

Cultural tips for the successful grower

Vintage Red Raspberry

Vintage is a fall fruiting raspberry that will ripen about 3 weeks earlier than Heritage. Vintage has excellent flavor that makes it a good choice for extending your raspberry season. Vintage is a large berry with higher yields than Heritage, with attractive uniform fruit. Vintage is great for fresh market and home gardens.

Planting Instructions - Raspberries can be planted in almost any sort of well-drained soil. Start by digging a large hole big enough to encompass all of the roots of the plant without bending or circling. Raspberries should be planted in the spring. They are usually spaced 2-3 feet in the row with 8-10 feet between the rows. Plant raspberries about one inch deeper than the plant grew in the nursery. The plant, as purchased from the nursery, may be cut back to a few inches as most of the growth will arise from the roots or from the base of the planted cane. Any white sprouts arising from the crown should be covered with soil to prevent burning by the sun.
