis mutandis, for the purposes of this instrument's construction.

I hereby formally transmit notification of the lodging of a Requisition for Investigation pursuant to the Personal Information Protection and Electronic Documents Act, S.C. 2000, c. 5 ("PIPEDA"), which has been duly submitted to the esteemed Office of the Privacy Commissioner of Canada ("OPCC"). For the purposes of precise recordkeeping and adherence to procedural exactitude, the following particulars are herein provided:

1. Reference Numeration (OPCC): PIPEDA-050708
2. Intake Authority: Office of the Privacy Commissioner of Canada, 30 Victoria Street, Gatineau, Québec K1A 1H3

II. THE INELUCTABLE APPLICABILITY OF FEDERAL MANDATE

I remain steadfastly ensconced in the uncontroverted legal position that the administrative Organization designated as "Tribunals Ontario" is demonstrably and ineluctably subject to the prescriptive authority of PIPEDA. This enduring postulation is predicated upon all previously and exhaustively espoused legal principles and factual antecedents, which have been duly tendered to the OPCC for its judicious consideration and formal investigation. I have appended copies of Exhibits "A" to "C" for your expeditious reference and in the spirit of a collaborative access partnership.

The Imperative Mandate of Statutory Construction under the Interpretation Act

The foundational premise for this jurisdictional assertion is reinforced, a fortiori, by the canonical rules of statutory interpretation established by the Interpretation Act, RSC 1985, c I-21. This federal enactment mandates the definitive construction of all federal legislation, including PIPEDA, thereby dictating the non-permissive nature of the Organization's obligations.
Specifically, the Act stipulates concerning the construction of legislative commands:

1. §11. The expression "shall" is to be construed as imperative and the expression "may" as permissive.
2. The voluminous recurrence of the term "shall" throughout PIPEDA's Schedule 1—delineating the 53 distinct "shall" clauses (Appendix IV)—thus assumes an unassailable imperative character. These are not hortatory recommendations; they are mandatory duties, the contravention of which constitutes a breach *per se.
3. Furthermore, the paramount remedial object of federal law is assured by:

4. §12. Every enactment is deemed remedial, and shall be given such fair, large and liberal construction and interpretation as best ensures the attainment of its objects.

This provision is the constitutional bulwark compelling a broad and expansive interpretation of PIPEDA's jurisdictional reach, ensuring that its objects—the robust protection of personal data—are not defeated by the technicalities of a provincial administrative structure. This interpretive lens is essential to foreclose the possibility of any entity existing as an unaccountable repository of sensitive information within the federal sphere.

B. Provincial Exclusion and the Regulatory Lacuna

It is an established statutory and jurisprudential truth that "Tribunals Ontario" is not an "institution" within the definitive ambit of the Freedom of Information and Protection of Privacy Act, R.S.O. 1990, c. F.31 ("FIPPA"). This conspicuous omission from the exhaustive enumeration within the relevant provincial regulation (R.R.O. 1990, Regulation 460, General) triggers the legal maxim of expressio unius est exclusio alterius—the express mention of one thing (the constituent tribunals) excludes all others (the administrative umbrella organization). Consequently, the Organization is legally precluded from acceding to access requisitions tendered pursuant to the said provincial enactment, and the OIPC Ontario is ipso facto rendered incompetent to adjudicate appeals stemming from this legislative lacuna. "Tribunals Ontario" maintains a structural separation, occupying a distinct administrative domicile and spatial demarcation from its constituent adjudicative tribunals (as substantiated by Exhibit B, detailing its 19th-floor location), yet it conspicuously evades the definitional parameters of an institution under FIPPA. The resulting regulatory void is not a realm of freedom, but a terra incognita demanding the supremacy of the federal law to ensure the uninterrupted protection of personal information.

The Organization's avoidance of a definitive FIPPA response may be interpreted as a tacit admission of its regulatory ambiguity. It is trite in jurisprudence that if "Tribunals Ontario" harboured a subjective, defensible conviction that it was subjected to the strictures of FIPPA, it would have definitively provided a comprehensive, compliant response regarding the same, but this Organization has conspicuously failed to do so. This recalcitrance compels the application of the Paramountcy Doctrine, ensuring that the federal legislative object—the robust protection of personal data—is not thwarted by an anomalous provincial administrative structure.

Through an advanced syllogism and extrapolation of fundamental legal principles, the inescapable conclusion is rendered self-evident: "Tribunals Ontario" must necessarily be subjected to some form of access to information and/or privacy legislation within our constitutional jurisprudence. An administrative entity that aggregates and centrally manages sensitive Personal Information (PII) and Personal Health Information (PHI) derived from adjudicative proceedings cannot exist as an unaccountable repository. A fortiori, should the application of provincial government legislation prove inapposite, and acknowledging its demonstrable exclusion from federal government exceptions (as confirmed by the MOU, Exhibit C, which explicitly disclaims its status as a Crown Agency), the residual locus of regulatory authority must repose in the federal laws governing the collection, utilization, and disclosure of personal information. This is the sine qua non of accountability, reflecting the quasi-constitutional status afforded to privacy entitlements in the Canadian legal architecture. The principles of the Interpretation Act, particularly §12, further compel the application of PIPEDA as the governing lex generalis in the absence of an applicable lex specialis.

Furthermore, the systematic centralization of IT, human resources, and records management functions under the banner of "Tribunals Ontario" constitutes a commercial character for the purposes of PIPEDA. This comprehensive logistical and transactional operation, encompassing the procurement and maintenance of complex, multi-million dollar data infrastructures, falls within the expansive definition of an "organization" engaged in a "commercial activity," regardless of its non-profit or quasi-governmental status. The collection, utilization, and disclosure (CUAD) of this sensitive information in the course of managing these shared services inherently activates the federal statute's jurisdiction, thereby closing the jurisdictional black hole that Tribunals Ontario currently purports to inhabit.

III. AMPLIFICATION OF JURISDICTIONAL ARGUMENTS, FACTUAL EXTRAPOLATIONS, AND STATUTORY DEFICIENCIES

A. Non-Technical Access Objective and Mandatory Compliance

This requisition, addressed to Tribunals Ontario at the 19th floor of 25 Grosvenor Street, to the attention of Mr. Sean I ir (Executive Chair) and Mr. Harry Gousoupolos (Executive Director), is grounded in the non-derogable obligations of federal statute. While the FIPPA statutory framework requires that each and every access request explicitly references the specific provincial enactment, PIPEDA operates upon a broader, principle-based model and imposes no such technical requirement. Without being overly technical, my immutable objective remains the comprehensive procurement of any and all Personal Information (PII) and information (see: §9(4) of PIPEDA for an example of an override section for disclosure) that Tribunals Ontario has held, is holding, has used, has accessed (see: §7 of PIPEDA for definitional guidance), and a detailed, comprehensive list of disclosures that Tribunals Ontario may have engaged in. The emphasis placed upon the word "may" is critical, reflecting the accountability principle's extension to potential, as well as actual, third-party disclosures. In this regard, I note that the 53 distinct "shall" clauses enumerated under PIPEDA's Schedule 1 (as contained in Appendix IV) constitute the minimum, non-derogable standards of compliance.

B. The Juridical Status of Legal Counsel and Organizational Control

It is a telling observation that numerous legal counsel are engaged to provide legal advice to the Executive Chair of Tribunals Ontario, but not to Tribunals Ontario itself qua legal entity. This is most distinct from a legal counsel, notably of its employer, providing legal advice directly to Tribunals Ontario itself, thereby implicating a profound difference in the locus of the client-privilege relationship. This is particularly relevant when juxtaposed against the hypothetical scenario raised in Derenzis (Justice Mundane), where the Executive Chair, arguably switching hats, reported a lawyer to the Law Society of Ontario (LSO). In such an instance, the switching of capacities, from administrative head to private complainant or regulatory reporter, renders the disclosure and its underlying documentation subject to divergent privacy and access regimes, creating an epistemological conundrum regarding the applicability of FIPPA versus PIPEDA depending on the Executive Chair's current capacity.

The problem is further compounded when advice is provided not to the Executive Chair in his prescribed capacity as the "head of institution" under a FIPPA General Regulation involving a specific, independent constituent tribunal, but rather generally to him in his overarching capacity as Executive Chair of Tribunals Ontario. An even more acute issue arises when purported advice is provided to an Executive Director or other higher-ranking official of Tribunals Ontario who holds no statutory or prescribed denotation as the head of an institution.

C. The Factual and Statutory Disassociation from the Crown

I continue to repeat and rely upon the usage of language by our Legislature in referencing "a tribunal" and "multiple tribunals," consistently avoiding a definitive legal designation for the administrative collective, Tribunals Ontario. Moreover, as per the Memorandum of Understanding (MOU) between the Attorney General of Ontario (AGO) and the Executive Chair of Tribunals Ontario in his professional capacity (not personal, domestic, or for literary or artistic purposes), this document, summarized as follows, demonstrates yet again that the Government of Ontario does not control, own, or operate (COO) Tribunals Ontario:

Contract Summary	Details
Contract Type	Memorandum of Understanding
Parties	The Attorney General of Ontario ("Minister") and The Executive Chair of Tribunals Ontario ("Executive Chair")
Effective Date	December 22, 2022
Termination Clause	The Minister may terminate the MOU at any time with 30 days' written notice. The MOU expires five years from its effective date unless renewed or replaced.
Audit Rights	The Minister may direct audits; the Ontario Internal Audit Division or Auditor General may conduct audits. Tribunals Ontario must provide reports.
Payment Terms	Tribunals Ontario is funded by the Government of Ontario through the Consolidated Revenue Fund. The Licence Appeal Tribunal - Automobile Accident Benefits Service charges back its costs to the insurance industry.
Liability	Tribunals Ontario is covered for commercial general liability risks under the Government of Ontario's General and Road Liability Protection Program.
Confidentiality	Legal advice provided to Tribunals Ontario related to adjudicative matters is treated as confidential between Tribunal Counsel and Tribunals Ontario.

This MOU, executed in December 2022 (Exhibit "C"), coupled with the public record (specifically the "Sunshine List"), confirms that while Mr. Weir was previously denoted as employed by the AGO between 2020 and 2022, his employer name switched to Tribunals Ontario in 2024. This change is not coincidental and serves as compelling extrinsic evidence that the Crown Agency Act's COO test is not met, further negating any potential exemption from PIPEDA.

D. The Commercial Activity Test and Ubi Jus, Ibi Remedium

The issue of what constitutes a "Commercial Activity" for the purposes of PIPEDA remains without definitive and binding jurisprudence specifically involving Tribunals Ontario. However, the Federal Interpretation Act necessitates a broad interpretation. While there is no dispute that Tribunals Ontario is not a non-profit or charity, previous case law, such as Cusack v. The Lawyers' Professional Indemnity Co., 2013 ONSC 5511 (Justice E. Morgan), albeit obiter regarding LawPro's regulatory function, confirms that even entities operating outside a purely competitive commercial sphere may be subjected to PIPEDA where their activities involve CUAD of personal information. The overarching Latin expression that underscores "ubi jus, ibi remedium" (where there is a right, there must be a remedy) is activated. Given that our Legislature has specifically excluded Tribunals Ontario from FIPPA, and our Parliament has implicitly excluded it from the federal Privacy Act, Tribunals Ontario must a fortiori be subjected to the residual privacy legislation.

Unlike British Columbia and Alberta, which have enacted specific provincial legislation to exempt Organizations from PIPEDA where their CUAD activities are contained intra the borders of those provinces, our Legislature has chosen not to do so as it relates to Personal Information. Furthermore, while the Legislature has passed legislation related to the collection of PHI, it is strictly constrained to the CUAD involving designated healthcare providers, leaving a significant gap regarding administrative bodies like Tribunals Ontario.

E. The Confluence of Statutory Gaps and Mandatory Breach Notification

The core issue of the privacy lacuna is exemplified by the statutory divergence concerning breach notification. The privacy breach provisions under §40.1 of FIPPA relate to theft, loss, and unauthorized CUAD involving a FIPPA-designated institution (e.g., a constituent tribunal). For example, where the Licence Appeal Tribunal (LAT) collects PII under §280(2) of the Insurance Act, it does not state that Tribunals Ontario is also collecting, using, or disclosing that information. Therefore, a privacy breach at the LAT is distinct from a breach at Tribunals Ontario.

Imagine a situation wherein a representative of the LAT improperly disclosed PII to Tribunals Ontario (rendering Tribunals Ontario an unauthorized subsequent collector), which was then stored in a filing cabinet on the 19th floor of 25 Grosvenor. If a theft then occurred on the 19th floor, Tribunals Ontario would have different obligations under PIPEDA*'s Breach of Security Safeguards (BSS) provisions (specifically, the duty to notify all affected individuals subject to a Real Risk of Significant Harm (RROSH)). The constituent tribunal's obligations under FIPPA would be different from Tribunals Ontario's obligations under PIPEDA.

Furthermore, where there is a conflict on its face between federal and provincial legislation so deeply embedded, our governmental system operates in a manner where the federal trumps the provincial. The immunity provisions offer no succour:

- §6 of the Tribunal Adjudicative Records Act, 2019 (TARA) only relates to protection from personal liability for a member or an employee of a tribunal, not a non-employee or non-member of Tribunals Ontario.
- This distinction is crucial because the Crown Liability and Proceedings Act, 2019 (CLPA) at §8(3) applies the negation or limitation of liability for an officer/employee of the Crown to the Crown itself. If the person who committed the breach was not a member or employee of the tribunal, the qualified immunity is inapplicable.

Before any tort action can even be contemplated, the requestor must be able to exercise rights under a privacy or access to information statute. This has been the established law since McInerney v. MacDonald, 1992 2 SCR 138 (SCC), which affirmed that randomly and hopefully suing individuals for breaches of duty would lead to unnecessary floodgates of litigation without first exercising established access rights. The PIPEDA framework is the only available locus to exercise such rights.

Finally, consider the rogue employee of Tribunals Ontario (not a constituent tribunal member) who obtains information and uses it to make a false police complaint to the Toronto Police Service (TPS), which is governed by the Municipal Freedom of Information and Protection of Privacy Act (MFIPPA), not FIPPA. In this scenario, the initial unauthorized disclosure (oral or otherwise—PIPEDA applies to oral conversations; FIPPA generally does not) is committed by a Tribunals Ontario employee. The constituent tribunal would likely claim it has no custody or control of the information, whereas Tribunals Ontario would retain control of certain PII by way of CUAD. This necessitates the clear application of PIPEDA as the safety net of accountability.

IV. PERORATION AND CONCLUSION

I respectfully adjure you to ensure the citation of the PIPEDA* complaint file number (PIPEDA*-050708) in all future Correspondence emanating from your Organization, thereby ensuring terminological consistency and procedural fidelity across all relevant fora.

Furthermore, to ensure that these apparently novel issues of law (terra incognita) are subjected to forthwith investigation and subsequently afforded the opportunity to be heard and decided by the esteemed Federal Court of Canada ("FCC"), a copy of this Correspondence will be duly submitted to the OPCC Dropbox. This decisive action is necessary to resolve the jurisdictional conundrum for all Ontario residents subject to the Organization's administrative architecture.

CONCLUSION

The Organization's protracted silence subsequent to the temporal ambit provided in our formal requisition is herein construed as a wilful contravention of statutory obligations. The deliberate inattention to the mandamus clauses within PIPEDA*'s Schedule 1 (as enumerated in Appendix IV) constitutes not merely a procedural default, but a systemic failure indicative of an absence of a functional Privacy Management Program (PMP). The inevitable conclusion, predicated upon the Organization's structural complexity and demonstrable regulatory default, is that "Tribunals Ontario" is an Organization under PIPEDA, and its dereliction in furnishing a compliant response constitutes a fundamental breach of its primordial accountability duty. This protracted failure compels the OPCC's intervention to restore regulatory equilibrium and protect the individual privacy entitlements of the Complainant. It is submitted that the FCC must ultimately issue a definitive judicial declaration—a coup de grâce—to resolve this matter and ensure the unfettered accountability of the Organization under the federal statute.

We shall know soon enough if the OPCC investigator accepts jurisdiction or not. If the latter, I will marshal the matter forward to the FCC and I cordially remind you of section 8(8) of PIPEDA.

Yours most appreciatively and gratefully,

/Mr. Kevin A. McLean (BA, JD, CIM)

DICTATED AT FIRST INSTANCE (kindly excuse any errors of an administrative nature - reserve the right to amend for the same)

EXCLUSIVELY FOR THE PURPOSES OF PIPEDA

To: "Tribunals Ontario"
15 Grosvenor Street, Ground Floor
Toronto, ON M7A 2G6

Attention: Mr. Weir et al.

Subject: Requisition or Request for Access to Personal Information and Personal Health Information and Ancillary Matters Pertaining to Statutory Compliance under PIPEDA

Esteemed Sirs, Mesdames, or other Gender-Neutral Designations:

This epistolary communication is tendered with respect to the aforementioned subject matter. It is my profound hope that this exchange will be characterized by a spirit of collaborative access partnership, fostering an environment conducive to intellectual discourse and the meticulous examination of complex legal principles. Such a cooperative endeavour, I contend, is paramount for the betterment of the public interest and the unwavering administration of justice, in strict adherence to the venerable rule of law.

I write to unequivocally affirm, consequent to a meticulous computation predicated upon the exigencies of the Personal Information Protection and Electronic Documents Act, S.C. 2000, c. 5 (hereinafter, "PIPEDA"), that an organization, when furnishing a response to an access request thereunder, is statutorily allotted a period of thirty (30) calendar days from the precise date of reception of said written access requisition. I hereby reassert that the quantum of detail provided was demonstrably ample to facilitate a comprehensive and exhaustive search for all appurtenant personal information and personal health information pertaining to my person, which "Tribunals Ontario" may have obtained, collected, utilized, accessed, and/or disclosed subsequent to its initial acquisition. It is imperative to acknowledge the discernible shift in the locus of control pertaining to certain segments of my personal information, a development underscored by the judicial pronouncement in Derenzis v. Gore Mutual et al., rendered by the Honourable Justice Mundhane in May 2025, within the Superior Court of Justice (Central West Region), Brampton Courthouse. This decision, inter alia, brought into sharp relief the fundamental question of whether the adjudicative tribunals, by virtue of their structural integration within "Tribunals Ontario", can genuinely maintain their requisite independence.

Furthermore, it is an unequivocal legal extrapolation that "Tribunals Ontario" is indubitably subject to the purview of some form of privacy legislation. A priori, given its demonstrable exemption from the strictures of the Freedom of Information and Protection of Privacy Act, R.S.O. 1990, c. F.31 (hereinafter, "FIPPA"), it necessarily follows, through a process of deductive reasoning, that PIPEDA must govern its operations. This conclusion is further buttressed by the conspicuous absence of any explicit exemption for "Tribunals Ontario" within the ambit of Ontario's Personal Health Information Protection Act, 2004, S.O. 2004, c. 3, Sched. A (hereinafter, "PHIPA"). Moreover, "Tribunals Ontario" does not fall within the definitional parameters of "provision of health care" when engaged in its multifarious commercial undertakings, thereby precluding its subjugation to the specific purposes articulated within PHIPA.

Subsequent to exhaustive and comprehensive jurisprudential and statutory research, I have re-confirmed that while "Tribunals Ontario" may not constitute a distinct legal persona per se, it is nonetheless demonstrably classifiable as an "organization" within the interpretative framework of PIPEDA. It is acknowledged that "Tribunals Ontario" functions as a collective of thirteen (13) adjudicative tribunals, integral components of the governmental apparatus of the Province of Ontario. As an administrative body, "Tribunals Ontario" furnishes logistical and coordinative support to these individual tribunals, each of which purportedly maintains its distinct legal jurisdiction and ostensible adjudicative autonomy. This proposition, however, presents a challenging epistemological and practical quandary, particularly when juxtaposed against the demonstrable conduct of the Executive Chair of "Tribunals Ontario", as evinced in the Derenzis matter. It is crucial to underscore that the Ministry of the Attorney General (MAG) and "Tribunals Ontario" are not, in legal or operational reality, "one and the same," a distinction that bears significant implications for accountability and statutory compliance. Furthermore, it is pertinent to note that while the Licence Appeal Tribunal (LAT), the Human Rights Tribunal of Ontario (HRTO), LECA, and the Landlord and Tenant Board (LTB), inter alia, are expressly designated as public bodies under Ontario Regulation 336/07 of the Archives and Recordkeeping Act, 2006, S.O. 2006, c. 34, "Tribunals Ontario" itself is conspicuously absent from this enumeration.

Moreover, it is imperative to highlight that even under the Ministry of Government Services Act, R.S.O. 1990, c. M.25, the definition of "public body" is circumscribed to include:

Service provider organizations
Designation
17.1 (1) The Lieutenant Governor in Council may, by regulation, designate a ministry of the Government of Ontario, part of such a ministry or a person or entity as an organization to provide services to members of the public on behalf of the Government or a public body. 2006, c. 34, Sched. F, s. 2.
Definitions

(2) In this section,
"public body" means,
(a) a related government,
(b) the corporation of any municipality in Ontario,
(c) a local board, as defined in the Municipal Affairs Act, and any authority, board, commission, corporation, office or organization of persons some or all of whose members, directors or officers are appointed or chosen by or under the authority of the council of the corporation of a municipality in Ontario,
(d) such other persons and entities as may be prescribed; ("organisme public")
"related government" means,
(a) the Government of Canada and any ministry or agency thereof and the Crown in right of Canada and any agency thereof,
(b) the Government of any other province or territory of Canada and any ministry or agency thereof and the Crown in right of any other province of Canada and any agency thereof; ("gouvernement lié")

Upon rigorous examination, it is unequivocally clear that "Tribunals Ontario" does not meet the definition of a "related government." Furthermore, "Tribunals Ontario" does not align with the definition of the corporation of any municipality in Ontario, nor does it satisfy the criteria for a local board under the Municipal Affairs Act, or any authority, board, commission, corporation, officer, or organization chosen by the council of a municipality. Crucially, there exists no provision within the regulations promulgated under the Ministry of Government Services Act that would prescribe "Tribunals Ontario" as a "Public Body." As such, "Tribunals Ontario" is neither a "public body" under the Ministry of Government Services Act or the Archives and Recordkeeping Act, 2006, nor an "institution" under FIPPA. As previously articulated, "Tribunals Ontario" is not an institution under the Adjudicative Tribunals Accountability, Governance and Appointments Act, 2009, nor is it a tribunal or institution under the Tribunals Adjudicative Records Act, 2019.

Notwithstanding the foregoing, the existence of a Memorandum of Understanding between the Ministry of the Attorney General of Ontario and the Executive Chair of "Tribunals Ontario" (rather than "Tribunals Ontario" qua entity) necessarily implies that "Tribunals Ontario" operates through the Executive Chair in a manner akin to a corporate entity lacking distinct legal personality. Given that the regulatory landscape dictates that any organization, or its purported director or chair of the board of directors, must be subject to some form of privacy legislation, especially concerning an ostensible Ontario entity such as "Tribunals Ontario", its subjection to PIPEDA becomes an inescapable conclusion. Consequently, the stipulated deadline for your comprehensive response, in strict accordance with PIPEDA, inclusive of the mandatory "shall" clauses enumerated in its Schedule 1, is hereby confirmed as August 28th, 2025.

For the sake of absolute clarity and precision, the statutory definitions of "personal health information" (hereinafter, "PHI") and "personal information" (hereinafter, "PII") are herein reiterated:

- Personal health information, with respect to an individual, whether living or deceased, means:
(a) information concerning the physical or mental health of the individual;
(b) information concerning any health service provided to the individual;
(c) information concerning the donation by the individual of any body part or any bodily substance of the individual or information derived from the testing or examination of a body part or bodily substance of the individual;
(d) information that is collected in the course of providing health services to the individual; or
(e) information that is collected incidentally to the provision of health services to the individual. (renseignement personnel sur la santé)
- Personal information means information about an identifiable individual.

While I readily acknowledge that the question of PIPEDA's applicability to "Tribunals Ontario" constitutes a jurisprudential terra incognita – a novel issue necessitating judicial determination absent an explicit admission from "Tribunals Ontario" – I posit that the following principles constitute the proverbial linchpins or decisive factors:

- (i) Access to Information Rights as Democratic Imperatives: The fundamental purpose of access to information ("ATI") rights is to foster democratic participation and transparency;
- (ii) Quasi-Constitutional Status of Privacy Legislation: Legislation safeguarding individual privacy concerning the collection, use, access, and/or disclosure ("CUAD") of their PII possesses a quasi-constitutional character, thereby demanding a broad and purposive interpretation;
- (iii) Narrow Construction of Exceptions: Exceptions to ATI rights are precisely that: exceptions. They must be interpreted restrictively and invariably in favour of the requestor's right of access. Where ATI rights intersect with PII rights, such exceptions are either non-existent or presumptively construed with an even greater bias towards the requestor;
- (iv) Burden of Proof on the Institution: The onus of demonstrating the applicability of any asserted exception invariably rests upon the institution seeking to invoke it;
- (v) Compelling State Interest for Privacy Compromise: Individual privacy rights may only be legitimately compromised when a compelling state or institutional interest demonstrably necessitates such an encroachment;
- (vi) Oversight Mandate of the Commissioner: The Commissioner, as an independent oversight body, is explicitly tasked with ensuring compliance with the aforementioned purposes and objects enshrined within each piece of legislation, as typically delineated in the "purposes section" of a statute that has received Royal Assent from either Parliament or a provincial legislature; and
- (vii) Mandatory Nature of Statutory Language: The terms "shall," "compliance," and "duty" are indicative of mandatory, rather than permissive, obligations.

It is noteworthy that while the Province of Ontario (the "Legislature") has enacted new statutory provisions governing privacy breaches, these provisions primarily pertain to instances where an institution has experienced a theft, loss, or unauthorized use or disclosure of personal information under its custody or control. For instance, such an "institution" could encompass one of the thirteen (13) adjudicative tribunals directly relevant to my person, or indeed another distinct entity. However, "Tribunals Ontario", qua entity, is not designated as an "institution" subject to these novel privacy breach reporting requirements. The inherent incongruity lies in the fact that the ostensible "head" of each adjudicative tribunal is, in essence, the Executive Chair of "Tribunals Ontario" – a designation that, in this specific matter, does not align with the individual "heads" of the Licence Appeal Tribunal (LAT), the Human Rights Tribunal of Ontario (HRTO), the Landlord and Tenant Board (LTB), or Law Enforcement Complaints Agency (LECA). It is particularly concerning that in the LAT proceeding, adjudicators and vice-chairs frequently demonstrated unfamiliarity with the complete record of proceeding, a deficiency that directly impacts the integrity of the adjudicative process.

Furthermore, if "Tribunals Ontario" functions as the central repository for all pertinent records, as was demonstrably the case in Derenzis, then a technical "unauthorized disclosure of personal information at first instance" by the institution itself may not occur, precisely because the institution (i.e., the individual tribunal) is never the initial holder, possessor, controller, or custodian of the personal information in record form. It is conceivable that, with "Tribunals Ontario" acting as the ultimate custodian of all personal information contained within records (e.g., pertaining to my various engagements with the LAT, LTB, ERT, and HRTO), there may be no "loss" per se. Moreover, the term "theft" carries a distinct connotation, often implying criminal or quasi-criminal conduct, which may lead "Tribunals Ontario" to guide each individual tribunal to conclude that no "theft" of personal information has transpired. It is also crucial to delineate the distinct legal concepts of "personal information" and "personal health information." In this context, it is pertinent to observe that the new FIPPA provisions address "unauthorized use," a concept distinct from "unauthorized access," the latter being the specific focus of PIPEDA.

I now adduce the salient provisions of subsection 40.1 of FIPPA (Ontario), effective July 1st, 2025:

Breach of privacy safeguards
40.1 (1) The head of an institution shall report to the Commissioner any theft, loss or unauthorized use or disclosure of personal information in the custody or under the control of the institution if it is reasonable in the circumstances to believe that there is real risk that a significant harm to an individual would result or if any other prescribed circumstances exist. 2024, c. 24, Sched. 2, s. 6.
Report requirements
(2) The report mentioned in subsection (1) must contain the prescribed information and must be made in the prescribed form and manner as soon as feasible after the head determines that the theft, loss or unauthorized use or disclosure has occurred. 2024, c. 24, Sched. 2, s. 6.
Notification to individual
(3) Unless otherwise prohibited by law, the head of an institution shall notify an individual of any theft, loss or unauthorized use or disclosure of the individual's personal information that is in the custody or under the control of the institution if it is reasonable in the circumstances to believe that there is a real risk of significant harm to the individual or if any other prescribed circumstances exist. 2024, c. 24, Sched. 2, s. 6.
Contents of notification
(4) The notification mentioned in subsection (3) must contain a statement that the individual is entitled to make a complaint to the Commissioner and any other prescribed information and must be made in the prescribed form and manner as soon as feasible after the head determines that the theft, loss or unauthorized use or disclosure of personal information has occurred. 2024, c. 24, Sched. 2, s. 6.
Complaints — time limit
(5) A complaint mentioned in subsection (4) must be made in writing and filed with the Commissioner within one year after the subject-matter of the complaint first came to the attention of the complainant or should reasonably have come to the attention of the complainant, whichever is the shorter. 2024, c. 24, Sched. 2, s. 6.
Extension of time limit
(6) Despite subsection (5), a complaint may be filed with the Commissioner after the time limit set out in that subsection if,
(a) the Commissioner is satisfied that the significance of the matter warrants a time extension and that the time extension would not result in any prejudice to any person; or
(b) the time limit set out in subsection (5) presents a barrier, as defined in the Accessibility for Ontarians with Disabilities Act, 2005, to the complainant and the Commissioner is satisfied that the time extension is reasonably required in the circumstances to accommodate the complainant for the purpose of making the complaint. 2024, c. 24, Sched. 2, s. 6.
Real risk of significant harm — factors
(7) The factors that are relevant to determining whether a theft, loss or unauthorized use or disclosure of personal information creates a real risk of significant harm to an individual include,
(a) the sensitivity of the personal information;
(b) the probability that the personal information has been, is being or will be misused;
(c) the availability of steps that the individual could take to,
(i) reduce the risk of the harm occurring, or
(ii) mitigate the harm should it occur;
(d) any direction, recommendation or guidance provided by the Commissioner pertaining to what constitutes a real risk of significant harm; and
(e) any other prescribed factor. 2024, c. 24, Sched. 2, s. 6.
Records
(8) The head of an institution shall, in accordance with any prescribed requirements, keep and maintain a record of every theft, loss or unauthorized use or disclosure of personal information reported under subsection (1). 2024, c. 24, Sched. 2, s. 6.
Provision to Commissioner
(9) The head of an institution shall, on request, provide the Commissioner with access to, or a copy of, the record. 2024, c. 24, Sched. 2, s. 6.

Definition
(10) In this section,
"significant harm" includes bodily harm, humiliation, damage to reputation or relationships, loss of employment, business or professional opportunities, financial loss, identity theft, negative effects on the credit record and damage to or loss of property. 2024, c. 24, Sched. 2, s. 6.
Regulations
(11) The Lieutenant Governor in Council may make regulations respecting anything in this section that is referred to as being prescribed. 2024, c. 24, Sched. 2, s. 6.

Ergo, a careful examination of the legislative enactments of 2019, including the Adjudicative Tribunals Accountability, Governance and Appointments Act, 2009, S.O. 2009, c. 33, Sched. 5, and the Tribunals Adjudicative Records Act, 2019, S.O. 2019, c. 7, Sched. 6, along with their associated regulations, reveals that all incumbent obligations pertain exclusively to the requirements imposed upon an adjudicative tribunal, each of which is unequivocally designated as an "institution" under FIPPA and its corresponding General Regulation. "Tribunals Ontario", however, does not fall within this specific categorization. Consequently, "Tribunals Ontario" is legally precluded from engaging in conduct that falls outside the purview of these statutes. While it may be colloquially referred to as a "cluster" of the thirteen (13) adjudicative tribunals, each possessing individual designation numbers under FIPPA and its General Regulation, this nomenclature does not confer upon it the legal authority to engage in the unauthorized use of personal information. It is crucial to underscore the distinct categorization of "personal information" and "personal health information" within PIPEDA. This bifurcation creates a lacuna or a conflict of laws, wherein certain linguistic nuances present in PIPEDA are conspicuously absent from FIPPA. Therefore, in matters involving personal health information, such as those pertaining to the LAT, LTB, ERT, and HRTO concerning my person, where my filings with each of these bodies entailed the collection of personal information, a jurisprudential void emerges.

Given the imperative for a broad and liberal interpretation of PIPEDA to safeguard my personal information and personal health information as an Ontario resident from unauthorized access and disclosure, including theft or loss, it is patently evident that any disclosure by "Tribunals Ontario", or by Mr. Weir if he is indeed to be considered the alter ego of "Tribunals Ontario", necessitates immediate notification of a breach of security safeguards. The prevailing investigative protocols of the Office of the Privacy Commissioner of Canada (OPC) typically involve a standard notification period of approximately three (3) months. This stands in stark contradistinction to the obligations incumbent upon entities such as the LAT, ERT, LTB, and HRTO concerning any unauthorized use or disclosure emanating from them. It is axiomatic that "disclosure" entails making information available to a person other than the data subject. Consequently, where a disclosure occurs from the LTB to Mr. Weir, acting as the alter ego of "Tribunals Ontario", an unauthorized disclosure has transpired, as I have not provided my consent to such disclosure ab initio. For instance, while the Licence Appeal Tribunal Act, 1999, S.O. 1999, c. 12, Sched. G, stipulates the collection of my LAT appeal pursuant to subsection 282 of the Insurance Act, R.S.O. 1990, c. I.8, it makes no provision for the collection of such information by "Tribunals Ontario". Therefore, Mr. Weir, acting in his capacity as the head of "Tribunals Ontario" (a designation derived from regulation, not necessarily from a power conferred by a Memorandum of Understanding, which functions as an agreement or contract between the Ministry of the Attorney General and Mr. Weir personally, albeit on behalf of a non-distinct legal entity), likely bears multiple statutory obligations to provide privacy breach notifications. His obligations concerning privacy breaches or breaches of security safeguards under PIPEDA relate to the theft, loss, unauthorized access, and disclosure of my personal information in various instances where there exists a reasonable risk of significant harm to my person, particularly where sensitive personal information has been, is being, or will be subjected to unauthorized access or disclosure. Given that all information pertaining to the LAT, ERT, HRTO, and LTB is inherently sensitive, I demand immediate notification, pursuant to the breach of security safeguards provisions under PIPEDA and the associated Breach of Security Safeguards Regulations, S.O.R./2018-19. I respectfully request that you furnish me with the requisite breach of security safeguards notifications concerning "Tribunals Ontario" forthwith, particularly given that more than three (3) months have elapsed since these unauthorized accesses and disclosures of my personal information and personal health information transpired.

I shall continue to conduct exhaustive research into this matter, particularly concerning the definitional and interpretative nuances of "commercial activities" and the applicability of PIPEDA to an "organization" within its statutory framework. Nevertheless, it is more than conceivable that an organization not explicitly designated as an "institution" under the Privacy Act, R.S.C. 1985, c. P-21, or under the provincial FIPPA or PHIPA, must invariably be subject to some form of privacy legislation per se. In this regard, it is plausible that an institution such as the HRTO, LAT, or LTB would be subject to reporting requirements for a privacy breach under PHIPA for any unauthorized use or disclosure, or for the loss of personal information that was legally required to be in its custody and control subsequent to its initial collection of each piece of personal information and personal health information. However, any subsequent disclosure thereafter must remain consistent with the principles often encapsulated within the tort of breach of confidence, wherein subsequent unauthorized possessors of personal information are obligated to return such information to the sole authorized possessor of the personal information of first instance.

Should you elect to proffer a commentary or present a competing jurisprudential opinion, I shall receive the same with due consideration. Indeed, I welcome such intellectual debate, for it is through rigorous examination and diverse perspectives that the most robust legal frameworks are forged, ultimately serving the public interest and enhancing the administration of justice. Ad interim, I shall steadfastly maintain the position that "Tribunals Ontario" is unequivocally subject to PIPEDA. I hereby expressly reserve the right to invoke the doctrine of adverse inference should you fail to provide a substantive response within thirty (30) calendar days. In such an eventuality, it is my firm intention to advance the complaint and seek an immediate discontinuance of the matter, along with an order to bring this issue to the immediate attention of the Federal Court of Canada for a definitive resolution of all matters pertaining to any allegations or potential infringements of solicitor-client privilege, litigation privilege, settlement privilege, and/or other common law privileges.

Furthermore, I expressly reserve the right to rely upon this meticulously drafted document for any and all purposes, including, but not limited to, the recovery of costs in the Federal Court of Canada (the "FCC") under the Federal Court Rules, should it become necessary or incumbent upon me to initiate an application before that esteemed tribunal under the auspices of PIPEDA, encompassing any potential issues that may have arisen under the Canada Evidence Act, R.S.C. 1985, c. C-5, and/or the Secure Electronic Signature Regulations, S.O.R./2005-30, if applicable.

I cordially remind of the amendments to PIPEDA by reference to the Digital Privacy Act (2015) which makes directors of an "organization" to be liable for any failures to comply with sections 8(8), section 10.1 and 10.3 of PIPEDA.

In closing, the Licence Appeal Tribunal (LAT) appears to have issues with its record-keeping, which could be affecting its ability to make fair decisions. The core problem seems to be a disconnect between the LAT and Tribunals Ontario regarding control of case records.

In February 2025, the LAT Registrar, through a case manager, was still trying to figure out how to compile my case's record of proceedings. This suggests that the LAT itself doesn't have direct access to these records. If they did, they wouldn't need to go through this process; they could simply compile the documents themselves.

Further evidence of this issue comes from observing other tribunal cases. Adjudicators often reference emails by number or a similar metric rather than citing the actual document. This aligns with my experience where the LAT provided an index of documents but couldn't produce the documents themselves.

This problem is also consistent with the actions of Mr. Boyce, designated counsel for the LAT. He failed to file the record of proceedings promptly and then, in an attempt to justify the delay, claimed a non-existent waiver on my part. A waiver of this kind would require the consent of all parties and would be superseded by section 10 of the Judicial Review Procedure Act (JRPA) anyway.

A tribunal that only has an index of documents ("index-knower") is not the same as a tribunal that actually holds the records ("record holder"). An adjudicator or vice-chair may know what documents have been filed, but if the tribunal lacks access to the underlying records, it cannot make decisions based on them. The same logic applies to designated counsel acting on behalf of the tribunal.

If adjudicators can't access the records, how are they making decisions? The most plausible explanation is that they are seeking instructions from Tribunals Ontario, which acts as their client and is managed by the executive chair, executive officer, and their team.

Consequently, a tribunal like the LAT cannot comply with section 10 of the JRPA, which requires it to file a record of proceedings. It must rely on Tribunals Ontario to provide the necessary records. This reliance suggests the current setup is in breach of section 10 of the JRPA, not just for the LAT but likely for other tribunals as well.

Thank you for your prompt attention to this grave matter.

Sincerely,

Mr. Kevin A. McLean (BA, JD, CIM)

for the express purposes delineated herein, ensuring comprehensive awareness and facilitating a cohesive understanding of the pertinent legal and procedural considerations.

Unless explicit notification to the contrary is received, it is our firm presumption, predicated upon the established jurisprudential framework, that you concur with the unequivocal position that the directives articulated by Parliament through PIPEDA possess binding authority and are demonstrably applicable to Tribunals Ontario. This applicability is particularly salient in instances where personal information of individuals who are not citizens of Canada but are residents of Ontario has been collected, utilized, accessed, and/or disclosed within the provincial jurisdiction. Furthermore, with respect to the disclosure of such information, it is hereby affirmed that any and all disclosures, whether effectuated within or beyond the geographical confines of Ontario and Canada, unequivocally invoke the prescriptive jurisdiction of the Personal Information Protection and Electronic Documents Act (PIPEDA). The logical extrapolation of this principle mandates that the trans-border flow of personal data necessitates adherence to the most stringent privacy protocols, thereby safeguarding individual entitlements ab initio.

Consequently, we shall be formally requiring comprehensive access to all personal information and personal health information appertaining to the undersigned. This exigency extends to the data held by any and all of your service providers, encompassing their entire storage and repository infrastructure. This includes, but is not limited to, platforms such as Amazon Web Services, which, while maintaining offices within Ontario, also operate extensive facilities internationally. The imperative for such access is rooted in the fundamental right of an individual to scrutinize the integrity and disposition of their personal data, thereby ensuring its lawful and appropriate stewardship.

Moreover, it is imperative to underscore, inter alia, that Section 8(8) of PIPEDA unequivocally mandates the perpetual retention by Tribunals Ontario of all personal information and personal health information. The destruction or unauthorized disposition of such data is expressly prohibited, with any contravention thereof subject to severe statutory penalties. This provision constitutes a foundational pillar of data accountability, ensuring the enduring availability of records for legitimate oversight and individual recourse.

Faithfully,

Kevin A. McLean

The Executive Chair of Tribunals Ontario
Mr. Sean Weir

Subject: Formal Request for Personal Information and Accountability Pursuant to the Personal Information Protection and Electronic Documents Act (PIPEDA)

Esteemed Sir/Madam,

This correspondence constitutes a formal and comprehensive requisition for access to my personal information, meticulously grounded in the foundational principles and statutory obligations enshrined within the Personal Information Protection and Electronic Documents Act (PIPEDA). Given the singular and potentially unprecedented nature of this exigency for Tribunals Ontario, I shall endeavor to proffer an exposition of exceptional thoroughness and jurisprudential precision.

Volume I: Prolegomenon and Foundational Principles

A critical and indispensable distinction must be meticulously drawn between the universal applicability of the Canadian Charter of Rights and Freedoms (hereinafter "the Charter") to governmental entities and the specific, enumerated application of Ontario's Freedom of Information and Protection of Privacy Act (hereinafter "FIPPA") to designated "institutions." While "Tribunals Ontario" functions as an overarching administrative umbrella, a mere nomenclature for thirteen adjudicative tribunals, it is not expressly enumerated as an "institution" within the exhaustive Schedule to R.R.O. 1990, Regulation 460, General, which delineates the precise ambit of FIPPA's applicability. This conspicuous lacuna in statutory designation carries profound implications for accountability and information governance, thereby necessitating a rigorous examination of alternative legislative frameworks.

It is indisputable that Tribunals Ontario is subject to the Charter by virtue of Section 32 of that instrument. Section 2(b) of the Charter acts as a constitutional bulwark, meticulously safeguarding the Open Court Principle, a cornerstone sine qua non of any robust democratic society. This principle, which ensures unfettered public access to judicial and quasi-judicial proceedings, has been unequivocally affirmed by the seminal decision in Toronto Star Newspapers Ltd. v. Attorney General of Ontario, 2018 ONSC 2586 (hereinafter "the Toronto Star Decision"), to apply with equal jurisprudential force to both conventional courts and administrative tribunals. However, "Tribunals Ontario" is not an adjudicative tribunal per se; consequently, it cannot legitimately possess adjudicative records or be governed by the Tribunal Adjudicative Records Act, 2019 (hereinafter "TARA"). TARA was enacted to establish a novel statutory framework for access to adjudicative records held by prescribed tribunals, thereby rectifying the constitutional infirmities identified in the Toronto Star Decision. TARA establishes a default presumption of openness for adjudicative records for proceedings commenced on or after July 1, 2019. Nonetheless, "Tribunals Ontario" is not a "tribunal" as defined under TARA, thus precluding its direct application thereto, but rather to the individual adjudicative tribunals. This stands in stark contradistinction to the adjudicative tribunals themselves, such as the Human Rights Tribunal of Ontario (HRTO), the LAT, and the LTB, which are rigorously compelled to adhere to stringent standards of openness and procedural fairness.

Volume II: The Fictional Persona of "Tribunals Ontario"

A rigorous textual and teleological analysis of the Adjudicative Tribunals Accountability, Governance and Appointments Act, 2009 (hereinafter "ATAGA") and its attendant regulations unequivocally demonstrates that "Tribunals Ontario" subsists solely as an administrative nomenclature, a mere ad hoc designation for a cluster of legally distinct adjudicative tribunals. It is not, in and of itself, a distinct legal entity, corporation, agency, board, or commission prescribed as an "adjudicative tribunal" or an "institution" within the meaning of FIPPA.

The ATAGA defines an "adjudicative tribunal" as an entity that is "prescribed" by regulation. O. Reg. 126/10 explicitly enumerates various agencies, boards, and commissions, inter alia, the Human Rights Tribunal of Ontario, as prescribed adjudicative tribunals, but it designates "Tribunals Ontario" merely as a "cluster" of these tribunals. This designation does not, ipso facto, confer upon the cluster the status of a distinct legal personality, nor does it elevate it to the echelon of an "adjudicative tribunal" itself. Rather, it constitutes a functional administrative arrangement of existing, prescribed adjudicative tribunals.

All statutory obligations pertaining to accountability, governance, and appointments are ultimately vested in the individual, statutorily designated "adjudicative tribunals" that comprise the cluster. For instance, the ATAGA mandates that every adjudicative tribunal develop an "ethics plan," an obligation placed squarely upon the individual tribunal, not the amorphous cluster. The appointment process also consistently refers to the "adjudicative tribunal" as the entity to which members are appointed, further underscoring its distinct legal identity. Therefore, while "Tribunals Ontario" may function as an administrative grouping for purposes of efficiency, it demonstrably lacks the legal personality to independently possess or control records subject to FIPPA in its own right. Any de facto arrangement whereby "Tribunals Ontario" purports to exercise such control constitutes an impermissible circumvention of FIPPA's clear legislative intent and thereby engenders an opaque and legally precarious environment for the management of public information.

Volume III: The Ineluctable Applicability of PIPEDA

As previously articulated, "Tribunals Ontario" is not enumerated as an "institution" under the regulations that define the precise scope of FIPPA's applicability. This conspicuous absence of statutory designation signifies that "Tribunals Ontario" cannot legitimately assume the mantle of "custody or control" over records that, by statutory imperative, fall within the purview of a FIPPA-designated institution such as the HRTO. The retention of records by a non-FIPPA entity for a FIPPA-regulated institution engenders a jurisdictional mismatch that fundamentally undermines the statutory scheme intended to provide access and safeguard privacy within the provincial public sector.

Since Ontario has not enacted any legislation that would exempt it from certain provisions of PIPEDA, and given that "Tribunals Ontario" falls within the expansive definition of an "organization" engaged in a "commercial activity" under PIPEDA, it must a fortiori be subject to this federal legislation. A "commercial activity" encompasses, inter alia, the collection, utilization, or disclosure of personal information in the course of such activities. The fact that the Office of the Privacy Commissioner of Canada (OPC) has, at times, assumed jurisdiction over charities and non-profits further illustrates the broad jurisdictional scope of PIPEDA. As elucidated by the Canadian Bar Association (CBA) in their August 2019 submission, "Transfers of Information for Processing," the determination of whether an organization's activities are "commercial" is fact-dependent, and many non-profit entities, through activities such as the sale of goods and services, increasingly fall within PIPEDA's purview. Thus, the ostensible non-profit status of Tribunals Ontario does not ipso facto preclude the application of PIPEDA where its activities involve the handling of personal information in a commercial context.

Volume IV: The Imperative of Electronic Communication and Breach Notification

Under the Digital Privacy Act, which meticulously amended PIPEDA in 2015, organizations are now unequivocally mandated to report a data breach to the OPC and to notify affected individuals if the breach poses a "real risk of significant harm" (RROSH). Furthermore, organizations are obligated to maintain a comprehensive record of all security incidents involving personal information for a period of twenty-four months, even if such incidents do not attain the threshold for mandatory reporting. The OPC is explicitly empowered to demand these records. The Act also established augmented penalties for organizations that knowingly fail to report a breach or to notify affected individuals.

This statutory imperative, coupled with the quasi-constitutional nature of PIPEDA, necessitates that Tribunals Ontario adopt a robust and auditable system of communication. In light of contemporary technological standards and the critical need for a reliable, time-stamped record of all communications, Tribunals Ontario is compelled to communicate with me via electronic mail regarding this formal request. This ensures a transparent and verifiable trail of all exchanges, a fundamental component of accountability under PIPEDA. Any dereliction in this regard, or a subsequent data breach that compromises my personal information, would ergo trigger the mandatory breach reporting and notification obligations under the Digital Privacy Act.

Volume V: The Mandate of the "Shall" Provisions: A Lexical Analysis

A meticulous examination of PIPEDA reveals that the word "shall" appears a remarkable 127 times, with 53 distinct and independent obligations enumerated under Schedule 1 alone. These "shall" provisions constitute an unequivocal and mandatory framework for organizations. My request for the existence, utilization, and disclosure (EUD) of my personal information, as well as unhindered access to that information, constitutes a direct invocation of these non-derogable obligations.

For instance, an organization "shall" respond to an individual's request within a reasonable temporal ambit and at minimal or no pecuniary cost. It "shall" apprise an individual as to whether or not it retains personal information concerning them. Furthermore, it "shall" furnish a comprehensive account of the utilization and disclosure of that information to third parties. The information thus provided must be rendered in a "generally understandable" form, with any abbreviations or codes meticulously elucidated. The onus is squarely upon the organization to provide these comprehensive explanations. This request, therefore, is not a mere inquiry but a formal legal demand for compliance with a litany of statutory duties. The failure to adhere to any of these 53 "shall" provisions would constitute a breach of PIPEDA, thereby triggering my indefeasible right to lodge a formal complaint with the Commissioner.

Volume VI: The Inviolable Right to Existence, Use, and Disclosure (EUD) and Access

Pursuant to Principle 4.9 of Schedule 1 of PIPEDA, an individual, upon request, "shall" be informed of the existence, utilization, and disclosure of their personal information and "shall" be granted access to that information. This is not merely a courtesy but a fundamental, sui generis right. The organization "shall" inform the individual whether or not it holds personal information concerning them, and if so, "shall" provide unencumbered access to that information.

The organization must provide a comprehensive account of the utilization that has been made or is currently being made of the information and a detailed account of the third parties to which it has been disclosed. In circumstances where it is not feasible to provide a definitive enumeration of organizations to which the information was disclosed, the organization "shall" provide a list of organizations to which it "may" have disclosed the information. The requested information "shall" be provided in a generally understandable form. Furthermore, an organization must retain the personal information for such duration as is necessary to permit the individual to exhaust any recourse under PIPEDA. This paramount obligation overrides any regular deletion or retention practices.

Volume VII: The Expansive Ambit of "Personal Information"

PIPEDA defines "personal information" as "information about an identifiable individual." Jurisprudence in the federal public sector has consistently interpreted this definition in a broad and expansive manner. Information is "about" an individual if it relates to or concerns them. An individual is "identifiable" if there exists a "serious possibility" that they could be identified through the utilization of that information, either in isolation or in combination with other data.

The information is not predicated upon being recorded to be considered personal information; this encompasses, inter alia, oral conversations and real-time surveillance. The absence of a recording may pertain to the issue of collection, but it does not alter the fundamental characterization of the information as personal information. Notably, information retains its designation as personal information even if it is publicly available. This expansive definition embraces subjective information, even if its verisimilitude is not absolute. It also extends to information within a business or professional context, such as an individual's cellular telephone records, electronic mail addresses, and facsimile numbers. Financial information, e.g., bank account numbers and transaction histories, also unequivocally constitutes personal information. Examples of personal information in a technological context include biometric data, photographic representations of an individual's domicile, and video surveillance. An Internet Protocol (IP) address can constitute personal information if it can be unequivocally associated with an identifiable individual, such as a customer's subscriber identification.

Volume VIII: The Pre-Emptive Rejection of Specious Claims of Privilege

It is notable that while Mr. Weir has taken upon himself to report other lawyers to the LSO, he is no longer a practicing lawyer with the LSO.

This request is not susceptible to a claim of refusal predicated upon a litany of common exceptions, including, inter alia, solicitor-client privilege, litigation privilege, or confidential commercial information.

- First, solicitor-client privilege is demonstrably inapplicable because Tribunals Ontario and the other organizations implicated are not legal professional entities. A blanket policy asserting privilege for all documents generated from incidents is unlawful and fails to satisfy the requisite legal tests.
- Second, litigation privilege is also inapposite, as there was no ongoing or reasonably contemplated litigation at the time the documents in question were created, and the dominant purpose of their genesis was not to prepare for litigation. A mere privacy request does not ipso facto constitute litigation.
- Third, confidential commercial information is not being sought. The standard for withholding information on this basis is exceptionally high, and "raw data" concerning an individual does not fall within this circumscribed exemption.
- Finally, the information was not generated in the course of a "formal dispute resolution process." An internal ombudsman office or a medical evaluation designed to assist an insurer, for example, does not constitute a formal dispute resolution process under PIPEDA.

Volume IX: The Nexus of Transfers for Processing and Accountability: A Jurisprudential Exegesis

The precise legal characterization of "transfers for processing" under PIPEDA has been a subject of considerable jurisprudential discourse. As meticulously articulated by the Canadian Bar Association (CBA) in their August 2019 submission, "Transfers of Information for Processing," a fundamental tenet of PIPEDA's architecture is that a transfer of personal information for processing, wherein the original organization maintains control, constitutes a "use" of that information, rather than a "disclosure." This critical distinction is rooted in Principle 4.1 of Schedule 1, the Accountability Principle, which unequivocally stipulates that an organization retains responsibility for personal information under its control or possession, even when such information is transferred to a third party for processing. The third party, in this context, acts merely as an agent, performing services on behalf of the transferring organization, without acquiring independent ownership or control over the data. This relationship, mutatis mutandis, is akin to that between a principal and an agent, where the agent's actions are attributable to the principal.

The CBA's comprehensive review of inter-jurisdictional approaches, encompassing the General Data Protection Regulation (GDPR) in Europe and various provincial health and privacy statutes across Canada (including PHIPA in Ontario, PIPA in Alberta, and FOIP in Saskatchewan, inter alia), consistently reinforces this interpretation. These legislative frameworks generally treat transfers to service providers as a continuation of "use," provided that the transferring entity retains significant control, typically through robust contractual arrangements. The essence of a "disclosure," by contrast, implies a transfer of control and possession to a third party for its own independent purposes, thereby necessitating the data subject's consent.

Furthermore, the CBA's analysis of the Equifax Report of Findings is particularly illuminating. The OPC's investigation into Equifax Canada and its U.S. affiliate, Equifax Inc., while ostensibly concerning cross-border data flows, was fundamentally a case of a profound dereliction of accountability, transparency, and meaningful consent. The core issue was not the mere transfer of data across borders, but rather the misleading representation to consumers regarding who was actually in control of their personal information and the failure to implement adequate safeguards. The CBA cogently argues that this unique factual matrix should not serve as a pretext for a sweeping reinterpretation of PIPEDA's consent requirements for routine transfers for processing, which are characteristic of modern globalized economies.

In instances where consent is deemed requisite for outsourcing arrangements or transborder transfers, the Supreme Court of Canada's decision in Royal Bank of Canada v. Trang, 2016 SCC 50, provides a critical framework for the application of "implied consent." The Court adopted an objective "reasonable person" test, emphasizing that the appropriateness of implied consent is a contextual determination, balancing privacy interests with legitimate business concerns. The purpose clause of PIPEDA (Section 3) itself underscores the need for organizations to collect, use, or disclose personal information for purposes that a reasonable person would consider appropriate. Therefore, if an organization diligently adheres to its accountability obligations, maintaining effective control over the personal information and implementing robust contractual or other protective mechanisms, reliance on implied consent for ordinary business outsourcing, even across international borders, is eminently justifiable. To demand express consent in such scenarios would lead to an absurd outcome, particularly when contrasted with Section 7.2 of PIPEDA, which permits wholesale transfers of information in business transactions with mere notice, not explicit consent. This would create an illogical disparity in the stringency of consent requirements.

Moreover, a Memorandum of Understanding (MOU), while often perceived as less formally binding than a traditional contract, is fundamentally akin to a contractual agreement between two parties in its underlying intent and practical effect. An MOU, inter alia, serves as a documented expression of mutual assent (consensus ad idem) and delineates the respective roles, responsibilities, and expectations of the signatories. It establishes a framework for collaboration and accountability, creating a moral and, in many contexts, a quasi-legal obligation to adhere to its provisions. While it may lack the full enforceability mechanisms of a formal contract, its very existence signifies a commitment to a particular course of action and a shared understanding of governance relationships. In essence, it is a pacta sunt servanda for the parties involved, demonstrating a meeting of the minds regarding operational parameters and accountability structures, even if not strictly a lex specialis in the realm of contract law. Therefore, the MOU established by "Tribunals Ontario," while not superseding legislation, unequivocally delineates an agreed-upon operational framework that carries significant weight in assessing accountability for information governance.

Volume X: Peroration and Exigent Demands

In light of the foregoing comprehensive exposition, it becomes unequivocally apparent that "Tribunals Ontario" is a fictional entity, a mere administrative construct that lacks independent legal personality. It is, de facto, an administrative "cluster" or a "moniker" for a collection of legally distinct adjudicative tribunals. While a Memorandum of Understanding (MOU) has been established to delineate accountability and governance relationships, this document explicitly states that it does not supersede the provisions of any legislation. Furthermore, it explicitly confirms that each of the Constituent Tribunals is a designated adjudicative tribunal and a non-board governed provincial agency.

I confirm my involvement as an applicant in three distinct adjudicative tribunal proceedings which I believe Mr. Weir on his own or through agents was responsible for affecting and may continue to affect, where applicable, which makes now an opportune time to address Tribunals Ontario’s CUAD of my personal information and personal health information in each of those, but not limited, to adjudicative tribunal proceedings.

The Executive Chair of Tribunals Ontario is the designated "institution head" for the purposes of FIPPA, but as meticulously established herein, "Tribunals Ontario" is not an institution under that Act. This creates a profound jurisdictional conundrum that can only be resolved by the judicious and ineluctable application of PIPEDA. While the Executive Chair of Tribunals Ontario is denoted as the head of thirteen adjudicative tribunals, this designation does not detract from the fundamental fact that Tribunals Ontario is an "Organization" under PIPEDA, especially as it relates to residents of Ontario. The veil of this quasi-corporate body must, therefore, be dispelled to hold the responsible parties fully accountable for any derelictions in complying with their PIPEDA obligations. Nonetheless, Tribunals Ontario is an Organization under PIPEDA. I may supplement the above, but nonetheless, the Organization of "Tribunals Ontario" is required to provide a compliant response under PIPEDA. It is also notable that FIPPA primarily addresses the control and custody of records, whereas PIPEDA comprehensively addresses the collection, utilization, access, and disclosure of personal information, including a meticulous accounting of the same, whether in oral or documentary form. It is particularly pertinent to underscore that the Office of the Privacy Commissioner of Canada (OPCC) and the Federal Court of Canada have historically asserted and assumed jurisdiction over organizations operating beyond Canadian borders, as exemplified by cases such as KLM and Accusearch, thereby establishing a clear precedent for jurisdictional reach in matters pertaining to personal information. To the extent that you disagree with the foregoing analysis or the applicability of PIPEDA in this precise context, I kindly request that you apprise me forthwith of your position, thereby enabling me to seek the independent opinion of the Office of the Privacy Commissioner of Canada (OPCC) and its subsequent investigation report. Whatever the ultimate status of this matter, subject to any potential settlement under the auspices of PIPEDA, it will unequivocally constitute a matter necessitating a comprehensive hearing and considered adjudication by our esteemed Federal Court of Canada.

The failure to provide a complete and timely response to this formal request would constitute a breach of numerous mandatory "shall" provisions under PIPEDA. The exigency for this information is critical, as my life, health, and security have been imperiled as a direct consequence of an unfortunate incident and will continue to be so until I am granted unhindered access to this personal information. I therefore implore you to respond with the utmost diligence and in strict accordance with the mandates of PIPEDA, providing the entirety of the requested information no later than thirty (30) days from the verifiable delivery of this formal requisition; namely this PIPEDA request.

Yours faithfully,
/KAM

The Designated Head of the LAT (Mr. Sean Weir, Designate under Freedom of Information and Protection of Privacy Act (FIPPA, R.S.O. 1990, c. F.31))

Subject I: Formal Requisition for the Immediate Production of Undisclosed Adjudicative Records Pursuant to the Tribunals Adjudicative Records Act, 2019, S.O. 2019, c. 7, Sched. 6

Subject II: McLean v. SNIC and TDGIC (File No. 23-015662/AABS): The “Correspondence,” “Subjects,” “Foci,” or “Themes”

I. Initiation of Correspondence and Incorporation by Reference

Correspondence is formally tendered concerning the aforementioned Subjects that constitute the Foci of this transmission. Appreciation is extended in anticipo for the allocation of time and the profound consideration afforded to this instrument and its attendant attachments (whether by reference or inclusion). Cognizance is taken of the finite yet valuable nature of the resources possessed by the Tribunal, a factor which has necessitated the extensive expenditure of effort for the exhaustive research of the legal issues and their meticulous application to the attendant facts. All definitions previously, indirectly, or directly cited within antecedent correspondence are hereby formally adopted and incorporated by reference.

II. Factual and Procedural Antecedents

This communication is directed toward the compulsory procurement of two (2) specific judicial directives, hereinafter defined as the “Undisclosed Motion Decisions.” These Undisclosed Motion Decisions are, by way of a simulacrum (a formal representation), clearly delineated within the procedural record pertaining to the matter of McLean v. SNIC and TDGIC, which bears the official File Number 23-015662/AABS.

The antecedent record of proceedings, which is more comprehensively detailed in the Appendix appended hereto and thus incorporated by reference, evidences the promulgation of the following final motion orders:

1. A final motion order, officially dated July 24, 2024, which is denoted by a specific file identifier (refer to Appendix); and
2. A subsequent final motion order, officially dated August 16, 2024, which is similarly identified by a discrete file identifier (refer to Appendix).

It is acknowledged that the pursuit of these documents is currently engaged via a concurrent request submitted pursuant to the Freedom of Information and Protection of Privacy Act (FIPPA, R.S.O. 1990, c. F.31). Notwithstanding the FIPPA mechanism, the present requisition is rigorously grounded upon the distinct, and patently more explicit, statutory framework enshrined within the Tribunals Adjudicative Records Act, 2019 (TARA, S.O. 2019, c. 7, Sched. 6).

III. Statutory Exegesis of the Tribunals Adjudicative Records Act, 2019

The Foci of the instant analysis rests predominantly upon the interpretative scope of the definition of "adjudicative record," as that term is prescribed in Subsection 1(2) of TARA, S.O. 2019, c. 7, Sched. 6.

A. Definition of Adjudicative Record

The relevant statute explicitly enumerates records that constitute an "adjudicative record" for the purposes of the legislation. Paragraph 6 of Subsection 1(2) of TARA conclusively defines such a record to encompass:

> "6. A decision or an order made by a tribunal and any reasons for the decision or order."

The Undisclosed Motion Decisions are, de jure (by law), final orders emanating from the Tribunal; the statutory phrase "an order made" does not, prima facie (at first sight), impose a condition precedent of dissemination or receipt upon the parties. Instead, the language suggests that the requisite characterization as an adjudicative record is established at the precise moment the order is officially executed or rendered by the adjudicative body.

B. Differentiation from Excluded Records

It is cognizable that Subsection 1(3) of TARA delineates specific categories of excluded records that are expressly exempted from classification as adjudicative records. Paragraph 1 of that subsection excludes:

> "1. Personal notes, draft decisions, draft orders and communications related to draft decisions or draft orders that are created by or for a member of a tribunal in connection with a proceeding before the tribunal in which the member is presiding."

Given that the Undisclosed Motion Decisions are logged within the record of proceeding as final Motion Orders, a circumstance demonstrated unequivocally by the Appendix, a definitive distinction from the excluded category of "draft orders" is warranted; consequently, they are not susceptible to being deemed outside the statutory ambit of mandatory production.

IV. Requisite Production and Remedial Resolution

In light of the foregoing, the ineluctable conclusion is that the Undisclosed Motion Decisions constitute adjudicative records that are legally appurtenant to the parties of record in this proceeding, necessitating their production. Notwithstanding the contemporaneous FIPPA application, the Tribunal possesses a distinct and self-evident obligation under TARA to effectuate the immediate release of these Orders.

Formal requisition is hereby submitted for the furnishing of the aforementioned Undisclosed Motion Decisions by the Tribunal's administrative apparatus to the undersigned forthwith.

In the interest of effecting pragmatic resolution and securing the conservation of all involved parties' finite yet valuable resources, notification shall be duly provided to the OIPC (Office of the Information and Privacy Commissioner) that this decisive step toward resolution has been conscientiously undertaken. Should the Orders be provided herein, this cooperative action will effectively and supererogatorily truncate the Tribunal's outstanding production obligations under the extant OIPC request, thereby resolving an issue that has not yet been subjected to administrative or judicial scrutiny.

Transmission of the aforementioned documentation ought not to be deferred beyond Monday, October 6, 2025, with dispatch to be effected via the current electronic communication channel, given the temporal exigency and the minimal administrative burden involved in its execution.

Respectful acknowledgements are herein offered for consideration of this matter.

I. Introduction and Mandate of Confirmation

This correspondence is formally tendered as a confirmatory instrument, the singular purpose of which is to establish a definitive and unimpeachable record regarding the extant status of the material requisition for two (2) specific, conclusive Motion Orders, hereinafter denominated as the "Undisclosed Adjudicative Orders." This notification is being concurrently transmitted to the Deputy Attorney General (DAG) as a necessary function of the overarching accountability framework, which is institutionally governed by the subsisting Memorandum of Understanding (MOU) executed between the Executive Chair of Tribunals Ontario and the Honourable Minister of the Attorney General of Ontario. This invocation is not a procedural formality but a substantive appeal to the mechanism established for the preservation of institutional rectitude and the maintenance of public confidence in the quasi-judicial administration of justice. The persistent administrative défaillance concerning the immediate disclosure of these judicial directives necessitates this formal, escalated invocation of oversight.

II. Factual Antecedents and Continuing Non-Production

A. The Undisclosed Adjudicative Orders and the Integrity of the Record

The Undisclosed Adjudicative Orders in question represent two finalized judicial directives, previously and meticulously identified by their date of promulgation: the order dated July 24, 2024, and the subsequent order dated August 16, 2024. These instruments, which resolve determinative procedural matters within the adjudicative chronology, are unequivocally recorded within the Tribunal's procedural ledger—a document transmitted to the undersigned and referred to in antecedent communications. Their inclusion within this official compendium renders the orders res ipsa loquitur (the thing speaks for itself) as integral, non-severable components of the complete and authentic Record of Proceeding. The absence of these definitive procedural rulings introduces a structural vitiation of the Record, effectively rendering the documented history incomplete and inherently susceptible to challenge.

B. Status of Delivery, Due Diligence, and Chronological Delineation

As of this morning's temporal demarcation, a punctilious and exhaustive examination of the SCM portal (W Delivery Slip URL) and all auxiliary electronic transmission modalities confirms, incontrovertibly, that the aforecited Undisclosed Adjudicative Orders remain entirely undisclosed and have not been effectuated into the custody or possession of the Applicant. While the undersigned shall continue to exhaust all of his rights under any statute or process, he confirms that nothing is contained in the SCM portal (W Delivery Slip URL). The necessity of undertaking this confirmatory due diligence is employed solely to foreclose any potential administrative defence predicated upon a doctrine of constructive notice or inadvertent delivery. Should this conclusive finding be erroneous, the Tribunal is formally required to correct this factual assertion forthwith, identifying the precise moment and mechanism of disclosure. This sustained lacuna in the documentation renders the Record demonstrably incomplete, thereby precipitating an undeniable and severe impediment to the Applicant's capacity to fully exercise the fundamental precepts of procedural fairness, inclusive of the inalienable and constitutional right to pursue comprehensive and well-informed judicial review or appellate recourse based upon a whole and unexpurgated foundation of fact and law. This administrative failure constitutes a de facto denial of the Applicant's entitlement to the Record.

III. Syllogistic Extrapolation of Legal Obligation and Conclusive Necessity

The statutory obligation for the immediate and unmitigated production of these final Orders does not derive from a discretionary administrative grace but is, rather, an immutable ministerial function predicated upon an advanced syllogism of legal principles and constitutional imperatives.

The logical extrapolation begins with the foundational premise that a final order, having adjudicated an ancillary or substantive matter, possesses the force majeure of a determinative instrument, the disclosure of which is inextricably linked to the Rule of Law. The Tribunals Adjudicative Records Act, 2019, S.O. 2019, c. 7, Sched. 6, establishes an unambiguous legislative mandate that such orders constitute "adjudicative records" that are appurtenant to the parties of record. This Act is a public manifestation of the principle of open justice, demanding transparency in the Tribunal's issuance of its judgments and rulings. The persistent and prolonged withholding of these documents thus elevates the issue from a mere administrative délai to a potential and demonstrable contravention of the overarching accountability architecture stipulated in the aforesaid MOU. This deliberate non-production, spanning an unwarranted temporal duration, compels the inevitable conclusion that the Tribunal's administrative apparatus is either beset by systemic deficiencies regarding its record maintenance, verging on the ultra vires of its procedural jurisdiction, or is engaged in an untenable interpretation of its statutory obligations concerning public accountability and the duty of candour owed to litigants. Cessante ratione legis cessat ipsa lex—when the reason for the law ceases, the law itself ceases; the original administrative reason for non-production, if one ever existed, has long ceased to be justifiable, and the continued concealment now actively compromises the principle of audi alteram partem.

IV. Formal Conclusion and Reservation of Rights

In light of the preceding analysis, and predicated upon the self-evident necessity of these Undisclosed Adjudicative Orders for the integrity of the judicial process, I hereby issue a formal, non-negotiable requisition for the forthwith transmission of these two documents.

Be definitively advised that, due to the protracted temporal exigency and the resultant prejudice to my substantive rights, I explicitly reserve, in full, all attendant legal and procedural rights, including, but not limited to, the initiation of extraordinary judicial remedies such as an application for a writ of mandamus to compel compliance with this fundamental entitlement. The contents and assertions of this formal correspondence shall be relied upon in any subsequent submission before the Tribunal or in any superior judicial forum within the Province of Ontario (Canada).

Respectful acknowledgements are herein offered for the profound and expedited consideration anticipated in the resolution of this critically exigent matter, the resolution of which is foundational to the continuance of the adjudicative process itself.

Sincerely and Respectfully Submitted,

Mr. Kevin A. McLean (BA, JD, CIM)

submissions (the "Factum") has been duly filed with the Office of the Information and Privacy Commissioner of Ontario (OIPC). Concurrently, this exhaustive document has been meticulously served upon the Head of the LAT and upon the LAT as an entity. The filing aspect is something the LAT failed to do at the Divisional Court to my benefit discovered post facto.

The central gravamen of the Factum pertains to systemic deficiencies and substantial legal questions arising from the LAT's omission to furnish the Applicant with certain requisite and relevant documentation.

II. The Substantive Disclosure Deficiency

The principal issue necessitating this exceptional invocation of administrative oversight involves your persistent, and thus far, unjustifiable omission to provide the aforementioned, requisite *Undisclosed Motion Orders (the "Orders"). This course of conduct stands in direct contravention of the express and authoritative assurances previously conveyed through official correspondence issued by the Tribunal, specifically under the imprimatur of Ms. Lee.

The non-disclosure of the Orders constitutes not merely a breach of administrative representation, but potentially jeopardizes the fundamental tenets of procedural fairness and the principle of natural justice by withholding essential adjudicative material. A core syllogism in administrative law dictates that an individual's rights cannot be justly determined without full and complete access to the instruments of decision (the Quicquid plantatur solo, solo cedit principle, extrapolated to the necessity of procedural documentation). The self-evident conclusion is that the Orders, being instruments of the Tribunal's authority, are indispensable to the just determination of the Applicant's position.

III. Stipulation of Imperative and Consequence

Pursuant to the foregoing, the Tribunal is hereby issued a firm stipulation of time regarding its obligation to effect the required disclosure.

Should an affirmative determination regarding the provision of the Undisclosed Motion Orders not be unequivocally transmitted to the Applicant, formal notification of this final refusal is stringently required by 12:00 P.M. (Noon) Eastern Standard Time (EST) on the ensuing calendar day.

Absent the receipt of either the Orders themselves or the aforementioned notification of refusal by the stipulated deadline, the singular, compelling inference shall be that the Applicant must formally execute recourse under the auspices of the Freedom of Information and Protection of Privacy Act (FIPPA), alongside any and all ancillary or supervening legal and administrative avenues that are legitimately available to remedy this prejudicial withholding.

IV. Conclusion and Demand

Your immediate, definitive, and unequivocal written response, confirming either affirmative compliance with the prior assurances or reasoned refusal to disclose the Undisclosed Motion Orders, is hereby requested. This matter demands resolution without further protraction.

Thank you kindly.

Subject I: Follow up regarding the above

Dear Sirs/Mesdames/Other Gender-Neutral Pronouns:

I. Formal Introduction and Adoption of Precedent Definitions

I cordially write regarding the aforementioned Subjects of this correspondence. Grateful acknowledgment is extended in limine for the judicious allocation of time and considered attention to this official communication and its appended evidentiary documentation (whether cited by mere reference or physical inclusion, hereinafter collectively referred to as the "Instrument Set"). The profound appreciation for the constraints imposed upon finite, yet invaluable, institutional resources serves as the raison d'être for the immense preparatory expenditure dedicated to the profound research of the legal issues herein and their scrupulous application to the extant factual matrix.
All definitions, stipulatory pronouncements, and operative terms derived from previously, either indirectly or directly, cited correspondence and instruments are hereby formally adopted in toto (hereinafter, the "Adopted Definitions").

II. Institutional Precepts, Supervisory Mandates, and the Pursuit of Administrative Resolution

This highly formal missive is respectfully tendered to the Honourable Tribunal concerning an immediate administrative exigency predicated upon the required conveyance of essential adjudicative instruments (hereinafter, the "Motion Orders"). The substantive necessity for this communication is exclusively derived from the Tribunal's antecedent, binding institutional undertaking (pacta sunt servanda) to furnish the aforementioned documentary records.
The present requisition is executed with the paramount objective of rigorously conserving the exiguous administrative resources incumbent upon both the Applicant and the Licence Appeal Tribunal, thereby assiduously promoting the fundamental tenet of procedural efficacy. The inclusion of the Ministry of the Attorney General in this distribution is a regrettable but necessary measure undertaken to secure comprehensive supervisory accountability and ensure the unimpeded, immediate resolution of this outstanding matter, pursuant to the General Regulation under the Freedom of Information and Protection of Privacy Act and the overarching principles of administrative due diligence.

III. Substantiation of Secure Document Repository Status and Administrative Lacuna

Exacting scrutiny has been applied to the dedicated client interface of the Secure Document Transmission Repository, which is formally denominated as the "W Delivery Slip Account." Notwithstanding this meticulous investigative exercise, the Repository's operative module currently manifests a complete absence of documentary propagation regarding the instruments in question.

- Sub-Section A: Validation of Account Operability and Precedent
  The affirmation of the account's operational integrity is necessitated, pro tanto, for the purpose of absolute clarity. This viability is unequivocally substantiated by the antecedent reception of official administrative instruments originating from various Ontario ministries, alongside the Tribunal's own preparatory correspondence, formally styled as the "Welcome Letter with the Checklist for Electronic Submission," the stipulated requirements of which were duly and timeously satisfied by the Applicant during the current administrative cycle.

IV. Formal Requisition for Adjudicative Instruments and Extrapolation of Legal Principle (Ab Initio Requisite)

A binding institutional commitment, amounting to a formal legal admission, was previously affirmed by the Tribunal to effectuate the transmission of the two specific Motion Orders conditional upon the Applicant's presentation of the formal Electronic Submission, which has been duly deposited via the designated electronic mail modality. The Applicant notes that this requisition is further substantiated by the Court Transcripts Practices Standards Manual, issued by the Ontario Government, effective October 2024 (Enclosure 2), which outlines governmental standards for document dissemination.

- Sub-Section A: Advanced Syllogistic Extrapolation of Binding Legal Principle

  The imperative for the immediate production of these two judicial instruments is manifestly self-evident, constituting an ab initio requisite that is fundamental to the principled management of the ensuing proceeding. A core syllogism dictates that where a Tribunal is judicially obliged to furnish an Order, and the recipient is procedurally prepared to receive it, any systemic failure to effectuate transmission constitutes a demonstrable administrative lacuna (hereinafter, the "Administrative Lacuna"), which operates ipso jure to impair the Applicant's capacity to prosecute the matter effectively. The only conceivable conclusion is that the Tribunal is formally entreated to remit authenticated facsimiles of the two referenced Motion Orders forthwith. The unduly rudimentary and simplistic nature of the delay in providing only two essential records has necessitated this extraordinary and formal level of procedural escalation.

V. Conclusion and Proposition for Administrative Economy

The Applicant respectfully solicits notification regarding the precise temporal parameters anticipated for the successful and complete upload of the aforementioned adjudicative instruments to the designated Secure Document Transmission Repository. The prompt provision of the Motion Orders, evidenced by the Instrument Set (including Transcript Order Form, Enclosure 1) is now paramount.
Such prospective advisement shall operate as a preclusion against the necessity of recurrent, supererogatory inquiry and subsequent procedural follow-up, thereby fostering a judicious allocation of administrative resources and ensuring mutual deference for the professional commitments of all involved parties, in strict alignment with the foundational tenets of administrative and judicial economy. The Tribunal's prompt and unequivocal compliance with this fundamental administrative demand is anticipated and gratefully appreciated.
Yours most appreciatively and gratefully,

> > This formal correspondence is respectfully tendered in reference to the aforementioned matter, the particulars of which are explicitly denoted in the caption above. The Applicant seeks to compel the immediate production of two specific judicial instruments.

II. Institutional Compliance and Statutory Entitlement

The Applicant observes, prima facie, that the transmission of the two specifically requisitioned records—the two Motion Orders—involves a minimal quantum of administrative effort; assuredly, the process of uploading and subsequent dissemination via electronic mail, or via the prospective Strategic Case Management (SCM) Portal (the latter of which remains presently inchoate), should not necessitate a temporal span exceeding a few minutes.

Consequently, to ensure due diligence and secure compliance with the Applicant's inherent entitlements, particularly those enshrined within the Freedom of Information and Protection of Privacy Act (FIPPA), the institutional Head, Mr. Weir, has been included in the distribution roster. This measure is effectuated to guarantee the timely procurement of the aforementioned instruments.

While I note the language in TARA regarding the definition of "adjudicative records" (i.e. orders that have been issued), the provision of the Two Undisclosed Motion Orders are by your index provided in February 2025 subject to, prima facie, immediate provision and by the law of admissions et al.

III. Requisition for Judicial Instruments and Comity

Notwithstanding any putative administrative expectation or requirement that the Applicant furnish antecedent submissions in a specific pro forma, such preliminary correspondence was nonetheless tendered ex gratia and in the spirit of procedural comity. The Applicant maintains that the necessity for the production of judicial orders is self-evident, being fundamental to the principled management of the proceeding.

This Honourable Tribunal is thus formally entreated to effectuate the forthwith provision of authenticated facsimiles of the two judicial Motion Orders, which were duly promulgated by the Tribunal on the dates expressly designated in the prior indices provided to the Applicant.

IV. Prerogative of Institutional Escalation

In the regrettable and unforeseen event that a definitive communication is not promptly furnished, specifically one that unequivocally addresses the intended mechanism of conveyance—whether by immediate electronic transmission or by subsequent upload to the SCM portal—the Applicant shall, a fortiori, proceed to exercise his undisputed and permissible prerogative to engage the appropriate institutional escalation protocols to ensure administrative accountability and prompt resolution of this matter.

I will check the SCM account in the next few hours to see if they have been delivered therein.

The Applicant appreciates the Tribunal's immediate attention to this pressing administrative exigency.

I. Formal Commencement and Adoption of Definitions

I cordially write regarding the above Subjects of this correspondence. I thank you in advance for your finite yet valuable resources which is why I have taken immense time to research the legal issues herein and apply them to the facts herein. I appreciate your time and consideration of this correspondence and its attachments (by reference or inclusion). I adopt all definitions from previously, indirectly or directly, cited correspondence.

II. Clarification Regarding Modality of Document Transmission

It is incumbent upon me to respectfully controvert the premise, as allegedly posited by the Licence Appeal Tribunal ("LAT") in prior discourse, that I explicitly solicited transmission of documentation pertaining to the within matter via the Tribunals Automated Records Access ("TARA") system utilizing a physical courier or standard postal delivery method. Furthermore, I must affirm that I have received no tangible documentation subsequent to any alleged dispatch via said modalities.

This clarification is proffered out of an abundance of caution and in a spirit of bona fides (good faith), with the objective of ensuring that the factual matrix underpinning our respective positions remains unequivocally accurate and honestly depicted for current or future forensic or administrative exigencies.

III. Requisition for Specific Adjudicative Orders

Pursuant to the foregoing, I have subsequently furnished a formal and unequivocal Requisition (the "Requisition") for two specific adjudicative Motion Orders which I have never seen or received (the "Orders"). These Orders are germane and integral to my pre-existing application and appeal under the Freedom of Information and Protection of Privacy Act ("FIPPA") but nonetheless adjudicative records by your binding admission.

The particulars of the requested Orders are formally itemized and enumerated within the attached document, styled as McLean TARA Request - Two Motion Orders - Applicant - July 24 2025 - August 16 2024 - Mr McLean - 27-Oct-2025.pdf (the "Attachment"), which is hereby incorporated by specific reference.

Upon the prompt and efficacious provision of these Orders, the necessity for their continued inclusion on the current roster of outstanding documentation will be pro tanto (to that extent) extinguished. I will confirm a safe receipt when they are delivered to me via SCM which casts much doubt on why they were sent via email with a complete absence of email confirmation.

IV. Preclusive, Agreed and Required Preference for Electronic Conveyance

Given the inherent risks associated with physical document transmission to multi-unit dwelling addresses, particularly regarding the potential for the unintended or unauthorized disclosure of Sensitive Personal Information (the "SPI") to a third-party intermediary, such as a concierge, I respectfully implore that you effectuate their transmission solely via electronic mail.

This insistence upon electronic conveyance mitigates the substantial privacy risks that would otherwise arise, as the absence of my authenticated signature and physical (Receipt of Document) upon delivery via courier or post renders the chain of custody tenuous. The elevated vocabulary and intricate sentence structure herein serve to underscore the gravity of the privacy concerns, which, res ipsa loquitur (the thing speaks for itself), demand the most scrupulous adherence to security protocols.

Courtesy and Reservation of Rights

I proffer this correspondence as a courtesy and out of an abundance of caution to ensure that all documents are truly, accurately, and honestly depicted and referenced for current or future purposes.

I reserve the right to rely on this correspondence for any lawful purpose.

Thank you in advance for your anticipated compliance.

Sincerely and Cognitively,

Mr. Kevin A. McLean (BA, JD, CIM)

SUBJECTS OF CORRESPONDENCE

Subject I: My outstanding request of the COURTS for court documents and information, along with Information Assets (see: CJC dossiers and publications by the esteemed Dr. Felsky (JD, PHD) of the CJC), involving the improperly withheld and undisclosed to myself “signed arrest warrant” involving Madam Justice Shore in, on or around, September 2024
Subject II: my discovery as of today’s date that you were counsel to Justice Shore in her defence of claims from one Mr. McIntosh in 2023 -and the obvious self-evident corollary of the same to my request for records in the custody and control of the originating courthouse and court level involving the undisclosed criminal proceeding and court information, documents, information/indictments and the admitted “signed arrest warrant” or “endorsed arrest warrant” (the “Subjects”)

Dear Mr. Sinnadurai:

I cordially write regarding the above Subjects of this correspondence. I thank you in advance for your time and consideration of this correspondence and its attachments (by reference or inclusion). I appreciate your finite yet valuable resources which is why I have taken immense time to research the legal issues herein and apply them to the facts herein, thereby ensuring that my current epistolary requisition is grounded in substantive and procedural exactitude.

I adopt all definitions from previously, indirectly or directly, cited correspondence, including the case McIntosh v. Shore ("McIntosh") which is appended hereto (Enclosure 3 and 4) and your preceding letters of June 25, 2025 (Enclosure 1) and July 4, 2025 (Enclosure 2).

REITERATION OF JUDICIAL ANTECEDENCE AND NON-DISCLOSURE

I must reiterate and rely unequivocally upon my prior propositions, factual predicates, and legal stances concerning Madam Justice Shore's antecedent and unavowed judicial participation in the undisclosed ex parte in camera hearings ("UEICH") that culminated in the issuance of the "Signed Arrest Warrant" within the context of the undisclosed criminal proceedings ("UCP"). Nota Bene: A UCP is legally initiated upon the filing or laying of a Criminal Code Form 2 Information ("Form 2 Information") or a Criminal Code Form 4 Indictment ("Form 4 Indictment"). This non-disclosure, whether deliberate or inadvertent, indubitably casts a long shadow upon the fundamental principles of judicial impartiality and procedural fairness that underpin the administration of justice. The kernel of my inquiry has consistently revolved around the identity of the mystery and undisclosed judge who was involved in the issuance of the "warrant in the first" ("Signed Arrest Warrant").
This query, which transcends mere curiosity and delves into the critical sphere of public accountability, arose in Spring 2025 upon my discovery of the False Information Package, which encompassed the Court Officer (Toronto Region) Mrs. Frugoni-Rojas's Form 2 Information and the Intake Court Endorsement ("Intake Endorsement") authored by Justice of the Peace Jiri. It is crucial to underscore that the Signed Arrest Warrant, as a juridical instrument, represents the highest exercise of state power against an individual's liberty, and its origins and supporting documents demand absolute transparency and meticulous archival integrity. The lack of such integrity, as evinced by the present lacuna, is a matter of profound constitutional concern.
I acknowledge your concession, memorialized in your correspondence of July 4, 2025 (Enclosure 2), that the Form 2 Information pertaining to the aforementioned Court Officer was not formally lodged or exhibited within the Ontario Court of Justice ("OCJ") from August to October 2024, ergo it was indubitably filed subsequent to that temporal juncture. This temporal discontinuity mandates a thorough and documented accounting of the entire inception and issuance process of the Signed Arrest Warrant, particularly given the critical period of non-filing and the subsequent necessity of locating the true source jurisdiction and judicial authorization. The presumption of regularity (omnia praesumuntur legitime facta donec probetur in contrarium) is severely undermined by these admitted factual discrepancies concerning the filing chronology and the judicial signatory.

ANCILLARY PROCEEDING DISTINCTION AND COUNSEL CONFLICT

I shall eschew a post-mortem delineation of the concessions and representations previously proferred by yourself, acting as counsel for the Ministry of the Attorney General (Civil Law), in addressing my requisitions for judicial records. These prior communications, while initially appreciated, have ultimately served to narrow the investigative aperture, leading to the irrefutable conclusion that the matter rests solely with the presiding SCJ Judge, Madam Justice Shore.
My adherence to your prohibition on communicating directly with the judiciary was regrettably rescinded subsequent to your prolonged reticence once I had surmised that Madam Justice Shore constituted the undisclosed Superior Court of Justice Judge ("SCJ Judge") implicated in the Intake Endorsement—a deduction that was necessitated when you represented that the SCJ Judge was not Madam Justice Shore. This series of events prima facie suggests a strategic attempt to obfuscate the judicial identity, thus creating an untenable position where my pursuit of essential court records was intentionally channelled through the representative of the very entity (the judicial officer) whose antecedent involvement was being covertly shielded.

It is incumbent upon me to clarify that my raison d'être herein is not to conflate this matter with that of Mr. McIntosh, wherein a civil suit was instituted against, inter alia, Madam Justice Shore. The distinction is material: Mr. McIntosh's action was a civil delict claim against the judge's alleged public conduct; my pre-eminent focus is not the promulgation of a civil suit but the effectuation of setting aside the impugned steps, documents, and orders involved in the UCP based on the tenable grounds of newly arising or discovered facts and/or fraud discovered post facto ("Post-Facto Discovery"). The evidentiary bar for Post-Facto Discovery is rigorously high, and my efforts to unravel the procedural steps taken in camera are indispensable to meeting this threshold and ensuring that the coram non judice doctrine does not apply.

- Parenthically: I was wholly unaware until today of your prior retention as counsel to Madam Justice Shore in the McIntosh matter, where she was the principal defendant regarding her impugned conduct. The convergence of your previous role as her counsel in a defensive posture and your subsequent role as the sole conduit for information regarding her unavowed judicial acts in my matter creates an incontrovertible appearance of a conflict of interest that necessitates immediate and complete transparency. While I do not endorse the claims made by Mr. McIntosh, the discovery that Madam Justice Shore would have been the author of a particularized email, if true, is prima facie unsettling and reinforces the necessity of exploring any prior judicial *nexus between the parties. The principle of natural justice (nemo iudex in causa sua) demands that judicial officers avoid even the scintilla of bias or the appearance thereof.

CONSISTENCY OF JUDICIAL DICTION AND LACK OF COMPLIANCE

I can inform you that I discerned her judicial diction and vernacular yet again on October 10, 2025, when the SCJ Regional Manager's Office confirmed that my retained and authorized Transcriptionists of Ontario ("ATO") were entitled to the "tapes and materials required for transcription" from the antecedent hearings related to this matter, contingent upon judicial acknowledgement. The SCJ RMO's position conclusively established my legal entitlement to the recordings.
On that now notorious date, Madam Justice Shore, exhibiting what appears to be a deficient understanding of civil litigation (distinct from Family Law litigation) and an apparent disregard for established court protocols, represented that the court does not provide said materials. She then further represented that no audio or transcripts could be provided. This writing style, characterized by a distinctive cadence and peculiar phraseology, is most analogous to that of the Intake Endorsement and previous writings directly attributable to her. This stylistic *nexus constitutes a significant factual premise in my deductive reasoning concerning the undisclosed judge's identity. Furthermore, her reliance on a purported Divisional Court practice that was, at best, antiquated and, at worst, patently misleading, demonstrates a clear lack of compliance with both the Judges Act and the express stipulations of the Court Transcripts Practices Standards Manual ("Transcripts Manual"). The unjustifiable denial of access to the official court record, which is the substrate upon which all appellate review is predicated, constitutes a grave impediment to the pursuit of justice and an infringement of the applicant's right to an effective remedy. Such an action exposes the judiciary to legitimate scrutiny regarding its adherence to the very procedural canons it is tasked with upholding.

THE IMPERATIVE OF DISCLOSURE REGARDING DOCUMENT DISPOSITION

As you are cognizant, it had dawned upon me, through a series of epiphanies of deductions arising from the admissions and representations of the OCJ and SCJ (particularly Ms. Azim, who did not controvert the inference that Madam Justice Shore was the presiding judge in the ex parte in camera hearing involving the issuance of an arrest warrant), that she was the judge in question.

This deduction was substantiated by your representation that the court does not retain copies of “signed arrest warrants” and that I should contact the Toronto Police Service ("TPS"), a representation which, while potentially reflecting a practice of Madam Justice Shore, is flatly erroneous as a matter of universal court record policy, as articulated in the MAG CSD Court Information Access Guide ("Access Guide"). It was this exchange, where the Crown's representative directed me away from the judicial source to a police service repository, that precipitated your subsequent silence, thereby solidifying the inference of a deliberate suppression of the judicial trail.

If your position is that Madam Justice Shore effectuated the destruction of the “signed arrest warrant” or that the Deputy Attorney General of Ontario (Mr. David Corbett) mandated such disposition, which was sanctioned by the Chief Justice of the SCJ, I respectfully request unequivocal confirmation of said event. This request extends not only to the “signed arrest warrant” by Madam Justice Shore but also to the filed criminal proceeding document (i.e., a Form 4 Indictment). This process, which can only be described as an “Ex Parte In Camera Unrecorded Hearings Unretained Indictment Process”, is patently inconsistent with the open court principle enshrined in our Charter of Rights and Freedoms, s. 2(b), and the right of the accused to the full evidentiary record of the proceedings concerning their liberty. The implied practice of non-retention of crucial criminal process documents by a court of Superior Criminal Jurisdiction is a fundamental breach of the Rule of Law and the necessary audit trail required for judicial accountability.

In this manner, we need not protract the expenditure of valuable time concerning my request for the judiciary (originating courthouse and originating court level) and the judge of the Superior Court Of Criminal Jurisdiction (Madam Justice Shore). Should you confirm the destruction, I shall then be entitled to presume the court destroyed the same, thereby shifting the burden of proof regarding the documentation's existence and facilitating the next procedural steps. This crucial clarification will permit me to reorient the relief I am seeking and to focalize my extant privacy requests and complaints against various ministries of the Ontario government (i.e., regarding their custody and control of the same), along with a requisition to the Archives of Ontario (“AOO”) for it to, inter alia, designate certain records of Archival Value and to provide a response under the Archives And Recordkeeping Act (Ontario) ("ARA"). The records of a Signed Arrest Warrant and the Form 4 Indictment are manifestly records of Archival Value and their destruction, if admitted, must be justified by reference to the Judicial Records and Retention Schedule and Ministerial Direction, providing the exact date and authority for such an extraordinary expunction.

It is somewhat befuddling that the Ministry of the Attorney General ("MAG"), and yourself specifically, would profess to represent a judge of the SCJ, given the constitutional separation of the Executive and Judicial branches. Nonetheless, this remains a non-issue herein as you requested that I communicate with you regarding the provision of records in a Non-FOI request of the courts (as the courts are not subject to FIPPA), which I am statutorily entitled to access as per the Access Guide and the Transcripts Manual.

I am due:

1. A copy of the Indictment or Information filed or laid in the relevant courthouse, of which you have confirmed that there was no Form 2 Information in the OCJ, and to which I was entitled and am entitled to without charge and upon request; and
2. A copy of an endorsement without charge, which would include a “signed arrest warrant”, which you have represented that the courts do not retain.

Now that it has been for all intents and purposes confirmed that Madam Justice Shore was the presiding judge in the aforementioned “Ex Parte In Camera Unrecorded Hearings Unretained Indictment Process”, which is patently inconsistent with the open court principle and procedural transparency, kindly inform me immediately and without further equivocation whether:

- The originating courthouse, which could de facto have been the SCJ 361 University Courthouse (where said Madam Justice Shore was the Family Team Leader as per the McIntosh decisions in which you were retained counsel) or the Divisional Court at 130 Queen Street West, Toronto, Ontario, has destroyed or disposed of the Form 4 Indictment.

- The "signed arrest warrant" has been destroyed or disposed of by the court or the presiding judge, Madam Justice Shore.
- If so, when did such destruction or disposition occur, and pursuant to what specific legal authority or retention schedule directive?

The maintenance of public confidence in the judiciary is intrinsically linked to the uncompromising integrity of its records. Your definitive response to the destruction query is therefore not merely a ministerial formality but a substantive requirement for the resolution of this matter.

Nonetheless, you have been acting as the mouthpiece of Justice Shore, at the very least, in relation to my request for records of the court which the court must have custody and control of the same unless they were destroyed. It is most notable that it was only the SCJ 361 University Avenue Courthouse (intake) was the court office that did not respond to my requests. Nonetheless, the SCJ RMO was most helpful in excluding The Honourable Madam Justice Kraft but solely confirming the issue with my Transcript Order Form was that of a date range involving Justice Shore's presiding over the ex parte in camera hearing(s) involving myself.

Thank you for your prompt and meticulous attention to this matter of material consequence.
Yours most appreciatively and gratefully,

/s/Mr. Kevin A. McLean (BA, JD, CIM)

APPLICATION

Volume #1: Relief Sought

1.The Applicant adopts his definitions from the record of proceeding, including the hearing record in NOM #13 to #15 and NOM #16 and they have the same meaning herein as they do therein.

2.The Applicant makes the application for the following relief in the form of any orders, declarations, findings, determinations or directions with great respect to the License Appeal Tribunal and gratitude to the ONSC (Divisional Court) for its consideration of the same:

a. An Order that this JRPA proceeding be declared as public interest litigation;

b. An order that no costs are awarded against the Applicant in any event of the cause;

c. An Order compelling Vice Chair Morrissette or the Tribunal to decide the Applicant's motion (defined as "NOM #16" which was served on SNIC, TDHA, and TDGIC and filed in September 2024) or confirm with the Applicant, copied to this ONSC (Divisional Court), that it is declining to exercise its jurisdiction or discretion under section 21.1 of the SPPA;

    i. An Order, thereafter the Tribunal complying with the above order, that Vice Chair Lake either amend her reconsideration decision (the "RD") or confirm, with a copy to this court, that she is declining to exercise her jurisdiction or discretion;

        1. An Order that the 30 day time limit under the JRPA does not commence until the above orders are complete;

d. A preliminary or procedural order that this judicial review is heard before a single sitting judge pursuant to section 6(2) of the JRPA;

e. A procedural and preliminary order that the limitation period for judicial review involving the final orders involving NOM #14 and NOM #15 does not commence until the Licence Appeal Tribunal/AABS issues its order regarding the Applicant's section 21.1 of the SPPA motion ("NOM #16") (filed in September 2024 but "in "progress" as of November 15, 2024, to the LAT/AABS) and the Tribunal issues any amended decision regarding the Applicant's likely amended reconsideration motion;

f. An Order that the Applicant may add and include fresh evidence when it becomes available to him through any lawful means including the LAT and/or any privacy requests that are outstanding at the time of this JRPA Application;

g. A procedural and preliminary order that no responsive materials are required from the Respondent Insurers and they are not entitled to participate without leave as they chose not to participate in the underlying motions subject to the Respondent Insurers participating in any of aforementioned amended motions arising out of the Applicant's NOM #16;

h. An order in the nature of mandamus requiring the Tribunal to comply with its requirements regarding the provision of hearing notices to any and all parties prior to issuing decisions;

i. An Order in the nature of mandamus requiring the Tribunal to comply with its specific rules, effective August 21, 2023, with particular reference to granting non-parties the right to make submissions prior to the issuance of a decision;

j. A declaration that certain specific rules in the LAT Rules are ultra vires the Tribunal which will be specified in the Applicant's factum;

k. An Order that the relief sought in the Applicant's motions (see: NOM #14 (August 3, 2024) and NOM #15 (August 21, 2024)) (see: Appendices #1 and #2) including his reconsideration motion, dated September 27, 2024, is granted in substantially the same form:

    i. An Order quashing or in certiorari and/or varying the orders of Vice Chair Morrissette ("VCM") decision on September 12, 2024, to the substantive orders sought therein; and

    ii. An Order quashing or in the nature of certiorari and/or varying the orders in the Vice Chair decision on involving the Applicant's reconsideration motion;

l. More specifically, the Orders sought by the Applicant shall be granted in full or substantially the same form as he sought them at the time:

    i. An Order cancelling the decisions and orders of the Adjudicator in NOM #14 and NOM #15;

    ii. An Order varying the decision of the Appellate Tribunal as follows:

        1. Granting the relief sought in NOM #14 (see: Hearing Record, Tab 1, page 3; see also: Appendix #1 herein); and

        2. Grant the relief in NOM #15, paragraph #3 (see: Appendix #2 herein);

m. A Declaration and Order that TDHA, FSRA registration number 1063, is declared the "First Insurer" pursuant to Reg 283, and such an order shall remain as it relates to the Applicant (also defined as the "Insured Person" or "Disabled Individual" arising out of no-fault car accident on August 31, 2022);

n. An Order compelling the LAT to provide and disclose any and all records involving who was the first respondent denoted in its LAT/AABS e-filing system;

o. An Order quashing VC Lake's Reconsideration Decision on grounds of conflict of interest and/or reasonable apprehension of bias;

p. Such injunctive or interlocutory relief as may be sought by the Applicant, until such time this application can be determined on its merits;

q. Costs in favour of the Applicant; and

r. Such other relief that the Applicant may advise and this Court may allow.

Volume #2: The Grounds for the Application

3.This judicial review can be disposed of on one legal ground and error, while there are broader errors in the VCM decision in the First Insurer Motions which include the following statement: "[27] .....The initial respondent [sic], TDGIC, and the current respondent, SNIC accepted priority over the applicant's [sic] insurance policy".

4.Therefore, if SNIC and TDGIC accepted priority of the Insurance Policy, as found by the Adjudicator, and the Appellant did not make any such offer to either for them to 'accept priority of the Insurance Policy' and/or neither SNIC nor TDGIC first received the Appellant's Completed Application, then TDGIC had to receive that offer of "priority" (as the Adjudicator puts it) from the "First Insurer".

5.As a matter of law, could TDHA offer "priority" to SNIC and TDGIC? The question answers itself.

6.As the Applicant, along with SNIC, TDHA and TDGIC, are awaiting the decision from Vice Chair Morrissette in NOM #16, the Applicant took the time to advance this judicial review application so that it is filed and then can be amended after receiving the NOM #16 decision. Moreover, it may be affecting the reconsideration decision of Vice Chair Lake. Unlike an appeal under LATA, the underlying matter is not stayed.

7.The Appellant is a disabled individual residing in Toronto, Ontario. At the time of the Accident, he was 39 years old with a G2 license. At the time of these submissions, he is 41 years old with a G license. The Appellant is the spouse of the individual insured (Nicole Artopoulos) and the Insured Automobile was leased from the lessor BMW Financial Services Inc. Since April 2018, the Appellant and Ms. Artopoulos have resided at 775 King Street West, Toronto, Ontario, M5V 2K3. Ms. Artopoulos, in Spring 2018, obtained an exclusive automotive insurance policy through SNIC as her being a University Of Toronto alumnus for a previous BMW leased vehicle. In October 2019, the same insurance policy was transferred to the Insured Automobile.

8.Security National Insurance Company ("SNIC") was incorporated under the CBCA in 1934, then continued under the federal Insurance Act with its head office in Montreal, Quebec. At the time of the Accident, SNIC was licensed with the FSRA to provide six (6) classes of insurance in Ontario and its FSRA registration number if 397. From 2018 to the time of the Accident and thereafter, SNIC's Ontario office has been the McNabb Building in Markham, Ontario. The primary area code for phone and fax lines in

Markham is “905”. At the time of the Accident, SNIC provided the return mailing address of the Markham McNabb Building but, in error, provided a “416 area code” fax number. The head tenants at the Markham McNabb Building are: (I) TD Bank; and (ii) General Motors. SNIC and Primmum Insurance Company (“Primmum”) (FSRA reg. #1396), by virtue of them not having “TD” in their corporate names, operate under the colloquial business name of “TD Insurance Meloche Monnex” under two licensed trademarks from TD Bank and Meloche Monnex Inc. in: (i) “TD Insurance”; and (ii) “Meloche Monnex”. SNIC, through TDIMM, issues policies under the “Professionals and Alumni Program” and Primmum, through TDIMM, issues policies under the “Employer Group Program”. In October 2023, upon the Appellant’s return to Canada after obtaining requisite MRIs, examinations, assessments and reports, the Appellant learned that SNIC had purported to change its physical address and fax number to: (i) the Burlington Address; and (ii) 905 Fax Number. The Burlington Address is 91 km from SNIC Markham (McNabb Building), where Meloche Monnex Inc. has its registered records office. The “Ontario Business Directory” lists the Burlington Address and 905 Fax Number as being the business of “TD Insurance”. The “Ontario Business Directory” also lists the head office associated with the Burlington Address as the Victoria Park Building (see: Affidavit #29, Exhibit “A”, page 1 and 2).

9. In the SNIC Response, SNIC did not list the 416 Fax Number as a fax number for service. With the benefit of hindsight and labyrinthian investigations, the only factual contact information that SNIC provided to the Appellant was its mailing address at the Markham McNabb Building. Neither the 416 Fax Number (which is the material mistake as it relates to whom is the First Insurer) nor the 905 Fax Number were fax numbers for SNIC as a recipient. Further, the Burlington Address was not an address for receipt of documents from the Appellant for SNIC.

10. TD Home And Auto Insurance Company (“TDHA”) is an insurance company that is licensed, by the FSRA, to provide three classes of insurance including automotive insurance. TDHA’s FSRA registration number is 1063. At the time of the Accident, the lead tenant(s) at the Victoria Park Building were denoted as “TD Insurance” by the property manager at the VP Building in Collies International. From 2018 to present, the “Ontario Business Directory” has listed the fax number of 416-774-3120 (the “416 Fax Number”) as the fax number for TDHA. The 416 Fax Number is a landline, owned by Bell Canada Inc., which is grounded at the Victoria Park Building. In the HCAI Portal, the Appellant’s TD Claim #3, contrary to the information he provided his physiotherapists as the return mailing address in documents, prima facie, sent to him by SNIC, auto-populated the name of the adjuster and a branch address for SNIC of 304 The East Mall, 6th floor, Etobicoke, Toronto, Ontario, M9B 6B7 (the "Etobicoke East Mall Address") (see: Affidavit #21, Exhibit "A", page 20 to 22 for "branch names" as being "independent" of the licensed insurer. Yelp, another online business directory, lists the Etobicoke East Mall Address as the address for TDHAIC (see: Tab 18, page 340 to 343). While SNIC never, in letter to the Appellant, represented that its address was the Etobicoke East Mall Address, it is now clear that said address, created by SNIC for this TD Clam #3, was independent of SNIC, and an address for TDHA.

11. On or around September 1, 2022, the Appellant notified SNIC of his intention to apply for accident benefits. Due to an error in his postal code, the Appellant did not received an application benefits package from SNIC until late September 2022. On October 13, 2022, the Appellant fax delivered his OCF-1 (also defined as "Completed Application") to the 416 Fax Number. The Appellant also delivered the OCF-2, on his behalf by his employer, to the 416 Fax Number. On November 3, 2022, his attending medical doctor for his post-Accident impairments, completed and signed his portions of the OCF-3, and faxed the completed OCF-3 to the 416 Fax Number. 90 days from October 13, 2022 was January 10, 2022. The Appellant did not receive any dispute notice from SNIC or any other insurance company by January 10, 2023, pursuant to Reg 283. From January 11, 2023, to October 2023, the Appellant continued to fax the 416 Fax Number with all confidential information and other OCF forms regarding TD Claim #3. In October 2023, the Appellant attempted to fax some of his documents to the 905 Fax Number, with a copy to the 416 Fax Number, but the 905 Fax Number would more regularly, than the 416 Fax Number, block his faxes and/or drop them during the sending process. In November 2023, the Appellant fax delivered the completed OCF-19. On December 24, 2023, the Appellant filed this Appeal and served the duly signed Appeal to the 416 Fax Number. For some context along the way, in March 2023, the Appellant received a request from SNIC via mail wishing to communicate via email. The Appellant faxed the 416 Fax Number with his decline regarding the same and the reasons therein (i.e. PIPEDA issues and absence of compliance by whom he presumed was SNIC).

12. In April 2023, the Appellant received the "Spam Faxes" wherein an unknown person or company represented to him that it (after receipt of faxes at the 416 Fax Number but not from the 416 Fax Number) had no record of his TD Claim #3. The Appellant promptly faxed the 416 Fax Number (attention: Ms. Nurse) to alert SNIC to the issue of the "Spam Faxes" and his dismay that said recipient had no record of his TD Claim #3. In early May 2023, the Appellant received the purported attempt by SNIC to partially approve and partially reject the Dhaliwal OCF-18 (April 6, 2023) with the Forged Nurse Signature. After being successful in his NOM #8, by order on June 21, 2024, of the Tribunal, the Appellant filed his NOM

#13 for non-party production and disclosure by the Fictitious Respondent (TDGIC) on July 9, 2024. The Appellant hand delivered the NOM #13 hearing brief to the listed address for the Fictitious Respondent, which was the Victoria Park Building which only became known to the Appellant for TDGIC in February 2024 (as it was not in the SNIC Response as an address for SNIC or previously), and learned that TDGIC had misrepresented its address to the Tribunal as it had not been a tenant for over a year (i.e. July 2023). The building manager for the VP Building represented that TDGIC had moved to the Markham McNabb Building. The building manager for the VP Building did NOT represent that TDGIC had moved to any of the following addresses: (i) the Burlington Address; or the (ii) the Etobicoke East Mall Address. From July 26 to July 31, 2024, the Appellant provided notice to TDHA, with a copy to SNIC, that the evidence was uncontroverted that the 416 Fax Number, the 905 Fax Number, the Burlington Address, and the East Mall Address were contact information exclusively for TDHA. Neither TDHA nor SNIC denied the same. From August 1 to 2, 2024, the Appellant sought the consent of SNIC and TDHA to add TDHA as a party, and neither TDHA nor SNIC responded. As of August 3, 2024, TDHA has never responded to the Appellant despite the Appellant sending faxes to the 416 Fax Number, 905 Fax Number, and through authorized submissions to HCAI, the East Mall Address. SNIC has not started any section 7(1) of Reg 283 arbitration. SNIC and the Appellant consented since January 2024 to the Email Communication Protocol

13. The question of fact to be answered in NOM #14 are on a balance of probabilities:

    a. a) Who was the owner of the 416 Fax Number, which is a landline located at the Victoria Park Building in Toronto, in October 2022? (b) Was the address of 304 The East Mall, 6th Floor, Etobicoke, Toronto, Ontario (the "East Mall Address"), which is denoted by auto-population in HCAI after TD Claim #3 is inputted therein, an address for an address for SNIC, the address of TDHA, SNIC or another insurance company? And (c) Which insurance company holds the file for the Fictitious TD Claim Number?

14. The issue of law to be answered in this NOM #14 on a balance of probabilities is whether TDHA was the First Insurer (i.e. the insurance company to receive the Appellant's Completed Application on October 13, 2022)?

15. The substantial amendments to Reg 283 became effective in September 2010. Reg 283 is designed to keep priority disputes out of the courts (see: Zurich 2024, paragraph 6). Reg 283 is also purposed to prevent SABS claims, including vital treatments and income benefits, from being delayed while insurers fight over priority dispute under section 268(2) of the Insurance Act (see: Zurich 2024, paragraph 16). SABS and Reg 283, having undergone major amendments in 2010 after being submitted to industry consultations and amendments before proclamations, they reflect important policy choices to ensure order and stability in regulated industries (see: Bristol-Myers Squibb v. Canada (AG), 2005 1 SCR 533 at paragraph 99-100).As a matter of principle, there is difference between an insurer's failure to pay under section 2 of Reg 283 and a failure to pay under any provision of SABS (see: Zurich 2024, paragraph 54). While a First Insurer may have never received insurance premiums from the insured person (claimant) may seem intuitively wrong but the Legislature and LGIC's intent are to be respected. There is no, per se, harshness to be alleviated by a sophisticated insurance company, with endless resources, who receives a faxed OFC-1, who fails to investigate within three months and provides a notice to an insured person and other insurers under section 3 of Reg 283. The provisional first-insurer rule under the regulation and the priority regime under the statute operate differently (see: Zurich, paragraph 8). As long as a claimant for accident benefits completes all required fields (see: SABS, ss. 66 and 67) and signs the OCF-1, the First Insurer that receives an OCF-1 application MUST pay benefits in accordance with SABS (see: Reg 283, ss. 2.1(6)). If the First Insurer does not take any issue, within ten business days (approximately 15 calendar days) of receipt of the Completed Application, the First Insurer has 75 days from then to provide a notice of dispute that it is required to pay the benefits of the claimant in which it received a Completed Application. Irrespective of whether the claimant is an "insured person" or not in the subjective mind of the First Insurer, the First Insurer must respond to the Completed Application and the claimant (see: Reg 283, ss. 2.1(6)). Acceptance during the 90-day period is merely provisional (see: Zurich 2024, paragraph 29). If the First Insurer does not dispute, within 90 days, its liability to pay all benefits, in accordance with SABS, of the claimant, there is no other process for the First Insurer to transfer, dispute and recover any paid or to be paid benefits to the claimant. First Insurer's calculus to not accept a claim for whatever subjective reason can turn out to a costly and permanent mistake (see: Zurich, paragraph 10). As of 2015, in Zurich 2015, the SCC held that Chubb ought to have responded to the SABS claim immediately on a 'pay first and dispute later' basis (see: Zurich 2024, paragraph 12). long as the Completed Application by the claimant was not arbitrary, there is a nexus between the claimant and the First Insurer (i.e. the one to receive the Completed Application) (see: Zurich 2024, paragraph 14). In Zurich 2015, the SCC (see: 2015 SCC 19) restored Goldstein J (ONSC (Divisional Court)) in adopting the dissent of Juriansz J.A.: 2014 ONCA 400. a vague recollection about seeing an insurer's name at a rental car office was sufficiently non-arbitrary to require the First Insurer (Chubb in Zurich 2015)) to step into the shoes as a "First Insurer" for the purposes of section 2(1) of Reg 283 (see: Zurich 2024, paragraph 15). long as the First Insurer providers automobile insurance in Ontario at the time of receipt of the Completed Application there is a sufficient nexus between a claimant and the First Insurer (see: Zurich 2024, paragraph 16). The policy behind the inflexible rule that an insurer (like TDHA) fails to pay benefits and fails to put other insurers on notice after receipt of a Completed Application, when there is SOME nexus, being permanently responsible for the claimant's benefits is to promote compliance with the statutory scheme. It is not an issue herein of this Appellant and TDHA but rather the greater public interest and ongoing and future compliance by all other similarly situated 'First Insurers' (see: Zurich 2024, paragraph 31, where the second arbitrator cited paragraph 62 from the decision of Strathy J. (as he then was) in Lombard Canada Ltd., 2008, 94 O.R. (3d) 62 (Ont. S.C.J.)The ONSC in Zurich 2024 has settled the law in the above regards as follows: (i) breach of section 2 of Reg 283, according to the case law, does not result in the an insurer being required to pay benefits to the claimant permanently; BUT, (ii) the failure TO AVAIL itself of section 3 does. TDHA's permanent liability for paying benefits was a self-inflicted consequence of its failure to adhere to the requirements of both section 2 and s. 3 of Reg 283. The combination of provisions in Reg 283 transformed TDHA's provisional liability into a permanent one (see: Zurich 2024, paragraph 64). For TDHA to not be declared as the First Insurer would mean that there were no consequences for the conduct (or inaction) of TDHA by receipt of the Completed Application and by continuing to have its former branch office address (East Mall Address) auto-populate in HCAI, and it would defeat the legislation's public policy: "pay now and dispute later".[i]

16. "Arbitrary" means: determined by impulse rather than reason. The Appellant faxed the Completed Application solely based on the reason that SNIC represented that its fax number was the 416 Fax Number when it could not have been based on SNIC's physical location at SNIC Markham. Therefore, the Appellant did not make an "arbitrary decision" to fax his Completed Application to the 416 Fax Number. "Receipt" means: "to get possession of". TDHA got possession of the Completed Application as the First Insurer on October 13, 2022. There is now no dispute that the Spam Faxes, which SNIC could not produce in the face of a demand from the Appellant for the same, were on behalf of TDHA and its attempt to steer the Appellant away from the 416 Fax Number and its representation it [TDHA] had no record of its claim. TDHA would NOT have had a "record" of the Appellant's TD Claim #3 as it the TD Claim #3 was likely created by SNIC but when the Appellant faxed the Completed Application, as opposed to mailing to SNIC Markham, to the 416 Fax Number, TDHA became the First Insurer.

17. The 416 Fax Number was the fax number for TDHA in September and October 2022. TDHA has been an adjusting insurance company, by reference to the East Mall Address which has been exclusively represented to the public as TDHA's address, of the Appellant's TD Claim #3, including by way of the Fictitious TD Claim Number, since it was so denoted in the HCAI portal as such. The 905 Fax Number and the Burlington Addresses were, at the material times post receipt of the Appellant's OCF-1, OCF-2, OCF-3, OCF-6's and OCF-18 (Dhaliwal), address for receipt of documents and confidential information of the Appellant (albeit unbeknownst to him) by TDHA.

18. TDHA was the First Insurer, pursuant to Reg 283, and it is solely and permanently liable for the Appellant's claims for benefits pursuant to SABS. The Tribunal must grant ancillary orders compelling TDHA to provide the Appellant with the current address and fax number for TDHAIC along with an adjuster that is authorized for TDHA along with amendments to the HCAI portal for accuracy purposes for any and all ongoing or day-to-day matters. SNIC must remain as a party as it may be liable for some of the costs in this SNIC Proceeding to be dealt with at the hearing proper.

19. It is the word "accept" that is conspicuous, marked and eye-catching. Whatever acceptance of priority of the applicant's [sic] insurance policy was and is of no consequence in law as per Reg 283, section 4(1), 5(1) and (2). The Appellant never received any notice of "assignment, sharing or transfer of priority". It is trite that TDGIC's fax was in the LAT orders as early of February 2024 and SNIC resiled from the 416.774.3120 fax number by no later than Summer of 2023. TDHA was the First Insurer and received the Completed Application at first instance, and all other OCF documents. It is understandable why certain adjusters at SNIC, and then Mr. Nieuwland for TDGIC, were so unfamiliar with the documents and claimed to be missing certain documents like MRI reports, Brain MRI UHN Notification and others. It may be the most clichéd phrase in the history of law: "offer, acceptance, consideration." Prior to the 'acceptance' by SNIC and TDGIC over the insurance policy, as found by the Adjudicator, there had to be an offer from another person. There are four automotive insurance companies in "TD Insurance", as per its public website and URL for "legal", which are: (i) SNIC; (ii) TDGIC; (iii) TDHAIC (TDHA); and (iv) Primmum. SNIC and Primmum, without any reference TD in their names, operate under the banner of two distinct yet combined trademarks which are: (i) TD Insurance," which is owned by "The TD Bank"; and (ii) "Meloche Monnex," which is owned by Meloche Monnex Inc. (not to be confused with Meloche Monnex Financial Services Inc. or other brokers or agents with permutations of the name). Ironically, TDGIC and TDHA do not have "TD Insurance" in their name as the "insurance" word comes after "General" and "Auto" sequentially for the aforementioned.

20. There is no dispute that SNIC was the Sole Underwriter of the Insurance Policy. SNIC delivered an accident benefits package to the Appellant in late September 2022. SNIC represented its address as the SNIC Markham Office with a fax number of 416.774.3120. On May 2, 2024,3 in relation to NOM #4 and NOM #6, Nieuwland (with Karat appearing as the ADR Specialist for SNIC) orally represented, contrary the April 11 submissions (supra) solely on behalf of TDGIC, 8 that SNIC and TDGIC were and are "one and the same". The Appellant objected and reserved his rights.

21. "One And the Same" is defined, by Collins Dictionary as "When two or more people or things are thought to be separate and you say that they are one and the same, you mean that they are in fact one single person or thing."

22. While there is no dispute what Nieuwland thought and meant on May 2, 2024, his thoughts and meanings, while unambiguous, are contrary to the statute (Ins. Act) in which this SNIC Proceeding arose and FSRA Enforcement Decisions have found that the SABS Insurer (SNIC) and TDGIC are separate persons.

23. The now finding by the Tribunal that SNIC and TDGIC accepted priority over the insurance policy means that they agreed (which is possible in fact but not in law) to accept an offer from another regarding priority. This is not only the logical explanation for what transpired and why TDHA, an automotive insurer in Ontario which is the only required element for a non-underwriter of an insurance policy to be the provisional First Insurer and then potentially the permanent First Insurer, has not been responded and paid the benefits due and owing to the Appellant despite receipt of the same from the Appellant via fax. This also explains the Spam Fax in Spring 2023 which was nearly or identical to the August 2024 letter (see: Affidavits #34 and Affidavit #35).

24. It is unfortunate, from an access to justice standpoint and for the benefit of the public, for the Adjudicator to rush this decision, as it was not available when the Appellant inquired on September 11, 2024, as to the date of the hearing for the NOM #13. With the greatest of respect, the Adjudicator was unfamiliar with the facts, which one can empathize with if she was new to this LAT proceeding but she granted the most consequential motion in this proceeding so far, and basic one at that such as the first order in this proceeding of her fellow Vice Chair (VC Lake). Adjudicator Morrissette was of the mistaken view that the Tribunal changed, at some unknown time, the IDENTITY of SNIC to TDGIC after January 30, 2024, but some time before February 19, 2024. One can understand not being able to pinpoint an exact date when identities are changed or swapped in a cyber-attack or ransomware plot, but the Adjudicator found that it was THE TRIBUNAL that changed the identity from SNIC to TDGIC. It appears that the Adjudicator was implying that an administrative individual employed by the License Appeal Tribunal in the AABS division somehow on off-time engaged in some administrative identity swapping without notice to the litigants in the proceeding. The Appellant is not attempting to be hyperbolic or histrionic in any way, but the License Appeal Tribunal is one of 13 tribunals part of Tribunals Ontario and it is a division or sub-body within the office of the most important ministry as it pertains to the law: THE MINISTRY OF ATTORNEY GENERAL. And the Appellant is merely finding out about this in September 2024? This is beyond concerning and beyond the Appellant's immediate interest. Perhaps, Adjudicator Morrissette meant December 30, 2023, to January 19, 2024? This would make more sense in that an administrator or case manager would have reviewed the Appeal and attached documents and countless references to TD SNIC and Security National Insurance Company and input SNIC as the respondent. Then, likely someone informed Mr. Grant to change the name from SNIC to TDGIC. This, of course, would have required such a change as the Appellant had already filed two motions by January

8, 2024. The Appellant only objected for six months, and this appears to have been the strategy by SNIC and then TDGIC of which neither were First Insurers.

25. A "Respondent" is a party in a LAT Proceeding. Legislative definitions are sometimes counter-intuitive and defy common sense. In Ontario, "legislation" includes "legislation and regulations", but a statute is distinct from a regulation. Section 5 of the SPPA: "The parties to a proceeding SHALL be: (i) the persons specified as parties by/under the statute17 under which the proceeding arises; OR (ii) if, not so specified, persons entitled BY LAW18 to be parties to the proceeding19. One would have thought with the benefit of Adjudicator Morrissette who expressly dealt with a party issue in NOM #8, such a misstatement of law or query from her would have been obsolete. By law is an ambiguous phrase which is not to be confused with a municipal by-law. "Source law" is a definition under the Legislation Act 2006, and it includes regulations. Tribunals in Ontario and Canada have held that persons who are not expressly required by statute to be parties may be added as parties pursuant to section 5 (SPPA) if s/he or it have a substantial and direct interest in the proceeding's outcome.

26. A final order disposes of the litigation, or finally disposes of part of the litigation: Ball v. Donais (1993), 1993 CanLII 8613 (ON CA), 13 O.R. (3d) 322 (C.A.). An interlocutory order disposes of the issue raised, most often a procedural issue, but the litigation proceeds: Hendrickson v. Kallio, 1932 CanLII 123 (ON CA), [1932] O.R. 675 (C.A.), at p. 678.The interlocutory order from which there is no appeal is an order which does not determine the real matter in dispute between the parties – the very subject matter of the litigation, but only some matter collateral (see: Hendrickson v. Kallio, 1932 CanLII 123 (ON CA), [1932] O.R. 675 (C.A.)

27. In Smerchanski v. Lewis (1980), 1980 CanLII 1699 (ON CA), 30 O.R. (2d) 370 (C.A.), at para. 18: This Court has held that an order made in a contest between a party to an action and someone who is not a party is a final order, appealable without leave, if the order finally disposes of the rights of the parties in the issue raised between them. In M.E. v. Ontario, 2021 ONCA 718: We conclude that M.E. was seeking to add new causes of action. An order refusing leave to amend pleadings to plead a new cause of action is final: Atlas Construction Inc. v. Brownstones Ltd. (1996), 46 C.P.C. (3d) 67 (Ont. Gen. Div.). So is an order dismissing a motion to add a party, which M.E. also appears to have been trying to do Bryson v. Kerr (1976), 1976 CanLII 867 (ON SC), 13 O.R. (2d) 672 (Ont. Div. Ct.). Accordingly, leave to appeal is not required and an appeal lies as of right to the Court of Appeal: Courts of Justice Act, R.S.O. 1990, c. C.43, s. 6(1)(b).

28. In Vavilov, the SCC attempted to clear up complexities and uncertainty brought on by Dunsmuir. 22 The SCC cited three (3) non-exhaustive examples in Vavilov where the correctness standard must be applied by a review tribunal or court: (i) constitutional questions (ii) general questions of law of central importance to the legal system as a whole; and (iii) questions regarding jurisdictional boundaries between two or more administrative bodies.

29. The Supreme Court in Housen found an error of law including the: (i) application of an incorrect legal standard; (ii) a failure to consider a required element of a legal test; or (iii) the mischaracterization of the standard.

30. A tribunal errors in law when it improperly approaches the evidence such as by misapprehending evidence, ignoring relevant evidence or relying on irrelevant evidence or irrelevant factors in reaching its decision 30 (see: Nguyen). In Drewlo Holdings v. MPAC, 33 the ONSCJ (DC) cited its decision in Yatar34 where, at ¶28, the Court confirmed a finding of fact can constitute an error of law: “is when a finding of fact on a material point is based on no evidence.

31. The failure to identify or consider the legal criteria that govern (the “Identification Failure Governing Legal Criteria”) the exercise of discretion may constitute an error of law.

32. In Gega, the Divisional Court applied a novel yet functional determination of when an issue was one of law as opposed to one of 'mixed fact and law': “[19] This issue is a matter of law...argue this issue is a matter of mixed fact and law, but there are no factual findings that need to be made by me to consider this question.”

33. In Kawa Arab, the Divisional Court found an administrative decision of statutory interpretation as a matter of law. At ¶ 19, Tzimas J. found “[19] ..... If an Adj. ignores evidence that the law requires to be considered to arrive at a DECISION, that will amount to an error in law.

34. In Bassline, VC Lamoreux found in 201846 at ¶ 20, “Therefore, I am satisfied that the Tribunal erred by determining that it had no jurisdiction to consider the issues raised in the Notice.”

35. In Lapcevich, the ONSCJ49 found: “We agree with the appellant, Registrar, that the Licence Appeal Tribunal erred in its approach to the statutory framework and exceeded its jurisdiction; and it did not make the necessary threshold determinations, as required by the statute. In Sparks, the Divisional Court found that inconsistent findings of facts as “errors of law.”

36. In Glencore, the FCA considered a second appeal wherein it stated the applicable SOR for extricable legal issues in that no deference is owed to the overall conclusion (see: ¶ 22).

37. In THMR, ONCA found that when hearing below is in writing that the correctness standard applies.

38. The case of Fatemea Rezaiezadeh v. State Farm Mutual Automobile Insurance Company, 2016 ONFSCDRS 59 ("Reza") stands for the proposition below. The Appellant notes the case of Reza (for short) wherein, albeit under the FSCO, the arbitrator found the following: "The Appellant concedes there is no explicit procedure in the Code or the Statutory Powers Procedure Act, R.S.O. 1990, c. S.22, as amended, to permit a party to continue a proceeding against a non-party." The "Dispute Resolution Code" is no longer applicable as it only applied with the FSCO. Even where State Farm Automobile Insurance Company was bought out by Certas and Desjardins regarding its Canadian operations, State Farm remained as the party as it was the underwriter at the time of the accident therein. Therefore, this is yet another reason that the decision of the Adjudicator and now the decision of the Appellate Tribunal (LAT) is one that finally disposes of the Appeal even when it is not in favour of the Appellant. If the Appellant does not have the First Insurer as the primary and liable party for the main issues between the Appellant and it (with SNIC only therein for costs as a result of it filing the sole Response (SNIC Response) to date but only as a result of the LAT Rules which is a distinction between present times and a case like Volfson), then all of the protections under SABS are illusory.

39. The provisional "First Insurer rule" (the "First Insurer Rule") under the regulation and priority regime under the statute operate differently (see: Zurich 2024, paragraph 8). If a claimant for accident benefits completes all required 'fields' (see: SABS, ss. 66 and 67), duly signs the OCF-1 and then sends via mail or fax, the First Insurer that receives an OCF-1 application MUST benefits in accordance with SABS (see: Reg 283, ss. 2.1(6)). If the First Insurer does not take any issue, within ten business days of receipt of the Completed Application, the First Insurer has approximately 75 days from then to provide a notice of dispute that it is required to pay the benefits of the claimant in which it received a Completed Application. Irrespective of whether the claimant is an "insured person" or not in the subjective mind of the First Insurer, the First Insurer must respond to the Completed Application and the claimant (see: Reg 283, ss. 2.1(6)).

40. Acceptance during the 90-day period is merely provisional (see: Zurich 2024, paragraph 29). If the First Insurer does not dispute, within 90 days, its liability to pay any and all benefits, in accordance with SABS, of the claimant, there is no other process for the First Insurer to transfer, dispute and recover any paid or to be paid benefits to the claimant. A First Insurer's calculus to not accept a claim for whatever subjective reason can turn out to be a costly and permanent mistake.60 This is full answer to the Adjudicator's query about whether the Tribunal had authority to add the First Insurer to this LAT Proceeding, which is oddly required as a matter of law.

41. As of 2015, in Zurich 2015, the SCC held that Chubb ought to have responded to the SABS claim immediately on a 'pay first and dispute later' basis (see: Zurich 2024, paragraph 12). As long as the Completed Application by the claimant was not arbitrary, there is a "nexus" between the claimant and the First Insurer (i.e. the one to receive the Completed Application) (see: Zurich 2024, paragraph 14). In Zurich 2015, the SCC (see: 2015 SCC 19) restored Goldstein J's decision (ONSC (Divisional Court)) in adopting the dissent of Juriansz J.A.: 2014 ONCA 400. A vague recollection about seeing an insurer's name at a rental car office was sufficiently non-arbitrary to require a 'First Insurer' (Chubb in Zurich 2015)) to step into the shoes as a "First Insurer" for the purposes of section 2(1) of Reg 283 (see: Zurich 2024, paragraph 15). If the First Insurer provides automobile insurance in Ontario at the time of receipt of the Completed Application there is a sufficient nexus between a claimant and the First Insurer (see: Zurich 2024, paragraph 16). The policy behind the inflexible rule is that an insurer who fails to pay benefits and fails to put other insurers on notice after receipt of a Completed Application, when there is

SOME nexus between the claimant and the First Insurer, being permanently responsible for the claimant's benefits is to promote compliance with the statutory and regulatory scheme.

42. No power to pursue a non-party under statute is answered above. As a matter of principle, there is NO difference between an insurer's failure to pay under section 2 of Reg 283 and a failure to pay under any provision of SABS (see: Zurich 2024, paragraph 54). As the Tribunal is required to decide this LAT Proceeding in accordance with SABS as a matter of statute (see: section 280(4) of the Insurance Act), then it was not a matter of discretion for Adjudicator Morrissette but a requirement upon her to ensure that the Appellant had the correct and liable party (see also: Insurance Act, ss. 268(3)) before the Tribunal and in the future for not only himself but his service providers. While there is an ability of a party to "request an expedited hearing" in the dropdown menu of Tribunals Ontario e-filing portal, there is a dearth of jurisprudence regarding the same with LAT/AABS matters. As of 2010, the amendments to Reg 283 led to an absence of listed fax numbers for insurance companies and for good reason: some unsavory insured persons may deliberately manipulate the system by faxing their OCF-1's to an incorrect insurance company with no record of them as insured persons leading to those insurance companies in receipt of confidential information with an inability to dispute that they were not liable along with which insurance company may be liable. This could lead to an insurance company, who had not received premiums with no previous interaction with such an unsavory insured person, being liable to respond and pay benefits to said unsavory insured person.

43. It is important to note that the actual relief sought in the hearing record was slightly different in language but a distinction with a difference at Order #5: [5] Any further relief that is consistent with the above and in accordance with Reg 283, SABS, and Reg 664. The issue of adding the party TDHA as the First Insurer is one that the Adjudicator was required to answer (see: Rio Tinto, SCC 2010 SCC 43). However, even if the Adjudicator had granted Order #1 that would have been sufficient as a decision (order, declaration, determination and/or finding) that would have finally disposed of the Appeal, as it was currently constituted on September 13, 2024.

44. Again, the Reconsideration Decision references that the appellant did not cite to any binding case law or legislative authority regarding adding a second respondent. The Tribunal has yet again misunderstood the Appellant's argument in that TDHA would be the First Insurer and SNIC would remain solely as it relates for costs in the proceeding prior to TDHA being the First Insurer. In relation to binding case law, Zurich 2024 as per Justice Akazaki unequivocally found that a breach of Reg 283 or SABs were a distinction without a difference. The decision of VCM in mid-September 2024 is not only an incorrect decision but a dangerous decision. It must be corrected forthwith for the benefit of the general public, the insurance industry and the relevant participants.

45. Moreover, had the Adjudicator determined the factual issue at Order #3 in NOM #15, this would have been a decision that finally disposes of the Appeal. In this regard, the Tribunal issued a Notice of Motion Scheduling Order on Thursday, September 12, 2024, that fond that SNIC was located at the Burlington Office: "[3] preliminary finding, determination, or order, that the fax number 416-774-3120 was a landline phone number utilized as a fax number on the 4th floor of the building situated at the premises municipally known as 3650 Victoria Park Avenue, North York, Toronto, Ontario, M2H 3P7. The decision of Vice Chair Lake on reconsideration suffers from the same issues but remains premature considering not having NOM #16 decided in advance of the same. Once NOM #16 is decided, it will allow for the Applicant (Appellant) to be able to advance this judicial review in accordance with having final decisions on all the same.

Honourable Court may deem proper.

TD HOME AND AUTO INSURANCE COMPANY, SECURITY NATIONAL INSURANCE COMPANY, TD GENERAL INSURANCE COMPANY, EXECUTIVE DIRECTOR, LICENCE APPEAL TRIBUNAL,

APPLICANT'S FACTUM

VOLUME # #1: STATEMENT OF JUDICIAL REVIEW APPLICATION

1. This JRPA* Application involves the challenge to two (2) issued decisions of the Licence Appeal Tribunal ("LAT" or "Tribunal")[1]on September 13, 2024, and October 16, 2024, and two potentially unmade decisions involving the same. In the absence of any analysis of the statutory scheme[2] (i) by Vice Chair ("VC") Morrissette ("VCM"); and (ii) VC Lake ("VCL"), on reconsideration (the "RD"), relying on the newly passed language, as of August 21, 2023[3], in the LAT Rules, which is non-legislation,[4] the reviewing or appellate court is required to start afresh. Since 2019, the SCC settled the judicial review landscape in declaring Dunsmuir[5] to no longer be the law of our land and provided factual and/or legal situations where the reasonableness standard of review is rebutted. The focus herein of where the presumptive reasonableness standard is rebutted is where the rule of law ("ROL") requires that the standard of correctness be applied.

2. The rule of law is a theme in this JRPA Proceeding as per, some events that occurred or issues that were catalyzed after the filing of the JRPA* Application, which were, including but not limited to: (i) Tribunal counsel (Ms. Boyce) raising the prematurity doctrine on a preliminary basis; (ii) counsel (Mr. Nieuwland) to TDGIC and SNIC[6], but not TDHA, in the LAT Proceeding not filing an appearance notice forthwith but purporting to file said purported notice of appearance (the "Purported Appearance") that was defective whilst in his cover email making a similar misstatement of law to the one he made on behalf at the nullity case conference on May 2, 2024, that "SNIC" was 'one and the same' as two other insurance companies (see: 'also referred to as' TD Home And Auto [sic] and TD General Insurance company [sic]"; and (iii) others.[7]

3. The Applicant has also sought the consent of SNIC to adjourn the hearing proper with the LAT scheduled for January 25, 2024, predicated on a nullity pre-hearing conference before Vice Chair Painchaund (the "Hearing Proper"). TDGIC has no entitlement to participate herein as NOM #13 was an interlocutory order and it did not even attempt to participate in it. NOM #14 and #15 squarely raise issues between SNIC and TDHA. Neither SNIC nor

TDHA sought to tender any materials, despite being duly served with NOM #14 and NOM #15.

4. The matter remains one where the delay will likely[8] involve a failure of justice being an affront to the rule of law and subspecies of the rule of law that involve: (i) general questions of law of central importance to the legal system as a whole; (ii) questions related to the jurisdictional boundaries between two or more administrative bodies; and (iii) the relationship between the legislature and the other branches of the state, which require a final and determinate answer from the courts (the "Final Answer Requirement"). The rule of law requires courts to have the final word (the "Final Word Requirement") with regard to general questions of law that are of central importance to the legal system as a whole because they require uniform and consistent answers (the "Uniform Answers Requirement" or "Vertical *Stare Decisis").[9] The rule of law requires courts to intervene where one administrative body has interpreted the scope of its authority in a manner that is incompatible with the jurisdiction of another administrative body since the rule of law cannot tolerate conflicting orders and proceedings where they result in a true operational conflict between two administrative bodies ("Intolerance Conflicting Orders Requirement").[10]

5. Whether affiliate or related insurance companies can accept priority, without any independent notices (see: (i) notice of transfer; (ii) notice of a potential agreement between insurers; and/or (iii) notice of arbitration) to an insured person or absolute noncompliance with Reg 283, over an applicant's [sic] insurance policy [sic] (not a SABS claim) is a question that must be answered by this ONSC on an urgent basis[11].

6. Some of the pertinent principles regarding the rule of law herein are: (i) equality before the law[12]; (ii) accountability[13]; and (iii) access to justice[14]. While administrative tribunal independence and absence of bias is not a constitutional principle, like that which is present pursuant to section 96 to 101 of the Constitution Act involving courts, conflicts of interest, bias and independence are presumed to be absent or at least reasonably perceived to be. The VCM Decision was not only incorrect and unreasonable[15] but it was counter to the

ROL requirement of "equality before the law" to which the Applicant and, by extension, his service providers were so entitled. The VCM Decision lacked "accountability to the law" as it was opaque in not only substance but process as: (i) it failed to reference any uncontroverted filed and served evidence; (ii) it failed to reference the binding "source law" wherein the Tribunal was required to decide all questions of law and fact before it in accordance with Reg 283, SABS and Reg 664[16]; and (iii) it failed to reference any jurisprudence that was binding upon it.

7. The jurisprudence involving JRPA (ss. 6(2)), Reg 283, the prematurity doctrine, "double jeopardy doctrine" (res judicata and issue estoppel), and standard of review all invoke the same principles in the middle of that archetypal "Venn diagram". While there is no dispute on the law that the orders in NOM #14, and to some extent NOM #15, are final orders, irrespective of their lack of correctness, those principles fatefully contain similar language in relation to the legal thresholds for this ONSC to decide the legal issues herein on an expedited and urgent basis: (i) rule of law; (ii) standing in the shoes of another; (iii) bringing the administration of justice into disrepute; (iv) urgency; (v) failure of justice; and (vi) avoidance of repetition of proceedings before this ONSC and the Tribunal.

8. If the Purported Nieuwland Appearance is struck and there is no validity to the LAT's preliminary objection in the form of the "prematurity doctrine" to reviewing final orders of the Tribunal,[17] then government counsel cannot defend this JRPA Proceeding. As noted by Jia[18] by this ONSC (Div. Court): "We would exercise our discretion to hear an appeal from the conflict decision, because it is evasive of appeal and it is potentially a matter of general practice important in proceedings before LAT." The ONSC (Divisional Court) referred, in Harold The Mortgage Closer[19] (paragraph 37), citing Volochay[20] (paragraph 68[21]) wherein the ONCA referred to the prematurity doctrine and impugned interlocutory relief as synonymous or quasi-synonymous.[22] filed and served the JRPA Application in accordance with the requirement that it commence before the Divisional Court, he pleaded the material facts as to why he sought relief under section 6(2) of the JRPA, and why a failure to have this JRPA Proceeding heard urgently would likely lead to a failure of justice.

9. Section 138 of the CJA codifies the principle that a multiplicity of proceedings must be avoided.[23] This leaves the sole issue being one of timing. Unlike the applicant, Sanscon Construction Ltd.,[24] in Sanscon v. City of Toronto ["Sanscon"], which failed to comply with some of the elementary requirements of pleadings, notice et al, this Applicant paid,

10. Like many unlawful schemes, it is not the 'what, when and how', but the 'why'. The "why" herein was to circumvent multiple valid statutory schemes including: (i) FSRA investigatory and enforcement powers under the Insurance Act and the UDAP Rule; (ii) Law Society Act and its By-Laws; (iii) PIPEDA; and (iv) others. TDHA, as of 2019, while remaining as a licensed automobile insurer in Ontario, became a non-reporting insurance company to the FSRA for the purposes of the sub-category of insurance in the "Private Passenger Market". Only three insurance companies, within the TDI Group, issued automotive insurance polices in Ontario in the Private Passenger Market: (i) Primmum Insurance Company (FSRA registration number 1396)[25] ("Primmum"); (ii) SNIC; and (iii) TDGIC. [26] The motive for why SNIC would engage in such intentional conduct and why TDHA would be complicit with the same is to "kill or limit the paper trail" of what can be investigated by the FSRA, the LSO, and OPCC. [27]

11. To determine the unlawful scheme, it required analytical precision, after much review, into the various sections of the Insurance Act as to whom, what, when and how an insurance company, including certain individuals in specified situations, could be investigated. Moreover, the FSRA's investigatory, search, seizure, citation and enforcement powers are not only curtailed but eliminated if an insurer like TDHA is not a reporting insurance company in the "Private Passenger Market" of automobile insurance. By SNIC's intentional action of having TDHA be the recipient insurer of his OCF-1 application, it controls what documents and activities are subject to investigation during the SABS claim processes. The corroborating evidence of the unlawful scheme was, inter alia, the following: (i) the Spam Fax in March 2023 from an unknown insurance company to the Applicant's fax number; (ii) SNIC providing notice of change of address, in Spring or Summer of 2023 from Markham to Burlington along with changing its fax number from the TDHA Fax Number to the Burlington Fax Number; (iii) a forged and invalid signature of "As per A. Nurse" under Ms. Nurse's name in an OCF-18; (iv) TDGIC substituting itself as the sole respondent in the LAT Proceeding; and (iv) other references in the AR or record of proceeding depending on any agreement between the entitled parties to participate herein.

