Chapter 1.

Introduction.

The oldest ancestor of the family Dormans was Mathias, who married in 1597 in Heerlen. It appears that even in the twentieth century near all relatives are born in South-Limburg. The very extensive lineages of this Limburgian family needed a clear overview . The period before 1700 has been described in chapter 4. It contains the first four generations from 1597. About 1700 five lineages come forward, respectively Petrus Dormans from Schimmert (chapter 5), Mathias Dormans from Nuth (chapter 6), Petrus Dormans from Schinnen (chapter 7), Mathias Dormans from Schinnen (chapter 8) and Nicolaas Dormans from Brunssum (chapter 9). In chapters 5-9 the five lineages have been described separately from the fifth generation .

Reason for this investigation.

For the 50-year anniversary of the marriage of my parents I would like to give them a pedigree of our family. It was not only interesting how the first names of my ancestors were, but also the birth places and their profession. My grandfather was Jan Peter Aloysius Dormans, he was a farmer in Doenrade. His father and grandfather were also farmers. It is a pity that in the ecclesiastical archives before 1800 no professions are mentioned.

The start of detailed genealogy research is dependent sometimes on coincidence. At a visit to the State archives in Maastricht visitor cards have to be filled in. When I checked in with my family name, at that moment two visitor cards with our family name were present. On my question if I was allowed to copy the home address of the other person (probably we were doing the same research), Paul Dormans appeared to live in Fort Wayne, Indiana, USA. After intensive correspondence we interchanged our genealogical data. It appeared that he had been flown away from the Germans. Finally he reached the USA, where in Mississippi he married the American Virginia Statham. Their four children are, as far as I can check, the first American Dormans. Our first common ancestors were Nicolaas Dormans and Catharina Hoen, married in Schinnen in 1710.

It happens more often that relatives depart to countries far away. Children of Leonardus Josephus Johannes Dormans are born in Blantyre, Malawi. Other relatives with our family name are living in Germany, Belgium, Luxembourg, United States of America, Canada, Brazil, Australia and New Zealand.

The motive for further research was the reading of the chapter "Wintraak 1885-1985" from "Daniëls Familia Hillenbergensis" (Sittard, 1986) from the author J.G.M. Daniëls. Of course I met the name of my great-grandfather Peter Willem Dormans, living at Wintraak no. 153 (at this moment no. 34), and of his brother Jan Peter Dormans, living at the Wintraak no. 154 (now no. 35). At the Wintraak no. 143 (now no. 14) Jan Gerard Dormans was living, a unknown person for me. In 1884 his daughter Maria Josepha with her husband moved in in his home, after living first next to him at no. 144 (now no. 16). At the Wintraak no. 158 (now no. 15) in 1885 the couple Dormans-Cals had an inn, also unknown for me. Enough reason for me to dive in the family history.

Twins.

From this research 23 twins were detected during four centuries. Twins, who had a father or mother Dormans.

1. 10-09-1646 Mathias Dormans and Jacobus Dormans, sons of Petrus Dormans and Maria Vroemen, who were not linked to the pedigree presented here, as to few data are available. Their parents married in Heerlen 03-03-1642.
2. 03-27-1679 Dionysius Dormans and Servatius Dormans.
3. 05-12-1763 Joanna Elisabeth Dormans and Maria Joseph Dormans,
4. 03-30-1780 and 03-31-1780 Henricus Stijfs and Maria Catherine Stijfs
5. 09-04-1812 Marie Gertrude Dormans and Marie Judith Dormans
6. 09-07-1812 Pieter Mathijs Dormans and Leonard Hubert Dormans.
7. 10-16-1843 Peter Willem Dormans and Maria Agnes Hubertina Dormans
8. 02-02-1846 Jan Hubertus Dormans and Peter Theodorus Dormans.
Twins no 5 and 6 occurred in the same family.
9. 07-26-1865 Elisabeth Dormans and Pieter Dormans
10. 06-23-1874 Joseph Hubert Custers and Jan Hubert Custers
11. 02-09-1895 Anna Maria Hubertina Schreurs and Henricus Franciscus Schreurs.
12. 07-18-1903 Maria Hubertina Walraven and Maria Catharina Walraven.
13. 09-27-1903 Leonard Dormans and Frederik Dormans.
14. 10-03-1907 Jan Frans Jozef Dormans and Jan Pieter Willem Dormans
15. 11-04-1916 Wilhelmina Johanna Maria Dormans and Maria Catharina Antonia Dormans
16. 05-12-1921 Maria Hubertina Dormans and Martinus Hubertus Dormans
17. 09-07-1938 Petrus Hubertus Dormans and Martinus Hubertus Dormans.
18. 01-09-1945 Paul Joseph Johannes Dorscheidt and Peter Catharina Johannes Jacobus Dorscheidt
19. 07-08-1946 Johannes Arnoldus Maria Aloysius Dormans and Peter Paul Willem Maria Dormans.
20. 10-01-1987 Maud Mathilde Renee Verberne and Merel Veronica Maria Verberne.
21. 10-05-1990 David Hamacher and Tobias Hamacher.
22. 02-01-1993 John-Paul Franks and Rebecca LouEllyn Franks.
23. 08-22-2000 Martijn Johannes Helena Lowie Dormans and Daniël Anna Betin Dormans

