

Beginning January 1, 2025, the requirement for a pressure test on the LP gas system, to include the fuel gas piping system, will be required as part of a food truck inspection. The tank should be inspected by the vendor who fills it prior to refilling.

This is a fire code requirement in the 2021 IFC 319.10.3, which the state adopted in 2022.

“Upon satisfactory inspection, the approved inspection agency shall affix a tag on the fuel gas system or within the vehicle indicating the name of the inspection agency and the date of satisfactory inspection.”

These agencies must be licensed with the LP Gas Board to perform this inspection. A list of these agencies is available from the LP Gas Board.