12. By having TDGIC being the "sole respondent of record", albeit SNIC filing the sole "Response" in the LAT Proceeding (the "SNIC Response"), with the sole signature of a non-licensee (Mr. Karat) in breach of LSO By-Law 7.1, ss. 6(1)(b) and (d)[28], which does not meet a specified document to be included in the "record of proceeding" under the SPPA, SNIC controls or eliminates any investigation into its activities during the LAT Appeal temporal period. For example, if the FSRA sought to investigate issues involving SNIC, it could claim that it was not the insurer and that TDGIC was the solely responsible insurer for the Applicant's SABS claim (TD Claim #3), and the FSRA investigative and market conduct team would be misdirected. As the Applicant never faxed a document to the TDGIC fax number (416.774.3629) prior to the filing of the LAT Appeal and thereafter, there would be little to no evidence for the FSRA to investigate.

13. Moreover, by having a non-licensee self-titled "ADR Specialist" (non 'adjuster' under the Insurance Act), SNIC, along with TD Insurance Staff Legal, further limited the reach of the LSO into activities subject to its legislative powers and its by-laws which have legislative force[29]. By having Mr. Nieuwland solely act for TDGIC by filing a DOR, whilst having a P1 holder (not providing legal services) in Ms. Michelle Moraes masquerade as his legal assistant for three months before one Ms. Ortiz (his actual legal assistant) surfaced, it further curtailed the investigatory powers of the LSO and the FSRA. There was also evidence, albeit in a PIPEDA response of SNIC in 2024, that there were multiple files of these insurance companies involving a single claimant.

14. This Court must also rule on this JRPA Proceeding because the findings of VCM invoke the Applicant's [sic] Insurance Policy [sic] and a clandestine and undisclosed subsequent contract between SNIC and TDGIC (collectively, the "Offerees") by way of being offerees, to the surreptitious and unrevealed offer by TDHA (the "Offeror") as the First Insurer pursuant, to its prescribed jurisdiction, of Rule 14.05(3)(d)[30] to hear this matter since it involves the determination of rights that depends upon contractual interpretation. This court has, at least, two contracts to review in determining the rights of all involved: (i) the Insurance Policy; and (ii) the unrevealed contract between TDHA (as one party) "and" SNIC and TDGIC ("counterparties").

VOLUME #1(B): Background Facts to this public interest litigation: JRPA Application

15. The Applicant was injured as the driver occupant in an automobile accident ("Accident") on August 31, 2022 (the "DOL"), through no fault of his own, which rendered the Insured Automobile with a police reporting file and some $6,000 in damage to the Insured Automobile. The Insured Automobile was propelled involuntarily some 30 feet forward from a stopped position north of St. Clair Avenue and south of Heath Road, on the Spadina Avenue. From the DOL to January 11, 2023 (the "Material Time"), the Insurance Policy associated with the Insured Automobile that he was operating was a leased vehicle from BMW Financial Services Inc. ("BMW FSI") and his spouse, a University of Toronto alumnus, was the individual named insured. The Applicant suffered a variety of impairments that were readily outside of the MIG, including but not limited to: (i) a grade 1 retrolisthesis; (ii) degenerative disc disease; (iii) S1 nerve issues; and (iv) a concussion.

16. The sole underwriter (the "Sole Underwriter") in the Insurance Policy and "pink cards" was Security National Insurance Company ("SNIC") which was an out-of-province insurer that had six classes of insurance with the FSRA. On September 1, 2022, the Applicant orally notified (the "Oral Notification") SNIC of the Accident and his intention to apply for accident benefits pursuant to the Schedule making SNIC the "First Notified Insurer".

17. SNIC provided the Applicant, in late September 2022, the OCF-1 application (the "OCF-1 Application" or "Application" pursuant to Reg 283, section 1). In the "return this form to" field, SNIC provided a mailing address of the 2nd floor, 101 McNabb Street, Markham, Ontario (the "Markham Office") and a fax number of 416.774.3120. Unbeknownst to the Applicant, the said fax number was not a telephone number in Markham but rather in North

York, Toronto, and after lengthy investigations[31] the only evidence before the Tribunal was that the said fax number was a landline number, issued by Bell Canada Inc. (not Bell Mobility) at the 4th floor-3650 Victoria Park Avenue, North York, Toronto. In 2024, the only evidence before the Tribunal was that, in October 2022, it was controlled, assigned and belonged to TD Home And Auto Insurance Company (FSRA registration number 1063) ("TDHA").

18. TDGIC's fax number, as per the Tribunal's notice of motion hearing orders, was the telephone number that was used solely as fax number, of 416.774.3629 and it was located on the 9th floor of the VP Building.

> VOLUME #1(B)(I): The LAT Registrar Order that confirmed that: (a) SNIC was not located at the Markham Office; (b) located in Burlington; and (c) with the 905 Fax Number (not a 416 fax number)

19. Further, before the issuance (September 13, 2024) of the VCM Decision, the Tribunal (not VCM herself but the LAT Registrar) on September 12, 2024, had issued another order that SNIC's address for service was 5th floor-5045 South Service Road, Burlington, Ontario ("SNIC Burlington Office").

> VOLUME #1(B)(II): Why would VCM backdate VCM Decision to September 6, 2024?

20. The self-evident and overwhelming inference is that by the LAT Registrar providing the, in fact, address of SNIC in Burlington, this provided an additional binding ground, by way of a decision of the administrative body, as to why TDHA was the First Insurer. Simply put, SNIC solely provided its name with a false address and false fax number.

> VOLUME #1(B)(III): Why were there so many palpable errors in the VCM Decision?

21. The obvious inference was that she rushed her decision-making process to pretend that her decision was issued on September 6, 2024, and not subject to or inconsistent with the LAT Registrar's order finally providing the, in fact, address of SNIC being the SNIC

Burlington Office. VCM was required to review all materials in the record of proceeding prior to issuing her order, and the LAT Registrar order, received by the parties, was a binding order upon her. The VCM Decision was inconsistent with said order.

22. SNIC had provided the said physical address, absent a floor number, from Spring or Summer 2023 until the time of the Applicant's filing of the LAT Appeal on December 24, 2023. SNIC's fax number at the SNIC Burlington Office was that 905 Fax Number. Ergo, SNIC only complied with the requirements under Reg 283 of providing its name but failed to comply with the requirements, at the Material Time, that it provide its mailing address and fax number.

VOLUME #1(B)(IV): Obligation to pay benefits triggered upon receipt

23. On October 13, 2022, the Applicant not only faxed his completed application pursuant to Reg 283 and SABS, ss. 32 (the "McLean Completed Application") to the TDHA Fax Number, which was a landline on the 4th Floor VP Building, albeit unknowingly, but he also faxed a completed and signed OCF-2 on his behalf ("Completed OCF-2"). On November 3, 2022, the Applicant paid the section 25 of SABS fees for the OCF-3, and the said duly and doubly signed OCF-3 was delivered to the 4th Floor VP Bldg. Fax Number.[32]

VOLUME #1(B)(V): The New Brunswick response to a PIPEDA request of SNIC and the SPAM Fax: February to April 2023

24. Further, there was additional evidence before the Tribunal that the Applicant had made a PIPEDA request of SNIC in February 2023, via email to the TD privacy email, but received an apparent PIPEDA response via mail from an unknown corporate sender located in New Brunswick. With further investigations in the Summer of 2024, the Applicant filed evidence with the Tribunal that while TDGIC operated in the Private Passenger Market in Ontario but did not operate in the Private Passenger Market in New Brunswick, TDHA did not in Ontario but did in New Brunswick along with SNIC and Primmum.

25. Around the same time (March 2023), while SNIC had never faxed the Applicant in reply to any of his delivered faxes to the TDHA Fax Number, again unknowingly to him, and only sent ostensible responses the Applicant received a fax from an unknown sender that "it" had no record of the Applicant's TD Claim #3 and to send his faxes with information, already in each fax, to one of the various locations (see: Calgary, Ontario, Montreal, Nova Scotia and New Brunswick) across Canada. There were two fax numbers in Ontario: Burlington (905 Fax Number) and North York (the 4th Floor VP Building Fax Number). The Applicant was already faxing to the 416.774.3120 and he did not reside in Burlington but he was perplexed by the "North York" reference. Consequently, the Applicant promptly blocked the sender, on account of it being "spam" (defined as the "Spam Fax"). The Applicant notified the 416.774.3120 fax number presuming still he was faxing SNIC regarding the misidentification of said fax number being grounded, by landline phone number, in North York, although the Applicant was incorrect in that regard at said time by way of detrimental reliance on the representations made to him by SNIC, of the issue and continued to fax the said telephone (fax) number. Shortly thereafter, SNIC had correctly, albeit missing a floor number, provided the Applicant, via mail, with a notice of change of address from the Markham Office to the Burlington Office, and, most notably, from the VP Building 4th Floor Fax Number to the 905 Fax Number.

26. SABS and Reg 283, having undergone major amendments in 2010 after being submitted to industry consultations and amendments before proclamations, they reflect important policy choices to ensure order and stability in regulated industries. Said "order and stability" in the regulations must be matched by this ONSC by reference to the Final Word Requirement, Final Answer Requirement, Uniform Answers Requirement, Vertical *Stare Decisis, and Intolerance Conflicting Orders Requirement pursuant to the ROL.

27. Reg 283 is designed to keep priority disputes out of the courts.[33] Reg 283 is also purposed to prevent SABS claims, including vital treatments and income benefits, from being delayed while insurers fight over priority dispute under section 268(2) of the Insurance

Act.[34] As a matter of principle, there is NO[35] difference between an insurer's failure to pay under section 2 of Reg 283 and a failure to pay under any provision of SABS. [36] [37]

28. While a First Insurer, like TDHA, may have never received insurance premiums from the insured persons, or be deemed to have received the same pursuant to the Insurance Act after a determined insured person was an occupant in said 'insured automobile' may seem intuitively wrong, the Legislature, by passage of statutes with Royal Assent, and LGIC's intent, must be respected. There is no, per se, harshness to be alleviated by a sophisticated insurance company, with endless resources, who received the McLean Completed Application, who fails to investigate within three months and provide a notice, in form A143, to an insured person and other insurers under sections 3 and 4 of Reg 283. The provisional first-insurer rule under the regulation and the priority regime under the statute operate differently.[38] Irrespective of whether a claimant is an "insured person" or not in the subjective mind of the First Insurer, the First Insurer must respond to the Claimant and pay benefits where applicable and required (see: Reg 283, ss. 2.1(6)). Acceptance during the 90-day period is merely provisional.[39] If the First Insurer does not dispute, within 90 days, its liability to pay all benefits, in accordance with SABS, of the claimant, there is no other process for the First Insurer to transfer the SABS claim, dispute the same and recover any paid or to-be-paid benefits to the claimant.[40]A First Insurer's calculus to not accept a claim for whatever subjective reason can turn out to a costly and permanent mistake.[41] The lack of acceptance in this regard is functionally equivalent to "not accepting service of a claim," which is distinct from not accepting an offer in relation to a proposed contract.

VOLUME #3: Requirement to "step into the shoes" of Sole Underwriter[42]

29. In Zurich 2015[43], the SCC held that Chubb ought to have responded to the SABS claim immediately on a 'pay first and dispute later' basis.[44] If the sending of the Completed Application by the claimant was not arbitrary, there is a nexus between the claimant and the First Insurer.[45] The SCC restored Goldstein J.'s judgment (ONSC) ["Zurich 2012"[46]] in its verbatim adopting[47] the dissent of Juriansz J.A. ["Zurich 2014"][48], as he then was before retiring after an illustrious legal and judicial career in 2021,[49]: 2014 ONCA 400[50].

A vague recollection about seeing an insurer's name at a rental car office was sufficiently non-arbitrary to require the First Insurer (Chubb in Zurich 2015[51]) to "step into the shoes" of another insurance company(ies) that was liable under a "contract of insurance" for the purposes of section 2(1) of Reg 283.[52] The policy behind the inflexible rule that an insurer (like TDHA), which fails to: (i) respond provisionally to a claimant; (ii) fails to pay benefits provisionally to the claimant; (iii) fails to put other insurers on notice; and (iv) fails to put the insured person on notice of a potential transfer of the insured person's claim to other insurer(s), after receipt of a Completed Application, when there is SOME nexus, being permanently responsible for the claimant's benefits is to promote compliance with the validly binding statutory scheme.

30. The ONSC in Zurich 2024[53] (May) settled the law in the above regards as follows: (i) breach of section 2 of Reg 283, according to the case law, does not result in an insurer being required to pay benefits to the claimant permanently; BUT (ii) the failure TO AVAIL itself of section 3 does. Section 3 dovetails to section 4 which requires the First Insurer (TDHA) to provide notice to the insured person. Section 5 of Reg 283 provides the consequences for an insured person not delivering its objection notice to the First Insurer within 14 days of receipt of the dispute notice form (A143) from the First Insurer. A143 requires the First Insurer, which receives the same, to fill out the form correctly and have a representative sign the same.

31. Herein, there is some incredibly prejudicial and fatal evidence, as it relates to any defence by TDHA that it could not meet the 90-day requirement to provide an A143 notice, and that is the signature block of Mr. Karat wherein he, as an ADR specialist, represented, multiple times, in 2024, that he was authorized to represent, "SNIC, TDGIC, Primmum, and TDHA".

32. TDHA's permanent liability for responding to the SABS Applicant and paying benefits to him was a self-inflicted consequence of its failure to adhere to the requirements and protections of section 2 to 4 of Reg 283.The combination of provisions in Reg 283 transformed TDHA's provisional liability into a permanent one.[54] For TDHA to not be declared as the First Insurer would mean that there were no consequences for the conduct

(or inaction) of TDHA by receipt of the McLean Completed Application and by continuing to have its former branch office address (East Mall Address) auto-populate in HCAI, without Mr. McLean having access to the same as he was not a "service provider" and no ability for any service provider to amend the same, it would defeat the legislation's public policy: "pay now and dispute later". The consequence would be that the "rule of law" would not matter and the LGIC's proclaimed amendments to Reg 283 and SABS had no teeth and were of no force and effect. Put another way, the mandatory provisions therein would become discretionary based on the arbitrary and subjective beliefs and whims of insurance companies within a group of insurers. There would be no stability and consistency in the application of Reg 283, and the Uniform Answers Requirement or what is more commonly known as "horizontal and vertical stare decisis" in our provincial common law (judge made law) jurisdictions.

VOLUME # #4: Issues, Law and Argument

VOLUME # #4(A): Issues

33. The Applicant frames the general legal issues as follows:

    a. Issue #1: What is the standard of review of the VCM Decision and the VCL Reconsideration Decision as it relates to VCM's orders in NOM #14 and NOM #15?
    b. Issue #2: As TDHA was the first insurance company to receive the McLean Completed Application, was it possible, at law, for SNIC and TDGIC to accept priority over the Applicant's [sic] insurance policy [sic] without any notice to him?
        i. If the answer to said issue is in the negative, what is the legal effect of the same?
    c. Issue #3: what orders must this ONSC fashion with respect to the public interest remedies that are evasive of the JRPA Application and of great importance to the procedure, practice, substance and the ROL in LAT proceedings where similar issues may arise?

VOLUME #4(B): Law

VOLUME ##4(B)(I): Jurisprudence

34. The ONSC in Beasley[55] was unequivocal in its language that the fiduciary duties of an insurance company, whether they are provisional or permanent, are triggered by the obligation to pay benefits (if any) wherein the Honourable Justice Moore found: "[34] The relationship between an insured and an insurer in accident benefits matters involves a duty of good faith, a fiduciary obligation; the relationship between plaintiff and defendant in a tort action does not. The obligation, if any, to pay accident benefits is very different from the exposure, if any, that a defendant faces in a tort action."

35. The ONSC (Divisional Court) in Jia found, in upholding the reconsideration decision of VC Trojek[56], in a priority dispute case between CAA (insurance company) and The Personal Insurance Company, and SABS proceeding between a male widow and daughter without his wife and her mother respectively due to the fatal car accident against The Personal Insurance Company, found at paragraph 6: "[6] It is established law that insurers may not use the same counsel in statutory benefits cases and in tort cases brought against them by the same insured. This is because the duties of an insurer (and therefore of its counsel) are different in these contexts, and as an accident benefits insurer, the insurer is entitled to receive, and is required to keep confidential, a great deal of sensitive personal information from claimant." [57] [58]

VOLUME # #4(B)(II): Legislation

36. Section 280 of the Insurance Act contains six subsections, which were passed in 2014, of which only four are potentially relevant herein. [59] [60]The SPPA provides who may be parties to a proceeding which is by "statute" or "by law". The Insurance Act does not define or delineate who may be parties so the relevant part of section 5 is the "by law" component of the legislative section. TDHA, as the First Insurer on a provisional basis from October 13, 2022, to January 10, 2023, (the "Provisional Period") and then on a permanent basis from January 10, 2023, to present and in perpetuity (the "Permanent Period"), is the only insurance company in the TDI Group that, "by law", that was and is entitled to be the respondent party. Of note, the Applicant sent his LAT Appeal to the TDHA Fax Number and it was received by TDHA.

VOLUME # #4(B)(II): Regulations

37. Benefits" means SABS as defined under section 224(1) of the Act.[61] An insurer shall promptly provide an OCF-1 and any other appropriate forms in accordance with the

Schedule to an applicant who notifies the insurer [a "First Notified Insurer"] that she wishes to apply for benefits: 2.1(2) of Reg 283.[62] A SABS applicant shall use the Application provided by the insurer and shall send the Completed Application to only one insurer: ss. 2.1(4) of Reg 283.[63] An insurer that provides an application [a "First Notified Insurer"] under subsection (2) to an applicant shall: [1] not take any action intended: (i) to prevent; or (ii) stop, the applicant from submitting a completed application to the insurer; and [2] shall not: (i) refuse to accept the completed application or (ii) redirect the applicant to another insurer (see: ss. 2.1(5) of Reg 283). [64]

VOLUME # #4(B)(II)(c): Disputes between Insurers: independent breaches by First Notified Insurer and First Insurer under section 2.1 of Reg 283

38. Conceivably, the "First Notified Insurer" and "First Insurer" (not the "First Party Insurer" under Insurance Act as referenced in Reg 664[65]), could independently and disjunctively breach different subsections under section 2.1 of the Reg 283. For example, the First Notified Insurer could breach section 2.1(5) of the Reg 283, by taking some action intended to prevent or stop the 'applicant" from even submitting a completed application to "the insurer". "The insurer" may or may not be the First Notified Insurer. Under the last part of the sentence in subsection 2.1(5) of Reg 283, "an insurer" may breach section 2.1(5) by refusing to ACCEPT[66] the Completed Application OR redirecting the same to another insurer. Ergo, a First Notified Insurer could conceivably breach sections 2.1(2), 2.1(3) and (5) of Reg 283. [67] [68] [69]

VOLUME # #4(B)(II)(d): First Insurer: how could such an insurance company breach section 2 of Reg 283? Which subsections of section 2 of Reg 283 did TDHA breach?

39. Juxtaposed to that, the First Insurer may not be First Notified Insurer wherein an individual contacts, delirious after the Accident, and notifies the insurance company it believes to be a sole underwriter for the vehicle in which she was injured. However, after complying with that seven-day notification requirement under section 32 of SABS, an individual may, perhaps after the benefit of ILA, realize that said First Notified Insurer is not the insurer that has a duty to respond to her and pay benefits in accordance with the Schedule. As seen in much of the jurisprudence, wherein insurance companies are willing to engage in a litigation for over nearly two decades, she may have multiple policies that could apply. She then submits her Completed Application to "the insurer" (not "an insurer" or the "First Notified Insurer") wherein the First Notified Insurer and First Insurer are distinct and separate entities (not "one and the same"). The First Insurer may fail to commence paying benefits in accordance with the provisions of SABS pending the resolution of any dispute as to which insurer is required to pay benefits (nota bene: the "First [Recipient] Insurer" in its capacity as the "First Provisional Insurer"). Such a First Insurer may breach section 2.1(6) on a provisional basis and only during the provisional period and/or beyond.

VOLUME # #4(B)(II)(e): Consequences of Non-Compliance[70] (ss. 2.1(7) of Reg 283) and distinction between section 2(1) (LGIC proclamation in 1995) and ss. 2.1 (LGIC proclamation in 201)

40. The word "reasonable" utilized by the LGIC indicates the objective person test. Therefore, the threshold and quantum for the fees under legal, adjusting, admin or disbursements is what a reasonable person would find in terms of whether they are owed and in what quantum. The only difference (see: supra, "the statute and regulation operate differently" as per Justice Akazaki) between section 2(1) and 2.1(6)[71] is that the former references the requirement to pay benefits under section 268 of the Insurance Act whereas section 2.1(6) reference the requirement of that First [Recipient] Insurer to pay benefits in accordance with the provision of the Schedule.

VOLUME # #4(III): Argument

41. Vice Chair Morrissette obviously knows more than the Applicant as to what was represented to the Tribunal in written or oral form – not that which is correct at law – "behind the scenes". [72]There is no prescribed right of insurance companies, irrespective of whether they may or may not be affiliated within a group of insurance companies, to accept priority over an "insurance policy". No such right exists in relation to a claim for accident benefits after a Completed OCF-1 is received by AN insurance company. NIC did not refuse to accept the Completed Application as it did not receive the Applicant's Completed Application first. It is unclear if it even received it second or in what order or if at all. The reference to "it at all" is grounded in the record of proceeding and the denial letters in that SNIC never enclosed a copy of the initial OCF-1 delivered to TDHA at first instance or other documents but rather would reference them in a vague and ambiguous manner.[73] To encapsulate the application of the uncontroverted evidence to ss. 2.1(5) of Reg 283, SNIC was the only insurance company that provided the OCF-1 but it cannot be found to have prevented the Applicant from submitting his Completed Application to "the insurer" but rather encouraged him to do so by providing a North York, Toronto, fax number (VP Building 4th Floor Fax Number) of TDHA which was an "in province" insurer licensed in the class of automobile insurance. Therefore, there was a nexus between the Applicant and TDHA as he did not select TDHA on a whim but was exclusively directed to it by SNIC – at least "on paper".

42. TDHA was the First Insurer as the only two lead tenants at the Victoria Park Ave Building were that of TDGIC and TDHA. TDGIC occupied floors 7 to 9 with the 9th floor being its mailing address and TDHA occupying floors four to six with the four floors being its mailing address. Once the Applicant had honed in on the deception, the mathematical computation of how Bell Canada Inc. had assigned the numbers within the building was rather rudimentary. The area code of 416 was only for Toronto-based locations. 774 was assigned as a "prefix" to numbers within the District of North York and then within the VP Building, the 3 was a common feature to many landlines of tenants therein. The "120" was a string of three digits with numerical value of "1" being on the fourth floor and the numerical string of "629" with "six" being on the 9th floor. For sake of completeness: "2" was on the fifth floor; "3" was on the sixth floor; "4" was on the seventh floor; "5" was on the eighth floor; and "6" was on the ninth floor. The Tribunal's notice of hearing orders are orders at law and subject to judicial review, and neither SNIC nor TDGIC sought to challenge them by a section 21.1 of the SPPA motion or judicial review and/or appeal. It is trite that if those fax numbers that the Tribunal had found were to be for service of documents to SNIC and TDGIC were not their fax numbers, they would have objected or confirmed the same with the Tribunal.[74]

43. Therefore, SNIC had no provisional obligation to respond to the Applicant and pay benefits as its obligation to respond was merely the provision of forms and explanation of benefits as a mere stakeholder in the insurance industry, but rather TDHA had that obligation to respond and pay benefits. Therefore, pursuant to section 280(4), the LAT was required to resolve the LAT Proceeding in accordance with SABS and Reg 283.

44. In order for the Tribunal to determine the JRPA Applicant's claims under Reg 664, s. 10 (Dispute Resolution under section 280 of the Insurance Act).[75] Conceivably, s.10 of Reg 664 could involve two insurers because a provisional First Insurer could have delayed commencing paying benefits and further delayed during the provisional period, and a different agreed to, with or without the consent of an insured person subject to said claimant receiving notice or notices pursuant to Reg 283, or declared insurer, by arbitrator or subsequent court decisions[76] could have delayed or withheld benefits thereafter. [77]

45. The Applicant complied with section 268(5) of the Insurance Act and ss. 32(1) of the Schedule by SNIC became the "First Notified Insurer". Pursuant to section 32(2) of Schedule and Reg 283, ss. 2.1(2) SNIC provided the Applicant with an OCF-1 Application (see: Reg 283, s.1) and some other forms that related to the Schedule. SNIC breached part of ss. 2.1(3) of Reg 283 by not providing its accurate mailing address and fax number. The Applicant complied with ss. 2.1(4) of Reg 283 by using the "OCF-1 Application" provided by SNIC and sent the Completed Application to only one insurer (TDHA).

VOLUME # #4(III)(A)(i): Subsection 2.1(6)

46. TDHA was the First Insurer that received a Completed Application for benefits from this JRPA Applicant (SABS Applicant) and was duty bound, by the LGIC's 2010 proclamations, which were the subject of extensive industry wide consultations, to commence paying the benefits in accordance with the provisions of the Schedule.

VOLUME # #4(III)(A)(ii): Subsection 2.1(7)

47. As SNIC and THDA are both "insurers", distinct at law, they have both failed to comply with various sections under subsection 2.1 and are required to reimburse each other for any fees (adjusting and legal), costs et al that were reasonably incurred by the other insurer as a result of the non-compliance. However, that is an issue between them and not for the Applicant. The Applicant is not entitled to any payment of any incurred legal fees, adjuster's fees, administration costs and disbursements but he is entitled to benefits and payment of section 25 fees incurred.

VOLUME # #4(III)(A)(iii): Sections 3 to 4 of Reg 283 and ss. 268(3) of the IA

48. An insurer against whom a person has recourse for the payment of statutory accident benefits is liable to pay the benefits: ss. 268(3) of the Insurance Act. Where an insurer has given notice under section 3 of Reg 283, said insurer must also give notice to the insured person using a form approved by the CEO of the FSRA: ss. 4(1) of the Reg 283. Said form is denoted below at Appendices and it is a A143.[78] TDHA did not even engage in the pretense of doing so.

VOLUME # #4(III)(A)(iv): Section 5 of Reg 283

49. The Applicant never received notice under section 4 of Reg 283 so he did not have any obligation under section 5(1) of Reg 283. Ergo, the Applicant could not, in fact, advise the insurer paying benefits in writing within 14 days that he objected to the transfer of the claim to the insurers referred to in a non-existent notice. According to VCM, the transfer of his TD Claim #3, clandestinely occurred at some unparticularized time by some void ab initio agreement between the First Insurer when TDGIC, in conjunction with SNIC, accepted priority over the Applicant's [sic] Insurance Policy [sic]. VCM was clearly not referring to a "decision" but a subsequent agreement by her deliberate word choice of "acceptance". For "acceptance" to have occurred by two other insurers, where neither could be the First Insurer (TDHA), an offer had to be made. For an agreement to have been consummated, there had to be return consideration in the form of a fulfilled promise from the offerees to the offeror (TDHA). In order for that proposed contract, which could be at best an "agreement to agree", it required notice to the JRPA Applicant and his consent or his silence AFTER receipt of the prescribed notices.[79]

VOLUME # #4(III)(A)(v): Subsection 5(3) of Reg 283

50. Ss. 5(3) of Reg 283 has a "despite" or "subject to" clause in said subsection but it relates to the Fund initiating arbitration so it is not germane to the issues herein.

VOLUME # #4(III)(A)(vi): Void Ab Initio Agreement and deprivation of three different rights: (i) right to object to transfer of his claim to other insurers; (ii) right to object to proposed agreement between insurers; and (iii) right to file notice of arbitration

51. While the Applicant did not receive any section 4 notice pursuant to Reg 283 and was deprived of his rights which the LGIC provided similarly situated accident victims, to object to the transfer of his TD Claim #3 to SNIC and TDGIC on an apparently joint basis, he was also deprived of his arbitration participatory rights in any subsequent proceeding to settle the dispute. Most importantly, whatever clandestine, underhanded and surreptitious agreement was negotiated and consummated between TDHA with SNIC and TDGIC, had no legal effect and was not merely void but void ab initio. It amounts to an irremediable nullity.[80]

VOLUME # #4(III)(A)(vii): Consent vs. Non-Opposition – risks of allowing the Tribunal to decide the Hearing Proper with the "musical defence chairs" between SNIC, TDGIC and TDHA

52. Leaving aside that Mr. Nieuwland's purported Notice of Appearance was and remains defective, Mr. Nieuwland is apparently engaged in similar past conduct that was not only rejected by the Tribunal but the FSRA (two administrative tribunals created under different statutes with boundaries that regularly intersect) with respect to his misguided "one and the same representation" regarding SNIC and TDGIC being the same corporate entity. Such a misrepresentation was counter to the FSRA certificates of status involving each, their distinct license classes approved by the FSRA, the corporate history of TDGIC and SNIC, and the rule in Foss v. Harbottle. Mr. Nieuwland now wishes this ONSC to accept a filing, which was not forthwith, but wherein his cover email misrepresented that he was acting for SNIC and two distinct companies also referred to as [sic] as "TD Home and Auto [sic]" and "TD General Insurance company [sic]". It was a tantamount to a "triple down" on his previous "double down" at least "numerically". For the purposes of clause 4.3 of Schedule 1, the consent of an individual is only valid if it is reasonable to expect that an individual to whom the organization's activities are directed would understand the nature, purpose and consequences of the collection, use or disclosure of the personal information to which they are consenting: s. 6.1 of PIPEDA. It is trite that the OCF-1 and PIPEDA operate harmoniously and in tandem.

VOLUME #4(III)(B): "Mr. Nieuwland and co" – up to old tricks

53. Not opposing the relief in a motion, as TDGIC did by way of written email by Mr. Nieuwland on behalf of TDGIC on June 6, 2024, is not the legal equivalent of "consent". Such a statement of law is a trite one but the history of how SNIC and TDGIC have abused the process of the LAT Proceeding is precisely why this JRPA Proceeding must be decided prior to the Hearing Proper. After Mr. Karat, a non-licensee, signed and filed a Response on behalf of SNIC on January 25, 2025, (the "SNIC Response") contrary to LSO By-Laws, TDGIC purported to be the sole respondent without even the pretense of filing a pleading. NOM #8 was not granted until June 20, 2024, which then required another section 21.1 of the SPPA motion as the clarity and precision of some of the findings of fact, contrary to the record of proceeding, by yet again VCM, were incorrect. The Applicant sought the consent of TDGIC to remove itself as the sole respondent and the consent of SNIC, the only insurance company that filed a Response, to substitute itself for TDGIC. Mr. Nieuwland, for TDGIC, was unequivocal that TDGIC would NOT oppose any such relief from the Applicant after opposing said relief for nearly six months. Mr. McLean is not so self-aggrandizing to think that his NOM #8 was of such superb calibre that it was the sole catalyst for the change in legal position. Rather, it was, admittedly, bold move to serve the FSRA with NOM #8 and invite its submissions by way of amicus curae. 128 days passed from the time of the Nieuwland DOR on behalf of TDGIC to the time of his email where TDGIC would not oppose the relief that the Applicant had been seeking, with formal motions and at the case conference. SNIC did not respond to NOM #8 even though its sole representative, at the time, in Mr. Karat had responded to emails in May 2024. Consent for removal of TDGIC and substitution of SNIC for it would have required a "three party agreement" between the JRPA Application, TDGIC and SNIC.

VOLUME # #4(III)(C): Res judicata and Issue Estoppel

54. The Applicant could then be caught by the doctrines of res judicata and issue estoppel.

VOLUME # #4(III)(C)(i): Res judicata

55. In Said v. Northbridge General Insurance Company, 2024 ONSC 5248 (Div. Court), the Honourable Justice DL Corbette with oral reasons considered res judicata in an administrative context where it was found that a LAT decision is final and authoritative subject to a party's rights of reconsideration or appeal from that decision.[81]TDHA and SNIC are not "one and the same" as it has already been found by the FSRA, through its issuance of the certificates of status in June 2024, that "TDGIC and SNIC were not one and the same".

VOLUME # #4(III)(C)(ii): Issue Estoppel

56. Issue estoppel has been articulated as follows in Kazen v. Whitten & Lublin Professional Corporation, 2020 ONCA 325[82]: (i) the same question has been decided; (ii) the judicial decision which is said to create the estoppel was final; and (iii) the parties to the judicial decision or their privies were the same persons as the parties to the proceedings in which the estoppel is raised [or] their privies. The ONCA in Victoria University (Board of Regents) v. GE Canada Real, 2016 ONCA 646 found the following: "[97] It holds that a party may not relitigate an issue that was finally decided in prior judicial proceedings between the same parties or those who stand in their place. However, even if these elements are present, the court retains discretion to not apply issue estoppel when its application would work an injustice."

57. It is the "mutuality principle" that would be at issue as to whether THDA and SNIC are "privies". However, even the slight chance, however remote, is enough to ensure that a decision is issued as to whom the First Insurer was – as there is no finding that TDHA was not the First Insurer and SNIC was the "Frist Insurer". Since there are no findings in this regard to overturn, no deference is required and the ONSC can decide the issue "de novo" or at least in a manner that resembles a "de novo hearing". It is yet another reason why the respondent insurance companies must not be entitled to participate herein. The Applicant would not be bound by res judicata and/or issue estoppel because SNIC and TDHA are privies but because of Mr. Nieuwland's recent representation in his "received" filing (purported NOA) that SNIC are "also referred to as" as TDHA and TDGIC.

VOLUME # #4(III)(D): Reza vs. State Farm and s. 19 of SPPA

58. The case of Fatemea Rezaiezadeh v. State Farm Mutual Automobile Insurance Company, 2016 ONFSCDRS 59 ("Reza")[83] stands for the proposition below wherein an arbitrator found the following: "The Appellant concedes there is no explicit procedure in…the Statutory Powers Procedure Act, R.S.O. 1990, c. S.22, as amended, to permit a party to continue a proceeding against a non-party." While Reza was a decision before the FSCO, the Legislature has not amended the SPPA in any manner that would change that precedential statement of law. The Applicant will also be deprived of his rights under section 19 of the SPPA in relation to enforcement of a monetary order.[84]The Applicant cannot continue the LAT Proceeding as currently constituted against TDHA as per the VCM Decision. Moreover, the Applicant would be proceeding against as a "Non-First Insurer" that does not have any obligation to respond and to pay benefits.[85]

VOLUME # #4(III)(D)(i): Does the argument that SNIC would merely cut a cheque assuage any concerns and/or should the Applicant have to even take such a risk?

59. In Reza[86], the following excerpt has extreme relevance to why this JRPA Proceeding must proceed expediently before a single justice and, if it fails, then before the ONSC (Div. Court): "The Appellant's apparent concern is that if she is successful on appeal and obtains a monetary award, if the Respondent does not pay, whose property does the sheriff seize? The Respondent submits that Certas would respond to any "valid" judgment by cutting a cheque because of its contractual obligation with State Farm. This did not seem to reassure the Appellant."[87]

VOLUME # #4(III)(D)(ii): Not merely the entitled insured person and the obligated insurance company (First Insurer) but issues

60. The danger of not deciding this JRPA Proceeding on an expedited basis before a single justice, is outlined, to some degree, in 2015 ONCA 851[88]. The ONCA briefly set out the elements required for issue estoppel to apply to bar the re-arguing of an issue, and some useful comments on when parties meet the "mutuality principle". The applicable principle is that "litigation is conclusive upon issues actually brought before the court and upon any issues which the parties, exercising reasonable diligence, should have brought forward on that occasion".[89] The ONCA at paragraph nine raised some of the indicia that would make corporate parties privies of each other and the address aspect is one that cuts both ways:

> "[9] ….. All corporate appellants, except Committee of Certified Acupuncturists of Ontario, share the same registered address and they all share many of the same directors and officers, including the two individual appellants. In the context of these proceedings, this constitutes a sufficient degree of identification among the parties "to make it just to hold that the decision to which one was a party should be binding in the proceedings to which the other is a party".[90] In any event, even if the same parties' requirement for issue estoppel is not strictly met, permitting the appellants to re-litigate the issue that was determined by the Divisional Court would amount to an abuse of process.

VOLUME # #4(III)(D)(v)): "Would respond" is antithetical and counter to the purposes of Reg 283 and SABS [they are imperatives]

61. As found by the Honourable Mr. Justice Akazaki, a former president of the OBA no less, in Zurich 2024[91] the purpose of SABS is and remains that those injured persons receive vital treatments and income replacement benefits. SNIC is even on worse footing than Certas, vis-à-vis the defunct State Farm, as noted in Reza[92], as it relates to automobile insurance benefits in Ontario, because there is no evidence of SNIC having a contractual relationship to TDHA to respond and pay on its behalf for its obligations under Reg 283 and SABS. However, this inharmoniously bolsters a variety of points: (i) SNIC may take the position that it was standing in the shoes of TDHA; (ii) SNIC and TDHA are privies because of the "standing in the shoes argument"; (iii) without a decision herein, SNIC may take the position, even post hearing, that the Applicant was advancing his arguments not only against SNIC, but TDGIC and TDHA, and be without any recourse against TDHA as the First Insurer; (iv) SNIC does not have a duty to respond and pay benefits because it was not the First Insurer but the Applicant's LAT Appeal is dispositive of all issues against not only SNIC but TDHA; (v) to the extent that the Applicant advanced a separate LAT Appeal against TDHA, he would be abusing the process of the Tribunal because the underlying evidence would be similar or the same as he had faxed the seminal documents and correspondence to 416.774.3120 on a primary level; and (v) others.

62. The prematurity doctrine has no applicability. The Applicant may or may not obtain a remedy against a non-liable insurance company as a matter of the governing statute in Insurance Act, ss. 268(3) and the binding regulations in Reg 283, SABS and Reg 664. Judicial review is a discretionary remedy. However, in Awada[93], Corbett J. by setting out the legal principle or precedent that courts should not interfere with ongoing administrative proceedings until after they are completed or until effective remedies are exhausted. It is not that a claimant has exhausted remedies but effective remedies. "Effective" is synonymous with "actual, real, or operative". Any remedies against SNIC are ineffective, futile or useless. The ineffectiveness of any remedies, absent costs against SNIC in the LAT Proceeding, is further bolstered by the mature and stable jurisprudence that an order adding or dismissing a motion to add a party is a final order.

VOLUME # #4(III)(E)(ii): The Ultimate Appeal argument

63. The ONSC outlined the legal test in Mansuri[94] wherein it stated, "To the extent that there are "alleged deficiencies" arising from the Initial Decision, the applicants have not established that they "cannot be cured on an ultimate appeal. Put another way, the applicants have not established that the alleged prejudice to the applicants outweighs the benefits of a single court proceeding once the underlying Tribunal proceedings are complete" (see: Mansuri v. Dominion of Canada General Insurance Company, 2023 ONSC 5764[95] at paragraph 43).[96] Even in an "ultimate appeal", no curing could occur as TDHA is not the solely liable respondent party in the LAT Appeal.

VOLUME # #4(III)(E)(iii): The corollaries in Ontario Nurses Association

64. The ONSC in Sudbury and District Health Unit v Ontario Nurses' Association, 2023 ONSC 2419 ["Ontario Nurses"][97], found as follows at paragraph 29: "…. Resolution of this application does not resolve the outstanding issues before the Arbitrator. In addition, the court has been clear that this is not an exceptional circumstance that would lead it to hear a judicial review application on an interlocutory decision." The deductive reasoning is rather rudimentary: (i) if resolution of a JRPA Application resolves outstanding issues before the Tribunal, then a JRPA Application is not premature; and (ii) if not an interlocutory decision, then this militates in favour of hearing this JRPA Application.[98]

VOLUME # #4(III)(E)(iv): Court May ALWAYS intervene - Inherent Jurisdiction of its Superior Court Status

65. The court noted that "if there is a prospect of real unfairness through denial of natural justice or otherwise, a superior court may always exercise its inherent supervisory jurisdiction to put an end to the injustice before all the alternative remedies are exhausted…the unfairness in this case is so obvious that it would be inappropriate to put the officer through a trial before a tribunal that lost jurisdiction through a denial of natural justice.[99] This madness needs to be put to an end. The Tribunal is not even correctly distinguishing between the law of consent and "non-opposition". What next by way of extrapolation of legal principles? Sexual assault victims need not consent to sexual acts but their lack or absence of opposition to sexual acts is functionally and legally equivalent to consent. This Tribunal should be ashamed of itself by tossing around, in some irresponsible manner, that "consent" and "non-opposition" are "one and the same".[100]

VOLUME # #4(III)(E)(v): Concerns about this decision maker in VCM

66. Further, the total absence of a foundation for a finding of fact is an error of law. Moreover, it is the findings of VCM that are so particularly concerning that raise incredible integrity issues and conduct. It is not the first time that this former adjudicator, since promoted to Vice Chair, has been involved in serious breaches of conduct with knowledge. Her apparent knowledge, not in the record of proceeding, of what transpired, was not only affront to the LAT Rules of all parties being copied on correspondence, but this ONSC can take judicial notice of some issues involving this Tribunal of yesteryear.

67. Vice Chair Morrissette had to obtain this "knowledge" that TDGIC and SNIC accepted priority over the Applicant's [sic] insurance policy [sic] from some place, repository et al. The activities of VCM, prior to assuming her role as an adjudicator and now VC, are of great concern on a general but a specific level herein (see: https://lobbycanada.gc.ca/en/investigations/reports-on-investigation/the-lobbying-activities-of-trina-morissette/).[101] [102]

VOLUME # #4(III)(E)(vi): The conduct of this Tribunal is bringing the rule of law into disrepute: exceptional circumstances.

VOLUME # #4(III)(E)(vii): Risk of repeating proceedings and potential prejudice

69. Referring to the exceptions to the prematurity doctrine, which are analyzed when interlocutory relief is challenged by way of judicial review which has no applicability herein, "…It will only be permitted in rare cases where the potential prejudice of the risk of repeating proceedings after review" (see: Lourenco[104]). This JRPA Application will be repeated if the prematurity doctrine and arguments of the Tribunal are accepted.

VOLUME # #4(III)(E)(viii): Broader implications, Test Cases and Concurrent Jurisdiction

70. In London District Catholic School Board v. Weilgosh, 2024 ONSC 3857[105], the concepts of broader implications and test cases caused the ONSC to hear the judicial review even on an interim order, which the VCM Decisions are not, before the conclusion of that proceeding. Even more forcefully, the issues herein are even more important because they will determine a Reg 283 and SABS issue in a "test case" where they have not been decided before against the backdrop of some alarming issues involving this Tribunal which appear to be related to previous concerns about this Tribunal. This outcome and decision herein have broad implications for insured persons with various insurance companies in any "insurance group" and whether there is a systemic issue involving providing false contact information, which may or may not involve intentional breaches, and may be merely a technological error like the "four insurance companies" had in the FSRA Enforcement Decisions for SNIC[106], TDGIC[107], Primmum[108], and TDHA[109] . Nonetheless, it must be addressed forthwith before further prejudice occurs to the public.

VOLUME #5: Conclusion and Orders Sought

VOLUME #5(A): Why the prematurity doctrine has no applicability

71. History cannot repeat itself and the JRPA Applicant is acting not only in relation to "final orders" but in accordance with the "rule of law" and being pre-emptive by filing this factum and asking, with great respect and appreciation, for an urgent hearing. The obvious 'devil's advocate' position to the JRPA Applicant's submissions regarding being technically correct in following Reg 283, which dovetails with SABS and Reg 664, is that SNIC will claim that it will be bound by any decision of the Tribunal and not advance any positions contrary to the same or at the "11th hour". However, there is nothing, with the findings in the impugned orders and decisions of VCM on September 12, 2024, (contrary to the September 6, 2024 inscription), to take the position that it [SNIC] is not obligated to respond and pay benefits pursuant to SABS because it was NOT the "First Insurer". There is also nothing that would preclude SNIC from doing so after the Hearing Proper and prior to the issuance and release of a decision of the Tribunal in relation to the Hearing Proper as the Tribunal would not be functus officio until that time. SNIC could seek leave post Hearing Proper and advance that argument all while relying on the finding, god willing such a finding would not be issued by this ONSC Divisional Court, that the JRPA Application was premature. It would then leave the Applicant with no recourse regarding the final orders to NOT add TDHA as the First Insurer and not only no effective remedy against insurance companies within the TDI Group but no insurance company with a duty to respond and pay any benefits. In effect, it would be a return to the unlawful status quo where the Applicant communicates with the purported adjusters for SNIC and they do not respond to him despite the digital communication protocol that was consummated by consent between SNIC and the Applicant on January 23, 2024.

VOLUME #5(B): Preliminary Orders

72. With great respect and appreciation for the ONSC's time on this matter, the Applicant seeks, by way of this factum, the following orders on a preliminary basis: (a) Striking Nieuwland Purported NOA on behalf of three insurance companies; (b) An order that the Applicant is entitled to be heard on the issue of leave before a single justice of the ONSC at the earliest opportunity of this ONSC and prior to January 15, 2025; and (c) An Order dispensing with the need for any case management conference.

VOLUME #5(C): Public Interest Remedies: Declarations Of Law

73. The Applicant seeks the following public interest remedies, orders, declarations or findings for the benefit of the public along with this ONSC solidifying the required stability and uniformity involving Reg 283, which the Applicant respectfully seeks an endorsement or finding of the same, are the following syllogisms for accidents post September 1, 2010:

a. A Declaration of Law that there cannot be any binding agreement, at law, between a First Insurer and another insurer or insurer(s), where an insured person has not received notice from the First Insurer (see: section 3(1));
b. A Declaration of Law that there cannot be any binding agreement, at law, between a First Insurer and another insurer or insurer(s), where an insured person has not selected the First Insurer (see: section 7(2) of Reg 283);
c. A Declaration of Law that there cannot be any binding agreement, at law, between a First Insurer and another insurer or insurer(s), at first instance or subsequent, under Reg 283 if the insured person, in her capacity as an Applicant having sent a Completed Application that was received by an insurer, making said insurer the "First Insurer", did not receive a notice of dispute or transfer pursuant to Reg 283;:
d. A Declaration of Law that there cannot be any binding agreement between a First Insurer and another insurer or insurer(s), at first instance or subsequent, under Reg 283 if the insured person, in her capacity as an Applicant having sent a Completed Application that was received by an insurer making said insurer the "First Insurer", objected to any transfer of her claim pursuant to section 5(1) of Reg 283 and said "agreement" was made without the consent of the insured person applicant who has seen and read the agreement;
e. A Declaration of Law that there cannot be any binding agreement, at law, between a First Insurer and another insurer or insurer(s), at first instance or subsequent, under Reg 283 if the insured person, in her capacity as an Applicant having sent a Completed Application that was received by an insurer making said insurer the "First Insurer", where:
    i. an insured person has received notice of the potential transfer of the claim by the First Insurer to another insurer or insurers, the insured person has objected to the transfer within 14 days of receiving notice, received a copy of the proposed agreement, objected to said proposed agreement and has initiated arbitration within 14 days of being notified of an agreement under the Arbitration Act, 1991 (see: section 7(2) of Reg 283);
f. A Declaration of Law that there cannot be any binding agreement, at law, between a First Insurer and another insurer or insurer(s), where an insurer does NOT commence or initiate arbitration within one year after the day the insurer paying benefits gives a section 3 notice to the other insurers and, by corollary, a section 4 notice to the insured person applicant (see: section 7(4)); and

g. A Declaration of Law that there cannot be any binding agreement, at law, between a First Insurer and another insurer or insurer(s), whereby the insurer paying benefits was not the First Insurer if the First Insurer does not give notice in accordance with section 3(1) of Reg 283 because the First Insurer is bound by its failure to give a section 3 notice to every other insurer because even if the First Insurer does so, section 4 requires a more formal notice under section 4 in the requisite form (A143).

VOLUME #5(D): Judicial Review Final Orders vis-à-vis Mr. McLean and TDHA

74. The Applicant seeks the following final orders:

1. An order quashing, in the nature of certiorari, and setting aside the VCM Decision;
2. An order quashing, in the nature of certiorari, and setting aside the VCL Reconsideration Decision;
3. An order granting the Applicant's orders sought, stylized as #1 and #3 in his NOM #14 (see: page 12 of the Application Record);
4. Costs in favour of the Applicant in NOM #14 and #15 against the then sole respondent in SNIC and fixed at $2,000;
5. Costs in favour of the Applicant in this JRPA Proceeding against any of the respondents herein that oppose the relief herein;
6. Such other further relief that this Honourable Court may grant pursuant to its inherent jurisdiction; and
7. Leave to the Applicant to file and serve any further documents, including amended submissions, that arise from the above or become known to him and/or based upon any agreement or order regarding the filing of the record of proceeding.

VOLUME #5(E): A full answer to the prematurity doctrine by way of legal bases

75. Lastly, there is a full answer to why the issue of who the First Insurer was and is, and who the correct liable and obligated respondent party must be and that is section 56 of SABS:

> "Time limit for proceedings
> 56. An application under subsection 280 (2) of the Act in respect of a benefit shall be commenced within two years after the insurer's refusal to pay the amount claimed. O. Reg. 44/16, s. 6."

76. The LAT Appeal (a section 280(2) of the Insurance Act 'Application') was filed and served on the TDHA Fax Number, albeit unbeknownst to the Applicant as being the TDHA Fax Number, on December 24, 2023. SNIC filed its Response on January 25, 2024. VCM could not have reviewed the pleadings because she would have known by both pleadings that it was NOT the Applicant's Insurance Policy.

77. In R.M. v CAA Insurance, 2020 CanLII 94775[110], Vice Chair Shapiro found in relation to section 56 of the Schedule:

> "[5] Section 56 of the Schedule provides that an application to dispute a denial of a benefit must be commenced within two years of the insurer's refusal to pay. Section 64 allows the denial notice to be sent by regular mail or faxed to an insured's lawyer. Once a proper denial has been properly sent, if an insured does not appeal within that period, the Tribunal can not hear it as it is "time-barred".

78. This, in turn, makes the precise point that SNIC, at least prima facie, has sent "denial letters" to the Applicant but TDHA has not. Parenthetically, TDGIC never sent a denial letter to the Applicant which was the Applicant's primary reason for continuing to seek the relief to substitute SNIC for TDGIC – not the unsupported findings of VCM. Therefore, the "record of proceeding" will be unequivocally different between SNIC and TDHA. It is not merely a "cosmetic difference" but a substantive one.

79. All of which is respectfully submitted to the ONSC (Div. Ct.) at first instance on Tuesday, December 10, 2024:

Mr. Kevin A. McLean (B.A. J.D., CIM)
Self-represented, the Applicant herein

APPENDICES OF THE JRPA APPLICANT'S FACTUM

APPENDIX #1: Errors in VCM Decision as referenced by NOM #18 in the NOM #18 Motion Forom and Schedule therein

The Appellant seeks the following orders as follows pursuant to section 21.1 of the SPPA (but not LAT Rule 17) by way of strikethrough for deleting the word therein and underlining for proposed additions in substantially the same form:

a. An Order correcting the "date of the order" from September 6, 2024 to September 13, 20242;

b. An Order correcting paragraph 2 from "was issued to the parties" to the following in substance "was issued to the Appellant and TDGIC, which was and is a non-party pursuant to the retroactive nature of my order issued on June 20, 2024, and released on June 21, 2024. As a parenthetical note, the Appellant sought clarification of my order in relation to this NOM #8 to confirm that the retroactive nature of the ordered changes from TDGIC to SNIC only related to documents and orders issued by the Tribunal and not those of TDGIC from January 30, 2024, to June 21, 2024. I confirmed the same in my reasons for decision in relation to the Appellant's order seeking clarification, which was his NOM #10;

c. An Order correcting paragraph #2, sentence #2: [this is corrected by the change above in Order #2];

d. An Order correcting paragraph #3 to: from "on consent of the parties" to "by TDGIC not opposing the relief sought in NOM #8 (except costs) and the Appellant proceeding with his motion unopposed";

e. An Order correcting paragraph #5 as follows in substance: [to be consistent between sentence #1 and sentence #2 as sentence #1 references twelfth, thirteenth, and fourteenth and sentence #2 references "NOM #13, NOM #14, and NOM #15"];

f. An order correcting the "similar error" [technical deficiency error], in the form of incorrect language, at paragraph 12, as submissions are not affidavit evidence. Further, an order specifically correcting paragraph 12, sentence #2, from "He submits that he made demands..." to "He swore affidavit evidence that he made demands upon TDHA and exhibited the emails he sent to TDGIC along with filing a certificate of service that delivered the hearing brief, which was indexed, tabulated and consecutively numbered pursuant to LAT Rule 9.4.5., on July 11, 2024. As the Tribunal did not provide TDGIC with an opportunity for submissions, contrary to LAT Rule 9.2.2., the Tribunal did not have the benefit of any written submissions, affidavit evidence or authorities."

g. An order correcting paragraph #18 as follows with the inclusion of the technically correct language and facts: was TDGIC. While TDGIC was the

h. An order correcting paragraph #19 as follows: removing sentence #1 and replacing with the language in the underlying hearing brief and record at the time "The reasons that SNIC was required to be the sole respondent party, as cited in NOM #8, were not only because of the Appellant's reasons but compliance with the SPPA, SABS, Reg 283, FSRA requirements, LATA, consistency with the LAT Rules and others.

i. An Order that paragraph 22, sentence #1 is corrected as follows: "TD Insurance letterhead" to "TD Insurance Meloche Monnex letterhead" with the return address of 200-101 McNabb Street, Markham, Ontario"

j. An Order that paragraph 22, sentence #3 is removed in its entirety in favour of the facts within the record of proceeding as follows in substance with the below:

i. Within the filed Appeal, the Appellant utilized the definition of TD SNIC. While the Appellant could not input the entirety of TD Insurance Meloche Monnex (Security National Insurance Company), he used TD Insurance with the definition of "TD SNIC" within the pleading for further specification. Attached to his pleading with the required listed key documents were four pre-pleading affidavits that all referenced TD SNIC, which contained the "Denial Letters" therein.

i. On December 24, 2023, the Appellant served the Appeal to the fax number provided to him by SNIC in September 2022, which was 416.774.3120. The said fax number is grounded and wired to the building located at 3650 Victoria Park Avenue, North York, Toronto, Ontario. The Appellant was unaware that said fax number was not that of SNIC Markham. Whichever insurance company was so located on the 4th floor of the Victoria Park Building at the time of October 13, 2022, was served with the Appeal.

ii. On January 3, 2024, the Appellant filed his NOM #1 with the Tribunal.

iii. On January 8, 2024, the Appellant filed his NOM #2 with the Tribunal. On the same day, the Appellant received communications from one Mr. Josh Grant, case manager, of the LAT/AABS requesting that the Appellant provide copies of the denial letters that he had received in relation to his TD Claim #3 and LAT Proceeding. The Appellant did so on January 8, 2024, which contained denials letters exclusively from SNIC at its alleged offices of SNIC Markham and the Burlington Office Building (absent a floor number). The denial letters that the Appellant provided were already contained within the pre-pleading affidavits that particularized the key documents for the Appeal.

iv. On January 14, 2024, the Appellant filed NOM #3.

v. In each of the three motions denoted above, the Appellant denoted the respondent as "TD Insurance Meloche Monnex" (Security National Insurance Company).

vi. On January 16, 2024, Vice-Chair Lake issued written reasons for decision in all three motions, without the party receiving any notice of the written hearings, section 6, declining to decide the same. In Vice Chair Lake's order, she even references TD SNIC but continued with the finalization of her reasons for decision with TDGIC as the Respondent.

vii. For context as to how TD General Insurance Company became the sole respondent on January 8, 2024, in the LAT/AABS system, when Mr. Josh Grant, case manager for the SNIC Proceeding, was assigned to the same, Mr. Grant emailed the Appellant, Mr. Nieuwland, who was then counsel to TDGIC, and Mr. Karat, ADR Specialist to SNIC, on May 6, 2023, in response to the Appellant's May 6, 2024, email requesting, inter alia, copies of the documents and information as it relates to who provided the Tribunal with information regarding TDGIC on or around the deadline for filing a Response to the Appellant's Appeal. The Appellant's query arose after May 2, 2024, at the combined case conference and set hearings for his NOM #4 and NOM #6, when he objected, prior to and during the case conference, to TDGIC being the sole respondent or a respondent at all as it was never disclosed to him as an insurance company; it was not the underwriter in the Appellant Spouse's insurance policy, that had any duties in relation to his TD Claim #3. Moreover, the Appellant needed to know the information because SABS requires the insurance company that refused to pay any amounts claimed for benefits or any refusal seeking increased benefits to be named (see: section 56 of *SABS*3). Mr. Grant kindly noted that the Appellant did list TD Insurance as the Respondent but mistakenly stated that the denial letters the Appellant filed also referenced only TD Insurance when the denial letters bore the two trademarks of "TD Insurance Meloche Monnex" and the return address of Security National Insurance Company (see: affidavit #38, Exhibit "A" pages 31 to 45). Mr. Grant's explanation was that, after receiving the denial letters, which did not reference "TD Insurance" (or TD General Insurance Company), that the information, in his view, provided in the Appeal, plus pre-pleading listed and attached documents, provided him with only two options for entry of the respondent party insurer, when SNIC was in the upper-right hand corner of each document along with the author being "TD Insurance Meloche Monnex", in: (i) TD General Insurance Company; or (ii) TD Home And Auto Insurance Company.

viii. Mr. Grant noted that "If there was a concern that the Security National Insurnace Company, not TDGIC, being named as the Respondent party, please advise if the parties agree that a change should be made. The Appellant sought TDGIC's consent, but it did not respond. It was not until after the Appellant found the FSRA enforcement decisions and Mr. Nieuwland's representation of SNIC in the Syed Decisions, could he disprove Mr. Nieuwland's representations that SNIC and TDGIC were one and the same and "this is how they always do it" [in relation to SNIC being the sole underwriter, responding insurance company et al and then TDGIC becoming the sole respondent]. The Appellant again sought the consent of TDGIC when he obtained the FSRA's confirmation that he could obtain status certificates at a cost for expedited receipt. TDGIC did not respond. It was not until after some six months of TDGIC refusing to be removed as the sole Respondent, and SNIC not responding to the overtures to be the sole respondent and opposing relief from the Appellant in motions and unlawfully appearing as the sole respondent at the case conference, that TDGIC, through Mr. Nieuwland confirmed in writing on June 6, 2024, that it would not oppose the Appellant's relief sought in NOM #8. The Appellant obtained those status certificates on June 19, 2024, and filed them with the Tribunal. On June 21, 2024, with a litany of reasons as to why SNIC was required to be the respondent instead of TDGIC, as TDHA was unknown to the Appellant, NOM #8 was granted in the Appellant's favour.

k. An Order that paragraph 23, > ix. sentence #1 is corrected from "Respondent's counsel" to "current respondent's counsel and former counsel to TDGIC", from "noting that he was representing the insurer "TDGIC" to "declaring that he was representing the insurer "TDGIC" but only after Mr. Karat, the ADR Specialist, who represented to the Appellant, on January 23, 2024, via email, with Mr. Nieuwland copied as "counsel", that he was assigned to be the ADR and representing the Security National Insurance Company, and then on January 25, 2024, Mr. Karat signed and filed the Response for SNIC ("SNIC Response") whilst serving the Appellant;

> x. sentence #2 is corrected by the removal of the entire sentence with the facts as above in substance subject to the writing style of Vice Chair or an adjudicator;

l. An Order that paragraph 24 is corrected to the following:

i. Sentence #2: removing the entire sentence and adding the following, "Consistent with the documents, the Appellant refuted Mr. Nieuwland's misrepresentations4 that SNIC and TDGIC were "one and the same" and that TD Insurance Staff Legal always substituted or changed the identity of TDGIC for SNIC in LAT proceedings, which was counter to the very representations Mr. Nieuwland made representing SNIC in those Syed Decisions in LAT file number:
ii. Sentence #4: changing the following from "dated June 20, 2024, and released the following day on Friday, June 21, 2024,"5 and from "on consent of the respondent" to "by email dated June 6, 2024, TDGIC, through Mr. Nieuwland, confirmed it [TDGIC] would not oppose the relief sought";
m. An Order the following sentences in paragraph #27 are amended as follows:
i. Sentence #2: changing from "The initial respondent, TDGIC, and the current respondent, SNIC accepted priority over the applicant's spouse's insurance policy"
n. An Order that the following paragraph 35, sentence two is amended as follows:
i. From "curtail" to "circumvent";6; and

O. Reg. 283/95, s. 10 (1).

(2) This Regulation applies to the other insurers given notice in the same way that it applies to the original insurer given notice under section 3. O. Reg. 283/95, s. 10 (2).

(3) The dispute among the insurers shall be resolved in one arbitration. O. Reg. 283/95, s. 10 (3).

APPENDIX #4: INSURANCE ACT, SECTIONS 224 AND 268

[SQUARE BRACKETS ARE THE APPLICANT'S]

PART VI
AUTOMOBILE INSURANCE

Interpretation, Part VI

224 (1) In this Part,

"statutory accident benefits" means the benefits set out in the regulations made under paragraphs 9 and 10 of subsection 121 (1); ("indemnités d'accident légales")

Fees and Regulations

Regulations

121 (1) The Lieutenant Governor in Council may make regulations,

9. establishing benefits for the purposes of Part VI that must be provided under contracts evidenced by motor vehicle liability policies and establishing terms, conditions, provisions, exclusions and limits related to such benefits;

10. requiring insurers to offer optional benefits in excess of the benefits that must be provided under paragraph 9 prescribing the circumstances in which the optional benefits are to be offered and establishing terms, conditions, provisions, exclusions and limits related to such benefits;

10.1 prescribing coverages and endorsements in respect of contracts of automobile insurance that insurers or a class of insurers are required to offer, deeming the benefits provided by the coverages and endorsements not to be statutory accident benefits for the purpose of Part VI, and prescribing the circumstances in which the coverages and endorsements shall be offered;

10.2 prescribing rules for interpreting the regulations made under paragraphs 9 and 10 or any provision of those regulations;

10.4 governing the procedure for determining who is liable to pay statutory accident benefits under section 268, including requiring insurers to resolve disputes about liability through an arbitration process established by the regulations and requiring the interim payment of benefits pending the determination of liability;

[nota bene: subsection 10.4 is yet another example of how the Legislature provided an extremely broad grant of authority to the LGIC for governing the procedure of determining how insurers are liable to pay SABS under section 268 which then dovetails to Reg 263]

Statutory accident benefits

268 (1) Every contract evidenced by a motor vehicle liability policy, including every such contract in force when the Statutory Accident Benefits Schedule is made or amended, shall be deemed to provide for the statutory accident benefits set out in the Schedule and any amendments to the Schedule, subject to the terms, conditions, provisions, exclusions and limits set out in that Schedule. 1993, c. 10, s. 26 (1).

Liability to pay

(2) The following rules apply for determining who is liable to pay statutory accident benefits:

1. In respect of an occupant of an automobile,

i. the occupant has recourse against the insurer of an automobile in respect of which the occupant is an insured,

ii. if recovery is unavailable under subparagraph i, the occupant has recourse against the insurer of the automobile in which he or she was an occupant,

iii. if recovery is unavailable under subparagraph i or ii, the occupant has recourse against the insurer of any other automobile involved in the incident from which the entitlement to statutory accident benefits arose,

iv. if recovery is unavailable under subparagraph i, ii or iii, the occupant has recourse against the Motor Vehicle Accident Claims Fund.

Liability

(3) An insurer against whom a person has recourse for the payment of statutory accident benefits is liable to pay the benefits. R.S.O. 1990, c. I.8, s. 268 (3); 1993, c. 10, s. 1.[111]

Choice of insurer

(4) If, under subparagraph i or iii of paragraph 1 ……. of subsection (2), a person has recourse against more than one insurer for the payment of statutory accident benefits, the person, in his or her absolute discretion, may decide the insurer from which he or she will claim the benefits

[nota bene: upon Mr. McLean's discovery of whom the First Insurer (TDHA) was, he, at law, only has recourse against one insurer and that is TDHA per se. To the extent that Mr. McLean has recourse against more than one insurer, it is only the obligation to pay benefits (see: Beasley and Jia) which triggers the fiduciary duties owed by an insurance company to him. It would be against his own self-interest, as a matter of law, to choose an insurer which does not have a duty to respond and pay. It is not a matter of contract but a matter of statute and regulations. Moreover, the duties of the insurer that first received the Completed Application are also delineated and detailed in the OCF-1 itself which also dovetail to PIPEDA. Mr. McLean has not and is not revoking his consent to TDHA having received the same but that has provided notice to it that it must comply with its oblgiations therein as a matter of law or "by law" which are under the following: (i) Insurance Act; (ii) Legislation Act; (iii) SPPA; (iv) PIPEDA; and regulations: (i) Reg 283; (iii) *SABS*s et al.

Same

(5) Despite subsection (4), if a person is a named insured under a contract evidenced by a motor vehicle liability policy or the person is the spouse or a dependant, as defined in the Statutory Accident Benefits Schedule, of a named insured, the person shall claim statutory accident benefits against the insurer under that policy. 1993, c. 10, s. 26 (2); 1999, c. 6, s. 31 (9); 2005, c. 5, s. 35 (13).

Same

(5.1) Subject to subsection (5.2), if there is more than one insurer against which a person may claim benefits under subsection (5), the person, in his or her discretion, may decide the insurer from which he or she will claim the benefits. 1993, c. 10, s. 26 (2).

Same

(5.2) If there is more than one insurer against which a person may claim benefits under subsection (5) and the person was, at the time of the incident, an occupant of an automobile in respect of which the person is the named insured or the spouse or a dependant of the named insured, the person shall claim statutory accident benefits against the insurer of the automobile in which the person was an occupant. 1993, c. 10, s. 26 (2); 1999, c. 6, s. 31 (10); 2005, c. 5, s. 35 (14).

[nota bene: There is no dispute that Mr. McLean attempted to claim benefits from SNIC but he nearly did not receive his accident benefits package by an incorrect postal code therein whilst his spouse did receive the same. Moreover, he did attempt to claim benefits from SNIC but it was intentional redirection, by way of fax number and potentially address (mailing), to a "different insurance company(ies)"

Payments pending dispute resolution

(8) Where the Statutory Accident Benefits Schedule provides that the insurer will pay a particular statutory accident benefit pending resolution of any dispute between the insurer and an insured, the insurer shall pay the benefit until the dispute is resolved. R.S.O. 1990, c. I.8, s. 268 (8); 1993, c. 10, s. 1.

[nota bene: said subsection 268(8) was passed in 1990 and amended in 1993 which predated Reg 283 in its initial form and certainly well before its "amended form" in 2010. Nonetheless, a breach of SABS and Reg 283 is legally equivalent in the year of 2024 so said section overrides the above subsections 268(5) as that is a contractual (policy) issue. By the VCM Decision, paragraph 27, her finding that TDGIC, as the "initial respondent" [sic] and SNIC accepted priority over the applicant's [sic] insurance policy invokes the analysis of priority and not an insurance policy because priority cannot be decided in relation to an insurance policy per se when there is only one insurer. It certainly cannot add a "party" (i.e. language of "First Party Insurer" under Reg 664 which is distinct from Reg 283 with "First Insurer") to a contract WITHOUT the consent of a party to the Insurance Policy. Moreover, while the Applicant was statutorily deemed to have given consideration therefor under the Insurance Policy, the adding of an additional insurance company to a contract would have required the consent of all parties to that contract with "new consideration" or "additional consideration". Therefore, while subsection 2.1 of Reg 283, passed in 2010, is more analytically relevant to this JRPA Application, TDHA is still obligated to pay the benefits to the Applicant pursuant to section 2(1) of Reg 283).

Bulletin No. A-07/10 – Auto Property & Casualtyhttps://www.fsrao.ca/media/7866/download

With this Bulletin, the Financial Services Commission of Ontario (FSCO) is highlighting the recent changes to Ontario Regulation 283/95: Disputes Between Insurers, to ensure compliance by all insurers. The changes are effective September 1, 2010. Background Ontario Regulation 283/95 sets out a mandatory process for private arbitration of all disputes between insurers over which insurer is liable to pay accident benefits to a claimant. This regulation is intended to ensure that claimants receive accident benefits (e.g., medical and income replacement benefits) in a timely fashion while these disputes are being resolved. Ontario Regulation 283/95 was established in 1995 following several years of experience with the no-fault accident benefits system. During the past several years, a number of procedural issues and disputes over the interpretation of Ontario Regulation 283/95 have led to delays in paying claimants' benefits. In addition, the Motor Vehicle Accident Claims Fund (MVACF) has frequently had to get involved to ensure that benefit payments to injured persons were not delayed – even if a private insurer was obliged to make the payments. As part of the automobile insurance reforms which resulted from FSCO's Five Year Review of Automobile Insurance, effective September 1, 2010 Ontario Regulation 283/95 is amended by Ontario Regulation 38/10. These amendments were made to ensure that claims are not deflected and that claimants receive payments without delay in cases where there may be a dispute regarding which insurer is liable to pay statutory accident benefits. Insurers that do not comply with this regulation will be subject to appropriate

Key Regulation Changes 1. Deflection of Applications for Accident Benefits a) Upon request, an insurer must provide a claimant timely access to OCF-1: Application for Accident Benefits (OCF-1 application). (Section 2.1(2)) Individuals who are injured in automobile accidents often contact the insurance company that they believe is liable to pay accident benefits before they complete and send their OCF-1 application to the insurer. In many cases, claimants are not aware of the priority rules that determine which insurer is liable to pay them benefits. The Statutory Accident Benefits Schedule (SABS) requires an insurer to provide an OCF-1 application to an injured person who expresses an intention to make a claim for benefits. This requirement is now reinforced by section 2.1(2) of Ontario Regulation 283/95. b) An insurer must not impede claimants from submitting OCF-1 applications or redirect them to other insurers or the MVACF. (Section 2.1(5)) When a claimant first contacts an insurer following an accident, it is not always clear, based on information reported by the claimant, if that insurer is responsible for paying the accident benefits in accordance with the priority rules. It is inappropriate for the insurer to discourage the injured person from filing an OCF-1 application, for example on the grounds that there is no insurance coverage (e.g., due to a cancelled insurance policy), or that there is another insurer to whom the person should make his or her claim. Insurers must provide claimants who express an intention to make an accident benefits claim with an OCF-1 application and not direct them to file it with MVACF or another insurer. Section 2.1(5) of Ontario Regulation 283/95 prohibits the deflection of OCF-1 applications. This includes deflection on the grounds that it is not clear which insurer is required to pay accident benefits. c) The first insurer that receives an OCF-1 application must pay accident benefits in accordance with the SABS. (Section 2.1(6)) In order to prevent delays in payments, Ontario Regulation 283/95 requires the first insurer that receives a completed OCF-1 application to pay the accident benefits, as long as the claimant meets the requirements of the SABS. Although an insurer may believe that it is not responsible for paying accident benefits under the priority rules, the process to transfer, dispute and recover paid benefits is set out in Ontario Regulation 283/95. d) An insurer that fails to comply with this section will reimburse the MVACF or another insurer all related legal fees, administrative costs and disbursements. (Section 2.1(7) Section 2.1 (7) has been added to Ontario Regulation 283/95 to confirm the ability to recover costs incurred by the MVACF or an insurer in the administration of a claim (including adjusting costs) from the non-compliant insurer. 2. Definitions of "First Insurer" and "Completed Application" Several amendments are intended to provide clarity on issues that have arisen since the release of Ontario Regulation 283/95 in 1995; such as what is a "first insurer" and "completed application". a) A "completed application" is defined as a completed and signed OCF-1 application. (Section 0.1) b)The insurer that first receives a completed OCF-1 application is the "first insurer" for the purposes of Ontario Regulation 283/95. (Section 2.1(6)) A "first insurer" may not refuse to respond to the application on the basis that the application is not from an "insured person", or that there was no relevant policy in place on the date of the accident (e.g., the insurance policy was cancelled, expired or never existed). c) The applicant shall complete the OCF-1 application that is provided by the insurer and send it to only one insurance company. (Section 2.1(4)) Claimants are required to submit a completed OCF-1 application to only one insurer. This is intended to avoid potential disputes over which insurer first received a completed application, rather than creating confusion by submitting OCF-1 applications to more than one insurer. 3. Time Limitations for Notifying Other Insurers of Liability a) Before initiating a dispute against the MVACF, an insurer is required to complete a reasonable investigation to determine if any other insurer(s) is/are liable to pay benefits in priority to the MVACF and provide the MVACF with the particulars and results of the investigation. (Section 3.1(2)(a) and (b)) Section 3 of Ontario Regulation 283/95 provides the first insurer 90 days from the receipt of the completed application to conduct a reasonable investigation. This time frame allows the insurer to conduct an investigation to determine whether another insurer is liable to pay benefits, and to deliver written notice to other insurers if it believes they are liable to pay for accident benefits under the priority rules. Ontario Regulation 283/95 provides an extension beyond 90 days only if the first insurer has made reasonable investigation of the claim but cannot reach a decision within the 90-day period. Section 3.1 requires an insurer that wishes to put the MVACF on notice of a dispute to first complete a reasonable investigation and provide the results of the investigation to the MVACF.

Due to the unique nature of the claims that are submitted directly to the MVACF, in many cases another policy is discovered only after an extended period of investigation. As a result, this time limit does not apply to OCF-1 applications that are submitted first to the MVACF. (Section 3(2.1)) To facilitate the early resolution of disputes between insurers, a dispute about which insurer is responsible for payments must go to arbitration within one year of providing notice to the other insurer. See section 7 for the specific rules that need to be followed. Enforcement Note that in addition to sections 2.1(7) and 7 (6), actions contrary to Ontario Regulation 283/95 will be subject to appropriate enforcement or regulatory action in accordance with section 441 of the Insurance Act and Ontario Regulation 7/00: Unfair or Deceptive Acts or Practices. Publication of Arbitration Decisions involving Disputes Between Insurers Amendments to Ontario Regulation 283/95 have been made to ensure that arbitration decisions involving disputes between insurers are both timely and publicly available. The amendments require the insurer that is found by the arbitrator to be liable to pay benefits to make the arbitrator's decision public in a manner and form specified by the Superintendent. (Section 8(4)) The specified form and the process by which insurers will need to comply with this requirement will be the subject of a future Property & Casualty – Auto Bulletin. Effective Date The effective date of the Ontario Regulation 283/95 amendments is September 1, 2010. All insurers need to ensure that their claims and underwriting staff, plus any other staff who may be affected by these amendments, are informed of these changes. In addition, insurers are to ensure that they make any operational changes needed to implement the reforms by the effective date. 7 concerns about the Tribunal's undue influence or lack of independence, even subconsciously, from the insurance companies due to it being the only non-state funded Tribunal of the 13 tribunals in "Tribunals Ontario"; and (iv) an investigation report involving Ms. Trina Morrissette from the federal government regarding her conduct as a lobbyist for the Canadian Red Cross ("CRC").[7] The Applicant says her conduct amounts to "similar fact evidence" and contextual evidence that arises as a result of the VCM Decision.

[8]Balance of probabilities standard: is it more likely than not that there will be a failure of justice by the delay.
[9]Mr. Nieuwland's recent email to this ONSC (Divisional Court) has reignited the subsequent issues: (i) whether insurance companies in a group of insurers are 'one and the same', 'also known as' or 'also referred as'; (ii) the rule in Foss v. Harbottle; (ii) the FSRA guidance on affiliated entities only have an exemption on the non-adjuster broker side, and (iv) the motives for why such insurance companies in the TDI Group would engage in such misconduct.
[10]In this regard, the VCM Decision has again put two administrative bodies, at least, in the FSRA and the Tribunal against each other when they operate under the same enabling statute (Insurance Act) and the participants (insured persons, service providers and insurance companies) must comply with the UDAP Rule (2022 et seq).

[23]Herein, a multiplicity of proceedings will be avoided and the law will be clarified and settled, while avoiding a return by this Applicant to make the same arguments that he would even if all of his benefits and quantum were found in his favour because the wrong party would be liable for the same and required to respond post-facto the conclusion of the Hearing Proper. In this regard, the Applicant herein confirms, by his authorized signature, that he would bring the same JRPA Application and he respectfully submits that the principle of mootness, cited by the SCC in Borowski, would not be applicable because the important legal issues would not only not be decided but the decision of the LAT would be in conflict with the governing statutes, governing regulations and its own LAT Rules.

[25]SNIC and Primmum operate under the trade name, which is a combination of two registered trademarks in "TD Insurance Meloche Monnex", with the 'TD Insurance" owned by TD Bank and the Meloche Monnex owned by Meloche Monnex Inc. SNIC issues automobile (and home) insurance policies to alumni of various universities and those part of professional associations (the "Alumni Professional Program"). Primmum issues insurance policies to "employer groups".

[26]TDGIC issues insurance policies, by part of its namesake, to the "general public". Toronto has 416 area code landline telephone and fax numbers but not 905 telephone and fax numbers, and Burlington (and Markham) have 905 landline telephone and fax numbers but not 416 numbers. Mr. James V. Russell was appointed as the CEO of "TD Insurance Group" in the 2010's, and one of his stated goals was to increase the market share for "TD General" (TDGIC). This evidence provides the motive for why SNIC would allow TDGIC to be substituted for it during the LAT Proceeding without the name of TDGIC ever being present in a single communication since the MVA date of loss (the "Date Of Loss" or "DOL").

[27]If an Insured Person, who is also an injured person and often a lay litigant encountering the complexities of a SABS claim, may not keep completely accurate records of each and every fax that she has sent to an insurance company, the purported liable insurer can claim that it does not have the documents to which an injured person claims to have sent. In fact, herein this occurred with the initial adjuster for SNIC in Ms. Nurse claiming to not have certain documents that the Applicant delivered via fax. The Applicant obviously not your quintessential lay litigant had everything reduced to paper copy and saved in binders along with cloud storage whilst using an e-fax number. Affidavit #3 is an example of that attention to detail and record-keeping.

[57]In this JRPA Application, the issue of whether a lawyer like Mr. Nieuwland could act for TDGIC for six months then act for SNIC when NOM #8 was granted in the Applicant's favour, despite six months of opposition and then non-opposition [not consent], thereafter, is not at issue per se. However, the backdrop regarding the same is an important one.
[58]What about, as a "test case", the duties of insurance companies (and their counsel) in relation to their holding, controlling and/or possession (solely, jointly or constructively) that are: (i) neither an underwriter nor a First Insurer, and masquerade as the liable insurance company in the LAT Proceeding; (ii) the obligations of a First Insurer who remains anonymous until effectively caught as having the mailing address and/or fax number that provides unequivocal proof that it was a First Insurer; and (iii) the obligations of an underwriter, who was not the First Insurer, who carries on as the solely liable insurance company but then does not participate after filing the sole Response, pursuant to section 280(2) of the Insurance Act, in a LAT proceeding?
[59]Pursuant to section 280(1) of the Insurance Act, "this section applies with respect to the resolution of disputes in respect of an insured person's entitlement to statutory accident benefits or in respect of the amount of statutory accident benefits to which an insured person is entitled." Pursuant to ss. 280(2) of the Insurance Act, "The insured person or the insurer may apply to the Licence Appeal Tribunal to resolve a dispute described in subsection (1)". No person may bring a proceeding in any court with respect to a dispute described in subsection (1), other than an appeal from a decision of the Licence Appeal Tribunal or an application for judicial review: ss. 280(3) of the Insurance Act. The dispute shall be resolved in accordance with the Statutory Accident Benefits Schedule

[61](see: "statutory accident benefits" mean the benefits set out in the regulations made under paragraphs 9 and 10 of subsection 121 (1) of the Insurance Act; see: section 121(a): "121 (1) The Lieutenant Governor in Council may make regulations").
[62]The Applicant notified SNIC, pursuant to the Schedule, s. 32, in early September 2022, that he wished to apply for benefits making SNIC not only the Sole Underwriter but the First Notified Insurer.
[63]The Applicant, in his capacity as a SABS applicant, sent the Completed Application [OCF-1] to the North York Fax Number on October 12, 2022. Ergo, at law, the SABS Applicant sent, or "served" only one Completed Application to only one insurer in TDHA. TDHA was the sole insurer that first received (the "First Insurer") the SABS* Applicant's Completed Application.
[64]In fact, and at law, SNIC did not stop the Applicant from submitting his Completed Application to TDHA in that it provided him with the TDHA Fax Number. It is the word "accept" that is so pivotal in this JRPA* Application by VCM's choice of language at paragraph 27 therein.
[65]"first party insurer" means the insurer responsible under subsection 268 (2) of the Act for the payment of statutory accident benefits; ("assureur de première part"): Automobile Insurance, RRO 1990, Reg 664, s 9, <https://canlii.ca/t/tlw#sec9>,
[66]The word "accept" is of great importance considering the finding by VCM, without any evidence in the record of proceeding to support the same, that TDGIC and SNIC jointly accepted priority of the Applicant's [sic] insurance policy [sic] (see: paragraph 27 of the VCM Decision).
[67]As SNIC was the Sole Underwriter in the Insurance Policy, the Applicant has alleged that SNIC (as First Notified Insurer) breached section 2.1(5) of Reg 283 by taking action, with intent (as it knew that its fax number was not the North York Office Fax Number), to prevent or stop the Applicant from submitting his Completed OCF-1 to it [SNIC] as it is an out-of-province insurer.
[68]In relation to the lack of promptness, SNIC somehow sent the Applicant's accident benefits package to the wrong postal code address yet his Spouse received her accident benefits package to the correct postal code when they lived in the same residence
[69]Further, the Applicant provided uncontroverted evidence that SNIC failed to provide its correct facsimile address in the Completed Application but instead provided the fax number of TDHA and thereby breached subsection 2.1(3) of Reg 283.
[70]Reimbursement by the non-compliant insurer during the period of non-compliance (see: ss. 2.1(7) of Reg 283): (i) legal fees; (ii) adjuster's fees; (iii) administrative costs; and (iv) disbursements
[72]Whether SNIC was to remain for costs purposes in the McLean LAT Proceeding was a matter of discretion, but the sole respondent insurance company as a matter of obligations under Reg 283, SABS and Reg 664 was not. However, the Applicant's argument was encapsulated by a rhetorical question: why should he not have any ability to seek costs against SNIC for its conduct in the LAT Proceeding that he alleged and alleges was unreasonable, frivolous, and in bad faith? Costs are not a matter that relate to the Insurance Act, and the binding regulations herein (SABS and Reg 283), as the Tribunal passed them under a different statute: section 17.1 of the SPPA. Put another way, is the Applicant's time not worth anything when it required hundreds of hours to obtain the order in NOM #8?
[73]Even when the OCF-19 was fax delivered, in November 2023, to the VP Bldg. 4th Floor Fax Number, and when SNIC's fax number (Burlington 905 Fax Number) was blocking the same, SNIC responded by misidentifying one of the legal tests for a duly completed OCF-19 and merely enclosed a copy of a blank OCF-19. Moreover, when considering the Forged Signature in the OCF-18, last page only, it could not have been SNIC, although it appeared that way in HCAI by insurer name but NOT physical address, with the "As per A. Nurse", it was TDHA's address (East Mall Etobicoke Address) that received the duly completed OCF-18 at first instance. Perhaps, this is why Ms. Nurse, an adjuster, was not amenable to executing the same.
[74]The same would have been applicable to TD Staff Legal and Mr. Nieuwland with its fax and his listed fax number with the LSO. Said unappealed findings are determinative that neither SNIC nor TDGIC were the First Insurers by way of the fax served Completed Application upon the 4th Floor VP Building Fax Number which was TDHA.
[75]"If the Licence Appeal Tribunal finds that an insurer has unreasonably withheld or delayed payments, the Licence Appeal Tribunal, in addition to awarding the benefits and interest to which an insured person is entitled under the Statutory Accident Benefits Schedule, may award a lump sum of up to 50 per cent of the amount to which the person was entitled at the time of the award together with interest on all amounts then owing to the insured (including unpaid interest) at the rate of 2 per cent per month, compounded monthly, from the time the benefits first became payable under the Schedule. O. Reg. 43/16, s. 4.".

[77]It is trite that while the Tribunal is required to determine whether Mr. McLean was entitled to certain benefits and in what amounts, it also must determine which insurance company was and is liable for certain benefits and at what times. It can only do that if that the First Insurer is found to be TDHA and that decision must come from the ONSC.
[78] There was no evidence and none in the Application Record that TDHA, or any insurer, ever did so. Even on the convoluted, tortuous, unsupported and absurd logic of VCM that SNIC and TDGIC accepted priority over the Insurance Policy, there was some form of "transfer of the claim" to TDGIC which would have required notice to, at least, TDGIC and the SABS Applicant. No evidence was ever provided of such written notice to either.
[79]Mr. McLean was also entitled to object to SNIC (and TDGIC as he had done previously) having any control or possession of his TD Claim #3 relating to "confidential information" and documents not subsequently received by it in accordance with standardized language in the OCF-1 and PIPEDA. There is no dispute that TD Claim #3 was transferred from TDHA to TDGIC and SNIC. SNIC claimed to have received documents but not directly from the Applicant. SNIC purported to respond or did respond to the Applicant in relation to some communications but not all communications. TDGIC then surfaced at the LAT Proceeding but only after inclusion by the Tribunal without the consent of the Applicant or without any legal authority. SNIC filed its Response ("SNIC Response") on January 25, 2024, and then Mr. Nieuwland filed a DOR on behalf of TDGIC – not SNIC. The charade continued for six months until Mr. McLean, relying on Mr. Nieuwland's misrepresentations in non-transcribed case conference, which was yet another irremediable nullity and without statutory power as TDGIC was a non-party, that SNIC and TDGIC were "one and the same" and "this is how we always do it" (in relation to TDGIC being some sort of insurance company that came "off the bench" to provide a "spark" to the "defence" for SNIC as if it were some kind of sporting event). While there is no dispute of some form of transfer from TDHA to SNIC and, of course, with some unknown terms and conditions involving TDGIC on some basis perhaps on a joint level but more likely some form of "staggered interventions" based on unknown terms and conditions in this "subsequent clandestine agreement", there are no particulars in the decision of VCM. Moreover, any such transfer was without notice to Mr. McLean, and without compliance with Reg 283. The scheme of Reg 283 requires substantive and procedural compliance and TDHA along with SNIC and TDGIC intentionally breached Reg 283 without any form of attempt to cure the same. The required FSRA form did not matter to TDHA. The closest evidence that this ONSC has is a fax from an unknown fax number to Mr. McLean that TDHA had no record of his claim as of March 2023 (and then another letter in August 2024 albeit after NOM #14 and NOM #15). It was a fax without any semblance of compliance with Reg 283, and SABS to some degree, and the FSRA Form 143. It directed Mr. McLean to other fax numbers in Calgary, Montreal, New Brunswick and Burlington without reference to any insurance company. Mr. McLean was entitled, after lengthy investigation and fortuitous discoveries, was entitled to object and required to bring the issue forward as to TDHA not complying with its duties to respond and to pay benefits as the First Insurer.
[80]Due to the public importance of the issues herein, the Applicant respectfully, yet forcefully, notes that the LGIC did not create any ability for an insured person (applicant) to consent or sanitize the breaches that have occurred herein. Put another way, the LGIC did not pass any provisions that would authorize an insured person to sanitize or remedy such clandestine breaches to provide post-facto consideration that cure such non-compliance with Reg 283. Therefore, this undisclosed agreement by the respondent insurance companies, known to the Tribunal but not the Applicant, has no legal force or effect. The purposes of the inflexible prescribed regulations are to promote compliance with the statutory scheme and not to assist insurance companies and insured persons in isolated incidents so that an "insured person" can assist delinquent and felonious activities. To not set aside the VCM Decision and replace it with a correct decision, while the ONSC commences ab initio, would represent a precedent that contains a "slippery slope". Perhaps, "insurance companies" like this collection of respondent insurance companies may send a late notice with a semi-contemporaneous phone call to an insured person that may be in the form of a bribe so that the "checks and balances" of various regulatory bodies (FSRA, LSO, OPCC et al) do not catch "wind of the unlawful scheme".
[81][3] .... The test for res judicata was applied by the Adjudicator as follows (Decision, para. 12). In my view, the four preconditions for res judicata are satisfied. The parties are the same in both proceedings. The prior claim was within the jurisdiction of the Tribunal. The decision in the first application was based on the merits. The Tribunal reviewed the submissions and evidence and found that the applicant was not entitled to the IRB or found that the applicant was not entitled to IRBs for the period of January 14, 2020 to date and ongoing. Moreover, he was not entitled to payment for the November 9, 2019 accounting report. The first decision was a final decision because he did not file a reconsideration request and nor did he appeal the decision.
[5] A LAT decision is final and authoritative, subject to a party's rights of reconsideration or appeal from that decision. A party that disagrees with a LAT decision may not ignore that decision and recommence the same claims all over again. That is what the Appellant has done in this case. Even if the LAT erred in the first decision and decided the case on the basis of an issue that was not before it, that error would not have deprived the LAT of jurisdiction. The LAT's second decision is correct in law; this appeal fails on the merits.

[85]This ONSC can take judicial notice that SNIC and TDGIC could not even correctly represent the amount of benefits paid to the Applicant in May 2024 which leaves only one other insurance company, by reference to the fax number of 416.774.3120, that would correctly know the same.

[96]Of note, the Applicant is not challenging the decision of the Tribunal that did not find a reasonably perceived conflict of interest as a preliminary issue therein but rather he is challenging the decisions and orders of VCM that did not add TDHA as a party – at the very least so the Applicant could advance the argument of which insurance company was liable to respond and pay benefits. Since SNIC was and is not the First Insurer, as, in fact, found by the Tribunal or not found to not be, and TDGIC was already removed by non-opposition by TDGIC, then it leaves Primmum and SNIC. Primmum and SNIC have a bond with respect to the "TD Insurance Meloche Monnex" programs. The only insurance company in the TDI Group that was located at the Material Time at the VP Building with the fax of 416.774.3120 was TDHA. Former case manager Mr. Grant even admitted, on May 6, 2024, as a matter of optics, how the Tribunal viewed "TD Insurance" as being one of two companies: (i) TDGIC; and (ii) TDHA.

[100]This is particularly the case when the Applicant has drawn it to the attention of not only the Tribunal but VCM when she made the same mistake previously.
[101]In November 2017, one Ms. Karen E. Shepard wrote to then The Honourable Speaker Furey (Senate of our Parliament), "Pursuant to section 10.5 of the Lobbying Act, I have the honour of presenting to you a Report on Investigation on the lobbying activities of Trina Morissette for tabling in the Senate. The investigation was conducted in accordance with the provisions of section 10.4 of the Act." A key duty of government officials is to interact with citizens. The Lobbying Act ensures that Canadians and public office holders know who is communicating with the government and on what subject.
[102]While similar fact evidence is presumptively inadmissible and must be pleaded in civil court proceedings, being one of the exceptions to pleading evidence, this was not a court proceeding and the probative value of the similar fact evidence of an adjudicator and Vice Chair who is fashioning decisions with pejorative language, slights at the Applicant, and sanctimoniously accusing him of abusing the process. The VCM Decision almost rings in a covert threat to stay away from "pandora's box". For the Court's edification, Mr. McLean doubled down on his FIPPA request including Mr. Sean Weir, Executive Chair of Tribunals Ontario, but without a response. He then tripled down by including the Attorney General Of Ontario in Mr. Downey as the LAT is a body of MAG and based on the recent, publicly available, MOU, Mr. Weir was delegated the authority of an "institutional head" by the AGO. How shameful can it get when the LAT requests payment of fees to obtain records and has 30 days to provide a response, then does not provide one, then the adolescent excuses flowed with "technical difficulties" and then stonewalling. It may perhaps be a fresh evidence matter. The conduct involving Ms. Morrissette was of such a serious nature that one Ms. Shephard had to immediately suspend her investigation and refer the matter to the Royal Canadian Mounted Police: "An administrative review concerning this matter was opened in February of 2015. It involved interviews, a review of correspondence and other materials and an examination of Ms. Trina Morissette's work on behalf of the Canadian Red Cross (CRC). In November of 2015, I opened an investigation based upon information provided to me in an administrative review report prepared by the Investigations Directorate of my Office. In accordance with subsection 10.4(8)[102] of the Act, I immediately suspended my investigation and referred this matter to the Royal Canadian Mounted Police (RCMP), as I had reasonable grounds to believe that a breach of the Lobbying Act had occurred. In December of 2016, I was informed by the RCMP following their investigation that no charges would be laid in the matter. The RCMP had determined that it was not in the public interest to prosecute Ms. Morissette." The RCMP did not find that she had not breached the Criminal Code, which is an astonishing matter considering it involved Ms. Morrissette's activities as a lobbyist for a well-known charity in the Red Cross, but it was not in the public interest to prosecute. That is an entirely different finding than there were not reasonable and probable grounds to charge. Ms. Morrissette was subject to the five-year prohibition and restrictions on lobbying after being a designated public office holder which implies that she had a role in government prior to her switch to the charitable activities of the CRC. "Prior to starting work as the CRC's manager of Government Relations in 2014, Ms. Morissette had worked as a member of a federal minister's staff from 2009 to 2013. Her final day as a member of a minister's staff was on June 14, 2013Investigator Shephard found: "I have concluded that Ms. Morissette was in breach of Rule 2 (Accurate Information) of the Lobbyists' Code of Conduct (1997), as well as the Principles of Professionalism and Integrity and Honesty in the Code." There are some obvious inaccuracies in the VCM Decision and she was given a chance to correct the same by the Applicant's section 21.1 of the SPPA motion and she has apparently decided not to correct the same despite carrying on with other rulings in this LAT Proceeding. It would quite one thing if VCM cross-referenced her findings to evidence in the record of proceeding or even an email that she found between Mr. Grant and another individual or representative of @tdinsurance.com but there is not even a scintilla of the same. Under the "Lessons Learned", Investigator Shepard found: "the purpose of the five-year prohibition is to ensure that designated public office holders do not use information and personal connections derived from those positions to the advantage of interests that they lobby on behalf of. This is in the public interest because it ensures that Canadians can have confidence in the integrity of government decision-making." LAT is a body of government and the MAG no less. It is where this court has to exercise its supervisory jurisdiction to ensure the conduct of VCM and to some extent VCL, who was on notice of a potential conflict of interest relayed to one Mr. Grant but then snapped out a decision in relation to NOM #7 and then was presumed gone until October 2024, is realigned with the integrity and professionalism requirements of a decision maker with the Tribunal. However, lobbying public office holders should be done in a transparent manner and in conformity with high standards of conduct (see: Investigator Shepard). The same applies to the decision-making process of the LAT. She worked for the CRC for approximately 16 months as she returned to the Minister of Health in late 2014. It is unclear if she was fired. Pursuant to subsection 10.11(1) of the Lobbying Act, when Ms. Morissette ceased being a designated public office holder from 2013 until her return to work as a ministerial exempt staff in October of 2014, she was subject to the prohibition on lobbying. As of November 2017, she no longer worked in the public sector, "Ms. Morissette no longer works in the public sector". However, she returned to the provincial public sector at some point thereafter by of being an adjudicator at LAT. "Although officials of the Canadian Red Cross and Ms. Morissette indicated that her position with the CRC was initially to be "behind the scenes," they recalled having discussed the topic of lobbying during her interview. Once she was employed by the CRC, Ms. Morissette was asked to lobby on behalf of the organization. In fact, the CRC submitted monthly communication reports in the Registry of Lobbyists for meetings in which Ms. Morissette was the only representative of the organization. Ms. Morissette's employment description, the CRC letter of disclosure to the OCL and other information obtained during the investigation indicate that, on the occasions when Ms. Morissette communicated with designated public office holders, she did so on behalf of her employer, the CRC." "In her letter of response to me, she acknowledged her obligations as a former designated public office holder and recognized that there could be consequences arising from her mistake. She confirmed that once she discovered that she had made an error [sic] regarding the application of the five-year prohibition to her, she took steps to remedy her error. She offered to disclose the fact of her error to my Office, and she offered to resign as an employee of the CRC." It is unclear whether that offer came to fruition. "When Ms. Morissette provided information about the Lobbying Act to the Canadian Red Cross, relying, in part, on her own interpretation of the Lobbying Act, Ms. Morissette provided information that was inaccurate to her employer. Ms. Morissette did not use proper care to avoid providing that inaccurate information regarding the application of the five-year prohibition on lobbying. As a result, Ms. Morissette was in breach of Rule 2 (Accurate information) of the Lobbyists' Code of Conduct." Vice Chair Morrissette has been given a chance to clarity and correct errors in the VCM Decisions but she has not done so. The fact that her decision was apparently dated on September 6, 2024, being the same date as the Applicant paying fees to the LAT privacy division is rather ironic and suspicious considering the decision is signed on September 12, 2024. Following Ms. Morissette's inquiries to the OCL concerning the application of the five-year prohibition to her lobbying activities, Ms. Morissette continued to engage in lobbying."" By engaging in registrable lobbying activity while prohibited from lobbying under the Lobbying Act, Ms. Morissette did not observe the highest professional and ethical standards. The breach of Rule 2 (Accurate information) and of the prohibition on lobbying do not meet the high standards for lobbyists that are necessary to ensure Canadians that lobbying is conducted transparently and ethically in accordance with the Lobbying Act. As a result, Ms. Morissette was in breach of the Principle of Professionalism in the Code.

[110] R.M. v CAA Insurance, 2020 CanLII 94775 (ON LAT), <https://canlii.ca/t/jbwwr>, retrieved on 2024-12-10
[111][nota bene: TDHA is an insurer. Mr. McLean has recourse for the payment of SABS against TDHA as TDHA is bound by Reg 283. A breach of Reg 283 is legally equivalent to a breach of SABS. Moreover, various sections of SABS reference the "first insurer" (i.e. receipt of the Completed Application) which imposed, and continues to impose obligations upon TDHA, to: (i) respond; and (ii) pay.

[112]TDHA: October 13, 2022, by way of fax from Mr. McLean to TDHA albeit unbeknownst to him until August 2024
[113]In this hypothetical, it would have been TDHA
[114]Singular
[115]Duty to pay, albeit the updated A07 Bulleting from 2010 (May) which was the bases for the amendments to Reg 283 in 2010 includes the duty to respond.
[116]In this hypothetical, it would have been McLean
[117]Based upon the VCM Decision, paragraph 27, it would have been a dispute between TDHA, as First Insurer, and SNIC, the Sole Underwriter and First Notified Insurer, and TDGIC, neither an underwriter nor a First Insurer and not even a First Notified Insurer but a "Fictitious Respondent" in the LAT Proceeding.
[118]One of three
[119]THE INSURER: TDHA
[120]Not "having already been transferred after October 13, 2022"
[121]Transfer of a claim objection rights
[122]Had TDHA sent the notice, then it would have been SNIC that was paying at the time, so it would have been a challenge to SNIC paying while TDHA was the First Insurer
[123]The LAT Proceeding is "any proceeding". The JRPA Application is "any proceeding". Although Mr. McLean did not have any "claim transfer objection rights" as TDHA failed to extend the same to him. Moreover, Mr. McLean did not have any "proceeding participation rights" as it relates to any potential arbitration before an arbitration pursuant to the Ontario legislation or statute known as the "Arbitration Act, 1991". Moreover, TDHA could not advance an arbitration without having paid any benefits to Mr. McLean. If TDHA was the payor of some or all of the $1499.98, then it could technically advance an arbitration claim but only after it provided a notice of potential transfer of claim pursuant to A143. However, it would be, if it did so in the month of December 2024, some 700 days late. Pursuant to Reg 283, section 2 and Zurich 2024, TDHA was provisionally liable to pay benefits from October 13, 2022, to January 10, 2023, (the "Provisional Payment Period"), and then permanently liable after January 10, 2023, subject to giving it notice of a transfer claim (A143) and then providing clear, cogent and convincing evidence as to why the 90 day period was insufficient to make a determination that another insurer or insurers (nota bene: conceivable could be two under section 268 per se) is liable under section 268; AND the insurer [TDHA] made the reasonable [nota bene: objective person standard] investigations necessary to determine if another insurer was liable within the 90 day period (see: section 3(2) of the Reg 283, passed in 1995, which was the year that Reg 283 was passed by its namesake, "Reg 283/95". Where there is a dispute as to whether a First Insurer, like TDHA, had not given notice to other insurers and an Applicant pursuant to its receipt of a Completed Application by fax or mail, shall be resolved in an ARBITRATION pursuant to section 7 of Reg 283 (see: ss. 3(3) of Reg 283). Pursuant to ss. 7(1) of Reg 283, it is ONLY an insurer that has been paying benefits under section 2 (nota bene: reference to section 268 of the Insurance Act (1990) and Reg 283 passed in 1995) OR section 2.1 (nota bene: relating to an Accident (see: SABS, definition section), that occurred after September 1, 2010 and requires the dispute to be resolved in accordance with the Regulation 283 (not Insurance Act)) OR any other insurer against who the obligation to pay benefits is claimed. Subsection 3(3) dovetails to subsection 7(3) with a one year prescribed limitation period but that is tied to the insurer, 'first giving notice' under section 3 which is the insurers that it believes are liable to pay the benefits and the insured person, in his or her capacity as an "Applicant" after sending a Completed Application and it being received first by an insurance company making said insurance company the "First Insurer". However, if the First Insurer does not give a notice, pursuant to section 3(1) of Reg 283 within 90 days (often means counting the "first day" and "last day"), it loses all of its dispute rights to pay benefits subject to overcoming the strenuous legal test under section 3(2) of Reg 283. It is here where TDHA, would hypothetically speaking, never be able to overcome said test by a decision of any reasonably-minded arbitrator rending a decision regarding the application of the facts to the legal test under ss. 3(2) of Reg 283. TDHA is an Ontario based insurer (not an out of province insurance company) and was the co-tenant with TDGIC at the "Spark Building", "North York Office Building" or the "VP Building" located at 3650 Victoria Park Avenue, District of North York, City of Toronto, where TDHA was located on the 4th floor (4th to 6th floors) with a fax of 416.774.3120 and its co-tenant in TDGIC had a fax number of 416.774.3629 and it was the commercial tenant on floors 7 to 9. By review of the information scribed on the Application (OCF-1), it had a sufficient period of time to make a determination that another insurer or insurers were liable under section 268 of the Act.
[124]Hence, by SNIC intentionally, as sworn by McLean, redirecting the Applicant to TDHA at first instance, and then purportedly paying benefits (unclear if that name is correct), TDHA became the First Insurer by McLean faxing of the same to it on October 13, 2022. However, if TDHA was the "actual payor" of the direct deposits at said time then it could have provided this notice to McLean. It was then caught in another dilemma by the fact that the representative known to McLean was that of Ms. Nurse of SNIC. Therefore, TDHA would have had to provide a phone number and representative for TDHA which would have caused issues and concerns for McLean.

[i]To the extent that the Tribunal consents to the same or does not oppose, and/or comply with its obligations forthwith, the Applicant seeks relief to convert the mode of hearing from telephone conference to a brief written argument with a draft order to be provided, vetted by the Registrar, for immediate entry.

[iii][161] An applicant for judicial review has the right to have a full and accurate record of what went on before the tribunal put before the court. This is an aspect of the superior court's inherent powers of judicial review. A superior court may insist upon the production of an adequate record of the proceedings before the tribunal being reviewed. As stated by Denning L.J. in R. v. Medical Appeal Tribunal ex p. Gilmore, [1957] 1 Q.B. 574 at 583 (C.A.): "The court has always had power to order an inferior tribunal to complete the record ... [A] tribunal could defeat a writ of certiorari unless the courts could order them to complete or correct an imperfect record. So the courts have the power to give such an order". See also R. v. Northumberland Compensation Appeal Tribunal, ex p. Shaw, [1952] K.B. 338 at 352–54 (C.A.); Canadian Workers Union v. Frankel Structural Steel Ltd. (1976), 1976 CanLII 829 (ON SC), 12 O.R. (2d) 560 at 577 (Div. Ct.) per Reid J.; F.G. Spencer Ltd. v. Prince Edward Island (Labour Relations Board) (1970), 1970 CanLII 960 (PE SCAD), 16 D.L.R. (3d) 670 (P.E.I.S.C.); Battaglia v. British Columbia (Workmen's Compensation Board) (1960), 1960 CanLII 334 (BC SC), 22 D.L.R. (2d) 446 (B.C.S.C.). A statutory body subject to judicial review cannot immunize itself or its process by arriving at decisions on considerations that are not revealed by the record it files with the court.

[iv]The purpose of requiring a tribunal or adjudicator to file a "record of proceedings" is to ensure that when the court reviews the tribunal's decision, it has the information and evidence as it appeared before the tribunal in the first instance. A court reviewing an adjudicative decision may look at decisions to admit evidence, submissions of witnesses, and other evidence and may substitute its judgment for that of the court [or tribunal] of first instance

[v]An applicant for judicial review has the right to have a full and accurate record of what went on before the tribunal put before the court. This is an aspect of the superior court's inherent powers of judicial review. A superior court may insist upon the production of an adequate record of the proceedings before the tribunal being reviewed. As stated by Denning L.J. in R. v. Medical Appeal Tribunal, Ex parte Gilmore, [1957] 1 Q.B. 574 (Eng. C.A.) at 583:

The court has always had power to order an inferior tribunal to complete the record … [A] tribunal could defeat a writ of certiorari unless the courts could order them to complete or correct an imperfect record. So the courts have the power to give such an order.

[vi][38] Thus, the content of volume 3 is not properly part of the record required to be filed pursuant to s. 10 of the JPRA, as it post-dates the decisions under review. Moreover, it is not relevant to the issue of reasonable apprehension of bias before this Court, as it responds to an issue of actual bias.

[vii]Ergo, pursuant to s. 10 of the Judicial Review Procedure Act, it was available to the applicant to bring a motion seeking production of documents it alleges were relied on by the decision-maker but are not contained in the record: see, for example K.D. v. Peel Children's Aid Society, 2017 ONSC 7392 (Div. Ct.) at paras. 16-17). The applicant failed to do so. As a result, it is precluded from raising this issue for the first time on judicial review.

[i]To the extent that the Tribunal consents to the same or does not oppose, and/or comply with its obligations forthwith, the Applicant seeks relief to convert the mode of hearing from telephone conference to a brief written argument with a draft order to be provided, vetted by the Registrar, for immediate entry.

[iii][161] An applicant for judicial review has the right to have a full and accurate record of what went on before the tribunal put before the court. This is an aspect of the superior court's inherent powers of judicial review. A superior court may insist upon the production of an adequate record of the proceedings before the tribunal being reviewed. As stated by Denning L.J. in R. v. Medical Appeal Tribunal ex p. Gilmore, [1957] 1 Q.B. 574 at 583 (C.A.): "The court has always had power to order an inferior tribunal to complete the record ... [A] tribunal could defeat a writ of certiorari unless the courts could order them to complete or correct an imperfect record. So the courts have the power to give such an order". See also R. v. Northumberland Compensation Appeal Tribunal, ex p. Shaw, [1952] K.B. 338 at 352–54 (C.A.); Canadian Workers Union v. Frankel Structural Steel Ltd. (1976), 1976 CanLII 829 (ON SC), 12 O.R. (2d) 560 at 577 (Div. Ct.) per Reid J.; F.G. Spencer Ltd. v. Prince Edward Island (Labour Relations Board) (1970), 1970 CanLII 960 (PE SCAD), 16 D.L.R. (3d) 670 (P.E.I.S.C.); Battaglia v. British Columbia (Workmen's Compensation Board) (1960), 1960 CanLII 334 (BC SC), 22 D.L.R. (2d) 446 (B.C.S.C.). A statutory body subject to judicial review cannot immunize itself or its process by arriving at decisions on considerations that are not revealed by the record it files with the court.

[iv]The purpose of requiring a tribunal or adjudicator to file a "record of proceedings" is to ensure that when the court reviews the tribunal's decision, it has the information and evidence as it appeared before the tribunal in the first instance. A court reviewing an adjudicative decision may look at decisions to admit evidence, submissions of witnesses, and other evidence and may substitute its judgment for that of the court [or tribunal] of first instance

[v]An applicant for judicial review has the right to have a full and accurate record of what went on before the tribunal put before the court. This is an aspect of the superior court's inherent powers of judicial review. A superior court may insist upon the production of an adequate record of the proceedings before the tribunal being reviewed. As stated by Denning L.J. in R. v. Medical Appeal Tribunal, Ex parte Gilmore, [1957] 1 Q.B. 574 (Eng. C.A.) at 583:

The court has always had power to order an inferior tribunal to complete the record … [A] tribunal could defeat a writ of certiorari unless the courts could order them to complete or correct an imperfect record. So the courts have the power to give such an order.

[vi][38] Thus, the content of volume 3 is not properly part of the record required to be filed pursuant to s. 10 of the JPRA, as it post-dates the decisions under review. Moreover, it is not relevant to the issue of reasonable apprehension of bias before this Court, as it responds to an issue of actual bias.

[vii]Ergo, pursuant to s. 10 of the Judicial Review Procedure Act, it was available to the applicant to bring a motion seeking production of documents it alleges were relied on by the decision-maker but are not contained in the record: see, for example K.D. v. Peel Children's Aid Society, 2017 ONSC 7392 (Div. Ct.) at paras. 16-17). The applicant failed to do so. As a result, it is precluded from raising this issue for the first time on judicial review.

APPLICATION

Volume #1: Relief Sought

1.The Applicant adopts his definitions from the record of proceeding, including the hearing record in NOM #13 to #15 and NOM #16 and they have the same meaning herein as they do therein.

2.The Applicant makes the application for the following relief in the form of any orders, declarations, findings, determinations or directions with great respect to the License Appeal Tribunal and gratitude to the ONSC (Divisional Court) for its consideration of the same:

a. An Order that this JRPA proceeding be declared as public interest litigation;

b. An order that no costs are awarded against the Applicant in any event of the cause;

c. An Order compelling Vice Chair Morrissette or the Tribunal to decide the Applicant's motion (defined as "NOM #16" which was served on SNIC, TDHA, and TDGIC and filed in September 2024) or confirm with the Applicant, copied to this ONSC (Divisional Court), that it is declining to exercise its jurisdiction or discretion under section 21.1 of the SPPA;

    i. An Order, thereafter the Tribunal complying with the above order, that Vice Chair Lake either amend her reconsideration decision (the "RD") or confirm, with a copy to this court, that she is declining to exercise her jurisdiction or discretion;

        1. An Order that the 30 day time limit under the JRPA does not commence until the above orders are complete;

d. A preliminary or procedural order that this judicial review is heard before a single sitting judge pursuant to section 6(2) of the JRPA;

e. A procedural and preliminary order that the limitation period for judicial review involving the final orders involving NOM #14 and NOM #15 does not commence until the Licence Appeal Tribunal/AABS issues its order regarding the Applicant's section 21.1 of the SPPA motion ("NOM #16") (filed in September 2024 but "in "progress" as of November 15, 2024, to the LAT/AABS) and the Tribunal issues any amended decision regarding the Applicant's likely amended reconsideration motion;

f. An Order that the Applicant may add and include fresh evidence when it becomes available to him through any lawful means including the LAT and/or any privacy requests that are outstanding at the time of this JRPA Application;

g. A procedural and preliminary order that no responsive materials are required from the Respondent Insurers and they are not entitled to participate without leave as they chose not to participate in the underlying motions subject to the Respondent Insurers participating in any of aforementioned amended motions arising out of the Applicant's NOM #16;

h. An order in the nature of mandamus requiring the Tribunal to comply with its requirements regarding the provision of hearing notices to any and all parties prior to issuing decisions;

i. An Order in the nature of mandamus requiring the Tribunal to comply with its specific rules, effective August 21, 2023, with particular reference to granting non-parties the right to make submissions prior to the issuance of a decision;

j. A declaration that certain specific rules in the LAT Rules are ultra vires the Tribunal which will be specified in the Applicant's factum;

k. An Order that the relief sought in the Applicant's motions (see: NOM #14 (August 3, 2024) and NOM #15 (August 21, 2024)) (see: Appendices #1 and #2) including his reconsideration motion, dated September 27, 2024, is granted in substantially the same form:

    i. An Order quashing or in certiorari and/or varying the orders of Vice Chair Morrissette ("VCM") decision on September 12, 2024, to the substantive orders sought therein; and

    ii. An Order quashing or in the nature of certiorari and/or varying the orders in the Vice Chair decision on involving the Applicant's reconsideration motion;

l. More specifically, the Orders sought by the Applicant shall be granted in full or substantially the same form as he sought them at the time:

    i. An Order cancelling the decisions and orders of the Adjudicator in NOM #14 and NOM #15;

    ii. An Order varying the decision of the Appellate Tribunal as follows:

        1. Granting the relief sought in NOM #14 (see: Hearing Record, Tab 1, page 3; see also: Appendix #1 herein); and

        2. Grant the relief in NOM #15, paragraph #3 (see: Appendix #2 herein);

m. A Declaration and Order that TDHA, FSRA registration number 1063, is declared the "First Insurer" pursuant to Reg 283, and such an order shall remain as it relates to the Applicant (also defined as the "Insured Person" or "Disabled Individual" arising out of no-fault car accident on August 31, 2022);

n. An Order compelling the LAT to provide and disclose any and all records involving who was the first respondent denoted in its LAT/AABS e-filing system;

o. An Order quashing VC Lake's Reconsideration Decision on grounds of conflict of interest and/or reasonable apprehension of bias;

p. Such injunctive or interlocutory relief as may be sought by the Applicant, until such time this application can be determined on its merits;

q. Costs in favour of the Applicant; and

r. Such other relief that the Applicant may advise and this Court may allow.

Volume #2: The Grounds for the Application

3.This judicial review can be disposed of on one legal ground and error, while there are broader errors in the VCM decision in the First Insurer Motions which include the following statement: "[27] .....The initial respondent [sic], TDGIC, and the current respondent, SNIC accepted priority over the applicant's [sic] insurance policy".

4.Therefore, if SNIC and TDGIC accepted priority of the Insurance Policy, as found by the Adjudicator, and the Appellant did not make any such offer to either for them to 'accept priority of the Insurance Policy' and/or neither SNIC nor TDGIC first received the Appellant's Completed Application, then TDGIC had to receive that offer of "priority" (as the Adjudicator puts it) from the "First Insurer".

5.As a matter of law, could TDHA offer "priority" to SNIC and TDGIC? The question answers itself.

6.As the Applicant, along with SNIC, TDHA and TDGIC, are awaiting the decision from Vice Chair Morrissette in NOM #16, the Applicant took the time to advance this judicial review application so that it is filed and then can be amended after receiving the NOM #16 decision. Moreover, it may be affecting the reconsideration decision of Vice Chair Lake. Unlike an appeal under LATA, the underlying matter is not stayed.

7.The Appellant is a disabled individual residing in Toronto, Ontario. At the time of the Accident, he was 39 years old with a G2 license. At the time of these submissions, he is 41 years old with a G license. The Appellant is the spouse of the individual insured (Nicole Artopoulos) and the Insured Automobile was leased from the lessor BMW Financial Services Inc. Since April 2018, the Appellant and Ms. Artopoulos have resided at 775 King Street West, Toronto, Ontario, M5V 2K3. Ms. Artopoulos, in Spring 2018, obtained an exclusive automotive insurance policy through SNIC as her being a University Of Toronto alumnus for a previous BMW leased vehicle. In October 2019, the same insurance policy was transferred to the Insured Automobile.

8.Security National Insurance Company ("SNIC") was incorporated under the CBCA in 1934, then continued under the federal Insurance Act with its head office in Montreal, Quebec. At the time of the Accident, SNIC was licensed with the FSRA to provide six (6) classes of insurance in Ontario and its FSRA registration number if 397. From 2018 to the time of the Accident and thereafter, SNIC's Ontario office has been the McNabb Building in Markham, Ontario. The primary area code for phone and fax lines in

Markham is "905". At the time of the Accident, SNIC provided the return mailing address of the Markham McNabb Building but, in error, provided a "416 area code" fax number. The head tenants at the Markham McNabb Building are: (I) TD Bank; and (ii) General Motors. SNIC and Primmum Insurance Company ("Primmum") (FSRA reg. #1396), by virtue of them not having "TD" in their corporate names, operate under the colloquial business name of "TD Insurance Meloche Monnex" under two licensed trademarks from TD Bank and Meloche Monnex Inc. in: (i) "TD Insurance"; and (ii) "Meloche Monnex". SNIC, through TDIMM, issues policies under the "Professionals and Alumni Program" and Primmum, through TDIMM, issues policies under the "Employer Group Program". In October 2023, upon the Appellant's return to Canada after obtaining requisite MRIs, examinations, assessments and reports, the Appellant learned that SNIC had purported to change its physical address and fax number to: (i) the Burlington Address; and (ii) 905 Fax Number. The Burlington Address is 91 km from SNIC Markham (McNabb Building), where Meloche Monnex Inc. has its registered records office. The "Ontario Business Directory" lists the Burlington Address and 905 Fax Number as being the business of "TD Insurance". The "Ontario Business Directory" also lists the head office associated with the Burlington Address as the Victoria Park Building (see: Affidavit #29, Exhibit "A", page 1 and 2).

9. In the SNIC Response, SNIC did not list the 416 Fax Number as a fax number for service. With the benefit of hindsight and labyrinthian investigations, the only factual contact information that SNIC provided to the Appellant was its mailing address at the Markham McNabb Building. Neither the 416 Fax Number (which is the material mistake as it relates to whom is the First Insurer) nor the 905 Fax Number were fax numbers for SNIC as a recipient. Further, the Burlington Address was not an address for receipt of documents from the Appellant for SNIC.

10. TD Home And Auto Insurance Company ("TDHA") is an insurance company that is licensed, by the FSRA, to provide three classes of insurance including automotive insurance. TDHA's FSRA registration number is 1063. At the time of the Accident, the lead tenant(s) at the Victoria Park Building were denoted as "TD Insurance" by the property manager at the VP Building in Collies International. From 2018 to present, the "Ontario Business Directory" has listed the fax number of 416-774-3120 (the "416 Fax Number") as the fax number for TDHA. The 416 Fax Number is a landline, owned by Bell Canada Inc., which is grounded at the Victoria Park Building. In the HCAI Portal, the Appellant's TD Claim #3, contrary to the information he provided his physiotherapists as the return mailing address in documents, prima facie, sent to him by SNIC, auto-populated the name of the adjuster and a branch address for SNIC

11. On or around September 1, 2022, the Appellant notified SNIC of his intention to apply for accident benefits. Due to an error in his postal code, the Appellant did not received an application benefits package from SNIC until late September 2022. On October 13, 2022, the Appellant fax delivered his OCF-1 (also defined as "Completed Application") to the 416 Fax Number. The Appellant also delivered the OCF-2, on his behalf by his employer, to the 416 Fax Number. On November 3, 2022, his attending medical doctor for his post-Accident impairments, completed and signed his portions of the OCF-3, and faxed the completed OCF-3 to the 416 Fax Number. 90 days from October 13, 2022 was January 10, 2022. The Appellant did not receive any dispute notice from SNIC or any other insurance company by January 10, 2023, pursuant to Reg 283. From January 11, 2023, to October 2023, the Appellant continued to fax the 416 Fax Number with all confidential information and other OCF forms regarding TD Claim #3. In October 2023, the Appellant attempted to fax some of his documents to the 905 Fax Number, with a copy to the 416 Fax Number, but the 905 Fax Number would more regularly, than the 416 Fax Number, block his faxes and/or drop them during the sending process. In November 2023, the Appellant fax delivered the completed OCF-19. On December 24, 2023, the Appellant filed this Appeal and served the duly signed Appeal to the 416 Fax Number. For some context along the way, in March 2023, the Appellant received a request from SNIC via mail wishing to communicate via email. The Appellant faxed the 416 Fax Number with his decline regarding the same and the reasons therein (i.e. PIPEDA issues and absence of compliance by whom he presumed was SNIC).

12. In April 2023, the Appellant received the "Spam Faxes" wherein an unknown person or company represented to him that it (after receipt of faxes at the 416 Fax Number but not from the 416 Fax Number) had no record of his TD Claim #3. The Appellant promptly faxed the 416 Fax Number (attention: Ms. Nurse) to alert SNIC to the issue of the "Spam Faxes" and his dismay that said recipient had no record of his TD Claim #3. In early May 2023, the Appellant received the purported attempt by SNIC to partially approve and partially reject the Dhaliwal OCF-18 (April 6, 2023) with the Forged Nurse Signature. After being successful in his NOM #8, by order on June 21, 2024, of the Tribunal, the Appellant filed his NOM

#13 for non-party production and disclosure by the Fictitious Respondent (TDGIC) on July 9, 2024. The Appellant hand delivered the NOM #13 hearing brief to the listed address for the Fictitious Respondent, which was the Victoria Park Building which only became known to the Appellant for TDGIC in February 2024 (as it was not in the SNIC Response as an address for SNIC or previously), and learned that TDGIC had misrepresented its address to the Tribunal as it had not been a tenant for over a year (i.e. July 2023). The building manager for the VP Building represented that TDGIC had moved to the Markham McNabb Building. The building manager for the VP Building did NOT represent that TDGIC had moved to any of the following addresses: (i) the Burlington Address; or the (ii) the Etobicoke East Mall Address. From July 26 to July 31, 2024, the Appellant provided notice to TDHA, with a copy to SNIC, that the evidence was uncontroverted that the 416 Fax Number, the 905 Fax Number, the Burlington Address, and the East Mall Address were contact information exclusively for TDHA. Neither TDHA nor SNIC denied the same. From August 1 to 2, 2024, the Appellant sought the consent of SNIC and TDHA to add TDHA as a party, and neither TDHA nor SNIC responded. As of August 3, 2024, TDHA has never responded to the Appellant despite the Appellant sending faxes to the 416 Fax Number, 905 Fax Number, and through authorized submissions to HCAI, the East Mall Address. SNIC has not started any section 7(1) of Reg 283 arbitration. SNIC and the Appellant consented since January 2024 to the Email Communication Protocol

13. The question of fact to be answered in NOM #14 are on a balance of probabilities:

    a. a) Who was the owner of the 416 Fax Number, which is a landline located at the Victoria Park Building in Toronto, in October 2022? (b) Was the address of 304 The East Mall, 6th Floor, Etobicoke, Toronto, Ontario (the "East Mall Address"), which is denoted by auto-population in HCAI after TD Claim #3 is inputted therein, an address for an address for SNIC, the address of TDHA, SNIC or another insurance company? And (c) Which insurance company holds the file for the Fictitious TD Claim Number?

14. The issue of law to be answered in this NOM #14 on a balance of probabilities is whether TDHA was the First Insurer (i.e. the insurance company to receive the Appellant's Completed Application on October 13, 2022)?

15. The substantial amendments to Reg 283 became effective in September 2010. Reg 283 is designed to keep priority disputes out of the courts (see: Zurich 2024, paragraph 6). Reg 283 is also purposed to prevent SABS claims, including vital treatments and income benefits, from being delayed while insurers fight over priority dispute under section 268(2) of the Insurance Act (see: Zurich 2024, paragraph 16). SABS and Reg 283, having undergone major amendments in 2010 after being submitted to industry consultations and amendments before proclamations, they reflect important policy choices to ensure order and stability in regulated industries (see: Bristol-Myers Squibb v. Canada (AG), 2005 1 SCR 533 at paragraph 99-100).As a matter of principle, there is difference between an insurer's failure to pay under section 2 of Reg 283 and a failure to pay under any provision of SABS (see: Zurich 2024, paragraph 54). While a First Insurer may have never received insurance premiums from the insured person (claimant) may seem intuitively wrong but the Legislature and LGIC's intent are to be respected. There is no, per se, harshness to be alleviated by a sophisticated insurance company, with endless resources, who receives a faxed OFC-1, who fails to investigate within three months and provides a notice to an insured person and other insurers under section 3 of Reg 283. The provisional first-insurer rule under the regulation and the priority regime under the statute operate differently (see: Zurich, paragraph 8). As long as a claimant for accident benefits completes all required fields (see: SABS, ss. 66 and 67) and signs the OCF-1, the First Insurer that receives an OCF-1 application MUST pay benefits in accordance with SABS (see: Reg 283, ss. 2.1(6)). If the First Insurer does not take any issue, within ten business days (approximately 15 calendar days) of receipt of the Completed Application, the First Insurer has 75 days from then to provide a notice of dispute that it is required to pay the benefits of the claimant in which it received a Completed Application. Irrespective of whether the claimant is an "insured person" or not in the subjective mind of the First Insurer, the First Insurer must respond to the Completed Application and the claimant (see: Reg 283, ss. 2.1(6)). Acceptance during the 90-day period is merely provisional (see: Zurich 2024, paragraph 29). If the First Insurer does not dispute, within 90 days, its liability to pay all benefits, in accordance with SABS, of the claimant, there is no other process for the First Insurer to transfer, dispute and recover any paid or to be paid benefits to the claimant. First Insurer's calculus to not accept a claim for whatever subjective reason can turn out to a costly and permanent mistake (see: Zurich, paragraph 10). As of 2015, in Zurich 2015, the SCC held that Chubb ought to have responded to the SABS claim immediately on a 'pay first and dispute later' basis (see: Zurich 2024, paragraph 12). long as the Completed Application by the claimant was not arbitrary, there is a nexus between the claimant and the First Insurer (i.e. the one to receive the Completed Application) (see: Zurich 2024, paragraph 14). In Zurich 2015, the SCC (see: 2015 SCC 19) restored Goldstein J (ONSC (Divisional Court)) in adopting the dissent of Juriansz J.A.: 2014 ONCA 400. a vague recollection about seeing an insurer's name at a rental car office was sufficiently non-arbitrary to require the First Insurer (Chubb in Zurich 2015)) to step into the shoes as a "First Insurer" for the purposes of section 2(1) of Reg 283 (see: Zurich 2024, paragraph 15). long as the First Insurer providers automobile insurance in Ontario at the time of receipt of the Completed Application there is a sufficient nexus between a claimant and the First Insurer (see: Zurich 2024, paragraph 16). The policy behind the inflexible rule that an insurer (like TDHA) fails to pay benefits and fails to put other insurers on notice after receipt of a Completed Application, when there is SOME nexus, being permanently responsible for the claimant's benefits is to promote compliance with the statutory scheme. It is not an issue herein of this Appellant and TDHA but rather the greater public interest and ongoing and future compliance by all other similarly situated 'First Insurers' (see: Zurich 2024, paragraph 31, where the second arbitrator cited paragraph 62 from the decision of Strathy J. (as he then was) in Lombard Canada Ltd., 2008, 94 O.R. (3d) 62 (Ont. S.C.J.)The ONSC in Zurich 2024 has settled the law in the above regards as follows: (i) breach of section 2 of Reg 283, according to the case law, does not result in the an insurer being required to pay benefits to the claimant permanently; BUT, (ii) the failure TO AVAIL itself of section 3 does. TDHA's permanent liability for paying benefits was a self-inflicted consequence of its failure to adhere to the requirements of both section 2 and s. 3 of Reg 283. The combination of provisions in Reg 283 transformed TDHA's provisional liability into a permanent one (see: Zurich 2024, paragraph 64). For TDHA to not be declared as the First Insurer would mean that there were no consequences for the conduct (or inaction) of TDHA by receipt of the Completed Application and by continuing to have its former branch office address (East Mall Address) auto-populate in HCAI, and it would defeat the legislation's public policy: "pay now and dispute later".[i]

16. "Arbitrary" means: determined by impulse rather than reason. The Appellant faxed the Completed Application solely based on the reason that SNIC represented that its fax number was the 416 Fax Number when it could not have been based on SNIC's physical location at SNIC Markham. Therefore, the Appellant did not make an "arbitrary decision" to fax his Completed Application to the 416 Fax Number. "Receipt" means: "to get possession of". TDHA got possession of the Completed Application as the First Insurer on October 13, 2022. There is now no dispute that the Spam Faxes, which SNIC could not produce in the face of a demand from the Appellant for the same, were on behalf of TDHA and its attempt to steer the Appellant away from the 416 Fax Number and its representation it [TDHA] had no record of its claim. TDHA would NOT have had a "record" of the Appellant's TD Claim #3 as it the TD Claim #3 was likely created by SNIC but when the Appellant faxed the Completed Application, as opposed to mailing to SNIC Markham, to the 416 Fax Number, TDHA became the First Insurer.

17. The 416 Fax Number was the fax number for TDHA in September and October 2022. TDHA has been an adjusting insurance company, by reference to the East Mall Address which has been exclusively represented to the public as TDHA's address, of the Appellant's TD Claim #3, including by way of the Fictitious TD Claim Number, since it was so denoted in the HCAI portal as such. The 905 Fax Number and the Burlington Addresses were, at the material times post receipt of the Appellant's OCF-1, OCF-2, OCF-3, OCF-6's and OCF-18 (Dhaliwal), address for receipt of documents and confidential information of the Appellant (albeit unbeknownst to him) by TDHA.

18. TDHA was the First Insurer, pursuant to Reg 283, and it is solely and permanently liable for the Appellant's claims for benefits pursuant to SABS. The Tribunal must grant ancillary orders compelling TDHA to provide the Appellant with the current address and fax number for TDHAIC along with an adjuster that is authorized for TDHA along with amendments to the HCAI portal for accuracy purposes for any and all ongoing or day-to-day matters. SNIC must remain as a party as it may be liable for some of the costs in this SNIC Proceeding to be dealt with at the hearing proper.

19. It is the word "accept" that is conspicuous, marked and eye-catching. Whatever acceptance of priority of the applicant's [sic] insurance policy was and is of no consequence in law as per Reg 283, section 4(1), 5(1) and (2). The Appellant never received any notice of "assignment, sharing or transfer of priority". It is trite that TDGIC's fax was in the LAT orders as early of February 2024 and SNIC resiled from the 416.774.3120 fax number by no later than Summer of 2023. TDHA was the First Insurer and received the Completed Application at first instance, and all other OCF documents. It is understandable why certain adjusters at SNIC, and then Mr. Nieuwland for TDGIC, were so unfamiliar with the documents and claimed to be missing certain documents like MRI reports, Brain MRI UHN Notification and others. It may be the most clichéd phrase in the history of law: "offer, acceptance, consideration." Prior to the 'acceptance' by SNIC and TDGIC over the insurance policy, as found by the Adjudicator, there had to be an offer from another person. There are four automotive insurance companies in "TD Insurance", as per its public website and URL for "legal", which are: (i) SNIC; (ii) TDGIC; (iii) TDHAIC (TDHA); and (iv) Primmum. SNIC and Primmum, without any reference TD in their names, operate under the banner of two distinct yet combined trademarks which are: (i) TD Insurance," which is owned by "The TD Bank"; and (ii) "Meloche Monnex," which is owned by Meloche Monnex Inc. (not to be confused with Meloche Monnex Financial Services Inc. or other brokers or agents with permutations of the name). Ironically, TDGIC and TDHA do not have "TD Insurance" in their name as the "insurance" word comes after "General" and "Auto" sequentially for the aforementioned.

20. There is no dispute that SNIC was the Sole Underwriter of the Insurance Policy. SNIC delivered an accident benefits package to the Appellant in late September 2022. SNIC represented its address as the SNIC Markham Office with a fax number of 416.774.3120. On May 2, 2024,3 in relation to NOM #4 and NOM #6, Nieuwland (with Karat appearing as the ADR Specialist for SNIC) orally represented, contrary the April 11 submissions (supra) solely on behalf of TDGIC, 8 that SNIC and TDGIC were and are "one and the same". The Appellant objected and reserved his rights.

21. "One And the Same" is defined, by Collins Dictionary as "When two or more people or things are thought to be separate and you say that they are one and the same, you mean that they are in fact one single person or thing."

22. While there is no dispute what Nieuwland thought and meant on May 2, 2024, his thoughts and meanings, while unambiguous, are contrary to the statute (Ins. Act) in which this SNIC Proceeding arose and FSRA Enforcement Decisions have found that the SABS Insurer (SNIC) and TDGIC are separate persons.

23. The now finding by the Tribunal that SNIC and TDGIC accepted priority over the insurance policy means that they agreed (which is possible in fact but not in law) to accept an offer from another regarding priority. This is not only the logical explanation for what transpired and why TDHA, an automotive insurer in Ontario which is the only required element for a non-underwriter of an insurance policy to be the provisional First Insurer and then potentially the permanent First Insurer, has not been responded and paid the benefits due and owing to the Appellant despite receipt of the same from the Appellant via fax. This also explains the Spam Fax in Spring 2023 which was nearly or identical to the August 2024 letter (see: Affidavits #34 and Affidavit #35).

24. It is unfortunate, from an access to justice standpoint and for the benefit of the public, for the Adjudicator to rush this decision, as it was not available when the Appellant inquired on September 11, 2024, as to the date of the hearing for the NOM #13. With the greatest of respect, the Adjudicator was unfamiliar with the facts, which one can empathize with if she was new to this LAT proceeding but she granted the most consequential motion in this proceeding so far, and basic one at that such as the first order in this proceeding of her fellow Vice Chair (VC Lake). Adjudicator Morrissette was of the mistaken view that the Tribunal changed, at some unknown time, the IDENTITY of SNIC to TDGIC after January 30, 2024, but some time before February 19, 2024. One can understand not being able to pinpoint an exact date when identities are changed or swapped in a cyber-attack or ransomware plot, but the Adjudicator found that it was THE TRIBUNAL that changed the identity from SNIC to TDGIC. It appears that the Adjudicator was implying that an administrative individual employed by the License Appeal Tribunal in the AABS division somehow on off-time engaged in some administrative identity swapping without notice to the litigants in the proceeding. The Appellant is not attempting to be hyperbolic or histrionic in any way, but the License Appeal Tribunal is one of 13 tribunals part of Tribunals Ontario and it is a division or sub-body within the office of the most important ministry as it pertains to the law: THE MINISTRY OF ATTORNEY GENERAL. And the Appellant is merely finding out about this in September 2024? This is beyond concerning and beyond the Appellant's immediate interest. Perhaps, Adjudicator Morrissette meant December 30, 2023, to January 19, 2024? This would make more sense in that an administrator or case manager would have reviewed the Appeal and attached documents and countless references to TD SNIC and Security National Insurance Company and input SNIC as the respondent. Then, likely someone informed Mr. Grant to change the name from SNIC to TDGIC. This, of course, would have required such a change as the Appellant had already filed two motions by January

8, 2024. The Appellant only objected for six months, and this appears to have been the strategy by SNIC and then TDGIC of which neither were First Insurers.

25. A "Respondent" is a party in a LAT Proceeding. Legislative definitions are sometimes counter-intuitive and defy common sense. In Ontario, "legislation" includes "legislation and regulations", but a statute is distinct from a regulation. Section 5 of the SPPA: "The parties to a proceeding SHALL be: (i) the persons specified as parties by/under the statute17 under which the proceeding arises; OR (ii) if, not so specified, persons entitled BY LAW18 to be parties to the proceeding19. One would have thought with the benefit of Adjudicator Morrissette who expressly dealt with a party issue in NOM #8, such a misstatement of law or query from her would have been obsolete. By law is an ambiguous phrase which is not to be confused with a municipal by-law. "Source law" is a definition under the Legislation Act 2006, and it includes regulations. Tribunals in Ontario and Canada have held that persons who are not expressly required by statute to be parties may be added as parties pursuant to section 5 (SPPA) if s/he or it have a substantial and direct interest in the proceeding's outcome.

26. A final order disposes of the litigation, or finally disposes of part of the litigation: Ball v. Donais (1993), 1993 CanLII 8613 (ON CA), 13 O.R. (3d) 322 (C.A.). An interlocutory order disposes of the issue raised, most often a procedural issue, but the litigation proceeds: Hendrickson v. Kallio, 1932 CanLII 123 (ON CA), [1932] O.R. 675 (C.A.), at p. 678.The interlocutory order from which there is no appeal is an order which does not determine the real matter in dispute between the parties – the very subject matter of the litigation, but only some matter collateral (see: Hendrickson v. Kallio, 1932 CanLII 123 (ON CA), [1932] O.R. 675 (C.A.)

27. In Smerchanski v. Lewis (1980), 1980 CanLII 1699 (ON CA), 30 O.R. (2d) 370 (C.A.), at para. 18: This Court has held that an order made in a contest between a party to an action and someone who is not a party is a final order, appealable without leave, if the order finally disposes of the rights of the parties in the issue raised between them. In M.E. v. Ontario, 2021 ONCA 718: We conclude that M.E. was seeking to add new causes of action. An order refusing leave to amend pleadings to plead a new cause of action is final: Atlas Construction Inc. v. Brownstones Ltd. (1996), 46 C.P.C. (3d) 67 (Ont. Gen. Div.). So is an order dismissing a motion to add a party, which M.E. also appears to have been trying to do Bryson v. Kerr (1976), 1976 CanLII 867 (ON SC), 13 O.R. (2d) 672 (Ont. Div. Ct.). Accordingly, leave to appeal is not required and an appeal lies as of right to the Court of Appeal: Courts of Justice Act, R.S.O. 1990, c. C.43, s. 6(1)(b).

28. In Vavilov, the SCC attempted to clear up complexities and uncertainty brought on by Dunsmuir. 22 The SCC cited three (3) non-exhaustive examples in Vavilov where the correctness standard must be applied by a review tribunal or court: (i) constitutional questions (ii) general questions of law of central importance to the legal system as a whole; and (iii) questions regarding jurisdictional boundaries between two or more administrative bodies.

29. The Supreme Court in Housen found an error of law including the: (i) application of an incorrect legal standard; (ii) a failure to consider a required element of a legal test; or (iii) the mischaracterization of the standard.

30. A tribunal errors in law when it improperly approaches the evidence such as by misapprehending evidence, ignoring relevant evidence or relying on irrelevant evidence or irrelevant factors in reaching its decision 30 (see: Nguyen). In Drewlo Holdings v. MPAC, 33 the ONSCJ (DC) cited its decision in Yatar34

where, at ¶28, the Court confirmed a finding of fact can constitute an error of law: "is when a finding of fact on a material point is based on no evidence.

31. The failure to identify or consider the legal criteria that govern (the "Identification Failure Governing Legal Criteria") the exercise of discretion may constitute an error of law.

32. In Gega, the Divisional Court applied a novel yet functional determination of when an issue was one of law as opposed to one of 'mixed fact and law': "[19] This issue is a matter of law...argue this issue is a matter of mixed fact and law, but there are no factual findings that need to be made by me to consider this question."

33. In Kawa Arab, the Divisional Court found an administrative decision of statutory interpretation as a matter of law. At ¶ 19, Tzimas J. found "[19] ..... If an Adj. ignores evidence that the law requires to be considered to arrive at a DECISION, that will amount to an error in law.

34. In Bassline, VC Lamoreux found in 201846 at ¶ 20, "Therefore, I am satisfied that the Tribunal erred by determining that it had no jurisdiction to consider the issues raised in the Notice."

35. In Lapcevich, the ONSCJ49 found: "We agree with the appellant, Registrar, that the Licence Appeal Tribunal erred in its approach to the statutory framework and exceeded its jurisdiction; and it did not make the necessary threshold determinations, as required by the statute. In Sparks, the Divisional Court found that inconsistent findings of facts as "errors of law."

36. In Glencore, the FCA considered a second appeal wherein it stated the applicable SOR for extricable legal issues in that no deference is owed to the overall conclusion (see: ¶ 22).