From scientific literature it is known that having two-egg-twins is partly determined genetically. In the Netherlands the number of twins per 1000 pregnancies through the centuries is averaged 12. Considering the relative high number of twins in our family genetical factors appeared to have an influence.

First names.

Naming of children to grandparents or parents can be followed in all generations. The great-grandfather, grandfather as well as the father of Mathias Dormans (chapter 8, Vd), born in Schinnen at 05-18-1734 are called Mathias, while three times a son was called Mathias, as the earlier born son Mathias died in the mean time.

Only in the present generations the tradition naming children to grandparents is diminishing. A new scale of names is added to our family: Bas, Beatrice, Bianca, Lynda, Evelyn, Hein, Lilian, Randy, Roge, Sandy, Sjoerd, Sonja and Sylvia. The top-10 of most popular first names in our family through the centuries is for boys and girls:

1.	J(e)an	77	Maria/Marie	176
2.	Jo(h)annes	75	Anna	52
3.	Petrus/Peter	51	Jo(h)anna	21
4.	Joseph	26	Hubertina	10
5.	Hubertus	20	Elisa(beth)	10
6.	Pieter	18	Catharina	8
7.	Martinus	14	Barbara	7
8.	Willem	14	Margaretha	5
9.	Mathias	12	Josephina	3
10	Hendrik	12	Mathilde	3

Family names.

Although through the centuries the South-Limburgian family name Dormans was written nearly always correctly, - except for only a few times in Brunssum about 1730 where the name was written as Doirmans , and in Schimmert (1807) as Dorremans - in the North-Limburgian Bergen the notation Dormans is present next to many other notations: Doremans, Doormans, Dooremans and Doremanns. Which notation is correct, is unclear. The great-grandfather of bishop J.Hanssen from Roermond was called Pierre Dormans (Doormans), and came from Bergen. I could not find a link between this family and the South-Limburgian family Dormans.

The Limburgian places Maastricht and Berg en Terblijt are adjacent to Utrecht the only one in the Netherlands where members of the Dormanns family are living. They all descend from Edmund Dormanns, who was born in Aachen 10-17-1902. In 1908 he moved to Maastricht, where he married and finally died at 12-23-1983. His parents (father Herman Dormanns, born Aachen 02-03-1874 and mother Therèse Ernst, he was single son) and grandparents came also from Germany. It is not excluded that in earlier times a slip occurred from Dormans to Dormanns. In the past centuries the family name Dormans was present in the marriage registers of Geilenkirchen (GFR) at 06-13-1686, as well as in the marriage registers of Heerlen, where Johannes Dormans from Immendorf (GFR) married at 04-15-1663.

It is curious that in 1906 in Kerkrade in the birth act of Maria Catharina the father was mentioned as Joseph Johannes Arnold Dormans, while he signed the act with Dormanns. He is mentioned as Arnold Josephus Johannes Dormans in the birth register of Aachen (Germany) in 1882. See: Dormans around the world; Are the German and Dutch families related ?

As the mobility back in the old days was more limited than nowadays, we see that in earlier times persons nearly always married somebody from the same village or neighboring place. Through the centuries certain family names are linked several times to the family Dormans.

The family name Bruls is linked a few times with the Dormans family. In 1740 Petrus Dormans married in Schinnen Christine Bruls. In 1813 Mathias Dormans married in Schinnen Maria Christina Bruls. In 1845 Elise Dormans married in Schinnen Jan Pieter Bruls, and in 1870 Jan Michael Dormans married in Oirsbeek Johanna Maria Petronella Bruls.

