We recently had the privilege hosting Logi Bear Books for a Creative Immersion Incursion, which was a truly meaningful and heartwarming experience that brought our community together.

We booked the incursion after a kindergarten child at our service won the Logi Bear Books Christmas Colouring In Competition (2025) – This activity filled our service with excitement and pride.

In the lead-up to the visit, our children were once again filled with excitement as they completed another colouring competition, which was then judged and awarded a small gift bag of toys on the day of the visit. Our winner was Oliver, a year 3 child who wouldn't typically choose to sit down and colour, but he was incredibly motivated to take part and was completely engaged throughout the entire duration of the book reading and Q&A session – making his win even more special. His excitement and pride in being recognised was a joy to see and a wonderful reminder of the power of engagement and encouragement.

Both Where'd You Go? and the story behind this beautiful book is one of love, strength, and resilience. The book possesses messages of connection, love, and navigating grief in a way that is gentle and accessible for children and families.

Following the reading, Georgia ran a drawing workshop with the children, which was thoroughly enjoyed by all children of varying ages.

We are incredibly grateful to have connected with Logi Bear Books who brought warmth, authenticity, and creativity to our service. The experience as a whole was deeply meaningful for both children and educators, providing a safe and supportive way to explore emotions, connection, and understanding. It was such a special experience for our whole community.

Our whole community embraced the opportunity, with many families, the school principal and myself, purchasing copies of the book to continue these important conversations at home, OOSH, school, scripture and counselling. In addition, myself a couple of educators purchased copies for our own families.

Resources like these are invaluable in supporting children through big emotions and life experiences, and we look forward to sharing this with other services across our network.

A heartfelt thank you to Holly, Georgia and Nina for bringing such a powerful and meaningful experience to our service.

Check out their website, Where'd You Go? and incursions and workshops. I will be sharing my discount code across our company and to friends to explore the wonderful resources they offer, including support materials for families and some fun colouring-in activities for children.