37. In THMR, ONCA found that when hearing below is in writing that the correctness standard applies.

38. The case of Fatemea Rezaiezadeh v. State Farm Mutual Automobile Insurance Company, 2016 ONFSCDRS 59 ("Reza") stands for the proposition below. The Appellant notes the case of Reza (for short) wherein, albeit under the FSCO, the arbitrator found the following: "The Appellant concedes there is no explicit procedure in the Code or the Statutory Powers Procedure Act, R.S.O. 1990, c. S.22, as amended, to permit a party to continue a proceeding against a non-party." The "Dispute Resolution Code" is no longer applicable as it only applied with the FSCO. Even where State Farm Automobile Insurance Company was bought out by Certas and Desjardins regarding its Canadian operations, State Farm remained as the party as it was the underwriter at the time of the accident therein. Therefore, this is yet another reason that the decision of the Adjudicator and now the decision of the Appellate Tribunal (LAT) is one that finally disposes of the Appeal even when it is not in favour of the Appellant. If the Appellant does not have the First Insurer as the primary and liable party for the main issues between the Appellant and it (with SNIC only therein for costs as a result of it filing the sole Response (SNIC Response) to date but only as a result of the LAT Rules which is a distinction between present times and a case like Volfson), then all of the protections under SABS are illusory.

39. The provisional "First Insurer rule" (the "First Insurer Rule") under the regulation and priority regime under the statute operate differently (see: Zurich 2024, paragraph 8). If a claimant for accident benefits completes all required 'fields' (see: SABS, ss. 66 and 67), duly signs the OCF-1 and then sends via mail or fax, the First Insurer that receives an OCF-1 application MUST benefits in accordance with SABS (see: Reg 283, ss. 2.1(6)). If the First Insurer does not take any issue, within ten business days of receipt of the Completed Application, the First Insurer has approximately 75 days from then to provide a notice of dispute that it is required to pay the benefits of the claimant in which it received a Completed Application. Irrespective of whether the claimant is an "insured person" or not in the subjective mind of the First Insurer, the First Insurer must respond to the Completed Application and the claimant (see: Reg 283, ss. 2.1(6)).

40. Acceptance during the 90-day period is merely provisional (see: Zurich 2024, paragraph 29). If the First Insurer does not dispute, within 90 days, its liability to pay any and all benefits, in accordance with SABS, of the claimant, there is no other process for the First Insurer to transfer, dispute and recover any paid or to be paid benefits to the claimant. A First Insurer's calculus to not accept a claim for whatever subjective reason can turn out to be a costly and permanent mistake.60 This is full answer to the Adjudicator's query about whether the Tribunal had authority to add the First Insurer to this LAT Proceeding, which is oddly required as a matter of law.

41. As of 2015, in Zurich 2015, the SCC held that Chubb ought to have responded to the SABS claim immediately on a 'pay first and dispute later' basis (see: Zurich 2024, paragraph 12). As long as the Completed Application by the claimant was not arbitrary, there is a "nexus" between the claimant and the First Insurer (i.e. the one to receive the Completed Application) (see: Zurich 2024, paragraph 14). In Zurich 2015, the SCC (see: 2015 SCC 19) restored Goldstein J's decision (ONSC (Divisional Court)) in adopting the dissent of Juriansz J.A.: 2014 ONCA 400. A vague recollection about seeing an insurer's name at a rental car office was sufficiently non-arbitrary to require a 'First Insurer' (Chubb in Zurich 2015)) to step into the shoes as a "First Insurer" for the purposes of section 2(1) of Reg 283 (see: Zurich 2024, paragraph 15). If the First Insurer provides automobile insurance in Ontario at the time of receipt of the Completed Application there is a sufficient nexus between a claimant and the First Insurer (see: Zurich 2024, paragraph 16). The policy behind the inflexible rule is that an insurer who fails to pay benefits and fails to put other insurers on notice after receipt of a Completed Application, when there is

SOME nexus between the claimant and the First Insurer, being permanently responsible for the claimant's benefits is to promote compliance with the statutory and regulatory scheme.

42. No power to pursue a non-party under statute is answered above. As a matter of principle, there is NO difference between an insurer's failure to pay under section 2 of Reg 283 and a failure to pay under any provision of SABS (see: Zurich 2024, paragraph 54). As the Tribunal is required to decide this LAT Proceeding in accordance with SABS as a matter of statute (see: section 280(4) of the Insurance Act), then it was not a matter of discretion for Adjudicator Morrissette but a requirement upon her to ensure that the Appellant had the correct and liable party (see also: Insurance Act, ss. 268(3)) before the Tribunal and in the future for not only himself but his service providers. While there is an ability of a party to "request an expedited hearing" in the dropdown menu of Tribunals Ontario e-filing portal, there is a dearth of jurisprudence regarding the same with LAT/AABS matters. As of 2010, the amendments to Reg 283 led to an absence of listed fax numbers for insurance companies and for good reason: some unsavory insured persons may deliberately manipulate the system by faxing their OCF-1's to an incorrect insurance company with no record of them as insured persons leading to those insurance companies in receipt of confidential information with an inability to dispute that they were not liable along with which insurance company may be liable. This could lead to an insurance company, who had not received premiums with no previous interaction with such an unsavory insured person, being liable to respond and pay benefits to said unsavory insured person.

43. It is important to note that the actual relief sought in the hearing record was slightly different in language but a distinction with a difference at Order #5: [5] Any further relief that is consistent with the above and in accordance with Reg 283, SABS, and Reg 664. The issue of adding the party TDHA as the First Insurer is one that the Adjudicator was required to answer (see: Rio Tinto, SCC 2010 SCC 43). However, even if the Adjudicator had granted Order #1 that would have been sufficient as a decision (order, declaration, determination and/or finding) that would have finally disposed of the Appeal, as it was currently constituted on September 13, 2024.

44. Again, the Reconsideration Decision references that the appellant did not cite to any binding case law or legislative authority regarding adding a second respondent. The Tribunal has yet again misunderstood the Appellant's argument in that TDHA would be the First Insurer and SNIC would remain solely as it relates for costs in the proceeding prior to TDHA being the First Insurer. In relation to binding case law, Zurich 2024 as per Justice Akazaki unequivocally found that a breach of Reg 283 or SABs were a distinction without a difference. The decision of VCM in mid-September 2024 is not only an incorrect decision but a dangerous decision. It must be corrected forthwith for the benefit of the general public, the insurance industry and the relevant participants.

45. Moreover, had the Adjudicator determined the factual issue at Order #3 in NOM #15, this would have been a decision that finally disposes of the Appeal. In this regard, the Tribunal issued a Notice of Motion Scheduling Order on Thursday, September 12, 2024, that fond that SNIC was located at the Burlington Office: "[3] preliminary finding, determination, or order, that the fax number 416-774-3120 was a landline phone number utilized as a fax number on the 4th floor of the building situated at the premises municipally known as 3650 Victoria Park Avenue, North York, Toronto, Ontario, M2H 3P7. The decision of Vice Chair Lake on reconsideration suffers from the same issues but remains premature considering not having NOM #16 decided in advance of the same. Once NOM #16 is decided, it will allow for the Applicant (Appellant) to be able to advance this judicial review in accordance with having final decisions on all the same.

APPLICANT'S FACTUM

VOLUME # #1: STATEMENT OF JUDICIAL REVIEW APPLICATION

1. This JRPA* Application involves the challenge to two (2) issued decisions of the Licence Appeal Tribunal ("LAT" or "Tribunal")[1]on September 13, 2024, and October 16, 2024, and two potentially unmade decisions involving the same. In the absence of any analysis of the statutory scheme[2] (i) by Vice Chair ("VC") Morrissette ("VCM"); and (ii) VC Lake ("VCL"), on reconsideration (the "RD"), relying on the newly passed language, as of August 21, 2023[3], in the LAT Rules, which is non-legislation,[4] the reviewing or appellate court is required to start afresh. Since 2019, the SCC settled the judicial review landscape in declaring Dunsmuir[5] to no longer be the law of our land and provided factual and/or legal situations where the reasonableness standard of review is rebutted. The focus herein of where the presumptive reasonableness standard is rebutted is where the rule of law ("ROL") requires that the standard of correctness be applied.

2. The rule of law is a theme in this JRPA Proceeding as per, some events that occurred or issues that were catalyzed after the filing of the JRPA* Application, which were, including but not limited to: (i) Tribunal counsel (Ms. Boyce) raising the prematurity doctrine on a preliminary basis; (ii) counsel (Mr. Nieuwland) to TDGIC and SNIC[6], but not TDHA, in the LAT Proceeding not filing an appearance notice forthwith but purporting to file said purported notice of appearance (the "Purported Appearance") that was defective whilst in his cover email making a similar misstatement of law to the one he made on behalf at the nullity case conference on May 2, 2024, that "SNIC" was 'one and the same' as two other insurance companies (see: 'also referred to as' TD Home And Auto [sic] and TD General Insurance company [sic]"; and (iii) others.[7]

3. The Applicant has also sought the consent of SNIC to adjourn the hearing proper with the LAT scheduled for January 25, 2024, predicated on a nullity pre-hearing conference before Vice Chair Painchaund (the "Hearing Proper"). TDGIC has no entitlement to participate herein as NOM #13 was an interlocutory order and it did not even attempt to participate in it. NOM #14 and #15 squarely raise issues between SNIC and TDHA. Neither SNIC nor

TDHA sought to tender any materials, despite being duly served with NOM #14 and NOM #15.

4. The matter remains one where the delay will likely[8] involve a failure of justice being an affront to the rule of law and subspecies of the rule of law that involve: (i) general questions of law of central importance to the legal system as a whole; (ii) questions related to the jurisdictional boundaries between two or more administrative bodies; and (iii) the relationship between the legislature and the other branches of the state, which require a final and determinate answer from the courts (the "Final Answer Requirement"). The rule of law requires courts to have the final word (the "Final Word Requirement") with regard to general questions of law that are of central importance to the legal system as a whole because they require uniform and consistent answers (the "Uniform Answers Requirement" or "Vertical *Stare Decisis").[9] The rule of law requires courts to intervene where one administrative body has interpreted the scope of its authority in a manner that is incompatible with the jurisdiction of another administrative body since the rule of law cannot tolerate conflicting orders and proceedings where they result in a true operational conflict between two administrative bodies ("Intolerance Conflicting Orders Requirement").[10]

5. Whether affiliate or related insurance companies can accept priority, without any independent notices (see: (i) notice of transfer; (ii) notice of a potential agreement between insurers; and/or (iii) notice of arbitration) to an insured person or absolute noncompliance with Reg 283, over an applicant's [sic] insurance policy [sic] (not a SABS claim) is a question that must be answered by this ONSC on an urgent basis[11].

6. Some of the pertinent principles regarding the rule of law herein are: (i) equality before the law[12]; (ii) accountability[13]; and (iii) access to justice[14]. While administrative tribunal independence and absence of bias is not a constitutional principle, like that which is present pursuant to section 96 to 101 of the Constitution Act involving courts, conflicts of interest, bias and independence are presumed to be absent or at least reasonably perceived to be. The VCM Decision was not only incorrect and unreasonable[15] but it was counter to the

ROL requirement of "equality before the law" to which the Applicant and, by extension, his service providers were so entitled. The VCM Decision lacked "accountability to the law" as it was opaque in not only substance but process as: (i) it failed to reference any uncontroverted filed and served evidence; (ii) it failed to reference the binding "source law" wherein the Tribunal was required to decide all questions of law and fact before it in accordance with Reg 283, SABS and Reg 664[16]; and (iii) it failed to reference any jurisprudence that was binding upon it.

7. The jurisprudence involving JRPA (ss. 6(2)), Reg 283, the prematurity doctrine, "double jeopardy doctrine" (res judicata and issue estoppel), and standard of review all invoke the same principles in the middle of that archetypal "Venn diagram". While there is no dispute on the law that the orders in NOM #14, and to some extent NOM #15, are final orders, irrespective of their lack of correctness, those principles fatefully contain similar language in relation to the legal thresholds for this ONSC to decide the legal issues herein on an expedited and urgent basis: (i) rule of law; (ii) standing in the shoes of another; (iii) bringing the administration of justice into disrepute; (iv) urgency; (v) failure of justice; and (vi) avoidance of repetition of proceedings before this ONSC and the Tribunal.

8. If the Purported Nieuwland Appearance is struck and there is no validity to the LAT's preliminary objection in the form of the "prematurity doctrine" to reviewing final orders of the Tribunal,[17] then government counsel cannot defend this JRPA Proceeding. As noted by Jia[18] by this ONSC (Div. Court): "We would exercise our discretion to hear an appeal from the conflict decision, because it is evasive of appeal and it is potentially a matter of general practice important in proceedings before LAT." The ONSC (Divisional Court) referred, in Harold The Mortgage Closer[19] (paragraph 37), citing Volochay[20] (paragraph 68[21]) wherein the ONCA referred to the prematurity doctrine and impugned interlocutory relief as synonymous or quasi-synonymous.[22] filed and served the JRPA Application in accordance with the requirement that it commence before the Divisional Court, he pleaded the material facts as to why he sought relief under section 6(2) of the JRPA, and why a failure to have this JRPA Proceeding heard urgently would likely lead to a failure of justice.

10. Like many unlawful schemes, it is not the 'what, when and how', but the 'why'. The "why" herein was to circumvent multiple valid statutory schemes including: (i) FSRA investigatory and enforcement powers under the Insurance Act and the UDAP Rule; (ii) Law Society Act and its By-Laws; (iii) PIPEDA; and (iv) others. TDHA, as of 2019, while remaining as a licensed automobile insurer in Ontario, became a non-reporting insurance company to the FSRA for the purposes of the sub-category of insurance in the "Private Passenger Market". Only three insurance companies, within the TDI Group, issued automotive insurance polices in Ontario in the Private Passenger Market: (i) Primmum Insurance Company (FSRA registration number 1396)[25] ("Primmum"); (ii) SNIC; and (iii) TDGIC. [26] The motive for why SNIC would engage in such intentional conduct and why TDHA would be complicit with the same is to "kill or limit the paper trail" of what can be investigated by the FSRA, the LSO, and OPCC. [27]

11. To determine the unlawful scheme, it required analytical precision, after much review, into the various sections of the Insurance Act as to whom, what, when and how an insurance company, including certain individuals in specified situations, could be investigated. Moreover, the FSRA's investigatory, search, seizure, citation and enforcement powers are not only curtailed but eliminated if an insurer like TDHA is not a reporting insurance company in the "Private Passenger Market" of automobile insurance. By SNIC's intentional action of having TDHA be the recipient insurer of his OCF-1 application, it controls what documents and activities are subject to investigation during the SABS claim processes. The corroborating evidence of the unlawful scheme was, inter alia, the following: (i) the Spam Fax in March 2023 from an unknown insurance company to the Applicant's fax number; (ii) SNIC providing notice of change of address, in Spring or Summer of 2023 from Markham to Burlington along with changing its fax number from the TDHA Fax Number to the Burlington Fax Number; (iii) a forged and invalid signature of "As per A. Nurse" under Ms. Nurse's name in an OCF-18; (iv) TDGIC substituting itself as the sole respondent in the LAT Proceeding; and (iv) other references in the AR or record of proceeding depending on any agreement between the entitled parties to participate herein.

12. By having TDGIC being the "sole respondent of record", albeit SNIC filing the sole "Response" in the LAT Proceeding (the "SNIC Response"), with the sole signature of a non-licensee (Mr. Karat) in breach of LSO By-Law 7.1, ss. 6(1)(b) and (d)[28], which does not meet a specified document to be included in the "record of proceeding" under the SPPA, SNIC controls or eliminates any investigation into its activities during the LAT Appeal temporal period. For example, if the FSRA sought to investigate issues involving SNIC, it could claim that it was not the insurer and that TDGIC was the solely responsible insurer for the Applicant's SABS claim (TD Claim #3), and the FSRA investigative and market conduct team would be misdirected. As the Applicant never faxed a document to the TDGIC fax number (416.774.3629) prior to the filing of the LAT Appeal and thereafter, there would be little to no evidence for the FSRA to investigate.

13. Moreover, by having a non-licensee self-titled "ADR Specialist" (non 'adjuster' under the Insurance Act), SNIC, along with TD Insurance Staff Legal, further limited the reach of the LSO into activities subject to its legislative powers and its by-laws which have legislative force[29]. By having Mr. Nieuwland solely act for TDGIC by filing a DOR, whilst having a P1 holder (not providing legal services) in Ms. Michelle Moraes masquerade as his legal assistant for three months before one Ms. Ortiz (his actual legal assistant) surfaced, it further curtailed the investigatory powers of the LSO and the FSRA. There was also evidence, albeit in a PIPEDA response of SNIC in 2024, that there were multiple files of these insurance companies involving a single claimant.

14. This Court must also rule on this JRPA Proceeding because the findings of VCM invoke the Applicant's [sic] Insurance Policy [sic] and a clandestine and undisclosed subsequent contract between SNIC and TDGIC (collectively, the "Offerees") by way of being offerees, to the surreptitious and unrevealed offer by TDHA (the "Offeror") as the First Insurer pursuant, to its prescribed jurisdiction, of Rule 14.05(3)(d)[30] to hear this matter since it involves the determination of rights that depends upon contractual interpretation. This court has, at least, two contracts to review in determining the rights of all involved: (i) the Insurance Policy; and (ii) the unrevealed contract between TDHA (as one party) "and" SNIC and TDGIC ("counterparties").

15. The Applicant was injured as the driver occupant in an automobile accident ("Accident") on August 31, 2022 (the "DOL"), through no fault of his own, which rendered the Insured Automobile with a police reporting file and some $6,000 in damage to the Insured Automobile. The Insured Automobile was propelled involuntarily some 30 feet forward from a stopped position north of St. Clair Avenue and south of Heath Road, on the Spadina Avenue. From the DOL to January 11, 2023 (the "Material Time"), the Insurance Policy associated with the Insured Automobile that he was operating was a leased vehicle from BMW Financial Services Inc. ("BMW FSI") and his spouse, a University of Toronto alumnus, was the individual named insured. The Applicant suffered a variety of impairments that were readily outside of the MIG, including but not limited to: (i) a grade 1 retrolisthesis; (ii) degenerative disc disease; (iii) S1 nerve issues; and (iv) a concussion.

16. The sole underwriter (the "Sole Underwriter") in the Insurance Policy and "pink cards" was Security National Insurance Company ("SNIC") which was an out-of-province insurer that had six classes of insurance with the FSRA. On September 1, 2022, the Applicant orally notified (the "Oral Notification") SNIC of the Accident and his intention to apply for accident benefits pursuant to the Schedule making SNIC the "First Notified Insurer".

17. SNIC provided the Applicant, in late September 2022, the OCF-1 application (the "OCF-1 Application" or "Application" pursuant to Reg 283, section 1). In the "return this form to" field, SNIC provided a mailing address of the 2nd floor, 101 McNabb Street, Markham, Ontario (the "Markham Office") and a fax number of 416.774.3120. Unbeknownst to the Applicant, the said fax number was not a telephone number in Markham but rather in North

York, Toronto, and after lengthy investigations[31] the only evidence before the Tribunal was that the said fax number was a landline number, issued by Bell Canada Inc. (not Bell Mobility) at the 4th floor-3650 Victoria Park Avenue, North York, Toronto. In 2024, the only evidence before the Tribunal was that, in October 2022, it was controlled, assigned and belonged to TD Home And Auto Insurance Company (FSRA registration number 1063) ("TDHA").

18. TDGIC's fax number, as per the Tribunal's notice of motion hearing orders, was the telephone number that was used solely as fax number, of 416.774.3629 and it was located on the 9th floor of the VP Building.

> VOLUME #1(B)(I): The LAT Registrar Order that confirmed that: (a) SNIC was not located at the Markham Office; (b) located in Burlington; and (c) with the 905 Fax Number (not a 416 fax number)

19. Further, before the issuance (September 13, 2024) of the VCM Decision, the Tribunal (not VCM herself but the LAT Registrar) on September 12, 2024, had issued another order that SNIC's address for service was 5th floor-5045 South Service Road, Burlington, Ontario ("SNIC Burlington Office").

> VOLUME #1(B)(II): Why would VCM backdate VCM Decision to September 6, 2024?

20. The self-evident and overwhelming inference is that by the LAT Registrar providing the, in fact, address of SNIC in Burlington, this provided an additional binding ground, by way of a decision of the administrative body, as to why TDHA was the First Insurer. Simply put, SNIC solely provided its name with a false address and false fax number.

> VOLUME #1(B)(III): Why were there so many palpable errors in the VCM Decision?

21. The obvious inference was that she rushed her decision-making process to pretend that her decision was issued on September 6, 2024, and not subject to or inconsistent with the LAT Registrar's order finally providing the, in fact, address of SNIC being the SNIC

Burlington Office. VCM was required to review all materials in the record of proceeding prior to issuing her order, and the LAT Registrar order, received by the parties, was a binding order upon her. The VCM Decision was inconsistent with said order.

22. SNIC had provided the said physical address, absent a floor number, from Spring or Summer 2023 until the time of the Applicant's filing of the LAT Appeal on December 24, 2023. SNIC's fax number at the SNIC Burlington Office was that 905 Fax Number. Ergo, SNIC only complied with the requirements under Reg 283 of providing its name but failed to comply with the requirements, at the Material Time, that it provide its mailing address and fax number.

VOLUME #1(B)(IV): Obligation to pay benefits triggered upon receipt

23. On October 13, 2022, the Applicant not only faxed his completed application pursuant to Reg 283 and SABS, ss. 32 (the "McLean Completed Application") to the TDHA Fax Number, which was a landline on the 4th Floor VP Building, albeit unknowingly, but he also faxed a completed and signed OCF-2 on his behalf ("Completed OCF-2"). On November 3, 2022, the Applicant paid the section 25 of SABS fees for the OCF-3, and the said duly and doubly signed OCF-3 was delivered to the 4th Floor VP Bldg. Fax Number.[32]

VOLUME #1(B)(V): The New Brunswick response to a PIPEDA request of SNIC and the SPAM Fax: February to April 2023

24. Further, there was additional evidence before the Tribunal that the Applicant had made a PIPEDA request of SNIC in February 2023, via email to the TD privacy email, but received an apparent PIPEDA response via mail from an unknown corporate sender located in New Brunswick. With further investigations in the Summer of 2024, the Applicant filed evidence with the Tribunal that while TDGIC operated in the Private Passenger Market in Ontario but did not operate in the Private Passenger Market in New Brunswick, TDHA did not in Ontario but did in New Brunswick along with SNIC and Primmum.

25. Around the same time (March 2023), while SNIC had never faxed the Applicant in reply to any of his delivered faxes to the TDHA Fax Number, again unknowingly to him, and only sent ostensible responses the Applicant received a fax from an unknown sender that "it" had no record of the Applicant's TD Claim #3 and to send his faxes with information, already in each fax, to one of the various locations (see: Calgary, Ontario, Montreal, Nova Scotia and New Brunswick) across Canada. There were two fax numbers in Ontario: Burlington (905 Fax Number) and North York (the 4th Floor VP Building Fax Number). The Applicant was already faxing to the 416.774.3120 and he did not reside in Burlington but he was perplexed by the "North York" reference. Consequently, the Applicant promptly blocked the sender, on account of it being "spam" (defined as the "Spam Fax"). The Applicant notified the 416.774.3120 fax number presuming still he was faxing SNIC regarding the misidentification of said fax number being grounded, by landline phone number, in North York, although the Applicant was incorrect in that regard at said time by way of detrimental reliance on the representations made to him by SNIC, of the issue and continued to fax the said telephone (fax) number. Shortly thereafter, SNIC had correctly, albeit missing a floor number, provided the Applicant, via mail, with a notice of change of address from the Markham Office to the Burlington Office, and, most notably, from the VP Building 4th Floor Fax Number to the 905 Fax Number.

26. SABS and Reg 283, having undergone major amendments in 2010 after being submitted to industry consultations and amendments before proclamations, they reflect important policy choices to ensure order and stability in regulated industries. Said "order and stability" in the regulations must be matched by this ONSC by reference to the Final Word Requirement, Final Answer Requirement, Uniform Answers Requirement, Vertical *Stare Decisis, and Intolerance Conflicting Orders Requirement pursuant to the ROL.

27. Reg 283 is designed to keep priority disputes out of the courts.[33] Reg 283 is also purposed to prevent SABS claims, including vital treatments and income benefits, from being delayed while insurers fight over priority dispute under section 268(2) of the Insurance

Act.[34] As a matter of principle, there is NO[35] difference between an insurer's failure to pay under section 2 of Reg 283 and a failure to pay under any provision of SABS. [36] [37]

28. While a First Insurer, like TDHA, may have never received insurance premiums from the insured persons, or be deemed to have received the same pursuant to the Insurance Act after a determined insured person was an occupant in said 'insured automobile' may seem intuitively wrong, the Legislature, by passage of statutes with Royal Assent, and LGIC's intent, must be respected. There is no, per se, harshness to be alleviated by a sophisticated insurance company, with endless resources, who received the McLean Completed Application, who fails to investigate within three months and provide a notice, in form A143, to an insured person and other insurers under sections 3 and 4 of Reg 283. The provisional first-insurer rule under the regulation and the priority regime under the statute operate differently.[38] Irrespective of whether a claimant is an "insured person" or not in the subjective mind of the First Insurer, the First Insurer must respond to the Claimant and pay benefits where applicable and required (see: Reg 283, ss. 2.1(6)). Acceptance during the 90-day period is merely provisional.[39] If the First Insurer does not dispute, within 90 days, its liability to pay all benefits, in accordance with SABS, of the claimant, there is no other process for the First Insurer to transfer the SABS claim, dispute the same and recover any paid or to-be-paid benefits to the claimant.[40]A First Insurer's calculus to not accept a claim for whatever subjective reason can turn out to a costly and permanent mistake.[41] The lack of acceptance in this regard is functionally equivalent to "not accepting service of a claim," which is distinct from not accepting an offer in relation to a proposed contract.

VOLUME #3: Requirement to "step into the shoes" of Sole Underwriter[42]

29. In Zurich 2015[43], the SCC held that Chubb ought to have responded to the SABS claim immediately on a 'pay first and dispute later' basis.[44] If the sending of the Completed Application by the claimant was not arbitrary, there is a nexus between the claimant and the First Insurer.[45] The SCC restored Goldstein J.'s judgment (ONSC) ["Zurich 2012"[46]] in its verbatim adopting[47] the dissent of Juriansz J.A. ["Zurich 2014"][48], as he then was before retiring after an illustrious legal and judicial career in 2021,[49]: 2014 ONCA 400[50].

A vague recollection about seeing an insurer's name at a rental car office was sufficiently non-arbitrary to require the First Insurer (Chubb in Zurich 2015[51]) to "step into the shoes" of another insurance company(ies) that was liable under a "contract of insurance" for the purposes of section 2(1) of Reg 283.[52] The policy behind the inflexible rule that an insurer (like TDHA), which fails to: (i) respond provisionally to a claimant; (ii) fails to pay benefits provisionally to the claimant; (iii) fails to put other insurers on notice; and (iv) fails to put the insured person on notice of a potential transfer of the insured person's claim to other insurer(s), after receipt of a Completed Application, when there is SOME nexus, being permanently responsible for the claimant's benefits is to promote compliance with the validly binding statutory scheme.

30. The ONSC in Zurich 2024[53] (May) settled the law in the above regards as follows: (i) breach of section 2 of Reg 283, according to the case law, does not result in an insurer being required to pay benefits to the claimant permanently; BUT (ii) the failure TO AVAIL itself of section 3 does. Section 3 dovetails to section 4 which requires the First Insurer (TDHA) to provide notice to the insured person. Section 5 of Reg 283 provides the consequences for an insured person not delivering its objection notice to the First Insurer within 14 days of receipt of the dispute notice form (A143) from the First Insurer. A143 requires the First Insurer, which receives the same, to fill out the form correctly and have a representative sign the same.

31. Herein, there is some incredibly prejudicial and fatal evidence, as it relates to any defence by TDHA that it could not meet the 90-day requirement to provide an A143 notice, and that is the signature block of Mr. Karat wherein he, as an ADR specialist, represented, multiple times, in 2024, that he was authorized to represent, "SNIC, TDGIC, Primmum, and TDHA".

32. TDHA's permanent liability for responding to the SABS Applicant and paying benefits to him was a self-inflicted consequence of its failure to adhere to the requirements and protections of section 2 to 4 of Reg 283.The combination of provisions in Reg 283 transformed TDHA's provisional liability into a permanent one.[54] For TDHA to not be declared as the First Insurer would mean that there were no consequences for the conduct

(or inaction) of TDHA by receipt of the McLean Completed Application and by continuing to have its former branch office address (East Mall Address) auto-populate in HCAI, without Mr. McLean having access to the same as he was not a "service provider" and no ability for any service provider to amend the same, it would defeat the legislation's public policy: "pay now and dispute later". The consequence would be that the "rule of law" would not matter and the LGIC's proclaimed amendments to Reg 283 and SABS had no teeth and were of no force and effect. Put another way, the mandatory provisions therein would become discretionary based on the arbitrary and subjective beliefs and whims of insurance companies within a group of insurers. There would be no stability and consistency in the application of Reg 283, and the Uniform Answers Requirement or what is more commonly known as "horizontal and vertical stare decisis" in our provincial common law (judge made law) jurisdictions.

VOLUME # #4: Issues, Law and Argument

VOLUME # #4(A): Issues

33. The Applicant frames the general legal issues as follows:

    a. Issue #1: What is the standard of review of the VCM Decision and the VCL Reconsideration Decision as it relates to VCM's orders in NOM #14 and NOM #15?
    b. Issue #2: As TDHA was the first insurance company to receive the McLean Completed Application, was it possible, at law, for SNIC and TDGIC to accept priority over the Applicant's [sic] insurance policy [sic] without any notice to him?
        i. If the answer to said issue is in the negative, what is the legal effect of the same?
    c. Issue #3: what orders must this ONSC fashion with respect to the public interest remedies that are evasive of the JRPA Application and of great importance to the procedure, practice, substance and the ROL in LAT proceedings where similar issues may arise?

VOLUME #4(B): Law

VOLUME ##4(B)(I): Jurisprudence

34. The ONSC in Beasley[55] was unequivocal in its language that the fiduciary duties of an insurance company, whether they are provisional or permanent, are triggered by the obligation to pay benefits (if any) wherein the Honourable Justice Moore found: "[34] The relationship between an insured and an insurer in accident benefits matters involves a duty of good faith, a fiduciary obligation; the relationship between plaintiff and defendant in a tort action does not. The obligation, if any, to pay accident benefits is very different from the exposure, if any, that a defendant faces in a tort action."

35. The ONSC (Divisional Court) in Jia found, in upholding the reconsideration decision of VC Trojek[56], in a priority dispute case between CAA (insurance company) and The Personal Insurance Company, and SABS proceeding between a male widow and daughter without his wife and her mother respectively due to the fatal car accident against The Personal Insurance Company, found at paragraph 6: "[6] It is established law that insurers may not use the same counsel in statutory benefits cases and in tort cases brought against them by the same insured. This is because the duties of an insurer (and therefore of its counsel) are different in these contexts, and as an accident benefits insurer, the insurer is entitled to receive, and is required to keep confidential, a great deal of sensitive personal information from claimant." [57] [58]

VOLUME # #4(B)(II): Legislation

36. Section 280 of the Insurance Act contains six subsections, which were passed in 2014, of which only four are potentially relevant herein. [59] [60]The SPPA provides who may be parties to a proceeding which is by "statute" or "by law". The Insurance Act does not define or delineate who may be parties so the relevant part of section 5 is the "by law" component of the legislative section. TDHA, as the First Insurer on a provisional basis from October 13, 2022, to January 10, 2023, (the "Provisional Period") and then on a permanent basis from January 10, 2023, to present and in perpetuity (the "Permanent Period"), is the only insurance company in the TDI Group that, "by law", that was and is entitled to be the respondent party. Of note, the Applicant sent his LAT Appeal to the TDHA Fax Number and it was received by TDHA.

VOLUME # #4(B)(II): Regulations

37. Benefits" means SABS as defined under section 224(1) of the Act.[61] An insurer shall promptly provide an OCF-1 and any other appropriate forms in accordance with the

Schedule to an applicant who notifies the insurer [a "First Notified Insurer"] that she wishes to apply for benefits: 2.1(2) of Reg 283.[62] A SABS applicant shall use the Application provided by the insurer and shall send the Completed Application to only one insurer: ss. 2.1(4) of Reg 283.[63] An insurer that provides an application [a "First Notified Insurer"] under subsection (2) to an applicant shall: [1] not take any action intended: (i) to prevent; or (ii) stop, the applicant from submitting a completed application to the insurer; and [2] shall not: (i) refuse to accept the completed application or (ii) redirect the applicant to another insurer (see: ss. 2.1(5) of Reg 283). [64]

> VOLUME # #4(B)(II)(c): Disputes between Insurers: independent breaches by First Notified Insurer and First Insurer under section 2.1 of Reg 283

38. Conceivably, the "First Notified Insurer" and "First Insurer" (not the "First Party Insurer" under Insurance Act as referenced in Reg 664[65]), could independently and disjunctively breach different subsections under section 2.1 of the Reg 283. For example, the First Notified Insurer could breach section 2.1(5) of the Reg 283, by taking some action intended to prevent or stop the 'applicant" from even submitting a completed application to "the insurer". "The insurer" may or may not be the First Notified Insurer. Under the last part of the sentence in subsection 2.1(5) of Reg 283, "an insurer" may breach section 2.1(5) by refusing to ACCEPT[66] the Completed Application OR redirecting the same to another insurer. Ergo, a First Notified Insurer could conceivably breach sections 2.1(2), 2.1(3) and (5) of Reg 283. [67] [68] [69]

> VOLUME # #4(B)(II)(d): First Insurer: how could such an insurance company breach section 2 of Reg 283? Which subsections of section 2 of Reg 283 did TDHA breach?

39. Juxtaposed to that, the First Insurer may not be First Notified Insurer wherein an individual contacts, delirious after the Accident, and notifies the insurance company it believes to be a sole underwriter for the vehicle in which she was injured. However, after complying with that seven-day notification requirement under section 32 of SABS, an individual may, perhaps after the benefit of ILA, realize that said First Notified Insurer is not the insurer that has a duty to respond to her and pay benefits in accordance with the Schedule. As seen in much of the jurisprudence, wherein insurance companies are willing to engage in a litigation for over nearly two decades, she may have multiple policies that could apply. She then submits her Completed Application to "the insurer" (not "an insurer" or the "First Notified Insurer") wherein the First Notified Insurer and First Insurer are distinct and separate entities (not "one and the same"). The First Insurer may fail to commence paying benefits in accordance with the provisions of SABS pending the resolution of any dispute as to which insurer is required to pay benefits (nota bene: the "First [Recipient] Insurer" in its capacity as the "First Provisional Insurer"). Such a First Insurer may breach section 2.1(6) on a provisional basis and only during the provisional period and/or beyond.

VOLUME # #4(B)(II)(e): Consequences of Non-Compliance[70] (ss. 2.1(7) of Reg 283) and distinction between section 2(1) (LGIC proclamation in 1995) and ss. 2.1 (LGIC proclamation in 201)

40. The word "reasonable" utilized by the LGIC indicates the objective person test. Therefore, the threshold and quantum for the fees under legal, adjusting, admin or disbursements is what a reasonable person would find in terms of whether they are owed and in what quantum. The only difference (see: supra, "the statute and regulation operate differently" as per Justice Akazaki) between section 2(1) and 2.1(6)[71] is that the former references the requirement to pay benefits under section 268 of the Insurance Act whereas section 2.1(6) reference the requirement of that First [Recipient] Insurer to pay benefits in accordance with the provision of the Schedule.

VOLUME # #4(III): Argument

41. Vice Chair Morrissette obviously knows more than the Applicant as to what was represented to the Tribunal in written or oral form – not that which is correct at law – "behind the scenes". [72]There is no prescribed right of insurance companies, irrespective of whether they may or may not be affiliated within a group of insurance companies, to accept priority over an "insurance policy". No such right exists in relation to a claim for accident benefits after a Completed OCF-1 is received by AN insurance company. NIC did not refuse to accept the Completed Application as it did not receive the Applicant's Completed Application first. It is unclear if it even received it second or in what order or if at all. The reference to "it at all" is grounded in the record of proceeding and the denial letters in that SNIC never enclosed a copy of the initial OCF-1 delivered to TDHA at first instance or other documents but rather would reference them in a vague and ambiguous manner.[73] To encapsulate the application of the uncontroverted evidence to ss. 2.1(5) of Reg 283, SNIC was the only insurance company that provided the OCF-1 but it cannot be found to have prevented the Applicant from submitting his Completed Application to "the insurer" but rather encouraged him to do so by providing a North York, Toronto, fax number (VP Building 4th Floor Fax Number) of TDHA which was an "in province" insurer licensed in the class of automobile insurance. Therefore, there was a nexus between the Applicant and TDHA as he did not select TDHA on a whim but was exclusively directed to it by SNIC – at least "on paper".

42. TDHA was the First Insurer as the only two lead tenants at the Victoria Park Ave Building were that of TDGIC and TDHA. TDGIC occupied floors 7 to 9 with the 9th floor being its mailing address and TDHA occupying floors four to six with the four floors being its mailing address. Once the Applicant had honed in on the deception, the mathematical computation of how Bell Canada Inc. had assigned the numbers within the building was rather rudimentary. The area code of 416 was only for Toronto-based locations. 774 was assigned as a "prefix" to numbers within the District of North York and then within the VP Building, the 3 was a common feature to many landlines of tenants therein. The "120" was a string of three digits with numerical value of "1" being on the fourth floor and the numerical string of "629" with "six" being on the 9th floor. For sake of completeness: "2" was on the fifth floor; "3" was on the sixth floor; "4" was on the seventh floor; "5" was on the eighth floor; and "6" was on the ninth floor. The Tribunal's notice of hearing orders are orders at law and subject to judicial review, and neither SNIC nor TDGIC sought to challenge them by a section 21.1 of the SPPA motion or judicial review and/or appeal. It is trite that if those fax numbers that the Tribunal had found were to be for service of documents to SNIC and TDGIC were not their fax numbers, they would have objected or confirmed the same with the Tribunal.[74]

43. Therefore, SNIC had no provisional obligation to respond to the Applicant and pay benefits as its obligation to respond was merely the provision of forms and explanation of benefits

as a mere stakeholder in the insurance industry, but rather TDHA had that obligation to respond and pay benefits. Therefore, pursuant to section 280(4), the LAT was required to resolve the LAT Proceeding in accordance with SABS and Reg 283.

44. In order for the Tribunal to determine the JRPA Applicant's claims under Reg 664, s. 10 (Dispute Resolution under section 280 of the Insurance Act).[75] Conceivably, s.10 of Reg 664 could involve two insurers because a provisional First Insurer could have delayed commencing paying benefits and further delayed during the provisional period, and a different agreed to, with or without the consent of an insured person subject to said claimant receiving notice or notices pursuant to Reg 283, or declared insurer, by arbitrator or subsequent court decisions[76] could have delayed or withheld benefits thereafter. [77]

45. The Applicant complied with section 268(5) of the Insurance Act and ss. 32(1) of the Schedule by SNIC became the "First Notified Insurer". Pursuant to section 32(2) of Schedule and Reg 283, ss. 2.1(2) SNIC provided the Applicant with an OCF-1 Application (see: Reg 283, s.1) and some other forms that related to the Schedule. SNIC breached part of ss. 2.1(3) of Reg 283 by not providing its accurate mailing address and fax number. The Applicant complied with ss. 2.1(4) of Reg 283 by using the "OCF-1 Application" provided by SNIC and sent the Completed Application to only one insurer (TDHA).

VOLUME # #4(III)(A)(i): Subsection 2.1(6)

46. TDHA was the First Insurer that received a Completed Application for benefits from this JRPA Applicant (SABS Applicant) and was duty bound, by the LGIC's 2010 proclamations, which were the subject of extensive industry wide consultations, to commence paying the benefits in accordance with the provisions of the Schedule.

VOLUME # #4(III)(A)(ii): Subsection 2.1(7)

47. As SNIC and THDA are both "insurers", distinct at law, they have both failed to comply with various sections under subsection 2.1 and are required to reimburse each other for any fees (adjusting and legal), costs et al that were reasonably incurred by the other insurer as a result of the non-compliance. However, that is an issue between them and not for the Applicant. The Applicant is not entitled to any payment of any incurred legal fees, adjuster's fees, administration costs and disbursements but he is entitled to benefits and payment of section 25 fees incurred.

VOLUME # #4(III)(A)(iii): Sections 3 to 4 of Reg 283 and ss. 268(3) of the IA

48. An insurer against whom a person has recourse for the payment of statutory accident benefits is liable to pay the benefits: ss. 268(3) of the Insurance Act. Where an insurer has given notice under section 3 of Reg 283, said insurer must also give notice to the insured person using a form approved by the CEO of the FSRA: ss. 4(1) of the Reg 283. Said form is denoted below at Appendices and it is a A143.[78] TDHA did not even engage in the pretense of doing so.

VOLUME # #4(III)(A)(iv): Section 5 of Reg 283

49. The Applicant never received notice under section 4 of Reg 283 so he did not have any obligation under section 5(1) of Reg 283. Ergo, the Applicant could not, in fact, advise the insurer paying benefits in writing within 14 days that he objected to the transfer of the claim to the insurers referred to in a non-existent notice. According to VCM, the transfer of his TD Claim #3, clandestinely occurred at some unparticularized time by some void ab initio agreement between the First Insurer when TDGIC, in conjunction with SNIC, accepted priority over the Applicant's [sic] Insurance Policy [sic]. VCM was clearly not referring to a "decision" but a subsequent agreement by her deliberate word choice of "acceptance". For "acceptance" to have occurred by two other insurers, where neither could be the First Insurer (TDHA), an offer had to be made. For an agreement to have been consummated, there had to be return consideration in the form of a fulfilled promise from the offerees to the offeror (TDHA). In order for that proposed contract, which could be at best an "agreement to agree", it required notice to the JRPA Applicant and his consent or his silence AFTER receipt of the prescribed notices.[79]

VOLUME # #4(III)(A)(v): Subsection 5(3) of Reg 283

50. Ss. 5(3) of Reg 283 has a "despite" or "subject to" clause in said subsection but it relates to the Fund initiating arbitration so it is not germane to the issues herein.

VOLUME # #4(III)(A)(vi): Void Ab Initio Agreement and deprivation of three different rights: (i) right to object to transfer of his claim to other insurers; (ii) right to object to proposed agreement between insurers; and (iii) right to file notice of arbitration

51. While the Applicant did not receive any section 4 notice pursuant to Reg 283 and was deprived of his rights which the LGIC provided similarly situated accident victims, to object to the transfer of his TD Claim #3 to SNIC and TDGIC on an apparently joint basis, he was also deprived of his arbitration participatory rights in any subsequent proceeding to settle the dispute. Most importantly, whatever clandestine, underhanded and surreptitious agreement was negotiated and consummated between TDHA with SNIC and TDGIC, had no legal effect and was not merely void but void ab initio. It amounts to an irremediable nullity.[80]

VOLUME # #4(III)(A)(vii): Consent vs. Non-Opposition – risks of allowing the Tribunal to decide the Hearing Proper with the "musical defence chairs" between SNIC, TDGIC and TDHA

52. Leaving aside that Mr. Nieuwland's purported Notice of Appearance was and remains defective, Mr. Nieuwland is apparently engaged in similar past conduct that was not only rejected by the Tribunal but the FSRA (two administrative tribunals created under different statutes with boundaries that regularly intersect) with respect to his misguided "one and the same representation" regarding SNIC and TDGIC being the same corporate entity. Such a misrepresentation was counter to the FSRA certificates of status involving each, their distinct license classes approved by the FSRA, the corporate history of TDGIC and SNIC, and the rule in Foss v. Harbottle. Mr. Nieuwland now wishes this ONSC to accept a filing, which was not forthwith, but wherein his cover email misrepresented that he was acting for SNIC and two distinct companies also referred to as [sic] as "TD Home and Auto [sic]" and "TD General Insurance company [sic]". It was a tantamount to a "triple down" on his previous "double down" at least "numerically". For the purposes of clause 4.3 of Schedule 1, the consent of an individual is only valid if it is reasonable to expect that an individual to whom the organization's activities are directed would understand the nature, purpose and consequences of the collection, use or disclosure of the personal information to which they are consenting: s. 6.1 of PIPEDA. It is trite that the OCF-1 and PIPEDA operate harmoniously and in tandem.

VOLUME #4(III)(B): "Mr. Nieuwland and co" – up to old tricks

53. Not opposing the relief in a motion, as TDGIC did by way of written email by Mr. Nieuwland on behalf of TDGIC on June 6, 2024, is not the legal equivalent of "consent". Such a statement of law is a trite one but the history of how SNIC and TDGIC have abused the process of the LAT Proceeding is precisely why this JRPA Proceeding must be decided prior to the Hearing Proper. After Mr. Karat, a non-licensee, signed and filed a Response on behalf of SNIC on January 25, 2025, (the "SNIC Response") contrary to LSO By-Laws, TDGIC purported to be the sole respondent without even the pretense of filing a pleading. NOM #8 was not granted until June 20, 2024, which then required another section 21.1 of the SPPA motion as the clarity and precision of some of the findings of fact, contrary to the record of proceeding, by yet again VCM, were incorrect. The Applicant sought the consent of TDGIC to remove itself as the sole respondent and the consent of SNIC, the only insurance company that filed a Response, to substitute itself for TDGIC. Mr. Nieuwland, for TDGIC, was unequivocal that TDGIC would NOT oppose any such relief from the Applicant after opposing said relief for nearly six months. Mr. McLean is not so self-aggrandizing to think that his NOM #8 was of such superb calibre that it was the sole catalyst for the change in legal position. Rather, it was, admittedly, bold move to serve the FSRA with NOM #8 and invite its submissions by way of amicus curae. 128 days passed from the time of the Nieuwland DOR on behalf of TDGIC to the time of his email where TDGIC would not oppose the relief that the Applicant had been seeking, with formal motions and at the case conference. SNIC did not respond to NOM #8 even though its sole representative, at the time, in Mr. Karat had responded to emails in May 2024. Consent for removal of TDGIC and substitution of SNIC for it would have required a "three party agreement" between the JRPA Application, TDGIC and SNIC.

VOLUME # #4(III)(C): Res judicata and Issue Estoppel

54. The Applicant could then be caught by the doctrines of res judicata and issue estoppel.

VOLUME # #4(III)(C)(i): Res judicata

55. In Said v. Northbridge General Insurance Company, 2024 ONSC 5248 (Div. Court), the Honourable Justice DL Corbette with oral reasons considered res judicata in an administrative context where it was found that a LAT decision is final and authoritative subject to a party's rights of reconsideration or appeal from that decision.[81]TDHA and SNIC are not "one and the same" as it has already been found by the FSRA, through its issuance of the certificates of status in June 2024, that "TDGIC and SNIC were not one and the same".

VOLUME # #4(III)(C)(ii): Issue Estoppel

56. Issue estoppel has been articulated as follows in Kazen v. Whitten & Lublin Professional Corporation, 2020 ONCA 325[82]: (i) the same question has been decided; (ii) the judicial decision which is said to create the estoppel was final; and (iii) the parties to the judicial decision or their privies were the same persons as the parties to the proceedings in which the estoppel is raised [or] their privies. The ONCA in Victoria University (Board of Regents) v. GE Canada Real, 2016 ONCA 646 found the following: "[97] It holds that a party may not relitigate an issue that was finally decided in prior judicial proceedings between the same parties or those who stand in their place. However, even if these elements are present, the court retains discretion to not apply issue estoppel when its application would work an injustice."

57. It is the "mutuality principle" that would be at issue as to whether THDA and SNIC are "privies". However, even the slight chance, however remote, is enough to ensure that a decision is issued as to whom the First Insurer was – as there is no finding that TDHA was not the First Insurer and SNIC was the "Frist Insurer". Since there are no findings in this regard to overturn, no deference is required and the ONSC can decide the issue "de novo" or at least in a manner that resembles a "de novo hearing". It is yet another reason why the respondent insurance companies must not be entitled to participate herein. The Applicant would not be bound by res judicata and/or issue estoppel because SNIC and TDHA are privies but because of Mr. Nieuwland's recent representation in his "received" filing (purported NOA) that SNIC are "also referred to as" as TDHA and TDGIC.

VOLUME # #4(III)(D): Reza vs. State Farm and s. 19 of SPPA

58. The case of Fatemea Rezaiezadeh v. State Farm Mutual Automobile Insurance Company, 2016 ONFSCDRS 59 ("Reza")[83] stands for the proposition below wherein an arbitrator found the following: "The Appellant concedes there is no explicit procedure in…the Statutory Powers Procedure Act, R.S.O. 1990, c. S.22, as amended, to permit a party to continue a proceeding against a non-party." While Reza was a decision before the FSCO, the Legislature has not amended the SPPA in any manner that would change that precedential statement of law. The Applicant will also be deprived of his rights under section 19 of the SPPA in relation to enforcement of a monetary order.[84]The Applicant cannot continue the LAT Proceeding as currently constituted against TDHA as per the VCM Decision. Moreover, the Applicant would be proceeding against as a "Non-First Insurer" that does not have any obligation to respond and to pay benefits.[85]

VOLUME # #4(III)(D)(i): Does the argument that SNIC would merely cut a cheque assuage any concerns and/or should the Applicant have to even take such a risk?

59. In Reza[86], the following excerpt has extreme relevance to why this JRPA Proceeding must proceed expediently before a single justice and, if it fails, then before the ONSC (Div. Court): "The Appellant's apparent concern is that if she is successful on appeal and obtains a monetary award, if the Respondent does not pay, whose property does the sheriff seize? The Respondent submits that Certas would respond to any "valid" judgment by cutting a cheque because of its contractual obligation with State Farm. This did not seem to reassure the Appellant."[87]

VOLUME # #4(III)(D)(ii): Not merely the entitled insured person and the obligated insurance company (First Insurer) but issues

60. The danger of not deciding this JRPA Proceeding on an expedited basis before a single justice, is outlined, to some degree, in 2015 ONCA 851[88]. The ONCA briefly set out the elements required for issue estoppel to apply to bar the re-arguing of an issue, and some useful comments on when parties meet the "mutuality principle". The applicable principle is that "litigation is conclusive upon issues actually brought before the court and upon any issues which the parties, exercising reasonable diligence, should have brought forward on that occasion".[89] The ONCA at paragraph nine raised some of the indicia that would make corporate parties privies of each other and the address aspect is one that cuts both ways:

> "[9] ….. All corporate appellants, except Committee of Certified Acupuncturists of Ontario, share the same registered address and they all share many of the same directors and officers, including the two individual appellants. In the context of these proceedings, this constitutes a sufficient degree of identification among the parties "to make it just to hold that the decision to which one was a party should be binding in the proceedings to which the other is a party".[90] In any event, even if the same parties' requirement for issue estoppel is not strictly met, permitting the appellants to re-litigate the issue that was determined by the Divisional Court would amount to an abuse of process.

VOLUME # #4(III)(D)(v)): "Would respond" is antithetical and counter to the purposes of Reg 283 and SABS [they are imperatives]

61. As found by the Honourable Mr. Justice Akazaki, a former president of the OBA no less, in Zurich 2024[91] the purpose of SABS is and remains that those injured persons receive vital treatments and income replacement benefits. SNIC is even on worse footing than Certas, vis-à-vis the defunct State Farm, as noted in Reza[92], as it relates to automobile insurance benefits in Ontario, because there is no evidence of SNIC having a contractual relationship to TDHA to respond and pay on its behalf for its obligations under Reg 283 and SABS. However, this inharmoniously bolsters a variety of points: (i) SNIC may take the position that it was standing in the shoes of TDHA; (ii) SNIC and TDHA are privies because of the "standing in the shoes argument"; (iii) without a decision herein, SNIC may take the position, even post hearing, that the Applicant was advancing his arguments not only against SNIC, but TDGIC and TDHA, and be without any recourse against TDHA as the First Insurer; (iv) SNIC does not have a duty to respond and pay benefits because it was not the First Insurer but the Applicant's LAT Appeal is dispositive of all issues against not only SNIC but TDHA; (v) to the extent that the Applicant advanced a separate LAT Appeal against TDHA, he would be abusing the process of the Tribunal because the underlying evidence would be similar or the same as he had faxed the seminal documents and correspondence to 416.774.3120 on a primary level; and (v) others.

62. The prematurity doctrine has no applicability. The Applicant may or may not obtain a remedy against a non-liable insurance company as a matter of the governing statute in Insurance Act, ss. 268(3) and the binding regulations in Reg 283, SABS and Reg 664. Judicial review is a discretionary remedy. However, in Awada[93], Corbett J. by setting out the legal principle or precedent that courts should not interfere with ongoing administrative proceedings until after they are completed or until effective remedies are exhausted. It is not that a claimant has exhausted remedies but effective remedies. "Effective" is synonymous with "actual, real, or operative". Any remedies against SNIC are ineffective, futile or useless. The ineffectiveness of any remedies, absent costs against SNIC in the LAT Proceeding, is further bolstered by the mature and stable jurisprudence that an order adding or dismissing a motion to add a party is a final order.

VOLUME # #4(III)(E)(ii): The Ultimate Appeal argument

63. The ONSC outlined the legal test in Mansuri[94] wherein it stated, "To the extent that there are "alleged deficiencies" arising from the Initial Decision, the applicants have not established that they "cannot be cured on an ultimate appeal. Put another way, the applicants have not established that the alleged prejudice to the applicants outweighs the benefits of a single court proceeding once the underlying Tribunal proceedings are complete" (see: Mansuri v. Dominion of Canada General Insurance Company, 2023 ONSC 5764[95] at paragraph 43).[96] Even in an "ultimate appeal", no curing could occur as TDHA is not the solely liable respondent party in the LAT Appeal.

VOLUME # #4(III)(E)(iii): The corollaries in Ontario Nurses Association

64. The ONSC in Sudbury and District Health Unit v Ontario Nurses' Association, 2023 ONSC 2419 ["Ontario Nurses"][97], found as follows at paragraph 29: "…. Resolution of this application does not resolve the outstanding issues before the Arbitrator. In addition, the court has been clear that this is not an exceptional circumstance that would lead it to hear a judicial review application on an interlocutory decision." The deductive reasoning is rather rudimentary: (i) if resolution of a JRPA Application resolves outstanding issues before the Tribunal, then a JRPA Application is not premature; and (ii) if not an interlocutory decision, then this militates in favour of hearing this JRPA Application.[98]

VOLUME # #4(III)(E)(iv): Court May ALWAYS intervene - Inherent Jurisdiction of its Superior Court Status

65. The court noted that "if there is a prospect of real unfairness through denial of natural justice or otherwise, a superior court may always exercise its inherent supervisory jurisdiction to put an end to the injustice before all the alternative remedies are exhausted…the unfairness in this case is so obvious that it would be inappropriate to put the officer through a trial before a tribunal that lost jurisdiction through a denial of natural justice.[99] This madness needs to be put to an end. The Tribunal is not even correctly distinguishing between the law of consent and "non-opposition". What next by way of extrapolation of legal principles? Sexual assault victims need not consent to sexual acts but their lack or absence of opposition to sexual acts is functionally and legally equivalent to consent. This Tribunal should be ashamed of itself by tossing around, in some irresponsible manner, that "consent" and "non-opposition" are "one and the same".[100]

66. Further, the total absence of a foundation for a finding of fact is an error of law. Moreover, it is the findings of VCM that are so particularly concerning that raise incredible integrity issues and conduct. It is not the first time that this former adjudicator, since promoted to Vice Chair, has been involved in serious breaches of conduct with knowledge. Her apparent knowledge, not in the record of proceeding, of what transpired, was not only affront to the LAT Rules of all parties being copied on correspondence, but this ONSC can take judicial notice of some issues involving this Tribunal of yesteryear.

67. Vice Chair Morrissette had to obtain this "knowledge" that TDGIC and SNIC accepted priority over the Applicant's [sic] insurance policy [sic] from some place, repository et al. The activities of VCM, prior to assuming her role as an adjudicator and now VC, are of great concern on a general but a specific level herein (see: https://lobbycanada.gc.ca/en/investigations/reports-on-investigation/the-lobbying-activities-of-trina-morissette/).[101] [102]

VOLUME # #4(III)(E)(vi): The conduct of this Tribunal is bringing the rule of law into disrepute: exceptional circumstances.

VOLUME # #4(III)(E)(vii): Risk of repeating proceedings and potential prejudice

69. Referring to the exceptions to the prematurity doctrine, which are analyzed when interlocutory relief is challenged by way of judicial review which has no applicability herein, "…It will only be permitted in rare cases where the potential prejudice of the risk of repeating proceedings after review" (see: Lourenco[104]). This JRPA Application will be repeated if the prematurity doctrine and arguments of the Tribunal are accepted.

VOLUME # #4(III)(E)(viii): Broader implications, Test Cases and Concurrent Jurisdiction

70. In London District Catholic School Board v. Weilgosh, 2024 ONSC 3857[105], the concepts of broader implications and test cases caused the ONSC to hear the judicial review even on an interim order, which the VCM Decisions are not, before the conclusion of that proceeding. Even more forcefully, the issues herein are even more important because they will determine a Reg 283 and SABS issue in a "test case" where they have not been decided before against the backdrop of some alarming issues involving this Tribunal which appear to be related to previous concerns about this Tribunal. This outcome and decision herein have broad implications for insured persons with various insurance companies in any "insurance group" and whether there is a systemic issue involving providing false contact information, which may or may not involve intentional breaches, and may be merely a technological error like the "four insurance companies" had in the FSRA Enforcement Decisions for SNIC[106], TDGIC[107], Primmum[108], and TDHA[109] . Nonetheless, it must be addressed forthwith before further prejudice occurs to the public.

VOLUME #5: Conclusion and Orders Sought

VOLUME #5(A): Why the prematurity doctrine has no applicability

71. History cannot repeat itself and the JRPA Applicant is acting not only in relation to "final orders" but in accordance with the "rule of law" and being pre-emptive by filing this factum and asking, with great respect and appreciation, for an urgent hearing. The obvious 'devil's advocate' position to the JRPA Applicant's submissions regarding being technically correct in following Reg 283, which dovetails with SABS and Reg 664, is that SNIC will claim that it will be bound by any decision of the Tribunal and not advance any positions contrary to the same or at the "11th hour". However, there is nothing, with the findings in the impugned orders and decisions of VCM on September 12, 2024, (contrary to the September 6, 2024 inscription), to take the position that it [SNIC] is not obligated to respond and pay benefits pursuant to SABS because it was NOT the "First Insurer". There is also nothing that would preclude SNIC from doing so after the Hearing Proper and prior to the issuance and release of a decision of the Tribunal in relation to the Hearing Proper as the Tribunal would not be functus officio until that time. SNIC could seek leave post Hearing Proper and advance that argument all while relying on the finding, god willing such a finding would not be issued by this ONSC Divisional Court, that the JRPA Application was premature. It would then leave the Applicant with no recourse regarding the final orders to NOT add TDHA as the First Insurer and not only no effective remedy against insurance companies within the TDI Group but no insurance company with a duty to respond and pay any benefits. In effect, it would be a return to the unlawful status quo where the Applicant communicates with the purported adjusters for SNIC and they do not respond to him despite the digital communication protocol that was consummated by consent between SNIC and the Applicant on January 23, 2024.

VOLUME #5(B): Preliminary Orders

72. With great respect and appreciation for the ONSC's time on this matter, the Applicant seeks, by way of this factum, the following orders on a preliminary basis: (a) Striking Nieuwland Purported NOA on behalf of three insurance companies; (b) An order that the Applicant is entitled to be heard on the issue of leave before a single justice of the ONSC

at the earliest opportunity of this ONSC and prior to January 15, 2025; and (c) An Order dispensing with the need for any case management conference.

VOLUME #5(C): Public Interest Remedies: Declarations Of Law

73. The Applicant seeks the following public interest remedies, orders, declarations or findings for the benefit of the public along with this ONSC solidifying the required stability and uniformity involving Reg 283, which the Applicant respectfully seeks an endorsement or finding of the same, are the following syllogisms for accidents post September 1, 2010:

a. A Declaration of Law that there cannot be any binding agreement, at law, between a First Insurer and another insurer or insurer(s), where an insured person has not received notice from the First Insurer (see: section 3(1));
b. A Declaration of Law that there cannot be any binding agreement, at law, between a First Insurer and another insurer or insurer(s), where an insured person has not selected the First Insurer (see: section 7(2) of Reg 283);
c. A Declaration of Law that there cannot be any binding agreement, at law, between a First Insurer and another insurer or insurer(s), at first instance or subsequent, under Reg 283 if the insured person, in her capacity as an Applicant having sent a Completed Application that was received by an insurer, making said insurer the "First Insurer", did not receive a notice of dispute or transfer pursuant to Reg 283;:
d. A Declaration of Law that there cannot be any binding agreement between a First Insurer and another insurer or insurer(s), at first instance or subsequent, under Reg 283 if the insured person, in her capacity as an Applicant having sent a Completed Application that was received by an insurer making said insurer the "First Insurer", objected to any transfer of her claim pursuant to section 5(1) of Reg 283 and said "agreement" was made without the consent of the insured person applicant who has seen and read the agreement;
e. A Declaration of Law that there cannot be any binding agreement, at law, between a First Insurer and another insurer or insurer(s), at first instance or subsequent, under Reg 283 if the insured person, in her capacity as an Applicant having sent a Completed Application that was received by an insurer making said insurer the "First Insurer", where:
    i. an insured person has received notice of the potential transfer of the claim by the First Insurer to another insurer or insurers, the insured person has objected to the transfer within 14 days of receiving notice, received a copy of the proposed agreement, objected to said proposed agreement and has initiated arbitration within 14 days of being notified of an agreement under the Arbitration Act, 1991 (see: section 7(2) of Reg 283);
f. A Declaration of Law that there cannot be any binding agreement, at law, between a First Insurer and another insurer or insurer(s), where an insurer does NOT commence or initiate arbitration within one year after the day the insurer paying benefits gives a section 3 notice to the other insurers and, by corollary, a section 4 notice to the insured person applicant (see: section 7(4)); and

g. A Declaration of Law that there cannot be any binding agreement, at law, between a First Insurer and another insurer or insurer(s), whereby the insurer paying benefits was not the First Insurer if the First Insurer does not give notice in accordance with section 3(1) of Reg 283 because the First Insurer is bound by its failure to give a section 3 notice to every other insurer because even if the First Insurer does so, section 4 requires a more formal notice under section 4 in the requisite form (A143).

VOLUME #5(D): Judicial Review Final Orders vis-à-vis Mr. McLean and TDHA

74. The Applicant seeks the following final orders:

1. An order quashing, in the nature of certiorari, and setting aside the VCM Decision;
2. An order quashing, in the nature of certiorari, and setting aside the VCL Reconsideration Decision;
3. An order granting the Applicant's orders sought, stylized as #1 and #3 in his NOM #14 (see: page 12 of the Application Record);
4. Costs in favour of the Applicant in NOM #14 and #15 against the then sole respondent in SNIC and fixed at $2,000;
5. Costs in favour of the Applicant in this JRPA Proceeding against any of the respondents herein that oppose the relief herein;
6. Such other further relief that this Honourable Court may grant pursuant to its inherent jurisdiction; and
7. Leave to the Applicant to file and serve any further documents, including amended submissions, that arise from the above or become known to him and/or based upon any agreement or order regarding the filing of the record of proceeding.

VOLUME #5(E): A full answer to the prematurity doctrine by way of legal bases

75. Lastly, there is a full answer to why the issue of who the First Insurer was and is, and who the correct liable and obligated respondent party must be and that is section 56 of SABS:

> "Time limit for proceedings
> 56. An application under subsection 280 (2) of the Act in respect of a benefit shall be commenced within two years after the insurer's refusal to pay the amount claimed. O. Reg. 44/16, s. 6."

76. The LAT Appeal (a section 280(2) of the Insurance Act 'Application') was filed and served on the TDHA Fax Number, albeit unbeknownst to the Applicant as being the TDHA Fax Number, on December 24, 2023. SNIC filed its Response on January 25, 2024. VCM could not have reviewed the pleadings because she would have known by both pleadings that it was NOT the Applicant's Insurance Policy.

77. In R.M. v CAA Insurance, 2020 CanLII 94775[110], Vice Chair Shapiro found in relation to section 56 of the Schedule:

> "[5] Section 56 of the Schedule provides that an application to dispute a denial of a benefit must be commenced within two years of the insurer's refusal to pay. Section 64 allows the denial notice to be sent by regular mail or faxed to an insured's lawyer. Once a proper denial has been properly sent, if an insured does not appeal within that period, the Tribunal can not hear it as it is "time-barred".

78. This, in turn, makes the precise point that SNIC, at least prima facie, has sent "denial letters" to the Applicant but TDHA has not. Parenthetically, TDGIC never sent a denial letter to the Applicant which was the Applicant's primary reason for continuing to seek the relief to substitute SNIC for TDGIC – not the unsupported findings of VCM. Therefore, the "record of proceeding" will be unequivocally different between SNIC and TDHA. It is not merely a "cosmetic difference" but a substantive one.

79. All of which is respectfully submitted to the ONSC (Div. Ct.) at first instance on Tuesday, December 10, 2024:

Mr. Kevin A. McLean (B.A. J.D., CIM)
Self-represented, the Applicant herein

APPENDICES OF THE JRPA APPLICANT'S FACTUM

APPENDIX #1: Errors in VCM Decision as referenced by NOM #18 in the NOM #18 Motion Forom and Schedule therein

The Appellant seeks the following orders as follows pursuant to section 21.1 of the SPPA (but not LAT Rule 17) by way of strikethrough for deleting the word therein and underlining for proposed additions in substantially the same form:

a. An Order correcting the "date of the order" from September 6, 2024 to September 13, 20242;

b. An Order correcting paragraph 2 from "was issued to the parties" to the following in substance "was issued to the Appellant and TDGIC, which was and is a non-party pursuant to the retroactive nature of my order issued on June 20, 2024, and released on June 21, 2024. As a parenthetical note, the Appellant sought clarification of my order in relation to this NOM #8 to confirm that the retroactive nature of the ordered changes from TDGIC to SNIC only related to documents and orders issued by the Tribunal and not those of TDGIC from January 30, 2024, to June 21, 2024. I confirmed the same in my reasons for decision in relation to the Appellant's order seeking clarification, which was his NOM #10;

c. An Order correcting paragraph #2, sentence #2: [this is corrected by the change above in Order #2];

d. An Order correcting paragraph #3 to: from "on consent of the parties" to "by TDGIC not opposing the relief sought in NOM #8 (except costs) and the Appellant proceeding with his motion unopposed";

e. An Order correcting paragraph #5 as follows in substance: [to be consistent between sentence #1 and sentence #2 as sentence #1 references twelfth, thirteenth, and fourteenth and sentence #2 references "NOM #13, NOM #14, and NOM #15"];

f. An order correcting the "similar error" [technical deficiency error], in the form of incorrect language, at paragraph 12, as submissions are not affidavit evidence. Further, an order specifically correcting paragraph 12, sentence #2, from "He submits that he made demands..." to "He swore affidavit evidence that he made demands upon TDHA and exhibited the emails he sent to TDGIC along with filing a certificate of service that delivered the hearing brief, which was indexed, tabulated and consecutively numbered pursuant to LAT Rule 9.4.5., on July 11, 2024. As the Tribunal did not provide TDGIC with an opportunity for submissions, contrary to LAT Rule 9.2.2., the Tribunal did not have the benefit of any written submissions, affidavit evidence or authorities."

g. An order correcting paragraph #18 as follows with the inclusion of the technically correct language and facts: was TDGIC. While TDGIC was the respondent party at the time, the effect of my order on June 6, 2024, operated retroactively.

h. An order correcting paragraph #19 as follows: removing sentence #1 and replacing with the language in the underlying hearing brief and record at the time "The reasons that SNIC was required to be the sole respondent party, as cited in NOM #8, were not only because of the Appellant's reasons but compliance with the SPPA, SABS, Reg 283, FSRA requirements, LATA, consistency with the LAT Rules and others.

i. An Order that paragraph 22, sentence #1 is corrected as follows: "TD Insurance letterhead" to "TD Insurance Meloche Monnex letterhead" with the return address of 200-101 McNabb Street, Markham, Ontario"

j. An Order that paragraph 22, sentence #3 is removed in its entirety in favour of the facts within the record of proceeding as follows in substance with the below:

i. Within the filed Appeal, the Appellant utilized the definition of TD SNIC. While the Appellant could not input the entirety of TD Insurance Meloche Monnex (Security National Insurance Company), he used TD Insurance with the definition of "TD SNIC" within the pleading for further specification. Attached to his pleading with the required listed key documents were four pre-pleading affidavits that all referenced TD SNIC, which contained the "Denial Letters" therein.

i. On December 24, 2023, the Appellant served the Appeal to the fax number provided to him by SNIC in September 2022, which was 416.774.3120. The said fax number is grounded and wired to the building located at 3650 Victoria Park Avenue, North York, Toronto, Ontario. The Appellant was unaware that said fax number was not that of SNIC Markham. Whichever insurance company was so located on the 4th floor of the Victoria Park Building at the time of October 13, 2022, was served with the Appeal.

ii. On January 3, 2024, the Appellant filed his NOM #1 with the Tribunal.

iii. On January 8, 2024, the Appellant filed his NOM #2 with the Tribunal. On the same day, the Appellant received communications from one Mr. Josh Grant, case manager, of the LAT/AABS requesting that the Appellant provide copies of the denial letters that he had received in relation to his TD Claim #3 and LAT Proceeding. The Appellant did so on January 8, 2024, which contained denials letters exclusively from SNIC at its alleged offices of SNIC Markham and the Burlington Office Building (absent a floor number). The denial letters that the Appellant provided were already contained within the pre-pleading affidavits that particularized the key documents for the Appeal.

iv. On January 14, 2024, the Appellant filed NOM #3.

v. In each of the three motions denoted above, the Appellant denoted the respondent as "TD Insurance Meloche Monnex" (Security National Insurance Company).

vi. On January 16, 2024, Vice-Chair Lake issued written reasons for decision in all three motions, without the party receiving any notice of the written hearings, section 6, declining to decide the same. In Vice Chair Lake's order, she even references TD SNIC but continued with the finalization of her reasons for decision with TDGIC as the Respondent.

vii. For context as to how TD General Insurance Company became the sole respondent on January 8, 2024, in the LAT/AABS system, when Mr. Josh Grant, case manager for the SNIC Proceeding, was assigned to the same, Mr. Grant emailed the Appellant, Mr. Nieuwland, who was then counsel to TDGIC, and Mr. Karat, ADR Specialist to SNIC, on May 6, 2023, in response to the Appellant's May 6, 2024, email requesting, inter alia, copies of the documents and information as it relates to who provided the Tribunal with information regarding TDGIC on or around the deadline for filing a Response to the Appellant's Appeal. The Appellant's query arose after May 2, 2024, at the combined case conference and set hearings for his NOM #4 and NOM #6, when he objected, prior to and during the case conference, to TDGIC being the sole respondent or a respondent at all as it was never disclosed to him as an insurance company; it was not the underwriter in the Appellant Spouse's insurance policy, that had any duties in relation to his TD Claim #3. Moreover, the Appellant needed to know the information because SABS requires the insurance company that refused to pay any amounts claimed for benefits or any refusal seeking increased benefits to be named (see: section 56 of *SABS*3). Mr. Grant kindly noted that the Appellant did list TD Insurance as the Respondent but mistakenly stated that the denial letters the Appellant filed also referenced only TD Insurance when the denial letters bore the two trademarks of "TD Insurance Meloche Monnex" and the return address of Security National Insurance Company (see: affidavit #38, Exhibit "A" pages 31 to 45). Mr. Grant's explanation was that, after receiving the denial letters, which did not reference "TD Insurance" (or TD General Insurance Company), that the information, in his view, provided in the Appeal, plus pre-pleading listed and attached documents, provided him with only two options for entry of the respondent party insurer, when SNIC was in the upper-right hand corner of each document along with the author being "TD Insurance Meloche Monnex", in: (i) TD General Insurance Company; or (ii) TD Home And Auto Insurance Company.
viii. Mr. Grant noted that "If there was a concern that the Security National Insurnace Company, not TDGIC, being named as the Respondent party, please advise if the parties agree that a change should be made. The Appellant sought TDGIC's consent, but it did not respond. It was not until after the Appellant found the FSRA enforcement decisions and Mr. Nieuwland's representation of SNIC in the Syed Decisions, could he disprove Mr. Nieuwland's representations that SNIC and TDGIC were one and the same and "this is how they always do it" [in relation to SNIC being the sole underwriter, responding insurance company et al and then TDGIC becoming the sole respondent]. The Appellant again sought the consent of TDGIC when he obtained the FSRA's confirmation that he could obtain status certificates at a cost for expedited receipt. TDGIC did not respond. It was not until after some six months of TDGIC refusing to be removed as the sole Respondent, and SNIC not responding to the overtures to be the sole respondent and opposing relief from the Appellant in motions and unlawfully appearing as the sole respondent at the case conference, that TDGIC, through Mr. Nieuwland confirmed in writing on June 6, 2024, that it would not oppose the Appellant's relief sought in NOM #8. The Appellant obtained those status certificates on June 19, 2024, and filed them with the Tribunal. On June 21, 2024, with a litany of reasons as to why SNIC was required to be the respondent instead of TDGIC, as TDHA was unknown to the Appellant, NOM #8 was granted in the Appellant's favour.

k. An Order that paragraph 23, > ix. sentence #1 is corrected from "Respondent's counsel" to "current respondent's counsel and former counsel to TDGIC", from "noting that he was representing the insurer "TDGIC" to "declaring that he was representing the insurer "TDGIC" but only after Mr. Karat, the ADR Specialist, who represented to the Appellant, on January 23, 2024, via email, with Mr. Nieuwland copied as "counsel", that he was assigned to be the ADR and representing the Security National Insurance Company, and then on January 25, 2024, Mr. Karat signed and filed the Response for SNIC ("SNIC Response") whilst serving the Appellant;

> x. sentence #2 is corrected by the removal of the entire sentence with the facts as above in substance subject to the writing style of Vice Chair or an adjudicator;

l. An Order that paragraph 24 is corrected to the following:

i. Sentence #2: removing the entire sentence and adding the following, "Consistent with the documents, the Appellant refuted Mr. Nieuwland's misrepresentations4 that SNIC and TDGIC were "one and the same" and that TD Insurance Staff Legal always substituted or changed the identity of TDGIC for SNIC in LAT proceedings, which was counter to the very representations Mr. Nieuwland made representing SNIC in those Syed Decisions in LAT file number:
ii. Sentence #4: changing the following from "dated June 20, 2024, and released the following day on Friday, June 21, 2024,"5 and from "on consent of the respondent" to "by email dated June 6, 2024, TDGIC, through Mr. Nieuwland, confirmed it [TDGIC] would not oppose the relief sought";
m. An Order the following sentences in paragraph #27 are amended as follows:
i. Sentence #2: changing from "The initial respondent, TDGIC, and the current respondent, SNIC accepted priority over the applicant's spouse's insurance policy"
n. An Order that the following paragraph 35, sentence two is amended as follows:
i. From "curtail" to "circumvent";6; and

APPENDIX #4: INSURANCE ACT, SECTIONS 224 AND 268

[SQUARE BRACKETS ARE THE APPLICANT'S]

PART VI
AUTOMOBILE INSURANCE

Interpretation, Part VI

224 (1) In this Part,

"statutory accident benefits" means the benefits set out in the regulations made under paragraphs 9 and 10 of subsection 121 (1); ("indemnités d'accident légales")

Fees and Regulations

Regulations

121 (1) The Lieutenant Governor in Council may make regulations,

9. establishing benefits for the purposes of Part VI that must be provided under contracts evidenced by motor vehicle liability policies and establishing terms, conditions, provisions, exclusions and limits related to such benefits;

10. requiring insurers to offer optional benefits in excess of the benefits that must be provided under paragraph 9 prescribing the circumstances in which the optional benefits are to be offered and establishing terms, conditions, provisions, exclusions and limits related to such benefits;

10.1 prescribing coverages and endorsements in respect of contracts of automobile insurance that insurers or a class of insurers are required to offer, deeming the benefits provided by the coverages and endorsements not to be statutory accident benefits for the purpose of Part VI, and prescribing the circumstances in which the coverages and endorsements shall be offered;

10.2 prescribing rules for interpreting the regulations made under paragraphs 9 and 10 or any provision of those regulations;

10.3 prescribing functions to be performed by a committee appointed under section 7;

10.4 governing the procedure for determining who is liable to pay statutory accident benefits under section 268, including requiring insurers to resolve disputes about liability through an arbitration process established by the regulations and requiring the interim payment of benefits pending the determination of liability;

[nota bene: subsection 10.4 is yet another example of how the Legislature provided an extremely broad grant of authority to the LGIC for governing the procedure of determining how insurers are liable to pay SABS under section 268 which then dovetails to Reg 263]

Statutory accident benefits

268 (1) Every contract evidenced by a motor vehicle liability policy, including every such contract in force when the Statutory Accident Benefits Schedule is made or amended, shall be deemed to provide for the statutory accident benefits set out in the Schedule and any amendments to the Schedule, subject to the terms, conditions, provisions, exclusions and limits set out in that Schedule. 1993, c. 10, s. 26 (1).

Liability to pay

(2) The following rules apply for determining who is liable to pay statutory accident benefits:

1. In respect of an occupant of an automobile,

i. the occupant has recourse against the insurer of an automobile in respect of which the occupant is an insured,

ii. if recovery is unavailable under subparagraph i, the occupant has recourse against the insurer of the automobile in which he or she was an occupant,

iii. if recovery is unavailable under subparagraph i or ii, the occupant has recourse against the insurer of any other automobile involved in the incident from which the entitlement to statutory accident benefits arose,

iv. if recovery is unavailable under subparagraph i, ii or iii, the occupant has recourse against the Motor Vehicle Accident Claims Fund.

Liability

(3) An insurer against whom a person has recourse for the payment of statutory accident benefits is liable to pay the benefits. R.S.O. 1990, c. I.8, s. 268 (3); 1993, c. 10, s. 1.[111]

Choice of insurer

(4) If, under subparagraph i or iii of paragraph 1 ……. of subsection (2), a person has recourse against more than one insurer for the payment of statutory accident benefits, the person, in his or her absolute discretion, may decide the insurer from which he or she will claim the benefits

[nota bene: upon Mr. McLean's discovery of whom the First Insurer (TDHA) was, he, at law, only has recourse against one insurer and that is TDHA per se. To the extent that Mr. McLean has recourse against more than one insurer, it is only the obligation to pay benefits (see: Beasley and Jia) which triggers the fiduciary duties owed by an insurance company to him. It would be against his own self-interest, as a matter of law, to choose an insurer which does not have a duty to respond and pay. It is not a matter of contract but a matter of statute and regulations. Moreover, the duties of the insurer that first received the Completed Application are also delineated and detailed in the OCF-1 itself which also dovetail to PIPEDA. Mr. McLean has not and is not revoking his consent to TDHA having received the same but that has provided notice to it that it must comply with its oblgiations therein as a matter of law or "by law" which are under the following: (i) Insurance Act; (ii) Legislation Act; (iii) SPPA; (iv) PIPEDA; and regulations: (i) Reg 283; (iii) *SABS*s et al.

Same

(5) Despite subsection (4), if a person is a named insured under a contract evidenced by a motor vehicle liability policy or the person is the spouse or a dependant, as defined in the Statutory Accident Benefits Schedule, of a named insured, the person shall claim statutory accident benefits against the insurer under that policy. 1993, c. 10, s. 26 (2); 1999, c. 6, s. 31 (9); 2005, c. 5, s. 35 (13).

Same

(5.1) Subject to subsection (5.2), if there is more than one insurer against which a person may claim benefits under subsection (5), the person, in his or her discretion, may decide the insurer from which he or she will claim the benefits. 1993, c. 10, s. 26 (2).

Same

(5.2) If there is more than one insurer against which a person may claim benefits under subsection (5) and the person was, at the time of the incident, an occupant of an automobile in respect of which the person is the named insured or the spouse or a dependant of the named insured, the person shall claim statutory accident benefits against the insurer of the automobile in which the person was an occupant. 1993, c. 10, s. 26 (2); 1999, c. 6, s. 31 (10); 2005, c. 5, s. 35 (14).

[nota bene: There is no dispute that Mr. McLean attempted to claim benefits from SNIC but he nearly did not receive his accident benefits package by an incorrect postal code therein whilst his spouse did receive the same. Moreover, he did attempt to claim benefits from SNIC but it was intentional redirection, by way of fax number and potentially address (mailing), to a "different insurance company(ies)"

Payments pending dispute resolution

(8) Where the Statutory Accident Benefits Schedule provides that the insurer will pay a particular statutory accident benefit pending resolution of any dispute between the insurer and an insured, the insurer shall pay the benefit until the dispute is resolved. R.S.O. 1990, c. I.8, s. 268 (8); 1993, c. 10, s. 1.

of SABS and Reg 283 is legally equivalent in the year of 2024 so said section overrides the above subsections 268(5) as that is a contractual (policy) issue. By the VCM Decision, paragraph 27, her finding that TDGIC, as the "initial respondent" [sic] and SNIC accepted priority over the applicant's [sic] insurance policy invokes the analysis of priority and not an insurance policy because priority cannot be decided in relation to an insurance policy per se when there is only one insurer. It certainly cannot add a "party" (i.e. language of "First Party Insurer" under Reg 664 which is distinct from Reg 283 with "First Insurer") to a contract WITHOUT the consent of a party to the Insurance Policy. Moreover, while the Applicant was statutorily deemed to have given consideration therefor under the Insurance Policy, the adding of an additional insurance company to a contract would have required the consent of all parties to that contract with "new consideration" or "additional consideration". Therefore, while subsection 2.1 of Reg 283, passed in 2010, is more analytically relevant to this JRPA Application, TDHA is still obligated to pay the benefits to the Applicant pursuant to section 2(1) of Reg 283).

Bulletin No. A-07/10 – Auto Property & Casualtyhttps://www.fsrao.ca/media/7866/download

With this Bulletin, the Financial Services Commission of Ontario (FSCO) is highlighting the recent changes to Ontario Regulation 283/95: Disputes Between Insurers, to ensure compliance by all insurers. The changes are effective September 1, 2010. Background Ontario Regulation 283/95 sets out a mandatory process for private arbitration of all disputes between insurers over which insurer is liable to pay accident benefits to a claimant. This regulation is intended to ensure that claimants receive accident benefits (e.g., medical and income replacement benefits) in a timely fashion while these disputes are being resolved. Ontario Regulation 283/95 was established in 1995 following several years of experience with the no-fault accident benefits system. During the past several years, a number of procedural issues and disputes over the interpretation of Ontario Regulation 283/95 have led to delays in paying claimants' benefits. In addition, the Motor Vehicle Accident Claims Fund (MVACF) has frequently had to get involved to ensure that benefit payments to injured persons were not delayed – even if a private insurer was obliged to make the payments. As part of the automobile insurance reforms which resulted from FSCO's Five Year Review of Automobile Insurance, effective September 1, 2010 Ontario Regulation 283/95 is amended by Ontario Regulation 38/10. These amendments were made to ensure that claims are not deflected and that claimants receive payments without delay in cases where there may be a dispute regarding which insurer is liable to pay statutory accident benefits. Insurers that do not comply with this regulation will be subject to appropriate

Key Regulation Changes 1. Deflection of Applications for Accident Benefits a) Upon request, an insurer must provide a claimant timely access to OCF-1: Application for Accident Benefits (OCF-1 application). (Section 2.1(2)) Individuals who are injured in automobile accidents often contact the insurance company that they believe is liable to pay accident benefits before they complete and send their OCF-1 application to the insurer. In many cases, claimants are not aware of the priority rules that determine which insurer is liable to pay them benefits. The Statutory Accident Benefits Schedule (SABS) requires an insurer to provide an OCF-1 application to an injured person who expresses an intention to make a claim for benefits. This requirement is now reinforced by section 2.1(2) of Ontario Regulation 283/95. b) An insurer must not impede claimants from submitting OCF-1 applications or redirect them to other insurers or the MVACF. (Section 2.1(5)) When a claimant first contacts an insurer following an accident, it is not always clear, based on information reported by the claimant, if that insurer is responsible for paying the accident benefits in accordance with the priority rules. It is inappropriate for the insurer to discourage the injured person from filing an OCF-1 application, for example on the grounds that there is no insurance coverage (e.g., due to a cancelled insurance policy), or that there is another insurer to whom the person should make his or her claim. Insurers must provide claimants who express an intention to make an accident benefits claim with an OCF-1 application and not direct them to file it with MVACF or another insurer. Section 2.1(5) of Ontario Regulation 283/95 prohibits the deflection of OCF-1 applications. This includes deflection on the grounds that it is not clear which insurer is required to pay accident benefits. c) The first insurer that receives an OCF-1 application must pay accident benefits in accordance with the SABS. (Section 2.1(6)) In order to prevent delays in payments, Ontario Regulation 283/95 requires the first insurer that receives a completed OCF-1 application to pay the accident benefits, as long as the claimant meets the requirements of the SABS. Although an insurer may believe that it is not responsible for paying accident benefits under the priority rules, the process to transfer, dispute and recover paid benefits is set out in Ontario Regulation 283/95. d) An insurer that fails to comply with this section will reimburse the MVACF or another insurer all related legal fees, administrative costs and disbursements. (Section 2.1(7) Section 2.1 (7) has been added to Ontario Regulation 283/95 to confirm the ability to recover costs incurred by the MVACF or an insurer in the administration of a claim (including adjusting costs) from the non-compliant insurer. 2. Definitions of "First Insurer" and "Completed Application" Several amendments are intended to provide clarity on issues that have arisen since the release of Ontario Regulation 283/95 in 1995; such as what is a "first insurer" and "completed application". a) A "completed application" is defined as a completed and signed OCF-1 application. (Section 0.1) b)The insurer that first receives a completed OCF-1 application is the "first insurer" for the purposes of Ontario Regulation 283/95. (Section 2.1(6)) A "first insurer" may not refuse to respond to the application on the basis that the application is not from an "insured person", or that there was no relevant policy in place on the date of the accident (e.g., the insurance policy was cancelled, expired or never existed). c) The applicant shall complete the OCF-1 application that is provided by the insurer and send it to only one insurance company. (Section 2.1(4)) Claimants are required to submit a completed OCF-1 application to only one insurer. This is intended to avoid potential disputes over which insurer first received a completed application, rather than creating confusion by submitting OCF-1 applications to more than one insurer. 3. Time Limitations for Notifying Other Insurers of Liability a) Before initiating a dispute against the MVACF, an insurer is required to complete a reasonable investigation to determine if any other insurer(s) is/are liable to pay benefits in priority to the MVACF and provide the MVACF with the particulars and results of the investigation. (Section 3.1(2)(a) and (b)) Section 3 of Ontario Regulation 283/95 provides the first insurer 90 days from the receipt of the completed application to conduct a reasonable investigation. This time frame allows the insurer to conduct an investigation to determine whether another insurer is liable to pay benefits, and to deliver written notice to other insurers if it believes they are liable to pay for accident benefits under the priority rules. Ontario Regulation 283/95 provides an extension beyond 90 days only if the first insurer has made reasonable investigation of the claim but cannot reach a decision within the 90-day period. Section 3.1 requires an insurer that wishes to put the MVACF on notice of a dispute to first complete a reasonable investigation and provide the results of the investigation to the MVACF.

Due to the unique nature of the claims that are submitted directly to the MVACF, in many cases another policy is discovered only after an extended period of investigation. As a result, this time limit does not apply to OCF-1 applications that are submitted first to the MVACF. (Section 3(2.1)) To facilitate the early resolution of disputes between insurers, a dispute about which insurer is responsible for payments must go to arbitration within one year of providing notice to the other insurer. See section 7 for the specific rules that need to be followed. Enforcement Note that in addition to sections 2.1(7) and 7 (6), actions contrary to Ontario Regulation 283/95 will be subject to appropriate enforcement or regulatory action in accordance with section 441 of the Insurance Act and Ontario Regulation 7/00: Unfair or Deceptive Acts or Practices. Publication of Arbitration Decisions involving Disputes Between Insurers Amendments to Ontario Regulation 283/95 have been made to ensure that arbitration decisions involving disputes between insurers are both timely and publicly available. The amendments require the insurer that is found by the arbitrator to be liable to pay benefits to make the arbitrator's decision public in a manner and form specified by the Superintendent. (Section 8(4)) The specified form and the process by which insurers will need to comply with this requirement will be the subject of a future Property & Casualty – Auto Bulletin. Effective Date The effective date of the Ontario Regulation 283/95 amendments is September 1, 2010. All insurers need to ensure that their claims and underwriting staff, plus any other staff who may be affected by these amendments, are informed of these changes. In addition, insurers are to ensure that they make any operational changes needed to implement the reforms by the effective date. [6]Mr. Nieuwland filed a DOR on behalf of SNIC on June 28, 2024.

7 concerns about the Tribunal's undue influence or lack of independence, even subconsciously, from the insurance companies due to it being the only non-state funded Tribunal of the 13 tribunals in "Tribunals Ontario"; and (iv) an investigation report involving Ms. Trina Morrissette from the federal government regarding her conduct as a lobbyist for the Canadian Red Cross ("CRC").[7] The Applicant says her conduct amounts to "similar fact evidence" and contextual evidence that arises as a result of the VCM Decision.
[9]Mr. Nieuwland's recent email to this ONSC (Divisional Court) has reignited the subsequent issues: (i) whether insurance companies in a group of insurers are 'one and the same', 'also known as' or 'also referred as'; (ii) the rule in Foss v. Harbottle; (ii) the FSRA guidance on affiliated entities only have an exemption on the non-adjuster broker side, and (iv) the motives for why such insurance companies in the TDI Group would engage in such misconduct.
[10]In this regard, the VCM Decision has again put two administrative bodies, at least, in the FSRA and the Tribunal against each other when they operate under the same enabling statute (Insurance Act) and the participants (insured persons, service providers and insurance companies) must comply with the UDAP Rule (2022 et seq).

The principle has particular force where adequate alternative remedies are available under the administrative scheme. Ordinarily an affected individual must pursue these remedies before seeking relief from the court. [23]Herein, a multiplicity of proceedings will be avoided and the law will be clarified and settled, while avoiding a return by this Applicant to make the same arguments that he would even if all of his benefits and quantum were found in his favour because the wrong party would be liable for the same and required to respond post-facto the conclusion of the Hearing Proper. In this regard, the Applicant herein confirms, by his authorized signature, that he would bring the same JRPA Application and he respectfully submits that the principle of mootness, cited by the SCC in Borowski, would not be applicable because the important legal issues would not only not be decided but the decision of the LAT would be in conflict with the governing statutes, governing regulations and its own LAT Rules.

It does not reference this court's jurisdiction or address why the Application was not brought before a single judge of the Divisional Court, sitting as a judge of the Superior Court of Justice.

[25]SNIC and Primmum operate under the trade name, which is a combination of two registered trademarks in "TD Insurance Meloche Monnex", with the 'TD Insurance" owned by TD Bank and the Meloche Monnex owned by Meloche Monnex Inc. SNIC issues automobile (and home) insurance policies to alumni of various universities and those part of professional associations (the "Alumni Professional Program"). Primmum issues insurance policies to "employer groups".

[26]TDGIC issues insurance policies, by part of its namesake, to the "general public". Toronto has 416 area code landline telephone and fax numbers but not 905 telephone and fax numbers, and Burlington (and Markham) have 905 landline telephone and fax numbers but not 416 numbers. Mr. James V. Russell was appointed as the CEO of "TD Insurance Group" in the 2010's, and one of his stated goals was to increase the market share for "TD General" (TDGIC). This evidence provides the motive for why SNIC would allow TDGIC to be substituted for it during the LAT Proceeding without the name of TDGIC ever being present in a single communication since the MVA date of loss (the "Date Of Loss" or "DOL").

[27]If an Insured Person, who is also an injured person and often a lay litigant encountering the complexities of a SABS claim, may not keep completely accurate records of each and every fax that she has sent to an insurance company, the purported liable insurer can claim that it does not have the documents to which an injured person claims to have sent. In fact, herein this occurred with the initial adjuster for SNIC in Ms. Nurse claiming to not have certain documents that the Applicant delivered via fax. The Applicant obviously not your quintessential lay litigant had everything reduced to paper copy and saved in binders along with cloud storage whilst using an e-fax number. Affidavit #3 is an example of that attention to detail and record-keeping.

[32]Factually on many levels, this is not an JRPA Application, like the flurry of arbitral, judicial review and appellate decisions involving Zurich v. Chubb from 2009 to 2024 (the "Zurich Decisions") in that TDHA did not merely receive one completed OCF-1, like Chubb Insurance Company through some innocent mistake by an injured individual (Ms. Singh) involving her rental of vehicle and seeing the name of "Chubb" inside the car rental office. TDHA received the SABS Applicant's completed OCF-1, OCF-2, OCF-3, OCF-6 and OCF-19. It is also uncontroverted that TDHA, by being the only former commercial tenant at the East Mall Address (Etobicoke) received all the Applicant's OCF-18's that were submitted through HCAI.[32]

[47]As this ONSC will know, that is such a unique event by our SCC where they do not even wish to put any such amendments or clarity to a dissenting decision of the ONCA. While the justices in our province are not in the "business of counting their press clippings", it is a testament to how analytically sound The Honourable Justice Jurianz was in those dissenting reasons.

[57]In this JRPA Application, the issue of whether a lawyer like Mr. Nieuwland could act for TDGIC for six months then act for SNIC when NOM #8 was granted in the Applicant's favour, despite six months of opposition and then non-opposition [not consent], thereafter, is not at issue per se. However, the backdrop regarding the same is an important one.
[58]What about, as a "test case", the duties of insurance companies (and their counsel) in relation to their holding, controlling and/or possession (solely, jointly or constructively) that are: (i) neither an underwriter nor a First Insurer, and masquerade as the liable insurance company in the LAT Proceeding; (ii) the obligations of a First Insurer who remains anonymous until effectively caught as having the mailing address and/or fax number that provides unequivocal proof that it was a First Insurer; and (iii) the obligations of an underwriter, who was not the First Insurer, who carries on as the solely liable insurance company but then does not participate after filing the sole Response, pursuant to section 280(2) of the Insurance Act, in a LAT proceeding?
[59]Pursuant to section 280(1) of the Insurance Act, "this section applies with respect to the resolution of disputes in respect of an insured person's entitlement to statutory accident benefits or in respect of the amount of statutory accident benefits to which an insured person is entitled." Pursuant to ss. 280(2) of the Insurance Act, "The insured person or the insurer may apply to the Licence Appeal Tribunal to resolve a dispute described in subsection (1)". No person may bring a proceeding in any court with respect to a dispute described in subsection (1), other than an appeal from a decision of the Licence Appeal Tribunal or an application for judicial review: ss. 280(3) of the Insurance Act. The dispute shall be resolved in accordance with the Statutory Accident Benefits Schedule

[61](see: "statutory accident benefits" mean the benefits set out in the regulations made under paragraphs 9 and 10 of subsection 121 (1) of the Insurance Act; see: section 121(a): "121 (1) The Lieutenant Governor in Council may make regulations").
[62]The Applicant notified SNIC, pursuant to the Schedule, s. 32, in early September 2022, that he wished to apply for benefits making SNIC not only the Sole Underwriter but the First Notified Insurer.
[63]The Applicant, in his capacity as a SABS applicant, sent the Completed Application [OCF-1] to the North York Fax Number on October 12, 2022. Ergo, at law, the SABS Applicant sent, or "served" only one Completed Application to only one insurer in TDHA. TDHA was the sole insurer that first received (the "First Insurer") the SABS* Applicant's Completed Application.
[64]In fact, and at law, SNIC did not stop the Applicant from submitting his Completed Application to TDHA in that it provided him with the TDHA Fax Number. It is the word "accept" that is so pivotal in this JRPA* Application by VCM's choice of language at paragraph 27 therein.
[65]"first party insurer" means the insurer responsible under subsection 268 (2) of the Act for the payment of statutory accident benefits; ("assureur de première part"): Automobile Insurance, RRO 1990, Reg 664, s 9, <https://canlii.ca/t/tlw#sec9>,
[66]The word "accept" is of great importance considering the finding by VCM, without any evidence in the record of proceeding to support the same, that TDGIC and SNIC jointly accepted priority of the Applicant's [sic] insurance policy [sic] (see: paragraph 27 of the VCM Decision).
[67]As SNIC was the Sole Underwriter in the Insurance Policy, the Applicant has alleged that SNIC (as First Notified Insurer) breached section 2.1(5) of Reg 283 by taking action, with intent (as it knew that its fax number was not the North York Office Fax Number), to prevent or stop the Applicant from submitting his Completed OCF-1 to it [SNIC] as it is an out-of-province insurer.
[68]In relation to the lack of promptness, SNIC somehow sent the Applicant's accident benefits package to the wrong postal code address yet his Spouse received her accident benefits package to the correct postal code when they lived in the same residence
[69]Further, the Applicant provided uncontroverted evidence that SNIC failed to provide its correct facsimile address in the Completed Application but instead provided the fax number of TDHA and thereby breached subsection 2.1(3) of Reg 283.
[70]Reimbursement by the non-compliant insurer during the period of non-compliance (see: ss. 2.1(7) of Reg 283): (i) legal fees; (ii) adjuster's fees; (iii) administrative costs; and (iv) disbursements
[72]Whether SNIC was to remain for costs purposes in the McLean LAT Proceeding was a matter of discretion, but the sole respondent insurance company as a matter of obligations under Reg 283, SABS and Reg 664 was not. However, the Applicant's argument was encapsulated by a rhetorical question: why should he not have any ability to seek costs against SNIC for its conduct in the LAT Proceeding that he alleged and alleges was unreasonable, frivolous, and in bad faith? Costs are not a matter that relate to the Insurance Act, and the binding regulations herein (SABS and Reg 283), as the Tribunal passed them under a different statute: section 17.1 of the SPPA. Put another way, is the Applicant's time not worth anything when it required hundreds of hours to obtain the order in NOM #8?
[73]Even when the OCF-19 was fax delivered, in November 2023, to the VP Bldg. 4th Floor Fax Number, and when SNIC's fax number (Burlington 905 Fax Number) was blocking the same, SNIC responded by misidentifying one of the legal tests for a duly completed OCF-19 and merely enclosed a copy of a blank OCF-19. Moreover, when considering the Forged Signature in the OCF-18, last page only, it could not have been SNIC, although it appeared that way in HCAI by insurer name but NOT physical address, with the "As per A. Nurse", it was TDHA's address (East Mall Etobicoke Address) that received the duly completed OCF-18 at first instance. Perhaps, this is why Ms. Nurse, an adjuster, was not amenable to executing the same.
[74]The same would have been applicable to TD Staff Legal and Mr. Nieuwland with its fax and his listed fax number with the LSO. Said unappealed findings are determinative that neither SNIC nor TDGIC were the First Insurers by way of the fax served Completed Application upon the 4th Floor VP Building Fax Number which was TDHA.
[75]"If the Licence Appeal Tribunal finds that an insurer has unreasonably withheld or delayed payments, the Licence Appeal Tribunal, in addition to awarding the benefits and interest to which an insured person is entitled under the Statutory Accident Benefits Schedule, may award a lump sum of up to 50 per cent of the amount to which the person was entitled at the time of the award together with interest on all amounts then owing to the insured (including unpaid interest) at the rate of 2 per cent per month, compounded monthly, from the time the benefits first became payable under the Schedule. O. Reg. 43/16, s. 4.".

[77]It is trite that while the Tribunal is required to determine whether Mr. McLean was entitled to certain benefits and in what amounts, it also must determine which insurance company was and is liable for certain benefits and at what times. It can only do that if that the First Insurer is found to be TDHA and that decision must come from the ONSC.
[78] There was no evidence and none in the Application Record that TDHA, or any insurer, ever did so. Even on the convoluted, tortuous, unsupported and absurd logic of VCM that SNIC and TDGIC accepted priority over the Insurance Policy, there was some form of "transfer of the claim" to TDGIC which would have required notice to, at least, TDGIC and the SABS Applicant. No evidence was ever provided of such written notice to either.
[79]Mr. McLean was also entitled to object to SNIC (and TDGIC as he had done previously) having any control or possession of his TD Claim #3 relating to "confidential information" and documents not subsequently received by it in accordance with standardized language in the OCF-1 and PIPEDA. There is no dispute that TD Claim #3 was transferred from TDHA to TDGIC and SNIC. SNIC claimed to have received documents but not directly from the Applicant. SNIC purported to respond or did respond to the Applicant in relation to some communications but not all communications. TDGIC then surfaced at the LAT Proceeding but only after inclusion by the Tribunal without the consent of the Applicant or without any legal authority. SNIC filed its Response ("SNIC Response") on January 25, 2024, and then Mr. Nieuwland filed a DOR on behalf of TDGIC – not SNIC. The charade continued for six months until Mr. McLean, relying on Mr. Nieuwland's misrepresentations in non-transcribed case conference, which was yet another irremediable nullity and without statutory power as TDGIC was a non-party, that SNIC and TDGIC were "one and the same" and "this is how we always do it" (in relation to TDGIC being some sort of insurance company that came "off the bench" to provide a "spark" to the "defence" for SNIC as if it were some kind of sporting event). While there is no dispute of some form of transfer from TDHA to SNIC and, of course, with some unknown terms and conditions involving TDGIC on some basis perhaps on a joint level but more likely some form of "staggered interventions" based on unknown terms and conditions in this "subsequent clandestine agreement", there are no particulars in the decision of VCM. Moreover, any such transfer was without notice to Mr. McLean, and without compliance with Reg 283. The scheme of Reg 283 requires substantive and procedural compliance and TDHA along with SNIC and TDGIC intentionally breached Reg 283 without any form of attempt to cure the same. The required FSRA form did not matter to TDHA. The closest evidence that this ONSC has is a fax from an unknown fax number to Mr. McLean that TDHA had no record of his claim as of March 2023 (and then another letter in August 2024 albeit after NOM #14 and NOM #15). It was a fax without any semblance of compliance with Reg 283, and SABS to some degree, and the FSRA Form 143. It directed Mr. McLean to other fax numbers in Calgary, Montreal, New Brunswick and Burlington without reference to any insurance company. Mr. McLean was entitled, after lengthy investigation and fortuitous discoveries, was entitled to object and required to bring the issue forward as to TDHA not complying with its duties to respond and to pay benefits as the First Insurer.
[80]Due to the public importance of the issues herein, the Applicant respectfully, yet forcefully, notes that the LGIC did not create any ability for an insured person (applicant) to consent or sanitize the breaches that have occurred herein. Put another way, the LGIC did not pass any provisions that would authorize an insured person to sanitize or remedy such clandestine breaches to provide post-facto consideration that cure such non-compliance with Reg 283. Therefore, this undisclosed agreement by the respondent insurance companies, known to the Tribunal but not the Applicant, has no legal force or effect. The purposes of the inflexible prescribed regulations are to promote compliance with the statutory scheme and not to assist insurance companies and insured persons in isolated incidents so that an "insured person" can assist delinquent and felonious activities. To not set aside the VCM Decision and replace it with a correct decision, while the ONSC commences ab initio, would represent a precedent that contains a "slippery slope". Perhaps, "insurance companies" like this collection of respondent insurance companies may send a late notice with a semi-contemporaneous phone call to an insured person that may be in the form of a bribe so that the "checks and balances" of various regulatory bodies (FSRA, LSO, OPCC et al) do not catch "wind of the unlawful scheme".
[81][3] .... The test for res judicata was applied by the Adjudicator as follows (Decision, para. 12). In my view, the four preconditions for res judicata are satisfied. The parties are the same in both proceedings. The prior claim was within the jurisdiction of the Tribunal. The decision in the first application was based on the merits. The Tribunal reviewed the submissions and evidence and found that the applicant was not entitled to the IRB or found that the applicant was not entitled to IRBs for the period of January 14, 2020 to date and ongoing. Moreover, he was not entitled to payment for the November 9, 2019 accounting report. The first decision was a final decision because he did not file a reconsideration request and nor did he appeal the decision.
[5] A LAT decision is final and authoritative, subject to a party's rights of reconsideration or appeal from that decision. A party that disagrees with a LAT decision may not ignore that decision and recommence the same claims all over again. That is what the Appellant has done in this case. Even if the LAT erred in the first decision and decided the case on the basis of an issue that was not before it, that error would not have deprived the LAT of jurisdiction. The LAT's second decision is correct in law; this appeal fails on the merits.

[85]This ONSC can take judicial notice that SNIC and TDGIC could not even correctly represent the amount of benefits paid to the Applicant in May 2024 which leaves only one other insurance company, by reference to the fax number of 416.774.3120, that would correctly know the same.

[87]A change in the title of proceeding in this case potentially affects every Commission case involving the present insurer. [96]Of note, the Applicant is not challenging the decision of the Tribunal that did not find a reasonably perceived conflict of interest as a preliminary issue therein but rather he is challenging the decisions and orders of VCM that did not add TDHA as a party – at the very least so the Applicant could advance the argument of which insurance company was liable to respond and pay benefits. Since SNIC was and is not the First Insurer, as, in fact, found by the Tribunal or not found to not be, and TDGIC was already removed by non-opposition by TDGIC, then it leaves Primmum and SNIC. Primmum and SNIC have a bond with respect to the "TD Insurance Meloche Monnex" programs. The only insurance company in the TDI Group that was located at the Material Time at the VP Building with the fax of 416.774.3120 was TDHA. Former case manager Mr. Grant even admitted, on May 6, 2024, as a matter of optics, how the Tribunal viewed "TD Insurance" as being one of two companies: (i) TDGIC; and (ii) TDHA.

[100]This is particularly the case when the Applicant has drawn it to the attention of not only the Tribunal but VCM when she made the same mistake previously.
[101]In November 2017, one Ms. Karen E. Shepard wrote to then The Honourable Speaker Furey (Senate of our Parliament), "Pursuant to section 10.5 of the Lobbying Act, I have the honour of presenting to you a Report on Investigation on the lobbying activities of Trina Morissette for tabling in the Senate. The investigation was conducted in accordance with the provisions of section 10.4 of the Act." A key duty of government officials is to interact with citizens. The Lobbying Act ensures that Canadians and public office holders know who is communicating with the government and on what subject.
[102]While similar fact evidence is presumptively inadmissible and must be pleaded in civil court proceedings, being one of the exceptions to pleading evidence, this was not a court proceeding and the probative value of the similar fact evidence of an adjudicator and Vice Chair who is fashioning decisions with pejorative language, slights at the Applicant, and sanctimoniously accusing him of abusing the process. The VCM Decision almost rings in a covert threat to stay away from "pandora's box". For the Court's edification, Mr. McLean doubled down on his FIPPA request including Mr. Sean Weir, Executive Chair of Tribunals Ontario, but without a response. He then tripled down by including the Attorney General Of Ontario in Mr. Downey as the LAT is a body of MAG and based on the recent, publicly available, MOU, Mr. Weir was delegated the authority of an "institutional head" by the AGO. How shameful can it get when the LAT requests payment of fees to obtain records and has 30 days to provide a response, then does not provide one, then the adolescent excuses flowed with "technical difficulties" and then stonewalling. It may perhaps be a fresh evidence matter. The conduct involving Ms. Morrissette was of such a serious nature that one Ms. Shephard had to immediately suspend her investigation and refer the matter to the Royal Canadian Mounted Police: "An administrative review concerning this matter was opened in February of 2015. It involved interviews, a review of correspondence and other materials and an examination of Ms. Trina Morissette's work on behalf of the Canadian Red Cross (CRC). In November of 2015, I opened an investigation based upon information provided to me in an administrative review report prepared by the Investigations Directorate of my Office. In accordance with subsection 10.4(8)[102] of the Act, I immediately suspended my investigation and referred this matter to the Royal Canadian Mounted Police (RCMP), as I had reasonable grounds to believe that a breach of the Lobbying Act had occurred. In December of 2016, I was informed by the RCMP following their investigation that no charges would be laid in the matter. The RCMP had determined that it was not in the public interest to prosecute Ms. Morissette." The RCMP did not find that she had not breached the Criminal Code, which is an astonishing matter considering it involved Ms. Morrissette's activities as a lobbyist for a well-known charity in the Red Cross, but it was not in the public interest to prosecute. That is an entirely different finding than there were not reasonable and probable grounds to charge. Ms. Morrissette was subject to the five-year prohibition and restrictions on lobbying after being a designated public office holder which implies that she had a role in government prior to her switch to the charitable activities of the CRC. "Prior to starting work as the CRC's manager of Government Relations in 2014, Ms. Morissette had worked as a member of a federal minister's staff from 2009 to 2013. Her final day as a member of a minister's staff was on June 14, 2013Investigator Shephard found: "I have concluded that Ms. Morissette was in breach of Rule 2 (Accurate Information) of the Lobbyists' Code of Conduct (1997), as well as the Principles of Professionalism and Integrity and Honesty in the Code." There are some obvious inaccuracies in the VCM Decision and she was given a chance to correct the same by the Applicant's section 21.1 of the SPPA motion and she has apparently decided not to correct the same despite carrying on with other rulings in this LAT Proceeding. It would quite one thing if VCM cross-referenced her findings to evidence in the record of proceeding or even an email that she found between Mr. Grant and another individual or representative of @tdinsurance.com but there is not even a scintilla of the same. Under the "Lessons Learned", Investigator Shepard found: "the purpose of the five-year prohibition is to ensure that designated public office holders do not use information and personal connections derived from those positions to the advantage of interests that they lobby on behalf of. This is in the public interest because it ensures that Canadians can have confidence in the integrity of government decision-making." LAT is a body of government and the MAG no less. It is where this court has to exercise its supervisory jurisdiction to ensure the conduct of VCM and to some extent VCL, who was on notice of a potential conflict of interest relayed to one Mr. Grant but then snapped out a decision in relation to NOM #7 and then was presumed gone until October 2024, is realigned with the integrity and professionalism requirements of a decision maker with the Tribunal. However, lobbying public office holders should be done in a transparent manner and in conformity with high standards of conduct (see: Investigator Shepard). The same applies to the decision-making process of the LAT. She worked for the CRC for approximately 16 months as she returned to the Minister of Health in late 2014. It is unclear if she was fired. Pursuant to subsection 10.11(1) of the Lobbying Act, when Ms. Morissette ceased being a designated public office holder from 2013 until her return to work as a ministerial exempt staff in October of 2014, she was subject to the prohibition on lobbying. As of November 2017, she no longer worked in the public sector, "Ms. Morissette no longer works in the public sector". However, she returned to the provincial public sector at some point thereafter by of being an adjudicator at LAT. "Although officials of the Canadian Red Cross and Ms. Morissette indicated that her position with the CRC was initially to be "behind the scenes," they recalled having discussed the topic of lobbying during her interview. Once she was employed by the CRC, Ms. Morissette was asked to lobby on behalf of the organization. In fact, the CRC submitted monthly communication reports in the Registry of Lobbyists for meetings in which Ms. Morissette was the only representative of the organization. Ms. Morissette's employment description, the CRC letter of disclosure to the OCL and other information obtained during the investigation indicate that, on the occasions when Ms. Morissette communicated with designated public office holders, she did so on behalf of her employer, the CRC." "In her letter of response to me, she acknowledged her obligations as a former designated public office holder and recognized that there could be consequences arising from her mistake. She confirmed that once she discovered that she had made an error [sic] regarding the application of the five-year prohibition to her, she took steps to remedy her error. She offered to disclose the fact of her error to my Office, and she offered to resign as an employee of the CRC." It is unclear whether that offer came to fruition. "When Ms. Morissette provided information about the Lobbying Act to the Canadian Red Cross, relying, in part, on her own interpretation of the Lobbying Act, Ms. Morissette provided information that was inaccurate to her employer. Ms. Morissette did not use proper care to avoid providing that inaccurate information regarding the application of the five-year prohibition on lobbying. As a result, Ms. Morissette was in breach of Rule 2 (Accurate information) of the Lobbyists' Code of Conduct." Vice Chair Morrissette has been given a chance to clarity and correct errors in the VCM Decisions but she has not done so. The fact that her decision was apparently dated on September 6, 2024, being the same date as the Applicant paying fees to the LAT privacy division is rather ironic and suspicious considering the decision is signed on September 12, 2024. Following Ms. Morissette's inquiries to the OCL concerning the application of the five-year prohibition to her lobbying activities, Ms. Morissette continued to engage in lobbying."" By engaging in registrable lobbying activity while prohibited from lobbying under the Lobbying Act, Ms. Morissette did not observe the highest professional and ethical standards. The breach of Rule 2 (Accurate information) and of the prohibition on lobbying do not meet the high standards for lobbyists that are necessary to ensure Canadians that lobbying is conducted transparently and ethically in accordance with the Lobbying Act. As a result, Ms. Morissette was in breach of the Principle of Professionalism in the Code.

[110] R.M. v CAA Insurance, 2020 CanLII 94775 (ON LAT), <https://canlii.ca/t/jbwwr>, retrieved on 2024-12-10
[111][nota bene: TDHA is an insurer. Mr. McLean has recourse for the payment of SABS against TDHA as TDHA is bound by Reg 283. A breach of Reg 283 is legally equivalent to a breach of SABS. Moreover, various sections of SABS reference the "first insurer" (i.e. receipt of the Completed Application) which imposed, and continues to impose obligations upon TDHA, to: (i) respond; and (ii) pay.

[112]TDHA: October 13, 2022, by way of fax from Mr. McLean to TDHA albeit unbeknownst to him until August 2024
[113]In this hypothetical, it would have been TDHA
[114]Singular
[115]Duty to pay, albeit the updated A07 Bulleting from 2010 (May) which was the bases for the amendments to Reg 283 in 2010 includes the duty to respond.
[116]In this hypothetical, it would have been McLean
[117]Based upon the VCM Decision, paragraph 27, it would have been a dispute between TDHA, as First Insurer, and SNIC, the Sole Underwriter and First Notified Insurer, and TDGIC, neither an underwriter nor a First Insurer and not even a First Notified Insurer but a "Fictitious Respondent" in the LAT Proceeding.
[118]One of three
[119]THE INSURER: TDHA
[120]Not "having already been transferred after October 13, 2022"
[121]Transfer of a claim objection rights
[122]Had TDHA sent the notice, then it would have been SNIC that was paying at the time, so it would have been a challenge to SNIC paying while TDHA was the First Insurer
[123]The LAT Proceeding is "any proceeding". The JRPA Application is "any proceeding". Although Mr. McLean did not have any "claim transfer objection rights" as TDHA failed to extend the same to him. Moreover, Mr. McLean did not have any "proceeding participation rights" as it relates to any potential arbitration before an arbitration pursuant to the Ontario legislation or statute known as the "Arbitration Act, 1991". Moreover, TDHA could not advance an arbitration without having paid any benefits to Mr. McLean. If TDHA was the payor of some or all of the $1499.98, then it could technically advance an arbitration claim but only after it provided a notice of potential transfer of claim pursuant to A143. However, it would be, if it did so in the month of December 2024, some 700 days late. Pursuant to Reg 283, section 2 and Zurich 2024, TDHA was provisionally liable to pay benefits from October 13, 2022, to January 10, 2023, (the "Provisional Payment Period"), and then permanently liable after January 10, 2023, subject to giving it notice of a transfer claim (A143) and then providing clear, cogent and convincing evidence as to why the 90 day period was insufficient to make a determination that another insurer or insurers (nota bene: conceivable could be two under section 268 per se) is liable under section 268; AND the insurer [TDHA] made the reasonable [nota bene: objective person standard] investigations necessary to determine if another insurer was liable within the 90 day period (see: section 3(2) of the Reg 283, passed in 1995, which was the year that Reg 283 was passed by its namesake, "Reg 283/95". Where there is a dispute as to whether a First Insurer, like TDHA, had not given notice to other insurers and an Applicant pursuant to its receipt of a Completed Application by fax or mail, shall be resolved in an ARBITRATION pursuant to section 7 of Reg 283 (see: ss. 3(3) of Reg 283). Pursuant to ss. 7(1) of Reg 283, it is ONLY an insurer that has been paying benefits under section 2 (nota bene: reference to section 268 of the Insurance Act (1990) and Reg 283 passed in 1995) OR section 2.1 (nota bene: relating to an Accident (see: SABS, definition section), that occurred after September 1, 2010 and requires the dispute to be resolved in accordance with the Regulation 283 (not Insurance Act)) OR any other insurer against who the obligation to pay benefits is claimed. Subsection 3(3) dovetails to subsection 7(3) with a one year prescribed limitation period but that is tied to the insurer, 'first giving notice' under section 3 which is the insurers that it believes are liable to pay the benefits and the insured person, in his or her capacity as an "Applicant" after sending a Completed Application and it being received first by an insurance company making said insurance company the "First Insurer". However, if the First Insurer does not give a notice, pursuant to section 3(1) of Reg 283 within 90 days (often means counting the "first day" and "last day"), it loses all of its dispute rights to pay benefits subject to overcoming the strenuous legal test under section 3(2) of Reg 283. It is here where TDHA, would hypothetically speaking, never be able to overcome said test by a decision of any reasonably-minded arbitrator rending a decision regarding the application of the facts to the legal test under ss. 3(2) of Reg 283. TDHA is an Ontario based insurer (not an out of province insurance company) and was the co-tenant with TDGIC at the "Spark Building", "North York Office Building" or the "VP Building" located at 3650 Victoria Park Avenue, District of North York, City of Toronto, where TDHA was located on the 4th floor (4th to 6th floors) with a fax of 416.774.3120 and its co-tenant in TDGIC had a fax number of 416.774.3629 and it was the commercial tenant on floors 7 to 9. By review of the information scribed on the Application (OCF-1), it had a sufficient period of time to make a determination that another insurer or insurers were liable under section 268 of the Act.
[124]Hence, by SNIC intentionally, as sworn by McLean, redirecting the Applicant to TDHA at first instance, and then purportedly paying benefits (unclear if that name is correct), TDHA became the First Insurer by McLean faxing of the same to it on October 13, 2022. However, if TDHA was the "actual payor" of the direct deposits at said time then it could have provided this notice to McLean. It was then caught in another dilemma by the fact that the representative known to McLean was that of Ms. Nurse of SNIC. Therefore, TDHA would have had to provide a phone number and representative for TDHA which would have caused issues and concerns for McLean.

Affidavit #2 of Kevin A. McLean in this JRPA Proceeding

(Affidavit in support of the request for leave under section 6(2) of the JRPA)

I, Kevin Alexander McLean, Disabled (B.A., J.D., CIM) of Toronto, Ontario, SWEAR THAT:

Volume #1: Sworn Under Oath; under the Penalty of Perjury; and Introduction

1. I am the individual JRPA Applicant herein and I swear, under the pains and penalties of perjury, the following facts to be true. Where I have stated or sworn information on my belief(s), I have cited the source of my belief(s) by references, citations, end-noting or otherwise. When I have used the expressions (including any permutations) of "in my view", "in my opinion", or "belief", I am not drawing or making any conclusion of law or swearing a conclusion of law but rather citing my position and opinions as a matter of fact.

2. I commenced drafting this affidavit on December 30, 2024.

3. Where double underlining has been utilized, the double underlining is mine and added for emphasis.

4. Where I have copied and pasted or quoted from my "Oral Outline" (currently in draft form), which is cross-referenced to the Oral Compendium, which has a hyperlinked and bookmarked index, I have not done so to make any legal argument but to provide context for my positions.

5. I adopt the definitions from this JRPA Proceeding herein and they have the same meaning herein as they do therein.

6. This is my second affidavit in this JRPA Proceeding herein. My first affidavit was the affidavit of service that was filed and served after the filing of my certificate of perfection (the "Certificate Of Perfection").

7. I repeat and rely upon the facts in my correspondence to the ONSC Divisional Court with copies to counsel for the various respondents herein. I adopt the facts therein as my evidence herein on a factual level but in relation to my positions that I have advanced, am advancing and will advance in a hearing before a single justice of the ONSC.

8. I filed and paid for my JRPA Application on November 15, 2024. I served the same on the Tribunal, AGO, and the Respondent Insurance Companies.

9. When referring to the "Respondent Insurance Companies" in relation to this JRPA Proceeding and particularly SNIC and TDHA as it relates to NOM #14 and #15.

10. I have not made any judicial review application regarding NOM #13 which was a document production motion involving TDGIC.

11. The Respondent Insurance Companies did not, in my view and my belief, file a notice of appearance on a forthwith basis. I raised an objection in relation to the same.

12. I filed and served my factum (the "Applicant's Factum" or "Factum") on December 10, 2024.

13. I filed and served my application record on December 12, 2024 (the "Application Record").

14. In relation to my Factum, I included all of the authorities that I intended to and intend to rely upon in relation to the merits of the hearing of my JRPA Application.

15. Since that time, I have, inter alia, put the respondents on notice that my reading of the JRPA is that the Tribunal was required to file the record of proceeding forthwith (see: section 10 of the JRPA) but I have not had a responsive email or letter in relation to the same.

16. On Friday, December 13, 2024, I filed and paid for my certificate of perfection (the "COP" or "Certificate of Perfection"). I also filed and served an affidavit of service on or around the same day.

17. As a result of the same, I am including in my oral argument for the urgent hearing before a single justice of the ONSC authorities that relate to the same.

18. I have also included further authorities in relation to the test for leave pursuant to section 6(2) of the JRPA.

19. For ease of reference, I copy and paste from the JRPA section 6:

> Application to Divisional Court
>
> 6 (1) Subject to subsection (2), an application for judicial review shall be made to the Divisional Court. R.S.O. 1990, c. J.1, s. 6 (1).
>
> Application to judge of Superior Court of Justice
>
> (2) An application for judicial review may be made to the Superior Court of Justice with leave of a judge thereof, which may be granted at the hearing of the application, where it is made to appear to the judge that the case is one of urgency and that the delay required for an application to the Divisional Court is likely to involve a failure of justice. R.S.O. 1990, c. J.1, s. 6 (2); 2006, c. 19, Sched. C, s. 1 (1).
>
> Transfer to Divisional Court
> (3) Where a judge refuses leave for an application under subsection (2), he or she may order that the application be transferred to the Divisional Court. R.S.O. 1990, c. J.1, s. 6 (3).
> Appeal to Court of Appeal
> (4) An appeal lies to the Court of Appeal, with leave of the Court of Appeal, from a final order of the Superior Court of Justice disposing of an application for judicial review pursuant to leave granted under subsection (2). R.S.O. 1990, c. J.1, s. 6 (4); 2006, c. 19, Sched. C, s. 1 (1).

20. I pleaded the relief sought under section 6(2) of the JRPA in my JRPA Application. I made my JRPA Application to the ONSC Divisional Court at first instance. I am seeking the relief that in the event that the ONSC (single justice) does not grant leave that the JRPA Proceeding is transferred to the Divisional Court (ONSC) for hearing.

21. For ease of reference, I quote from Part 1: Divisional Court Proceedings, Part F of the Practice Direction

26. Within two weeks after an application or appeal is commenced, or a motion is filed, the parties shall send an email to the court setting out,

    a. any preliminary issues;
    b. a draft proposed or agreed schedule for the exchange of court documents; and
    c. the proposed hearing length required (e.g. half a day for panel hearings).

22. I now note, after review of my emails with the ONSC Divisional Court and the respondents that I do not have a copy of the positions of the Respondent Insurance Companies in relation to the required information relating to, inter alia: (i) any preliminary objections, (ii) exchange of documents; and (iii) length of hearing.

23. For ease of reference, this is the only email that I have from Mr. Nieuwland in this IRPA Proceeding:

Privileged and/or Confidential"

24. While I appreciate the request by the Tribunal for a case conference, I have opposed the same. I also note, for the benefit of the ONSC Divisional Court, that the references in the Practice Direction to "parties" attending the case conference. My position is that until the Respondent Insurance Companies have complied with the requirement of providing the ONSC Divisional Court with the above, that having a case conference without knowing the preliminary objections (if any) of the Respondent Insurance Companies, and their time estimate, that it would be futile and wasteful of resources.

25. I now copy and paste from the Practice Direction:

"G. Triage and Case Management

31. All applications, appeals, and motions in Divisional Court, and all steps in those proceedings, may be subject to judicial case management. The purpose of case management is to facilitate access to justice through the timely adjudication of proceedings in Divisional Court in a cost-effective and proportional manner."

26. While I have asked Mr. Nieuwland via email, with the ONSC Divisional Court copied along with the other respondents, if we could hear from him regarding the same, I have not received any response.

27. My position, after review of the jurisprudence including but not limited to Hutchinson v. Aviva[1], Drewlo Holdings Inc.[2], Birani v. Tarion Warranty Corporation, Ontario (Energy Board), Goodis, Northwestern Utilities, Leon's Furniture, et al, that the Tribunal, particularly the LAT in AAB5 matters, has been limited to the following participatory rights:

a. The record and explaining it in relation to said LAT proceeding;
b. Any procedural fairness that have arisen (but not bias or natural justice per se);
c. 15 page factum;
d. 15 minute oral argument;
e. No seeking of costs by the Tribunal;
f. Avoidance of any duplication of the respondent insurance company(ies) arguments;
g. No argument on the merits of this JRPA Application;
h. No arguments on the outcome of this JRPA Application;
i. the limitation of the appeal to questions of law or an extricable question of law from a finding of mixed fact and law;
j. the applicable standard of review of correctness within the context of the Board's specialized function, k. procedural fairness as it relates to the tribunal's ability to make procedural choices and the extent to which the Board may consider law or argument not raised by the parties, and
l. Others listed in my Oral Outline and Oral Compendium.

28. I further note in order to avoid any duplication of arguments by the Tribunal of the Respondent Insurance Companies, the Respondent Insurance Companies will need to file and serve a copy of their Factum (if any). If they are not intending to respond to my Factum and Application Record, then I believe, in accordance with the principles of having timely adjudication of this JRPA Proceeding in a cost-effective manner, that the Respondent Insurance Companies must notify all interested parties and persons including the ONSC Divisional Court.

29. I note in relation to section 10 of the JRPA, and by reference to section 20 of the SPPA, that the Tribunal has not, based on my understanding of the word "forthwith", filed the record of proceeding (the "Record Of Proceeding") forthwith.

30. I have reason to believe that the Tribunal does not have possession of the entire Record Of Proceeding or each and every filed document that would constitute the Record Of Proceeding as it is interpreted by jurisprudence that has interpreted section 20 of the SPPA.

31. I ground my belief based upon the following current submission in my Oral Outline (Draft Version):

> "[35] With great respect to the former case manager in Mr. Grant, his explanations regarding why he apparently input TDGIC do not pass muster. He requested that the Applicant provide the denial letters, which were already contained in the LAT Appeal by way of pre-LAT Appeal affidavits, and they contained the sole of SNIC with its two locations of Markham and Burlington and neither location housed the landline fax number of 416.774.3120. The mere fact that Mr. Grant would be responsible for the "parties' names are correct" is a scary cogitation. This is the same Mr. Grant that represented to the SABS Applicant that he could not file, when his file number was not recognized in the e-filing portal that it was due to a "power outage". It was about as believable as his previous representations about why he input TDGIC as the sole respondent over the very name in the "denial letters". The Applicant also notes that at various times thereafter that Mr. Grant sent the Applicant, with SNIC copied after the granting of NOM #8 (which was not by consent as VCM found), the style of cause of "McLean v. TDGIC" (or permutations of the same).

32. I also provide this affidavit #2 to ensure that I have provided notice to any parties or interested persons that I will have be advancing the argument on said date, by way of reference to my "Oral Outline", that not only am I entitled to leave to have the merits determined in such fashion but that the Respondent Insurance Companies (SNIC and THDA) are bound by the Keeprite standard ("Keeprite Standard"), as interpreted in the case of Keeprite and the Tribunal's standing and participation rights are limited.

33. I am also taking the position currently and will take the position that since the Tribunal has not filed a record of proceeding forthwith that it is not entitled to participate until it has done so. I am advancing the alternative position, which has only arisen as a result of the non-compliance with the JRPA and other statutes, enactments, policies and/or guides since the filing of the Applicant's Factum, that if the Tribunal is entitled to participate in this JRPA Proceeding.

34. To the extent that the Tribunal does not file the Record Of Proceedings or is unable to do so, my position will be that it cannot speak about the "record" to the ONSC (single justice) or the ONSC Divisional Court if I am not able to obtain leave.

VOLUME #2: URGENCY AND FAILURE OF JUSTICE (ON BELIEF): TIMING AND STRUCTURE OF THIS AFFIDAVIT

35. Due to the urgency of this case and that the Hearing Proper before the Tribunal in the LAT Appeal is set for January 25, 2024, I may provide an additional affidavit with exhibits.

36. I believe, without making any legal argument, herein that that this case is urgent based upon the facts pleaded in my JRPA Application, the facts in my Factum, correspondence, and that the Hearing Proper is set for January 25, 2025, and it involves, as submitted, the Sole Underwriter (SNIC) that did not first receive my Completed Application (OCF-1) on October 13, 2022.

37. I believe and allege, without making any legal argument, that there will be a failure of justice.

38. In my "Oral Outline" (draft form) that is cross-referenced to Oral Compendium, I have defined the following as [endnotes removed]:

a. "Urgent" means "requiring immediate action or attention";
b. "Likely" involves the balance of probabilities standard;
c. "Failure" means the "omission of occurrence or performance"; and
d. "Justice" is defined as: the quality of being just, impartial, or fair: the quality of conforming to law; and conformity to truth, fact, or reason : correctness.

39. In my "Oral Outline" (draft), I have for purposes of the test under section 6(2) of the JRPA and noting that evidence may need to be lead in relation to obtaining leave before a single justice, I have relied (implicitly or explicitly) on the following cases which I now copy and paste:

> Her Majesty the Queen, 2013 ONSC 6418, "[11] While Mr. Borton did not file an affidavit saying that he had lost his home, it seems obvious to me that Mr. Borton is suffering economically and that the uncertainty of a hearing date in the Divisional Court creates a real risk of there being a failure of justice. The prejudice to Mr. Borton grows with each passing day: prejudice he can only mitigate by capitulating or by finding an available day for argument."

Cureatz v. Progressive Party of Canada, [1997] O.J. No. 2309 (Gen. Div.), LaForme J., as he then was, accepted jurisdiction to determine the matter, sitting as a single judge of the Divisional Court pursuant to s. 6(2) of the JRPA, while adopting various authorities, found: "In view of the fact that the Divisional Court is not able, in general, to deal with a question of urgency ... I take the view that s. 6(2) should be liberally construed. Thus, to my mind, the time that might be taken up before the Divisional Court can hear the matter is an important factor: Universal Settlements International v. Duscio, 2010 ONSC 6547 (CanLII), at para 6.

Universal Settlements International, the ONSC noted the stay of Justice Stinson was a factor in not granting leave and that stay remaining in effect while said JRPA application was transferred to the ONSC Divisional Court pursuant to section 6(3).

In Savone, the Justice TD Ray found, at paragraph 8, that where a judicial review involves only interlocutory orders and decisions, then it is unlikely leave will be granted. The unassailable corollary is when final orders are at issue or to be determined a failure of justice is likely if the single justice of the ONSC does not assume jurisdiction.

The merits of an application are important factors in determining whether there will be a failure of justice: Savone.

VOLUME #2(A): RECORD OF PROCEEDING

40. I am concerned that with the Tribunal's failure to file the Record of Proceeding forthwith and that it may be attempting to delay the timely adjudication of this JRPA Proceeding and/or it does not have the full and accurate Record Of Proceeding. I provide the source of my beliefs above.

VOLUME #3: MERITS (AS A FACTOR IN CONSIDERATION THE SECTION 6(2) OF THE JRPA

VOLUME #3(A): FINAL ORDERS VS. INTERLOCUTORY

41. While I am not making any legal argument herein, I provide the ONSC Divisional Court by way of this affidavit #2, to be filed and served, in support of my request, wherein I have filed and served Requisition #2 on December 24, 2024, to be heard in front of a single justice of the ONSC pursuant to section 6(2) of the JRPA, my current submissions in the Oral Outline regarding the above heading:

However, the adding of the party of TDHA as the First Insurer, along with the concomitant sought orders pursuant to the declaratory relief along the addition of those "causes of action" against "another". "Causes of action" is defined as: "a fact or facts that enable a person to bring an action against another".

As SNIC and TDGIC were not "one and the same", neither are SNIC and TDHA. Therefore, the dismissal of NOM #14 and NOM #15 by VCM, absent any analysis of the statutory scheme were decisions and orders that were final in nature: ME v Ontario" citing Atlas, Kerr et al.

Further authorities of our Ontario courts unequivocally support the unequivocal common law principles and precedents that to refuse relief to add a party, cause of action, and/or amendment of pleadings are final orders. Even motions that were dismissed that sought leave to issue third and fourth party claims were FINAL (see: Khalil et al v. United Investment Services Ltd. et al., 1975 CanLII 490 (ONSC) ["Khalil"]. In Hollinger, an order maintaining a sealing order FINALLY determined that a newspaper could not exercise its right to have access to the court file and was thus FINAL for the purposes of appeal (see: Hollinger Inc. v. Rawelston Corp., 2008 ONCA 207 ["Hollinger"].

Even further, where a question of law is at issue, even when the ongoing inferior tribunal proceeding is ongoing, is a final order or decision. An order dismissing a motion for summary judgment on a question of law, where the only genuine issue is the question of law should probably be regarded as giving rise to res judicata and, hence, a FINAL* order (see: David Polowin Real Estate Ltd. v. Dominion of Canada General Insurance Co., 2004 CanLII 39916 (ON CA) ["Polowin"]).

Where the doctrines of res judicata or issue estoppel are at issue, an order during proceedings, not at its conclusion, is a final order. As there is a live issue of issue estoppel herein, where a motion, that is summary disposition in nature is dismissed, it will be FINAL if it involves a substantive issue like issue estoppel (see: Almrei v. Canada (Attorney General), 2011 ONCA 779).

The natural corollary is that orders that grant the adding of a party, causes of action and/or amendments to pleadings are interlocutory. Permitting amendments to pleadings are generally interlocutory (see: Dynasty Furniture Manufacturing Ltd v Toronto-Dominion Bank, 2015 ONCA 137 ["Dynasty Furniture"]). Order granting leave to amend a statement of claim was interlocutory (see: Merling v. Southam Inc., et al, 2000 CanLII 5621 (ONCA) ["Merling"]). An order ADDING a defendant is *interlocutory (nota bene: supra, order refusing or denying the addition of a proposed party is FINAL which is trite in the sense that if a party has a cause of action and can seek relief against said proposed party, the refusal FINALLY disposes of that substantive right) (see: Prescott & Russell (United Counties) v. David S Luftamme Construction Inc., 2018 ONCA 495 ["Prescott"]). Order granting leave to amend paragraphs in a statement of claim was interlocutory (see: Natario v. Rodriguez, 2015 ONCA 227 ["Natario"]).

VOLUME #3(B): THE NON-JUSTICIABILITY DOCTRINES AND THEIR EXCEPTIONS

42. While my position remains that the prematurity doctrine raised by Mr. Boyce for the Tribunal is meritless, I have in my Oral Outline (Draft) provided the other non-justiciability doctrines and the exceptions to the same. I now copy and paste from the Oral Argument (Outline):

> "It is trite that the two decisions in NOM #14 and #15, and the reconsideration decisions, that are subject to judicial review, and the orders contained therein are final decisions and orders. With those orders and decisions being final, the doctrine against interlocutory judicial review or interlocutory appeals (also defined as "Non-Justiciability ["NJ"] Interlocutory Doctrine") is obsolete. As there has been much discussion by legal scholars and courts about the merger of the NJ Interlocutory Doctrine and the adequate, alternative and available[iv] remedy doctrine (the "AAAR Doctrine"), there cannot be any non-frivolous preliminary objection by a respondent insurance company or the Tribunal (see: section 9(2) of the JRPA) or the AGO (see: section 9(4) of the JRPA).
> The same is applicable to the exhaustion doctrine as that is predicated upon an applicant seeking judicial review exhausting all AAAR. If the potential party that is an applicant avers, with supporting evidence, is subject to a cause of action is not added by decision of an administrative decision maker who becomes functus officio[v], and reconsideration fails, then he or she has exhausted any available, alternate and adequate remedies [AAAR] *before the Tribunal. While reconsideration is not an absolute prerequisite to judicial review, (Ellis-Don Ltd. v. Ontario (Labour Relations Board), 2001 SCC 4 (CanLII)), the Applicant did so and received the three page decision where VCL, a decision-maker that he had drawn a potential and prima facie conflict of interest between him and her to the attention of the former case > manager in Mr. Grant, wherein she took issue with the ME v. Ontario precedential statements of law.

> An exceptional circumstance is a final order or decision predicated on an 'exceptional discovery' wherein the respondent insurance companies naturally went into a shell and curled into a ball. Where a respondent insurance company is the only insurer, due to passage of time, that could be the first insurer, then the LAT decision-maker is required, absent discretion as the Tribunal is a creature of statute (see: I would note that the primary argument advanced by the Appellant in this case focuses on a transfer of "jurisdiction" from the Superior Court to the LAT. As explained in Keulen, exclusive jurisdiction over SABS claims has been removed from the Superior Court of Justice and the Financial Services Commission of Ontario and has been placed in the LAT. This is the effect of the language in s. 280 of the Insurance Act. The authority granted to the LAT is circumscribed by the Insurance Act, the SABS and the applicable regulations. The LAT has no inherent jurisdiction (see: Lundy v. Peel) and any decision outside its authority is ultra vires (without authority or jurisdiction), to have added such party; section 280 of the Insurance Act (must decide in accordance with SABS)."

43. With respect to the exceptions to the Non-Justiciability Doctrines, I now copy and paste from the Oral Outline (Draft):

Even here decisions or orders are interlocutory, which they are not herein, and a SABS applicant has adequate, alternative, and available remedies before the Tribunal, which this JRPA Applicant does not, this ONSC Divisional Court and other similarly situated courts have intervened in the following circumstances:

a. Repetition of judicial review proceedings: where the potential prejudice of the risk of repeating proceedings after review outweighs the prejudice to the general orderly processing of administrative proceedings without interruption until their conclusion: Lourenco v. Hegedu;
b. Real unfairness: if there is a prospect of real unfairness through denial of natural justice or otherwise, a superior court may always exercise its inherent supervisory jurisdiction to put an end to the injustice before all the alternative remedies are exhausted… (paragraph 65 of the Applicant's Factum citing Gage);
c. Natural justice breach – clear and obvious application succeeds: "Where the court is being asked to determine whether a particular breach of natural justice rises to an "exceptional" circumstance, the court may consider whether it is "clear and obvious" that the application will be successful: Unimac-United Management Corp. v St. Clare's-Manaco Place, 2015 ONSC 4760 (CanLII) at paras. 16 and 17.);
d. Override of interlocutory:

i. "The Decision has broad implications for human rights disputes arising between unionized employers and employees throughout the province. Delaying this application until the conclusion of the hearing on the merits, which does not depend on any evidence or law relevant to the jurisdictional issue, will result in uncertainty for employers, employees and unions. This is an appropriate case for this court to exercise its discretion to hear this judicial review": London District Catholic School Board v Weilgosh 2024 ONSC 3857 (CanLII)

ii. This Court has stated that it will review an interlocutory decision of a tribunal where a process is fatally flawed (Roosma v. Ford Motor Co. of Canada (1988), 1988 CanLII 3633 (ON SCDC), 66 O.R. (2d) 18 at 25-26).

e. Lack of jurisdiction: judicial intervention may be warranted in situations where the tribunal clearly lacks jurisdiction to proceed, privacy rights at issue or where proceeding with the hearing [proper] would result in an unfair hearing or a breach of natural justice: Rowe v. College of Nurses of Ontario and al., 2023 ONSC 6414;

f. Judicial Intervention even at the preliminary" stages of an administrative proceeding:

i. "Judicial review is a discretionary remedy, and the Divisional Court has taken the position that it should not fragment proceedings before administrative tribunals. Absent exceptional circumstances demonstrating that the application should be heard, the Court will not intervene at a PRELIMINARY STAGE in proceedings. However, where the preliminary decision will likely result in a fundamental failure of justice, the Court may exercise its discretion to hear the application (Ontario College of Art v. Ontario (Human Rights Commission) (1993), 1993 CanLII 3450 (ON SCDC), 11 O.R. (3d) 798 (Div. Ct.) at pp. 2-3; Howe v. Institute of Chartered Accountants of Ontario (1994), 1994 CanLII 3360 (ON CA), 19 O.R. (3d) 483 (C.A.) at 490; Gage v. Ontario (Attorney General) (1992), 1992 CanLII 8517 (ON SCDC), 90 D.L.R. (4th) 537 (Div. Ct.) at 553).

