To Whom It May Concern:

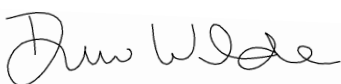

It is with enthusiasm and without reservation that I recommend the non-profit organization, Fentanyl Fathers, for any high school seeking to provide impactful education on the dangers of counterfeit pills and fentanyl. We recently hosted their presentation for our high school student body, and the experience, both logistically and substantively, exceeded all our expectations.

The true success of their visit lies in the quality and impact of the presentation itself. Their delivery was incredibly engaging and highly effective in communicating this critical, life-saving information to a typically distraction-prone age group. The most telling evidence of their success was the audience's attention: we observed very few students engaging with their cell phones, a remarkable feat in a room full of high schoolers. Furthermore, the sincerity of the message resonated deeply, as several students spontaneously approached the presenters afterward to shake their hands, demonstrating a profound connection and appreciation for their personal stories and critical warnings.

Fentanyl Fathers addresses one of the most urgent public health crises facing today's youth with professionalism, directness, and palpable impact. They are a dedicated, effective, and low-maintenance partner.

I strongly encourage you to secure a presentation date with them. If you have any further questions regarding our experience, please do not hesitate to contact me.

Sincerely,

Drew Wilde