Marriages between the Dormans and Hoen families occurred several times in 1710, 1938 and 1948. Maria Catherine Elisabeth Hoen, who in 1938 married Peter Willem Aloysius Dormans, appeared to descend directly from a brother of Catharine Hoen, who in 1710 married Nicolaas Dormans.

Also between the families Dormans and Custers more connections appear to exist: in 1836 in Nuth between Marie Mechtildis Dormans and Pieter Renier Custers; in 1845 in Hoensbroek between Hendrik Nicolaas Dormans and Anna Maria Custers; in 1873 in Hoensbroek between Maria Gertrudis Dormans and Jan Andreas Custers; and in 1878 in Schinnen between Maria Mechtildis Dormans and Gerard Joseph Custers.

The bride and groom Jean Peter Dormans and Maria Gertrudis Dormans, who married in Schinnen in 1831, were consanguineous in the third grade (grand nephew and grand niece). Jean Peter (chapter 6, VI-3) was a son of Adam Nicolaas (VI), and a grandson of Mathias (Vb). Maria Gertrudis (chapter 7, VIb-7) was a daughter of Theodorus (VIb) and a granddaughter of Petrus (Vc). Previously mentioned Mathias (Vb) and Petrus (Vc) are brothers and sons of Nicolaas. For this marriage dispensation had to be asked.

Remarkably in the 19th century stillborn children were registered sometimes in the municipal birth registers, as in Munstergeleen (chapter 9, IXa-9,10). Why in the 19th century in the 10-years summaries of birth registers the parents of stillborn children were not mentioned, but the notation was registered under de letter L of lifeless child, is unclear to me.

Varia.

In the ecclesiastical archives of the parish of St.Dionysius in Schinnen the years 1672-1674 are missing by fire. The marriage date of Mathias Dormans and Agatha Palmen was probably somewhere in 1674. presumably Servatius was born in 1675 as their first child.

Stephanus Ortman married Maria Dormans, possible a daughter (born 10-27-1722, chapter 4, IVa-7) of Servatius, or a daughter (born 09-21-1717, chapter 4 IVb-4) of his brother Nicolaas. As Stephanus is a baptism witness of Johannes Petrus Dormans, son of Mathias Dormans and Joanna Leufkens, it is more probably that he has Nicolaas as father in law, as he would be baptism witness as uncle, than when Servatius was his father in law, as the brother of his father in law was the grandfather of the baptism.

As far as I know there was only one 100 year old person in our family: Maria Hubertina Johanna Dormans born Nuth 01-18-1897 and died Nuth 03-19-1997. It will not be a coincidence that due to better health services in the 20th and 21st century the frequency of 100 year old persons in our family will increase. My aunt Maria Louise Elisabeth Dormans, born Oirsbeek 06-24-1918 will be hopefully 100 year old in June 2018.

Curiously but very illustrative for the catholic south in the 18th century was the habit of the pastor in Schinnen to describe illegal children in the birth register as such by the text "illegitimus filius", but also to press the parents to face the facts by writing the birth act in addition up side down !

The lineage in chapter 5 is a nice example of transmitting a profession from father to son. Father Lambertus (chapter 5, VIIIb) as well as three sons (IXb, IXc, IXd) and two grandsons (Xb, Xd) were all carpenter, wheel maker or joiner. Also his brother Pieter Laurens (VIIIc) and the father in law of his son Hubertus (IXd) practice the same profession.

It is remarkable that sometimes the data on a personal record card are not complete, although this card concerns the data of the civil status. On the personal record card of Peter Willem Dormans (chapter 6, IXe) 17 children were mentioned, while his seventh child Anna Wilhelmina is not mentioned.

According to the civil register of Maastricht Martinus Hubertus Dormans (chapter 5, Xe) had no children, although in 1906, more than one year after his marriage, a daughter Catharina was born, that died 09-21-1906.

Pieter Laurens Dormans (chapter 5, IXa) had as fifth child a daughter Maria Hubertina, born 1867. Her birth and death certificates are present in the archives of the community Beek. In the 10-year summary of the birth/marriage/death registers of Beek Maria Hubertina is not mentioned, but Peter Dormans, born on the same day as Maria Hubertina. Probably the name of Peter was registered by mistake in stead of Maria Hubertina.