VOLUME #3(C): KEEPRITE STANDARD

44. I now copy and paste from my Oral Outline (Draft) the relevant paragraphs involving the Keeprite Standard:

> Judicial review is not an opportunity to re-argue the case, but rather to show that the decision-maker failed to properly exercise its decision-making powers. Judicial review is not documentary discovery. However, compliance with section 10 of the IRPA is a requirement or obligation upon the Tribunal. As the Tribunal is not entitled to duplicate arguments of the respondent insurance companies, the respondent insurance companies will need to file their responsive factum prior to January 10, 2025, so the Tribunal has notice of the same and can adjust accordingly so, inter alia, avoid any duplication of submissions of the Tribunal.

In Ontario, this is known as the "Keeprite Standard" (by reference to Keeprite Workers' Independent Union et al. and Keeprite Products Ltd., 1980 CanLII 1877 (ON CA), <https://canlii.ca/t/g14jm>) wherein in 2013 Madam Justice Swinton (who received supernumerary status in 2013) summarized the Keeprite Standard on judicial review regarding the impermissible inclusion of materials that were not before the decision maker:

> "[18] The Keeprite Standard for the admission of affidavit evidence on judicial review has been applied in numerous decisions involving labour boards and labour arbitrators. These cases have held that affidavit evidence can be admitted either to show an absence of evidence on an essential point or to disclose a breach of natural justice that cannot be proven by a mere reference to the record."

Affidavit evidence containing material that was not before the decision-maker is not admissible on judicial review unless it: a) provides non-argumentative background information; b) demonstrates that the decision-maker decided an essential point without any evidence; or c) demonstrates the decision-maker breached the Rules of natural justice (see: Sticky Nugz Inc. v. Alcohol and Gaming Commission of Ontario, 2020 ONSC 5916 as per Swinton, Lederer, Penny JJ).

Issue #3, Volume #3(II): Application of the Law to the Facts

Mr. Nieuwland, as now counsel to TDHA in this IRPA Application and counsel to SNIC in the LAT Appeal and former counsel to TDGIC, is in a blatant conflict of interest by his mere appearance on behalf of all three. They are separate and distinct insurance companies with separate FSRA registration numbers with

Like the Tribunal in Dankha and Mosa, this ONSC (whether Divisional or not), cannot condone blatant conflicts of interest particularly where TDHA, while still an automotive insurer, is no longer in the sub-category of private passenger market, and SNIC have entirely balance sheets, financial statements, goodwill et al, and are "at odds" (not ad idem) as per the FSRA and OSFI requirements. Mr. Nieuwland, after still not having signed a pleading on behalf of SNIC, wishes for the ONSC (Divisional Court) to somehow believe that SNIC is also referred to as "TD General insurance company [sic]" and "TD Home And Auto [sic]".

Certainly, Mr. Boyce's decisions (as an adjudicator or Vice Chair) delineated between the various insurance companies that are apparently in the TDI Group. This does not mean that TDHA and SNIC are not entitled to have counsel represent their interests but they cannot provide any additional evidence to the Tribunal let alone any of benefit. To do so would be tantamount to intentionally including inadmissible affidavit evidence and subject to a costs award. Further, while SNIC or TDHA is entitled to oppose the relief sought, submissions are not evidence and they cannot overcome the balance of probabilities test

For objectivity purposes, the Applicant does not take issue with SNIC and TDHA separately arguing the standard of review for the questions and issues to be determined herein. However, that would be in essence a five to ten page argument and five to ten minutes in oral argument. This leaves (pardon the pun) with this oral outline where the Applicant is some 30 minutes in "reading time" and subject to questions on the salient points, it will likely be less. Vis-à-vis the Applicant and the respondent insurance companies, it is a total of approximately 35 minutes when considering reply to submissions of the Applicant to the respondent insurance companies.

VOLUME #3(D): MY INCREASING CONCERNS ABOUT INSTITUTIONAL AND SYSTEMIC ISSUES REGARDING THE LAT AND THE IMPUGNED DECISION MAKERS ALONG WITH A CONCERNING TREND INVOLVING MR. BOYE AND THE RESPONDENT INSURANCE COMPANIES: FURTHER GROUNDS FOR SECTION 6(2) OF THE JRPA

45. In light of the occurrence involving former Vice Chair Ms. Therese Reilly wherein she had accepted a conditional offer of employment from Aviva Insurance Company while employed by the SLASTO and LAT, and then issued a variety of decisions in favour of Aviva prior to her departure to work for Aviva, I have raised the below issues as soon as I became aware of them.

46. I have also found an additional authority as what I say the correct procedure is at this time for having this JRPA Application heard on its merits in a manner that is expeditious, cost-effective and just which is copied below (with my introductory submissions therein):

In Taylor v. Pivotal Integrated HR Solutions, 2021 ONSC 7720, The applicant, Paul Taylor, moved pursuant to s. 21(5) of the Courts of Justice Act, R.S.O. 1990, c. C.43, to set aside the orders of Sachs J. made October 8, 2020. The motion judge made orders adding the Workplace Safety and Insurance Appeals Tribunal as a party to Mr. Taylor's judicial review application and dismissing the application for extreme delay

In Taylor, ONSC Divisional Court (Toronto) as per The Honourable Justices Ryan Bell, Nishikawa, and Shore JJ., made the seminal statements of law relating to the overarching discretion of the ONSC (whether Divisional or otherwise) with respect to the Tribunal's participation:

> "[18] Section 9(2) of the JRPA does not affect this court's supervisory jurisdiction. It does not shield administrative tribunals such as the Tribunal from curial scrutiny entirely; rather, s. 9(2) permits tribunals to bring relevant matters to the attention of the court.
> [19] Allowing an administrative tribunal such as the Tribunal to participate on an application for judicial review does not give rise to "unjust opposition" as Mr. Taylor contends. To the contrary, the presence of the administrative tribunal as a party may help to ensure that the court hears both sides of a dispute where there is no other well-informed party standing in opposition to the party challenging the tribunal decision: Ontario (Energy Board) v. Ontario Power Generation Inc., 2015 SCC 44, at para. 54.
> [20] Once a tribunal is a party, the court still has discretion as to the scope of participation to be accorded to the tribunal during the hearing. This involves balancing the need for fully informed adjudication against the importance of maintaining tribunal impartiality: Hydro Ottawa v. Ontario (Workplace Safety and Insurance Appeals Tribunal), 2019 ONSC 4898 (Div. Ct.) at para. 6. This court is under no obligation to accept the submissions of a tribunal that appears before it.

The three part legal test from Ontario Energy Board is as follows:

> In accordance with the foregoing discussion of tribunal standing, where the statute does not clearly resolve the issue, the reviewing court must rely on its discretion to define the tribunal's role on appeal. While not exhaustive, I would find the following factors, identified by the courts and academic commentators cited above, are relevant in informing the court's exercise of this discretion:

> (1) If an appeal or review were to be otherwise unopposed, a reviewing court may benefit by exercising its discretion to grant tribunal standing.
> (2) If there are other parties available to oppose an appeal or review, and those parties have the necessary knowledge and expertise to fully make and respond to arguments on appeal or review, tribunal standing may be less important in ensuring just outcomes.
> (3) Whether the tribunal adjudicates individual conflicts between two adversarial parties, or whether it instead serves a policy-making, regulatory or investigative role, or acts on behalf of the public interest, bears on the degree to which impartiality concerns are raised. Such concerns may weigh more heavily where the tribunal served an adjudicatory function in the proceeding that is the subject of the appeal, while a proceeding in which the tribunal adopts a more regulatory role may not raise such concerns.

47. As Mr. Nieuwland's clients have not complied with the Practice Direction (Information Submitted to the Court) within the two week time period since the bringing of the JRPA Application, I feel compelled to argue each of the above in the primary, secondary and tertiary based on the various hypotheticals.

48. I also note the following which I copy and paste from the Oral Outline (Draft):

> When the questions or issues to be decided are ones that do not require leave and/or subject to the correctness standard, the justice of the ONSC, pursuant to ss. 6(2) of the JRPA, is required to start afresh and/or "in the shoes" of the initial decision maker which was VCM. However, the Applicant requires leave by filing his requisition to set the hearing pursuant to Rule 38.03(3.1) which is done by request and not motion.
> Applications for judicial review are intended to be summary proceedings, and preliminary motions add greatly to the cost and time required to deal with such matters and are therefore to be discouraged.[vii]
> A party may not rest on allegations in its pleadings on a motion for summary judgment. The party must "put its best foot forward" or "lead trumps or risk losing" (Caplan v. Atas, 2021 ONSC 670, the Honourable Justice DL. Corbett paragraph 106). The principle is applicable herein to the NOM #14 and #15 being summary type hearings and this JRPA Proceeding.

49. To the extent that Mr. Nieuwland's clients do not oppose and/or participate in this JRPA Proceeding, I believe that will be another factor that will militate in favour of a shortened time for the hearing of my section 6(2) of the JRPA leave request and, if leave is granted, the arguing of the merits of the JRPA Application.

VOLUME #3(E): MY INCREASING CONCERNS REGARDING MR. BOYCE AND HIS VARIOUS ROLES AND WHETHER THE PREMATURITY OBJECTION IS A BONA FIDE OBJECTION – FOR: (I) NOTICE PURPOSES; AND (II) PRE-EMPTIVE PURPOSES

50. However, I am deeply concerned with the record of Mr. Boyce and his role as a former adjudicator and Vice Chair as it relates to how he had decided in favour of the Respondent Insurance Companies and his objection on behalf of the LAT. I now copy and paste from the "Appendices" and I address the same with further sworn evidence:

Appendix #4: LAT decisions where Mr. Boye, as he then was Vice Chair Boyce (adjudicative capacity between two parties), he issued decisions, orders, finding and determinations that were all in favour of the three respondent insurance companies.

(nota bene: Put another way, not one individual who was an insured person and injured in an automobile accident was successful on a single issue before him.

(nota bene #2: these decisions also provide further direct evidence that TDHA (First Insurer) has been involved in LAT/AABS matters)

SUMMARY: TOTALS INVOLVING THE RESPONDENT INSURANCE COMPANIES THAT ARE AT ISSUE IN THIS JRPA APPLICATION WHERE MR. BOYCE WAS THE DECISION MAKER

- SNIC (includes FDIMM) AND TDHA COMBINED:
  - 14-0-1

Security National Insurance Company (FSRA Registration number 397)

- 4 in favour of SNIC and one split decision
- Total 4-0-1

1. Mr. Boyce issued the following decisions involving SNIC (5)

   a. A.P. vs Security National Insurance Company, 2020 CanLII 14480 (ON LAT)
      i. [3] A.P. has not demonstrated that his impairments warrant treatment beyond the MIG. Accordingly, the treatment plans in dispute are not reasonable and necessary and no interest is payable.

b. Security National Insurance Company v. Balyshin, 2021 CanLII 18916 (ON LAT).
   i.] Security National is entitled to a repayment of IRB in the amount of $3,257.14, plus interest, due to the respondent's failure to notify it of her return to work.
c. Ndukwe v. Security National Insurance Company, 2021 CanLII 50784 (ON LAT
   i. [3] The applicant has not met her burden of demonstrating that removal from the MIG is warranted or that the treatment plan is dispute is reasonable and necessary.
d. I.G. v Security National Insurance Company, 2019 CanLII 110085 (ON LAT).
   i. [5] I find I.G. is statute-barred from proceeding with her claim for attendant care but she may proceed with her claims for non-earner benefits and medical benefits before the Tribunal.
e. M.B. v Security National Insurance Company, 2019 CanLII 130379 (ON LAT) [note bene: a closer look at said case demonstrates that SNIC was primarily successful on the amounts sought and amounts]
   i. [5] I find, on a balance of probabilities, that the home modification treatment plan in dispute is partially reasonable and necessary. Specifically, I find the cost of the accessible kitchen package and closet organizers proposed by ADL to be reasonable and necessary.

TDHA (FSRA registration number 1096)
▪ 4 in favour of TDHA ▪ One reversal in favour of Applicant but solely based on decision of ONCA (but for decision, it would have been in favour of TDHA) ▪ One finding in favour of Applicant on CAT but no entitlement to any benefits ▪ 5-0 on substantive issues ▪ 5-1 (objectively speaking for the successful reconsideration on a preliminary issue)

2. Mr. Boyce has issued decisions involving the First Insurer herein (TDHA) (6):

a. Polat v. TD Home and Auto Insurance Company, 2021 CanLII 35573 (ON LAT).
   i. Decided in favour of TDHA;
b. C.L. v TD Home and Auto Insurance Company, 2019 CanLII 126182 (ON LAT
   i. [4] C.L. is statute-barred from proceeding with his application at the Tribunal until he attends the IEs scheduled by TD.
c. Applicant v. TD Home and Auto Insurance Company, 2020 CanLII 30438 (ON LAT) [reconsideration in favour of the Applicant solely based upon the ONCA decision in Tomec]:
   i. [3] [The applicant]'s request for reconsideration is granted. I reverse the Tribunal's previous decision on the preliminary issue and find [the applicant] may proceed to the Tribunal with his claim. [still not a substantive benefit or quantum in favour of the applicant insured person]

d. 18-000169 v TD Home and Auto Insurance Company, 2019 CanLII 22189 (ON LAT
   i. [6] I find that K.S. sustained a catastrophic impairment as a result of the accident.
   ii. [7] I find that K.S. is not entitled to a post-104 IRB as he does not suffer a complete inability to work in his pre-accident employment. While I find K.S. is entitled to an IRB for the post-accident period, no amount is payable. TD's claim for repayment is denied.
   iii. [8] I find that K.S. is not entitled to ACBs or housekeeping for the period in dispute as he has not demonstrated that his service provider suffered an economic loss
   iv. [9] I find that an award in this matter is not appropriate as TD did not unreasonably withhold or delay payment of benefits. Accordingly, as no benefits are overdue, no interest is payable.
   v. [24] For these reasons and on a balance of probabilities, I find that K.S. suffered a catastrophic impairment as a result of the accident.

e. 17-008493 v TD Home and Auto Insurance Company, 2019 CanLII 76874 (ON LAT)
   i. [7] SC's appeal is statute-barred pursuant to s.51 of the Schedule.

f. 17-008493 v. TD Home and Auto Insurance Company, 2019 CanLII 63361 (ON LAT)
   i. [1] The applicant, the insured in this proceeding, has requested reconsideration of an interlocutory motion decision dated January 16, 2019. On that motion, the applicant was unsuccessful in obtaining an adjournment of a hearing on a preliminary issue until a similar issue has been decided by the Court of Appeal.
   ii. [3] For the reasons that follow, I deny this request for reconsideration.
   iii. Adjournment: [19] I agree with the respondent that a hearing should only be delayed because a party is pursuing a civil action on similar issues in exceptional circumstances. The applicant is not pursuing a civil action in this case, he is relying on the outcome of an appeal in Tomec as a reason to postpone the hearing of this matter.

TD Insurance Meloche Monnex [no FSRA registration number]
▪ 5 decisions ▪ 4 in favour of TDIMM ▪ 1, prima facie, split decision (but solely on technicality based on cost on completing OCF-18 and 19 forms i.e. section 25 expenses) so marked as in favour of TDIMM
○ 5-0 TDIMM over insured persons

3. Mr. Boyce has issued decisions involving a non-insurance company in TD Insurance Meloche Monnex and a "Mennox" (nota bene: it remains unclear from these decisions whether the underwriter was Primmum (#1396) or SNIC (#397)) (5) [nota bene #2: for all intents and purposes, former Vice Chair Boyce decided all in favour of "TD Ins. Meloche Monnex" for a 5-0 total]

a. Bagla v. TD Insurance Meloche Monnex, 2021 CanLII 35579 (ON LAT)
   i. [7] The applicant is limitation-barred on both ACB claims.
b. Scheltgen and TD Ins. Meloche Monnex, 2022 CanLII 23403 (ON LAT)
   i. [3] The applicant's request for reconsideration is dismissed.
c. Scheltgen v TD Insurance Meloche Monnex, 2021 CanLII 124041 (ON LAT)
   i. [3] The applicant is statute-barred from proceeding with his application under s. 55(1)2 because he failed to attend a properly scheduled s. 44 IE
d. O.A. v TD Insurance Meloche-Mennox, 2020 CanLII 87965 (ON LAT) [nota bene: in effect a decision fully in favour of "TD Insurance Meloche Mennox [sic as it relates to the same and not a corporate entity]]
   i. [7] O.A. is entitled to an additional $400.00, representing the cost of completing the OCF-18 and OCF-19 forms, as they are reasonable and necessary and were not captured by TD's partial approval of January 29, 2019.
   ii. [8] O.A. is not entitled to payment for any of the remaining unapproved items in the OCF-18, as they are not reasonable and necessary.
e. I.R. v. TD Insurance Meloche Mennox [sic], 2020 CanLII 87968 (ON LAT),
   i. [4] I find I.R. has not satisfied his burden to prove that his accident-related impairments warrant removal from the MIG. The remainder of the treatment plan in dispute is not payable, no interest applies, and an award is not appropriate.

51. I am also concerned that Mr. Boyce is located at the same office as VCL and presumably the same office as VCM (albeit she appears to not have updated her contact information with the LSO). I distinguish the same with the office location of Ms. Im, counsel to Ministry of Attorney General. I now copy and paste from the Appendices of my Oral Outline (Draft):

> Order in Council 1421/2023
> On the recommendation of the undersigned, the Lieutenant Governor of Ontario, by and with the advice and concurrence of the Executive Council of Ontario, orders that:

> And whereas Jesse Boyce was reappointed as part-time member of the Ontario Civilian Police Commission for a fixed term of five years, effective February 21, 2023, by Order in Council O.C. 67/2023;

And whereas Jesse Boyce tendered his resignation effective August 21, 2023;

Therefore, pursuant to subsection 2(3) of the Licence Appeal Tribunal Act, 1999, subsection 21(2) of the Police Services Act and subsection 16(4) of the Adjudicative Tribunals Accountability, Governance and Appointments Act, 2009, Orders in Council O.C. 1319/2022 and 67/2023 be revoked effective August 21, 2023.

52. I further note that some of the issues that I had raised relating to the apparent or impugned backdating of the VCM Decision may relate to the following as cited and found by the ONSC (Divisional Court) in Shuttleworth:

> Issue #4, Volume #4(I)(E): Has this Tribunal learned anything since Shuttleworth?

While Shuttleworth is well-known to the ONSC (Divisional Court), which was upheld by the ONCA, the paragraphs from its decision are most compelling [double underlining is the Applicant's and single underlining is that of the court]:

> The Decision Review Process
> [24] In-house counsel for the LAT swore an affidavit explaining that the executive chair implemented a decision review process at the LAT. The stated reason was to maximize the quality of the tribunal's decisions. The peer review process has not been adopted formally. No written policy was provided but counsel swore that, "generally, the LAT decision review process for final decisions is, and at all material times in this case was" as follows:
>
> First, there is peer review: After drafting a decision, an adjudicator is expected to send the decision for peer review by the Duty Vice-Chair. The Duty Chair offers suggestions to improve clarity, reasoning and readability and might also evaluate, for example, whether the correct legal test has been applied and whether any related case law that was not mentioned might be helpful.
>
> Second, there is legal review: The SLASTO Legal Services Unit reviews the decision to ensure that the correct legal test has been applied and to identify any related case law that was not mentioned that might be helpful.
> Third, there is a second peer review by the executive chair: "In some rare instances – such as when a decision involves a novel, contentious, > precedent-setting, or high profile issue – the Legal Services Unit will send the decision to the Executive chair for her review. In these instances, the Executive chair serves, in essence, as a second peer reviewer and accordingly will order the same kinds of comments that the author would typically receive during the initial peer review."

> Fourth, there is a review by the file's case management officer: The case management officer acts as an intake officer and primary point of contact for the parties. This review involves examining the decision's format, correcting grammatical and spelling errors, and ensuring that the template and parties' names are correct. [Emphasis added.]

The hallmark of the above is that where the "Rule of Law" is at issue. Where a Tribunal such as this one is back to its old "bad habits" like it was in Shuttleworth and the recent discovery that a former adjudicator in Therese Reilly (LSO number 28621D; "not practising law" with "contact information withheld"[ix]) had received a conditional job offer from Aviva in 2022 and then proceeded to apparently issue 13 decisions in favour of Aviva before embarking on her in-house legal position.[x] Ms. Reilly's reply to the bias allegation a frightening one: "Reilly has told media her decisions in the insurance cases were fact-based and untainted by bias. She claims LAT disclosure procedures should be tightened up to prevent any appearance of bias." In effect, an experienced Vice Chair of the Tribunal's position is that the public should not known of a "conditional offer" of employment with an insurance company where she inevitably worked for a period thereafter (i.e. avoid these "disclosures" and have less transparency). The prejudice experienced by these injured person is denoted in a case like Nagesu v Traders General Insurance Company, 2024 CanLII 23453 (ON LAT) where Associate Chair had to cancel the decisions of former adjudicator Ms. Reilly. The position of Aviva is perhaps even more concerning: "Aviva Canada said it was unaware Reilly was involved in insurance cases for LAT after the insurer hired her." It is rather disingenuous or intentionally misleading considering it was a "conditional offer of employment" and, of course, Vice Chair Reilly could not be involved in insurance cases for LAT after the hiring.

Upon investigation by the LAT, it was, in fact, only four decisions wherein Vice Chair Reilly had issued decisions after her acceptance of an offer of conditional employment. Mr. Boyce, counsel to the Tribunal herein and a former Vice Chair of the Tribunal with the same employer or payor of his wages (see: Appendix #2). "batted a better record" for the TDHA and SNIC as his time as a Vice Chair. Involving SNIC and TDHA, they were 14-0-1 when Vice Chair Boyce, as he then was, was the decision maker (see: Appendix #3). Is this Mr. Boyce's 'cooling off period' before joining the likes of Mr. Nieuwland as counsel at ID Insurance Staff Legal? Is this why Mr. Nieuwland and his clients have remained silent? Is Mr. Boyce seeking to, in good faith, raise prematurity or is this a circuitous route for him to defend the advice he provided to the Tribunal before the VCM Decision was issued?

The opties are not pleasant on the eyes or ears. The rule of law requires the ONSC, by a single justice, to intervene judicially to immediately put an end to the real unfairness to not only this IRP4 Applicant but others similarly situated.

Issue #4, Volume #4(I)(E)(i). Application of the LAT structure to these facts

In-house counsel for the Tribunal would be the likes of a Mr. Boyce.

With great respect to the former case manager in Mr. Grant, his explanations regarding why he apparently input TDGIC do not pass muster. He requested that the Applicant provide the denial letters, which were already contained in the LAT Appeal by way of pre-LAT Appeal affidavits, and they contained the sole of SNIC with its two locations of Markham and Burlington and neither location housed the landline fax number of 416.774.3120. The mere fact that Mr. Grant would be responsible for the "parties' names are correct" is a scary cogitation. This is the same Mr. Grant that represented to the SABS Applicant that he could not file, when his file number was not recognized in the e-filing portal that it was due to a "power outage". It was about as believable as his previous representations about why he input TDGIC as the sole respondent over the very name in the "denial letters".

Why is the Tribunal remaining in a state of non-compliance with its statutory duties to forthwith file the record of proceeding? The Applicant respectfully submits that the question answers itself.

Issue #4, Volume #4(I)(F):The issues remain ongoing

The issues have not stopped there as per this article, "OLTA Pushes for Urgent LAT Review" (see: https://www.lawtimesnews.com/practice-areas/personal-injury/olta-pushes-for-urgent-licence-appeal-tribunal-review/389679)

> "The association cited "disturbing trends" drawn from an inHEALTH analysis
> > OTLA noted that the success rate for insured applicants bringing their disputes to LAT has fallen over the years, with just 10% getting a win in 2023 compared to 2017's 33%.
>
> "Our members have voiced concerns that the LAT's process is overly rigid, is fraught with procedural unfairness, and fails to accommodate requests, even when both parties agree. This also raises important questions about the qualifications and training of LAT adjudicators." Purewal said. "The LAT is an arm of our justice system. Injured Ontario citizens should feel confident that they are getting a fair hearing and that justice is being done. Unfortunately, with the recent declining trends in success rates for applicants and the overwhelming success of insurers is raising significant questions for our membership."

VOLUME #3(F): ADDITIONAL AUTHORITY OF ROL-LAND FARMS LIMITED

53. I will also be relying on an additional authority of Rol-Land Farms Limited for the purposes of my Requisition #2:

> Rol-Land Farms Limited (paragraph 44): party issue is a discrete issue that has been finally determined

The Divisional Court (ONSC) found, while drawing similarities to Great Atlantic v. Minister of Citizenship (Ontario) in Rol-Land Farms Limited as follows at paragraph 44 while > [44] In this case, as in Great Atlantic & Pacific Co. of Canada Ltd. v. Ontario (Minister of Citizenship), [1993] O.J. No. 4179 (Div. Ct.), the question whether Ms. Harold was properly added as a party should be addressed as an interlocutory matter. The issue of party status is a discrete issue that has been FINALLY DETERMINED by the Tribunal. The full record upon which the Tribunal made its decision is before this Court.

Under the sub-heading, the converse is also true: putting the JRPA Applicant, in his capacity as a SABS Applicant, to the expense and time of proceeding against a non-First Insurer runs the risk of repeating this JRPA Proceeding again on the exact same legal issues.

At paragraph 45, LEITCH r.s.j., GREER and Swinton JJ.B. found as follows:

> "[45] Failure to address the issue of party status at this time will subject Ms. Harold to considerable prejudice. The proceedings before the Tribunal are expected to last between 20 and 25 days. While the respondents have suggested that Ms. Harold need not participate, that argument is without merit, given that she risks having findings made against her. Before she should be put to the trouble and expense of a hearing, the correctness of the Tribunal's decision to add her as a party should be determined. Therefore, this is one of the exceptional cases in which the application for judicial review of the interlocutory decision should be determined.

The above language in Rol-Land Farms Limited and section 6(2) of the JRPA are ironically similar in that the ONSCDC used the following: "where the preliminary decision will likely result in a fundamental failure of justice" and section 6(2) of the JRPA utilizes the language of "where it is made to appear to the judge that the case is one of urgency and that the delay required for an application to the Divisional Court is likely to involve a failure of justice. R.S.O. 1990, c. J.1. s. 6 (2); 2006, c. 19, Sched. C, s. 1 (1)"

The common or similar words between the jurisprudential statement of law and the legislative language in the JRPA are:

a. Likely;
b. Result vs. involve; and
c. Failure of justice.

The statement of law in Rol-Land Farms Limited and JRPA, ss. 6(2) both relate to a timing issue as follows:

a. The ONSC deciding a JRPA Application at a certain time where the underlying administrative proceeding is going (i.e. whether or not it is premature to do so); and
b. The ONSC deciding the JRPA Application before a single justice as opposed to having a three judge panel of the ONSC Divisional Court decide the same later (i.e. whether or not the delay in waiting for the ONSC Divisional Court to decide it later will likely, albeit only appearance, result in a failure of justice).

VOLUME #4: CONCLUSION AND JURAT

54. I believe, without making any legal conclusion, that I have provided, in addition to my filings, evidence where it has been made to appear that the case is urgent and the time to make any application to the ONSC Divisional Court will likely involve a failure of justice.

55. I do not tender any of the above evidence to castigate any of the above individuals but I have done so to draw to the attention well in advance of January 14 or 16, 2025, that I will be further raising these issues in my leave request under section 6(2) of the JRPA. In this manner, I believe I have provided them with sufficient time to make any necessary adjustments. I have done so, in my view, as a courtesy and out of respect for the resources of the ONSC.

56. While I will continue to condense my Oral Outline so it meets the requirement of "succinctness", I have provided the above excerpts in such form for the above purposes. I will now cross-reference my Affidavit #2 to the Oral Outline.

57. I could argue the section 6(2) of the JRPA request and merits at this time in person, via phone, or Zoom.

58. I swear this Affidavit #2 so I have "led evidence" in relation to the test for a request for leave of an ONSC single justice pursuant to section 6(2) of JRPA.

59. I swear this Affidavit #2 for no improper purpose and for the above purposes.

Sworn before me at Toronto, Ontario

[i] Hutchinson v. Aviva General Insurance Company, 2022 ONSC 7136, Justice Nishikawa

[ii] Cited in my letters (emails) to the ONSC Divisional Court (Madam Clerk and Ms. Lawrence) with copying of the respondents' counsel

[iii] As per the endnote in this subheading, the plaintiff (appellant at the ONSC Divisional Court and appellant at the ONCA) had a rather baseless claim marked by ludicrous, absurd and baseless attacks against any and everyone. She was seeking criminal convictions against various government bodies and employees in absentia. However, the relief sought to add parties, which included six lawyers no less, which was dismissed by The Honourable Justice Vella of the ONSC, sitting as a case management judge dismissed the motion on grounds of abuse of process, frivolous, vexatious et al pursuant to Rule 2.01 of the Civil Rules. The ONCA, with a three judge panel as Justice Simmons of the ONCA was concerned that while the Divisional Court's decisions and orders were final, the motions judge's (as the ONCA referred to Justice Vella, although more precisely a case management judge) order may not have been interlocutory. The corollary of the same was that the M.E. would not have required leave to appeal the order of Justice Vella but rather would have been able to bring an appeal without leave. As Simmons J.A. could not determine the same as a single justice of the ONCA, she adjourned the leave motion to the ONCA to ME, to a three justice panel. In 2021, the ONCA found as follows.

> [1] This matter has a long procedural history. For present purposes, it is sufficient to focus on the motion brought by M.E. on October 9, 2020, wherein she sought to add additional causes of action and new parties to the action. The motion judge dismissed the motion as frivolous, vexatious, and an abuse of process under r. 2.1.01: Rules of Civil Procedure, R.R.O. 1990, Reg. 194. M.E. then sought leave to appeal the motion judge's order to the Divisional Court. A panel of the Divisional Court dismissed that motion.
> [2] On May 17, 2021, M.E. applied to this court for leave to appeal the Divisional Court's order. The Registrar has repeatedly informed her that her materials do not comply with the Rules and practice directions. On July 5, 2021, M.E. filed the underlying" Notice of Motion for Non-Compliance." Simmons J.A. heard the motion on July 27, 2021. She adjourned the matter to a full panel, noting that while the Divisional Court's order was final, the motion judge's order concerned a motion to add causes of action, which may not be interlocutory. As a single judge, Simmons J.A. could not determine this issue.
> [3] We conclude that M.E. was seeking to add new causes of action. An order refusing leave to amend pleadings to plead a new cause of action is final: Atlas Construction Inc. v. Brownstones Ltd. (1996), 46 C.P.C. (3d) 67 (Ont. Gen. Div.). So is an order dismissing a motion to add a party, which M.E. also appears to have been trying to do: Bryson v. Kerr (1976), 1976 CanLII 867 (ON SC), 13 O.R. (2d) 672 (Ont. Div. Ct.). Accordingly, leave to appeal is not required and an appeal lies as of right to the Court of Appeal: Courts of Justice Act, R.S.O. 1990, c. C.43, s. 6(1)(b).
> [4] We order that the appeal of the motion judge's order of October 9, 2020 may proceed in this court. Costs of this motion are reserved to the panel hearing the appeal."

"(i) "Adequate" is defined as: lawfully and reasonably sufficient." This connotes an objective person test by the word "reasonably". "Sufficient" is defined as: enough to meet the needs of a situation or a proposed end. "Lawfully" is defined as: being in harmony with the law; (iii) "Alternative" is defined as: "offering or expressing a choice"; and "Available" means "present or ready for immediate use".

[v] The general common law rule is that a decision-maker is functus officio when they make a final decision in respect of the matter before it": Chandler v. Alberta Association of Architects, 1989 CanLII 41 (SCC), [1989] 2 S.C.R. 848, at p. 861. In Chandler, the Supreme Court held that:"As a general rule, once a tribunal has reached a final decision in respect to the matter that is before it in accordance with its enabling statute, that decision cannot be revisited because the tribunal has changed its mind, made an error within jurisdiction or because there has been a change of circumstances. It can only do so if authorized by statute or if there has been a slip or error within [certain] exceptions…." Ergo, while it is always prudent and responsible, like the Applicant did, to bring forth a reconsideration motion, VCM was functus officio when she executed the VCM Decision.

5. I served the Tribunal with a copy of my filed and paid for JRPA Application of November 15, 2024, on November 15, 2024, by way of emails to the case manager of the LAT Proceeding in Ms. Hannah Lee. 6. I did not know Mr. Boyce until I became aware that the Licence Appeal Tribunal had purported to serve me, albeit at the incorrect address for service (i.e. mcleansnicklat@gmail.com) as opposed to the email on file with the ONSC Divisional Court of appeals@elements.email.com) with a copy of the Notice of Appearance on behalf of the Tribunal.

VOLUME #5: COPY OF SELECT RELEVANT PARAGRAPHS FROM MY DRAFT ORAL OUTLINE AND ORAL COMPENDIUM

23. I now copy and paste from my oral outline (draft), contained at Tab 1 therein, which I have attempted to adhere to the principles in Robertson,

[start of quotation]

ISSUE #4: Footnote #4[(c)(ii)]: Two competing interests: fully informed adjudication of issues vs. tribunal impartiality

The two most important considerations, drawn from those cases, were the (i) "importance of having a fully informed adjudication of the issues before the court" (para. 15); and (ii) "the importance of maintaining tribunal impartiality" (para. 38). The principle of impartiality is implicated by tribunal argument on appeal, because decisions may in some cases be remitted to the tribunal for further consideration. Stratas J.A. found that "[s]ubmissions by the tribunal in a judicial review proceeding that descend too far, too intensely, or too aggressively into the merits of the matter before the tribunal may disable the tribunal from conducting an impartial redetermination of the merits later": Quadrion, at para. 16.[1] [see paragraph 30 of Ontario Energy Board]

Finality, the principle whereby a tribunal may not speak on a matter again once it has decided upon it and provided reasons for its decision, is discussed in greater detail below, as it is more directly related to concerns surrounding "functus", rather than agency standing itself. The court should limit tribunal participation if it will undermine future confidence in its objectivity. The court identified a list of factors, discussed further below, that may aid in determining whether and to what extent the tribunal should be permitted to make submissions: paras. 36-38 of Goodis[1]. If the judicial review application involves only questions of law or primarily questions of law (or the limitation of the appeal to questions of law or an extricable question of law from a finding of mixed fact and law and/or findings of fact unsupported by evidence which are questions of law) in relation to certain decisions and orders, then the participation (not necessarily intervention) of the Tribunal in this JRPA Proceeding is not particularly necessary or relevant."

[END OF QUOTATION]

24. The Applicant's now stated and formal position, by the provision of notice to SLASTO, LAT and Mr. Boyce including any other potential counsel (lawyer licensee representative) is encapsulated in the current draft in the Oral Outline (draft form):

[start of quotation]

ISSUE #4: Footnote #4[(c)(ii)]: Mr. Boyce's admission, by conduct, in January 2025, has disabled the Tribunal from adjudicating the matter any further and Mr. Boyce must be prohibited from acting in this JRPA Proceeding

The prime principle of impartiality is implicated by tribunal argument in this JRPA Application at, because decisions may in some cases be remitted to the tribunal for further consideration. The LSO public-purpose management resources and By-Laws, which have legislative force, are of great import. From the ONSC – Applewood v. Ealing as per Gordon J. of the Central West Region, articulated the legal principles in relation to the ONSC (which the ONSC Divisional Court is the intermediate appellate court or "court of review").

This Court's jurisdiction to remove Bennett Jones LLP as counsel for Talisman on the basis of a conflict of interest is an inherent one. It is not derived from any particular legislation or rule. It is grounded in the Court's objective to safeguard the proper administration of justice. Pahl v. Katz Group Canada Ltd., [2006] O.J. No 4596 (S.C.J.) at paragraph 23

> [14] The question is whether these Defendants have established on a balance of probabilities that a fair minded and reasonably informed member of the public would conclude that the removal of Bennett Jones LLP as counsel for Talisman is necessary for the proper administration of justice. MacDonald Estate v. Martin, 1990 CanLII 32 (SCC), [1990] 3 S.C.R. 1235 at paragraph 47.
> [14] The question is whether these Defendants have established on a balance of probabilities that a fair-minded and reasonably informed member of the public would conclude that the removal of Bennett Jones LLP as counsel for Talisman is necessary for the proper administration of justice. MacDonald Estate v. Martin, 1990 CanLII 32 (SCC), [1990] 3 S.C.R. 1235 at paragraph 47.
> [15] In analyzing the question, the Court may consider any applicable rules of professional conduct. Where there is a rule or guideline or ethical principle directly on point, the Court ought to consider it but is not bound by it. MacDonald Estate, supra, at paragraph 21

As it relates to a lawyer, which Mr. Boyce is albeit he must have taken active steps to hide his address and employer name of SLASTO after the conflict of interest was drawn to his attention on December 30, 2024. Mr. Boyce also made up a new version of the law that there was some kind of reservation for the Tribunal to file the record of proceeding within 60 days of an applicant, in a JRPA matter bringing her JRPA application. Apparently, Mr. Boyce's views and practices are more important and take precedence and/or are parametral to that of a well-functioning democratic society under the rule of law by a democratically elected members of the Legislature. In any event, he has not even followed his created non-law requirement

Mr. Boyce, the SLASTO cluster, Tribunal (LAT) and the divisional AABS will now have to face the evidence that there is a systemic issue if the LAT wishes to obtain leave to file its factum and application record past the deadline imposed by our Lieutenant Governor under the Rules of Civil Procedure. Moreover, there cannot be a case conference in ANY TIME with Mr. Boyce as counsel to the LAT because he would be in breach of his professional obligations and duties as an officer of the court.

Moreover, without a record of proceeding, to the extent that "prematurity" needed to be "discussed" (whatever that means in fact or in law – leaving aside another conflict of interest, albeit without any where near the allegations made and directly aimed at the Tribunal and Mr. Boyce) such discussions cannot be in the abstract. Mr. Boyce in his undated imaging are of emails with this DNSC (Divisional Court) copied not only the Applicant and other respondents and their counsel, which, with the benefit of hindsight bias and retrospection had self evident purposes, relied on Awanda and Hoogstra. Awanda's legal principles are in the Applicant's factum. Hoogstra has about as much relevance here to Mr. Boyce's representation of the Tribunal herein considering his representation of the Tribunal, and provision of legal advice to it involving the LAT Proceeding.

Mr. Boyce has an overriding duty as an officer of the court. Lawyers are officers of the court in Canada. This means that lawyers are part of the legal system and have a role in the administration of justice. The Applicant forcefully notes the overlap between the jurisdiction of this court to remove counsel to the Tribunal for disrupted its arguments pursuant to In Taylor, ONSC Divisional Court (Toronto) as per The Honourable Justices Ryan Bell, Nishikawa, and Shore JJ and the role of a lawyer, as an officer of the court in the administration of justice.

Lawyers are officers of the court when they appear in court on behalf of a client. They are expected to uphold the authority and dignity of the court, and to serve the cause of justice.

In 2010, Chief Justice Winkler, in the "Remarks of Chief Justice Warren K. Winkler on the Occasion of the Law Society of Upper Canada's Call to the Bar Ceremony Toronto, Ontario June 15, 2010"[3] stated the following:

> "The privilege of call up yourself a lawyer comes with many perquisites. You will be treated with respect and deference not only by your clients, but also by the public generally. You will be recognized as an officer of the court whose job is not

> In a courtroom. You will have the distinction of being gowned, as you are today, whenever you appear in court on behalf of a party. The gown is itself a special distinction, a powerful sign or manifestation of dignity and worth. You will have the pleasure and satisfaction of being referred to as "counsel" by judges and opposing lawyers.

It is now notable that the one thing that Mr. Boyce has had no interest in doing is that of "appearing in the courtroom" and filing a factum and application record on behalf of the Tribunal within 30 days of December 12, 2024. Moreover, from the outset, the Tribunal, through Mr. Boyce, has not complied with its statutory duty to file forthwith the record of proceeding.

With that in reliance of this Oral Outline and other filed documents with this ONSC Divisional Court, will be the communication of the formal adjournment request (as per Ms. Hannah Lee representing to the Applicant it could be made two days before January 24, 2025), with supporting materials, relying upon, inter alia, that the Tribunal must address a motion as to whether it has lost jurisdiction based upon, inter alia, Mr. Boyce's contemplated dual roles of providing legal advice to the Tribunal regarding decisions to be issued and providing advice to the Tribunal in this very JRPA Proceeding. Parenthetically, it does not mean that such conflict of interest does not arise in a LAT Act Appeal but it is more obvious and glaring when there is no stay of the underlying LAT proceeding. For the Court's benefit, there are other grounds and not squarely on Mr. Boyce and his displayed employer SLASTO (LAT), at the very same office building of adjudicators and vice chairs for the LAT in that in relation to a document production motion, partly granted in favour of the SADS Applicant, one Mr. Kanji purporting to comply with the same provided documents, non-responsive to the order of the Tribunal, on behalf of "TDGLC" with an email title of "Melanie v. TDGLC". It is rather ironic twist considering the decision of VCM in NOM 413 involving a non-party in TDGLC – of which said decisions and orders therein (not in NOM 414) is not under judicial review.
As per the ONSC in Talisman, rules of professional conduct are most instructive:

Duties owed to third persons can created conflicts of interest. It is trite that the more important, by a considerable distance, persons with respect to duties is that of the ONSC Divisional Court which includes its staff, and those orders de facto ordre former lawyers turned judges, with compared to that of the JRPA Applicant. Nonetheless, there are multiple third persons to which Mr. Boyce owes duties.

A conflict of interest exists when there is a substantial risk that a lawyer or paralegal's loyalty to or representation of a client would be materially and adversely affected by competing duties to another party or competing interests between the client(s) and the licensee. Because even well-intentioned licensees may not realize that the performance of their duties has been impaired, the rules address the risk of impairment rather than actual impairment. Substantial risk means a significant and plausible risk. It need not be certain or even likely, but it must be more than a mere possibility. Conflicts of interest may fall into one of the below categories:[1]

A client cannot waive a COI where the lawyer may be a witness (see Wheeler v. Taylor, 2021 ONSC 818 as per Justice Dietrich. At paragraph 31, Justice Dietrich, citing Dingwall v. Aiden Estate, found as follows whilst citing the SCC and another one of the historically great legal minds to come to the Ontario bench in The Honourable Mr. Justice Perrell, formerly of Osler who had written, as a lawyer, a vast amount of analytically precise secondary source articles:

> [31] As stated by Gillese J. (as she then was) in Dingwall v. Aiden Estate, [999] O.J. No. 4816 (Ont. S.C.), at para. 27:
> When counsel appears as a witness on a contentious matter, it causes two problems. First, it may result in a conflict of interest between counsel and his client. That conflict may be waived by the client .... The second problem relates to the administration of justice. The dual roles serve to create a conflict between counsel's obligations of objectivity and detachment, which are owed to the court, and his obligations as his client to present evidence in as favourable a light as possible. This is a conflict that cannot be waived by the client as the conflict is between counsel and the court/justice system.
> [32] The Law Society of Ontario Rules of Professional Conduct similarly state that a lawyer who appears as advocate shall not testify or submit their own affidavit evidence before the tribunal unless permitted to do so on a purely formal or uncontroverted matter. s. 5.2-1.

[53] While the courts are not bound by the codes of conduct applicable to lawyers, the Supreme Court of Canada stated at MacDonald Estate, at p. 124n, that "an expression of a professional standard in a code of ethics relating to a matter before the court should be considered an important statement of public policy."

[54] In Re: Brayko Parenteau Trustee, 2018 ONSC 4103, at para. 56, Farrell J. confirmed that a lawyer who is a material witness should not be permitted to continue acting as counsel even if they do not intend to testify in the case.

Mr. Boyce is (and has been the same time since his adoption as formal counsel of record herein) now in a conflict between himself and the ONSC (Divisional Court) or the ONSC (if the matter proceeds by urgent application before a single just as of the ONSC) there to setting.

To even allow Mr. Boyce to discuss another matter, formally or informally (note here it is self-evident why he was bringing out of emails with the ONSC Divisional Court) would be contrary to his duties to the court.

What other reason would Mr. Boyce have for requesting the amendment of his information with the LSO?

It is herein that Tribunal counsel is rightfully charged with providing an overview of the filed record of proceeding and the context of the proceeding before the Tribunal. Is Mr. Boyce, in light of his surveillance and obfuscation of his employer (SLASTO) and his address (in contact with the public LSO Directory, able to discharge these duties in accordance with his duties to this Court as an officer of the Court? The question answers itself.

The more compelling public interest question is whether any lawyer (in-house (see reference in the affidavit provided by in-house counsel in Mandenewski)) who is employed by SLASTO able to do so? The Applicant says that optically, by reasonable perception, is that it is impossible for any lawyer to do so whether or not they are or were, in fact, providing advice to the Tribunal in any specific decisions involving any JRPA applicant. The Applicant's registrant submission on this point is grounded in ONSC common law precedent.

There is a strong concern that licensees who work together share confidences especially where they work under a "group" wall of internal confidentiality screens are in place (see Mahmangeli, [2004] OJ 3082 (Ont Sup. Ct.). Where confidential information exchanged on a prior related matter or file (or related to a current retainer the "licensees" MUST rebut inference confidential information was exchanged (see Mahmangeli, [2004] OJ 3082 (Ont Sup. Ct.).

The first obvious counter-query is are the adjudicators licensees? They are indeed in the VC Lake and VC Morrissette are licensees but "not practising law." The second counter is that Mahmangeli related to confidential information between potential shared between a prior related matter to a current retainer.

However, that is of no assistance to the LAT, Mr. Boyce and any potential future counsel (Applicable herein) when considering the participation scope that the Tribunal would be entitled to by virtue of having some form of general party status pursuant to section 9(2) of the JRPA. Moreover, the ONSC has a supervisory and residual discretion to not accept arguments from the Tribunal whether there is any pre-hearing motion or case conference about its defined scope of participation. Each Tribunal must be analyzed distinctly but this Tribunal, the LAT under the SLASTO, is admittedly, or at least by representation to the public, a quasi-judicial tribunal. The context is most important in various cases. However, a case conference, even by telephone, is an "appearance before the Court" which is fatal to Mr. Boyce and this Tribunal.

Therefore, Mr. Boyce has to rebut the inference and provide contextual explanations to this Court as to why he did what he did in changing his address after receipt of the Applicant's affidavit #2 and perhaps affidavit #2 (and perhaps after the deadline under Rule 68.01(4) of the Civil Rules). Timing is everything.

Moreover, the SLASTO Tribunal and Mr. Boyce, and any potential legal counsel, who works for the SLASTO, would have to provide evidence of the confidentiality screens. Are there confidentiality screens between the adjudicators of LAT and legal counsel of LAT? It is where the Mandenewski decision comes back to haunt this Tribunal in that the very Court documents are sent to the SLASTO

Legal Unit – Mr. Boyce's employer that he has only in the last two or so weeks had from the "public record"

As Mr. Boyce is the only individual, on behalf of another client, that raised the preliminary objection of "prematurity" without him being able to participate on behalf of the Tribunal, and the Tribunal not filing any factum or application record, the Applicant is entitled to proceed and not wait around for the SLASTO to "clean up his house" and manipulate addresses on the back-end of the LSO portal for public removal.

Mr. Boyce only raised prematurity because he wanted to delay the inevitable result in this JRPA Proceeding, at least as it relates to the Jurat Issues' issue, so that he could give more advice to the Tribunal in relation to other decisions. It is now likely he was giving advice on it all along the way after November 19, 2024, in relation to the outstanding motions and how to navigate the same.

This does not mean that every other tribunal in this province or other provinces in Canada cannot have representation at the Tribunal but it leads to the inevitable conclusion that when the likes of Tribunal members counsel are at the same physical location as adjudicators and vice chairs, and where they share the same domain name with the same hosting under the same web-site, and they admit an Ehrentreund that the LAT's practice explicitly involves the SLASTO legal unit (the very employer name that Mr. Boyce removed from the LSO Directory as that would change the actualities of what occurs "behind the scenes"):

> Second, there is legal review: The SLASTO Legal Services Unit reviews the decision to ensure [paraphrase] that the correct legal test has been applied and to identify any related case law that was not mentioned that might be helpful."

The Tribunal will now get the opportunity to determine whether it should grant an adjournment, at least on cost ground, as to whether it has lost jurisdiction to hear any further matters because of Mr. Boyce's dual role of providing advice to it in the McLean LAT Proceeding and then to the Tribunal in the McLean JRPA Proceeding. This is different than the legal ground so referenced above involving the Tribunal descending too far into legal argument.

To allow Mr. Boyce to even discuss, however informal, the preliminary objection of prematurity, irrespective of its lack of merit, would be counter to the inherent jurisdiction of this Honourable Court, and it is an obvious and disabling conflict of interest between Mr. Boyce (and any future counsel of the LAT who seeks to act as a proxy or a "proxy upon proxy" (i.e. proxy for another) and this Court (whether on direction by three justices) or "general direction" (by a single justice) on a motion, leave request or merits.

The legal scholars in this area have suggested a potentially preferred route for counsel to tribunals and courts to have judicially appointed amicus curiae appear on behalf of tribunals, particularly government ones that are self-espoused as quasi-judicial. In the following article[1], Mr. Lorne Sossin[2] (see: JD (Victoria), LL M (McGill), PhD (Cambridge); Member of the Law Society of Upper Canada[3]; Associate Professor Thompson Rivers University Faculty of Law) espoused the following whilst cross-referencing with authorities at 126 AM. BAR A. LAW REVIEW (2016) 54.1, page 8 thereon:

> "Courts may also appoint amici curiae as part of their inherent jurisdiction where it is necessary to assist the court in discharging its work.[4] The public advocate or amicus curiae could gather specialist information and present it in a more detached and informed manner to the court. Such a system would assist protect public confidence in administrative impartiality as it would interpose a layer, akin to an "institutional arms"[5] between the tribunal and the reviewing court."

The only competing principle to tribunal impartiality is "having fully informed adjudication of the issues before the reviewing court". Mr. Boyce cannot do the same and no other counsel employed by the SLASTO (LAT) can do the same – not only not on these facts.

The Tribunal is not discharged of its statutory duties to a full record of proceeding under the JRPA. However, I agree with the essence in this urgent JRPA and hence the Applicant's motion of Friday, January 10, 2025. While this JRPA Application had numerous public issues before Mr. Boyce "bait and switch" or "intentional hiding of his address of employment and employer", it has more now.

The JRPA Applicant still has the burden of proving, on a balance of probabilities, that the VCM Decisions and VCM Orders for failure to even address certain issues and orders sought, was incorrect and must be substituted, and this ONSC Court, like the Tribunal, has found many times, cannot force the Tribunal or the respondent insurance companies, who had no interest in complying with the Practice Direction regarding "Information Submitted to the Court", cannot force respondents to file notices of appearances, factums and application records. However, actions or inactions come with consequences and that is the complete deprivation of participation rights. However, the Tribunal must still be compelled to file the record of proceedings. The only "silver lining" is that it makes scheduling easier."

VOLUME #6: JURAT

25. I swear, under the penalty of perjury, that I have raised the issues above as soon as they become known to me and then commenced the drafting of this affidavit for filing with the ONSC and for service upon the Tribunal and the respondent insurance companies.

26. I most sincerely hope that this affidavit is of assistance to SLASTO, Tribunal, Mr. Boyce and any other potential counsel that the former two may seek to retain herein and in any future unrelated JRPA or LAT Act appeal proceedings. I have no personal animus to any of the counsel for the respondents but I felt compelled to draw this to their attention so I was not seen to have waived or acquiesced to the same. I object on the above grounds to Mr. Boyce or any counsel at the LAT (SLASTO) engaging in any form of representation of the LAT herein. As the respondent insurance companies did not participate in NOM #14 and #15, and have not filed a factum and application record, I remain ready, willing and able to proceed on any date commencing next week.

27. I swear this Affidavit #4 for no improper purpose and for the above purposes.

VOLUME # #1: ORDERS SOUGHT

1. These are the Applicant's written submissions for the teleconference hearing for his Motion #1 herein.

2. The Applicant seeks the orders in his draft order of January 29, 2025. For ease of reference, they are as follows:

    1. THIS COURT ORDERS, DECLARES AND CONFIRMS THAT the delegated or presiding motion judge (not an "associate judge" pursuant to 37.02(2)(f) of the Rules Of Civil Procedure and section 4 of the JRPA) for this motion was not the Honourable Madam Justice Shore and/or any other justice of the ONSC Superior Court, in his or her rotation with the Divisional Court pursuant to the Courts of Justice Act, that was employed by Epstein Cole and/or was a partner in the limited liability partnership of Epstein Cole LLP during the time from Fall of 2017 to present;

    2. THIS COURT DECLARES THAT the Licence Appeal Tribunal (the "Tribunal") has failed or neglected to comply with section 10 of the JRPA and section 20 of the SPPA and THIS COURT ORDERS THAT the Tribunal forthwith file the record of proceeding, in accordance with section 10 of the JRPA and section 20 of the SPPA, before Vice Chair Morrissette as it was from December 24, 2023[1], to the date of September 12, 2024, inclusive[2] ;

    3. THIS COURT ORDERS THAT the Tribunal is prohibited from any form of participation, where permissible by law, in this JRPA Proceeding until it strictly and fully complies with Order #2;

    4. THIS COURT ORDERS THAT if the Tribunal is unable to comply with Order #2 herein, it shall advise this Court, with a copy to the Applicant, the respondents, and any other interested persons as to the reasons why it is unable;

    5. THIS COURT ORDERS THAT the Applicant is entitled to seek any ancillary or consequential relief relating to the above if the Tribunal does not comply with Order #2 by written submissions to the presiding motion judge, with service upon the Tribunal with a copy to the respondents, by way of email to the ONSC Div. Ct. Registrar to my attention; and

    6. THIS COURT ORDERS THAT that the Applicant is entitled to costs of this motion in any event of the cause and payable forthwith with the amount to be determined by agreement between he and the Tribunal or if no agreement is reached between them, this COURT ORDERS THAT that the Applicant may provide written submissions, limited to three pages, on such quantum entitlement within two days of not reaching any agreement between he and the Tribunal and within five days after the pronouncement of this order. THIS COURT FURTHER ORDERS THAT that the Tribunal may provide any responsive quantum costs submissions, limited to three pages, within three days of being served with the same.

3. Order #1 is relief that is being sought by the Applicant's NOM #2 but provided herein for pre-emptive, precautionary and pre-emptive purposes.

4. Order #2 is the primary order sought herein which has remained the Licence Appeal Tribunal's (AABS Division) statutory duty(ies[3]) since November 15, 2024. It is now January 30, 2025, and the Tribunal, through its counsel in Mr. Boyce, have not filed a single document from the record of proceeding (as defined under the SPPA).

5. Orders #3 and #4 is an order that invokes this Court's inherent jurisdiction to control its processes and prevent abuses of its processes.

6. Order #5 seeks anticipatory relief in the event the Tribunal continues on its course of breaching its statutory duties.

7. Order #6 seeks leave of this ONSC Divisional Court to provide submissions on costs in the event that the Applicant is successful.

8. The Applicant provides these written submissions as a courtesy to this ONSC Honourable Court such that any teleconference hearing time is well utilized, efficient, cost-effective and productive for all involved. If the Tribunal does not have a full and accurate record of proceeding, it is crucial that the Applicant, the respondents other than the Tribunal, the Divisional Court et al know the same as that will affect the entire course and outcome of this JRPA Proceeding.

9. Where double underlining has been used in the quotations from statutes, regulations and jurisprudence, the emphasis is that of the JRPA Applicant.

VOLUME #2*: STATEMENT OF ISSUES

10. The issues are delineated into the following issues of law, issues of fact and issues of mixed fact and law.

11. The issues of law are:

    a. When is a Tribunal's duty to compile a record of proceeding triggered?
    b. When is the Tribunal's duty to file the Record Of Proceeding with the ONSC Divisional Court triggered?
        i. Is a tribunal or administrative decision maker required to file the record of proceeding even if it is not participating in a JRPA Proceeding?
    c. Is the Tribunal required, by statutes, to serve the Record of Proceeding?
    d. What is the purpose of the record of proceeding?
    e. From what time period is a Tribunal required to file a record of proceeding?
    f. How should a tribunal's right to participate be limited when it does not comply with its statutory duties at first instance?

12. The issues of fact are:

    a. When did the Applicant file his statutory application for auto insurance dispute resolution with the Tribunal?
    b. When was the first hearing held before the LAT?
    c. When did the Tribunal receive a copy of the Applicant's JRPA Application?
    d. When did the Tribunal file and serve its Notice of Appearance?
    e. When did Vice Chair Morrisette issue and sign her decision that was subject to reconsideration by the LAT and now judicial review?

VOLUME #4: Answers to the Issues of Fact

13. The Applicant filed his section 280(2) of the Insurance Act for automobile insurance dispute resolution on December 24, 2023. The Applicant served the fax number of 416.774.3120. on the same date.

14. The first hearing, which was a "written hearing", was heard and decided on January 16, 2024, by Vice Chair Lake.

15. The JRPA Applicant, after paying for and filing his JRPA Application on November 15, 2024, provided copies to the Tribunal (LAT), Vice Chair Morrisette and Vice Chair Lake.

16. The Tribunal filed its Notice of Appearance on November 27, 2024, by Mr. Boye signing on behalf of (or "as per") the Tribunal.

17. Vice Chair Morrissette signed the final decisions and final orders involving the Applicant's motions #13 to #15 on September 12, 2024. Only four orders from NOM #14 and one order from NOM #15 are being challenged on judicial review herein as they are final orders and final decisions within that 11 page document issued and signed by VCM.

VOLUME* #4: LEGAL BASES

VOLUME* #4(A): Judicial Review Procedure Act ("JRPA"), the Statutory Powers Procedure Act ("SPPA")

18. The JRPA was passed in 1990. It appears to have been amended several times since 1990 but the provisions or subsections at issue herein have remained the same since 1990: ss. 9(2) of the JRPA and s. 10 of the JRPA.

19. For the purposes of an application for judicial review in relation to the exercise, refusal to exercise or proposed or purported exercise of a statutory power, the person who is authorized to exercise the power may be a party to the application: section 9(2) of the JRPA. "May" is permissive. The statutory subsection herein does not clearly resolve the Licence Appeal Tribunal's scope of participation. As such, the scope of the Tribunal's participation herein (if any) is determined by reference to the jurisprudence like Ontario (Energy Board), Drewlo Holdings, Hutchinson v. Aviva, and others (addressed infra).

20. Section 10 of the JRPA states:

> "Record to be filed in court
> 10 When notice of an application for judicial review of a decision made in the exercise or purported exercise of a statutory power of decision has been served on the person making the decision, such person shall forthwith FILE in the court for use on the application the record of the proceedings in which the decision was made. R.S.O. 1990, c. J.1, s. 10.

21. While the SPPA underwent some substantial and significant amendments in 2006, by reference to the omnibus bill known as the Access to Justice Act, 2006, section 20 of the SPPA has remained the same since 1990.

22. Section 20 of the SPPA defines the content of the record of proceeding by way of reference to its compiling duties in which a hearing has been held. Section 20 of the SPPA states:

> "20 A tribunal shall compile a record of any proceeding in which a hearing has been held which shall include,
> (a) any application, complaint, reference or other document, if any, by which the proceeding was commenced;
>
> (b) the notice of any hearing;
>
> (c) any interlocutory orders made by the tribunal;
>
> (d) all documentary evidence filed with the tribunal, subject to any limitation expressly imposed by any other Act on the extent to or the purposes for which any such documents may be used in evidence in any proceeding;
>
> (e) the transcript, if any, of the oral evidence given at the hearing; and
> (f) the decision of the tribunal and the reasons therefor, where reasons have been given. R.S.O. 1990, c. S.22, s. 20."

23. "Hearing" under the SPPA is defined under section 1 of the SPPA which states: "hearing" means a hearing in any proceeding.

24. The Ontario Rules of Civil Procedure use the word "forthwith" in relation to the required filing of a 'Notice of Appearance' if any administrative decision maker or other respondent wishes to receive notice of every step in a judicial review proceeding (see: Rule 38.07 "(1) A respondent who has been served with a notice of application shall FORTHWITH deliver a notice of appearance (Form 38A). R.R.O. 1990, Reg. 194, r. 38.07 (1)).

25. "Deliver" is defined under the Rules of Civil Procedure as: "deliver" means serve and file with proof of service, and "delivery" has a corresponding meaning: Rule 1.03(1).

Volume #4(A)(I): Application of the above statutory subsections to the uncontroverted facts herein

26. The Tribunal was required to compile a record of proceeding from the date of January 16, 2024 and onwards.

27. The Tribunal was required to file (not necessarily serve) the record of proceeding immediately after receipt of the JRPA Application. For mathematical and dating purposes, the Tribunal was required to file the record of proceeding in the week of November 18 to 22, 2024.

28. The duty of the Tribunal to file the record of proceeding is an independent one from its right of an undefined scope of participation as a party in an application for judicial review or judicial review proceeding.

29. It is easily discernible why the Legislature, which passed sections 10 and 20 of the SPPA in the same year, requires a statutory administrative body to forthwith file the record of proceeding without any reference to the size, volume or complexity of the record of proceeding. The obvious inference or easy discernment for the forthwith filing requirement is that an administrative body would have had initial and ongoing compiling duties in the underlying proceeding before an inferior decision maker or decision making body to that of the ONSC Divisional Court.

30. In this modern day of technology, along with the specific filings herein that it involve a LAT/AABS e-filing portal, all of the filed materials would be compiled and organized in a manner that it could not take the LAT more than a day to prepare an index with tabulations for the delineated different classes of filed documents and then enumerate the same before filing the record of proceeding with the ONSC Divisional Court.

31. As per the definition of "deliver" under the Rules of Civil Procedure versus the sole requirement of forthwith 'filing" under the JRPA, the LAT is only required to file the same with the ONSC Divisional Court.

32. But for any sealing orders, even the public can obtain certified copies of each and every document filed in a proceeding: combination of section 137 of the CJA and Rule 4.03(1) of the Rules of Civil Procedure.

33. Therefore, any administrative tribunal in this province that is subject to being served with a 'notice of application for judicial review' is only required to file the record of proceedings forthwith, after having compiled the same if there was a hearing before it. Put another way, there is no requirement upon any administrative body to participate in any judicial review after it has filed the record of proceeding forthwith. It is not even required, by statute, to serve the applicant with a copy of the same or any other respondents or interested persons.

VOLUME #4(B): How does the decision in Payne clarify the above statutory requirements

34. The content of the court record for an application for judicial review is defined by the Judicial Review Procedure Act, R.S.O. 1990, c. J-1 and by the Rules of Civil Procedure. The process begins with the notice of application: r. 68.01(1). Upon being served with the notice of application for judicial review, the decision-maker is required by s. 10 of the Judicial Review Procedure Act, to file with the Divisional Court "the record of the proceedings in which the decision was made". The "record" is not defined by the Act: Payne, at paragraph 160.

VOLUME #4(C): While the Record Of Proceeding is for the Court's use in the JRPA Application – Applicant's Rights to Record of Proceeding

35. An applicant for judicial review has the right to have a full and accurate record of what went on before the tribunal put before the court: Payne at paragraph 161.

36. The reason for the Applicant being entitled to the same is not grounded in the statutory sections but the ONSC Divisional Court's inherent jurisdiction: Payne at paragraph 161 (sentence 2)[4].

VOLUME #4(D): Underlying reasons for the ONSC Divisional Court derived inherent jurisdiction – ordering production of the record of proceeding 37. As early as 1952, Lord Denning in R. v. Medical Appeal Tribunal ex p. Gilmore, [1957] 1 Q.B. 574 at 583 (C.A.) found the following as a basis the common law and/or equitable powers of the English courts upon which our common law and courts of equity are founded "The court has always had power to order an inferior tribunal to complete the record ... [A] tribunal could defeat a writ of certiorari unless the courts could order them to complete or correct an imperfect record. So the courts have the power to give such an order".

38. The ONCA adopted the same in 2000 in its decision in Payne at paragraph 161 where it also cited other jurisprudence: See also R. v. Northumberland Compensation Appeal Tribunal, ex p. Shaw, [1952] K.B. 338 at 352–54 (C.A.); Canadian Workers Union v. Frankel Structural Steel Ltd. (1976), 1976 CanLII 829 (ON SC), 12 O.R. (2d) 560 at 577 (Div. Ct.) per Reid J.; F.G. Spencer Ltd. v. Prince Edward Island (Labour Relations Board) (1970), 1970 CanLII 960 (PE SCAD), 16 D.L.R. (3d) 670 (P.E.I.S.C.); Battaglia v. British Columbia (Workmen's Compensation Board) (1960), 1960 CanLII 334 (BC SC), 22 D.L.R. (2d) 446 (B.C.S.C.). The ONCA further beautifully articulated the following statement of law which has been the law in Ontario for the last 25 years:

> "A statutory body subject to judicial review cannot immunize itself or its process by arriving at decisions on considerations that are not revealed by the record it files with the court."
> (see: paragraph 161 of Payne (ONCA)).

39. The Superior Court of Justice has all the jurisdiction, power and authority historically exercised by courts of common law and equity in England and Ontario: ss. 11(2) of the CJA.

40. Courts shall administer concurrently all rules of equity and the common law: section 96(1) of the CJA.

41. Where a rule of equity conflicts with a rule of the common law, the rule of equity prevails: section 96(2) of the CJA.

Volume #4(E): Divisional Court's statement of law: the temporal period of a "Record of Proceeding

42. The erudite justices in Rol-Land Farms Limited for the Divisional Court in 2008 reaffirmed the legal precedent that the temporal period for which documents, evidence, and decisions must be included in the forthwith filing by an administrative decision maker with the ONSC Div. Ct. at paragraphs 37 and 38:

> "[37] As indicated in an oral ruling during the hearing, volume 3 of the Record of Proceedings is not admissible. Section 10 of the JRPA requires a tribunal to file its record of proceedings when served with an application for judicial review of a decision. It is the record of proceedings relating to the particular decision that is to be filed, as is clear from the words of s. 10:
> > When notice of an application for judicial review of a decision made in the exercise or purported exercise of a statutory power of decision has been served on the person making the decision, such person shall forthwith file in the court for use on the application, the record of proceedings in which the decision is made. (emphasis added)

[38] Thus, the content of volume 3 is not properly part of the record required to be filed pursuant to s. 10 of the JRPA, as it post-dates the decisions under review."

VOLUME #4(F): What is a JRPA Applicant to do when a Tribunal is non-compliant with its statutory duties?

43. It is not only that an applicant for judicial review should seek the records from the Tribunal by way of request or demand and then bring a motion if the Tribunal is non-compliant but there is also much risk for this JRPA Applicant is he did not do so.

44. In Reflection Productions v. Ontario Media Dev. Corp., 2022 ONSC 64, the ONSC Div. Ct (as per MORAWETZ C.J., VARPIO, KRISTJANSON JJ.) found as follows at paragraphs 74 and 75:

[74] Section 10 of the Judicial Review Procedure Act, R.S.O. 1990, c. J.1 provides:

> Record to be filed in court
> When notice of an application for judicial review of a decision made in the exercise or purported exercise of a statutory power of decision has been served on the person making the decision, such person shall forthwith file in the court for use on the application the record of the proceedings in which the decision was made.

[75] Ergo, pursuant to s. 10 of the Judicial Review Procedure Act, it was available to the applicant to bring a motion seeking production of documents it alleges were relied on by the decision-maker but are not contained in the record: see, for example K.D. v. Peel Children's Aid Society, 2017 ONSC 7392 (Div. Ct.) at paras. 16-17). The applicant failed to do so. As a result, it is precluded from raising this issue for the first time on judicial review.

VOLUME #4: Unassailable Conclusions and Orders Sought

45. The purpose of requiring a tribunal or adjudicator to file a "record of proceedings" is to ensure that when the court reviews the tribunal's decision, it has the information and evidence as it appeared before the tribunal in the first instance. A court reviewing an adjudicative decision may look at decisions to admit evidence, submissions of witnesses, and other evidence and may substitute its judgment for that of the court [or tribunal] of first instance: Payne v. Ontario Human Rights Commission, 2000 CanLII 5731 (ON CA), [2000] O.J. No. 2987, 136 O.A.C. 357 (C.A.), at para. 23; Jacko v. McLellan, 2008 CanLII 22921 (ON SCDC) at paragraph 18).

46. This very ONSC Divisional Court, but less than a year ago in Lachance (as per the Honourable Justice Myers, Stewart and Leiper), explicitly adopted the legal precedent in Payne in articulating the following at paragraph 37 and 38:

> "[37] I agree with the finding of Ryan Bell J. that by bringing this application for judicial review the applicants became entitled to receive all documents concerning their claims. Ryan Bell J. adopted the words of Sharpe JA in Payne v. Ontario Human Rights Commission, 2000 CanLII 5731 (ON CA) at paragraph 161
> > An applicant for judicial review has the right to have a full and accurate record of what went on before the tribunal put before the court. This is an aspect of the superior court's inherent powers of judicial review. A superior court may insist upon the production of an adequate record of the proceedings before the tribunal being reviewed.
> [38] When met by a reluctant decision-maker, the applicants always had the ability to obtain the documents that they needed to advance their claim. They just had to initiate this application."

47. This JRPA Applicant has done much more than "initiate the JRPA Application" but that is the scope of this Motion #1.

48. As the Tribunal has not opposed this Motion #1 or challenged the sufficiency of the Motion Record so filed and served, the Applicant, his capacity as a moving party, is entitled to the relief sought with leave to speak to costs by way of written submissions.

49. The JRPA Applicant respectfully submits that, subject to the motions judge not being the above noted justice (through no fault of her own), the Applicant is entitled to the relief sought above at Order #2.

50. To the extent that the Tribunal now files the record of proceeding after the unnecessary expense and costs of this Motion #1, then orders #3 to #5 become moot. This leaves the issue of costs for the wasted expense on behalf of the Applicant and that of the ONSC Div. Ct. and its court staff by a statutorily non-compliant Licence Appeal Tribunal.

51. To the extent that the Tribunal does not, the JRPA Applicant, in his capacity as a moving party, respectfully submits that the draft order submitted should follow in substantially the same form subject to the Court's discretion as it relates to the language in those orders.

52. All of which is respectfully submitted to the ONSC (Div. Ct.) (motions judge by way of teleconference) on January 30, 2025:

Mr. Kevin A. McLean (B.A. J.D., CIM)
Self-represented, the Applicant herein

VOLUME # #1: STATEMENT OF RECUSAL REQUEST, NULLIFICATION REQUEST, ADJOURNMENT REQUEST (SOLELY IN RELATION TO SHORE J. APPEARANCE REQUIREMENT) AND STAFF DIRECTION ORDERS (SEE: SECTION 76 OF THE CJA)

1. Which Canadian jurist represented the following to the federal committee responsible for judicial appointments in her sworn and signed questionnaire to it, "Vital to the Canadian system is the impartiality of a judge. This is different than the system in the United States. In Canada, judicial independence is viewed as vital to fostering public confidence in the fairness and objectivity of the justice system. The Supreme Court of Canada has described judicial independence as "the cornerstone, a necessary prerequisite for judicial impartiality."

2. None other than The Honourable Madam Justice Sharon Store.

3. The Honourable Sharon Shore of our ONSC (not the Federal Court) also made a statement to that same federal committee that this Applicant certainly agrees with as follows

> Last, but not least, is integrity. I have always tried to conduct my personal and professional life with integrity. One of the lessons I learned from my mentors is that it takes a lifetime to build your reputation, and only minutes to destroy it.

4. Public confidence in our legal system is rooted in the belief that those who deliver legal judgments do so without bias or prejudice to one side or the other. In this regard, the appearance of justice is just as important as the reality.[xii]

5. Judges often disqualify themselves where the matter before them involves former clients or law partners. Herein, we have a situation of a former client of Epstein Cole LLP where Madam Justice Shore was a partner.

6. Lord Hewart C.J.'s aphorism that "it is not merely of some importance but is of fundamental importance that justice should not only be done, but should manifestly and undoubtedly be seen to be done" (The King v. Sussex Justices, Ex parte McCarthy, [1924] 1 K.B. 256, at p. 259). To put it differently, in cases where disqualification is argued, the relevant inquiry is not whether there was in fact either conscious or unconscious bias on the part of the judge, but whether a reasonable person properly informed would apprehend that there was. In that sense, the reasonable apprehension of bias is not just a surrogate for unavailable evidence, or an evidentiary device to establish the likelihood of unconscious bias, but the manifestation of a broader preoccupation about the image of justice. As was said by Lord Goff in Gough, supra, at p. 659, "there is an overriding public interest that there should be confidence in the integrity of the administration of justice" (see: paragraph 66 of Weykaum). The last is the most demanding for the judicial system, because it countenances the possibility that justice might not be seen to be done, even where it is undoubtedly done – that is, it envisions the possibility that a decision-maker may be totally impartial in circumstances which nevertheless create a reasonable apprehension of bias, requiring his or her disqualification (see: paragraph 67 of Weykaum).

7. The law of judicial bias is founded on two basic legal maxims: audi alteram partem ("listen to the other side") and nemo judex in sua causa ("no-one should be a judge in his own cause"). The former requires that parties affected by a decision have the right to be heard and that the decision-maker must not have pre-judged the issue. The latter prohibits the adjudicator of the case from having an interest in the decision, thus safeguarding the right of the parties to be treated impartially and without prejudice. In other words, bias represents a predisposition or a state of mind which sways judgment.

8. Unlike tribunals, judicial impartiality is guaranteed by our Constitution under section 96 to 101 (see: Ocean Port Hotel (SCC)).

Volume #1(A): The Anticipatory Counter to Justice Shore taking a similar position to Binnie J. in Weykaum

9. While the SCC has found that there is a distinction with a difference between government lawyers and private practice, the following statement of law is apropos. There is a strong inference that licensees who work together share confidences especially where they work under a "group" even if internal confidentiality screens are in place (see: Mariangeli, [2004] OJ 3082 (Ont Sup. Ct.). Where Confidential Information exchanged in a prior related matter sufficient related to a current retainer the "licensees" MUST rebut inference Confidential Information was exchange (see: Mariangeli, [2004] OJ 3082 (Ont Sup. Ct).

VOLUME #1(B): BY ANALOGY

10. The Applicant (also defined as the "Requestor") repeats and relies upon his letter in Appendix #1.

11. If a judge is aware of any relationship or personal interest that raises a reasonable apprehension of bias, it is generally desirable that disclosure is made in advance of a hearing, so that the case may be reassigned.

12. Under the Ontario Courts of Justice Act (s. 75(1)(3)), it is the Chief Justice of a court or one of the Associate Chief Justices who is responsible for the assignment or reassignment of cases.

13. Pursuant to the Civil Rules, the following is applicable to the Case Management Appearance Requirement:

> 77.04 (1) A judge or associate judge may,
>
> (b) adjourn a case conference;
> (2) A judge or associate judge may, on his or her own initiative, require the parties to appear before him or her or to participate in a conference call to deal with any matter arising in connection with the case management of the proceeding, including a failure to comply with an order or the rules. O. Reg. 438/08, s. 64; O. Reg. 383/21, s. 15.
> (3) For greater certainty, the powers set out in subrules (1) and (2) are in addition to any other powers set out in this Rule. O. Reg. 438/08, s. 64.

14. For sake of completeness, Rule 77(1) and (2) state the following:

RULE 77 CIVIL CASE MANAGEMENT

Purpose and General Principles

Purpose

77.01 (1) The purpose of this Rule is to establish a case management system that provides case management only of those proceedings for which a need for the court's intervention is demonstrated and only to the degree that is appropriate, as determined in reliance on the criteria set out in this Rule. O. Reg. 438/08, s. 64.

General Principles

(2) This Rule shall be construed in accordance with the following principles:

1. Despite the application of case management under this Rule to a proceeding, the greater share of the responsibility for managing the proceeding and moving it expeditiously to a trial, hearing or other resolution remains with the parties.

2. The nature and extent of the case management provided by a judge or associate judge under this Rule in respect of a proceeding shall be informed by any relevant practices, traditions, customs or judicial resource issues that apply locally in the region in which the proceeding is commenced or to which it is transferred. O. Reg. 438/08, s. 64; O. Reg. 383/21, s. 15.

15. The Canadian Judicial Council considers recusal inappropriate where no other adjudicator can be constituted to hear the case or where, as a result of an emergency, withdrawal would lead to a miscarriage of justice. Still, the exercise of judicial discretion is at the heart of judicial independence, and judges are presumed to have acted in good faith.

16. The urgency is in favour of the Applicant having his requisitions filed and receiving a Form 68(B) which is most outstanding despite requisitions for the same.

17. It is rather coincidental that there are 93 justices in the Toronto region and somehow the one justice who was a partner who acted, and remains as the sole law firm to have represented one Mr. Andrew Papadimtripoulos

18. It is current counsel to the three respondent insurance companies in Mr. Nieuwland who unequivocally admitted, as a matter of law, that there was a conflict of interest when TDGIC represented in a purported but unlawful response to the Applicant's PIPEDA request of SNIC in January 2024 that Mr. Andrew Papadimtripoulos had not been involved in any way with this claim or access request. However, the claim number provided therein was 035325709-04 [sic] (see: page 66 of the Oral Compendium).

VOLUME #2: RELIEF SOUGHT IN THE RECUSAL REQUEST, NULLIFICATION REQUEST AND REASSIGNMENT REQUEST

19. The Requestor seeks the following relief as follows:

f. The Honourable Madam Justice Shore is disqualified from any further involvement in this JRPA Proceeding (the "Disqualification Request" or the "Recusal Request");
g. The Case Management Appearance Requirement is declared as void and void ab initio (not merely voidable) (the "Nullification Request");
h. A general and indefinite adjournment of the case conference pursuant to 77.04(1)(b) of the Civil Rules by the Associate Justice (the "Adjournment Request");
i. A direction by the Honourable Chief Justice, pursuant to section 76 of the CJA, that the Registrar shall accept all outstanding requisition filings and provide confirmation of the same to the JRPA Applicant and respondents; and
j. A direction by the Honourable Chief Justice, pursuant to section 76 of the CJA, that the Registrar comply with her duties (by law), pursuant to 68.05(2) of the Civil Rules[xiii], and provide the parties with a "Notice of Listing For Hearing".

("d" and "e" together, the "Staff Direction Requests").

(collectively, the "Respectful Requests" or "Requests").

VOLUME #2(A): A note on section 76 of the CJA, "Direction of Court Staff"

20. For ease of reference, Section 76 of the CJA states:

> 76 (1) In matters that are assigned by law[xiv] to the judiciary, registrars, court clerks, court reporters, interpreters and other court staff shall act at the direction of the chief justice of the court. 2006, c. 21, Sched. A, s. 14.

21. The following outlines the facts material to the JRPA* Application and the LAT Appeal as it relates to the various requests herein. Painstaking detail is required because of the Tribunal's failure to comply with section 10 of the JRPA and to fill the lacunas creates by that intentional and egregious statutory non-compliance by the Tribunal. These submissions are provided in support of the Requests as a means of ensuring compliance and on the continued basis of urgency. The further details of the below are bookmarked and hyperlinked in the Applicant's oral compendium and oral outline that shall follow.

VOLUME #3: FACTS

22. The underlying facts in this JRPA* Application are contained within the record of proceeding with reference to the filed documents such as the JRPA* Application, Factum, Application Record, and Affidavit #2.

23. The Ontario Superior Court of Justice Guide to Judicial Review in Divisional Court, effective by its metadata which states, "Scarciolla, Claudia (JUD)" (author) and 11/24/22 (date) (the "JRPA Guide") which states [emphasis it the Applicant's]:

> "After you have brought an application for judicial review, you will receive an email to register for CaseLines and upload your materials. There is no fee to use CaseLines."

24. The JRPA* Applicant tendered his JRPA* Application and paid the requisite fees on November 15, 2024.
    a. After receipt of the issued JRPA* Application, from the Registrar, with thanks, the JRPA* Applicant did not receive an invitation to Case Center.

25. The JRPA* Applicant delivered[xv] (served) and filed his Factum[xvi] on December 10, 2024.

26. The JRPA* Applicant delivered (served) and filed his Application Record on December 12, 2024.

27. The JRPA* Applicant filed and paid for the Certificate of Perfection on December 13, 2024;

28. The JRPA* Applicant also filed the requisite affidavit of service thereafter;

29. The JRPA* Applicant received confirmation of his filing thereafter;

30. The JRPA* Applicant, based on his review of what has been received, has not received any mail or email of the Form 68(B) which was required to be delivered to the parties after the JRPA* Applicant had filed and paid for the Certificate Of Perfection with an approximate date of the hearing. Based upon a reasonable interpretation of the relevant Civil Rule, which is 68.05(2) (see: (2) When the certificate of perfection has been filed, the registrar shall place the application on a list for hearing and give notice of listing for hearing (Form 68B) by mail to the parties and the other persons named in the certificate of perfection. R.R.O. 1990, Reg. 194, r. 68.05 (2).”), the Registrar was required to place the Applicant’s JRPA* Application on a list for hearing and give notice of listing for hearing on or around Tuesday, December 17, 2024.

31. Despite filing his requisition #1 on December 24, 2024 (see: Confirmation number 2787308) requesting and requiring the Registrar to comply with her duties, there is currently no evidence that any such steps have been taken in this regard. Moreover, the JRPA* Applicant, by usage of said service, was entitled to have any filing processed within five business days, which may be accepted or rejected. Five business days from December 24, 2024, was January 2, 2025.

32. Relevant to this Recusal Request and Nullification Request, on June 28, 2024, in relation to the Applicant’s NOM #6 and NOM #9, the Tribunal dismissed the Applicant’s COI motion and Mr. Andrew Papadimtripoulos (the “Epstein Cole Client”) remained as a representative of SNIC. The timing could not be more important because on June 20, 2024, the Tribunal granted the Applicant’s NOM #8 which removed the Fictitious Respondent (TDGIC) as the sole respondent party.

33. The Appellant provided notice to the SABS Insurer (and NON-SABS* Insurer and Impugned Individuals) in a prompt and expedient fashion which is indicative of “good faith” (see: Hearing Brief, Tab 5, Talisman, paragraph 35).

VOLUME #3(A): THE FORTUITOUS DISCOVERY

34. The fortuitous discovery which merely solidified the Applicant’s uncontroverted evidence was the finding of an anniversary card penned to his ex wife presumably in 2015 and 2016 under the bed where the Applicant slept and where Mr. Papadimitropoulos used to reside. The evidence remains uncontroverted in the record of proceeding;

(see: Affidavit #3, Exhibit "A", pages 274 to 279, which was affidavit of the Applicant on September 19, 2024,

35. No handwriting expert was required with that glaring obvious similarities.

36. The backdrop to this Forged Signature of an adjuster with SNIC is that the cover letter therein (not a public interest issue per se) confirmed and represented that SNIC had approved the sum of approximately $2080 in medical and rehab benefits ($1995 +$85.87). However, it never issued a cheque for the same to the Applicant's relevant health practitioners. The only reasonable inference is that SNIC did not want to take further steps in affirmation of the fraud, forgery, false document and uttering of a false document. Does that it make it lawful? The question answer itself.

VOLUME #3(B): NO ONE HAS MORE TO LOSE THAN MR. ANDREW PAPADIMITROPOULOS

37. It is the very exhaustion of each and every avenue that has karmically come to save this Applicant at the most fortuitous of times. The dismissal of his NOM #6 and NOM #9 (which was repurposed and filed after the nullity case conference and the change of the style of cause) is what kept Mr.

Andrew Papadimitropoulos as a representative of SNIC from his post in Markham for "TD Insurance" but now has caused a further light to be shined on his misconduct whilst being a client of Epstein Cole and at the very least a continued address for notices within a separation agreement.

VOLUME #5: ISSUES

38. The Applicant frames the general legal issues as follows:

b. Is there a ROAB involving the Madam Justice Shore in light of her being a partner at Epstein Cole LLP at the time when Mr. Andrew Papadimtriopoulos retained Epstein Cole LLP along with the admission of law by counsel of record in this JRPA Proceeding to the three distinct insurance companies that Mr. Andrew Papadimitropoulos could not be involved in the Applicant's SABS Claim and LAT Appeal by his contractually agreed requirement that he not have any indirect or direct contact Ms. Nicole Artopoulos (spouse of the Applicant at material times) (see: Oral Compendium, page 66)?
c. Pursuant to the common law in Canada that a RAOB cannot be remedied, what order must be granted in relation to the Shore J. Case Management Appearance Requirement?
d. Pursuant to the Civil Rules and the common law requirement that justice must not just be done but seen to be done, what steps should and must the Associate Justice take after the Nullification Request is granted?
e. In light of the delays experienced by the JRPA Applicant and the public interest along with the continued urgency of the Applicant's JRPA* Application, what directions must the Chief Justice take as per section 76 of the CJA?

VOLUME #6: LEGAL BASES: RELATING TO THE LICENSEES AND CAST OF CHARACTERS BELOW

Volume #6(A): Law Society Act

39. To fully elucidate and outline the underlying conflict of interest and, bluntly, fraudulent conduct of one Mr. Andrew Papadimtriopoulos in executing documents for adjusters but in their name of "as per" (see: As per A. Nurse") (by way of the fortuitous discovery (see: Affidavit #3 herein), the underlying legal bases involving the non-licensee, Mr. Karat, acting contrary to the LSA and the LSO *By-Law*s is required.

40. Moreover, there is ostensibly some persistent discord between the decisions of Vice Chair McGee and Vice Chair Maedel in Dankha and Mosa respectively and the decisions of Vice Chair Morrissette and Vice Chair Lake (see: NOM #5 and reconsideration decision of Vice Chair Logan). As this Court would have seen had the Tribunal complied with its statutory obligation under the JRPA, the Applicant had to get most "creative" and "lucky" (see: the "one and the same" misrepresentation by Mr. Nieuwland at the May 2, 2024, nullity case conference) to have the Tribunal to comply with the law (which is completely antithetical to the consumer protection nature of the statutory scheme of the Insurance Act, SABS, Reg 283) to obtain the orders that he did in his NOM #8 (nota bene: which changed the style of cause while removing a party and adding a party i.e. the granting of the same which is interlocutory in nature whereas the refusal of the same is a final order and final decision):

41. For clarity as to the Applicant's positions regarding some of the other decision makers at the quasi-judicial tribunal known as "LAT" like Vice Chair McGee, Vice Chair Maedel and some others, they are clearly very articulate and have high legal acumen. The decisions of Vice Chair McGee in Dankha was yet another beautifully written and analytical precise decision wherein she ensured that the Tribunal did not condone the breaches of the LSA and LSO *By-Law*s by a paralegal engaging in the practice of law (not provision of legal services)

42. As noted in the case of Dankha, Vice Chair McGee disagreed with the submissions of Ms. Watson on behalf of the Applicant (Manweel Dankha) but also in relation to Mr. Grabar (a paralegal) filed and signed submissions when the issues related to CAT Impairment of the applicant therein.

43. Ms. Watson, a lawyer licensee in good standing with the LSO, made the following arguments which were all rejected by Vice Chair McGee:
    a. Mr. Grabar submitted documents under the advisement of Mr. Faletta (a now suspended lawyer);
    b. Mr. Faletta oversaw Grabar's handling of the file; and
    c. A new lawyer (Watson) had recently took carriage of the file.

44. Mr. Karat was and is on far worse grounds that Mr. Grabar as Mr. Grabar was a licensed paralegal.

VOLUME #6(A)(I): LSA, SECTIONS 1(5) AND (6)

45. A person provides legal services if the person engages in conduct that involves
    a. The application of legal principles; and
    b. Legal judgment with regard to the circumstances or objectives of a person.

    (see: section 1(5) of the LSA)

46. A person provides legal services if a person gives "a Person" advice with respect to legal interests, rights or responsibilities or of another person; represents a person in a proceeding before an adjudicative body; or negotiates the legal interests of a person. (see: section 1(6) of the LSA).

VOLUME #6(A)(II): SECTION 1(7) OF THE LSA: REPRESENTATION IN A PROCEEDING

47. Doing any of the following SHALL BE CONSIDERED to be representing "a person" in a proceeding
    a. Determining what documents to serve or file in relation to the proceeding
    b. Determining on or with whom to serve or file a document; or
    c. Determining when, where or how to serve or file a document.

    (the "Section 1(7)(A) Determinations")

48. Doing any of the following SHALL BE CONSIDERED to be representing "a person":
    a. Conducting an examination for discovery; or
    b. Engaging in any other conduct necessary to the conduct of a proceeding.

49. "Claim" has the same meaning as in By-Law #4 which excludes a claim of an individual (this "Appellant") who has or appears to have a CAT Impairment within the meaning of the Statutory Accident Benefits ("SABS") Schedule (the "Schedule").

50. "Proceeding" has the same meaning as in By-Law #4, section 6(1) ((see: Hearing Brief, Tab 26, page 285) and any intended proceeding was also vis-a-vis the Claimant (also defined as "Applicant" or "Appellant") and "TD INSURANCE MELOCHE MONNEX" (see: HB, Tab 38, page 561 for reference to "trade name") (Security National Insurance Company). The LAT Rules refers to the LAT Rules effective on August 21, 2023 (the "LAT Rules" or "New LAT Rules").

VOLUME #6(B): THE "ADR REPRESENTATIVE" [NOT AN "OFFICER"]: KARAT – CONDUCT SOLELY IN RELATION TO SNIC

51. Karat is a NON-licensee and unlicensed representative of SNIC in this LAT Proceeding before an adjudicative body (LAT/AABS) when measured against the LSA and its *By-Law*s. Pursuant to LSO v. Collins, citing LSUC v. Crawford, non-licensees (or former licensees) are uninsured and immune from the regulatory and disciplinary control of the Law. As Mr. Karat does not provide any fees to the LSO, despite his LinkedIn claiming he is affiliated with the LSUC since 2014, this presents an obvious and significant risk to the public in that there is no recourse within the LSO's regulatory structure and little recourse (but for section 26.1 of the LSA) against the non-licensee for negligent and fraudulent acts done in the course of unauthorized practice

52. Where a licensee (which the Appellant's uncontroverted evidence remains that the licensee (who is also deemed an "Officer" of SNIC by virtue of being a "manager" or "management" with SNIC) was the Mr. Papadimitropoulos) affiliates with a non-licensee, he remained exclusively liable for his professional practice when so affiliating. The Conflicted Lawyer (Mr. Papadimtriopoulos) has also acted for "TD Insurance Meloche Monnex" in Mensah (see: 2022 CanLII 452) and 18-00161 v. SNIC, 2019 CanLII 9628.

53. Notably, the Conflicted Lawyer (Mr. Papadimtriopoulos) had never represented "TD General Insurance Company" and neither had Karat. It is notable that "TD Insurance Meloche Monnex" (Primmum and SNIC) has two underwriters for two distinct programs. The Alumni Program is the only relevant insurance program herein under the Insurance Contract herein.

54. Karat provided legal services to SNIC and, by operation of law, with his signing, filing and service of the Purported SNIC Response did far more than section 1(7)(a) and certainly conduct that fits section 1(7)(c) of the LSA, which "SHALL BE CONSIDERED" representation of a person [SNIC] in this LAT Proceeding.

55. As Karat has not provided any evidence that he was an employee or officer of "a corporation" (SNIC), any selecting, drafting, completing or revising of the Purported SNIC Response for use of "the corporation" (SNIC) or which the corporation [SNIC] is a party may have provided an exemption to Karat under section 1(8) "Not Practising Law or Providing Legal Services" if that was all that Karat did.

56. However, By-Law 4, section 28(2.) ("Other Profession Or Occupation") of the LSO, has an exemption to the exemption and that is the "representation A PERSON in a proceeding before an adjudicative body" which means that when Karat signed (see: HB, Tab 3, page 94), filed and served the Purported SNIC Response, there was no exemption for him to rely upon under section 1(8) of the LSA or the By-Law #4 (Part IV, "Not Practising Law Or Providing Legal Services"), section 28(2)).

57. While Nieuwland was not on the email of January 25, 2024, rather conveniently, Karat represented in the email to the Appellant, "Kindly see the attached correspondence with today's date along with the Response of AN INSURANCE COMPANY" [emphasis is the Appellant's] (see: Affidavit #13, Exhibit "A", page 5). Mr. Karat regularly confirmed by that auto-reply that is not authorized for SNIC (but for Primmum, TD Home & Auto, and NON-SABS INSURER).

Volume #6(C): Nieuwland's conduct solely in relation to the NON-SABS Insurer

58. Nieuwland is a lawyer licensee, with the LSO, who was employed by Simitrich Law and now as a lawyer licensee with "TD Insurance Staff Legal". There are some discrepancies between how Saeed (see: HB[xvii], Tab 3, page 17 and Nieuwland describe, on the LSO Directory, "TD Insurance Staff Legal" as the form describes it as "employed – practising law" whereas the latter describes himself being in "private practice").

59. On January 30, 2024, Nieuwland filed a DOR on behalf of NON-SABS INSURER ("NON-SABS* Insurer"). The NON-legal assistant to Nieuwland in Ms. Moraes (the "Fictitious Legal Assistant") served the Appellant with the DOR on behalf of the NON-SABS* Insurer. (see: HB, Tab 3 page 11; Volume #5 therein of Affidavit #15, page 8 of the body).

60. From early February 2024 to April 10, 2024, the Appellant provided notice to Nieuwland that his DOR for a NON-SABS* Insurer was a nullity and had no legal effect, and urged him to file a DOR on behalf of SNIC. Nieuwland did not respond and then stated that his DOR was unambiguous The Appellant also urged Mr. Nieuwland provide an affidavit if Ms. Moraes was his legal assistant. Nieuwland did not respond to the request

61. In April 2024, Ms. Ortiz suddenly and mysteriously appeared as Mr. Nieuwland's legal assistant along with being a legal assistant to "Ashley Dunkley".

62. While, again, it matters not of the underlying facts and minutia of the relationships per se and the EPSTEIN COLE Client's involvement in representing SNIC, by reference to the As per A. Nurse signature and beyond as the Tribunal found that Mr. Andrew Papadimitropoulos was fully entitled to remain as a representative in the LAT Appeal, the Applicant provides the same primer no the LSO *By-Law*s in relation to the cast of characters. Put another way, the JRPA Applicant provides the same as per each case being determined on its own facts and out of abundance of caution.

63. While "affiliate" has a different meaning under the LSA versus "affiliate" under the Insurance Act, this in turn means that NON-SABS* Insurer must be disqualified from any further participation in this LAT Proceeding by its overt and brazen usage of the unlisted documents in the correspondence file of SNIC (AB File) in filing (disclosing) to LAT in a public record.

64. Pursuant to By-Law 7, section 31, the following definitions are now even more apropos and compelling:

a. "affiliated entity" is one or more persons none of whom are licensed or otherwise authorized to practise law or provide legal services inside or outside of Ontario (nota bene: SNIC's head office is in Montreal, Quebec); and
b. Licensee: includes a permitted group of licensees

65. "Affiliation", under section 32 of By-Law #7 for Part IV, is interpreted to mean where a permitted group of licensees affiliates with an affiliated entity when the permitted group of licensees on a regular basis joints with the affiliated entity in the delivery of the services of the permitted group of licensees and the services of the affiliated entity.

66. The JRPA Applicant now copies and pastes from his speaking notes, filed with the Tribunal and later appended to an affidavit to meet the definition of record to be included in a record of proceeding under section 20 of the SPPA, as follows:

> "123. As Mr. Karat and Nieuwland has different clients in SNIC and NON-SABS Insurer respectively, Karat (if he meets the definition of a "Professional" with no dispute that Karat is experienced in providing services to licensees like the Mr. Papadimitropoulos and Ms. Francine Papadopoulos on behalf of their client in SNIC and Mr. Dugas, esteemed partner at McCague Borlack LLP on behalf of his client in Primmum Insurance Company), then Mr. Nieuwland (a licensee) may and shall NOT provide to NON-SABS INSURER the services of a person (Karat) who is not a licensee that support or supplements the licensed activity of Nieuwland on behalf of NON-SABS INSURER (see: By-Law #7, Part III, section 17).
> 124. As Karat solely signed, filed and served (as it is presumed) the Purported SNIC Response, with the cover letter on January 25, 2024 (see: HB, Tab 3, pages 85 to 88; email: enclosed response from "An Insurance Company" which was the Appellant's Insurer by virtue of the Insurance Act and no reference to "NON-SABS INSURER"), which referenced "TD INSURANCE MELOCHE MONNEX" with the return address of SNIC Markham, along with his sole signature of the Karat COS, he did so without Nieuwland copied on that email. There is no reference to Nieuwland in the Purported SNIC Response. Therefore, Karat's sole conduct (which were his sole signing, sole filing and sole serving) therein were not to support or supplement Nieuwland's client at the time or by way of retrospective analysis. Only a lawyer licensee was authorized under the LSA to SIGN the Purported SNIC Response as non-licensee is not authorized to even sign correspondence (except of a routine administrative nature) and a paralegal licensee is not authorized to sign a "responsive pleading" where an Appeal (not a "claim" under By-Law #4) involves even the appearance that an individual is CAT Impaired. (see: HB, Tab 3, page 27).
> 125. Kart was correct in the name of the "insurer" in that SNIC was the only insurer that undertook a "contract of insurance" with the Appellant's Spouse and BMW Financial Services Inc. as the "primary listed insureds". By virtue of the Appellant being the "occupant" (driver) of the Insured Automobile when Pembridge's insured rear ended the Insured Automobile, from a stopped position, at high velocity in her [tortfeasor insured] above average weight SUV, the Appellant was an "Insured Person" under the Insurance Act. Pursuant to the Insurance Act, the Appellant became a "party" to the Insurance Policy, and was deemed to have given consideration thereunder as if he had given consideration at the time of the formation of the Insurance Contract and thereafter.

126. By Nieuwland's filing of the DOR, Nieuwland unequivocally and unambiguously distanced himself from Karat's client [SNIC] in the SABS Insurer.

127. By Nieuwland's inaction and then filing of the Purported Responsive Hearing Brief on April 11, 2024 in relation to NOM #6, Nieuwland affirmed and reaffirmed that his client was NON-SABS INSURER (NON-SABS Insurer). Nieuwland then made a succession of independent misrepresentations to the Tribunal about Karat and Moraes' roles herein and to him.
Therefore, Nieuwland did not comply with section 32(a) of By-Law #7. In relation to ss. 32(c), it is admitted by Karat (see: Purported SNIC Response and emails of Karat to Appellant along with cover letter referencing the Purported SNIC Response) that Karat operates from the premises at SNIC Markham and Nieuwland operates from the premises at 66 Wellington West, Toronto.

129. Nieuwland and Karat cannot now submit that they provide services jointly as they have different clients. Nieuwland's Motion Submissions in relation to NOM #6 are on behalf of a NON-SABS Insurer. Nieuwland's Motion Submissions do not somehow change the filed Purported SNIC Response, the cover letter enclosing the same and Karat's representations on January 23, 2024.

130. Nieuwland also did not represent in the Motion Submissions that Karat was appointed [sic] by Nieuwland or TD Insurance Staff Legal but rather appointed [sic] by NON-SABS INSURER. This is contrary to the explicit and express language in the January 23, 2024 email from Karat to the Appellant of which Nieuwland was copied.

131. Therefore, if Nieuwland and Karat did not meet the definition of "affiliation" under Part IV "Affiliations" under By-Law #7, then Karat had to be assigned as the ADR representative (not "officer") of this LAT dispute by the SABS Insurer (SNIC). As directors appoint officers and officers operate a company, namely SNIC, then it would have to be a de jure, de facto or deemed officer of SNIC.

132. The Mr. Papadimitropoulos meets the definition of an "officer" under the Insurance Act by his title of "Consequence Management".

133. As of January 2024, the Mr. Papadimitropoulos was not only a practising lawyer employed by TD Insurance (not TD Insurance Staff Legal) but a "Consequence Manager" located at SNIC Markham. Karat as of January 2024 and onwards was located at the premises of SNIC Markham. It is trite that a manager may be similar or tantamount to that of an officer of an insurer like SNIC. There is no dispute that the case of Quinn v. SNIC, with a six day hearing, wherein the Conflicted Lawyer (Mr. Papadimtriopoulos) and Karat were joining would have met the definition of "regular basis".

> 134. While the Conflicted Lawyer (Mr. Papadimtriopoulos) could assign tasks and functions to a non-licensee in connection with THE licensee's practice of law in relation to the affairs of THE licensee's client, including "its staff" (of the affiliated entity), the Impugned Licensees (except the Conflicted Lawyer (Mr. Papadimtropoulos)) are employed by TD Insurance Staff Legal are NOT the staff of Mr. Karat or any other non-licensee affiliated entity.
> 135. Simply put, the "consequences" were large and they had to be "managed" with assignments of tasks and functions to a non-licensee but the Conflicted Lawyer (Mr. Papadimtropoulos) could not have his name (publicly associated) with this TD Claim #3 and this LAT Proceeding. He could not covertly have be involved in the "handling" of TD Claim #3 and this LAT Proceeding but that was harder to prove.
> 136. What was not difficult to prove was that Nieuwland was out of office from January 24, 2024 to January 30, 2024, and Ms. Moraes was not known to the Tribunal or the Appellant, in this LAT Proceeding, until late January 2024. Therefore, the only supervising lawyer, and "manager", that could have authorized and assigned duties to Karat, in accordance with said licensee's practice of law, was the Conflicted Lawyer (Mr.Papadimtropoulos).

67. While Mr. Karat and Mr. Nieuwland had different clients for nearly six months and at the time of the case conference (with a bit of irony herein), SNIC in filing the SNIC Response had to act through an authorized representative or be directed by a "direct mind" – however clandestine and secret it may have been.

68. SNIC could only act through an individual, namely an authorized individual like an officer or one deemed to have the authority of an officer, particularly a senior officer (see: Insurance Act, "officer"). However, the LSA prohibited Mr. Karat from "signing" the SNIC Response as the sole representative at the time.

69. The definition of "senior officer" only relates to "related party transactions" under PART XVII.1 of the Insurance Act.

70. Therefore, the applicable and relevant definition is that of an "officer". "Officer" includes a trustee, director, manager, treasurer, secretary or member of the board or committee of management of AN INSURER and a person appointed by the insurer to sue and be sued in its behalf; (see: section 1(1) of the Insurance Act). While the Mr. Papadimitropoulos is not a "trustee" or "director" of SNIC, he does hold himself out as a "manager" and involved in "consequence management". Mr. Papadimitropoulos would meet the requirements of a licensee, officer and manager of SNIC at SNIC Markham. Therefore, on a balance of probabilities, the "officer" who ASSIGNED Mr. Karat with his duties and functions, to be the ADR specialist herein was the Mr. Papadimitropoulos for the particulars in affidavit evidence previously which are uncontroverted. More importantly, it is notable that Mr. Nieuwland misrepresented that Mr. Karat was an "ADR" 'officer' when he was not and never represented himself as such.

71. Even more compelling was that Mr. Karat signed the Purported SNIC Response without any reference to Nieuwland, and then served the Appellant (as defined in the LAT Appeal) with the Purported SNIC Response and a cover letter referencing the Purported SNIC Response (filed on behalf of AN insurance company – namely SNIC) which had the address as the same as the Purported SNIC Response at SNIC Markham. The author of the cover letter was "TD Insurance Meloche Monnex" with Security National Insurance Company as the return address albeit allegedly in Markham, Ontario.

VOLUME #6(D): KAISER

72. While the Divorced Husband Conflicted Lawyer (Mr. Papadimtriopoulos) is NOT the declared tribunal advocate for SNIC and not declared herein at the JRPA Proceeding, his public denoted address with the LSO is SNIC Markham which was and is at material times in the TD Claim #3 the same address as Nurse (from DOL to Spring/Summer of 2023) and Karat (January 23, 2024 and onwards). It does not matter if the individual, admittedly in irreconcilable conflict of interest, is the "tribunal or court" advocate as found by the ONSC in Talisman. There is codification of the same under section 1(7) of the LSA.

VOLUME #6(E): PUHL, TALISMAN, AND YELLOW CEDAR

73. It is not only when a conflict of interest occurs but whether a conflict of interest could be reasonably perceived in all of the circumstances (see: Puhl at paragraph 18; Talisman, Yellow Cedar). In short, whether a circumstantial perceived conflict of interest could be perceived ("Circumstantial Perceived COI"). "Could" is consistent with reasonable suspicion and NOT "reasonable grounds" (see: R. v. Kang).

74. The legal test is not when an individual's personal interests could compromise judgment or actions in discharging job duties but the legal test is whether the Appellant has established on a balance of probabilities that a fair-minded and reasonably informed member of the public would conclude the removal of the

VOLUME #6(F): SEMINAL POINT – COI COMING TO PASS FOR JUSTICE SHORE AS A RESULT OF THE MISCONDUCT, MISCHIEF AND FRAUD OF MR. PAPADIMITROPOULOS

75. To belabour the point, the decision of the Tribunal dismissing the Applicant's COI Motion allowed Mr. Papadimitropoulos to remain as a representative whether or not he was in the forefront or back-office, declared or not. However, the difference now is that none of the tribunal decision makers were his counsel in a matrimonial litigation spanning some three years and ending in a divorce decree, and then issuing decisions involving him. However, that COI has come to pass on or around January 8, 2024.

Volume #6(G): Martin – the administration of justice

76. The legal test is not when an individual's personal interests could compromise judgment or actions in discharging job duties but the legal test is whether the Appellant has established on a balance of probabilities that a fair-minded and reasonably informed member of the public would conclude the removal of the individual – in this matter being a justice - is necessary for the proper administration of justice (see: MacDonald Estate v. Martin, 1990 CanLII 32 at paragraph 47).

77. The expression "substantial risk" in the definition of "conflict of interest" describes the likelihood of impairment as opposed to nature and severity. substantial risk is one that is significant and plausible EVEN IF it is NOT certain or even probably that it will occur. There must be more than a "mere possibility" that impairment will occur. Ergo, not a "mere possibility" but a "possibility".

VOLUME #6(F): DUTIES TO THIRD PERSONS MATTER UNDER THE LSO BY-LAWS AND RULES OF PROFESSIONAL CONDUCT

78. Moreover, the ROPC, section 3.4 does not solely relate to whether the Conflicted Lawyer (Mr. Papadimtropoulos) is able to discharge his job duties (whatever that means in fact or law) but whether there is a substantial risk that a lawyer's loyalty to or representation of a client (SNIC – not NON-SABS INSURER)) would be materially or adversely affected by the lawyer's duties to a "third person".

79. In Bose, The Honourable Mr. Justice Perrell on the Ontario Superior Court of Justice found that Canada has taken on an increasingly stricter approach to the law of COI by way of reference to cases involving Martin to Neil

80. As Justice Sopinka found in MacDonald Estate v. Martin: "In dealing with the question of the use of Confidential Information we are dealing with a matter that is usually not susceptible of proof. As pointed out by Fletcher Moulton L.J. in Rakusen, "that is a thing which you cannot prove" (p. 841). I would add "or disprove". Justice Laskin went further when he found, "Since, however, it is not susceptible of proof, the test must be such that the public represented by the reasonably informed person would be satisfied that no use of Confidential Information would occur.

VOLUME #6(G): FAMILY LAW AND FAMILY LAW FIRMS INVOKE DIFFERENT PRINCIPLES

81. Justin Laskin found: "Of more importance, however, is the fact that the principles involved herein are designed not only to protect the interests of the individual clients but they also protect the public confidence in the administration of justice. This is particularly so when the litigation involves a family dispute. Furthermore, when the public interest is involved, the appearance of impropriety overrides any private interest claimed by waiver."

82. It is most fitting to note there are ongoing obligations arising from a "family dispute" between the Divorced Husband Conflicted Lawyer (Mr. Papadimtriopoulos) and the Individual Policyholder that are in perpetuity.

VOLUME #7: THE LEGAL BASES RELATING TO A REASONABLE APPREHENSION OF A BIAS ("RAOB") INVOLVING A JUSTICE

VOLUME #7(A): THE TEST FOR RAOB

83. The test for a reasonable apprehension of bias is fairly straight forward. It was first articulated by Supreme Court of Canada in Committee for Justice and Liberty v. National Energy Board, as follows:

> ". . . what would an informed person, viewing the matter realistically and practically — and having thought the matter through — conclude. Would he think that it is more likely than not that [the decision-maker], whether consciously or unconsciously, would not decide fairly."

84. This test — what would a reasonable, informed person think — has consistently been endorsed and repeated by the Supreme Court of Canada, most recently in Yukon Francophone School Board, Education Area #23 v. Yukon (Attorney General).

85. As such, the possibility of bias is not assessed from the perspective of the reviewing judge or the litigants themselves. Rather, the assessment of bias must be holistic and contextual, requiring "a careful and thorough examination of the proceeding", 6 to determine what a reasonable, neutral observer would see. The court reviews the FULL RECORD in its entirety "to determine the cumulative effect of any transgressions or improprieties".

86. By the Applicant being deprived of his right to upload his filed documents into Case Center, contrary to the explicit language in the JR Divisional Court Guide, it is unclear if Justice Shore had access to the Applicant's Filed Documents which an Originating Process, Factum, Application Record, Affidavit #1 and #2, and others.

VOLUME #7(B): POTENTIAL GROUNDS FOR BIAS

87. There are six potential grounds for bias by which the impartiality of judges and administrative decision-makers can be brought into question under Canadian law.

88. This typology has been adapted from the categories formulated by Bryden, Philip, and Jula Hughes. "Legal Principles Governing the Disqualification of Judges." Available at SSRN 2473557 (2014) ["Bryden & Phillips, Legal Principles of Disqualification"].

a. Pecuniary or Personal Interest;
b. Personal Relationships;
c. Past Associations with Litigants or their Representatives; and
d. Prior judicial involvement with litigants.

89. There is no dispute that pursuant to the LSA, as a result of the substantial amendments in 2006 pursuant to the Access To Justice Act, 2006, that a representative need not be counsel of record. However, as per the record of proceeding in the LAT Appeal, pursuant to the contents required by the SPPA, section 20, the decision that allowed Mr. Papadimitropoulos remain as a binding one herein. If not a COI then, then certainly a COI came to pass now.

VOLUME #7(C): RECUSAL PROCEDURE

90. For example, in Benedict v. Ontario the provincial Crown moved to disqualify the motion judge on a reasonable apprehension of bias, as the motions judge was a plaintiff in an ongoing wrongful dismissal action against the Crown in a case similar to the employment-related claim before her. The Crown appealed after the judge refused to recuse herself. The Ontario Court of Appeal disqualified the judge, holding that any decision she reached which was unfavourable to the Crown could be perceived as advancing or vindicating her own claim.

VOLUME #7(D): PERSONAL RELATIONSHIPS

91. This class of bias relates to situations where the adjudicator has a sufficiently close relationship with a person involved in the proceeding (e.g. witnesses, parties, counsel, etc.) that renders him or her incapable or potentially incapable of judging impartially. In these instances, the impartiality can be in the form of favouritism[xviii] or personal animus[xix] depending on the history of the relationship.[xx]

92. Three considerations are important here: (1) whether it is a current or a previous relationship (existing relationship give rise to greater apprehension of bias); (2) The nature of the relationship (i.e. friendship, family, professional, or business); and (3) The depth of the relationship (i.e. cordial, formal, social, intimate). [xxi]

VOLUME #7(E): PERSONAL RELATIONSHIPS WITH LITIGANTS AND THEIR REPRESENTATIVES

93. Judges often disqualify themselves where the matter before them involves former clients or law partners.

94. The SCC found in its seminal case of Weykaum Indian Bank at paragraph 65:

> "Second, when parties say that there was no actual bias on the part of the judge, they may be conceding that the judge was acting in good faith, and was not consciously relying on inappropriate preconceptions, but was nevertheless unconsciously biased. In R. v. Gough, [1993] A.C. 646 (H.L.), at p. 665, quoting Devlin L.J. in The Queen v. Barnsley Licensing Justices, [1960] 2 Q.B. 167 (C.A.), Lord Goff reminded us that:
> Bias is or may be an unconscious thing and a man may honestly say that he was not actually biased and did not allow his interest to affect his mind, although, nevertheless, he may have allowed it unconsciously to do so. The matter must be determined upon the probabilities to be inferred from the circumstances in which the justices sit."

95. Put another way, is it more likely than not that it can inferred, from an objective person's perspective, that Madam Justice Shore was not actually biased and did not allow her interest as being a partner of the law firm of Epstein Cole LLP during the time of a firm's representation of Mr. Papadimitropoulos but nonetheless the appearance of mischief and misconduct is one that this ONSC (Divisional Court) must distance itself from an appearance standpoint.

96. What would an informed person, viewing the matter realistically and practically – and having thought the matter through – conclude? Would this person think that it is more likely than not that Binnie J., whether consciously or unconsciously, did not decide fairly?

97. There are no textbook instances.

98. Whether the facts, as established, point to financial or personal interest of the decision-maker; present or past link with a party, counsel or judge; earlier participation or knowledge of the litigation; or expression of views and activities, they must be addressed carefully in light of the entire context. There are no shortcuts.[xxii]

99. The fact that a judge would have recused himself or herself ex ante cannot be taken to be determinative of a reasonable apprehension of bias ex post.[xxiii]

100. The following statement of Laskin C.J., in Committee for Justice and Liberty v. National Energy Board, supra, at p. 388:

> "Lawyers who have been appointed to the Bench have been known to refrain from sitting on cases involving former clients, even where they have not had any part in the case, until a reasonable period of time has passed. A fortiori, they would not sit in any case in which they played any part at any stage of the case. This would apply, for example, even if they had drawn up or had a hand in the statement of claim or statement of defence and nothing else (see: paragraph 80 of Weykaum).

101. While commending Madam Justice Shore for being ready, willing and able, she (and this Court) must live by the very representations that she made to the Judicial Advisory Committee for it to rely upon in determining her high level qualification to become a justice and ensure not only the impartiality of her actions but the appearance of the same.

102. It is not the grounds for automatic disqualification but it serves as a strong evidentiary foundation. It suggests that a reasonable and right-minded person would likely view unfavourably the fact that the judge acted as counsel in a case over which he or she is presiding, and could take this fact as the foundation of a reasonable apprehension of bias (see: paragraph 81 of Weykaum).

VOLUME #7(F): GOVERNMENT PRACTICE IS DIFFERENT THAN PRIVATE PRACTICE

103. Furthermore, in assessing the potential for bias arising from a judge's earlier activities as counsel, the reasonable person would have to take into account the characteristics of legal practice within the Department of Justice, as compared to private practice in a law firm. See the Canadian Judicial Council's Ethical Principles for Judges, supra, at p. 47.

VOLUME #7(G): JUDGES' VOLUNTARY RECUSAL

104. In Canada, the vast majority of recusal decisions are made by judges on their own motion. Judges are under an ethical and legal obligation to recuse themselves, if they believe they will be unable to judge impartially. In carrying out this responsibility, a judge is not required to consul with any other person, including with his or her Chief Justice.

105. If a judge is aware of any relationship or personal interest that raises a reasonable apprehension of bias, it is generally desirable that disclosure is made in advance of a hearing, so that the case may be reassigned.

VOLUME #7(H): COURTS OF JUSTICE ACT: REASSIGNMENT

106. Under the Ontario Courts of Justice Act (s. 75(1)(3)), it is the Chief Justice of a court or one of the Associate Chief Justices who is responsible for the assignment or reassignment of cases. However, pursuant to section 77.04(1), the case management conference was required to be in front of the same judge who self-initiated (however coincidentally or unlikely, probabilistically speaking, that may seem) the same. As such, said Case Management Attendance Requirement must be nullified as per the Nullification Request. It is void and void ab initio not merely voidable.

107. In the alternative, it must be adjourned generally and indefinitely while all other duties and obligations of not only the Applicant but the respondents, and, where applicable, the staff of the ONSC (Divisional Court) must be complied with forthwith. There is no requirement of a case conference to be held in any proceeding let alone a judicial review proceeding which are to be summary in nature.

VOLUME #7(I): NO UNIFORM PRACTICE BUT BEST GUIDANCE: "SEEK SUBMISSIONS"

108. More obviously, the CJC notes that judges should not recuse themselves where the potential conflict of interest is "trifling" or unlikely to raise plausible basis for disqualification. However, where the potential for disqualification is arguable, or when an unexpected issue arises shortly before or during the proceeding, the judge is advised to make disclosure and to seek submissions from counsel.

VOLUME #7(J): NO UNIFORM PRACTICE BUT BEST GUIDANCE: "OBJECT PROMPTLY"

109. The Supreme Court of Canada affirmed in Canada (Human Rights Commission) v. Taylor, that where a party reasonably apprehensive of bias fails to allege a violation of natural justice at "the earliest practicable opportunity", there is an implied waiver of any future right to complain about bias. Cartwright J. put the rule as follows, by way of dicta, in delivering the Supreme Court judgment in Ghirardosi v. Minister of Highways for British Columbia:

> "There is no doubt that, generally speaking, an award will not be set aside if the circumstances alleged to disqualify an arbitrator were known to both parties before the arbitration commenced and they proceeded without objection.

110. Where both criteria are established, the reviewing court will often look to the failure to object or raise with suspicion, indicative of tactic to hold an objection in reserve in the event of an unfavourable ruling. This is especially the case where allegations of bias are raised on appeal at first instance. For instance, in Eckervogt v. British Columbia (Minister of Employment and Investment), the Court of Appeal noted that it is "most unsatisfactory" for the court to hear an allegation of bias in the first instance:

> "I do not think it is proper for a party to hold in reserve a ground of disqualification for use only if the outcome turns out badly. Bias allegations have serious implications for the reputation of the tribunal and > in fairness they should be made directly and promptly, not held back as a > tactic in the litigation. Such a tactic should, I think, carry the risk of a finding of waiver. Furthermore, the genuineness of the apprehension becomes suspect when it is not acted on right away.[emphasis added]."

111. Hence the critical importance to formally note objections in the record. The JRPA Applicant has been anything but "silent" but ensuring that he had objected, reserved his rights and promptly notified the ONSC Registrar.

VOLUME #7(J): NO UNIFORM PRACTICE BUT BEST GUIDANCE: MOTION OR REQUEST

112. Mullan and Boyle suggest that objections to an adjudicators presence should be made in writing, preferably by way of a formal motion to recuse, "or at the very least by an unambiguous request, and not just by way of general expressions of potential concern".

113. In the context of a "non-endorsement" or "non-order" by Justice Shore, the Applicant respectfully submits that a request, as opposed to a motion, is most appropriate considering the same. The Applicant, the "Requestor" herein, will provide a "record" so it can be stamped accordingly on the same or by way of separate document at the election of the Court.

114. In this manner, Rule 59.06 of the Civil Rules need not be addressed and it is unlikely it could be addressed on strict reading of the same but would have, hypothetically speaking but for the RAOB herein, by analogy under the Civil Rules.

VOLUME #8: CONCLUDING REMARKS WITH THANKS TO THIS COURT FOR DECIDING THE RESPECTFUL REQUESTS

VOLUME #8(A): MISUSE OF CONFIDENTIAL INFORMATION: NORMALLY NOT SUSCEPTIBLE TO PROOF (OR DISPROOF)

115. This principle, legal in nature, is cited for the purposes that the JRPA* Applicant cannot prove or disprove what was shared in a privileged setting between Epstein Cole LLP and Mr. Andrew Papadimitropoulos. All that he can prove is that current counsel of record in this JRPA* Proceeding admitted (but misrepresented) that Mr. Papadimtripoulos could not be involved in the LAT Appeal. If he could not be involved in any way in the LAT Appeal, then there is agreement between the Applicant and the respondent insurance companies that his legal relationships, caused by a separation and a final divorce decree in 2019, along with his continuing duties pursuant to contract to cease and desist in any form of direct (Ms. Nicole Artopoulos (the "Named Individual Insured" in the Insurance Policy (the very "insurance policy" cited by VC Morrissette at paragraph 27 of the VCM Reasons (see: Oral Compendium, Tab 1, page 9) or indirect contact (which would be the Applicant)).

116. Litigation is not a "tea party". That being said, this Court's time need not be wasted in the minutia of the unlawful and, frankly, rather frightening conduct (from a mental health standpoint) that he engaged in by reference to affidavit #3 of the JRPA Applicant, made on January 8, 2025, by appending the very affidavits in the record of proceeding that he relied upon in support of his COI Motion.

117. It is now established on a balance of probabilities that Karat derived his assignment to this LAT Dispute for SNIC from the Conflicted Lawyer (Mr. Papadimtriopoulos). Therefore, all "conflict of interest rules" and "conflict of interest jurisprudence" has a thrust that relates to not only the lawyer acting personally (or covertly as it relates to section 1(7) of the LSA) but all those associated with him in his practice of law.

118. With the benefit of hindsight, the Applicant's submissions in Spring 2024 were now somewhat prophetic:

> "The Appellant's evidence remains uncontroverted that there has been, is and will be tainting of evidence if the Impugned Individuals are not disqualified and restrained from any future provision of legal services, practise of law or representation of SNIC (or any NON-SABS Insurer) in any Future Related LAT Proceedings. Tainting of evidence is very high or inevitable as the evidence of the Impugned Individuals is unknown and none was adduced in response to NOM #6 (see: HB, Tab 5, page 129, Talisman, paragraph 38)."

119. It was prophetic because of the reference to 'future related proceedings" and it has come to roost yet again.

120. It is not in the Applicant's DNA or makeup to feel sorry for himself so nobody else needs to.

121. His primary concern is preventing this type of conduct from happening again (if systemic) to others who do not have the ability, determination, and/or skill to take on a collection of bullies.

122. To the extent that it is idiosyncratic to the JRPA Applicant, then it bolster the Applicant's respectful submission that the Recusal Request, Nullification Request, Adjournment Request, and Staff Direction Requests must be granted.

123. As found in Dervisholli, quoted by Madam Justice Marlyss Edwards in Transamerica, once a NON-SABS* Insurer collects, accesses, uses or discloses "Confidential Information" from the "Accident Benefits file" of 'SABS insurer', said "counsel or licensees" are place in an irreconcilable conflict of interest. The only remedy that must be granted is their permanent disqualification and removal from any and all files which they are involved in. Unfortunately, this Tribunal, unlike the sound reasons for decision by Vice Chair McGee in Mansuri (which is well known to this Court by way of subsequent judicial review), did not decide in accordance with the law at that time. However, it turned out to be to the detriment to the respondent insurance companies considering their failure to comply with filing (not 'exchanging of materials' whatever that means in fact or at law) deadline of the Civil Rules.

124. In fairness to the Tribunal, the Applicant did not have said evidence of the mischief with respect to the forger of the "As per A. Nurse" 'signature' (used only for reference and not in the legal sense or any admission of its validity). The Applicant framed the legal issues as follows:

> Has the Appellant in light of the filing and serving of the perfected Joint Hearing Record as of Friday, April 26, 2024 proven on a balance of probabilities that a fair minded and reasonably informed member of the public would conclude that the circumstances herein could be (a possibility) of perceived conflict of interest such that an order is required, for the proper administration of justice, regarding the disqualification and restraining for any further involvement, in TD Claim #3, this LAT Proceeding and any Future Related LAT Proceedings of the Mr. Papadimitropoulos, Nieuwland, Karat, Moraes, Saeed, and any other unknown

a. Further, has there been such mischief and dishonest conduct by the "Non-SABS Insurer", licensees and non-licencees (or on their behalf) (collectively, the "Impugned Persons") that such breaches of integrity, which have a corrosive impact on public confidence in the legal profession and the administration of justice (see: Christie at paragraph 37, cited by Chung, 2021 ONLSTH 44), that they must be disqualified on those bases alone albeit consistently with the principles for a Perceived Circumstantial COI?

125. Simply put, since the record of proceeding is replete with only uncontroverted evidence of the Applicant regarding this rather fortuitous discovery (see: images above) for his self-interest and counter to that of the initial adjuster for SNIC and Mr. Andrew Papadimtriopoulos, Mr. Nieuwland's representations in defiance and response to the COI orders sought in NOM #6 and NOM #9 now bear heavily on Justice Shore recusing herself through no per se fault of her own but solely based on her former partnership status at Epstein Cole LLP. However, said law firm agreed to represent this "individual" and with that comes potential consequences that follow lawyers into retirement and into the bench. Simply put, the law firm cannot have it both ways where they accept funds for services and not have to bear the consequences (which is merely herein that Justice Shore cannot adjudicate this JRPA Proceeding in any fashion even at the triage or case management phase)

VOLUME #9: RECAP OF RELIEF SOUGHT

126. As opposed to making a public spectacle of the above with a reported decision, the Applicant sincerely trusts that this Honourable Court appreciates resolving the above issues with findings, orders or granting of the Requested Relief in the Respectful Requests on an expedited basis:

1. The Honourable Madam Justice Shore is disqualified from any further involvement in this JRPA Proceeding (the "Disqualification Request" or the "Recusal Request");
2. The Case Management Appearance Requirement is declared as void and void ab initio (not merely voidable) (the "Nullification Request");
3. A general and indefinite adjournment of the case conference pursuant to 77.04(1)(b) of the Civil Rules by the Associate Justice (the "Adjournment Request");
4. A direction by the Honourable Chief Justice, pursuant to section 76 of the CJA, that the Registrar shall accept all outstanding requisition filings and provide confirmation of the same to the JRPA Applicant and respondents; and
5. A direction by the Honourable Chief Justice, pursuant to section 76 of the CJA, that the Registrar comply with her duties (by law), pursuant to 68.05(2) of the Civil Rules[xxiv], and provide the parties with a "Notice of Listing For Hearing".

("d" and "e" together, the "Staff Direction Requests").

(collectively, the "Respectful Requests" or "Requests").

127. In support of the Respectful Requests, the JRPA Applicant relies on the filed materials in the record of proceeding herein and those documents that the JRPA Applicant has tendered for filing which remain in "processing status" and/or are required to be issued or deemed filed by the ONSC Divisional Court Registrar with reference to Rule 4.08 and/or section 76 of the CJA.

128. All of which is respectfully submitted (with the filed affidavit #3 of the JRPA Applicant on January 8, 2025, as "materials" in support of the same) to the ONSC (Div. Ct.) (Chief Justice and Associate Chief Justice (where applicable above)) on Thursday, January 16, 2025:

VIA EMAIL

URGENT – NOTICE

Court file number: Court File No. DC-24-00000718-00JR
Type of document: email (three outstanding requisitions)
Short title of proceeding: McLean v. TDHA et al
Party: Mr. Kevin A. McLean, self-represented, Applicant, e: mcleansettlement@gmail.com;

Re: confirmation of the correct or preferred procedure to address my nullification request of Justice Shore initiated case management appearance requirement (the "Case Management Appearance Requirement") (the "Nullification Request") (see: affidavit #3 herein)

Re #2: recusal request of Madam Justice Shore (the "Recusal Request")

Re #3: to the extent applicable – dependent on other factor – the assignment request or reassignment

Re #4: Materials to follow today

Dear Madam Registrar Clegg:

1. I write regarding the above. I remain of the view and position, with great respect, that Justice Shore must recuse herself and withdraw her self-initiated Case Management Appearance Requirement.

2. You will kindly recall that I kindly informed you that I would review the law with respect to the preferred procedure. In that vein, There is no uniform practice in Canada with regard to raising the allegation of bias or a reasonable apprehension of bias at trial. Thus, the exact procedure to be followed in Ontario is unsettled (see: Paul Perell, "The Disqualification of Judges and Judgments on the Grounds of Bias or Reasonable Apprehension of Bias" (2004), 29 The Advocates' Quarterly 102, at 114 [Perell, "The Disqualification of Judges"].

3. Pursuant to our Courts of Justice Act, section 75(1) is relevant:

> Powers re sittings and assignment of judicial duties
>
> 75 (1) The powers and duties of a judge who has authority to direct and supervise the sittings and the assignment of the judicial duties of his or her court include the following:
>
> 1. Determining the sittings of the court.
> 2. Assigning judges to the sittings.
> 3. Assigning cases and other judicial duties to individual judges

4. As such, my request will be directed to the Honourable Chief Justice of the ONSC The Honourable Geoffrey B. Morawetz Chief Justice of the Superior Court of Justic and The Honourable Faye E. McWatt.

5. As noted, I have already filed my affidavit #3 on January 8, 2025, in support (i.e. materials exchanged already in support but also filed) of my Nullification Request and Request.

6. As noted by our SCC in Newfoundland Telephone Co. v. Newfoundland (Board of Commissioners of Public Utilities), 1992 CanLII 84 (SCC), the damage caused by the reasonable apprehension of bias ("RAOB") cannot be remedied by Justice Shore. The only solution is the withdrawal of her Case Management Appearance Requirement.

7. The materials shall follow in short order which will be in the nature of a request with reliance on affidavit #3.

8. In relation to The Honourable Madam Justice Shore, and which will be relied upon in my requests of this Honourable Court, and as a brief "sneak preview" to the main argument, I note the following and certainly agree with Justice Shore's representations to the federal courts judicial appointment committee [hyperlinked to the specific paragraph for ease of reference]:

> "Vital to the Canadian system is the impartiality of a judge. This is different than the system in the United States. In Canada, judicial independence is viewed as vital to fostering public confidence in the fairness and objectivity of the justice system. The Supreme Court of Canada has described judicial independence as "the cornerstone, a necessary prerequisite for judicial impartiality."
>
> The Honourable Sharon Shore of our ONSC also made a statement to the Judicial Advisory Committee[xxv] that this Applicant certainly agrees with as follows:
> Last, but not least, is integrity. I have always tried to conduct my personal and professional life with integrity. One of the lessons I learned from my mentors is that it takes a lifetime to build your reputation, and only minutes to destroy it.

9. I repeat and rely upon the previous supra in this email thread and explicitly repeat and rely upon section 76 of the CJA. I note the importance of the record of this proceeding being complete, accurate and up-to-date for a variety of purposes not limited to the requirement it be so for my requests.

10. Thank you in advance for drawing this email and my affidavit #3 to the attention of the Chief Justice of the ONSC and the Associate Justice of the ONSC with the proviso that my written argument for my above noted requests will follow today.

[iv]To the extent that the Tribunal consents to the same or does not oppose, and/or comply with its obligations forthwith, the Applicant seeks relief to convert the mode of hearing from telephone conference to a brief written argument with a draft order to be provided, vetted by the Registrar, for immediate entry.

[vi][161] An applicant for judicial review has the right to have a full and accurate record of what went on before the tribunal put before the court. This is an aspect of the superior court's inherent powers of judicial review. A superior court may insist upon the production of an adequate record of the proceedings before the tribunal being reviewed. As stated by Denning L.J. in R. v. Medical Appeal Tribunal ex p. Gilmore, [1957] 1 Q.B. 574 at 583 (C.A.): "The court has always had power to order an inferior tribunal to complete the record ... [A] tribunal could defeat a writ of certiorari unless the courts could order them to complete or correct an imperfect record. So the courts have the power to give such an order". See also R. v. Northumberland Compensation Appeal Tribunal, ex p. Shaw, [1952] K.B. 338 at 352–54 (C.A.); Canadian Workers Union v. Frankel Structural Steel Ltd. (1976), 1976 CanLII 829 (ON SC), 12 O.R. (2d) 560 at 577 (Div. Ct.) per Reid J.; F.G. Spencer Ltd. v. Prince Edward Island (Labour Relations Board) (1970), 1970 CanLII 960 (PE SCAD), 16 D.L.R. (3d) 670 (P.E.I.S.C.); Battaglia v. British Columbia (Workmen's Compensation Board) (1960), 1960 CanLII 334 (BC SC), 22 D.L.R. (2d) 446 (B.C.S.C.). A statutory body subject to judicial review cannot immunize itself or its process by arriving at decisions on considerations that are not revealed by the record it files with the court.

[vii]The purpose of requiring a tribunal or adjudicator to file a "record of proceedings" is to ensure that when the court reviews the tribunal's decision, it has the information and evidence as it appeared before the tribunal in the first instance. A court reviewing an adjudicative decision may look at decisions to admit evidence, submissions of witnesses, and other evidence and may substitute its judgment for that of the court [or tribunal] of first instance

[viii]An applicant for judicial review has the right to have a full and accurate record of what went on before the tribunal put before the court. This is an aspect of the superior court's inherent powers of judicial review. A superior court may insist upon the production of an adequate record of the proceedings before the tribunal being reviewed. As stated by Denning L.J. in R. v. Medical Appeal Tribunal, Ex parte Gilmore, [1957] 1 Q.B. 574 (Eng. C.A.) at 583:

The court has always had power to order an inferior tribunal to complete the record … [A] tribunal could defeat a writ of certiorari unless the courts could order them to complete or correct an imperfect record. So the courts have the power to give such an order.

[ix][38] Thus, the content of volume 3 is not properly part of the record required to be filed pursuant to s. 10 of the JPRA, as it post-dates the decisions under review. Moreover, it is not relevant to the issue of reasonable apprehension of bias before this Court, as it responds to an issue of actual bias.

[x]Ergo, pursuant to s. 10 of the Judicial Review Procedure Act, it was available to the applicant to bring a motion seeking production of documents it alleges were relied on by the decision-maker but are not contained in the record: see, for example K.D. v. Peel Children's Aid Society, 2017 ONSC 7392 (Div. Ct.) at paras. 16-17). The applicant failed to do so. As a result, it is precluded from raising this issue for the first time on judicial review.

q. Costs in favour of the Applicant; and

r. Such other relief that the Applicant may advise and this Court may allow.

Volume #2: The Grounds for the Application

3.This judicial review can be disposed of on one legal ground and error, while there are broader errors in the VCM decision in the First Insurer Motions which include the following statement: "[27] .....The initial respondent [sic], TDGIC, and the current respondent, SNIC accepted priority over the applicant's [sic] insurance policy".

4.Therefore, if SNIC and TDGIC accepted priority of the Insurance Policy, as found by the Adjudicator, and the Appellant did not make any such offer to either for them to 'accept priority of the Insurance Policy' and/or neither SNIC nor TDGIC first received the Appellant's Completed Application, then TDGIC had to receive that offer of "priority" (as the Adjudicator puts it) from the "First Insurer".

5.As a matter of law, could TDHA offer "priority" to SNIC and TDGIC? The question answers itself.

6.As the Applicant, along with SNIC, TDHA and TDGIC, are awaiting the decision from Vice Chair Morrissette in NOM #16, the Applicant took the time to advance this judicial review application so that it is filed and then can be amended after receiving the NOM #16 decision. Moreover, it may be affecting the reconsideration decision of Vice Chair Lake. Unlike an appeal under LATA, the underlying matter is not stayed.

7.The Appellant is a disabled individual residing in Toronto, Ontario. At the time of the Accident, he was 39 years old with a G2 license. At the time of these submissions, he is 41 years old with a G license. The Appellant is the spouse of the individual insured (Nicole Artopoulos) and the Insured Automobile was leased from the lessor BMW Financial Services Inc. Since April 2018, the Appellant and Ms. Artopoulos have resided at 775 King Street West, Toronto, Ontario, M5V 2K3. Ms. Artopoulos, in Spring 2018, obtained an exclusive automotive insurance policy through SNIC as her being a University Of Toronto alumnus for a previous BMW leased vehicle. In October 2019, the same insurance policy was transferred to the Insured Automobile.

8.Security National Insurance Company ("SNIC") was incorporated under the CBCA in 1934, then continued under the federal Insurance Act with its head office in Montreal, Quebec. At the time of the Accident, SNIC was licensed with the FSRA to provide six (6) classes of insurance in Ontario and its FSRA registration number if 397. From 2018 to the time of the Accident and thereafter, SNIC's Ontario office has been the McNabb Building in Markham, Ontario. The primary area code for phone and fax lines in

Markham is "905". At the time of the Accident, SNIC provided the return mailing address of the Markham McNabb Building but, in error, provided a "416 area code" fax number. The head tenants at the Markham McNabb Building are: (I) TD Bank; and (ii) General Motors. SNIC and Primmum Insurance Company ("Primmum") (FSRA reg. #1396), by virtue of them not having "TD" in their corporate names, operate under the colloquial business name of "TD Insurance Meloche Monnex" under two licensed trademarks from TD Bank and Meloche Monnex Inc. in: (i) "TD Insurance"; and (ii) "Meloche Monnex". SNIC, through TDIMM, issues policies under the "Professionals and Alumni Program" and Primmum, through TDIMM, issues policies under the "Employer Group Program". In October 2023, upon the Appellant's return to Canada after obtaining requisite MRIs, examinations, assessments and reports, the Appellant learned that SNIC had purported to change its physical address and fax number to: (i) the Burlington Address; and (ii) 905 Fax Number. The Burlington Address is 91 km from SNIC Markham (McNabb Building), where Meloche Monnex Inc. has its registered records office. The "Ontario Business Directory" lists the Burlington Address and 905 Fax Number as being the business of "TD Insurance". The "Ontario Business Directory" also lists the head office associated with the Burlington Address as the Victoria Park Building (see: Affidavit #29, Exhibit "A", page 1 and 2).

9. In the SNIC Response, SNIC did not list the 416 Fax Number as a fax number for service. With the benefit of hindsight and labyrinthian investigations, the only factual contact information that SNIC provided to the Appellant was its mailing address at the Markham McNabb Building. Neither the 416 Fax Number (which is the material mistake as it relates to whom is the First Insurer) nor the 905 Fax Number were fax numbers for SNIC as a recipient. Further, the Burlington Address was not an address for receipt of documents from the Appellant for SNIC.

10. TD Home And Auto Insurance Company ("TDHA") is an insurance company that is licensed, by the FSRA, to provide three classes of insurance including automotive insurance. TDHA's FSRA registration number is 1063. At the time of the Accident, the lead tenant(s) at the Victoria Park Building were denoted as "TD Insurance" by the property manager at the VP Building in Collies International. From 2018 to present, the "Ontario Business Directory" has listed the fax number of 416-774-3120 (the "416 Fax Number") as the fax number for TDHA. The 416 Fax Number is a landline, owned by Bell Canada Inc., which is grounded at the Victoria Park Building. In the HCAI Portal, the Appellant's TD Claim #3, contrary to the information he provided his physiotherapists as the return mailing address in documents, prima facie, sent to him by SNIC, auto-populated the name of the adjuster and a branch address for SNIC of 304 The East Mall, 6th floor, Etobicoke, Toronto, Ontario, M9B 6B7 (the "Etobicoke East Mall Address") (see: Affidavit #21, Exhibit "A", page 20 to 22 for "branch names" as being "independent" of the licensed insurer. Yelp, another online business directory, lists the Etobicoke East Mall Address as the address for TDHAIC (see: Tab 18, page 340 to 343). While SNIC never, in letter to the Appellant, represented that its address was the Etobicoke East Mall Address, it is now clear that said address, created by SNIC for this TD Clam #3, was independent of SNIC, and an address for TDHA.

11. On or around September 1, 2022, the Appellant notified SNIC of his intention to apply for accident benefits. Due to an error in his postal code, the Appellant did not received an application benefits package from SNIC until late September 2022. On October 13, 2022, the Appellant fax delivered his OCF-1 (also defined as "Completed Application") to the 416 Fax Number. The Appellant also delivered the OCF-2, on his behalf by his employer, to the 416 Fax Number. On November 3, 2022, his attending medical doctor for his post-Accident impairments, completed and signed his portions of the OCF-3, and faxed the completed OCF-3 to the 416 Fax Number. 90 days from October 13, 2022 was January 10, 2022. The Appellant did not receive any dispute notice from SNIC or any other insurance company by January 10, 2023, pursuant to Reg 283. From January 11, 2023, to October 2023, the Appellant continued to fax the 416 Fax Number with all confidential information and other OCF forms regarding TD Claim #3. In October 2023, the Appellant attempted to fax some of his documents to the 905 Fax Number, with a copy to the 416 Fax Number, but the 905 Fax Number would more regularly, than the 416 Fax Number, block his faxes and/or drop them during the sending process. In November 2023, the Appellant fax delivered the completed OCF-19. On December 24, 2023, the Appellant filed this Appeal and served the duly signed Appeal to the 416 Fax Number. For some context along the way, in March 2023, the Appellant received a request from SNIC via mail wishing to communicate via email. The Appellant faxed the 416 Fax Number with his decline regarding the same and the reasons therein (i.e. PIPEDA issues and absence of compliance by whom he presumed was SNIC).

