Graffiti Fairytale Comes to Life: Little Red and Vandal Wolf Book Celebration and Group Art Show to Take Over Freeman Alley

NEW YORK, NY — On May 16, 2026, the grit and glamour of New York City's street art scene will collide with the world of storytelling at the UNTITLED Hotel. The evening serves as a high-energy tribute to the artists who transform the pavement into masterpieces. The event will feature a massive group exhibition, live art, and a theatrical appearance by the book's creator. This immersive event celebrates Little Red and Vandal Wolf, a one-of-a-kind art book that reimagines the classic Little Red Riding Hood through the lens of graffiti culture and the city's living galleries.

An Immersive Living Gallery Experience

In a nod to the book's setting, author and illustrator Izzy Church will appear as Little Red, bringing the narrative off the page and directly into the heart of Freeman Alley. The event is a collaborative production between Unscripted Ink, the tattoo studio located within the hotel, and the UNTITLED Hotel, situated at the end of the city's most iconic graffiti-laden thoroughfare.

Event Highlights

- Group Art Exhibition: Eleven of the 19 artists featured in the book will showcase original works, offering a rare look at the talent behind the pages.

- Behind the Paint: Engaging artist talkbacks, a Q&A session with Izzy Church, and live artist interviews throughout the evening.
- Creative Community: Special programming and drink specials will run alongside a showcase of artists from Unscripted Ink.

Bridging the Gap Between Street and Page

Little Red and Vandal Wolf is designed for kids and adults alike, bridging the gap between children's storytelling, graffiti culture, and fine art. It is a love letter to the creative energy of New York, making this event a must-attend for families, art collectors, and urban explorers.
