Dear Alumnae and Friends,

“Learn from yesterday, live for today, hope for tomorrow”

Albert Einstein

St. Hubert Bambies have been Reaching Higher for many generations and continue to do so. Challenges have come and gone over these past 80 years, with grace and determination, St. Hubert Bambies have weathered the difficult times.

Our over 30,000 alumnae, the original women of faith and integrity on whose shoulders we stand, have “learned from yesterday” flouriSHing out in the world as healthcare professionals, lawyers, teachers, business professionals, mothers, grandmothers and more.

Our Bambies are “living for today” in their spirituality through faith, in their commitment to academic excellence, in serving those in need, and in their sisterhood, leaning on each other to endure trials and celebrate smiles. This year despite the difficulties put upon them by the pandemic, our seniors have earned themselves over $23 million in scholarships and grants to continue their learning in college.

And while we can “hope for tomorrow,” we are “planning for tomorrow,” preparing for the next generation of learners and asking for your help. St. Hubert has a bright future filled with strong opportunities both traditional and innovative.

There are many plans for the growth at St. Hubert and we need to work together to offer the future Bambi leaders of integrity faith a future as bright as the stars.

Thank you for your support of Catholic Education and most especially, St. Hubert Catholic High School for Girls.

Bambies have seen and endured many good and challenging times since St. Hubert opened in 1941. As Women of Faith and Integrity they did not just survive, did not just thrive, but FlouriSHed for these 80 years.

Introduction

The book you are holding is a revised and expanded edition of the publication that was written for the 75th anniversary of St. Hubert - Shining Bright like a Diamond... for 75 years. When I was tasked with doing an updated version for the 80th anniversary, I couldn't wait to get started. Doing the project was a labor of love. When the National Honor Society members and I wrote the first edition in 2017, we learned so much about the history and tradition of our beloved school. Our book is essentially an encyclopedia of St. Hubert, and it is my prayer that you will enjoy the trip down memory lane.

I would like to thank Pamela Vasserman, our newly appointed Director of Institutional Advancement for all of her help and encouragement. Without her, this project never would have gotten off the ground. I am grateful to Gene Burns for his help with the graphic design and direction of the book. Finally, a special thanks goes out once again to Brother Joseph Grabenstein, FCS, archivist-emeritus of La Salle University, who graciously taught me all about archiving, and for that I am most grateful.

FLOURISHING for 80 Years!

Prologue to the History of St. Hubert Catholic High School for Girls

St. Hubert Catholic High School for Girls had a unique beginning that dates back many years. Its history is a long, interesting one, but of necessity in writing, must be abbreviated. The hand of God was ever present.

One could say that it had its origin in the nineteenth century and is closely related to Saint Vincent Orphanage, down the hill on Milnor Street and the Delaware River. Around 1865, about the same time as the founding of the Sisters of St. Francis at St. Peter Church at Fifth and Girard Avenue, a priest from Holy Trinity parish founded Saint Vincent Orphanage. The priest requested the newly established Community to take charge of the orphanage, which they did. However, no arrangement had been made for the sisters as far as any means of fulfilling their religious obligations were concerned. They had to walk to daily Mass over dirt roads and fields to the nearest church, several miles away. It was probably to St. Dominic Church which was the only one in the vicinity at that time. By the time they returned from Mass the day was half over, and in rainy and snowy weather it became almost impossible. The sisters were becoming ill and their health suffering. Mother Francis pledged their help for the year and so withdrew them at the end of the year.

The orphanage was then taken over by parishioners of St. Peter Parish for the children of German immigrants who had died en route to America and others in the parish. Priests of German heritage frequently came to America and took up the chaplaincy at the Home.

In the early twenties, a big, strong, well-built priest came from Germany to the orphanage. He was Reverend John P. Ludwig, later to have been discovered to be a Baron. Father became quite a familiar figure in Tacony. He was accustomed to make his almost daily walk up the hill on Princeton Avenue to Frankford Avenue and sometimes farther. Children of the neighborhood would see him and his huge German shepherd dog a block away and would run for cover until they passed. Everyone knew Father Ludwig and his dog.

A small group of German people from the area began to go to the orphanage chapel for Mass. It was not a large group, but it was for years a very faithful group. Eventually Father Ludwig saw in the group a nucleus for a German parish. He decided to build a church and school for them. In 1924 he broke ground on what was known to the locals as Mommy McGraw's old farm at Cottman and Torresdale Avenue. He built, supposedly with his own money, the lovely, granite stone structure with the church on the first floor and the school on the second floor south, with a convent for the Sisters on the second floor north. He named it St. Hubert Parish. Father secured five Sisters of St. Francis in Glen Riddle to teach in his school. The school opened September 1, 1926.

But there were hidden problems.

Tacony was a lovely little town built, one might say, by Henry Disston who built his saw mill, homes, schools and playgrounds, and gave generously to the churches in the area. The working conditions particularly enticed immigrants to the town. Many German and Irish immigrants landed in America on boats that came up the Delaware River to the marina area of Kensington. They soon heard about Tacony and made their way to the town. Henry Disston's spirit aroused a like spirit among the two groups. Even during the First World War the two groups seemed to support each other and St. Leo Church. The second problem for Father Ludwig was the fact that the Diocese was already planning and building a church just a few blocks away, St. Bernard parish, which opened in 1927.

Father Ludwig maintained his church and school as a strictly German parish. One woman of Irish descent left her baby son in his coach in the care of a woman who had come out of the church from confession. The woman too wanted to go to confession. In minutes the woman came out the front door laughing - Father would not hear her confession because she was not a German. But Father's attitude did not cause any differences among the people.

Many young relatives of the founder of the Sisters of St. Francis, the Belfields and the Leppings, attended the parish school. One of the boys was the first and only vocation to the priesthood from the parish school. Father George Lepping, a Marist, offered his First Mass in the Church on Corpus Christi Sunday, June, 1937. His aunt, Sister Marie Francis, and Mother Francis, the Mother General of the Buffalo Franciscans, attended the ceremony, as did practically all of Tacony. The Church was packed to the doors for possibly the first time in its history.

So many of the German people had become so much a part of St. Leo Parish, having been baptized, made their First Confession and Communion, and been married there that they had no desire to change parishes. Their ties to St. Leo priests and sisters were too strong. Only a comparatively few families had gone to St. Hubert Parish to join those who had come up from the orphanage. The upkeep of the parish must have been very hard on Father.

It was Father Ludwig's custom almost every year to visit his homeland and leave the parish in the hands of a priest-friend. In the summer of 1940 Father took his usual trip home and left Father Otterbein in charge. The summer wore on to its end and Father did not return. Some people always start rumors of course, and this case was ripe for rumor. It was felt that Father was discouraged at not getting a large group for his church. Others had him transferred to St. Peter and Paul parish in Lehighton. It seems more likely that since the shadow of the Second World War was looming heavily over his country, Father was forced to stay in his homeland for other reasons.