12. In April 2023, the Appellant received the "Spam Faxes" wherein an unknown person or company represented to him that it (after receipt of faxes at the 416 Fax Number but not from the 416 Fax Number) had no record of his TD Claim #3. The Appellant promptly faxed the 416 Fax Number (attention: Ms. Nurse) to alert SNIC to the issue of the "Spam Faxes" and his dismay that said recipient had no record of his TD Claim #3. In early May 2023, the Appellant received the purported attempt by SNIC to partially approve and partially reject the Dhaliwal OCF-18 (April 6, 2023) with the Forged Nurse Signature. After being successful in his NOM #8, by order on June 21, 2024, of the Tribunal, the Appellant filed his NOM

#13 for non-party production and disclosure by the Fictitious Respondent (TDGIC) on July 9, 2024. The Appellant hand delivered the NOM #13 hearing brief to the listed address for the Fictitious Respondent, which was the Victoria Park Building which only became known to the Appellant for TDGIC in February 2024 (as it was not in the SNIC Response as an address for SNIC or previously), and learned that TDGIC had misrepresented its address to the Tribunal as it had not been a tenant for over a year (i.e. July 2023). The building manager for the VP Building represented that TDGIC had moved to the Markham McNabb Building. The building manager for the VP Building did NOT represent that TDGIC had moved to any of the following addresses: (i) the Burlington Address; or the (ii) the Etobicoke East Mall Address. From July 26 to July 31, 2024, the Appellant provided notice to TDHA, with a copy to SNIC, that the evidence was uncontroverted that the 416 Fax Number, the 905 Fax Number, the Burlington Address, and the East Mall Address were contact information exclusively for TDHA. Neither TDHA nor SNIC denied the same. From August 1 to 2, 2024, the Appellant sought the consent of SNIC and TDHA to add TDHA as a party, and neither TDHA nor SNIC responded. As of August 3, 2024, TDHA has never responded to the Appellant despite the Appellant sending faxes to the 416 Fax Number, 905 Fax Number, and through authorized submissions to HCAI, the East Mall Address. SNIC has not started any section 7(1) of Reg 283 arbitration. SNIC and the Appellant consented since January 2024 to the Email Communication Protocol

13. The question of fact to be answered in NOM #14 are on a balance of probabilities:

    a. a) Who was the owner of the 416 Fax Number, which is a landline located at the Victoria Park Building in Toronto, in October 2022? (b) Was the address of 304 The East Mall, 6th Floor, Etobicoke, Toronto, Ontario (the "East Mall Address"), which is denoted by auto-population in HCAI after TD Claim #3 is inputted therein, an address for an address for SNIC, the address of TDHA, SNIC or another insurance company? And (c) Which insurance company holds the file for the Fictitious TD Claim Number?

14. The issue of law to be answered in this NOM #14 on a balance of probabilities is whether TDHA was the First Insurer (i.e. the insurance company to receive the Appellant's Completed Application on October 13, 2022)?

15. The substantial amendments to Reg 283 became effective in September 2010. Reg 283 is designed to keep priority disputes out of the courts (see: Zurich 2024, paragraph 6). Reg 283 is also purposed to prevent SABS claims, including vital treatments and income benefits, from being delayed while insurers fight over priority dispute under section 268(2) of the Insurance Act (see: Zurich 2024, paragraph 16). SABS and Reg 283, having undergone major amendments in 2010 after being submitted to industry consultations and amendments before proclamations, they reflect important policy choices to ensure order and stability in regulated industries (see: Bristol-Myers Squibb v. Canada (AG), 2005 1 SCR 533 at paragraph 99-100).As a matter of principle, there is difference between an insurer's failure to pay under section 2 of Reg 283 and a failure to pay under any provision of SABS (see: Zurich 2024, paragraph 54). While a First Insurer may have never received insurance premiums from the insured person (claimant) may seem intuitively wrong but the Legislature and LGIC's intent are to be respected. There is no, per se, harshness to be alleviated by a sophisticated insurance company, with endless resources, who receives a faxed OFC-1, who fails to investigate within three months and provides a notice to an insured person and other insurers under section 3 of Reg 283. The provisional first-insurer rule under the regulation and the priority regime under the statute operate differently (see: Zurich, paragraph 8). As long as a claimant for accident benefits completes all required fields (see: SABS, ss. 66 and 67) and signs the OCF-1, the First Insurer that receives an OCF-1 application MUST pay benefits in accordance with SABS (see: Reg 283, ss. 2.1(6)). If the First Insurer does not take any issue, within ten business days (approximately 15 calendar days) of receipt of the Completed Application, the First Insurer has 75 days from then to provide a notice of dispute that it is required to pay the benefits of the claimant in which it received a Completed Application. Irrespective of whether the claimant is an "insured person" or not in the subjective mind of the First Insurer, the First Insurer must respond to the Completed Application and the claimant (see: Reg 283, ss. 2.1(6)). Acceptance during the 90-day period is merely provisional (see: Zurich 2024, paragraph 29). If the First Insurer does not dispute, within 90 days, its liability to pay all benefits, in accordance with SABS, of the claimant, there is no other process for the First Insurer to transfer, dispute and recover any paid or to be paid benefits to the claimant. First Insurer's calculus to not accept a claim for whatever subjective reason can turn out to a costly and permanent mistake (see: Zurich, paragraph 10). As of 2015, in Zurich 2015, the SCC held that Chubb ought to have responded to the SABS claim immediately on a 'pay first and dispute later' basis (see: Zurich 2024, paragraph 12). long as the Completed Application by the claimant was not arbitrary, there is a nexus between the claimant and the First Insurer (i.e. the one to receive the Completed Application) (see: Zurich 2024, paragraph 14). In Zurich 2015, the SCC (see: 2015 SCC 19) restored Goldstein J (ONSC (Divisional Court)) in adopting the dissent of Juriansz J.A.: 2014 ONCA 400. a vague recollection about seeing an insurer's name at a rental car office was sufficiently non-arbitrary to require the First Insurer (Chubb in Zurich 2015)) to step into the shoes as a "First Insurer" for the purposes of section 2(1) of Reg 283 (see: Zurich 2024, paragraph 15). long as the First Insurer providers automobile insurance in Ontario at the time of receipt of the Completed Application there is a sufficient nexus between a claimant and the First Insurer (see: Zurich 2024, paragraph 16). The policy behind the inflexible rule that an insurer (like TDHA) fails to pay benefits and fails to put other insurers on notice after receipt of a Completed Application, when there is SOME nexus, being permanently responsible for the claimant's benefits is to promote compliance with the statutory scheme. It is not an issue herein of this Appellant and TDHA but rather the greater public interest and ongoing and future compliance by all other similarly situated 'First Insurers' (see: Zurich 2024, paragraph 31, where the second arbitrator cited paragraph 62 from the decision of Strathy J. (as he then was) in Lombard Canada Ltd., 2008, 94 O.R. (3d) 62 (Ont. S.C.J.)The ONSC in Zurich 2024 has settled the law in the above regards as follows: (i) breach of section 2 of Reg 283, according to the case law, does not result in the an insurer being required to pay benefits to the claimant permanently; BUT, (ii) the failure TO AVAIL itself of section 3 does. TDHA's permanent liability for paying benefits was a self-inflicted consequence of its failure to adhere to the requirements of both section 2 and s. 3 of Reg 283. The combination of provisions in Reg 283 transformed TDHA's provisional liability into a permanent one (see: Zurich 2024, paragraph 64). For TDHA to not be declared as the First Insurer would mean that there were no consequences for the conduct (or inaction) of TDHA by receipt of the Completed Application and by continuing to have its former branch office address (East Mall Address) auto-populate in HCAI, and it would defeat the legislation's public policy: "pay now and dispute later".[i]

16. "Arbitrary" means: determined by impulse rather than reason. The Appellant faxed the Completed Application solely based on the reason that SNIC represented that its fax number was the 416 Fax Number when it could not have been based on SNIC's physical location at SNIC Markham. Therefore, the Appellant did not make an "arbitrary decision" to fax his Completed Application to the 416 Fax Number. "Receipt" means: "to get possession of". TDHA got possession of the Completed Application as the First Insurer on October 13, 2022. There is now no dispute that the Spam Faxes, which SNIC could not produce in the face of a demand from the Appellant for the same, were on behalf of TDHA and its attempt to steer the Appellant away from the 416 Fax Number and its representation it [TDHA] had no record of its claim. TDHA would NOT have had a "record" of the Appellant's TD Claim #3 as it the TD Claim #3 was likely created by SNIC but when the Appellant faxed the Completed Application, as opposed to mailing to SNIC Markham, to the 416 Fax Number, TDHA became the First Insurer.

17. The 416 Fax Number was the fax number for TDHA in September and October 2022. TDHA has been an adjusting insurance company, by reference to the East Mall Address which has been exclusively represented to the public as TDHA's address, of the Appellant's TD Claim #3, including by way of the Fictitious TD Claim Number, since it was so denoted in the HCAI portal as such. The 905 Fax Number and the Burlington Addresses were, at the material times post receipt of the Appellant's OCF-1, OCF-2, OCF-3, OCF-6's and OCF-18 (Dhaliwal), address for receipt of documents and confidential information of the Appellant (albeit unbeknownst to him) by TDHA.

18. TDHA was the First Insurer, pursuant to Reg 283, and it is solely and permanently liable for the Appellant's claims for benefits pursuant to SABS. The Tribunal must grant ancillary orders compelling TDHA to provide the Appellant with the current address and fax number for TDHAIC along with an adjuster that is authorized for TDHA along with amendments to the HCAI portal for accuracy purposes for any and all ongoing or day-to-day matters. SNIC must remain as a party as it may be liable for some of the costs in this SNIC Proceeding to be dealt with at the hearing proper.

19. It is the word "accept" that is conspicuous, marked and eye-catching. Whatever acceptance of priority of the applicant's [sic] insurance policy was and is of no consequence in law as per Reg 283, section 4(1), 5(1) and (2). The Appellant never received any notice of "assignment, sharing or transfer of priority". It is trite that TDGIC's fax was in the LAT orders as early of February 2024 and SNIC resiled from the 416.774.3120 fax number by no later than Summer of 2023. TDHA was the First Insurer and received the Completed Application at first instance, and all other OCF documents. It is understandable why certain adjusters at SNIC, and then Mr. Nieuwland for TDGIC, were so unfamiliar with the documents and claimed to be missing certain documents like MRI reports, Brain MRI UHN Notification and others. It may be the most clichéd phrase in the history of law: "offer, acceptance, consideration." Prior to the 'acceptance' by SNIC and TDGIC over the insurance policy, as found by the Adjudicator, there had to be an offer from another person. There are four automotive insurance companies in "TD Insurance", as per its public website and URL for "legal", which are: (i) SNIC; (ii) TDGIC; (iii) TDHAIC (TDHA); and (iv) Primmum. SNIC and Primmum, without any reference TD in their names, operate under the banner of two distinct yet combined trademarks which are: (i) TD Insurance," which is owned by "The TD Bank"; and (ii) "Meloche Monnex," which is owned by Meloche Monnex Inc. (not to be confused with Meloche Monnex Financial Services Inc. or other brokers or agents with permutations of the name). Ironically, TDGIC and TDHA do not have "TD Insurance" in their name as the "insurance" word comes after "General" and "Auto" sequentially for the aforementioned.

20. There is no dispute that SNIC was the Sole Underwriter of the Insurance Policy. SNIC delivered an accident benefits package to the Appellant in late September 2022. SNIC represented its address as the SNIC Markham Office with a fax number of 416.774.3120. On May 2, 2024,3 in relation to NOM #4 and NOM #6, Nieuwland (with Karat appearing as the ADR Specialist for SNIC) orally represented, contrary the April 11 submissions (supra) solely on behalf of TDGIC, 8 that SNIC and TDGIC were and are "one and the same". The Appellant objected and reserved his rights.

21. "One And the Same" is defined, by Collins Dictionary as "When two or more people or things are thought to be separate and you say that they are one and the same, you mean that they are in fact one single person or thing."

22. While there is no dispute what Nieuwland thought and meant on May 2, 2024, his thoughts and meanings, while unambiguous, are contrary to the statute (Ins. Act) in which this SNIC Proceeding arose and FSRA Enforcement Decisions have found that the SABS Insurer (SNIC) and TDGIC are separate persons.

23. The now finding by the Tribunal that SNIC and TDGIC accepted priority over the insurance policy means that they agreed (which is possible in fact but not in law) to accept an offer from another regarding priority. This is not only the logical explanation for what transpired and why TDHA, an automotive insurer in Ontario which is the only required element for a non-underwriter of an insurance policy to be the provisional First Insurer and then potentially the permanent First Insurer, has not been responded and paid the benefits due and owing to the Appellant despite receipt of the same from the Appellant via fax. This also explains the Spam Fax in Spring 2023 which was nearly or identical to the August 2024 letter (see: Affidavits #34 and Affidavit #35).

24. It is unfortunate, from an access to justice standpoint and for the benefit of the public, for the Adjudicator to rush this decision, as it was not available when the Appellant inquired on September 11, 2024, as to the date of the hearing for the NOM #13. With the greatest of respect, the Adjudicator was unfamiliar with the facts, which one can empathize with if she was new to this LAT proceeding but she granted the most consequential motion in this proceeding so far, and basic one at that such as the first order in this proceeding of her fellow Vice Chair (VC Lake). Adjudicator Morrissette was of the mistaken view that the Tribunal changed, at some unknown time, the IDENTITY of SNIC to TDGIC after January 30, 2024, but some time before February 19, 2024. One can understand not being able to pinpoint an exact date when identities are changed or swapped in a cyber-attack or ransomware plot, but the Adjudicator found that it was THE TRIBUNAL that changed the identity from SNIC to TDGIC. It appears that the Adjudicator was implying that an administrative individual employed by the License Appeal Tribunal in the AABS division somehow on off-time engaged in some administrative identity swapping without notice to the litigants in the proceeding. The Appellant is not attempting to be hyperbolic or histrionic in any way, but the License Appeal Tribunal is one of 13 tribunals part of Tribunals Ontario and it is a division or sub-body within the office of the most important ministry as it pertains to the law: THE MINISTRY OF ATTORNEY GENERAL. And the Appellant is merely finding out about this in September 2024? This is beyond concerning and beyond the Appellant's immediate interest. Perhaps, Adjudicator Morrissette meant December 30, 2023, to January 19, 2024? This would make more sense in that an administrator or case manager would have reviewed the Appeal and attached documents and countless references to TD SNIC and Security National Insurance Company and input SNIC as the respondent. Then, likely someone informed Mr. Grant to change the name from SNIC to TDGIC. This, of course, would have required such a change as the Appellant had already filed two motions by January

8, 2024. The Appellant only objected for six months, and this appears to have been the strategy by SNIC and then TDGIC of which neither were First Insurers.

25. A "Respondent" is a party in a LAT Proceeding. Legislative definitions are sometimes counter-intuitive and defy common sense. In Ontario, "legislation" includes "legislation and regulations", but a statute is distinct from a regulation. Section 5 of the SPPA: "The parties to a proceeding SHALL be: (i) the persons specified as parties by/under the statute17 under which the proceeding arises; OR (ii) if, not so specified, persons entitled BY LAW18 to be parties to the proceeding19. One would have thought with the benefit of Adjudicator Morrissette who expressly dealt with a party issue in NOM #8, such a misstatement of law or query from her would have been obsolete. By law is an ambiguous phrase which is not to be confused with a municipal by-law. "Source law" is a definition under the Legislation Act 2006, and it includes regulations. Tribunals in Ontario and Canada have held that persons who are not expressly required by statute to be parties may be added as parties pursuant to section 5 (SPPA) if s/he or it have a substantial and direct interest in the proceeding's outcome.

26. A final order disposes of the litigation, or finally disposes of part of the litigation: Ball v. Donais (1993), 1993 CanLII 8613 (ON CA), 13 O.R. (3d) 322 (C.A.). An interlocutory order disposes of the issue raised, most often a procedural issue, but the litigation proceeds: Hendrickson v. Kallio, 1932 CanLII 123 (ON CA), [1932] O.R. 675 (C.A.), at p. 678.The interlocutory order from which there is no appeal is an order which does not determine the real matter in dispute between the parties – the very subject matter of the litigation, but only some matter collateral (see: Hendrickson v. Kallio, 1932 CanLII 123 (ON CA), [1932] O.R. 675 (C.A.)

27. In Smerchanski v. Lewis (1980), 1980 CanLII 1699 (ON CA), 30 O.R. (2d) 370 (C.A.), at para. 18: This Court has held that an order made in a contest between a party to an action and someone who is not a party is a final order, appealable without leave, if the order finally disposes of the rights of the parties in the issue raised between them. In M.E. v. Ontario, 2021 ONCA 718: We conclude that M.E. was seeking to add new causes of action. An order refusing leave to amend pleadings to plead a new cause of action is final: Atlas Construction Inc. v. Brownstones Ltd. (1996), 46 C.P.C. (3d) 67 (Ont. Gen. Div.). So is an order dismissing a motion to add a party, which M.E. also appears to have been trying to do Bryson v. Kerr (1976), 1976 CanLII 867 (ON SC), 13 O.R. (2d) 672 (Ont. Div. Ct.). Accordingly, leave to appeal is not required and an appeal lies as of right to the Court of Appeal: Courts of Justice Act, R.S.O. 1990, c. C.43, s. 6(1)(b).

28. In Vavilov, the SCC attempted to clear up complexities and uncertainty brought on by Dunsmuir. 22 The SCC cited three (3) non-exhaustive examples in Vavilov where the correctness standard must be applied by a review tribunal or court: (i) constitutional questions (ii) general questions of law of central importance to the legal system as a whole; and (iii) questions regarding jurisdictional boundaries between two or more administrative bodies.

29. The Supreme Court in Housen found an error of law including the: (i) application of an incorrect legal standard; (ii) a failure to consider a required element of a legal test; or (iii) the mischaracterization of the standard.

30. A tribunal errors in law when it improperly approaches the evidence such as by misapprehending evidence, ignoring relevant evidence or relying on irrelevant evidence or irrelevant factors in reaching its decision 30 (see: Nguyen). In Drewlo Holdings v. MPAC, 33 the ONSCJ (DC) cited its decision in Yatar34

where, at ¶28, the Court confirmed a finding of fact can constitute an error of law: "is when a finding of fact on a material point is based on no evidence.

31. The failure to identify or consider the legal criteria that govern (the "Identification Failure Governing Legal Criteria") the exercise of discretion may constitute an error of law.

32. In Gega, the Divisional Court applied a novel yet functional determination of when an issue was one of law as opposed to one of 'mixed fact and law': "[19] This issue is a matter of law...argue this issue is a matter of mixed fact and law, but there are no factual findings that need to be made by me to consider this question."

33. In Kawa Arab, the Divisional Court found an administrative decision of statutory interpretation as a matter of law. At ¶ 19, Tzimas J. found "[19] ..... If an Adj. ignores evidence that the law requires to be considered to arrive at a DECISION, that will amount to an error in law.

34. In Bassline, VC Lamoreux found in 201846 at ¶ 20, "Therefore, I am satisfied that the Tribunal erred by determining that it had no jurisdiction to consider the issues raised in the Notice."

35. In Lapcevich, the ONSCJ49 found: "We agree with the appellant, Registrar, that the Licence Appeal Tribunal erred in its approach to the statutory framework and exceeded its jurisdiction; and it did not make the necessary threshold determinations, as required by the statute. In Sparks, the Divisional Court found that inconsistent findings of facts as "errors of law."

36. In Glencore, the FCA considered a second appeal wherein it stated the applicable SOR for extricable legal issues in that no deference is owed to the overall conclusion (see: ¶ 22).

37. In THMR, ONCA found that when hearing below is in writing that the correctness standard applies.

38. The case of Fatemea Rezaiezadeh v. State Farm Mutual Automobile Insurance Company, 2016 ONFSCDRS 59 ("Reza") stands for the proposition below. The Appellant notes the case of Reza (for short) wherein, albeit under the FSCO, the arbitrator found the following: "The Appellant concedes there is no explicit procedure in the Code or the Statutory Powers Procedure Act, R.S.O. 1990, c. S.22, as amended, to permit a party to continue a proceeding against a non-party." The "Dispute Resolution Code" is no longer applicable as it only applied with the FSCO. Even where State Farm Automobile Insurance Company was bought out by Certas and Desjardins regarding its Canadian operations, State Farm remained as the party as it was the underwriter at the time of the accident therein. Therefore, this is yet another reason that the decision of the Adjudicator and now the decision of the Appellate Tribunal (LAT) is one that finally disposes of the Appeal even when it is not in favour of the Appellant. If the Appellant does not have the First Insurer as the primary and liable party for the main issues between the Appellant and it (with SNIC only therein for costs as a result of it filing the sole Response (SNIC Response) to date but only as a result of the LAT Rules which is a distinction between present times and a case like Volfson), then all of the protections under SABS are illusory.

39. The provisional "First Insurer rule" (the "First Insurer Rule") under the regulation and priority regime under the statute operate differently (see: Zurich 2024, paragraph 8). If a claimant for accident benefits completes all required 'fields' (see: SABS, ss. 66 and 67), duly signs the OCF-1 and then sends via mail or fax, the First Insurer that receives an OCF-1 application MUST benefits in accordance with SABS (see: Reg 283, ss. 2.1(6)). If the First Insurer does not take any issue, within ten business days of receipt of the Completed Application, the First Insurer has approximately 75 days from then to provide a notice of dispute that it is required to pay the benefits of the claimant in which it received a Completed Application. Irrespective of whether the claimant is an "insured person" or not in the subjective mind of the First Insurer, the First Insurer must respond to the Completed Application and the claimant (see: Reg 283, ss. 2.1(6)).

40. Acceptance during the 90-day period is merely provisional (see: Zurich 2024, paragraph 29). If the First Insurer does not dispute, within 90 days, its liability to pay any and all benefits, in accordance with SABS, of the claimant, there is no other process for the First Insurer to transfer, dispute and recover any paid or to be paid benefits to the claimant. A First Insurer's calculus to not accept a claim for whatever subjective reason can turn out to be a costly and permanent mistake.60 This is full answer to the Adjudicator's query about whether the Tribunal had authority to add the First Insurer to this LAT Proceeding, which is oddly required as a matter of law.

41. As of 2015, in Zurich 2015, the SCC held that Chubb ought to have responded to the SABS claim immediately on a 'pay first and dispute later' basis (see: Zurich 2024, paragraph 12). As long as the Completed Application by the claimant was not arbitrary, there is a "nexus" between the claimant and the First Insurer (i.e. the one to receive the Completed Application) (see: Zurich 2024, paragraph 14). In Zurich 2015, the SCC (see: 2015 SCC 19) restored Goldstein J's decision (ONSC (Divisional Court)) in adopting the dissent of Juriansz J.A.: 2014 ONCA 400. A vague recollection about seeing an insurer's name at a rental car office was sufficiently non-arbitrary to require a 'First Insurer' (Chubb in Zurich 2015)) to step into the shoes as a "First Insurer" for the purposes of section 2(1) of Reg 283 (see: Zurich 2024, paragraph 15). If the First Insurer provides automobile insurance in Ontario at the time of receipt of the Completed Application there is a sufficient nexus between a claimant and the First Insurer (see: Zurich 2024, paragraph 16). The policy behind the inflexible rule is that an insurer who fails to pay benefits and fails to put other insurers on notice after receipt of a Completed Application, when there is

SOME nexus between the claimant and the First Insurer, being permanently responsible for the claimant's benefits is to promote compliance with the statutory and regulatory scheme.

42. No power to pursue a non-party under statute is answered above. As a matter of principle, there is NO difference between an insurer's failure to pay under section 2 of Reg 283 and a failure to pay under any provision of SABS (see: Zurich 2024, paragraph 54). As the Tribunal is required to decide this LAT Proceeding in accordance with SABS as a matter of statute (see: section 280(4) of the Insurance Act), then it was not a matter of discretion for Adjudicator Morrissette but a requirement upon her to ensure that the Appellant had the correct and liable party (see also: Insurance Act, ss. 268(3)) before the Tribunal and in the future for not only himself but his service providers. While there is an ability of a party to "request an expedited hearing" in the dropdown menu of Tribunals Ontario e-filing portal, there is a dearth of jurisprudence regarding the same with LAT/AABS matters. As of 2010, the amendments to Reg 283 led to an absence of listed fax numbers for insurance companies and for good reason: some unsavory insured persons may deliberately manipulate the system by faxing their OCF-1's to an incorrect insurance company with no record of them as insured persons leading to those insurance companies in receipt of confidential information with an inability to dispute that they were not liable along with which insurance company may be liable. This could lead to an insurance company, who had not received premiums with no previous interaction with such an unsavory insured person, being liable to respond and pay benefits to said unsavory insured person.

43. It is important to note that the actual relief sought in the hearing record was slightly different in language but a distinction with a difference at Order #5: [5] Any further relief that is consistent with the above and in accordance with Reg 283, SABS, and Reg 664. The issue of adding the party TDHA as the First Insurer is one that the Adjudicator was required to answer (see: Rio Tinto, SCC 2010 SCC 43). However, even if the Adjudicator had granted Order #1 that would have been sufficient as a decision (order, declaration, determination and/or finding) that would have finally disposed of the Appeal, as it was currently constituted on September 13, 2024.

44. Again, the Reconsideration Decision references that the appellant did not cite to any binding case law or legislative authority regarding adding a second respondent. The Tribunal has yet again misunderstood the Appellant's argument in that TDHA would be the First Insurer and SNIC would remain solely as it relates for costs in the proceeding prior to TDHA being the First Insurer. In relation to binding case law, Zurich 2024 as per Justice Akazaki unequivocally found that a breach of Reg 283 or SABs were a distinction without a difference. The decision of VCM in mid-September 2024 is not only an incorrect decision but a dangerous decision. It must be corrected forthwith for the benefit of the general public, the insurance industry and the relevant participants.

45. Moreover, had the Adjudicator determined the factual issue at Order #3 in NOM #15, this would have been a decision that finally disposes of the Appeal. In this regard, the Tribunal issued a Notice of Motion Scheduling Order on Thursday, September 12, 2024, that fond that SNIC was located at the Burlington Office: "[3] preliminary finding, determination, or order, that the fax number 416-774-3120 was a landline phone number utilized as a fax number on the 4th floor of the building situated at the premises municipally known as 3650 Victoria Park Avenue, North York, Toronto, Ontario, M2H 3P7. The decision of Vice Chair Lake on reconsideration suffers from the same issues but remains premature considering not having NOM #16 decided in advance of the same. Once NOM #16 is decided, it will allow for the Applicant (Appellant) to be able to advance this judicial review in accordance with having final decisions on all the same.

Volume #3: Documentary Evidence

46. The following documentary evidence will be used at the hearing of the application:

(a) The Motion Hearing Record for NOM #14 which includes the affidavits of the Applicant therein (see: Appendix #3)

(f) The record of proceeding in AABS File Number*: "23-015662/AABS"

(g) Such other affidavit material and evidence as counsel may advise and this Honourable Court may deem proper.

APPLICANT'S FACTUM

VOLUME # #1: STATEMENT OF JUDICIAL REVIEW APPLICATION

1. This JRPA* Application involves the challenge to two (2) issued decisions of the Licence Appeal Tribunal ("LAT" or "Tribunal")[1]on September 13, 2024, and October 16, 2024, and two potentially unmade decisions involving the same. In the absence of any analysis of the statutory scheme[2] (i) by Vice Chair ("VC") Morrissette ("VCM"); and (ii) VC Lake ("VCL"), on reconsideration (the "RD"), relying on the newly passed language, as of August 21, 2023[3], in the LAT Rules, which is non-legislation,[4] the reviewing or appellate court is required to start afresh. Since 2019, the SCC settled the judicial review landscape in declaring Dunsmuir[5] to no longer be the law of our land and provided factual and/or legal situations where the reasonableness standard of review is rebutted. The focus herein of where the presumptive reasonableness standard is rebutted is where the rule of law ("ROL") requires that the standard of correctness be applied.

2. The rule of law is a theme in this JRPA Proceeding as per, some events that occurred or issues that were catalyzed after the filing of the JRPA* Application, which were, including but not limited to: (i) Tribunal counsel (Ms. Boyce) raising the prematurity doctrine on a preliminary basis; (ii) counsel (Mr. Nieuwland) to TDGIC and SNIC[6], but not TDHA, in the LAT Proceeding not filing an appearance notice forthwith but purporting to file said purported notice of appearance (the "Purported Appearance") that was defective whilst in his cover email making a similar misstatement of law to the one he made on behalf at the nullity case conference on May 2, 2024, that "SNIC" was 'one and the same' as two other insurance companies (see: 'also referred to as' TD Home And Auto [sic] and TD General Insurance company [sic]"; and (iii) others.[7]

3. The Applicant has also sought the consent of SNIC to adjourn the hearing proper with the LAT scheduled for January 25, 2024, predicated on a nullity pre-hearing conference before Vice Chair Painchaund (the "Hearing Proper"). TDGIC has no entitlement to participate herein as NOM #13 was an interlocutory order and it did not even attempt to participate in it. NOM #14 and #15 squarely raise issues between SNIC and TDHA. Neither SNIC nor

TDHA sought to tender any materials, despite being duly served with NOM #14 and NOM #15.

4. The matter remains one where the delay will likely[8] involve a failure of justice being an affront to the rule of law and subspecies of the rule of law that involve: (i) general questions of law of central importance to the legal system as a whole; (ii) questions related to the jurisdictional boundaries between two or more administrative bodies; and (iii) the relationship between the legislature and the other branches of the state, which require a final and determinate answer from the courts (the "Final Answer Requirement"). The rule of law requires courts to have the final word (the "Final Word Requirement") with regard to general questions of law that are of central importance to the legal system as a whole because they require uniform and consistent answers (the "Uniform Answers Requirement" or "Vertical *Stare Decisis").[9] The rule of law requires courts to intervene where one administrative body has interpreted the scope of its authority in a manner that is incompatible with the jurisdiction of another administrative body since the rule of law cannot tolerate conflicting orders and proceedings where they result in a true operational conflict between two administrative bodies ("Intolerance Conflicting Orders Requirement").[10]

5. Whether affiliate or related insurance companies can accept priority, without any independent notices (see: (i) notice of transfer; (ii) notice of a potential agreement between insurers; and/or (iii) notice of arbitration) to an insured person or absolute noncompliance with Reg 283, over an applicant's [sic] insurance policy [sic] (not a SABS claim) is a question that must be answered by this ONSC on an urgent basis[11].

6. Some of the pertinent principles regarding the rule of law herein are: (i) equality before the law[12]; (ii) accountability[13]; and (iii) access to justice[14]. While administrative tribunal independence and absence of bias is not a constitutional principle, like that which is present pursuant to section 96 to 101 of the Constitution Act involving courts, conflicts of interest, bias and independence are presumed to be absent or at least reasonably perceived to be. The VCM Decision was not only incorrect and unreasonable[15] but it was counter to the

ROL requirement of "equality before the law" to which the Applicant and, by extension, his service providers were so entitled. The VCM Decision lacked "accountability to the law" as it was opaque in not only substance but process as: (i) it failed to reference any uncontroverted filed and served evidence; (ii) it failed to reference the binding "source law" wherein the Tribunal was required to decide all questions of law and fact before it in accordance with Reg 283, SABS and Reg 664[16]; and (iii) it failed to reference any jurisprudence that was binding upon it.

7. The jurisprudence involving JRPA (ss. 6(2)), Reg 283, the prematurity doctrine, "double jeopardy doctrine" (res judicata and issue estoppel), and standard of review all invoke the same principles in the middle of that archetypal "Venn diagram". While there is no dispute on the law that the orders in NOM #14, and to some extent NOM #15, are final orders, irrespective of their lack of correctness, those principles fatefully contain similar language in relation to the legal thresholds for this ONSC to decide the legal issues herein on an expedited and urgent basis: (i) rule of law; (ii) standing in the shoes of another; (iii) bringing the administration of justice into disrepute; (iv) urgency; (v) failure of justice; and (vi) avoidance of repetition of proceedings before this ONSC and the Tribunal.

8. If the Purported Nieuwland Appearance is struck and there is no validity to the LAT's preliminary objection in the form of the "prematurity doctrine" to reviewing final orders of the Tribunal,[17] then government counsel cannot defend this JRPA Proceeding. As noted by Jia[18] by this ONSC (Div. Court): "We would exercise our discretion to hear an appeal from the conflict decision, because it is evasive of appeal and it is potentially a matter of general practice important in proceedings before LAT." The ONSC (Divisional Court) referred, in Harold The Mortgage Closer[19] (paragraph 37), citing Volochay[20] (paragraph 68[21]) wherein the ONCA referred to the prematurity doctrine and impugned interlocutory relief as synonymous or quasi-synonymous.[22] filed and served the JRPA Application in accordance with the requirement that it commence before the Divisional Court, he pleaded the material facts as to why he sought relief under section 6(2) of the JRPA, and why a failure to have this JRPA Proceeding heard urgently would likely lead to a failure of justice.

9. Section 138 of the CJA codifies the principle that a multiplicity of proceedings must be avoided.[23] This leaves the sole issue being one of timing. Unlike the applicant, Sanscon Construction Ltd.,[24] in Sanscon v. City of Toronto ["Sanscon"], which failed to comply with some of the elementary requirements of pleadings, notice et al, this Applicant paid,

10. Like many unlawful schemes, it is not the 'what, when and how', but the 'why'. The "why" herein was to circumvent multiple valid statutory schemes including: (i) FSRA investigatory and enforcement powers under the Insurance Act and the UDAP Rule; (ii) Law Society Act and its By-Laws; (iii) PIPEDA; and (iv) others. TDHA, as of 2019, while remaining as a licensed automobile insurer in Ontario, became a non-reporting insurance company to the FSRA for the purposes of the sub-category of insurance in the "Private Passenger Market". Only three insurance companies, within the TDI Group, issued automotive insurance polices in Ontario in the Private Passenger Market: (i) Primmum Insurance Company (FSRA registration number 1396)[25] ("Primmum"); (ii) SNIC; and (iii) TDGIC. [26] The motive for why SNIC would engage in such intentional conduct and why TDHA would be complicit with the same is to "kill or limit the paper trail" of what can be investigated by the FSRA, the LSO, and OPCC. [27]

11. To determine the unlawful scheme, it required analytical precision, after much review, into the various sections of the Insurance Act as to whom, what, when and how an insurance company, including certain individuals in specified situations, could be investigated. Moreover, the FSRA's investigatory, search, seizure, citation and enforcement powers are not only curtailed but eliminated if an insurer like TDHA is not a reporting insurance company in the "Private Passenger Market" of automobile insurance. By SNIC's intentional action of having TDHA be the recipient insurer of his OCF-1 application, it controls what documents and activities are subject to investigation during the SABS claim processes. The corroborating evidence of the unlawful scheme was, inter alia, the following: (i) the Spam Fax in March 2023 from an unknown insurance company to the Applicant's fax number; (ii) SNIC providing notice of change of address, in Spring or Summer of 2023 from Markham to Burlington along with changing its fax number from the TDHA Fax Number to the Burlington Fax Number; (iii) a forged and invalid signature of "As per A. Nurse" under Ms. Nurse's name in an OCF-18; (iv) TDGIC substituting itself as the sole respondent in the LAT Proceeding; and (iv) other references in the AR or record of proceeding depending on any agreement between the entitled parties to participate herein.

12. By having TDGIC being the "sole respondent of record", albeit SNIC filing the sole "Response" in the LAT Proceeding (the "SNIC Response"), with the sole signature of a non-licensee (Mr. Karat) in breach of LSO By-Law 7.1, ss. 6(1)(b) and (d)[28], which does not meet a specified document to be included in the "record of proceeding" under the SPPA, SNIC controls or eliminates any investigation into its activities during the LAT Appeal temporal period. For example, if the FSRA sought to investigate issues involving SNIC, it could claim that it was not the insurer and that TDGIC was the solely responsible insurer for the Applicant's SABS claim (TD Claim #3), and the FSRA investigative and market conduct team would be misdirected. As the Applicant never faxed a document to the TDGIC fax number (416.774.3629) prior to the filing of the LAT Appeal and thereafter, there would be little to no evidence for the FSRA to investigate.

13. Moreover, by having a non-licensee self-titled "ADR Specialist" (non 'adjuster' under the Insurance Act), SNIC, along with TD Insurance Staff Legal, further limited the reach of the LSO into activities subject to its legislative powers and its by-laws which have legislative force[29]. By having Mr. Nieuwland solely act for TDGIC by filing a DOR, whilst having a P1 holder (not providing legal services) in Ms. Michelle Moraes masquerade as his legal assistant for three months before one Ms. Ortiz (his actual legal assistant) surfaced, it further curtailed the investigatory powers of the LSO and the FSRA. There was also evidence, albeit in a PIPEDA response of SNIC in 2024, that there were multiple files of these insurance companies involving a single claimant.

14. This Court must also rule on this JRPA Proceeding because the findings of VCM invoke the Applicant's [sic] Insurance Policy [sic] and a clandestine and undisclosed subsequent contract between SNIC and TDGIC (collectively, the "Offerees") by way of being offerees, to the surreptitious and unrevealed offer by TDHA (the "Offeror") as the First Insurer pursuant, to its prescribed jurisdiction, of Rule 14.05(3)(d)[30] to hear this matter since it involves the determination of rights that depends upon contractual interpretation. This court has, at least, two contracts to review in determining the rights of all involved: (i) the Insurance Policy; and (ii) the unrevealed contract between TDHA (as one party) "and" SNIC and TDGIC ("counterparties").

VOLUME #1(B): Background Facts to this public interest litigation: JRPA Application

15. The Applicant was injured as the driver occupant in an automobile accident ("Accident") on August 31, 2022 (the "DOL"), through no fault of his own, which rendered the Insured Automobile with a police reporting file and some $6,000 in damage to the Insured Automobile. The Insured Automobile was propelled involuntarily some 30 feet forward from a stopped position north of St. Clair Avenue and south of Heath Road, on the Spadina Avenue. From the DOL to January 11, 2023 (the "Material Time"), the Insurance Policy associated with the Insured Automobile that he was operating was a leased vehicle from BMW Financial Services Inc. ("BMW FSI") and his spouse, a University of Toronto alumnus, was the individual named insured. The Applicant suffered a variety of impairments that were readily outside of the MIG, including but not limited to: (i) a grade 1 retrolisthesis; (ii) degenerative disc disease; (iii) S1 nerve issues; and (iv) a concussion.

16. The sole underwriter (the "Sole Underwriter") in the Insurance Policy and "pink cards" was Security National Insurance Company ("SNIC") which was an out-of-province insurer that had six classes of insurance with the FSRA. On September 1, 2022, the Applicant orally notified (the "Oral Notification") SNIC of the Accident and his intention to apply for accident benefits pursuant to the Schedule making SNIC the "First Notified Insurer".

17. SNIC provided the Applicant, in late September 2022, the OCF-1 application (the "OCF-1 Application" or "Application" pursuant to Reg 283, section 1). In the "return this form to" field, SNIC provided a mailing address of the 2nd floor, 101 McNabb Street, Markham, Ontario (the "Markham Office") and a fax number of 416.774.3120. Unbeknownst to the Applicant, the said fax number was not a telephone number in Markham but rather in North

York, Toronto, and after lengthy investigations[31] the only evidence before the Tribunal was that the said fax number was a landline number, issued by Bell Canada Inc. (not Bell Mobility) at the 4th floor-3650 Victoria Park Avenue, North York, Toronto. In 2024, the only evidence before the Tribunal was that, in October 2022, it was controlled, assigned and belonged to TD Home And Auto Insurance Company (FSRA registration number 1063) ("TDHA").

18. TDGIC's fax number, as per the Tribunal's notice of motion hearing orders, was the telephone number that was used solely as fax number, of 416.774.3629 and it was located on the 9th floor of the VP Building.

> VOLUME #1(B)(I): The LAT Registrar Order that confirmed that: (a) SNIC was not located at the Markham Office; (b) located in Burlington; and (c) with the 905 Fax Number (not a 416 fax number)

19. Further, before the issuance (September 13, 2024) of the VCM Decision, the Tribunal (not VCM herself but the LAT Registrar) on September 12, 2024, had issued another order that SNIC's address for service was 5th floor-5045 South Service Road, Burlington, Ontario ("SNIC Burlington Office").

> VOLUME #1(B)(II): Why would VCM backdate VCM Decision to September 6, 2024?

20. The self-evident and overwhelming inference is that by the LAT Registrar providing the, in fact, address of SNIC in Burlington, this provided an additional binding ground, by way of a decision of the administrative body, as to why TDHA was the First Insurer. Simply put, SNIC solely provided its name with a false address and false fax number.

> VOLUME #1(B)(III): Why were there so many palpable errors in the VCM Decision?

21. The obvious inference was that she rushed her decision-making process to pretend that her decision was issued on September 6, 2024, and not subject to or inconsistent with the LAT Registrar's order finally providing the, in fact, address of SNIC being the SNIC

Burlington Office. VCM was required to review all materials in the record of proceeding prior to issuing her order, and the LAT Registrar order, received by the parties, was a binding order upon her. The VCM Decision was inconsistent with said order.

22. SNIC had provided the said physical address, absent a floor number, from Spring or Summer 2023 until the time of the Applicant's filing of the LAT Appeal on December 24, 2023. SNIC's fax number at the SNIC Burlington Office was that 905 Fax Number. Ergo, SNIC only complied with the requirements under Reg 283 of providing its name but failed to comply with the requirements, at the Material Time, that it provide its mailing address and fax number.

VOLUME #1(B)(IV): Obligation to pay benefits triggered upon receipt

23. On October 13, 2022, the Applicant not only faxed his completed application pursuant to Reg 283 and SABS, ss. 32 (the "McLean Completed Application") to the TDHA Fax Number, which was a landline on the 4th Floor VP Building, albeit unknowingly, but he also faxed a completed and signed OCF-2 on his behalf ("Completed OCF-2"). On November 3, 2022, the Applicant paid the section 25 of SABS fees for the OCF-3, and the said duly and doubly signed OCF-3 was delivered to the 4th Floor VP Bldg. Fax Number.[32]

VOLUME #1(B)(V): The New Brunswick response to a PIPEDA request of SNIC and the SPAM Fax: February to April 2023

24. Further, there was additional evidence before the Tribunal that the Applicant had made a PIPEDA request of SNIC in February 2023, via email to the TD privacy email, but received an apparent PIPEDA response via mail from an unknown corporate sender located in New Brunswick. With further investigations in the Summer of 2024, the Applicant filed evidence with the Tribunal that while TDGIC operated in the Private Passenger Market in Ontario but did not operate in the Private Passenger Market in New Brunswick, TDHA did not in Ontario but did in New Brunswick along with SNIC and Primmum.

25. Around the same time (March 2023), while SNIC had never faxed the Applicant in reply to any of his delivered faxes to the TDHA Fax Number, again unknowingly to him, and only sent ostensible responses the Applicant received a fax from an unknown sender that "it" had no record of the Applicant's TD Claim #3 and to send his faxes with information, already in each fax, to one of the various locations (see: Calgary, Ontario, Montreal, Nova Scotia and New Brunswick) across Canada. There were two fax numbers in Ontario: Burlington (905 Fax Number) and North York (the 4th Floor VP Building Fax Number). The Applicant was already faxing to the 416.774.3120 and he did not reside in Burlington but he was perplexed by the "North York" reference. Consequently, the Applicant promptly blocked the sender, on account of it being "spam" (defined as the "Spam Fax"). The Applicant notified the 416.774.3120 fax number presuming still he was faxing SNIC regarding the misidentification of said fax number being grounded, by landline phone number, in North York, although the Applicant was incorrect in that regard at said time by way of detrimental reliance on the representations made to him by SNIC, of the issue and continued to fax the said telephone (fax) number. Shortly thereafter, SNIC had correctly, albeit missing a floor number, provided the Applicant, via mail, with a notice of change of address from the Markham Office to the Burlington Office, and, most notably, from the VP Building 4th Floor Fax Number to the 905 Fax Number.

VOLUME #2: Overview of the binding precedents in relation to the Governing Statutes, Governing Regulations et al

26. SABS and Reg 283, having undergone major amendments in 2010 after being submitted to industry consultations and amendments before proclamations, they reflect important policy choices to ensure order and stability in regulated industries. Said "order and stability" in the regulations must be matched by this ONSC by reference to the Final Word Requirement, Final Answer Requirement, Uniform Answers Requirement, Vertical *Stare Decisis, and Intolerance Conflicting Orders Requirement pursuant to the ROL.

27. Reg 283 is designed to keep priority disputes out of the courts.[33] Reg 283 is also purposed to prevent SABS claims, including vital treatments and income benefits, from being delayed while insurers fight over priority dispute under section 268(2) of the Insurance

Act.[34] As a matter of principle, there is NO[35] difference between an insurer's failure to pay under section 2 of Reg 283 and a failure to pay under any provision of SABS. [36] [37]

28. While a First Insurer, like TDHA, may have never received insurance premiums from the insured persons, or be deemed to have received the same pursuant to the Insurance Act after a determined insured person was an occupant in said 'insured automobile' may seem intuitively wrong, the Legislature, by passage of statutes with Royal Assent, and LGIC's intent, must be respected. There is no, per se, harshness to be alleviated by a sophisticated insurance company, with endless resources, who received the McLean Completed Application, who fails to investigate within three months and provide a notice, in form A143, to an insured person and other insurers under sections 3 and 4 of Reg 283. The provisional first-insurer rule under the regulation and the priority regime under the statute operate differently.[38] Irrespective of whether a claimant is an "insured person" or not in the subjective mind of the First Insurer, the First Insurer must respond to the Claimant and pay benefits where applicable and required (see: Reg 283, ss. 2.1(6)). Acceptance during the 90-day period is merely provisional.[39] If the First Insurer does not dispute, within 90 days, its liability to pay all benefits, in accordance with SABS, of the claimant, there is no other process for the First Insurer to transfer the SABS claim, dispute the same and recover any paid or to-be-paid benefits to the claimant.[40]A First Insurer's calculus to not accept a claim for whatever subjective reason can turn out to a costly and permanent mistake.[41] The lack of acceptance in this regard is functionally equivalent to "not accepting service of a claim," which is distinct from not accepting an offer in relation to a proposed contract.

VOLUME #3: Requirement to "step into the shoes" of Sole Underwriter[42]

29. In Zurich 2015[43], the SCC held that Chubb ought to have responded to the SABS claim immediately on a 'pay first and dispute later' basis.[44] If the sending of the Completed Application by the claimant was not arbitrary, there is a nexus between the claimant and the First Insurer.[45] The SCC restored Goldstein J.'s judgment (ONSC) ["Zurich 2012"[46]] in its verbatim adopting[47] the dissent of Juriansz J.A. ["Zurich 2014"][48], as he then was before retiring after an illustrious legal and judicial career in 2021,[49]: 2014 ONCA 400[50].

A vague recollection about seeing an insurer's name at a rental car office was sufficiently non-arbitrary to require the First Insurer (Chubb in Zurich 2015[51]) to "step into the shoes" of another insurance company(ies) that was liable under a "contract of insurance" for the purposes of section 2(1) of Reg 283.[52] The policy behind the inflexible rule that an insurer (like TDHA), which fails to: (i) respond provisionally to a claimant; (ii) fails to pay benefits provisionally to the claimant; (iii) fails to put other insurers on notice; and (iv) fails to put the insured person on notice of a potential transfer of the insured person's claim to other insurer(s), after receipt of a Completed Application, when there is SOME nexus, being permanently responsible for the claimant's benefits is to promote compliance with the validly binding statutory scheme.

30. The ONSC in Zurich 2024[53] (May) settled the law in the above regards as follows: (i) breach of section 2 of Reg 283, according to the case law, does not result in an insurer being required to pay benefits to the claimant permanently; BUT (ii) the failure TO AVAIL itself of section 3 does. Section 3 dovetails to section 4 which requires the First Insurer (TDHA) to provide notice to the insured person. Section 5 of Reg 283 provides the consequences for an insured person not delivering its objection notice to the First Insurer within 14 days of receipt of the dispute notice form (A143) from the First Insurer. A143 requires the First Insurer, which receives the same, to fill out the form correctly and have a representative sign the same.

31. Herein, there is some incredibly prejudicial and fatal evidence, as it relates to any defence by TDHA that it could not meet the 90-day requirement to provide an A143 notice, and that is the signature block of Mr. Karat wherein he, as an ADR specialist, represented, multiple times, in 2024, that he was authorized to represent, "SNIC, TDGIC, Primmum, and TDHA".

32. TDHA's permanent liability for responding to the SABS Applicant and paying benefits to him was a self-inflicted consequence of its failure to adhere to the requirements and protections of section 2 to 4 of Reg 283.The combination of provisions in Reg 283 transformed TDHA's provisional liability into a permanent one.[54] For TDHA to not be declared as the First Insurer would mean that there were no consequences for the conduct

(or inaction) of TDHA by receipt of the McLean Completed Application and by continuing to have its former branch office address (East Mall Address) auto-populate in HCAI, without Mr. McLean having access to the same as he was not a "service provider" and no ability for any service provider to amend the same, it would defeat the legislation's public policy: "pay now and dispute later". The consequence would be that the "rule of law" would not matter and the LGIC's proclaimed amendments to Reg 283 and SABS had no teeth and were of no force and effect. Put another way, the mandatory provisions therein would become discretionary based on the arbitrary and subjective beliefs and whims of insurance companies within a group of insurers. There would be no stability and consistency in the application of Reg 283, and the Uniform Answers Requirement or what is more commonly known as "horizontal and vertical stare decisis" in our provincial common law (judge made law) jurisdictions.

VOLUME # #4: Issues, Law and Argument

VOLUME # #4(A): Issues

33. The Applicant frames the general legal issues as follows:

    a. Issue #1: What is the standard of review of the VCM Decision and the VCL Reconsideration Decision as it relates to VCM's orders in NOM #14 and NOM #15?
    b. Issue #2: As TDHA was the first insurance company to receive the McLean Completed Application, was it possible, at law, for SNIC and TDGIC to accept priority over the Applicant's [sic] insurance policy [sic] without any notice to him?
        i. If the answer to said issue is in the negative, what is the legal effect of the same?
    c. Issue #3: what orders must this ONSC fashion with respect to the public interest remedies that are evasive of the JRPA Application and of great importance to the procedure, practice, substance and the ROL in LAT proceedings where similar issues may arise?

VOLUME #4(B): Law

VOLUME ##4(B)(I): Jurisprudence

34. The ONSC in Beasley[55] was unequivocal in its language that the fiduciary duties of an insurance company, whether they are provisional or permanent, are triggered by the obligation to pay benefits (if any) wherein the Honourable Justice Moore found: "[34] The relationship between an insured and an insurer in accident benefits matters involves a duty of good faith, a fiduciary obligation; the relationship between plaintiff and defendant in a tort action does not. The obligation, if any, to pay accident benefits is very different from the exposure, if any, that a defendant faces in a tort action."

35. The ONSC (Divisional Court) in Jia found, in upholding the reconsideration decision of VC Trojek[56], in a priority dispute case between CAA (insurance company) and The Personal Insurance Company, and SABS proceeding between a male widow and daughter without his wife and her mother respectively due to the fatal car accident against The Personal Insurance Company, found at paragraph 6: "[6] It is established law that insurers may not use the same counsel in statutory benefits cases and in tort cases brought against them by the same insured. This is because the duties of an insurer (and therefore of its counsel) are different in these contexts, and as an accident benefits insurer, the insurer is entitled to receive, and is required to keep confidential, a great deal of sensitive personal information from claimant." [57] [58]

VOLUME # #4(B)(II): Legislation

36. Section 280 of the Insurance Act contains six subsections, which were passed in 2014, of which only four are potentially relevant herein. [59] [60]The SPPA provides who may be parties to a proceeding which is by "statute" or "by law". The Insurance Act does not define or delineate who may be parties so the relevant part of section 5 is the "by law" component of the legislative section. TDHA, as the First Insurer on a provisional basis from October 13, 2022, to January 10, 2023, (the "Provisional Period") and then on a permanent basis from January 10, 2023, to present and in perpetuity (the "Permanent Period"), is the only insurance company in the TDI Group that, "by law", that was and is entitled to be the respondent party. Of note, the Applicant sent his LAT Appeal to the TDHA Fax Number and it was received by TDHA.

VOLUME # #4(B)(II): Regulations

37. Benefits" means SABS as defined under section 224(1) of the Act.[61] An insurer shall promptly provide an OCF-1 and any other appropriate forms in accordance with the

Schedule to an applicant who notifies the insurer [a "First Notified Insurer"] that she wishes to apply for benefits: 2.1(2) of Reg 283.[62] A SABS applicant shall use the Application provided by the insurer and shall send the Completed Application to only one insurer: ss. 2.1(4) of Reg 283.[63] An insurer that provides an application [a "First Notified Insurer"] under subsection (2) to an applicant shall: [1] not take any action intended: (i) to prevent; or (ii) stop, the applicant from submitting a completed application to the insurer; and [2] shall not: (i) refuse to accept the completed application or (ii) redirect the applicant to another insurer (see: ss. 2.1(5) of Reg 283). [64]

VOLUME # #4(B)(II)(c): Disputes between Insurers: independent breaches by First Notified Insurer and First Insurer under section 2.1 of Reg 283

38. Conceivably, the "First Notified Insurer" and "First Insurer" (not the "First Party Insurer" under Insurance Act as referenced in Reg 664[65]), could independently and disjunctively breach different subsections under section 2.1 of the Reg 283. For example, the First Notified Insurer could breach section 2.1(5) of the Reg 283, by taking some action intended to prevent or stop the 'applicant" from even submitting a completed application to "the insurer". "The insurer" may or may not be the First Notified Insurer. Under the last part of the sentence in subsection 2.1(5) of Reg 283, "an insurer" may breach section 2.1(5) by refusing to ACCEPT[66] the Completed Application OR redirecting the same to another insurer. Ergo, a First Notified Insurer could conceivably breach sections 2.1(2), 2.1(3) and (5) of Reg 283. [67] [68] [69]

VOLUME # #4(B)(II)(d): First Insurer: how could such an insurance company breach section 2 of Reg 283? Which subsections of section 2 of Reg 283 did TDHA breach?

39. Juxtaposed to that, the First Insurer may not be First Notified Insurer wherein an individual contacts, delirious after the Accident, and notifies the insurance company it believes to be a sole underwriter for the vehicle in which she was injured. However, after complying with that seven-day notification requirement under section 32 of SABS, an individual may, perhaps after the benefit of ILA, realize that said First Notified Insurer is not the insurer that has a duty to respond to her and pay benefits in accordance with the Schedule. As seen in much of the jurisprudence, wherein insurance companies are willing to engage in a litigation for over nearly two decades, she may have multiple policies that could apply. She then submits her Completed Application to "the insurer" (not "an insurer" or the "First Notified Insurer") wherein the First Notified Insurer and First Insurer are distinct and separate entities (not "one and the same"). The First Insurer may fail to commence paying benefits in accordance with the provisions of SABS pending the resolution of any dispute as to which insurer is required to pay benefits (nota bene: the "First [Recipient] Insurer" in its capacity as the "First Provisional Insurer"). Such a First Insurer may breach section 2.1(6) on a provisional basis and only during the provisional period and/or beyond.

VOLUME # #4(B)(II)(e): Consequences of Non-Compliance[70] (ss. 2.1(7) of Reg 283) and distinction between section 2(1) (LGIC proclamation in 1995) and ss. 2.1 (LGIC proclamation in 201)

40. The word "reasonable" utilized by the LGIC indicates the objective person test. Therefore, the threshold and quantum for the fees under legal, adjusting, admin or disbursements is what a reasonable person would find in terms of whether they are owed and in what quantum. The only difference (see: supra, "the statute and regulation operate differently" as per Justice Akazaki) between section 2(1) and 2.1(6)[71] is that the former references the requirement to pay benefits under section 268 of the Insurance Act whereas section 2.1(6) reference the requirement of that First [Recipient] Insurer to pay benefits in accordance with the provision of the Schedule.

VOLUME # #4(III): Argument

41. Vice Chair Morrissette obviously knows more than the Applicant as to what was represented to the Tribunal in written or oral form – not that which is correct at law – "behind the scenes". [72]There is no prescribed right of insurance companies, irrespective of whether they may or may not be affiliated within a group of insurance companies, to accept priority over an "insurance policy". No such right exists in relation to a claim for accident benefits after a Completed OCF-1 is received by AN insurance company. NIC did not refuse to accept the Completed Application as it did not receive the Applicant's Completed Application first. It is unclear if it even received it second or in what order or if at all. The reference to "it at all" is grounded in the record of proceeding and the denial letters in that SNIC never enclosed a copy of the initial OCF-1 delivered to TDHA at first instance or other documents but rather would reference them in a vague and ambiguous manner.[73] To encapsulate the application of the uncontroverted evidence to ss. 2.1(5) of Reg 283, SNIC was the only insurance company that provided the OCF-1 but it cannot be found to have prevented the Applicant from submitting his Completed Application to "the insurer" but rather encouraged him to do so by providing a North York, Toronto, fax number (VP Building 4th Floor Fax Number) of TDHA which was an "in province" insurer licensed in the class of automobile insurance. Therefore, there was a nexus between the Applicant and TDHA as he did not select TDHA on a whim but was exclusively directed to it by SNIC – at least "on paper".

42. TDHA was the First Insurer as the only two lead tenants at the Victoria Park Ave Building were that of TDGIC and TDHA. TDGIC occupied floors 7 to 9 with the 9th floor being its mailing address and TDHA occupying floors four to six with the four floors being its mailing address. Once the Applicant had honed in on the deception, the mathematical computation of how Bell Canada Inc. had assigned the numbers within the building was rather rudimentary. The area code of 416 was only for Toronto-based locations. 774 was assigned as a "prefix" to numbers within the District of North York and then within the VP Building, the 3 was a common feature to many landlines of tenants therein. The "120" was a string of three digits with numerical value of "1" being on the fourth floor and the numerical string of "629" with "six" being on the 9th floor. For sake of completeness: "2" was on the fifth floor; "3" was on the sixth floor; "4" was on the seventh floor; "5" was on the eighth floor; and "6" was on the ninth floor. The Tribunal's notice of hearing orders are orders at law and subject to judicial review, and neither SNIC nor TDGIC sought to challenge them by a section 21.1 of the SPPA motion or judicial review and/or appeal. It is trite that if those fax numbers that the Tribunal had found were to be for service of documents to SNIC and TDGIC were not their fax numbers, they would have objected or confirmed the same with the Tribunal.[74]

43. Therefore, SNIC had no provisional obligation to respond to the Applicant and pay benefits as its obligation to respond was merely the provision of forms and explanation of benefits

as a mere stakeholder in the insurance industry, but rather TDHA had that obligation to respond and pay benefits. Therefore, pursuant to section 280(4), the LAT was required to resolve the LAT Proceeding in accordance with SABS and Reg 283.

44. In order for the Tribunal to determine the JRPA Applicant's claims under Reg 664, s. 10 (Dispute Resolution under section 280 of the Insurance Act).[75] Conceivably, s.10 of Reg 664 could involve two insurers because a provisional First Insurer could have delayed commencing paying benefits and further delayed during the provisional period, and a different agreed to, with or without the consent of an insured person subject to said claimant receiving notice or notices pursuant to Reg 283, or declared insurer, by arbitrator or subsequent court decisions[76] could have delayed or withheld benefits thereafter. [77]

45. The Applicant complied with section 268(5) of the Insurance Act and ss. 32(1) of the Schedule by SNIC became the "First Notified Insurer". Pursuant to section 32(2) of Schedule and Reg 283, ss. 2.1(2) SNIC provided the Applicant with an OCF-1 Application (see: Reg 283, s.1) and some other forms that related to the Schedule. SNIC breached part of ss. 2.1(3) of Reg 283 by not providing its accurate mailing address and fax number. The Applicant complied with ss. 2.1(4) of Reg 283 by using the "OCF-1 Application" provided by SNIC and sent the Completed Application to only one insurer (TDHA).

VOLUME # #4(III)(A)(i): Subsection 2.1(6)

46. TDHA was the First Insurer that received a Completed Application for benefits from this JRPA Applicant (SABS Applicant) and was duty bound, by the LGIC's 2010 proclamations, which were the subject of extensive industry wide consultations, to commence paying the benefits in accordance with the provisions of the Schedule.

VOLUME # #4(III)(A)(ii): Subsection 2.1(7)

47. As SNIC and THDA are both "insurers", distinct at law, they have both failed to comply with various sections under subsection 2.1 and are required to reimburse each other for any fees (adjusting and legal), costs et al that were reasonably incurred by the other insurer as a result of the non-compliance. However, that is an issue between them and not for the Applicant. The Applicant is not entitled to any payment of any incurred legal fees, adjuster's fees, administration costs and disbursements but he is entitled to benefits and payment of section 25 fees incurred.

VOLUME # #4(III)(A)(iii): Sections 3 to 4 of Reg 283 and ss. 268(3) of the IA

48. An insurer against whom a person has recourse for the payment of statutory accident benefits is liable to pay the benefits: ss. 268(3) of the Insurance Act. Where an insurer has given notice under section 3 of Reg 283, said insurer must also give notice to the insured person using a form approved by the CEO of the FSRA: ss. 4(1) of the Reg 283. Said form is denoted below at Appendices and it is a A143.[78] TDHA did not even engage in the pretense of doing so.

VOLUME # #4(III)(A)(iv): Section 5 of Reg 283

49. The Applicant never received notice under section 4 of Reg 283 so he did not have any obligation under section 5(1) of Reg 283. Ergo, the Applicant could not, in fact, advise the insurer paying benefits in writing within 14 days that he objected to the transfer of the claim to the insurers referred to in a non-existent notice. According to VCM, the transfer of his TD Claim #3, clandestinely occurred at some unparticularized time by some void ab initio agreement between the First Insurer when TDGIC, in conjunction with SNIC, accepted priority over the Applicant's [sic] Insurance Policy [sic]. VCM was clearly not referring to a "decision" but a subsequent agreement by her deliberate word choice of "acceptance". For "acceptance" to have occurred by two other insurers, where neither could be the First Insurer (TDHA), an offer had to be made. For an agreement to have been consummated, there had to be return consideration in the form of a fulfilled promise from the offerees to the offeror (TDHA). In order for that proposed contract, which could be at best an "agreement to agree", it required notice to the JRPA Applicant and his consent or his silence AFTER receipt of the prescribed notices.[79]

VOLUME # #4(III)(A)(v): Subsection 5(3) of Reg 283

50. Ss. 5(3) of Reg 283 has a "despite" or "subject to" clause in said subsection but it relates to the Fund initiating arbitration so it is not germane to the issues herein.

VOLUME # #4(III)(A)(vi): Void Ab Initio Agreement and deprivation of three different rights: (i) right to object to transfer of his claim to other insurers; (ii) right to object to proposed agreement between insurers; and (iii) right to file notice of arbitration

51. While the Applicant did not receive any section 4 notice pursuant to Reg 283 and was deprived of his rights which the LGIC provided similarly situated accident victims, to object to the transfer of his TD Claim #3 to SNIC and TDGIC on an apparently joint basis, he was also deprived of his arbitration participatory rights in any subsequent proceeding to settle the dispute. Most importantly, whatever clandestine, underhanded and surreptitious agreement was negotiated and consummated between TDHA with SNIC and TDGIC, had no legal effect and was not merely void but void ab initio. It amounts to an irremediable nullity.[80]

VOLUME # #4(III)(A)(vii): Consent vs. Non-Opposition – risks of allowing the Tribunal to decide the Hearing Proper with the "musical defence chairs" between SNIC, TDGIC and TDHA

52. Leaving aside that Mr. Nieuwland's purported Notice of Appearance was and remains defective, Mr. Nieuwland is apparently engaged in similar past conduct that was not only rejected by the Tribunal but the FSRA (two administrative tribunals created under different statutes with boundaries that regularly intersect) with respect to his misguided "one and the same representation" regarding SNIC and TDGIC being the same corporate entity. Such a misrepresentation was counter to the FSRA certificates of status involving each, their distinct license classes approved by the FSRA, the corporate history of TDGIC and SNIC, and the rule in Foss v. Harbottle. Mr. Nieuwland now wishes this ONSC to accept a filing, which was not forthwith, but wherein his cover email misrepresented that he was acting for SNIC and two distinct companies also referred to as [sic] as "TD Home and Auto [sic]" and "TD General Insurance company [sic]". It was a tantamount to a "triple down" on his previous "double down" at least "numerically". For the purposes of clause 4.3 of Schedule 1, the consent of an individual is only valid if it is reasonable to expect that an individual to whom the organization's activities are directed would understand the nature, purpose and consequences of the collection, use or disclosure of the personal information to which they are consenting: s. 6.1 of PIPEDA. It is trite that the OCF-1 and PIPEDA operate harmoniously and in tandem.

VOLUME #4(III)(B): "Mr. Nieuwland and co" – up to old tricks

53. Not opposing the relief in a motion, as TDGIC did by way of written email by Mr. Nieuwland on behalf of TDGIC on June 6, 2024, is not the legal equivalent of "consent". Such a statement of law is a trite one but the history of how SNIC and TDGIC have abused the process of the LAT Proceeding is precisely why this JRPA Proceeding must be decided prior to the Hearing Proper. After Mr. Karat, a non-licensee, signed and filed a Response on behalf of SNIC on January 25, 2025, (the "SNIC Response") contrary to LSO By-Laws, TDGIC purported to be the sole respondent without even the pretense of filing a pleading. NOM #8 was not granted until June 20, 2024, which then required another section 21.1 of the SPPA motion as the clarity and precision of some of the findings of fact, contrary to the record of proceeding, by yet again VCM, were incorrect. The Applicant sought the consent of TDGIC to remove itself as the sole respondent and the consent of SNIC, the only insurance company that filed a Response, to substitute itself for TDGIC. Mr. Nieuwland, for TDGIC, was unequivocal that TDGIC would NOT oppose any such relief from the Applicant after opposing said relief for nearly six months. Mr. McLean is not so self-aggrandizing to think that his NOM #8 was of such superb calibre that it was the sole catalyst for the change in legal position. Rather, it was, admittedly, bold move to serve the FSRA with NOM #8 and invite its submissions by way of amicus curae. 128 days passed from the time of the Nieuwland DOR on behalf of TDGIC to the time of his email where TDGIC would not oppose the relief that the Applicant had been seeking, with formal motions and at the case conference. SNIC did not respond to NOM #8 even though its sole representative, at the time, in Mr. Karat had responded to emails in May 2024. Consent for removal of TDGIC and substitution of SNIC for it would have required a "three party agreement" between the JRPA Application, TDGIC and SNIC.

VOLUME # #4(III)(C): Res judicata and Issue Estoppel

54. The Applicant could then be caught by the doctrines of res judicata and issue estoppel.

VOLUME # #4(III)(C)(i): Res judicata

55. In Said v. Northbridge General Insurance Company, 2024 ONSC 5248 (Div. Court), the Honourable Justice DL Corbette with oral reasons considered res judicata in an administrative context where it was found that a LAT decision is final and authoritative subject to a party's rights of reconsideration or appeal from that decision.[81]TDHA and SNIC are not "one and the same" as it has already been found by the FSRA, through its issuance of the certificates of status in June 2024, that "TDGIC and SNIC were not one and the same".

VOLUME # #4(III)(C)(ii): Issue Estoppel

56. Issue estoppel has been articulated as follows in Kazen v. Whitten & Lublin Professional Corporation, 2020 ONCA 325[82]: (i) the same question has been decided; (ii) the judicial decision which is said to create the estoppel was final; and (iii) the parties to the judicial decision or their privies were the same persons as the parties to the proceedings in which the estoppel is raised [or] their privies. The ONCA in Victoria University (Board of Regents) v. GE Canada Real, 2016 ONCA 646 found the following: "[97] It holds that a party may not relitigate an issue that was finally decided in prior judicial proceedings between the same parties or those who stand in their place. However, even if these elements are present, the court retains discretion to not apply issue estoppel when its application would work an injustice."

57. It is the "mutuality principle" that would be at issue as to whether THDA and SNIC are "privies". However, even the slight chance, however remote, is enough to ensure that a decision is issued as to whom the First Insurer was – as there is no finding that TDHA was not the First Insurer and SNIC was the "Frist Insurer". Since there are no findings in this regard to overturn, no deference is required and the ONSC can decide the issue "de novo" or at least in a manner that resembles a "de novo hearing". It is yet another reason why the respondent insurance companies must not be entitled to participate herein. The Applicant would not be bound by res judicata and/or issue estoppel because SNIC and TDHA are privies but because of Mr. Nieuwland's recent representation in his "received" filing (purported NOA) that SNIC are "also referred to as" as TDHA and TDGIC.

VOLUME # #4(III)(D): Reza vs. State Farm and s. 19 of SPPA

58. The case of Fatemea Rezaiezadeh v. State Farm Mutual Automobile Insurance Company, 2016 ONFSCDRS 59 ("Reza")[83] stands for the proposition below wherein an arbitrator found the following: "The Appellant concedes there is no explicit procedure in…the Statutory Powers Procedure Act, R.S.O. 1990, c. S.22, as amended, to permit a party to continue a proceeding against a non-party." While Reza was a decision before the FSCO, the Legislature has not amended the SPPA in any manner that would change that precedential statement of law. The Applicant will also be deprived of his rights under section 19 of the SPPA in relation to enforcement of a monetary order.[84]The Applicant cannot continue the LAT Proceeding as currently constituted against TDHA as per the VCM Decision. Moreover, the Applicant would be proceeding against as a "Non-First Insurer" that does not have any obligation to respond and to pay benefits.[85]

VOLUME # #4(III)(D)(i): Does the argument that SNIC would merely cut a cheque assuage any concerns and/or should the Applicant have to even take such a risk?

59. In Reza[86], the following excerpt has extreme relevance to why this JRPA Proceeding must proceed expediently before a single justice and, if it fails, then before the ONSC (Div. Court): "The Appellant's apparent concern is that if she is successful on appeal and obtains a monetary award, if the Respondent does not pay, whose property does the sheriff seize? The Respondent submits that Certas would respond to any "valid" judgment by cutting a cheque because of its contractual obligation with State Farm. This did not seem to reassure the Appellant."[87]

VOLUME # #4(III)(D)(ii): Not merely the entitled insured person and the obligated insurance company (First Insurer) but issues

60. The danger of not deciding this JRPA Proceeding on an expedited basis before a single justice, is outlined, to some degree, in 2015 ONCA 851[88]. The ONCA briefly set out the elements required for issue estoppel to apply to bar the re-arguing of an issue, and some useful comments on when parties meet the "mutuality principle". The applicable principle is that "litigation is conclusive upon issues actually brought before the court and upon any issues which the parties, exercising reasonable diligence, should have brought forward on that occasion".[89] The ONCA at paragraph nine raised some of the indicia that would make corporate parties privies of each other and the address aspect is one that cuts both ways:

> "[9] ….. All corporate appellants, except Committee of Certified Acupuncturists of Ontario, share the same registered address and they all share many of the same directors and officers, including the two individual appellants. In the context of these proceedings, this constitutes a sufficient degree of identification among the parties "to make it just to hold that the decision to which one was a party should be binding in the proceedings to which the other is a party".[90] In any event, even if the same parties' requirement for issue estoppel is not strictly met, permitting the appellants to re-litigate the issue that was determined by the Divisional Court would amount to an abuse of process.

VOLUME # #4(III)(D)(v)): "Would respond" is antithetical and counter to the purposes of Reg 283 and SABS [they are imperatives]

61. As found by the Honourable Mr. Justice Akazaki, a former president of the OBA no less, in Zurich 2024[91] the purpose of SABS is and remains that those injured persons receive vital treatments and income replacement benefits. SNIC is even on worse footing than Certas, vis-à-vis the defunct State Farm, as noted in Reza[92], as it relates to automobile insurance benefits in Ontario, because there is no evidence of SNIC having a contractual relationship to TDHA to respond and pay on its behalf for its obligations under Reg 283 and SABS. However, this inharmoniously bolsters a variety of points: (i) SNIC may take the position that it was standing in the shoes of TDHA; (ii) SNIC and TDHA are privies because of the "standing in the shoes argument"; (iii) without a decision herein, SNIC may take the position, even post hearing, that the Applicant was advancing his arguments not only against SNIC, but TDGIC and TDHA, and be without any recourse against TDHA as the First Insurer; (iv) SNIC does not have a duty to respond and pay benefits because it was not the First Insurer but the Applicant's LAT Appeal is dispositive of all issues against not only SNIC but TDHA; (v) to the extent that the Applicant advanced a separate LAT Appeal against TDHA, he would be abusing the process of the Tribunal because the underlying evidence would be similar or the same as he had faxed the seminal documents and correspondence to 416.774.3120 on a primary level; and (v) others.

62. The prematurity doctrine has no applicability. The Applicant may or may not obtain a remedy against a non-liable insurance company as a matter of the governing statute in Insurance Act, ss. 268(3) and the binding regulations in Reg 283, SABS and Reg 664. Judicial review is a discretionary remedy. However, in Awada[93], Corbett J. by setting out the legal principle or precedent that courts should not interfere with ongoing administrative proceedings until after they are completed or until effective remedies are exhausted. It is not that a claimant has exhausted remedies but effective remedies. "Effective" is synonymous with "actual, real, or operative". Any remedies against SNIC are ineffective, futile or useless. The ineffectiveness of any remedies, absent costs against SNIC in the LAT Proceeding, is further bolstered by the mature and stable jurisprudence that an order adding or dismissing a motion to add a party is a final order.

VOLUME # #4(III)(E)(ii): The Ultimate Appeal argument

63. The ONSC outlined the legal test in Mansuri[94] wherein it stated, "To the extent that there are "alleged deficiencies" arising from the Initial Decision, the applicants have not established that they "cannot be cured on an ultimate appeal. Put another way, the applicants have not established that the alleged prejudice to the applicants outweighs the benefits of a single court proceeding once the underlying Tribunal proceedings are complete" (see: Mansuri v. Dominion of Canada General Insurance Company, 2023 ONSC 5764[95] at paragraph 43).[96] Even in an "ultimate appeal", no curing could occur as TDHA is not the solely liable respondent party in the LAT Appeal.

VOLUME # #4(III)(E)(iii): The corollaries in Ontario Nurses Association

64. The ONSC in Sudbury and District Health Unit v Ontario Nurses' Association, 2023 ONSC 2419 ["Ontario Nurses"][97], found as follows at paragraph 29: "…. Resolution of this application does not resolve the outstanding issues before the Arbitrator. In addition, the court has been clear that this is not an exceptional circumstance that would lead it to hear a judicial review application on an interlocutory decision." The deductive reasoning is rather rudimentary: (i) if resolution of a JRPA Application resolves outstanding issues before the Tribunal, then a JRPA Application is not premature; and (ii) if not an interlocutory decision, then this militates in favour of hearing this JRPA Application.[98]

VOLUME # #4(III)(E)(iv): Court May ALWAYS intervene - Inherent Jurisdiction of its Superior Court Status

65. The court noted that "if there is a prospect of real unfairness through denial of natural justice or otherwise, a superior court may always exercise its inherent supervisory jurisdiction to put an end to the injustice before all the alternative remedies are exhausted…the unfairness in this case is so obvious that it would be inappropriate to put the officer through a trial before a tribunal that lost jurisdiction through a denial of natural justice.[99] This madness needs to be put to an end. The Tribunal is not even correctly distinguishing between the law of consent and "non-opposition". What next by way of extrapolation of legal principles? Sexual assault victims need not consent to sexual acts but their lack or absence of opposition to sexual acts is functionally and legally equivalent to consent. This Tribunal should be ashamed of itself by tossing around, in some irresponsible manner, that "consent" and "non-opposition" are "one and the same".[100]

VOLUME # #4(III)(E)(v): Concerns about this decision maker in VCM

66. Further, the total absence of a foundation for a finding of fact is an error of law. Moreover, it is the findings of VCM that are so particularly concerning that raise incredible integrity issues and conduct. It is not the first time that this former adjudicator, since promoted to Vice Chair, has been involved in serious breaches of conduct with knowledge. Her apparent knowledge, not in the record of proceeding, of what transpired, was not only affront to the LAT Rules of all parties being copied on correspondence, but this ONSC can take judicial notice of some issues involving this Tribunal of yesteryear.

67. Vice Chair Morrissette had to obtain this "knowledge" that TDGIC and SNIC accepted priority over the Applicant's [sic] insurance policy [sic] from some place, repository et al. The activities of VCM, prior to assuming her role as an adjudicator and now VC, are of great concern on a general but a specific level herein (see: https://lobbycanada.gc.ca/en/investigations/reports-on-investigation/the-lobbying-activities-of-trina-morissette/).[101] [102]

VOLUME # #4(III)(E)(vi): The conduct of this Tribunal is bringing the rule of law into disrepute: exceptional circumstances.

VOLUME # #4(III)(E)(vii): Risk of repeating proceedings and potential prejudice

69. Referring to the exceptions to the prematurity doctrine, which are analyzed when interlocutory relief is challenged by way of judicial review which has no applicability herein, "…It will only be permitted in rare cases where the potential prejudice of the risk of repeating proceedings after review" (see: Lourenco[104]). This JRPA Application will be repeated if the prematurity doctrine and arguments of the Tribunal are accepted.

VOLUME # #4(III)(E)(viii): Broader implications, Test Cases and Concurrent Jurisdiction

70. In London District Catholic School Board v. Weilgosh, 2024 ONSC 3857[105], the concepts of broader implications and test cases caused the ONSC to hear the judicial review even on an interim order, which the VCM Decisions are not, before the conclusion of that proceeding. Even more forcefully, the issues herein are even more important because they will determine a Reg 283 and SABS issue in a "test case" where they have not been decided before against the backdrop of some alarming issues involving this Tribunal which appear to be related to previous concerns about this Tribunal. This outcome and decision herein have broad implications for insured persons with various insurance companies in any "insurance group" and whether there is a systemic issue involving providing false contact information, which may or may not involve intentional breaches, and may be merely a technological error like the "four insurance companies" had in the FSRA Enforcement Decisions for SNIC[106], TDGIC[107], Primmum[108], and TDHA[109] . Nonetheless, it must be addressed forthwith before further prejudice occurs to the public.

VOLUME #5: Conclusion and Orders Sought

VOLUME #5(A): Why the prematurity doctrine has no applicability

71. History cannot repeat itself and the JRPA Applicant is acting not only in relation to "final orders" but in accordance with the "rule of law" and being pre-emptive by filing this factum and asking, with great respect and appreciation, for an urgent hearing. The obvious 'devil's advocate' position to the JRPA Applicant's submissions regarding being technically correct in following Reg 283, which dovetails with SABS and Reg 664, is that SNIC will claim that it will be bound by any decision of the Tribunal and not advance any positions contrary to the same or at the "11th hour". However, there is nothing, with the findings in the impugned orders and decisions of VCM on September 12, 2024, (contrary to the September 6, 2024 inscription), to take the position that it [SNIC] is not obligated to respond and pay benefits pursuant to SABS because it was NOT the "First Insurer". There is also nothing that would preclude SNIC from doing so after the Hearing Proper and prior to the issuance and release of a decision of the Tribunal in relation to the Hearing Proper as the Tribunal would not be functus officio until that time. SNIC could seek leave post Hearing Proper and advance that argument all while relying on the finding, god willing such a finding would not be issued by this ONSC Divisional Court, that the JRPA Application was premature. It would then leave the Applicant with no recourse regarding the final orders to NOT add TDHA as the First Insurer and not only no effective remedy against insurance companies within the TDI Group but no insurance company with a duty to respond and pay any benefits. In effect, it would be a return to the unlawful status quo where the Applicant communicates with the purported adjusters for SNIC and they do not respond to him despite the digital communication protocol that was consummated by consent between SNIC and the Applicant on January 23, 2024.

VOLUME #5(B): Preliminary Orders

72. With great respect and appreciation for the ONSC's time on this matter, the Applicant seeks, by way of this factum, the following orders on a preliminary basis: (a) Striking Nieuwland Purported NOA on behalf of three insurance companies; (b) An order that the Applicant is entitled to be heard on the issue of leave before a single justice of the ONSC

at the earliest opportunity of this ONSC and prior to January 15, 2025; and (c) An Order dispensing with the need for any case management conference.

VOLUME #5(C): Public Interest Remedies: Declarations Of Law

73. The Applicant seeks the following public interest remedies, orders, declarations or findings for the benefit of the public along with this ONSC solidifying the required stability and uniformity involving Reg 283, which the Applicant respectfully seeks an endorsement or finding of the same, are the following syllogisms for accidents post September 1, 2010:

a. A Declaration of Law that there cannot be any binding agreement, at law, between a First Insurer and another insurer or insurer(s), where an insured person has not received notice from the First Insurer (see: section 3(1));
b. A Declaration of Law that there cannot be any binding agreement, at law, between a First Insurer and another insurer or insurer(s), where an insured person has not selected the First Insurer (see: section 7(2) of Reg 283);
c. A Declaration of Law that there cannot be any binding agreement, at law, between a First Insurer and another insurer or insurer(s), at first instance or subsequent, under Reg 283 if the insured person, in her capacity as an Applicant having sent a Completed Application that was received by an insurer, making said insurer the "First Insurer", did not receive a notice of dispute or transfer pursuant to Reg 283;:
d. A Declaration of Law that there cannot be any binding agreement between a First Insurer and another insurer or insurer(s), at first instance or subsequent, under Reg 283 if the insured person, in her capacity as an Applicant having sent a Completed Application that was received by an insurer making said insurer the "First Insurer", objected to any transfer of her claim pursuant to section 5(1) of Reg 283 and said "agreement" was made without the consent of the insured person applicant who has seen and read the agreement;
e. A Declaration of Law that there cannot be any binding agreement, at law, between a First Insurer and another insurer or insurer(s), at first instance or subsequent, under Reg 283 if the insured person, in her capacity as an Applicant having sent a Completed Application that was received by an insurer making said insurer the "First Insurer", where:
    i. an insured person has received notice of the potential transfer of the claim by the First Insurer to another insurer or insurers, the insured person has objected to the transfer within 14 days of receiving notice, received a copy of the proposed agreement, objected to said proposed agreement and has initiated arbitration within 14 days of being notified of an agreement under the Arbitration Act, 1991 (see: section 7(2) of Reg 283);
f. A Declaration of Law that there cannot be any binding agreement, at law, between a First Insurer and another insurer or insurer(s), where an insurer does NOT commence or initiate arbitration within one year after the day the insurer paying benefits gives a section 3 notice to the other insurers and, by corollary, a section 4 notice to the insured person applicant (see: section 7(4)); and

g. A Declaration of Law that there cannot be any binding agreement, at law, between a First Insurer and another insurer or insurer(s), whereby the insurer paying benefits was not the First Insurer if the First Insurer does not give notice in accordance with section 3(1) of Reg 283 because the First Insurer is bound by its failure to give a section 3 notice to every other insurer because even if the First Insurer does so, section 4 requires a more formal notice under section 4 in the requisite form (A143).

VOLUME #5(D): Judicial Review Final Orders vis-à-vis Mr. McLean and TDHA

74. The Applicant seeks the following final orders:

1. An order quashing, in the nature of certiorari, and setting aside the VCM Decision;
2. An order quashing, in the nature of certiorari, and setting aside the VCL Reconsideration Decision;
3. An order granting the Applicant's orders sought, stylized as #1 and #3 in his NOM #14 (see: page 12 of the Application Record);
4. Costs in favour of the Applicant in NOM #14 and #15 against the then sole respondent in SNIC and fixed at $2,000;
5. Costs in favour of the Applicant in this JRPA Proceeding against any of the respondents herein that oppose the relief herein;
6. Such other further relief that this Honourable Court may grant pursuant to its inherent jurisdiction; and
7. Leave to the Applicant to file and serve any further documents, including amended submissions, that arise from the above or become known to him and/or based upon any agreement or order regarding the filing of the record of proceeding.

VOLUME #5(E): A full answer to the prematurity doctrine by way of legal bases

75. Lastly, there is a full answer to why the issue of who the First Insurer was and is, and who the correct liable and obligated respondent party must be and that is section 56 of SABS:

> "Time limit for proceedings
> 56. An application under subsection 280 (2) of the Act in respect of a benefit shall be commenced within two years after the insurer's refusal to pay the amount claimed. O. Reg. 44/16, s. 6."

76. The LAT Appeal (a section 280(2) of the Insurance Act 'Application') was filed and served on the TDHA Fax Number, albeit unbeknownst to the Applicant as being the TDHA Fax Number, on December 24, 2023. SNIC filed its Response on January 25, 2024. VCM could not have reviewed the pleadings because she would have known by both pleadings that it was NOT the Applicant's Insurance Policy.

77. In R.M. v CAA Insurance, 2020 CanLII 94775[110], Vice Chair Shapiro found in relation to section 56 of the Schedule:

> "[5] Section 56 of the Schedule provides that an application to dispute a denial of a benefit must be commenced within two years of the insurer's refusal to pay. Section 64 allows the denial notice to be sent by regular mail or faxed to an insured's lawyer. Once a proper denial has been properly sent, if an insured does not appeal within that period, the Tribunal can not hear it as it is "time-barred".

78. This, in turn, makes the precise point that SNIC, at least prima facie, has sent "denial letters" to the Applicant but TDHA has not. Parenthetically, TDGIC never sent a denial letter to the Applicant which was the Applicant's primary reason for continuing to seek the relief to substitute SNIC for TDGIC – not the unsupported findings of VCM. Therefore, the "record of proceeding" will be unequivocally different between SNIC and TDHA. It is not merely a "cosmetic difference" but a substantive one.

79. All of which is respectfully submitted to the ONSC (Div. Ct.) at first instance on Tuesday, December 10, 2024:

Mr. Kevin A. McLean (B.A. J.D., CIM)
Self-represented, the Applicant herein

APPENDICES OF THE JRPA APPLICANT'S FACTUM

APPENDIX #1: Errors in VCM Decision as referenced by NOM #18 in the NOM #18 Motion Forom and Schedule therein

The Appellant seeks the following orders as follows pursuant to section 21.1 of the SPPA (but not LAT Rule 17) by way of strikethrough for deleting the word therein and underlining for proposed additions in substantially the same form:

a. An Order correcting the "date of the order" from September 6, 2024 to September 13, 20242;

b. An Order correcting paragraph 2 from "was issued to the parties" to the following in substance "was issued to the Appellant and TDGIC, which was and is a non-party pursuant to the retroactive nature of my order issued on June 20, 2024, and released on June 21, 2024. As a parenthetical note, the Appellant sought clarification of my order in relation to this NOM #8 to confirm that the retroactive nature of the ordered changes from TDGIC to SNIC only related to documents and orders issued by the Tribunal and not those of TDGIC from January 30, 2024, to June 21, 2024. I confirmed the same in my reasons for decision in relation to the Appellant's order seeking clarification, which was his NOM #10;

c. An Order correcting paragraph #2, sentence #2: [this is corrected by the change above in Order #2];

d. An Order correcting paragraph #3 to: from "on consent of the parties" to "by TDGIC not opposing the relief sought in NOM #8 (except costs) and the Appellant proceeding with his motion unopposed";

e. An Order correcting paragraph #5 as follows in substance: [to be consistent between sentence #1 and sentence #2 as sentence #1 references twelfth, thirteenth, and fourteenth and sentence #2 references "NOM #13, NOM #14, and NOM #15"];

f. An order correcting the "similar error" [technical deficiency error], in the form of incorrect language, at paragraph 12, as submissions are not affidavit evidence. Further, an order specifically correcting paragraph 12, sentence #2, from "He submits that he made demands..." to "He swore affidavit evidence that he made demands upon TDHA and exhibited the emails he sent to TDGIC along with filing a certificate of service that delivered the hearing brief, which was indexed, tabulated and consecutively numbered pursuant to LAT Rule 9.4.5., on July 11, 2024. As the Tribunal did not provide TDGIC with an opportunity for submissions, contrary to LAT Rule 9.2.2., the Tribunal did not have the benefit of any written submissions, affidavit evidence or authorities."

g. An order correcting paragraph #18 as follows with the inclusion of the technically correct language and facts: was TDGIC. While TDGIC was the respondent party at the time, the effect of my order on June 6, 2024, operated retroactively.

h. An order correcting paragraph #19 as follows: removing sentence #1 and replacing with the language in the underlying hearing brief and record at the time "The reasons that SNIC was required to be the sole respondent party, as cited in NOM #8, were not only because of the Appellant's reasons but compliance with the SPPA, SABS, Reg 283, FSRA requirements, LATA, consistency with the LAT Rules and others.

i. An Order that paragraph 22, sentence #1 is corrected as follows: "TD Insurance letterhead" to "TD Insurance Meloche Monnex letterhead" with the return address of 200-101 McNabb Street, Markham, Ontario"

j. An Order that paragraph 22, sentence #3 is removed in its entirety in favour of the facts within the record of proceeding as follows in substance with the below:

i. Within the filed Appeal, the Appellant utilized the definition of TD SNIC. While the Appellant could not input the entirety of TD Insurance Meloche Monnex (Security National Insurance Company), he used TD Insurance with the definition of "TD SNIC" within the pleading for further specification. Attached to his pleading with the required listed key documents were four pre-pleading affidavits that all referenced TD SNIC, which contained the "Denial Letters" therein.

i. On December 24, 2023, the Appellant served the Appeal to the fax number provided to him by SNIC in September 2022, which was 416.774.3120. The said fax number is grounded and wired to the building located at 3650 Victoria Park Avenue, North York, Toronto, Ontario. The Appellant was unaware that said fax number was not that of SNIC Markham. Whichever insurance company was so located on the 4th floor of the Victoria Park Building at the time of October 13, 2022, was served with the Appeal.

ii. On January 3, 2024, the Appellant filed his NOM #1 with the Tribunal.

iii. On January 8, 2024, the Appellant filed his NOM #2 with the Tribunal. On the same day, the Appellant received communications from one Mr. Josh Grant, case manager, of the LAT/AABS requesting that the Appellant provide copies of the denial letters that he had received in relation to his TD Claim #3 and LAT Proceeding. The Appellant did so on January 8, 2024, which contained denials letters exclusively from SNIC at its alleged offices of SNIC Markham and the Burlington Office Building (absent a floor number). The denial letters that the Appellant provided were already contained within the pre-pleading affidavits that particularized the key documents for the Appeal.

iv. On January 14, 2024, the Appellant filed NOM #3.

v. In each of the three motions denoted above, the Appellant denoted the respondent as "TD Insurance Meloche Monnex" (Security National Insurance Company).

vi. On January 16, 2024, Vice-Chair Lake issued written reasons for decision in all three motions, without the party receiving any notice of the written hearings, section 6, declining to decide the same. In Vice Chair Lake's order, she even references TD SNIC but continued with the finalization of her reasons for decision with TDGIC as the Respondent.

vii. For context as to how TD General Insurance Company became the sole respondent on January 8, 2024, in the LAT/AABS system, when Mr. Josh Grant, case manager for the SNIC Proceeding, was assigned to the same, Mr. Grant emailed the Appellant, Mr. Nieuwland, who was then counsel to TDGIC, and Mr. Karat, ADR Specialist to SNIC, on May 6, 2023, in response to the Appellant's May 6, 2024, email requesting, inter alia, copies of the documents and information as it relates to who provided the Tribunal with information regarding TDGIC on or around the deadline for filing a Response to the Appellant's Appeal. The Appellant's query arose after May 2, 2024, at the combined case conference and set hearings for his NOM #4 and NOM #6, when he objected, prior to and during the case conference, to TDGIC being the sole respondent or a respondent at all as it was never disclosed to him as an insurance company; it was not the underwriter in the Appellant Spouse's insurance policy, that had any duties in relation to his TD Claim #3. Moreover, the Appellant needed to know the information because SABS requires the insurance company that refused to pay any amounts claimed for benefits or any refusal seeking increased benefits to be named (see: section 56 of *SABS*3). Mr. Grant kindly noted that the Appellant did list TD Insurance as the Respondent but mistakenly stated that the denial letters the Appellant filed also referenced only TD Insurance when the denial letters bore the two trademarks of "TD Insurance Meloche Monnex" and the return address of Security National Insurance Company (see: affidavit #38, Exhibit "A" pages 31 to 45). Mr. Grant's explanation was that, after receiving the denial letters, which did not reference "TD Insurance" (or TD General Insurance Company), that the information, in his view, provided in the Appeal, plus pre-pleading listed and attached documents, provided him with only two options for entry of the respondent party insurer, when SNIC was in the upper-right hand corner of each document along with the author being "TD Insurance Meloche Monnex", in: (i) TD General Insurance Company; or (ii) TD Home And Auto Insurance Company.

viii. Mr. Grant noted that "If there was a concern that the Security National Insurnace Company, not TDGIC, being named as the Respondent party, please advise if the parties agree that a change should be made. The Appellant sought TDGIC's consent, but it did not respond. It was not until after the Appellant found the FSRA enforcement decisions and Mr. Nieuwland's representation of SNIC in the Syed Decisions, could he disprove Mr. Nieuwland's representations that SNIC and TDGIC were one and the same and "this is how they always do it" [in relation to SNIC being the sole underwriter, responding insurance company et al and then TDGIC becoming the sole respondent]. The Appellant again sought the consent of TDGIC when he obtained the FSRA's confirmation that he could obtain status certificates at a cost for expedited receipt. TDGIC did not respond. It was not until after some six months of TDGIC refusing to be removed as the sole Respondent, and SNIC not responding to the overtures to be the sole respondent and opposing relief from the Appellant in motions and unlawfully appearing as the sole respondent at the case conference, that TDGIC, through Mr. Nieuwland confirmed in writing on June 6, 2024, that it would not oppose the Appellant's relief sought in NOM #8. The Appellant obtained those status certificates on June 19, 2024, and filed them with the Tribunal. On June 21, 2024, with a litany of reasons as to why SNIC was required to be the respondent instead of TDGIC, as TDHA was unknown to the Appellant, NOM #8 was granted in the Appellant's favour.

k. An Order that paragraph 23, > ix. sentence #1 is corrected from "Respondent's counsel" to "current respondent's counsel and former counsel to TDGIC", from "noting that he was representing the insurer "TDGIC" to "declaring that he was representing the insurer "TDGIC" but only after Mr. Karat, the ADR Specialist, who represented to the Appellant, on January 23, 2024, via email, with Mr. Nieuwland copied as "counsel", that he was assigned to be the ADR and representing the Security National Insurance Company, and then on January 25, 2024, Mr. Karat signed and filed the Response for SNIC ("SNIC Response") whilst serving the Appellant;

> x. sentence #2 is corrected by the removal of the entire sentence with the facts as above in substance subject to the writing style of Vice Chair or an adjudicator;

l. An Order that paragraph 24 is corrected to the following:

i. Sentence #2: removing the entire sentence and adding the following, "Consistent with the documents, the Appellant refuted Mr. Nieuwland's misrepresentations4 that SNIC and TDGIC were "one and the same" and that TD Insurance Staff Legal always substituted or changed the identity of TDGIC for SNIC in LAT proceedings, which was counter to the very representations Mr. Nieuwland made representing SNIC in those Syed Decisions in LAT file number:
ii. Sentence #4: changing the following from "dated June 20, 2024, and released the following day on Friday, June 21, 2024,"5 and from "on consent of the respondent" to "by email dated June 6, 2024, TDGIC, through Mr. Nieuwland, confirmed it [TDGIC] would not oppose the relief sought";
m. An Order the following sentences in paragraph #27 are amended as follows:
i. Sentence #2: changing from "The initial respondent, TDGIC, and the current respondent, SNIC accepted priority over the applicant's spouse's insurance policy"
n. An Order that the following paragraph 35, sentence two is amended as follows:
i. From "curtail" to "circumvent";6; and

10. (1) If an insurer who receives notice under section 3 disputes its obligation to pay benefits on the basis that other insurers, excluding the insurer giving notice, have equal or higher priority under section 268 of the Act, it shall give notice to the other insurers. O. Reg. 283/95, s. 10 (1).

(2) This Regulation applies to the other insurers given notice in the same way that it applies to the original insurer given notice under section 3. O. Reg. 283/95, s. 10 (2).

(3) The dispute among the insurers shall be resolved in one arbitration. O. Reg. 283/95, s. 10 (3).

11. References in this Regulation to a form approved by the Chief Executive Officer are deemed to include the last form approved by the Superintendent for the purposes of the relevant provision prior to the day section 22 of Schedule 13 to the Plan for Care and Opportunity Act (Budget Measures), 2018 came into force until the Chief Executive Officer approves a subsequent form for the purposes of the relevant provision. O. Reg. 126/19, s. 1.

APPENDIX #4: INSURANCE ACT, SECTIONS 224 AND 268

[SQUARE BRACKETS ARE THE APPLICANT'S]

PART VI
AUTOMOBILE INSURANCE

Interpretation, Part VI

224 (1) In this Part,

"statutory accident benefits" means the benefits set out in the regulations made under paragraphs 9 and 10 of subsection 121 (1); ("indemnités d'accident légales")

Fees and Regulations

Regulations

121 (1) The Lieutenant Governor in Council may make regulations,

9. establishing benefits for the purposes of Part VI that must be provided under contracts evidenced by motor vehicle liability policies and establishing terms, conditions, provisions, exclusions and limits related to such benefits;

10. requiring insurers to offer optional benefits in excess of the benefits that must be provided under paragraph 9 prescribing the circumstances in which the optional benefits are to be offered and establishing terms, conditions, provisions, exclusions and limits related to such benefits;

10.1 prescribing coverages and endorsements in respect of contracts of automobile insurance that insurers or a class of insurers are required to offer, deeming the benefits provided by the coverages and endorsements not to be statutory accident benefits for the purpose of Part VI, and prescribing the circumstances in which the coverages and endorsements shall be offered;

10.2 prescribing rules for interpreting the regulations made under paragraphs 9 and 10 or any provision of those regulations;

10.3 prescribing functions to be performed by a committee appointed under section 7;

10.4 governing the procedure for determining who is liable to pay statutory accident benefits under section 268, including requiring insurers to resolve disputes about liability through an arbitration process established by the regulations and requiring the interim payment of benefits pending the determination of liability;

[nota bene: subsection 10.4 is yet another example of how the Legislature provided an extremely broad grant of authority to the LGIC for governing the procedure of determining how insurers are liable to pay SABS under section 268 which then dovetails to Reg 263]

Statutory accident benefits

268 (1) Every contract evidenced by a motor vehicle liability policy, including every such contract in force when the Statutory Accident Benefits Schedule is made or amended, shall be deemed to provide for the statutory accident benefits set out in the Schedule and any amendments to the Schedule, subject to the terms, conditions, provisions, exclusions and limits set out in that Schedule. 1993, c. 10, s. 26 (1).

Liability to pay

(2) The following rules apply for determining who is liable to pay statutory accident benefits:

1. In respect of an occupant of an automobile,

i. the occupant has recourse against the insurer of an automobile in respect of which the occupant is an insured,

ii. if recovery is unavailable under subparagraph i, the occupant has recourse against the insurer of the automobile in which he or she was an occupant,

iii. if recovery is unavailable under subparagraph i or ii, the occupant has recourse against the insurer of any other automobile involved in the incident from which the entitlement to statutory accident benefits arose,

iv. if recovery is unavailable under subparagraph i, ii or iii, the occupant has recourse against the Motor Vehicle Accident Claims Fund.

Liability

(3) An insurer against whom a person has recourse for the payment of statutory accident benefits is liable to pay the benefits. R.S.O. 1990, c. I.8, s. 268 (3); 1993, c. 10, s. 1.[111]

Choice of insurer

(4) If, under subparagraph i or iii of paragraph 1 ……. of subsection (2), a person has recourse against more than one insurer for the payment of statutory accident benefits, the person, in his or her absolute discretion, may decide the insurer from which he or she will claim the benefits

[nota bene: upon Mr. McLean's discovery of whom the First Insurer (TDHA) was, he, at law, only has recourse against one insurer and that is TDHA per se. To the extent that Mr. McLean has recourse against more than one insurer, it is only the obligation to pay benefits (see: Beasley and Jia) which triggers the fiduciary duties owed by an insurance company to him. It would be against his own self-interest, as a matter of law, to choose an insurer which does not have a duty to respond and pay. It is not a matter of contract but a matter of statute and regulations. Moreover, the duties of the insurer that first received the Completed Application are also delineated and detailed in the OCF-1 itself which also dovetail to PIPEDA. Mr. McLean has not and is not revoking his consent to TDHA having received the same but that has provided notice to it that it must comply with its oblgiations therein as a matter of law or "by law" which are under the following: (i) Insurance Act; (ii) Legislation Act; (iii) SPPA; (iv) PIPEDA; and regulations: (i) Reg 283; (iii) *SABS*s et al.

Same

(5) Despite subsection (4), if a person is a named insured under a contract evidenced by a motor vehicle liability policy or the person is the spouse or a dependant, as defined in the Statutory Accident Benefits Schedule, of a named insured, the person shall claim statutory accident benefits against the insurer under that policy. 1993, c. 10, s. 26 (2); 1999, c. 6, s. 31 (9); 2005, c. 5, s. 35 (13).

Same

(5.1) Subject to subsection (5.2), if there is more than one insurer against which a person may claim benefits under subsection (5), the person, in his or her discretion, may decide the insurer from which he or she will claim the benefits. 1993, c. 10, s. 26 (2).

Same

(5.2) If there is more than one insurer against which a person may claim benefits under subsection (5) and the person was, at the time of the incident, an occupant of an automobile in respect of which the person is the named insured or the spouse or a dependant of the named insured, the person shall claim statutory accident benefits against the insurer of the automobile in which the person was an occupant. 1993, c. 10, s. 26 (2); 1999, c. 6, s. 31 (10); 2005, c. 5, s. 35 (14).

[nota bene: There is no dispute that Mr. McLean attempted to claim benefits from SNIC but he nearly did not receive his accident benefits package by an incorrect postal code therein whilst his spouse did receive the same. Moreover, he did attempt to claim benefits from SNIC but it was intentional redirection, by way of fax number and potentially address (mailing), to a "different insurance company(ies)"

Payments pending dispute resolution

(8) Where the Statutory Accident Benefits Schedule provides that the insurer will pay a particular statutory accident benefit pending resolution of any dispute between the insurer and an insured, the insurer shall pay the benefit until the dispute is resolved. R.S.O. 1990, c. I.8, s. 268 (8); 1993, c. 10, s. 1.

[nota bene: said subsection 268(8) was passed in 1990 and amended in 1993 which predated Reg 283 in its initial form and certainly well before its "amended form" in 2010. Nonetheless, a breach of SABS and Reg 283 is legally equivalent in the year of 2024 so said section overrides the above subsections 268(5) as that is a contractual (policy) issue. By the VCM Decision, paragraph 27, her finding that TDGIC, as the "initial respondent" [sic] and SNIC accepted priority over the applicant's [sic] insurance policy invokes the analysis of priority and not an insurance policy because priority cannot be decided in relation to an insurance policy per se when there is only one insurer. It certainly cannot add a "party" (i.e. language of "First Party Insurer" under Reg 664 which is distinct from Reg 283 with "First Insurer") to a contract WITHOUT the consent of a party to the Insurance Policy. Moreover, while the Applicant was statutorily deemed to have given consideration therefor under the Insurance Policy, the adding of an additional insurance company to a contract would have required the consent of all parties to that contract with "new consideration" or "additional consideration". Therefore, while subsection 2.1 of Reg 283, passed in 2010, is more analytically relevant to this JRPA Application, TDHA is still obligated to pay the benefits to the Applicant pursuant to section 2(1) of Reg 283).

APPENDIX #5: Changes to Ontario Regulation 283/95: Disputes Between Insurers
Bulletin No. A-07/10 – Auto Property & Casualtyhttps://www.fsrao.ca/media/7866/download

With this Bulletin, the Financial Services Commission of Ontario (FSCO) is highlighting the recent changes to Ontario Regulation 283/95: Disputes Between Insurers, to ensure compliance by all insurers. The changes are effective September 1, 2010. Background Ontario Regulation 283/95 sets out a mandatory process for private arbitration of all disputes between insurers over which insurer is liable to pay accident benefits to a claimant. This regulation is intended to ensure that claimants receive accident benefits (e.g., medical and income replacement benefits) in a timely fashion while these disputes are being resolved. Ontario Regulation 283/95 was established in 1995 following several years of experience with the no-fault accident benefits system. During the past several years, a number of procedural issues and disputes over the interpretation of Ontario Regulation 283/95 have led to delays in paying claimants' benefits. In addition, the Motor Vehicle Accident Claims Fund (MVACF) has frequently had to get involved to ensure that benefit payments to injured persons were not delayed – even if a private insurer was obliged to make the payments. As part of the automobile insurance reforms which resulted from FSCO's Five Year Review of Automobile Insurance, effective September 1, 2010 Ontario Regulation 283/95 is amended by Ontario Regulation 38/10. These amendments were made to ensure that claims are not deflected and that claimants receive payments without delay in cases where there may be a dispute regarding which insurer is liable to pay statutory accident benefits. Insurers that do not comply with this regulation will be subject to appropriate

Key Regulation Changes 1. Deflection of Applications for Accident Benefits a) Upon request, an insurer must provide a claimant timely access to OCF-1: Application for Accident Benefits (OCF-1 application). (Section 2.1(2)) Individuals who are injured in automobile accidents often contact the insurance company that they believe is liable to pay accident benefits before they complete and send their OCF-1 application to the insurer. In many cases, claimants are not aware of the priority rules that determine which insurer is liable to pay them benefits. The Statutory Accident Benefits Schedule (SABS) requires an insurer to provide an OCF-1 application to an injured person who expresses an intention to make a claim for benefits. This requirement is now reinforced by section 2.1(2) of Ontario Regulation 283/95. b) An insurer must not impede claimants from submitting OCF-1 applications or redirect them to other insurers or the MVACF. (Section 2.1(5)) When a claimant first contacts an insurer following an accident, it is not always clear, based on information reported by the claimant, if that insurer is responsible for paying the accident benefits in accordance with the priority rules. It is inappropriate for the insurer to discourage the injured person from filing an OCF-1 application, for example on the grounds that there is no insurance coverage (e.g., due to a cancelled insurance policy), or that there is another insurer to whom the person should make his or her claim. Insurers must provide claimants who express an intention to make an accident benefits claim with an OCF-1 application and not direct them to file it with MVACF or another insurer. Section 2.1(5) of Ontario Regulation 283/95 prohibits the deflection of OCF-1 applications. This includes deflection on the grounds that it is not clear which insurer is required to pay accident benefits. c) The first insurer that receives an OCF-1 application must pay accident benefits in accordance with the SABS. (Section 2.1(6)) In order to prevent delays in payments, Ontario Regulation 283/95 requires the first insurer that receives a completed OCF-1 application to pay the accident benefits, as long as the claimant meets the requirements of the SABS. Although an insurer may believe that it is not responsible for paying accident benefits under the priority rules, the process to transfer, dispute and recover paid benefits is set out in Ontario Regulation 283/95. d) An insurer that fails to comply with this section will reimburse the MVACF or another insurer all related legal fees, administrative costs and disbursements. (Section 2.1(7) Section 2.1 (7) has been added to Ontario Regulation 283/95 to confirm the ability to recover costs incurred by the MVACF or an insurer in the administration of a claim (including adjusting costs) from the non-compliant insurer. 2. Definitions of "First Insurer" and "Completed Application" Several amendments are intended to provide clarity on issues that have arisen since the release of Ontario Regulation 283/95 in 1995; such as what is a "first insurer" and "completed application". a) A "completed application" is defined as a completed and signed OCF-1 application. (Section 0.1) b)The insurer that first receives a completed OCF-1 application is the "first insurer" for the purposes of Ontario Regulation 283/95. (Section 2.1(6)) A "first insurer" may not refuse to respond to the application on the basis that the application is not from an "insured person", or that there was no relevant policy in place on the date of the accident (e.g., the insurance policy was cancelled, expired or never existed). c) The applicant shall complete the OCF-1 application that is provided by the insurer and send it to only one insurance company. (Section 2.1(4)) Claimants are required to submit a completed OCF-1 application to only one insurer. This is intended to avoid potential disputes over which insurer first received a completed application, rather than creating confusion by submitting OCF-1 applications to more than one insurer. 3. Time Limitations for Notifying Other Insurers of Liability a) Before initiating a dispute against the MVACF, an insurer is required to complete a reasonable investigation to determine if any other insurer(s) is/are liable to pay benefits in priority to the MVACF and provide the MVACF with the particulars and results of the investigation. (Section 3.1(2)(a) and (b)) Section 3 of Ontario Regulation 283/95 provides the first insurer 90 days from the receipt of the completed application to conduct a reasonable investigation. This time frame allows the insurer to conduct an investigation to determine whether another insurer is liable to pay benefits, and to deliver written notice to other insurers if it believes they are liable to pay for accident benefits under the priority rules. Ontario Regulation 283/95 provides an extension beyond 90 days only if the first insurer has made reasonable investigation of the claim but cannot reach a decision within the 90-day period. Section 3.1 requires an insurer that wishes to put the MVACF on notice of a dispute to first complete a reasonable investigation and provide the results of the investigation to the MVACF.

Due to the unique nature of the claims that are submitted directly to the MVACF, in many cases another policy is discovered only after an extended period of investigation. As a result, this time limit does not apply to OCF-1 applications that are submitted first to the MVACF. (Section 3(2.1)) To facilitate the early resolution of disputes between insurers, a dispute about which insurer is responsible for payments must go to arbitration within one year of providing notice to the other insurer. See section 7 for the specific rules that need to be followed. Enforcement Note that in addition to sections 2.1(7) and 7 (6), actions contrary to Ontario Regulation 283/95 will be subject to appropriate enforcement or regulatory action in accordance with section 441 of the Insurance Act and Ontario Regulation 7/00: Unfair or Deceptive Acts or Practices. Publication of Arbitration Decisions involving Disputes Between Insurers Amendments to Ontario Regulation 283/95 have been made to ensure that arbitration decisions involving disputes between insurers are both timely and publicly available. The amendments require the insurer that is found by the arbitrator to be liable to pay benefits to make the arbitrator's decision public in a manner and form specified by the Superintendent. (Section 8(4)) The specified form and the process by which insurers will need to comply with this requirement will be the subject of a future Property & Casualty – Auto Bulletin. Effective Date The effective date of the Ontario Regulation 283/95 amendments is September 1, 2010. All insurers need to ensure that their claims and underwriting staff, plus any other staff who may be affected by these amendments, are informed of these changes. In addition, insurers are to ensure that they make any operational changes needed to implement the reforms by the effective date. Ordinarily an affected individual must pursue these remedies before seeking relief from the court. The Federal Court of Appeal has endorsed this approach as well in Dugré v Canada (Attorney General), 2021 FCA 8, at para 37, framing the rule against prematurity, or interlocutory relief, as "next to absolute".).

[23]Herein, a multiplicity of proceedings will be avoided and the law will be clarified and settled, while avoiding a return by this Applicant to make the same arguments that he would even if all of his benefits and quantum were found in his favour because the wrong party would be liable for the same and required to respond post-facto the conclusion of the Hearing Proper. In this regard, the Applicant herein confirms, by his authorized signature, that he would bring the same JRPA Application and he respectfully submits that the principle of mootness, cited by the SCC in Borowski, would not be applicable because the important legal issues would not only not be decided but the decision of the LAT would be in conflict with the governing statutes, governing regulations and its own LAT Rules.

It does not reference this court's jurisdiction or address why the Application was not brought before a single judge of the Divisional Court, sitting as a judge of the Superior Court of Justice.

[25]SNIC and Primmum operate under the trade name, which is a combination of two registered trademarks in "TD Insurance Meloche Monnex", with the 'TD Insurance" owned by TD Bank and the Meloche Monnex owned by Meloche Monnex Inc. SNIC issues automobile (and home) insurance policies to alumni of various universities and those part of professional associations (the "Alumni Professional Program"). Primmum issues insurance policies to "employer groups".

[26]TDGIC issues insurance policies, by part of its namesake, to the "general public". Toronto has 416 area code landline telephone and fax numbers but not 905 telephone and fax numbers, and Burlington (and Markham) have 905 landline telephone and fax numbers but not 416 numbers. Mr. James V. Russell was appointed as the CEO of "TD Insurance Group" in the 2010's, and one of his stated goals was to increase the market share for "TD General" (TDGIC). This evidence provides the motive for why SNIC would allow TDGIC to be substituted for it during the LAT Proceeding without the name of TDGIC ever being present in a single communication since the MVA date of loss (the "Date Of Loss" or "DOL").

[27]If an Insured Person, who is also an injured person and often a lay litigant encountering the complexities of a SABS claim, may not keep completely accurate records of each and every fax that she has sent to an insurance company, the purported liable insurer can claim that it does not have the documents to which an injured person claims to have sent. In fact, herein this occurred with the initial adjuster for SNIC in Ms. Nurse claiming to not have certain documents that the Applicant delivered via fax. The Applicant obviously not your quintessential lay litigant had everything reduced to paper copy and saved in binders along with cloud storage whilst using an e-fax number. Affidavit #3 is an example of that attention to detail and record-keeping.

[56]wherein he overturned the decision of the adjudicator in the initial decision
[57]In this JRPA Application, the issue of whether a lawyer like Mr. Nieuwland could act for TDGIC for six months then act for SNIC when NOM #8 was granted in the Applicant's favour, despite six months of opposition and then non-opposition [not consent], thereafter, is not at issue per se. However, the backdrop regarding the same is an important one.
[58]What about, as a "test case", the duties of insurance companies (and their counsel) in relation to their holding, controlling and/or possession (solely, jointly or constructively) that are: (i) neither an underwriter nor a First Insurer, and masquerade as the liable insurance company in the LAT Proceeding; (ii) the obligations of a First Insurer who remains anonymous until effectively caught as having the mailing address and/or fax number that provides unequivocal proof that it was a First Insurer; and (iii) the obligations of an underwriter, who was not the First Insurer, who carries on as the solely liable insurance company but then does not participate after filing the sole Response, pursuant to section 280(2) of the Insurance Act, in a LAT proceeding?
[59]Pursuant to section 280(1) of the Insurance Act, "this section applies with respect to the resolution of disputes in respect of an insured person's entitlement to statutory accident benefits or in respect of the amount of statutory accident benefits to which an insured person is entitled." Pursuant to ss. 280(2) of the Insurance Act, "The insured person or the insurer may apply to the Licence Appeal Tribunal to resolve a dispute described in subsection (1)". No person may bring a proceeding in any court with respect to a dispute described in subsection (1), other than an appeal from a decision of the Licence Appeal Tribunal or an application for judicial review: ss. 280(3) of the Insurance Act. The dispute shall be resolved in accordance with the Statutory Accident Benefits Schedule

[61](see: "statutory accident benefits" mean the benefits set out in the regulations made under paragraphs 9 and 10 of subsection 121 (1) of the Insurance Act; see: section 121(a): "121 (1) The Lieutenant Governor in Council may make regulations").
[62]The Applicant notified SNIC, pursuant to the Schedule, s. 32, in early September 2022, that he wished to apply for benefits making SNIC not only the Sole Underwriter but the First Notified Insurer.
[63]The Applicant, in his capacity as a SABS applicant, sent the Completed Application [OCF-1] to the North York Fax Number on October 12, 2022. Ergo, at law, the SABS Applicant sent, or "served" only one Completed Application to only one insurer in TDHA. TDHA was the sole insurer that first received (the "First Insurer") the SABS* Applicant's Completed Application.
[64]In fact, and at law, SNIC did not stop the Applicant from submitting his Completed Application to TDHA in that it provided him with the TDHA Fax Number. It is the word "accept" that is so pivotal in this JRPA* Application by VCM's choice of language at paragraph 27 therein.
[65]"first party insurer" means the insurer responsible under subsection 268 (2) of the Act for the payment of statutory accident benefits; ("assureur de première part"): Automobile Insurance, RRO 1990, Reg 664, s 9, <https://canlii.ca/t/tlw#sec9>,
[66]The word "accept" is of great importance considering the finding by VCM, without any evidence in the record of proceeding to support the same, that TDGIC and SNIC jointly accepted priority of the Applicant's [sic] insurance policy [sic] (see: paragraph 27 of the VCM Decision).
[67]As SNIC was the Sole Underwriter in the Insurance Policy, the Applicant has alleged that SNIC (as First Notified Insurer) breached section 2.1(5) of Reg 283 by taking action, with intent (as it knew that its fax number was not the North York Office Fax Number), to prevent or stop the Applicant from submitting his Completed OCF-1 to it [SNIC] as it is an out-of-province insurer.
[68]In relation to the lack of promptness, SNIC somehow sent the Applicant's accident benefits package to the wrong postal code address yet his Spouse received her accident benefits package to the correct postal code when they lived in the same residence
[69]Further, the Applicant provided uncontroverted evidence that SNIC failed to provide its correct facsimile address in the Completed Application but instead provided the fax number of TDHA and thereby breached subsection 2.1(3) of Reg 283.
[70]Reimbursement by the non-compliant insurer during the period of non-compliance (see: ss. 2.1(7) of Reg 283): (i) legal fees; (ii) adjuster's fees; (iii) administrative costs; and (iv) disbursements
[71]Subsection 2.1 of Reg 283 applies to this judicial review as the Accident occurred on August 31, 2022, which was after September 1, 2010.
[72]Whether SNIC was to remain for costs purposes in the McLean LAT Proceeding was a matter of discretion, but the sole respondent insurance company as a matter of obligations under Reg 283, SABS and Reg 664 was not. However, the Applicant's argument was encapsulated by a rhetorical question: why should he not have any ability to seek costs against SNIC for its conduct in the LAT Proceeding that he alleged and alleges was unreasonable, frivolous, and in bad faith? Costs are not a matter that relate to the Insurance Act, and the binding regulations herein (SABS and Reg 283), as the Tribunal passed them under a different statute: section 17.1 of the SPPA. Put another way, is the Applicant's time not worth anything when it required hundreds of hours to obtain the order in NOM #8?
[73]Even when the OCF-19 was fax delivered, in November 2023, to the VP Bldg. 4th Floor Fax Number, and when SNIC's fax number (Burlington 905 Fax Number) was blocking the same, SNIC responded by misidentifying one of the legal tests for a duly completed OCF-19 and merely enclosed a copy of a blank OCF-19. Moreover, when considering the Forged Signature in the OCF-18, last page only, it could not have been SNIC, although it appeared that way in HCAI by insurer name but NOT physical address, with the "As per A. Nurse", it was TDHA's address (East Mall Etobicoke Address) that received the duly completed OCF-18 at first instance. Perhaps, this is why Ms. Nurse, an adjuster, was not amenable to executing the same.
[74]The same would have been applicable to TD Staff Legal and Mr. Nieuwland with its fax and his listed fax number with the LSO. Said unappealed findings are determinative that neither SNIC nor TDGIC were the First Insurers by way of the fax served Completed Application upon the 4th Floor VP Building Fax Number which was TDHA.
[75]"If the Licence Appeal Tribunal finds that an insurer has unreasonably withheld or delayed payments, the Licence Appeal Tribunal, in addition to awarding the benefits and interest to which an insured person is entitled under the Statutory Accident Benefits Schedule, may award a lump sum of up to 50 per cent of the amount to which the person was entitled at the time of the award together with interest on all amounts then owing to the insured (including unpaid interest) at the rate of 2 per cent per month, compounded monthly, from the time the benefits first became payable under the Schedule. O. Reg. 43/16, s. 4.".

[77]It is trite that while the Tribunal is required to determine whether Mr. McLean was entitled to certain benefits and in what amounts, it also must determine which insurance company was and is liable for certain benefits and at what times. It can only do that if that the First Insurer is found to be TDHA and that decision must come from the ONSC.
[78] There was no evidence and none in the Application Record that TDHA, or any insurer, ever did so. Even on the convoluted, tortuous, unsupported and absurd logic of VCM that SNIC and TDGIC accepted priority over the Insurance Policy, there was some form of "transfer of the claim" to TDGIC which would have required notice to, at least, TDGIC and the SABS Applicant. No evidence was ever provided of such written notice to either.
[79]Mr. McLean was also entitled to object to SNIC (and TDGIC as he had done previously) having any control or possession of his TD Claim #3 relating to "confidential information" and documents not subsequently received by it in accordance with standardized language in the OCF-1 and PIPEDA. There is no dispute that TD Claim #3 was transferred from TDHA to TDGIC and SNIC. SNIC claimed to have received documents but not directly from the Applicant. SNIC purported to respond or did respond to the Applicant in relation to some communications but not all communications. TDGIC then surfaced at the LAT Proceeding but only after inclusion by the Tribunal without the consent of the Applicant or without any legal authority. SNIC filed its Response ("SNIC Response") on January 25, 2024, and then Mr. Nieuwland filed a DOR on behalf of TDGIC – not SNIC. The charade continued for six months until Mr. McLean, relying on Mr. Nieuwland's misrepresentations in non-transcribed case conference, which was yet another irremediable nullity and without statutory power as TDGIC was a non-party, that SNIC and TDGIC were "one and the same" and "this is how we always do it" (in relation to TDGIC being some sort of insurance company that came "off the bench" to provide a "spark" to the "defence" for SNIC as if it were some kind of sporting event). While there is no dispute of some form of transfer from TDHA to SNIC and, of course, with some unknown terms and conditions involving TDGIC on some basis perhaps on a joint level but more likely some form of "staggered interventions" based on unknown terms and conditions in this "subsequent clandestine agreement", there are no particulars in the decision of VCM. Moreover, any such transfer was without notice to Mr. McLean, and without compliance with Reg 283. The scheme of Reg 283 requires substantive and procedural compliance and TDHA along with SNIC and TDGIC intentionally breached Reg 283 without any form of attempt to cure the same. The required FSRA form did not matter to TDHA. The closest evidence that this ONSC has is a fax from an unknown fax number to Mr. McLean that TDHA had no record of his claim as of March 2023 (and then another letter in August 2024 albeit after NOM #14 and NOM #15). It was a fax without any semblance of compliance with Reg 283, and SABS to some degree, and the FSRA Form 143. It directed Mr. McLean to other fax numbers in Calgary, Montreal, New Brunswick and Burlington without reference to any insurance company. Mr. McLean was entitled, after lengthy investigation and fortuitous discoveries, was entitled to object and required to bring the issue forward as to TDHA not complying with its duties to respond and to pay benefits as the First Insurer.
[80]Due to the public importance of the issues herein, the Applicant respectfully, yet forcefully, notes that the LGIC did not create any ability for an insured person (applicant) to consent or sanitize the breaches that have occurred herein. Put another way, the LGIC did not pass any provisions that would authorize an insured person to sanitize or remedy such clandestine breaches to provide post-facto consideration that cure such non-compliance with Reg 283. Therefore, this undisclosed agreement by the respondent insurance companies, known to the Tribunal but not the Applicant, has no legal force or effect. The purposes of the inflexible prescribed regulations are to promote compliance with the statutory scheme and not to assist insurance companies and insured persons in isolated incidents so that an "insured person" can assist delinquent and felonious activities. To not set aside the VCM Decision and replace it with a correct decision, while the ONSC commences ab initio, would represent a precedent that contains a "slippery slope". Perhaps, "insurance companies" like this collection of respondent insurance companies may send a late notice with a semi-contemporaneous phone call to an insured person that may be in the form of a bribe so that the "checks and balances" of various regulatory bodies (FSRA, LSO, OPCC et al) do not catch "wind of the unlawful scheme".
[81][3] .... The test for res judicata was applied by the Adjudicator as follows (Decision, para. 12). In my view, the four preconditions for res judicata are satisfied. The parties are the same in both proceedings. The prior claim was within the jurisdiction of the Tribunal. The decision in the first application was based on the merits. The Tribunal reviewed the submissions and evidence and found that the applicant was not entitled to the IRB or found that the applicant was not entitled to IRBs for the period of January 14, 2020 to date and ongoing. Moreover, he was not entitled to payment for the November 9, 2019 accounting report. The first decision was a final decision because he did not file a reconsideration request and nor did he appeal the decision.
[5] A LAT decision is final and authoritative, subject to a party's rights of reconsideration or appeal from that decision. A party that disagrees with a LAT decision may not ignore that decision and recommence the same claims all over again. That is what the Appellant has done in this case. Even if the LAT erred in the first decision and decided the case on the basis of an issue that was not before it, that error would not have deprived the LAT of jurisdiction. The LAT's second decision is correct in law; this appeal fails on the merits.

[84]It is trite that the Sheriffs in Ontario operate in different jurisdictions. TDHA's known address, when utilizing the fax number (landline phone number) of 416.774.3120, was that of 4th floor of the VP Building (North York) which is in the City of Toronto. The Tribunal found that SNIC's address for service in the LAT Proceeding was that of the Burlington Office Building (5th floor) which was tied to the 905 Fax Number. This was consistent, albeit absent the floor number, to SNIC's "switch" or "change" from the Markham Office Address to the Burlington Office Address which was only after the Applicant received the March 2023 fax that an unknown insurance company, presumably TDHA, did NOT have any record of his TD Claim #3 after responding to one of his earlier faxes to 416.774.3120. Further, the Tribunal found repeatedly that TDGIC's address was 9th floor-3650 Victoria Park Avenue, North York, Toronto, Ontario, with a fax number of 416.774.3629. Therefore, the Applicant could be wedged in an unsolvable, unfathomable and impenetrable conundrum and a perjury trap. In relation to the latter, if the Applicant was required to swear evidence for the Sheriff regarding enforcement of an order against SNIC, it would force Mr. McLean into a "perjury trap".

[85]This ONSC can take judicial notice that SNIC and TDGIC could not even correctly represent the amount of benefits paid to the Applicant in May 2024 which leaves only one other insurance company, by reference to the fax number of 416.774.3120, that would correctly know the same.

[96]Of note, the Applicant is not challenging the decision of the Tribunal that did not find a reasonably perceived conflict of interest as a preliminary issue therein but rather he is challenging the decisions and orders of VCM that did not add TDHA as a party – at the very least so the Applicant could advance the argument of which insurance company was liable to respond and pay benefits. Since SNIC was and is not the First Insurer, as, in fact, found by the Tribunal or not found to not be, and TDGIC was already removed by non-opposition by TDGIC, then it leaves Primmum and SNIC. Primmum and SNIC have a bond with respect to the "TD Insurance Meloche Monnex" programs. The only insurance company in the TDI Group that was located at the Material Time at the VP Building with the fax of 416.774.3120 was TDHA. Former case manager Mr. Grant even admitted, on May 6, 2024, as a matter of optics, how the Tribunal viewed "TD Insurance" as being one of two companies: (i) TDGIC; and (ii) TDHA.

The investigation was conducted in accordance with the provisions of section 10.4 of the Act." A key duty of government officials is to interact with citizens. The Lobbying Act ensures that Canadians and public office holders know who is communicating with the government and on what subject.
[102]While similar fact evidence is presumptively inadmissible and must be pleaded in civil court proceedings, being one of the exceptions to pleading evidence, this was not a court proceeding and the probative value of the similar fact evidence of an adjudicator and Vice Chair who is fashioning decisions with pejorative language, slights at the Applicant, and sanctimoniously accusing him of abusing the process. The VCM Decision almost rings in a covert threat to stay away from "pandora's box". For the Court's edification, Mr. McLean doubled down on his FIPPA request including Mr. Sean Weir, Executive Chair of Tribunals Ontario, but without a response. He then tripled down by including the Attorney General Of Ontario in Mr. Downey as the LAT is a body of MAG and based on the recent, publicly available, MOU, Mr. Weir was delegated the authority of an "institutional head" by the AGO. How shameful can it get when the LAT requests payment of fees to obtain records and has 30 days to provide a response, then does not provide one, then the adolescent excuses flowed with "technical difficulties" and then stonewalling. It may perhaps be a fresh evidence matter. The conduct involving Ms. Morrissette was of such a serious nature that one Ms. Shephard had to immediately suspend her investigation and refer the matter to the Royal Canadian Mounted Police: "An administrative review concerning this matter was opened in February of 2015. It involved interviews, a review of correspondence and other materials and an examination of Ms. Trina Morissette's work on behalf of the Canadian Red Cross (CRC). In November of 2015, I opened an investigation based upon information provided to me in an administrative review report prepared by the Investigations Directorate of my Office. In accordance with subsection 10.4(8)[102] of the Act, I immediately suspended my investigation and referred this matter to the Royal Canadian Mounted Police (RCMP), as I had reasonable grounds to believe that a breach of the Lobbying Act had occurred. In December of 2016, I was informed by the RCMP following their investigation that no charges would be laid in the matter. The RCMP had determined that it was not in the public interest to prosecute Ms. Morissette." The RCMP did not find that she had not breached the Criminal Code, which is an astonishing matter considering it involved Ms. Morrissette's activities as a lobbyist for a well-known charity in the Red Cross, but it was not in the public interest to prosecute. That is an entirely different finding than there were not reasonable and probable grounds to charge. Ms. Morrissette was subject to the five-year prohibition and restrictions on lobbying after being a designated public office holder which implies that she had a role in government prior to her switch to the charitable activities of the CRC. "Prior to starting work as the CRC's manager of Government Relations in 2014, Ms. Morissette had worked as a member of a federal minister's staff from 2009 to 2013. Her final day as a member of a minister's staff was on June 14, 2013Investigator Shephard found: "I have concluded that Ms. Morissette was in breach of Rule 2 (Accurate Information) of the Lobbyists' Code of Conduct (1997), as well as the Principles of Professionalism and Integrity and Honesty in the Code." There are some obvious inaccuracies in the VCM Decision and she was given a chance to correct the same by the Applicant's section 21.1 of the SPPA motion and she has apparently decided not to correct the same despite carrying on with other rulings in this LAT Proceeding. It would quite one thing if VCM cross-referenced her findings to evidence in the record of proceeding or even an email that she found between Mr. Grant and another individual or representative of @tdinsurance.com but there is not even a scintilla of the same. Under the "Lessons Learned", Investigator Shepard found: "the purpose of the five-year prohibition is to ensure that designated public office holders do not use information and personal connections derived from those positions to the advantage of interests that they lobby on behalf of. This is in the public interest because it ensures that Canadians can have confidence in the integrity of government decision-making." LAT is a body of government and the MAG no less. It is where this court has to exercise its supervisory jurisdiction to ensure the conduct of VCM and to some extent VCL, who was on notice of a potential conflict of interest relayed to one Mr. Grant but then snapped out a decision in relation to NOM #7 and then was presumed gone until October 2024, is realigned with the integrity and professionalism requirements of a decision maker with the Tribunal. However, lobbying public office holders should be done in a transparent manner and in conformity with high standards of conduct (see: Investigator Shepard). The same applies to the decision-making process of the LAT. She worked for the CRC for approximately 16 months as she returned to the Minister of Health in late 2014. It is unclear if she was fired. Pursuant to subsection 10.11(1) of the Lobbying Act, when Ms. Morissette ceased being a designated public office holder from 2013 until her return to work as a ministerial exempt staff in October of 2014, she was subject to the prohibition on lobbying. As of November 2017, she no longer worked in the public sector, "Ms. Morissette no longer works in the public sector". However, she returned to the provincial public sector at some point thereafter by of being an adjudicator at LAT. "Although officials of the Canadian Red Cross and Ms. Morissette indicated that her position with the CRC was initially to be "behind the scenes," they recalled having discussed the topic of lobbying during her interview. Once she was employed by the CRC, Ms. Morissette was asked to lobby on behalf of the organization. In fact, the CRC submitted monthly communication reports in the Registry of Lobbyists for meetings in which Ms. Morissette was the only representative of the organization. Ms. Morissette's employment description, the CRC letter of disclosure to the OCL and other information obtained during the investigation indicate that, on the occasions when Ms. Morissette communicated with designated public office holders, she did so on behalf of her employer, the CRC." "Although officials of the Canadian Red Cross and Ms. Morissette indicated that her position with the CRC was initially to be "behind the scenes," they recalled having discussed the topic of lobbying during her interview. Once she was employed by the CRC, Ms. Morissette was asked to lobby on behalf of the organization. In fact, the CRC submitted monthly communication reports in the Registry of Lobbyists for meetings in which Ms. Morissette was the only representative of the organization. Ms. Morissette's employment description, the CRC letter of disclosure to the OCL and other information obtained during the investigation indicate that, on the occasions when Ms. Morissette communicated with designated public office holders, she did so on behalf of her employer, the CRC. "In her letter of response to me, she acknowledged her obligations as a former designated public office holder and recognized that there could be consequences arising from her mistake. She confirmed that once she discovered that she had made an error [sic] regarding the application of the five-year prohibition to her, she took steps to remedy her error. She offered to disclose the fact of her error to my Office, and she offered to resign as an employee of the CRC." It is unclear whether that offer came to fruition. "When Ms. Morissette provided information about the Lobbying Act to the Canadian Red Cross, relying, in part, on her own interpretation of the Lobbying Act, Ms. Morissette provided information that was inaccurate to her employer. Ms. Morissette did not use proper care to avoid providing that inaccurate information regarding the application of the five-year prohibition on lobbying. As a result, Ms. Morissette was in breach of Rule 2 (Accurate information) of the Lobbyists' Code of Conduct." Vice Chair Morrissette has been given a chance to clarity and correct errors in the VCM Decisions but she has not done so. The fact that her decision was apparently dated on September 6, 2024, being the same date as the Applicant paying fees to the LAT privacy division is rather ironic and suspicious considering the decision is signed on September 12, 2024. Following Ms. Morissette's inquiries to the OCL concerning the application of the five-year prohibition to her lobbying activities, Ms. Morissette continued to engage in lobbying."" By engaging in registrable lobbying activity while prohibited from lobbying under the Lobbying Act, Ms. Morissette did not observe the highest professional and ethical standards. The breach of Rule 2 (Accurate information) and of the prohibition on lobbying do not meet the high standards for lobbyists that are necessary to ensure Canadians that lobbying is conducted transparently and ethically in accordance with the Lobbying Act. As a result, Ms. Morissette was in breach of the Principle of Professionalism in the Code.

[110] R.M. v CAA Insurance, 2020 CanLII 94775 (ON LAT), <https://canlii.ca/t/jbwwr>, retrieved on 2024-12-10
[111][nota bene: TDHA is an insurer. Mr. McLean has recourse for the payment of SABS against TDHA as TDHA is bound by Reg 283. A breach of Reg 283 is legally equivalent to a breach of SABS. Moreover, various sections of SABS reference the "first insurer" (i.e. receipt of the Completed Application) which imposed, and continues to impose obligations upon TDHA, to: (i) respond; and (ii) pay.

[112]TDHA: October 13, 2022, by way of fax from Mr. McLean to TDHA albeit unbeknownst to him until August 2024
[113]In this hypothetical, it would have been TDHA
[114]Singular
[115]Duty to pay, albeit the updated A07 Bulleting from 2010 (May) which was the bases for the amendments to Reg 283 in 2010 includes the duty to respond.
[116]In this hypothetical, it would have been McLean
[117]Based upon the VCM Decision, paragraph 27, it would have been a dispute between TDHA, as First Insurer, and SNIC, the Sole Underwriter and First Notified Insurer, and TDGIC, neither an underwriter nor a First Insurer and not even a First Notified Insurer but a "Fictitious Respondent" in the LAT Proceeding.
[118]One of three
[119]THE INSURER: TDHA
[120]Not "having already been transferred after October 13, 2022"
[121]Transfer of a claim objection rights
[122]Had TDHA sent the notice, then it would have been SNIC that was paying at the time, so it would have been a challenge to SNIC paying while TDHA was the First Insurer
[123]The LAT Proceeding is "any proceeding". The JRPA Application is "any proceeding". Although Mr. McLean did not have any "claim transfer objection rights" as TDHA failed to extend the same to him. Moreover, Mr. McLean did not have any "proceeding participation rights" as it relates to any potential arbitration before an arbitration pursuant to the Ontario legislation or statute known as the "Arbitration Act, 1991". Moreover, TDHA could not advance an arbitration without having paid any benefits to Mr. McLean. If TDHA was the payor of some or all of the $1499.98, then it could technically advance an arbitration claim but only after it provided a notice of potential transfer of claim pursuant to A143. However, it would be, if it did so in the month of December 2024, some 700 days late. Pursuant to Reg 283, section 2 and Zurich 2024, TDHA was provisionally liable to pay benefits from October 13, 2022, to January 10, 2023, (the "Provisional Payment Period"), and then permanently liable after January 10, 2023, subject to giving it notice of a transfer claim (A143) and then providing clear, cogent and convincing evidence as to why the 90 day period was insufficient to make a determination that another insurer or insurers (nota bene: conceivable could be two under section 268 per se) is liable under section 268; AND the insurer [TDHA] made the reasonable [nota bene: objective person standard] investigations necessary to determine if another insurer was liable within the 90 day period (see: section 3(2) of the Reg 283, passed in 1995, which was the year that Reg 283 was passed by its namesake, "Reg 283/95". Where there is a dispute as to whether a First Insurer, like TDHA, had not given notice to other insurers and an Applicant pursuant to its receipt of a Completed Application by fax or mail, shall be resolved in an ARBITRATION pursuant to section 7 of Reg 283 (see: ss. 3(3) of Reg 283). Pursuant to ss. 7(1) of Reg 283, it is ONLY an insurer that has been paying benefits under section 2 (nota bene: reference to section 268 of the Insurance Act (1990) and Reg 283 passed in 1995) OR section 2.1 (nota bene: relating to an Accident (see: SABS, definition section), that occurred after September 1, 2010 and requires the dispute to be resolved in accordance with the Regulation 283 (not Insurance Act)) OR any other insurer against who the obligation to pay benefits is claimed. Subsection 3(3) dovetails to subsection 7(3) with a one year prescribed limitation period but that is tied to the insurer, 'first giving notice' under section 3 which is the insurers that it believes are liable to pay the benefits and the insured person, in his or her capacity as an "Applicant" after sending a Completed Application and it being received first by an insurance company making said insurance company the "First Insurer". However, if the First Insurer does not give a notice, pursuant to section 3(1) of Reg 283 within 90 days (often means counting the "first day" and "last day"), it loses all of its dispute rights to pay benefits subject to overcoming the strenuous legal test under section 3(2) of Reg 283. It is here where TDHA, would hypothetically speaking, never be able to overcome said test by a decision of any reasonably-minded arbitrator rending a decision regarding the application of the facts to the legal test under ss. 3(2) of Reg 283. TDHA is an Ontario based insurer (not an out of province insurance company) and was the co-tenant with TDGIC at the "Spark Building", "North York Office Building" or the "VP Building" located at 3650 Victoria Park Avenue, District of North York, City of Toronto, where TDHA was located on the 4th floor (4th to 6th floors) with a fax of 416.774.3120 and its co-tenant in TDGIC had a fax number of 416.774.3629 and it was the commercial tenant on floors 7 to 9. By review of the information scribed on the Application (OCF-1), it had a sufficient period of time to make a determination that another insurer or insurers were liable under section 268 of the Act.
[124]Hence, by SNIC intentionally, as sworn by McLean, redirecting the Applicant to TDHA at first instance, and then purportedly paying benefits (unclear if that name is correct), TDHA became the First Insurer by McLean faxing of the same to it on October 13, 2022. However, if TDHA was the "actual payor" of the direct deposits at said time then it could have provided this notice to McLean. It was then caught in another dilemma by the fact that the representative known to McLean was that of Ms. Nurse of SNIC. Therefore, TDHA would have had to provide a phone number and representative for TDHA which would have caused issues and concerns for McLean.

RESPONDENTS

Affidavit #7[i] of Kevin A. McLean in this JRPA Proceeding

I, Kevin Alexander McLean, Disabled (B.A., J.D., CIM) of Toronto, Ontario, SWEAR THAT:

Volume #1: Sworn Under Oath; under the Penalty of Perjury; and Introduction

1. I am the individual JRPA Applicant herein and I swear, under the pains and penalties of perjury, the following facts to be true. Where I have stated or sworn information on my belief(s), I have cited the source of my belief(s) by references, citations, end-noting or otherwise. When I have used the expressions (including any permutations) of "in my view", "in my opinion", or "belief", I am not drawing or making any conclusion of law or swearing a conclusion of law but rather citing my position and opinions as a matter of fact.

2. I commenced drafting this affidavit on January 24, 2025

3. Attached hereto to this my affidavit is a copy of my email and submissions that were attached to the email regarding my request that Madam Justice Shore recuse herself

along with other ancillary relief ("COI Recusal Request"). As of today's date, I have not received any decision regarding my COI Recusal Request so I will file notice of motion with supporting materials to seek the same relief that I am seeking in the COI Recusal Request.

4. I am also concerned that I received an email from a Ms. Badwal that referenced a case conference before Madam Justice Shore on February 18, 2025. I confirm that I am not available on said date. However, I will bring my motion promptly and I intend to seek additional relief in the proposed motion.