The eleventh child of Lambertus Dormans (chapter 5, VIIIb) was called Maria Anna, who married in 1879 Petrus Steenbakkers. However, in the community Heer a death certificate dd. 04-18-1859 is present of Maria Anna Dormans, eleven months old (so born about May 1858). She was the daughter of Lambert Dormans and Anna Catharina Sijben. It is unclear when this Maria Anna was born, as the eleventh child was born at 04-03-1858. Also the age of the father Lambert (60 year) is not correct looking at his birth date (07-14-1808), as he was 50 year old at 04-18-1859.

Chapter 2

The French family de Dormans.

Has the Limburgian family Dormans French ancestors?

The 50-year anniversary of my parents marriage in 1988 was the reason for me to search for a pedigree of my family. Finally this has resulted in a book titled "Het geslacht Dormans", edited in 1994 under direct management, and present at the National Archives in Maastricht. (1)

In the mean time parts of this pedigree were published in the Limburgian Journal of Genealogy (2,3,4). During my research I have contacted many family members. Often it was claimed that our Limburgian family was descended from France. For there is - near Reims in the region of Champagne - a French city with our family name Dormans. Sometimes I met in the houses of family members stained glass windows with the arms of the highly-noble family "de Dormans". The family nestor lived at the local castle and was Lord of Dormans. In my book "Het geslacht Dormans" I have noticed briefly what I knew about this mediaeval family. I had recieved all French data from the mayor of Dormans, Mr. Andre Barbier. It concerned a description of only some generations from 1295, with the announcement that this family became extinct in about 1550. As the possibilities of genealogical research 20 years later by internet are now much broader and accessible, I have renewed my interests about this French family.

The arms of the French noble family de Dormans

My eldest known South-Limburgian ancestor was Mathias Dormans, who married in Heerlen in 1597. His birth date and birth place are unknown. He had 2 sons and 2 daughters. It was not possible to look further in the past, as most of the ecclesiastical archives started from 1600. If I could construct a pedigree of the French family, a possible link with the Limburgian family would be clear. All genealogical data are acquired from internet (5,6). All data are checked as much as possible with accessible archives as: a list of Maltese knights in France, a list of bishops in various French cities, the will of Jean II de Dormans, available on internet, etc. The geographic distance between the city of Dormans and south-Limburg is only 250 km.

The castle Dormans

I. Jean de Dormans, born Dormans about 1290, died after 1347, married about 1320 with Antoinette d'Escot, born about 1300. Jean I de Dormans, Lord of Dormans, count of Lisieux, became attorney-general in the Parish parlement in 1347, as well as chairman of the parlement. From this marriage 7 children:

II-1 Jean II de Dormans, born Dormans about 1320, died Paris at Monday 7-11-1373. He studied justice, became in 1355 substitute of the attorney-general in the parlement, in 1336 archdeacon of Brie and canon in Soissons, in 1348 private teacher of crown-prince Charles V, at 21-9-1357 chancellor of the duke of Normandy, at 19-11-1358 bishop of Lisieux, and from 1360 till 1368 bishop of Beauvais. He was one of the French delegates at the conference, resulting in the Pact of England in 1360. He was from 28-2-1361 till 1372 chancellor of France, appointed by king Jean of France; at 21-9-1368 he became count and cardinal of Beauvais, appointed by pope Urbanus V, (Jean II de Dormans baptised Charles VI in the church of Saint Paul in Paris), and in 1371 papal ambassador of pope Gregorius XI. At 8-5-1370 he erected the Collège de Dormans-Beauvais in Paris, a school where higher education was given. Twelve students from the city of Dormans or from the diocese Soissons get free education. That school has existed till the French revolution. The chapel in the rue de Beauvais is now (2011) in use by the Roumanian orthodox community as archiepiscopal cathedral. Jean II was buried in the church of Chartreux in Paris, where his mausoleum is.

II-2 Guillaume I de Dormans, born about 1325, died 11-7-1373. He was knight (1370), became in 1373 substitute of the attorney-general in the parlement as well as chancellor of France at 21-2-1371, appointed by king Charles V. He was ambassador in England, and Lord of Dormans, Nozay and Silly. In about 1355 he married Jeanne-Barbe (Baube), Lady of Silly (born about 1325, died 1387). From this marriage:

III-1 Jean III de Dormans, born 1366, died Sens 2-9-1386. He became canon of the cathedrals of Paris, Chartres and Beauvais. He was buried in the chapel of the Collège de Dormans-Beauvais in Paris.

