

The Drilling Company is a fantastic theater company - both in the theater it creates and in the approach it takes to creating the theater. Deeply committed to the theater community, The Drilling Company champions theater artists and other companies with a warm, open-hearted approach to its work. The Drilling Company has supported Access Theater with volunteer work, with a generous donation of theatrical lights, cables and other equipment. Most of all, The Drilling Company has filled the walls of Access Theater with exciting, dynamic, relevant theater produced with a commitment to a compassionate family of theater artists collaborating and raising each other up in the process.

-Jacqueline Christy, Executive Director & Laura Lee, Artistic Director, Access Theater

Jacqueline Christy

magichour.us

Magic Hour in the Hollywood Reporter

Instagram Facebook