5. In relation to the Ms. Badwal email, I am concerned that a different thread was commenced and it did not contain all of the emails that were in the previous thread with myself and the ONSC Divisional Court. It is unclear to me why that occurred but I am not castigating Ms. Badwal in any way. I will file an additional affidavit that contains all of those emails at the relevant time and in support of the intended motion.

6. I expressly adopt the facts in the attached email and submissions as my sworn evidence herein. I intend to pay for my notice and file the same, and then serve it on the respondents and in the "interested person" in Mr. Papadimitropoulos.

7. I will also provide a copy of my motion to Epstein Cole LLP so it can participate and provide its position should it wish to do so.

8. I will continue to object to Madam Justice Shore having any involvement in this matter as I remain of the view that Mr. Papadimitropoulos was the individual who signed the OCF-18 #1 (defined as the "Dhaliwal OCF-18") with the handprinted language of "As per A. Nurse" and that he was, he is, and remains in breach of his separation agreement with Ms. Nicole Artopoulos regarding a "provision" in said separation agreement of no indirect or direct contact. I repeat and rely upon my evidence in affidavit #4 in this regard.

9. I remain of the view that Mr. Boyce of the LAT is also in a conflict of interest by virtue of my previously stated positions in the emails to him with the respondents and the ONSC Divisional Court copied. I do not believe that the Tribunal can participate in an impartial manner with Mr. Boyce as its counsel. I intend to seek relief in this regard as well.

10. I note that the AGO, through Ms. Im, did not file a Notice of Appearance in this JRPA Proceeding.

11. As of tonight, I note that Ms. Im has done the same vis-à-vis her address and business name (employer) on the LSO directory website. I note my affidavit evidence in affidavit #2 which stated in part which was a copy and paste from the LSO website at the time of said affidavit:

Re: enclosed written submissions for the Respectful Requests (defined therein)

Dear Madam Registrar Clegg (copied to the above or to be forward by the ONSC Divisional Court Registrar):

1. I write regarding the above. As promised, please find my PDF and signed submissions for the Respectful Requests. For ease of reference, they at paragraph 19 and 126:

a. The Honourable Madam Justice Shore is disqualified from any further involvement in this JRPA Proceeding (the "Disqualification Request" or the "Recusal Request");
b. The Case Management Appearance Requirement is declared as void and void ab initio (not merely voidable) (the "Nullification Request");
c. A general and indefinite adjournment of the case conference pursuant to 77.04(1)(b) of the Civil Rules by the Associate Justice (the "Adjournment Request");
d. A direction by the Honourable Chief Justice, pursuant to section 76 of the CJA, that the Registrar shall accept all outstanding requisition filings and provide confirmation of the same to the JRPA Applicant and respondents; and
e. A direction by the Honourable Chief Justice, pursuant to section 76 of the CJA, that the Registrar comply with her duties (by law), pursuant to 68.05(2) of the Civil Rules[i], and provide the parties with a "Notice of Listing For Hearing".

("d" and "e" together, the "Staff Direction Requests").

(collectively, the "Respectful Requests" or "Requests").

2. I rely on affidavit #2 and #3 in support of the same as my leading of evidence in this regard.

3. Should the Court require any further submissions or sworn evidence from me regarding the same, I remain available and please contact me at your earliest moment. Otherwise, I shall presume this is sufficient and the procedure is consistent with the case law in this niche and unique subset of a few areas of law.

4. Please extend my thanks to the Chief Justice and Associate Chief Justice (where applicable) for their consideration.

5. Thank you.

VOLUME # #1: STATEMENT OF RECUSAL REQUEST, NULLIFICATION REQUEST, ADJOURNMENT REQUEST (SOLELY IN RELATION TO SHORE J. APPEARANCE REQUIREMENT) AND STAFF DIRECTION ORDERS (SEE: SECTION 76 OF THE CJA)

1. Which Canadian jurist represented the following to the federal committee responsible for judicial appointments in her sworn and signed questionnaire to it, "Vital to the Canadian system is the impartiality of a judge. This is different than the system in the United States. In Canada, judicial independence is viewed as vital to fostering public confidence in the fairness and objectivity of the justice system. The Supreme Court of Canada has described judicial independence as "the cornerstone, a necessary prerequisite for judicial impartiality."

2. None other than The Honourable Madam Justice Sharon Store.

3. The Honourable Sharon Shore of our ONSC (not the Federal Court) also made a statement to that same federal committee that this Applicant certainly agrees with as follows

> Last, but not least, is integrity. I have always tried to conduct my personal and professional life with integrity. One of the lessons I learned from my mentors is that it takes a lifetime to build your reputation, and only minutes to destroy it.

4. Public confidence in our legal system is rooted in the belief that those who deliver legal judgments do so without bias or prejudice to one side or the other. In this regard, the appearance of justice is just as important as the reality.[1]

5. Judges often disqualify themselves where the matter before them involves former clients or law partners. Herein, we have a situation of a former client of Epstein Cole LLP where Madam Justice Shore was a partner.

6. Lord Hewart C.J.'s aphorism that "it is not merely of some importance but is of fundamental importance that justice should not only be done, but should manifestly and undoubtedly be seen to be done" (The King v. Sussex Justices, Ex parte McCarthy, [1924] 1 K.B. 256, at p. 259). To put it differently, in cases where disqualification is argued, the relevant inquiry is not whether there was in fact either conscious or unconscious bias on the part of the judge, but whether a reasonable person properly informed would apprehend that there was. In that sense, the reasonable apprehension of bias is not just a surrogate for unavailable evidence, or an evidentiary device to establish the likelihood of unconscious bias, but the manifestation of a broader preoccupation about the image of justice. As was said by Lord Goff in Gough, supra, at p. 659, "there is an overriding public interest that there should be confidence in the integrity of the administration of justice" (see: paragraph 66 of Weykaum). The last is the most demanding for the judicial system, because it countenances the possibility that justice might not be seen to be done, even where it is undoubtedly done – that is, it envisions the possibility that a decision-maker may be totally impartial in circumstances which nevertheless create a reasonable apprehension of bias, requiring his or her disqualification (see: paragraph 67 of Weykaum).

7. The law of judicial bias is founded on two basic legal maxims: audi alteram partem ("listen to the other side") and nemo judex in sua causa ("no-one should be a judge in his own cause"). The former requires that parties affected by a decision have the right to be heard and that the decision-maker must not have pre-judged the issue. The latter prohibits the adjudicator of the case from having an interest in the decision, thus safeguarding the right of the parties to be treated impartially and without prejudice. In other words, bias represents a predisposition or a state of mind which sways judgment.

8. Unlike tribunals, judicial impartiality is guaranteed by our Constitution under section 96 to 101 (see: Ocean Port Hotel (SCC)).

> Volume #1(A): The Anticipatory Counter to Justice Shore taking a similar position to Binnie J. in Weykaum

9. While the SCC has found that there is a distinction with a difference between government lawyers and private practice, the following statement of law is apropos. There is a strong inference that licensees who work together share confidences especially where they work under a "group" even if internal confidentiality screens are in place (see: Mariangeli, [2004] OJ 3082 (Ont Sup. Ct.). Where Confidential Information exchanged in a prior related matter sufficient related to a current retainer the "licensees" MUST rebut inference Confidential Information was exchange (see: Mariangeli, [2004] OJ 3082 (Ont Sup. Ct).

> VOLUME #1(B): BY ANALOGY

10. The Applicant (also defined as the "Requestor") repeats and relies upon his letter in Appendix #1.

11. If a judge is aware of any relationship or personal interest that raises a reasonable apprehension of bias, it is generally desirable that disclosure is made in advance of a hearing, so that the case may be reassigned.

12. Under the Ontario Courts of Justice Act (s. 75(1)(3)), it is the Chief Justice of a court or one of the Associate Chief Justices who is responsible for the assignment or reassignment of cases.

13. Pursuant to the Civil Rules, the following is applicable to the Case Management Appearance Requirement:

> 77.04 (1) A judge or associate judge may,
>
> (b) adjourn a case conference;
> (2) A judge or associate judge may, on his or her own initiative, require the parties to appear before him or her or to participate in a conference call to deal with any matter arising in connection with the case management of the proceeding, including a failure to comply with an order or the rules. O. Reg. 438/08, s. 64; O. Reg. 383/21, s. 15.
> (3) For greater certainty, the powers set out in subrules (1) and (2) are in addition to any other powers set out in this Rule. O. Reg. 438/08, s. 64.

14. For sake of completeness, Rule 77(1) and (2) state the following:

> RULE 77 CIVIL CASE MANAGEMENT
>
> Purpose and General Principles

Purpose

77.01 (1) The purpose of this Rule is to establish a case management system that provides case management only of those proceedings for which a need for the court's intervention is demonstrated and only to the degree that is appropriate, as determined in reliance on the criteria set out in this Rule. O. Reg. 438/08, s. 64.

General Principles

(2) This Rule shall be construed in accordance with the following principles:

1. Despite the application of case management under this Rule to a proceeding, the greater share of the responsibility for managing the proceeding and moving it expeditiously to a trial, hearing or other resolution remains with the parties.

2. The nature and extent of the case management provided by a judge or associate judge under this Rule in respect of a proceeding shall be informed by any relevant practices, traditions, customs or judicial resource issues that apply locally in the region in which the proceeding is commenced or to which it is transferred. O. Reg. 438/08, s. 64; O. Reg. 383/21, s. 15.

15. The Canadian Judicial Council considers recusal inappropriate where no other adjudicator can be constituted to hear the case or where, as a result of an emergency, withdrawal would lead to a miscarriage of justice. Still, the exercise of judicial discretion is at the heart of judicial independence, and judges are presumed to have acted in good faith.

16. The urgency is in favour of the Applicant having his requisitions filed and receiving a Form 68(B) which is most outstanding despite requisitions for the same.

17. It is rather coincidental that there are 93 justices in the Toronto region and somehow the one justice who was a partner who acted, and remains as the sole law firm to have represented one Mr. Andrew Papadimtripoulos

18. It is current counsel to the three respondent insurance companies in Mr. Nieuwland who unequivocally admitted, as a matter of law, that there was a conflict of interest when TDGIC represented in a purported but unlawful response to the Applicant's PIPEDA request of SNIC in January 2024 that Mr. Andrew Papadimtripoulos had not been involved in any way with this claim or access request. However, the claim number provided therein was 035325709-04 [sic] (see: page 66 of the Oral Compendium).

VOLUME #2: RELIEF SOUGHT IN THE RECUSAL REQUEST, NULLIFICATION REQUEST AND REASSIGNMENT REQUEST

19. The Requestor seeks the following relief as follows:

a. The Honourable Madam Justice Shore is disqualified from any further involvement in this JRPA Proceeding (the "Disqualification Request" or the "Recusal Request");
b. The Case Management Appearance Requirement is declared as void and void ab initio (not merely voidable) (the "Nullification Request");

c. A general and indefinite adjournment of the case conference pursuant to 77.04(1)(b) of the Civil Rules by the Associate Justice (the "Adjournment Request");
d. A direction by the Honourable Chief Justice, pursuant to section 76 of the CJA, that the Registrar shall accept all outstanding requisition filings and provide confirmation of the same to the JRPA Applicant and respondents; and
e. A direction by the Honourable Chief Justice, pursuant to section 76 of the CJA, that the Registrar comply with her duties (by law), pursuant to 68.05(2) of the Civil Rules[2], and provide the parties with a "Notice of Listing For Hearing".

("d" and "e" together, the "Staff Direction Requests").

(collectively, the "Respectful Requests" or "Requests").

VOLUME #2(A): A note on section 76 of the CJA, "Direction of Court Staff"

20. For ease of reference, Section 76 of the CJA states:

> 76 (1) In matters that are assigned by law[3] to the judiciary, registrars, court clerks, court reporters, interpreters and other court staff shall act at the direction of the chief justice of the court. 2006, c. 21, Sched. A, s. 14.

21. The following outlines the facts material to the JRPA* Application and the LAT Appeal as it relates to the various requests herein. Painstaking detail is required because of the Tribunal's failure to comply with section 10 of the JRPA and to fill the lacunas creates by that intentional and egregious statutory non-compliance by the Tribunal. These submissions are provided in support of the Requests as a means of ensuring compliance and on the continued basis of urgency. The further details of the below are bookmarked and hyperlinked in the Applicant's oral compendium and oral outline that shall follow.

VOLUME #3: FACTS

22. The underlying facts in this JRPA* Application are contained within the record of proceeding with reference to the filed documents such as the JRPA* Application, Factum, Application Record, and Affidavit #2.

23. The Ontario Superior Court of Justice Guide to Judicial Review in Divisional Court, effective by its metadata which states, "Scarciolla, Claudia (JUD)" (author) and 11/24/22 (date) (the "JRPA Guide") which states [emphasis it the Applicant's]:

> "After you have brought an application for judicial review, you will receive an email to register for CaseLines and upload your materials. There is no fee to use CaseLines."

24. The JRPA* Applicant tendered his JRPA* Application and paid the requisite fees on November 15, 2024.
    a. After receipt of the issued JRPA* Application, from the Registrar, with thanks, the JRPA* Applicant did not receive an invitation to Case Center.

25. The JRPA* Applicant delivered[4] (served) and filed his Factum[5] on December 10, 2024.

26. The JRPA* Applicant delivered (served) and filed his Application Record on December 12, 2024;

27. The JRPA* Applicant filed and paid for the Certificate of Perfection on December 13, 2024;

28. The JRPA* Applicant also filed the requisite affidavit of service thereafter;

29. The JRPA* Applicant received confirmation of his filing thereafter;

30. The JRPA* Applicant, based on his review of what has been received, has not received any mail or email of the Form 68(B) which was required to be delivered to the parties after the JRPA* Applicant had filed and paid for the Certificate Of Perfection with an approximate date of the hearing. Based upon a reasonable interpretation of the relevant Civil Rule, which is 68.05(2) (see: (2) When the certificate of perfection has been filed, the registrar shall place the application on a list for hearing and give notice of listing for hearing (Form 68B) by mail to the parties and the other persons named in the certificate of perfection. R.R.O. 1990, Reg. 194, r. 68.05 (2).”), the Registrar was required to place the Applicant’s JRPA* Application on a list for hearing and give notice of listing for hearing on or around Tuesday, December 17, 2024.

31. Despite filing his requisition #1 on December 24, 2024 (see: Confirmation number 2787308) requesting and requiring the Registrar to comply with her duties, there is currently no evidence that any such steps have been taken in this regard. Moreover, the JRPA* Applicant, by usage of said service, was entitled to have any filing processed within five business days, which may be accepted or rejected. Five business days from December 24, 2024, was January 2, 2025.

32. Relevant to this Recusal Request and Nullification Request, on June 28, 2024, in relation to the Applicant’s NOM #6 and NOM #9, the Tribunal dismissed the Applicant’s COI motion and Mr. Andrew Papadimtripoulos (the “Epstein Cole Client”) remained as a representative of SNIC. The timing could not be more important because on June 20, 2024, the Tribunal granted the Applicant’s NOM #8 which removed the Fictitious Respondent (TDGIC) as the sole respondent party.

33. The Appellant provided notice to the SABS Insurer (and NON-SABS* Insurer and Impugned Individuals) in a prompt and expedient fashion which is indicative of “good faith” (see: Hearing Brief, Tab 5, Talisman, paragraph 35).

VOLUME #3(A): THE FORTUITOUS DISCOVERY

34. The fortuitous discovery which merely solidified the Applicant’s uncontroverted evidence was the finding of an anniversary card penned to his ex wife presumably in 2015 and 2016 under the bed where the Applicant slept and where Mr. Papadimitropoulos used to reside. The evidence remains uncontroverted in the record of proceeding;

(see: Affidavit #3, Exhibit "A", pages 274 to 279, which was affidavit of the Applicant on September 19, 2024,

35. No handwriting expert was required with that glaring obvious similarities.

36. The backdrop to this Forged Signature of an adjuster with SNIC is that the cover letter therein (not a public interest issue per se) confirmed and represented that SNIC had approved the sum of approximately $2080 in medical and rehab benefits ($1995 +$85.87). However, it never issued a cheque for the same to the Applicant's relevant health practitioners. The only reasonable inference is that SNIC did not want to take further steps in affirmation of the fraud, forgery, false document and uttering of a false document. Does that it make it lawful? The question answer itself.

VOLUME #3(B): NO ONE HAS MORE TO LOSE THAN MR. ANDREW PAPADIMITROPOULOS

37. It is the very exhaustion of each and every avenue that has karmically come to save this Applicant at the most fortuitous of times. The dismissal of his NOM #6 and NOM #9 (which was repurposed and filed after the nullity case conference and the change of the style of cause) is what kept Mr. Andrew

Papadimitropoulos as a representative of SNIC from his post in Markham for "TD Insurance" but now has caused a further light to be shined on his misconduct whilst being a client of Epstein Cole and at the very least a continued address for notices within a separation agreement.

VOLUME #5: ISSUES

38. The Applicant frames the general legal issues as follows:

    b. Is there a ROAB involving the Madam Justice Shore in light of her being a partner at Epstein Cole LLP at the time when Mr. Andrew Papadimtriopoulos retained Epstein Cole LLP along with the admission of law by counsel of record in this JRPA Proceeding to the three distinct insurance companies that Mr. Andrew Papadimitropoulos could not be involved in the Applicant's SABS Claim and LAT Appeal by his contractually agreed requirement that he not have any indirect or direct contact Ms. Nicole Artopoulos (spouse of the Applicant at material times) (see: Oral Compendium, page 66)?
    c. Pursuant to the common law in Canada that a RAOB cannot be remedied, what order must be granted in relation to the Shore J. Case Management Appearance Requirement?
    d. Pursuant to the Civil Rules and the common law requirement that justice must not just be done but seen to be done, what steps should and must the Associate Justice take after the Nullification Request is granted?
    e. In light of the delays experienced by the JRPA Applicant and the public interest along with the continued urgency of the Applicant's JRPA* Application, what directions must the Chief Justice take as per section 76 of the CJA?

VOLUME #6: LEGAL BASES: RELATING TO THE LICENSEES AND CAST OF CHARACTERS BELOW

Volume #6(A): Law Society Act

39. To fully elucidate and outline the underlying conflict of interest and, bluntly, fraudulent conduct of one Mr. Andrew Papadimtriopoulos in executing documents for adjusters but in their name of "as per" (see: As per A. Nurse") (by way of the fortuitous discovery (see: Affidavit #3 herein), the underlying legal bases involving the non-licensee, Mr. Karat, acting contrary to the LSA and the LSO *By-Law*s is required.

40. Moreover, there is ostensibly some persistent discord between the decisions of Vice Chair McGee and Vice Chair Maedel in Dankha and Mosa respectively and the decisions of Vice Chair Morrissette and Vice Chair Lake (see: NOM #5 and reconsideration decision of Vice Chair Logan). As this Court would have seen had the Tribunal complied with its statutory obligation under the JRPA, the Applicant had to get most "creative" and "lucky" (see: the "one and the same" misrepresentation by Mr. Nieuwland at the May 2, 2024, nullity case conference) to have the Tribunal to comply with the law (which is completely antithetical to the consumer protection nature of the statutory scheme of the Insurance Act, SABS, Reg 283) to obtain the orders that he did in his NOM #8 (nota bene: which changed the style of cause while removing a party and adding a party i.e. the granting of the same which is interlocutory in nature whereas the refusal of the same is a final order and final decision):

41. For clarity as to the Applicant's positions regarding some of the other decision makers at the quasi-judicial tribunal known as "LAT" like Vice Chair McGee, Vice Chair Maedel and some others, they are clearly very articulate and have high legal acumen. The decisions of Vice Chair McGee in Dankha was yet another beautifully written and analytical precise decision wherein she ensured that the Tribunal did not condone the breaches of the LSA and LSO By-Laws by a paralegal engaging in the practice of law (not provision of legal services)

42. As noted in the case of Dankha, Vice Chair McGee disagreed with the submissions of Ms. Watson on behalf of the Applicant (Manweel Dankha) but also in relation to Mr. Grabar (a paralegal) filed and signed submissions when the issues related to CAT Impairment of the applicant therein.

43. Ms. Watson, a lawyer licensee in good standing with the LSO, made the following arguments which were all rejected by Vice Chair McGee:
    a. Mr. Grabar submitted documents under the advisement of Mr. Faletta (a now suspended lawyer);
    b. Mr. Faletta oversaw Grabar's handling of the file; and
    c. A new lawyer (Watson) had recently took carriage of the file.

44. Mr. Karat was and is on far worse grounds that Mr. Grabar as Mr. Grabar was a licensed paralegal.

VOLUME #6(A)(I): LSA, SECTIONS 1(5) AND (6)

45. A person provides legal services if the person engages in conduct that involves
    a. The application of legal principles; and
    b. Legal judgment with regard to the circumstances or objectives of a person.

    (see: section 1(5) of the LSA)

46. A person provides legal services if a person gives "a Person" advice with respect to legal interests, rights or responsibilities or of another person; represents a person in a proceeding before an adjudicative body; or negotiates the legal interests of a person. (see: section 1(6) of the LSA).

VOLUME #6(A)(II): SECTION 1(7) OF THE LSA: REPRESENTATION IN A PROCEEDING

47. Doing any of the following SHALL BE CONSIDERED to be representing "a person" in a proceeding
    a. Determining what documents to serve or file in relation to the proceeding
    b. Determining on or with whom to serve or file a document; or
    c. Determining when, where or how to serve or file a document.

    (the "Section 1(7)(A) Determinations")

48. Doing any of the following SHALL BE CONSIDERED to be representing "a person":
    a. Conducting an examination for discovery; or
    b. Engaging in any other conduct necessary to the conduct of a proceeding.

49. "Claim" has the same meaning as in By-Law #4 which excludes a claim of an individual (this "Appellant") who has or appears to have a CAT Impairment within the meaning of the Statutory Accident Benefits ("SABS") Schedule (the "Schedule").

50. "Proceeding" has the same meaning as in By-Law #4, section 6(1) ((see: Hearing Brief, Tab 26, page 285) and any intended proceeding was also vis-a-vis the Claimant (also defined as "Applicant" or "Appellant") and "TD INSURANCE MELOCHE MONNEX" (see: HB, Tab 38, page 561 for reference to "trade name") (Security National Insurance Company). The LAT Rules refers to the LAT Rules effective on August 21, 2023 (the "LAT Rules" or "New LAT Rules").

VOLUME #6(B): THE "ADR REPRESENTATIVE" [NOT AN "OFFICER"]: KARAT – CONDUCT SOLELY IN RELATION TO SNIC

51. Karat is a NON-licensee and unlicensed representative of SNIC in this LAT Proceeding before an adjudicative body (LAT/AABS) when measured against the LSA and its *By-Law*s. Pursuant to LSO v. Collins, citing LSUC v. Crawford, non-licensees (or former licensees) are uninsured and immune from the regulatory and disciplinary control of the Law. As Mr. Karat does not provide any fees to the LSO, despite his LinkedIn claiming he is affiliated with the LSUC since 2014, this presents an obvious and significant risk to the public in that there is no recourse within the LSO's regulatory structure and little recourse (but for section 26.1 of the LSA) against the non-licensee for negligent and fraudulent acts done in the course of unauthorized practice

52. Where a licensee (which the Appellant's uncontroverted evidence remains that the licensee (who is also deemed an "Officer" of SNIC by virtue of being a "manager" or "management" with SNIC) was the Mr. Papadimitropoulos) affiliates with a non-licensee, he remained exclusively liable for his professional practice when so affiliating. The Conflicted Lawyer (Mr. Papadimtriopoulos) has also acted for "TD Insurance Meloche Monnex" in Mensah (see: 2022 CanLII 452) and 18-00161 v. SNIC, 2019 CanLII 9628.

53. Notably, the Conflicted Lawyer (Mr. Papadimtriopoulos) had never represented "TD General Insurance Company" and neither had Karat. It is notable that "TD Insurance Meloche Monnex" (Primmum and SNIC) has two underwriters for two distinct programs. The Alumni Program is the only relevant insurance program herein under the Insurance Contract herein.

54. Karat provided legal services to SNIC and, by operation of law, with his signing, filing and service of the Purported SNIC Response did far more than section 1(7)(a) and certainly conduct that fits section 1(7)(c) of the LSA, which "SHALL BE CONSIDERED" representation of a person [SNIC] in this LAT Proceeding.

55. As Karat has not provided any evidence that he was an employee or officer of "a corporation" (SNIC), any selecting, drafting, completing or revising of the Purported SNIC Response for use of "the corporation" (SNIC) or which the corporation [SNIC] is a party may have provided an exemption to Karat under section 1(8) "Not Practising Law or Providing Legal Services" if that was all that Karat did.

56. However, By-Law 4, section 28(2.) ("Other Profession Or Occupation") of the LSO, has an exemption to the exemption and that is the "representation A PERSON in a proceeding before an adjudicative body" which means that when Karat signed (see: HB, Tab 3, page 94), filed and served the Purported SNIC Response, there was no exemption for him to rely upon under section 1(8) of the LSA or the By-Law #4 (Part IV, "Not Practising Law Or Providing Legal Services"), section 28(2)).

57. While Nieuwland was not on the email of January 25, 2024, rather conveniently, Karat represented in the email to the Appellant, "Kindly see the attached correspondence with today's date along with the Response of AN INSURANCE COMPANY" [emphasis is the Appellant's] (see: Affidavit #13, Exhibit "A", page 5). Mr. Karat regularly confirmed by that auto-reply that is not authorized for SNIC (but for Primmum, TD Home & Auto, and NON-SABS INSURER).

Volume #6(C): Nieuwland's conduct solely in relation to the NON-SABS Insurer

58. Nieuwland is a lawyer licensee, with the LSO, who was employed by Simitrich Law and now as a lawyer licensee with "TD Insurance Staff Legal". There are some discrepancies between how Saeed (see: HB[6], Tab 3, page 17 and Nieuwland describe, on the LSO Directory, "TD Insurance Staff Legal" as the form describes it as "employed – practising law" whereas the latter describes himself being in "private practice").

59. On January 30, 2024, Nieuwland filed a DOR on behalf of NON-SABS INSURER ("NON-SABS* Insurer"). The NON-legal assistant to Nieuwland in Ms. Moraes (the "Fictitious Legal Assistant") served the Appellant with the DOR on behalf of the NON-SABS* Insurer. (see: HB, Tab 3 page 11; Volume #5 therein of Affidavit #15, page 8 of the body).

60. From early February 2024 to April 10, 2024, the Appellant provided notice to Nieuwland that his DOR for a NON-SABS* Insurer was a nullity and had no legal effect, and urged him to file a DOR on behalf of SNIC. Nieuwland did not respond and then stated that his DOR was unambiguous The Appellant also urged Mr. Nieuwland provide an affidavit if Ms. Moraes was his legal assistant. Nieuwland did not respond to the request

61. In April 2024, Ms. Ortiz suddenly and mysteriously appeared as Mr. Nieuwland's legal assistant along with being a legal assistant to "Ashley Dunkley".

62. While, again, it matters not of the underlying facts and minutia of the relationships per se and the EPSTEIN COLE Client's involvement in representing SNIC, by reference to the As per A. Nurse signature and beyond as the Tribunal found that Mr. Andrew Papadimitropoulos was fully entitled to remain as a representative in the LAT Appeal, the Applicant provides the same primer no the LSO *By-Law*s in relation to the cast of characters. Put another way, the JRPA Applicant provides the same as per each case being determined on its own facts and out of abundance of caution.

63. While "affiliate" has a different meaning under the LSA versus "affiliate" under the Insurance Act, this in turn means that NON-SABS* Insurer must be disqualified from any further participation in this LAT Proceeding by its overt and brazen usage of the unlisted documents in the correspondence file of SNIC (AB File) in filing (disclosing) to LAT in a public record.

64. Pursuant to By-Law 7, section 31, the following definitions are now even more apropos and compelling:

    a. "affiliated entity" is one or more persons none of whom are licensed or otherwise authorized to practise law or provide legal services inside or outside of Ontario (nota bene: SNIC's head office is in Montreal, Quebec); and
    b. Licensee: includes a permitted group of licensees

65. "Affiliation", under section 32 of By-Law #7 for Part IV, is interpreted to mean where a permitted group of licensees affiliates with an affiliated entity when the permitted group of licensees on a regular basis joints with the affiliated entity in the delivery of the services of the permitted group of licensees and the services of the affiliated entity.

66. The JRPA Applicant now copies and pastes from his speaking notes, filed with the Tribunal and later appended to an affidavit to meet the definition of record to be included in a record of proceeding under section 20 of the SPPA, as follows:

125. As Mr. Karat and Nieuwland has different clients in SNIC and NON-SABS Insurer respectively, Karat (if he meets the definition of a "Professional" with no dispute that Karat is experienced in providing services to licensees like the Mr. Papadimitropoulos and Ms. Francine Papadopoulos on behalf of their client in SNIC and Mr. Dugas, esteemed partner at McCague Borlack LLP on behalf of his client in Primmum Insurance Company), then Mr. Nieuwland (a licensee) may and shall NOT provide to NON-SABS INSURER the services of a person (Karat) who is not a licensee that support or supplements the licensed activity of Nieuwland on behalf of NON-SABS INSURER (see: By-Law #7, Part III, section 17).

124. As Karat solely signed, filed and served (as it is presumed) the Purported SNIC Response, with the cover letter on January 25, 2024 (see: HB, Tab 3, pages 85 to 88; email: enclosed response from "An Insurance Company" which was the Appellant's Insurer by virtue of the Insurance Act and no reference to "NON-SABS INSURER"), which referenced "TD INSURANCE MELOCHE MONNEX" with the return address of SNIC Markham, along with his sole signature of the Karat COS, he did so without Nieuwland copied on that email. There is no reference to Nieuwland in the Purported SNIC Response. Therefore, Karat's sole conduct (which were his sole signing, sole filing and sole serving) therein were not to support or supplement Nieuwland's client at the time or by way of retrospective analysis. Only a lawyer licensee was authorized under the LSA to SIGN the Purported SNIC Response as non-licensee is not authorized to even sign correspondence (except of a routine administrative nature) and a paralegal licensee is not authorized to sign a "responsive pleading" where an Appeal (not a "claim" under By-Law #4) involves even the appearance that an individual is CAT Impaired. (see: HB, Tab 3, page 27).

125. Kart was correct in the name of the "insurer" in that SNIC was the only insurer that undertook a "contract of insurance" with the Appellant's Spouse and BMW Financial Services Inc. as the "primary listed insureds". By virtue of the Appellant being the "occupant" (driver) of the Insured Automobile when Pembridge's insured rear ended the Insured Automobile, from a stopped position, at high velocity in her [tortfeasor insured] above average weight SUV, the Appellant was an "Insured Person" under the Insurance Act. Pursuant to the Insurance Act, the Appellant became a "party" to the Insurance Policy, and was deemed to have given consideration thereunder as if he had given consideration at the time of the formation of the Insurance Contract and thereafter.

126. By Nieuwland's filing of the DOR, Nieuwland unequivocally and unambiguously distanced himself from Karat's client [SNIC] in the SABS Insurer.

127. By Nieuwland's inaction and then filing of the Purported Responsive Hearing Brief on April 11, 2024 in relation to NOM #6, Nieuwland affirmed and reaffirmed that his client was NON-SABS INSURER (NON-SABS Insurer). Nieuwland then made a succession of independent misrepresentations to the Tribunal about Karat and Moraes' roles herein and to him.
Therefore, Nieuwland did not comply with section 32(a) of By-Law #7. In relation to ss. 32(c), it is admitted by Karat (see: Purported SNIC Response and emails of Karat to Appellant along with cover letter referencing the Purported SNIC Response) that Karat operates from the premises at SNIC Markham and Nieuwland operates from the premises at 66 Wellington West, Toronto.

129. Nieuwland and Karat cannot now submit that they provide services jointly as they have different clients. Nieuwland's Motion Submissions in relation to NOM #6 are on behalf of a NON-SABS Insurer. Nieuwland's Motion Submissions do not somehow change the filed Purported SNIC Response, the cover letter enclosing the same and Karat's representations on January 23, 2024.

130. Nieuwland also did not represent in the Motion Submissions that Karat was appointed [sic] by Nieuwland or TD Insurance Staff Legal but rather appointed [sic] by NON-SABS INSURER. This is contrary to the explicit and express language in the January 23, 2024 email from Karat to the Appellant of which Nieuwland was copied.

131. Therefore, if Nieuwland and Karat did not meet the definition of "affiliation" under Part IV "Affiliations" under By-Law #7, then Karat had to be assigned as the ADR representative (not "officer") of this LAT dispute by the SABS Insurer (SNIC). As directors appoint officers and officers operate a company, namely SNIC, then it would have to be a de jure, de facto or deemed officer of SNIC.

132. The Mr. Papadimitropoulos meets the definition of an "officer" under the Insurance Act by his title of "Consequence Management".

133. As of January 2024, the Mr. Papadimitropoulos was not only a practising lawyer employed by TD Insurance (not TD Insurance Staff Legal) but a "Consequence Manager" located at SNIC Markham. Karat as of January 2024 and onwards was located at the premises of SNIC Markham. It is trite that a manager may be similar or tantamount to that of an officer of an insurer like SNIC. There is no dispute that the case of Quinn v. SNIC, with a six day hearing, wherein the Conflicted Lawyer (Mr. Papadimtriopoulos) and Karat were joining would have met the definition of "regular basis".

134. While the Conflicted Lawyer (Mr. Papadimtriopoulos) could assign tasks and functions to a non-licensee in connection with THE licensee's practice of law in relation to the affairs of THE licensee's client, including "its staff" (of the affiliated entity), the Impugned Licensees (except the Conflicted Lawyer (Mr. Papadimtropoulos)) are employed by TD Insurance Staff Legal are NOT the staff of Mr. Karat or any other non-licensee affiliated entity.

135. Simply put, the "consequences" were large and they had to be "managed" with assignments of tasks and functions to a non-licensee but the Conflicted Lawyer (Mr. Papadimtropoulos) could not have his name (publicly associated) with this TD Claim #3 and this LAT Proceeding. He could not covertly have be involved in the "handling" of TD Claim #3 and this LAT Proceeding but that was harder to prove.

136. What was not difficult to prove was that Nieuwland was out of office from January 24, 2024 to January 30, 2024, and Ms. Moraes was not known to the Tribunal or the Appellant, in this LAT Proceeding, until late January 2024. Therefore, the only supervising lawyer, and "manager", that could have authorized and assigned duties to Karat, in accordance with said licensee's practice of law, was the Conflicted Lawyer (Mr.Papadimtropoulos).

67. While Mr. Karat and Mr. Nieuwland had different clients for nearly six months and at the time of the case conference (with a bit of irony herein), SNIC in filing the SNIC Response had to act through an authorized representative or be directed by a "direct mind" – however clandestine and secret it may have been.

68. SNIC could only act through an individual, namely an authorized individual like an officer or one deemed to have the authority of an officer, particularly a senior officer (see: Insurance Act, "officer"). However, the LSA prohibited Mr. Karat from "signing" the SNIC Response as the sole representative at the time.

69. The definition of "senior officer" only relates to "related party transactions" under PART XVII.1 of the Insurance Act.

70. Therefore, the applicable and relevant definition is that of an "officer". "Officer" includes a trustee, director, manager, treasurer, secretary or member of the board or committee of management of AN INSURER and a person appointed by the insurer to sue and be sued in its behalf; (see: section 1(1) of the Insurance Act). While the Mr. Papadimitropoulos is not a "trustee" or "director" of SNIC, he does hold himself out as a "manager" and involved in "consequence management". Mr. Papadimitropoulos would meet the requirements of a licensee, officer and manager of SNIC at SNIC Markham. Therefore, on a balance of probabilities, the "officer" who ASSIGNED Mr. Karat with his duties and functions, to be the ADR specialist herein was the Mr. Papadimitropoulos for the particulars in affidavit evidence previously which are uncontroverted. More importantly, it is notable that Mr. Nieuwland misrepresented that Mr. Karat was an "ADR" 'officer' when he was not and never represented himself as such.

71. Even more compelling was that Mr. Karat signed the Purported SNIC Response without any reference to Nieuwland, and then served the Appellant (as defined in the LAT Appeal) with the Purported SNIC Response and a cover letter referencing the Purported SNIC Response (filed on behalf of AN insurance company – namely SNIC) which had the address as the same as the Purported SNIC Response at SNIC Markham. The author of the cover letter was "TD Insurance Meloche Monnex" with Security National Insurance Company as the return address albeit allegedly in Markham, Ontario.

VOLUME #6(D): KAISER

72. While the Divorced Husband Conflicted Lawyer (Mr. Papadimtriopoulos) is NOT the declared tribunal advocate for SNIC and not declared herein at the JRPA Proceeding, his public denoted address with the LSO is SNIC Markham which was and is at material times in the TD Claim #3 the same address as Nurse (from DOL to Spring/Summer of 2023) and Karat (January 23, 2024 and onwards). It does not matter if the individual, admittedly in irreconcilable conflict of interest, is the "tribunal or court" advocate as found by the ONSC in Talisman. There is codification of the same under section 1(7) of the LSA.

VOLUME #6(E): PUHL, TALISMAN, AND YELLOW CEDAR

73. It is not only when a conflict of interest occurs but whether a conflict of interest could be reasonably perceived in all of the circumstances (see: Puhl at paragraph 18; Talisman, Yellow Cedar). In short, whether a circumstantial perceived conflict of interest could be perceived ("Circumstantial Perceived COI"). "Could" is consistent with reasonable suspicion and NOT "reasonable grounds" (see: R. v. Kang).

74. The legal test is not when an individual's personal interests could compromise judgment or actions in discharging job duties but the legal test is whether the Appellant has established on a balance of probabilities that a fair-minded and reasonably informed member of the public would conclude the removal of the

VOLUME #6(F): SEMINAL POINT – COI COMING TO PASS FOR JUSTICE SHORE AS A RESULT OF THE MISCONDUCT, MISCHIEF AND FRAUD OF MR. PAPADIMITROPOULOS

75. To belabour the point, the decision of the Tribunal dismissing the Applicant's COI Motion allowed Mr. Papadimitropoulos to remain as a representative whether or not he was in the forefront or back-office, declared or not. However, the difference now is that none of the tribunal decision makers were his counsel in a matrimonial litigation spanning some three years and ending in a divorce decree, and then issuing decisions involving him. However, that COI has come to pass on or around January 8, 2024.

Volume #6(G): Martin – the administration of justice

76. The legal test is not when an individual's personal interests could compromise judgment or actions in discharging job duties but the legal test is whether the Appellant has established on a balance of probabilities that a fair-minded and reasonably informed member of the public would conclude the removal of the individual – in this matter being a justice - is necessary for the proper administration of justice (see: MacDonald Estate v. Martin, 1990 CanLII 32 at paragraph 47).

77. The expression "substantial risk" in the definition of "conflict of interest" describes the likelihood of impairment as opposed to nature and severity. substantial risk is one that is significant and plausible EVEN IF it is NOT certain or even probably that it will occur. There must be more than a "mere possibility" that impairment will occur. Ergo, not a "mere possibility" but a "possibility".

VOLUME #6(F): DUTIES TO THIRD PERSONS MATTER UNDER THE LSO BY-LAWS AND RULES OF PROFESSIONAL CONDUCT

78. Moreover, the ROPC, section 3.4 does not solely relate to whether the Conflicted Lawyer (Mr. Papadimtropoulos) is able to discharge his job duties (whatever that means in fact or law) but whether there is a substantial risk that a lawyer's loyalty to or representation of a client (SNIC – not NON-SABS INSURER)) would be materially or adversely affected by the lawyer's duties to a "third person".

79. In Bose, The Honourable Mr. Justice Perrell on the Ontario Superior Court of Justice found that Canada has taken on an increasingly stricter approach to the law of COI by way of reference to cases involving Martin to Neil

80. As Justice Sopinka found in MacDonald Estate v. Martin: "In dealing with the question of the use of Confidential Information we are dealing with a matter that is usually not susceptible of proof. As pointed out by Fletcher Moulton L.J. in Rakusen, "that is a thing which you cannot prove" (p. 841). I would add "or disprove". Justice Laskin went further when he found, "Since, however, it is not susceptible of proof, the test must be such that the public represented by the reasonably informed person would be satisfied that no use of Confidential Information would occur.

VOLUME #6(G): FAMILY LAW AND FAMILY LAW FIRMS INVOKE DIFFERENT PRINCIPLES

84. Justin Laskin found: "Of more importance, however, is the fact that the principles involved herein are designed not only to protect the interests of the individual clients but they also protect the public confidence in the administration of justice. This is particularly so when the litigation involves a family dispute. Furthermore, when the public interest is involved, the appearance of impropriety overrides any private interest claimed by waiver."

82. It is most fitting to note there are ongoing obligations arising from a "family dispute" between the Divorced Husband Conflicted Lawyer (Mr. Papadimtriopoulos) and the Individual Policyholder that are in perpetuity.

VOLUME #7: THE LEGAL BASES RELATING TO A REASONABLE APPREHENSION OF A BIAS ("RAOB") INVOLVING A JUSTICE

VOLUME #7(A): THE TEST FOR RAOB

83. The test for a reasonable apprehension of bias is fairly straight forward. It was first articulated by Supreme Court of Canada in Committee for Justice and Liberty v. National Energy Board, as follows:

> ". . . what would an informed person, viewing the matter realistically and practically — and having thought the matter through — conclude. Would he think that it is more likely than not that [the decision-maker], whether consciously or unconsciously, would not decide fairly."

84. This test — what would a reasonable, informed person think — has consistently been endorsed and repeated by the Supreme Court of Canada, most recently in Yukon Francophone School Board, Education Area #23 v. Yukon (Attorney General).

85. As such, the possibility of bias is not assessed from the perspective of the reviewing judge or the litigants themselves. Rather, the assessment of bias must be holistic and contextual, requiring "a careful and thorough examination of the proceeding", 6 to determine what a reasonable, neutral observer would see. The court reviews the FULL RECORD in its entirety "to determine the cumulative effect of any transgressions or improprieties".

86. By the Applicant being deprived of his right to upload his filed documents into Case Center, contrary to the explicit language in the JR Divisional Court Guide, it is unclear if Justice Shore had access to the Applicant's Filed Documents which an Originating Process, Factum, Application Record, Affidavit #1 and #2, and others.

VOLUME #7(B): POTENTIAL GROUNDS FOR BIAS

87. There are six potential grounds for bias by which the impartiality of judges and administrative decision-makers can be brought into question under Canadian law.

88. This typology has been adapted from the categories formulated by Bryden, Philip, and Jula Hughes. "Legal Principles Governing the Disqualification of Judges." Available at SSRN 2473557 (2014) ["Bryden & Phillips, Legal Principles of Disqualification"].

a. Pecuniary or Personal Interest;

b. Personal Relationships;
c. Past Associations with Litigants or their Representatives; and
d. Prior judicial involvement with litigants.

89. There is no dispute that pursuant to the LSA, as a result of the substantial amendments in 2006 pursuant to the Access To Justice Act, 2006, that a representative need not be counsel of record. However, as per the record of proceeding in the LAT Appeal, pursuant to the contents required by the SPPA, section 20, the decision that allowed Mr. Papadimitropoulos remain as a binding one herein. If not a COI then, then certainly a COI came to pass now.

VOLUME #7(C): RECUSAL PROCEDURE

90. For example, in Benedict v. Ontario the provincial Crown moved to disqualify the motion judge on a reasonable apprehension of bias, as the motions judge was a plaintiff in an ongoing wrongful dismissal action against the Crown in a case similar to the employment-related claim before her. The Crown appealed after the judge refused to recuse herself. The Ontario Court of Appeal disqualified the judge, holding that any decision she reached which was unfavourable to the Crown could be perceived as advancing or vindicating her own claim.

VOLUME #7(D): PERSONAL RELATIONSHIPS

91. This class of bias relates to situations where the adjudicator has a sufficiently close relationship with a person involved in the proceeding (e.g. witnesses, parties, counsel, etc.) that renders him or her incapable or potentially incapable of judging impartially. In these instances, the impartiality can be in the form of favouritism[7] or personal animus[8] depending on the history of the relationship.[9]

92. Three considerations are important here: (1) whether it is a current or a previous relationship (existing relationship give rise to greater apprehension of bias); (2) The nature of the relationship (i.e. friendship, family, professional, or business); and (3) The depth of the relationship (i.e. cordial, formal, social, intimate). [10]

VOLUME #7(E): PERSONAL RELATIONSHIPS WITH LITIGANTS AND THEIR REPRESENTATIVES

93. Judges often disqualify themselves where the matter before them involves former clients or law partners.

94. The SCC found in its seminal case of Weykaum Indian Bank at paragraph 65:

> "Second, when parties say that there was no actual bias on the part of the judge, they may be conceding that the judge was acting in good faith, and was not consciously relying on inappropriate preconceptions, but was nevertheless unconsciously biased. In R. v. Gough, [1993] A.C. 646 (H.L.), at p. 665, quoting Devlin L.J. in The Queen v. Barnsley Licensing Justices, [1960] 2 Q.B. 167 (C.A.), Lord Goff reminded us that:
> Bias is or may be an unconscious thing and a man may honestly say that he was not actually biased and did not allow his interest to affect his mind, although, nevertheless, he may have allowed it unconsciously to do so. The matter must be determined upon the probabilities to be inferred from the circumstances in which the justices sit."

95. Put another way, is it more likely than not that it can inferred, from an objective person's perspective, that Madam Justice Shore was not actually biased and did not allow her interest as being a partner of the law firm of Epstein Cole LLP during the time of a firm's representation of Mr. Papadimitropoulos but nonetheless the appearance of mischief and misconduct is one that this ONSC (Divisional Court) must distance itself from an appearance standpoint.

96. What would an informed person, viewing the matter realistically and practically – and having thought the matter through – conclude? Would this person think that it is more likely than not that Binnie J., whether consciously or unconsciously, did not decide fairly?

97. There are no textbook instances.

98. Whether the facts, as established, point to financial or personal interest of the decision-maker; present or past link with a party, counsel or judge; earlier participation or knowledge of the litigation; or expression of views and activities, they must be addressed carefully in light of the entire context. There are no shortcuts.[11]

99. The fact that a judge would have recused himself or herself ex ante cannot be taken to be determinative of a reasonable apprehension of bias ex post.[12]

100. The following statement of Laskin C.J., in Committee for Justice and Liberty v. National Energy Board, supra, at p. 388:

> "Lawyers who have been appointed to the Bench have been known to refrain from sitting on cases involving former clients, even where they have not had any part in the case, until a reasonable period of time has passed. A fortiori, they would not sit in any case in which they played any part at any stage of the case. This would apply, for example, even if they had drawn up or had a hand in the statement of claim or statement of defence and nothing else (see: paragraph 80 of Weykaum).

101. While commending Madam Justice Shore for being ready, willing and able, she (and this Court) must live by the very representations that she made to the Judicial Advisory Committee for it to rely upon in determining her high level qualification to become a justice and ensure not only the impartiality of her actions but the appearance of the same.

102. It is not the grounds for automatic disqualification but it serves as a strong evidentiary foundation. It suggests that a reasonable and right-minded person would likely view unfavourably the fact that the judge acted as counsel in a case over which he or she is presiding, and could take this fact as the foundation of a reasonable apprehension of bias (see: paragraph 81 of Weykaum).

VOLUME #7(F): GOVERNMENT PRACTICE IS DIFFERENT THAN PRIVATE PRACTICE

103. Furthermore, in assessing the potential for bias arising from a judge's earlier activities as counsel, the reasonable person would have to take into account the characteristics of legal practice within the Department of Justice, as compared to private practice in a law firm. See the Canadian Judicial Council's Ethical Principles for Judges, supra, at p. 47.

VOLUME #7(G): JUDGES' VOLUNTARY RECUSAL

104. In Canada, the vast majority of recusal decisions are made by judges on their own motion. Judges are under an ethical and legal obligation to recuse themselves, if they believe they will be unable to judge impartially. In carrying out this responsibility, a judge is not required to consul with any other person, including with his or her Chief Justice.

105. If a judge is aware of any relationship or personal interest that raises a reasonable apprehension of bias, it is generally desirable that disclosure is made in advance of a hearing, so that the case may be reassigned.

VOLUME #7(H): COURTS OF JUSTICE ACT: REASSIGNMENT

106. Under the Ontario Courts of Justice Act (s. 75(1)(3)), it is the Chief Justice of a court or one of the Associate Chief Justices who is responsible for the assignment or reassignment of cases. However, pursuant to section 77.04(1), the case management conference was required to be in front of the same judge who self-initiated (however coincidentally or unlikely, probabilistically speaking, that may seem) the same. As such, said Case Management Attendance Requirement must be nullified as per the Nullification Request. It is void and void ab initio not merely voidable.

107. In the alternative, it must be adjourned generally and indefinitely while all other duties and obligations of not only the Applicant but the respondents, and, where applicable, the staff of the ONSC (Divisional Court) must be complied with forthwith. There is no requirement of a case conference to be held in any proceeding let alone a judicial review proceeding which are to be summary in nature.

VOLUME #7(I): NO UNIFORM PRACTICE BUT BEST GUIDANCE: "SEEK SUBMISSIONS"

108. More obviously, the CJC notes that judges should not recuse themselves where the potential conflict of interest is "trifling" or unlikely to raise plausible basis for disqualification. However, where the potential for disqualification is arguable, or when an unexpected issue arises shortly before or during the proceeding, the judge is advised to make disclosure and to seek submissions from counsel.

VOLUME #7(J): NO UNIFORM PRACTICE BUT BEST GUIDANCE: "OBJECT PROMPTLY"

109. The Supreme Court of Canada affirmed in Canada (Human Rights Commission) v. Taylor, that where a party reasonably apprehensive of bias fails to allege a violation of natural justice at "the earliest practicable opportunity", there is an implied waiver of any future right to complain about bias. Cartwright J. put the rule as follows, by way of dicta, in delivering the Supreme Court judgment in Ghirardosi v. Minister of Highways for British Columbia:

> "There is no doubt that, generally speaking, an award will not be set aside if the circumstances alleged to disqualify an arbitrator were known to both parties before the arbitration commenced and they proceeded without objection.

140. Where both criteria are established, the reviewing court will often look to the failure to object or raise with suspicion, indicative of tactic to hold an objection in reserve in the event of an unfavourable ruling. This is especially the case where allegations of bias are raised on appeal at first instance. For instance, in Eckervogt v. British Columbia (Minister of Employment and Investment), the Court of Appeal noted that it is "most unsatisfactory" for the court to hear an allegation of bias in the first instance:

> "I do not think it is proper for a party to hold in reserve a ground of disqualification for use only if the outcome turns out badly. Bias allegations have serious implications for the reputation of the tribunal and in fairness they should be made directly and promptly, not held back as a tactic in the litigation. Such a tactic should, I think, carry the risk of a finding of waiver. Furthermore, the genuineness of the apprehension becomes suspect when it is not acted on right away.[emphasis added]."

111. Hence the critical importance to formally note objections in the record. The JRPA Applicant has been anything but "silent" but ensuring that he had objected, reserved his rights and promptly notified the ONSC Registrar.

VOLUME #7(J): NO UNIFORM PRACTICE BUT BEST GUIDANCE: MOTION OR REQUEST

112. Mullan and Boyle suggest that objections to an adjudicators presence should be made in writing, preferably by way of a formal motion to recuse, "or at the very least by an unambiguous request, and not just by way of general expressions of potential concern".

113. In the context of a "non-endorsement" or "non-order" by Justice Shore, the Applicant respectfully submits that a request, as opposed to a motion, is most appropriate considering the same. The Applicant, the "Requestor" herein, will provide a "record" so it can be stamped accordingly on the same or by way of separate document at the election of the Court.

114. In this manner, Rule 59.06 of the Civil Rules need not be addressed and it is unlikely it could be addressed on strict reading of the same but would have, hypothetically speaking but for the RAOB herein, by analogy under the Civil Rules.

VOLUME #8: CONCLUDING REMARKS WITH THANKS TO THIS COURT FOR DECIDING THE RESPECTFUL REQUESTS

VOLUME #8(A): MISUSE OF CONFIDENTIAL INFORMATION: NORMALLY NOT SUSCEPTIBLE TO PROOF (OR DISPROOF)

115. This principle, legal in nature, is cited for the purposes that the JRPA Applicant cannot prove or disprove what was shared in a privileged setting between Epstein Cole LLP and Mr. Andrew Papadimitropoulos. All that he can prove is that current counsel of record in this JRPA Proceeding admitted (but misrepresented) that Mr. Papadimtripoulos could not be involved in the LAT Appeal. If he could not be involved in any way in the LAT Appeal, then there is agreement between the Applicant and the respondent insurance companies that his legal relationships, caused by a separation and a final divorce decree in 2019, along with his continuing duties pursuant to contract to cease and desist in any form of direct (Ms. Nicole Artopoulos (the "Named Individual Insured" in the Insurance Policy (the very "insurance policy" cited by VC Morrissette at paragraph 27 of the VCM Reasons (see: Oral Compendium, Tab 1, page 9) of indirect contact (which would be the Applicant)).

116. Litigation is not a "tea party". That being said, this Court's time need not be wasted in the minutia of the unlawful and, frankly, rather frightening conduct (from a mental health standpoint) that he engaged in by reference to affidavit #3 of the JRPA Applicant, made on January 8, 2025, by appending the very affidavits in the record of proceeding that he relied upon in support of his COI Motion.

117. It is now established on a balance of probabilities that Karat derived his assignment to this LAT Dispute for SNIC from the Conflicted Lawyer (Mr. Papadimtriopoulos). Therefore, all "conflict of interest rules" and "conflict of interest jurisprudence" has a thrust that relates to not only the lawyer acting personally (or covertly as it relates to section 1(7) of the LSA) but all those associated with him in his practice of law.

118. With the benefit of hindsight, the Applicant's submissions in Spring 2024 were now somewhat prophetic:

> "The Appellant's evidence remains uncontroverted that there has been, is and will be tainting of evidence if the Impugned Individuals are not disqualified and restrained from any future provision of legal services, practise of law or representation of SNIC (or any NON-SABS Insurer) in any Future Related LAT Proceedings. Tainting of evidence is very high or inevitable as the evidence of the Impugned Individuals is unknown and none was adduced in response to NOM #6 (see: HB, Tab 5, page 129, Talisman, paragraph 38)."

119. It was prophetic because of the reference to 'future related proceedings" and it has come to roost yet again.

120. It is not in the Applicant's DNA or makeup to feel sorry for himself so nobody else needs to.

121. His primary concern is preventing this type of conduct from happening again (if systemic) to others who do not have the ability, determination, and/or skill to take on a collection of bullies.

122. To the extent that it is idiosyncratic to the JRPA Applicant, then it bolster the Applicant's respectful submission that the Recusal Request, Nullification Request, Adjournment Request, and Staff Direction Requests must be granted.

123. As found in Dervisholli, quoted by Madam Justice Marlyss Edwards in Transamerica, once a NON-SABS* Insurer collects, accesses, uses or discloses "Confidential Information" from the "Accident Benefits file" of 'SABS insurer', said "counsel or licensees" are place in an irreconcilable conflict of interest. The only remedy that must be granted is their permanent disqualification and removal from any and all files which they are involved in. Unfortunately, this Tribunal, unlike the sound reasons for decision by Vice Chair McGee in Mansuri (which is well known to this Court by way of subsequent judicial review), did not decide in accordance with the law at that time. However, it turned out to be to the detriment to the respondent insurance companies considering their failure to comply with filing (not 'exchanging of materials' whatever that means in fact or at law) deadline of the Civil Rules.

124. In fairness to the Tribunal, the Applicant did not have said evidence of the mischief with respect to the forger of the "As per A. Nurse" 'signature' (used only for reference and not in the legal sense or any admission of its validity). The Applicant framed the legal issues as follows:

> Has the Appellant in light of the filing and serving of the perfected Joint Hearing Record as of Friday, April 26, 2024 proven on a balance of probabilities that a fair minded and reasonably informed member of the public would conclude that the circumstances herein

could be (a possibility) of perceived conflict of interest such that an order is required, for the proper administration of justice, regarding the disqualification and restraining for any further involvement, in TD Claim #3, this LAT Proceeding and any Future Related LAT Proceedings of the Mr. Papadimitropoulos, Nieuwland, Karat, Moraes, Saeed, and any other unknown individuals who are Associates, Affiliated, Affiliated Entities, Supervisees, Assignees, Joint Entity Affiliated Providers et al (who must receive a copy of a LAT Order)?

a. Further, has there been such mischief and dishonest conduct by the "Non-SABS Insurer", licensees and non-licencees (or on their behalf) (collectively, the "Impugned Persons") that such breaches of integrity, which have a corrosive impact on public confidence in the legal profession and the administration of justice (see: Christie at paragraph 37, cited by Chung, 2021 ONLSTH 44), that they must be disqualified on those bases alone albeit consistently with the principles for a Perceived Circumstantial COI?

125. Simply put, since the record of proceeding is replete with only uncontroverted evidence of the Applicant regarding this rather fortuitous discovery (see: images above) for his self-interest and counter to that of the initial adjuster for SNIC and Mr. Andrew Papadimtriopoulos, Mr. Nieuwland's representations in defiance and response to the COI orders sought in NOM #6 and NOM #9 now bear heavily on Justice Shore recusing herself through no per se fault of her own but solely based on her former partnership status at Epstein Cole LLP. However, said law firm agreed to represent this "individual" and with that comes potential consequences that follow lawyers into retirement and into the bench. Simply put, the law firm cannot have it both ways where they accept funds for services and not have to bear the consequences (which is merely herein that Justice Shore cannot adjudicate this JRPA Proceeding in any fashion even at the triage or case management phase)

VOLUME #9: RECAP OF RELIEF SOUGHT

126. As opposed to making a public spectacle of the above with a reported decision, the Applicant sincerely trusts that this Honourable Court appreciates resolving the above issues with findings, orders or granting of the Requested Relief in the Respectful Requests on an expedited basis:

1. The Honourable Madam Justice Shore is disqualified from any further involvement in this JRPA Proceeding (the "Disqualification Request" or the "Recusal Request");
2. The Case Management Appearance Requirement is declared as void and void ab initio (not merely voidable) (the "Nullification Request");
3. A general and indefinite adjournment of the case conference pursuant to 77.04(1)(b) of the Civil Rules by the Associate Justice (the "Adjournment Request");
4. A direction by the Honourable Chief Justice, pursuant to section 76 of the CJA, that the Registrar shall accept all outstanding requisition filings and provide confirmation of the same to the JRPA Applicant and respondents; and
5. A direction by the Honourable Chief Justice, pursuant to section 76 of the CJA, that the Registrar comply with her duties (by law), pursuant to 68.05(2) of the Civil Rules[13], and provide the parties with a "Notice of Listing For Hearing".

("d" and "e" together, the "Staff Direction Requests").

(collectively, the "Respectful Requests" or "Requests").

127. In support of the Respectful Requests, the JRPA Applicant relies on the filed materials in the record of proceeding herein and those documents that the JRPA Applicant has tendered for filing which remain in "processing status" and/or are required to be issued or deemed filed by the ONSC Divisional Court Registrar with reference to Rule 4.08 and/or section 76 of the CJA.

128. All of which is respectfully submitted (with the filed affidavit #3 of the JRPA Applicant on January 8, 2025, as "materials" in support of the same) to the ONSC (Div. Ct.) (Chief Justice and Associate Chief Justice (where applicable above)) on Thursday, January 16, 2025:

APPENDIX #1

January 16, 2025

VIA EMAIL

URGENT – NOTICE

Court file number: Court File No. DC-24-00000718-00JR
Type of document: email (three outstanding requisitions)
Short title of proceeding: McLean v. TDHA et al
Party: Mr. Kevin A. McLean, self-represented, Applicant, e: mcleansettlement@gmail.com;

Re: confirmation of the correct or preferred procedure to address my nullification request of Justice Shore initiated case management appearance requirement (the "Case Management Appearance Requirement") (the "Nullification Request") (see: affidavit #3 herein)

Re #2: recusal request of Madam Justice Shore (the "Recusal Request")

Re #3: to the extent applicable – dependent on other factor – the assignment request or reassignment

Re #4: Materials to follow today

Dear Madam Registrar Clegg:

1. I write regarding the above. I remain of the view and position, with great respect, that Justice Shore must recuse herself and withdraw her self-initiated Case Management Appearance Requirement.

2. You will kindly recall that I kindly informed you that I would review the law with respect to the preferred procedure. In that vein, There is no uniform practice in Canada with regard to raising the allegation of bias or a reasonable apprehension of bias at trial. Thus, the exact procedure to be followed in Ontario is unsettled (see: Paul Perell, "The Disqualification of Judges and Judgments on the Grounds of Bias or Reasonable Apprehension of Bias" (2004), 29 The Advocates' Quarterly 102, at 114 [Perell, "The Disqualification of Judges"].

3. Pursuant to our Courts of Justice Act, section 75(1) is relevant:

> Powers re sittings and assignment of judicial duties
>
> 75 (1) The powers and duties of a judge who has authority to direct and supervise the sittings and the assignment of the judicial duties of his or her court include the following:
>
> 1. Determining the sittings of the court.
>
> 2. Assigning judges to the sittings.
> 3. Assigning cases and other judicial duties to individual judges

4. As such, my request will be directed to the Honourable Chief Justice of the ONSC The Honourable Geoffrey B. Morawetz Chief Justice of the Superior Court of Justic and The Honourable Faye E. McWatt.

5. As noted, I have already filed my affidavit #3 on January 8, 2025, in support (i.e. materials exchanged already in support but also filed) of my Nullification Request and Request.

6. As noted by our SCC in Newfoundland Telephone Co. v. Newfoundland (Board of Commissioners of Public Utilities), 1992 CanLII 84 (SCC), the damage caused by the reasonable apprehension of bias ("RAOB") cannot be remedied by Justice Shore. The only solution is the withdrawal of her Case Management Appearance Requirement.

7. The materials shall follow in short order which will be in the nature of a request with reliance on affidavit #3.

8. In relation to The Honourable Madam Justice Shore, and which will be relied upon in my requests of this Honourable Court, and as a brief "sneak preview" to the main argument, I note the following and certainly agree with Justice Shore's representations to the federal courts judicial appointment committee [hyperlinked to the specific paragraph for ease of reference]:

> "Vital to the Canadian system is the impartiality of a judge. This is different than the system in the United States. In Canada, judicial independence is viewed as vital to fostering public confidence in the fairness and objectivity of the justice system. The Supreme Court of Canada has described judicial independence as "the cornerstone, a necessary prerequisite for judicial impartiality."
>
> The Honourable Sharon Shore of our ONSC also made a statement to the Judicial Advisory Committee[14] that this Applicant certainly agrees with as follows:
> Last, but not least, is integrity. I have always tried to conduct my personal and professional life with integrity. One of the lessons I learned from my mentors is that it takes a lifetime to build your reputation, and only minutes to destroy it.

9. I repeat and rely upon the previous supra in this email thread and explicitly repeat and rely upon section 76 of the CJA. I note the importance of the record of this proceeding being complete, accurate and up-to-date for a variety of purposes not limited to the requirement it be so for my requests.

10. Thank you in advance for drawing this email and my affidavit #3 to the attention of the Chief Justice of the ONSC and the Associate Justice of the ONSC with the proviso that my written argument for my above noted requests will follow today.

TD HOME AND AUTO INSURANCE COMPANY, SECURITY NATIONAL INSURANCE COMPANY, TD GENERAL INSURANCE COMPANY, EXECUTIVE DIRECTOR, LICENCE APPEAL TRIBUNAL,
HER MAJESTY THE QUEEN IN RIGHT OF ONTARIO, REPRESENTED BY EXECUTIVE CHAIR OF TRIBUNALS ONTARIO IN MR. SEAN WEIR, THE ATTORNEY GENERAL OF ONTARIO

Affidavit #8[i] of Kevin A. McLean in this JRPA Proceeding

I, Kevin Alexander McLean, Disabled (B.A., J.D., CIM) of Toronto, Ontario, SWEAR THAT:

Volume #1: Sworn Under Oath; under the Penalty of Perjury; and Introduction

1. I am the individual JRPA Applicant herein and I swear, under the pains and penalties of perjury, the following facts to be true. Where I have stated or sworn information on my belief(s), I have cited the source of my belief(s) by references, citations, end-noting or otherwise. When I have used the expressions (including any permutations) of "in my view", "in my opinion", or "belief", I am not drawing or making any conclusion of law or swearing a conclusion of law but rather citing my position and opinions as a matter of fact.

2. I adopt the definitions from my served documents in this JRPA Proceeding and they have the same meaning therein as they do herein unless expressly noted otherwise.

3. I define, at times, Mr. Andrew Papadimitropoulos as the "Interested Individual" or "Interested Person".

4. I swear this affidavit in support of my second motion ("Motion #2" or "NOM #2") in this JRPA Proceeding. My Motion #2 will be seeking the relief in the COI Recusal Submissions (see: Affidavit #7, Exhibit "A", pages 6 to 33) and other relief contained in the Notice of Motion form (Form 37(A)) to be filed and paid for after my serving and filing of this Affidavit #8 on the respondents and Interested Persons.

5. My first motion ("Motion #1" or "NOM #1") in this JRPA Proceeding is my motion exclusively directed at relief to be obtained against the Tribunal discharging its statutory obligations in accordance with section 10 of the JRPA and section 20 of the SPPA.

6. I note that in relation to my Motion #1 that I am only seeking that the Tribunal file (not necessarily serve as per the language in section 10 of the JRPA) the record of proceeding from December 24, 2023, to September 12, 2024.

7. For ease of reference for the Tribunal, these are from "speaking notes" for Motion #1:

> "When notice of an application for judicial review of a decision made in the exercise or purported exercise of a statutory power of decision has been served on the person making the decision, such person shall forthwith file in the court for use on the application the record of the proceedings in which the decision was made: section 10 of the JRPA. When notice of an application for judicial review of a decision made in the purported exercise of a statutory power of decision which includes a decision of the committee is served on the person making the decision, that person is required by s.10 of the Judicial Review Procedure Act, to "forthwith" file the record of proceedings in which the decision was made: Rew v Association of Professional Engineers of Ontario (Discipline Committee), 2016 ONSC 4043 (CanLII) ["REW"], https://canlii.ca/t/gs5t9 as per Dambrot, J. (orally) at paragraph 8;
> Any interlocutory orders made by the Tribunal would include the orders to the time the VCM Decision was made which was September 12, 2024: Payne v. Ontario Human Rights Commission, 2000 CanLII 5731 (ON CA), [2000] O.J. No. 2987, 136 O.A.C. 357 (C.A.) ["Payne"], at paragraphs 79 [the record of proceeding when the decision was made], paragraph 160, and paragraph 161. Payne was cited with approval by this ONSC Div. Ct. in the same year when the JRPA Application was made in Lachance: Lachance v. Solicitor General of Ontario, 2024 ONSC 975 (CanLII) as per Stewart, Myers, and Leiper JJ of the Divisional Court at paragraph 37 [copied by link to highlight as no hyperlink available on CanLII].

> In Rol-Land Farms Limited, Justice Swinton, Greer and Leitch of the ONSC Div. Ct. found that content that post-dated the decisions under review was not admissible (see: UFCW Canada v. Rol-Land Farms Limited, 2008 CanLII 6652 (ON SCDC), (see: https://canlii.ca/t/1vtm5) ("Rol-Land Farms") at paragraph 38[ii])
> Pursuant to s. 10 of the JRPA, since the VCM Decision was an exercise of a statutory power of decision [or the refusal of], she must, upon receipt of a judicial review application, file a record of proceedings: Endicott ONCA, paragraph 18. It is for use on the application which is the proceeding and not for select uses at select times: Endicott ONSC (as per Molloy, Lederer and Edwards JJ.), paragraph 20."

8. While I am aware of the law involving judicial reviews intended to be summary proceedings, I felt compelled to serve, pay for and file my Motion #1 in its current state so that I, inter alia, was not accused or prejudiced in the future by any allegation or finding that I did not object to the Tribunal's statutory non-compliance. In this regard, I again copy and paste from my 'draft speaking notes' for Motion #1 returnable on January 30, 2025, by teleconference:

> *"*In Reflection Productions, it was available to the applicant to bring a motion seeking production of documents it alleges were relied on by the decision-maker but are not contained in the record: see, for example K.D. v. Peel Children's Aid Society, 2017 ONSC 7392 (Div. Ct.) at paras. 16-17).

9. I remain of the belief that the Tribunal does not have a full and accurate record of the proceeding and it is unable, not unwilling per se to file the record of proceeding as it was from December 23, 2023, to September 13, 2024. I source my belief based upon Mr. Boyce provided his theories of the law, without citation to the statutory sections under the JRPA and SPPA, and providing a timeline of three to four weeks in his initial letter to myself and the ONSC Divisional Court and not being able to comply with the same.

Volume #2: Exhibits

Volume #2(A): Exhibit "A"

10. Attached hereto to this my affidavit and marked as Exhibit "A" are copies of documents which I found last evening of January 26, 2025, and this morning of January 27, 2025, which are denoted as follows with the corresponding pagination:

a. "Consultation on Proposed Fraud Reporting Service Rule and Guidance" issued by the FSRA on July 15, 2024, with a comment due date of October 15, 2024, under the ID 2024-008;

d. Automobile Insurance Fraud Reporting Guidance document, issued by the FSRA under identifier, "AU0140INT" (the "Guidance Document")

e. Notice of Proposed rule under the Financial Services Regulatory Authority of Ontario Act, 2016 issued by the FSRA ("Proposed Rule Notice"); and
    i. Page count: 12 pages
        1. (see: Exhibit "A", pages 42 to 53).

11. I have alleged and sworn on belief, which is contained in the record of proceeding and some of my documents in my filed and served Application Record of December 12, 2024, that there are issues of real unfairness before the Tribunal and that, inter alia, that Mr. Papadimitropoulos was the individual who engaged in some of the impugned conduct like the 'As per A. Nurse' purported signature in the first OCF-18 (see: Affidavit #3 herein, Exhibit "A", page 199) that was tendered through HCAI on or around April 6, 2023. I have not received any evidence to the contrary. I challenge any of the three respondent insurance companies and any individual that were so involved to provide evidence to the contrary. I directly challenge Mr. Papadimitropoulos to swear evidence to the contrary.

12. Out of an abundance of caution and in light of Ms. Im and Mr. Boyce removing their business addresses and business name or employer names after my affidavit #2 was served on them and filed with the ONSC Divisional Court, I copy and paste as of today's date Mr. Papadimitropoulos' directory information[iii]:

13. While I appreciate that the FSRA Proposed Rule (defined supra) is not in effect as of today's date, I allege that there has been a situation of employee fraud at the various insurance companies including but not limited to: (i) TDHA; (ii) TDGIC; and (iii) SNIC. I have alleged with sworn evidence, on belief, contained in the record of proceeding, that Mr. Papadimitropoulos was involved in some of the internal employee fraud.

14. I believe that in relation to SNIC's Response, exclusively, on its face, completed, signed and filed by one Mr. David Karat, a non-licensee, Mr. Papadimitropoulos had a role in conduct that fell under the following at section 1(7)(1.) and (3.) of the Law Society Act:

> "Representation in a proceeding
> (7) Without limiting the generality of paragraph 3 of subsection (6), doing any of the following shall be considered to be representing a person in a proceeding:
> 1. Determining what documents to serve or file in relation to the proceeding, determining on or with whom to serve or file a document, or determining when, where or how to serve or file a document.

3. Engaging in any other conduct necessary to the conduct of the proceeding. 2006, c. 21, Sched. C, s. 2 (10)."

15. I have referenced some of the above noted issues in my Factum which was filed and served on December 10, 2024.

16. I believe that Mr. Papadimitropoulos remains in breach of the terms and provisions of the separation agreement (contract) that he and Ms. Nicole Artopoulos reached prior to their finalized and approved divorce decree. I have a copy of the divorce decree in storage. In relation to the first sentence in this paragraph, I believe that Mr. Papadimitropoulos was and is in breach of the "no direct and indirect contact provision" therein. I believe that I would fall under the "no indirect contact provision" which is why I believe and allege, and challenge Mr. Papadimitropoulos to swear evidence to the contrary, that he utilized the likes of the names of Ms. Alisha Anne-Nurse, Ms. Persaud and Mr. Karat without revealing or disclosing his involvement.

17. For consistency and accuracy purposes for the ONSC Divisional Court to assess the merits of my NOM #2, Ms. Nicole Artopoulos' legal counsel was Mr. Theodore Laan, barrister and solicitor of the LSO with the firm name at the time of "Laan Litigation"[iv].

19. I note that the size of the firm of Epstein Cole LLP is, based upon my computation, some 30 lawyers. Based upon my review of the website, it appears to me that Epstein Cole LLP specializes in matrimonial and family law dispute resolution and litigation.

20. I provide the above noted fact when juxtaposing the facts involving a client of Epstein Cole LLP in Mr. Papadimitropoulos and the facts in GWL Properties wherein a case management judge had a brother at the then firm of Ladner Downs LLP in Vancouver, BC.

21. I have provided my intention to seek relief, informally and formally, that Madam Justice Shore recuse herself and/or the Associate Justice of the ONSC and/or the Chief Justice of the ONSC disqualify her from being involved in this JRPA Proceeding, since becoming aware of Madam Justice Shore's prior distinguished, in my view, legal career at Epstein Cole LLP.

22. I believe and will continue to request the consent of the respondents until my Motion #2 is heard or resolved in my favour based upon the case law that I cited in my COI Recusal Submissions but also my correspondence with the ONSC Divisional Court and respondents but also pursuant to section 71 of the CJA:

> "The administration of the courts shall be carried on so as to: (a) maintain the independence of the judiciary as a separate branch of government; (b) recognize the respective roles and responsibilities of the Attorney General and the judiciary in the administration of justice; (c) encourage public access to the courts and public confidence in the administration of justice; (d) further the provision of high-quality services to the public; and (e) promote the efficient use of public resources."

23. I wish to continue to make clear that I have not alleged, as I cannot prove a negative (i.e. a matter that is susceptible to proof or not susceptible to proof), that Madam Justice Shore is actually biased towards the respondent insurance companies and prejudiced towards me but that the appearance of impartiality is at the forefront of my Motion #2.

24. Based on the writing style in the above noted document attributed by the FSRA to the Interested Individual, I believe that he was responsible for what I have defined in my Factum and Application Record as the Spam Fax (Spring 2023) and the letter that one of my health practitioners received in August or September 2024 which were, in my view and based on memory in relation to the former, similar to each other. The latter letter to which I refer was the one where I had delivered OCF-18's and invoices on my behalf or in relation to the services provided to me to TDHA and SNIC, along with any other insurance company that may have had carriage of my accident benefits file regarding the duty to respond and pay benefits. The response that I received was that no entity within TD Insurance had any record of my claim number with TD despite it being provided in each OCF-18 and invoice along with the cover letter therein.

25. I believe that the Interested Individual has much animus and malice towards me.

VOLUME #2(B): EXHIBIT "B":

26. I re-swear that I do not believe TD Insurance Staff Lawyers' representation to me and the Tribunal that Mr. Andrew Papadimitropoulos was never involved in my accident benefits claim. I note that said representation was tendered by Mr. Nieuwland in the Winter and Spring of 2024. I believe that he remains involved in any all aspects of the same and I continue to object to the same however clandestine or surreptitiously he has been, he is or intends to provides any form of representation to any of the three distinct insurance companies named as respondents in this JRPA Proceeding or otherwise.

27. I have not finished at this time the chart that outlines all of the justices of the ONSC (Toronto Region) and their previous affiliations, partnerships or associations prior to being appointed as justices of the ONSC. However, having completed some 88 of the 93 listed justices in the ONSC (Toronto Region), I cannot find any other justice that worked at the law firm of Epstein Cole LLP at the times denoted of 2017 and beyond.

28. Attached hereto to this my affidavit and marked as Exhibit "B" are copies of two sets or classes of documents which are particularized as follows:

a. Copies of images that I obtained from CAMH through a privacy request and now privacy complaint to the OIPC (ON) involving the theft of my property on Friday, October 25, 2024;
    i. Page count: 6 pages
        1. (see: Exhibit "B", pages 54 to 59); and
b. Copy of a printout or chart that I received from the TPL based on my second access request[v] made of it pursuant to my factual grounds that an individual had engaged in unauthorized collection, use, access and disclosure of my name, TPL library card[vi] (from the time after October 25, 2024 into January 2025);
    i. Page count: 3 pages
        1. (see: Exhibit "B", pages 60 to 62).

29. While I do not intend at this time to delve into all of the minutia of what transpired from October 25, 2024, to January 2025 involving the theft of my property and subsequent and continued theft, impersonation, fraud, false pretenses et al, I will provide the evidence which I believe is currently relevant and/or material to this JRPA Proceeding and my Motion #2.

30. I swear that none of the activities but for one activity in the chart provided by the TPL to me were activities undertaken by myself. The sole activity undertaken by myself was the obtaining of a replacement library card despite not having any picture identification at the time in hard copy form as all of my identification, including my passport, were contained within the "backpack" or "laptop bag" that was stolen on October 25, 2024.

31. I received the above noted chart late last week and I was most appalled with further unauthorized activities of which I was unaware in substance and form. For example, while my primary laptop computer was stolen, as it was contained within the backpack, the unauthorized individual engaged in 'renting' or 'borrowing' a laptop on October 28, 2024 which was a Monday. He did so, as it has been confirmed to me for some time that I am looking for a male that is engaged in the impersonation of me, on the very day in which I was in the same branch at the TPL which was the Fort York branch. In conjunction with said unauthorized activity involving the 'borrowing of laptops in my name' with my library card, said individual also borrowed a library book later entitled "That Night in the Library" or words to that effect. Since that time of October 25, 2024, it was, is and remains a terribly traumatizing and debilitating experience at the hands of this individual.

32. With respect to the images (Exhibit "B", page 55 (albeit slightly dark therein due to the image at the top), one of the reasons, of which I now have many and further corroborating evidence (some of it hearsay per se) that "TD Insurance", including Mr. Papadimtriopoulos was involved in some of the above unauthorized activities, was that there is a black suitcase that was NOT taken on October 25, 2024. I had utilized said suitcase for a period of time before the theft on October 25, 2024, and it had a "TD Bank" logo or name tag on the same. On the day in question, I was in the washroom of the visitor area part of the hospital, known as CAMH, at 1025 Queen Street West, which has a park that is adjacent to the East of it known as the "TD Commons", for no more than five minutes. During that time of setting my backpack and black luggage suitcase or "carry on" (with the TD logo on the same), only my backpack, and all contents (including all electronic devices) were taken therein. I immediately reported the same to the security and then made an access request of CAMH.

33. The images appended to this my affidavit at Exhibit "B" are some of the images that I obtained in relation to my access request of CAMH.

34. In relation to the unauthorized borrowing of books from the Queen and Salter branch of the TPL in November 2024, I confirmed with the TPL that I had never attended said branch or knew of its existence. I believe that at the material time of November 2024 that Mr. Papadimitropoulos had resided at an apartment or condo unit that was approximately three hundred metres from that branch. I believe the same based on information that Ms. Nicole Artopoulos had provided me at various time regarding his whereabouts and asking that I avoid that area when driving.

35. When referring to the residences in which I believe that Mr. Papadimitropoulos resided at, while not knowing if he had moved from that apartment building which is on the South side of Queen Street West, I am referring to the buildings situated where there is a Starbucks on the corner of Queen Street West and Carlaw Street.

36. In my view, the most disturbing of all of the unauthorized conduct was that after I had paid for, served and filed the Certificate of Perfection on December 13, 2024, there was further unauthorized conduct at seven p.m. on that Friday evening. The ONSC Divisional Court will be able to review the emails in the record of proceeding herein or at least by reference to the covering emails wherein Madam Registrar Ms. Clegg, with thanks, referred me to the online "Civil Claims Submissions Portal" to file and pay for my Certificate of Perfection.

37. I thank Registrar Ms. Clegg for her guidance in that regard and the correct manner to file at first instance such that the fees were paid prior to attempting to file at first instance through email.

38. In relation to the December 13, 2024, date, I note that it was one day after I had filed and served my Application Record which then only afforded the respondent insurance companies and the Tribunal 30 days to file any responsive factums and application records.

39. I have received or obtained further information involving December 13, 2024, and that it involved a male impersonating me at the Toronto Reference Library. I had been to the Toronto Reference Library (789 Yonge Street) but only for the purpose of delivering my fees for purposes of receiving access to the requested personal information and information (records as defined under MFIPPA).

40. I note that based upon my height and weight and that of Mr. Papadimitropoulos, we are similar in my view in height and weight. I have seen him before, based on information and belief, and Ms. Nicole Artopoulos confirming that we had seen him while driving in public from certain time periods of 2019 to 2024.

41. I was going to provide an image of Mr. Papadimitropoulos and an image of myself for comparison purposes but his LinkedIn profile does not appear to me to be active at this time. However, I can confirm for the ONSC Divisional Court that in order for an individual to have obtained a third library card, albeit under false pretenses, that said individual was required to provide identification. My identification was contained in my wallet which was in the aforementioned backpack which was stolen on October 25, 2024.

42. In relation to my evidence about what I believe to the most disturbing conduct on December 13, 2024, the unauthorized individual also changed my phone number associated with my library card and account to that of a CBC reported known as Ms. Valeria Ouellet who specializes in investigative reporting involving fraud, fraud investigations, RCMP corruption, money laundering et al.

Volume #2(C): Madam Justice Shore

43. It is unclear to me as to how Madam Justice Shore was delegated, if at all, to provide the email that she did to presumably the Registrar that was then relayed to myself and the respondents on or around January 7, 2025. I, in my view, promptly objected to her compulsory requirement of an attendance at a case conference. Based upon my review of the Rules of Civil Procedure, the case conference was required to be before her. In that regard, I swore an affidavit, served and filed the same on an urgent basis by way of email in the email thread that was commenced by the Tribunal with its Notice of Appearance albeit to the incorrect email to me as a matter of my email address for service.

44. As such, I believe and will submit that the issue is now far more serious and the circumstances are more compelling that Madam Justice Shore cannot have any involvement in this JRPA Proceeding. I will be relying on the case of GWL Properties that I cited in my correspondence to the ONSC Divisional Court, the respondents and Interested Person.

VOLUME #3: JURAT

45. I swear this affidavit in support of my Motion #2 and the relief that will be sought therein. To the extent that any respondent and Interested Person opposes my relief in Motion #2, I will seek costs in accordance with the CJA and the Rules of Civil Procedure.

46. In light of the above, my position remains that this JRPA Proceeding is more urgent than previously and any delays to have the matter heard before the Divisional Court inclusive of any case conferences, whether before Madam Justice Shore or not, will likely lead to a failure of justice.

47. I will be seeking in my Motion #2 an order that Mr. Papadimitropoulos and Epstein Cole produce and provide to the Court 'in camera' for its review a copy of the separation agreement between Ms. Nicole Artopoulos and Mr. Papadimitropoulos to assess the validity of the underlying evidence and facts, and relief sought in my Motion #2. I will be seeking leave or ancillary relief in relation to the same if the Court does not find that there is a reasonably perceived apprehension of bias, conflict of interest or lack of independence between Madam Justice Shore and the respondent insurance companies by virtue of, inter alia, Mr. Papadimitropoulos being a client of Epstein Cole LLP.

48. I swear that I will provide any necessary or requested evidence regarding the above as it becomes known to me.

49. I challenge any of the respondent insurance companies including Mr. Papadimitropoulos to provide any evidence to the contrary involving any of my sworn evidence that relates to the above. To the extent that they do not, I will ask that this Court to draw an adverse inference against them (some or all) and disqualify Madam Justice Shore, not through her wrongdoing, but "theirs" and refusing to consent to the relief that a different justice provide a similar type email and manage a case conference (if applicable).

50. In repeating and relying upon my previous evidence from the LAT Appeal, I kindly refer the Divisional Court (Toronto Region) to the sworn evidence that I filed and served in the LAT Appeal, which is appended to my affidavit #3, wherein Mr. Papadimitropoulos was attending the courtyard of the condo corporation denoted in my address for service which required further intervention of legal counsel and contacting of the police at the time. I again swear that I am not a party to the separation agreement but to the extent that there are consequences for non-compliance by a party to that contract, I am providing a copy of my affidavit material to one Epstein Cole LLP and Laan Litigation for their receipt and advising of their respective clients.

51. I again ask that the Tribunal consent to the relief that I am seeking in my proposed Motion #2.

52. I seek the consent of the respondent insurance companies as well on the bases above in relation to my proposed Motion #2.

53. To the extent that I do not hear from either or both, I will proceed accordingly and seek the relief on what I submit is an urgent bases. I will move as expediently as possible in order to have my Motion #2 heard and decided. I confirm that I am not available on February 18, 2025, as I will be away from February 16, 2025, to early March 2025. I have asked the ONSC Divisional Court to provide alternate dates for a potential case conference before Madam Justice Shore should I not be successful with Motion #2 in its entirety. I reserve my rights in relation to the same and I do not agree that a case conference is necessary in accordance with the CJA, Civil Rules et al when measured against the current status and non-compliance by the respondents with the Rules of Civil Procedure (defined herein at times as the "Civil Rules").

54. I swear this Affidavit #8 for no improper purpose and for the above purposes.

Sworn before me via videoconference in accordance with O. Reg. 431/20 at Toronto, Ontario on this 27th day of January 2025

Consultation on Proposed Fraud Reporting Service Rule and Guidance

ID: 2024-008

Type: Rules
Sector: Auto Insurance
Status: Public comment closed
Date: July 15, 2024
Comment Due Date: October 15, 2024

Thank you for providing your feedback on FSRA's proposed Fraud Reporting Service Rule and Guidance .

The request for submissions is now closed.

We appreciate the comments and questions received to date and look forward to sharing with you the final Rule. Stay up to date on FSRA's Rules on our newsroom. Follow us on LinkedIn and subscribe to our mailing list for quick updates.

To reduce consumer harm and the additional costs associated with auto insurance fraud, Ontario's Financial Services Regulator (FSRA) is proposing a new Rule on auto insurance fraud reporting. This will help to better determine the amount of auto insurance fraud in the province, identify and address fraud trends and establish a baseline to be able to track and reduce the amount of fraud in the future. Once the Proposed Rule is in effect, insurance companies will be required to provide specific information to FSRA.

FSRA is seeking feedback on a Proposed Rule and Guidance that includes:

- a proposed definition of what constitutes a 'fraud event'
- when insurers are required to report information about a fraud event
- how often insurers will need to report information about fraud events to FSRA
- FSRA's approach in administering the Proposed Rule

Once the Proposed Rule comes into force, insurers will be required to provide prescribed information about auto insurance fraud to the FSRA. With the benefit of this information, FSRA will determine what can be done to reduce fraud and the consumer harm and costs arising from fraud.

The consultation period for the Proposed Rule is now open and will close on October 15, 2024. FSRA invites stakeholders to review the Proposed Rule and Guidance and submit their feedback.

	[2024-008] Derrick Ajmo - Heartland Mutual Insurance Hi there, The below are the concerns that Heartland would like to submit regarding the proposed Fraud Reporting Service Rule. 1. Fraud is usually never alleged unless proven in court. Typically, insurers will never deny a claim under fraud unless we have proof which we then turn over to the authorities. Typically, the authorities deem this low value and nothing is done. Therefore, without a conviction, how can we allege fraud towards an insured or vendor under the proposed guidelines. 2. The verbal presentation indicated that the insured or vendor identifying information would not be required to be reported however the documents released indicate that insured name and contact details must be listed on the FSRA reporting system. If we do indeed need to declare the insured or vendor name on the site and this information gets released to the public, the insurer could be exposed to a bad faith claim. Will FSRA regulations or rules exempt this reporting from being disclosed to the relevant parties and/or will FSRA compensate the insurer if found to be acting in bad faith due to reporting the insured or vendor of fraud based upon what later on could be deemed unproven allegations by a court? 3. What safeguards will FSRA undertake to ensure that this information is not inadvertently released to the public? With FSRA compensate insurers for the unauthorized release of the data should the system be compromised? Is there a concern by FSRA of the reputational harm to individual insureds and vendors should these unproven allegations of fraud be released into the public domain. 4. Will this information submitted by the insurer be subject to release to the public under Freedom of Information or be open to being subpoenaed in a court case involving said insurer. 5. As the goal of this is to gather the extent of the fraud being perpetrated in auto insurance, how will the information gathered be released to the public or insurers in a manner that will protect insurers from any potential bad faith allegations due to the data that has been reported to FSRA by them? If there is another format that the above feedback needs to be	November 1, 2024

GENERAL COMMENT:
If the “purpose of collecting this information is to support the more effective assessment and detection of automobile insurance fraud in Ontario” and to support “FSRA’s goal of reducing consumer harm caused through fraud” then there should be some statement about what FSRA does with this information other than “information that has been collected will be available for insurers to access to enable the assessing and detecting of fraud” in a second phase. What about consumer access to industry fraud?

Not only is the hunt for fraud left entirely to insurers (who are themselves often fraudulent in their claims practices) but it also ignores the claimant experience where insurers’ (and their intermediaries) fraud is a very real issue tens of thousands of Ontario’s claimants face every day.

Where, in this document, is the protection of vulnerable injured car crash claimants who are exposed to the fraud? This shouldn’t just be about protecting insurer profits but rather about protecting people who are scammed along the claims corridor.

This document goes back and forth about prescribed information required but fails to inspire confidence as it becomes clear this is about gathering information to identify fraud and carefully doesn’t mention any action to be taken by Fraud Reporting Service (“FRS”).

FSRA has taken some recent action to address fraud in the medical examination process with the Dr. Romeo Vitelli case but the failure to put the interests of consumers as a high priority is obvious. We cannot tell if any action was taken against the assessment center, Novo Medical Services Inc., for whom this psychologist prepared the medical reports that were at the center of FSRA’s investigation.

In 2019, Dr. Vitelli entered into an Acknowledgement and Undertaking with the College of Psychologists following allegations of professional misconduct as a result of a complaint from a claimant and FSCO and FSRA were informed of the College’s actions.

Sector	Comment	Date posted
	According to the FSRA website https://teao.fsrao.ca:7179/api/enforcement/downloadDocument?Id=2653&lang=en : In 2019, FSRA received an investigative report in support of Aviva's allegations. Documents in the report establish that Novo Medical submitted seven Psychological Evaluation Reports and one Catastrophic Impairment Determination Psychological Evaluation Report (dated between April 21, 2017 and May 4, 2018) for claimants (AK, CD, GC, JH, MM, MR, and NK). Sections of the reports are identical. The reports also include identical quotations presented as the claimants' verbatim descriptions of their injuries and symptoms. (for claimants (AK, CD, GC, JH, MM, MR, and NK)). and; On June 23, 2020, FSRA received a Business Activity Complaint Form from Desjardins General Insurance Group ("Desjardins") alleging that Novo Medical and Dr. Vitelli engaged in practices that contravene the Act. (five psychological assessment reports for claimants (NH, AL, KH, JS, and RR)). and; FSRA received an investigative report from Intact Insurance ("Intact"). (claimant (SR)). Despite insurers reporting they had been defrauded there was no action taken by FSRA until February 8, 2021, when FSRA investigators interviewed Dr. Vitelli. It was during this process that "Dr. Vitelli also stated that Novo Medical's staff used his Treatment Plan for another claimant as a template, by switching out the names and pronouns where necessary. Dr. Vitelli did not confirm the content and accuracy of the Treatment Plans he completed." Finally in 2021 action was taken by FSRA with the suggestion "an administrative penalty in the amount of $50,000 should be imposed on Dr. Vitelli for knowingly making false or misleading representations to insurers in order to obtain payment for goods or services provided, contrary to section 447(2)(a.3) of the Act." The public was eventually informed in a press release on "Nov. 22, 2023 /CNW/ - The Financial Services Regulatory Authority of Ontario (FSRA) has imposed a compliance order and administrative penalty of $15,000 against Romeo Vitelli

(Vitelli)."

For 4 years innocent injured claimants interests were ignored, first by the College of Psychologists (CPO) whom the Regulator relies on to enforce quality control and then by FSRA during the process of deciding what to do about the fraud.

We could find no evidence that Novo Medical Services Inc. was ever held accountable for their participation in harming the most seriously injured car crash survivors. Nova Medical is still actively in business providing assessments of Ontario's auto insurance claimants for insurers.

FAIR's files indicate there are likely more victims of the fraudulent reports as well as through 'expert' evidence at hearings where Dr. Vitelli's testimony was often criticized. There is also evidence that more than one assessment center used the services of Dr.Vitelli "through four healthcare clinics" mentioned on the CPO website document at https://cpbao.ca/wp-content/uploads/Notice-of-Hearing-Vitelle-Dr.-Romeo-2.pdf.

As of May 2024 the CPO https://members.cpbao.ca/public_register/show/1461 has listed the current referrals of Dr. Vitelli to the Discipline Committee.

We see no evidence that the 13 plus victims of this fraud were informed by FSRA or the CPO that they'd been scammed and that their cases had been tainted by the fraudulent and uncaring actions of Dr. Vitelli and Nova Medical.

To this day AK, CD, GC, JH, MM, MR, NK, NH, AL, KH, JS, RR, and SK may all still be in the dark about how their cases and access to rehabilitation were recklessly ignored by the insurer's choice of assessment centers.

We bring up this particular case for several reasons but the most important is that there is no point to gathering information if there is no intent to protect the public's interest. It should never be just about insurer profit and gain over informing the public in a timely fashion and this should be reflected in the proposed Rule and Guidance.

Timely reporting from insurers coupled with judicious action

from the Regulator would better protect claimants. The promise to follow through on the insurer reporting fraud is missing in this Guidance along with a willingness to share fraud trends with the public and not just insurers.

Taking steps to enforce compliance with Dr. Vitelli was an important mile-stone for the Regulator and we recognize this. The problem lies in the two and half years from the Notice of Proposal to Impose Administrative Penalties on March 31, 2021 to informing the public on November 22, 2023 in a press release. It appears that for two and a half years vulnerable claimants lacked protection because FSRA withheld this information. This should never happen.

The investigation and the conclusion record poses other serious questions related to the outcomes for the victims of this fraud.

It's still an open question whether Dr. Vitelli will be able to continue to provide services for auto insurers through medical examinations and testimony going forward. None of that is clear in the information on the College of Psychologists (CPO) website or in FSRA's documentation and neither contribute to public confidence in the automobile insurance sector.

In this instance insurers did the right thing but we can tell you we routinely hear about bogus insurer medical exams and this Guidance presents deaf ears to claimants who are harmed in the current system that relies on the Regulator to take action to protect them. What about Nova? Should they have been subject to an Administrative Penalty and/or closed out of performing these medical assessments?

Our suggestion to include businesses and institutions in the wording is based on this case above as is our comment about the importance of timeliness in reporting fraud.

Something needs to be done about the regulatory hole that exists for assessment centers who currently have no oversight and who, in this case, appear to have participated in, or should have known about, the fraud taking place.

Consumers believe the Regulator has a distinct obligation to follow-through on the fraud they find by way of informing victims of that fraud and, by extension, to protect the potential or future victims from the perpetrators by barring the fraudulent players from activity in the auto insurance medical landscape. This can be done by closing the door to Health Claims for Auto Insurance (HCAI) access. There should be an active dialogue to disclose this type of medical fraud activity between relevant Colleges and FSRA. Further, the Colleges should also be required to participate in cleaning up this fertile ground for fraud that harms Ontario's patients. Thank you for the opportunity to voice our concerns. Dear Sir / Madame:

Subject: Consultation on Proposed Fraud Reporting Service Rule and Guidance

TD Insurance ("TDI") appreciates the opportunity to respond to the current Consultation on Proposed Fraud Reporting Service Rule and Guidance initiated by Ontario's Financial Services Regulator ("FSRA") with stakeholders on future statutory fraud reporting requirements.

TDI overall supports FSRA's outcomes to reduce the costs to consumers & industry borne as a result of fraud.

Data and Privacy Concerns

TDI is always committed to ensuring compliance and transparency and we fully understand the importance of data in fighting fraud. Since much of our industry already provides fulsome data to Equite we suggest that FSRA consider leveraging this already established route to avoid duplication of effort.

Consumers trust insurers with sensitive information, and any regulation mandating the sharing of such data must ensure robust protections are in place. It would be appreciated that FSRA share with the Insurance Industry the security measures it will implement to safeguard; and furthermore to protect, any insurer from the release of personal information and to prevent identity theft and other privacy concerns. We also suggest that FSRA provide limited liability protections to insurers for any cybersecurity data breaches.

Key Concerns & Recommendations

TDI is committed to working with all stakeholders to effectively tackle fraud within the auto insurance sector. The phase one strategy of data collection is a significant step in building a Fraud Prevention Strategy, however it needs to be combined with other tools and resources to be effective. An over-reliance on quantitative metrics, that do not accurately capture the nuances of fraudulent activity, may therefore miss context and intent.

We recommend that FSRA first provide guidance to mandate that all auto insurers in the province design and implement a robust fraud framework to include policies and procedures, monitoring, audits and governance for their respective book of business. Furthermore, FSRA should then inquire with all auto insurers about what their respective experiences were with law enforcement regarding the actioning of white-collar insurance fraud matters including whether fraud charges ever laid, convictions and whether the sentencing judge order restitution.

Clarity and Ambiguity

One of our primary concerns is the use of the term "fraud event" and how its proposed definition may lead to inconsistent interpretations within the industry. Specifically, the words reasonable grounds for the insurer to believe that a fraud event has occurred or is likely to occur.

We recommend that the words likely to occur be removed from the definition of fraud event. We suggest that only fraud events where there is confirmed evidence of fraud be reported to FSRA as this will provide a clearer picture of the actual fraud trends impacting the industry and expose the bad actors who bolster auto fraud.

Recommendations

We advocate for a collaborative approach that emphasizes information sharing among industry stakeholders (i.e. insurers/law enforcement) and regulatory bodies. Engaging in partnerships to share best practices, insights and trends could lead to more effective fraud prevention strategies without compromising operational integrity.

In addition, insurers need to have the tools to allow them to act on the information developed during the course of an investigation. We recommend that FSRA confirm that insurers have the right to cancel or refuse to renew a policy under appropriate circumstances including:

- providing false information on the approved application form
- making any misrepresentation in the information provided for the purposes of obtaining, updating, or renewing an automobile insurance policy, including on the application form;
- a history of fraudulent activity in relation to an automobile insurance policy and the most recent instance of such an activity occurred less than 7 years before the day of the request to obtain, update or renew an automobile insurance policy.

There is also a noticeable lack of resources allocated to investigating and prosecuting insurance fraud cases. This underfunding hampers the ability of law enforcement and regulatory bodies to effectively combat fraud, allowing dishonest practices to proliferate.

Fraudsters are becoming increasingly sophisticated in their tactics, yet our legal framework remains stagnant. Laws must evolve to address new methods of fraud and provide clear guidelines for insurers on how to identify and report suspicious activities.

Conclusion

We appreciate your dedication to addressing fraud in the auto insurance industry and acknowledge the challenges that come with it. We are committed to work with FSRA and other relevant stakeholders to promote collaboration and efficiency to properly prevent and detect insurance fraud, while maintaining consumer protection.

Thank you for your attention to our concerns.

Yours truly,

TD Insurance

Automobile Insurance Fraud Reporting

Purpose

This Guidance outlines the Financial Services Regulatory Authority of Ontario's ("FSRA") interpretation of requirements under Authority Rule 2024-003 – Fraud Reporting Service ("FRS Rule") and section 101.3 of the Insurance Act (the "Act"), and outlines FSRA's approach to supervising against the reporting requirements outlined in the Act and the FRS Rule.

Specifically, this Guidance provides FSRA's interpretation of several requirements under the FRS Rule regarding:

- the scope of prescribed information an insurer is required to provide when reporting information about fraud events to the Chief Executive Officer ("CEO") or an agency designated by the CEO
- the threshold of what constitutes "reasonable grounds for the insurer to believe" that a fraud event has occurred or is likely to occur, and
- the "action" an insurer may take that triggers an insurer's requirement to report prescribed information to the Fraud Reporting Service ("FRS")

The purpose of the collection of information in the FRS is to support FSRA's effective assessment and detection of automobile insurance fraud in Ontario. Key outcomes associated with this purpose include:

- quantifying the prevalence of automobile insurance fraud in Ontario
- creating a baseline for fraud detection, and
- identifying fraud trends throughout the automobile insurance industry

Scope

This Guidance affects all insurers that are licensed to carry on automobile insurance business in Ontario.

Rationale and background

FSRA's rule-making authority to enact a FRS is derived from paragraph 8.2 of subsection 121.0.1(1) of the Act in conjunction with subsection 101.3(1) of the Act.

The overall objective of the FRS is to improve the use of data in the auto insurance industry's fraud management activities by statutorily authorizing and enabling insurers to report automobile insurance fraud information to the FRS.

The requirement to report information about automobile insurance fraud to the FRS builds on FSRA's existing powers to supervise against unfair or deceptive acts and practices ("UDAP") in the insurance sector. These powers are grounded in section 5 of FSRA's UDAP Rule to address unfair claims practices, and section 6 of the UDAP Rule to address fraudulent or abusive conduct related to goods and services provided to a consumer. Conduct by policyholders, claimants, claims vendors, and other non-licensees is captured by many parts of the UDAP Rule, including sections 5 and 6.

FSRA's collection and consolidation of the information about automobile insurance fraud that insurers are required to report under the Act will help create a baseline of data that can serve the purpose of assessing the amount of fraud in the automobile insurance system in Ontario.

In supervising and regulating the automobile insurance sector, FSRA is guided by its statutory objects under section 3 of the Financial Services Regulatory Authority of Ontario Act, 2016 ("FSRA Act").

Specifically, this Guidance supports outcomes consistent with the following objects:

- to deter deceptive or fraudulent conduct, practices and activities by the regulated sectors
- to promote transparency and disclosure of information by the regulated sectors
- to contribute to public confidence in the automobile insurance sector
- to monitor and evaluate developments and trends in the automobile insurance sector
- to promote high standards of business conduct, and
- to protect the rights and interests of consumers

The FRS aims to reduce consumer harm, including unnecessary costs borne by consumers, as a result of auto mobile insurance fraud.

The FRS Rule and this accompanying Guidance represent the first phase of the development of the FRS. In the second phase of the FRS, FSRA anticipates that information collected in phase one will be available for insurers to access to enable the assessment and detection of fraud by insurers. Phase two is subject to approval from the Ministry of Finance and will depend on the implementation of and outcomes achieved in phase one. Amendments to the Proposed Rule and Guidance are expected to be required before the FRS can proceed to this second phase.

With regards to the first phase of the FRS, FSRA's view is that "assessing and detecting automobile insurance fraud" includes:

- quantifying the prevalence of automobile insurance fraud in Ontario
- creating a baseline for fraud detection, and
- identifying trends throughout the industry

Interpretation

1. What is a “fraud event”?

All insurers must report information about “automobile insurance fraud” to the FRS in accordance with subsection 101.3(1) of the Act and the FRS Rule.

A common understanding of what events, circumstances, or actions are considered to amount to a “fraud event” is important for insurers to understand how to comply with the requirement to provide information to the CEO about “automobile insurance fraud”.

Subsection 3(2) of the FRS Rule requires insurers to provide information in accordance with subsection 101.3(1) of the Act when an insurer has taken action or made a decision based on reasonable grounds for the insurer to believe that a “fraud event” has occurred or is likely to occur. Subsection 1(1) of the FRS Rule defines a “fraud event” as follows:

> “fraud event” means a deceptive act or omission, or series of deceptive acts or omissions intentionally committed by a person(s) to obtain advantage, financial gain, or benefits from an insurer beyond that to which one is entitled to in with regard to any policy, claim, provision of goods or services or other occurrence related to automobile insurance […]

FSRA interprets this phrase broadly to cover a wide range of “deceptive acts or omissions intentionally committed by a person(s) to obtain advantage, financial gain, or benefits from an insurer beyond that to which one is entitled to”. This broad interpretation empowers insurers to identify activities that meet this definition.

Recognizing that the scope of what may constitute a fraud event under the FRS Rule is constantly evolving and that a prescriptive list could not capture all potential occurrences within scope of the definition, subsection 1(1)(e) of the FRS Rule provides a non-exhaustive list of categories of “fraud events”. Examples of specific instances of “fraud events” under these broad categories is included as Appendix A in this Guidance.

2. What is the extent of information about automobile insurance fraud that an insurer must provide?

Section 3(1) of the FRS Rule outlines the scope of "prescribed information" that an insurer must provide:

> "Prescribed information includes all information, including personal information, in the insurer's possession, control or power […] where the information provides reasonable grounds for the insurer to believe that a fraud event has occurred or is likely to occur".

FSRA interprets "all information" to mean all relevant information, without restriction or limitation, where the information provides reasonable grounds for the insurer to believe that a "fraud event" has occurred or is likely to occur.

The scope of information in section 3(1) is unqualified. As a result, if an insurer knowingly or unknowingly withholds prescribed information in their possession, control or power, including any and all relevant data points outlined in Appendix B of this Guidance, then the insurer would be in contravention of the Act and the FRS Rule, which may result in FSRA initiating measures to enforce compliance.

3. What type of information provides "reasonable grounds for an insurer to believe that a fraud event has occurred or is likely to occur"?

Insurers are required under the FRS Rule to report all information about automobile insurance fraud where the information provides reasonable grounds for the insurer to suspect that a fraud event has occurred or is likely to occur.

Understanding the difference between the prescribed "reasonable grounds to believe" ("RGB") threshold for reportable information and other thresholds is important for an insurer to understand the standard and scope of information that must be reported to the FRS.

This RGB threshold is intentionally prescribed in the FRS Rule to prevent premature, unnecessary, or inaccurate information from being reported to the FRS, but also to encourage reporting before an adjudicated finding of automobile insurance fraud is secured. The RGB is intended to reflect a middle-ground between suspicion, and confirmation of fraud, resulting in information most beneficial to the automobile insurance sector in assessing and detecting these fraud events.

To illustrate the RGB threshold, this guidance distinguishes between three thresholds of information: suspicion of fraud, reasonable grounds to believe fraud has occurred, a conclusion that fraud has occurred. A suspicion of fraud is the lowest threshold, and a conclusion that fraud has occurred is the highest threshold.

The highest threshold will include all information captured by the lower thresholds, with the only difference being an increased level of evidence or facts that confirm the existence of automobile insurance fraud.

Lowest threshold: Suspicion that a fraud event has occurred

Insurers are not required to report information if they only have suspicion that a fraud event has occurred or is likely to occur.

Suspicion means an insurer may have an indication that something is unusual or suspicious, but does not yet have verified facts that can confirm the suspicion of a fraud event or elevate the suspicion into a reasonable belief that a fraud event has occurred. Indications of a fraud event may be based on not-yet-verified evidence received from an external source, such as a law enforcement agency or another insurer.

The suspicion could come from a discrepancy from: a written document that was filed on a claim, a claim filed shortly after a new policy is bound, a conversation with the insured, claimant or other involved party, a tip from a broker, police officer or other party, external intelligence (such as information from a conference or meeting), and an indicator from a fraud software solution.

Reasonable grounds to suspect that a fraud event has occurred may exist where the insurer investigates into their suspicion of a fraud event having occurred, and discovers further indicators or facts that warrant verification and further investigation. The suspicion at this stage is based on limited unverified evidence and does not raise to a belief that a fraud event has occurred.

Suspicion of a fraud event is relevant to the extent that it may prompt an insurer to assess the factual circumstances of the situation to identify any additional information or evidence that would support or confirm this simple suspicion.

Example: A consumer purchases an automobile insurance policy on their truck. 3 days after purchasing the policy, the individual reports the vehicle as stolen. At this point, the insurer has no evidence that the consumer has fraudulently reported the vehicle as stolen, but the insurer nevertheless suspects that the consumer may be engaging in automobile insurance fraud based on previous investigations with similar facts. The insurer does not report any information to the FRS as the information only rises to the threshold of suspicion.

Prescribed threshold: Reasonable grounds to believe (“RGB”) a fraud event has occurred or is likely to occur

Insurers are required to report prescribed information once it meets this threshold.

Section 3(1) of the FRS Rule clarifies that information is prescribed information is only where “the information provides reasonable grounds for the insurer to believe that a fraud event has occurred or is likely to occur”.

FSRA interprets “reasonable grounds […] to believe” to include evidence, verified facts, context, or indicators that support a high degree of certainty that a fraud event has occurred or is likely to occur, warranting further action by the insurer but not allowing the insurer to conclude that a fraud event has occurred.

Information that meets the RGB threshold will allow an insurer to demonstrate and articulate their belief that a fraud event has occurred or is likely to occur in such a way that another insurer reviewing the same material with similar knowledge, experience, or training would likely reach the same conclusion.

Many factors will support an insurer’s assessment and conclusion that there are reasonable grounds to believe a fraud event has occurred or is likely to occur, all of which are required to be reported to the FRS.

Example: A consumer purchases an automobile insurance policy on their truck. 3 days after purchasing the policy, the consumer reports the vehicle as stolen. One week following the consumer reporting the theft, the insurer receives a tip from a credible source that the consumer has been implicated in a vehicle theft ring. After verifying the information provided by the tip, the insurer has reasonable grounds to believe that the consumer is engaging in automobile insurance fraud with respect to their own car that they have reported as stolen. Even though the insurer does not have any direct evidence to conclude that the consumer has engaged in fraud, the insurer has opened an investigation and has started gathering evidence relating to the consumer's claim. The insurer reports all information that supports their reasonable grounds to believe a fraud event has occurred to the FRS.

Highest threshold: Conclusion of fraud

Insurers should update the reported information once they have concluded that a fraud event has in fact occurred. If an insurer comes into possession of information that allows them to bypass the lower thresholds and immediately conclude that a fraud event has concurred, then the insurer will still need to report the information to the FRS.

At this threshold, an insurer has investigated, verified, and concluded that a fraud event has in fact occurred.

The threshold of information may cause the insurer to:

- pay or process a claim despite having information that allows the insurer to conclude that fraud has occurred
- deny a claim on the basis of it being fraudulent
- refer the claim or policy to a law enforcement or state agency to further the investigation and pursue criminal or other action
- seek an adjudicated finding of civil or criminal fraud, or
- secure an "in-fact determination" that fraud has occurred

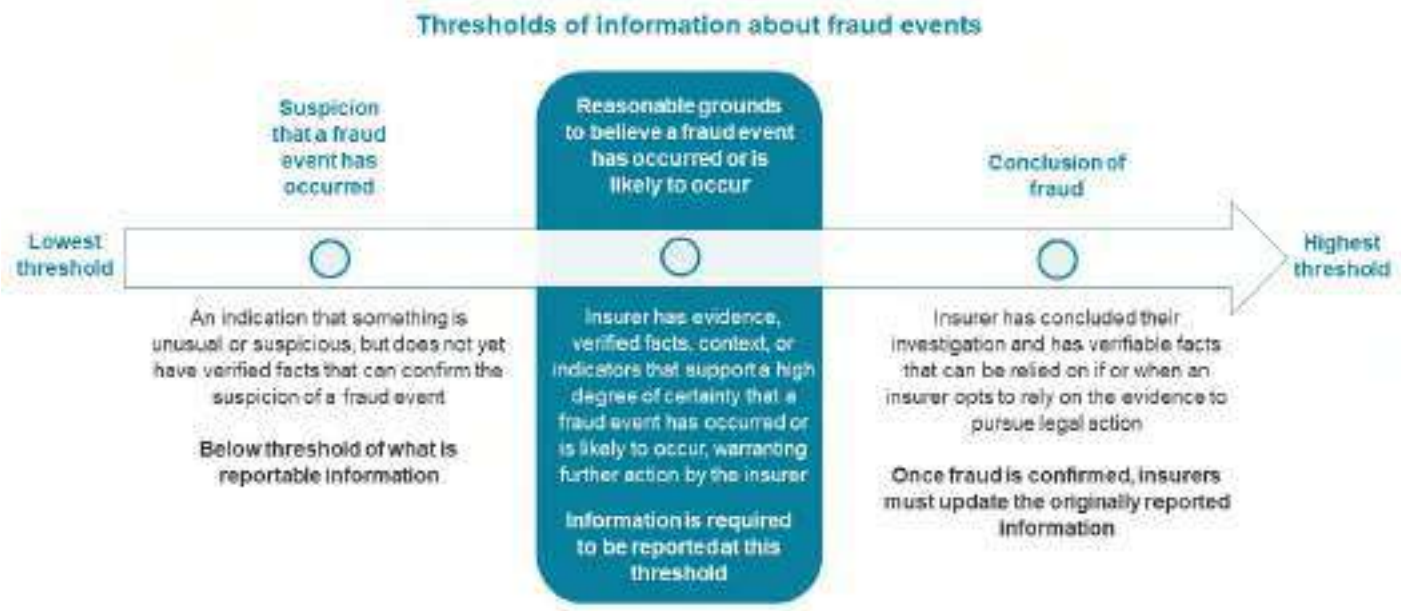
Example: A consumer purchases an automobile insurance policy on their truck. 3 days after purchasing the policy, the consumer reports the vehicle as stolen. One week following the consumer reporting the theft, the insurer receives a tip from a credible source that the consumer has been implicated in a vehicle theft ring. The insurer launches an investigation during which the insurer obtains video evidence that places the consumer in the vehicle at the location where the truck was later recovered. Based on this evidence, the insurer denies the claim on the basis of it being fraudulent and refers the claim to law enforcement to pursue criminal charges. The insurer updates the information they previously reported to the FRS, including a description of the video evidence that led to their conclusion that a fraud event had occurred.

Insurers are required to update information in the FRS when the information meets the threshold of conclusion that a fraud event has occurred

Section 4 of the FRS Rule requires insurers to ensure all prescribed information provided to the CEO shall be complete, up to date, and factually correct.

If an insurer subsequently becomes aware that the information the insurer previously provided is or has become incomplete, out-of-date, or factually incorrect (e.g., the insurer has discovered information that has allowed them to conclude that fraud has occurred), then compliance with section 4 of the FRS Rule necessitates that the insurer take steps to update the information to ensure that the information provided to the FRS remains complete, up to date, and factually correct.

If an insurer reports information based on the RGB threshold, and subsequently collects further information that leads to a conclusion that a fraud event has occurred, the insurer shall update the originally-reported information based on the new information that resulted in a higher threshold.



4. What “action” triggers an insurer’s requirement to report prescribed information about automobile insurance fraud to the FRS?

Subsection 3(2) of the FRS Rule requires that:

> An insurer shall within thirty days after the close of each quarterly period of the calendar year provide the information prescribed in subsection 3(1) with respect to instances of automobile insurance fraud which in the preceding quarter the insurer has taken action or made a decision based on reasonable grounds for the insurer to believe that a fraud event has occurred or is likely to occur.

“Action” is interpreted to mean any definitive decision to act based on reasonable grounds to believe a fraud event has occurred or likely to occur. To trigger an insurer’s requirement to report the prescribed information, an insurer must both have information that meets the RGB threshold and the insurer must take action based on information that meets the RGB threshold.

The following is a non-exhaustive list of “actions” an insurer could take that would trigger an insurer’s requirement to provide the prescribed information to the CEO:

- escalating a file for further investigation to SIU
- denying a claim
- voiding or otherwise terminating an insurance policy

The following is a non-exhaustive list of “decisions” an insurer could take that would trigger an insurer’s requirement to provide the prescribed information to the CEO:

- paying or processing a claim despite having information that provides reasonable grounds to believe that fraud has occurred or is likely to occur
- closing a claim made under a policy that has been abandoned by the claimant

5. How much personal information is necessary for the purposes of subsection 101.3 of the Act?

Subsections 3(3) and 3(4) of the FRS Rule limit insurers from providing more personal information than is necessary for the purposes set out in subsection 101.3(2) of the Act (“assessing and detecting automobile insurance fraud”), and requires insurers to de-identify all names and identifying numbers, symbols or other particulars assigned to individuals unless disclosure of this information is necessary for the purposes set out in the Act:

> 3(3) An insurer shall not disclose personal information that is not necessary for the purposes set out in subsection 101.3(2) of the Act when providing the prescribed information to the Chief Executive Officer.
> 3(4) An insurer shall de-identify all names and identifying numbers, symbols or other particulars assigned to individuals before an insurer provides the prescribed information to the Chief Executive Officer unless disclosure of the names or other identifying information is necessary for the purposes set out in subsection 101.3(2) of the Act.

Insurers are not required to report personal information that is not necessary for the purposes set out in subsection 101.3(2) of the Act.

FSRA interprets the statutory purpose, “assessing and detecting automobile insurance fraud” to enable FSRA to:

- quantifying the prevalence of automobile insurance fraud in Ontario
- creating a baseline for fraud detection, and
- identifying trends throughout the industry

This interpretation reflects the first phase of FSRA’s approach to building the FRS, which focuses solely on the FRS collection of information about automobile insurance fraud.

FSRA anticipates a second phase where information collected in phase one will enable insurers to use the information. The personal information listed in the Appendix may be necessary to include in phase two reporting.

FSRA will work with insurers to create unique identifiers for each instance of reporting. These unique identifiers will allow insurers to update information provided in phase one with personal information where necessary for phase two. This Guidance will need to be updated before proceeding to this second phase.

Approach

Supervision and enforcement

The main outcome that FSRA aims to achieve through administering the FRS requirements under the Act and the FRS Rule is to empower insurers to better manage and reduce automobile insurance fraud by mandating the reporting of prescribed information about automobile insurance fraud to the FRS. To that end, insurers should design and organize internal policies, processes, controls, and governance procedures in a manner that facilitates compliance with the requirements under the Act and the FRS Rule, as interpreted in this Guidance.

FSRA intends to supervise against the requirements outlined under the Act and the FRS Rule by using its investigation and examination powers under the Act. Following an investigation and examination of an insurer's acts and practices, pursuant to the provisions of the Act, FSRA has the authority to:

- issue a compliance order to insurers, or[1]
- lay provincial offence charges against insurers[2]

FSRA will exercise its discretion when conducting its supervisory activities by considering the extent to which an insurer's fraud reporting system has been implemented effectively by management through policies, processes, systems and associated controls.

FSRA will evaluate insurers' processes, controls, and governance during supervisory reviews. This includes verifying the presence of adequate controls and ensuring that reporting meets the requirements as outlined. While FSRA retains the authority to sanction non-compliance with the FRS requirements, the supervisory approach will take in account the efforts made by insurers to comply and their efforts to achieve the desired outcomes.

Implementation of controls and governance

To comply with the FRS requirements, FSRA encourages insurers to design and implement a robust framework that encompasses the following elements:

- Policies and procedures: Clear and detailed policies and procedures that facilitate compliance with the FRS Rule and Act. This should include steps to identify and report information related to instances of automobile insurance fraud. These should be regularly updated to reflect any changes in the regulatory environment and/or emerging fraud trends.

[1] FSRA seek a court issued compliance order pursuant to s. 448(1) of the Act.
[2] FSRA may pursue the laying of provincial offences as set out in s. 447(2) of the Act.

- Monitoring and reporting systems: Systems for monitoring and detecting fraud events as outlined in the FRS Rule and Act. These systems should be capable of capturing and reporting the prescribed information in a timely and accurate manner.

- Internal audits and reviews: Regular internal audits and reviews to assess the effectiveness of the fraud management framework. This helps in identifying any gaps or areas for improvement.

- Governance and oversight: Strong governance structures with clear accountability and oversight mechanisms.

While the elements identified above are not mandatory, they can, depending on the circumstances, be reflective of whether an insurer has met their obligations with respect to the FRS requirements.

Effective date and future review

This Guidance will become effective on [TBD] and will be reviewed no later than [TBD].

About this Guidance

This document is consistent with FSRA's Guidance Framework. As Approach guidance, it describes FSRA's internal principles, processes and practices for supervisory action and application of CEO discretion. It does not create compliance obligations for regulated parties but can be considered indicative of FSRA's position, and it does not alter requirement to comply with existing legal and regulatory framework. As Interpretation guidance, it describes FSRA's view of requirements under its legislative mandate (i.e. legislation, regulations and rules) so that non-compliance can lead to enforcement or supervisory action.

This could include non-disclosure of drivers, residency, and mileage driven on vehicles • Quote manipulation (to generate the lowest premium)
Fraud perpetrated through fraudulent claims	Fraud committed by policy holder when a claim has been made on a policy	• Falsely claiming damage to a covered automobile as a result of an auto accident when another caused the damage • Claim embellishment-exaggerated/fabricated vehicle contents, false car seat claims, false invoices for items (often to cover deductible)

For the text of the Proposed Rule please see Appendix A to this Notice.

2. Statutory Authority under which the Rule is proposed

Section 101.3 of the Act, when proclaimed into force, will require insurers to provide the Chief Executive Officer or an agency designated by the Chief Executive Officer (referred to collectively as the "CEO" in this Notice) with information prescribed by the Proposed Rule about automobile insurance fraud at such times and in accordance with such requirements as may be prescribed by the Proposed Rule.

To this end, section 101.3 further provides FSRA the express statutory authority to directly or indirectly collect, use and disclose personal information about identifiable individuals provided that the collection, use, or disclosure is for the purpose of assessing and detecting automobile insurance fraud.

Section 101.3 in conjunction with paragraph 8.2 of subsection 121.0.1(1) of the Act gives FSRA the authority to prescribe the information outlined in section 101.3 in accordance with the Proposed Rule included in this Notice.

3. Statement of the substance and purpose of the Proposed Rule

The purpose of the Proposed Rule is to prescribe information that automobile insurers must provide to FSRA, and the corresponding requirements regarding the reporting of the prescribed information. Once in force, the Proposed Rule will give operational effect to FSRA's Fraud Reporting Service ("FRS").

The main outcome FSRA aims to achieve through the implementation of the FRS is to collect information to create a baseline of data that will quantify the amount of automobile insurance fraud and better enable the automobile insurance sector to assess and detect such fraud in Ontario.

The purpose of collecting this information is to support the more effective assessment and detection of automobile insurance fraud in Ontario. Key outcomes associated with this purpose include:

- quantifying the prevalence of automobile insurance fraud in Ontario;
- creating a baseline for fraud detection; and
- identifying trends throughout the industry.

Achieving these outcomes supports FSRA's goal of reducing consumer harm caused through fraud, and reducing unnecessary externality costs to be borne by consumers.

The Proposed Rule and accompanying Interpretation Guidance (the "Guidance") represents the first phase of the development of a functional FRS. FSRA anticipates a second phase of the FRS where information that has been collected will be available for insurers to access to enable the assessing and detecting of fraud. Amendments to the Proposed Rule and Guidance are expected to be required before the FRS can proceed to this second phase.

The substance of the Proposed Rule centers around prescribed information about automobile insurance fraud, and requirements associated with the insurer's statutory duty to report the prescribed information.

With regards to the information prescribed about automobile insurance fraud, the Proposed Rule defines a "fraud event" as a deceptive act or omission intentionally committed by a person(s) to obtain advantage, financial gain, or benefits beyond that to which one is entitled to with regard to any policy, claim, provision of goods or services or other occurrence related to automobile insurance. Included in this definition is a non-exhaustive list of categories that each instance of a fraud event may fall under.

With regards to the prescribed information about automobile insurance fraud, the Proposed Rule prescribes that insurers must report all information that provides reasonable grounds for the insurer to believe that a fraud event has occurred or is likely to occur.

The Proposed Rule further clarifies that this prescribed information must be reported if and only if the insurer has taken action based on the information that provided reasonable grounds for the insurer to believe that a fraud event has occurred or is likely to occur.

Once an insurer holds information that provides reasonable grounds for the insurer to believe that a fraud event has occurred or is likely to occur and have taken action based on said information, an insurer is required to report the information to the FRS within thirty (30) days after the close of each quarterly period of the calendar year.

With regards to requirements associated with the insurer's statutory duty to report the prescribed information, the Proposed Rule requires that all prescribed information be complete, accurate and up-to-date, and imposes an ongoing obligation on the insurer to take reasonable steps to ensure the information remains complete, accurate and up-to-date or otherwise recommend that the information be removed from the FRS.

FSRA will be publishing for public consultation Guidance that will set out FSRA's interpretation of several requirements under the Proposed Rule regarding:

- The scope of information an insurer is required to provide when reporting information about a "fraud event" to the CEO;

- The threshold of what constitutes "reasonable grounds for the insurer to believe" that a fraud event has occurred or is likely to occur; and

- The "action" an insurer may take that triggers an insurer's requirement to report prescribed information to the FRS.

The Guidance will also set out FSRA's approach in administering the Proposed Rule, including:

- How FSRA will supervise insurers in reviewing their policies, processes, systems and associated controls to ensure compliance with the Proposed Rule;

- How FSRA will exercise its discretion when enforcing against the requirements in the Proposed Rule; and

- How FSRA will utilize its enforcement powers to address non-compliance with requirements in the Proposed Rule.

4. Summary of the Proposed Rule

This section describes the requirements outlined in the Proposed Rule, that, if approved by the Minister, will operationalize the reporting of information about automobile insurance fraud by insurers to the FRS.

Section 1 – Definitions

This section outlines key definitions used throughout the Proposed Rule, including the definition of a "fraud event". The broad scope of what may constitute a fraud event is further informed by the definition's non-exhaustive list of several categories of fraud that are pertinent to the automobile insurance sector.

Section 2 – Interpretation

This section outlines how the Proposed Rule is to be interpreted.

Section 3 – Prescribed information under subsection 101.3(1) of the Act

This section sets out the prescribed information under subsection 101.3(1) of the Act.

This section:

- prescribes the scope and threshold [or standard] of information that every insurer licensed under the Act is required to report under subsection 101.3(1) of the Act. Specifically, an insurer is required to report all information in the insurer's possession, control or power related to any policy, claim, provision of goods or services or any other occurrence or event where the information provides reasonable grounds for the insurer to believe that a fraud event has occurred or is likely to occur;

- prescribes the activity-based trigger for an insurer to report the prescribed information, such that an insurer is required to report prescribed information within thirty days after the close of each [quarter] only if they have taken action or made a decision based on the prescribed information;

- requires that insurers include personal information in the prescribed information only if the personal information is necessary the purpose of assessing and detecting automobile insurance fraud; and

- requires insurers to de-identify all personal information in the prescribed information unless disclosure of the personal information is necessary for the purpose of assessing and detecting automobile insurance fraud.

Section 4 – Reporting requirements – Prescribed information

This section sets out additional requirements regarding the reporting of the prescribed information outlined in section 3 of the Proposed Rule.

This section:

- requires that an insurer ensures that all prescribed information is complete, up to date, and factually correct prior to reporting the information as required; and

- requires an insurer to inform the CEO and take reasonable steps to correct information if the insurer becomes aware that information reported is not complete, up to date, or factually correct.

Section 5 – Transitional

This section clarifies that insurers are not required to report the prescribed information in accordance with the rule until after [date TBD].

Section 6 – Coming into Force

This section clarifies that the Proposed Rule will come into force on the later of the date that subsection 101.3(1) and clause 8.2 of subsection 121.0.1(1) of the Act comes into force and 15 days after the Rule is approved by the Minister.

5. Unpublished Material

In making the Proposed Rule, FSRA has retained the consultant services of the International Fraud Training Group, who have provided FSRA with unpublished written materials that have been relied in part to inform drafting of the Proposed Rule.

6. Alternatives Considered

i. Prescribing specific data points that insurers would be required to report under subsection 101.3(1) of the Act

The Proposed Rule requires insurers to report all information in the insurer's possession, control or power related to any policy, claim, provision of goods or services or any other occurrence or event where the information provides reasonable grounds for the insurer to believe that a fraud event has occurred or is likely to occur.

As an alternative, FSRA considered prescribing an all-encompassing list of data points that insurers would be required to submit to the FRS. This approach was not followed for three reasons.

First, a prescriptive list of data points about a "fraud event" could only be amended via an amendment to the Proposed Rule. The time it takes to amend an Authority Rule would not be adaptable to an ever-evolving list of data points that may be material to assessing and detecting fraud events.

Second, prescribing an all-encompassing list of data points is inconsistent with FSRA's principles-based and outcomes-focused approach to regulation. A prescriptive approach would overshadow the intended outcome of insurers reporting information according to a particular standard of proof or threshold of materiality and would turn the Proposed Rule into a listing and indexing exercise of prescribed information.

Third, FSRA recognizes that the ever-evolving nature of automobile insurance fraud requires flexibility and adaptability in the types of information that insurers must report to the FRS. FSRA intentionally has chosen not to prescribe all relevant data points before information begins to be reported by insurers. In other words, the most relevant information that will ultimately achieve the FRS's purpose will become more apparent only after insurers begin reporting to the FRS. FSRA intentionally chose not to limit the scope of information to a prescribed list that may or may not be reflective of market realities.

ii. Alternate thresholds of information an insurer would be required to report under subsection 101.3(1) of the Act

The Proposed Rule requires insurers to only report information to the FRS where the information provides reasonable grounds for the insurer to believe that a fraud event has occurred or is likely to occur. FSRA's interpretation of information that would constitute "reasonable grounds to believe" is outlined in the Guidance.

FSRA considered alternative thresholds that would impact the scope of information that insurers would ultimately need to report to the FRS including:

- No threshold (i.e., "all information about a fraud event"): This would require insurers to report all information, without any modification or clarification of scope, about a fraud event, as defined in the Proposed Rule. FSRA did not choose this option as it provided uncertainty to the scope of information to be provided.

- "Reasonable grounds to suspect": This threshold is lower than the prescribed "reasonable grounds to believe" threshold in the sense insurers would be required to report information where the information provides mere "suspicion" that a fraud event has occurred or is likely to occur. FSRA did not choose this option as this threshold may invite information that may be premature, inaccurate, or unverifiable. Reasonable grounds to believe, on the other hand, require more than mere suspicion, as well as verifiable evidence relating to the belief. Further, "suspicion" may be inconsistently interpreted throughout the sector, resulting in ambiguity regarding the scope of information that is required to be provided.

- "Belief based on a balance of probabilities": This threshold is higher than "reasonable grounds to believe" in the sense that this threshold is similar to the civil standard of proof required in civil trial cases. FSRA did not choose this option as this threshold may invite too little information to be reported. Once information has reached this threshold, it already provides a basis for seeking civil legal action. Rather, FSRA is requiring information that serves the purpose of enabling the assessing and detecting of automobile insurance fraud, information that reaches this civil standard includes instances of fraud has already been assessed and detected and is ready for adjudication.

- "Adjudicated finding of a fraud event": Similar to the above, this is the highest threshold of information, that would require reporting to the FRS only if the information is used to adjudicate a finding a fraud event. This option was not chosen because it would result in the lowest amount of information being reported, albeit resulting in highly reliable information.

iii. Alternate timing requirements for when an insurer is required to report information to the FRS

The Proposed Rule requires insurers to report the prescribed information to the FRS on a quarterly basis only if the insurer has taken action or made a decision based on information that meets the prescribed threshold. FSRA's interpretation of information that would constitute "action" or a "decision" is outlined in the Guidance.

FSRA decided on this requirement to provide sufficient time for the insurer to prepare information that must be reported, and to ensure that information that may be premature or not actionable is not reported to the FRS.

As an alternative, FSRA also considered alternate timing requirements for insurers to report the prescribed information to the FRS:

- Reporting information within a prescribed number of days following the conclusion of an insurer's investigation about a fraud event: FSRA considered an arbitrary number of days (e.g., 30 days) that an insurer would have following the conclusion of an investigation to report the information. This option was not chosen because of the arbitrariness of the time period and also because the conclusion of an investigation was determined by FSRA to be too high of a standard to require information to be reported.

- Reporting information within a "reasonable" amount of time following the conclusion of an insurer's investigation about a fraud event: Similar to the above, this option was not chosen because FSRA decided there needs to be some certainty about the timing requirement (i.e., a "reasonable" amount of time may differ significantly throughout the sector), and that the conclusion of an investigation is too high of a standard to require information to be reported.

- Real-time Reporting once information reaches prescribed threshold: This option was not chosen due to perceived inconsistencies and ambiguities regarding what point-in-time an insurer is required to report, as well as the administrative burden real-time reporting would place on insurers and FSRA. For example, it is possible that one insurer may subjectively determine that their information gathered does not reach the threshold of "reasonable grounds to believe" that a fraud event has occurred, whereas a different insurer with the same information may subjectively determine their information does reach the prescribed threshold and thus be required to report.

7. Anticipated Costs and Benefits

Qualitative benefits associated with operationalization of the Proposed Rule may include:

- Enabling FSRA to monitor and evaluate developments and trends of fraud in the automobile insurance industry;

- Holding insurers accountable for reporting fraud; and

- Developing a common understanding of automobile insurance fraud amongst all participants of the automobile insurance system.

Qualitative costs associated with operationalization of the Proposed Rule may include:

- Familiarization with a net-new reporting requirement;

- ‘Growing pains’ associated with net-new reporting requirement, including erroneous or premature reporting; and

- Understanding how to comply with a principles-based and outcomes-focused reporting requirement.

Quantitative benefits associated with operationalization of the Proposed Rule may include:

- Enabling FSRA’s ability to quantify the prevalence of automobile insurance fraud in Ontario;

- Gathering of information about automobile insurance fraud may inform how resources can be most efficiently allocated to reduce costs to insurers and ultimately consumers.

New quantitative costs associated with operationalization of the Proposed Rule for both FSRA and insurers may include:

- Anticipated system and data collection resources needed to adapt to new reporting requirements.

- Data integrity and quality during the initial stages of reporting may cause initial challenges.

- Investment in data security and encryption technology will need to be considered to protect data.

8. Regulations to be Amended

FSRA does not intend to make any recommendations with respect to the amendment or revocation of a regulation or provision in a regulation that relates to the implementation of the Proposed Rule. FSRA expects that in due course certain regulations or provisions in regulations will be amended or revoked in a manner consistent with the operationalization of the Proposed Rule.

15. I note that Vice Chair Lake has represented on the LSO Directory that she is employed by LAT/AABS and located at 25 Grosvenor Street, Toronto, Ontario.

16. I note that Mr. Boyce represented on the LSO Directory that he was employed by SLASTO, which I believe is a cluster or sub-cluster within the cluster of the 13 tribunals that make up Tribunals Ontario.

17. I confirm that when I attempted to deliver my application fee for my access request of the LAT in September 2024 (ironically, in my view, the same date that VCM represented that the VCM Decision was dated albeit discrepantly with the signed copy of the same) that I could not enter 15 Grosvenor Street as it denoted that said building was closed to the public since the pandemic. I then attended the building and premises at 25 Grosvenor Street and was able to deliver the same to the privacy division of LAT.

VOLUME #5: COPY OF SELECT RELEVANT PARAGRAPHS FROM MY DRAFT ORAL OUTLINE AND ORAL COMPENDIUM

23. I now copy and paste from my oral outline (draft), contained at Tab 1 therein, which I have attempted to adhere to the principles on Robertson,

[start of quotation]

ISSUE #4: Footnote #4CC: Two competing interests: fully informed adjudication of issues vs. tribunal impartiality

The two most important considerations, drawn from those cases, were the (i) "importance of having a fully informed adjudication of the issues before the court" (para. 37); and (ii) "the importance of maintaining tribunal impartiality" (para. 38). The principle of impartiality is implicated by tribunal argument on appeal, because decisions may in some cases be remitted to the tribunal for further consideration. Stratas J.A. found that "[s]ubmissions by the tribunal in a judicial review proceeding that descend too far, too intensely, or too aggressively into the merits of the matter before the tribunal may disable the tribunal from conducting an impartial redetermination of the merits later": Quadrion, at para. 16 [see paragraph 30 of Ontario Energy Board].

Finality, the principle whereby a tribunal may not speak on a matter again once it has decided upon it and provided reasons for its decision, is discussed in greater detail below, as it is more directly related to concerns surrounding "overstepping," rather than agency standing itself. The court should limit tribunal participation if it will undermine future confidence in its objectivity. The court identified a list of factors, discussed further below, that may assist in determining whether and to what extent the tribunal should be permitted to make submissions: paras. 36-38 of Goodis[1]. If the judicial review application involves only questions of law or primarily questions of law (or the limitation of the appeal to questions of law or to extricable questions of law from a finding of mixed fact and law and/or findings of fact unsupported by evidence which are questions of law) in relation to certain decisions and orders, then the participation (not necessarily intervention) of the Tribunal in this JRPA Proceeding is not particularly necessary or relevant."

[END OF QUOTATION]

24. The Applicant's now stated and formal position, by the provision of notice to SLASTO, LAT and Mr. Boyce including any other potential counsel (lawyer licensee representative) is encapsulated in the current draft in the Oral Outline (draft form):

[start of quotation]

ISSUE #4: VOLUME #5(A)CC: Mr. Boyce's admission, by conduct, in January 2025, has disabled the Tribunal from adjudicating the matter any further and Mr. Boyce must be prohibited from acting in this JRPA Proceeding

The prime principle of impartiality is implicated by tribunal argument in this JRPA Application at bar, because decisions may in some cases be remitted to the tribunal for further consideration. The LSO public exercise management resources and By-Laws, which have legislative force, are of great import. From the ONSC – Nothnagel v. Ludwig as per Gordon J. of the Central West Region, articulated the legal principles in relation to the ONSC (which the ONSC Divisional Court is the intermediate appellate court or "court of review").

This Court's jurisdiction to remove Bennett Jones LLP as counsel for Talisman on the basis of a conflict of interest is an inherent one. It is not derived from any particular legislation or rule. It is grounded in the Court's objective to safeguard the proper administration of justice. Pahl v. Katz Group Canada Ltd., [2006] O.J. No 4596 (S.C.J.) at paragraph 23

> [14] The question is whether these Defendants have established on a balance of probabilities that a fair minded and reasonably informed member of the public would conclude that the removal of Bennett Jones LLP as counsel for Talisman is necessary for the proper administration of justice. MacDonald Estate v. Martin, 1990 CanLII 32 (SCC), [1990] 3 S.C.R. 1235 at paragraph 47.
> [14] The question is whether these Defendants have established on a balance of probabilities that a fair-minded and reasonably informed member of the public would conclude that the removal of Bennett Jones LLP as counsel for Talisman is necessary for the proper administration of justice. MacDonald Estate v. Martin, 1990 CanLII 32 (SCC), [1990] 3 S.C.R. 1235 at paragraph 47.
> [15] In analyzing the question, the Court may consider any applicable rules of professional conduct. Where there is a rule or guideline or ethical principle directly on point, the Court ought to consider it but is not bound by it. MacDonald Estate, supra, at paragraph 21

As it relates to a lawyer, which Mr. Boyce is albeit he must have taken active steps to hide his address and employer name of SLASTO after the conflict of interest was drawn to his attention on December 30, 2024. Mr. Boyce also made up a new version of the law that there was some kind of extension for the Tribunal to file the record of proceeding within 60 days of an applicant, in a JRPA matter bringing her JRPA application. Apparently, Mr. Boyce's views and practices are more important and take precedence and/or are parametral to that of a well-functioning democratic society under the rule of law by a democratically elected members of the Legislature. In any event, he has not even followed his created non-law requirement

Mr. Boyce, the SLASTO cluster, Tribunal (LAT) and the divisional AABS will now have to face the evidence that there is a systemic issue if the LAT wishes to obtain leave to file its factum and application record past the deadline imposed by our Lieutenant Governor under the Rules of Civil Procedure. Moreover, there cannot be a case conference at ANY TIME with Mr. Boyce as counsel to the LAT because he would be in breach of his professional obligations and duties as an officer of the court.

Moreover, without a record of proceeding, to the extent that "prematurity" needed to be "discussed" (whatever that means in fact or in law – leaving aside another conflict of interest, albeit without any where near the allegations made and directly aimed at the Tribunal and Mr. Boyce) such discussions cannot occur in the abstract. Mr. Boyce in his undated imaging are of emails with this DNSC (Divisional Court) copied not only the Applicant and other respondents and their counsel, which, with the benefit of hindsight bias and retrospection had self evident purposes, relied on Awanda and Hoogstra. Awanda's legal principles are in the Applicant's factum. Hoogstra has about as much relevance here on Mr. Boyce's representation of the Tribunal herein considering his representation of the Tribunal, and provision of legal advice to it involving the LAT Proceeding.

Mr. Boyce has an overriding duty as an officer of the court. Lawyers are officers of the court in Canada. This means that lawyers are part of the legal system and have a role in the administration of justice. The Applicant forcefully notes the overlap between the jurisdiction of this court to remove counsel to the Tribunal for disrupted its arguments pursuant to In Taylor, ONSC Divisional Court (Toronto) as per The Honourable Justices Ryan Bell, Nishikawa, and Shore JJ and the role of a lawyer, as an officer of the court in the administration of justice.

