HOW IT WORKS...

GLP-1 is one class of many hormones our bodies produce. It helps regulate hunger and feelings of fullness.

Semaglutide is a glucagon-like peptide-1 receptor agonist which binds to GLP-1

When Semaglutide bonds to GLP-1:

→ Your Pancreas releases more insulin keeping blood sugar levels down

→ It Prevents the liver from making too much sugar

→ It slows movement of food through the stomach which decreases appetite and hunger while also increasing the feeling of fullness
