IPL LASER SKIN TIGHTENING / PHOTOFACIAL

An IPL photo facial is a good choice if you have a number of different goals: plumper, younger-looking skin, faded brown spots, fewer broken capillaries, and less overall redness.

IPL uses short blasts of a polychromatic, high-intensity light to penetrate just below the skin's surface, damaging the melanin that makes up "age spots" or the blood vessels that create broken capillaries. The skin repairs the damage, leaving you with an evener skin tone. IPL also boosts the production of collagen and elastin. It generally takes a series of treatments to see the best results, perhaps three to six treatments, 4-6 weeks apart.

Aftercare

Immediately following treatment your skin may sting and feel hot. A cool compress will be provided to help relieve this sensation quickly. Continued application of cool compresses also helps reduce the risk of swelling, especially if you have been treated close to the eye or over large areas.

It is normal for pigmentation to look darker for one to three weeks following treatment. Treated areas may feel dry, flaky and itchy. Be careful not to disturb these areas during the healing period and, in particular, not to pick at any flakes. Wash as usual, but avoid the use of scrubs, masks, astringents, toners, Retin A or AHA products until healed. Gently pat dry after washing and avoid rigorous rubbing with your towel. It is very important to avoid exposing the area to the sun or to sun beds for at least one month after treatment and preferably forever. Wear a hat and apply a SPF 30+ sunscreen on a daily basis.