Lawyers are officers of the court when they appear in court on behalf of a client. They are expected to uphold the authority and dignity of the court, and to serve the cause of justice.

In 2010, Chief Justice Winkler, in the "Remarks of Chief Justice Warren K. Winkler on the Occasion of the Law Society of Upper Canada's Call to the Bar Ceremony Toronto, Ontario June 15, 2010"[3] stated the following:

> "The privilege of call to counsel a lawyer comes with many perquisites. You will be treated with respect and deference not only by your clients, but also by the public generally. You will be recognized as an officer of the court whose job is not > in a courtroom. You will have the distinction of being gowned, as you are today, whenever you appear in court on behalf of a party. The gown is itself a special distinction, a powerful sign or manifestation of dignity and worth. You will have the pleasure and satisfaction of being referred to as "counsel" by judges and opposing lawyers.

It is now notable that the one thing that Mr. Boyce has had an interest in doing is that of "appearing in the courtroom" and filing a factum and application record on behalf of the Tribunal within 30 days of December 12, 2024. Moreover, from the outset, the Tribunal, through Mr. Boyce, has not complied with its statutory duty to file forthwith the record of proceeding.

With that in reliance of this Oral Outline and other filed documents with this ONSC Divisional Court, will be the consideration of the formal adjournment request (as per Ms. Hannah Lee representing to the Applicant it could be made two days before January 24, 2025), with supporting materials, relying upon, inter alia, that the Tribunal must address a motion as to whether it has lost jurisdiction based upon, inter alia, Mr. Boyce's contemplated dual roles of providing legal advice to the Tribunal regarding decisions to be issued and providing advice to the Tribunal in this very JRPA Proceeding. Parenthetically, it does not mean that such conflict of interest does not arise in a LAT Act Appeal but it is more obvious and glaring when there is no stay of the underlying LAT proceeding. For the Court's benefit, there are other grounds and not squarely on Mr. Boyce and his displayed employer SLASTO (LAT), at the very same office building of adjudicators and vice-chairs for the LAT in that in relation to a document production motion, partly granted in favour of the SADS Applicant, one Mr. Kanji purporting to comply with the same provided documents, non-responsive to the order of the Tribunal, on behalf of "TDGLC" with an email title of "Melanie v. TDGLC". It is rather ironic twist considering the decision of VCM in NOM 413 involving a non-party in TDGLC – of which said decisions and orders therein (not in NOM 414) is not under judicial review.
As per the ONSC in Talisman, rules of professional conduct are most instructive:

> Duties owed to third persons can created conflicts of interest. It is trite that the more important, by a considerable distance, persons with respect to duties is that of this ONSC Divisional Court which includes its staff, and those ordre de la crème former lawyers named judges, when compared to that of the JRPA Applicant. Nonetheless, there are multiple third persons to which Mr. Boyce owes duties.

> A conflict of interest exists when there is a substantial risk that a lawyer or paralegal's loyalty to or representation of a client would be materially and adversely affected by competing duties to another party or competing interests between the client(s) and the licensee. Because even well-intentioned licensees may not realize that the performance of their duties has been impaired, the rules address the risk of impairment rather than actual impairment. Substantial risk means a significant and plausible risk. It need not be certain or even likely, but it must be more than a mere possibility. Conflicts of interest may fall into one of the below categories.[1]

A client cannot waive a COI where the lawyer may be a witness (see Wheeler v. Taylor, 2024 ONSC 818 as per Justice Dietrich. At paragraph 31, Justice Dietrich, citing Dagenais v. Allen Estate, found as follows whilst citing the SCC and another one of the historically great legal minds to come to the Ontario bench in The Honourable Mr. Justice Perrell, formerly of Osler's who had written, as a lawyer, a vast amount of analytically precise secondary source articles:

> [31] As stated by Gillese J. (as she then was) in Dagenais v. Allen Estate, [999] O.J. No. 4816 (Ont. S.C.), at para. 27:
> > When counsel appears as a witness on a contentious matter, it causes two problems. First, it may result in a conflict of interest between counsel and his client. That conflict may be waived by the client .... The second problem relates to the administration of justice. The dual roles serve to create a conflict between counsel's obligations of objectivity and detachment, which are owed to the court, and his obligations as his client to present evidence in as favourable a light as possible. This is a conflict that cannot be waived by the client as the conflict is between counsel and the court/justice system.
> [32] The Law Society of Ontario Rules of Professional Conduct similarly state that a lawyer who appears as advocate shall not testify or submit their own affidavit evidence before the tribunal unless permitted to do so on a purely formal or uncontroversial matter. (s. § 2-1.

[53] While the courts are not bound by the codes of conduct applicable to lawyers, the Supreme Court of Canada stated at MacDonald Estate, at p. 124n, that "an expression of a professional standard in a code of ethics relating to a matter before the court should be considered an important statement of public policy."

[54] In Re: Brayko Parenting Trenchs, 2018 ONSC 4161, at para. 56, Perell J. confirmed that a lawyer who is a material witness should not be permitted to continue acting as counsel even if they do not intend to testify in the case.

Mr. Boyce is (and has been the same time since his adoption as formal counsel of record herein) now in a conflict between himself and the ONSC (Divisional Court) or the ONSC (the matter proceeds by urgent application before a single judge of the ONSC) there is nothing

To even allow Mr. Boyce to discuss another matter, formally or informally (note here it is self-evident why he was bringing out of emails with the ONSC Divisional Court) would be contrary to his duties to the court.

What other reason would Mr. Boyce have for requesting the amendment of his information with the LSO?

It is herein that Tribunal counsel is rightly charged with providing an overview of the filed record of proceeding and the context of the proceeding before the Tribunal. Is Mr. Boyce, in light of his involvement and obfuscation of his employer (SLASTO) and his address (in contact with the public LSO Directory, able to discharge these duties in accordance with his duties to this Court as an officer of the Court? The question answers itself.

The more compelling public interest question is whether any lawyer in-house (see reference in the affidavit provided by in-house counsel in Mandanewich) who is employed by SLASTO able to do so? The Applicant says that optically, by reasonable perception, is that it is impossible for any lawyer to do so whether or not they are or were, in fact, providing advice to the Tribunal in any specific decisions involving any JRPA applicant. The Applicant's registrant submission on this point is grounded in ONSC common law precedent.

There is a strong concern that licensees who work together share confidences especially where they work under a "group" wall of internal confidentiality screens are in place (see Mahrangeli, [2004] OJ 3082 (Ont Sup. Ct.). Where confidential information exchanged on a prior related matter or file (or related to a current retainer the "licensees" MUST rebut inference confidential information was exchanged (see Mahrangeli, [2004] OJ 3082 (Ont Sup. Ct.).

The first obvious counter-query is are the adjudicators licensees? They are indeed in the VC Lake and VC Morrissette are licensees but "not practising law". The second counter is that Mahrangeli related to confidential information between potential shared between a prior related matter to a current retainer.

However, that is of no assistance to the LAT, Mr. Boyce and any potential future counsel (if applicable hereto) when considering the participation scope that the Tribunal would be entitled to by virtue of having some form of general party status pursuant to section 9(2) of the JRPA. Moreover, the ONSC has a supervisory and residual discretion to not accept arguments from the Tribunal whether there is any pre-hearing motion or case conference about its defined scope of participation. Each Tribunal must be analyzed distinctly but this Tribunal, the LAT under the SLASTO, is admittedly, or at least by representation to the public, a quasi-judicial tribunal. The context is most important in various cases. However, a case conference, even by telephone, is an "appearance before the Court" which is fatal to Mr. Boyce and this Tribunal.

Therefore, Mr. Boyce has to rebut the inference and provide contextual explanations to this Court as to why he did what he did in changing his address after receipt of the Applicant's affidavit #2 and perhaps affidavit #3 (and perhaps after the deadline under Rule 68.01(4) of the Civil Rules). Timing is everything.

Moreover, the SLASTO, Tribunal and Mr. Boyce, and any potential legal counsel, who works for the SLASTO, would have to provide evidence of the confidentiality screens. Are there confidentiality screens between the adjudicators of LAT and legal counsel of LAT? It is where the Mandanewich decision comes back to haunt this Tribunal in that the very Court documents are sent to the SLASTO

Legal Unit – Mr. Boyce's employer that he has only in the last two or so weeks had from the "public record"

As Mr. Boyce is the only individual, on behalf of another client, that raised the preliminary objection of "prematurity" without him being able to participate on behalf of the Tribunal, and the Tribunal not filing any factum or application record, the Applicant is entitled to proceed and not wait around for the SLASTO to "clean up his house" and manipulate addresses on the back-end of the LSO portal for public removal.

Mr. Boyce only raised prematurity because he wanted to delay the inevitable result in this JRPA Proceeding, at least as it relates to the Fee Issues issue, so that he could give more advice to the Tribunal in relation to other decisions. It is not likely he was giving advice at it all along the way after November 19, 2024, in relation to the outstanding matters and how to navigate the same.

This does not mean that every other tribunal in this province or other provinces in Canada cannot have representation at the Tribunal but it leads to the inevitable conclusion that when the likes of Tribunal members counsel are at the same physical location as adjudicators and vice chairs, and where they share the same domain name with the same hosting under the same web-site, and they admit an Ehrenforst that the LAT's practice explicitly involves the SLASTO legal unit (the very employer name that Mr. Boyce removed from the LSO Directory as that would change the actualities of what occurs "behind the scenes"):

> Second, there is legal review: The SLASTO Legal Services Unit reviews the decision to ensure [paraphrase] that the correct legal test has been applied and to identify any related case law that was not mentioned that might be helpful."

The Tribunal will now get the opportunity to determine whether it should grant an adjournment, at least on cost ground, as to whether it has lost jurisdiction to hear any further matters because of Mr. Boyce's dual role of providing advice to it in the McLean LAT Proceeding And then to the Tribunal in the McLean JRPA Proceeding. This is different than the legal ground so referenced above involving the Tribunal's decision too far into legal argument.

To allow Mr. Boyce to even discuss, however informal, the preliminary objection of prematurity, irrespective of its lack of merit, would be counter to the inherent jurisdiction of this Honourable Court, and it is an obvious and disabling conflict of interest between Mr. Boyce (and any future counsel of the LAT who seeks to act as a proxy or a "proxy upon proxy" (i.e. a proxy for another) and this Court (whether on division (by three justices) or "general division" (by a single justice) sees a motion, leave request or merits.

The legal scholars in this area have suggested a potentially preferred route for counsel to tribunals and courts to have judicially appointed amicus curiae appear on behalf of tribunals, particularly government ones that are self-espoused as quasi-judicial. In the following article[1], Mr. Lewis Sandler (see JD (Victoria), LL M (McGill), PhD (Cambridge); Member of the Law Society of Upper Canada[2], Assistant Professor Thompson Rivers University Faculty of Law) espoused the following whilst cross-referencing with authorities at 226 A.C.W.S. (3d) 54, 11 ADMIN. L.R. (6th) 1, page 8 thereon:

> "Courts may also appoint amici curiae as part of their inherent jurisdiction where it is necessary to assist the court in discharging its work.[3] The public advocate or amicus curiae could gather specialist information and present it in a more detached and informed manner to the court. Such a system would assist prevent public worldviews in administrative impartiality as it would interpose a layer, akin to an "institutional stove,"[4] between the tribunal and the reviewing court."

The only competing principle to tribunal impartiality is "having fully informed adjudication of the issues before the reviewing court". Mr. Boyce cannot do the same and no other counsel employed by the SLASTO (LAT) can do the same – not only not on these facts.

The Tribunal is not discharged of its statutory duties to a full record of proceeding under the JRPA. However, I agree with the essence in this case JRPA and hence the Applicant's motion of Friday, January 17, 2025. While this JRPA Application had numerous public issues before Mr. Boyce "lawyered switch" to "unreasonable holding of his address of employment and employer", it has more now.

The JRPA Applicant still has the burden of proving, on a balance of probabilities, that the VCM Decisions and VCM Orders for failure to even address certain issues and orders sought was incorrect and must be substituted, and this ONSC Court, like the Tribunal has found many times, cannot force the Tribunal or the respondent insurance companies, who had no interest in complying with the Practice Direction regarding "Information Submitted to the Court", cannot force respondents to file notices of appearances, factums and application records. However, actions or inactions come with consequences and that is the complete deprivation of participation rights. However, the Tribunal must still be compelled to file the record of proceedings. The only "silver lining" is that it makes scheduling easier."

VOLUME #6: JURAT

25. I swear, under the penalty of perjury, that I have raised the issues above as soon as they become known to me and then commenced the drafting of this affidavit for filing with the ONSC and for service upon the Tribunal and the respondent insurance companies.

26 I most sincerely hope that this affidavit is of assistance to SLASTO, Tribunal, Mr. Boyce and any other potential counsel that the former two may seek to retain herein and in any future unrelated JRPA or LAT Act appeal proceedings. I have no personal animus to any of the counsel for the respondents but I felt compelled to draw this to their attention so I was not seen to have waived or acquiesced to the same. I object on the above grounds to Mr. Boyce or any counsel at the LAT (SLASTO) engaging in any form of representation of the LAT herein. As the respondent insurance companies did not participate in NOM #14 and #15, and have not filed a factum and application record, I remain ready, willing and able to proceed on any date commencing next week

Affidavit #7[i] of Kevin A. McLean in this JRPA Proceeding

I, Kevin Alexander McLean, Disabled (B.A., J.D., CIM) of Toronto, Ontario, SWEAR THAT:

Volume #1: Sworn Under Oath; under the Penalty of Perjury; and Introduction

1. I am the individual JRPA Applicant herein and I swear, under the pains and penalties of perjury, the following facts to be true. Where I have stated or sworn information on my belief(s), I have cited the source of my belief(s) by references, citations, end-noting or otherwise. When I have used the expressions (including any permutations) of "in my view", "in my opinion", or "belief", I am not drawing or making any conclusion of law or swearing a conclusion of law but rather citing my position and opinions as a matter of fact.

2. I commenced drafting this affidavit on January 24, 2025

3. Attached hereto to this my affidavit is a copy of my email and submissions that were attached to the email regarding my request that Madam Justice Shore recuse herself

along with other ancillary relief ("COI Recusal Request"). As of today's date, I have not received any decision regarding my COI Recusal Request so I will file notice of motion with supporting materials to seek the same relief that I am seeking in the COI Recusal Request.

4. I am also concerned that I received an email from a Ms. Badwal that referenced a case conference before Madam Justice Shore on February 18, 2025. I confirm that I am not available on said date. However, I will bring my motion promptly and I intend to seek additional relief in the proposed motion.

5. In relation to the Ms. Badwal email, I am concerned that a different thread was commenced and it did not contain all of the emails that were in the previous thread with myself and the ONSC Divisional Court. It is unclear to me why that occurred but I am not castigating Ms. Badwal in any way. I will file an additional affidavit that contains all of those emails at the relevant time and in support of the intended motion.

6. I expressly adopt the facts in the attached email and submissions as my sworn evidence herein. I intend to pay for my notice and file the same, and then serve it on the respondents and in the "interested person" in Mr. Papadimitropoulos.

7. I will also provide a copy of my motion to Epstein Cole LLP so it can participate and provide its position should it wish to do so.

8. I will continue to object to Madam Justice Shore having any involvement in this matter as I remain of the view that Mr. Papadimitropoulos was the individual who signed the OCF-18 #1 (defined as the "Dhaliwal OCF-18") with the handprinted language of "As per A. Nurse" and that he was, he is, and remains in breach of his separation agreement with Ms. Nicole Artopoulos regarding a "provision" in said separation agreement of no indirect or direct contact. I repeat and rely upon my evidence in affidavit #4 in this regard.

9. I remain of the view that Mr. Boyce of the LAT is also in a conflict of interest by virtue of my previously stated positions in the emails to him with the respondents and the ONSC Divisional Court copied. I do not believe that the Tribunal can participate in an impartial manner with Mr. Boyce as its counsel. I intend to seek relief in this regard as well.

10. I note that the AGO, through Ms. Im, did not file a Notice of Appearance in this JRPA Proceeding.

11. As of tonight, I note that Ms. Im has done the same vis-à-vis her address and business name (employer) on the LSO directory website. I note my affidavit evidence in affidavit #2 which stated in part which was a copy and paste from the LSO website at the time of said affidavit:

Dear Madam Registrar Clegg (copied to the above or to be forward by the ONSC Divisional Court Registrar):

1. I write regarding the above. As promised, please find my PDF and signed submissions for the Respectful Requests. For ease of reference, they at paragraph 19 and 126:

a. The Honourable Madam Justice Shore is disqualified from any further involvement in this JRPA Proceeding (the "Disqualification Request" or the "Recusal Request");
b. The Case Management Appearance Requirement is declared as void and void ab initio (not merely voidable) (the "Nullification Request");
c. A general and indefinite adjournment of the case conference pursuant to 77.04(1)(b) of the Civil Rules by the Associate Justice (the "Adjournment Request");
d. A direction by the Honourable Chief Justice, pursuant to section 76 of the CJA, that the Registrar shall accept all outstanding requisition filings and provide confirmation of the same to the JRPA Applicant and respondents; and
e. A direction by the Honourable Chief Justice, pursuant to section 76 of the CJA, that the Registrar comply with her duties (by law), pursuant to 68.05(2) of the Civil Rules[i], and provide the parties with a "Notice of Listing For Hearing".

("d" and "e" together, the "Staff Direction Requests").

(collectively, the "Respectful Requests" or "Requests").

2. I rely on affidavit #2 and #3 in support of the same as my leading of evidence in this regard.

3. Should the Court require any further submissions or sworn evidence from me regarding the same, I remain available and please contact me at your earliest moment. Otherwise, I shall presume this is sufficient and the procedure is consistent with the case law in this niche and unique subset of a few areas of law.

4. Please extend my thanks to the Chief Justice and Associate Chief Justice (where applicable) for their consideration.

5. Thank you.

[i] 68.05(2) When the certificate of perfection has been filed, the registrar shall place the application on a list for hearing and give notice of listing for hearing (Form 68B) by mail to the parties and the other persons named in the certificate of perfection. VOLUME # #1: STATEMENT OF RECUSAL REQUEST, NULLIFICATION REQUEST, ADJOURNMENT REQUEST (SOLELY IN RELATION TO SHORE J. APPEARANCE REQUIREMENT) AND STAFF DIRECTION ORDERS (SEE: SECTION 76 OF THE CJA)

1. Which Canadian jurist represented the following to the federal committee responsible for judicial appointments in her sworn and signed questionnaire to it, "Vital to the Canadian system is the impartiality of a judge. This is different than the system in the United States. In Canada, judicial independence is viewed as vital to fostering public confidence in the fairness and objectivity of the justice system. The Supreme Court of Canada has described judicial independence as "the cornerstone, a necessary prerequisite for judicial impartiality."

2. None other than The Honourable Madam Justice Sharon Store.

3. The Honourable Sharon Shore of our ONSC (not the Federal Court) also made a statement to that same federal committee that this Applicant certainly agrees with as follows

> Last, but not least, is integrity. I have always tried to conduct my personal and professional life with integrity. One of the lessons I learned from my mentors is that it takes a lifetime to build your reputation, and only minutes to destroy it.

4. Public confidence in our legal system is rooted in the belief that those who deliver legal judgments do so without bias or prejudice to one side or the other. In this regard, the appearance of justice is just as important as the reality.[1]

5. Judges often disqualify themselves where the matter before them involves former clients or law partners. Herein, we have a situation of a former client of Epstein Cole LLP where Madam Justice Shore was a partner.

6. Lord Hewart C.J.'s aphorism that "it is not merely of some importance but is of fundamental importance that justice should not only be done, but should manifestly and undoubtedly be seen to be done" (The King v. Sussex Justices, Ex parte McCarthy, [1924] 1 K.B. 256, at p. 259). To put it differently, in cases where disqualification is argued, the relevant inquiry is not whether there was in fact either conscious or unconscious bias on the part of the judge, but whether a reasonable person properly informed would apprehend that there was. In that sense, the reasonable apprehension of bias is not just a surrogate for unavailable evidence, or an evidentiary device to establish the likelihood of unconscious bias, but the manifestation of a broader preoccupation about the image of justice. As was said by Lord Goff in Gough, supra, at p. 659, "there is an overriding public interest that there should be confidence in the integrity of the administration of justice" (see: paragraph 66 of Weykaum). The last is the most demanding for the judicial system, because it countenances the possibility that justice might not be seen to be done, even where it is undoubtedly done – that is, it envisions the possibility that a decision-maker may be totally impartial in circumstances which nevertheless create a reasonable apprehension of bias, requiring his or her disqualification (see: paragraph 67 of Weykaum).

7. The law of judicial bias is founded on two basic legal maxims: audi alteram partem ("listen to the other side") and nemo judex in sua causa ("no-one should be a judge in his own cause"). The former requires that parties affected by a decision have the right to be heard and that the decision-maker must not have pre-judged the issue. The latter prohibits the adjudicator of the case from having an interest in the decision, thus safeguarding the right of the parties to be treated impartially and without prejudice. In other words, bias represents a predisposition or a state of mind which sways judgment.

8. Unlike tribunals, judicial impartiality is guaranteed by our Constitution under section 96 to 101 (see: Ocean Port Hotel (SCC)).

> Volume #1(A): The Anticipatory Counter to Justice Shore taking a similar position to Binnie J. in Weykaum

9. While the SCC has found that there is a distinction with a difference between government lawyers and private practice, the following statement of law is apropos. There is a strong inference that licensees who work together share confidences especially where they work under a "group" even if internal confidentiality screens are in place (see: Mariangeli, [2004] OJ 3082 (Ont Sup. Ct.). Where Confidential Information exchanged in a prior related matter sufficient related to a current retainer the "licensees" MUST rebut inference Confidential Information was exchange (see: Mariangeli, [2004] OJ 3082 (Ont Sup. Ct).

> VOLUME #1(B): BY ANALOGY

10. The Applicant (also defined as the "Requestor") repeats and relies upon his letter in Appendix #1.

11. If a judge is aware of any relationship or personal interest that raises a reasonable apprehension of bias, it is generally desirable that disclosure is made in advance of a hearing, so that the case may be reassigned.

12. Under the Ontario Courts of Justice Act (s. 75(1)(3)), it is the Chief Justice of a court or one of the Associate Chief Justices who is responsible for the assignment or reassignment of cases.

13. Pursuant to the Civil Rules, the following is applicable to the Case Management Appearance Requirement:

> 77.04 (1) A judge or associate judge may,
>
> (b) adjourn a case conference;
>
> (2) A judge or associate judge may, on his or her own initiative, require the parties to appear before him or her or to participate in a conference call to deal with any matter arising in connection with the case management of the proceeding, including a failure to comply with an order or the rules. O. Reg. 438/08, s. 64; O. Reg. 383/21, s. 15.
> (3) For greater certainty, the powers set out in subrules (1) and (2) are in addition to any other powers set out in this Rule. O. Reg. 438/08, s. 64.

14. For sake of completeness, Rule 77(1) and (2) state the following:

> RULE 77 CIVIL CASE MANAGEMENT
>
> Purpose and General Principles

Purpose

77.01 (1) The purpose of this Rule is to establish a case management system that provides case management only of those proceedings for which a need for the court's intervention is demonstrated and only to the degree that is appropriate, as determined in reliance on the criteria set out in this Rule. O. Reg. 438/08, s. 64.

General Principles

(2) This Rule shall be construed in accordance with the following principles:

1. Despite the application of case management under this Rule to a proceeding, the greater share of the responsibility for managing the proceeding and moving it expeditiously to a trial, hearing or other resolution remains with the parties.

2. The nature and extent of the case management provided by a judge or associate judge under this Rule in respect of a proceeding shall be informed by any relevant practices, traditions, customs or judicial resource issues that apply locally in the region in which the proceeding is commenced or to which it is transferred. O. Reg. 438/08, s. 64; O. Reg. 383/21, s. 15.

15. The Canadian Judicial Council considers recusal inappropriate where no other adjudicator can be constituted to hear the case or where, as a result of an emergency, withdrawal would lead to a miscarriage of justice. Still, the exercise of judicial discretion is at the heart of judicial independence, and judges are presumed to have acted in good faith.

16. The urgency is in favour of the Applicant having his requisitions filed and receiving a Form 68(B) which is most outstanding despite requisitions for the same.

17. It is rather coincidental that there are 93 justices in the Toronto region and somehow the one justice who was a partner who acted, and remains as the sole law firm to have represented one Mr. Andrew Papadimtripoulos

18. It is current counsel to the three respondent insurance companies in Mr. Nieuwland who unequivocally admitted, as a matter of law, that there was a conflict of interest when TDGIC represented in a purported but unlawful response to the Applicant's PIPEDA request of SNIC in January 2024 that Mr. Andrew Papadimtripoulos had not been involved in any way with this claim or access request. However, the claim number provided therein was 035325709-04 [sic] (see: page 66 of the Oral Compendium).

VOLUME #2: RELIEF SOUGHT IN THE RECUSAL REQUEST, NULLIFICATION REQUEST AND REASSIGNMENT REQUEST

19. The Requestor seeks the following relief as follows:

a. The Honourable Madam Justice Shore is disqualified from any further involvement in this JRPA Proceeding (the "Disqualification Request" or the "Recusal Request");
b. The Case Management Appearance Requirement is declared as void and void ab initio (not merely voidable) (the "Nullification Request");

c. A general and indefinite adjournment of the case conference pursuant to 77.04(1)(b) of the Civil Rules by the Associate Justice (the "Adjournment Request");
d. A direction by the Honourable Chief Justice, pursuant to section 76 of the CJA, that the Registrar shall accept all outstanding requisition filings and provide confirmation of the same to the JRPA Applicant and respondents; and
e. A direction by the Honourable Chief Justice, pursuant to section 76 of the CJA, that the Registrar comply with her duties (by law), pursuant to 68.05(2) of the Civil Rules[2], and provide the parties with a "Notice of Listing For Hearing".

("d" and "e" together, the "Staff Direction Requests").

(collectively, the "Respectful Requests" or "Requests").

VOLUME #2(A): A note on section 76 of the CJA, "Direction of Court Staff"

20. For ease of reference, Section 76 of the CJA states:

> 76 (1) In matters that are assigned by law[3] to the judiciary, registrars, court clerks, court reporters, interpreters and other court staff shall act at the direction of the chief justice of the court. 2006, c. 21, Sched. A, s. 14.

21. The following outlines the facts material to the JRPA* Application and the LAT Appeal as it relates to the various requests herein. Painstaking detail is required because of the Tribunal's failure to comply with section 10 of the JRPA and to fill the lacunas creates by that intentional and egregious statutory non-compliance by the Tribunal. These submissions are provided in support of the Requests as a means of ensuring compliance and on the continued basis of urgency. The further details of the below are bookmarked and hyperlinked in the Applicant's oral compendium and oral outline that shall follow.

VOLUME #3: FACTS

22. The underlying facts in this JRPA* Application are contained within the record of proceeding with reference to the filed documents such as the JRPA* Application, Factum, Application Record, and Affidavit #2.

23. The Ontario Superior Court of Justice Guide to Judicial Review in Divisional Court, effective by its metadata which states, "Scarciolla, Claudia (JUD)" (author) and 11/24/22 (date) (the "JRPA Guide") which states [emphasis it the Applicant's]:

> "After you have brought an application for judicial review, you will receive an email to register for CaseLines and upload your materials. There is no fee to use CaseLines."

24. The JRPA* Applicant tendered his JRPA* Application and paid the requisite fees on November 15, 2024.
    a. After receipt of the issued JRPA* Application, from the Registrar, with thanks, the JRPA* Applicant did not receive an invitation to Case Center.

25. The JRPA* Applicant delivered[4] (served) and filed his Factum[5] on December 10, 2024.

~~26.~~ The JRPA* Applicant delivered (served) and filed his Application Record on December 12, 2024;

27. The JRPA* Applicant filed and paid for the Certificate of Perfection on December 13, 2024;

28. The JRPA* Applicant also filed the requisite affidavit of service thereafter;

29. The JRPA* Applicant received confirmation of his filing thereafter;

30. The JRPA* Applicant, based on his review of what has been received, has not received any mail or email of the Form 68(B) which was required to be delivered to the parties after the JRPA* Applicant had filed and paid for the Certificate Of Perfection with an approximate date of the hearing. Based upon a reasonable interpretation of the relevant Civil Rule, which is 68.05(2) (see: (2) When the certificate of perfection has been filed, the registrar shall place the application on a list for hearing and give notice of listing for hearing (Form 68B) by mail to the parties and the other persons named in the certificate of perfection. R.R.O. 1990, Reg. 194, r. 68.05 (2).”), the Registrar was required to place the Applicant’s JRPA* Application on a list for hearing and give notice of listing for hearing on or around Tuesday, December 17, 2024.

31. Despite filing his requisition #1 on December 24, 2024 (see: Confirmation number 2787308) requesting and requiring the Registrar to comply with her duties, there is currently no evidence that any such steps have been taken in this regard. Moreover, the JRPA* Applicant, by usage of said service, was entitled to have any filing processed within five business days, which may be accepted or rejected. Five business days from December 24, 2024, was January 2, 2025.

32. Relevant to this Recusal Request and Nullification Request, on June 28, 2024, in relation to the Applicant’s NOM #6 and NOM #9, the Tribunal dismissed the Applicant’s COI motion and Mr. Andrew Papadimtripoulos (the “Epstein Cole Client”) remained as a representative of SNIC. The timing could not be more important because on June 20, 2024, the Tribunal granted the Applicant’s NOM #8 which removed the Fictitious Respondent (TDGIC) as the sole respondent party.

33. The Appellant provided notice to the SABS Insurer (and NON-SABS* Insurer and Impugned Individuals) in a prompt and expedient fashion which is indicative of “good faith” (see: Hearing Brief, Tab 5, Talisman, paragraph 35).

VOLUME #3(A): THE FORTUITOUS DISCOVERY

34. The fortuitous discovery which merely solidified the Applicant’s uncontroverted evidence was the finding of an anniversary card penned to his ex wife presumably in 2015 and 2016 under the bed where the Applicant slept and where Mr. Papadimitropoulos used to reside. The evidence remains uncontroverted in the record of proceeding;

(see: Affidavit #3, Exhibit "A", pages 274 to 279, which was affidavit of the Applicant on September 19, 2024,

35. No handwriting expert was required with that glaring obvious similarities.

36. The backdrop to this Forged Signature of an adjuster with SNIC is that the cover letter therein (not a public interest issue per se) confirmed and represented that SNIC had approved the sum of approximately $2080 in medical and rehab benefits ($1995 +$85.87). However, it never issued a cheque for the same to the Applicant's relevant health practitioners. The only reasonable inference is that SNIC did not want to take further steps in affirmation of the fraud, forgery, false document and uttering of a false document. Does that it make it lawful? The question answer itself.

VOLUME #3(B): NO ONE HAS MORE TO LOSE THAN MR. ANDREW PAPADIMITROPOULOS

37. It is the very exhaustion of each and every avenue that has karmically come to save this Applicant at the most fortuitous of times. The dismissal of his NOM #6 and NOM #9 (which was repurposed and filed after the nullity case conference and the change of the style of cause) is what kept Mr. Andrew

Papadimitropoulos as a representative of SNIC from his post in Markham for "TD Insurance" but now has caused a further light to be shined on his misconduct whilst being a client of Epstein Cole and at the very least a continued address for notices within a separation agreement.

VOLUME #5: ISSUES

38. The Applicant frames the general legal issues as follows:

    b. Is there a ROAB involving the Madam Justice Shore in light of her being a partner at Epstein Cole LLP at the time when Mr. Andrew Papadimtriopoulos retained Epstein Cole LLP along with the admission of law by counsel of record in this JRPA Proceeding to the three distinct insurance companies that Mr. Andrew Papadimitropoulos could not be involved in the Applicant's SABS Claim and LAT Appeal by his contractually agreed requirement that he not have any indirect or direct contact Ms. Nicole Artopoulos (spouse of the Applicant at material times) (see: Oral Compendium, page 66)?
    c. Pursuant to the common law in Canada that a RAOB cannot be remedied, what order must be granted in relation to the Shore J. Case Management Appearance Requirement?
    d. Pursuant to the Civil Rules and the common law requirement that justice must not just be done but seen to be done, what steps should and must the Associate Justice take after the Nullification Request is granted?
    e. In light of the delays experienced by the JRPA Applicant and the public interest along with the continued urgency of the Applicant's JRPA* Application, what directions must the Chief Justice take as per section 76 of the CJA?

VOLUME #6: LEGAL BASES: RELATING TO THE LICENSEES AND CAST OF CHARACTERS BELOW

Volume #6(A): Law Society Act

39. To fully elucidate and outline the underlying conflict of interest and, bluntly, fraudulent conduct of one Mr. Andrew Papadimtriopoulos in executing documents for adjusters but in their name of "as per" (see: As per A. Nurse") (by way of the fortuitous discovery (see: Affidavit #3 herein), the underlying legal bases involving the non-licensee, Mr. Karat, acting contrary to the LSA and the LSO *By-Law*s is required.

40. Moreover, there is ostensibly some persistent discord between the decisions of Vice Chair McGee and Vice Chair Maedel in Dankha and Mosa respectively and the decisions of Vice Chair Morrissette and Vice Chair Lake (see: NOM #5 and reconsideration decision of Vice Chair Logan). As this Court would have seen had the Tribunal complied with its statutory obligation under the JRPA, the Applicant had to get most "creative" and "lucky" (see: the "one and the same" misrepresentation by Mr. Nieuwland at the May 2, 2024, nullity case conference) to have the Tribunal to comply with the law (which is completely antithetical to the consumer protection nature of the statutory scheme of the Insurance Act, SABS, Reg 283) to obtain the orders that he did in his NOM #8 (nota bene: which changed the style of cause while removing a party and adding a party i.e. the granting of the same which is interlocutory in nature whereas the refusal of the same is a final order and final decision):

41. For clarity as to the Applicant's positions regarding some of the other decision makers at the quasi-judicial tribunal known as "LAT" like Vice Chair McGee, Vice Chair Maedel and some others, they are clearly very articulate and have high legal acumen. The decisions of Vice Chair McGee in Dankha was yet another beautifully written and analytical precise decision wherein she ensured that the Tribunal did not condone the breaches of the LSA and LSO By-Laws by a paralegal engaging in the practice of law (not provision of legal services)

42. As noted in the case of Dankha, Vice Chair McGee disagreed with the submissions of Ms. Watson on behalf of the Applicant (Manweel Dankha) but also in relation to Mr. Grabar (a paralegal) filed and signed submissions when the issues related to CAT Impairment of the applicant therein.

43. Ms. Watson, a lawyer licensee in good standing with the LSO, made the following arguments which were all rejected by Vice Chair McGee:
    a. Mr. Grabar submitted documents under the advisement of Mr. Faletta (a now suspended lawyer);
    b. Mr. Faletta oversaw Grabar's handling of the file; and
    c. A new lawyer (Watson) had recently took carriage of the file.

44. Mr. Karat was and is on far worse grounds that Mr. Grabar as Mr. Grabar was a licensed paralegal.

VOLUME #6(A)(I): LSA, SECTIONS 1(5) AND (6)

45. A person provides legal services if the person engages in conduct that involves
    a. The application of legal principles; and
    b. Legal judgment with regard to the circumstances or objectives of a person.

    (see: section 1(5) of the LSA)

46. A person provides legal services if a person gives "a Person" advice with respect to legal interests, rights or responsibilities or of another person; represents a person in a proceeding before an adjudicative body; or negotiates the legal interests of a person. (see: section 1(6) of the LSA).

VOLUME #6(A)(II): SECTION 1(7) OF THE LSA: REPRESENTATION IN A PROCEEDING

47. Doing any of the following SHALL BE CONSIDERED to be representing "a person" in a proceeding
    a. Determining what documents to serve or file in relation to the proceeding
    b. Determining on or with whom to serve or file a document; or
    c. Determining when, where or how to serve or file a document.

    (the "Section 1(7)(A) Determinations")

48. Doing any of the following SHALL BE CONSIDERED to be representing "a person":
    a. Conducting an examination for discovery; or
    b. Engaging in any other conduct necessary to the conduct of a proceeding.

49. "Claim" has the same meaning as in By-Law #4 which excludes a claim of an individual (this "Appellant") who has or appears to have a CAT Impairment within the meaning of the Statutory Accident Benefits ("SABS") Schedule (the "Schedule").

50. "Proceeding" has the same meaning as in By-Law #4, section 6(1) ((see: Hearing Brief, Tab 26, page 285) and any intended proceeding was also vis-a-vis the Claimant (also defined as "Applicant" or "Appellant") and "TD INSURANCE MELOCHE MONNEX" (see: HB, Tab 38, page 561 for reference to "trade name") (Security National Insurance Company). The LAT Rules refers to the LAT Rules effective on August 21, 2023 (the "LAT Rules" or "New LAT Rules").

VOLUME #6(B): THE "ADR REPRESENTATIVE" [NOT AN "OFFICER"]: KARAT – CONDUCT SOLELY IN RELATION TO SNIC

51. Karat is a NON-licensee and unlicensed representative of SNIC in this LAT Proceeding before an adjudicative body (LAT/AABS) when measured against the LSA and its *By-Law*s. Pursuant to LSO v. Collins, citing LSUC v. Crawford, non-licensees (or former licensees) are uninsured and immune from the regulatory and disciplinary control of the Law. As Mr. Karat does not provide any fees to the LSO, despite his LinkedIn claiming he is affiliated with the LSUC since 2014, this presents an obvious and significant risk to the public in that there is no recourse within the LSO's regulatory structure and little recourse (but for section 26.1 of the LSA) against the non-licensee for negligent and fraudulent acts done in the course of unauthorized practice

52. Where a licensee (which the Appellant's uncontroverted evidence remains that the licensee (who is also deemed an "Officer" of SNIC by virtue of being a "manager" or "management" with SNIC) was the Mr. Papadimitropoulos) affiliates with a non-licensee, he remained exclusively liable for his professional practice when so affiliating. The Conflicted Lawyer (Mr. Papadimtriopoulos) has also acted for "TD Insurance Meloche Monnex" in Mensah (see: 2022 CanLII 452) and 18-00161 v. SNIC, 2019 CanLII 9628.

53. Notably, the Conflicted Lawyer (Mr. Papadimtriopoulos) had never represented "TD General Insurance Company" and neither had Karat. It is notable that "TD Insurance Meloche Monnex" (Primmum and SNIC) has two underwriters for two distinct programs. The Alumni Program is the only relevant insurance program herein under the Insurance Contract herein.

54. Karat provided legal services to SNIC and, by operation of law, with his signing, filing and service of the Purported SNIC Response did far more than section 1(7)(a) and certainly conduct that fits section 1(7)(c) of the LSA, which "SHALL BE CONSIDERED" representation of a person [SNIC] in this LAT Proceeding.

55. As Karat has not provided any evidence that he was an employee or officer of "a corporation" (SNIC), any selecting, drafting, completing or revising of the Purported SNIC Response for use of "the corporation" (SNIC) or which the corporation [SNIC] is a party may have provided an exemption to Karat under section 1(8) "Not Practising Law or Providing Legal Services" if that was all that Karat did.

56. However, By-Law 4, section 28(2.) ("Other Profession Or Occupation") of the LSO, has an exemption to the exemption and that is the "representation A PERSON in a proceeding before an adjudicative body" which means that when Karat signed (see: HB, Tab 3, page 94), filed and served the Purported SNIC Response, there was no exemption for him to rely upon under section 1(8) of the LSA or the By-Law #4 (Part IV, "Not Practising Law Or Providing Legal Services"), section 28(2)).

57. While Nieuwland was not on the email of January 25, 2024, rather conveniently, Karat represented in the email to the Appellant, "Kindly see the attached correspondence with today's date along with the Response of AN INSURANCE COMPANY" [emphasis is the Appellant's] (see: Affidavit #13, Exhibit "A", page 5). Mr. Karat regularly confirmed by that auto-reply that is not authorized for SNIC (but for Primmum, TD Home & Auto, and NON-SABS INSURER).

Volume #6(C): Nieuwland's conduct solely in relation to the NON-SABS Insurer

58. Nieuwland is a lawyer licensee, with the LSO, who was employed by Simitrich Law and now as a lawyer licensee with "TD Insurance Staff Legal". There are some discrepancies between how Saeed (see: HB[6], Tab 3, page 17 and Nieuwland describe, on the LSO Directory, "TD Insurance Staff Legal" as the form describes it as "employed – practising law" whereas the latter describes himself being in "private practice").

59. On January 30, 2024, Nieuwland filed a DOR on behalf of NON-SABS INSURER ("NON-SABS* Insurer"). The NON-legal assistant to Nieuwland in Ms. Moraes (the "Fictitious Legal Assistant") served the Appellant with the DOR on behalf of the NON-SABS* Insurer. (see: HB, Tab 3 page 11; Volume #5 therein of Affidavit #15, page 8 of the body).

60. From early February 2024 to April 10, 2024, the Appellant provided notice to Nieuwland that his DOR for a NON-SABS* Insurer was a nullity and had no legal effect, and urged him to file a DOR on behalf of SNIC. Nieuwland did not respond and then stated that his DOR was unambiguous The Appellant also urged Mr. Nieuwland provide an affidavit if Ms. Moraes was his legal assistant. Nieuwland did not respond to the request

61. In April 2024, Ms. Ortiz suddenly and mysteriously appeared as Mr. Nieuwland's legal assistant along with being a legal assistant to "Ashley Dunkley".

62. While, again, it matters not of the underlying facts and minutia of the relationships per se and the EPSTEIN COLE Client's involvement in representing SNIC, by reference to the As per A. Nurse signature and beyond as the Tribunal found that Mr. Andrew Papadimitropoulos was fully entitled to remain as a representative in the LAT Appeal, the Applicant provides the same primer no the LSO *By-Law*s in relation to the cast of characters. Put another way, the JRPA Applicant provides the same as per each case being determined on its own facts and out of abundance of caution.

63. While "affiliate" has a different meaning under the LSA versus "affiliate" under the Insurance Act, this in turn means that NON-SABS* Insurer must be disqualified from any further participation in this LAT Proceeding by its overt and brazen usage of the unlisted documents in the correspondence file of SNIC (AB File) in filing (disclosing) to LAT in a public record.

64. Pursuant to By-Law 7, section 31, the following definitions are now even more apropos and compelling:

    a. "affiliated entity" is one or more persons none of whom are licensed or otherwise authorized to practise law or provide legal services inside or outside of Ontario (nota bene: SNIC's head office is in Montreal, Quebec); and
    b. Licensee: includes a permitted group of licensees

65. "Affiliation", under section 32 of By-Law #7 for Part IV, is interpreted to mean where a permitted group of licensees affiliates with an affiliated entity when the permitted group of licensees on a regular basis joints with the affiliated entity in the delivery of the services of the permitted group of licensees and the services of the affiliated entity.

66. The JRPA Applicant now copies and pastes from his speaking notes, filed with the Tribunal and later appended to an affidavit to meet the definition of record to be included in a record of proceeding under section 20 of the SPPA, as follows:

125. As Mr. Karat and Nieuwland has different clients in SNIC and NON-SABS Insurer respectively, Karat (if he meets the definition of a "Professional" with no dispute that Karat is experienced in providing services to licensees like the Mr. Papadimitropoulos and Ms. Francine Papadopoulos on behalf of their client in SNIC and Mr. Dugas, esteemed partner at McCague Borlack LLP on behalf of his client in Primmum Insurance Company), then Mr. Nieuwland (a licensee) may and shall NOT provide to NON-SABS INSURER the services of a person (Karat) who is not a licensee that support or supplements the licensed activity of Nieuwland on behalf of NON-SABS INSURER (see: By-Law #7, Part III, section 17).

124. As Karat solely signed, filed and served (as it is presumed) the Purported SNIC Response, with the cover letter on January 25, 2024 (see: HB, Tab 3, pages 85 to 88; email: enclosed response from "An Insurance Company" which was the Appellant's Insurer by virtue of the Insurance Act and no reference to "NON-SABS INSURER"), which referenced "TD INSURANCE MELOCHE MONNEX" with the return address of SNIC Markham, along with his sole signature of the Karat COS, he did so without Nieuwland copied on that email. There is no reference to Nieuwland in the Purported SNIC Response. Therefore, Karat's sole conduct (which were his sole signing, sole filing and sole serving) therein were not to support or supplement Nieuwland's client at the time or by way of retrospective analysis. Only a lawyer licensee was authorized under the LSA to SIGN the Purported SNIC Response as non-licensee is not authorized to even sign correspondence (except of a routine administrative nature) and a paralegal licensee is not authorized to sign a "responsive pleading" where an Appeal (not a "claim" under By-Law #4) involves even the appearance that an individual is CAT Impaired. (see: HB, Tab 3, page 27).

125. Kart was correct in the name of the "insurer" in that SNIC was the only insurer that undertook a "contract of insurance" with the Appellant's Spouse and BMW Financial Services Inc. as the "primary listed insureds". By virtue of the Appellant being the "occupant" (driver) of the Insured Automobile when Pembridge's insured rear ended the Insured Automobile, from a stopped position, at high velocity in her [tortfeasor insured] above average weight SUV, the Appellant was an "Insured Person" under the Insurance Act. Pursuant to the Insurance Act, the Appellant became a "party" to the Insurance Policy, and was deemed to have given consideration thereunder as if he had given consideration at the time of the formation of the Insurance Contract and thereafter.

126. By Nieuwland's filing of the DOR, Nieuwland unequivocally and unambiguously distanced himself from Karat's client [SNIC] in the SABS Insurer.

127. By Nieuwland's inaction and then filing of the Purported Responsive Hearing Brief on April 11, 2024 in relation to NOM #6, Nieuwland affirmed and reaffirmed that his client was NON-SABS INSURER (NON-SABS Insurer). Nieuwland then made a succession of independent misrepresentations to the Tribunal about Karat and Moraes' roles herein and to him.
Therefore, Nieuwland did not comply with section 32(a) of By-Law #7. In relation to ss. 32(c), it is admitted by Karat (see: Purported SNIC Response and emails of Karat to Appellant along with cover letter referencing the Purported SNIC Response) that Karat operates from the premises at SNIC Markham and Nieuwland operates from the premises at 66 Wellington West, Toronto.

129. Nieuwland and Karat cannot now submit that they provide services jointly as they have different clients. Nieuwland's Motion Submissions in relation to NOM #6 are on behalf of a NON-SABS Insurer. Nieuwland's Motion Submissions do not somehow change the filed Purported SNIC Response, the cover letter enclosing the same and Karat's representations on January 23, 2024.

130. Nieuwland also did not represent in the Motion Submissions that Karat was appointed [sic] by Nieuwland or TD Insurance Staff Legal but rather appointed [sic] by NON-SABS INSURER. This is contrary to the explicit and express language in the January 23, 2024 email from Karat to the Appellant of which Nieuwland was copied.

131. Therefore, if Nieuwland and Karat did not meet the definition of "affiliation" under Part IV "Affiliations" under By-Law #7, then Karat had to be assigned as the ADR representative (not "officer") of this LAT dispute by the SABS Insurer (SNIC). As directors appoint officers and officers operate a company, namely SNIC, then it would have to be a de jure, de facto or deemed officer of SNIC.

132. The Mr. Papadimitropoulos meets the definition of an "officer" under the Insurance Act by his title of "Consequence Management".

133. As of January 2024, the Mr. Papadimitropoulos was not only a practising lawyer employed by TD Insurance (not TD Insurance Staff Legal) but a "Consequence Manager" located at SNIC Markham. Karat as of January 2024 and onwards was located at the premises of SNIC Markham. It is trite that a manager may be similar or tantamount to that of an officer of an insurer like SNIC. There is no dispute that the case of Quinn v. SNIC, with a six day hearing, wherein the Conflicted Lawyer (Mr. Papadimtriopoulos) and Karat were joining would have met the definition of "regular basis".

134. While the Conflicted Lawyer (Mr. Papadimtriopoulos) could assign tasks and functions to a non-licensee in connection with THE licensee's practice of law in relation to the affairs of THE licensee's client, including "its staff" (of the affiliated entity), the Impugned Licensees (except the Conflicted Lawyer (Mr. Papadimtropoulos)) are employed by TD Insurance Staff Legal are NOT the staff of Mr. Karat or any other non-licensee affiliated entity.

135. Simply put, the "consequences" were large and they had to be "managed" with assignments of tasks and functions to a non-licensee but the Conflicted Lawyer (Mr. Papadimtropoulos) could not have his name (publicly associated) with this TD Claim #3 and this LAT Proceeding. He could not covertly have be involved in the "handling" of TD Claim #3 and this LAT Proceeding but that was harder to prove.

136. What was not difficult to prove was that Nieuwland was out of office from January 24, 2024 to January 30, 2024, and Ms. Moraes was not known to the Tribunal or the Appellant, in this LAT Proceeding, until late January 2024. Therefore, the only supervising lawyer, and "manager", that could have authorized and assigned duties to Karat, in accordance with said licensee's practice of law, was the Conflicted Lawyer (Mr.Papadimtropoulos).

67. While Mr. Karat and Mr. Nieuwland had different clients for nearly six months and at the time of the case conference (with a bit of irony herein), SNIC in filing the SNIC Response had to act through an authorized representative or be directed by a "direct mind" – however clandestine and secret it may have been.

68. SNIC could only act through an individual, namely an authorized individual like an officer or one deemed to have the authority of an officer, particularly a senior officer (see: Insurance Act, "officer"). However, the LSA prohibited Mr. Karat from "signing" the SNIC Response as the sole representative at the time.

69. The definition of "senior officer" only relates to "related party transactions" under PART XVII.1 of the Insurance Act.

70. Therefore, the applicable and relevant definition is that of an "officer". "Officer" includes a trustee, director, manager, treasurer, secretary or member of the board or committee of management of AN INSURER and a person appointed by the insurer to sue and be sued in its behalf; (see: section 1(1) of the Insurance Act). While the Mr. Papadimitropoulos is not a "trustee" or "director" of SNIC, he does hold himself out as a "manager" and involved in "consequence management". Mr. Papadimitropoulos would meet the requirements of a licensee, officer and manager of SNIC at SNIC Markham. Therefore, on a balance of probabilities, the "officer" who ASSIGNED Mr. Karat with his duties and functions, to be the ADR specialist herein was the Mr. Papadimitropoulos for the particulars in affidavit evidence previously which are uncontroverted. More importantly, it is notable that Mr. Nieuwland misrepresented that Mr. Karat was an "ADR" 'officer' when he was not and never represented himself as such.

71. Even more compelling was that Mr. Karat signed the Purported SNIC Response without any reference to Nieuwland, and then served the Appellant (as defined in the LAT Appeal) with the Purported SNIC Response and a cover letter referencing the Purported SNIC Response (filed on behalf of AN insurance company – namely SNIC) which had the address as the same as the Purported SNIC Response at SNIC Markham. The author of the cover letter was "TD Insurance Meloche Monnex" with Security National Insurance Company as the return address albeit allegedly in Markham, Ontario.

VOLUME #6(D): KAISER

72. While the Divorced Husband Conflicted Lawyer (Mr. Papadimtriopoulos) is NOT the declared tribunal advocate for SNIC and not declared herein at the JRPA Proceeding, his public denoted address with the LSO is SNIC Markham which was and is at material times in the TD Claim #3 the same address as Nurse (from DOL to Spring/Summer of 2023) and Karat (January 23, 2024 and onwards). It does not matter if the individual, admittedly in irreconcilable conflict of interest, is the "tribunal or court" advocate as found by the ONSC in Talisman. There is codification of the same under section 1(7) of the LSA.

VOLUME #6(E): PUHL, TALISMAN, AND YELLOW CEDAR

73. It is not only when a conflict of interest occurs but whether a conflict of interest could be reasonably perceived in all of the circumstances (see: Puhl at paragraph 18; Talisman, Yellow Cedar). In short, whether a circumstantial perceived conflict of interest could be perceived ("Circumstantial Perceived COI"). "Could" is consistent with reasonable suspicion and NOT "reasonable grounds" (see: R. v. Kang).

74. The legal test is not when an individual's personal interests could compromise judgment or actions in discharging job duties but the legal test is whether the Appellant has established on a balance of probabilities that a fair-minded and reasonably informed member of the public would conclude the removal of the

VOLUME #6(F): SEMINAL POINT – COI COMING TO PASS FOR JUSTICE SHORE AS A RESULT OF THE MISCONDUCT, MISCHIEF AND FRAUD OF MR. PAPADIMITROPOULOS

75. To belabour the point, the decision of the Tribunal dismissing the Applicant's COI Motion allowed Mr. Papadimitropoulos to remain as a representative whether or not he was in the forefront or back-office, declared or not. However, the difference now is that none of the tribunal decision makers were his counsel in a matrimonial litigation spanning some three years and ending in a divorce decree, and then issuing decisions involving him. However, that COI has come to pass on or around January 8, 2024.

Volume #6(G): Martin – the administration of justice

76. The legal test is not when an individual's personal interests could compromise judgment or actions in discharging job duties but the legal test is whether the Appellant has established on a balance of probabilities that a fair-minded and reasonably informed member of the public would conclude the removal of the individual – in this matter being a justice - is necessary for the proper administration of justice (see: MacDonald Estate v. Martin, 1990 CanLII 32 at paragraph 47).

77. The expression "substantial risk" in the definition of "conflict of interest" describes the likelihood of impairment as opposed to nature and severity. substantial risk is one that is significant and plausible EVEN IF it is NOT certain or even probably that it will occur. There must be more than a "mere possibility" that impairment will occur. Ergo, not a "mere possibility" but a "possibility".

VOLUME #6(F): DUTIES TO THIRD PERSONS MATTER UNDER THE LSO BY-LAWS AND RULES OF PROFESSIONAL CONDUCT

78. Moreover, the ROPC, section 3.4 does not solely relate to whether the Conflicted Lawyer (Mr. Papadimtropoulos) is able to discharge his job duties (whatever that means in fact or law) but whether there is a substantial risk that a lawyer's loyalty to or representation of a client (SNIC – not NON-SABS INSURER)) would be materially or adversely affected by the lawyer's duties to a "third person".

79. In Bose, The Honourable Mr. Justice Perrell on the Ontario Superior Court of Justice found that Canada has taken on an increasingly stricter approach to the law of COI by way of reference to cases involving Martin to Neil

80. As Justice Sopinka found in MacDonald Estate v. Martin: "In dealing with the question of the use of Confidential Information we are dealing with a matter that is usually not susceptible of proof. As pointed out by Fletcher Moulton L.J. in Rakusen, "that is a thing which you cannot prove" (p. 841). I would add "or disprove". Justice Laskin went further when he found, "Since, however, it is not susceptible of proof, the test must be such that the public represented by the reasonably informed person would be satisfied that no use of Confidential Information would occur.

VOLUME #6(G): FAMILY LAW AND FAMILY LAW FIRMS INVOKE DIFFERENT PRINCIPLES

81. Justin Laskin found: "Of more importance, however, is the fact that the principles involved herein are designed not only to protect the interests of the individual clients but they also protect the public confidence in the administration of justice. This is particularly so when the litigation involves a family dispute. Furthermore, when the public interest is involved, the appearance of impropriety overrides any private interest claimed by waiver."

82. It is most fitting to note there are ongoing obligations arising from a "family dispute" between the Divorced Husband Conflicted Lawyer (Mr. Papadimtriopoulos) and the Individual Policyholder that are in perpetuity.

VOLUME #7: THE LEGAL BASES RELATING TO A REASONABLE APPREHENSION OF A BIAS ("RAOB") INVOLVING A JUSTICE

VOLUME #7(A): THE TEST FOR RAOB

83. The test for a reasonable apprehension of bias is fairly straight forward. It was first articulated by Supreme Court of Canada in Committee for Justice and Liberty v. National Energy Board, as follows:

> ". . . what would an informed person, viewing the matter realistically and practically — and having thought the matter through — conclude. Would he think that it is more likely than not that [the decision-maker], whether consciously or unconsciously, would not decide fairly."

84. This test — what would a reasonable, informed person think — has consistently been endorsed and repeated by the Supreme Court of Canada, most recently in Yukon Francophone School Board, Education Area #23 v. Yukon (Attorney General).

85. As such, the possibility of bias is not assessed from the perspective of the reviewing judge or the litigants themselves. Rather, the assessment of bias must be holistic and contextual, requiring "a careful and thorough examination of the proceeding", 6 to determine what a reasonable, neutral observer would see. The court reviews the FULL RECORD in its entirety "to determine the cumulative effect of any transgressions or improprieties".

86. By the Applicant being deprived of his right to upload his filed documents into Case Center, contrary to the explicit language in the JR Divisional Court Guide, it is unclear if Justice Shore had access to the Applicant's Filed Documents which an Originating Process, Factum, Application Record, Affidavit #1 and #2, and others.

VOLUME #7(B): POTENTIAL GROUNDS FOR BIAS

87. There are six potential grounds for bias by which the impartiality of judges and administrative decision-makers can be brought into question under Canadian law.

88. This typology has been adapted from the categories formulated by Bryden, Philip, and Jula Hughes. "Legal Principles Governing the Disqualification of Judges." Available at SSRN 2473557 (2014) ["Bryden & Phillips, Legal Principles of Disqualification"].

a. Pecuniary or Personal Interest;

b. Personal Relationships;
c. Past Associations with Litigants or their Representatives; and
d. Prior judicial involvement with litigants.

89. There is no dispute that pursuant to the LSA, as a result of the substantial amendments in 2006 pursuant to the Access To Justice Act, 2006, that a representative need not be counsel of record. However, as per the record of proceeding in the LAT Appeal, pursuant to the contents required by the SPPA, section 20, the decision that allowed Mr. Papadimitropoulos remain as a binding one herein. If not a COI then, then certainly a COI came to pass now.

VOLUME #7(C): RECUSAL PROCEDURE

90. For example, in Benedict v. Ontario the provincial Crown moved to disqualify the motion judge on a reasonable apprehension of bias, as the motions judge was a plaintiff in an ongoing wrongful dismissal action against the Crown in a case similar to the employment-related claim before her. The Crown appealed after the judge refused to recuse herself. The Ontario Court of Appeal disqualified the judge, holding that any decision she reached which was unfavourable to the Crown could be perceived as advancing or vindicating her own claim.

VOLUME #7(D): PERSONAL RELATIONSHIPS

91. This class of bias relates to situations where the adjudicator has a sufficiently close relationship with a person involved in the proceeding (e.g. witnesses, parties, counsel, etc.) that renders him or her incapable or potentially incapable of judging impartially. In these instances, the impartiality can be in the form of favouritism[7] or personal animus[8] depending on the history of the relationship.[9]

92. Three considerations are important here: (1) whether it is a current or a previous relationship (existing relationship give rise to greater apprehension of bias); (2) The nature of the relationship (i.e. friendship, family, professional, or business); and (3) The depth of the relationship (i.e. cordial, formal, social, intimate). [10]

VOLUME #7(E): PERSONAL RELATIONSHIPS WITH LITIGANTS AND THEIR REPRESENTATIVES

93. Judges often disqualify themselves where the matter before them involves former clients or law partners.

94. The SCC found in its seminal case of Weykaum Indian Bank at paragraph 65:

> "Second, when parties say that there was no actual bias on the part of the judge, they may be conceding that the judge was acting in good faith, and was not consciously relying on inappropriate preconceptions, but was nevertheless unconsciously biased. In R. v. Gough, [1993] A.C. 646 (H.L.), at p. 665, quoting Devlin L.J. in The Queen v. Barnsley Licensing Justices, [1960] 2 Q.B. 167 (C.A.), Lord Goff reminded us that:
> Bias is or may be an unconscious thing and a man may honestly say that he was not actually biased and did not allow his interest to affect his mind, although, nevertheless, he may have allowed it unconsciously to do so. The matter must be determined upon the probabilities to be inferred from the circumstances in which the justices sit."

95. Put another way, is it more likely than not that it can inferred, from an objective person's perspective, that Madam Justice Shore was not actually biased and did not allow her interest as being a partner of the law firm of Epstein Cole LLP during the time of a firm's representation of Mr. Papadimitropoulos but nonetheless the appearance of mischief and misconduct is one that this ONSC (Divisional Court) must distance itself from an appearance standpoint.

96. What would an informed person, viewing the matter realistically and practically – and having thought the matter through – conclude? Would this person think that it is more likely than not that Binnie J., whether consciously or unconsciously, did not decide fairly?

97. There are no textbook instances.

98. Whether the facts, as established, point to financial or personal interest of the decision-maker; present or past link with a party, counsel or judge; earlier participation or knowledge of the litigation; or expression of views and activities, they must be addressed carefully in light of the entire context. There are no shortcuts.[11]

99. The fact that a judge would have recused himself or herself ex ante cannot be taken to be determinative of a reasonable apprehension of bias ex post.[12]

100. The following statement of Laskin C.J., in Committee for Justice and Liberty v. National Energy Board, supra, at p. 388:

> "Lawyers who have been appointed to the Bench have been known to refrain from sitting on cases involving former clients, even where they have not had any part in the case, until a reasonable period of time has passed. A fortiori, they would not sit in any case in which they played any part at any stage of the case. This would apply, for example, even if they had drawn up or had a hand in the statement of claim or statement of defence and nothing else (see: paragraph 80 of Weykaum).

101. While commending Madam Justice Shore for being ready, willing and able, she (and this Court) must live by the very representations that she made to the Judicial Advisory Committee for it to rely upon in determining her high level qualification to become a justice and ensure not only the impartiality of her actions but the appearance of the same.

102. It is not the grounds for automatic disqualification but it serves as a strong evidentiary foundation. It suggests that a reasonable and right-minded person would likely view unfavourably the fact that the judge acted as counsel in a case over which he or she is presiding, and could take this fact as the foundation of a reasonable apprehension of bias (see: paragraph 81 of Weykaum).

VOLUME #7(F): GOVERNMENT PRACTICE IS DIFFERENT THAN PRIVATE PRACTICE

103. Furthermore, in assessing the potential for bias arising from a judge's earlier activities as counsel, the reasonable person would have to take into account the characteristics of legal practice within the Department of Justice, as compared to private practice in a law firm. See the Canadian Judicial Council's Ethical Principles for Judges, supra, at p. 47.

VOLUME #7(G): JUDGES' VOLUNTARY RECUSAL

104. In Canada, the vast majority of recusal decisions are made by judges on their own motion. Judges are under an ethical and legal obligation to recuse themselves, if they believe they will be unable to judge impartially. In carrying out this responsibility, a judge is not required to consul with any other person, including with his or her Chief Justice.

105. If a judge is aware of any relationship or personal interest that raises a reasonable apprehension of bias, it is generally desirable that disclosure is made in advance of a hearing, so that the case may be reassigned.

VOLUME #7(H): COURTS OF JUSTICE ACT: REASSIGNMENT

106. Under the Ontario Courts of Justice Act (s. 75(1)(3)), it is the Chief Justice of a court or one of the Associate Chief Justices who is responsible for the assignment or reassignment of cases. However, pursuant to section 77.04(1), the case management conference was required to be in front of the same judge who self-initiated (however coincidentally or unlikely, probabilistically speaking, that may seem) the same. As such, said Case Management Attendance Requirement must be nullified as per the Nullification Request. It is void and void ab initio not merely voidable.

107. In the alternative, it must be adjourned generally and indefinitely while all other duties and obligations of not only the Applicant but the respondents, and, where applicable, the staff of the ONSC (Divisional Court) must be complied with forthwith. There is no requirement of a case conference to be held in any proceeding let alone a judicial review proceeding which are to be summary in nature.

VOLUME #7(I): NO UNIFORM PRACTICE BUT BEST GUIDANCE: "SEEK SUBMISSIONS"

108. More obviously, the CJC notes that judges should not recuse themselves where the potential conflict of interest is "trifling" or unlikely to raise plausible basis for disqualification. However, where the potential for disqualification is arguable, or when an unexpected issue arises shortly before or during the proceeding, the judge is advised to make disclosure and to seek submissions from counsel.

VOLUME #7(J): NO UNIFORM PRACTICE BUT BEST GUIDANCE: "OBJECT PROMPTLY"

109. The Supreme Court of Canada affirmed in Canada (Human Rights Commission) v. Taylor, that where a party reasonably apprehensive of bias fails to allege a violation of natural justice at "the earliest practicable opportunity", there is an implied waiver of any future right to complain about bias. Cartwright J. put the rule as follows, by way of dicta, in delivering the Supreme Court judgment in Ghirardosi v. Minister of Highways for British Columbia:

> "There is no doubt that, generally speaking, an award will not be set aside if the circumstances alleged to disqualify an arbitrator were known to both parties before the arbitration commenced and they proceeded without objection.

110. Where both criteria are established, the reviewing court will often look to the failure to object or raise with suspicion, indicative of tactic to hold an objection in reserve in the event of an unfavourable ruling. This is especially the case where allegations of bias are raised on appeal at first instance. For instance, in Eckervogt v. British Columbia (Minister of Employment and Investment), the Court of Appeal noted that it is "most unsatisfactory" for the court to hear an allegation of bias in the first instance:

> "I do not think it is proper for a party to hold in reserve a ground of disqualification for use only if the outcome turns out badly. Bias allegations have serious implications for the reputation of the tribunal and in fairness they should be made directly and promptly, not held back as a tactic in the litigation. Such a tactic should, I think, carry the risk of a finding of waiver. Furthermore, the genuineness of the apprehension becomes suspect when it is not acted on right away.[emphasis added]."

111. Hence the critical importance to formally note objections in the record. The JRPA Applicant has been anything but "silent" but ensuring that he had objected, reserved his rights and promptly notified the ONSC Registrar.

VOLUME #7(J): NO UNIFORM PRACTICE BUT BEST GUIDANCE: MOTION OR REQUEST

112. Mullan and Boyle suggest that objections to an adjudicators presence should be made in writing, preferably by way of a formal motion to recuse, "or at the very least by an unambiguous request, and not just by way of general expressions of potential concern".

113. In the context of a "non-endorsement" or "non-order" by Justice Shore, the Applicant respectfully submits that a request, as opposed to a motion, is most appropriate considering the same. The Applicant, the "Requestor" herein, will provide a "record" so it can be stamped accordingly on the same or by way of separate document at the election of the Court.

114. In this manner, Rule 59.06 of the Civil Rules need not be addressed and it is unlikely it could be addressed on strict reading of the same but would have, hypothetically speaking but for the RAOB herein, by analogy under the Civil Rules.

VOLUME #8: CONCLUDING REMARKS WITH THANKS TO THIS COURT FOR DECIDING THE RESPECTFUL REQUESTS

VOLUME #8(A): MISUSE OF CONFIDENTIAL INFORMATION: NORMALLY NOT SUSCEPTIBLE TO PROOF (OR DISPROOF)

115. This principle, legal in nature, is cited for the purposes that the JRPA Applicant cannot prove or disprove what was shared in a privileged setting between Epstein Cole LLP and Mr. Andrew Papadimitropoulos. All that he can prove is that current counsel of record in this JRPA Proceeding admitted (but misrepresented) that Mr. Papadimtripoulos could not be involved in the LAT Appeal. If he could not be involved in any way in the LAT Appeal, then there is agreement between the Applicant and the respondent insurance companies that his legal relationships, caused by a separation and a final divorce decree in 2019, along with his continuing duties pursuant to contract to cease and desist in any form of direct (Ms. Nicole Artopoulos (the "Named Individual Insured" in the Insurance Policy (the very "insurance policy" cited by VC Morrissette at paragraph 27 of the VCM Reasons (see: Oral Compendium, Tab 1, page 9) of indirect contact (which would be the Applicant)).

116. Litigation is not a "tea party". That being said, this Court's time need not be wasted in the minutia of the unlawful and, frankly, rather frightening conduct (from a mental health standpoint) that he engaged in by reference to affidavit #3 of the JRPA Applicant, made on January 8, 2025, by appending the very affidavits in the record of proceeding that he relied upon in support of his COI Motion.

117. It is now established on a balance of probabilities that Karat derived his assignment to this LAT Dispute for SNIC from the Conflicted Lawyer (Mr. Papadimtriopoulos). Therefore, all "conflict of interest rules" and "conflict of interest jurisprudence" has a thrust that relates to not only the lawyer acting personally (or covertly as it relates to section 1(7) of the LSA) but all those associated with him in his practice of law.

118. With the benefit of hindsight, the Applicant's submissions in Spring 2024 were now somewhat prophetic:

> "The Appellant's evidence remains uncontroverted that there has been, is and will be tainting of evidence if the Impugned Individuals are not disqualified and restrained from any future provision of legal services, practise of law or representation of SNIC (or any NON-SABS Insurer) in any Future Related LAT Proceedings. Tainting of evidence is very high or inevitable as the evidence of the Impugned Individuals is unknown and none was adduced in response to NOM #6 (see: HB, Tab 5, page 129, Talisman, paragraph 38)."

119. It was prophetic because of the reference to 'future related proceedings" and it has come to roost yet again.

120. It is not in the Applicant's DNA or makeup to feel sorry for himself so nobody else needs to.

121. His primary concern is preventing this type of conduct from happening again (if systemic) to others who do not have the ability, determination, and/or skill to take on a collection of bullies.

122. To the extent that it is idiosyncratic to the JRPA Applicant, then it bolster the Applicant's respectful submission that the Recusal Request, Nullification Request, Adjournment Request, and Staff Direction Requests must be granted.

123. As found in Dervisholli, quoted by Madam Justice Marlyss Edwards in Transamerica, once a NON-SABS* Insurer collects, accesses, uses or discloses "Confidential Information" from the "Accident Benefits file" of 'SABS insurer', said "counsel or licensees" are place in an irreconcilable conflict of interest. The only remedy that must be granted is their permanent disqualification and removal from any and all files which they are involved in. Unfortunately, this Tribunal, unlike the sound reasons for decision by Vice Chair McGee in Mansuri (which is well known to this Court by way of subsequent judicial review), did not decide in accordance with the law at that time. However, it turned out to be to the detriment to the respondent insurance companies considering their failure to comply with filing (not 'exchanging of materials' whatever that means in fact or at law) deadline of the Civil Rules.

124. In fairness to the Tribunal, the Applicant did not have said evidence of the mischief with respect to the forger of the "As per A. Nurse" 'signature' (used only for reference and not in the legal sense or any admission of its validity). The Applicant framed the legal issues as follows:

> Has the Appellant in light of the filing and serving of the perfected Joint Hearing Record as of Friday, April 26, 2024 proven on a balance of probabilities that a fair minded and reasonably informed member of the public would conclude that the circumstances herein

could be (a possibility) of perceived conflict of interest such that an order is required, for the proper administration of justice, regarding the disqualification and restraining for any further involvement, in TD Claim #3, this LAT Proceeding and any Future Related LAT Proceedings of the Mr. Papadimitropoulos, Nieuwland, Karat, Moraes, Saeed, and any other unknown individuals who are Associates, Affiliated, Affiliated Entities, Supervisees, Assignees, Joint Entity Affiliated Providers et al (who must receive a copy of a LAT Order)?

a. Further, has there been such mischief and dishonest conduct by the "Non-SABS Insurer", licensees and non-licencees (or on their behalf) (collectively, the "Impugned Persons") that such breaches of integrity, which have a corrosive impact on public confidence in the legal profession and the administration of justice (see: Christie at paragraph 37, cited by Chung, 2021 ONLSTH 44), that they must be disqualified on those bases alone albeit consistently with the principles for a Perceived Circumstantial COI?

125. Simply put, since the record of proceeding is replete with only uncontroverted evidence of the Applicant regarding this rather fortuitous discovery (see: images above) for his self-interest and counter to that of the initial adjuster for SNIC and Mr. Andrew Papadimtriopoulos, Mr. Nieuwland's representations in defiance and response to the COI orders sought in NOM #6 and NOM #9 now bear heavily on Justice Shore recusing herself through no per se fault of her own but solely based on her former partnership status at Epstein Cole LLP. However, said law firm agreed to represent this "individual" and with that comes potential consequences that follow lawyers into retirement and into the bench. Simply put, the law firm cannot have it both ways where they accept funds for services and not have to bear the consequences (which is merely herein that Justice Shore cannot adjudicate this JRPA Proceeding in any fashion even at the triage or case management phase)

VOLUME #9: RECAP OF RELIEF SOUGHT

126. As opposed to making a public spectacle of the above with a reported decision, the Applicant sincerely trusts that this Honourable Court appreciates resolving the above issues with findings, orders or granting of the Requested Relief in the Respectful Requests on an expedited basis:

1. The Honourable Madam Justice Shore is disqualified from any further involvement in this JRPA Proceeding (the "Disqualification Request" or the "Recusal Request");
2. The Case Management Appearance Requirement is declared as void and void ab initio (not merely voidable) (the "Nullification Request");
3. A general and indefinite adjournment of the case conference pursuant to 77.04(1)(b) of the Civil Rules by the Associate Justice (the "Adjournment Request");
4. A direction by the Honourable Chief Justice, pursuant to section 76 of the CJA, that the Registrar shall accept all outstanding requisition filings and provide confirmation of the same to the JRPA Applicant and respondents; and
5. A direction by the Honourable Chief Justice, pursuant to section 76 of the CJA, that the Registrar comply with her duties (by law), pursuant to 68.05(2) of the Civil Rules[13], and provide the parties with a "Notice of Listing For Hearing".

("d" and "e" together, the "Staff Direction Requests").

(collectively, the "Respectful Requests" or "Requests").

127. In support of the Respectful Requests, the JRPA Applicant relies on the filed materials in the record of proceeding herein and those documents that the JRPA Applicant has tendered for filing which remain in "processing status" and/or are required to be issued or deemed filed by the ONSC Divisional Court Registrar with reference to Rule 4.08 and/or section 76 of the CJA.

128. All of which is respectfully submitted (with the filed affidavit #3 of the JRPA Applicant on January 8, 2025, as "materials" in support of the same) to the ONSC (Div. Ct.) (Chief Justice and Associate Chief Justice (where applicable above)) on Thursday, January 16, 2025:

URGENT – NOTICE

Court file number: Court File No. DC-24-00000718-00JR
Type of document: email (three outstanding requisitions)
Short title of proceeding: McLean v. TDHA et al
Party: Mr. Kevin A. McLean, self-represented, Applicant, e: mcleansettlement@gmail.com;

Re: confirmation of the correct or preferred procedure to address my nullification request of Justice Shore initiated case management appearance requirement (the "Case Management Appearance Requirement") (the "Nullification Request") (see: affidavit #3 herein)

Re #2: recusal request of Madam Justice Shore (the "Recusal Request")

Re #3: to the extent applicable – dependent on other factor – the assignment request or reassignment

Re #4: Materials to follow today

Dear Madam Registrar Clegg:

1. I write regarding the above. I remain of the view and position, with great respect, that Justice Shore must recuse herself and withdraw her self-initiated Case Management Appearance Requirement.

2. You will kindly recall that I kindly informed you that I would review the law with respect to the preferred procedure. In that vein, There is no uniform practice in Canada with regard to raising the allegation of bias or a reasonable apprehension of bias at trial. Thus, the exact procedure to be followed in Ontario is unsettled (see: Paul Perell, "The Disqualification of Judges and Judgments on the Grounds of Bias or Reasonable Apprehension of Bias" (2004), 29 The Advocates' Quarterly 102, at 114 [Perell, "The Disqualification of Judges"].

3. Pursuant to our Courts of Justice Act, section 75(1) is relevant:

> Powers re sittings and assignment of judicial duties
>
> 75 (1) The powers and duties of a judge who has authority to direct and supervise the sittings and the assignment of the judicial duties of his or her court include the following:
>
> 1. Determining the sittings of the court.
>
> 2. Assigning judges to the sittings.
> 3. Assigning cases and other judicial duties to individual judges

4. As such, my request will be directed to the Honourable Chief Justice of the ONSC The Honourable Geoffrey B. Morawetz Chief Justice of the Superior Court of Justic and The Honourable Faye E. McWatt.

5. As noted, I have already filed my affidavit #3 on January 8, 2025, in support (i.e. materials exchanged already in support but also filed) of my Nullification Request and Request.

6. As noted by our SCC in Newfoundland Telephone Co. v. Newfoundland (Board of Commissioners of Public Utilities), 1992 CanLII 84 (SCC), the damage caused by the reasonable apprehension of bias ("RAOB") cannot be remedied by Justice Shore. The only solution is the withdrawal of her Case Management Appearance Requirement.

7. The materials shall follow in short order which will be in the nature of a request with reliance on affidavit #3.

8. In relation to The Honourable Madam Justice Shore, and which will be relied upon in my requests of this Honourable Court, and as a brief "sneak preview" to the main argument, I note the following and certainly agree with Justice Shore's representations to the federal courts judicial appointment committee [hyperlinked to the specific paragraph for ease of reference]:

> "Vital to the Canadian system is the impartiality of a judge. This is different than the system in the United States. In Canada, judicial independence is viewed as vital to fostering public confidence in the fairness and objectivity of the justice system. The Supreme Court of Canada has described judicial independence as "the cornerstone, a necessary prerequisite for judicial impartiality."
>
> The Honourable Sharon Shore of our ONSC also made a statement to the Judicial Advisory Committee[14] that this Applicant certainly agrees with as follows:
>
> Last, but not least, is integrity. I have always tried to conduct my personal and professional life with integrity. One of the lessons I learned from my mentors is that it takes a lifetime to build your reputation, and only minutes to destroy it.

9. I repeat and rely upon the previous supra in this email thread and explicitly repeat and rely upon section 76 of the CJA. I note the importance of the record of this proceeding being complete, accurate and up-to-date for a variety of purposes not limited to the requirement it be so for my requests.

10. Thank you in advance for drawing this email and my affidavit #3 to the attention of the Chief Justice of the ONSC and the Associate Justice of the ONSC with the proviso that my written argument for my above noted requests will follow today.

KEVIN ALEXANDER MCLEAN

APPLICANT

TD HOME AND AUTO INSURANCE COMPANY, SECURITY NATIONAL INSURANCE COMPANY, TD GENERAL INSURANCE COMPANY, EXECUTIVE DIRECTOR, LICENCE APPEAL TRIBUNAL,
HER MAJESTY THE QUEEN IN RIGHT OF ONTARIO, REPRESENTED BY EXECUTIVE CHAIR OF TRIBUNALS ONTARIO IN MR. SEAN WEIR, THE ATTORNEY GENERAL OF ONTARIO

Affidavit #8[i] of Kevin A. McLean in this JRPA Proceeding

I, Kevin Alexander McLean, Disabled (B.A., J.D., CIM) of Toronto, Ontario, SWEAR THAT:

Volume #1: Sworn Under Oath; under the Penalty of Perjury; and Introduction

1. I am the individual JRPA Applicant herein and I swear, under the pains and penalties of perjury, the following facts to be true. Where I have stated or sworn information on my belief(s), I have cited the source of my belief(s) by references, citations, end-noting or otherwise. When I have used the expressions (including any permutations) of "in my view", "in my opinion", or "belief", I am not drawing or making any conclusion of law or swearing a conclusion of law but rather citing my position and opinions as a matter of fact.

2. I adopt the definitions from my served documents in this JRPA Proceeding and they have the same meaning therein as they do herein unless expressly noted otherwise.

3. I define, at times, Mr. Andrew Papadimitropoulos as the "Interested Individual" or "Interested Person".

4. I swear this affidavit in support of my second motion ("Motion #2" or "NOM #2") in this JRPA Proceeding. My Motion #2 will be seeking the relief in the COI Recusal Submissions (see: Affidavit #7, Exhibit "A", pages 6 to 33) and other relief contained in the Notice of Motion form (Form 37(A)) to be filed and paid for after my serving and filing of this Affidavit #8 on the respondents and Interested Persons.

5. My first motion ("Motion #1" or "NOM #1") in this JRPA Proceeding is my motion exclusively directed at relief to be obtained against the Tribunal discharging its statutory obligations in accordance with section 10 of the JRPA and section 20 of the SPPA.

6. I note that in relation to my Motion #1 that I am only seeking that the Tribunal file (not necessarily serve as per the language in section 10 of the JRPA) the record of proceeding from December 24, 2023, to September 12, 2024.

7. For ease of reference for the Tribunal, these are from "speaking notes" for Motion #1:

> "When notice of an application for judicial review of a decision made in the exercise or purported exercise of a statutory power of decision has been served on the person making the decision, such person shall forthwith file in the court for use on the application the record of the proceedings in which the decision was made: section 10 of the JRPA. When notice of an application for judicial review of a decision made in the purported exercise of a statutory power of decision which includes a decision of the committee is served on the person making the decision, that person is required by s.10 of the Judicial Review Procedure Act, to "forthwith" file the record of proceedings in which the decision was made: Rew v Association of Professional Engineers of Ontario (Discipline Committee), 2016 ONSC 4043 (CanLII) ["REW"], https://canlii.ca/t/gs5t9 as per Dambrot, J. (orally) at paragraph 8;
>
> Any interlocutory orders made by the Tribunal would include the orders to the time the VCM Decision was made which was September 12, 2024: Payne v. Ontario Human Rights Commission, 2000 CanLII 5731 (ON CA), [2000] O.J. No. 2987, 136 O.A.C. 357 (C.A.) ["Payne"], at paragraphs 79 [the record of proceeding when the decision was made], paragraph 160, and paragraph 161. Payne was cited with approval by this ONSC Div. Ct. in the same year when the JRPA Application was made in Lachance: Lachance v. Solicitor General of Ontario, 2024 ONSC 975 (CanLII) as per Stewart, Myers, and Leiper JJ of the Divisional Court at paragraph 37 [copied by link to highlight as no hyperlink available on CanLII].

> In Rol-Land Farms Limited, Justice Swinton, Greer and Leitch of the ONSC Div. Ct. found that content that post-dated the decisions under review was not admissible (see: UFCW Canada v. Rol-Land Farms Limited, 2008 CanLII 6652 (ON SCDC), (see: https://canlii.ca/t/1vtm5) ("Rol-Land Farms") at paragraph 38[ii])
> Pursuant to s. 10 of the JRPA, since the VCM Decision was an exercise of a statutory power of decision [or the refusal of], she must, upon receipt of a judicial review application, file a record of proceedings: Endicott ONCA, paragraph 18. It is for use on the application which is the proceeding and not for select uses at select times: Endicott ONSC (as per Molloy, Lederer and Edwards JJ.), paragraph 20."

8. While I am aware of the law involving judicial reviews intended to be summary proceedings, I felt compelled to serve, pay for and file my Motion #1 in its current state so that I, inter alia, was not accused or prejudiced in the future by any allegation or finding that I did not object to the Tribunal's statutory non-compliance. In this regard, I again copy and paste from my 'draft speaking notes' for Motion #1 returnable on January 30, 2025, by teleconference:

> *"*In Reflection Productions, it was available to the applicant to bring a motion seeking production of documents it alleges were relied on by the decision-maker but are not contained in the record: see, for example K.D. v. Peel Children's Aid Society, 2017 ONSC 7392 (Div. Ct.) at paras. 16-17).

9. I remain of the belief that the Tribunal does not have a full and accurate record of the proceeding and it is unable, not unwilling per se to file the record of proceeding as it was from December 23, 2023, to September 13, 2024. I source my belief based upon Mr. Boyce provided his theories of the law, without citation to the statutory sections under the JRPA and SPPA, and providing a timeline of three to four weeks in his initial letter to myself and the ONSC Divisional Court and not being able to comply with the same.

Volume #2: Exhibits

Volume #2(A): Exhibit "A"

10. Attached hereto to this my affidavit and marked as Exhibit "A" are copies of documents which I found last evening of January 26, 2025, and this morning of January 27, 2025, which are denoted as follows with the corresponding pagination:

    i. Page count: 12 pages
        1. (see: Exhibit "A", pages 42 to 53).

11. I have alleged and sworn on belief, which is contained in the record of proceeding and some of my documents in my filed and served Application Record of December 12, 2024, that there are issues of real unfairness before the Tribunal and that, inter alia, that Mr. Papadimitropoulos was the individual who engaged in some of the impugned conduct like the 'As per A. Nurse' purported signature in the first OCF-18 (see: Affidavit #3 herein, Exhibit "A", page 199) that was tendered through HCAI on or around April 6, 2023. I have not received any evidence to the contrary. I challenge any of the three respondent insurance companies and any individual that were so involved to provide evidence to the contrary. I directly challenge Mr. Papadimitropoulos to swear evidence to the contrary.

12. Out of an abundance of caution and in light of Ms. Im and Mr. Boyce removing their business addresses and business name or employer names after my affidavit #2 was served on them and filed with the ONSC Divisional Court, I copy and paste as of today's date Mr. Papadimitropoulos' directory information[iii]:

13. While I appreciate that the FSRA Proposed Rule (defined supra) is not in effect as of today's date, I allege that there has been a situation of employee fraud at the various insurance companies including but not limited to: (i) TDHA; (ii) TDGIC; and (iii) SNIC. I have alleged with sworn evidence, on belief, contained in the record of proceeding, that Mr. Papadimitropoulos was involved in some of the internal employee fraud.

14. I believe that in relation to SNIC's Response, exclusively, on its face, completed, signed and filed by one Mr. David Karat, a non-licensee, Mr. Papadimitropoulos had a role in conduct that fell under the following at section 1(7)(1.) and (3.) of the Law Society Act:

> "Representation in a proceeding
>
> (7) Without limiting the generality of paragraph 3 of subsection (6), doing any of the following shall be considered to be representing a person in a proceeding:
> 1. Determining what documents to serve or file in relation to the proceeding, determining on or with whom to serve or file a document, or determining when, where or how to serve or file a document.

3. Engaging in any other conduct necessary to the conduct of the proceeding. 2006, c. 21, Sched. C, s. 2 (10)."

15. I have referenced some of the above noted issues in my Factum which was filed and served on December 10, 2024.

16. I believe that Mr. Papadimitropoulos remains in breach of the terms and provisions of the separation agreement (contract) that he and Ms. Nicole Artopoulos reached prior to their finalized and approved divorce decree. I have a copy of the divorce decree in storage. In relation to the first sentence in this paragraph, I believe that Mr. Papadimitropoulos was and is in breach of the "no direct and indirect contact provision" therein. I believe that I would fall under the "no indirect contact provision" which is why I believe and allege, and challenge Mr. Papadimitropoulos to swear evidence to the contrary, that he utilized the likes of the names of Ms. Alisha Anne-Nurse, Ms. Persaud and Mr. Karat without revealing or disclosing his involvement.

17. For consistency and accuracy purposes for the ONSC Divisional Court to assess the merits of my NOM #2, Ms. Nicole Artopoulos' legal counsel was Mr. Theodore Laan, barrister and solicitor of the LSO with the firm name at the time of "Laan Litigation"[iv].

18. I now copy and paste from the LSO directory the information relating to Mr. Ted Laan:

19. I note that the size of the firm of Epstein Cole LLP is, based upon my computation, some 30 lawyers. Based upon my review of the website, it appears to me that Epstein Cole LLP specializes in matrimonial and family law dispute resolution and litigation.

20. I provide the above noted fact when juxtaposing the facts involving a client of Epstein Cole LLP in Mr. Papadimitropoulos and the facts in GWL Properties wherein a case management judge had a brother at the then firm of Ladner Downs LLP in Vancouver, BC.

21. I have provided my intention to seek relief, informally and formally, that Madam Justice Shore recuse herself and/or the Associate Justice of the ONSC and/or the Chief Justice of the ONSC disqualify her from being involved in this JRPA Proceeding, since becoming aware of Madam Justice Shore's prior distinguished, in my view, legal career at Epstein Cole LLP.

22. I believe and will continue to request the consent of the respondents until my Motion #2 is heard or resolved in my favour based upon the case law that I cited in my COI Recusal Submissions but also my correspondence with the ONSC Divisional Court and respondents but also pursuant to section 71 of the CJA:

> "The administration of the courts shall be carried on so as to: (a) maintain the independence of the judiciary as a separate branch of government; (b) recognize the respective roles and responsibilities of the Attorney General and the judiciary in the administration of justice; (c) encourage public access to the courts and public confidence in the administration of justice; (d) further the provision of high-quality services to the public; and (e) promote the efficient use of public resources."

23. I wish to continue to make clear that I have not alleged, as I cannot prove a negative (i.e. a matter that is susceptible to proof or not susceptible to proof), that Madam Justice Shore is actually biased towards the respondent insurance companies and prejudiced towards me but that the appearance of impartiality is at the forefront of my Motion #2.

24. Based on the writing style in the above noted document attributed by the FSRA to the Interested Individual, I believe that he was responsible for what I have defined in my Factum and Application Record as the Spam Fax (Spring 2023) and the letter that one of my health practitioners received in August or September 2024 which were, in my view and based on memory in relation to the former, similar to each other. The latter letter to which I refer was the one where I had delivered OCF-18's and invoices on my behalf or in relation to the services provided to me to TDHA and SNIC, along with any other insurance company that may have had carriage of my accident benefits file regarding the duty to respond and pay benefits. The response that I received was that no entity within TD Insurance had any record of my claim number with TD despite it being provided in each OCF-18 and invoice along with the cover letter therein.

25. I believe that the Interested Individual has much animus and malice towards me.

VOLUME #2(B): EXHIBIT "B":

26. I re-swear that I do not believe TD Insurance Staff Lawyers' representation to me and the Tribunal that Mr. Andrew Papadimitropoulos was never involved in my accident benefits claim. I note that said representation was tendered by Mr. Nieuwland in the Winter and Spring of 2024. I believe that he remains involved in any all aspects of the same and I continue to object to the same however clandestine or surreptitiously he has been, he is or intends to provides any form of representation to any of the three distinct insurance companies named as respondents in this JRPA Proceeding or otherwise.

27. I have not finished at this time the chart that outlines all of the justices of the ONSC (Toronto Region) and their previous affiliations, partnerships or associations prior to being appointed as justices of the ONSC. However, having completed some 88 of the 93 listed justices in the ONSC (Toronto Region), I cannot find any other justice that worked at the law firm of Epstein Cole LLP at the times denoted of 2017 and beyond.

28. Attached hereto to this my affidavit and marked as Exhibit "B" are copies of two sets or classes of documents which are particularized as follows:

a. Copies of images that I obtained from CAMH through a privacy request and now privacy complaint to the OIPC (ON) involving the theft of my property on Friday, October 25, 2024;
    i. Page count: 6 pages
        1. (see: Exhibit "B", pages 54 to 59); and
b. Copy of a printout or chart that I received from the TPL based on my second access request[v] made of it pursuant to my factual grounds that an individual had engaged in unauthorized collection, use, access and disclosure of my name, TPL library card[vi] (from the time after October 25, 2024 into January 2025);
    i. Page count: 3 pages
        1. (see: Exhibit "B", pages 60 to 62).

29. While I do not intend at this time to delve into all of the minutia of what transpired from October 25, 2024, to January 2025 involving the theft of my property and subsequent and continued theft, impersonation, fraud, false pretenses et al, I will provide the evidence which I believe is currently relevant and/or material to this JRPA Proceeding and my Motion #2.

30. I swear that none of the activities but for one activity in the chart provided by the TPL to me were activities undertaken by myself. The sole activity undertaken by myself was the obtaining of a replacement library card despite not having any picture identification at the time in hard copy form as all of my identification, including my passport, were contained within the "backpack" or "laptop bag" that was stolen on October 25, 2024.

31. I received the above noted chart late last week and I was most appalled with further unauthorized activities of which I was unaware in substance and form. For example, while my primary laptop computer was stolen, as it was contained within the backpack, the unauthorized individual engaged in 'renting' or 'borrowing' a laptop on October 28, 2024 which was a Monday. He did so, as it has been confirmed to me for some time that I am looking for a male that is engaged in the impersonation of me, on the very day in which I was in the same branch at the TPL which was the Fort York branch. In conjunction with said unauthorized activity involving the 'borrowing of laptops in my name' with my library card, said individual also borrowed a library book later entitled "That Night in the Library" or words to that effect. Since that time of October 25, 2024, it was, is and remains a terribly traumatizing and debilitating experience at the hands of this individual.

32. With respect to the images (Exhibit "B", page 55 (albeit slightly dark therein due to the image at the top), one of the reasons, of which I now have many and further corroborating evidence (some of it hearsay per se) that "TD Insurance", including Mr. Papadimtriopoulos was involved in some of the above unauthorized activities, was that there is a black suitcase that was NOT taken on October 25, 2024. I had utilized said suitcase for a period of time before the theft on October 25, 2024, and it had a "TD Bank" logo or name tag on the same. On the day in question, I was in the washroom of the visitor area part of the hospital, known as CAMH, at 1025 Queen Street West, which has a park that is adjacent to the East of it known as the "TD Commons", for no more than five minutes. During that time of setting my backpack and black luggage suitcase or "carry on" (with the TD logo on the same), only my backpack, and all contents (including all electronic devices) were taken therein. I immediately reported the same to the security and then made an access request of CAMH.

33. The images appended to this my affidavit at Exhibit "B" are some of the images that I obtained in relation to my access request of CAMH.

34. In relation to the unauthorized borrowing of books from the Queen and Salter branch of the TPL in November 2024, I confirmed with the TPL that I had never attended said branch or knew of its existence. I believe that at the material time of November 2024 that Mr. Papadimitropoulos had resided at an apartment or condo unit that was approximately three hundred metres from that branch. I believe the same based on information that Ms. Nicole Artopoulos had provided me at various time regarding his whereabouts and asking that I avoid that area when driving.

35. When referring to the residences in which I believe that Mr. Papadimitropoulos resided at, while not knowing if he had moved from that apartment building which is on the South side of Queen Street West, I am referring to the buildings situated where there is a Starbucks on the corner of Queen Street West and Carlaw Street.

36. In my view, the most disturbing of all of the unauthorized conduct was that after I had paid for, served and filed the Certificate of Perfection on December 13, 2024, there was further unauthorized conduct at seven p.m. on that Friday evening. The ONSC Divisional Court will be able to review the emails in the record of proceeding herein or at least by reference to the covering emails wherein Madam Registrar Ms. Clegg, with thanks, referred me to the online "Civil Claims Submissions Portal" to file and pay for my Certificate of Perfection.

37. I thank Registrar Ms. Clegg for her guidance in that regard and the correct manner to file at first instance such that the fees were paid prior to attempting to file at first instance through email.

38. In relation to the December 13, 2024, date, I note that it was one day after I had filed and served my Application Record which then only afforded the respondent insurance companies and the Tribunal 30 days to file any responsive factums and application records.

39. I have received or obtained further information involving December 13, 2024, and that it involved a male impersonating me at the Toronto Reference Library. I had been to the Toronto Reference Library (789 Yonge Street) but only for the purpose of delivering my fees for purposes of receiving access to the requested personal information and information (records as defined under MFIPPA).

40. I note that based upon my height and weight and that of Mr. Papadimitropoulos, we are similar in my view in height and weight. I have seen him before, based on information and belief, and Ms. Nicole Artopoulos confirming that we had seen him while driving in public from certain time periods of 2019 to 2024.

41. I was going to provide an image of Mr. Papadimitropoulos and an image of myself for comparison purposes but his LinkedIn profile does not appear to me to be active at this time. However, I can confirm for the ONSC Divisional Court that in order for an individual to have obtained a third library card, albeit under false pretenses, that said individual was required to provide identification. My identification was contained in my wallet which was in the aforementioned backpack which was stolen on October 25, 2024.

42. In relation to my evidence about what I believe to the most disturbing conduct on December 13, 2024, the unauthorized individual also changed my phone number associated with my library card and account to that of a CBC reported known as Ms. Valeria Ouellet who specializes in investigative reporting involving fraud, fraud investigations, RCMP corruption, money laundering et al.

Volume #2(C): Madam Justice Shore

43. It is unclear to me as to how Madam Justice Shore was delegated, if at all, to provide the email that she did to presumably the Registrar that was then relayed to myself and the respondents on or around January 7, 2025. I, in my view, promptly objected to her compulsory requirement of an attendance at a case conference. Based upon my review of the Rules of Civil Procedure, the case conference was required to be before her. In that regard, I swore an affidavit, served and filed the same on an urgent basis by way of email in the email thread that was commenced by the Tribunal with its Notice of Appearance albeit to the incorrect email to me as a matter of my email address for service.

44. As such, I believe and will submit that the issue is now far more serious and the circumstances are more compelling that Madam Justice Shore cannot have any involvement in this JRPA Proceeding. I will be relying on the case of GWL Properties that I cited in my correspondence to the ONSC Divisional Court, the respondents and Interested Person.

VOLUME #3: JURAT

45. I swear this affidavit in support of my Motion #2 and the relief that will be sought therein. To the extent that any respondent and Interested Person opposes my relief in Motion #2, I will seek costs in accordance with the CJA and the Rules of Civil Procedure.

46. In light of the above, my position remains that this JRPA Proceeding is more urgent than previously and any delays to have the matter heard before the Divisional Court inclusive of any case conferences, whether before Madam Justice Shore or not, will likely lead to a failure of justice.

47. I will be seeking in my Motion #2 an order that Mr. Papadimitropoulos and Epstein Cole produce and provide to the Court 'in camera' for its review a copy of the separation agreement between Ms. Nicole Artopoulos and Mr. Papadimitropoulos to assess the validity of the underlying evidence and facts, and relief sought in my Motion #2. I will be seeking leave or ancillary relief in relation to the same if the Court does not find that there is a reasonably perceived apprehension of bias, conflict of interest or lack of independence between Madam Justice Shore and the respondent insurance companies by virtue of, inter alia, Mr. Papadimitropoulos being a client of Epstein Cole LLP.

48. I swear that I will provide any necessary or requested evidence regarding the above as it becomes known to me.

49. I challenge any of the respondent insurance companies including Mr. Papadimitropoulos to provide any evidence to the contrary involving any of my sworn evidence that relates to the above. To the extent that they do not, I will ask that this Court to draw an adverse inference against them (some or all) and disqualify Madam Justice Shore, not through her wrongdoing, but "theirs" and refusing to consent to the relief that a different justice provide a similar type email and manage a case conference (if applicable).

50. In repeating and relying upon my previous evidence from the LAT Appeal, I kindly refer the Divisional Court (Toronto Region) to the sworn evidence that I filed and served in the LAT Appeal, which is appended to my affidavit #3, wherein Mr. Papadimitropoulos was attending the courtyard of the condo corporation denoted in my address for service which required further intervention of legal counsel and contacting of the police at the time. I again swear that I am not a party to the separation agreement but to the extent that there are consequences for non-compliance by a party to that contract, I am providing a copy of my affidavit material to one Epstein Cole LLP and Laan Litigation for their receipt and advising of their respective clients.

51. I again ask that the Tribunal consent to the relief that I am seeking in my proposed Motion #2.

52. I seek the consent of the respondent insurance companies as well on the bases above in relation to my proposed Motion #2.

53. To the extent that I do not hear from either or both, I will proceed accordingly and seek the relief on what I submit is an urgent bases. I will move as expediently as possible in order to have my Motion #2 heard and decided. I confirm that I am not available on February 18, 2025, as I will be away from February 16, 2025, to early March 2025. I have asked the ONSC Divisional Court to provide alternate dates for a potential case conference before Madam Justice Shore should I not be successful with Motion #2 in its entirety. I reserve my rights in relation to the same and I do not agree that a case conference is necessary in accordance with the CJA, Civil Rules et al when measured against the current status and non-compliance by the respondents with the Rules of Civil Procedure (defined herein at times as the "Civil Rules").

54. I swear this Affidavit #8 for no improper purpose and for the above purposes.

Consultation on Proposed Fraud Reporting Service Rule and Guidance

ID: 2024-008

Type: Rules
Sector: Auto Insurance
Status: Public comment closed
Date: July 15, 2024
Comment Due Date: October 15, 2024

Thank you for providing your feedback on FSRA's proposed Fraud Reporting Service Rule and Guidance .

The request for submissions is now closed.

We appreciate the comments and questions received to date and look forward to sharing with you the final Rule. Stay up to date on FSRA's Rules on our newsroom. Follow us on LinkedIn and subscribe to our mailing list for quick updates.

To reduce consumer harm and the additional costs associated with auto insurance fraud, Ontario's Financial Services Regulator (FSRA) is proposing a new Rule on auto insurance fraud reporting. This will help to better determine the amount of auto insurance fraud in the province, identify and address fraud trends and establish a baseline to be able to track and reduce the amount of fraud in the future. Once the Proposed Rule is in effect, insurance companies will be required to provide specific information to FSRA.

FSRA is seeking feedback on a Proposed Rule and Guidance that includes:

- a proposed definition of what constitutes a 'fraud event'
- when insurers are required to report information about a fraud event
- how often insurers will need to report information about fraud events to FSRA
- FSRA's approach in administering the Proposed Rule

Once the Proposed Rule comes into force, insurers will be required to provide prescribed information about auto insurance fraud to the FSRA. With the benefit of this information, FSRA will determine what can be done to reduce fraud and the consumer harm and costs arising from fraud.

The consultation period for the Proposed Rule is now open and will close on October 15, 2024. FSRA invites stakeholders to review the Proposed Rule and Guidance and submit their feedback.

	[2024-008] Derrick Ajmo - Heartland Mutual Insurance Hi there, The below are the concerns that Heartland would like to submit regarding the proposed Fraud Reporting Service Rule. 1. Fraud is usually never alleged unless proven in court. Typically, insurers will never deny a claim under fraud unless we have proof which we then turn over to the authorities. Typically, the authorities deem this low value and nothing is done. Therefore, without a conviction, how can we allege fraud towards an insured or vendor under the proposed guidelines. 2. The verbal presentation indicated that the insured or vendor identifying information would not be required to be reported however the documents released indicate that insured name and contact details must be listed on the FSRA reporting system. If we do indeed need to declare the insured or vendor name on the site and this information gets released to the public, the insurer could be exposed to a bad faith claim. Will FSRA regulations or rules exempt this reporting from being disclosed to the relevant parties and/or will FSRA compensate the insurer if found to be acting in bad faith due to reporting the insured or vendor of fraud based upon what later on could be deemed unproven allegations by a court? 3. What safeguards will FSRA undertake to ensure that this information is not inadvertently released to the public? With FSRA compensate insurers for the unauthorized release of the data should the system be compromised? Is there a concern by FSRA of the reputational harm to individual insureds and vendors should these unproven allegations of fraud be released into the public domain. 4. Will this information submitted by the insurer be subject to release to the public under Freedom of Information or be open to being subpoenaed in a court case involving said insurer. 5. As the goal of this is to gather the extent of the fraud being perpetrated in auto insurance, how will the information gathered be released to the public or insurers in a manner that will protect insurers from any potential bad faith allegations due to the data that has been reported to FSRA by them? If there is another format that the above feedback needs to be	November 1, 2024

Auto Insurance	[2024-008] Rhona DesRoches - FAIR Association of victims for Accident Insurance Reform FAIR Association of victims for Accident Insurance Reform response to: FSRA Consultation on Proposed Fraud Reporting Service Rule and Guidance ID 2024-008 We are pleased to see the Regulator take steps to identify fraud in the auto insurance industry to better protect the public. No one supports fraud and this is a positive step. 1. Definition of what constitutes a 'fraud event' Regarding the definition of a 'fraud event' at: 1. (e) "fraud event" means a deceptive act or omission, or series of deceptive acts or omissions intentionally committed by a person(s) to obtain advantage, financial gain, or benefits beyond that to which one is entitled to with regard to any policy, claim, provision of goods or services or other occurrence related to automobile insurance, and for greater clarity includes instances of:... RECOMMENDATION: The wording be expanded to include: "committed by a person(s), business(es) or institution(s) to.." The current language appears to specifically exclude businesses or institutions that are insurers and their associates or intermediaries. 3. Prescribed information under subsection 101.3(1) of the Act In respect to: 3(2) An insurer shall within thirty days after the close of each quarter of the calendar year provide the information prescribed in subsection 3(1) of this Rule with respect to fraud events which in the preceding quarter the insurer has taken action or made a decision based on reasonable grounds for the insurer to believe that a fraud event has occurred or is likely to occur. RECOMMENDATION: Insurers should have to provide information in subsection 3(1) within 30-60 days of the event rather than after the close of each quarter. If all insurers report at the same time the effectiveness of the Regulator may be compromised by being overwhelmed. Perhaps it is presumptuous to assume that the Regulator might take action to protect vulnerable claimants but stale-dated fraud reporting is	October 15, 2024

less helpful.

GENERAL COMMENT:
If the "purpose of collecting this information is to support the more effective assessment and detection of automobile insurance fraud in Ontario" and to support "FSRA's goal of reducing consumer harm caused through fraud" then there should be some statement about what FSRA does with this information other than "information that has been collected will be available for insurers to access to enable the assessing and detecting of fraud" in a second phase. What about consumer access to industry fraud?

Not only is the hunt for fraud left entirely to insurers (who are themselves often fraudulent in their claims practices) but it also ignores the claimant experience where insurers' (and their intermediaries) fraud is a very real issue tens of thousands of Ontario's claimants face every day.

Where, in this document, is the protection of vulnerable injured car crash claimants who are exposed to the fraud? This shouldn't just be about protecting insurer profits but rather about protecting people who are scammed along the claims corridor.

This document goes back and forth about prescribed information required but fails to inspire confidence as it becomes clear this is about gathering information to identify fraud and carefully doesn't mention any action to be taken by Fraud Reporting Service ("FRS").

FSRA has taken some recent action to address fraud in the medical examination process with the Dr. Romeo Vitelli case but the failure to put the interests of consumers as a high priority is obvious. We cannot tell if any action was taken against the assessment center, Novo Medical Services Inc., for whom this psychologist prepared the medical reports that were at the center of FSRA's investigation.

In 2019, Dr. Vitelli entered into an Acknowledgement and Undertaking with the College of Psychologists following allegations of professional misconduct as a result of a complaint from a claimant and FSCO and FSRA were informed of the College's actions.

Sector	Comment	Date posted
	According to the FSRA website https://teao.fsrao.ca:7179/api/enforcement/downloadDocument?Id=2653&lang=en : In 2019, FSRA received an investigative report in support of Aviva's allegations. Documents in the report establish that Novo Medical submitted seven Psychological Evaluation Reports and one Catastrophic Impairment Determination Psychological Evaluation Report (dated between April 21, 2017 and May 4, 2018) for claimants (AK, CD, GC, JH, MM, MR, and NK). Sections of the reports are identical. The reports also include identical quotations presented as the claimants' verbatim descriptions of their injuries and symptoms. (for claimants (AK, CD, GC, JH, MM, MR, and NK)). and; On June 23, 2020, FSRA received a Business Activity Complaint Form from Desjardins General Insurance Group ("Desjardins") alleging that Novo Medical and Dr. Vitelli engaged in practices that contravene the Act. (five psychological assessment reports for claimants (NH, AL, KH, JS, and RR)). and; FSRA received an investigative report from Intact Insurance ("Intact"). (claimant (SR)). Despite insurers reporting they had been defrauded there was no action taken by FSRA until February 8, 2021, when FSRA investigators interviewed Dr. Vitelli. It was during this process that "Dr. Vitelli also stated that Novo Medical's staff used his Treatment Plan for another claimant as a template, by switching out the names and pronouns where necessary. Dr. Vitelli did not confirm the content and accuracy of the Treatment Plans he completed." Finally in 2021 action was taken by FSRA with the suggestion "an administrative penalty in the amount of $50,000 should be imposed on Dr. Vitelli for knowingly making false or misleading representations to insurers in order to obtain payment for goods or services provided, contrary to section 447(2)(a.3) of the Act." The public was eventually informed in a press release on "Nov. 22, 2023 /CNW/ - The Financial Services Regulatory Authority of Ontario (FSRA) has imposed a compliance order and administrative penalty of $15,000 against Romeo Vitelli

(Vitelli)."

For 4 years innocent injured claimants interests were ignored, first by the College of Psychologists (CPO) whom the Regulator relies on to enforce quality control and then by FSRA during the process of deciding what to do about the fraud.

We could find no evidence that Novo Medical Services Inc. was ever held accountable for their participation in harming the most seriously injured car crash survivors. Nova Medical is still actively in business providing assessments of Ontario's auto insurance claimants for insurers.

FAIR's files indicate there are likely more victims of the fraudulent reports as well as through 'expert' evidence at hearings where Dr. Vitelli's testimony was often criticized. There is also evidence that more than one assessment center used the services of Dr.Vitelli "through four healthcare clinics" mentioned on the CPO website document at https://cpbao.ca/wp-content/uploads/Notice-of-Hearing-Vitelle-Dr.-Romeo-2.pdf.

As of May 2024 the CPO https://members.cpbao.ca/public_register/show/1461 has listed the current referrals of Dr. Vitelli to the Discipline Committee.

We see no evidence that the 13 plus victims of this fraud were informed by FSRA or the CPO that they'd been scammed and that their cases had been tainted by the fraudulent and uncaring actions of Dr. Vitelli and Nova Medical.

To this day AK, CD, GC, JH, MM, MR, NK, NH, AL, KH, JS, RR, and SK may all still be in the dark about how their cases and access to rehabilitation were recklessly ignored by the insurer's choice of assessment centers.

We bring up this particular case for several reasons but the most important is that there is no point to gathering information if there is no intent to protect the public's interest. It should never be just about insurer profit and gain over informing the public in a timely fashion and this should be reflected in the proposed Rule and Guidance.

Timely reporting from insurers coupled with judicious action

from the Regulator would better protect claimants. The promise to follow through on the insurer reporting fraud is missing in this Guidance along with a willingness to share fraud trends with the public and not just insurers.

Taking steps to enforce compliance with Dr. Vitelli was an important mile-stone for the Regulator and we recognize this. The problem lies in the two and half years from the Notice of Proposal to Impose Administrative Penalties on March 31, 2021 to informing the public on November 22, 2023 in a press release. It appears that for two and a half years vulnerable claimants lacked protection because FSRA withheld this information. This should never happen.

The investigation and the conclusion record poses other serious questions related to the outcomes for the victims of this fraud.

It's still an open question whether Dr. Vitelli will be able to continue to provide services for auto insurers through medical examinations and testimony going forward. None of that is clear in the information on the College of Psychologists (CPO) website or in FSRA's documentation and neither contribute to public confidence in the automobile insurance sector.

In this instance insurers did the right thing but we can tell you we routinely hear about bogus insurer medical exams and this Guidance presents deaf ears to claimants who are harmed in the current system that relies on the Regulator to take action to protect them. What about Nova? Should they have been subject to an Administrative Penalty and/or closed out of performing these medical assessments?

Our suggestion to include businesses and institutions in the wording is based on this case above as is our comment about the importance of timeliness in reporting fraud.

Something needs to be done about the regulatory hole that exists for assessment centers who currently have no oversight and who, in this case, appear to have participated in, or should have known about, the fraud taking place.

Consumers believe the Regulator has a distinct obligation to follow-through on the fraud they find by way of informing victims of that fraud and, by extension, to protect the potential or future victims from the perpetrators by barring the fraudulent players from activity in the auto insurance medical landscape. This can be done by closing the door to Health Claims for Auto Insurance (HCAI) access. There should be an active dialogue to disclose this type of medical fraud activity between relevant Colleges and FSRA. Further, the Colleges should also be required to participate in cleaning up this fertile ground for fraud that harms Ontario's patients. Thank you for the opportunity to voice our concerns. Auto Insurance Sector

25 Sheppard Avenue West, Suite 100
Toronto, ON M2N 6S6

Dear Sir / Madame:

Subject: Consultation on Proposed Fraud Reporting Service Rule and Guidance

TD Insurance ("TDI") appreciates the opportunity to respond to the current Consultation on Proposed Fraud Reporting Service Rule and Guidance initiated by Ontario's Financial Services Regulator ("FSRA") with stakeholders on future statutory fraud reporting requirements.

TDI overall supports FSRA's outcomes to reduce the costs to consumers & industry borne as a result of fraud.

Data and Privacy Concerns

TDI is always committed to ensuring compliance and transparency and we fully understand the importance of data in fighting fraud. Since much of our industry already provides fulsome data to Equite we suggest that FSRA consider leveraging this already established route to avoid duplication of effort.

Consumers trust insurers with sensitive information, and any regulation mandating the sharing of such data must ensure robust protections are in place. It would be appreciated that FSRA share with the Insurance Industry the security measures it will implement to safeguard; and furthermore to protect, any insurer from the release of personal information and to prevent identity theft and other privacy concerns. We also suggest that FSRA provide limited liability protections to insurers for any cybersecurity data breaches.

Key Concerns & Recommendations

TDI is committed to working with all stakeholders to effectively tackle fraud within the auto insurance sector. The phase one strategy of data collection is a significant step in building a Fraud Prevention Strategy, however it needs to be combined with other tools and resources to be effective. An over-reliance on quantitative metrics, that do not accurately capture the nuances of fraudulent activity, may therefore miss context and intent.

We recommend that FSRA first provide guidance to mandate that all auto insurers in the province design and implement a robust fraud framework to include policies and procedures, monitoring, audits and governance for their respective book of business. Furthermore, FSRA should then inquire with all auto insurers about what their respective experiences were with law enforcement regarding the actioning of white-collar insurance fraud matters including whether fraud charges ever laid, convictions and whether the sentencing judge order restitution.

® The TD logo and other trademarks are the property of The Toronto-Dominion Bank.

Clarity and Ambiguity

One of our primary concerns is the use of the term "fraud event" and how its proposed definition may lead to inconsistent interpretations within the industry. Specifically, the words reasonable grounds for the insurer to believe that a fraud event has occurred or is likely to occur.

We recommend that the words likely to occur be removed from the definition of fraud event. We suggest that only fraud events where there is confirmed evidence of fraud be reported to FSRA as this will provide a clearer picture of the actual fraud trends impacting the industry and expose the bad actors who bolster auto fraud.

Recommendations

We advocate for a collaborative approach that emphasizes information sharing among industry stakeholders (i.e. insurers/law enforcement) and regulatory bodies. Engaging in partnerships to share best practices, insights and trends could lead to more effective fraud prevention strategies without compromising operational integrity.

In addition, insurers need to have the tools to allow them to act on the information developed during the course of an investigation. We recommend that FSRA confirm that insurers have the right to cancel or refuse to renew a policy under appropriate circumstances including:

- providing false information on the approved application form
- making any misrepresentation in the information provided for the purposes of obtaining, updating, or renewing an automobile insurance policy, including on the application form;
- a history of fraudulent activity in relation to an automobile insurance policy and the most recent instance of such an activity occurred less than 7 years before the day of the request to obtain, update or renew an automobile insurance policy.

There is also a noticeable lack of resources allocated to investigating and prosecuting insurance fraud cases. This underfunding hampers the ability of law enforcement and regulatory bodies to effectively combat fraud, allowing dishonest practices to proliferate.

Fraudsters are becoming increasingly sophisticated in their tactics, yet our legal framework remains stagnant. Laws must evolve to address new methods of fraud and provide clear guidelines for insurers on how to identify and report suspicious activities.

Conclusion

We appreciate your dedication to addressing fraud in the auto insurance industry and acknowledge the challenges that come with it. We are committed to work with FSRA and other relevant stakeholders to promote collaboration and efficiency to properly prevent and detect insurance fraud, while maintaining consumer protection.

Thank you for your attention to our concerns.

Yours truly,

TD Insurance

4(2) Every insurer who provides prescribed information that subsequently becomes aware that the information the insurer provided is or has become incomplete, out-of-date, or factually incorrect shall in the quarter following their becoming aware:

(a) inform the Chief Executive Officer of the deficiencies in the prescribed information provided; and

(a) take reasonable steps to remedy the deficiencies in the prescribed information provided to bring the information into compliance with subsection 5(1) of this Rule.

4(3) If an insurer provides information to the Chief Executive Officer and subsequently discovers that the information either:

(a) includes deficiencies that cannot be remedied as required by subsection 5(2)(b) of this Rule; or

(b) fails to meet the threshold of the reporting requirement outlined in subsection 3(1) of this Rule, then the insurer must immediately give notice and recommend the Chief Executive Officer to withdraw the information provided.

4(4) Every insurer shall submit the prescribed information through the Authority's electronic or computer-based system for the filing, delivery or reporting of the prescribed information.

5 Transitional

5(1) An insurer is not required to report the information required in section 3 of this Rule until after [date].

6 Coming into force

6(1) This Rule will come into force on the later of the date that section 101.3 and clause 8.2 of subsection 121.0.1(1) of the Act comes into force and 15 days after the Rule is approved by the Minister.

Automobile Insurance Fraud Reporting

Purpose

This Guidance outlines the Financial Services Regulatory Authority of Ontario's ("FSRA") interpretation of requirements under Authority Rule 2024-003 – Fraud Reporting Service ("FRS Rule") and section 101.3 of the Insurance Act (the "Act"), and outlines FSRA's approach to supervising against the reporting requirements outlined in the Act and the FRS Rule.

Specifically, this Guidance provides FSRA's interpretation of several requirements under the FRS Rule regarding:

- the scope of prescribed information an insurer is required to provide when reporting information about fraud events to the Chief Executive Officer ("CEO") or an agency designated by the CEO
- the threshold of what constitutes "reasonable grounds for the insurer to believe" that a fraud event has occurred or is likely to occur, and
- the "action" an insurer may take that triggers an insurer's requirement to report prescribed information to the Fraud Reporting Service ("FRS")

Ontario

The purpose of the collection of information in the FRS is to support FSRA's effective assessment and detection of automobile insurance fraud in Ontario. Key outcomes associated with this purpose include:

- quantifying the prevalence of automobile insurance fraud in Ontario
- creating a baseline for fraud detection, and
- identifying fraud trends throughout the automobile insurance industry

Scope

This Guidance affects all insurers that are licensed to carry on automobile insurance business in Ontario.

Rationale and background

FSRA's rule-making authority to enact a FRS is derived from paragraph 8.2 of subsection 121.0.1(1) of the Act in conjunction with subsection 101.3(1) of the Act.

The overall objective of the FRS is to improve the use of data in the auto insurance industry's fraud management activities by statutorily authorizing and enabling insurers to report automobile insurance fraud information to the FRS.

The requirement to report information about automobile insurance fraud to the FRS builds on FSRA's existing powers to supervise against unfair or deceptive acts and practices ("UDAP") in the insurance sector. These powers are grounded in section 5 of FSRA's UDAP Rule to address unfair claims practices, and section 6 of the UDAP Rule to address fraudulent or abusive conduct related to goods and services provided to a consumer. Conduct by policyholders, claimants, claims vendors, and other non-licensees is captured by many parts of the UDAP Rule, including sections 5 and 6.

FSRA's collection and consolidation of the information about automobile insurance fraud that insurers are required to report under the Act will help create a baseline of data that can serve the purpose of assessing the amount of fraud in the automobile insurance system in Ontario.

In supervising and regulating the automobile insurance sector, FSRA is guided by its statutory objects under section 3 of the Financial Services Regulatory Authority of Ontario Act, 2016 ("FSRA Act").

Specifically, this Guidance supports outcomes consistent with the following objects:

- to deter deceptive or fraudulent conduct, practices and activities by the regulated sectors
- to promote transparency and disclosure of information by the regulated sectors
- to contribute to public confidence in the automobile insurance sector
- to monitor and evaluate developments and trends in the automobile insurance sector
- to promote high standards of business conduct, and
- to protect the rights and interests of consumers

The FRS aims to reduce consumer harm, including unnecessary costs borne by consumers, as a result of auto mobile insurance fraud.

The FRS Rule and this accompanying Guidance represent the first phase of the development of the FRS. In the second phase of the FRS, FSRA anticipates that information collected in phase one will be available for insurers to access to enable the assessment and detection of fraud by insurers. Phase two is subject to approval from the Ministry of Finance and will depend on the implementation of and outcomes achieved in phase one. Amendments to the Proposed Rule and Guidance are expected to be required before the FRS can proceed to this second phase.

With regards to the first phase of the FRS, FSRA's view is that "assessing and detecting automobile insurance fraud" includes:

- quantifying the prevalence of automobile insurance fraud in Ontario
- creating a baseline for fraud detection, and
- identifying trends throughout the industry

Interpretation

1. What is a “fraud event”?

All insurers must report information about “automobile insurance fraud” to the FRS in accordance with subsection 101.3(1) of the Act and the FRS Rule.

A common understanding of what events, circumstances, or actions are considered to amount to a “fraud event” is important for insurers to understand how to comply with the requirement to provide information to the CEO about “automobile insurance fraud”.

Subsection 3(2) of the FRS Rule requires insurers to provide information in accordance with subsection 101.3(1) of the Act when an insurer has taken action or made a decision based on reasonable grounds for the insurer to believe that a “fraud event” has occurred or is likely to occur. Subsection 1(1) of the FRS Rule defines a “fraud event” as follows:

> “fraud event” means a deceptive act or omission, or series of deceptive acts or omissions intentionally committed by a person(s) to obtain advantage, financial gain, or benefits from an insurer beyond that to which one is entitled to in with regard to any policy, claim, provision of goods or services or other occurrence related to automobile insurance […]

FSRA interprets this phrase broadly to cover a wide range of “deceptive acts or omissions intentionally committed by a person(s) to obtain advantage, financial gain, or benefits from an insurer beyond that to which one is entitled to”. This broad interpretation empowers insurers to identify activities that meet this definition.

Recognizing that the scope of what may constitute a fraud event under the FRS Rule is constantly evolving and that a prescriptive list could not capture all potential occurrences within scope of the definition, subsection 1(1)(e) of the FRS Rule provides a non-exhaustive list of categories of “fraud events”. Examples of specific instances of “fraud events” under these broad categories is included as Appendix A in this Guidance.

2. What is the extent of information about automobile insurance fraud that an insurer must provide?

Section 3(1) of the FRS Rule outlines the scope of "prescribed information" that an insurer must provide:

> "Prescribed information includes all information, including personal information, in the insurer's possession, control or power […] where the information provides reasonable grounds for the insurer to believe that a fraud event has occurred or is likely to occur".

FSRA interprets "all information" to mean all relevant information, without restriction or limitation, where the information provides reasonable grounds for the insurer to believe that a "fraud event" has occurred or is likely to occur.

The scope of information in section 3(1) is unqualified. As a result, if an insurer knowingly or unknowingly withholds prescribed information in their possession, control or power, including any and all relevant data points outlined in Appendix B of this Guidance, then the insurer would be in contravention of the Act and the FRS Rule, which may result in FSRA initiating measures to enforce compliance.

3. What type of information provides "reasonable grounds for an insurer to believe that a fraud event has occurred or is likely to occur"?

Insurers are required under the FRS Rule to report all information about automobile insurance fraud where the information provides reasonable grounds for the insurer to suspect that a fraud event has occurred or is likely to occur.

Understanding the difference between the prescribed "reasonable grounds to believe" ("RGB") threshold for reportable information and other thresholds is important for an insurer to understand the standard and scope of information that must be reported to the FRS.

This RGB threshold is intentionally prescribed in the FRS Rule to prevent premature, unnecessary, or inaccurate information from being reported to the FRS, but also to encourage reporting before an adjudicated finding of automobile insurance fraud is secured. The RGB is intended to reflect a middle-ground between suspicion, and confirmation of fraud, resulting in information most beneficial to the automobile insurance sector in assessing and detecting these fraud events.

To illustrate the RGB threshold, this guidance distinguishes between three thresholds of information: suspicion of fraud, reasonable grounds to believe fraud has occurred, a conclusion that fraud has occurred. A suspicion of fraud is the lowest threshold, and a conclusion that fraud has occurred is the highest threshold.

The highest threshold will include all information captured by the lower thresholds, with the only difference being an increased level of evidence or facts that confirm the existence of automobile insurance fraud.

Lowest threshold: Suspicion that a fraud event has occurred

Insurers are not required to report information if they only have suspicion that a fraud event has occurred or is likely to occur.

Suspicion means an insurer may have an indication that something is unusual or suspicious, but does not yet have verified facts that can confirm the suspicion of a fraud event or elevate the suspicion into a reasonable belief that a fraud event has occurred. Indications of a fraud event may be based on not-yet-verified evidence received from an external source, such as a law enforcement agency or another insurer.

The suspicion could come from a discrepancy from: a written document that was filed on a claim, a claim filed shortly after a new policy is bound, a conversation with the insured, claimant or other involved party, a tip from a broker, police officer or other party, external intelligence (such as information from a conference or meeting), and an indicator from a fraud software solution.

Reasonable grounds to suspect that a fraud event has occurred may exist where the insurer investigates into their suspicion of a fraud event having occurred, and discovers further indicators or facts that warrant verification and further investigation. The suspicion at this stage is based on limited unverified evidence and does not raise to a belief that a fraud event has occurred.

Suspicion of a fraud event is relevant to the extent that it may prompt an insurer to assess the factual circumstances of the situation to identify any additional information or evidence that would support or confirm this simple suspicion.

Example: A consumer purchases an automobile insurance policy on their truck. 3 days after purchasing the policy, the individual reports the vehicle as stolen. At this point, the insurer has no evidence that the consumer has fraudulently reported the vehicle as stolen, but the insurer nevertheless suspects that the consumer may be engaging in automobile insurance fraud based on previous investigations with similar facts. The insurer does not report any information to the FRS as the information only rises to the threshold of suspicion.

Prescribed threshold: Reasonable grounds to believe (“RGB”) a fraud event has occurred or is likely to occur

Insurers are required to report prescribed information once it meets this threshold.

Section 3(1) of the FRS Rule clarifies that information is prescribed information is only where “the information provides reasonable grounds for the insurer to believe that a fraud event has occurred or is likely to occur”.

FSRA interprets “reasonable grounds […] to believe” to include evidence, verified facts, context, or indicators that support a high degree of certainty that a fraud event has occurred or is likely to occur, warranting further action by the insurer but not allowing the insurer to conclude that a fraud event has occurred.

Information that meets the RGB threshold will allow an insurer to demonstrate and articulate their belief that a fraud event has occurred or is likely to occur in such a way that another insurer reviewing the same material with similar knowledge, experience, or training would likely reach the same conclusion.

Many factors will support an insurer’s assessment and conclusion that there are reasonable grounds to believe a fraud event has occurred or is likely to occur, all of which are required to be reported to the FRS.

Example: A consumer purchases an automobile insurance policy on their truck. 3 days after purchasing the policy, the consumer reports the vehicle as stolen. One week following the consumer reporting the theft, the insurer receives a tip from a credible source that the consumer has been implicated in a vehicle theft ring. After verifying the information provided by the tip, the insurer has reasonable grounds to believe that the consumer is engaging in automobile insurance fraud with respect to their own car that they have reported as stolen. Even though the insurer does not have any direct evidence to conclude that the consumer has engaged in fraud, the insurer has opened an investigation and has started gathering evidence relating to the consumer's claim. The insurer reports all information that supports their reasonable grounds to believe a fraud event has occurred to the FRS.

Highest threshold: Conclusion of fraud

Insurers should update the reported information once they have concluded that a fraud event has in fact occurred. If an insurer comes into possession of information that allows them to bypass the lower thresholds and immediately conclude that a fraud event has concurred, then the insurer will still need to report the information to the FRS.

At this threshold, an insurer has investigated, verified, and concluded that a fraud event has in fact occurred.

The threshold of information may cause the insurer to:

- pay or process a claim despite having information that allows the insurer to conclude that fraud has occurred
- deny a claim on the basis of it being fraudulent
- refer the claim or policy to a law enforcement or state agency to further the investigation and pursue criminal or other action
- seek an adjudicated finding of civil or criminal fraud, or
- secure an "in-fact determination" that fraud has occurred

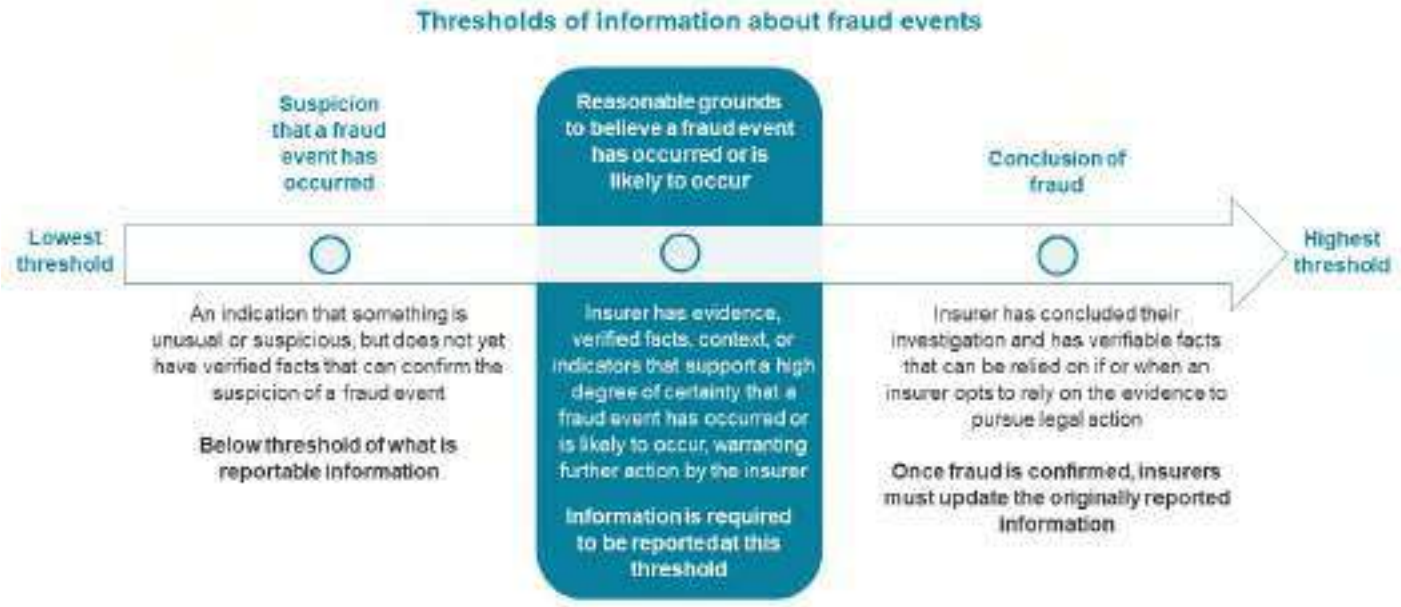
Example: A consumer purchases an automobile insurance policy on their truck. 3 days after purchasing the policy, the consumer reports the vehicle as stolen. One week following the consumer reporting the theft, the insurer receives a tip from a credible source that the consumer has been implicated in a vehicle theft ring. The insurer launches an investigation during which the insurer obtains video evidence that places the consumer in the vehicle at the location where the truck was later recovered. Based on this evidence, the insurer denies the claim on the basis of it being fraudulent and refers the claim to law enforcement to pursue criminal charges. The insurer updates the information they previously reported to the FRS, including a description of the video evidence that led to their conclusion that a fraud event had occurred.

Insurers are required to update information in the FRS when the information meets the threshold of conclusion that a fraud event has occurred

Section 4 of the FRS Rule requires insurers to ensure all prescribed information provided to the CEO shall be complete, up to date, and factually correct.

If an insurer subsequently becomes aware that the information the insurer previously provided is or has become incomplete, out-of-date, or factually incorrect (e.g., the insurer has discovered information that has allowed them to conclude that fraud has occurred), then compliance with section 4 of the FRS Rule necessitates that the insurer take steps to update the information to ensure that the information provided to the FRS remains complete, up to date, and factually correct.

If an insurer reports information based on the RGB threshold, and subsequently collects further information that leads to a conclusion that a fraud event has occurred, the insurer shall update the originally-reported information based on the new information that resulted in a higher threshold.



4. What "action" triggers an insurer's requirement to report prescribed information about automobile insurance fraud to the FRS?

Subsection 3(2) of the FRS Rule requires that:

> An insurer shall within thirty days after the close of each quarterly period of the calendar year provide the information prescribed in subsection 3(1) with respect to instances of automobile insurance fraud which in the preceding quarter the insurer has taken action or made a decision based on reasonable grounds for the insurer to believe that a fraud event has occurred or is likely to occur.

"Action" is interpreted to mean any definitive decision to act based on reasonable grounds to believe a fraud event has occurred or likely to occur. To trigger an insurer's requirement to report the prescribed information, an insurer must both have information that meets the RGB threshold and the insurer must take action based on information that meets the RGB threshold.

The following is a non-exhaustive list of "actions" an insurer could take that would trigger an insurer's requirement to provide the prescribed information to the CEO:

- escalating a file for further investigation to SIU
- denying a claim
- voiding or otherwise terminating an insurance policy

The following is a non-exhaustive list of “decisions” an insurer could take that would trigger an insurer’s requirement to provide the prescribed information to the CEO:

- paying or processing a claim despite having information that provides reasonable grounds to believe that fraud has occurred or is likely to occur
- closing a claim made under a policy that has been abandoned by the claimant

5. How much personal information is necessary for the purposes of subsection 101.3 of the Act?

Subsections 3(3) and 3(4) of the FRS Rule limit insurers from providing more personal information than is necessary for the purposes set out in subsection 101.3(2) of the Act (“assessing and detecting automobile insurance fraud”), and requires insurers to de-identify all names and identifying numbers, symbols or other particulars assigned to individuals unless disclosure of this information is necessary for the purposes set out in the Act:

> 3(3) An insurer shall not disclose personal information that is not necessary for the purposes set out in subsection 101.3(2) of the Act when providing the prescribed information to the Chief Executive Officer.
> 3(4) An insurer shall de-identify all names and identifying numbers, symbols or other particulars assigned to individuals before an insurer provides the prescribed information to the Chief Executive Officer unless disclosure of the names or other identifying information is necessary for the purposes set out in subsection 101.3(2) of the Act.

Insurers are not required to report personal information that is not necessary for the purposes set out in subsection 101.3(2) of the Act.

FSRA interprets the statutory purpose, “assessing and detecting automobile insurance fraud” to enable FSRA to:

- quantifying the prevalence of automobile insurance fraud in Ontario
- creating a baseline for fraud detection, and
- identifying trends throughout the industry

This interpretation reflects the first phase of FSRA’s approach to building the FRS, which focuses solely on the FRS collection of information about automobile insurance fraud.

FSRA anticipates a second phase where information collected in phase one will enable insurers to use the information. The personal information listed in the Appendix may be necessary to include in phase two reporting.

FSRA will work with insurers to create unique identifiers for each instance of reporting. These unique identifiers will allow insurers to update information provided in phase one with personal information where necessary for phase two. This Guidance will need to be updated before proceeding to this second phase.

Approach

Supervision and enforcement

The main outcome that FSRA aims to achieve through administering the FRS requirements under the Act and the FRS Rule is to empower insurers to better manage and reduce automobile insurance fraud by mandating the reporting of prescribed information about automobile insurance fraud to the FRS. To that end, insurers should design and organize internal policies, processes, controls, and governance procedures in a manner that facilitates compliance with the requirements under the Act and the FRS Rule, as interpreted in this Guidance.

FSRA intends to supervise against the requirements outlined under the Act and the FRS Rule by using its investigation and examination powers under the Act. Following an investigation and examination of an insurer's acts and practices, pursuant to the provisions of the Act, FSRA has the authority to:

- issue a compliance order to insurers, or[1]
- lay provincial offence charges against insurers[2]

FSRA will exercise its discretion when conducting its supervisory activities by considering the extent to which an insurer's fraud reporting system has been implemented effectively by management through policies, processes, systems and associated controls.

FSRA will evaluate insurers' processes, controls, and governance during supervisory reviews. This includes verifying the presence of adequate controls and ensuring that reporting meets the requirements as outlined. While FSRA retains the authority to sanction non-compliance with the FRS requirements, the supervisory approach will take in account the efforts made by insurers to comply and their efforts to achieve the desired outcomes.

Implementation of controls and governance

To comply with the FRS requirements, FSRA encourages insurers to design and implement a robust framework that encompasses the following elements:

- Policies and procedures: Clear and detailed policies and procedures that facilitate compliance with the FRS Rule and Act. This should include steps to identify and report information related to instances of automobile insurance fraud. These should be regularly updated to reflect any changes in the regulatory environment and/or emerging fraud trends.

[1] FSRA seek a court issued compliance order pursuant to s. 448(1) of the Act.
[2] FSRA may pursue the laying of provincial offences as set out in s. 447(2) of the Act.

- Monitoring and reporting systems: Systems for monitoring and detecting fraud events as outlined in the FRS Rule and Act. These systems should be capable of capturing and reporting the prescribed information in a timely and accurate manner.

- Internal audits and reviews: Regular internal audits and reviews to assess the effectiveness of the fraud management framework. This helps in identifying any gaps or areas for improvement.

- Governance and oversight: Strong governance structures with clear accountability and oversight mechanisms.

While the elements identified above are not mandatory, they can, depending on the circumstances, be reflective of whether an insurer has met their obligations with respect to the FRS requirements.

Effective date and future review

This Guidance will become effective on [TBD] and will be reviewed no later than [TBD].

About this Guidance

This document is consistent with FSRA's Guidance Framework. As Approach guidance, it describes FSRA's internal principles, processes and practices for supervisory action and application of CEO discretion. It does not create compliance obligations for regulated parties but can be considered indicative of FSRA's position, and it does not alter requirement to comply with existing legal and regulatory framework. As Interpretation guidance, it describes FSRA's view of requirements under its legislative mandate (i.e. legislation, regulations and rules) so that non-compliance can lead to enforcement or supervisory action.

FINANCIAL SERVICES REGULATORY AUTHORITY OF ONTARIO

NOTICE OF PROPOSED RULE UNDER THE FINANCIAL SERVICES REGULATORY AUTHORITY OF ONTARIO ACT, 2016

PROPOSED RULE 2024 – 003

AUTOMOBILE INSURANCE – FRAUD REPORTING SERVICE

[07/15/2024]

1. Introduction

Pursuant to subsection 22(1) of the Financial Services Regulatory Authority of Ontario Act, 2016 (the "FSRA Act") the Financial Services Regulatory Authority of Ontario ("FSRA" or the "Authority") is publishing for public consultation the following Notice of Proposed Rule ("Notice"). In accordance with subsection 22(4) of the FSRA Act, interested persons are invited to make written representations to FSRA with respect to the Proposed Fraud Reporting Service Rule ("Proposed Rule"), within 90 days of publishing this Notice. The consultation period will close on [10/14/2024].

If approved by the Minister of Finance ("Minister"), the Proposed Rule will prescribe both the information insurers must report under section 101.3 of the Insurance Act (the "Act"), and the requirements associated with reporting the prescribed information. More specifically, the Proposed Rule will prescribe the threshold and scope of information insurers are required to report about automobile insurance fraud; and the timing and process requirements regarding how an insurer shall report the prescribed information to the Fraud Reporting Service ("FRS").

For the text of the Proposed Rule please see Appendix A to this Notice.

2. Statutory Authority under which the Rule is proposed

Section 101.3 of the Act, when proclaimed into force, will require insurers to provide the Chief Executive Officer or an agency designated by the Chief Executive Officer (referred to collectively as the "CEO" in this Notice) with information prescribed by the Proposed Rule about automobile insurance fraud at such times and in accordance with such requirements as may be prescribed by the Proposed Rule.

To this end, section 101.3 further provides FSRA the express statutory authority to directly or indirectly collect, use and disclose personal information about identifiable individuals provided that the collection, use, or disclosure is for the purpose of assessing and detecting automobile insurance fraud.

Section 101.3 in conjunction with paragraph 8.2 of subsection 121.0.1(1) of the Act gives FSRA the authority to prescribe the information outlined in section 101.3 in accordance with the Proposed Rule included in this Notice.

3. Statement of the substance and purpose of the Proposed Rule

The purpose of the Proposed Rule is to prescribe information that automobile insurers must provide to FSRA, and the corresponding requirements regarding the reporting of the prescribed information. Once in force, the Proposed Rule will give operational effect to FSRA's Fraud Reporting Service ("FRS").

The main outcome FSRA aims to achieve through the implementation of the FRS is to collect information to create a baseline of data that will quantify the amount of automobile insurance fraud and better enable the automobile insurance sector to assess and detect such fraud in Ontario.

The purpose of collecting this information is to support the more effective assessment and detection of automobile insurance fraud in Ontario. Key outcomes associated with this purpose include:

- quantifying the prevalence of automobile insurance fraud in Ontario;
- creating a baseline for fraud detection; and
- identifying trends throughout the industry.

Achieving these outcomes supports FSRA's goal of reducing consumer harm caused through fraud, and reducing unnecessary externality costs to be borne by consumers.

The Proposed Rule and accompanying Interpretation Guidance (the "Guidance") represents the first phase of the development of a functional FRS. FSRA anticipates a second phase of the FRS where information that has been collected will be available for insurers to access to enable the assessing and detecting of fraud. Amendments to the Proposed Rule and Guidance are expected to be required before the FRS can proceed to this second phase.

The substance of the Proposed Rule centers around prescribed information about automobile insurance fraud, and requirements associated with the insurer's statutory duty to report the prescribed information.