On October 1, 1940, the Holy See rescripted the parish. The Diocese took over the parish and its debts. Father Otterbein left on October 5, 1940. A letter from Cardinal Dougherty was read at all the Masses on October 6, 1940 informing the people of the closing of the church and school. The Sisters of St. Francis closed the second floor building on October 11, 1940 and left for Glen Riddle.

At the time, St. Bernard School had an annex to Little Flower High School and did not have room to take in one hundred eighty-eight St. Hubert Elementary School children. Cardinal Dougherty decided that the annex should move to the second floor of St. Hubert's building so that the St. Hubert children could be taken in. Cardinal Dougherty had the St. Hubert Church dismantled and renovated into classrooms and offices. At the end of the school year the Cardinal declared the school would reopen in September, 1941, as St. Hubert Catholic Girls High School. The school opened on September 8, 1941 with an enrollment of 631.

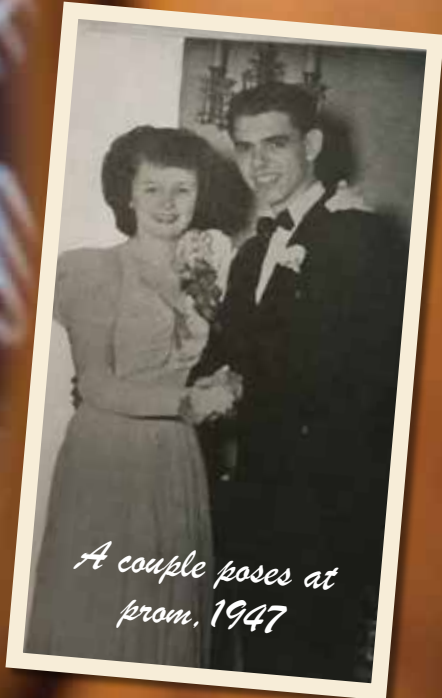

Sister Mary Ruperta, O.S.F. received her appointment as Prefect of the new high school June 9, 1941. The convent on Cottman Avenue was opened as a faculty house for the Sisters of St. Francis and renamed Portiuncula.

Beautiful Beginnings

St. Hubert Catholic High School for Girls opened its doors for the first time on September 8, 1941. On that day World War II was raging in Europe, Bernard Samuel was the Mayor of Philadelphia, Cardinal Dennis Dougherty was in his 23rd year as Ordinary of the Archdiocese, the Phillies and Athletics were both mired in last place, a gallon of gas cost 19 cents, and the most popular song in the nation was “Green Eyes” by Jimmy Dorsey, Bob Eberly, and Helen O’Connell. Throughout the decade of the 1940s, the girls at St. Hubert listened to songs such as “White Christmas,” “Take the A Train,” “Sentimental Journey,” “I’ll Be Seeing You,” “I’ll Never Smile Again,” and “I Love you (For Sentimental Reasons)” and many others over such radio stations as WIP (the Dawn Patrol with Joe McCauley), WPEN (the 950 Club with Joe Grady and Ed Hurst), and WIBG (“Danceland” with Doug Arthur).

September 8, 1941: A new high school opens in the Mayfair section of Philadelphia. St. Hubert's, a former German-Catholic parish, opens its doors to 631 girls as an annex to Little Flower Catholic High School for Girls. The school uniform was maroon, the same one worn by Little Flower. A small "SH" replaced the "LF" over the heart. The faculty consisted of six Sisters of St. Francis, who taught English, stenography, and typing; four sisters of the Sisters, Servants of the Immaculate Heart of Mary, who taught biology, chemistry, mathematics, and home economics; four Sisters of St. Joseph, who taught music, history, National Problems, bookkeeping, secretarial studies, and office practice; two Sisters of the Holy Family of Nazareth, who taught algebra and world history. Sr. Mary Ruperta, O.S.F. served as Prefect of St. Hubert's.

September 19, 1941: Bishop Hugh Lamb paid a visit to St. Hubert's since it became a high school. Mass was offered by Monsignor John J. Bonner.

October 10, 1941: In what would become an annual tradition, the first Student Council Installation was held. The school officers were Marie Clark (President), Alice Magrath (VP), and Louise Simbalch (Secretary). Twenty-one other girls would also be inducted.

