ANNIVERSARY WEEK.

OAHU COLLEGE AND PUNAHOU PREPARATORY SCHOOL. Commencing with Monday morning, 27th, and closing Friday night, 29th, the Oahu College and Punahou Preparatory School were engaged in what, to students and pupils, is always about the most exciting time in their lives, term examinations. At the College, the written examinations, in which students are expected to answer hard questions, solve problems and discourse very wisely on sundry topics, commenced on Monday and continued until Wednesday afternoon. The oral examinations opened Thursday, at 9:15, with Modern History and elementary Greek, in two rooms, the visitors and official examiners having the privilege of attending them by being present in two places at the same time, alternating between one and the other, or confining their observations to a single class. Every member of the modern history class was assigned a prominent event or series of events to relate in his or her own words. The information required was generally given with a reasonable degree of readiness and intelligence. The young Greek students in the other room were meanwhile giving a good account of themselves in the first stages of acquiring the ancient and euphonious language of poetry and philosophy. The next subjects were Political Economy and Art Principles. In the first named, the factors of supply and demand as affecting values were illustrated by blackboard diagrams, in which the students showed a creditable acquaintance with the principles of the science. The young ladies in the art class elucidated the characteristics of the Athenian, Florentine and Venetian schools and other ideas connected with this subject with marked clearness and an evident appreciation of the study. Caesar, Commercial Arithmetic and French were next exhibited in three rooms. The main body of the visitors devoted their attention to the arithmetic, on which both boys and girls passed satisfactory tests in the solution of questions involving percentages. In Caesar and French, the work was of a kind that only a minority of ordinary mortals can criticize. The students, however, acted their part very well. Moral Science and evidence of Christianity in one room and Geometry in another completed the order of the day for the forenoon session. Both classes displayed fine proficiency on these abstruse subjects. Visitors were then invited to suspend mental exercise for a time, and adjourn to the parlors of the domestic hall to partake of Mrs. Merritt's hospitality. A splendid lunch was served to which the large company did ample justice, only wishing that anniversary could fall monthly instead of yearly at Oahu College. After lunch, to business again. English History, in which of course, royal "Harry Bluff" always receives a full share of attention, was, at some of its important points, pretty elaborately reviewed. The Algebraists, in another room, at the same time, are disposed in front of the blackboards, and present the results of careful training, in signs and symbols. Analysis, which leaves the spectators who knew very little of the elementary Greek of the morning, out in the cold altogether, is, however carefully criticised by Dr. Hyde. The students answer their questions with apparent readiness. English literature is the theme in another room, where, at this time, the spectators most do congregate and hear the young people discourse of poets and literati of every variety, all along the ages from the honest, primitive days of Beke and Chaucer to the degenerate modern age of McCauly, Longfellow and Mark Twain. The examinations briefly sketched above were conducted by Rev. W. C. Merritt, President of the Faculty and Professor of Moral, Mental and Political Science; Mr. Walter F. Frear, A. B., Professor of Greek, Mathematics and Ancient History; Miss M. Ella Spooner, Teacher of Latin, English Literature and Modern History; and Mr. A. Marques, Tutor of French. Mr. C. Furnace is down on the calendar as Instructor in Drawing, and though not appearing in the account of the day's doings, yet, like the good man whose works follow him, his instructions are fully set forth in the pencil and color drawings of the students displayed on the walls of the main school room. Drawing as a recognized branch of school work is of comparatively recent adoption. The evidences of skill and taste that appear on the cards exhibited here elicited the admiration of all who inspected them. Professor Merritt announced that a bequest of $500 had been made in the will of Dr. Damon, the annual proceeds of the money to be applied for the purpose of awarding prizes on English composition and on term examination papers. The Trustees have two first prizes of $10 each and two second of $5 each to award on the present occasion. The Examining Committee awarded the first prize in Composition to May Dillingham, the second to Lilian L. Lyman. For the best set of examination papers, the first prize was won by Carrie P. Green, the second by Hattie Dickson. In addition to these awards, the committee made honorable mention of the papers of Henry J. Lyman and Ellen H. Bicknell, 1st year; Anna M. Kinney, 2nd year; Lilian L. Lyman, 3rd year; and May Albertson and Helen Sorrenson, 4th year. The graduates are Miss Annie Mossman and Miss Addie B. Peterson, who have completed their five years course. Friday forenoon was given to the Bishop Hall of Science, where the exercises were of an exceedingly interesting character, being entirely new, this being the first class in the history