III-2 Bernhard de Dormans, born 1365, died november 1381, married in 1381 Marguerithe de Craon (born 1370, died 1420), childless. In 1377 Bernhard de Dormans was chamberlain of Louis, the duke of Anjou, knight, and Lord of Dormans and Soupy. He had no clerical function, otherwise than his 4 brothers.

III-3 Regnault I de Dormans, died in Paris may 1386. Regnault (also called Renaud) was archdeacon of Chalons, canon of the cathedral Notre-Dame in Paris, in Chartres and Soissons, and member of the council of state of the king in 1379.

III-4 Miles de Dormans, (born about 1340, died Paris 17-8-1387. Miles (also called Milon) de Dormans was doctor in civil and canonical justice, count of Dormans, became in 1361 de prime chairman of the Parish audit-office, archdeacon of Meaux, canon of Saint-Quentin, bishop of Angers (1371-1373), Bayeux (1374) and Beauvais (1375). He became chancellor of the duke of Anjou, and in 1380 minister of justice. At 29-11-1377 he became chairman of the Parish audit-office. In 1384 he joined with 200 lancers at the French army under the leadership of Enguerrand VII de Coucy, advancing on the direction of Italy. From 1-10-1380 till 1383 he was chancellor of France. He was buried in the chapel of the Collège de Dormans-Beauvais in Paris.

III-5 Guillaume II de Dormans, died 25-10-1415. He had a bastard-son: Gullaume de Dormans, who was legalised in 1440. Guillaume II de Dormans became chairman of the Parish parlement, archdeacon and bishop in Meaux (1379), and archbishop in Sena (1390). He was Lord of Lisy, Monceaux and Goussainville. He was doctor in civil rights. He was buried in the church of Chartreux in Paris.

III-6 Jeanne de Dormans, (born about 1350, died after 1407). She married twice: in about 1375 with Philibert de Paillart (born 1340, died 2-8-1387), eight children, and in 1390 with Pierre de Rochefort, knight. Philibert de Paillart was knight, and at 4-4-1370 he became chairman of the Parish parlement. He was Lord of Paillart and Silly, citizen of Beaune and chancellor of Bourgogne (1363). At 2-8-1387 he died from pestilence in Paris.

III-7 Yde de Dormans, (born about 1350, died 8-10-1379), married Robert de Nesle (born 1350, died 1378). She was Lady of Fleury-en-Montagne. One son: Jean de Nesle, born 1370, died 1396. Robert de Nesle and afterwards also his son Jean were Lord of Saint-Venant and Sauchoy, and knight.

II-3 Pierre de Dormans, born about 1340, died 1397, married about 1390 Marguerithe de Louans (born about 1365, died before 1397). By marriage Pierre was Lord of Nozay, and became chairman of the parlement in Bourgogne. He was knight, alias "Balossier", and Lord of Dormans. From this marriage three children:

III-1 Jean IV de Dormans, born about 1395, see further at III-1

III-2 Marguerithe de Dormans, married Jean de La Vielle.

III-3 Third child, daughter de Dormans, married Hugues VII de Conflans (died after 1393). From this marriage one child: Eustache IV de Conflans. Hugues VII was Lord of Conflans and Sommevesle, and field-marshal of Champagne.

II-4 Simon de Dormans, Lord of Rideau, captain of Reims. He had at least one son:

III-1 Antoine de Dormans, Lord of Rideau. Three children:

IV-1 Emery de Dormans

IV-2 Geoffrine de Dormans, died after 1407.

IV-3 Jeanne de Dormans, died after 1407.

II-5 Agnes de Dormans, married Jacques Lessart.

II-6 Marie de Dormans, married N.I. de Charly.

II-7 Gillette (Ginette?) de Dormans, born about 1335, married 1364 Jean II de Chanteprime (born 1340, died at 2-11-1410 in Sens). Jean II de Chanteprime was Lord of Champlot, Avrolles and Pont de Bar. He was chancellor of France in 1399, treasurer and royal officer. They had 10 children.