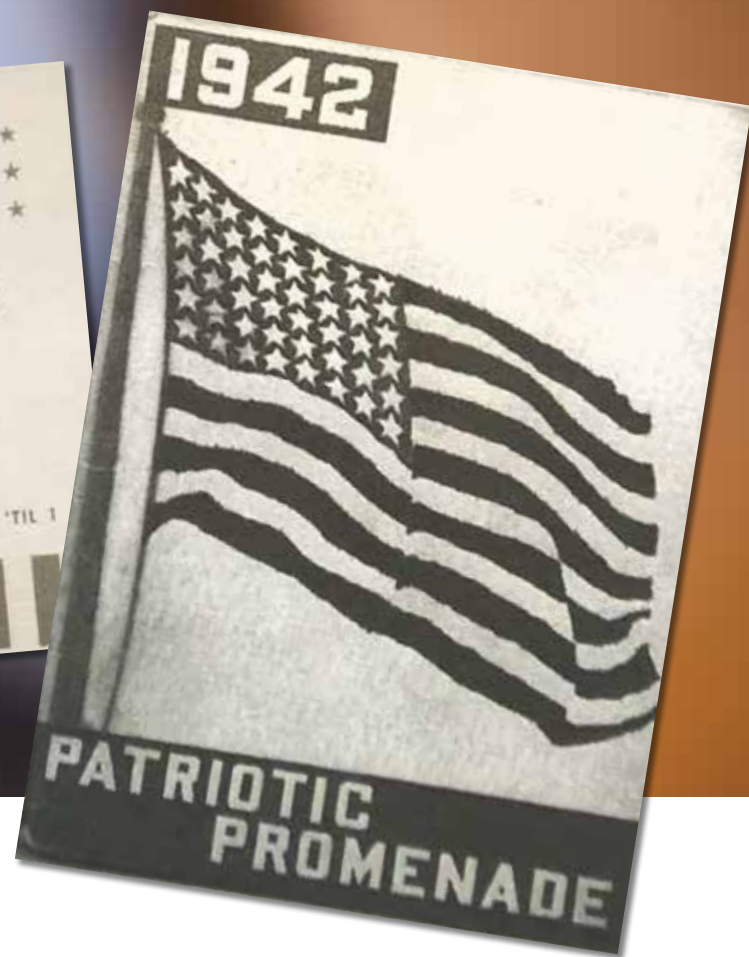

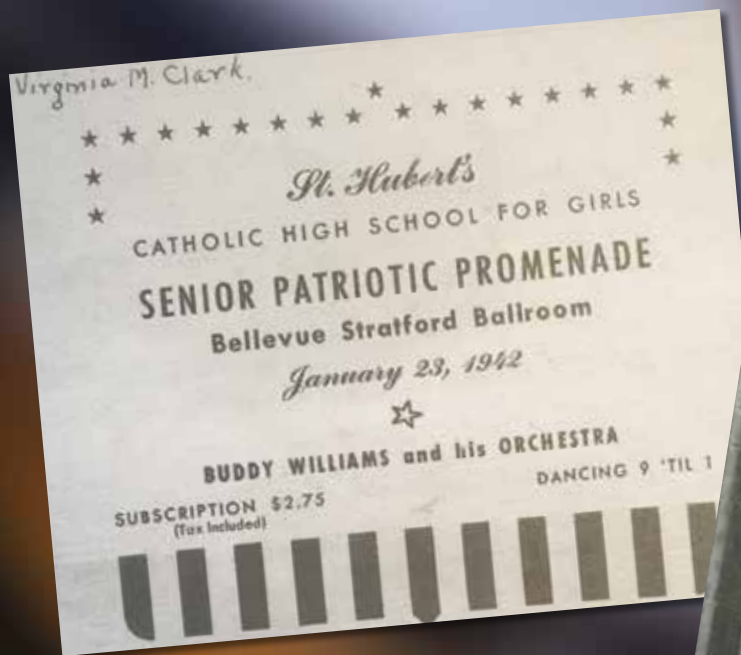

October 13, 1941: "Flag of the Brave" hung at St. Hubert's. The beautiful new flag was blessed by Reverend Joseph A. Gorham, S.T.L. After the reading of the Constitution by Rebecca McLaughlin, Louise and Jenny Simbalch raised the flag. In sincere and stirring tones the students pledged their allegiance.

October 31, 1941: A Halloween party was held at all of the lunch periods. Pretty colored table cloths and paper plates adorned the tables. Shining red apples, nuts, Halloween candies, pretzels, ice cream, and cake were among the refreshments served.

October/November 1941: The senior class selected its ring. The students voted for an Annapolis style, intermediate size, with an oval green stone, and the school seal on the stone. Also, the Athletic Association was established. The first president was Virginia Clark, and Helen Haag was appointed secretary.

November 3, 1941: The feast day of St. Hubert was commemorated. The seniors presented a short play, St. Hubert's Arrows, in his honor. Monsignor Bonner addressed the students and commended them for their enthusiasm and spirit.

Senior Patriotic Promenade

November 25, 1941: The first issue of the school newspaper, Tally-Ho, debuted. The first editor was Mary Corkery. The name Tally-Ho is a call used by hunters, and is a tribute to St. Hubert, the patron saint of hunters.

December 21, 1941: St. Hubert's Yuletide Festival was held in Little Flower's auditorium. The program consisted of Christmas music and a play.

January 1, 1942: Three St. Hubert students competed with boys from Roman Catholic High School for spelling honors and prizes in Geuting's Shoe Store's spelling bee broadcast over radio station KYW.

January 23, 1942: The first senior prom, "Patriotic Promenade," was held at the Bellevue-Stratford Hotel.

February 23, 1942: The St. Hubert Marching Band, under the direction of Sr. Joseph Cecilia, made its debut. The American Legion presented the school with an American flag, and the band played "Symbol of Honor" and "The Star Spangled Banner."

Winter 1942: After much thought and discussion, the official seal of St. Hubert's Catholic High School was designed. The insignia is regarded as a student's personal guide in living the Catholic principles they are being taught.

March 3, 1942: Mary Rowley selected as editor of Calling Echo, the school yearbook.

June 5, 1942: The Alumnae Association of St. Hubert's was founded. The membership consisted of all 134 graduates of the class of 1942. Marie Clark was chosen as the first president.

June 6, 1942: The first graduation is held at Municipal Auditorium.

1942-1943

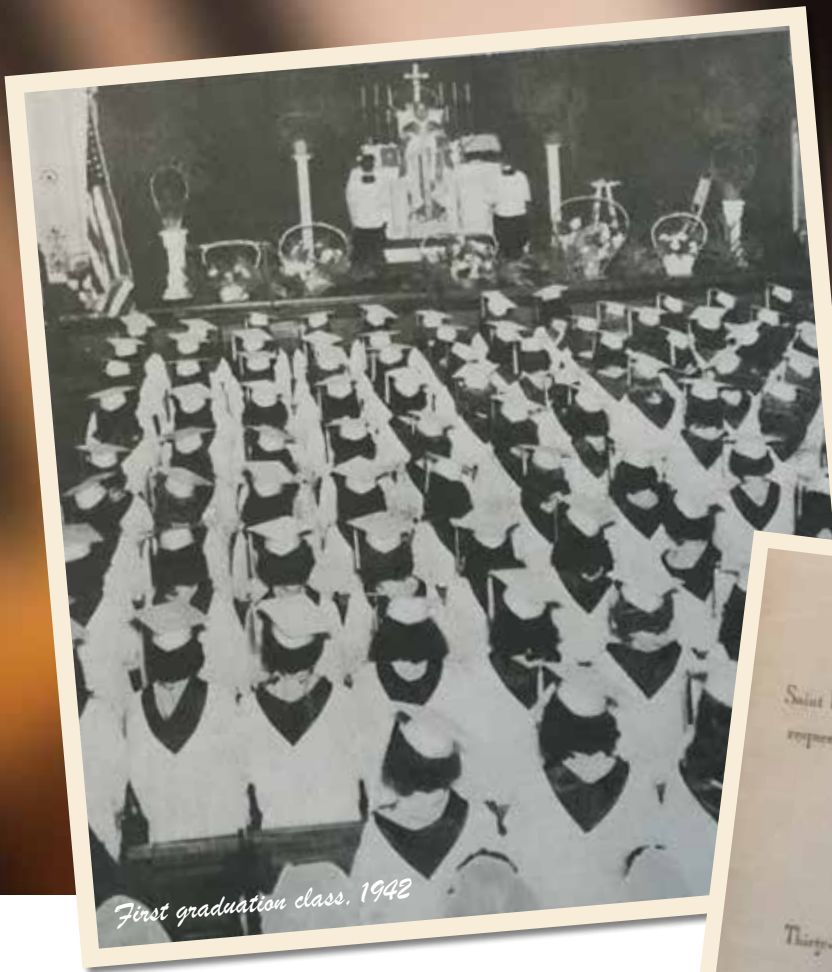

September 1942: Spanish was added to the school curriculum. The class was taught by Sr. Mary Frances, S.N.D., who also planned to create a Spanish club. Faculty increases to 22 religious and two lay teachers.

October 8, 1942: His Eminence, Dennis Cardinal Dougherty presented St. Hubert's with a 1938 edition of the Douay Bible. The Bible was displayed in the school library.

October 11, 1942: The Alumnae Association held its first meeting.

October 25, 1942: Student Council president Barbara Wenstrup portrayed the Queen of Peace in a Navy Day parade in downtown Philadelphia.

