

Extremely bad investments right now:

Anything having to do with the space industry.
Anything having to do with the states Utah, Texas, California, and Washington D.C.
Anything having to do with the U.S.A., Canada, Japan, China, Africa, and Israel and the Middle East.
Anything having to do with all the entertainment industry and its people, especially Walt Disney Co.
Anything having to do with the news industry and its people.
Anything having to do with religious organizations and its people, especially the L.D.S. and Catholic Church.
Anything having to do with pharmaceuticals and mental health organizations and its people.
Anything having to do with pornography, the sex industry, and its people.
Anything having to do with the criminal justice and penal system.
Anything having to do with a professional politician, especially those who have held the seat of a U.S. President.
Anything having to do with the educational system.
Anything having to do with banking.
Anything having to do with credit companies.
Anything having to do with the medical industry.
Anything having to do with cosmetics.
Anything having to do with computer security.
Anything having to do with welfare.

Criminals have been keeping secret technology that could have captured or killed Osama bin Laden in anywhere from within hours to days after the attack on 9/11. It works very similar to how a cellphone works with satellites.

The picture on the left is claimed taken by a Chinese probe of the back of the Moon. The picture on the right I altered to show another angle that can be technically achieved. The Earth should only be a mere spot in the background and not what is shown. If a person were able to exist standing on the Moon shown, the Earth would take up a giant portion of the horizon when it should only take up about three and a half Moons wide and high of what the Moon is in the Earth's sky.

Space travel is against human biology and the laws of physics. World governments have been not only taking their countries' taxes to place up satellites to run extortion on their own publics and world publics using instruments involving masers but have genuinely been using them to voyeur and sexually attack the world's people and especially its children. The world's governments have been running organized crime with each other, war profiteering, wanting to embezzle the taxes and take away money that could have been used for the countries' education and healthcare, wanting to lower the intelligence and financial stability of its publics, when the maser satellites could have easily killed an enemy country's leader in a matter of minutes. If on the level, Saddam Hussien, said a villain to his own Iraqi people by George W. Bush, would have been a walking corpse within minutes of the Iraq War being declared.

Masers were invented in 1953. They are a precursor to the laser and work on radio waves and microwaves. They basically create an invisible alternating current electrical wire. The human body and its brain are run on weak electro-chemical processes called galvanism. Maser instruments can attach undetected to a person's bodily electrical signals and have an outside person experience literally everything another person is experiencing, including touch and sight. They can also manipulate a person's motor functions and control them like a puppet. Again, if on the level, if war was declared against North Korea, Kim Jong Un would be a corpse within minutes, but instead he would live throughout the war, a member of this organized crime between countries and its leaders himself.

Several parties have been working extortion with maser instruments. All criminals are an immediate threat to the public. They have created a situation themselves where they and others with them, possibly having maser instruments in use, are a direct threat to the public, and, in being so, they have given up their rights as people.
