

G F G Quarterly Newsletter – April 2021

- I'm going to make this brief because there hasn't been very much going on with Glen Foster Group since Covid.
- We are back to rehearsing now once a week, but there are no gigs booked for either myself or the band at this point.
- We are preparing to get back in the studio this month and start recording two new songs for a single release soon.
- These new songs will also be included as Bonus Tracks on the next album Glen Foster and friends - Feeling Alive.
- Feeling Alive was a concert recorded last year and will be remixed, mastered and released hopefully on July 1, 2021.

- I've personally been busy since December recording songs for the much anticipated album 'The Spirit Of Christmas'.
- Several of these new tracks are guitar instrumentals of my own arrangements of traditional songs, recorded at home.
- The Cigar Box Ukulele that I built myself will be featured on one particularly familiar song called 'Jingle Bells Jig' *
- Another song was written by myself and keyboardist Marty Steele who occasionally plays on GFG gigs and albums.
- These 2 new albums will be available Digitally to either download or stream on almost all music sites such as Spotify, YouTube, Amazon, etc. If anyone is interested in a CD please let me know as I may make a few available.

- The following is a Link to a Live Stream Workshop that I presented on 20March21 for the Canadian Music Expo - Spring Equinox Edition. You musicians out there might find this interesting. "VOICINGS - on your instrument"
