

Thanks for sharing the full link

I read this and it is a place where I would like us, our leadership, to partake of.

I had seen snippets of this the other day.

Trying to conceal the thing has been the path of least resistance

In that our precious [redacted] church body has been and is in a very wounded place

Repentance is that

wounded

Repentance is that
change, deep change
that leads to action.

Repentance by leadership

For myself, inaction is a shield from the fear of consequences.

The injured need to know their leaders, I,
care more than just putting on a public
face of ignoring,
distancing and
deafness to their hurts
