What Is Nano Tech ?

"NANO" refers to a new technology that breaks down active cannabinoids into smaller particles to pass through the blood brain barrier (BBB) allowing for a faster onset and more efficient absorption, resulting in a more consistent and controllable experience throughout the body. Nano THC takes all the effects of conventional edibles and creates better consistency and efficiency. It's completely water soluble and can easily be mixed into any liquid, beverage or desert of your choice.

2018 FARM BILL COMPLIANT

Under the 2018 Farm Bill, hemp-derived products with less than 0.3% THC by dry weight volume are considered legal and compliant with federal law. This means that products such as our hemp-derived Nano Delta 9 Syrup, which contains less than 0.3% THC, are legal to produce, sell, and use in the United States and internationally. To ensure compliance with the law, our product undergoes rigorous testing by a third-party laboratory to verify its "Total THC" content. Additionally, we follow strict quality control measures in our manufacturing process to ensure that our product meets all of the requirements set forth by the USDA.
