THE CHARGE IS THIS

The miracles of Jesus give us a taste of the age to come, when we will enjoy heaven and earth completely free of the remnants of sin. While sin opened wide the gate to a world filled with disease, uncleanness, and demonic activity, Christ has established a ministry that has His enemies retreating back into the darkness because they cannot stand the light. Christ shows us a window into the age to come – an age in which every tear is wiped dry, where crying, pain, mourning, and death will be distant memories of a bygone era. In His first coming, Christ starts the long war of subduing His enemies, pushing them and their works of darkness back through the same gate they entered. At His second coming, He will lock this gate forever. Those who have resisted Him will be thrown into the outer darkness where the weeping and gnashing of teeth will continue forever; but for those who receive His healing work by faith remain forever to enjoy table fellowship with Abraham, Isaac, and Jacob. This week, as we consider the significance of Christ taking not only sin onto Himself, but also all its consequences, let's be sure that our response is one of thanksgiving like the leper, of being under authority like the centurion, and of service like Peter's mother-in-law.
