Looking Back: A Season of Innovation and Insight

This past quarter, our webinars explored the intersection of AI and education, universal design for learning (UDL), and competency-based instruction. We started the year with Revolutionizing Learning: AI for Inclusive Representation in UDL, helping educators harness AI to create diverse and accessible learning materials. In March, we hosted book talks on The Sage Handbook of Human Resource Development and CBE Redux, offering valuable insights into HR development and competency-based education. We also explored AI-powered assignment design and how AI tools can enhance learner expression.
