Ladies: Away in the Basement

Join the original cast of your favorite Church Basement Ladies as they prepare for the Annual Church Christmas Pageant. Come back to 1959 as the women prepare food & talk about the goings on in the Church & the fiasco that was the Pageant of 1958. Pastor Gunderson is adjusting to life as a widower & isn't quite sure about his feelings for the Lady from the "cities". Mavis laments, through song, that she was never quite "Mary material" for any pageant. Enjoy a feel-good show with tuneful melodies, Minnesota snark & traditions for the Christmas Holidays. A Picnic Scene
& The Tragedy of Pyramus and Thisbe

A Picnic Scene: Arin & Jamie "attempt" to enjoy a picnic, away from the busy complicated 20-something life. Tirp & Pek, two curious birds, watch the scene unfold & do their best to understand the nature of these odd visitors. The birds try to rationalize why the humans do what they do as the humans try to rationalize their own actions & problems. Written by Taylor Boes

The Tragedy of Pyramus and Thisbe: Young lovers, separated by a cruelly unmoving wall, plot to meet under cover of darkness at a sacred tomb, the only way (apparently) they can see one another & share a tender loving kiss. However, there are other curious characters lurking in the woods where they intend to meet, and soon pose a problem for the loquacious lovers. Written by LJ Ajero Directed by Lucas Moquin
