Master of Science in Nursing Health Care Leadership

Advance Your Nursing Career, Elevate Your Impact!

Hard work, caring, and compassion made you an excellent nurse. Now you're ready to ensure the highest level of care within your team, your department, and your organization. Prepare to drive change and improve care on a larger scale with an MSN in Health Care Leadership.

Acquire skills to transition into advanced positions where you can advocate for policy changes; implement quality improvement initiatives; and make informed decisions that drive positive health outcomes. Learn to lead interprofessional teams, ethically manage information and technology, and oversee the budgeting and financial reporting unique to health care organizations. Emerge understanding the complex challenges facing health care today, with tools to make a meaningful difference.

Our interprofessional curriculum prepares you to:

- Lead teams and collaborate with colleagues across disciplines to achieve shared goals
- Create organizational change, including implementation of new products and technology, quality improvement initiatives, and patient care services
- Manage budgets, allocate resources, and analyze financial performance
- Communicate complex information to diverse stakeholders
- Effectively respond to external factors, such as changes in regulation, health care legislation, or emerging standards
- Advocate for policies that impact health care and outcomes