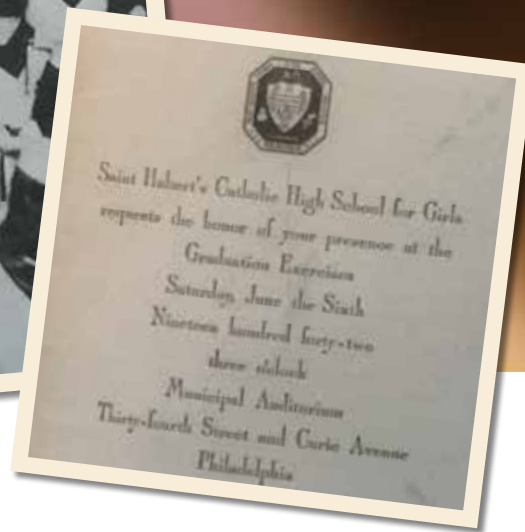

October 26, 1942: Patriotic drive launched at St. Hubert's to purchase a bomber for the U.S. Army.

First graduation class, 1942

Official school seal, 1942

Summer 1943: Twenty-six St. Hubert's juniors sacrificed their summer vacation by taking the Accelerated Course, which enabled them to complete their senior year studies in 10 weeks. The classes were held at West Philadelphia Catholic Girls' High School from June 20 to August 27. Students from all of the diocesan high schools attended. The girls graduated with their class in June.

1943-1944

September 1, 1943: The largest class of freshmen since the opening of St. Hubert's entered the school. The 209 freshmen represented an 8 percent increase over the previous year's class.

October 1, 1943: Msgr. Bonner presided at the Installation ceremony in the school auditorium.

October 19, 1943: A Mass for all of the boys in the service was held at St. Hubert's.

November 3, 1943: The Freshman Day program ended with a grand surprise: Reverend Mother Veronica, Superior of the Franciscan Sisters, presented an oil painting of St. Hubert to the school. The canvas, 60" x 50" and framed in dull gold, portraying the Vision of St. Hubert, was painted by Sr. Waltridus, O.S.F.

November 24, 1943: The St. Hubert's Senior Prom held at the Barclay Hotel the night before Thanksgiving.

Fall 1943: St. Hubert's students raised over $17,000 in war bonds to purchase a jeep for the U.S. Armed Forces.

January 18, 1944: The basketball team and Bambie mascot made their debuts. The basketball team, led by captain Gertrude Clark and coach Adele Smith, played their first game against St. Leonard's Academy, and lost 52-14. Bambie was selected as a mascot because it was the deer that appeared to St. Hubert in a vision that caused him to convert to Christianity. Jeanne Howell portrayed Bambie at the basketball games.

February 3, 1944: The varsity basketball team won the first game in its history, 32-19 over Melrose Academy.

March 8, 1944: Sophomore Jean Boyle received an award for selling $2,700 in War Bonds and Stamps in the Fourth War Loan Drive. Jean received her award from Commander Clyde Rankin in the Mayfair movie theater. Jean remarked that "St. Hubert's played a great part in the Fourth War Loan Drive."

1944-1945

September 1944: Enrollment reached 708 students. Due to the increase in enrollment, St. Bartholomew's School opened classrooms as an annex for 91 freshmen. It was the second time that St. Bartholomew's was used as an annex. The school came to the aid of John W. Hallahan High School in 1939.

St. Hubert's welcomed eight new teachers, bringing the total faculty to 26.

September 27, 1944: For the first time the student body heard the “Alma Mater” played by the school orchestra in its debut for the season at the annual Installation ceremony.

April 13, 1945: In a spirit of reverent patriotism and sorrow, the entire St. Hubert’s student body assembled in the school auditorium to offer sincere prayers for President Franklin D. Roosevelt, who died the day before. While the Reverend Edward M. Reilly led the recitation of the Rosary, 600 voices responded in earnest supplication to God that he would grant eternal rest to Roosevelt, whose patriotism during the past 12 years has caused his name to go down in history as a great American leader.

On that same day, St. Hubert’s was presented with the Monsignor John J. Bonner Sportsmanship Award for 1945. The award recognized the unfailing sportsmanship displayed by the students of St. Hubert’s High School during the hard and discouraging basketball season. The students cheered and sang a song of dedication to coach Miss Adele Smith.

May 7, 1945: Germany surrendered to the Allies, ending the war in Europe. That day, the St. Hubert’s community paid honor to the Blessed Virgin Mary. Kathryn Boyce was selected as May Queen, and the entire student body marched in procession through the grounds to Our Lady’s shrine. As the statue was crowned, the students sang “Immaculate Mary.” After the ceremony, Benediction was given in the auditorium by Reverend Joseph J. Blanchfield.

May 26, 1945: Baccalaureate Mass held at St. Bernard’s Church.

June 3, 1945: Graduation held at Convention Hall.

1945-1946

September 6, 1945: The nation and St. Hubert’s celebrated the end of World War II. Enrollment climbed to 741, with 623 girls in the main building and 118 occupying the St. Bartholomew annex.

November 20-24, 1945: The class of ‘46 presented Harriet, a three act play about the life of Harriet Beecher Stowe, in the Little Flower auditorium.

November 27, 1945: The St. Hubert’s community mourned the death of Right Reverend Monsignor John J. Bonner. He was a frequent visitor and friend to the school in the early years.

December 14, 1945: The junior prom was held in the St. Hubert’s auditorium.

January 30, 1946: The class of ‘46 received its rings.

February 21, 1946: The senior prom was held at the Barclay Hotel in Philadelphia.

The first Susie Hubert cartoon to appear in Tally-Ho, 1941

March 28, 1946: "Personality" was the theme for the all-for-fun Junior Day. The special event was coordinated by Miss Ethel McGurik and Sr. Maria Virgine. Some of the events included a one-act play, musical selections by the Orchestra and Glee Club, and a game of Truth or Consequences. The day ended with an early dismissal at 2:15 pm.

May 6, 1946: The annual May Procession began at St. Bernard's Church. The entire student body, in uniform, and wearing white communion veils, marched to the church. The May Queen was Elizabeth Green, arrayed in bridal attire.

May 9, 1946: The senior class traveled by train for their trip to New York City. The girls visited Mother Cabrini's Shrine, Fort Tryon Park, and the Home of the Cloisters. Later, the class enjoyed a show at Radio City Music Hall and visited the Empire State Building.

June 9, 1946: Approximately 2,200 from the diocesan Catholic Girls' High Schools participated in the fourth combined commencement ceremony at Convention Hall. The participating schools were St. Hubert's, John W. Hallahan, Little Flower, West Philadelphia Catholic, Notre Dame (Moylan), and Notre Dame (Wyncote). The honor of writing and delivering the valedictory speech belonged to Grace Dallas of St. Hubert's.

September 4, 1946: A decrease in enrollment was noted on the opening day of school. Incoming freshmen from St. Bartholomew's and St. Timothy's Schools now attended Little Flower. The freshmen class at St. Hubert's numbered 140, all of whom attended classes in the main building. The total school enrollment was now 651.

