To Whom It May Concern,

I am pleased to recommend Fentanyl Fathers for their impactful and meaningful presentation to our students. Their program provides powerful and much-needed awareness of the dangers of fentanyl and substance use among teens.

The presentation was well organized, age-appropriate, and deeply engaging. Gary's personal story resonated strongly with our students and captured their attention throughout the session. The message was clear, heartfelt, and delivered in a way that encouraged thoughtful reflection about the serious consequences associated with fentanyl use.

Our students were respectful and attentive during the entire presentation, and many expressed that the real-life perspective made the information more impactful than a traditional lecture format. Programs like this are critical in helping students navigate the pressures and challenges they face.

I strongly support Fentanyl Fathers in their dedication to educating young people and in their commitment to preventing further tragedies through awareness and outreach. I would highly recommend their presentation to other middle and high schools seeking meaningful and preventative drug education programming.

Sincerely,

Somerset Palms Academy Administration
