

Home Tech would like to help you with the untapped portion of this industry. Which means homeowners will have someone they can trust to do the small jobs in their home in a cost-effective way.

This is a huge incentive for the Management Team to have someone they can recommend without taking on the responsibility and liability themselves.

Ways we can be of service: In new construction, we can perform a complementary new homeowner walk-through. This walk-through will help the developer/management and homeowner.

How? We will help each homeowner understand their responsibilities to their personal unit and how to keep it maintained. By providing this service it helps the developer by no longer needing to deal with interior issues after the unit has been sold.

Last but not least, this allows management to know that the homeowners are better educated on their responsibilities regarding their property.

These services allow us to get to know the homeowner and make them feel comfortable in using our services. There are no contracts. It will be their choice to call us if they like..

If you think Home Tech can be of service to you, please do not hesitate to contact us.