September 24, 1946: Student Council Installation was held. The Reverend Father Edward Reilly, Superintendent of Diocesan High Schools, presided at the exercises. Mary Louise Cooney was installed as Student Council President.

September 27, 1946: The St. Hubert's student body observed a Holy Hour of Adoration in recognition of the three early American martyrs who sacrificed their lives for the spread of Christianity among the Iroquois Indians. The girls, under the direction of Fr. Graham, spent an hour in Holy Meditation before the Blessed Sacrament, during which the Rosary was recited. Benediction and a hymn to the Holy Spirit closed the hour of prayer.

November 27, 1946: The Junior Prom was held on Thanksgiving eve in the school auditorium.

February 14, 1947: St. Hubert's Sweetheart Prom was held at the Barclay Hotel.

February 26–28, and March 1, 1947: The Fifth Annual St. Hubert's Musicale, conducted by Mr. Guglielmo Sabatini, was held in the Little Flower Auditorium.

March 8, 1947: Girls from St. Hubert's volunteered to collect funds for Nazareth Hospital.

August 15, 1947: Four members of the class of 1947 entered the novitiate of the Sisters, Servants of the Immaculate Heart of Mary.

1947–1948

September 1947: Registration for the 1947–48 school year showed a slight decrease in enrollment. When school closed in June 1947, St. Hubert's boasted 625 students, while the enrollment for the new school year showed only 613. Nine parishes were represented among the student body – St. Bernard, St. Dominic, St. Katherine of Siena, St. Matthew, St. Leo, Maternity of B.V.M., Our Lady of Consolation, and St. Charles.

October 1947: Freshman day, under the direction of Sr. Walter Marie, S.S.J., is celebrated at St. Hubert's. A music and dance program was performed, and concluded with the freshmen being treated to ice cream.

November 13–14, 1947: The senior class performed Our Hearts were Young and Gay in the Little Flower Auditorium.

November 24, 1947: Radio personality Joe Grady, host of the 950 Club on WPEN, visited St. Hubert's. He gave the girls tickets to the 950 Club show for November 29, in which St. Hubert's would be recognized as "School of the Week."

November 26, 1947: The junior prom was held once again on Thanksgiving eve. The theme was "Falling Leaves Social." The students dedicated the prom to the Blessed Mother.

November 27, 1947: Junior Alice Gleason took two orphans, ages 7 and 8, from St. Vincent's Home to her house for Thanksgiving dinner. After dinner, the kids were given gifts. Before returning to St. Vincent's, the little boy said, "I wish I could live here with you forever." This was part of a program called Catholic Action.

January 8, 1948: St. Hubert's student Marguerite McMenamin appeared on KYW radio's Junior Town Meeting of the Air, broadcast from Frankford High School. She gave her opinion as to whether or not young people were practicing good manners.

February 6, 1948: The senior prom was held once again at the Barclay. The theme was "Star Dust." Music was performed by the Mike Donnelly Orchestra. The prom moderators were Sr. Marie Aubert, S.S.J. and Sr. Lucidie, S.N.D.

June 7, 1948: One hundred fifty-two seniors received their diplomas at a combined graduation with Little Flower, Notre Dame Moylan, and Notre Dame Wyncote in Convention Hall.

1948-1949

September 1, 1948: With an entrance of 213 freshmen, the enrollment at St. Hubert's grew to 643, the largest number of students attending the school since its opening in 1941, with the exception of 1944 and 1945, when St. Bartholomew's Annex accommodated over 100 freshmen, and the enrollment soared to 700.

December 1948: St. Hubert's students voted St. Matthew's as the most popular parish dance. Sophomore Grace Cochran said, "An evening spent at St. Matthew's is a pleasant one, indeed. Records, fascinating lighting, and plenty of boys help bring out this atmosphere."

February 11, 1949: The senior prom was held at the Barclay. The theme was "Sweetheart Prom." Music was provided by the Haverfordians orchestra and a male vocalist.

April 28, 1949: The class of 1949 boarded buses outside of St. Hubert's and set out for their senior trip to New York. The class visited Mother Cabrini's Shrine, St. Patrick's Cathedral, saw Bing Crosby in A Connecticut Yankee and the Rockettes at Radio City Music Hall, and toured the NBC studios at Rockefeller Center.

May 19, 1949: May Procession held at St. Bernard's. Joan Bauer was chosen as the May Queen.

June 11, 1949: The senior class gave $100 to St. Hubert's as a token of appreciation for their Catholic education during the Baccalaureate Mass held at St. Bernard's.

1949-1950

September 1, 1949: Enrollment increased to 686 students, including 221 incoming freshmen. Eighteen different parishes were represented at St. Hubert's, with 178 students coming from St. Bernard's.

October 3, 1949: Freshmen day celebrated at St. Hubert's. The theme was "Good Ship S.H. Study Well."

November 17-18, 1949: The senior play, Smilin' Through, was performed at the Little Flower school auditorium.

November 22, 1949: Six senior class members from the Radio Club defeated boys from Southeast Catholic High School in a famous quotations quiz on WIP radio's weekly Quiz Kids program.

Officers riding bikes, 1946

January 22, 1950: Sixteen members of the St. Hubert Glee Club performed on WFIL radio. The musical selections were "Jubilate Deo" by Mozart, "Cantate Domino Canticum Novum" by Vincent d'Indy, "Ave Maria" by Nicola A. Montani, and "Ave Verum" by Alex Guilmant.

April 13, 1950: Ground was broken for the new wing on St. Hubert's Catholic High School for Girls. The new part of the building would extend from Cottman Avenue, running perpendicular to, and connected with the old building.

June 3, 1950: Combined graduation with Little Flower, Notre Dame Wyncote, and Notre Dame Moylan. The Salutatory speech was written by Claire Belfield and delivered by Gertrude Rayesky.

Golden Growth

The decade of the 1950s was time of growth not only in Northeast Philadelphia but for St. Hubert's as well. Two new additions were added to the "school with a future." Enrollment grew at an amazing pace, the first principal was installed, and new uniforms were introduced. Musically, the decade was one of change. 1954 was the last year without a musical generation gap, as youngsters listened to the same music as their parents. The top songs that year were "Little Things Mean a Lot," "Wanted," "Hey There," "Oh! My Pa-Pa," "Three Coins in the Fountain," and "That's Amore." But a new sound was on the horizon - rock and roll. By the end of the 1950s St. Hubert's students were swooning over a new generation of singers such as Elvis Presley, Fabian, Frankie Avalon, Sam Cooke, and Buddy Holly. Teens would play these and other hits continuously on jukeboxes in drug stores and luncheonettes, rushed home from school to watch Dick Clark host American Bandstand every afternoon, and by the end of the decade made rock and roll the new popular music in America.

