Intro to Art B

Donors Choose Letter

I'd like to thank Donors Choose for the drawing journal I was provided. I am thankful that the non-profit organization can distribute these resources to art classes. After being in this classroom and having the privilege to do the drawing journal, I am able to express my creative thoughts and ideas in a way I never had before. I have a better appreciation for the fine minute detailing every piece of artistry has, and how they come together to form a representation of creative thoughts or moments in history. It has been a pleasure working on making a drawing everyday for the past semester.

I am now able to display the mental amalgamations of different things I enjoy onto a physical paper where they can take form and thrive. I can only thank the assignment for helping me more accurately portray these ideas and concepts with the habitual nature of drawing everyday. My drawing has gotten better and I have a better grasp on translating these thoughts onto a paper ever since. Having been able to put these images from different stories I grew up reading and watching onto paper helped me really understand what the imagery of these stories are really representing, and what they truly tell about the characters in these stories.