III-1 Jean IV de Dormans, Lord of Nozay. At least he had three children:

IV-1 Regnaud II de Dormans (also called Regnault II), born about 1435, died Chartreux, Paris 11-11-1472. King Louis IX had trust in Regnaud II de Dormans, and Regnaud II de Dormans was appointed by him as attorney-general of the parlement. He was informant at the council of state, and ambassador in Rome. He was Lord of Nozay, Saint-Remy and Herpont. He was buried in the chapel of the Collège de Dormans-Beauvais in Paris. He married in 1465 Colombe de Bonnavy (born about 1445, died before 14-1-1478). From this marriage three children:

V-1 Guillaume III de Dormans, born about 1470, married about 1500 Marie de Pièdefer (died 10-2-1510). First Guillaume III de Dormans was a shield-barrier, later knight, Lord of Nozay, Saint Martin, Saint-Remy and Serpont, and at 12-11-1507 chairman of the parlement in Dijon, Bourgogne. Five children:

VI-1 Jean V de Dormans, born about 1505, married about 1530 Isabeau Anjorant, born about 1504. Jean V was knight, Lord of Saint-Remy and Nozay, and in 1525 member of the parlement in Rouen.

VI-2 Charles I de Dormans, born about 1505, died about 1572. He married Jacqueline Le Cocq (died 5-6-1547). See further VI-2

VI-3 Louis de Dormans. In 1535 he was a Maltese knight, Commander of Sours and Arville, with the arms of the Dormans family: three golden leopard heads with a red tongue and an azure background.

VI-4 Marie de Dormans (born about 1505, died 28-8-1570), married at 31-1-1521 Jean VI de Longueil (born about 1500, died 1-5-1551). Jean VI was Lord of Sevres and Maisons, and chairman of the Parish parlement.

VI-5 Jacqueline de Dormans, nun in the abbey of Ambonn.

V-2 Francois de Dormans, died at an early age.

V-3 Colombe de Dormans, died before 1499, married Ferry de Lisques. Ferry de Lisques was shield-barrier, and later Lord of Tofflet and lieutenant-general in the district of the mayor of Ponthieu and Mayeur d'Abbeville from 1504.

IV-2 Second child de Dormans, nun.

IV-3 Third child de Dormans, nun.

- A daughter of Regnault II de Dormans (his fourth child?) married Jacques de Laon. In 1525 he became Lord de Dormans, and in 1532 owner of the castle in Dormans and the accessory estates.

VI-2 Charles I de Dormans, (born about 1505, died after 1572) married Jacqueline de Cocq (died 7-6-1547). Charles I was knight, in 1530 member of the parlement in Rouen, Lord of Rozay, Bièvres-Le-Châtel and Gisy. At least one child:

VII-1 Charles II de Dormans, born about 1550, married Marie de Marseille. Charles II de Dormans was Lord of Bièvre, and chairman of the audit-office in Paris in 1568. Four children:

VIII-1 Marie de Dormans (died 8-9-1596), married at 14-2-1580 René Poince De Pincé, died 1596. René was Lord of Moirieux, Chambrejays and Anjou. He was member of the council of state.

VIII-2 Isabeau Elisabeth de Dormans, married 13-4-1587 Francois de La Béraudière, died 1646. After Francois de La Béraudière, member of the Parish parlement and Lord of Signon, had become a widower, he became abbot of Saint-Junien de Nouaillé and of Saint-Benoit, and dean of Poitiers, and in 1614 bishop of Périgueux.

VIII-3 Charlotte de Dormans (died 1595), married Antoine de Soubsefour, died 1605. Antoine was viscount of Vaux, and Lord of Moiseray.

VIII-4 Suzanne de Dormans, (died in Paris at 5-8-1638) married for the first time with Francois de Saint Baussan (died 1628), and for the second time with Aignan de Baussan. Francois de Saint Baussan was Lord of Berlize, and steward at the royal court. Aignan de Baussan was shield-barrier, and later Lord of Oigny and Brolise.

A number of persons of the here described French family de Dormans can be considered as possible ancestors of the south-Limburgian family Dormans. They have to be man and born before 1550: Mathias Dormans, who married in 1597, was born in about 1570, so his father will be born in about 1550. The possible ancestors are: Guillaume de Dormans, born before 1405 as son of bischop Guillaume II de Dormans, and legalised in 1440; and the brothers Jean V de Dormans and Louis de Dormans, born in about 1510, sons of Guillaume III de Dormans. From these three persons no offspring has been mentioned. According to various sources the French family de Dormans became extinct at the end of the sixteenth century: so it was described by P.Lainé in 1818 in the manual of the French nobility (7), and as recorded in the history of the castle of Dormans and his inhabitants, reported at Wikipedia. Around 1550 the last ancestor of the family Charles II de Dormans was born, and he had only daughters. After 1638, when his last daughter died, the family name de Dormans does not exist anymore in France.