Magical Memories

The 1960s was a turbulent decade. The United States was plagued by the war in Vietnam, mourned the loss of the Kennedys and Martin Luther King, and came together as Neil Armstrong took one giant leap for mankind on the moon. St. Hubert's reached its peak enrollment in 1965, and the girls at Cottman and Torresdale went wild over The Beatles, who would change popular music forever. Popular songs of the decade included "California Dreamin," "You Lost That Lovin' Feelin'" "Cherish," "You Can't Hurry Love," "Downtown," "My Girl," "Light my Fire," and "You've Made Me So Very Happy." Hubert girls bought their favorite songs on 45 RPM records (on such labels as Colgems, MGM, White Wale, Columbia, RCA, and Cameo Parkway) and would go with Judge guys to local dances at Concord, St. Matt's, and Boulevard Pools.

Diamond Disco

While the United States went through some difficult times in the 1970s, St. Hubert's rolled along. Despite political and national problems, the venerable school at the corner of Cottman and Torresdale continued to offer a quality education to thousands of girls in the Northeast. A new sound was also emerging: disco, thanks to the popularity of the movie "Saturday Night Fever." Suddenly, songs like "Stayin' Alive," "That's the Way I Like It," "Le Freak," "Disco Inferno," and "Miss You" had everyone dancing. For those who eschewed disco, there were still the rock and pop stars such as The Carpenters ("Close to You"), Linda Ronstadt ("Ooh Baby Baby"), Fleetwood Mac ("Don't Stop"), Eagles ("Hotel California"), Billy Joel ("Just the Way You Are"), Paul McCartney and Wings ("Listen What the Man Says"), and Gary Wright ("Dream Weaver"). Music became portable with the advent of 8-track tapes and cassettes.

Traditional*

The 1980s were a special time at St. Hubert's. The school celebrated its 40th anniversary in 1981 and welcomed its first female principals. The decade was known for its pop culture and prosperous times for the nation. Musically, the 1980s may have been the most diverse, with rock, pop, country, and soul songs occupying spots on the charts. Some of the most memorable songs enjoyed by the girls at St. Hubert's in the 1980s include "Open Arms," "Tell Her About It," "Billie Jean," "Material Girl," "Start Me Up," "Private Eyes," "Jessie's Girl," "Every Breath You Take," "Flashdance," "Walk Like an Egyptian," "Jack and Diane," "Run to You," and "Dancin' in the Dark." The girls listened to these and other Hot Hits on 98 WCAU-FM and on their boom boxes, which they carried with them everywhere.

Having fun at prom, 1995

Change was in the air at St. Hubert's in the 1990s. New uniforms were introduced in 1990 and 1999, many new teachers joined the faculty, and enrollment became a greater concern. Still, the one constant at St. Hubert's was the girls' love of music. Compact discs (CDs) were popular, and a new sound was in the air - boy bands such as New Kids on the Block ("Hangin' Tough," "The Right Stuff") and NSync ("Tearin' Up My Heart,"

"Bye Bye Bye"). Other popular songs of the decade included "Wannabe," "Smells Like Teen Spirit," "I Will Always Love You," "Jump," "End of the Road," "Losing My Religion," "Whoomp (There it is)," "Smooth," and "Unbelievable." The most popular radio stations at the time were Eagle 106 and Q102.

A Hopeful Home

The 2010s were a tumultuous and challenging time at St. Hubert. In 2012 the school was slated for closure, but due to the hard work and dedication of students, faculty, alumnae, and the community, St. Hubert's was able to remain open. The school greeted new administrations in 2013 and 2017, many longtime teachers retired, and we learned that "Sisterhood cannot be defined, only experienced." The more things changed, the more they remained the same as the girls still loved listening to music. Popular songs included "Bad Romance," "OMG," "Rolling in the Deep," "Call Me Maybe," "Blurred Lines," "Happy," "Sugar," and "Bad at Love." Technology continued to evolve as the girls now streamed their music from such sources as Spotify and Sirius XM.

St. Hubert: the next 80 years!

*“The Only Constant in Life Is Change.”
Heraclitus*

Though we could never begin to know what the next 80 years will bring, we do know they are full of possibilities and innovations through technology and collaboration!

The traditional classes offered began in 1941 at St. Hubert, such as Home Economics, are now called Fashion Design and can lead to jobs in an expansive industry filled with many career opportunities upon graduation. Girls who aspired to be nurses now take Allied Health in our Pre-Professional (Nursing) Certificate and become nurses and medical professionals.

Our traditional gardens bloom into outdoor classrooms in our newly renovated and expansive courtyard. And Russo park will be revived into all new athletic fields for soccer, field hockey, lacrosse, and our newly formed flag football league.

As we move into the next our 80 years we will continue to Reach Higher to bring about exciting “changes” for St. Hubert Catholic High School for Girls.

ST. HUBERT ART & DESIGN ACADEMY

St. Hubert Art & Design Academy

Today's typical high school classroom should be marked by movable tables, electronic tablets and devices, and predominantly students moving around the room. Teachers coaching a student, guiding a writing exercise, and facilitating a discussion or activity. At St. Hubert there is first-rate, challenging, and imaginative instruction and learning ... and the need for facilities and resources combined to help make that happen.

St. Hubert already stands apart for the recognized excellence of its students in the arts, particularly in music performance, digital arts and fashion. Fashion design is one of the fastest growing industries in Philadelphia and market research reveals an otherwise limited breadth and depth in the arts education offered by archdiocesan and public high schools located in Northeast Philadelphia.

By creating an Arts Academy that captures "design" in its many forms, St. Hubert adopts a portfolio-focused approach that deepens a student's ongoing assessment of her talent, skill and proficiency. The digital arts, ceramics, sound & editing, and media arts will join fashion design and the performing arts in components for students to build their portfolios of creative works, performances and collections.

By embracing an interdisciplinary hands-on STEAM curriculum, St. Hubert assembles science, math, and technology tools in open and adaptable spaces that support student design, building, testing, programming, coding, printing, robotics, and other project-based applications of math and science principles that are relevant today.

This co-curricular approach to teaching and learning expands course offerings into a framework of visual, design, and performing arts with the addition of the digital arts, ceramics, dance and the creation of new opportunities for studio applications of instructional theories and principles.

A particular emphasis for St. Hubert instructional perspective is the application of best practices for teaching young women. A successful STEAM program generally demands a student's ability to immerse herself in individual and team projects, solve real-world problems, demonstrate an independence of thought, collaborate generously, and take risks that push them above their limits and include the prospect of failure.

