

RECRUITMENT POLICY

It is the Company's policy that line managers and the Human Resources department are jointly responsible for the recruitment of new employees. Line managers should always keep the senior management of the Company up-to-date regarding future recruitment intentions. Where there is a need to recruit a new employee into the Company, the following procedure should be followed:

1. The line manager should first complete a Recruitment Authorisation Form (copy attached) and ensure it is discussed with and signed off by a director of the Company. This form requires a justification for the post as well as:
 - an up-to-date job description and a person specification
 - financial implications
 - advertisement wording and medium for publication
 - estimated costs of advertising the post.

The line manager should first consider and discuss with the Human Resources department the most appropriate place(s) to post the vacancy or whether an approved employment agency should be used.

Where recruitment is planned to fill a vacancy created by a leaver (other than on redundancy grounds), approval will normally be granted automatically. If the post is new or upgraded, the director will need to be satisfied that it can be justified.

2. The form must then be forwarded to the Human Resources department for approval. If approved, they will deal with the necessary recruitment administration, including placing advertisements, arranging interviews, etc. As an alternative to, or in addition to, specifying a closing date for applications, the Human Resources department may state in the advertisement that the application process will close once a pre-defined number of applications have been received (and any received outside this limit will not be considered).
3. Selection of candidates for interview must be decided jointly by the line manager and the Human Resources department. Shortlisting, interviewing and selection must always be carried out without regard to sex, civil partnership or married status, sexual orientation, gender reassignment, pregnancy or maternity, race, colour, nationality or ethnic or national origins, religion or belief or age. Any applicant who has a disability must not be excluded unless it is clear that the applicant does not meet the minimum criteria outlined in the person specification and they would still fail to do so even if reasonable adjustments were made to work premises or to work provisions, criteria or practices. Reasonable adjustments should also be made to the recruitment process to ensure that no applicant is placed at a substantial disadvantage because of their disability.
4. All interviews must be conducted by the line manager and at least one other line manager or member of the Human Resources department.
5. All offers of employment, whether written or verbal, must have the prior approval of a director of the Company.

It is the Company's policy that all vacancies will be advertised internally (by e-mail/posting on notice boards) as well as externally and existing employees are to be encouraged to apply for vacant posts if they have the requisite skills, qualifications and experience.

The Company aims at all times to recruit the person who is most suited to the particular post. Recruitment must be solely on the basis of the applicant's abilities, qualifications, experience and merit as measured against the job description and person specification. The guidelines promulgated in the Company's equal opportunities policy statement must be followed at all stages of recruitment and selection. Line managers conducting recruitment interviews must ensure that questions asked of job applicants are in no way discriminatory or personally intrusive. The interview should focus on the needs of the post and the skills, qualifications and experience needed to perform it effectively.

An interview record must be made and passed to the Human Resources department where it will be retained for a suitable period of time. On no account should a job offer be made during or at the end of an interview. Selection testing will be used as part of the recruitment process only with the prior approval of the Human Resources department. Any test used must have been validated in relation to the post and be conducted by a suitably trained person.

It is not the Company's policy to provide feedback to unsuccessful external candidates, either verbally or in writing, regardless of whether the external candidate was rejected during the initial sifting and shortlisting stage or after interview. However, feedback will be provided where necessary to internal candidates to assist with their personal and career development.

References

It is the Company's policy to seek at least two written references, one of which must be from a previous employer (or, if this is the prospective employee's first job, their school teacher or higher or further education lecturer) and to ask for documentary proof of qualifications and eligibility to work in the UK. Any offer of employment must be conditional on this documentation being satisfactory to the Company. Before references are taken up, the prospective employee's consent should first be sought.

Verification and vetting

The Company may also take steps to verify any of the information provided on the prospective employee's CV or in their application form and may additionally take steps to undertake background checks, such as sanctions checks and directorship checks, as a means of obtaining specific information. In this case, the Company will explain to the prospective employee in advance the nature of its verification or vetting process and the methods to be used to carry it out, including details of any external sources that will be used. In addition, where it is necessary to secure the release of documents or information from a third party, the prospective employee's consent should first be sought. If any verification or vetting checks produce discrepancies, the prospective employee will be given the opportunity to make representations and provide an explanation of the inconsistencies before any decision is taken to withdraw a conditional offer of employment.

Where a prospective employee has provided website links on their CV or in their application form to their social media personal website pages, the Company may check these links once an offer of employment is about to be made. Until that stage, however, these links will be disregarded in the recruitment process.

Interview expenses

[Where candidates are invited to attend for interview, they are responsible for paying their own travel expenses and it is the Company's policy not to pay for, or contribute towards, those costs.]

OR

[Where candidates are invited to attend for interview, any contribution towards their reasonable travel expenses will be paid at the absolute discretion of the Company and will depend on the production by the candidate of appropriate, original receipts to support the expenses paid.

Where the Company exercises its discretion in the candidate's favour, it will normally make a contribution of (50%) towards their reasonable travel expenses, subject to a total maximum payment of £. (insert amount). If a candidate has driven to the interview, the Company will pay mileage at the rate of (insert amount) pence per mile, again subject to a total maximum payment of £. (insert amount).

Candidates will also be required to complete and sign an interview expenses claim form in order to claim a contribution towards their expenses incurred travelling to interview.]