

Croft Mill Wharf

By Graham Harrison And Ian Atkinson

7MM "o" gauge DCC Sound

Once upon a time materials for the mill arrived by either barge or came into the sidings by rail.

Both these have now gone, replaced by the new diesel shed, where maintenance and refueling are carried out .

A succession of diesels fitted with DCC and sound most of which are weathered ,can be seen on shed.

Occasionally tank wagons are brought in to top up the main storage tanks at the depot.

Currently we are depicting the Blue diesel period

But we can now move forward to Socialization