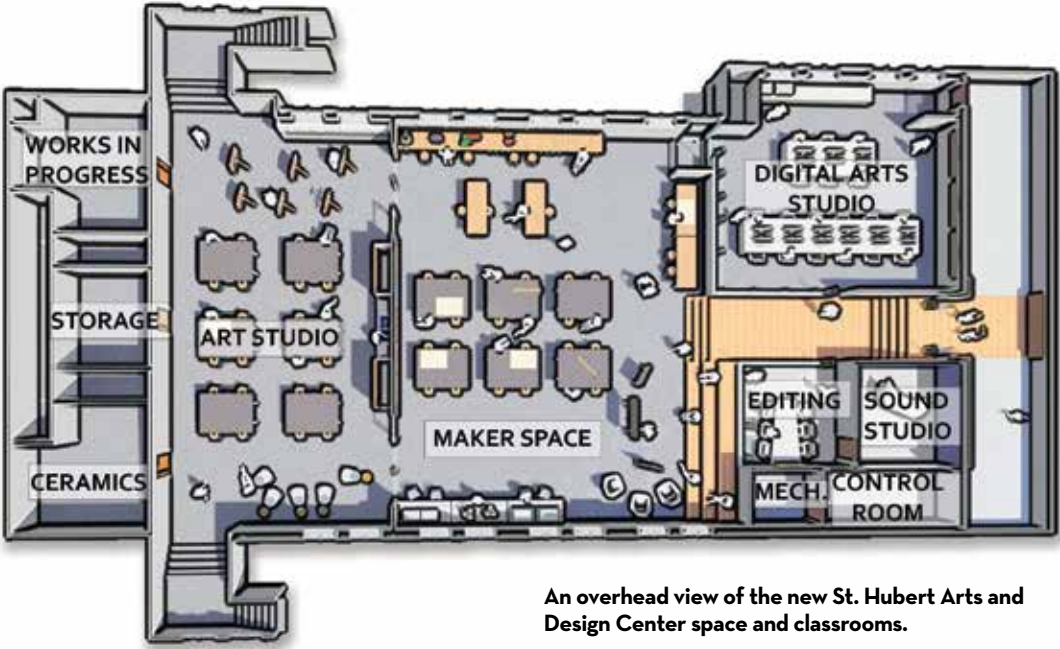

Adopting this project-based STEAM curriculum and Arts Academy, we are more fully preparing our young women to push past their comfort zones and become life-long innovative thinkers and problem-solvers. This shift in classroom culture does not only elevate student's day-to-day learning experience but also prepares her for her college environment or tomorrow's workspace.

A newly renovated art room will allow for state-of-the-art creative space for classes and AP artists projects.

The STEAM lab will offer the needed space for a co-curricular creative space. Clubs such as Sewing with its 65 participants will be afforded the space to stretch out to make room for their creative designs.

St. Hubert Courtyard

Construction begins in June, Thank you! Even in a pandemic you have stepped up to help match the grant from Department of Community and Economic Development (DCED) via the support of State Senator John Sabatina, Jr. and State Representative Mike Driscoll to renovate the outdoor Courtyard space into usable greenspace for our students, faculty, and staff to use before, during and after school hours. These renovations will also provide a venue for a variety of school, alumnae and community events, and will be a showcase for the entrance of St. Hubert.

There is still time to join us in celebrating the legacy of St. Hubert through sponsorship opportunities in the new Courtyard. Commemorate the women in your family of faith and integrity, the friendships that you have made at St. Hubert, with a brick, a bench, or any of the options on the website that are still available at www.huberts.org/courtyard/

The beautification of this part of St. Hubert with a Courtyard, with viable outdoor space for classes and gathering, will truly enhance our campus and the neighborhood.

The amphitheater and terrace will provide an area for the orchestra and theater to perform during events.

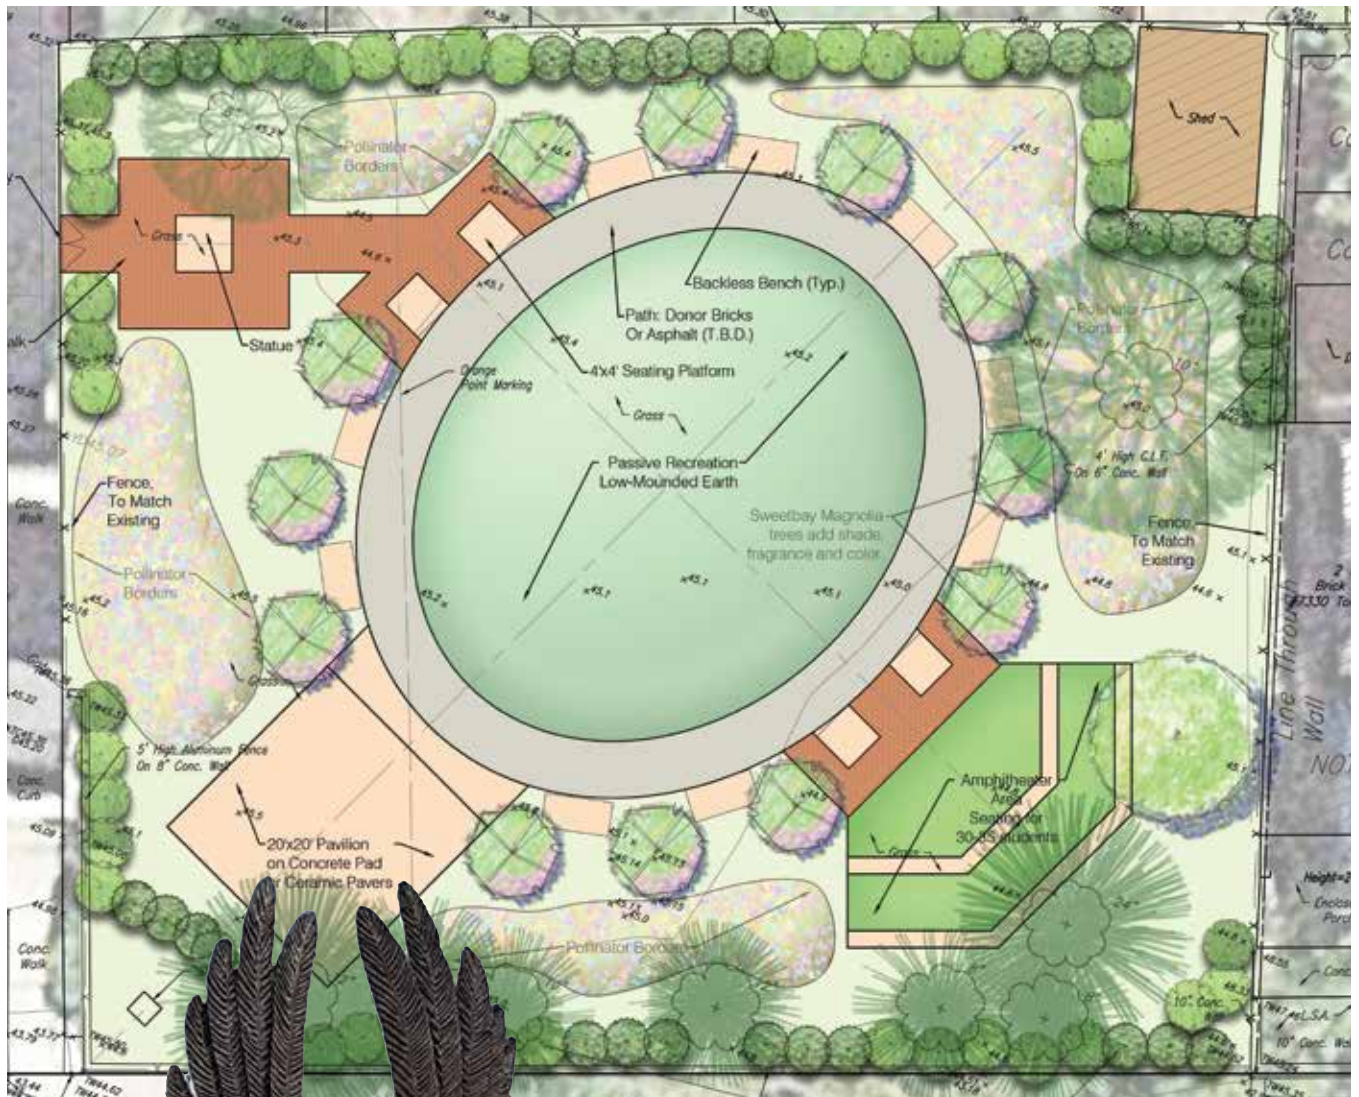

The depicted wall will provide casual seating while the grotto featured on the far right will allow for entertaining.

