Introduction to Metacept®

The book – Internet Law: Regulating Cyberspace and Emerging Technologies is quite one of its kind. Wondering Why? Well, to answer the question, you'll need to visit www.metacept.com.

Metacept® has been created with an objective of developing and sustaining a platform for a productive discussion on the ever-evolving issues in the domain of Information Technology [InfoTech] and Intellectual Property Rights [IPR] Laws. It aims at promoting a diversity of viewpoints, ideas, and ideologies in this domain.

The website has a designated tab for this book in the main menu bar titled – 'Internet Law-Book' in the menu bar. The same can be accessed on : <https://metacept.com/internet-law-book/>. The purpose is to enable the readers of the book to locate the references [Protected Document Files (pdf) and Hyperlinks] which are mentioned in the book and available in the public domain at a single place. For the convenience of the readers there is a bifurcation of the Chapters on the website under the 'Internet Law-Book' tab.

One may visit the links of the Chapters and find the resource materials therein for further reading and gaining more information on a particular subject matter. Readers can also drop in their suggestions, complaints and/or feedback on editor@metacept.com. Therefore, this makes the book, Internet Law: Regulating Cyberspace and Emerging Technologies dynamic in its nature.
