Waterway Art Announces Scholarship Winner

A North Brunswick High School graduating senior, Kylie Powers, has been selected by the Waterway Art Association (WAA) of Calabash, NC to receive this year's college art scholarship. She was selected from among eleven applicants for her outstanding portfolio demonstrating an ongoing dedication to the arts in her community. Ms. Powers has been accepted by East Carolina University, Greenville, NC where she will continue her art education in Interior Design.

Kylie's scholastic background includes several advanced level art classes and boasts many art show awards including 1st Place in the 2025 Leland Cultural Arts Center contest, 3rd Place in the 2025 Azalea Arts Festival and an Honorable Mention in the 2026 Azalea Arts Festival, Wilmington.

Waterway Art Association, a non-profit community arts organization, has awarded scholarships every year for the past 10 years to graduating high school seniors who plan to pursue an advanced arts education. Meeting at the Berry Community Center, Vereen Gardens, SC, WAA offers a variety of art classes, weekly open-studio sessions, and an Annual Show and Sale to residents of Southern Brunswick County and surrounding communities.
