Solo riders welcome

Saddle up for a rugged and rewarding journey through Colombia's lush coffee country and into the high Andes of Los Nevados National Park. Ride sure-footed horses along rivers and jungle trails, through coffee fincas and up into the páramo. Each day brings changing views, warm hospitality, and the camaraderie of life in the saddle.

ITINERARY

- Day 1 – From Airport to the Saddle
Arrive at Aeropuerto Internacional Matecaña, meet your bilingual guides and drive into the countryside. Mount up for a 6–7 hour ride through rivers, jungle shade, and coffee hillsides. Lunch by the river, then arrive at the farm for dinner by sunset.
- Day 2 – Into the Mountains
Strong Colombian coffee and breakfast, then a jeep transfer toward Los Nevados. Lunch at a mountain home before ascending narrow trails to around 3100 meters. Settle in at a high-country finca in the national park.
- Day 3 – Lake Otún and the High Country
Ride into the páramo toward Lake Otún near 4000 meters. Frailejones, expansive valleys, and—if we're lucky—condors soaring above. Lunch by the lake, then return to the finca for a warm dinner and mountain night.
- Day 4 – The Descent
After breakfast, descend through familiar landscapes that now feel like old friends. Return to the farm for one final shared dinner and transfer back to Aeropuerto Internacional Matecaña.

Every Nevados Tour Is Unique

No two riders ever see the same journey. The mountains shift with the weather, wildlife moves on its own time, and the trails surprise us. You may hear howler monkeys in the forest or watch a condor ride the thermals above the peaks. Every traveler leaves with a unique story to carry home.
