

Laser Hair Removal Prices

During laser hair removal, the laser energy passes through the surface of the skin and heats up the pigment in the follicles preventing the follicles from re-growing hair. When dark hair is treated, it is always vaporized regardless of the phase. However, the follicle itself will stop making hair only if treated during the active growth phase – when the hair shaft is still connected to the root, making it vulnerable to the heat energy that destroys it.

Normally hair removal will take 6-8 sessions. Once every 3-4 weeks.
