

Three-letter Verb Roots

All verb roots, by convention, are listed in the lexicon with three letters, which means roots with two letters are listed as their verbs with a ך (infix) or ך (infix, prefix) or ך (suffix, infix) or ך (prefix).

The references are to the Brown-Driver-Briggs lexicon, either the Hard Copy (HC) or Online (OL)

Once you know the root of the verb, you can figure out how the verb/action is being used by the noun.

There are seven main verb stems, or forms, which identify the function of the verb in the Hebrew sentence: active, passive, reflexive, etc.. By convention, the stems are marked by the three-letter word for 'action'

פעל, and listed in the Lexicons in this order:

1. פִּעַל/קִל Qal (simple/active)

2. נִפְעַל Niph. (simple/passive)
