2024 Events Team ROR Policy

Updated 11/2024

REP OF RECORD: For ALL orders placed by any method, we will always verify rep of record. If the customer has an active rep who is currently active as part of the Events Team, we honor the original rep.

Once per campaign, we will update the ROR customer list, which must be sent to CO or whoever is making the list, otherwise the rep will not be protected under the ROR program.

1. This list is compiled into a master ROR list
2. Each order and lead that a team member collects must be checked against this ROR list
3. If a rep writes up an order for a customer who belongs to another team member, the rep writing up the order must send the order to the Rep of Record
4. The rep has 2 commission cycles from notification to flip order to ROR rep. If order is not turned over within the allotted 2 commission cycle, then the rep won't receive any payout on the order. ROR rep must notify rep (cc: coordinator and DVM) via email and text both
5. ROR orders are only protected for 4 months prior. If a rep learns of an ROR order after 4 months, the ROR procedure is forfeited for that order
6. If a customer mentions that they work with another rep by name AND they are an active member of the events team, that rep receives ROR credit for the order even if that customer is not officially listed on the ROR master list UNLESS they are listed under a different rep on the team in which case that listed rep would receive the order.

ROR Payback

1. 15% on any order from 1 to 999 CPO, or 20% with 1,000 CPO or higher
2. If a rep does not check the ROR list, and the Rep of Record learns of the order, the order credit is changed back to the original rep with no payout
3. ROR payments should be made immediately once commissions are paid.
4. If the rep does not pay ROR rep, then the coordinator can do a commission charge.
5. Any issues with ROR orders that can't be resolved are handled by the coordinator/DVM and all decisions are final and without dispute.

Only "Active" Events Team Reps have ROR Privileges

1. Rep works a minimum of 4 show shifts per campaign
2. Rep attends the minimum standard meeting/training participation
 - a. If a rep hits these requirements they are protected for that Campaign.
 - b. Branch managers and New DM's are protected for their first campaign open
 - c. EX: Manager hits standards in spring....they are protected in summer...if manager doesn't hit standards in fall, they are no longer protected.
 - d. To earn back the right of protection must requalify by hitting standards.

Problems/Issues/Disgruntled Customers:

1. Spouses – In some cases, ROR credit may not be clear. Husbands and wives may be listed as separate customers, address change, and customers may no longer want to work with their original rep of record. While not every “gray area” can be perfectly resolved with the ROR policy, these guidelines may help solve the vast majority of issues. Spouses – when spouses are listed as separate customers on the master ROR list, we will do our best to combine them into one household/one customer. If REP 1 discovers that REP 2 sold to a spouse not appearing on the ROR list, REP 2 will transfer the order to REP 1 and receive a payout on the order
2. ROR does not count as a turn
3. Disgruntled customer – if a customer is upset with his/her rep, we will first give the original rep of record a chance to contact the upset customer and try to salvage the relationship. If the customer refuses to work with the original rep, the customer must email the Events Coordinator, stating the problem with the original rep and his/her desire to work with someone else. Customers must have a legitimate complaint, beyond “I don’t know who my rep is...I’ve never heard from anyone.” Legitimate complaints include unfulfilled promises, problem orders never corrected, poor sharpening service, unfulfilled orders, etc.
4. Entering ROR Orders – Rep must enter all orders first, then check for ROR. If an ROR order is found, the rep must email Admin Services to transfer the order to the correct rep. They must notify the rep of the order. All of this is to be done by Monday at 11:59pm after the event
5. Mistakes/Errors – If spelling mistakes or other common errors cause a discrepancy between orders written and information on the ROR list, causing an ROR order to be missed, if the order is found by the ROR rep, normal payout will still be given. We must not fault a rep who acts out of good faith to write up an ROR order but is hindered by spelling mistakes or other common errors.
6. Corporate/office service requests – if a customer contacts Cutco or a local office for sharpening due to complaint with the original rep, that customer’s rep of record forfeits any CPO or commission from orders written up.
7. Demos – if a rep is referred to a customer from a demo or service call (not generated at the booth), this customer is not protected under ROR until the rep doing the demo or service call is over 100k in “true career sales”.
8. Lack of customer communication – on a service call, if a customer claims he/she has never had any communication (email, call, letter, etc.), the rep of record must provide evidence of attempted regular communication with that customer in order to keep commission/CPO for any order written up on that service call.

Be-Backs at the booth – At shows with multiple reps/booths/days, potential customers may communicate with multiple reps before buying. We want to respect the original reps who pitched/made an offer to the buying customer. If a customer “be-backs” a rep, and mentions talking with another rep (at a different booth/table, on a different day, even at a different event), we will give credit to the original rep if the customer:

1. Mentions the rep's name or
2. Describes the rep or
3. Has a yellow sheet from a dealpad or
4. Has a card of who they worked with