Courtyard Sponsorship Opportunities

Preliminary architectural layouts for the new courtyard coming September 2022.

Karen Beyer '64, donated this beautiful interactive sculpture done by renowned artist Timothy Schmalz to be placed in the new courtyard.

As a proud alumna of St Hubert and knowing the power of art to celebrate spirituality, it is an honor to be the patron of this sculpture inspired by Hebrews 13:2. "Show hospitality to strangers for by so doing, some people have shown hospitality to angels without knowing it." Hopefully, this beautiful sculpture will invoke the meaning of our faith and the love God has for us.

Exclusive to St. Hubert Students

Partnering with Colleges to offer students college classes at St. Hubert allows our students an innovative and cost effective way to add value to their academics and place them at an advantage upon graduation! This will be the new way to “fashion” education and once again St. Hubert is on the cutting edge!

Our graduates will have their High School degree along with 30 credits (an entire freshman year) from La Salle or Certificates in Healthcare and Business from Manor both at 18 credits that will give them the distinct advantage in the workplace and in higher education platforms.

Students that choose to get certified in Healthcare will be only one collegiate academic year away from acquiring their Licensed Practical Nursing degree. This affordable model will offer St. Hubert graduates with a distinct advantage in their medical workplace options.

There is a noticeable increase in women owning and operating a business than ever. Manor’s Entrepreneurial degree from St. Hubert will give our students the advantage of planning and even beginning their business before graduation.

College Courses at Saint Hubert

From the first day of your Freshman year Saint Hubert prepares you for the future. Taking college level classes fulfills not only your high school requirements but also earns you college credit. By the time you graduate you just might have a semester’s worth of college credit!

Dual Enrollment Program

Saint Hubert High School for Girls currently has agreements with La Salle University, Manor College, Neumann University, and various other institutions. Through La Salle University’s LEAP program students are able to earn up to 30 college credits before high school graduation. Manor College is offering two Certificate programs in Entrepreneurship and Allied Health Pre-Professional. Neumann University offers a Public Speaking class to help students better prepare their presentation skills beyond high school. Our students will attend classes taught by the universities faculty. All of this is done in real time with live audio and video or in person. The students will receive credit from St. Hubert and also full college credits from the Universities.

Diocesan Scholars Program

Sponsored by the Office of Catholic Education and local Catholic colleges and universities, the Diocesan Scholars program honors students who excel academically and who would benefit from beginning college work during their senior year. Each scholar will be permitted to take, free of charge, two college courses each semester on the campus of a nearby college or university. Scholars will complete the remainder of the roster with regular courses at Saint Hubert. Juniors ranked in the top thirty cumulatively are eligible to apply.

Ways to Give

We prepare and motivate our girls for an ever-changing world by instilling in them critical thinking skills, a global perspective, and a respect for core values of spirituality, scholarship, service, and sisterhood.

You can support this vision through a gift to the scholarship fund; participation in the EITC/OSTC program; or a planned gift for the future. Your generosity will contribute to the continuation of the legacy of Saint Hubert Catholic High School for Girls – to educate women of faith and integrity.

Scholarship Fund

Assists students that demonstrate academic criteria and/or financial need.

EITC

(Educational Improvement Tax Credit)

OSTC

(Opportunity Scholarship Tax Credit)
Businesses in Pennsylvania can receive up to a 90% tax credit by donating to the EITC/OSTC programs. Through your participation, you can direct your state tax dollars to assist students in their pursuit of a quality Catholic education at Saint Hubert. For more information please visit: dced.pa.gov/

Memorial Giving

Give a gift in memory of a family member, classmate or friend.

Planned Giving

Alumnae, parents, and friends of Saint Hubert can make a charitable gift through an estate asset that can be planned now and paid later.

For more information please contact Pamela Vasserman, pvasserman@huberts.org 215-624-6840 (ext.1530)

Your Pennsylvania Tax Dollars can help students receive an education at Saint Hubert!

Pennsylvania's Educational Improvement Tax Credit (EITC) and Opportunity Scholarship Tax Credit (OSTC) programs provide opportunities for businesses and individuals to receive up to a 90% tax credit against their personal PA state tax liability. Your PA tax liability can be converted into scholarships for students at Saint Hubert!

Who is eligible?

1. Businesses authorized to do business in Pennsylvania who are subject to one or more of the following taxes:

- Personal Income Tax
- Capital Stock/Foreign Franchise Tax
- Corporate Net Income Tax
- Bank Shares Tax
- Title Insurance & Trust Company Shares Tax
- Insurance Premium Tax (excluding surplus lines, unauthorized, domestic/foreign marine)
- Mutual Thrift Tax
- Malt Beverage Tax
- Retaliatory Fees under section 212 of the Insurance Company Law of 1921

2. Individuals who pay personal income tax through an LLC, S Corp, or who own or are a member of an LLP

For additional information, please contact:
Pamela Vasserman, Director of Institutional Advancement

Making a difference through EITC

We gave to EITC because it was a simple way to have our tax dollars help cover student scholarships. Why pay tax to the state when they could be used for the girls at Saint Hubert? It expands the power of giving and the type of activities you want your tax dollars to support in a direct and meaningful way.

St. Hubert Brown and Gold

With proud and eager loyalty
We fling our banner to the world,
And catch the rays of wisdom streaming down
As its glory is unfurled.
We poise our spear, we aim it true
With strength that's born of right
Let baseness and oppression feel
The piercing of its might.

CHORUS

For St. Hubert's Brown and Gold
For our faith that's firm and bold
With joy we pledge our strength and zeal
To uphold our treasured seal.
Armed with knowledge and with truth
And the fire and courage of youth
We dare to do, to live for you.
Our Alma true, our Alma Mater true.

'Neath guidance of Our Lady's Star
St. Hubert's powerful hand,
Our lives in love and spotless purity
Crushing battles will withstand
Our deeds will echo far and wide
For bravery and renown
Our trust in "Christus Vincit" and
Our victory a crown.
