Jim and his Team are truly the best. He has provided services for our family multiple times over the past two years. He responds quickly and in detail to communications. Always professional, thoughtful and reasonable pricing, and project management is smooth as glass. In a recent project (redo of bathrooms) Jim had everything scheduled with different teams coming in over a period of hours so that our bathrooms were all finished in one day without disruption to our schedule. It began with plumbing, then demo, install, and back to plumbing. All team members were on time and knew just when to arrive to complete their part of the work. It was like magic. thanks Jim!

We used BeltzPro for a series of projects that spanned 4 months of work. Jim and his crew were nothing less than amazing. They were very transparent and constantly communicating with us throughout the process. Jim was very helpful at different points during the projects when various decisions needed to be made, and extremely honest regarding all expenses. When certain tasks needed to be contracted out, the people Jim used did great work and were equally enjoyable to be around. Part to me was we were disappointed when the work was done because Jim and his crew were such a pleasure to be around for so long. We met with multiple contractors before starting our project. My wife have remarked multiple times about how glad we are that we made the decision to go with BeltzPro.

Having met with many different contractors to discuss and bid our master bathroom remodel, we were starting to get frustrated with the process as we felt that all of the quotes we were receiving were significantly overbid. None of the contractors were providing a breakdown of their costs and their materials so we could see exactly what we were paying for, and we felt that they were just throwing large numbers at us because "that's what it costs to remodel a bathroom." I was lucky to hear about Beltz Pro Remodeling through a referral from a tiling contractor that had previously done work for us at our previous home. After reaching out to Jim and meeting with him to discuss the project, I could tell right away that he was very knowledgeable about construction and renovation work and had a lot of experience. Not only was he straightforward and professional from the start, but he's also a genuinely nice person and I found it very easy to work with him throughout the entire project. He was very timely in getting the project estimate to me, and I was very impressed how he had the estimate broken out into labor and material costs for every phase of the project. Most importantly, he was the only contractor that said the words "I want this job" when following up on his estimate, which was extremely important because that told me that Jim was the kind of contractor that treated every job and customer equally, regardless of the scope of work or cost of the project. There were also no hidden costs, and any change orders were discussed up front and agreed upon before proceeding. Living through a renovation can be very stressful and inconvenient (especially when both my wife and I work from home), but Jim and his crew were extremely knowledgeable, courteous and professional during the remodel process. They were the nicest guys and we talked with them every day, and they made sure to inform us of any issues or asked for our approval on every detail before proceeding. After each phase was completed, Jim made sure that we were happy with the results before moving on to the next phase. If there was something that we were not happy with, Jim made sure that it was corrected and done to not just our expectation, but to his company's expectation. Once the master bathroom was completed, my wife and I could not have been happier with the finished product!! Not only does it look amazing and like a bathroom out of a magazine, but it was done right and at a fair price that fit within our budget. I would highly recommend using Beltz Pro Remodeling if you're looking for a contractor that is honest, professional, offers fair and transparent pricing, and provides excellent quality and craftsmanship. We will definitely be contacting Beltz Pro for our next project!

Jim and his team are simply the best! They treat you like family, not a customer. Jim always provides me with several different options and explains the pros and cons of each. The first time he ever came out I was shocked to find that he was in my driveway....early!!! Every member of the team is respectful and kind and will work until the job is fully up to your satisfaction.

Jim and his team are phenomenal to work with! I utilized BeltzPRO for several projects ranging in complexity and breadth. Every time I worked with them they were courteous, efficient, upfront with all pricing, and respectful of the home they were working in. They not only did terrific work but offered creative suggestions along the way. I would highly recommend their services and certainly intend to use them in the future.

Jim and his team did an amazing job repurposing one of our master closets into a custom laundry area for our new stacked washer/dryer. They also redid and moved the water supply lines for the master shower and installed a new drain and shower base. The pricing was very competitive and the work was very well executed and timely. I wouldn't hesitate to use Jim again and will definitely recommend him any chance I get.

Jim did an excellent job communicating from the beginning. The project required design choices along the way and his recommendations helped make everything come out even better. He made the process easy and he made sure we stayed on budget. He remodeled our apartment from studs out.

I bought an old stone house from the 1840's and needed a bathroom makeover & new kitchen cabinets installed. Old homes are very hard to modify, and BeltzPro did an incredible job, amazing tile work, incredible professional and reliable. Super nice too! Highly recommend!
