

Turbulence & Takeoff: ACY's Next Chapter

Monday, June 15, 2026

11:45 am – 1:45 pm

Linwood Country Club

500 Shore Road, Linwood, NJ 08221

When Spirit Airlines, Atlantic City International Airport's longtime flagship carrier, ceased operations, it sent shock waves through the region's travel industry and left airport leadership navigating uncertainty in real time. At our upcoming PR Council meeting, we'll hear from Timothy Kroll, Airport Director of Atlantic City International Airport, about how the airport quickly pivoted during a chaotic and fast-moving situation and how strategic public relations and communications efforts helped reassure travelers, partners, and the community. Support from Visit Atlantic City also played an important role in helping shape messaging during the transition.

While saying goodbye to Spirit marked the end of an era for Atlantic City International Airport, the airport is already looking ahead. Kroll will share insight into ACY's future plans, including new opportunities with Breeze Airways and expanded route offerings designed to strengthen travel access for the region. Join us for an inside look at crisis communications, adaptability, and what's next for air travel in Atlantic City.
