CHOOSING THE RIGHT PAINT

When selecting paint, it's important to understand the difference between interior and exterior paint. Interior paint is designed for durability and appearance inside the home, while exterior paint contains special additives that help it withstand outdoor conditions such as sun, rain, and temperature changes. Using the correct type of paint ensures better performance and longevity.

Paint also comes in a variety of finishes, each offering a different look and level of durability. Matte paint has a smooth, non-reflective finish that hides imperfections well, making it ideal for ceilings and low-traffic areas. However, it is not as easy to wipe clean when dirt or marks appear. Semi-gloss paint has a subtle shine and is highly durable, which makes it an excellent choice for kitchens, bathrooms, trim, and rental units, as it can be cleaned easily without losing its finish. Satin paint strikes a balance with a soft sheen that offers both elegance and durability. Its refined appearance is often found in high-end homes, providing an upscale yet practical finish for living rooms, bedrooms, and hallways.

When it comes to choosing the right paint for your property, consider both functionality and lifestyle. For rental units, semi-gloss is often the best option since it doesn't stain easily and allows for easy cleaning between tenants. For primary residences, satin finishes are popular for their elegant look, while matte is often selected for ceilings.

If you cannot find a paint color you love from our online color palette, you have two options. You can provide us with a color you prefer, and for a small fee, we will work to match it for you. Or, you may schedule a session with our Design Center Team, who will be more than happy to assist you in selecting a color that fits your style and vision. With the right paint type, finish, and color, your home will not only look beautiful but also reflect your personal style.