of education in the Kingdom to enjoy similar advantages. By the munificence of the Hon. C. R. Bishop, this department has not only been furnished with a first class building admirably adapted to the purpose, but it has also been thoroughly equipped for valuable work. The equipment is especially complete in the line of chemicals and chemical apparatus for extensive and thorough analytical work. Among the articles are a German analytical balance of exceeding delicacy, capable of weighing less than one-thousandth part of a grain; a valuable microscope and spectro-scope. The department is calculated to be of great benefit to the college and to the general community. The Professor, Mr. L. L. Van Slyke, A. B., Ph. D., acts as Government chemist, and in this capacity has already made a series of analyses of the public drinking waters of Honolulu, the results of which appear in the report of the Minister of Interior. After an hour and a quarter had been taken up with physical geography and geology, Professor Merritt announced that he had sent an invitation to the members of the Legislature to be present, and that it had been accepted. By 11 o'clock, the "buses laden with detachments of 'assembled wisdom' arrived. The first portion of the exercises consisted in the analysis by each student at his or her own table of a mixture containing a chemical compound unknown to the student. As the analyses were finished, each student handed his report in writing to the examining committee, who had previously been furnished by the professor with lists of the contents of the mixtures. The processes had been attentively watched by the members of the Legislature and other visitors. Of eleven reports, ten were found to be perfectly correct. Part second consisted of individual examinations of students on topics of general chemistry, illustrated by experiments, in the lecture room. These examinations were eminently satisfactory. By special request, Professor Van Slyke proceeded with some very interesting experiments at which both the honorable members of the assembly and other visitors were highly amused and delighted. The hospitalities of the Domestic Hall were then tendered the visitors, and a general adjournment was had to that department. It is needless to say that the exercises there were thoroughly appreciated. The grading and other examinations at the Punahou Preparatory School were carried on simultaneously with those at the college. On Friday afternoon, the public exhibition was held. A dense concourse of visitors thronged the main school room, aisles, doorways and verandahs. The programme was of a varied character, comprising songs, dialogues, recitations and declamations. The teachers, Miss Emma V. Hall, Principal; Miss C. A. Carter, Intermediate; Miss Helen R. Lewis, Primary, were warmly congratulated on the results of their year's work. The percentages of marks made on examinations in the intermediate grade were exhibited on the blackboards, as follows:— A. Class—G. Angus, 87; A. Albertson, 89; H. Bicknell, 91; J. Bicknell, 92; H. Bingham, 88; C. Conradt, 81; M. Cooke, 82; W. Dillingham, 72; J. Judd, 82; W. Nott, 63; T. Parmenter, 81; G. Ross, 85; H. Walker, 77; H. Waterhouse, 77; H. Wood, 82; A. Young, 80; G. Lyons, 76; E. Ross, 90; Sui, 97; E. Thrum, 74; A. Whitney, 88; W. Whitney, 89. The pupils who have passed the examinations for advancement to Oahu College, and the averages made, are as follows: Ephie Austin, 71; Shinichi Ando, 89; George Bicknell, 69; Willie Bicknell, 75; Sadie Carter, 94; Clara Fuller, 94; Charlie Hyde, 84; Emily Halstead, 89; Eleazar Lazarus, 90; Mary Lyle, 97; Lottie Parmelee, 97; Nealie Robertson, 95; Tadamechi Tachichi, 97; Horace Tregloan, 80; Henry Vida, 90; Ernest Waterhouse, 96; Nellie Young, 92; Berther Young, 95. Prizes were awarded from the proceeds of the late Dr. Damon's legacy, for the first and second best sets of examination papers of candidates for advancement to Oahu College. The first prize, $6, was won by Tadamechi Tachichi, the second, $4, by Mary Lyle. Miss Carter being announced as having resigned her position, was tendered an address and presentation, on behalf of her class, by Miss Ada Whitney. The presentation consisted of a fine breast pin, set with three kukui nuts, and a drop bearing the inscription, "Alola." Congratulatory speeches were made by His Excellency Geo. W. Merrill, and by Mr. J. B. McClesney, Principal of the Oahu College. High School. Mr. McClesney had attended the exhibitions, both here and at the College, and congratulated the citizens, both juvenile and adult, on the character of their educational facilities. A calisthenic exercise outdoor is on the green ended the proceedings here. The closing exercises of the anniversary were held in Fort-street Church, in the evening. The programme opened with an organ voluntary by Mrs. A. F. Judd, and prayer by Rev. Dr. Hyde. Essays were read by the young lady graduates, Miss Aimee Mossman, on "Relation between Art and Moral," and Miss Addie Peterson on "Quick-sands." Miss Alice Renton gave a fine solo, with violin obligato, by Mr. Yarnley. Rev. J. A. Cruzan delivered the anniversary address. A chorus, "Spinning Song" was given by the ladies of the Glee Club. Wreaths, bouquets, and baskets of flowers were presented to the young lady's graduates and to Miss Renton, at the conclusion of their reception. The department is calculated to be of great benefit to the college and to the general community. The Professor, Mr. L. L. Van Slyke, A. B., Ph.
