Lutherhaven was established by a group of New Mexico Lutheran churches on land in the Jemez Mountains near Fenton Lake. Dedicated volunteers from these churches formed the New Mexico Lutheran Association (NMLA) which developed the site and built the first lodge in 1974. The original lodge and surrounding forests were destroyed by wildfire in 2002. A new lodge and tent sites were rebuilt and dedicated in 2012. Lutherhaven is available for use by both member churches and individuals, providing a haven for worship, fellowship and a place to enjoy God's wonderful creation.