Much later in history, in the eighteenth and nineteenth century some French persons have the family name Dormans, without "de"

- in about 1730 - 1775 in the department Moselle, in the villages Diepling and Tenteling (nearby Saarbrücken) and in Rodemarck (nearby Luxemburg) respectively in 10, 8 and 2 documents (baptism, marriage and death).

- in the period 1760 - 1785 in the departement Val d'Oises, in the village Bonneuil-en-France (near Paris) one document.
- in the period 1830 - 1885 in the departement Nord in the villages of Fiers Lez Lille (nearby Caen) and Valenciennes (nearby the Belgian border) : each one document.
- in the period 1837 - 1880 in Paris 5 marriage documents (respectively Leonard, Louis, Louis Alexandre, Nicolas Clement and Josephine Dormans)
- in the period 1840 – 1885 in the departement Vosges in the villages Juvaincourt one document and in Mirecourt 37 documents (both villages nearby Nancy)

In the period 1916-1940 only 4 births are mentioned in the departements Eure-et-Loire (2x), Charente Maritime and Lot-et-Garonne. In the periods 1891 – 1915 and 1941 – 1990 no births named Dormans were recorded in France.

The most frequent Christian names Mathias, Nicolaas and Servatius in the beginning of the seventeenth century in the Limburgian family were not present in the fifteenth and sixteenth centuries in France. On the other hand the frequently occurring names of Guillaume, Jean and Charles in the French family are not present in the Limburgian family. Where the family name Dormans in the eighteenth century in France and the South-Limburgian family name Dormans in the sixteenth century originally came from, is still a question without an answer. A link between the South-Limburgian family Dormans and the French family de Dormans has not been demonstrated.

Chapter 3.

Toponymes.

In France near the city of Reims along the river Marne the small city of Dormans is situated, where in the middle ages (1290 - 1550) the noble family “de Dormans” were wielding the scepter. No relationship was demonstrated between this French family and the Limburgian Dormans family.

In Schaesberg, community Landgraaf, a street was called “at the Dormansberg”. This description has no relation with our family name. Originally the hamlet was called “Dormig”, but about 1960 this name was enlisted wrongly.

In the English county Sussex the rural hamlet of Dormansland is located, belonging to the village Lingfield. The name Dormansland presumably descends from Reginald Dereman, tenth man, (tax inner), named in rent registers from about 1310 of the hereditage Lingfield. The same name was mentioned in a local rent register of 1424. These data were found in the book “The history of Dormansland”, present in the local library and composed of six contributions of local inhabitants on occasion of the 100 year celebration of the local parish. Dormans Park is a forest rich residential area of the village Lingfield, where Mr A. Burr in 1880 the first country houses build. The local railway station of the British Railway is called Dormans.

Dormanstown is an English city in the county Northumberland, where the first houses were build in 1917 by the iron and steel concern Dormans Long for her employees. This concern was in about 1920 one of the largest British iron and steel concerns, of which British Steel is now the owner. At the time Dormanstown was announced in the local press (Cleveland Standard) as Redcar’s Garden City. Since 1920 Dormanstown belongs to the community Redcar. In springtime 1916 Albert De Lande Long and Sir Arthur Dormans BT, KBE, born in Kent in 1848, died in 1930, became the owners of the steel company. (From: Charles Winston: The history of Dorman Long, edited in April 1957 in Steel Review, published by British Iron and Steel Federation).

At an old map from 1755 of the hereditage Groesbeeck a piece of ground with the name “Dormans Dris” was mentioned (Dries = Dris = non-used acre, pasture). This map was appendix 1 in “Van Gronspech tot Groesbeeck”, fragments of a local past 1040-1940 by A. Bosch and J. Schmiermann. This indication of place would be related to one person Dormans, living in Groesbeek: Josgen Dormans, who from Sunday 1 september 1686 was a member of the rosary brotherhood, registered in the local parish archives. In the verpondings registry of 1649 and 1790, in some lists of owners of horses and cattle from the period end 17th till end 18th century the family name Dormans was not present. Further details in the birth/marriage/death registers of Groesbeek of the 17th century were lacking.

Finally I will mention some facts, that have nothing to do with our family, however they are very nice to know.

In Magherafeld, Northern Ireland there is a restaurant called “Dormans and the Opera”.

A very famous coffee brand in Kenia is “Dormans coffee”.
