

F-05

Electronic Addiction and Social Skills Deficits: The New Autism Epidemic and Frontier

Jay Berk, PhD, Jay Berk Ph.D. and Associates

Attendance: 150

	Excellent	Good	Neutral	Poor	Total Responses
This session was:	45	15	0	0	60

	Agree	Disagree	Unsure	Total Responses
I will use at least one strategy learned in this workshop.	53	1	6	60

Comments:

- Great presentation! This topic needs to be explored more and parents need to become aware of its effects
- Presenter had a lot of energy and enthusiasm with lots of great information. However, the PowerPoint notes were not detailed enough on the printouts as it related to what he spoke of. I had to take many additional notes so that I could refer back to them for later use.
- Loved this speaker!!!
- Very practical and great info.
- Speaker was very knowledgeable, humorous, and gave very good and applicable tips.
- Although a good speaker, Dr. Berk's presentation was very surface level and basic.
- This is a very timely topic. Jay Berk is an engaging and relatable speaker.
- Excellent overall survey of subject. Always try to attend Jay Beck's workshops.
- Always enjoy Mr. Berk! Concerned about his health!
- Always love hearing Jay speak - always a learning experience!!!
- I learned about how kids could retrieve sites I never thought children new how to get into
- Social groups are needed for Electronic Addiction
- Very informative and funny!
- Entertaining for sure; realistic; good for awareness
- he talked about the difference of spectrum and nonspectrum kids
- Gave lots of examples not many strategies to help addiction
- Pay to play - earn tech time
- very interesting topic - very engaging and funny speaker
- funny and informative
- Timely, practical - favorite
- info shared good
- good information to que to parents

- challenged me to reevaluate electronic use with kids
- would have liked more time spent on that to do to address the issues to help clients
- Was looking for more ideas on fading out or not using electronics
- Really informative, great presenter
- seek him out for presentations every chance I get
- wish there was more practical would love to hear more
- Jay Berk is a great speaker with a lot of great knowledge
- good information about dangers of electronic media. Very good