

Reeducation Camps

Terry Large, MS

large.terry@gmail.com

It is time to create reeducation camps especially in the “blue states”. Important concepts that when taken as a whole are unique to America. Too many in America no longer believe in them. In fact they announce them as evil, unfair, lacking social justice, and are racist, etc.

Typically, reeducation camps were something out of communist Russia or China. We need an American version. I have come up with a few topics that I feel should be included in the Reeducation 101 class. While an overview/remedial course it will hit on some important American concepts.

It is not a village, it is a parent, a family that is most important for the growth of a child. We kind of let the “it takes a village” philosophy take off. That was a big mistake as we lost the concept that the individual is paramount in America, not the state.

Capitalism is good, in fact it is the best economic/social concept the world has experienced. Adam Smith’s thesis that the individual, working in their self-interest makes for a lawful, productive and cohesive citizenry. It is in my self interest to be considerate, assertive without aggression, and honest as possible without endangering others. This limited list is not anywhere close to complete, but it will give the 101 class a start. I know for myself that when I am considerate of others, they like me, they want to be with me, they want to help me. Not a bad trade off. I also need to convey my thoughts and my purposeful plans in an expressive, assertive fashion without the aggressive attitude we have been experiencing throughout our nation. I also want to be honest as possible. If I know you are suicidal I may lie if you ask me if I have a gun. People like honesty, they don’t want to be lied to as it is so manipulative.

Reeducation 101 also must convey to the class that America is not perfect, nothing in our secular world is. Our founders created a system that allows for both experimentation (the States) and for changes (amendments). Even when we add an amendment we can admit our error (e.g., probation) and repeal it.

A few other lectures will include:

- Without the Electoral College, States are unnecessary and America unravels.
- Lawful immigration is a community health issue and a safety requirement.
- College tuition will rise when the government pays for it.
- Carbon Dioxide is not toxic. More, not less would be better.

There will be more lectures in this class, I just wanted to give you a taste of this introductory course. This course is not intended to be just for your neighbor or radical relative. I am actually thinking we need to start with governors, election officers and judges. None of which are immune to working against our laws and historic framework.