Caroline Raspberry

Caroline Red Raspberry: A red raspberry that keeps bearing! Caroline is considered one of the superior red raspberries that fruits from early June through fall. It produces lots and lots of large, firm raspberries. It's Happy and health, vigorous canes and disease resistant is more tolerant of root rot and yellow rust. Hardy in Zones 4-7

Planting Instructions - Raspberries can be planted in almost any sort of well-drained soil. Start by digging a large hole big enough to encompass all of the roots of the plant without bending or circling. Raspberries should be planted in the spring. They are usually spaced 2-3 feet in the row with 8-10 feet between the rows. Plant raspberries about one inch deeper than the plant grew in the nursery. The plant, as purchased from the nursery, may be cut back to a few inches as most of the growth will arise from the roots or from the base of the planted cane. Any white sprouts arising from the crown should be covered with soil to prevent burning by the sun.
