MELATONIN

ANTI-APOPTOTIC PROPERTIES

Apoptosis (the death of follicular cells) occurs when the hair is in the Catagen phase of the hair growth cycle. It has been demonstrated that hair follicles in many hair loss conditions such as androgenic alopecia show defects in the regulation of apoptosis.

Anti-apoptotic ingredients help regulate hair follicles' apoptosis and therefore slow down the accelerated shedding process.

RESVERATROL

DECREASING PROSTAGLANDIN D2 LEVELS

Research studies have reported high prostaglandin D2 synthase (PTGDS) concentrations at the mRNA and protein levels in bald scalps, compared to haired scalps of men with androgenic alopecia.

A decrease in PDG2 levels permits to prevent further hair loss.

PEA SPROUT PROTEIN

DERMAL PAPILLA ACTIVATION

Pea sprout protein reduces hair loss by inducing dermal papilla cells (which are at the base of the hair follicle) to reactivate hair regrowth.

TRIPLE HAIR'S PRODUCT INSIGHT

PLENTY HAIR DENSIFYING SPRAY

Hair Colour Change due to Prolonged Sun Exposure

We found that people with white hair or very pale hair experience hair color change (orange) when exposed to the sun. Please advise to wear a hat or apply the product at night and wash hair in the morning to avoid exposing hair with product residues to the sun. A blue or purple shampoo can be used to correct the hair color change.

Bed time application

We recommend applying the product at night before bed time so the product can work while you sleep. The product can be washed out in the morning.

Usage on temples

Since Plenty Hair Densifying Spray is a liquid formulation, we found that the product may run down on the face when applied on the temples area. We advise to be careful when applying to the temples area by putting a hand above the eyes to prevent product from coming into the eyes. Apply one spray at a time and massage the product into the scalp after every spray.

1mL application: 1 or 2 times per day

Although we advise applying 1mL per day (5 sprays), we have seen great results in clinical trial participants who applied Plenty Hair Densifying Spray twice a day. The product can be applied twice a day, but we cannot confirm if it improves the regrowth level.
