

Mitigating Risk in Potentially Risky Situations

Protect your community by practicing precautions, like staying at home when possible, keeping socially-distanced, wearing masks, and sanitizing hands and frequently touched surfaces. Assume that you or others might have the virus.

When Someone Is Visiting or Wants To Visit

Place a sign on your exterior door with specific directions.

We miss our friends and family but we want to make sure everyone is safe. Please text or call us so we can coordinate.

If friends or family want see your new baby, you can have a safe meet-and-greet through the window...

...and share special moments virtually, like through group chats.

Receiving Care Packages or Gifts

If you are unsure if a care package or gift has been sanitized, disinfect items before bringing them inside the home after deliverer leaves and it is safe to go outside.

Please place packages and gifts here. Thank you!

Support With Shearing Of The Sheep

Plan and coordinate shearing support virtually.

Ensure only people from one household are supporting at one time, while you keep a safe distance.

Replace Kids' After School Snack Runs With Alternative Activities

Bake together, tell jokes, and discuss your day.

Play and explore new games.

Supporting Unsheltered Relatives

Practice social distancing while helping your unsheltered relatives.

You can create a care box of easily accessible essentials. Place these outside of your home, along with a chair and blanket. Add a kind note or symbol of affection.

Seeing An Old Friend or Family Member

Let them know how happy you are to see them, but do not stop to engage.

Doing Laundry Outside of Home

If a trip to the laundromat is necessary, make sure to spend as little time inside as possible and disinfect surfaces before and after touching. Do not bring others, if avoidable.
