An aerial photograph showing the archaeological ruins of the Temple of Bel in Babylon. The ruins consist of large, rectangular brick structures with some internal divisions, situated in a cleared area. To the left, there are modern buildings with colorful roofs (yellow, red, and grey). To the right, a wide, multi-lane road with yellow lane markings runs parallel to the ruins. A large crowd of people is gathered on a paved area in the foreground, near a red and white structure. The surrounding area is a mix of urban development and open land with some vegetation.