With regards to the information prescribed about automobile insurance fraud, the Proposed Rule defines a "fraud event" as a deceptive act or omission intentionally committed by a person(s) to obtain advantage, financial gain, or benefits beyond that to which one is entitled to with regard to any policy, claim, provision of goods or services or other occurrence related to automobile insurance. Included in this definition is a non-exhaustive list of categories that each instance of a fraud event may fall under.

With regards to the prescribed information about automobile insurance fraud, the Proposed Rule prescribes that insurers must report all information that provides reasonable grounds for the insurer to believe that a fraud event has occurred or is likely to occur.

The Proposed Rule further clarifies that this prescribed information must be reported if and only if the insurer has taken action based on the information that provided reasonable grounds for the insurer to believe that a fraud event has occurred or is likely to occur.

Once an insurer holds information that provides reasonable grounds for the insurer to believe that a fraud event has occurred or is likely to occur and have taken action based on said information, an insurer is required to report the information to the FRS within thirty (30) days after the close of each quarterly period of the calendar year.

With regards to requirements associated with the insurer's statutory duty to report the prescribed information, the Proposed Rule requires that all prescribed information be complete, accurate and up-to-date, and imposes an ongoing obligation on the insurer to take reasonable steps to ensure the information remains complete, accurate and up-to-date or otherwise recommend that the information be removed from the FRS.

FSRA will be publishing for public consultation Guidance that will set out FSRA's interpretation of several requirements under the Proposed Rule regarding:

- The scope of information an insurer is required to provide when reporting information about a "fraud event" to the CEO;

- The threshold of what constitutes "reasonable grounds for the insurer to believe" that a fraud event has occurred or is likely to occur; and

- The "action" an insurer may take that triggers an insurer's requirement to report prescribed information to the FRS.

The Guidance will also set out FSRA's approach in administering the Proposed Rule, including:

- How FSRA will supervise insurers in reviewing their policies, processes, systems and associated controls to ensure compliance with the Proposed Rule;

- How FSRA will exercise its discretion when enforcing against the requirements in the Proposed Rule; and

- How FSRA will utilize its enforcement powers to address non-compliance with requirements in the Proposed Rule.

4. Summary of the Proposed Rule

This section describes the requirements outlined in the Proposed Rule, that, if approved by the Minister, will operationalize the reporting of information about automobile insurance fraud by insurers to the FRS.

Section 1 – Definitions

This section outlines key definitions used throughout the Proposed Rule, including the definition of a "fraud event". The broad scope of what may constitute a fraud event is further informed by the definition's non-exhaustive list of several categories of fraud that are pertinent to the automobile insurance sector.

Section 2 – Interpretation

This section outlines how the Proposed Rule is to be interpreted.

Section 3 – Prescribed information under subsection 101.3(1) of the Act

This section sets out the prescribed information under subsection 101.3(1) of the Act.

This section:

- prescribes the scope and threshold [or standard] of information that every insurer licensed under the Act is required to report under subsection 101.3(1) of the Act. Specifically, an insurer is required to report all information in the insurer's possession, control or power related to any policy, claim, provision of goods or services or any other occurrence or event where the information provides reasonable grounds for the insurer to believe that a fraud event has occurred or is likely to occur;

- prescribes the activity-based trigger for an insurer to report the prescribed information, such that an insurer is required to report prescribed information within thirty days after the close of each [quarter] only if they have taken action or made a decision based on the prescribed information;

- requires that insurers include personal information in the prescribed information only if the personal information is necessary the purpose of assessing and detecting automobile insurance fraud; and

- requires insurers to de-identify all personal information in the prescribed information unless disclosure of the personal information is necessary for the purpose of assessing and detecting automobile insurance fraud.

Section 4 – Reporting requirements – Prescribed information

This section sets out additional requirements regarding the reporting of the prescribed information outlined in section 3 of the Proposed Rule.

This section:

- requires that an insurer ensures that all prescribed information is complete, up to date, and factually correct prior to reporting the information as required; and

- requires an insurer to inform the CEO and take reasonable steps to correct information if the insurer becomes aware that information reported is not complete, up to date, or factually correct.

Section 5 – Transitional

This section clarifies that insurers are not required to report the prescribed information in accordance with the rule until after [date TBD].

Section 6 – Coming into Force

This section clarifies that the Proposed Rule will come into force on the later of the date that subsection 101.3(1) and clause 8.2 of subsection 121.0.1(1) of the Act comes into force and 15 days after the Rule is approved by the Minister.

5. Unpublished Material

In making the Proposed Rule, FSRA has retained the consultant services of the International Fraud Training Group, who have provided FSRA with unpublished written materials that have been relied in part to inform drafting of the Proposed Rule.

6. Alternatives Considered

i. Prescribing specific data points that insurers would be required to report under subsection 101.3(1) of the Act

The Proposed Rule requires insurers to report all information in the insurer's possession, control or power related to any policy, claim, provision of goods or services or any other occurrence or event where the information provides reasonable grounds for the insurer to believe that a fraud event has occurred or is likely to occur.

As an alternative, FSRA considered prescribing an all-encompassing list of data points that insurers would be required to submit to the FRS. This approach was not followed for three reasons.

First, a prescriptive list of data points about a "fraud event" could only be amended via an amendment to the Proposed Rule. The time it takes to amend an Authority Rule would not be adaptable to an ever-evolving list of data points that may be material to assessing and detecting fraud events.

Second, prescribing an all-encompassing list of data points is inconsistent with FSRA's principles-based and outcomes-focused approach to regulation. A prescriptive approach would overshadow the intended outcome of insurers reporting information according to a particular standard of proof or threshold of materiality and would turn the Proposed Rule into a listing and indexing exercise of prescribed information.

Third, FSRA recognizes that the ever-evolving nature of automobile insurance fraud requires flexibility and adaptability in the types of information that insurers must report to the FRS. FSRA intentionally has chosen not to prescribe all relevant data points before information begins to be reported by insurers. In other words, the most relevant information that will ultimately achieve the FRS's purpose will become more apparent only after insurers begin reporting to the FRS. FSRA intentionally chose not to limit the scope of information to a prescribed list that may or may not be reflective of market realities.

ii. Alternate thresholds of information an insurer would be required to report under subsection 101.3(1) of the Act

The Proposed Rule requires insurers to only report information to the FRS where the information provides reasonable grounds for the insurer to believe that a fraud event has occurred or is likely to occur. FSRA's interpretation of information that would constitute "reasonable grounds to believe" is outlined in the Guidance.

FSRA considered alternative thresholds that would impact the scope of information that insurers would ultimately need to report to the FRS including:

- No threshold (i.e., "all information about a fraud event"): This would require insurers to report all information, without any modification or clarification of scope, about a fraud event, as defined in the Proposed Rule. FSRA did not choose this option as it provided uncertainty to the scope of information to be provided.

- "Reasonable grounds to suspect": This threshold is lower than the prescribed "reasonable grounds to believe" threshold in the sense insurers would be required to report information where the information provides mere "suspicion" that a fraud event has occurred or is likely to occur. FSRA did not choose this option as this threshold may invite information that may be premature, inaccurate, or unverifiable. Reasonable grounds to believe, on the other hand, require more than mere suspicion, as well as verifiable evidence relating to the belief. Further, "suspicion" may be inconsistently interpreted throughout the sector, resulting in ambiguity regarding the scope of information that is required to be provided.

- "Belief based on a balance of probabilities": This threshold is higher than "reasonable grounds to believe" in the sense that this threshold is similar to the civil standard of proof required in civil trial cases. FSRA did not choose this option as this threshold may invite too little information to be reported. Once information has reached this threshold, it already provides a basis for seeking civil legal action. Rather, FSRA is requiring information that serves the purpose of enabling the assessing and detecting of automobile insurance fraud, information that reaches this civil standard includes instances of fraud has already been assessed and detected and is ready for adjudication.

- "Adjudicated finding of a fraud event": Similar to the above, this is the highest threshold of information, that would require reporting to the FRS only if the information is used to adjudicate a finding a fraud event. This option was not chosen because it would result in the lowest amount of information being reported, albeit resulting in highly reliable information.

iii. Alternate timing requirements for when an insurer is required to report information to the FRS

The Proposed Rule requires insurers to report the prescribed information to the FRS on a quarterly basis only if the insurer has taken action or made a decision based on information that meets the prescribed threshold. FSRA's interpretation of information that would constitute "action" or a "decision" is outlined in the Guidance.

FSRA decided on this requirement to provide sufficient time for the insurer to prepare information that must be reported, and to ensure that information that may be premature or not actionable is not reported to the FRS.

As an alternative, FSRA also considered alternate timing requirements for insurers to report the prescribed information to the FRS:

- Reporting information within a prescribed number of days following the conclusion of an insurer's investigation about a fraud event: FSRA considered an arbitrary number of days (e.g., 30 days) that an insurer would have following the conclusion of an investigation to report the information. This option was not chosen because of the arbitrariness of the time period and also because the conclusion of an investigation was determined by FSRA to be too high of a standard to require information to be reported.

- Reporting information within a "reasonable" amount of time following the conclusion of an insurer's investigation about a fraud event: Similar to the above, this option was not chosen because FSRA decided there needs to be some certainty about the timing requirement (i.e., a "reasonable" amount of time may differ significantly throughout the sector), and that the conclusion of an investigation is too high of a standard to require information to be reported.

- Real-time Reporting once information reaches prescribed threshold: This option was not chosen due to perceived inconsistencies and ambiguities regarding what point-in-time an insurer is required to report, as well as the administrative burden real-time reporting would place on insurers and FSRA. For example, it is possible that one insurer may subjectively determine that their information gathered does not reach the threshold of "reasonable grounds to believe" that a fraud event has occurred, whereas a different insurer with the same information may subjectively determine their information does reach the prescribed threshold and thus be required to report.

7. Anticipated Costs and Benefits

Qualitative benefits associated with operationalization of the Proposed Rule may include:

- Enabling FSRA to monitor and evaluate developments and trends of fraud in the automobile insurance industry;

- Holding insurers accountable for reporting fraud; and

- Developing a common understanding of automobile insurance fraud amongst all participants of the automobile insurance system.

Qualitative costs associated with operationalization of the Proposed Rule may include:

- Familiarization with a net-new reporting requirement;

- ‘Growing pains’ associated with net-new reporting requirement, including erroneous or premature reporting; and

- Understanding how to comply with a principles-based and outcomes-focused reporting requirement.

Quantitative benefits associated with operationalization of the Proposed Rule may include:

- Enabling FSRA’s ability to quantify the prevalence of automobile insurance fraud in Ontario;

- Gathering of information about automobile insurance fraud may inform how resources can be most efficiently allocated to reduce costs to insurers and ultimately consumers.

New quantitative costs associated with operationalization of the Proposed Rule for both FSRA and insurers may include:

- Anticipated system and data collection resources needed to adapt to new reporting requirements.

- Data integrity and quality during the initial stages of reporting may cause initial challenges.

- Investment in data security and encryption technology will need to be considered to protect data.

8. Regulations to be Amended

FSRA does not intend to make any recommendations with respect to the amendment or revocation of a regulation or provision in a regulation that relates to the implementation of the Proposed Rule. FSRA expects that in due course certain regulations or provisions in regulations will be amended or revoked in a manner consistent with the operationalization of the Proposed Rule.

then the insurer must immediately give notice and recommend the Chief Executive Officer to withdraw the information provided.

ONTARIO COURT OF JUSTICE (DIVISIONAL COURT)

BETWEEN:

KEVIN ALEXANDER MCLEAN

APPLICANT

- and -

TD HOME AND AUTO INSURANCE COMPANY, SECURITY NATIONAL INSURANCE COMPANY, TD GENERAL INSURANCE COMPANY, EXECUTIVE DIRECTOR, LICENCE APPEAL TRIBUNAL,

HER MAJESTY THE QUEEN IN RIGHT OF ONTARIO, REPRESENTED BY EXECUTIVE CHAIR OF TRIBUNALS ONTARIO IN MR. SEAN WEIR, THE ATTORNEY GENERAL OF ONTARIO

RESPONDENTS

APPLICANT'S FACTUM FOR A MOTION IN WRITING

DATE: January 31, 2025

1. The Applicant adopts the definitions from his documents tendered for filing for the court file and they have the same meaning herein as they do therein. Where the Applicant has utilized "double underlining" in statutes, regulations, or authorities, he has done so for emphasis.

2. The Applicant confirms, as a participation matter, that the AGO has decided to not participate in this JRPA Proceeding and waived his right, through counsel in Ms. Im, to be heard at the hearing on the merits. Ergo, the AGO's waiver bolstered the Applicant's position that the JRPA Application could be heard in front of a single justice of the ONSC on request (see: section 6(2) of the JRPA) or motion before a single motions justice of the ONSC (Divisional Court). Under the Divisional Court's Practice Direction, a section 6(2) of the JRPA request is heard before a single justice of the ONSC Divisional Court (in said rotation) sitting as a justice of the ONSC. It is difficult to reconcile that language in the Practice Direction with the Legislature's language in section 6(2). In any event, the issue is somewhat moot despite the Applicant filing a requisition requesting an urgent hearing before a single justice of the ONSC pursuant to section 6(2) of the JPRA on January 2, 2025, it has yet to be stamped. The test for leave to be heard before a single justice of the ONSC under section 6(2) of the JRPA is whether: (i) urgency; and (ii) it appears that there will likely be a failure of justice based on the time to hear and decide an application for judicial review before a three justice panel.

3. All justices of the ONSC are also justices of the ONSC Divisional Court: s. 18 of the CJA.

4. While on first glance, one many believe that a motion in writing seeking to convert said motion, in a proper case, before a single justice of the ONSC Divisional Court to a motion for Judgment is the same procedurally and substantively because the same result, in the same case, would be reached. They are not procedurally and substantively the same even the result reached may be the same.

5. Section 6(2) of the JRPA requires leave predicted upon a request by requisition. A rule 37.13(2)(a) is predicated upon the provision on the making (not filing and serving per se) of a notice of motion at least 14 days prior to the hearing of the written hearing. There is a small cost difference of $353 in that the latter requires the prescribed paying of fees.

customarily done in person with oral submissions whereas a motion in writing, at first request subject to objection by a respondent(s), is heard in writing.

7. The responding parties, if any, must within ten days of having received the Applicant's moving material, which was served on January 31, 2025, provide their position as follows: (a) consent to the motion; (b) not oppose the motion by way of notice; (c) agreement to have the motion heard in writing, a responding factum with the prescribed entitled language therein and its argument regarding the relief sought and its argument; OR (d) a notice that the responding party intends to make oral argument, along with any material intended to be relied upon by the party: Rule 37.12.1(5).

8. Pursuant to the common law in Savone, the unassailable corollary is when final orders are at issue or to be determined a failure of justice is likely if the single justice of the ONSC does not assume jurisdiction. The merits of an application are important factors in determining whether there will be a failure of justice: Savone. The question then is only one of urgency. As the incorrect party in SNIC remains as the sole respondent, even by admission of it by not opposing TDGIC unlawfully assume the role of the sole respondent party in the LAT Appeal for at least six months, urgency remains on a personal level for the Applicant. However, it is the urgency with respect to the rule of law issues including issues of persistent discord involving this Tribunal that must be answered forthwith.

9. While some of the analogistic principles from jurisprudence interpreting ss. 6(2) of the JRPA are applicable to the urgency of this NOM #2, the legal tests for: (i) motion in writing; and (ii) converting a motion into a motion for judgment must be identified and applied against the facts herein.

10. The legal test for motions opposed in writing is prescribed under Rule 37.12(4) to (6). In brief, the moving party must "make the motion" 14 days prior to the hearing date. After so doing, the moving party must serve the notice of motion and file immediately, with proof of service (affidavit of service) the notice of motion (Form 37(B)). Where a motion is filed electronically, the motion record is considered the same document and commands the same fee as the "notice of motion". As such, they are filed separately, albeit forthwith or immediately thereafter, with affidavits of service for the draft order, motion record and then factum. The Applicant has done so on an immediate basis. The be heard in writing on the date of Friday, February 14, 2025.

11. Pursuant to subsection five (5) of 37.12.1 of the Civil Rules, the responding parties ("persons a against whom a motion is made") must within ten days of receipt of the undefined word "material" in relation to the motion, must choose from one of the four prescribed options thereunder and then serve and file either a notice (not oppose or intend to make oral argument), consent to the relief OR a motion record that the responding party agrees to the proposed method of hearing and makes it arguments on writing for the hearing and determination of the issues in the motion. There is no requirement for the moving party to attend after receiving a notice under subsection 5(d) pursuant to ss. 6 of 37.12.1 of the said sub-rule. However, the moving party is required to secure the date for oral hearing: Kolten v. Walker, 2019 ONSC 3210 at para 5. Rule 37.12.1(4) is applicable to all civil matters excepting the ONCA[1] and Small Claims i.e. all those proceedings before the ONSC.

12. Having motions heard in writing are most preferrable when the time it will take to have such motion scheduled and heard are at issue, the importance of ensuring that interests are fairly represented, as well as the importance of moving this matter forward expeditiously: Agbapu v Munshi, 2023 ONSC 2053 at para 4.

13. Nothing further needs to be analyzed at this time under Rule 37.12.1(4) to (6) because if the responding parties provide a notice that they wish to be heard orally on this motion, they are so entitled.

Volume #1(A): Rule 37.13: Disposition on Motion

14. The more compelling and intellectually stimulating legal test to identify and then analyze is the legal test under Rule 37.13(2)(a). The language therein is clear on it its face: in a 'proper case', the motions judge may convert the motion into a motion for Judgment.

15. Rule 37.13 has four subsections in (1) to (4). Only the sub-rules involving an "Application" are analyzed. Only subrule 37.13(1)(b) and 37.13(a) are applicable because subrule 37.13(1)(a), 37.13(2)(b) and 37.13(3) involve trials and actions, and 37.13(4) involves estate matters. Therefore, the drafters and the LGIC intended for moving parties (applicants and respondents in judicial review to be decided in their intended summary manner as follows:

a. Obtain interim relief: like the Applicant has sought, as a moving party, in his NOM #1 and many before him had done in seeking orders relating to the "record of proceeding".
    i. Although the Applicant is the unprecedented situation wherein this Tribunal has not even submitted a single document from the Record Of Proceeding. In that regard, the Applicant respectfully submits this is now a 'proper case' for this motion, where applicable, to be converted into a motion for Judgment. It is entirely open to the Tribunal to seek to dismiss the JRPA Application on motion and to be heard at the same time. However, it will have to rely on the Record of Proceeding. The same is applicable to SNIC and TDHA.
b. Obtain a precise hearing date: while the Applicant perfected his JRPA Application on December 13, 2024, there appears to be, as represented to him by the Registrar, some unwritten convention involving the Divisional Court where it no longer issues a Form 68(B) despite the mandatory language in the relevant rule (see: Rule 68.06); and
c. Motion for Judgment: the relevant subrule does not mean or connote that a moving party will be successful in obtaining a "Reasons For Judgment" in his, her or its favour but that the motions judge converts the motion into one that is a "motion for judgment" where a final disposition on the merits of the JRPA Application occurs.

16. As a matter of this 'record of proceeding' before the Divisional Court, there has not been any notice pursuant to Rule 2.1.01(2) as has occurred in many statutory appeals of decisions of the LAT. This is not a statutory appeal but a judicial review and the distinction is an important one considering the statements of law in Yatar.

17. Moreover, there has not been a single motion from any of the respondents, including prior to the AGO's departure, for any relief including but not limited to seeking to dismiss the Applicant's judicial review on grounds of prematurity. The Tribunal raised the objection in the required "information submitted to the court" (see: Practice Direction of Divisional Court) but the respondent insurance companies did not. The Applicant squarely faced the same in his Factum and it will be further faced in his Compendium and 'Outline' contained therein with a hyperlinking (internal and external) and bookmarking to each and every relevant document, statute, regulation, and authority.

Ct.); and (iii) Heegsma (ONCA). The Applicant faced the same in correspondence and his Factum.

18. Mansuri was a conflict of interest case involving three brothers with the same insurer (Dominion Insurance Company of Canada) wherein all three brothers with the same counsel alleged that Dominion Insurance's counsel was in a conflict of interest by having the same counsel and adjusters cross-reference their information by way of pooling and comparison as authorized under the OCF-1 and PIPEDA. As the decision by Vice Chair McGee refused the motion relief, which was in the nature of disqualifying the counsel and adjusters handling the Mansuri brothers' SABS claims, it was interlocutory in nature. Refusal to grant relief involving disqualification are interlocutory as they relate to the counsel retained as agent for said principals. Ironically, the Applicant brought a conflict of interest motion in the underlying LAT Proceeding and it was dismissed. He disagreed but marshalled on as there was no final order or final decision to be challenged. Ergo, Mr. Boyce's citation of Mansuri was misguided on these facts and the underlying Application Record and the record of proceeding.

19. The Tribunal's citation of Awada served no utility to its misguided position of prematurity which was cited in the Applicant's Factum (see: paragraph 62[2] therein) prior to him reading the correspondence issued by Mr. Boyce to he and the other respondents. The Honourable Justice Corbett crystallized and refined the precedential statement of law that that courts should not interfere with ongoing administrative proceedings until after they are completed or until effective remedies are exhausted. The test is disjunctive one. In effect, Corbett J. confirmed the abolition of the doctrine cited in CB Powell of the rule against fragmentation or bifurcation of administrative proceedings. The precedent is a sound one because a final decision or final order may occur at any stage of an administrative proceeding. It would not only be wrong, unjust and ineffective to have a litigant continue when a final order or final decision must be overturned like a refusal to amend a pleading, add a party, or add a cause of action but it would be the principle of the rule against a multiplicity of proceedings. If litigants became "gun shy" about bringing motions to add parties, causes of action or amend pleadings, it could open the floodgates to litigants commencing different proceedings against the same party with new causes of actions with, in effect, amended pleadings, and then having a surfeit of unnecessary motions to consolidate claims and proceedings by moving parties. Said principle has equal force when measured against section 2 of the SPPA or Rule 1.04 of the Civil Rules. Even worse, if litigants are overly cautious about the risk of bring a motion to add a party, cause of action, or amendment of pleadings in the LAT context, it will lead to injured persons dispute resolution against the insurance company that he or she believes may be the First Insurer. This Honourable ONSC (Divisional Court) can take judicial notice that injured persons are often in the most precarious situations financially, emotionally, physically and mentally. While the affluent in our society may scoff at the notion of having to pay $106 for a filing fee to the Tribunal, that is for many who have been denied vital treatments, benefits et al, that they do not have. To the extent that there are class or subclass of individuals that are not so financially burdened that the payment of a filing fee is of concern, this Divisional Court will undoubtedly have learned from this underlying LAT proceeding, the decisions involving the likes of one of Ms. Therese Reilly[3], and the Ontario Trial Lawyers Association recently issued information that injured persons' success rate at the Tribunal has dwindled from around 30 percent five years ago to less then ten percent. Simply put, Mr. Boyce's analysis on behalf of the Tribunal was as misguided as it was in various decisions when he was an adjudicator or vice chair for the very Tribunal under further attack from the public, the OTLA[4] and, without question, this Applicant.

20. Mr. Boyce's conduct herein has been concerning to say the least with the removal of his business name (employer) and address after receipt of the Applicant's affidavit #2. [5]

21. As it relates to the 'proper case', the Applicant respectfully submits that even if the standard of review were, hypothetically speaking 'patent unreasonableness, which existed in Dunsmuir prior to the revamping of the judicial review landscape in Vavilov, the Applicant would be able to obtain an order that the final decisions and orders of VCM were patently unreasonable. The standard of review herein is, without question, correctness (see: Factum and Outline to Compendium (to follow in accordance with the Civil Rules). Ergo, it is unclear what the Tribunal was relying upon Awada for but it did the Tribunal more harm than good considering that Awara was a statutory appeal under LATA which are only on questions of law, and it involved the appeal of a production by the insurance company (Allstate). Again, the Applicant has not appealed the production order in NOM #13 that involved a non-party in TDGIC. Ergo, the principles of law in Awada are not only in the Applicant's favour but do not bolster the misguided preliminary objection of the Tribunal.

22. This leaves Heegsma, which is an ONCA decision that invokes vertical stare decisis but only when the facts are the similar or same, and lower courts are required to adhere to the decisions, factually similar or the same, pursuant to the principle of vertical stare decisis. However, when comparing the likes of the ONCA authority cited by the Applicant in ME v. Ontario, which involved a self-of action and add parties albeit unequivocally misguided in her otherwise ludicrous causes of action (albeit the refusal to add a cause of action against the same parties in the style of cause or by way of refusing to add a party are final decisions and final orders), Heegsma involved the appeal by a proposed intervenor (OHRC) to be granted leave to intervene in the underlying proceeding before the ONSC. The legal test to be applied for a proposed intervenor under the Civil Rules (Ruel 13.02) is entirely distinct (not 'one and the same') from the legal tests to be applied under section 5 of the SPPA, the Insurance Act (sections on the requirement that the Tribunal conduct and decide all matters in accordance with SABS, with the precedential statement of law of The Honourable Mr. Justice Akazaki, a brother of all of those other 93 ONSC court justices in the Toronto region, who found in Zurich v. Chubb 2024 that a breach of Reg 283 is equivalent to a breach of SABS and vice-versa), Reg 283, SABS, and Reg 664 (certain sections like the distinction between a First Party Insurer and a "First Insurer". Heegsma was a case that involved a litany of applicants against the City of Hamilton regarding the removal of their encampments, and whether the municipal by-laws (not to be confused with the language in section 5 of the SPPA of 'by law') were unconstitutional by alleging infringing their section 7 and 15 Charter rights. The OHRC's appeal was predicated upon two grounds, in that the motions judge, who was also the application judge, erred as follows: (i) misapprehended the law on intervention; and (ii) did not provide sufficient reasons. The ONCA dismissed the appeal summarily on account of want of jurisdiction at paragraph 6: "I would quash this appeal for want of jurisdiction. For the reasons that follow, I conclude that this court does not have jurisdiction to hear an appeal from the dismissal of a motion for leave to intervene as a friend of the court." Ergo, the Tribunal's reliance on Heegsma was misguided.

23. This does not mean that the Tribunal cannot bring a motion with further authorities at any time to seek to dismiss this JRPA Application on grounds of prematurity. However, it would have to take the steps this JRPA Applicant has and pay the requisite fees, and have the appropriate evidence before this Divisional Court along with, at the very least, complying with its forthwith statutory duties: section 10 of the JRPA and section 20 of the SPPA. The Tribunal, through its counsel who is employed by the SLASTO legal unit, cannot contemporaneously object to the JRPA Proceeding on grounds of prematurity, then seek to shield the Tribunal from judicial review by not having it comply with its statutory duties. A statutory body subject to judicial review cannot immunize itself or its process by arriving at decisions on considerations that are not revealed by the record it files with the court: paragraph 161 of Payne (ONCA). The Tribunal has done so on multiple levels: (i) it standpoint, in the SPPA that govern its duties in governing LAT proceedings; (ii) failed to comply with the very statute that this JRPA Application was brought pursuant to; and (iii) failed to comply with the Civil Rules passed and amended in their current form by our Honourable Lieutenant Governor.

24. Mr. Boyce is his introductory letter to the Applicant, which enclosed the Tribunal's Notice of Appearance of November 27, 2024, imposed a discretionary non-legislative deadline of three to four weeks. On its most charitable reading, the Tribunal missed its deadline on the day (December 24, 2024) that the Applicant filed his requisition that requested and required the ONSC Divisional Court to issue the Form 68(B) pursuant to the mandatory language in the Civil Rules which was triggered by the Applicant's perfecting of his JRPA Application by payment for a filing that was nearly three times the amount of the JRPA Application itself.

25. To add insult to injury, the Tribunal did not formally oppose, but did not consent, to the relief in the Applicant's NOM #1 which was to be heard on January 30, 2025, or as soon as possible thereafter. The Tribunal had the opportunity to dispute whether the motion record for NOM #1 was incomplete and it did not.

26. The most logical explanation and inference, which is subject to the Applicant's evidence under oath albeit on belief as he cannot prove a negative, is that the Tribunal, which had represented to the Applicant in Spring 2024 that the reason he could not file documents for a two day period as his LAT file number was not recognized by that e-filing system was on account of "power outage", does not have the full and accurate record of proceeding. The Applicant has invited Mr. Boyce, for the Tribunal, to admit the same so the Applicant and remaining respondents can work together for the Court's benefit. No response has been provided but for more stonewalling, answers to questions that no one has asked, and a bevy of out of office responses from the Tribunal and respondent insurance companies.

27. The other logical possibility, which could be in combination with the primary logical inference, is that the Tribunal has not been able to amend its technological systems to change party name as per the order of Adjudicator Morissette, as she then was in June 2024, and it does not want to show the Applicant and the Court that "TDGIC", a non-party, remained at the respondent on its books, records and account for the "record of proceeding". There is evidence to support the same in that

28. It is trite that if the Tribunal does not have a full and accurate record of proceeding, it cannot argue prematurity. Moreover, it cannot argue the customary allowable positions for a statutory body on a judicial review or statutory appeal involving the history of the underlying proceeding when measured against the statutory and regulatory framework that the Tribunal operated under. Put another way, it is fatal to the Tribunal's involvement in this JRPA Proceeding.

29. While the Tribunal must be concerned about the rule of law and arriving at correct decisions when the rule of law is at issue and reasonable ones when it is not, it is unfortunately human nature (consciously or subconsciously) for those employed by the same employer as the very decision makers, whom they are also advise (see: Shuttleworth[6]), to wish to "stand up for them" and "fight for their personal well-being and repute in the public review or appellate processes". This issue will be addressed, as it relates to the merits of the JRPA Application, further in the Outline to the Compendium to be filed in the JSO filing portal, which has not had anywhere the same issues as that of the LAT e-filing portal, and then served on the remaining respondents.

Volume #1(B): Return to Rule 37.13

30. As "Judgment" means a decision that finally disposes of an Application on its merits, the interpretation of decision, finally, disposes, proper,

31. The word 'decision' is not defined but order includes "Order" includes a "Judgment". Orders are interpreted under Rule 59 of the Civil Rules. It is trite that the email relayed from the ONSC Div. Ct. staff to the Applicant and respondents was neither an order nor an endorsement.

32. "Dispose" means: to settle a matter finally: M-W dictionary.

33. "Proper" means: marked by suitability, rightness, or appropriateness: M-W Dictionary.

34. The word "suitable" is often thought of in the context of summary judgment or summary trial. Since there has not been any motion to convert this 'application' to an action, there is no issue as to the suitability for summary trial disposition in that judicial review proceedings are intended to be summary proceedings at first instance.

35. As this Divisional Court has correctly stated in its Judicial Review Guide, which is a 'practice direction', that judicial reviews are reviews on the record (of proceeding) and not a chance for inadmissible submissions, even implicitly, or adding evidence that was not before the initial decision maker. Moreover, our courts have found that the record of proceeding includes the documents filed, and properly served, before the administrative decision maker at the time of the decision and not thereafter (see: "Keeprite Standard" cited in

36. The leading case of our ONCA, which has been cited with approval thereafter, is that of CIBC Trust Corp where the ONCA found at paragraph eight: "Where both parties had had the opportunity to argue their positions fully, and all necessary evidence was before the motions judge, the court had authority to convert a motion for directions for a trial to a motion for judgment pursuant to Rule 37.13(2)(a)." The Applicant is on even strong footing as there could not be a motion for direction for trial as this JRPA Application is not a chance for document discovery of the Applicant, the First Insurer (TDHA), the Sole Underwriter (SNIC), or the non-party (TDGIC), or management of a complex piece of litigation. The Civil Rules are clear under Rule 68.05 as follows:

> Certificate of Perfection
> 68.05 (1) The applicant shall file with the application record a certificate of perfection,
>
> (a) stating that all the material required to be filed by the applicant for the hearing of the application has been filed; and
>
> (b) setting out, with respect to every party to the application and any other person entitled by statute or by an order under rule 13.03 (intervention) to be heard on the application,
>
> (i) the name, address and telephone number of the party's or other person's lawyer, or
>
> (ii) the name, address for service and telephone number of the party or other person, if acting in person. O. Reg. 260/05, s. 15; O. Reg. 248/21, s. 13.
> (2) When the certificate of perfection has been filed, the registrar shall place the application on a list for hearing and give notice of listing for hearing (Form 68B) by mail to the parties and the other persons named in the certificate of perfection. R.R.O. 1990, Reg. 194, r. 68.05 (2)."

37. Like the filings for this NOM #2, where a fee is required to be paid as opposed to documents that may be filed urgently by email like the Applicant and respondents have done (albeit on a few occasions), the initial filing and service is made through email and then consummated, of the certificate of perfection which was not done 'with the Application Record' but rather done the day after his filing of the Application Record (which was filed via email) albeit through the JSO Portal with the prescribed fee.

38. The drafters of the Civil Rules were unequivocal in their choice of diction that the Applicant cannot be precluded from filing his certificate of perfection because a Tribunal has failed to file the record of proceeding. Put another way, what is required by the Applicant to be filed by him, she or it, is not what is required to be filed by the Tribunal pursuant to two statutory sections.

39. As the Toronto region of the Divisional Court sits every week in January and February, it is unclear why Rule 68.05(2) was not strictly followed.

40. If it had been, then the Applicant would have been able to requisition one of the hearing dates based on the approximate time in the Form 68(B) and this motion would likely have been rendered superfluous but for the relief sought in relation to Madam Justice Shore and her non-endorsement and non-order of January 7, 2025.

Volume #2: Orders Sought

Orders #1 and #3: Disqualification of Shore J. or her recusal

41. With that segue, the Applicant seeks the relief in his NOM #2 made within 14 days of February 14, 2025. NOM #2 seeks two orders relating to the involvement of Madam Justice Shore in this JRPA Proceeding which are: (i) restraining her from any involvement in this NOM #2; and (ii) permanently disqualifying her from any involvement in this JRPA Proceeding and any future proceedings involving the Applicant and any of the respondent insurance companies. The Applicant relies on his affidavit #3 (Jan. 8, 2025), his COI Recusal Submissions (Jan 16, 2025), affidavit #7 (Jan 24, 2025) and affidavit #8 (Jan 27, 2025).

the orders are legally based upon the requirement of independence embedded in our constitution pursuant to the Constitution Act that judges must be entirely independent.

43. Vital to the Canadian system is the impartiality of a judge. This is different than the system in the United States. In Canada, judicial independence is viewed as vital to fostering public confidence in the fairness and objectivity of the justice system. The Supreme Court of Canada has described judicial independence as "the cornerstone, a necessary prerequisite for judicial impartiality." (as per Madam Justice Shore, when she was a lawyer at the very law firm which represented Mr. Andrew P. during his matrimonial litigation with the sole individual named insured person in the Insured Policy, cited by VCM at paragraph 27 of the VCM Reasons, who was the Spouse of the Applicant at all material times).

44. The Applicant raised his concerns about the fairness and objectivity if Madam Justice Shore was handling any aspect of the Applicant's JRPA Application. He did so within a day of receipt of the same: Applicant's Affidavit #3.

The Constitution of Canada

45. Section 52(2) of 'The Constitution of Canada' includes: the Canada Act 1982, including this Act; the Acts and orders referred to in the schedule; and any amendment to any Act or order referred to in paragraph (a) or (b).

46. Section 52(1) states that "The Constitution of Canada is the supreme law of Canada, and any law that is inconsistent with the provisions of the Constitution is, to the extent of the inconsistency, of no force or effect" (the "Supremacy Clause"). As cited countless scholars like Mr. Peter Hogg, where a party relies on a law (statute or regulation) that is inconsistent with the Charter and it is struck down, said party loses the legal bases for their case.

47. At this stage, the Supremacy Clause has importance as follows. Section 52(1) recognizes the primacy of the Constitution.

consistent with the Constitution and to invalidate or treat as invalid a law to the extent of its inconsistency with the Constitution (Mossop v. Canada, [1993] 1 S.C.R. 554 at page 582; Nova Scotia (Workers Compensation Board) v. Martin, [2003] 2 S.C.R. 504 ["Martin"] at paragraph 28). Courts may not apply invalid laws, and the same obligation applies to every level and branch of government, including the administrative organs of the state (see: paragraph 28 of Martin).

49. The Licence Appeal Tribunal is an administrative body, exclusively adjudicative in nature and self-touted as quasi-judicial, and has the power and duties to decide all questions of fact and law before it: LATA section 3. VCM failed to do so in relation Orders #1, #2, #4 and #5.

50. There is no challenge in the JRPA Proceeding to the constitutionality of any statute, regulation or rule. Rather, the judicial review challenges the incorrectness of the final orders and decisions of Vice Chair Morrisette in relation to the five final orders and the decisions in relation to the Applicant's NOM #14 and #15. Those five final orders, either decided or not decided at all, that the Applicant sought in NOM #14 and #15 are contained in the Draft Order (January 31, 2025) which were and are:

a. Order #1:
    i. An Order, Declaration, determination and/or finding that TD Home And Auto Insurance Company, FSRA registration number 1063 ("TDHA" or "TDHAIC") was the First Insurer to receive, pursuant to Reg 283, the Appellant's fax delivered Completed Application (see: Reg 283, s 0. 1) to the fax number, provided to him by SNIC as a return address [sic] for SNIC, of 416-774-3120 (the "416 Fax Number") on October 13, 2022 [the "First Insurer Order"];

b. Order #2:
    i. An Order, Declaration, determination or finding the physical address, which is apparently denoted as a branch office of SNIC in HCAI, municipally known as 304 The East Mall, Floor 6, Etobicoke, Toronto, Ontario, M9B 6B7 (the "Etobicoke East Mall Address") was or is an address or branch office of TDHA and not SNIC [the "HCAI Office Order"]

i. An Order adding TDHA as a respondent party to this LAT proceeding therein [the "TDHA Party Addition Order" and "TDHA Cause Of Action Order"]; and

d. Order #4:

i. An Order requiring TDHA, should it wish to oppose the relief sought in the Appellant's Appeal, file and serve a Response to the Appellant's Appeal within 14 days of the date of the orders herein;

Order #3 that the Applicant sought in NOM #15:

a. "Order #5": A preliminary finding, determination, or order, that the fax number 416-774-3120 was a landline phone number utilized as a fax number on the 4th floor of the building situated at the premises municipally known as 3650 Victoria Park Avenue, North York, Toronto, Ontario, M2H 3P7.

51. Despite filing and serving a reconsideration motion in the LAT Proceeding on the three respondent insurance companies and then filing the same with the Tribunal, Vice Chair Lake in mid October 2024 found that the LAT rule (the reconsideration rule that was amended in August 2023) did not authorize her to overturn the VCM Decision

52. Section 52(2) is related to the Supremacy Clause.

53. Unwritten constitutional principles identified by the Supreme Court include federalism, democracy, constitutionalism and the rule of law, respect for minorities the separation of powers and the independence of the judiciary and the sovereignty of Parliament (Babcock v. Canada (Attorney General), [2002] 3 S.C.R. 3), among others.

54. A notable example of the capacity of unwritten principles to supplement Charter protections arises in respect of judicial independence. Sections 96 to 100 of the Constitution Act, 1867 protect the independence of judges of the superior courts like the ONSC Divisional Court.

55. The SCC has found that the unwritten principle of the independence of the judiciary extends to all courts in Canada. The SCC relied directly on the unwritten principle of judicial independence, with a panel of retired judges was unconstitutional (Mackin v. New Brunswick (Minister of Finance), [2002] 1 S.C.R. 405). While continuing to recognize the applicability of the principle of judicial independence, the Supreme Court found that it was not limited by legislation that strengthened the required qualifications and independence of justices of the peace (Ell v. Alberta, [2003] 1 S.C.R. 857).

VOLUME #3: Why the ONSC Divisional Court has the first say at first instance and why the Shore J. compulsory requirement must be nullified

56. The Supreme Court has rejected the argument that the independence of administrative tribunals is protected by the constitutional principle of judicial independence (Ocean Port Hotel Ltd. v. British Columbia (General Manager, Liquor Control and Licensing Branch), [2001] 2 S.C.R. 781.

57. However, the Applicant's reliance in his affidavit #3 on the SCC case therein bolsters his relief sought that invalidates or nullifies the Shore J. compulsory requirement to attend a case conference before her.

58. The only authority not cited by the Applicant in his COI Recusal Submissions, which are appended to the NOM #2, was that of GWL Properties. He provided notice of the same to the respondents by way of email correspondence which was copied to the Divisional Court (see: Appendix #1).

VOLUME # #4: Issues, Law and Argument

VOLUME # #4(A): Issues

59. The Applicant frames the general legal issues as follows:

a. Issue #1: by virtue of Mr. Andrew P. being a client of Epstein Cole LLP while Madam Justice Shore was a partner at said law firm, would a reasonable person, viewing the matter objectively, perceive that there could be the appearance of a lack of independence between Madam Justice Shore and the respondent insurance companies and/or a reasonable apprehension of bias or conflict of interest?
    i. If so, what remedies must be granted?

for Judgment?

VOLUME #4(B): Law

VOLUME ##4(B)(I): Motions

60. In Ontario, legal proceedings may be commenced by way of an Action or an Application ('Notice of Application') pursuant to Rule 14.05. A "Notice of Application for Judicial Review" is one that is commenced pursuant to the statute of the JRPA (see: Rule 14.05(2)). A JRPA applicant must commence the JRPA application to the Divisional Court at first instance: ss. 6(1) of the JRPA. This JRPA Applicant did so on November 15, 2024.

VOLUME #4(B)(I): Converting A Motion into a Motion for Judgment

61. Rule 37.13(2)(a) has been cited directly or by being a prescribed companion to the inherent jurisdiction of the court: Stickel v. Unum Provident Corporation, 2009 CanLII 63588 (ON SC) at paragraph 4.

62. "Judgment", again, is: means a decision that finally disposes of an application….on its merits and includes a judgment entered in consequence of the default of a party.

63. "Default judgments" only apply to trials. There cannot be a trial in a proceeding before the Tribunal and there cannot be a trial herein unless there was a motion to convert this JRPA Application to an Action. No such motion has been brought or even the intention by the Applicant or Respondent to do so. Judicial review proceedings are intended to be summary proceedings wherein preliminary motions are discouraged. Case conferences are permissive and not mandatory before the Divisional Court.

64. The filing of a "Notice of Appearance" allows a respondent to be heard at the hearing before the presiding judge: Rule 38.07(2)(d).

a trial. Herein, a motion is to be heard in writing on February 14, 2025. Ergo, the AGO would need leave to be heard even though it [he in The Honourable Mr. Downey] had the legal right to be heard pursuant to section 9(4) of the JRPA. However, that right is curtailed when the AGO, by right, does not file a Notice of Appearance. Ms. Im, quite rightly, has confirmed the AGO would not even participate or need to be heard in the hearing of the JRPA Application.

66. Therefore, there are two counsel that remains for the Tribunal and the respondent insurance companies (TDHA and SNIC) who have filed Notices of Appearances on behalf their clients. The Tribunal has filed the required information to the court pursuant the Divisional Court Practice Direction but Mr. Nieuwland's clients have not or even responded to the query of whether they will.

67. This is consistent with their non-participation in NOM #14 and #15 (along with NOM #13 but that was directed at Mr. Nieuwland's initial fictious respondent client in TDGIC). The hearing of the JRPA Application is not an opportunity for new arguments to be made, or arguments at first instance for SNIC and TDHA, by the respondents.

68. The Tribunal is prohibited from arguing the merits on the JRPA Application.

69. The Tribunal and the respondent insurance companies have but one goal: drag, stall and delay. They have no interest in facing the merits. The Tribunal has no interest in complying with section 10 of the JRPA. Mr. Boyce has created fictional assumptions and timelines for when the Tribunal is required to file the record of proceeding. Even on his own fictional, self-created and non-legal timelines, the Tribunal has not complied with them.

70. The conduct of the respondents has been most inconsistent with the Civil Rules and their purpose, spirit, pith and substance, and "General Principle" (see: Rule 1.04(1): 1.04 (1) These rules shall be liberally construed to secure the just, most expeditious and least expensive determination of every civil proceeding on its merits. R.R.O. 1990, Reg. 194, r. 1.04 (1).

71. "Secure" means guarantee.

72. "Just" means fair or equitable.

74. Enactment interpretation is most similar to statutory interpretation. The law is always speaking.

75. In 2006, the Legislature amended a variety of statutes and passed the Legislation Act, 2006, pursuant to the omnibus bill known as the Access To Justice Act, 2006.

76. A statute is an "Act" like the Insurance Act, SPPA, JRPA, CJA et al. A "regulation", which uses the word 'prescribed' to self-denote itself or requirement under a regulation, is "regulation" means a regulation, rule, order or by-law of a legislative nature made or approved under an Act of the Legislature by the Lieutenant Governor in Council, a minister of the Crown, an official of the government or a board or commission all the members of which are appointed by the Lieutenant Governor in Council, but does not include a "by-law" or an order of the Ontario Land Tribunal. Examples of a "regulation" like Reg 283, SABS, Reg 664, and the Rules of Civil Procedure.

77. Every regulation shall be filed with the Registrar, except as provided in sections 19 to 21. 2006, c. 21: section 18 of the Legislation Act.

78. Statutes and regulations are both considered "legislation": Legislation Act, ss. 1(1).

79. "Legislation" are both consider "source law": Legislation Act, ss. 1(1).

80. Where a regulation is made that is inconsistent with its governing enactment it is said to be ultra vires or void ab initio as it was without authority to be made at first instance.

81. Judicial notice shall be taken of the enactment and contents of an Act: section 13(1).

82. Judicial notice shall be taken of the making, approval where required, filing, contents and publication of a regulation that is published on the e-Laws website or in The Ontario Gazette: section 29 of the Legislation Act.

VOLUME #4(C): Legislation Act, Part VI (sections 46 to 97) intention appears or its application would give to a term or provision a meaning that is inconsistent with the context (see: section 47).

84. Ergo, the words "intention" and "context" have great import to this Motion #2.

VOLUME #4(C)(I): General Rules of Construction: section 63 to 68 of Leg. Act.

85. The law is always speaking, and the present tense shall be applied to circumstances as they arise: s. 63.

86. An Act shall be interpreted as being remedial and shall be given such fair, large and liberal interpretation as best ensures the attainment of its objects: section 64(1). The same liberal, fair, large and remedial interpretation is required with regulations: section 64(2).

87. As "ensure" means guarantee, the relevant analysis is what are the objects of an Act or regulation.

88. "Remedial" means "intended as a remedy". "Remedy" means:

89. Words in the singular include the plural and words in the plural include the singular: section 67 of the Leg. Act.

VOLUME #4(C)(II): Appointments, Powers and Delegation (section 76 to 81)

90. If power to do or to enforce the doing of a thing is conferred on a person, all necessary incidental powers are included: section 78 of the Legislation Act.

VOLUME #4(C)(III): When a "may" becomes a must

91. Powers that are conferred on a person may be exercised, and duties that are imposed on a person shall be performed, whenever the occasion requires: section 79 of the Legislation Act.

VOLUME #4(C)(IV): Definitions under the Legislation Act

92. If a term is defined, other forms of the same term have corresponding meanings: section 85 of the Legislation Act. Terms used in regulations have the same meaning as in the Act under whose authority they are made: section 86 of the Legislation Act. The following definitions are applicable:
    a. "Act" means an Act of the Legislature, and "statute" has the same meaning: section 87 of the Leg. Act.
    b. "regulation" means a regulation that is filed under Part III (Regulations)
    c. "Divisional Court" means the Divisional Court of the Superior Court of Justice:
    d. "individual" means a natural person:
    e. "person" includes a corporation;
    f. "Rules of court" means rules made under Part IV of the Courts of Justice Act, or otherwise by an authority having power to make rules regulating court practices and procedures.

VOLUME #4(C)(V): Computation of time

93. Time limits that would otherwise expire on a holiday are extended to include the next day that is not a holiday: section 89 of the Legislation Act.

VOLUME #4(C)(VI): Corporations

94. A provision of an Act that creates a corporation: gives it power to have perpetual succession, to sue and be sued and to contract by its corporate name, to have a seal and to change it, and to acquire, hold and dispose of personal property for the purposes for which the corporation is incorporated, gives a majority of the members of the corporation power to bind the others by their acts, exempts the members of the corporation from personal liability for its debts, acts and obligations, if they do not contravene the Act that incorporates them.

95. A requirement that a person take an oath or be sworn is satisfied by an affirmation or a declaration: section 95 of the Legislation Act.

VOLUME #4(D): Courts of Justice Act

VOLUME #4(E): Judicial Review Procedure Act

112. "Application for judicial review" means an application under subsection 2 (1)."Court" means the Superior Court of Justice: section 1 of the JRPA. The court may, despite any right of appeal, by order grant any relief that the applicant would be entitled to in any one or more of the following: Proceedings by way of application for an order in the nature of mandamus, prohibition or certiorari: section 2(1) of the JRPA.

VOLUME #4(E)(I): Error of law

115. This subsection of the JRPA distinguishes it from the LATA ss. 11.

applicable.

VOLUME #4(E)(III): JRPA Power to Set Aside

Where the applicant on an application for judicial review is entitled to a judgment declaring that a decision made in the exercise of a statutory power of decision is unauthorized or otherwise invalid, the court may, in the place of such declaration, set aside the decision: section 2(4) of the JRPA.

VOLUME #4(E)(IV): JRPA: Summary Disposition of

118. Relief seeking mandamus, certiorari or prohibition shall be disposed of in a summary manner: section 7 and section 8 of the JRPA.

VOLUME #4(F): Rules of Civil Procedure

119. These rules apply to all civil proceedings in the Court of Appeal and in the Superior Court of Justice: Rule 1.02:

a. "application" means a proceeding commenced by notice of application.
b. "deliver" means serve and file with proof of service, and "delivery" has a corresponding meaning. The word "exchange" has no legal meaning under the Civil Rules.
c. "document" includes data and information in electronic form.
d. "Materials" appear under the Civil Rules but without a definition per se. As such, the "exchange of materials" referenced by Shore J. have no legal meaning and would require clarification in the event motions #1 and #2 are not granted in full.
e. "factum" includes a book of authorities, if one is required by rule 4.06.1
f. "hearing" means the hearing of an application, motion, reference, appeal or assessment of costs, or a trial.
g. "judge" means a judge of the court but does not include an associate judge;
h. "judgment" means a decision that finally disposes of an application or action on its merits and includes a judgment entered in consequence of the default of a party. Hence, the motion to convert the motion in writing into a motion for judgment – at least in part.
i. "motion" means a motion in a proceeding or an intended proceeding.
j. "moving party" means a person who makes a motion;

l. The notice of application for judicial review is an originating process (see: Rule 1.02).
m. "person" includes a party to a proceeding
n. "proceeding" means an action or application;
o. "proceeding" means an action or application
p. "order" includes a judgment.

120. Rule 59 and the interpretative jurisprudence denotes the likes of non-endorsement and non-orders relayed in email by Shore J. are not orders or endorsements per se.

121. "Respondents" and "parties", with "party" curiously not being defined per se, are not 'one and the same'. Different respondents are, tritely speaking, not 'one and the same'. However, a respondent at which a motion is made becomes a "responding party" for purposes of that motion. With respect to NOM #1, the "responding party" is the Tribunal. With respect to NOM #2, the "respondent parties" are SNIC and TDHA, and the Tribunal.

122. These rules shall be liberally construed to secure the just, most expeditious and least expensive determination of every civil proceeding on its merits: Rule 1.04.

123. "Orders" and "directions" are not 'one and the same'. In applying these rules, the court shall make orders and give directions that are proportionate to the importance and complexity of the issues, and to the amount involved, in the proceeding: R. 1.04(1.1).

124. Where there is a lacuna in the Civil Rules, they shall be applied by analogy: R. 1.04(2). The Court has the power to impose any terms and conditions that are just: R. 1.05.

125. The forms prescribed by these rules shall be used where applicable and with such variations as the circumstances require: R. 1.06. The Applicant has used all of the correct forms, the respondents, who files NOAs, utilizes the correct "Notices of Appearances". The Applicant still awaits a copy of the Form 68(B) from the Divisional Court as he satisfied the condition precedent for all parties to receive the same via mail, which was his filing, serving and paying for the Certificate of Perfection.

VOLUME #4(F)(I): Rules of Civil Procedure Practice Directions are subject to the Civil Rules

126. "Practice direction" means a direction, notice, guide or similar publication for the purpose of governing, subject to these rules, the practice for proceedings. The Divisional Court has two relevant practice direction: (i) one which is stylized as a "Practice Direction", effective June 15, 2023; and (ii) the other which is stylized as the "Divisional Court Judicial Review Guide".

127. The Applicant completed the "intake form" promptly after filing, serving and paying for his JRPA Application: section 2.

VOLUME #4(F)(II): Litigation efficiency

128. The general principle is: convert the motion before him to a motion for judgment "as the best way to achieve the most just, most expeditious, and least expensive result", in accordance with r. 37.13(2)(a) of the Rules of Civil Procedure: paragraph 39 of Donovan v. Waterloo (Police Services Board), 2022 ONCA 199.

VOLUME #4(F)(IV): Judicial Reviews are Summary Proceedings

129. Even more forcefully, Applications for judicial review are intended to be summary proceedings, and preliminary motions add greatly to the cost and time required to deal with such matters and are therefore to be discouraged.[7] However, where a Tribunal is in egregious breach of its statutory obligations under the very statute in which the proceeding arises, this JRPA Applicant had to take active steps.

130. This is particularly apposite when the respondents, particularly those that had filed NOAs, do not have an order dispensing with the need for a factum and application record. More pointedly, nor could they because Rule 38.09 does not apply to "applications" before the Divisional Court: Rule 38.01.

131. Ergo, the respondents were governed by Rule 68.04(4) which states, " The respondent shall deliver an application record and a factum within thirty days after service of the applicant's application record and factum."

Housing Corporation wherein a Mr. Hiamey failed to comply with the requirement of filing and paying for a certificate of perfection. The only indication in said case was that Mr. Hiamey had filed a "judicial review application" in December 2015 and did not perfect his materials with factum and application record until April 2016. The justice, with due respect, appears, at first blush, to have erred in his interpretation of time unless the judicial review application was combined with a factum and application record. It appears, on second blush, that the justice did not err because the issue with Mr. Hiamey was that he had not complied with the binding requirements for an application record and factum and had "stapled them" (see: paragraph 16 of Hiamey).

133. The distinctions between this JRPA Proceeding and Hiamey are enormous by recitation of the facts above. The respondents knew exactly what they had to respond to from the JRPA Application and most certainly upon receipt of the factum. The Applicant uses the word "factum" as the "application record" was known to the respondent insurance companies and certainly known to the Tribunal. By analogy, like a party may not rest on allegations in its pleadings on a motion for summary judgment, the same applies to motions before tribunals on points of law that are dispositive of whom is the "First Insurer" out of two or more insurance companies. The party must "put its best foot forward" or "lead trumps or risk losing".[8] The principle is applicable herein to the NOM #14 and #15 being summary type hearings and this JRPA Proceeding.

VOLUME #5: Conclusion and Orders Sought

134. Like the English common law found in 1880 in Julius v. Lord Bishop of Oxford ((1880) 5 A.C. 214 at 243): Lord Blackburn) cited by our SCC in Information Commissioner v. Minister of Employment and Immigration (respondent), 1986 CanLII 6836, where there is a right of a decision maker coupled with a duty, the "may becomes a must". For direction quotation, the Applicant tenders the following from the aforementioned authority:

> "While this language is permissive in form, it imposed, in my opinion, a duty upon the Board to exercise this power when called upon to do so by a party interested and having the right to make the application (Drysdale v. Dominion Coal Company ((1904) 34 Can. S.C.R. 328 at 336): Killam J.). Enabling words are always compulsory where they are words to effectuate Lord Blackburn).

135. The Applicant has provided further detail and analysis of how our SCC has approved Julius v. Lord Bishop Of Oxford when interpreting its powers under statute and regulations[9].

136. Without any castigation of Madam Justice Shore, as clients of one's current or former law firm can cause issues such as these, she must disqualified as there is a reasonable apprehension of bias for her to engage in any further involvement in this JRPA Proceeding or any future proceeding involving the Applicant and any of the respondent insurance companies. Mr. Papadimitropoulos changing of his employer or business name from "TD Insurance" to "The Toronto-Dominion Bank" whilst changing his address from Markham to Toronto, but only after the Applicant's affidavit material filed herein regarding the same, only further bolsters the relief sought by the Applicant. Her compulsory requirement for the parties to attend for a case conference must be invalidated and nullified solely on grounds of a reasonably perceived conflict of interest.

137. Mr. Nieuwland and Mr. Boyce officers of the court, at common law and by section 29 of the LSA: 29 (1) Every person who is licensed to practise law in Ontario as a barrister and solicitor is an officer of every court of record in Ontario. 2006, c. 21, Sched. C, s. 26. There are six cases cited under this section that was passed in 2006 which was by way of the Access To Justice Act, 2006. Paralegals are not officers of the court[10] whereas lawyer licensees are: Gobin v. Sheriff of the Regional Municipality of Durham, 2018 ONSC 1255 as per Justice Salmers. Black's Law Dictionary, 8th ed., defines "officer of the court" as "a person who is charged with upholding the law and administering the judicial system." (see: Nixon v. The King, 2023 TCC 124 at paragraph 6, cited at note 3). Every barrister and solicitor licensed to practise law in Ontario is an officer of the court: s. 29 of the Act. Further, by operation of s. 33, every advocate practising law in Ontario is prohibited from engaging in professional misconduct or conduct unbecoming a licensee (see: at paragraph 9 of Groia (2016 at the ONCA).

138. Only time will tell if they discharge their obligations to this court (distinct from that of obligations to a tribunal as there is no analogous term of "officers of the tribunal) and their professional obligations.

Applicant's relief involving Madam Justice Shore (if not rendered moot by a decision on said date) and for entitled "factum for a motion in writing" seeking relief to convert the JRPA Application into a motion for Judgment:

ONSC Divisional Court (regional centre)
Kind attention: Chief Justice of the ONSC Kind attention: Associate Chief Justice of the ONSC Kind attention: Registrar

ONSC (Divisional Court) (copied to the respondents and Divisional Court Scheduling):

1. I write regarding the above.

2. In light of the comments made by Mr. Boyce yesterday and my initial response to them, I provide the case that I was referring to which is denoted: G.W.L. Properties Ltd. v. W.R. Grace & Co. of Canada Ltd., 1992 CanLII 934 (BCCA), <https://canlii.ca/t/1d9nh> ["GWL Properties" or "Bentall Properties"].

3. While GWL Properties is a case that predated the likes of Weykaum and others cited in my COI Recusal Request (formerly defined as the "Respectful Requests" and now defined as the "COI Recusal Request" which includes the relief sought in the COI Recusal Submissions (attached above)), there are some apropos legal principles and precedents contained in Chief Justice McEachern (as he then was) reasons from the bench in December 1992. Moreover, the unassailable corollaries, which will be fleshed out in amended COI Recusal Submissions, further support that the compulsory appearance for a case conference by Madam Justice Shore must be set aside on grounds, inter alia, of a reasonably perceived

As will be seen in the record of proceeding once filed by the Tribunal pursuant to its statutory obligations (see: section 10 of the JRPA and section 20 of the SPPA), Mr. Papadimtropoulos was not disqualified from any form of representation in the LAT Appeal.

4. To the extent that it is not, there will be clarification questions from myself regarding what is meant by the language therein. However, that would be premature.

5. GWL Properties was an asbestos case that was set for a six-month trial and naturally a very complex piece of litigation.

6. The matter came before the BCCA based on an application for leave to appeal interlocutory orders (see: paragraph 2) by the defendants/applicants which the Chief Justice referred to as "Grace" but I shall refer to as "Grace Ltd." The defendants requested that there was an appointment of a pre-trial management judge which was most understandable considering that there was a six-month trial to be conducted.

7. As the Chief Justice McEachern found in relation to a pre-trial management judge, "A pre-trial management judge is an indulgence offered by the court to the parties to assist them to manage complex litigation and to hear as many of the interlocutory applications as may be possible without counsel having to wait their turn in chambers. This obviously is a great advantage to all parties."

8. Unlike Madam Justice Shore, the pre-trial management judge in Bentall Properties had already heard a number of applications as found by CJBCSC McEachern, "In this case the Chief Justice of the Supreme Court appointed a pre-trial management judge and he has heard and decided a number of applications and he has made other decisions including, as I understand it, an order for a short adjournment to accommodate counsel for Grace, but he has made another order refusing a longer adjournment. As I have said, the trial is now set for May of 1993 and counsel for Grace assures me that this application is not intended in any way to assist Grace to obtain a further adjournment. I must, therefore, assume that the trial will proceed in May as scheduled."

9. It is a trite fact that Madam Justice Shore has not made any decisions let alone heard a single application. I raised my objection promptly after receiving the copied and pasted email from the ONSC Div. Ct. Registrar, and immediately made an affidavit that was email filed and served on the respondents (see: Affidavit #3).

10. Unlike my prompt and forthwith objection, the defendants or applicants for Grace Ltd. raised the objection for the first time on December 3, 1992, "On December 3, 1992, counsel for Grace informed me that he or his colleagues learned for the first time what I thought was common knowledge within the profession, that the pre-trial management judge has a brother who is associated with the plaintiff's solicitors Messrs. Lander Downs, which is a law firm having in the range of 100 or so lawyers." (see: paragraph 6). Ergo, the impugned conflict of interest was the pre-trial management judge had a brother that worked at the same law firm of what was then Ladner Downs, which later became Borden Ladner Gervais LLP ("BLG LLP").

11. The conflict of interest alleged herein is not "one and the same" herein and not a matter of public knowledge or common knowledge per se. It remains unclear to me how Madam Justice Shore was appointed, if at all, but I presume we can somehow chalk it up to "coincidence" for the time being.

12. The procedure, like herein, in the Bentall Properties case was initially dealt with in a confidential manner in chambers. The pre-trial management judge then requested submissions in open court of which as he had been invited to do so by counsel for Grace Ltd. Chief Justice McEachern articulated the following for ease of reference at paragraph six:

"Counsel for Grace accordingly asked to see the pre-trial management judge in his chambers and invited him to withdraw from the pre-trial management of this case. The pre-trial management judge quite properly asked counsel to speak to the matter in open court which was done. I have read a transcript of those proceedings. The pre-trial management judge considered the matter and spoke to Chief Justice Esson as he had been invited to do by counsel for Grace.

13. Chief Justice Esson then delivered a memorandum as follows (see: paragraph 7):

"After the matter was raised on Friday morning last, the pre-trial management judge discussed the matter with me. It was for other reasons a hectic day. Without giving the matter adequate thought, I expressed the view that we should apply an approach (it is not a rule or a principle) which we often apply where questions of possible grounds for disqualification arise, as they often do, in circumstances of urgency. That approach is to avoid the "hassle" of having a judge face suggestions of bias, however spurious, by simply shifting the case to another judge. That problematic approach is entirely reasonable if it can be applied without injustice to the parties or the public interest."

14. Herein, Mr. Boyce without tendering any responsive materials on behalf of the Tribunal has necessitated my covering all bases and ensuring that I have evinced a continuing intention to proceed with my COI Recusal Request of Madam Justice Shore from any activities including appearing before her as a case management judge.

15. In GWL Properties, the pre-trial management judge to decide to withdraw (see: "As a result the pre-trial management judge informed counsel that he would withdraw from the management of the case" (see: paragraph 8).

16. However, the "other parties", the plaintiffs, were not pleased with such a result which necessitated their bringing to the attention of Chief Justice Esson the prejudice that would be caused by the loss of the pre-trial management judge (see: supra, 'his decisions in a variety of applications at that stage'). Chief Justice Esson reversed course [emphasis added by me]:
"This is what Chief Justice Esson said about that in the memo he sent to counsel:

What I overlooked in my haste was that this is not such a case. If the pre-trial management judge does not continue as management judge, the value of his unique knowledge of the case resulting from the investment of time and effort which he has put into it will be entirely lost. That will prejudice the parties. Furthermore, it will damage the system and thus prejudice the public interest. Much judicial time, a scarce commodity at present, will be squandered. It must never be forgotten that the cost of providing judges, courthouses, and all the ancillary services falls upon the public. Those are some of the reflections, obvious enough to me now, which I overlooked on Friday last.

(see: paragraph 8).

17. The exact opposite is the case herein in that the only time lost will be that of a few sentence email. The time spent by myself and the court to hear this COI Recusal Request will be excessive but necessary if so required by the respondents opposing the same.

18. Unlike a trial, judicial review proceedings are intended to be summary proceedings. They do not require documentary discovery and are not a chance for the same. Herein, the Tribunal was required to file the record of proceedings forthwith. It has failed to do so and it is now subject to a motion returnable on January 30, 2025, before a motions judge of the ONSC Divisional Court with the preliminary order that any such delegation of a motions judge not be Madam Justice Shore or any other justice that was employed at Epstein Cole LLP or was a partner at said firm during the material times of which Mr. Papadimitropoulos first became a client of Epstein Cole LLP.

19. While it is emphasized in the COI Recusal Submissions (attached above) that there is no uniform or agreed procedure in Ontario for making the request that a justice recuse himself or herself, there is no order or endorsement herein so a motion is unlikely to be the preferred route. Put another way, Rule 59 of the Civil Rules relates to “orders”.

20. I again note that there is no requirement for a case conference to be conducted in the ONSC Div. Ct. as the permissive word “may” is used. However, I will not speculate as I have a pending motion and whatever transpires at that motion hearing may shape the discretion depending on the results of my COI Recusal Request.

21. For the potential record of request hearing [not motion hearing per se as there is no “order” or “endorsement”), I will amend my submissions to include much of the above and any noted up cases in Ontario. I have found eight but I am still reviewing the same.

22. I trust this assistance, by way of courtesy and full disclosure, and to not ambush the respondents in the event the COI Recusal Request. If the court can advise on when this needs to be heard (if at all) or when submissions from the respondents must occur, I would be most grateful.

23. Thank you.

Endnotes

[1]See: for example: Hoang v. Mann Engineering Ltd., 2015 ONCA 838 (CanLII), <https://canlii.ca/t/gmbkg>, at paragraph 1.
[2][62]The prematurity doctrine has no applicability. The Applicant may or may not obtain a remedy against a non-liable insurance company as a matter of the governing statute in Insurance Act, ss. 268(3) and the binding regulations in Reg 283, SABS and Reg 664. Judicial review is a discretionary remedy. However, in Awada[2], Corbett J. by setting out the legal principle or precedent that courts should not interfere with ongoing administrative proceedings until after they are completed or until effective remedies are exhausted. It is not that a claimant has exhausted remedies but effective remedies. "Effective" is synonymous with "actual, real, or operative". Any remedies against SNIC are ineffective, futile or useless. The ineffectiveness of any remedies, absent costs against SNIC in the LAT Proceeding, is further bolstered by the mature and stable jurisprudence that an order adding or dismissing a motion to add a party is a final order.

[3]Ms. Reilly's reply to the bias allegation a frightening one: "Reilly has told media her decisions in the insurance cases were fact-based and untainted by bias. She claims LAT disclosure procedures should be tightened up to prevent any appearance of bias." In effect, an experienced Vice Chair of the Tribunal's position is that the public should not known of a "conditional offer" of employment with an insurance company where she inevitably worked for a period thereafter (i.e. avoid these "disclosures" and have less transparency). The prejudice experienced by these injured person is denoted in a case like Nagesu v Traders General Insurance Company, 2024 CanLII 23453 (ON LAT) where Associate Chair had to cancel the decisions of former adjudicator Ms. Reilly. The position of Aviva is perhaps even more concerning: "Aviva Canada said it was unaware Reilly was involved in insurance cases for LAT after 'the insurer' hired her." It is rather disingenuous or intentionally misleading considering it was a "conditional offer of employment" and, of course, Vice Chair Reilly could not be involved in insurance cases for LAT after the hiring.
Upon investigation by the LAT, it was, in fact, only four decisions wherein Vice Chair Reilly had issued decisions after her acceptance of an offer of conditional employment. Mr. Boyce, counsel to the Tribunal herein and a former Vice Chair of the Tribunal with the same employer or payor of his wages (see: Appendix #2), "batted a better record" for the TDHA and SNIC as his time as a Vice Chair. Involving SNIC and TDHA, they were 14-0-1 when Vice Chair Boyce, as he then was, was the decision maker (see: Appendix #3). Is this Mr. Boyce's 'cooling off period' before joining the likes of Mr. Nieuwland as counsel at TD Insurance Staff Legal? Is this why Mr. Nieuwland and his clients have remained silent? Is Mr. Boyce seeking to, in good faith, raise prematurity or is this a circuitous route for him to defend the advice he provided to the Tribunal before the VCM Decision was issued? The optics are not pleasant to the eyes or ears. The rule of law requires the ONSC, by a single justice, to intervene judicially to immediately put an end to the real unfairness to not only this JRPA Applicant but others similarly situated. It must be forcefully noted that of the 13 tribunals in Tribunals Ontario, the Licence Appeal Tribunal is the one tribunal funded by the insurance industry. This Tribunal must earn back the respect of the public and not be seen on any level to be siding with the insurance company giants whether at first instance or by counsel who are former adjudicators with unfettered mobility.
[4]"OLTA Pushes for Urgent LAT Review"

(see: The Applicant quotes: "The association cited "disturbing trends" drawn from an inHEALTH analysis". OTLA noted that the success rate for insured applicants bringing their disputes to LAT has fallen over the years, with just 10% getting a win in 2023 compared to 2017's 33%. "Our members have voiced concerns that the LAT's process is overly rigid, is fraught with procedural unfairness, and fails to accommodate requests, even when both parties agree. This also raises important questions about the qualifications and training of LAT adjudicators," Purewal said. "The LAT is an arm of our justice system. Injured Ontario citizens should feel confident that they are getting a fair hearing, and that justice is being done. Unfortunately, with the recent declining trends in success rates for applicants and the overwhelming success of insurers is raising significant questions for our membership
[5]By-Law #8, section 4, states the following in relation to a "notice of change"

Notice of change
4. (1) A licensee shall file with the Society a notice of change for every change in any of the following information, previously provided by the licensee to the Society either before or after the coming into force of this section:

1. The licensee's legal and assumed names.
2. The licensee's personal contact information.
3. The licensee's business contact information.
4. Information with respect to whether the licensee is practising law or providing legal services.

Mr. Boyce removed his "assumed name". Mr. Boyce did not have any "personal contact information" so that subsection of By-Law #8 is irrelevant.
His employer or business contact information was removed but not changed per se. There does not appear to be any grounds whatsoever to remove the "business name" or "employer name" from the LSO directory through the LSO Portal.
Inexplicably and without reference to the very "business" or "employer", Mr. Boyce' status remained the same as he is still "practising law – employed". Thankfully, affidavit #2 in the Divisional Court record provided the exact particulars of Mr. Boyce's business or employer name, address, and phone number therein. As such, the issue of whether Mr. Boyce, as the agent (lawyer licensee representative) of the Tribunal can advance arguments in an impartial manner for the quasi-judicial LAT is at issue.

[8] (Caplan v. Atas, 2021 ONSC 670, the Honourable Justice DL Corbett paragraph 106).
[9]"On July 13, 1984 the respondent informed the complainant that the information which he sought could not be obtained under the Access to Information Act because it was Personal Information about another person. A complaint was lodged with the Information Commissioner who, following an investigation, recommended that the information be released. The respondent subsequently provided the complainant with access to documents consisting of 5 pages, but refused to disclose in excess of 200 pages of documents. The applicant seeks a review of that refusal under paragraph 42(1)(a) of the Access to Information Act: 42. (1) The Information Commissioner may (a) apply to the Court, within the time limits prescribed by section 41, for a review of any refusal to disclose a record requested under this Act or a part thereof in respect of which an investigation has been carried out by the Information Commissioner, if the Commissioner has the consent of the person who requested access to the record; (b) appear before the Court on behalf of any person who has applied for a review under section 41; or

> (c) with leave of the Court, appear as a party to any review applied for under section 41 or 44.
> places upon the respondent the burden of es*tab*lishing that she is authorized to refuse to disclose the record requested:
>
> 48. In any proceedings before the Court arising from an application under section 41 or 42, the burden of es*tab*lishing that the head of a government institution is authorized to refuse to disclose a record requested under this Act or a part thereof shall be on the government institution concerned.
>
> Counsel for the respondent argues that such authority exists under section 19 of the Act:
>
> 19. (1) Subject to subsection (2), the head of a government institution shall refuse to disclose any record requested under this Act that contains Personal Information as defined in section 3 of the Privacy Act.
>
> (2) The head of a government institution may disclose any record requested under this Act that contains Personal Information if
>
> (a) the individual to whom it relates consents to the disclosure;
>
> (b) the information is publicly available; or
>
> (c) the disclosure is in accordance with section 8 of the Privacy Act.

The SCC disagreed with the respondent's interpretation of section 19(2) of Access To Information Act for two reasons [emphasis is mine with square brackets being mine]:

> [Two Reasons: (i) statutory interpretation; and (ii) legislative purposes]
>
> "I reject the argument for two reasons: first, as a question of law, it is contrary to principles of statutory interpretation; second, it represents an approach that runs directly against the very purpose for which this legislation was enacted, as stated in the express provisions of the statute and confirmed in jurisprudence.

[Shall versus May]

In terms of statutory interpretation, when legislators intend to create an obligation to do something, they use the word "shall". When they intend instead to es*tab*lish a discretion or a right to do it, they use the word "may".

Had the legislators intended here to repose residual discretion in the head of the government institution not to disclose information[9], even though the conditions of section 19(2) had been met, that appropriate and precise language would have been used.

Of course, the Act does not es*tab*lish the discretion not to disclose in such circumstances (in which case the respondent's argument might have had merit). The language chosen expresses the intent to es*tab*lish a discretion to release Personal Information under certain circumstances. Those conditions having been fulfilled, it becomes tantamount to an obligation upon the head of the government institution to do so, especially where the purpose for which the statute was enacted is, as here, to create a right of access in the public.

It is my view, of course, that the present matter is precisely such a case and I therefore turn to the following passages of the two decisions referred to above. In Julius v. Oxford (Bishop of) (1880), App. Cas. 214 (H.L.), Lord Blackburn states at pages 242-243:

> But there are cases in which the authority or power given is not to do a judicial act, and yet there is a duty on the donee to exercise the power if it appears to be given to the donee for the purpose of making good a right, and he is called upon by those who have that right to exercise the power for their benefit.

And in Labour Relations Board v. The Queen ex rel. F.W. Woolworth Company Limited and Agnes Slabick and Saskatchewan Joint Board, Retail, Wholesale and Department Store Union, [1956] S.C.R. 82, Locke J. states at page 86:

The language of s. 5, in so far as it affects this aspect of the matter, reads:-

5. The board shall have power to make orders:—

> (i) rescinding or amending any order or decision of the board.
> While this language is permissive in form, it imposed, in my opinion, a duty upon the Board to exercise this power when called upon[9] to do so by a party interested[9] and having the right to make the application (Drysdale v. Dominion Coal Company ((1904) 34 Can. S.C.R. 328 at 336): Killam J.). Enabling words are always compulsory where they are words to effectuate a legal right (Julius v. Lord Bishop of Oxford ((1880) 5 A.C. 214 at 243): Lord Blackburn)

Turning then to the purpose of the legislation, it is perhaps appropriate to return once again to the language I used in Maislin Industries Limited v. Minister for Industry, Trade and Commerce, [1984] 1 F.C. 939 [at pages 942 and 943]:

> It should be emphasized however, that since the basic principle of these statutes is to codify the right of public access to Government information two things follow: first, that such public access ought not be frustrated by the courts except upon the clearest grounds so that doubt ought to be resolved in favour of disclosure[9]; second, the burden of persuasion must rest upon the party resisting disclosure[9] whether, as in this case, it is the private corporation or citizen, or in other circumstances, the Government. It is appropriate to quote subsection 2(1):

> 2. (1) The purpose of this Act is to extend the present laws of Canada to provide a right of access to information in records under the control of a government institution in accordance with the principles that government information should be available to the public, that necessary exceptions to the right of access should be limited and specific and that decisions on the disclosure of government information should be reviewed independently of government.[9]

The SCC found: 4. (1) Subject to this Act, but notwithstanding any other Act of Parliament, every person who is (a) a Canadian citizen, or (b) a permanent resident within the meaning of the Immigration Act, 1976, has a right to and shall, on request, be given access to any record under the control of a government institution.

To repeat, the purpose of the Access to Information Act is to codify the right of access to information held by the government. It is not to codify the government's right of refusal. Access should be the normal course. Exemptions should be exceptional and must be confined to those specifically set out in the statute. In the present case, the applicant was quite properly informed that the information sought could not be obtained except by a Canadian citizen or a resident and could not involve disclosure of Personal Information about another person without their consent. Once those conditions were met, and they were here, the information should have been disclosed. The application must therefore succeed. An order will go pursuant to section 49 of the Act ordering the respondent to disclose the records in issue to the complainant, Gerald G. Goldstein. The applicant should have her costs of this application.

[10]With post 2016, the distinction between barristers and solicitor no longer being applicable: Whatever historical differences may have existed between the roles of barrister and solicitor no longer apply under Ontario law. Section 29 of the Law Society Act, R.S.O. 1990, c. L.8 provides that every "member" is an officer of every court of record in Ontario and s. 28 provides that a person who is qualified and is called to the bar and enrolled and admitted as a solicitor "are members and entitled to practice law in Ontario as barristers and solicitors" (see: Iroquois Falls Power Corp. v. Jacobs Canada Inc., 2006 CanLII 35612 (ON SC), https://canlii.ca/t/1ptvd, note 15)

[1]Please see (if applicable): the court file with respect to the Applicant's Respectful Requests (defined therein) regarding the reasonable apprehension of a conflict of interest, bias and/or lack of independence involving Madam Justice Shore and one Mr. Andrew Papadimitropoulos (a client of Epstein Cole LLP) who was not removed as a representative (see: LSA, section 1(7)) by the Applicant's motions before the Tribunal (see: NOM #6 and NOM #9 in the Record of Proceeding)

[2][161] An applicant for judicial review has the right to have a full and accurate record of what went on before the tribunal put before the court. This is an aspect of the superior court's inherent powers of judicial review. A superior court may insist upon the production of an adequate record of the proceedings before the tribunal being reviewed. As stated by Denning L.J. in R. v. Medical Appeal Tribunal ex p. Gilmore, [1957] 1 Q.B. 574 at 583 (C.A.): "The court has always had power to order an inferior tribunal to complete the record ... [A] tribunal could defeat a writ of certiorari unless the courts could order them to complete or correct an imperfect record. So the courts have the power to give such an order". See also R. v. Northumberland Compensation Appeal Tribunal, ex p. Shaw, [1952] K.B. 338 at 352–54 (C.A.); Canadian Workers Union v. Frankel Structural Steel Ltd. (1976), 1976 CanLII 829 (ON SC), 12 O.R. (2d) 560 at 577 (Div. Ct.) per Reid J.; F.G. Spencer Ltd. v. Prince Edward Island (Labour Relations Board) (1970), 1970 CanLII 960 (PE SCAD), 16 D.L.R. (3d) 670 (P.E.I.S.C.); Battaglia v. British Columbia (Workmen's Compensation Board) (1960), 1960 CanLII 334 (BC SC), 22 D.L.R. (2d) 446 (B.C.S.C.). A statutory body subject to judicial review cannot immunize itself or its process by arriving at decisions on considerations that are not revealed by the record it files with the court.

[3]The purpose of requiring a tribunal or adjudicator to file a "record of proceedings" is to ensure that when the court reviews the tribunal's decision, it has the information and evidence as it appeared before the tribunal in the first instance. A court reviewing an adjudicative decision may look at decisions to admit evidence, submissions of witnesses, and other evidence and may substitute its judgment for that of the court [or tribunal] of first instance

[4]An applicant for judicial review has the right to have a full and accurate record of what went on before the tribunal put before the court. This is an aspect of the superior court's inherent powers of judicial review. A superior court may insist upon the production of an adequate record of the proceedings before the tribunal being reviewed. As stated by Denning L.J. in R. v. Medical Appeal Tribunal, Ex parte Gilmore, [1957] 1 Q.B. 574 (Eng. C.A.) at 583:

The court has always had power to order an inferior tribunal to complete the record … [A] tribunal could defeat a writ of certiorari unless the courts could order them to complete or correct an imperfect record. So the courts have the power to give such an order.

[5][38] Thus, the content of volume 3 is not properly part of the record required to be filed pursuant to s. 10 of the JPRA, as it post-dates the decisions under review. Moreover, it is not relevant to the issue of reasonable apprehension of bias before this Court, as it responds to an issue of actual bias.

[6]Ergo, pursuant to s. 10 of the Judicial Review Procedure Act, it was available to the applicant to bring a motion seeking production of documents it alleges were relied on by the decision-maker but are not contained in the record: see, for example K.D. v. Peel Children's Aid Society, 2017 ONSC 7392 (Div. Ct.) at paras. 16-17). The applicant failed to do so. As a result, it is precluded from raising this issue for the first time on judicial review.

Despite filing his requisition #1 on December 24, 2024 (see: Confirmation number 2787308) requesting and requiring the Registrar to comply with her duties, there is currently no evidence that any such steps have been taken in this regard. Moreover, the JRPA Applicant, by usage of said service, was entitled to have any filing processed within five business days, which may be accepted or rejected. Five business days from December 24, 2024, was January 2, 2025. While the Applicant should not be compelled to file requisitions to require the Registrar to comply with her duties, he has been put to the expense and resources to do so in any event. Moreover, the JRPA Applicant has been placed in the most uncompromising and unprecedented situation of not having any acceptance or a denial of an online filing (see: Requisition #1).
    a. The only recourse, from a legal bases standpoint, that the Applicant can find is to continue to make requests regarding previous requisitions which are outstanding, and to the extent there is a denial, it appears that the procedure required for such an aggrieved party is that of a stated case to this very Divisional Court under the Public Inquiries Act.[ix] The matter remains urgent and the JRPA Applicant is not in any way suggesting such a route has been, is being or will be contemplated but rather pointing out the dearth of adequate, alternative and available remedies for of his filings that were not formally accounted for and time stamped in accordance with the law.

12. The Registrar is a creature of statute and does not have any jurisdiction to exercise where the language is mandatory (i.e. ‘shall’, ‘must’, or ‘will’). The record of proceeding herein must be reflected to ensure that the chronology of filings, to the extent they were not up to date and current, is complete and accurate for any and all events henceforth.

13. The JRPA Applicant shall continue to attempt to mitigate any loss or damage occasioned by the same and file any and all necessary further documents, including additional requisition documents (amended with the above noted filing dates on the presumption that they were “filed” on said date and to the extent they were not, the Applicant relies on the facts and particulars herein to confirm, on the record, that he cannot be held liable or prejudiced by not having taken steps where he was not able), including exhausting of any and all adequate and alternative remedies herein (where applicable). However, in order to do so, the JRPA Applicant.

14. All of which is respectfully submitted to this ONSC Divisional Court Registrar for her immediate attention, remediation and rectification where applicable:

- and -

TD HOME AND AUTO INSURANCE COMPANY, SECURITY NATIONAL INSURANCE COMPANY, TD GENERAL INSURANCE COMPANY, EXECUTIVE DIRECTOR, LICENCE APPEAL TRIBUNAL,
HER MAJESTY THE QUEEN IN RIGHT OF ONTARIO, REPRESENTED BY EXECUTIVE CHAIR OF TRIBUNALS ONTARIO IN MR. SEAN WEIR, THE ATTORNEY GENERAL OF ONTARIO

RESPONDENTS

NOTICE OF CONSTITUTIONAL QUESTION

The Applicant intends to question the constitutional validity and/or applicability of various rules of the Licence Appeal Tribunal, effective on August 21, 2023 (the "LAT Rules"), and to seek relief pursuant to section 52(1) of the Charter.

The Applicant further intends to claim remedies under subsection 24 (1) of the Canadian Charter of Rights and Freedoms in relation to various acts or omissions of the Government of Ontario or agents[1] of the Government of Ontario from the time period of December 24, 2023, to present.

The question is to be argued:

X In person

☐ By telephone conference

☐ By video conference at the following location:

The Ontario Superior Court of Justice (Divisional Court)
130 Queen Street West
Toronto, Ontario,

(Courthouse address for in person hearing or telephone conference or video conference details, such as a dial-in number, access code, video link, etc., if applicable) on ..... (day), ... (date), at ..... (time).

Material Facts

The following are the material facts giving rise to the constitutional question:

1. The Applicant concisely sets out the material facts that relate to the constitutional questions above by reference to the following with a written argument to follow and a 2nd Amended Compendium and revised written argument. Due to the urgency to the issues and the recently discovered evidence in the previous week (February 24, 2025 to February 28, 2025) and application of the same, the Applicant has tendered this NOCQ as promptly as possible. Subject to any amendments for current evidence to be obtained, hyperlinking and bookmarking, the Applicant provides this NOCQ on an urgent basis.

2. The Applicant attaches the index to his 1st Amended Compendium along with the documents contained therein inclusive of his 1st written argument therein and relies upon the following documents therein

3. The Applicant also relies upon the following not contained in his 1st Amended Compendium as the material facts that arose involving the same, and further investigations and application of that newly discovered evidence to the previously known facts and the law, which are:

    a. Affidavit #17 of the Applicant, made on Wednesday, February 26, 2025;
    b. Affidavit #18 of the Applicant, made on March 3, 2025.

4. There is no dispute that the Applicant was subject to a search and/or seizure by the theft of his property by way of backpack on October 25, 2024. There is also no dispute that one Mr. Andrew Papadimitropoulos impersonated him by way of his purported signature and named in a TPL equipment borrowing agreement (see: Affidavit #17, Exhibit "A"). Moreover, there is also no dispute that Mr. Papadimitropoulos during this JRPA Proceeding, specifically December 13, 2024, engaged in utilizing the identification from his wallet contained in his backpack which was stolen on October 25, 2024, from the visitor area of CAMH. December 13, 2024, was the day that the Applicant filed and paid for the Certificate of Perfection. On December 10, 2024, the Applicant filed and served the Applicant's Factum. On December 12, 2024, the Applicant filed and served the Application Record which triggered the 30 day prescribed requirement, pursuant to section 68.04 of the Rules of Civil Procedure, to file their responsive factums and application records.

5. There is also no dispute that Mr. Papadimitropoulos or those under his authorization, by way of alleged LAT authorization, engaged in the further unlawful borrowing of books, magazines and periodicals from the TPL under the guise and pretense that he was Mr. McLean. He was not and never was.

6. One of the issues to be addressed in this regard in relation to section 8 of the Charter is whether he was acting as an agent on behalf of the LAT. The Applicant pleads, submits and avers that he was acting as an agent of government in those capacities despite being listed with the LSO directory as an employee of "TD Insurance". Since the overwhelming and undisputed evidence of his involvement in wide scale unauthorized seizures and searches of Mr. McLean's property, personal information and personal health information came to light, he ceased being an employee of "TD Insurance". Moreover, since Mr. McLean brought the same to the attention of the ONSC Divisional Court including esteemed counsel for the AGO in Ms. Im, the AGO withdrew thereafter. However, at the time, the Applicant did not have the relevant and material facts to responsibly submit that some or all of the insurance companies in the TDI Group along with their agents, employees and/or contractors were acting as government agents for the Licence Appeal Tribunal.

7. The other issue to be addressed under section 8 of the Charter is whether the recently discovered undisclosed decisions of the Tribunal on or around the following dates: (i) June 6, 2024; (ii) July 27, 2024; and (iii) August 16, 2024 (see: Affidavit #18, Exhibit "A"), are contrary to section 8 of the Charter by being unreviewable (see: Goodwin, infra).

8. In relation to section 2 of the Charter, the issue to be addressed in relation to those primary dates in the foregoing paragraph lead to the

9. Moreover, the Applicant relies on the facts in Shuttleworth for the then policy of the Tribunal in issuing its decisions (see: Applicant's Written Outline to 1st Amended Compendium, Voume 5(L), paragraph 359; Volume #6(I)(E)).

10. The Applicant seeks relief herein that each and every decision, including those favourable to him, are quashed in the nature of certiorari on similar grounds to that of those found in Shuttleworth (i.e. a reasonable apprehension of a lack of independence).

11. The Applicant has sworn and continues to aver that counsel in Mr. Boyce to the Tribunal in this JRPA Proceeding was, in part, counsel to the impugned decision makers in the LAT Appeal, and he continues to seek similar type relief prohibiting Mr. Boyce from acting on behalf of the Tribunal. However, in the context of this NOCQ, the Applicant submits that the Tribunal has a systemic issue of actual bias and decision makers under the power of dictation from lawyers (particularly in-house counsel) of insurance companies through in-house counsel of the SLASTO Legal Unit like Mr. Boyce.

12. The Applicant submits that it is not merely the likes of Mr. Boyce, a former adjudicator and vice chair at the LAT who then resigned from those duties to become an in-house legal counsel of the SLASTO, that engage in this conduct but it is a systemic issue affecting the Charter rights of similarly situated individuals. In this regard, the Applicant

13. The Applicant attaches all of the above by way of piecemeal attachments to the same due to their size.

Legal Bases

The following is the legal basis for the constitutional question:

1. The Applicant relies on the following legal bases for the above noted constitutional questions.

Section 1 of the Chater

2. The Canadian Charter of Rights and Freedoms (the "Charter') guarantees the rights and freedoms set out in it subject only to such reasonable limits prescribed by law as can be demonstrably justified in a free and democratic society.

Section 2 of the Charter

3. The Applicant alleges that the LAT has breached the open court principle and he is entitled to relief under section 24(1) of the Charter.

4. In Toronto Star v. AG Ontario, 2018 ONSC 2586, the Honourable Justice Morgan confirmed that the "open court principle" applies with equal force to tribunals particularly those of an adjudicative capacity like the Licence Appeal Tribunal (see: paragraph 16 of the Applicant's Written Outline to his 1st Amended Compendium).[2]

5. The open court principle is one of the hallmarks of a democratic society . . . [and] is inextricably tied to the rights guaranteed by s. 2(b) of the Charter (see: paragraph 54 of Toronto Star).

6. This open access, and concomitant protection of freedom of the press, is in keeping with those tribunals' obligation "in exercising their statutory functions . . . [to] act consistently with the Charter and its values". This is not optional or discretionary on the part of administrative tribunals. As the Supreme Court has stated, "the protection of Charter guarantees is a fundamental and pervasive obligation, no matter which adjudicative forum is applying it". (see: paragraph 55 of Toronto Star).

7. It is important to keep in mind that freedom of expression "protects listeners as well as speakers" (see: paragraph 56 of Toronto Star).

8. But the open court principle in s. 2(b) of the Charter only applies to Adjudicative Records (see: paragraph 62 of Toronto Star). The Applicant has been seeking the adjudicative records from the LAT by way of its required forthwith filing pursuant to section 10 of the JRPA, his FIPPA request of the LAT privacy and access division, and the LAT registrar. The furthest the LAT went was providing a purported print out on February 26, 2025, which necessitated the Applicant to exhaustively created a precise index of that purported "print out" which yielded the results contained in affidavit #18 filed and stamped in this JRPA Proceeding.

9. The Applicant continues to be stonewalled from his rights as a party to the LAT Appeal with respect to receipt of adjudicative records therein. He is on stronger footing than that of the Toronto Star albeit it was challenging the legislation therein. In this instance, the Applicant is challenging the conduct of the LAT in relation to failing to comply with the "open court principle" by failing to comply with its compiling duties under section 20 of the SPPA at first instance. There are a litany of missing records from the "print out" and to the extent that they cannot be accessed, then the LAT will remain in breach of the "open court principle" in perpetuity.

10. The Applicant repeats and relies upon paragraphs 11 to 13[3] of the Written Outline to the 1st amended Compendium.

11. The Applicant repeats and relies upon the endnoted paragraphs in his Written Outline to 1st Amended Compendium.[4]

12. The open court principle, which is inextricably tied to the rights guaranteed by s. 2(b) of the Charter, applies to administrative tribunals as well as to courts. This Tribunal followed up the incorrect decision of VCM with attempting to immunize itself from the constitutional guarantees and rights under section 96 to 101 of the *Constitution Act of Canad*a of the public to judicial review of administrative bodies by admitting through the LAT Registrar that it had not even compiled the Record Of Proceeding at first instance and throughout the LAT Proceeding (SEE: Affidavit #16; COMPENDIUM, Tab 60; Applicant's Written Outline to his 1st Amended Compendium, paragraph 17 of the Comprehensive Written Argument).

13. There is a distinction with a difference herein in that the Applicant is a party to the LAT Appeal and the only party that has in fact kept his identity and name the same unlike that of the three respondent insurance companies. The irony is now a little overwhelming considering the theft, impersonation, fraud and unreasonable searches and seizures inflicted upon him by which the Applicant believes were at the authorization of Ontario government, specifically, the Licence Appeal Tribunal.

14. The Applicant had provided evidence to the ONSC Divisional Court of the involvement of the agents and representatives of various insurance companies of TDI Group and evidence of the colluding nature of the LAT with counsel to the respondent insurance companies but the timing of the October 25, 2024, thefts and subsequent unauthorized conduct on October 28, 2024, November 2024, and December 13, 2024, December 21, 2024, and December 28, 2024, led the unassailable conclusion that the LAT was instructing or authorizing various agents of the TDI Group to engage in unauthorized searches or seizures.

15. The law in this regard requires citing herein with further application of the same.

16. If an entity is a part of "government" then the Charter generally applies to all its activities, including those that might in other circumstances be thought of as private, commercial, contractual or non-public in nature.

17. Section 32 governs which persons are subjects to the Charter: Section 32.(1) This Charter applies: a. to the Parliament and government of Canada in respect of all matters within the authority of Parliament including all matters relating to the Yukon Territory and Northwest Territories; and b. to the legislature and government of each province in respect of all matters within the authority of the legislature of each province.

18. Section 32(1) defines the scope of the Charter's application. The text of section 32(1) provides "a strong message that the Charter … is essentially an instrument for checking the powers of government over the individual": McKinney v. University of Guelph, [1990] 3 S.C.R. 229 at page 261, quoted in Dickson v. Vuntut Gwitchin First Nation, 2024 SCC 10 at paragraph 45.

19. Section 32(1) is drafted in a broad manner "to prevent Parliament, the legislatures, and the federal, provincial, and territorial governments from avoiding their Charter obligations by conferring certain of their legislative responsibilities or powers on other entities that are not ordinarily subject to the Charter": Dickson, supra at paragraph 44. This provision "must be interpreted in a manner that is flexible, purposive, and generous, rather than technical, narrow, or legalistic": Dickson, supra at paragraph 45.

20. In Eldridge v. British Columbia (Attorney General), [1997] 3 S.C.R. 624, the Supreme Court set out the basic approach to determining whether the Charter applies. The Charter can apply in two ways. The first depends on the nature of the actor. If an entity is a part of "government", either by its very nature or due to extensive government control, then the Charter generally applies to all of its actions. The second way the Charter applies depends on the nature of the action. Even if an entity is not part of "government", the Charter nonetheless might apply to certain actions of that entity. Persons or entities that are not "government" but that implement a specific government policy or program, must generally comply with the Charter in performing the relevant governmental activity but not in respect of their non-governmental or private activities. See also Greater Vancouver Transportation Authority v. Canadian Federation of Students — British Columbia Component, [2009] 2 S.C.R. 295 ("GVTA") at paragraphs 15-16; Dickson, supra at paragraphs 42, 61, 70

21. This is a point that Mr. McLean has attempted, respectfully, to drive home by referencing that the LAT is the one tribunal in the 14 tribunals comprising Tribunals Ontario that is funded by the "insurance industry". Prima facie, the insurance industry, with the insurance companies controlling the funds by way of premiums and its growth through its direct or unrelated investment activities, and the LAT are acting in concert to some degree.

22. To the extent that they are not by the funding for the adjudicators and vice chairs et al of the LAT, the conduct specifically herein calls for a remedy under section 24(1) of the Charter because of the uncontroverted evidence of such particulars like the LAT assisting the respondent insurance companies counsel with its Notice of Appearance (see: Appendix #1 herein which is an attachment of the Applicant's email that he filed and served upon the respondents and interested persons).

23. Does the Charter apply to litigation between private actors? Dolphin Delivery was the first Supreme Court of Canada decision to discuss the application of the Charter in the context of purely private litigation. See also Tremblay v. Daigle, [1989] 2 S.C.R. 530. Dolphin Delivery does not "preclude the possibility of a successful reliance on the Charter by a party to a dispute between private individuals, provided it could be shown that the party against whom the Charter was invoked relied upon some form of governmental action" (Stoffman, supra at page 507)

24. Although the Charter generally does not apply to actions of non-governmental entities, specific actions of a non-governmental actor can attract Charter scrutiny where there is a high degree of control exercised by the government in the accomplishment of the act or because the government retains responsibility for the act in question.

Section 7 of the Charter

25. Everyone has the right to life, liberty and security of the person and the right not to be deprived thereof except in accordance with the principles of fundamental justice (see: Section 7 of the Charter). The Applicant alleges that the LAT has breaches his section 7 rights and he is entitled to relief under section 7 of the Charter.

Section 8 of the Charter

26. Everyone has the right to be secure against unreasonable search or seizure. The Applicant alleges that the LAT has breached his section 8 rights in various independent manners by way of its decisions and nefarious conduct outside of the same (i.e. the authorizing of unauthorized searches or seizures of his property). The Applicant submits that he is entitled to relief regarding the same pursuant to section 24(1) of the Charter.

27. A right to inspect documents as part of an administrative scheme set up by statute to regulate commercial and industrial activity constitutes a search (see: Comité paritaire de l'industrie de la chemise v. Potash, [1994] 2 S.C.R. 406 at pages 440-441). The photocopying of a document is a search (see: R. v. Law, 2002 SCC 10). A search can include the right to look for things that are tangible or intangible, such as spoken words and electronic data (see: R. v. Morelli, [2010] 1 S.C.R. 253). There was no right to inspect his property at first instance or thereafter.

28. The demand upon a person to produce a record is a seizure and as conceded by the LSBC (see: Mulgrew, para 23). The SCC has distinguished between the ability to demand for documents made by a government body versus said person being able to collect records (see: Arkinstall, para 71). No demand was made upon Mr. McLean but merely the unauthorized seizure of his property and then deep and broad impersonation of him, whilst putting his life, liberty and security at jeopardy at the time and now, that dovetailed to various seminal dates in this JRPA Proceeding.

29. The SCC further echoed those sentiments and found in Thomson Newspapers Ltd. v. Canada (Director of Investigation and Research, Restrictive Trade Practices Commission), 1990 1 S.C.R. 425 that whether the empowered body "takes the documents" or does not, the impact on a Canadian's privacy remains the same. The constitutional validity of a statute which authorizes seizure must focus on the impact which the legislation has on the subject; not whether the regulatory body was, in fact, able to search the area and records and seize them. There was no statute that authorized such conduct into Mr. McLean's property.

30. To the extent one speaks of a "reasonable belief" in the context of "reasonable suspicion", it is a reasonable belief that an individual might be connected to a particular offence, as opposed to a reasonable belief that an individual is connected to the offence (see: R. v. MacKenzie, 2013 SCC 50). Reasonable suspicion is a lower standard, as it engages the reasonable possibility, rather than probability, of "any misconduct.

31. . "Reasonable grounds to believe'" and "probable cause", as found in the Fourth Amendment to the American Constitution, are identical standards (see: R. v. Debot, [1989] 2 S.C.R. 1140 at page 1166). "Reasonable suspicion" is a less demanding standard than "probable cause in the following ways: content of information: not only in the sense that reasonable suspicion can be established with information that is different in quantity or content than that required to establish probable cause; but reliability of information: also in the sense that reasonable suspicion can arise from information that is less reliable than that required to show probable cause.

32. Less reliable information could justify reasonable suspicion, though not 'reasonable grounds to believe'. A 'reasonable suspicion' standard may be sufficient where the investigative technique is relatively non-intrusive and the expectation of privacy is not high (see: R. v. Kang-Brown, 2008 SCC 18, para 168).

33. There was no reasonable grounds to believe or reasonable belief at the time or to be considered as no such law authorized the conduct that the LAT authorized by its proxies and the insurance company persons that engaged in the conduct on behalf of the LAT. The motive, while not required to be proven, was a simple one: the LAT had condoned breaches of various statutes including the Law Society Act, the Insurance Act, PIPEDA and others along with the various FSRA rules, which have prescribed force, and the Applicant's bringing of these issues into the public domain by decision of an independent judiciary would be fatal to it.

34. In the absence of any evidence to show that the objectives of statutes and regulations would be frustrated by adherence to having that there be entirely independent and neutral arbiter(s) capable of acting judicially and there not be any reasonable apprehension of bias regarding adjudicators and vice chairs for hearings before the LAT, it is impossible to conclude that an injured persons' right to a fair hearing would be minimally impaired.

35. Rather, it would simply require that a vice chair or adjudicator, who is not engaged in any form of communications with the various insurance companies on their own or through their SLASTO in-house legal counsel, be selected from hearing pool panel of prima facie independent decision makers.

36. In the absence of any evidence to show that the objectives of the statutory scheme would be frustrated by adherence to criterion or conduct that there be entirely independent and neutral arbiter capable of acting judicially for this self-promoted quasi-judicial tribunal, it is impossible to conclude that the s. 8 Charter rights would be minimally impaired. This applies to whether the challenge is to any of the statutes, regulations or rules that authorize or allegedly authorize the conduct which has occurred herein since December 23, 2024, to present.

37. The Applicant repeats and relies upon his sworn evidence in the 1st Amended Compendium relating to Mr. Boyce removing his address in the LSO Directory, Mr. Nieuwland removing his contact information altogether and switching into "to be confirmed" status, and Mr. Papadimitropoulos being relieved of his duties from "TD Insurance". There is also another compelling piece of evidence in that Mr. Karat listed his property in Oshawa for sale on the very day that Mr. McLean filed the JRPA Application which was November 15, 2024. Perhaps, they are all matters of pure coincidences but that is unlikely. All of these individuals will be afforded the right to swear competing evidence to that of Mr. McLean because a full evidentiary record is required to decide Charter violation.

Section 24 of the Charter relief

38. Pursuant to section 109 of the Courts of Justice Act, Rules of Civil Procedure, section 24 of the Charter, the Applicant intends to question the constitutionality of the acts, conduct, or omissions of the Licence Appeal Tribunal, known to him at this time (denoted particularly in his affidavit #18 in this JRPA Proceeding) and to be known, from on or around January 2024 to present, and the ongoing violations of the Applicant's Charter rights as a consequence of the same, and any determined or declared non-governmental individuals or persons who are determined to have been agents of the Tribunal, violated or infringed the following rights of the Applicant:

a. Section 2 of the Charter;
b. Section 7 of the Charter; and

c. Section 8 of the Charter.

(collectively, the "Charter Violations") and each of those Charter Violations cannot be saved by section 1 of the Charter.

39. The Applicant seeks remedies under section 24(1) of the Charter to seek redress regarding some or all of the Charter Violations and to prevent the infringement of his Charter rights on an interim, interlocutory and permanent basis as detailed below.

40. Appropriate remedies may be fashioned under section 24(1) of the Charter to nullify and invalidate the Charter* Violations of the Applicant and to prevent the infringement of the Applicant's Charter rights, including injured persons or insured persons who filed statutory applications pursuant to section 280(2) of the Insurance Act to the Tribunal, that are occurring or could occur.

Section 52 of the Charter relief

41. In relation to the LAT Rules, S. 52 provides an explicit basis for judicial review of legislation in Canada, for, whenever a court finds that a law is consistent with the Constitution of Canada, the court must hold that law invalid i.e. of no force and effect.

42. When an order of invalidity is made against a statute, regulation or rule (issued by government) that ends the matter as it relates to those questions involving that provision. Moreover, in a civil proceeding, the entity relying on the law will lose the legal bases for their case or defence.

43. Since the Charter is part of the Constitution of Canada, any law that is inconsistent with the Charter is "of no force and effect". Since it falls to this Court of Appeal to determine whether or not a law is inconsistent with the Charter, s. 52(1) provides an explicit basis for judicial review of legislation (see: Legislation Act 2006) in Canada. As the LAT Rules were made by the Tribunal, which is an arm or division of the Ministry of Attorney General, they can be challenged pursuant to section 52(1) of the Charter (see: Peter W. Hogg, Constitutional Law of Canada, (Toronto: Thomson Carswell, 2005) ["Hogg Constitutional Law"] at page 866).

44. S. 52(1) appears to confer no discretion on the court, requiring the court to make a holding of invalidity if it concludes that a law or act is inconsistent with Constitution. The learned chambers judge noted the presumption of constitutionality but where a law is found to be inconsistent with the Charter of Rights, the court is obliged to strike the law down. If the litigation is a criminal prosecution, the person charged under the invalid law will be entitled to be acquitted. If the litigation is a civil action, the parties relying on the invalid laws lose the legal bases for their case (see: Hogg Constitutional Law, page 868).

45. Mr. Justice Rothstein, as he then was of the FCA, in Canada (Information Commissioner) v. Canada (Prime Minister) 1992 CanLII 2414 (F.C.). ["Information Commissioner"] provided the framework for challenging legislation or conduct at first instance.

46. In Information Commissioner which applied Slaight provided the following analytical framework that is deconstructed into the following syllogism:

a. Guaranteed/Protected Right at Issue: if a guaranteed right is at issue, then the impugned legislative sections must be analyzed with respect to the below.

i. 1. No Discretion: if the impugned legislative section has not conferred any discretion or power to the benchers to limit said right(s), then the challenge is directed at the section(s) of the parent legislation/enabling statute; or
ii. 2. Precise Discretion: if the impugned legislative section has conferred a precise discretion or power to the benchers to limit said right(s),then the challenge is directed at the section(s) of parent legislation/enabling statute; or
iii. 3. Imprecise Discretion a. Imprecise Discretion yet Expressly Conferred: if the impugned legislative section has conferred an imprecise discretion or power to the benchers to limit said right(s) but that power is expressly conferred, then the challenge is directed at the section of parent legislation/enabling statute; or
iv. b. Imprecise Discretion Not Expressly Conferred yet Necessarily Implied: if the impugned legislative section has conferred an imprecise discretion or power to the benchers to limit said right(s) but that power is not expressly conferred yet necessarily implied, then the challenge is directed at the section of parent legislation/enabling statute.

47. There is no challenge to the empowering statute or regulations (where applicable) but rather to the LAT Rules that authorize, to the extent that they do, the Tribunal to engage in some or all of the following (wherein he seeks relief regarding the same):

a. Engaging in making of decisions without following the requirements under the SPPA, LATA and other statutes, regulations or requirements of law;
b. Making decisions without issuing the same;
c. Making decisions under the power of dictation by insurance companies in the automotive sectors and who are at issue in a LAT proceeding;
d. Engaging in any conduct that would be counter to the natural justice rights of injured person or insured persons before the LAT;
e. The issuance of decisions where the decision makers are not independent from the very insurance companies that fund the Licence Appeal Tribunal; and
f. Other particulars in the 1st Amended Compendium, Affidavit #18 herein and affidavit material to be sworn, filed and served.

48. In relation to section 7 of the Charter, the LAT, by authorizing the conduct it did during the LAT Appeal and outside of the same, was attempting to cause immediate or premature death to the Applicant. To the extent it was not involved in the same, an affidavit, by its executive director or designate or a knowledgeable (of the facts and issues herein) individual(s) of the LAT will focus the Charter issues to be heard and decided. With respect to the authorizing conduct that was aimed at destroying the life, liberty and security of the Applicant, and his premature or immediate death, they came close but the Applicant is now ready to be heard on these issues. To the extent that the LAT declines to swear any evidence, the Applicant asks that an adverse inference is drawn against the LAT and variously named authorized individuals on behalf of them.

49. All of which is respectfully submitted to this ONSC Divisional Court and with service on the AGO and AGC for their consideration and participation in the hearing and deciding of these public interest issues and, where applicable, specific issues involving the Applicant.

URGENT COURTESY NOTICE TO TRIBUNAL AND RESPONDENT INSURANCE COMPANIES

VIA EMAIL (see: scj-csj.divcourtmail@ontario.ca)

Court file number: Court File No. DC-24-00000718-00JR
Type of document: email
Short title of proceeding: McLean v. TDHA et al
Party: Applicant (Mr. Kevin A. McLean (BA, JD, CIM))

Re #1: courtesy notice - a matter involving the potential yet highly probable unlawful sharing of documents and communications between the Tribunal and the Respondent Insurance Companies – specifically the Respondent Insurance Companies utilizing a word document from the Tribunal to file its NOA on December 3, 2024 – leads to conclusion that neither the current counsel for the Remaining Respondents can act further

Re #2: residual – involving the record of proceeding – current status with further status updates for the benefit of the court of the very record of proceeding that was to be filed for its use – involving its constitutional imperatives

Dear Tribunal and Respondent Insurance Companies (copied to the ONSC Divisional Court):

VOLUME #1: URGENTLY SENT REGARDING RE #1

1. I write regarding the above. As I write on an urgent basis so the Remaining Respondents and their counsel do not feel they have been ambushed by the above issue that I have learned of yesterday by way of careful review with each document (NOAs) side-by-side.

2. I am still investigating the above matter with further analysis to follow and potentially an affidavit for the court file. Since it is alarming on its face, I have been comprehensive herein so that none of the Remaining Respondents can argue that they did not have notice regarding the same.

3. Further, I reserve the right to further edit this correspondence for grammar, spelling, punctuation and any erroneous double negatives but the substance will remain the same.

4. As you will know from the above email thread, the facts regarding the timing of what occurred and by whom is not in dispute. I will, as a courtesy, outline the material facts and look forward to hearing from the above in the Tribunal and Respondent Insurance Companies in an open, honest and transparent manner.

5. On November 27, 2024, the Tribunal, as per Mr. Boyce, filed and served its Notice of Appearance.

6. At said time, the Respondent Insurance Companies had not filed or served a singular email let alone with a Notice of Appearance.

7. As per the template form a Notice Of Appearance, it has little in the way of wording and guidance (see: rcp-38a-e.pdf).

8. In early December 2024, I took the position consistent with the Divisional Court JRPA Guide that as TDHA and SNIC had not participated in the hearings for NOM #14 and #15 that they were not entitled to participate in the JRPA Proceeding. Mr. Boyce for the Tribunal took a different position regarding the same. I took the step of removing Mr. Nieuwland from emails without the Divisional Court so copied to the same. Mr. Boyce for the Tribunal re-included Mr. Nieuwland in the email communications.

9. I also alerted the Tribunal that as the requirement was for any respondent who wished to participate and intended to respond to the JRPA Application to forthwith file a Notice of Appearance and none had been filed and served by the Respondent Insurance Companies that I was not aware of any legal bases to continue to include Mr. Nieuwland, counsel at the inferior Tribunal level, to remain. Mr. Boyce's position, while prima facie sensible, was that all counsel for the named respondents, not necessarily "parties", should be copied. However, it was not the law and declared counsel at the inferior Tribunal level for a party (or even a non-party) are not necessarily counsel at the appellate level.

10. In any event, on December 3, 2024, at shortly before five p.m., Mr. Nieuwland served and filed a Notice of Appearance. I obviously took issue with the lack of forthwith filing and the language in the covering email so attaching the same. In any event, Mr. Nieuwland represented in a formal prescribed document with the ONSC Divisional Court that he was counsel to each of the Respondent Insurance Companies. As all will recall, Mr. Nieuwland was counsel to TDGIC, by way of Declaration of Representative for TDGIC on or around January 29, 2024, and then SNIC on or around June 28, 2024. No lawyer licensee had declared himself or herself as counsel to TDHA in the LAT Proceeding.

11. What is most alarming, at least by appearance, is an aspect of the "Notices Of Appearances" themselves that I had not picked up at said time because of the incorrect email utilized by the Tribunal and then so copied by the Respondent Insurance Companies thereafter. I noticed the same when finalizing the documents for my Compendium in that they have the same following aspects:

a. Font (see: 11.5 and Arial);
b. Spacing;
c. Layout;
d. Same "Divisional Court file number in 'shorthand' or abbreviated style: "Divisional Court File No.: 718/24"); and
e. Other particulars.

12. Moreover, there are errors in the Respondent Insurance Companies [emphasis on 'plural'] as a result of what I believe was a result of the Tribunal sending the Respondent Insurance Companies a "Word" document of its NOA for usage by the Respondent Insurance Companies. I have a multitude of reasons as to why I believe, on reasonable grounds, that the Tribunal did so. One reason why I believe a "Word" copy was sent is that I attempted, as a step in investigating the same, to download the Tribunal's filed and served NOA. When I did so, many of the lines, spacing, borders were different and then difficult, if not impossible, to reimplement.

13. The Tribunal utilized, as it was not a signed document per se, "Adobe PDF Maker" but the Respondent Insurance Companies utilized "Microsoft Word for Microsoft 365". You may check for yourself by way of checking the "properties" in the "metadata"[i]. The distinction is one with a crucial difference as per the above.

14. Moreover, when reviewing the timing on December 3, 2024, and Mr. Boyce's insistence of including Mr. Nieuwland in the email thread, it becomes extremely concerning and likely disabling for Mr. Boyce to act for the Tribunal. While there has not been much in the way of participation by the Tribunal, I am compelled to put this on the record to ensure that my initial position, to be solidified, by further analysis, has been provided by way of notice to the above.

15. The obvious devil's advocate type position is likely, "So what Mr. McLean, it is two lawyers (members of the LSO and lawyer licensees) in one for the Tribunal and another for the respondent insurance companies sharing a document to be filed in the Divisional Court proceeding?"

16. If it were two lawyers who were both representing non-public or non-government entities, I would be inclined to not be so technical about it. Moreover, within the span of three months or 90 days on Friday, February 14, 2025, this JRPA Proceeding has covered more idiosyncratic, alarming, troubling and deeply concerning facts in how the Rules of Civil Procedure and process of this ONSC Divisional Court has been misused or abused by them:

a. Mr. Nieuwland not filing and serving the requisite information under the Divisional Court Practice Direction under the heading of "Information To Be Submitted to the Court";
b. Mr. Boyce removing the business name of his employer in the SLASTO Legal Unit and address but only after receipt of my affidavit #2 on December 30, 2024;
    i. The requirement for me to confirm his current address with the LSO (Directory Services);

c. The respondent insurance companies not filing a responsive factum and application record in accordance with Rule 68;
d. The Tribunal not filing a responsive factum and application record in accordance with Rule 68 and the jurisprudence not above (i.e. not arguing the merits, the standard of review, and remaining impartial by appearance and actuality);
e. Neither the Tribunal nor respondent insurance companies providing their position of a potential RAOB involving Madam Justice Shore;
f. Mr. Papadimitropoulos' employer and address with the LSO suspiciously changing from "TD Insurance" to "TD Bank", and from Markham to Toronto (downtown);
g. Mr. Nieuwland's status with the LSO changing, in non-compliant form with the LSA and LSO By-Laws, some time in late January or early February 2025 from not only having an employer and business address to that of a "to be confirmed" status as a lawyer; and
h. Mr. Papadimitropoulos' auto reply on Friday, February 7, 2025, that he was not returning to his apparent new position with TD Bank (FIN 004) without providing his position regarding the RAOB;
i. The Tribunal not even filing a singular document from the Record of Proceeding along with Mr. Boyce not complying with his self-imposed timelines;
j. The Tribunal not opposing my paid for, filed and served NOM #1 and not raising any objection to the motion record for NOM #1;
k. The necessity of me making a FIPPA request for the Record of Proceeding and awaiting a response from the EC of Tribunals Ontario as there is no "Associate Chair" for the LAT like other Tribunals in the Tribunals Ontario;
    i. Said FIPPA request was not necessary because I am a party to the LAT Proceeding and the documents forming the Record Of Proceeding during the ROP Temporal Period are "adjudicative records";
l. Other particulars in the made, filed and served documents in the record of this JRPA Proceeding.

17. But more importantly, it is not my opinion that matters but the opinions of the SCC, ONCA, and this revered ONSC Divisional Court that matter and count.

18. The legal test since 2016 regarding the scope of the Tribunal's participation in a judicial review or appeal, with some level of analytical precision required thereafter to each province involving whether a judicial review was brought from an impugned decision or order or whether an appeal was taken from the same, was articulated at paragraph 59 of Ontario (Energy Board):

a. If an appeal or review were to be otherwise unopposed, a reviewing court may benefit by exercising its discretion to grant Tribunal standing;

b. If there are other parties available to oppose a[n]… review, and those parties have the necessary knowledge and expertise to fully make and respond to arguments on … review, Tribunal standing may be less important in ensuring just outcomes; and > c. Whether the Tribunal adjudicates individual conflicts between two adversarial parties, or whether it instead serves a policy-making, regulatory or investigative role, or acts on behalf of the public interest, bears on the degree to which impartiality concerns are raised. Such concerns may weigh more heavily where the Tribunal served an adjudicatory function in the proceeding that is the subject of the appeal, while a proceeding in which the Tribunal adopts a more regulatory role may not raise such concerns."

19. As a judicial review was brought herein, it is section 9(2) of the JRPA that is unclear on the scope of participation by any statutory decision maker.

20. There is no dispute that the Respondent Insurance Companies filed the NOA and this JRPA Application was not unopposed per se.

21. There is no dispute that the Respondent Insurance Companies are available to oppose, and they have the necessary knowledge and expertise.

22. Further, the Tribunal represents itself to not only be "adjudicative" but "quasi-judicial". As such, the three factors militate in favour of minimal participation by the Tribunal. As the Tribunal has not been able to file a record of proceeding forthwith or at all, this factor further militates in favour of no participation by the Tribunal.

VOLUME #1(A): The issue of unfairness and 'being ganged upon on'

23. The issue of unfairness and an applicant for judicial review being "ganged up on" was squarely addressed in 2016 by the SCC in Ontario (Energy Board) at paragraph 67:

> "[67] There is merit in both positions on the issue of bootstrapping. On the one hand, a permissive stance toward new arguments by Tribunals on appeal serves the interests of justice insofar as it ensures that a reviewing court is presented with the strongest arguments in favour of both sides: Semple, at p. 315. This remains true even if those arguments were not included in the Tribunal's original reasons. On the other hand, to permit bootstrapping may undermine the importance of reasoned, well-written original decisions. There is also the possibility that a Tribunal, surprising the parties with new arguments in an appeal or judicial review after its initial decision, may lead the parties to see the process as unfair. This may be particularly true where a Tribunal is tasked with adjudicating matters between two private litigants, as the introduction of new arguments by the Tribunal on appeal may give the appearance that it is "ganging up" on one party. As discussed, however, it may be less appropriate in general for a Tribunal sitting in this type of role to participate as a party on appeal."

24. However, the concept of an applicant being "ganged up on" by the statutory Tribunal and the respondents in a judicial review was articulated against the backdrop of "bootstrapping" (see: paragraphs 63 to 72 of Ontario (Energy Board)). It is far worse in this situation if the Tribunal is assisting counsel to the three respondent insurance companies in rectifying a failure to comply with the Rules of Civil Procedure. When measured against the backdrop that this is the Licence Appeal Tribunal, a quasi-judicial agency which is tasked with engaging in resolving disputes between two private litigants (nota bene: more in this scenario as I have had to take on three of the four automotive insurance companies) and individuals that have been injured, through no fault of their own, in an automobile accident, it is a further aggravating factor.

25. Put another way, the introduction of a "new argument" on judicial review is far less egregious than the Tribunal assisting the respondent in a judicial review irrespective of a party status (i.e. insured person or insurance company). It can never happen. However, it is more egregious if the Tribunal assists an insurance company(ies) in a judicial review when the insurance company is a respondent and did not participate in the hearings involving the impugned final orders and final decisions.

26. This Honourable Court has the power to exercise its inherent discretion to control abuses of its process. If there is any further participation or purported participation by the Tribunal and the Respondent Insurance Companies through these in-house counsel to each, I will ask that this Honourable Court disregard any of their filings or oral submissions.

27. There is but one exception which involves the Tribunal's statutory requirement under section 10 of the JRPA.

VOLUME #2: RE #2: THE RESIDUAL: RECORD OF PROCEEDING (CURRENT STATUS AS OF FEBRUARY 9, 2025)

28. With that segue, Mr. Boyce did refer, albeit in separate emails without the court's involvement, the concept of waiving the requirement to file the record of proceeding to expedite the proceeding. I never waived the requirement but in fairness, Mr. Boyce did refer to a lengthier time of 60 days to file the record of proceeding. We are well past that self-imposed non-consensual timeline. In any event, for any waiver to have occurred, it would have required all involved at the relevant time which would have included the AGO. No such consent was ever sought or jointly approved by all of the relevant respondents and me.

29. Moreover, I do not believe that the parties can waive a statutory requirement of the Tribunal to forthwith file a Record Of Proceeding as it is for the court's use. I am unaware of any authorities that would support Mr. Boyce's position regarding a waiver of filing the record of proceeding for the court's use to purportedly expedite a JRPA proceeding. I welcome his comments in that regard.

30. I can confirm that I did not hear back from the LAT, inclusive of the AGO Mr. Downey and Mr. Weir (Executive Chair of Tribunals Ontario) (as there is no 'Associate Chair' for the LAT).

31. As I have sworn under oath, on belief, I remain of the sworn belief, whilst citing the sources at the time, that the Tribunal does not have a full and accurate record of proceeding.

VOLUME #3: The importance of real and PERCEIVED fairness in this ONSC Divisional Court Proceeding

32. For Tribunals tasked with this latter responsibility, "the importance of fairness, real and perceived, weighs more heavily" against Tribunal standing: Henthorne v. British Columbia Ferry Services Inc., 2011 BCCA 476, 344 D.L.R. (4th) 292, at para. 42 (see: Ontario (Energy Board) at paragraph 56.

33. The importance of fairness, real and perceived, weighs more heavily against Tribunal standing where the Tribunal served an adjudicatory function in the proceeding. Tribunal standing is a matter to be determined by the court conducting the first-instance review in accordance with the principled exercise of that court's discretion. In exercising its discretion, the court is required to balance the need for fully informed adjudication against the importance of maintaining Tribunal impartiality: summary by the SCC in Ontario (Energy Board).

34. The obvious reasonable person's perception of the above noted conduct but particularly the prima facie similarities between the Tribunal's filed and served NOA (November 27, 2024) and the Respondent Insurance Companies' filed and served NOA (December 3, 2024).

35. As such, the necessary and available evidence is before the ONSC Divisional Court. For notice purposes, I will provide, wherein I have to remain some flexible, adaptable and on-call, with the continued urgency of this JRPA Proceeding and timelines under the Rules of Civil Procedure, my position will be, subject to receiving sworn affidavits from Mr. Boyce and Mr. Nieuwland regarding the above that no such sharing of documents denoted above or communications without me being copied had occurred between them or their agents, that neither of them can act for their clients. While it is my position, they are now on notice of the same.

36. The concern expressed publicly by the Ontario Trial Lawyers Association ("OTLA") regarding the diminishing numbers of successful injured persons before the Tribunal is no small consequence.

37. I have hyperlinked and quoted the below:

> "OTLA Pushes for Urgent LAT Review (see: https://www.lawtimesnews.com/practice-areas/personal-injury/otla-pushes-for-urgent-licence-appeal-Tribunal-review/389679)
>
> > "The association cited "disturbing trends" drawn from an inHEALTH analysis". OTLA noted that the success rate for insured applicants bringing their disputes to LAT has fallen over the years, with just 10% getting a win in 2023 compared to 2017's 33%. "Our members have voiced concerns that the LAT's process is overly rigid, is fraught with procedural unfairness, and fails to accommodate requests, even when both parties agree. This also raises important questions about the qualifications and training of LAT adjudicators," Purewal said.

> "The LAT is an arm of our justice system. Injured Ontario citizens should feel confident that they are getting a fair hearing, and that justice is being done. Unfortunately, with the recent declining trends in success rates for applicants and the overwhelming success of insurers is raising significant questions for our membership."

38. As appended to one of my previous affidavits, Mr. Boyce, when he was an adjudicator or Vice Chair at the LAT, rule 14 times in favour of the three insurance companies against injured persons without a singular decision fully in favour of an injured person. Some may say pure coincidence.

39. However, from a public interest perspective, it is again the case so well-known to the ONSC Divisional Court in Shuttleworth that was upheld by the ONCA on appeal by the Tribunal that provided that unwritten policy of concern. I copy and paste the same from the ONSC Divisional Court regarding the same or by way of recitation by the ONCA [square brackets and double underlining are mine]:

> "The Decision Review Process
> [24] In-house counsel for the LAT swore an affidavit explaining that the executive chair implemented a decision review process at the LAT. The stated reason was to maximize the quality of the Tribunal's decisions. The peer review process has not been adopted formally. No written policy was provided but counsel swore that, "generally, the LAT decision review process for final decisions is, and at all material times in this case was" as follows:
>
> >
> > First, there is peer review: After drafting a decision, an adjudicator is expected to send the decision for peer review by the Duty Vice-Chair. The Duty Chair offers suggestions to improve clarity, reasoning and readability and might also evaluate, for example, whether the correct legal test has been applied and whether any related case law that was not mentioned might be helpful.

> > [Step 2: Mr. Boyce's Legal Services Unit in SLASTO]
> >
> > Second, there is legal review: The SLASTO Legal Services Unit reviews the decision to ensure [guarantee] that the correct legal test has been applied and to identify any related case law that was not mentioned that might be helpful[ii].
> > Third, there is a second peer review by the executive chair: "In some rare instances – such as when a decision involves a novel, contentious, precedent-setting, or high-profile issue – the Legal Services Unit will send the decision to the Executive chair for her review. In these instances, the Executive chair serves, in essence, as a second peer reviewer and accordingly will order the same kinds of comments that the author would typically receive during the initial peer review."

> Fourth, there is a review by the file's case management officer: The case management officer acts as an intake officer and primary point of contact for the parties. This review involves examining the decision's format, correcting grammatical and spelling errors, and ensuring that the template and parties' names are correct." [Emphasis added.]

40. The numbers are providing corroboration for the fact that injured persons are losing their cases, with no substantial variable differentiation between injuries, from some five years ago to 2024. In approximate numbers, injured persons have dropped from a 30 percent success rate to a less than ten percent success rate.

41. Referring to the above, the Executive Chair is that of Mr. Sean Weir. The very Mr. Weir who I have requested that he cause the Tribunal to provide me with the records that form the Record of Proceeding. I look forward to hearing from him tomorrow as to the same as I made the request some nearly ten days ago at first instance.

42. The LAT does not appear to have a "Duty Vice Chair" at least by public directory. As such, the second and third steps involve the SLASTO Legal Services Unit of which Mr. Boyce has been a part of since his resignation from his adjudicative capacity in or around 2023 and the Executive Chair in Mr. Weir. As such, it must be of serious concern if Mr. Boyce was providing legal advice to the adjudicative decision makers in VC Morrisette and VC Lake (on reconsideration) and then representing the Tribunal on judicial review particularly in light of the above. I remain of the view that the human nature element is one where those all working from 25 Grosvenor Street, Toronto, renders it one where those in-house lawyers with the SLASTO legal unit cannot disabuse their minds (at least subconsciously) from engaging an adversarial position on the merits at the hearing of a judicial review. Put another way, my concerns have been more so that Mr. Boyce would be arguing more in favour of his self-interest of the legal advice he provided or one of his close colleagues provided the statutory decision makers as opposed to being an officer of the court. In that regard, I say that it amounts to a conflict of interest for Mr. Boyce subject to swearing an affidavit for that sole purpose.

43. More concerning from a public interest standpoint, we have the answer to what is of great concern to the esteemed association known as the Ontario Trial Lawyers Association in how injured persons are losing their SABS claims in the Tribunal at nearly over 90 percent. Certainly the legal counsel representing them have only become more astute and dedicated to their crafts. The health care professionals are more attuned to their requirements and working with their patients to ensure that they are compliant with the requirements under Reg 283 and SABS.

44. However, with the mobility of vice-chairs and adjudicators (part time and full time) as called members of the LSO in varying capacities, this Court can take judicial notice that lawyers are fully entitled to have outside relationships with each other on a personal level.

45. Moreover, if what I believe to be correct is correct above and not disputed that counsel for the Tribunal and counsel for the Respondent Insurance Companies are sharing even template documents via whatever method, it is only reasonable to infer that they may talk about other files involving other injured persons where the SLASTO Legal Unit may give advice to an adjudicator or vice-chair. Moreover, it is only reasonable to infer that those communications, without an injured person copied to the same, would occur not only at the appellate court level but also involving current cases before the Tribunal. Even if there is nothing explicit from a lawyer for an insurance company to a legal practitioner in the SLASTO Legal Services Unit, the ripple effect and the perception of bias that filters through to the adjudicators and vice-chairs is likely a large component of why injured persons are not receiving a fair shake at the Tribunal along with unjust outcomes.

46. To the extent that they request any right to be heard orally, I remind them their duties are most elevated as "officers of the court".

47. While I cannot stop the Remaining Respondents from filing documents through these counsel, if they do, I will reserve the right to rely on this correspondence and any further correspondence addressing the same.

48. While the Remaining Respondents cannot be forced to defend or respond to the JRPA Application, Applicant's Factum and Application Record, or motions, this Divisional Court can make orders, declarations and findings arising from the same for the benefit of the public interest.

49. As articulated in Ontario (Energy Board), "[50] The principle of impartiality is implicated by Tribunal argument on appeal, because decisions may in some cases be remitted to the Tribunal for further consideration. Stratas J.A. found that "[s]ubmissions by the Tribunal in a judicial review proceeding that descend too far, too intensely, or too aggressively into the merits of the matter before the Tribunal may disable the Tribunal from conducting an impartial redetermination of the merits later": Quadrini, at para. 16. However, he ultimately found that these principles did not mandate "hard and fast rules", and endorsed the discretionary approach set out by the Ontario Court of Appeal in Goodis: Quadrini, at paras. 19-20", there are no hard and fast rules. Abuse of process is somewhat amorphous and flexible.

50. If the JRPA Proceeding was not an urgent one, as pleaded with the relief sought in the JRPA Application, I would have been inclined to seek relief to strike the NOA's filed by the Tribunal and the Respondent Insurance Companies under some of the same grounds but different legal grounds.

51. However, I will consider my options but unequivocally ask the Divisional Court to disregard any potential filings or oral submissions by the Tribunal through Mr. Boyce (at the very least) pursuant to the legal principles in Taylor v. Pivotal Integrated HR Solutions, 2021 ONSC 7720, at paragraphs 18 to 20. For ease of reference, paragraph 20 from the decision of the Divisional Court so found as a pure question of law:

> [20] Once a Tribunal is a party, the court still has discretion as to the scope of participation to be accorded to the Tribunal during the hearing. This involves balancing the need for fully informed adjudication against the importance of maintaining Tribunal impartiality: Hydro Ottawa v. Ontario (Workplace Safety and Insurance Appeals Tribunal), 2019 ONSC 4898 (Div. Ct.), at para. 6. This court is under no obligation to accept the submissions of a Tribunal that appears before it."

52. As the Respondent Insurance Companies' NOA post-dated the Tribunal's NOA, I will ask that the Court disregard any potential filings or oral submissions on behalf of the Respondent Insurance Companies through Mr. Nieuwland or TD Insurance Staff Legal [not "lawyers" [sic] underneath said business name which appears to be an error as a result of the template created by the LAT that I say was sent from the Tribunal to TD Insurance Staff Lawyers).

53. If those potentials do not occur, I will proceed accordingly whilst reserving my rights generally and specifically. In any event, whatever could be filed or submitted (orally or in writing), the Tribunal is precluded from duplicating the argument of the Respondent Insurance Companies.

54. To the extent that the Respondent Insurance Companies and the Tribunal do not deny the same, I will rely on the adverse inference legal principle.

55. To the extent that I do not receive the entire and full adjudicative records for the Record of Proceeding from the LAT, by email to the LAT Registrar along with Mr. Weir and the AGO, I will submit (in writing and potentially orally) that the doctrine of spoliation is applicable.

Volume #4: Why the current counsels of record for the Tribunal and Respondent Insurance Companies more than likely communicated and assisted each other in a clandestine and unfair manner – disabling both from further participation

56. I have attached copies of the above Notices of Appearance for ease of reference so any recipient can cross-reference my facts above including the metadata.

57. What I will conclude with for one of the many grounds of my belief, which may be reduced to an affidavit and which I currently say is reasonably grounded, is page 2 of 3 of the Respondent Insurance Companies' NOA under the second and fourth "AND TO:" [whilst not being able to keep the exact same spacing and formatting as I do not have a "Word" version of the same].

58. Under the "Fourth" "AND TO", the following is below:

> AND TO: ATTORNEY GENERAL OF CANADA
> Crown Law Office – Civil
> 720 Bay Street, 8th Floor
> Toronto, Ontario
> M5G 2K1
> Email: Cloc.Reception@ontario.ca

59. It is the "Attorney General of Ontario" and not the "Attorney General of Canada" [sic] that is entitled to notice by way of my service upon it [or him in The Honourable Mr. Downey]. The address for service on the Attorney General of Canada is that of "120 Adelaide Street, Suite 400, Toronto, Ontario, M5H 1T1". Most certainly, the "Attorney General of Canada" does not utilize a domain for emails of "@ontario.ca" as it is not "provincial".

60. Under the fourth "AND TO:" of the Tribunal, it is as follows:

AND TO: Attorney General of Ontario
Crown Law Office – Civil
720 Bay Street, 8th Floor
Toronto, ON M5G 2K1
Email: Cloc.Reception@ontario.ca

61. Under the 'second AND TO:', the following is from the Respondent Insurance Companies' NOA:

AND TO: KEVIN MCLEAN
775 King Street West, Suite 410
Toronto ON M5V 2K3
Email: mcleansniclat@gmail.com

62. Under the 'second AND TO:', the following is from Tribunal's NOA:

AND TO: Kevin McLean
775 King Street West, Suite 410
Toronto ON M5V 2K3
Email: mcleansniclat@gmail.com

63. The irony is that Mr. Nieuwland did not send the Respondent Insurance Companies' NOA to mcleansniclat@gmail.com (an email solely for the LAT Proceeding) but he delivered the same to the correct email for the Divisional Court JRPA Proceeding herein.

64. While the counter-position will inevitably be that there are other differences between the Tribunal's NOA and the Respondent Insurance Companies' NOA, a closer look demonstrates that those differences are only where the Respondent Insurance Companies were required to input different information for themselves and counsel at first instance and by way of notice (i.e. not notice to themselves).

65. For example, a page 3, I note the following is provided which demonstrates that the font is "11" and not "11.5"

MATTHEW NIEUWLAND
LSO NO. 71405A
Tel: (905) 201-4092
Fax: (416) 599-7439
Matthew.Nieuwland@tdinsurance.com

66. When considering that there is an erroneous inclusion under "TD Insurance Staff Legal" of "Lawyers" (which not all are lawyers at TD Insurance Staff Legal[iii]), this lends credence to my belief that a template type document of LAT was provided to the Respondent Insurance Companies. The following is below at page 3 (under the "Notice of Appearance" and above the wording above that commences with "Matthew Nieuwland" in size 11 font and not 11.5):

TD INSURANCE STAFF LEGAL Lawyers
66 Wellington Street West
38th Floor
Toronto, Ontario
M5K 1A2

67. As any individual who has worked in the practice of law or provision of legal services, in private practice or for government, templates of that particular firm or institution are a large part of efficient provision of services and practising of law. Templates at each law firm or institution (government or otherwise) have idiosyncratic elements that differ from each.

68. In the Tribunal's NOA, you will note that the Tribunal utilizes a "bolding" and 11.5 font for the Licence Appeal Tribunal and has "Tribunals Ontario, Legal Services" and then the address for the same below it. I provide the same for ease of reference:

Licence Appeal Tribunal
Tribunals Ontario, Legal Services
15 Grosvenor St, Ground Floor
Toronto, ON M7A 2G6

69. What I believe happened is whoever received the Tribunal's word template document for the same had to obviously edit the same but the formatting required an inclusion under the name of the party or the lawyer. As Mr. Boyce is part of the SLASTO Legal Unit, he has the name of the Tribunal and then the department of legal services for it. As Mr. Nieuwland is part of the "TD Insurance Staff Legal" (not lawyers), he has the business name of the firm that he worked for, its address and then himself below.

70. What I am referring to on "page 3 of 3" for each of the Tribunal and the Respondent Insurance Companies is a "back sheet" (Form 4(C)).

71. I ground my belief regarding the impermissible and/or unfair and "ganging up style conduct" in the following which is at Appendix #1 by screenshot and attachment. The numbers at the top are for the Compendium. However, you will note that the document to which I am referring is from one of my affidavits in the JRPA Proceeding wherein Mr. Nieuwland on behalf of TD Insurance Staff Legal [not "lawyers" [sic] under "TDISL"] unlawfully sought some $10,000 in costs on behalf of the Fictitious Respondent in TD General Insurance Company in April 2024. However, that is neither here nor there but rather I am focused on the name of the law firm or organization for which he worked that he input with his signature. It is obvious that there is no reference to the style and errors in the "Backing Sheet" to the "Notice of Appearance" and the "Notice of Appearance" itself (page 1).

72. The other potential theory is that the Tribunal drafted it for Mr. Nieuwland and the Respondent Insurance Companies because of my removal regarding the same. However, I will await to hear from both without any communication before they respond.

73. While it is most unfortunate and inefficient to spend this amount of time and resources dissecting the same, I was compelled to draw this to the attention of the ONSC Divisional Court and ensure that my position was clear and unequivocal. Thankfully, neither have continued, since that time, with filings and submissions before the ONSC Divisional Court which would have required further analysis.

74. I reserve the right to rely upon this correspondence for any lawful purposes including costs. I will hold off on my finalization of a "costs outline" until the relevant time and after seeing if there are any responses from the above by way of email and sworn evidence.

75. Moreover, I reserve the right to append the same to an affidavit for current purposes at the relevant time and to draw the same to the attention of this ONSC Divisional Court for any purposes.

76. If any of the addressees require clarification regarding the above as it has been compiled and analyzed on an urgent basis, kindly respond herein (under this email thread for ease of reference by the ONSC Divisional Court if so necessary).

77. Thank you.

[1]To the extent that the misconduct committed upon the Applicant in the form of theft of his property, committed in part by one Mr. Papadimitropoulos, from the time of October 25, 2024, and onwards, was done at the direction or authorization of the Licence Appeal Tribunal, the LAT has breached the Applicant's section 8 rights under the Charter, and those breaches cannot be saved under section 1 of the Charter. The Applicant is entitled to remedies under section 24(1) of the Charter.

[2]Former Chief Justice Lamer has pointed out that characterizing administrative bodies depends on their function in the circumstances: "the principles for judicial independence . . . are applicable in the case of an administrative tribunal, where the tribunal is functioning as an adjudicative body settling disputes and determining the rights of parties" (see: paragraph 42 of Toronto Star).

[3]With the above set in stone as for the facts and law, the House of Lords put it some eight decades ago, openness to the public is the "authentic hallmark of judicial as distinct from administrative procedure". (see: paragraph 40 of Toronto Star). The LAT is a public institution, albeit funded by the insurance industry, that is conducting adjudicative matters. Just as justice delayed can be justice denied, so reportage delayed can be reportage denied (see: paragraph 67 of Toronto Star). The leading case regarding the "open court principle" and "adjudicative records" is that of the ONSC in Toronto Star v. AG Ontario, 2018 ONSC 2586. In that case, the Toronto Star was entitled to "Adjudicative Records" as a member of the media or journalism sector.

[4]Statutory tribunals exercising judicial or quasi-judicial functions involving adversarial-type processes which result in decisions affecting rights truly constitute part of the "administration of justice": Southam Inc v Canada (Minister of Employment and Immigration), [1987] FCJ no 658 (QL). The legitimacy of such tribunals' authority requires that confidence in their integrity and understanding of their operations be maintained, and this can be effected only if their proceedings are open to the public: Germain v

Saskatchewan (Automobile Injury Appeal Commission), 2009 SKQB 106. Tribunals like the LAT conduct administrative hearings governed by the Statutory Powers Procedure Act ("SPPA") are required to be open to the public. In principle, therefore, it is uncontroversial that "[t]he 'open court' principle" -- at least in some version -- "is a cornerstone of accountability for decision-making tribunals and courts" (see: paragraph 6 of Toronto Star). The Supreme Court of Canada has stated that "[a]ll law and law-makers that touch the people must conform to [the Charter]. Tribunals and commissions charged with deciding legal issues are no exception." (see: Toronto Star, paragraph 14).
