A practicing physician and surgeon for more than 40 years, Dr. Leonard Aronovitz has had the unique opportunity of experiencing both sides of the medical field. “Ninety-five percent of the patients seen in general medicine are well patients who just need good advice,” he says.

More than 20 years ago, he decided to devote his practice to cosmetic surgery and, specifically, hair transplants. “Cosmetic surgery is daunting in that you’re constantly aware that the outcome is critical to your patient and will be visible to the rest of the world for as long as they live. My team and I take that responsibility very seriously. I can’t tell you how gratifying it is to repeatedly see patients’ smiles when their transplanted hair grows back,” he says.

“Life-changing.” “Confidence-building.” “I got a job promotion.” “Looking younger, feeling younger, acting younger.” “I can go out without a hat for the first time in 10 years.” These responses from Dr. Aronovitz’s patients are further evidence of why he is the only hair transplant doctor in Michigan listed in the Best Doctors in America. Having performed thousands of procedures, Dr. Aronovitz says the single greatest event in the field of hair transplantation was the recognition of the units that our hair grows in naturally. The ability to harvest these “follicular units” and re-insert them at appropriate locations and angles has given Dr. Aronovitz the tool to make hair transplant look very natural.

The Tessler & Aronovitz patient base has increased as more people remain active and date well into their senior years. More women are seeking the benefits of hair transplants as they become aware of some of the options available to them. Natural, age-appropriate hair is the goal when Dr. Aronovitz meets with each new patient. “Not everyone is a good candidate, but you’ll get an accurate assessment and an appropriate solution if one is available,” says Dr. Aronovitz, who has performed successful hair transplants on many high-profile local celebrities.

“The misconception that the procedure is expensive is misleading, because its relative value is high when you consider the long-lasting, life-changing results that occur. The outcome is much better now by using follicular units and the transplant is most often undetectable,” he says.

Always interested in increasing his knowledge, Dr. Aronovitz attends medical forums where other experts in the field exchange the latest data on the continuing advancement of hair replacement technology. ■
