Hello From The Ukraine!

Hello from Ukraine! Yesterday, along with 135 volunteers, I took an oath and was sworn in as a Peace Corps Volunteer to Ukraine. I trained for four months in the small town of Rudnytsia where I was taught language classes for four hours every day and trained in a local school. There, I learned the language and lead clubs in Ukrainian. I returned home to America for training and I scored at a low intermediate level and it is good enough to conduct conversations and survive in Ukraine. However, it is recommended that we all continue with a native to reach an advanced level. I am now in the city of Vinnytsia, and I am busy teaching at work at a Sports NGO. I have met my work colleagues today. I met my counterpart a few days ago and we get along so well. I will be carrying a lot of projects and working on very difficult tasks. My counterpart is a very happy person, and I am getting along with him very well. I am Native American and I am actually the only one from Oklahoma in my group. This is the first time that peace corps Ukraine has been able to have 5 volunteers who can identify as Native American. This is just my first day, but for two years, I will be living side by side with Ukrainians in Vinnytsia. I will be living in a house with three other volunteers who are from the Peace Corps Ukraine. I have a motivational speaker, with the help of a motivational speaker, I will be able to conduct conversations and lead clubs in Ukrainian. I have met my group. This is the first time that peace corps Ukraine has been able to have 5 volunteers who can identify as Native American. This is just my first day, but for two years, I will be living side by side with Ukrainians in Vinnytsia.

Domestic Violence Awareness Month/Women’s History Month - October 2018

Anadarko Mayor Proclaims Domestic Violence Awareness Month

WHEREAS, domestic violence is one of the main public health, social justice, and human rights issues requiring particular attention. An estimated 1.5 million women and men are victimized in the United States every year, making domestic violence one of the most widespread forms of violence against women and men. A person’s home should be a place of comfort, unconditional love, safety and security; however, for too many women and men, it is anything but.

In October 1981 and conceived by the National Coalition Against Domestic Violence. The intent was to connect advocates across the country who were working to end violence against women and their children. The Day of Unity soon became an entire week devoted to a range of activities conducted at the local, state, and national level.

In October 1987, the first Domestic Violence Awareness Month was observed. In 1994, the United States Congress passed Public Law designating October of that year as National Domestic Violence Awareness Month.
