ZFG Motorsports Brings Mission 22 Tribute Car to the Classic 24 Hour at Daytona

Veterans are invited to meet the team, share their stories, enjoy the racing during the November 11–15 event.

DAYTONA BEACH, Fla. | September 30, 2026 — ZFG Motorsports will bring its newly designed No. 22 Porsche GT4 Clubsport to Daytona International Speedway for Historic Sportscar Racing's Classic 24 Hour at Daytona, November 11–15, 2026. The team's purpose extends beyond the race: honoring veterans, raising awareness of veteran suicide and supporting Mission 22.

The car's olive drab livery takes inspiration from military aircraft, with weathered paint, rivet details and a subdued American flag running from the hood across the roof. Silhouettes along the sides and names on the roof honor veterans lost to suicide. The design gives the people behind the cause a place on the car throughout race week.

Mission 22's name reflects the widely cited figure of 22 veterans lost to suicide each day. For ZFG Motorsports, the number on the door is a reminder to keep that conversation going and to help connect more people with Mission 22's work supporting veterans, service members and their families.

Throughout the week, ZFG Motorsports invites veterans and their families to stop by, meet the team, share their stories and enjoy the racing. The team will offer free merchandise and swag to veterans as a small token of appreciation. Visitors will also have opportunities to learn about Mission 22 and contribute directly to the organization.

ZFG Motorsports is a self-funded race team. It does not take funding from Mission 22. Its goal at Daytona is to use the car and the attention around the race to raise money for the organization and make space for conversations that matter.

“This car carries more than our race number. It carries names, stories and a reason to keep showing up. We want veterans to know they are welcome with our team at Daytona, whether they come to talk, watch the race or simply spend time with people who care.”
