

P&C Sales Leader (player/coach) – U.S. (Remote)

A fast-growing insurtech company is reshaping the art and science of commercial underwriting for carriers and MGAs. Its flagship platform is the industry's only centralized underwriting risk environment powered by advanced agentic underwriting services that deliver true decision-ready outcomes.

This platform transforms submissions into decisions by automating intake, triage, and data enrichment from documents and external data sources—surfacing actionable risk insights so underwriters can:

- Win the right accounts faster
- Scale underwriting capacity
- Improve loss ratios

Backed by top-tier venture investors, the company supports dozens of carriers and MGAs across the U.S., delivering:

- 85% faster underwriting
- 32% higher GWP per underwriter
- Up to 700 basis points improvement in loss ratios

The team is hiring a Sales Lead (U.S.)—a senior, hands-on seller who can both close enterprise deals and coach Account Executives. This is a true player-coach role reporting directly to the CEO, responsible for driving the U.S. go-to-market motion, shaping sales processes, and building the foundation for a scalable sales organization.

If you excel at selling complex enterprise solutions, mentoring sellers, and shaping GTM strategy in a fast-paced startup, this role will feel like home.
