

JOHN ROBERTSON, detective sergeant with the Napa County Sheriff's office, looks at the door of a Kharman-Ghia where a deranged killer inscribed the dates of killings he committed in Vallejo and at Lake Berryessa. The paper is taped over the right door of the two door sedan to conceal part of the markings not yet revealed by investigators. The killer used a black felt tip pen to write down dates and times of his killings, and other information, linking him to three Vallejo murders. A young coed died here Monday as a result of the knife attack and her companion remains in serious condition at Queen of the Valley Hospital. (Register Photo by Robert McKenzie)
