

Good Morning for BCA 317 News, I'm Austin Grignon

Police are investigating the drowning of a 3-year-old boy.

Wyoming city police found the boy in a park pond on Friday night.

Earlier he was reported missing from his home in the area.

And despite resuscitation attempts, he was pronounced dead at a hospital.

In Isabella County...

Deputies have recovered many items from a string of car larcenies.

Officers went undercover to purchase a stolen camera being sold on Facebook.

If something has been stolen from your car, please call the Isabella County Sheriff's Department

In our own backyard...

A man is in custody after reportedly telling an In-Target-Starbucks cashier he had a gun.

Nathan Clark maintains he entered the Mount Pleasant Target to buy a Television.

According to his attorney

He made some statements as a joke, but never mentioned a gun.

About 200 University of Michigan students responded to racially-charged fliers by protesting on the university's campus.

The crowd was heard chanting "no justice, no peace."

Fliers are no longer posted.

And there is no information on who may be responsible.

An inspirational piece of art is now under controversy at Grand Rapid's ArtPrize

Janice Dorsey's display was meant to illustrate the journeys girls experience as they grow into women.

She received positive feedback, but was angry to find a few negative responses.

She only wants to promote acceptance of others.

Across Michigan...

Four people with four different paths all connected by one dream have decided to leave their jobs for a life at sea.

These Michigan Residents have a plan to sail around the world.

Their goal is to show people that they can accomplish anything they dream of

.....

Welcome Back to BCA 317 News

C-M-U football is getting a key player back.

Malik Fountain was reinstated to the football team after suspension.

Fountain has been cleared of charges following an incident at Wayside Central.

Central Michigan will open the season against Presbyterian.

Also in the world of sports...

Big changes are coming to women's college basketball.

The biggest is the game now consists of 10 minute quarters rather than 20 minute halves.

C-M-U's coach Sue Guevara is excited for the changes and is ready to get back to work.

In professional sports

The Atlanta Braves, Turner Field, at just 20 years old, is done with Major League Baseball.

This move is made in favor for the 42,000 -seat SunTrust Park.

Turner Field began its life as Centennial Olympic Stadium

And, after Sunday's game against Detroit, Turner will be nothing but a memory.

All the way from Kyrgyzstan...

An 8.3 mile swim is a daunting task.

But it's not too much for the 24 year old Peace Corps volunteer Sarah D'Antoni.

Her swim across Lake Issyk Kul took four hours and 43 minutes.

She did it to show others that they could achieve their dreams no matter the size.

And on our nations west coast...

A large earthquake is likely to hit the San Andreas Fault.

The advisory is in effect for much of Southern California

The warning has been issued in response to the recent earthquake swarm along the fault line

This week mount pleasant is starting off pretty nice with 3 days of about 45 degree weather.

Thursday there's a 50% chance of rain.

But the week closes with a few more warm and sunny days.

Thank you for watching to BCA 317 News, I'm Austin Grignon