2.) Train Like SEALs, Special Forces, Marine Recon, Elite Law Enforcement & SWAT Teams! Forty-years of training police officers has taught me many valuable firearms tactics, street survival and high stress combat performance lessons. I teach an enhanced version of the NRA approved safe S.I.R.T. Laser Pistol training. Conducted during class. We use Laser Pistols that have functional features like the Glock 17, 19, 22 & 43. S.I.R.T. Laser Pistol training paired with another futuristic training system known as the LASER ACTIVATED SHOT REPORTING, L.A.S.R. system that records & analyzes every shot. The result, you'll leave the class introduced to several marksmanship skills and know when applied; they're effective and they really work!

3.) Live Fire Training: Experience with live fire training at the Orange County Indoor Shooting Range in Brea. Live fire gun range appointments are scheduled on a separate date, typically, weekday mornings or early afternoons. Students are encouraged to make an appointment.

Going to the Range is Expensive and Inconvenient

And worse yet it leaves the shooter with HUGE TRAINING GAPS! What are the major problems with relying on range training only?

Cost: Ammunition is expensive and sometimes hard to find. Add to that the range fees, targets, gear, cleaning your weapons and your transportation going to the range just isn't something most of us can do every week.

Full Range of Motion: Pulling the trigger is one thing but professionals know you also need to train drawing the firearm from your concealed holster, readying the firearm, getting into a stance & grip, reloading and malfunctions, and re-holstering the gun. Not only do most ranges have rules against this but it can also be very dangerous to train these things with a fully loaded firearm.

Stationary: Real life never holds still, except at the range and you're only allowed to stand still and fire at a stationary target. This doesn't prepare you for a world where targets move, and you need to move too.

Single Target: Both indoor & outdoor ranges have rules against setting up multiple targets but in real life you shouldn't bet your life on engaging a single assailant.
